

Township's Rent Ceiling Established

Resident in Edison public housing projects will get their long-sought rent ceilings, it was announced Monday at a meeting of the Edison Housing Authority.

The regional Public Housing Authority has approved a new rent scale applicable to "over income" families residing in low income public housing in Edison.

Tenants of North Edison Gardens have been working since August to have ceilings established.

Under the new schedule, the rent for a five bedroom apartment will be $105 for over-income families. This increase will be applied six months after their increased income has been established. They will be given an additional six months to find private housing and if this is not possible, they will pay an additional $10 bringing the maximum rent to $115. This is exclusive of utilities.

The announcement of the new ceilings also brings to a successful conclusion the efforts of the local NAACP to have the rent lowered for the Marion Scott family of North Edison Gardens.

Scott, father of six children, had the rent on his four-bedroom apartment increased from $91 to $148 when his wife went to work. Scott, who said that his wife was working because his income did not meet all of the family's expenses had refused to pay the increase. He was to have been evicted.

Under the new rent schedule, he will pay a maximum of $109, but only after six months.

Anderson's Term Is Up

In most Middlesex County towns, prospective Board of Education members must file petitions to run for office just as any other elected town official must do. However, in Edison where board members are appointed by the mayor and Township Council for five year terms beginning on February 1, this is not the case.

John Anderson is the only member of the Board of Education whose term expires this year. Anderson has served on the board for over 25 years. In his most recent term he occupied the capacity of vice president of the board.

Tell Turnpike Tale

Construction on the new Exit 10 interchange of the New Jersey Turnpike in Edison is expected to begin sometime this spring, turnpike authorities revealed this week. Bids on the $2 million project will be received in January.

The cloverleaf interchange will be located between Exit 9 (New Brunswick) and the present Exit 10 (connection of the turnpike with the Garden State Parkway). It will join the turnpike with Route 287 (Route 95), which runs east-west; Woodbridge avenue and the Raritan Arsenal industrial site. The present Exit 10 will tie in with Exit 11 at Woodbridge.

The interchange will be constructed about a mile south of the present Exit 10, just north of the new Fedders Corp. which fronts on the Turnpike.

Township officials are waging a fight to have the interchange listed with the name "Edison." Turnpike officials, however, have indicated the new Exit 10 will bear the label of "Metuchen-Perth Amboy."

Outline 'Impact Area' For Federal Grant

Edison school officials and staff members plan a visit to Trenton to examine new and different audio-visual aids for possible use in the township's proposed program designed to improve the facilities available for the underprivileged and educationally disadvantaged.

The township has been working on a program which, if approved, would bring $88,352 in federal aid to administer the proposed program. The grant is available under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary School Education Act of 1965. According to the 1960 census, 307 township youngsters attending both public and private schools are eligible to benefit from the program.

School Superintendent Joseph Ruggieri said this week that there are more than 307 pupils who fall into the underprivileged and disadvantaged category in the township, but only this number will be permitted to benefit, under the aid provisions. He said teachers have been submitting the names of pupils between 5 and 17 years old who come from families whose income is less than $2,000 or those which receive help from the Aid to Families and Dependent Children program.

Ruggieri said the "impact area" has been designated as the northern area of the township. To receive the aid, an "impact area" must be selected, and the superintendent said the program will concentrate on this area of the township.

The program, which hopefully could be established by February would also aid private school students who are classified as "educationally deprived or poverty stricken," according to Ruggieri. He said the program might include sharing of facilities, remedial instruction and perhaps loaning equipment to non-public schools to step up instructions of students involved.

Ruggieri, who indicated that the application for the federal aid will be made shortly, said the township program will probably center on the elementary level "where it will do the most good in the shortest amount of time."

Seeman Appointed Housing Director

William Seeman, former relocation officer for the Edison Urban Renewal program, has been named director of the Edison Housing Authority.

Seeman replaces Thomas Kovak whose resignation was announced Monday. Kovak reportedly resigned because of ill health.

However, residents of North Edison Gardens, the Edison Public Housing project administered by the authority, recently submitted a petition to the Housing Authority asking for the dismissal of Kovak and his assistant, Miss Mary Lou Scheer. Kovak and Miss Scheer had in turn lodged a complaint with State Division of Civil Rights charging that tenants were discriminating against them.

Following the announcement of his appointment, Seeman said he was elated and considers his new job a real challenge.

His first step he said will be to get to know the residents of North Edison Gardens, discover their problems, hear their complaints and work with the tenants to solve them. His experience as relocation officer he added, has familiarized him with the overall problems facing the urban renewal area.

Seeman prior to his appointment as relocation officer last February was president of the Seagrave Marine Transportation Corp. in New York. He is a graduate of the Julliard Conservatory of Music and has played trombone with Horace Heidt, Gene Krupa and Louis Prima. He has made three movies.

Teacher Pay Boost Likely

Edison School Superintendent Joseph Ruggieri doesn't see any problem in the area of teachers' salaries as the township Board of Education prepares its budget for the 1966-67 school year.

"The teachers and the board always have worked together on a friendly basis," said Ruggieri, "and I believe it will stay that way this year."

Ruggieri added that an increase in the salary guide in addition to the normal increments is expected to be included in the board's budget.

Last year the teacher's received an average of $400 each, according to Ruggieri, including a jump in the scale and increments.

The present salary scale shows a range of $5,200 to $8,600 for teachers with bachelor's degrees. The scale shows annual jumps up to 15 years experience. The range for teachers with master's degrees is $5,500 to $9,000 over a 15-year period.

More than 600 teachers presently are employed in the township's growing public school system.

Hoover Target Date Now 1967

Edison's New Herbert Hoover Junior High School won't be ready in September, 1966, but there is a good chance four other schools in the township's $4 million expansion program will.

Joseph Ruggieri, superintendent of schools, made this prediction this week. Ruggieri said the construction on new Lindeneau School and the addition to the Menlo Park School is moving smoothly and both will be ready next September.

The superintendent also noted that the preliminary plans for the new Woodbrook School have been approved, while the final plans for the Franklin School addition have been forwarded to Trenton. The Franklin School project will be ready in September and the Woodbrook School has an excellent chance of being completed by then, according to Ruggieri.

Contracts for Hoover School were awarded last week. Construction will begin soon, but the size of the school will prevent completion by September. The timetable now calls for a September, 1967, opening. The original target date was 1966.

He is president of the Perth Amboy Musicians Union, Local 373, and of the New Jersey State Conference of Musicians. Both as a musician and as a union official, he said, he has met and dealt with racial discrimination. These experiences, he believes, have helped him understand the feelings of minority groups and have given him a strong desire to help alleviate their problems.

Seeman, who lives at 98 Pleasant avenue, Fords, is married and the father of five children. His oldest daughter is in nursing school, another attends St. Mary's High School. A third daughter and two sons are students in Our Lady of Peace Grammar School.

Christmas Lighting Contest in Edison

The Edison Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Christmas Lighting Contest for Edison residential, business and industrial buildings. Prizes and trophies will be awarded in the categories of prettiest and most original.

William E. Brothers, Chamber president, has appointed Herman Hershkowitz, local realtor, chairman of the event.

The contest, now in its fourth year, has stimulated great interest in the township and added a seasonal project to the activities of the local Chamber.

Application may be filed by calling or writing the Chamber office located in the Raritan Valley National Bank Building, Route 27, Menlo Park.

JFK Hospital Auxiliary Hits Another Milestone

With one $30,000 pledge already paid up, the Women's Auxiliary of the John F. Kennedy Community Hospital is well on the way toward achieving a duplicate gift to help with construction of the big project.

Officials of the auxiliary turned over a check for $12,500 to hospital representatives, this week, on a $30,000 pledge toward the hospital delivery room. Together with previous checks in the amount of $7,500, this brings the pledge payment to $20,000.

The latest gift represents the proceeds of the highly-successful hospital benefit ball staged by the women in October at the Hotel Astor in New York. The ball was the third such annual event to be sponsored by the women, as well as the most profitable.

Leonard Berg, general campaign chairman for the hospital fund raising effort, said the performance of the Women's Auxiliary "has been nothing short of remarkable. These dedicated women have set an outstanding giving standard for everyone in the community to follow."

Mrs. Edward Partenope, auxiliary president, noted that the $20,000 in payments on the second pledge have been made in the few months since the pledge was signed last May. With two-thirds of the pledge already paid off, Mrs. Partenope expressed confidence that the balance of $10,000 will be paid in advance of the three-year pledge period.

Only six months have passed since the hospital party line

Paul Angus of 61 Liberty place, Metuchen, received a fall sports letter citation for participation on the junior varsity soccer team at Pingry School last week.

women completed one financial project which stands as a milestone by itself. At that time the Women's Auxiliary completed payments on their first $30,000 pledge to pay for the construction of a coffee and gift shop which will be operated by the Auxiliary when the hospital opens.

Without any breathing period, the women voted to sign up for the current pledge, which is being paid off with surprising speed.

Mrs. Partenope shares the credit with each and every one of her 550 Auxiliary members.

"We made up our minds long ago," said Mrs. Partenope, "that this hospital project was going to receive our full working support. We're very proud of our part, but it just goes to show what can happen when 550 women take on a challenge."

Mrs. Partenope pointed out that all the women, including twig members, work throughout the year on a wide variety of fund raising programs, which include fairs, fashion shows, theater parties, tricky tray parties, card parties, teenage dances, luncheons, buy-a-brick campaign, white elephant sales, antique sales, clothing and candy sales, refreshment sale, and socials. She also noted what an outstanding job all the twigs have done with their individual projects to add to the pledge fund. Mrs. Partenope says the women don't think of their fund raising role as work, but rather as fun.

"We enjoy what we are doing. Although our first objective is to raise money, we derive a great deal of pleasure from planning our events so that they are appealing and entertaining," she said. "I think this has a lot to do with our success."

Area Principals Say Cheating at Minimum

Area principals don't believe cheating is extensive in their high school classrooms.

When asked to comment on the recent New York Times story pertaining to a rise in cheating among high school students, they expressed similar opinions.

Melvin Michaels, principal of Highland Park High School, wonders where the Times obtained its information which reported cheating as being on the upgrade. He believes that there has been no increase or decrease in Highland Park High, and definitely does not consider cheating a problem as such.

"There will always be cheating, but proper supervision, coming first from parents and teachers, is the way to combat any cheating," Michaels said.

As principal of Metuchen High School, Robert Van Allen believes that cheating is at a minimum within the school. With most of our student population going to college, says Van Allen, the students are given many more privileges; therefore allowing a certain amount of faith to be placed in the individual student. Van Allen feels that the students are a responsible group of young people who do not have to resort to cheating.

Charles Boyle, principal of Edison High School, is in agreement with the Times story as far as believing that present day pressures on college bound students is at a peak. Boyle believes these pressures do lead to an increase in cheating.

Specifically pertaining to Edison, Boyle would not say definitely yes or no as to a rise in cheating. Edison is trying not to make the pressure on the top students so strongly felt. Boyle is most concerned with the attitude among students where getting the grade is most important and not the idea of retaining knowledge.

Old Methodist Church Will Stand Awhile

The old Centenary Methodist Church on Main street, Metuchen, will probably continue to stand for some time to come.

Thomas Harris of Pump town corner, who purchased the building from the church, has no immediate plans for selling or otherwise disposing of the building.

Harris, a member of the Centenary Methodist Church, purchased the building three years ago for some $60,000. At that time, it was rumored that the property would be converted into a service station.

The rumor was denied by Harris, who said, "Civic pride won't allow us to consider a gasoline station opposite Borough Hall."

The new Methodist Church was completed last fall and the Main street property has been vacant since.

Lions at Pines

The Metuchen Lion's Club will hold a stag Christmas Party at The Pines on Thursday at 7 p.m. Featured are a prime rib dinner and interesting entertainment.

Knights Strive To Keep Christ In Christmas

In keeping with its "Keep Christ in Christmas" campaign, Pope Pius XII Council 4885 Knights of Columbus, Edison, will sponsor a contest for the best outdoor religious Christmas display. Grand Knight Frank P. Bulkilvish announced that the prize for the best display will be a $25 United States Savings Bond.

The contest is open to residents of Edison Township. Those desiring to enter the contest are asked to send a postcard, with their name and address to: Christmas Display Contest, Knights of Columbus, P.O. Box 213, Edison. Specify if display is lighted or unlighted. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, December 24.

Display will be judged by local clergymen during Christmas week, with the winner to be announced before New Year's Day. It is important to specify whether or not the display is lighted, as these will be judged at nighttime.

Dr. Plechner Honored

Dr. Sophie L. Plechner of 62 Oak avenue, Metuchen, was honored last week at the annual meeting of the International Society of Cosmetic Chemists in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Biltmore in New York City.

About 400 members of the society gathered for a dinner and dance in honor of Dr. Plechner, past president of the association and past chairman of the scientific section of the Toilet Goods Association of the United States.

Dr. Plechner, currently assistant director of research at Carter Products of Cranbury, was presented the society's annual medal award for outstanding service to the cosmetic industry. The award is presented each year to the individual, anywhere in the world, who has provided distinguished service to the industry.

Dr. Plechner holds several patents in the fields of anti-perspirants, and is author of the chapter on anti-perspirants in the book, "Cosmetics, Science and Technology."

A graduate of Douglass College, she received her doctor's degree from Columbia University. She has been associated with Carter Products for 23 years.

Her husband, Walter W. Plechner, a Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army, was killed in action in World War II.

Brazilian Exchange Student To Meet Her Counterparts

The Edison Chapter of the American Field Service has invited 40 exchange students in central New Jersey to a tea at Edison Township High School on Sunday in the library 2:30 to 4 p.m. The exchange students and their host families are invited to meet Edison's foreign exchange student. Miss Irenilde Pereira Dos Santos from Sao Palo, Brazil.

Rene is in her senior year at Edison and expects to graduate with the class of 1966. For the first marking period this year, Rene was on the Honor Roll. Recently, her classmates gave her a party for her 18th birthday and presented her with a class ring. She has also been giving talks to local organizations. This week Rene spoke to the Metuchen-Edison Kiwanis Club. Rene is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Michael Lynch, 16 Colfax road.

The refreshments, table settings, and favors are being prepared by the senior homemaking classes.

'Gulton Gets Red Carpet, But Not Here'

Officials of Gulton Industries Inc., one of Metuchen's largest industries, this week compared the red carpet treatment it received in York, Pennsylvania, to the attitude of local officials.

According to a Gulton spokesman, Metuchen has been guilty of "pure inefficiency" in its failure to complete efforts to pave the road leading to the company's plant on Durham avenue. Noting that Gulton represents "the largest industry in Metuchen, employing 1,000 workers," the spokesman added, "It looks like the borough is trying to repel industry instead of attracting it by putting a thumb in the eye of Gulton." In addition to creating an inconvenience to workers traveling to and from work, company officials said, work on the road is "cutting people off from doing business in town." They noted the road has been closed since July.

Contrasting the local situation to the company's construction of a new $635,000 plant in York, Dr. Leslie K. Gulton, president, lauded the "wonderful team work between government and industry."

Dr. Gulton said, "The state of Pennsylvania, through the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority, certainly affords outstanding opportunities to industry and we've had excellent cooperation from the York County Industrial Development Corporation."

The two authorities found the land, architect and builders, provided the financing and are erecting the new plant to company specifications, according to Dr. Gulton.

Local Families Sing Praises of Corpsmen

Some 35 Metuchen and Edison families are singing the praises of the Kilmer Job Corps Center.

These are the families who entertained almost 200 Corpsmen on Thanksgiving Day. Without exception, the 14 families asked to comment on these visits, said they would be happy to entertain these boys again.

"The whole experience was a wonderful one," report Mr. and Mrs. George Verbel of Metuchen. "The boys from the Kilmer Job Corps Center were friendly warm and most receptive to our hospitality. We must thank the Job Corps for the opportunity afforded us to participate in this worthwhile project. It certainly added to our normal family celebration."

Mrs. Leonard Caplan of Fords said, "They seemed very appreciative to be a part of the homelife. Both boys had excellent manners . . . they are a credit to the Job Corps. We plan to invite these boys back to our home again."

"Family life is what these boys miss, as well as home cooked food," according to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker Jr. of Edison. "We have since had our boys back again and have opened our home to them as their 'home away from home'."

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ruesch found that one of their guests wanted to attend church regularly and have made plans to drive him to church on Sunday and bring him home for dinner. They expressed the desire "to have our boys or others return for Christmas and Sunday dinners throughout the year."

Many of the families said they were impressed with the Corpsmen's efforts to learn and to become more productive citizens. "Sincere", "intelligent", "appreciative" and "well mannered" are comments that appeared over and over again in the reports made by the 14 families.

Rev. George Chorba and Mrs. John West, chairman of the program, were delighted with its success and have already begun to plan for a repeat performance Christmas.

Some 200 boys, according to Mrs. West, will not be able to return home for the Christmas vacation. For many this will be their first Christmas away from home. Families are being sought to open their homes on Christmas Day or any day of the vacation period which runs from December 20 to January 2.

Organizations are also asked to invite a group of boys to participate in their special holiday activities.

Those interested in inviting one or more Corpsmen to their homes are asked to call Rev. Chorba at LI 9-5101, Mrs. F. W. Buchanan at 548-1106 or Mrs. West at 548-2164.

An appeal is also being made to local merchants to donate gifts for a Christmas Party December 14 at the Center.

HP Social Worker is Committed to Hospitality

By LOUISE SAUL

The day after Eleanor Ross graduated from Rutgers University College, her sons had an argument over who would be first to bring their mother's mortarboard tassel to school.

"That was one argument I really enjoyed," Mrs. Ross recalled. "I knew then if I hadn't known it before that the six years I'd spent going nights and summers to get that degree were just as important to my sons as they were to me."

Eleanor Ross was born and raised in New Brunswick. When she finished high school, she went out to work. "The thought of college was there, but not the money," she says.

After marriage and motherhood, something happened to Mrs. Ross' thinking that lead to further study and ultimately a career in social work. "My real perception of what went into raising a child didn't emerge until then. I began to see the problems of the community in relationship to bringing up my children. A perception of reality is painful to every one-- white or Negro. We rationalize, but that doesn't minimize the problem."

As Mrs. Ross became more active in community affairs, she noticed a kind of "type casting" taking place. "I was being thought of as a Negro representative -- not just a mother or a citizen who wanted to share in important community work. And I became more aware of the kind of stereotypes fostered on the Negro by the community."

This awareness, she feels, was sharpened even more because both her children were boys. "I could see more clearly all the factors in our society that operate to make a Negro male feel less than a man, and rob him of the confidence so necessary for a feeling of self-worth."

As awareness grew, so did the determination to further her own education and continue her volunteer community work. As a member of the Highland Park Civil Rights Commission, Urban League, and PTA and as a Scout Leader and committee member for The Community Welfare Commission, Mrs. Ross got busy on the problems she saw around her.

At the same time, she finished working on a degree in psychology. Now, as a Research Assistant of the Urban Study Center at Rutgers, she is working toward her Master of Social Work degree.

The five foot four inch, 109 - pound, extremely youthful-looking mother of 15 and 10-year-old sons, ("No, a career woman should never tell her age.") lives on South 8th avenue in Highland Park. "It's the section of Highland Park where the Negroes live," she explained. "Although it's integrated, it's predominately Negro. We moved there six years ago and it took us the same number of years to find a decent place that would suit our needs."

Even so, Mrs. Ross is generous in her praise of life in Highland Park. "Although there are only two Negro families on the north side of town," she said, "there are many people in Highland Park with an awareness and commitment to the whole human rights problem. Perhaps the biggest problem there is to recognize that we still have a long way to go before open occupancy housing is a fact. But actually Highland Park has good potential to be a well - integrated community."

At present, Eleanor Ross is working to help establish area committees to set up a hospitality program for students at the Kilmer Job Corps Center. "The purpose of the program," she explained, "is to give the students at the center a chance to participate in group and family activities. We are looking for area residents who will invite the students into their homes, visit them, and perhaps even take them to places they would otherwise not have access to. Actually, such a program is centered about a warm, friendly, learning experience."

To date, area committees have been established in Plainfield and Metuchen-Edison.

With the slender, heart-shaped faced, articulate Mrs. Ross working on the program, one has confidence that before long all the students at Kilmer will be visiting with area residents.

NEWS FROM JOHN P. STEVENS HIGH SCHOOL

HAWK TALK

BY Karen Rose Smith

Latest on the JPS sports scene -- basketball season -- begins here tomorrow with the Hawks' first home game against St. Joseph's. Although the Hawks had a rather poor season last year, it is hoped our record will vastly improve. Highlighting the new season will be a pep rally on Friday during the sixth and seventh periods, featuring the band, cheerleaders, drill team, and twirlers. Everyone is optimistic and from this corner we can only add -- Good luck, Hawks!

The Senior play, "Gramercy Ghost," produced last week was, of course, a success and congratulations are due to all concerned. Congratulations are also extended to Edison High School, who also produced a fine play, "Stage Door," last week.

Next on the Stevens drama scene will be a musical planned for production in the early spring. Choreography will be handled by the Modern Dance Club, formed only last week. Mrs. Ollie Freeman, adviser, said that the main purpose of the club is to prepare for the gym show on April 1, but the dancing she will teach the 138 members will be of a theatrical nature owing to the extreme difficulty of pure modern dance. In addition, Mrs. Freeman will require each girl to be proficient in at least one folk dance, an extension of those learned in gym class by all girls.

Once again the literary efforts of Stevens students have been commended. Maureen White, Rita Novakowsky and Dallas Hanake placed first, second and third respectively as finalists from Edison Township in an essay contest sponsored by the VFW, on the topic "Democracy: What It Means to Me."

"I was very surprised that such an honor would happen to a 'lowly plebeian' like me," Maureen stated. Maureen's tape recorded essay will be entered now in county competition and hopefully go on to state and national recognition.

The Girls' Service Club is preparing for its annual trip to Muhlenberg Hospital to sing Christmas carols to the patients. Barbara Bachovchin, president, ambitiously hopes to be allowed to have the group sing at other neighboring hospitals.

On the intellectual plane -- several Stevens students are beginning to anticipate the College Bowl series in January. The first match will be on January 7 at Edison and a re-match at Stevens on January 28. Mr. Leonard Carter and Miss Elsie Kovacs are advisers to the Stevens' team. The matches will follow the same rules as the television show of the same name.

Witty Rita Novakowsky has received her reward. Several of her funnyisms were accepted by Datebook Magazine with, of course, monetary compensation. Is this a sign of more to come?

The Sentinel Publishing Company has added to the Hawks' football honor by selecting Tom Gargulio and Frank McElrath for their first squad. Tom was the area's leading scorer (69 points) and Frank is Stevens' most dependable lineman. Also, Coach Joe Gutowski was selected as Coach of the Year, having led Stevens to a 7-2 record. Brian McGowan and Pat Tylka hold places on the second team. Bill Thomas and Glenn Jannarone received honorable mention.

One of the most unusual celebrations at this time of the year is the Saturnalia Festival, the Latin Club's answer to Christmas. All Latin students are expected to attend the festival on December 15, along with special guests. The most unique feature of the celebration is the requirement that all in attendance wear the traditional Roman toga.

The Student Council has announced an exchange program to increase understanding and friendliness between neighboring high schools. All representatives are eligible for exchange or to be guides to visiting students. The schools involved are Edison, Metuchen, South Plainfield, Kennedy, Woodbridge and St. Peter's. No date has been announced as yet.

Artist craftsman, sculptor, and set designer Mrs. K. Gruenwald of Edison, was guest speaker of the Art Club last Friday. She spoke about her career and showed some of her work. Mrs. Gruenwald has designed sets for the New York Shakespearean Festival.

HP Students Eye Careers

The career opportunities in medicine, plumbing, office work and mechanics were explored by Highland Park High School students in the third session of the current Career Conference sponsored by the school Guidance Department and the Highland Park Exchange Club.

Students met with Richard Singer, Highland Park plumber, Dr. Robert Freeman of Highland Park, office receptionist Mrs. Marie Kane and machinist

Kirk Leichssening Tuesday to discuss the pros and cons of their respective fields.

Charles Pulcrano, guidance director, explained the program as an effort to help students make as intelligent a decision as possible in choosing a career. Today's youth, he said, are confronted with a choice of more than 30,000 possible careers.

The conference program was established to acquaint them with as many fields as possible.

Postmasters' Tip: Mail Early, Often

"Mail early and often," was the emphatic reply by area postmasters when questioned about the anticipated Christmas mail flow. All said they expected a record amount of mail to pass through the post office.

As the assistant postmaster at Metuchen said,

"We sure will give it the old college try," when asked how the postmen would ever handle the 100,000 pieces of mail expected daily during the Christmas rush. Mail volume will reach its peak between December 13 and 22, and 30 extra employees will be added to cope with the increase.

The Edison Post Office will add 14 more people to its staff to handle the flood which is expected to begin around December 15.

The Highland Park post office reports that most all overseas mail is already in and on its way. For the Christmas deluge, 15 additional employees will be hired. Highland Park believes that the Christmas mail will begin Monday and gradually reach its peak around December 15.

Besides mailing early and often, residents are reminded to use proper addresses with zip codes whenever possible.

Edison Squadmen Answer 50 Calls

Captain Michael Arace of the Edison First Aid Squad Two said the squad responded to 50 first aid calls during the month of November. Members donated 212 man hours and the ambulance traveled 1007 miles.

Elected officers for the coming year are Matthew

Curto, president, Arlene Curto, vice president, George Esso, secretary-treasurer, Charles Huguenin, captain, Malcolm Thorne, Louis Sands, Pat Charland, lieutenants, and Matthew Curto, Ray Dixon, Albert Kruzewski, trustees.

Memberships to the senior and junior roster are available.

Senior Citizens Help Needy

Two needy Edison families had a happier Thanksgiving through the generosity and kindness of the members of the Edison Township Senior Citizen's Group, sponsored by the Edison Township Recreation Department. Baskets complete with turkeys and all the fixings were given on Thanksgiving Eve. Mrs. Dora Engel is president of the group which meets every Friday afternoon at 1 p.m. in the Community Room of the Julius Engel garden apartments. All Edison Senior Citizens over the age of 55 are eligible to join.

Not First on Street

An interesting observation was brought to our attention by one of our readers this week. Division street in Metuchen has now had two young ladies chosen as Miss Merry Christmas. Just last month, Nancy Pico was crowned Miss Merry Christmas, while two years ago, Joanne Stumpf won the coveted title. Division street denizens have a right to feel proud and lucky!

Flowers for Princess

Kaiser Flowers of Metuchen answered the call of a New York customer last week by supplying the two dozen rare chinamums which made up the bouquet of flowers presented to Princess Margaret upon her arrival in New York City. The chinamums which grow to be four feet tall, are saucer-size daisies, tan in color with a green center. After being cut, the chinamum will retain its life for more than three weeks.

Miss Christmas Says Thanks

We received a note from Miss Nancy Pico this week: "I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the people of Metuchen, the Chamber of Commerce and The Recorder for their support and for giving me the honor of being Miss Merry Christmas. Thank you."

MHS Forms Ski Team

Students of Metuchen High School will sponsor a ski team for the first time this winter with the hope that it will be capable of racing other schools next year. A training program for racers is now in progress. The Ski Club also plans events for the coming season.

Budget Ideas?

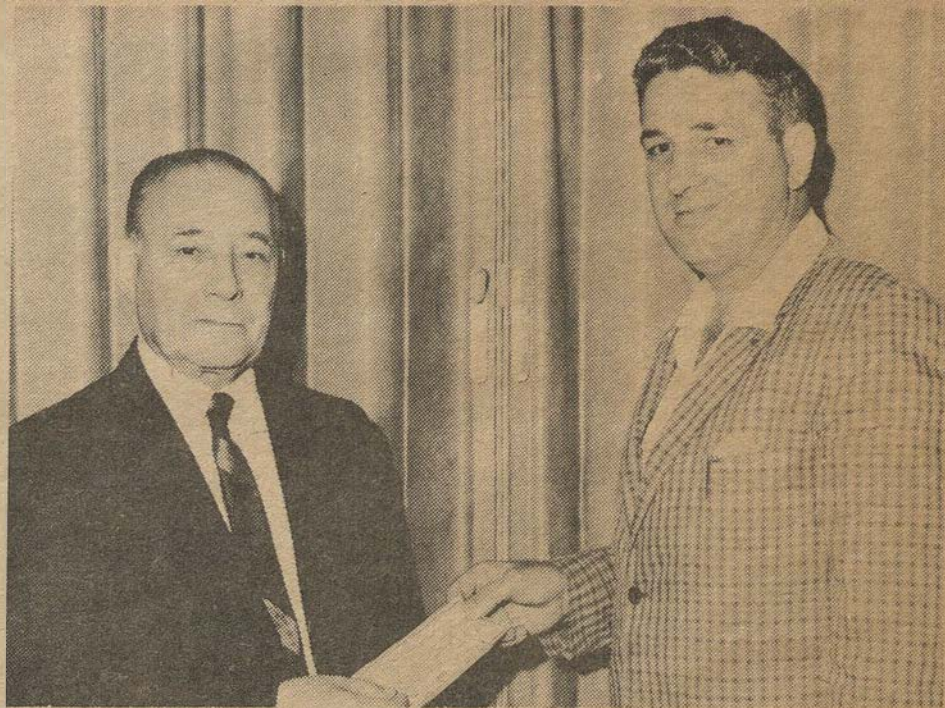

Edison's Township Council will give residents a chance to have a hand in the preparation of the municipality's 1966 budget.

The council will conduct a public hearing at its meeting Wednesday night. Requests and suggestions on what the budget should include will be heard.

Mayor Anthony Yelencsics will unveil the new budget at the Township Council meeting on January 15. The budget must be adopted by March 15.

Parkite Welcomes Swedish Visitor

By LOUISE SAUL

This fall for the first time, Mr. and Mrs. John Cain of 323 South First avenue, Highland Park, have not shared their home with one of their children. In September, Martha, the youngest of their six children went off to college.

Now, they had something they had not had before--space for a guest. And when Eunice Cain read about the need for homes for foreign teachers visiting Rutgers under the State Department's International Teacher Development Program, she knew just what to do with the space.

"I remember," the gray-haired, patrician-looking Eunice Cain said, "that I called Dr. Henry Herge, coordinator of the program, and told him I would like to provide room for a Swedish girl. Why Swedish? I suppose because a relative of mine had a Swedish exchange student and things went so well."

Mrs. Cain's guest turned out to be Ingegard Axen, 38, an English and German teacher from a high school in Linkoping, Sweden. She came the same month the youngest daughter went off to college and by coincidence was the same age as the Cain's first daughter.

Although the rigorous schedule of the American Civilization Program at Rutgers has kept Miss Axen busy, she and Mrs. Cain have had ample time to become warm friends. "I usually come home from a new experience," Miss Axen said, "and ask Mrs. Cain all kinds of questions. Can it be true? Did I misunderstand? Is it really so?"

"Which reminds me," Miss Axen addressed the reporter, "You were a teacher and I heard something about teachers here I can hardly believe. Is it true that teachers are not given a six-month paid leave for pregnancy?"

The reporter assured her she'd heard correctly. "But that's amazing," she said. "Being docked during pregnancy is like being punished for having a baby. What a strange idea! All women who work in Sweden get at least partial pay during maternity leaves."

"It sounds like a good idea," Mrs. Cain agreed, "but I don't think it will ever come."

"I think," Miss Axen continued, "that in Sweden we speak more frankly and honestly about sex. We let even our young children know that it's a natural important part of life that carries certain responsibilities with it. You know the other day I was in a classroom and I showed the children some works of one of our great sculptors. One happened to be a nude. Everyone sniggered. This would not happen in Sweden."

MRS. JOHN CAIN AND MISS INEGARD AXEN

Despite big and small surprises, Ingegard Axen is quick to assure listeners that the best part of her six-month tour has been person-to-person relationships. "The Swedish people," she said, "get their idea of Americans from television programs and movies. It's a very distorted picture. Of course," she laughed, "we send you some pretty terrible movies too."

Professionally, Miss Axen is interested in learning more about American English. "We teach British English in our schools and it is not enough. Your country is a pioneer in education, so I want to explore your textbooks and methods thoroughly. Already we have borrowed so much from you."

On December 16, Eunice Cain will lose her house guest when the visiting teachers leave the New Brunswick area for Chicago. Will she be lonesome? Eunice Cain does not think so.

"We loved having Ingegard," she said, "but she must go on with her life and career just as one's children must. Perhaps the hardest thing a parent can do is to let go. But there are rewards too--seeing one's children successfully on their own. We were lucky. Our children's ages range from 38 to 18 so we had young people in the house longer than most."

Whatever Eunice Cain decides to do with her new leisure, Ingegard Axen will probably always remember her as the intelligent, gracious American who introduced her to a deeper understanding of all Americans--the kind of woman rarely exported to foreign countries via American television or movies.

It's 08840 In Metuchen

As part of a nation-wide program to streamline the zip code system, Metuchen Postmaster Holger G. Holm announced today that effective next January 15, a single, five-digit zip code number will serve the entire borough. Everyone in the borough will have the same number -- 08840.

Metuchen is one of 643 cities in which two or more zip codes have been merged into a single number in order to simplify the system.

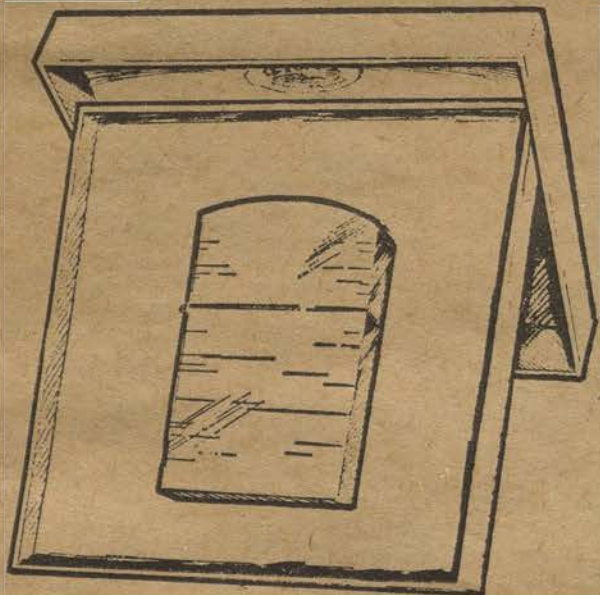

Mail users may continue to use their zip code number on their stationery and other printed mailing equipment until the present supply is exhausted. Individual notices announcing the change will be sent to every postal customer in Metuchen.

Edison Eagle In Top Ten

The Edison Eagle, the student newspaper at Edison High School, was among the top ten school newspapers honored by the Scholastic Press Association of New Jersey at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark recently.

Leading the Edison High School delegation were Stan Bonis, editor-in-chief, and staff members Bob Dorfman, Carol Koehler, Kathy Slover, Janet Steckowich and Mrs. B.G. Breitkopf, advisor.

Metuchen Jaycees Set Blood Drive

The Metuchen Jaycees, in keeping with the National Jaycees, stand in support of the United States' policy in Viet Nam, will sponsor a blood drive with the co-operation of the American Red Cross.

Residents in the Metuchen area will be asked to donate blood on Saturday, January 15, between 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. at Metuchen High School. Registration, however, is being conducted today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Those interested in donating blood should contact Chairman Louis Querec or register at 389 Main street next to the railroad underpass. The registration headquarters' telephone number is 549-8999.

The Jaycees feel the drive will illustrate to the minority that the majority of American people are behind the United States policy in Viet Nam.

The Jaycees also are soliciting food, clothing, soap, tools, etc. which will be forwarded to Viet Nam. Contributions to the drive

Gambocz Clear

Bill J. Gambocz, who was defeated by a 5,000 margin by Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics in the Edison mayoralty race in November, last week was cleared of charges that he issued a worthless $55 check to Mrs. Marie Keller of 51-A Garfield Park Apartments.

The Middlesex County Grand Jury dismissed the case following an investigation begun after Mrs. Keller made the charges August 31. The Grand Jury received the case from Acting Magistrate Andrew D. Desmond, who ordered Gambocz held for its action after a hearing.

The charges stemmed from a rebate on a cancelled automobile insurance. Mrs. Keller said she received the check on May 26, 1964. Gambocz owns The Barton Agency in Edison.

ON THE BILLBOARD

By ALICELEE CONN

It's beginning to sound a lot like Christmas with a number of holiday concerts planned by both professional and amateur groups in the area.

The Columbus Boy-choir's annual Christmas concert will be held December 21 at 8:15 p.m. at The McCarter Theatre.

"Sing of a Merry Christmas" will be presented by the Madison Chorale Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Madison Township High School. Director William S. Kreher has announced a four part program covering medieval carols, Old English carols, church music and carols in concert. The 32-member choral group will join the high school band for the "Hallelujah Chorus," which concludes the program.

The Maimonides Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will sponsor a children's show December 29 at 10 a.m. in the East Brunswick Indoor-Outdoor movie theater. "Snow White and the Three Stooges" and cartoon shorts will be shown during the three hour program. Tickets at 75 cents for children and $1 for adults may be obtained by calling 257-2715 or 545-7229.

Clive Huggins, outstanding baritone, will present a concert of sacred and Christmas music at the East Brunswick Assembly of God Church Sunday at 7 p.m. Huggins, who has appeared with a number of opera companies throughout the country and who is currently studying with Samuel Margolis in New York, was featured soloist for the popular television program "Christ is the Answer" broadcast weekly by the First Assembly of God in Memphis.

The Douglass College Music Department will sponsor its Christmas concert December 12 at 4 p.m. in Voorhees Chapel.

The New Brunswick Art Center's annual Christmas Show and Sale is now at the center's new location on the lower level of Birn's Candy Store in New Brunswick. The show, which offers a large selection of unique gifts, will continue through Sunday. Hours are 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. daily and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"A Place in the Sun," the 1951 film based on Theodore Dreiser's novel, "An American Tragedy," will be shown December 9 in Scott Hall, Rutgers University, at 8 p.m. The movie is open to the public.

Reservations for the December 19 Theatre Party to see "Guys and Dolls" at the Paper Mill Playhouse, sponsored by the New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children, are still available. Tickets at $5, $10 and $15 may be reserved by calling Mrs. Lorraine Johnson, 548-1327.

County's New EOC Director:

Poverty War 'No Giveaway'

By LOUISE SAUL

The 240-pound, six-foot one-inch frame of Milton Zatinsky, executive director of the Middlesex County Economic Opportunities Corporation, seems to fill the tiny cubicle which is serving as temporary headquarters of the organization he heads. The telephone's constant ringing bears evidence of a program that is, if not underway, at least beginning.

The administration staff of the county's EOC program calls for 12 permanent employees. And it is this project and the setting up of adequate office facilities that occupies some of Zatinsky's long day. Slated to be hired are an assistant director, field representative, six neighborhood aides and several clerical workers. An eight-member personnel team composed of members of the Board of Trustees will screen and hire applicants. In the meantime, Zatinsky spends at least four evenings a week at meetings or talking to groups, explaining the goals of the EOC program.

"There is a great deal of misunderstanding about this program," Zatinsky explained. To ensure co-operation it's important that people in the area know what we're trying to do."

"We must convince the middle class that this is no charity program--no giveaway. We want to open doors to the poor, doors that will help them to help themselves break the cycle of poverty. It's the problem of the middle class too--for both humane reasons and enlightened self-interest--to see that slum

Bank is Like An Octopus--- Eight Branches

The First National Bank of Middlesex County will establish its eighth banking office on Monday when it opens a new branch in East Brunswick.

The new office, which has been designated the East Brunswick II Office, is located at the intersection of South River-Cranbury road and Rues lane. The branch bank is at the northeast corner, adjoining an existing shopping center.

Although a modern banking office is planned for the site, the branch will be housed temporarily in a large trailer fitted especially for banking service. Construction of the permanent building will await determination of a traffic pattern for the site and long-range customer facilities.

Joseph G. Mark, president, described the new office as "another milestone in the rapid growth of The First National Bank of Middlesex County and continued evidence of our desire to provide complete and convenient banking facilities for our patrons."

He noted that the trailer bank will offer complete deposit and loan facilities and night depository. The trailer is equipped with an ultra-sonic alarm system. An adjoining structure is being built for drive-up window service.

The bank's main office and administration building is also in East Brunswick.

Mark said that "the rapid growth of East Brunswick and the anticipated development of this township has impressed upon us the desirability of making our services available at a second location."

The new East Brunswick office will be open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Joseph Cooper Jr. has been appointed manager of the office.

In addition to the two East Brunswick locations, the bank has offices in Parlin, Sayreville, Jamesburg, Spotswood, South River and Leisure World.

YWCA Reports Progress

The Greater Brunswick YWCA has received cash donations and pledges totaling $95,240.24 in the agency's fund drive for the construction of a swimming pool complex, it was announced by Mrs. Arthur Burns, president of the YWCA's board of directors and chairman of the drive. This is a substantial addition to the previous total of $403,586 collected to date for the overall YWCA building project. Mrs. Burns pointed out that the new YWCA facility, started in 1962 and located at Livingston avenue and New street in New Brunswick, remains unfinished until the pool complex has been completed.

"On the other hand, we also have to break through the shell of those living in poverty. It would be very understandable for them to greet the whole program with hopeless cynicism." Pointing out that many members of the 67-man Board of Trustees come from either poverty areas or the poverty population, Zatinsky said, "We have people on the Board who are living on welfare, on inadequate pensions and in sub-standard housing. It's impossible for a group of middle class professionals to really know the needs of the poverty stricken." The federal government, which supplied a grant of $45,568 for the first six months' organizing work, insisted more representatives from the poverty area be added to the Board. The freeholders, who supply $5,000 of the first six months' budget, of course complied, Zatinsky says he is pleased with the results. Born and raised in New York City, Zatinsky (who is 42) finished both high school and college at night. Presently, he attends The New School for Social Research where he is 16 credits away from his doctorate in political and social science. His experience--always with people, often with the underprivileged--includes: project manager for the Marshall Plan; assistant to the executive director of the Lower Eastside Neighborhood Association in New York City; trade union consultant; and director of Education with the American Newspaper Guild CIO. Zatinsky, his wife and six-year-old daughter have moved to Metuchen. But, except for the past few weeks, he is a stranger to Middlesex County. Does he think this will hurt his efficiency? "Like most things," he said, "this has a good and bad side. Of course I'll have to take the time to learn many, many things about the county. But then I will also bring the fresh approach of the 'outsider.' I have no political commitments or ties to special groups."

According to Zatinsky, a first step in the attack on poverty, will be to send neighborhood aids into poverty areas. "There will be a lot of doorbell ringing and talking to acquaint people with the idea of establishing a neighborhood association to deal with common problems of poverty." "It is these neighborhood organizations that will form the base of operation for the anti-poverty program. We will help, but it will be their program--tailored to fit their needs." "I suppose I took this job," Zatinsky said, "because it's such a challenge. This country has done amazing things with machines, but not so well with people."

Tardy Decision

Charges that Bill J. Gambocz, unsuccessful Republican candidate for mayor in Edison, issued a worthless $55 check were dismissed by the Middlesex County Grand Jury last week.

The Grand Jury's action, we believe, came more than a month too late.

We don't think that an early decision on the charges by the Grand Jury would have changed the outcome of the mayoralty "race" in the township. Mayor Anthony Yelencsics easily ran away with the victory by a 5,000-vote margin. Gambocz was trying to overcome tremendous odds, considering Yelencsics popularity, the growth of Edison under his administration and the strength of the Democratic Party, not only in the township, but also in the county.

We don't, however, feel that any candidate should have such a cloud hanging over his head as the voters go to the polls on Election Day.

Gambocz' charge that Yelencsics used township materials and personnel to construct and erect election campaign signs were disposed of by the Grand Jury within a week after they were made. Prosecutor Edward Dolan said the case was moved up on the Grand Jury's list to clear it up before the election. We believe the same measures should have been taken in the case of the charges against Gambocz.

Dolan said the charges against Yelencsics were investigated and a decision rendered because it was a campaign issue, while the worthless check charge against Gambocz had nothing to do with the election campaign.

We don't agree with Dolan's thinking. The mere fact that Gambocz was a candidate, selected by the township Republican organization and a victory in the June primary race, makes the charge against him a campaign issue.

The investigation and decision by the Grand Jury could have been stepped up to eliminate any doubts the voters may have had about Gambocz' guilt or innocence.

A Bountiful Christmas, But---

All signs point to a historic Christmas season in Middlesex County. Decorations seem more lavish than ever. Out post offices are buzzing. Stores are happily crowded. Excitement mounts, money flows. Bigger, brighter packages pile in our closets. Isn't Christmas wonderful?

Not for everyone. Not where there is serious illness in the family. We are especially concerned with the 770 among us who need attention because of tuberculosis. Add to these the great many Middlesex County residents who are suffering from other respiratory diseases, including pneumonia, bronchitis, and, perhaps, emphysema.

Our Christmas Seal association takes action in helping these people. Its program reaches into hospitals, clinics, schools and homes. Its work embraces a year-round attack against TB, other respiratory diseases, and all dangers to our breath of life.

Now we are being asked to help the Christmas Seal Campaign. In view of the bountiful Christmas season promised to most of us in this area, we hope the appeal of the Middlesex County Tuberculosis and Health League receives an overwhelming response.

UNICEF Cards -- a Double Purpose

This Christmas, Americans are expected to spend more than $700 million on some seven billion greeting cards. But only some of them will have lasting meaning both here and abroad. Prominent among these are the cards produced by UNICEF - the United Nations Children's Fund - which will again bring help and hope to millions of the world's underprivileged children.

Every one of the 40 million cards which UNICEF expects to sell this year will help a child in need - somewhere in the world. With the proceeds from one box alone, 50 children can be protected from tuberculosis. Last year, UNICEF was able to realize net proceeds of $2,300,000 from the sale of its greeting cards, an amount sufficient to provide equipment and supplementary drugs for 5,295 small maternal and child health centers and the drugs for one year's home treatment of 1,250,000 TB patients and a three months' supply of vitamin capsules for four million children.

With the designs donated by some of the best international artists, UNICEF cards are highly imaginative and original, and in no way reminiscent of the miseries they help to alleviate. A free full-color brochure is available from UNICEF Greeting Cards, United Nations, New York, 10017.

Friday evening, December 10, Sabbath Services will be held at the Congregation Beth-El, Jefferson boulevard and Spencer street at 8:30 p.m. Rabbi David Leiter will conduct the service and Cantor Jerrold Held will chant the liturgy.

Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zeloof will sponsor the Oneg Shabbat in honor of their son Joseph's forthcoming Bar-Mitzvah. At the same time, the Sisterhood will assist at the Oneg Shabbat for the children who celebrated birthdays during the month of November, and youngsters who will celebrate birthdays during the month of December.

Sabbath morning, Rabbi Leiter and Cantor Held will begin services at 9 a.m. in honor of the Bar-Mitzvah of Joseph Zeloof, who will be called to the Torah to read a portion of the Haftorah.

The Ramot Chapter of the B'nai B'rith sponsored a Magic Show for the children at the Menlo Park Diagnostic Center recently. The women, under the leadership of Mrs. Peppy Wolfson, citizenship and civic chairman, and her committee, did a superb job of baking all the cup cakes and cookies served to the children.

Mike Q. of Coronet Studios, and his two children, Joy Q., 11 and Louis Q., 8, compiled all the material that was needed, then directed and acted in the Magic Show.

The Mother's Auxiliary of Boy Scout Troop 47, held a meeting to discuss plans for the Christmas Party to be given the Scouts.

To the Men in Viet Nam On Thanksgiving Day '65

TO THE EDITOR:
In Viet Nam, the men,
Long may their breed endure,
Trade their todays again,
That freedom may mature!

With human rights the prey
Of predatory power,
Free men dare not delay
In this decisive hour.

The creeping centipede,
Now seeking a new stride,
Still stumbling in its greed,
Must fall beneath the tide.

Of freedom's forward force
In its own habitat,
Lest, feeding in its course,
It grow to giant fat!

To heroes of Ia Drang,
And scores before, we bow;
We feel again the pang
That we have felt 'ere now.

For every day we live
In blessed liberty,
Our thanks to you we give,

'Dear Santa: I Would Like...'

Santa Claus is never going to be allowed to miss his mark, according to the volume of early bird mail already received from area children. Here is a glimpse of some of the recent requests:

Dear Santa Claus,

I will like to have a big press.

Thank you, Mark P.

Dear Santa Claus,

How are you and I want a tape recorder and a chemistry set and a foot-long fish tank.

OWL OUTLOOK

The HPHS basketball team will make its first appearance of the 1965-66 season tomorrow night in the high school gym against Metuchen. Could it be a foreshadowing of things to come that several HP players were also active on the gridiron one fateful Thanksgiving Day when the Owl nine trounced the Bulldogs in the closing game of the football season?

Congratulations to Jack Simscak who was named to the all-state football team, Group II division, by the Newark Evening News and Craig McGrath, who rated a berth on the All County team of the Home News.

when the HPHS Debate Team will compete with other orators, December 11, at the Dwight Morrow High School. This year, the team, which at present numbers 23 students, will be led by seniors Art Hoffman and Dave Strauss.

Don't forget that there will be three presentations of the children's tale of "Winnie-the-Pooh" on Friday, December 11, at 7 p.m. and Saturday, December 12 at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. The show is directed by Robert Stevens and includes an original musical score by Condit Atkinson and choreography by Vicki Sklarew.

The list of seniors admitted to college is growing steadily. The new additions are Matt Leiver, Rutgers; Tom Silver, Drew University; and Edith Devoe, University of Maine.

NEWS FROM EDISON HIGH SCHOOL

EAGLES NEST

By Pat Flemetakis

"The Stage Door" opened last Thursday night to a responsive audience. The excellent performances of the actors and actresses made all the hard work and long hours put into the play worthwhile.

Edison's senior co-captains Lenny Bonalsky and Sammy Pearson are planning to visit Delaware University in Newark, Delaware, sometime in January. Lenny and Sam each received a letter of invitation from the dean of the university. They plan to tour the campus with the dean and meet the coaches of the athletic teams.

Talent is bursting out all over at ETHS. "The Enchantments" made their first TV appearance last Wednesday at the Mosque Theater in Newark on "Disco-Teen" with Zach-erley.

Playing in this talented group are Seniors Mike Petro and Joe Romeo; Al Moy from Woodbridge; Bill Ryan from St. Joseph's and a graduate from Edison in '65, Stan Funicelli.

Some of their Edison friends went to the Mosque Theater and danced on the show with the group. They included Gary Freeze, Gary Gove, Helene Gubik, Pat Havens, Linda Martello Mickey McGuire, Rose Moskowitz, Kathy O'Neil, Steve Papp, Barbara Spence, Dana Stamm, Joe Wirtz, Lynn Wirtz, Nancy Wogan, and Kathy Young. Zach-erley let Helene Gubik, Pat Havens, Kathy O'Neil and Lynn Wirtz be go-go dancers for the evening. They danced on boxes, like you see the girls on "Hullabaloo," "Shindig" and the other "go-go" programs.

The Enchantments also play for Rutgers fraternity parties and at Douglass College.

Going to see the Rolling Stones in Newark, paid off for the Enchantments. It was there they arranged to be on the program with Zacherley.

They have a recording contract to do a song called "Yabash." When they got home, they were getting calls to do jobs. December 17, they will perform at the Cross-Keys Hotel in Elizabeth.

Keep these boys' names in mind. You may see them in lights in the near future.

Last Friday the Future Nurses Association helped with the tuberculosis x-rays in Edison. The girls who helped assist the school nurses were Seniors, Jane Baumgarten, April Baruth, Linda Franklin (President of the FNA) Sara Micale and Kathy Walsh; Juniors Carol Franklin; Mary Suidut, Veronda Carico, and Donna Smoliga, and Sophomore Diane Borbeley.

We would like to thank the following boys for giving up their time to help out with the basketball schedule cards last week; Ray Bishop Jim Ensor, Kenny Fitzgerald, Lou Gargano, Dennis Jones, Jim Lynch, Tom Papp, Fred Schelberg, John Shroba, Morton Sill, John Taylor, Ron Thompson, Bob Viegelman and Richie Yatsko.

Role of Father Conference Topic

What is the role of father in the family? Should he be a pal to his children? Should he be a strict disciplinarian? Should he be a combination of the two?

These questions and others concerning the role of the father in the family will be answered tonight at 8 p.m. at the John Adams Junior High School, New Dover road, Edison.

The Parent and Family Life Committee will present its second Parent-Education Conference.

The guest speaker will be Robert M. Rice, executive secretary of the Family Counseling Service in Middlesex County. Rice is a father who holds a master of science degree in social science from the Boston University. He has been caseworker in Portland, Maine; branch director of the Family Service Society in Akron, Ohio and is presently president of the New Jersey Council of Family Agencies.

The Family Counseling Service in Middlesex County provides professional counseling services to families under stress in offices in Highland Park and Woodbridge. This service is accredited through the National standard-setting organization, Family Service Association of America.

News of Metuchen High School by Mary Skudlarek

The charm of an "Old-Fashioned Christmas" with a snow scene atmosphere will surround dancers at the Christmas Ball December 23. The annual Student Council dance is open to all classes for the cost of $3.75 per couple. The semi-formal, to be held from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. at MHS, will feature a buffet supper served around midnight.

Guests scheduled to attend are "Senior Santa" and the "Freshman Doll" and a certain special (ho, ho, ho) surprise.

The Senior Santa and Freshman doll contest conducted by the "Bulldog's Bark," the school newspaper, is kept secret until December 22, the day the newspaper is distributed. The winning senior and freshman is elected by his class, respectively, as the boy who most typifies the title "Senior Santa" and the girl who resembles a "Freshman Doll."

Mary Skudlarek

Friday evening at Highland Park High promises to be exciting as the Bulldog '65 basketball season gets underway. MHS cheer leaders trade their saddle shoes of football fame for sneakers to cheer at 6:30 p.m. for the J.V. and again at 8 p.m. for the varsity game against our arch-enemy at the away game.

The "Scriblerian," the school literary magazine, is sponsoring a contest in which short stories, poems, art work and photography entrants will be eligible for a literary award at the end of the year. Contributions are being accepted at the collection box in Room 122 by Editors Donna McKeown and Adaya Henis. The editorial staff includes Martha Swartz, Jon Isbit, Stephanie Ruben, Nancy Greenberg, Drucie Neiditz and June Eichbaum.

Ski attire is to be worn tomorrow at the Ski Club Dance in the gym. The club under the advisorship of Mr. Anthony Pugliese, plans to buy equipment for the club from the proceeds. Tickets may be obtained for 50 cents from Ski Club members only. The dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. The club, incidentally, has already started practice after school for their racing team.

Music and singing have been heard recently down the hallowed halls of MHS, as Mr. Alexander Azzolina conducts the glee club, choir, or vocal ensemble in the heavy rehearsal sessions going on practically every day after school. The reason? The annual Yuletide Festival December 22 featuring Christmas and Chanukah songs accompanied by the band. Also participating is Miss Theresa Brancale's Modern Dance Club presenting their interpretation of "Follow That Star," sung by the chorus.

CHRISTMAS CHEER begins in PERTH AMBOY

Middlesex County Area is an 'Aerial Sewer'

New Jerseyans are "sitting ducks," as pollution creates an "aerial sewer" over the Garden State, Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (N.J.-Sixth District) warns in the current issue of the New Jersey Education Association's monthly magazine, the NJEA REVIEW.

"Air pollution is on the verge of overwhelming us," the Elizabeth Republican believes.

"Fresh clean air -- essential to life, health and happiness -- is notoriously in short supply, especially in the heavily populated regions of the state," such as Middlesex County.

The situation is "bad" in industrial areas generally, she cautions, and already "critical" in northeast New Jersey.

"Yet we have hardly begun to attack this threat to the lives and safety of people," Mrs. Dwyer writes. "In the face of overwhelming evidence, we are doing little more than testing."

Polluted air can cause death, disease and disability among humans, Mrs. Dwyer writes. It damages crops, livestock, plants, flowers, clothing and is responsible for "corrosion of metals, deterioration of buildings and layers of dirt and grime everywhere." In dollars and cents, the "economic costs" of air pollution exceed $18 billion a year, she estimates.

Mrs. Dwyer names industrial discharges, auto exhausts and trash disposal as major causes of air pollution.

New Jersey is particularly vulnerable to polluted air, Mrs. Dwyer writes, because "the bulk of our population and industry is concentrated in the small, six-county north east corner of the state. The land is flat and invites the dangerous air inversions which trap fumes, gases and particles under a layer of warm air and turns the area into a vast aerial garbage heap."

This week there is a lecture on bonsai (growing miniature shrubs) at the Botanical Gardens in Brooklyn. This art is now quite prominently in the foreground of gardening. Many people are practicing it. It is fascinating. If you live long enough it may be possible to see the end results. But meanwhile it does make a fascinating hobby. There are books which may be purchased, telling one how to proceed. This would make a delightful Christmas gift for someone interested, but without the nerve to really start. It is possible to order miniature trees which have been started in most attractive pots for gifts. They are from most modest prices up to the hundreds of dollars.

It is also possible to order any one of the orchids (suitable for growing in the house) for Christmas gifts. These may be ordered from your favorite florist with directions for growing. They are not difficult and it is a source of satisfaction to be able to wear an orchid grown by ones self. Of course there are always the giant amaryllis which are so simple to grow. These come in many wonderful colors and are the best thing to send to a person ill in the hospital. For once, they start they grow very quickly and give the ill something to look forward to each day.

Now that frost is in the ground it is time to stop planting. But you may sow the seeds of hardy perennials. Under cover of the snow they will remain dormant until spring and get an early start as soon as the frost is gone from the ground. Order the seeds at once and sprinkle them where you wish them to grow. Cover very lightly, just enough to hold them with a sprinkling of peat or humus. Shirley poppies should be sprinkled on the snow. This, as it melts, will carry them down to the crevasses and insure their growth. This is the only sure way they seem to take hold.

The paper-white narcissi, which was started two weeks ago in a dark closet, should now be well-rooted and growth should be quite high. Unless it has been in a very cool place, when growth and root development will be much slower. If they are well started, take them out of the dark and place them in a cool, but light, place until the flower buds begin to show. Then put them in the sun.

It is possible to have these narcissi in bloom all winter long. It depends on how cool the place is where they are started. In the attic with no heat it will take a much longer time than in a closet on the floor. Those in the closet will be ready in a matter of two weeks. Hyacinths may be grown the same way in a hyacinth glass. These can be bought at the five-and-dime or a garden store. The base of the hyacinth must be absolutely clean and should not be tight against the glass as air must penetrate to the water. Glass and water should be clean and the bulb should never touch the water. But water should be just below the bulb. A grating of charcoal should be put in the water and the bulb placed in the top of the glass. This should be put in a dark closet and an eye kept on it. When a mass of roots are crowding the glass and the growth is about 3 or 4 inches high, move to the light. It is most important not to let the bulb get wet under any circumstances. Add water very carefully if the roots have absorbed most of it. The flower is well worth the effort. All of these bulbs may be planted outside in the spring after forcing. They will bloom the following year.

Physicians, Pharmacists, Merchants Push Jaycees' 'Project Concern'

A number of Edison physicians, pharmacists and hardware merchants are participating in the Jaycee-sponsored "Project Concern."

Mrs. Peter Conway, president of the Edison Jaycee-ettes, announced last week that the doctors, druggists and merchants are contributing medical supplies and cleaning supplies to Dr. James Turpin's clinics in Hong Kong and Viet Nam.

Mrs. Conway added that some five and a half tons of supplies will be shipped by the New Jersey Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes in support of the international project.

The four clinics operated by Dr. Turpin are largely dependent on donations from the medical profession.

The Edison Jaycee-ettes have also collected 18 cartons of food and clothing to be sent to victims of Hurricane Betsy in Louisiana.

The chapter will hold its first annual Christmas Party December 19 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis O'Shea.

Future meetings of the Jaycee-ettes will be enlivened by a new "Speak-up Jaycee-ettes" project. At each meeting a member will present a prepared talk for evaluation by the group. The project is intended to improve public speaking and listening habits.

Jan Van Raay Art Displayed

The Middlesex Rehabilitation Hospital in North Brunswick is presenting its second show this year of paintings by Jan Van Raay of Highland Park. The exhibit will open on Monday, December 13, and continue through January.

#1" on Sunday.

The artist recently exhibited her work at the 45th Annual National Exhibition of Paintings of living American Artists at the Ogunquit Art Center in Maine, and was awarded Second Place in the Labor Day Exhibition sponsored by the Suburban Guild of Creative Arts. She is presently working on a new group of paintings for a forthcoming exhibition at the Brooklyn Arts Gallery in New York.

suburban housewife Looney Landing

By Louise Saul

My heart sang last Tuesday when I read the lead Editorial in the New York Times. It proved that things are never so bad that you can't see a ray of hope if you look hard enough--or in this case, far away enough.

The editorial reassuringly reminded me that the suggestion that the United States seek international agreement on a legal code for human activity on the moon was made at a recent White House conference. The Times feels that the adoption of such a code would be a major triumph for international cooperation.

And it takes the suggestion a step further and and proposes the moon become international property governed by the United Nations. The dangers of a trip to the moon are enough, without worrying about what the enemy will do on arrival, so reasons my second favorite paper.

Since contemplating the moon is progress and so much more relaxing than thinking about the earth, I have thought of the Times' editorial off and on all week. It seemed conceivable that if the plan were adopted and worked, the moon might be a fine place to raise children.

But if we should be able to do on the moon what we have been incapable of doing here on earth, it will take some retraining and perhaps a little reverse brainwashing on both sides. Otherwise the following confusion could result.

Henry: "WE made it Walt. We're here!"

Walt: "How about that? Oh my God, look out the window. We landed in the wrong crater--right on top of the Russian camp.

Henry: "Wave to them, Walt. Let them know we're in good shape."

Walt: "Wave to them, nothing! I'm going for my ray gun."

Henry: "Now, what would you do that for?"

Walt: "They're commies boy, can't you see that?"

Henry: "So?"

Walt: "Say, what are you one of those pacifists or something?"

Henry: "Walt, didn't you ever attend your political orientation talks?"

Walt: "Listen boy, I hit the sack when they announced those meetings. Whenever I hear that garbage about love and brotherhood, I know I'm listening to some sort of religious nut."

Henry: "Nut or not, this territory is under the Solar Committee for Peaceful Expansion of the United Nations."

Walt: "The United Nations. It figures."

Henry: "Walt, no matter what you feel, I'm the senior officer here and I'm not letting you out until I myself reorientate you. Now, first you have to forget certain things--you know, clear your mind of the good guy-bad guys concept. Then..."

Ivan: "Quick, quick, a space ship's landed. Hurry, Comrade."

Vladimir: "How many times have you been told not to use the word Comrade. It's on the irritant-word list."

Ivan: "Habits of a life time are hard to change. Say, I wonder why they don't come out of the ship."

Vladimir: "Perhaps they're nervous."

Ivan: "Maybe they're spies sent from the U.N. to see if we're trigger-happy. Let's play it real cool. Really the trouble with these guys in their United Nations space ships is that you can't tell who the enemy is--I mean, was."

Vladimir: "It just occurs to me, Perhaps they're De-Gaulle's men. Remember he wouldn't sign the agreement. Pretty determined for a 102-year-old man, eh?"

Ivan: "Imperialistic dog!"

Vladimir: "Must I remind you again that that word is also on the irritant-word list?"

Ivan: "And must I remind you that my father, grandfather, and great grandfather were killed in the Viet Nam War?"

Vladimir: "If you've read the New Thought Manual, you'd know that the same thing happened to the capitalists...I mean, our friends the Americans. Let's try to get a look in the ship and see what's happening."

Ivan: "Boost me up. My gosh, they're reading the re-orientation book. How improvident of them to wait 'til now. They must be Americans. They're arguing. No., they seem to be shaking hands. Quick put me down, they're coming out!"

Vladimir: "Listen, don't tell them they have to get their ship out of this crater until they've had something to eat and drink. I think it'll be better that way."

Ivan: "Now look, we got here first and this is the crater for the first-comers, right? Even the U.N. stipulates that."

Vladimir: "But if our ship hadn't gone out of control, we wouldn't have been here in the first place. So they might have a legitimate case..."

Ivan: "I'll build a wall and block them off from the rest of the moon before I give up this crater..."

Vladimir: "I know you will. That's why I'm counting on them, Sh-sh, Here they come."

Local Lads Get All-State Recognition

The word came down from Newark on Sunday when two of the state's largest newspapers -- the News and the Ledger -- announced their annual All-State football selections. Seven area lads were among a sprinkling of Middlesex County gridders cited.

Jack Simcsak, Highland Park quarterback, was named to the first team, Group II, in both papers, while Owl Tackle Craig McGrath was listed on the Group II first team published by the Ledger and the Group II second team announced by the News. Highland Park's Bill Rausch, junior halfback, was named to the Ledger's third team, Group III.

Brian McGowan, John P. Stevens' end, received second team, Group III, recognition from the Ledger, while Bill Thomas, the Hawks' other end was named to the News' third team, Group III. Tom Gargiulo, Stevens' halfback, was selected on the Ledger's Group III third team.

Lawton McCombs, Metuchen's fullback, was named to the first team, Group II, announced by the News.

McGowan also was listed on the All-Middlesex eleven selected by the New York Daily News.

Guess Who The Boss Is At your A&P

It's you!
Think about it.
It makes sense.
All of us from the President on down work for you.

Frankly, where would we be without you and the many people like you.

We know.
We'd still be in that little store on Vesey Street where we started more than 100 years ago.

That's why you're important.
That's why we care so much about how we serve you...
about being fair, honest and dependable.

Is this kind of attitude a good reason for shopping A&P?

It's one of many.

the following recommendations: create a permanent conference committee with equal membership of both Houses to study pending legislation; lengthen the legislative session to two years instead of the present one year sessions; have the Legislature meet twice a week from January until summer recess with the month of February off to study the state budget; hire a full time professional staff for legislative leaders and give each legislator a secretarial allowance; and provide office space and equipment for each member of the State Legislature.

BOROUGH OF METUCHEN NOTICE

The bond ordinance published herewith was introduced at a meeting of the Borough Council of the Borough of Metuchen, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, held December 6, 1965, and will be further considered for final passage after a public hearing thereon at a meeting of said Borough Council to be held at the Borough Hall in said Borough on December 20, 1965, at 8 o'clock p.m., at which time all persons interested will be given an opportunity to be heard concerning such ordinance.

ERICH F. SCHUSTER
Borough Clerk.
BOND ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF AN ADDITION TO AND THE SUBSTANTIAL RECONSTRUCTION OF THE BOROUGH HALL IN AND BY THE BOROUGH OF METUCHEN, IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, NEW JERSEY, APPROPRIATING $300,000 THEREFOR, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $285,000 BONDS OR NOTES OF THE BOROUGH FOR FINANCING SUCH APPROPRIATION.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOROUGH COUNCIL OF THE BOROUGH OF METUCHEN, IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, NEW JERSEY (not less than two-thirds of all the members thereof affirmatively concurring) AS FOLLOWS: Section 1. The improvement described in Section 3 of this bond ordinance is hereby authorized as a general improvement to be made or acquired by the Borough of Metuchen, New Jersey. For the said improvement or purpose stated in said Section 3, there is hereby appropriated the sum of $300,000, said sum being inclusive of all appropriations heretofore made therefor and including the sum of $15,000 as the down payment for said improvement or purpose required by law and now available therefor by virtue of provision in a budget or budgets of the $300,000 previously adopted.

Section 2. For the financing of said improvement or purpose and to meet the part of said $285,000 appropriation not provided for by application hereunder of said down payment negotiable bonds of the Borough, each to be known as "Municipal Building Bond", are hereby authorized to be issued in the principal amount of $285,000 pursuant to the Local Bond Law of New Jersey. In anticipation of the issuance of said bonds and to temporarily finance said improvement or purpose, negotiable notes of the Borough in a principal amount not exceeding $285,000 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to and within the limitations prescribed by said Law.

Section 3. (a) The improvement hereby authorized and the purpose for the financing of which said obligations are to be issued is the construction of an addition to the existing Borough Hall located in the Borough at the intersection of Main street and Middlesex avenue, and the substantial reconstruction of the existing building by the construction of new interior walls, partitions and ceilings, new heating, air conditioning, and electrical systems, together with fixtures and all other alterations and improvements necessary for its proper use with such addition, together with all work and materials necessary therefor and incidental thereto, and all as shown on and in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor on file in the office of the Borough Clerk and hereby approved.

(b) The estimated maximum amount of bonds or notes to be issued for said purpose is $285,000.

(c) The estimated cost of said purpose is $300,000, the excess thereof over the said estimated maximum amount of bonds or notes to be issued therefor being the amount of the said $15,000 down payment for said purpose.

Section 4. The following matters are hereby determined, declared, recited and stated:

(a) The said purpose described in Section 3 of this bond ordinance is not a current expense and is a property or improvement which the Borough may lawfully acquire or make as a general improvement, and no part of the cost thereof has been or shall be specially assessed on property specially benefited thereby.

(b) The period of usefulness of said purpose, within the limitations of said Local Bond Law and according to the reasonable life thereof, is fifteen (15) years.

(c) The supplemental debt statement required by said Law has been duly made and filed in the office of the Borough Clerk and a complete executed duplicate original thereof has been filed in the office of the Director of the Division of Local Government in the Department of the Treasury of the State of New Jersey, and such statement shows that the gross debt of the Borough as defined in said Law is increased by this bond ordinance by $285,000 and that the said obligations authorized by this bond ordinance will be within all debt limitations prescribed by said Law.

(d) The aggregate amount of not exceeding $27,000 for items of expense permitted under section 40A:2-20 of said Law has been included in the foregoing estimated cost of said improvement or purpose.

Section 5. The full faith and credit of the Borough are hereby pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on the said obligations authorized by this bond ordinance. Said obligations shall be direct, unlimited obligations of the Borough, and the Borough shall be obligated to levy ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the Borough for the payment of said obligations and interest thereon without limitation of rate or amount.

Section 6. This bond ordinance shall take effect twenty (20) days after the first publication thereof after final passage, as provided by said Local Bond Law.

By CHUCK TRIBLEHORN

For a young boy who practically re-wrote the Middlesex County basketball record book last winter, Jeff Osowski probably received more unfair criticism than any other schoolboy who could pump the ball into the basket as well.

Fortunately for Jeff, he heard little from his critics. Coaches, players and fans leveled it at him in the stands, on the street or wherever area high school cage fans gathered. Jeff is a fine boy, both on and off the basketball court. He racked up A's with almost as much regularity as points. So there was nothing personal when the critics decided to let loose.

They said Jeff wasn't as good as the build-up he was getting in the newspapers. They said he was just a big lanky kid (6-6) who played the pivot and poured them through the hoop over boys much smaller than he. They said he wouldn't make a college center -- too thin, too small and without a real good shot. They said he would never be a corner man because he couldn't hit from there.

Jim Inman, Jeff's coach a year ago, however, insisted the youngster could shoot from outside the key, but why should he do it in a high school ball game when he could almost score at will from underneath?

"I have never even seen him shoot from outside when he warms up," said one critic, apparently unaware that many high school coaches prohibit their boys from taking any other shots in practice than those they normally would take in a game.

John Danna, who coached Jeff during his freshman, sophomore and junior years on the Bomber varsity, was bitter when he was not re-hired for another term at the borough school, but he didn't sour on Jeff. "You watch him go this year," said Danna, shortly before the 1964-65 season opened.

Jeff did go and in the process set a new all-time county single season scoring mark, wiping out the record established by South River's Joe Servon. Considering he was a skinny lad who couldn't shoot, quite a few "class" colleges somehow managed to find their way to Jeff's doorstep last winter. And Jeff had the pick of the crop.

The University of Pennsylvania was his choice and last September Jeff headed down to Philadelphia. Last week he returned as a member of the Penn freshman squad which met the Rutgers frosh, billed as a tall and talented quintet.

For the time being, Jeff silenced his critics, although he went into the ball game with just one thought in mind -- winning against the college located right in his own backyard.

The Penn yearlings recorded with a come-from-behind 85-81 victory over the Scarlet Knight freshmen and Jeff led his team in scoring and tied for game honors. He netted 21 points -- just eight short of his season's average last year at Sayreville High -- and did well off the backboards.

The Jeff Osowski I know is a gentleman, a scholar and a fine basketball player. He's not going to be a Wilt Chamberlain, Oscar Robertson, Bill Bradley or even a Lew Alcindor. But he's going to be one of the standout basketball players in the East. He may even pickup a few points shooting out of the corner.

Few schools keep as complete a file of statistics as Highland Park and the up-to-date log reveals a number of interesting Owl figures.

Most fans can tell you that the best football seasons enjoyed by the Parkites were 1959 and 1964, both 9-0 seasons. What was the Owls' worst year, however?

The 1946 edition lost seven ball games, while the 1937 team was 0-4, scoring just one touchdown on the campaign.

Quarterback Jack Simcsak wiped out the old school records for both passes attempted (159) and completed (83) and punting average (40.6), but he just missed breaking into the all-time top ten in scoring by one point. Jack Vanacore, the tenth place Owl, tallied 50 points in 1959. Steve Friedman '54 holds the school single season scoring record of 137 points, including 22 touchdowns.

Bill Rausch set a new pass-catching record with 37 receptions, while Tackle Craig McGrath's 133 tackles represented a new high for an individual Highland Park defender.

McGrath, incidentally, joined with Dave Camporese, Israel Mayk and Jerry Sano to form an alert defensive quartet this fall. Among them, they recovered 14 fumbles by their opponents.

Something for the girls: The female set readily takes to bowling, softball, ice and roller skating, volleyball, symnastics, tennis, swimming, basketball, golf and field hockey; but some 40 gals at Edison High School are on a new kick.

The success of the Eagle cross country team this fall, prompted them to organize the sport for girls next fall.

Perhaps it's a throwback to Al Capp's creation of "Sadie Hawkins' Day."

New Supporting Cast Joins Shroba In Edison High's Basketball Scene

All-County John Shroba will lead Edison High School through another basketball campaign, but this year it will be with a new supporting cast.

Schroba is the lone starter back from the 1964-65 edition of the Eagles which posted a 17-8 record. Gone are John Calmoneri, John Godwin, John Scordinsky and Jim Bahring, all starters who provided height, scoring and defense during the school's best cage season ever.

Shroba appeared in 19 games last winter and pumped in 274 points for a 14.4 average, tops on the team. The 6-2 senior was hampered by a knee injury, but it is hoped that an off-season operation will enable him to return to form.

Wayne Ferrullo, possibly the finest sixth man in the county last year, moves into a starting role. The 6-0 senior, who pumped in 143 points in 24 games for a 5.9 average, will team with Shroba at the forward slots.

Coach Bob Coward is counting on a promising junior, 5-10 Ed Wiechowski, to bring scoring to the backcourt. As a sophomore, Wiechowski netted 70 points playing spot duty in 16 ball games. Senior Bob Light, also 5-10, fits in at the other guard post. He, too, saw limited action in 16 games last winter.

Sam Pearson, a 5-10 senior who was a football standout at halfback, Brian Diesley, 5-10 junior, and Tom Roache, a 6-0 senior, are the other members of the squad who appeared in varsity games a year ago. Diesley, Roache and Pete Cole, a 6-2 junior, all up from the junior varsity, are battling for the fifth starting spot.

Rounding out the roster are Jim Vargo (6-1), Gene O'Malley (5-10) and Richie Scordinsky (6-3), all juniors.

The Eagles fly into the season's opener tomorrow afternoon at North Hunterdon. On Tuesday night, they meet East Brunswick in a home contest.

Owls Debut In Wrestling On Monday

Wrestling will make its debut at Highland Park High School Monday when the Owls matmen--young and inexperienced -- play host to the junior varsity team representing St. Mary's of Perth Amboy.

The first edition of the school grappling team has a limited eight-match schedule (most schools have 12 matches, plus the state tournament), but Athletic Director Jay Dakelman says the team is willing to fill in some available dates with junior varsity squads in the area.

With the exception of the Middlesex County Tournament during Christmas week, the Owls will be idle until they travel to Manville on Saturday, January 8.

The schedule already established: Monday, December 13, St. Mary's (PA) junior varsity, home, 7 p.m.; Saturday, December 8, Manville, away, 8 p.m.; Tuesday, January 11, Metuchen, home, 3:45 p.m.; Saturday, January 22, Morris Catholic, away, 8 p.m.; Wednesday, February 2, Dunellen, away, 4 p.m.; Friday, February 4, John F. Kennedy junior varsity, home 7 p.m., and Wednesday, February 9, South River, home, 7 p.m.

Owl Gridders Play Cage Role, Too

Hoping to pick up where they left off Thanksgiving Day, at least five members of the Highland Park football squad are expected to see action when the Owl basketball team opens its season tomorrow night.

Dave Meyers, Jack Simcsak, Craig McGrath, Bill Rausch and Jack Fertig, all of whom played important roles during the grid season, are members of Coach Bob Kertes' 1965-66 cage squad. Ironically, the Owls' first opponent of the recently concluded football campaign.

None of the Metuchen gridders, however, will be out for revenge. Lawton McCombs, the only Bulldog who plays both football and basketball, was injured in the grid contest with the Parkites, so he will not play tomorrow's game.

Kertes, starting his second year at the Owls' helm, is counting on six letter-winners, including three returning starters, to improve on last winter's 12-12 mark. Meyers, a 6-3 forward, and Simcsak, a 6-1 cornerman, will again be in starting roles, as will Rocco, a 5-10 guard. All are seniors.

The center spot will be manned by McGrath, a 6-4 senior and Bob Perla, a 6-4 junior. Remaining lettermen are Mark Roth, a 5-9 senior guard, and Eric Weinstein, a 6-3 senior forward.

Ticketed for extensive duty are Rausch, a 5-9 junior guard, and Fertig, a 6-0 senior forward. Rounding out the squad are Al Nahman and Bob MacHaver both senior guards.

Following tomorrow's battle, the Owls again will be home Tuesday night against Carteret before taking to the road for three consecutive games against New Providence, New Brunswick and St. Peter's. They return home for the December 30 encounter with the alumni. St. Joseph's will invade the borough high school gym on January 4.

BRUCE DANGREMOND

Blindow's Bulldogs Bow at HP

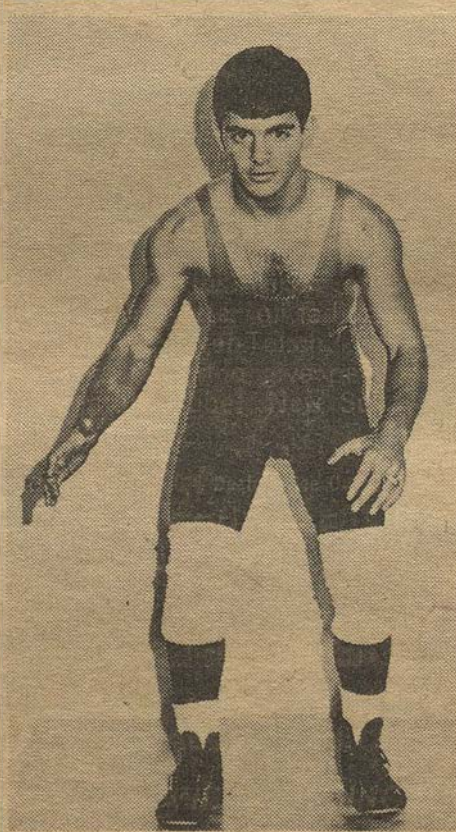

Bill Blindow, Metuchen High School basketball coach, has eight boys back from last year's team, but the Bulldog mentor isn't making any glowing predictions. The 1964-65 edition of his team won only three ball games while losing 16 and the two top scorers have graduated.

Ken Kiesser and George Levin, the only Bulldogs who averaged in double figures last winter with marks of 12.7 and 10.5 respectively, are gone. Two other starters, Bruce Dangremond and Glenwood Collins, are back and will be in the lineup when the Blue and White opens at Highland Park tomorrow night.

Dangremond at 6-4 and Collins at 5-8 represent the Bulldogs' Mutt and Jeff combination, the tallest and shortest members of this year's team. In 15 games last season, Dangremond, a senior center, tallied 136 points for a 9.1 average. Collins, netted 139 points in 18 games for a 7.7 mark.

With the McCombs' brothers, Lawton and Barry, nursing ankle injuries, the remaining starting berths are up for grabs. Four boys who saw some action last winter are in the battle. They are Roger Keaton, Steve Miner, Scottie Miller and Bill McDuffie.

These boys will see most of the action this season, but Blindow will keep an eye on the progress of a sophomore trio, John Shay, Al Robinson and Dave Rhoades, all of whom will play junior varsity ball.

MISSOURI MAT MAN--George Paradowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paradowski of Edison, is a member of the Missouri Valley College wrestling team. Paradowski, one of four freshmen on the team, will wrestle in the 130-pound class. He is majoring in business administration.

YMCA Boys Bow, But Girls Win

The Metuchen - Edison YMCA Boys' Swim Team lost to Rahway YMCA 106-66, last week. The boys' team will travel to Morristown YMCA next Saturday with the starting time at 3 p.m.

Metuchen - Edison YMCA's Girl Swim Team hosted Princeton YMCA and came out on top, 113-95.

The girls will host the Somerset Valley YMCA at 2 p.m. next Saturday.

Swimming Program Is Seeking Members

A synchronized swimming program is in progress under the supervision of Virginia Hogan. Meetings are held at the Metuchen - Edison YMCA every Thursday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The program is open to any person of high school age or over. Any interested person is invited to attend any of the sessions.

Pop Warner Pete On Tap Sunday

The annual Metuchen Pop Warner banquet will be held Sunday at the Elks Club on Middlesex avenue at 2 p.m. Fred Eckert, Rutgers University quarterback, will be the principal speaker.

George P. Commerton Jr., banquet chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. George Bollin, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, Robert Tischbin, William Jones, Herb Finkelstein and Milt Karten.

Experienced Falcon Five Fixes Eyes on First Winning Season

Three-year veteran Tom Stine and a host of experienced performers will lead St. Joseph's High School into its 1965-66 basketball debut tomorrow at John P. Stevens.

Coach Ron Kelly, starting his fourth season at the Falcon helm, is looking to improve last winter's 6-14 record and come through with the first winning campaign in the school's short varsity cage history.

Stine, a lefthander, sat out the last eight ball games a year ago with an injury, but he's back, good as new. The 6-0 senior tossed them in at an 11.2 rate in the first 12 games of the campaign. Another senior, Mike Rapach returns to the starting five. The 5-10 guard is a fine backcourt man who excels on defense. In 19 games a year ago, he netted 129 points for a 6.8 average.

The key to the Falcons' success could be in the improvement of Junior Frank Fitzgerald. As a sophomore, Fitzgerald, a 6-5 center, appeared in 19 games but scored only 93 points. Kelly hopes the youngster can improve on this and give the club solid rebounding at the same time.

Mike Besozzi, a sophomore standout of a year ago, was counted upon heavily by Kelly, but his presence in the lineup is doubtful. Besozzi, who tossed in 156 points (most of them late in the season) in 17 games for a 9.1 average, has decided not to come out for the sport.

To take up the slack,

TOM STINE

Kelly is counting on the return of Ed Wotanis, a 5-11 senior. Wotanis, an outstanding performer two years ago, didn't play last winter.

Three other Falcons who saw action during 1964-65, are back. Bob Maier, who appeared in 15 ball games, figures to team with Rapach in the backcourt. The others are Al Popovics (5-6) and Bernie O'Connor (6-1), both seniors.

Rounding out Kelly's 11-man squad are Gary Takacs, Dan Sheeley, Joe Wengert and Gene Kolakowski.

After the road opener against Stevens, the Falcons will play three games in a row at home starting Tuesday night against John F. Kennedy.

Registrations will be taken at the first meeting on December 13. For further information, call 992-2320.

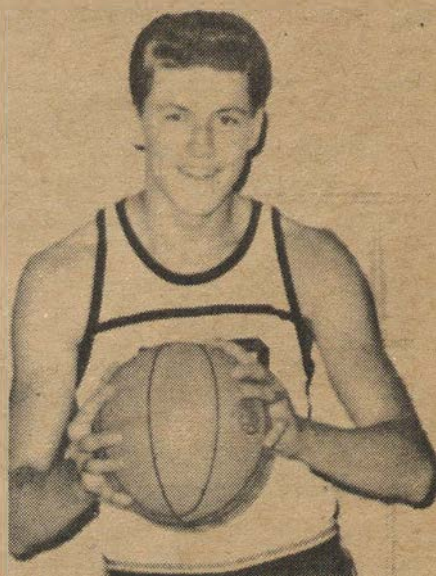

Winter Track

Edison and Metuchen will get the winter track season underway Wednesday afternoon when the teams collide at Roosevelt Park.

Muniz Leads JPS In Second Season

Winners of only two of 20 ball games in its first varsity basketball season a year ago, John P. Stevens will launch its 1965-66 season at home Friday against St. Joseph's.

Coach Connie Muniz, who replaces Art Stock at the helm, has the job of building a winner -- but it won't be easy, considering the Hawks' schedule.

BOB GASKILL

Muniz is without Pete Rossi who led last year's team in scoring with a 21.6 average, but he has eight boys who saw varsity action in the maiden season. However, only three, Bob Gaskill, Tom Garguilo and Ray Davis, won letters. A fourth returnee, Mickey Meyers, played only half the season, while four others, Pat Tylka, Mike Hryshkanyck, Guy Fagerlund and Al Bryant, appeared only briefly in varsity encounters, having spent most of the season with the junior varsity.

At 6-4, Gaskill is the tallest member of the squad. The junior center averaged only five points a game last winter, but his real value will be measured in the rebounding department.

Davis, a 6-0 junior forward, averaged six points a game a year ago, while Garguilo, a 5-10 guard, netted five points per.

Meyers, a 6-2 senior, is expected to help out on the boards. A forward, he scored 53 points in the first ten games last year.

Hryshkanyck was a likely starter until he fractured his shoulder. The injury is expected to keep the 6-2 junior out of action until sometime in January.

After Tylka, Bryant, and Fagerlund, Muniz can call on Al Ducsai, a 5-6 senior guard; Ed Alexander, a 5-11 sophomore; Brad Bishop a 5-10 soph; and Jim Cote, a 6-2 junior.

Alexander, brother of Otis, who starred at Edison High School two years ago, could be the sleeper. He has speed and jumping ability.

Following the opener against St. Joe's, Stevens will be on the road for five straight contests which will take them into January. The next home game will be on January 7 when St. Peter's invades.

The Hawks will play 18 games -- nine home and 11 away -- in addition to participating in the Middlesex County Tournament and perhaps the State Tournament.

Home and away series are ticketed with Linden,

Edison, Plainfield, John F. Kennedy, Union, South River, and Berkeley Heights. Single meetings are on tap with St. Joseph's St. Peter's, South Brunswick, Thomas Jefferson, Bridgewater-Raritan and South Plainfield.

Two tussles with Linden and Union and one each with Plainfield (December 21), Berkeley Heights (February 1) and South Plainfield (February 15) are afternoon encounters. The other games will be played at night.

The schedule:

Dec. 10	St. Joseph's	Home
14	Linden	Away
17	Edison	Away
21	Plainfield	Away
28	John F. Kennedy	Away
Jan. 4	Union	Away

Honor 'Wash' With Dinner

Washington Johnson, a borough employee for the past 39 years, will be honored at a dinner at the Elks Lodge on December 27 at 7 p.m. Chairman of the dinner committee is Police Chief Edward Leiss. "Wash," 77, formally announced plans for his retirement as Borough Hall custodian last month.

Born in 1888 and educated in public schools in Washington, D.C., "Wash" held his first real job as assistant to his father, a bricklayer. Two years later, 18-year-old "Wash" was making his own living as a bricklayer in Louisville, Kentucky. Before moving to Metuchen in 1909 he worked briefly as a chef in Overland, New York.

Baptized in Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Fairfax County, Virginia, at the age of 11, he became a member of the Second Baptist Church when the church was located on New street.

"Wash" served two years in the service during World War II and then returned to his former job with Public Service, now Glennco. Later, he worked as a licensed foreman for the Pennsylvania Railroad and as a bricklayer for a tile factory that formerly occupied the Oakite Corporation's plant. He became custodian at Borough Hall and Hillpot's Funeral Home, (now Runyon's) in 1926.

"Wash" was married in 1916 to Theresa Robinson, who died in 1930. He has four daughters and one son, Mrs. George Reed, Mrs. Ruth Keaton, Mrs. MacLean, Mrs. Riley Carson and Kenneth Johnson, nine grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

By JOHN G. KOYEN

A status symbol is an accomplishment. However, a moral stature linked to the material status is far more important. Surely all good people will agree moral stature should overshadow material status.

Lots of proud people strive for and glory in a stunning status symbol. Other people, equally proud, have a sad status. For some families, a status symbol is a heritage given in the cradle, released at the grave.

A status symbol is a fragile possession. Bad judgement, bad breaks, bad behavior - even other people can crash a status symbol to smithereens. A moral stature is not so fragile. You can destroy it of course, but no one else can destroy it for you. A status symbol is a part of the world. Moral stature is a part of the person. This is another way of pointing out, "We are in the world - we are not of the world." ...

Mayor Awaits Word On Sign Designation

State Highway Commissioner Dwight Palmer has answered Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics' letter concerning the township's sign issue, but the mayor isn't happy about it.

"It's about time the Highway Department becomes realistic and practical," said Yelencsics after hearing from Palmer. The letter was brief. It said the state plans to erect "Entering Edison" and "Leaving Edison" at the boundary lines where the township meets Woodbridge, New Brunswick, Piscataway and Route 287.

"This helps, of course," said the mayor, "because we're getting something we've never had before. But this is not what we're fighting for." The mayor and several township organizations are waging a battle to have the name of "Edison" posted at the proposed cloverleaf interchange on the New Jersey Turnpike.

Meanwhile, Yelencsics is still waiting to hear from Gov. Richard Hughes on the turnpike sign. The mayor appealed to the governor last week. "The final decision will come from the Turnpike Authority which bases its sign designations on recommendations from the Highway Department," said Yelencsics. "But I'm hopeful and confident we'll get our 'Edison' sign on the turnpike ramp and others." He noted that six miles of the turnpike passes through the township.

The Turnpike Authority has indicated that the new Exit 10 would be labeled "Metuchen-Perth Amboy." Yelencsics said he has no objections to these communities being listed on the sign, but "we should be there on top."

The new interchange will connect with Route 287 and Woodbridge avenue, but

Out Early

The Recorder will be published on Wednesday instead of Thursday next week because of the Christmas holiday. All news items for next week's edition should be submitted by 5 p.m. on Monday. Releases may be sent to The Recorder, Edgeboro road, East Brunswick or phoned in at LI8-2700

As a special service to our readers, The Recorder will publish a list of Christmas services. Churches are requested to submit their schedules for publication by noon Monday.

the cloverleaf will not be constructed until the final easterly leg of Route 287 to Perth Amboy is constructed. Palmer has been asked for a timetable for the completion of Route 287.

Also stemming from the sign controversy is a drive to eliminate the names such as "Stelton" and "Bonhamtown," from the signs. They designate sections of the township, but can be confusing, according to township officials. "They're all in Edison," concluded Yelencsics.

Don't Delay With Your Yule Display

Applications are still being received for the Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Edison Chamber of Commerce. Residents interested in applying are asked to call or write the Chamber office, Route 27, Menlo Park.

Bernard Griffin, past president of the Edison Chamber, Mrs. Matthew Drwal, executive director, and Herman Hershkowitz, contest chairman, will serve as judges.

Hershkowitz reported that every home entered in the contest will be visited sometime between the week of and after Christmas. If family is not at home, they will be judged at another time. If all lights are not on, the judges will call to ask the homeowner to put the lights on.

In last year's event, almost 50 homes were entered in the Lighting Contest. This year many more are expected to apply.

Committee Will Evaluate School Vocational Program

How effective is Edison's work-study program started this fall under the federal Vocation Act?

This will be determined by a six-man committee appointed this week by the township Board of Education. The committee consists of Fred Berkley, Frank Epstein, Seymour Lieberman, Frank Marchitto, George Demos and Charles A. Welch. All except Marchitto will serve on another committee to study a trades and industry

The Edison Housing Authority will get its first look at the proposed site plan for the re-use of a 171-acre urban renewal tract this afternoon. The plan, already endorsed by the Citizens Advisory Committee, will be presented to the authority in a meeting with Edison Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics.

Yelencsics this week said he is in favor of the basic plan worked out by planner Jack Backus of Walker & Murray Associates. "I believe a couple of minor changes should be made, but the general plan is acceptable. You can't satisfy everybody, you know."

In endorsing the plan, the Citizens Advisory Committee, appointed by the mayor, suggested that the number of two-story apartment buildings planned near North Edison Gardens be decreased, while the park area be increased.

Included in the project would be a 12-acre commercial center on Grove avenue and Inman avenue, a 70-unit high rise apartment building, almost 100 town houses, and 135 single family dwellings, eight three-story apartments and 24 two-story apartments, bringing the total number of dwelling units to near 750.

Cost of the single-family units would be between $18,000 and $25,000; while town houses would cost between $14,000 to $18,000.

Also included in the plan are 20 acres of park land and recreational areas, and 1-1/2 acres for a community center.

If the plan meets with the approval of the Housing Authority, the planners will make the changes advocated by the Citizens Advisory Committee before it is submitted to the Township Council and the Planning Board. It must also be approved by the federal government before construction is started.

A Wise Decision

We commend the Edison Township Council for its recent decision to eliminate the annual reorganization meeting on New Year's Day. It is a wise one.

Traditionally, January 1, has been the day for the governing body to regroup its forces at a noon meeting. As newspapermen, we welcome the change which will permit us to spend a restful day after the hectic night before with our families. Politicians, too, certainly would rather be with their families than with the township's official family. Football fans who have an interest in local government also prefer the change because it will enable them to enjoy the annual bowl games on TV--all six hours of it. Officials and interested citizens now will be able to travel to spend the day with relatives and friends, if they desire.

A new state statute provides that municipal governing bodies may meet within seven days after the first day of the new year. Reorganization Day in Edison Township will be on Friday, January 7, at 7 p.m.

We're certain the change will be welcomed by all concerned.

Metuchen To Re-apply For Head Start Aid

Metuchen will re-apply for Head Start aid next summer.

Kenneth Smida, Metuchen superintendent of schools, said this week that a second Operation Head Start program will be conducted for pre-kindergarten students next summer.

Sidney Schlein, fourth grade teacher in the Campbell School and director of the first program, has recommended its continuation.

In a report to the Board of Education, Schlein said the program had been most effective in preparing children, who would ordinarily get off to a bad start, to adjust to kindergarten.

The question of Metuchen's actual need for such a program was answered by Schlein when he stated in his report that according to the 1960 census there were 225 families in the borough with an income less than $3,000 a year.

This does not include families with somewhat higher incomes who have a number of children.

The seven week program conducted last summer in the Campbell School has been endorsed by Lieutenant Charles J. Reeder, Metuchen juvenile officer, the First Presbyterian Church of Metuchen and Mrs. Dominic Walker, a representative of St. Francis School.

Lt. Reeder in a letter to the advisory committee said that he feels very strongly the need of such a program in Metuchen and believes that "it is in the best interest of our children and our community to continue Head Start."

There are no immediate plans, according to Kenneth Smida, superintendent of schools, to begin a year-round Head Start program, but, he added, the possibility will be explored following next summer's program.

County College Opens Its Doors To Applicants

The first step toward enrolling the opening class at Middlesex County College next September was taken Monday with a mass mailing of application forms to more than 300 persons who already have requested information about admission.

Dr. Frank M. Chambers college president, said that in addition to the mailings to individual applicants, packets of the forms are being sent this week to guidance directors at all high schools in Middlesex County.

The admissions program is being directed by Michael Reynolds, dean of students, who said that his staff will start processing the admissions requests as soon as completed application forms are returned.

Dean Reynolds noted that in the case of applications from high school seniors final action cannot be taken until the college receives mid-term grades of the applicant, usually available in February.

"However, we are open to applications now and welcome requests for admissions information from interested persons," Reynolds said.

He emphasized that it will be to the student's advantage to make application early.

"All other things being

COLLEGE MAILING--Michael Reynolds, dean of students, helps Miss Lynn Papp and Mrs. Elinore Widis, members of his staff, prepare mailing to more than 300 persons who have requested applications for admission to Middlesex County College. The application forms have also been supplied to guidance departments in all County high schools.

equal," said Reynolds, "our final determination on student admissions will favor the student who applied earliest."

Dean Reynolds said admissions applications may be obtained at the guidance offices in any of the high schools in the county or by writing to Director of Admissions, Middlesex County College, Edison.

He said a $10 deposit will be required with each application.

Dean Reynolds pointed out that the deposit will be applied to the credit of the student's student activity fee if the applicant is admitted. In the event the applicant is rejected for admission by the Admissions Committee, the deposit will be refunded. However, if the applicant withdraws his request for admission, the $10 will be forfeited.

Dr. Chambers said he was "greatly impressed with the large number of requests for admissions information we have received, even before we were prepared to process applications. I think this response attests to the tremendous interest in, and the growing need for, a community college to serve the educational ambitions of the people of Middlesex County."

Middlesex County College will be a two-year college planned for an enrollment of nearly 1,500 during its first few years of operation. The opening class in September 1966, however, will be limited to 500 students. The college will be expanded to accommodate the full enrollment in September 1967 as the first class moves into its second year and a new freshman class is admitted.

Established to fulfill the educational categories in greatest demand in the county, Middlesex County College will offer a comprehensive curriculum in the fields of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Business, Nurse Education, Engineering Science, and Engineering, Chemical and Laboratory technologies.

Simultaneously, the college will also open an evening division for part time students, both youths and adults. However, the current admissions program is restricted to the daytime college.

Dean Reynolds said an announcement will be made in the future for persons interested in attending the evening division.

EAGLES NEST

By Mickey Gargiulo

'Tis the season to be jolly! The Future Homemakers of America are spreading their good will by taking active part in various Christmas projects.

FHA members are planning three projects before the Christmas season ends. They are hosting two parties, one for retarded children and one for the elderly citizens. The third project sponsored by the FHA is the gayly decorated Christmas tree in the school lobby.

Class Info...The seniors have decided on their prom site. The Governor Morris Hotel in Morristown the juniors are raising money by selling stuffed poodles; the sophs have their own sale pitch for sweatshirts which can be purchased through any sophomore class representative; freshmen are still planning with the sophs, their big social event of the year, The Frosh-Soph Hop.

Seeing strange faces in the halls, classrooms and cafeteria, wasn't an unfamiliar sight last Tuesday. It was "exchange day" for all schools in Middlesex County.

Representatives from the Student Council of various schools visited other schools in this day of exchange.

Every year many of the Middlesex County schools take an active part in this program. Representatives chosen get an opportunity to observe schools visited and return to their own school with a report on their observations.

Edison's Recreation Department will once again this year sponsor senior league basketball.

Many EHS seniors participate in this league and all of these teams compete for first place, which was captured last year by the "Clods."

ing to compete are Seniors, Ed Bevelauqua, Tom Brooks, Fred Chelberg, Jim Daly, Jimmy Ensor, Dennis Jones (captain of the Condors) Kenny Logen, Pete La Posta, Stash Malinowski, John Mayso-lic, Steve Petti and Rich Rusnock.

On January 12 the games will begin and will continue every week. The boys will play at John Adams, Clara Barton, and Thomas Jefferson.

Let's support not only EHS' varsity team, but also Edison's Recreation senior league teams too!

The Academy of Science recently held its elections. The results: President Stan Bonis, First Vice President Morton Sill, Second Vice President Joe Abate, Treasurer Pat Jordan, recording Secretary Betty Kiken, and Corresponding Secretary Linda Quarentello.

Earlier in the week journalism classes had the opportunity of interviewing Mr. Gordon Underwood, well-known local drama critic, who spoke about his theatrical and writing experiences.

Mr. Underwood proved to be an unusual speaker who left the classes with many amusing anecdotes, philosophical statements and writing advice: "Continuity of thought is the key word in any writing. Always be yourself and don't be afraid to express your opinions," he said.

Last Wednesday night the Edison High School Booster Club held its annual Fall Sports banquet, at The Pines restaurant.

Following speeches by Mr. Charles A. Boyle, principal, Robert Agans, president of the Booster Club, the invocation from Father Bowden, and guest speakers, presentations of awards were made honoring the Eagle athletes and the band, cheerleaders, twirlers, color guard, and drill team.

Head football Coach James O'Leary presented the varsity letter awards, and also awarded the Most Valuable Player Awards to senior co-captains Lenny Bonalski and teammate senior Stan Malinowski. Senior co-captain Sammy Pearson was presented with the Most Improved Player Award, and an award for the best performance at the Woodbridge-Edison Thanksgiving Day game. Sammy and Lenny announced that the captains for the 1966 season will be Bill Pollex and Steve Shuster.

C. Jack Coleman, head coach for cross-country, awarded his team with varsity letters and presented the Most Valuable Player Award to senior Pat Howard. The co-captain awards went to seniors Phil Hanley and Pat Howard, while the Most Improved title went to sophomore Mike Peler. The Coaches Award was given to freshman Nick Genova.

In appreciation, the cross country team presented Mr. Coleman with a watch. Captain for next year's team has not yet been named.

Ed Primka, head soccer coach, also awarded varsity letters. Jim Hurley will be captain of the '66 soccer team. Hurley also received the award for Most Improved Player. Senior Gene Barbley was presented with the Most Valuable Player Award.

John Hooper and former EHS graduate Richie Davis were guest speakers for the evening.

John Hooper, Upsala football coach, spoke about the "Values of Athletics" with Upsala football star Richie Davis addressing the group also.

The banquet ended with benediction from Rev. Wade S. Steward, Pastor of Stelton Baptist Church.

HAWK TALK

By Eloise Good

The old step aside to make room for the new--so it was Thursday, December 9, at the Booster Club-sponsored Fall Sports Banquet, when the 1965 captains named those for next fall. Tom Gargiulo announced that Quarterback Pat Tylka and Guard Frank McElrath will take his place as gridiron captains. Soccer co-captains Tom Wuest and Lauren Zagoren turned over their positions to Gene Fauquier and George Pelichrinis. Juniors Ron Perri and Pete Reinhart will replace cross-country captain Ed Kostrna next fall.

After varsity letters were awarded by football Head Coach Joe Gutowski, Rich Krychowecky received the Sportsmanship Award, Glen Jannarone was named the most improved player, and Tom Gargiulo became the recipient of the Hawk Award - for the best defensive player, the Captains Award and the Outstanding Player Award.

ELOISE GOOD

Principal Harold R. Alley announced that Bill Thomas, Brian McGowan, and Tom Gargiulo made All-State Group III, Glen Jannarone and Frank McElrath made All-County second team, and Pat Tylka made All-County third team.

After soccer varsity letters were presented by Head Coach Peter Kaminskas, Assistant Coach Barry Leinbach announced Gene Fauquier as the Most Improved Player and Mr. Kaminskas presented Tom Wuest with the Most Outstanding Player Award. Lauren Zagoren and Tom Wuest received the Captain's Award and All-County award winners were announced: Tom Wuest, first team; George Pelichrinis, first team; Mike Cane, second team, and Gene Fauquier, third team.

Cross-country Coach John Gundry presented the varsity letter awards. Ron Perri was named the Most Improved Runner by Andrew G. Lipnick, Booster Club president, while Ed Kostrna received the Outstanding Player and Captain's Awards. Vince Sendziak was presented with the Sportsmanship Award.

Awards were also presented to the cheerleaders, by Miss Arlene Kerezsi, the twirlers and drill team, by Mrs. Ollie Freeman and the band and color guard, by Fred Whitman. The banquet committee was comprised of Steven Masley and Eric Fagerlund, co-chairmen; Edward Adams, faculty adviser; Mrs. L. Gigantino and Mrs. W. J. Kane, tickets; Mrs. N. Gargiulo, publicity; Steve Capestro, awards, and Mrs. R. Skillman and Mrs. Gargiulo, decorations.

The gym will be the scene of "Silver Bells," the Student Council-sponsored Christmas Dance Saturday night. Little Louie and the Bel-Airs will provide the music at the semi-formal from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Refreshments will be donated by homeroom representatives and alternates, and card tables will be provided by St. Matthew's.

The committee chairmen are Patt Likos and Joan Gotz, decoration; Helene Buck, refreshments, and Nick Spadaro, publicity. Tickets may be purchased for $1 in school or at the door. The dance is definitely not an upper-class dance and one doesn't need a date to attend.

The Music Department presented the Second Annual Christmas Concert to the PTA last night, and will repeat their performance December 23 at a school assembly.

There will be excerpts sung from Handel's "Messiah," band selections, under the direction of Fred Whitman, a Christmas Party Scene, written by Sophomore Margie Loughman and directed by Senior Bill Kennedy, and performances by the A Capella choir and "Mellotones," under the direction of Miss Anne Patente.

The program was run by Bill Kennedy, director; Margie Loughman and Marty Mizenko, staging; Meredith Dingman, props, and Tony DiAntonio, lighting. The organ was provided through the courtesy of Jardt Piano Company of Woodbridge.

The student body has risen to the call of the Student Council and Social Studies Department to help Edison gain its identity by supporting the labeling of the future New Jersey Turnpike Cloverleaf interchange in Edison Township "Edison," instead of the proposed "Perth Amboy-Metuchen."

In addition to posting the names and addresses of two significant men to address protests on the cafeteria bulletin board, last Tuesday the Student Council distributed petitions to each home room. This week the Social Studies Department has been sponsoring a letter-writing contest on this subject, the winner of which will win a $25 savings bond. Tomorrow is the final entry date. If you've been talking about writing that letter, don't put it off any longer - write it today!

The Future Nurses Club has completed the sale of 500 school pens. Some of the proceeds will be donated to Perth Amboy General Hospital's Pediatrics Ward. suburban housewife Through Toyland

By Louise Saul

I have just finished cleaning my daughters' play closet. And I am fortified for my trip to the brightly colored, plastic world of toys by remembrance of toys past.

I have revived my suspicion of those toys whose chief virtue is a large, gaudy package. And I have remembered the feeling of guilt at even considering buying a paint set that guarantees "no mess, no fuss, no paint, no brush."

I have experienced a faint twinge of nausea as I look at the doll that once parroted, "I am hungry...I love you...I am hungry...I love you," in a gravel-like voice. Or at the doll who stretched and moved for the first hour-and-a-half on Christmas Day, only to give up and die because the child who owned her couldn't manipulate the sensitive mechanism that set her in motion.

And because my children break almost nothing, there has been the questionable pleasure of looking back over several years' treasures. There, for instance, is the "Barbie, Queen of The Prom" game. My husband suffered through that one. (God only knows how many times he was "Queen of The Prom!") The following year it was "Miss Popularity Game" equipped with those two instruments of all popularity -- a princess telephone and a loving cup.

Tucked away in the corner -- a relic of three years ago, is a gaudy pink-and-white plastic replica of a showboat with backdrops and miniature actors. I think this was the bomb of the toy industry that year because we bought it for an eighth of its original price.

Sitting neatly on the second shelf is a tangerine sports roadster for Barbie and her friend Ken. The aunt who gave this gift thought it was the cutest thing ever. I think dear old Barbie had one ride in it.

And then, of course, there are Barbie and Tressy with their packed trunks -- the best-dressed people in the house.

These are some of the toys we bought. And the toys on which we stood our ground, shook our heads, stamped our feet, refused to buy, are too numerous and fantastic to contemplate.

Perhaps the most successful toys we have bought for our children weren't "toys" in the actual sense. Although sold in toy stores, they were not advertised on television or particularly asked for by our children.

High on the list is a large blackboard in the new easy-on-the-eye color, green. These boards have been attached to the play area wall now for several years. And penny-for-penny, they have probably been our best buy. They are used to play school, draw pictures, leave messages. A ten-year-old finds as much use for them as a five-year-old.

For versatility and hours of use, the children's bulletin boards would come next. They are nailed to the wall in their bedrooms. Each holiday sees them re-decorated to add a festive touch to the room. Favorite pictures made in school are displayed here. Personal messages, warnings to trespassers, special photographs all find a home on the board.

When our oldest child was three we bought her a sturdy, no-gimmick, easy to work phonograph. She started out with Mother Goose records and the player didn't give up until she had graduated to the Beatles.

When the children were younger, they had hours of fun with two different kinds of blocks. One -- a bag of multi-sized, odd shaped blocks -- gave literally days of imaginative play. The other -- a treasure chest of huge re-inforced cardboard blocks shaped like oversized bricks -- were big enough to build a fort or castle to house a small real-life princess or pirate. They are still in use today -- four years after purchase.

A heavy cardboard stage for hand puppets (so much easier to use than marionettes) was another long-lasting toy. Puppets have been added during the years and Ed has since built a wooden stage to replace the worn-out cardboard one. While not used constantly, the children go on periodic puppet show kicks. And, as they get older and their view of the world changes, so do their shows.

One year Ed made the girls a large two sided easel. I purchased cans of powder paint (similar to the ones I had used teaching school), a huge pad of newsprint, big easy-to-grasp paint brushes and the children have been in the painting business since. While nice to have, an easel is not absolutely necessary, since children are quite content to paint on newspaper on the floor.

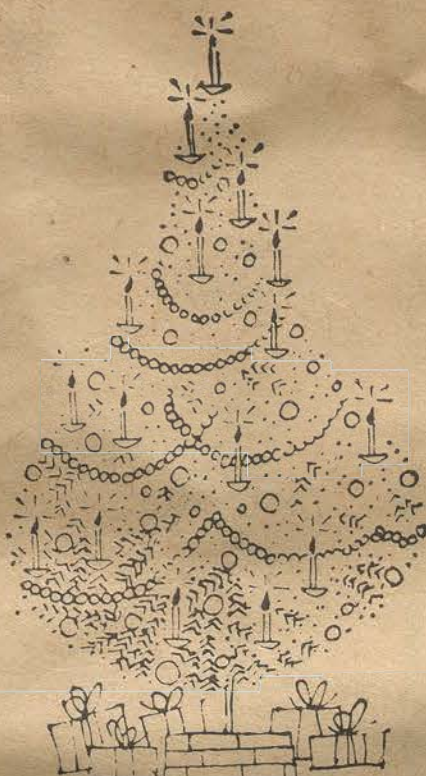

Our kids have loved games, too. But the ones that have lasted and given the most fun are the old standbys -- Parcheesi, dominos, Lotto (Picture Lotto for pre-readers), checkers and pick-up-sticks.

A "Do-Box" composed of colored construction paper, drawing paper, children's scissors, Scotch tape, paste, fasteners and other such treasures may not be a big thing on Christmas Day, but will still be in use in February -- and if replenished now and then -- for years.

Of course by the time this appears I will have done my shopping and bought by request, my usual number of three-day wonders. Fortunately it only takes my children about a week to discriminate between the trash and the worthwhile. And all we lose is money -- I hope.

Board Agrees On Borough School Needs

The Metuchen Board of Education and parents attending Tuesday's Board of Education meeting were in apparent agreement on what the current school needs are.

The public invited to express its views on the 1966 school budget made a number of proposals that according to the board have already been included in its budget proposals.

Simon Teichmann of 116 Grove avenue asked if any thought was being given to reducing class sizes in Washington School. His fifth grade child, he said, was in a class of 35, a first grader in a class of 30.

Kenneth Smida, superintendent of schools, said that the proposed budget will include a request for additional personnel to reduce class sizes in the present fifth and second grades. These are the grades with the heaviest enrollment throughout the borough.

Also requested were additional library personnel at the high school, additional books for the library and more parking space at the high school.

The library requests, Smida said, are included in the proposed budget. However, he added, while more money will be spent on books, he does not believe this will bring the school libraries up to the American Library Association's 10 book per student standard. "This is a goal to aspire to," he said.

Additional parking was requested by Mrs. John Mattern, president of the high school PTA, as at least a consideration in long range planning. The board, while it believes that the existing parking is adequate for day-time use, said that this has already been incorporated in long range plans.

The board will present its own budget proposals January 4 and will hold a public budget hearing January 18. The final budget review is scheduled for January 25 with adoption of the budget scheduled for February 14.

A Letter from Santa To All His Children

TO MY DEAR CHILDREN:

Your letters have arrived at the North Pole and are being read very carefully. Everywhere I look, there are happy, industrious little elves going about the business of providing for you and for all children everywhere the best Christmas ever.

While there is yet time before Christmas, I thought that I would write to you, to let you know what I want from you this Christmas. No matter if you have no money left, it won't cost you a penny. But you have it in your power to give Santa the best Christmas ever!

You've seen all of the advertisements on television, you have wandered through the stores and marveled at all the wonderful toys and dolls. They become more remarkable every year! You have formed some very definite ideas of what you expect from Christmas.

Well, I have a few ideas of my own about what makes a joyous Christmas Day. The secret of Christmas is love. The Christ child was given to us on that first beautiful Christmas night as a living expression of God's love. Those of us who are able to offer gifts do so as an expression of our love. And the way in which we receive gifts can also be an expression of love.

Please, as you accept each gift, have in mind not whether or not this was what you wanted to get. Remember that this is something that someone wanted very much to give to show his love for you. It may be, in some cases, that there was not enough money to buy or make the most remarkable toy in the world. But, believe me, there was enough love.

Accept each gift as you accept the love, with joy. In this way, you can give to Santa, to your parents and brothers and sisters and grandmothers and grandfathers and to all the others the most wonderful gift of all. And it will indeed be the most joyous Christmas Day ever.

Your friend,
SANTA CLAUS
North Pole

Through the efforts of Mrs. F.R. Young of 24 Whitehall avenue, Metuchen, The recorder is able to share this letter from Santa.

Local District VFW Head Decries Plans to Close NJ's Only National Cemetery

Eighth District Commander Michael Garshgo of the Veterans of Foreign Wars expressed the concern of his organization over the closing of the Beverly National Cemetery in Burlington County.

Garshgo, who resides at 93 Highway 18 in Old Bridge, said the state's only national cemetery for the burial of veterans will be phased out February 1, 1966.

The official word of the closing was received by a three-man committee of the state's 45,000 VFW members who journeyed to the Pentagon in Washington. The chief of the memorial division of the Support Services Command affirmed the fact that no burials will take place in New Jersey's only national cemetery after January. The facility will be officially filled at that time.

Commander Garshgo noted that distance, travel time and costs of relatives desiring to visit the grave sites posed serious deterrents to out-of-state burials. Commander Garshgo noted further that the remaining national cemeteries in the east were also seriously confronted with their own capacity problems.

"Our deceased veterans have earned the right to be buried in a veterans' cemetery by the nation they served," Commander Garshgo stated.

Noting that the fatalities of the Viet Nam conflict are a new factor to be considered, Commander Garshgo termed the Beverly Cemetery closing "ironic, inconsiderate and saddening."

Commander Garshgo urged all citizens to write not only to their senators and representatives deploring the situation but to the governor, the state senators and assemblymen and to their own immediate municipal officials. "All of these individuals can be of help if we undertake a serious campaign of soliciting their aid," he added.

"The VFW pledges to do all we can to extend Beverly or procure burial space elsewhere in the state," Commander Garshgo continued, "but every American who has ever had a relative or friend in the uniform of his country, honors that individual or his memory by aiding us and taking up the mightiest of weapons, the pen, now!"

Mint Coin Club

A coin club for the Central Jersey area is being organized and will have its first meeting at the YMCA in New Brunswick on Thursday of this week at 8 p.m. The club, which is called the Greater New Brunswick Coin Club, is open to all area coin collectors who are over 16 years of age.

Louis J. Alfonso Jr., co-organizer of the club, said the interest in numismatics was very great in this area and that numerous people had already indicated their desire to join the group.

Alfonso, a member of the American Numismatic Association who specializes in U. S. coins, said the club would serve as a meeting area where area collectors could exchange information, trade coins and work as a group to improve the coin collecting hobby and its public image.

Serving on the organizing committee with Alfonso is Donald Rush of North Brunswick.

The Paper Mill Playhouse joins the McCarter Theatre of Princeton in offering theater tickets as Christmas gifts. Tickets are now available at the Millburn theater for "Mary, Mary," opening December 28 with Scott McKay and Betsy Palmer; "A Case of Libel," which opens January 18 with Van Heflin, and "Dial M for Murder," opening February 1 with Joan Fontaine in the starring role.

The McCarter Theatre is offering tickets for a number of January specials including three performances by the Salzburg Marionettes on January 9; "An Evening with Frost," January 24, and a concert by Andres Segovia, January 25.

The Salzburg Marionettes will present "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at 1 p.m.; "The Nutcracker Suite" at 4 p.m., and "The Magic Flute" at 8 p.m.

Tickets are still available for the Sunday performance of "The Nutcracker Suite" at the McCarter Theatre. The Princeton Ballet Society will raise the curtain on this season's final performance of the traditional Christmas ballet at 3 p.m.

"Guys and Dolls" closes Sunday at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. Weekend performances are Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 6 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. It is reported that efforts are being made to move the current production (starring Vivian Blaine and Sam Levene) back to Broadway, provided the present cast can remain intact.

The Metropolitan Opera National Company is coming to Newark. The company will present a week of performances January 4 to 8 in Symphony Hall. "Madame Butterfly," "Cinderella," "Carmen" and "Susannah" will be presented in matinee and evening performances. The new troupe is sponsored by the Metropolitan Opera Association and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Co-Managed by Rise Stevens and Michael Manuel, the national company recently completed a triumphant engagement at Lincoln Center.

Peter Haas comes to the Franklin School in Somerset Saturday. Haas will present a "Sing-a-Long" hootenany at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. for the benefit of the Pine Grove Manor Cooperative Nursery. Tickets at $1 are available to the public and may be reserved by calling Mrs. Arnold Galpern of Highland Park, 828-9125, Mrs. Arthur Riddick of East Brunswick, 257-8813 or Mrs. Ronald Sauers of Highland Park, 545-0395. Haas, popular TV figure, will sing and strum his banjo in a program of folk songs from around the world.

The Holy Land from the Sea of Galilee to the outskirts of the city of Jerusalem comes to life again in the annual "Nativity Scene-A-Rama" created by the Consolata Fathers of Franklin Park. For the third year the display will be open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. until the end of January. In an artistically created scene angels appear in the sky to beckon the shepherds from the hillside to the hallowed cave where the Christ-Child has been born. Night turns into dawn as choirs and trumpets accompany the narration of the Gospel story.

New paintings by William Stilson are now on exhibit at the Old Queens Gallery at 290 George street, New Brunswick. Stilson, who has worked primarily in oils, has most recently executed a number of lithographs, one of which has already won five awards.

The appeal of his work is largely based on the air of tranquility which pervades his paintings. The exhibit is open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. daily and on Monday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

YULE PARTY

The Raritan Valley Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children will hold its annual Christmas party Saturday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church on Dunellen avenue, Dunellen. All members and their families are invited to attend.

Douglas-Poles

Miss Patricia Helen Poles became the bride of Albert Peter Douglas in St. Matthew's Church, Edison, Sunday.

The Rev. James Duffy officiated at the ceremonies for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Poles of 31 Caldwell road, Edison, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Douglas of Monmouth Junction.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Eileen Sackmeister of Menlo Park was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Helen Pelleriti of Edison and Mrs. Carol Paszik of Union.

Carl Demko of Edison was best man with Edward Poles Jr., Matthew Sackmeister, Anthony Pelleriti and John Karcher of Union serving as ushers.

A reception followed at The Pines. The couple will live at 31 Caldwell road, Edison, on their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Douglas, a graduate of Edison High School, is employed by the Boy Scouts of America in North Brunswick.

Her husband, also a graduate of Edison High School, is with the United States Navy stationed at Pensacola, Florida. He leaves for Viet Nam in January.

Franklin Program

The Franklin School Band and choral groups will present their annual Christmas Concert at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Students, parents and friends are invited to attend.

Students Help

With Yule Appeal

Metuchen High School students will give their support to the Community Christmas Appeal by collecting funds from commuters at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station on Monday. Approximately 20 students will arrive at 7 a.m. and remain until the departure of the 8:30 a.m. train. This appeal has been conducted annually to aid needy families in the Metuchen area, and usually it adds between $60-100 to the fund.

Cub Pack 17 has contributed enough food to feed three families of four over the holidays. Contributions have also been received from Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Baldwin, Morris Stores, C. F. Bryant, Inc., Metuchen Fire Department, St. Francis PTA, E. J. Hammesfahr Electric Company, and Metuchen Hardware.

Metuchen residents are reminded that THEY are the people who make the Community Christmas Appeal a success, and are asked to contribute generously.

CHRISTMAS

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Highland Park Fire Department held a meeting and Christmas party Monday night at fire headquarters on South Fifth avenue. Highland Park High School students entertained with vocal and instrumental music and poetry readings. Santa also appeared to distribute gifts to the ladies, and refreshments were enjoyed by all. Three representatives were chosen to attend the county wide meeting on January 12.

Three Down, Two to Go

Bernard Hertz, Highland Park borough tax collector, reports that of the five properties subject to a tax lien because of unpaid back taxes, one owner has paid his debt, thereby redeeming his property, while two other properties are scheduled to be paid by this Friday. This leaves two properties as yet unaccounted for. Unpaid properties will be subject to sale at tax lien this Friday at 1 p.m. in the Borough Hall tax office.

Stevens Seniors Win Democracy Prizes from VFW

Three John P. Stevens High School seniors took top honors in the 19th annual Voice of Democracy contest sponsored by VFW Post 3117.

Maureen White, first place winner, received a $50 savings bond. Her essay will be recorded on tape and will be entered in a district-wide competition.

A $25 bond was presented to Rita Novakowsky, second place winner, and a cash prize of $10 went to Dallas Haneke, third place winner.

Contest judges, Frank D'Aquila, principal of Thomas Jefferson Junior High School; Dr. John Oross, school psychologist and Councilman Norman Freeman, received certificates of appreciation from the VFW at last night's Christmas Festival in the Thomas Jefferson School.

Commander Edward Lubowicki of Post 3117 also expressed his appreciation to William Corio of the high school English Department who conducted the contest for all senior high school students in Edison. Corio screened all entries.

Can anyone promise that shopping for Christmas dinner will be fun?

Well, not really!

But we at A&P can promise you this:

We can promise that we'll smile and be pleasant and helpful.

We can promise to have our shelves stocked with all the things you'll need.

We can promise that if you place your order for your turkey now, we'll have the best bird you ever roasted ready for you when you want it.

We can promise that no matter what you buy at A&P, it will be everything it should be or it won't cost you a penny.

And we can promise you one other thing...to keep these promises.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P?
It's one of many.

By JOHN G. KOYEN

Pre-Christmas thoughts ... Christmas will soon be here. A season for giving and receiving. A season of gladness for most of us. A season of grieving and sadness for some of us. A season of religious dedication for too few of us. A season of memories for all of us.

Christmas always has been, is, and always will be a season for gladness and sadness. It has been that way since the beginning. Just as His birth brought gladness to the world, His birth also brought sadness. His birth triggered the slaughter of many babies in the futile attempt to rid the world of the heralded King of Kings. These murdered babies were loved by sad, grieving parents, just as He was loved.

In our own Christmas gladness or sadness, let us pause and ponder the only reason for the season. We celebrate the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. While those of us with faith know He is ever with us, let us pause and ponder what He would say if He put in a personal appearance as He sees us celebrate His birth in our varied manner. Let us pause and ponder. Do we give Him reason for gladness - or sadness? The answer we come up with can easily bring our own immediate gladness - or eventual sadness.

"SERVING ALL FAITHS"

Former Clergyman Is 'One of the Workers'

He Builds Community Life, From Africa to Job Center

By LOUISE SAUL

Paul Evans comes on slowly. He talks quietly, always in understatement, carefully choosing the words that best express his thoughts. Somewhere in the middle of the conversation, the listener is almost startled to discover that she is talking to an unusually fine, selfless human being.

It begins when the Highland Park mantakes out his wallet in answer to a question about his children. Two pretty girls smile broadly from their pictures. One is Chinese.

"We adopted Tai," Evans explained, "when she was 18 months old. She was born in Hong Kong and the Welcome House Agency considered her 'not very adoptable.' First because she was pure Chinese and second because her body was covered by boils and sores brought on by malnutrition and overcrowding in the orphanage."

But for Paul and Mary Evans, she was just right; she had the one necessary pre-requisite—she needed a family. Evans recalled the day the family went to the airport to meet Tai.

"A woman got off the plane, walked over to us carrying a bundle with black hair, wrapped in a bright Chinese robe. 'Here's your boy,' she said, and handed us the child and left."

Tai turned out to be the girl promised and the Evanses took her home to Highland Park where Paul Evans was serving as minister of the Trinity Methodist Church.

Shortly after Tai's adoption, Evans applied for overseas work with The National Council of Churches. "It seemed to Mary and me that if we were going to do some work in undeveloped areas, we had better do it now while we were young enough and flexible enough to adapt."

After several false leads and "hours of studying the encyclopedia," The Evans family moved to Nigeria in Africa, where Paul worked on community development problems.

After three years of service in Nigeria, Evans heard from an old Highland Park friend, Richard Johnson, deputy director of the Kilmer Job Corps Center. The result: On May 3, Evans spent his last day in Nigeria and on May 4 was behind a desk at Kilmer with the title of administrator of Social Activities.

And it is this job that the 35-year-old, six-foot, 215-pound Evans wants to talk of most. His job, "trying to get the community to open its hearts to these kids," has been filled with constant frustration and stumbling blocks. But even so, enough success has come to make Evans believe that exposure will lead to understanding between the community and the corpsmen.

"These kids," he said, "need education and job training. But they also need to relate to society. They must get off the center and out of the crowd into a warm family situation, if only for dinner now and then. I wish I could explain to area residents just how much their acceptance is valued by corpsmen," Evans noted.

"Of course, there have been isolated incidents of extreme kindness. The Menlo Park Cinema, for instance, was the only local theater to respond to a plea for tickets but they responded with a bang, giving us room for 35 boys each week. And the Lambertville Music Circus was so impressed with the behavior of the first group of boys, that they extended us free privileges all season."

On the other hand, Evans has had little success with an activity the boys want most—dances. "Although our dances are small and heavily chaperoned, including transportation to and from the center, we cannot get white girls to attend. (Forty percent of corpsmen are white.) And we cannot get dance invitations for our boys either singularly in small chaperoned groups."

Evans makes it quite clear that boys chosen for community activities are those with the ability to relate to others who will benefit from outside social activities. "If this is the War Against Poverty," he said, "then these are the troops, and we had better open our hearts to them."

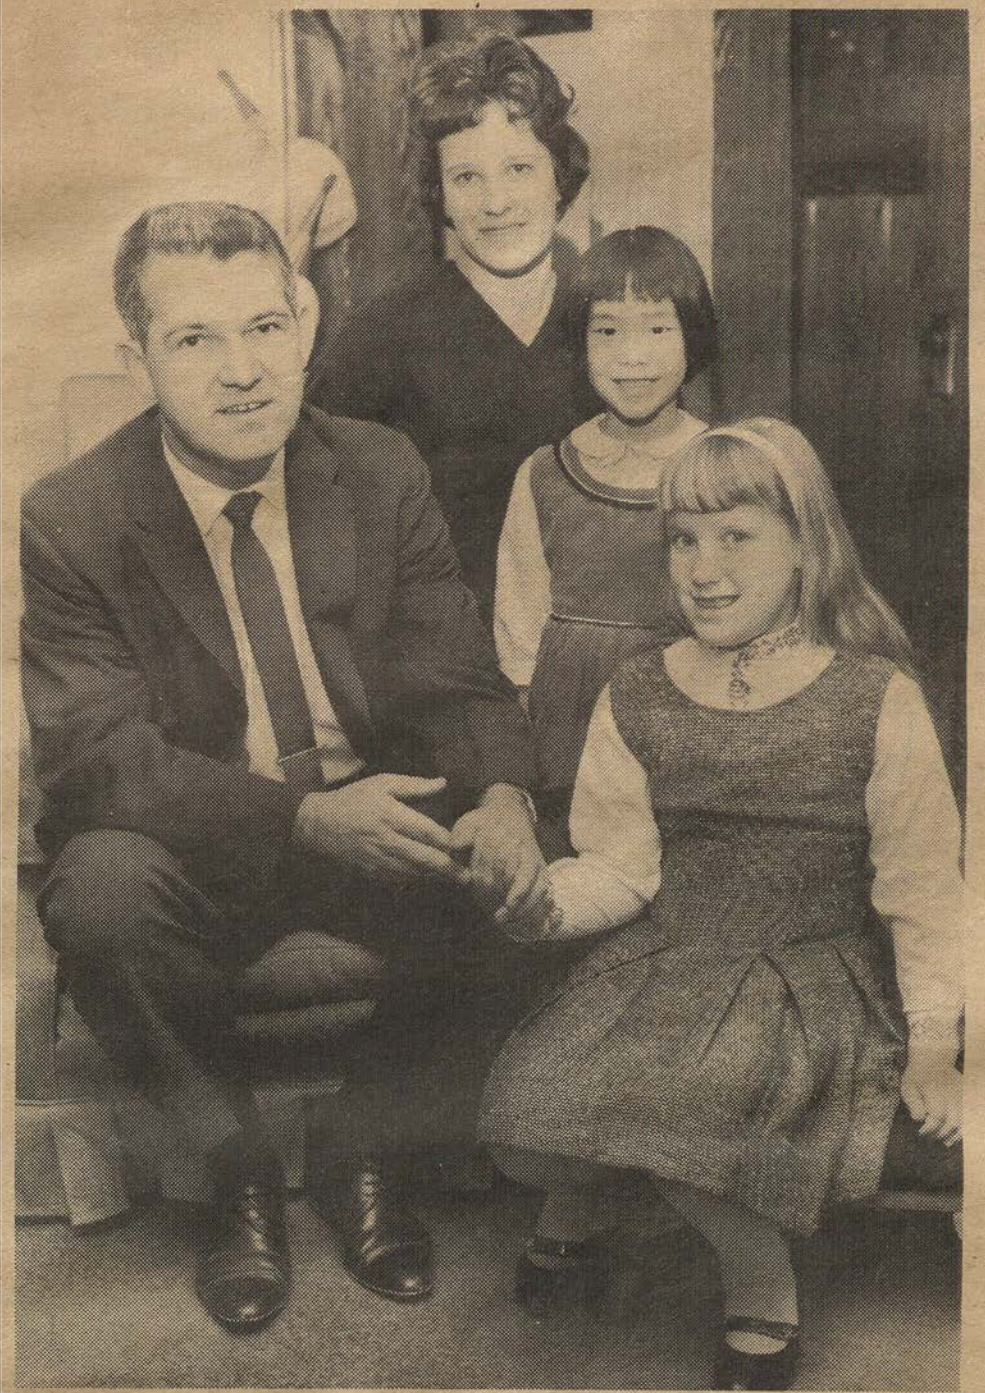

When Evans is not working with the corpsmen, he is at home in the first house the Evans family has ever owned, on North Sixth avenue in Highland Park. His favorite pastime? "For me there's nothing better than being home with my daughters, Mary Beth and Tai, and my wife Mary."

He is not sure when he will again have a church. "A clergyman is supposed to multiply workers, and that's very important," he said, "but I suppose I was frustrated and wanted to be one of the workers."

Mr. & Mrs. Thornburg Cop Club Trophies

Mr. and Mrs. George Thornburg were presented with the Metuchen Golf and Country Club's first bridge trophies Friday.

The couple earned the highest cumulative point score in the first five weeks of the club's Invitational Duplicate Bridge Tournament. Mrs. Ann Hamilton received a trophy as runner-up.

THE Chuck Wagon

By CHUCK TRIBLEHORN

With the likes of Pat Tylka, Frank McElrath and several other members of John P. Stevens football team returning next fall, you might think the Hawks stand an excellent chance of bettering their 7-2 record of 1965.

Such is not the case, however, since there will be a vast change in the calibre of the opponents the township school will be facing. Edison, Linden, Thomas Jefferson, Union and Hamilton, all Group IV schools, will be met for the first time, while Matawan, South River, Piscataway and Roselle Park, for example, will be dropped. The abrupt change represents a rugged challenge for Stevens, which went through the past campaign with about 13 solid football players, but even they were light by Group IV schoolboy standards.

The school's entrance into the Group IV Conference is somewhat premature and the record will suffer the next few years. Stevens eventually will have enough male students to place them in Group IV statistically, but the enrollment will fall short for the 1966-67 school year, and for awhile thereafter.

We're told a 1966 entry or a long wait were the alternatives on Group IV entrance given to school officials by the state powers that be. Stevens chose the former, so the school's two-year won-lost percentage of .667 (12-6) will suffer, and so will the kids, who, we believe, may be somewhat out-manned and out-classed, but not out-fought.

The speed with which Stevens climbs to the top of the Group IV mountain could be accelerated, however. Perhaps the township Recreation Department could establish a football clinic program for pre-high school boys, as has been done in such neighboring communities as East Brunswick and South Plainfield. We're sure the coaching staffs of both Stevens and Edison High School would jump at the opportunity to serve as instructors. The clinics, which eventually lead to controlled contact, usually stress football fundamentals and execution.

With the proper coaching the youngsters could enter the township schools with some knowledge of what the game is all about, something they don't get in the sandlot.

How many of the players on Middlesex County's 19 high school football teams do you suppose received serious consideration for All-County recognition? A recent count of the number of boys who were named to the first, second and third teams and honorable mention listings by four different newspapers, revealed that no less than 130 gridders were cited. Perhaps it might be easier to list those that didn't make it!

This was the year of the quarterback and no less than five of the area's finest signal-callers have brought their athletic talents to their respective schools' basketball teams. Glen Davis will direct the Madison Township attack, while Dave Wohl and Jack Simcsak figure to play prominent roles at East Brunswick and Highland Park respectively. Joe Theismann of South River and Pat Tylka of John P. Stevens are performing as reserve cagers.

And don't look now, but South Plainfield's court success may depend on the play of Wally Cirafesi, the Tigers' standout quarterback and everybody's choice as the best back in Middlesex County this fall.

It's been a hectic school year thus far for Dick Rees of Metuchen High School. In less than two months, he's moved from geography teacher and junior varsity wrestling coach to vice principal and varsity wrestling coach. Rees, who had been named to replace Karl Faeth as the Bulldog mat mentor in October, was appointed vice principal at Franklin School two weeks ago.

A former matman at Wilkes College, Rees is also junior varsity football coach. During summer he manages the Wynnewood Swim Club.

Where are they now? Noel Hess, ex-New ex-East Brunswick High School boater and trackman, recently received his varsity soccer letter at Mount Union College in Ohio. Only a freshman, Hess netted two goals as the Raiders, organized on a varsity basis for just two years, went winless in eight outings. However, three losses were by one goal; two others by two goals.

Phil Geiger, former president of the Student Council at South River High School, is a member of the bowling team at Newark Rutgers. Geiger's "philling" them in at a fine rate, as his 170 average indicates.

From toe, toe, toe to ho, ho, ho: Ed Meagher, who kicked extra points for East Brunswick High School this past season, has a unique after-school job during the holiday season. The Bears' placement specialist is making his points with the kids as a department store Santa Claus!

Circle December 29-30 in your holiday datebook. They're the dates of the annual Middlesex County Wrestling Tournament. John P. Stevens is the host school this year. Coach Cliff Loysen is tournament director.

Edison Music Department Sets Christmas Program

The vocal music department of Edison Township High School will present its Christmas program today at 8 p.m. Winston Hughes, teacher, is director of music.

There are two basic choral groups at Edison High School. The A Cappella choir consists of 38 hand-picked voices. Each member tries out and is picked on the basis of his tone quality, intonation and reading ability. This group sings music that represents a challenge to their ability. They also become acquainted with music from different periods and styles and as a result develop an appreciation for music from the renaissance to contemporary.

Officers of the A Cappella choir are President Scherry Ritz, senior; Vice President Joyce Kibalka, junior; Secretary Sandy Haines, senior; Treasurer Bill Saro, senior, and Librarians Phyllis Cohon, senior, and Marge Pawloski, junior.

Musical selections to be sung by the A Cappella choir are "Beside Thy Cradle", Bach (from the Christmas Oratorio); "Hodi Christies Notices Est", Willan; "Did Mary Know?", Averre; "Round De Glory Manger", James; "This Little Babe", Britten (from the Ceremony of Carols).

The mixed choir consists of 100 voices and serves as a feeder group for the more experienced A Cappella choir. Officers of the mixed choir are President Art Hoffman, junior; Vice President Dolores Hall, junior; Secretary Mary Jane Zar-

Makes Snow Difference! Rees Seeks MHS Ski Club Begins Middle Men

Although the ground is still bare of snow, the Metuchen High School Ski Club has already begun its season.

The club, now in its third year, has been meeting since November, under the supervision of Anthony Pugliese, biology-chemistry teacher, to prepare for the winter's skiing.

As in past years, meetings are devoted to movies and discussions of skiing topics and fundamentals. In addition, before the 80 skiers take off on outings to Camelback and Big Boulder in the Poconos and Bellayre and Hunter Mountain in New York, they will attend two skiing clinics.

In association with the United States Olympic Team's efforts to promote and organize competitive skiing, Pugliese is organizing a varsity ski team at the high school. Urging other area schools which support ski clubs to follow his example, he hopes to form a racing league in the future.

At the present, 20 students are in training for the team. Following the Olympic Ski Team Training Program, they meet four times weekly to perform basic stretching exercises and calisthenics, run cross-country and sprints, jump rope, play soccer and run through a dry-land slalom course.

Among those training, only three skiers, Debbie Borup, Roland Fischer and Keith Fischer, have had racing experience. Debbie, a high school sophomore, won second place in the Raritan Valley Ski Club's Women's Slalom Race in 1963 and placed second in the Women's Downhill State Championship last year.

From the Top To the Bottom: Edison-Metuchen

Edison and Metuchen both were idle in the Central Jersey Table Tennis League this week, but the teams continued to hold first and last places respectively.

Edison, with a 20-10 record, is in the top spot, one game ahead of Plainfield, which is 21-19. Metuchen is 12-18, below fifth place Millstone, which is 17-23. Newark and New Brunswick are deadlocked for third place in the six-team loop with 20-20 records.

Matches next Monday at Edison Lanes on Route 1 will pit Metuchen against New Brunswick and Edison against Newark.

Reub Karol of Highland Park is in eighth place in the individual standings, while another Parkite, John Van Doren, shares the sixth spot. Andy Lauzums, also of Highland Park, is in 12th place.

Gals Win, Too!

The Metuchen-Edison YMCA Girls Swim Team remained undefeated with a 110-97 victory over the Somerset Valley YMCA in the home pool last Saturday.

The team will travel to West Essex YMCA next Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

What a beginning! What an end! But, oh that middle!

This appears to be the case at Metuchen High School where new Coach Dick Rees is working with his Bulldog wrestling team with an eye on the dual meet opener with St. Mary's of Perth Amboy at home on January 5. Rees, however, will get an early line on his candidates December 29 in the annual Middlesex County Tournament.

Rees feels that the team's strength is in the lighter and heavier weight classes, but he's concerned about the status of the men who will take the mat in between. Last fall's record of 2-9-1 could be bettered, if the returning veterans improve upon their form of a year ago.

Senior Rich Crane, the Bulldogs' standout at 115 pounds, compiled a 7-1 mark a year ago, while 98-pound Senior Ron Weingart was 4-5. John Rule, whose twin brother, Jeff, is a candidate at 98 pounds, figures to open at 106. Both are sophomores.

Senior Fred Keeperman and Junior Charles Rannels are the leading men at 123 and 130, while the Blue and White's strength in the 177-pound and heavyweight classes are in the person of Dennis Kerr and Greg Novack, both seniors.

The middleweight classes are open, but Senior Gary Stura and Warren Montagna are likely starters.

Metuchen-Edison Y Takes Holiday

The Metuchen-Edison YMCA will close at 6 p.m. on Christmas, and also on New Year's Eve at the same time.

The Family Swim scheduled for December 26 and January 2 will be cancelled and will resume on January 9.

Funari Is 5-10 Giant In Owl Cage Ranks

Although he stands just 5-10, Rocco Funari, Highland Park guard, was a giant among the big men in the Owls' opening game 59-41 victory over Metuchen.

Funari scored 23 points in the Owls' see-saw 68-60 victory over Carteret Tuesday night. Bob Perla and Marc Roth added 15 and 14 points respectively, as the locals wrapped up their second consecutive win.

Funari, one of Coach Bob Kertes' veterans, pumped in 19 points to finish as the only Owl in double figures against the Bulldogs. He scored seven field goals on an assortment of jump shots and drives and added five free throws. Marc Roth and Dave Meyers each added eight points apiece to the winners' cause.

Metuchen stayed close (11-7) at the end of the first period, but Highland Park stretched its lead to 26-17 at halftime. An 18-9 third period Owl bulge wrapped it up.

The Parkites hope to start a happy holiday season tomorrow night when they travel to New Providence. On Tuesday, the Owls will hop over the river to New Brunswick High School.

Flaherty Heads CYO Program

Joseph P. Flaherty, retired Army officer, is the new program director for the Metuchen CYO. He also is physical education instructor at St. Matthew's School, Edison, where he lives at 8 Dundar road with his wife and their two children.

Flaherty retired from the Army three years ago with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He served with the First Division in Europe and with Second Division in Korea.

His interest in recreation goes back to his college days. A graduate of Scranton University with a degree in education, Flaherty supervised a number of playgrounds for the Scranton Bureau of Recreation while a senior. He also coached freshman football and the varsity back at Scranton.

Flaherty coached football while in the Army too and served at times as the athletic officer of various units.

Under his direction, the CYO has scheduled gym periods Sunday afternoons and Tuesday and Thursday nights for high school boys. He also is supervising other elements of the program involving children of grammar school age.

An addition to the Monday afternoon program for seventh and eighth grade girls is modern dance instruction with Mrs. Barbara Sheehy in charge.

Warner Gridders Receive Awards

Fred Eckert, star quarterback of this year's Rutgers University football team, was the main speaker at the annual Metuchen Pop Warner football banquet held Sunday at the Elks Club. The invocation was given by the Rev. E. Walton Zelle Jr. of St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

The Metuchen Pop Warner Association awarded trophies to the entire cheerleading, Pee Wee and championship Midget squads. Awards of appreciation were given to advisor of the cheerleaders, Miss Linda D'Addario; Pee Wee Coaches George Bolin, Don Fleming, Booker Cherry and Midget Coaches John Ballas, Roger Eosso and Harold Turley. Special awards were given to Mrs. Ann Grushewsky and Business Managers Les Moyer and Milt Karten. Robert Tischbin was master of ceremonies and George P. Commerton Jr. was general banquet chairman.

Hawks Launch Mat Wars

John P. Stevens, which gets the jump on other area schoolboy wrestling teams by taking on North Hunterdon Regional tomorrow night, is as colorful as Christmas--green.

Coach Cliff Loysen, who guided the Hawks to a 10-2 mark just a year ago, will unveil an inexperienced group of grapplers in the opener, the only dual match before Stevens hosts the Middlesex County Tournament December 29-30. In fact, there are only two seniors on the squad, Joe Bono at 168 and Henry James at 136.

Edison High will make its mat debut Saturday at home against New Brunswick. Metuchen won't open until after the county tourney, while Highland Park, wrestling a limited slate in its first year on the mat, made its bow this week.

Hawks Collide With Eagles In First Intratownship Tilt

WAYNE FERRULLO

The first of a two-game cage series between Edison and John P. Stevens High Schools will take place tomorrow night at Edison High School gym. Tipoff time for the intratownship tussle is 8 p.m.

Based on the first week of play, Edison rates as a heavy favorite. The Eagles are 2-0, while the Hawks have yet to win in their two outings. In addition, Stevens, playing its second season of basketball, will be looking for its initial victory over their neighbors, Edison having won both meetings last winter.

Wayne Ferrullo was top man with 16 points in Edison's 63-49 triumph over East Brunswick Tuesday night. John Shroba added 11.

Stevens was thumped, 89-37, by Linden Tuesday afternoon. Bob Gaskill's 11 points was best for the Hawks.

As expected, John Shroba was the stand out in the Eagles' 78-46 opening game victory over North Hunterdon. The All-County performer pumped in 19 points to lead the attack, but more important, he showed that he can go strong on his knee which was operated on last summer. The knee injury hampered the senior center's play late last season.

Shroba had plenty of help in the scoring department, however. Brian Deisley and Bob Light, in starting roles for the first time, each contributed 14 points, while Wayne Ferrullo netted 11.

Coach Bob Cowards charges jumped to a 14-1 lead and held a 20-9 advantage at the end of the opening quarter. The bulge mounted to 36-20 at the half and 62-25, heading into the final quarter.

Stevens fell to St. Joseph's, 55-41, spoiling the debut of new Coach Connie Muniz. The Hawks fell behind 30-18 at halftime and were never headed.

Pat Tylka, who entered the game in a reserve role, was the only Hawk to tally in double figures with ten points, most of them coming in the final period when the locals out-scored the winners, 14-7. Al Pollack had nine, while Bob Gaskill and Mickey Meyers each added eight points.

Following Friday night's engagement, Stevens will travel to Plainfield Tuesday afternoon. After a week's holiday layoff, the Hawks will take on John F. Kennedy in an away game on December 28.

Edison has a tall order on Tuesday, meeting Perth Amboy in the Bay City. The Panthers are rated the top team in Middlesex County. After that, the Eagles will begin play in the Holiday Festival Tournament, in which Perth Amboy is also the favorite.

AL POLLACK

Five Score Wins As HP Bows on Mat

Highland Park, taking its first turn on the scholastic wrestling mat, fell, 29-21, to the junior varsity grapplers from St. Mary's of Perth Amboy, but five Owls won their individual matches.

Coach Bob Williams' team got off on the right foot, as 98-pounder John Ricotta scored a victory. The locals, however, then dropped four consecutive clashes before Augie Pino came through with a win in his 141-pound match.

The Owls won the last three matches, but it was not enough. The victors were Israel Mayk at 168, Ivan Sussman at 178 and Ralph Brock in the heavy-weight class.

'Y' Boys Win

The Metuchen - Edison YMCA Boys Swin Team traveled to Morristown YMCA Saturday and came back with a 99-88 win.

The boys will host the Perth Amboy YMCA Saturday at 2 p.m.

MHS Hope at Home: Victory, Not Charity

Charity begins at home, but the Metuchen High School basketball team isn't looking for charity. The Bulldogs would be thankful for a victory, thank you, when North Plainfield comes to town tomorrow night.

Failing to win in its two road contests to date Coach Bill Blindown's boys hope the friendly confines of their home court will help them rack up their first victory. Game time is 8 p.m.

Metuchen got fine performances from its one-two scoring punch, Glenwood Collins and Bruce Dangremond, in their opening game loss to Highland Park, 59-41. But the senior pair is going to have some help from the rest of the club, if the Bulldogs are to bite.

The Blue and White cagers managed to score just 12 field goals against the Owls, and Collins and Dangremond had ten of them. On the foul line, it was the same story. The pair connected on 11 of the Bulldogs total of 17. Together, they netted 31 of the 41 markers, Collins getting 16 and Dangremond 15.

Collins, a 5-8 guard, tossed in six from the field and four foul shots; Dangremond sunk seven free throws and four from the field.

Metuchen trailed by just two baskets, 11-7, after the first eight minutes of play, but it fell behind 26-17 at the half and was never in contention thereafter.

Splitting their first two road contests, to date, Coach Bill Blindow's boys hope the friendly confines of their home court will help them rack up their second win of the young season. Game time is 8 p.m.

Roger Keaton's two foul conversion's enabled the Bulldogs to best South Brunswick on Tuesday, 64-62, as the locals held off a late drive by the Vikings. Glenwood Collins was easily the Blue and White standout, pumping in 12 field goals and six foul shots for 30 points.

Parkites Pick Up Another CJ Group II Title Plum

Highland Park High School is in a familiar position this week. The Owls are Central Jersey Group II football champions. The announcement was made Tuesday by the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association, which annually makes the selections.

Coach Jay Dakelman's team, which annexed the title a year ago by finishing undefeated in nine ball games, successfully held onto the crown this fall by posting a 7-1-1 record in what was generally believed to be a rebuilding year.

The Owls finished as the top defensive club in Middlesex County, yielding just 39 points in their nine contests. They succeeded in recording shutouts over five of their opponents.

Offensively, the team tallied 173 points. Victories came at the expense of South River, North Hunterdon, Parsippany, Carteret, Sayreville, Roselle Park and Metuchen. The locals tied Clifford Scott and lost only to South Plainfield in the opening game of the season. South Plainfield, incidentally, finished unbeaten with nine wins and was named Central Jersey Group III champions.

St. Joseph's Rolls To Win Opener

With Tom Stine sidelined, a quartet of St. Joseph's cagers scored in double figures to get the Falcons off the ground in fine style last Friday night. Coach Ron Kelly's boys jumped to a 30-18 halftime lead over neighboring John P. Stevens and went on flying to a 55-41 victory.

FRANK FITZGERALD

Junior Center Frank Fitzgerald poured in 20 points Tuesday night as the Falcons swept to their second win, a 63-47 decision over John F. Kennedy.

Accuracy from the foul line accounted for the Falcon win over Stevens. The losers outscored Kelly's crew from the field, 18-16, but the Falcons hit the mark with 23 foul shots. Ten of the charity tosses were flipped in by Joe Weingart, starting his first varsity contest. Weingart managed just three field goals, but his free throw marksmanship enabled him to take game honors with 16 points.

St. Joseph's will play host to St. Benedict's Friday night and St. Mary's of Elizabeth on Tuesday. The clash with the Elizabeth school will be especially important to Coach Kelly. It's his high school alma mater. Junior Varsity Coach Bill Murray also graduated from St. Mary's.

HOW TO ENJOY CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Simple. Just visit our shop anytime before Christmas—the earlier the better. There, you can select beautiful gifts without having to contend with jostling crowds.

You might have something like the traditional Poinsettia in mind for someone special. Or, if you wish, we can create something more contemporary . . . perhaps a pretty mantle arrangement, or mistletoe to brighten up a front hall.

One of the nicest things about Christmas shopping for flowers is that you know your gift is sure to please. Even the person who has everything never has enough flowers . . . and you'll never duplicate someone else's gift because every floral arrangement is unique.

Flowers have always been a part of Christmas. So when you select a fresh bouquet of decorative arrangement, you're giving a traditional gift.

Flowers can carry a message, too. The perennial green wreath means you are wishing a long life to the recipient; red blossoms signify joy, and touches of gold and silver stand for the radiance of the holidays.

We hope you'll take our advice . . . drop in with your gift list and make your Christmas shopping simple, sure, and scented—with flowers.

Reduce Cedar Lane II Assessment

The county tax board has approved Highland Park Tax Assessor John Rizzo's recommendation that the added assessment on Cedar Lane Apartments Inc. be pro-rated to four months, thus reducing the assessments to $120,650.

The Cedar Lane corporation had been assessed at $362,000 for the entire year, while the company had asked that the assessment be reduced to $90,500, based on a pro-rating for three months of the year.

The second section of Cedar Lane Apartments was opened earlier this year, so it does not have to pay taxes for the full year.

County Reveals Plans For Edison Projects

The Middlesex County Board of Freeholders have mapped an aggressive program for 1966 and Edison Township figures prominently in its plans. In his reorganization speech on New Year's Day, Freeholder Director George Burton, starting his third year at the helm, cited a number of projects within the township which are on the drawing board.

Burton announced a proposal to construct a new 100-bed annex to Roosevelt Hospital located in Edison. The Freeholder director also said top priority in the body's budget will be given to road improvements, several of which will benefit the traffic flow in Edison.

The county plans to widen Woodbridge avenue and Oak Tree road, two of the most heavily traveled thoroughfares in the township. Burton's announcement came as good news to Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics, who has pushed for the improvements in recent years.

Yelencsics also has urged a stepped up program to see the realization of an industrial road from the Raritan Arsenal to Perth Amboy and the completion of the Route 287 spur to the Bay City. Burton said the Freeholders' budget will include funds to accelerate these projects.

The biggest project on the county docket for 1966 is the opening of the Middlesex County Junior College on the Raritan Arsenal tract in September. Initially, the school will open with 300 students, but the enrollment is expected to grow to almost 1,500 by September, 1967.

Among the other state and county projects which are welcomed by Edisonites are a proposed tidal dam on the Raritan River at Crab Island between Edison and Sayreville and measures to control water and air pollution.

There is also a possibility that the county's nine-hole golf course at the Arsenal may be expanded to 18 holes.

Mayor To Start Third Term At Friday's Reorganization

Mayor Anthony Yelencsics, starting his third four-year term as Edison's chief governing official, will look back on a year of progress and take a peek at what is in store for the township in 1966 and beyond, when the Township Council reorganizes tomorrow night at 7 p.m. in the Municipal Building. The meeting represents a change from the traditional New Year's Day reorganization ceremonies.

Yelencsics, who was re-elected by a 5,000 vote margin last November, will again be sworn into office. The mayor's running mates Councilmen Frank Marchitto, Dr. William Toth and Norman Freeman, victorious incumbents, also will take the oath of office again.

Few changes are expected to be announced in Yelencsics' appointments for the coming year, but at least three major posts must be filled. The term of John Anderson, long-time member of the Board of Education, expires as of February 1. It is likely he will be renamed. The mayor also must fill one vacancy each on the Planning Board and the Zoning Board of Adjustment. The term of Julius Kapasandi on the Planning Board has expired, while Gus Doeler's stint on the Zoning Board is up. The mayor has given no indication whether they will be re-appointed.

In his review of the accomplishments of 1965, Yelencsics will probably cite the start of construction of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Hospital which will serve the residents of Edison, Metuchen and Woodbridge when completed in 1967; the announcement that the township soon will have a central post office to serve all areas of the township; school expansion measures taken during the past 12 months and the influx of industry, including the large Fedders Corp. plant and others in the Raritan Arsenal complex.

In looking to the next 12 months, the mayor no doubt will comment on his fight to have the proposed New Jersey Turnpike interchange named "Edison."

It is likely that he, too, will mention several projects announced by the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders last week, including road improvements, the proposed Crab Island Dam and the Route 287 spur. (See story elsewhere on this page.)

The mayor is expected to comment that the industrial fatables keep the township's tax rate down for municipal purposes, but school expansion--present and future--will create an increase in school taxes and a slight increase in the overall rate.

Late last year, Yelencsics announced plans to establish the post of municipal prosecutor in the township, so it is possible a selection may be made. In all probability, however, the position may not be created and filled until the 1966 budget is worked out.

Referendum Is Questioned By Meridian

"We just did what the voters told us to do," said Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics, this week, when asked to comment on the Superior Court suit filed by the Meridian Development Corp.

Meridian, a Newark firm represented by Attorney Robert Greenbaum, was granted a special exception use permit by the Board of Adjustment last February 16 to construct 420 garden apartment units. An initiative petition, however, was circulated, resulting in a referendum on November 2.

Although Yelencsics was re-elected mayor by 5,000 votes, the referendum opposed by the mayor was passed 8,172-5,758. The referendum placed a ban on garden apartments and, following the decision of the township voters, the zoning ordinance was amended forcing Meridian to stop construction on the apartments near Grove avenue.

Meridian charges that the vote should be null and void, since state law specifies that voters do not have the power to amend a zoning ordinance by a majority vote. It alleges that the referendum was "unconstitutional."

Knights Name Winner

The first annual Christmas Outdoor Religious Display Contest sponsored by Pope Pius XII Council 4885, Knights of Columbus, Edison, was won by Mr. and Mrs. George Celentano of 18 Deerwood avenue.

Highlight of the display was a Nativity scene with life size figures, which Celentano cut from plywood and Mrs. Celentano painted. It took two weeks to complete the display. The Celentanos, parishioners of St. Matthew's Church, have resided in Edison for nine years and have two sons, Mark 9 and Gary 1. Mr. Celentano is a member of the Holy Name and Nocturnal Adoration Societies. He is employed by Sebolt Concrete Company.

A $25 War Bond was awarded to the winners by Grand Knight Frank Bulkilvish.

Chamber Names Lighting Winners

Winners in the Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Edison Chamber of Commerce have been announced by Herman P. Hershkowitz, chairman.

Hershkowitz said more than 60 entries had been received in the annual event. He reported, "Every home was visited by the judges. Each year it is becoming increasingly difficult to decide the winners. The Edison homes were all beautifully decorated. We wish to publicly thank all who entered the contest for the time and effort put into their displays."

Judging was based on two categories, most beautiful and most original. Winners were: most beautiful, first, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Heinly Sr. of 13 Phillip drive; second, Chester Grzankowski Jr., of 609 Grove avenue and third, Mr. and Mrs. B. Summer of 86 North First street.

In most original category, first place winners were: Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Sowinski of 690 Amboy avenue; second, Mr. and Mrs. A.B. DeLage of 49 Ashley road, and third, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Dailey of 56 Brookville road.

Judges for the Chamber were Hershkowitz, Mrs. Dorothy Drwal, executive director, and Bernard J. Griffin, past president.

Marchitto Is Named To Board of Trustees

It will be another two-hat year for Frank Marchitto of Edison.

The Edison councilman, who was re-elected to his third term on the Township Council in November, was re-appointed Saturday to the board of trustees of the Middlesex County College.

The 50-year-old labor leader's term as a trustee had expired October 31. His new term runs to October 31, 1968.

Col. Who Flew 426 Combat Hours Makes Home in Boro

Col. David T. McKnight, who flew 426 combat hours during World War II and the Korean Conflict, will make his home in Metuchen.

Col. McKnight, director of the Air Defense Command's Aerospace Defense Systems Office with the Headquarters, USAF Space Systems Division, closed out an active military career in an informal retirement ceremony at his Los Angeles office on December 23. He has commanded many operational fighter units and has held Plans, Operations, and Materiel staff positions at various Headquarters levels including Hq USAF, Washington D. C.

Although his active duty service began in 1941, Col. McKnight had prior reserve service in the National Guard (Cavalry) dating back to 1930. He went through pilot training under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1940, received a commission and entered the Army Air Corps in 1941.

The New York City area (Queens) native soon proved his worth in combat, flying 44 combat missions over the European Theater in B-17 aircraft.

When the Korean conflict broke out, Col. McKnight was called upon again to fly combat missions. He flew 82 sorties in F-80, F-84, and F-86 aircraft, amassing 149 combat hours over the Korean skies.

He has served in some of the Air Force's most important staff and command assignments and has received training in top civilian and military schools. He received his Bachelor of Arts (Psychology) degree from the Detroit Institute of Technology and attended the Armed Forces Staff College and the Air War College.

Since June, 1964, he has held his current position which involves liaison for the Air Defense Command with the Headquarters of the USAF Space Systems Division.

Rated a Command Pilot,

Who Fostered Brotherhood?

The Metuchen-Edison Racial Relations Council reminded local organizations this week to submit the names of candidates for the council's annual Brotherhood awards.

The names of Edison candidates may be submitted to Mrs. Robert Homes of Inman avenue, FU 1-1835. Mrs. Vincent Utz of Mayfield place will accept the names of Metuchen candidates. She may be reached at LI 8-4388.

The awards to the Edison and Metuchen residents who have contributed most to the cause of Brotherhood in the past year will be presented at the February Brotherhood dinner.

Col. McKnight's awards and decorations include: the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters, Air Medal with seven oak leaf clusters, Legion of Merit, Air Force Commendation Medal with one oak leaf cluster and numerous campaign ribbons and foreign awards.

Col. McKnight will assume an executive position there with the Hammesfahr Electrical Company, Inc. The McKnights have two children; a married daughter now residing in Washington D. C. and a son attending Bucknell University.

Reminder: Pool Drive Still Open

Metuchen Recreation Director Joseph Germain said this week that the membership drive for the proposed municipal swimming pool is not over yet, contrary to the belief of some residents.

Germain noted that although more than the required 900 memberships were obtained two months ago, it is only a minimum number. He said the membership committee will continue to accept memberships until 1,200-family memberships are obtained.

Meanwhile, the committee headed by Emil J. Triglia and Eugene M. Milgrim, is busy collecting the balance of the membership fees. A total of 906 subscriptions for family membership, including down payments, have been received. The balance of the first-year fee must, however, be paid by January 31. To date, 150 memberships are paid in full.

The chairmen said the National Bank of New Jersey will arrange, on request, a short-term loan to finance any portion of members' commitments at a nominal cost. Pool loan forms, enabling residents to spread the payments over a four-month period instead of one lump sum, are available at the bank's offices at 442 Main street.

Thompson and Davie, the architectural firm hired by the Recreation Commission's building committee, has submitted an estimate of construction costs and the pool design is nearing completion. The Division of Local Government in Trenton is reviewing the proposed pool plan and its approval for a self-liquidating bond issue needed to finance the project is expected soon.

The commission anticipates breaking ground sometime in March with an eye on a June opening.

A Dedicated Gambler Will Bet on Anything

By SANDY INGHAM

This column originally was written for The Spokesman, sister publication of The Recorder. Sandy Ingham, editor of The Spokesman, echoes the sentiments of all editorial employees of The Sentinel Publishing Company.

If Prosecutor Dolan is really cracking down on gambling in the county, it won't be too long before he gets around to our office.

Not that we're harboring any bookmakers or numbers racketeers. But there is enough money wagered over a year's time to stretch from here to the Big A.

As in any office, there is the baseball pool, and I would be glad to sit down with the detectives any time to co-operate in a full investigation of this travesty of justice. I have sunk at least seventy-eleven dollars into it, and I've yet to come up with a winner. I could probably draw the Boston Celtics and still not win.

We occasionally wager on more colorful sports, namely bug races. A bug race is when you place a wastebasket on top of a bug as he is crossing the floor. Everyone places his bet on one of the square tiles around the basket, which is then lifted. Whichever block the bug walks into, that's the winner. If the bug is flattened, he is scratched.

The dedicated gambler, of course, will bet on anything. We are in the process of evolving a gamblers' attraction that may someday rival the Twin Double, the one-armed bandit or the Irish Sweepstakes. It is called the Telephone Hour.

The Telephone Hour is the hour twixt quitting time and dinner time. More prosaically, it starts when the switchboard operator goes home, at 5 p.m. She obligingly plugs all incoming calls into the editorial department. The game is to guess for whom the bells toll, and then place your bets.

Like poker, the Telephone Hour is basically mathematics and careful research enables the astute player to flourish. Here, for the benefit of all, are the official odds.

The favorite, at 3-1, is that the call is from a newsboy announcing he needs more rubber bands.

Running a close second at 5-1 is the call from the subscriber who didn't get his paper. Breaking it down, the odds are 7-1 that he'll be tolerant, 8-1 that he'll be annoyed, and 9-1 that he'll slam down the receiver when he's finished.

Going off at 6-1 is the call from Helen's son asking whether he's supposed to put salt in the soup and paprika on the meat loaf, or vice versa?

If you like a chancy longshot, put 15-1 on the call being for someone in the editorial department.

Of course, one soon tires of answering irrelevant phone calls, especially when one is trying to get some work done, and there are times when one would like to strap the switchboard operator to her post with a stout telephone cord until the work is done. However, if everyone will follow these instructions, I'm sure the problem will be solved: all those who have business with the circulation, advertising and production departments, please call before five. All those calling the editorial department after five, please dial the number, wait three rings, hang up, dial again, wait three more rings, hang up again, dial again, wait one ring, and we'll answer. All those with complaints for the editorial department, call between 3 and 4 a.m., and there will be a tape recording ready to take your message.

Trees Going, Snow Coming

Christmas trees are going and snow is coming.

This message was passed on to Metuchen residents by Borough Councilman Donald Wernik, chairman of the Public Works Department, this week.

Wernik, noting the fire hazard brittle Christmas trees represent, urged residents to take them down as soon as possible. He said the Public Works Department will pick up the trees for the next two or three weeks.

The councilman repeated a request made earlier this winter. "We're bound to get some snow soon," said Wernik, "so I again urge residents to keep their cars off the streets when it comes." Wernik noted that cars hinder workmen in their efforts to plow borough streets.

Students Collect Books for Vietnam

Metuchen High School students are collecting paperback books for servicemen in Vietnam.

The drive to provide reading material for the servicemen was initiated by the students themselves. The Student Council and the Key Club will coordinate the project.

Borough residents who would like to participate in the drive may leave their books at the high school or may arrange with students to have the books picked up.

HS Newspaper Reports Cheating Is on Rise

Several weeks ago The Recorder asked area principals if cheating were on the increase in their high schools.

Robert Van Allen, principal of Metuchen High School, reported at that time that he believed cheating was at a minimum in the school.

The Bulldog's Bark, the Metuchen High School newspaper, got a different answer when it queried students and teachers on the same question.

Of eleven students interviewed, eight acknowledged that cheating was probably on the increase. One student admitted to cheating.

Their explanations for the increase ranged from pressure from parents and colleges to get better marks to the lowering of moral standards.

Two teachers questioned agreed that there was cheating in the classroom. They disagreed as to who was doing the cheating. Dr. Archie Elliott, math teacher, believes that it is the better student who cheats, those who do not need to, but who want better grades.

Steven Ziznewski, history teacher, believes that both the borderline failures and the ambitious achievers are found guilty of cheating.

Both teachers agreed that the increased pressure on students for college acceptance has contributed to the rise in cheating.

The Bark devoted a full page of its December issue to a comprehensive look at the cheating issue following a report in the New York Times that cheating was on the increase among students throughout the country.

The high school newspaper also interviewed the school psychologist, questioned the merits of an honor system and tackled the problem editorially.

Smida Will Speak To Democratic Club

Smida will explain the proposed 1966-67 school budget and will speak on the future of education in Metuchen in general. A question and answer period will follow.

Kenneth Smida, Metuchen superintendent of schools, will speak to the members of the Metuchen Democratic Club January 13 at 8:30 p.m. in the American Legion Home on Lake avenue.

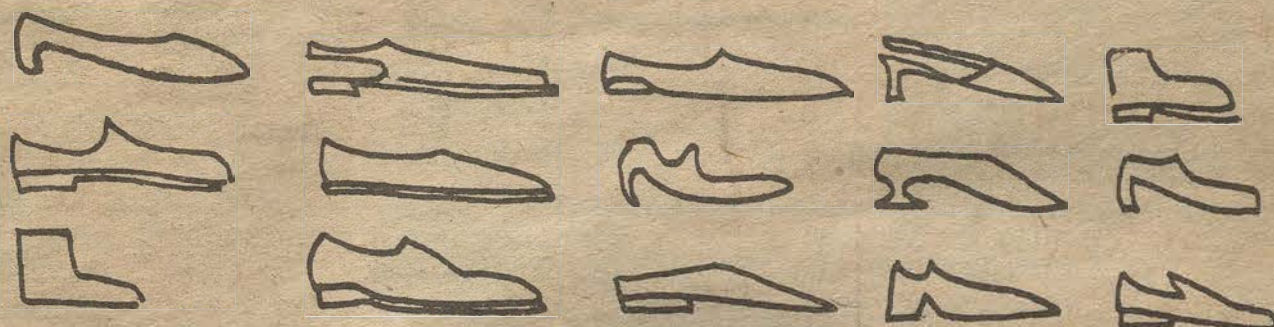

The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Beaten Budgets Could Bring Big Headaches

Defeated school budgets on February 8 could cause giant headaches for Middlesex County school officials, because of the special March 1 election to select delegates to the March 21 Constitutional Convention.

County election officials have reported that only 75 voting machines will be available for second school elections, which must be held within 10 days of the February 8 election.

Form GS Troop For Handicapped

Physically handicapped girls in the area from seven to 17 have a special New Year's present awaiting them. A new Girl Scout troop for these girls has been started at the Middlesex Rehabilitation Hospital on Georges road in North Brunswick.

The troop meets at the sponsoring hospital every other Thursday evening under the direction of two experienced and qualified leaders, Mrs. Edmund Rutkowski of South River and Mrs. Nettie Hardt of East Brunswick.

All except perhaps the more rugged parts of the Girl Scout program will be part of the regular activities of the troop. Parents are urged to contact the Girl Scout office, 545-2600, for additional information.

Plan Cocktail Dance

The Singles College Graduates' Club invites single men and women who are college graduates or college students between the ages of 21 and 39 to a Gala Winter Season Cocktail Dance January 14 from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Club Diana, 2800 Springfield avenue, Union. There will be live music for dancing, door prizes, and a dance contest.

Designed to meet the social needs of the single adult, the club was organized a year and a half ago to help bring young professional people together.

School board officials have agreed that Woodbridge -- the county's largest community -- will get first crack at whatever voting machines are available in case the school budget is defeated there. Woodbridge needs 55 voting machines for its school election.

Madison Township and East Brunswick will have the next top priority after Woodbridge.

If no voting machines are available, local school districts will have to use paper ballots. This will mean a great rush will be on to find ballot boxes and polling booths, because only a few are available throughout the county. It has been traditional for school districts to share what few ballot boxes and voting booths are available.

East Brunswick school board secretary Joseph Stanco, for example, estimates he will need 16 polling booths and nine ballot boxes. He is already figuring out ways to obtain or build them -- just in case the township's proposed $6 million budget doesn't make it.

Perhaps Highland Park board secretary summed up the sentiments of other local educational administrators when he commented "Let's just hope that the budget is approved the first time on February 8 -- we have no ballot boxes available here."

CYAC Sets Ball

The new officers of the Catholic Young Adult Club of Northern Middlesex County will be installed at an Inaugural Ball January 21 at Media's in South Plainfield.

Taking office at the semi-formal buffet and dance will be Skip Weber, president; Judith Grygowiec, vice president; Jane Conns, treasurer; Roseann Balog, recording secretary, and Janis Stachowski, corresponding secretary.

suburban housewife Esprit de Corps

By Louise Saul

They came from California, Colorado, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Kentucky, Connecticut and Tennessee. They came because an employment agency suggested it, a mother begged, a friend had come ahead and reported it was okay, the high school guidance people had said it was the Job Corps or nothing.

And they came because they couldn't make a living wage, because there were no decent jobs for them, because they were tired of the look on employers' faces when they admitted to being high school drop-outs. They came because they were bored, disgusted, groping, drifting, and above all, looking for one more chance.

They said things like, "Boy, this just gotta work---it's the last step for me," and "I thought, what the hell, man, it's worth a try," and "They told me I could get a high school diploma here so I'm gonna try and stick with it," and even, "We gripe a lot, but what else is there?"

Most corpsmen were warm and friendly, quick to answer questions despite the fact that they felt reporters have somehow slandered them. (It did no good to point out that criticism of the program was not criticism of them.) But considering a natural reluctance to talk to the press, a desire to stay out of trouble, and in some cases, a defensive anger and hostility that makes communication difficult, one wonders not at how little was said, but at how much.

In a discussion with a group of Negro and white students in one of the machine shops, for instance, one white Kentuckian admitted, "Listen, the biggest problem for me here was getting used to living with colored people. I thought I'd never be able to do that, but..."

"Waking up and looking at you guys ain't exactly been a ball for us either," a Negro youth interrupted. "Yeah, I guess that's so," the Kentuckian smiled. "But anyway, after two weeks it didn't seem important any more. I guess I just got used to it and by that time I knew we were all here for the same reason--all in the same boat--trying to make something of ourselves."

The problem of integrated living slipped in among others as the boys continued to discuss the difficulty of studying again, their homesickness for a familiar face, the hemmed-in feeling of crowd living.

Corpsman range in age from 16 to 22 years. They are paid $13 every two weeks and another $50 a month is accredited to each man's savings account to serve as a starting fund on training completion.

"They live 64 to a unit, 32 to a dormitory, and four to a room. In front of the rooms, a small lounge equipped with a television set helps provide some out-of-class relaxation for the 32 boys living in the dorm. The rooms themselves, I suppose, could best be described as functional--four metal cots, four metal lockers. An occasional snapshot taped above a cot or on a locker serves as a reminder that the rooms are inhabited. Each dorm has both a Negro and white group leader.

Dressed in plaid shirt and black slacks, group leader James Carter, 32 (B.A., psychology, Howard University), discussed some of the problems of men in his charge.

"Their biggest difficulty is an inability to communicate with each other and with the community. Many have personal problems that completely overwhelm them. A letter from home, for instance, reporting that things are worse can throw a corpsman off for days. It seems to me that we must admit there are certain problems we can't solve here and take it from there."

One of the problems that psychologist James Carter and others like him feel must be worked on, is providing community contacts and acceptance for corpsmen.

My own guide, corpsman Jim Reynolds insisted that one of the best things that could happen to a corpsman was to be invited to dinner or to join some other family activity in an area home.

I thought Jim overstated the value of these occasional nights out. In fact it seemed to me that the whole business of inviting a corpsman into one's home could be interpreted as a patronizing gesture--or at least, a kind of ineffectual spitting-in-the-ocean tactic to solve huge socio-economic problems.

But I was wrong. To a man, the corpsmen who had been out were enthusiastic. Most were hoping for a second opportunity. Even the glummost brightened when he spoke of "a great family in Plainfield," or "the letter I got from the neat people I visited in Somerset."

And when I saw the huge, overcrowded, noisy, ugly, mess hall ("It's ghastly," an administrator admitted, "but where would you start?"), eating off the Edison center took on still another dimension--relief.

But the one who really changed my mind was a 19-year-old Negro from Texas who explained, "From Texas to New Jersey is almost another country. So when someone invited you home, it's like a welcoming handshake."

Even I recognize the value of the acceptance that lies behind a handshake.

OWL OUTLOOK

By Madeline Weisberger

Nothing is more welcome in a student's life than a vacation, but eventually even that must end and last Monday found HPHS'ers back in school, tired and somewhat confused. Vacation went so fast, but for some reason everyone has a bit of trouble trying to remember what work to begin studying again.

* * *

Another respite from regular classes--although not from studying and homework--will begin on Monday, January 24: MIDTERMS ARE ONLY 2-1/2 WEEKS AWAY, and will mark the end of the first semester. Since this is usually the signal for seniors to voluntarily lighten their homework load (only first semester grades of the senior year are considered for college acceptance), teachers have cautioned students against decreased concentration in studies and wandering attention. Of course, these warnings were unnecessary: the customary signs of senioritis, clock-watching and window-gazing, set in somewhat early this year--they were first noticed during the second week of school!

* * *

For any ambitious sophomores and juniors, and seniors searching for one more chance to prove their skills, College Boards are being given this Saturday. Good Luck!

* * *

A visitor to HPHS last Monday or Tuesday who happened to glance into the auditorium after school, might have wondered what big sale or free give-away was being held. But the crowded room was the scene of tryouts for the annual musical produced by the Music and Drama Departments. This year, the long-running Broadway hit, "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," will grace the HPHS stage.

NEWS FROM JOHN P. STEVENS HIGH SCHOOL

HAWK TALK

By Karen Rose Smith

The week of school before a vacation, especially the Christmas-New Year's vacation, leads people to think profound thoughts, or anyway try to. Here are a few hopes for the New Year heard around the Stevens halls.

Miss Jane Petersen, student teacher, remarked woefully "I just want to get through this year."

Peggy Dudas, senior philosopher, philosophically stated her new philosophy: "I shall look for the good in intolerable people."

Not so philosophically an other Senior, Dan Hladik remarked "I'll kill myself if I don't get into Dartmouth." Promises, promises.

Nancy Owens, freshman, has hopes of "not getting my stockings caught on those crummy creative arts benches."

Allen Kirlew, another freshman, widely noted for his luxuriant, carrot colored, unkempt locks promises to "comb my hair at least twice a year."

Dennis Malinowski, a junior, said mysteriously "Oh I could name a lot of 'em, but I wouldn't dare."

This we leave to your imagination: Nancy Woods, seemingly studious freshman, blushed, turned away, and refused to answer!

Mr. Frank Petrucelli, yearbook adviser, cackled ominously and stated "I hope we can get our club pictures taken." He had encountered a bit of opposition when they were first scheduled.

No reflection on the Home Economics Department but -- Anne Marie Dacko looks forward to "learning to make some edible cookies in home ec."

Debbie Bagstahl, a sophomore, has resolved to "try to remember to bring my dirty gym sneakers home."

Miss Rosemarie Papalardo, much overworked English teacher, shook her head sleepily when asked if she had any hopes for the New Year. Then her eyes lit up and she laughingly said "I hope all my advanced placement students earn A's." Laugh, everyone, laugh.

Esther Palmer reflected the hopes of most college-bound seniors "I just hope I get accepted at some school."

Mr. Melville Gaughan, Science Department wit, said "Hopes? Oh I thought you said hoax. Sometimes I think my tests are hoaxes to my Peter Pan class!" Figure that one out.

Mr. William Corio and Miss Anne Patente are looking forward to a hit musical next spring at JPS. The week before vacation, singing and dancing auditions occupied many students' after-school time. The musical is due early in March, but the title is as yet unannounced. Mr. Corio and Miss Patente will base their selection on the talent available. The musical is an all-school affair, sponsored by the Class of '67, which will receive all profits as there will be no Junior Play this year. Mr. Corio hopes to establish the musical as an annual event.

Most of all, we at Stevens concur with Michael LaPlace, vice principal, who hopes for "peace and tranquillity." From John P. Stevens to you all out there -- a peaceful and tranquil New Year.

Rutgers: Its 200th Year

Rutgers, The State University, inaugurated this week the yearlong celebration of its founding two centuries ago as Queen's College with a ceremonial ringing of the bell in historic Old Queens and the signing of a proclamation by Governor Richard J. Hughes.

The proclamation reminded citizens of New Jersey that on Nov. 10, 1766, Governor William Franklin of the Province of New Jersey in the name of King George III granted a charter to Queen's College, the eighth college founded in colonial America.

Almost a century after its founding, Rutgers in 1864 became the Land-Grant College of New Jersey. All units of the institution, the proclamation recalled, became the State University of New Jersey in 1945.

Rutgers is the only university in the United States founded in colonial times that is also a land-grant college and a state university.

The bicentennial year was announced at midnight on Dec. 31 with the pealing of the bell given to the University in 1825 by Colonel Henry Rutgers, the colonial philanthropist for whom the school was named in the same year.

The bell-ringing ushered in a year which promises to be a critical one for Rutgers and public education in New Jersey. Two citizens committees and Gov. Hughes have called for the greatest expansion of public education in the history of the Garden State. It could amount to the expenditure of as much as $427 million on capital construction for higher education by 1975 and a great increase in enrollment at Rutgers and other institutions in the public higher education system.

The yearlong celebration will feature in February the Bicentennial Rutgers Concert Series, which will run through April. The concert series in the gymnasium on the Rutgers College campus will open Feb. 7 with the appearance of the American pianist Byron Janis. He will be followed Feb. 16 by the Philadelphia Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy conducting, and the University Choir, F. Austin Walter (of Highland Park) director. The Norwegian Festival Orchestra, Olavin Fjeldstad conducting, and the University Choir will appear March 2. The London Symphony, Istvan Kertesz conducting, and the University Choir will perform April 1 and the American basso Jerome Hines will appear April 27.

A number of nationally prominent speakers are expected to take part in a series of student conferences March 18 through March 20.

The highlight of the bicentennial year from the standpoint of student participation will be Student Bicentennial Week, April 17-23, when undergraduates on each campus will be responsible for one day's program each.

In the fall, two football weekends stand out. The entire West Point cadet corps will make its first appearance in New Brunswick on Oct. 15 when the Scarlet Knights meet Army in a football game at Rutgers Stadium. On the next weekend, Alumni Homecoming, Rutgers will take on the Columbia Lions in football and there will be an exhibition crew race between Rutgers and Columbia on the Raritan.

But the most colorful event of the yearlong celebration will fall on Sept. 22, Convocation Day. Universities from throughout the world will be represented and standards of the various colleges and divisions of the University will lend an air of pageantry to the event.

The celebration will culminate on Charter Day, Nov. 10, with "Rutgers Night Around the World."

Edison Man Designs His Machines In the Language of the Engineer

Public relations and advertising men will be somewhat taken aback at what a Rutgers engineering professor calls his course in "communications."

Actually, the subject is listed as "Technical Drawing" in the University Extension Division catalogue, which describes the course as covering topics in orthographic projection, pictorial sketching, working drawings, and exploded isometrics.

In the class are 17 industrial technicians and engineering aides who devote their Wednesday and Thursday evenings each week to studying the principles of drawing and putting these principles to practice in the language of the engineer. Their classroom is the drawing laboratory of the State University in one of the temporary buildings on the University Heights campus.

Without ability to show others what he has done or how to use his invention, much time may be lost in unraveling the designs and processes created by industrial designers, according to Harry R. Morrison, the class instructor. "The designer's sketch is a means of better communication between engineering, design, and production staffs; it complements the oral and written expression between departments and can depict complex mathematical symbols and computations," he says.

Joseph Martin of Calvert

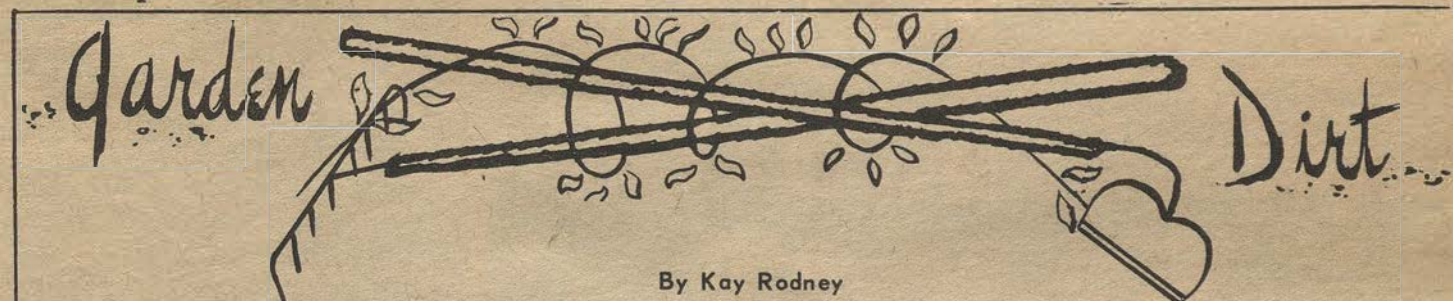

WHEELER DEALER--Joseph Martin (center) of Calvert avenue, Edison, welding machine designer for Foster Wheeler and a member of Rutgers Extension Center's technical drawing class, explains to Professor Harry R. Morrison (left) his model of a revolutionary machine for automatically welding tubes in nuclear steam generators. Looking on is a fellow student and co-worker at Foster Wheeler, John Yursha, senior welding technician.

avenue, Edison, who designs welding machines for Foster Wheeler and is one of the students, puts it this way. "Sometimes I work 16 hours a day thinking, dreaming, and designing a machine to do a job. When I get it working, I then must tell others what I have done so that they can reproduce it and put it into operation. Some 20 years ago, I had technical drawing in Europe while an aircraft technician, but now I need to improve this drawing ability and become much more familiar with the modern methods of expressing technical information."

Martin and his colleagues have designed five machines which have been patented by his company. One of these was a revolutionary technique which automatically welded tubes for nuclear steam generators.

The benefits of the New Brunswick Extension Center's Technical Drawing class are by no means one-sided, according to Instructor Morrison. He uses the industrial experience of his students as an invaluable source of enriching and keeping up to date drawing courses for his freshman engineering students.

Now we begin a new gardening year. Let's hope it will be better waterwise than 1965.

If the lilacs do not bloom or are scraggly and sparse put a good dose of lime around them now. In the Spring add some Bovung and they will improve. Water well at flowering time.

Keep the pieris japonica cut well back so that they do not become scrawny. Cut back the flowering tips now and use in the house to blossom and make attractive arrangements.

Garden catalogues are coming in now. Look them over carefully and choose some of the newer varieties for the garden this year. There are some really wonderful new colors in the catalogues. Be sure and take note of the location as to where and how they like to grow. So often, a sun loving plant will be planted in a shady or well drained place, when it really loves a clayey, very sunny spot. The gardener cannot understand why he has no luck with that particular plant. So read directions thoroughly before investing in seed.

Sit and think a moment about the wonders of a seed. The whole structure of a plant is included in that one tiny seed, leaves, roots, flower, food and lovely color. All the potentialities of a beautiful plant. This is easy to believe when the seeds are large like a pea but when one looks at a tiny petunia seed, how is it possible? The way a seed travels is also marvelous. Some can travel 40 to 50 feet when the seed pod bursts. Others like cockleburrs, fasten themselves to the wood of sheep or a passing dog and travel many miles. A dandelion seed blows quite far on the summer breeze.

Save the ashes from the fireplace and if there is an old fashioned coal furnace in the house, sift the ashes onto the garden. There is no better way to lighten the soil.

During the warm days keep limber by going out and pulling a few of the grasses and weeds that were missed in the Fall.

Try propagating evergreen tips now in a warm place in the house. Take tips of evergreens and put in a small flat with vermiculite. Keep warm beneath and shady above and never let dry out. They will root by Spring.

Make a plan of the garden now. See if it is not possible to rectify any mistakes made in the beginning. Have you a separate laundry and work space? A dry sunny spot to relax or eat? Plan them all now and make inquiries as to cost and material necessary. Then when the weather warms up it will be possible to start at once to make the garden a more convenient place to live.

Spread Bovung or manure on the garden patch where the vegetables are to be planted.

Go out after a heavy frost and look at the garden. If heaving has been bad, walk over the bed and push back the plants. This is one time when big feet are a blessing. Do this regularly all winter, especially if we have no snow. Most of the loss in a garden is the result of heaving.

Trim trees not done in Fall. Trim grape vines also. If ground is not frozen, evergreens and roses may still be planted.

Have a happy gardening year in 1966.

Talk About Edison

Sheila L. Ginsberg 985-1468

The New Year has begun, and it promises to be spectacular!

Edison High Schools adviser to the future nurses, Mrs. Demers, addressed the "Future Nurses Club" as well as the "Future Physicians Club" and asked if any young boy or girl would be interested in volunteering their service on behalf of little David Rossamando, 3, who had suffered brain damage at birth.

The response was extremely gratifying. During the Christmas holidays, a patterning session was held at the Rossamando home. These youngsters came for instruction: Thomas Pall, Jerry Voice, Patricia Galindo, Linda Moskal, Mary Siudut, Patricia Slavin, Veranda Cavico, Edwina Skiba, Kathy Groom, Linda Lynch and Linda Duplissa.

Additional assistance is being asked for, to form a reserve list that can be contacted in case of need. If there is anyone who is interested in helping David, please call Mrs. Neil Houston at 287-2151.

The Jewish Community Center of Highland Park will conduct a series of lectures on Sunday evenings, beginning this Sunday.

The first of this series will be given by Rabbi Julius Funk, director B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, Rutgers University.

"Saadia Gaon," in the Holy Land and in Babylonia Saadia Ben Joseph became, during the tenth century, an outstanding scholar, philosopher and Jewish Leader. His "Book of Faith and Doctrines" was the first systematic presentation of the philosophic foundations of Judaism. How are his ideas viewed in the light of modern religious thought? You can find out by coming to the lecture at 8 p.m. All are welcome and there is no charge.

The Sisterhood of Congregation Beth-El, Jefferson Boulevard and Spencer street held its board meeting at which time semi-annual reports were submitted by committee chairmen and vice presidents.

It will be a big month of activities for the Sisterhood.

Friday evening, January 7, Sabbath Services will be conducted by Rabbi David Leiter, at 8:30 p.m. Cantor Jerrold Held will cant the liturgy.

Immediately following the service, the Sisterhood of the Congregation will sponsor the Oneg Shabbat in honor of the consecration of the new members of the sisterhood, Mrs. Sylvia Cohen, Mrs. Rohn Cohen, Mrs. Harry Glass, Mrs. Jerrold Held, Mrs. S. Lerner and Mrs. Samuel Schlesinger.

Sabbath morning services begin at 9 a.m. when Rabbi Leiter and Cantor Held hold services for adults and Junior Congregation.

Boy Scout Troop 39, under the leadership of John Addams, are in for a great deal of learning and fun that goes with Scouting.

Troop 39, which meets on Friday evening in Lincoln School at 7:30 p.m., spent its first day hike at Camp Sakawawin recently. The boys plan another at Farrington Lake this month to gain the experience they will need for February's overnight hike at Sakawawin.

SENIOR CITIZENS' SIT-IN--The Edison Township Senior Citizens who meet Fridays at the Julius Engel Apartments have a wide variety of activities. Here, James D. Fireman Apprentice Joseph W. Klemick Jr., USN, son of Mrs. Virginia G. Klemick of Colletta's Trailer Court, Edison, will always remember December 2, 1965 -- the day nuclear-powered warships were first used in armed combat against an enemy. He is serving on board the nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

As the carrier Enterprise went into combat, launching air strikes against the Communist Viet Cong in South Vietnam, the nuclear-powered guided missile frigate Bainbridge was again at the "Big E's" side, providing anti-air and anti-submarine defense for the world's largest aircraft carrier.

These two ships recently completed a 30-day, 16,000 mile transit from Norfolk, Va. to the Western Pacific to become the first nuclear-powered vessels to operate with the Seventh Fleet.

The movement of Enterprise and Bainbridge to the Seventh Fleet was the first step in transferring the Navy's four atomic powered surface warships to the Pacific Fleet. The nuclear-powered cruiser Long Beach and guided missile frigate Truxton will be transferred in early 1966. The nuclear reactors in these ships provide almost unlimited range and the ability to stay at sea for extended periods without refueling. Without the need for constant refueling, they are a valuable asset to the Seventh Fleet striking forces operating throughout the Western Pacific.

Jane Johnson of 54 Richard road, Edison, has been named to the junior varsity basketball cheerleading squad at Rutgers in Newark for the 1965-66 season.

Miss Johnson, a sophomore liberal arts major at the State University's College of Arts and Sciences in Newark, is a graduate of Edison Township High School.

Interior Communications Technician Fireman Ronald A. Schreiner, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schreiner of 86A Vineyard road, Edison, is a member of the commissioning crew aboard the USS Canopus, the Navy's newest and largest fleet ballistic missile submarine tender.

Aviation Anti-Submarine Warfare Technician Second

Class Hilding A. Holmberg, USN, son of Mrs. Olga E. Holmberg of 19 Kearny avenue, Nixon, is serving with Air Anti-Submarine Squadron Four, deployed aboard the anti-submarine warfare (ASW) support aircraft carrier USS Essex in the Atlantic Ocean.

The squadron flies the Grumman "Tracker" anti-submarine aircraft, the Navy's newest carrier-based sub-hunter.

Fireman Robert J. Heller, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Heller of 41 Caldwell road, Edison, is serving aboard the 63,000-ton attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea, currently deployed to the Western Pacific with the United States Seventh Fleet.

Airman Apprentice Robert H. Vreeland, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Vreeland of 589 Old Post road, Edison, has reported for duty at the Naval Air Station, Quonset Point, Rhode Island.

Silvio Dell Angela of Edison Township was promoted to the rank of captain in the Air Force

Capt. Dell Angela recently returned to the United States after serving three years as communications officer at Chaumont Air Base, France. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dell Angela live at 32 Belmont avenue. Capt. Dell Angela, his wife, Anita, and their two children, Kim and Kathy, are presently residing in Somersdale.

BELLS SILENCED--The holiday season is over, so the bells atop Bamberger's in the Menlo Park Shopping Center will be packed away for another year.

Army PFC Stanley L. Hoover Jr., son of Mrs. D. A. Hoover, 23 Ashly road, Edison, and other members of the 2nd Infantry Division participated in Exercise "Flying Tackle," a five-day field training exercise in Korea.

Hoover, a radio repairman in Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion of the division's 72nd Armor in Korea, entered the Army in September, 1964, and received basic training at Fort Dix. He arrived overseas in March, 1965.

Three Study Boro Finance

Borough Councilman Leonard Roseman, chairman of the Finance Department, has been named to head a three-man finance committee appointed Monday night by Mayor Thomas Weber. Councilmen Eugene Haley and Samuel Rock will serve on the committee with Roseman.

In naming the trio, Weber listed two tasks for which the councilmen will be responsible. They will consider and review proposals for electric accounting equipment for the borough tax office and develop an investment policy for the borough.

The second job is a continuation of a project begun late in ex-Mayor Robert Flanagan's administration.

Weber said Deputy Borough Clerk Mrs. Eleanor Brennan will assist the committee by providing secretarial help as needed.

New Mayor Will Install Chamber Slate

Mayor Thomas Weber of Metuchen will install the Metuchen Area Chamber of Commerce officers for 1966 at the Installation Dinner January 29 at the William Talley House, it was announced this week by Paul Ferguson and Victor Durlier, dinner chairmen.

New members elected to the board of directors at last week's meeting include Marvin Ziss of Marmax shoes and William Zuts of Morris Stores, retail division; Andrew Pogany of Lorraine Oil, industrial division, and Dr. Richard Neuberger, professional division.

Members re-elected to three-year board terms were Joseph Fishkin, retail division; L. R. Schweitzer, industrial division, and Dr. Thomas Paterniti, professional.

The board of directors will elect new Chamber of Commerce officers at a board meeting Tuesday at noon at The Pines. Robert Moss, chairman of the nominating committee, will preside.

Mrs. Wyona Weingart, executive director, reminded all members this week that reservations for the Installation Dinner must be received in the chamber office by January 14.

Board To Appoint HS History Teacher

Sheldon Gottlieb has been appointed by the Board of Education as a history teacher in Metuchen High School.

Gottlieb replaces Ken Savoy who was drafted prior to the Christmas vacation.

Gottlieb's appointment will be made officially at the next meeting of the Board of Education.

Five Eye Industry Now

Mayor Thomas Weber has expanded the Metuchen Industrial Commission from three to five members who will undertake the job of luring industry -- and with it ratables -- into the community, more specifically to the industrial tract off Forrest street.

Two members of the commission, Dorothy Dufault and Richard Hecht, were re-appointed, but the third member whose term had expired, Walter Duff, Weber's unsuccessful mayoralty opponent last November, was not. Instead, Weber named Charles Simberg, Michael Kocsik and Anthony Orgelfinger. All five appointees will serve one-year terms.

'Tonight I Am A Mother'

"Tonight I Am a Mother" badges will be worn by fathers and teenagers sharing in this year's Mother's March of Dimes drive.

Mrs. J.T. Weingart, Metuchen MOD chairman, announced this week that the cooperation of all interested citizens is being sought in conducting the annual drive.

G.H. Jefferis and James Kuhn, Republican and Democratic municipal chairmen, will assist Mrs.

Weingart in recruiting volunteers.

"Each home," Mrs. Weingart said, "should be so grateful for the heartache and trouble spared by the polio vaccine that we should have no trouble in filling our quota of volunteers and money."

Proceeds from the drive will be used for research in the preventing and cure of birth defects and to support special birth defect centers.

Roosevelt Heads a Third Bank

W. Emlen Roosevelt, an officer in the First Bank and Trust Company, N.A., has completed purchase of the State Bank of Plainfield and was elected chairman of the board at a meeting of the directors this week. Roosevelt, who is president of the First Bank which has branches in Highland Park, Edison and the Colonia-Perth Amboy area, will also serve as vice president.

The regular stockholders' meeting of the Plainfield bank will be held January 25, when additional directors may be elected. Roosevelt is also of the National State Bank of Elizabeth, with which the Plainfield bank will eventually be merged.

Frocks & Frills At Designer Furs Jan. 18 Opening

The fur will be back with the Frocks and Frills January 18 when Designer Furs opens on Main street, next door to Ilona Honig's dress shop.

The new fur salon will be operated by Mrs. Eva Loewy who for several years was associated with her sister, Mrs. Honig,

club notes

The Edison High School Key Club held a regular meeting last night at Edison High. R. W. Jones, the Edison Kiwanis Club president, was the honored guest. Key Club president Jon Spielberg, presented a monthly report which included past as well as future projects.

This past month the Key Club has been very busy collecting food for Christmas Baskets. The baskets were presented to the local welfare society who in turn presented them to a needy family. The club also presented the Multiple Sclerosis Clinic of East Orange with a check as the result of a door to door collection made by club members. At the annual Alumni Tea held in the Edison High gym, Keyclubbers acted as hosts. Also the club has maintained the high school's lost and found.

In the future, the Key Club plans to hold its annual Parent Appreciation Dinner. The club also plans to sell Sil-Key, a silicon spray. This product will be sold door to door. During January the club hopes to have an inter-club meeting with East Brunswick High and with Metuchen High School.

Service Notes

Navy Ensign Albert D. Carey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Carey, Sr. of 25 Hillwood avenue, Metuchen and husband of the former Miss Andrea M. Stofer of Edison, had his Navy "Wings of Gold" pinned on by his wife Andrea, in ceremonies at the United States Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas.

in the operation of Furs, Frocks and Frills on Middlesex avenue.

In announcing the opening of the new salon, Mrs. Loewy said that buying a piece of fur is still a transaction of major importance. "It takes" she said, "a lot of comparative shopping, serious financial deliberation and a cautious expenditure of trust and confidence, before one may experience the thrill of possessing a garment made of fur."

Designer Furs will be dedicated to easing this triple burden. The salon, according to Mrs. Loewy, will be under the supervision of a master furrier of recognized professional skill and vast metropolitan experience. His intimate and up-to-date knowledge of the New York fur market may reduce the time spent in preliminary comparative shopping. Customers will also find, she believes, that availing themselves of the service and convenience of dealing with a home-town store will cost no more.

Designer Furs will cover all aspects of the fur business from the original design to the finished garment. Remodeling, repairing and storage facilities will also be available.

Sun Shines on Hospital Sunshinettes

The Sunshine-ettes of Roosevelt Hospital were honored last week for their hours of service to the hospital.

Dr. H. J. White, superintendent and medical director of the hospital, and Mrs. Claire A. Toth, R.N., supervisor and clinical coordinator, in-service education director and director of volunteers, presented award pins to 13 teenage volunteers whose service to the hospital has been described as "invaluable."

Pins for 500 hours of service were presented to Jennifer Moore and Juliann Rogan. Jane Miller, Irene Zenev, Priscilla Risler, Bernadine Fedorka, Cheryl Sanford, Susan Matis, Judy King, Kathy Reinhard, Millie Long, Janet Zilai and Gloria Horgan received their 250-hour pins.

Three adult volunteers, Mrs. Virgil Archer, Mrs. Raymond Dellicker and Mrs. Joseph Silagy Jr., also received 250-hour pins.

On hand to extend the congratulations of the Board of Freeholders to the young volunteers was Freeholder George Otlowski.

Patients, who have come to count the youngsters as the "real sunshine" in their lives, switched roles for the day, volunteering to entertain the group.

Volunteers at Roosevelt Hospital serve in many capacities. They tend a Hospitality Cart daily, work in the hospital library, deliver books and newspapers to the patients, assemble the hospital's monthly publication, conduct Bingo games weekly, run errands for the patients and staff, feed patients, transport them from their rooms to other departments and out-of-doors, pass out trays and fresh water, make empty beds, do general clerical work and generally assist the staff in whatever way possible.

Although the volunteer program has expanded in the past two years, more and more volunteers are needed at Roosevelt Hospital if the services now provided by the county supported hospital are to continue.

Anyone interested in volunteering a few hours a week may contact Mrs. Adele Zanzalari, assistant director of volunteers.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

By JOHN G. KOYEN

Did you make a New Year resolution? Sad but true, even the best intentioned resolution is often broken within a few days or few weeks, causing jeers instead of cheers. Why is this?

Can it be attributed to an attitude of, "Oh, what's the use?" Most resolutions recognize an existing personal fault with an intention for improvement. Self improvement is elusive when one frets over failures or frustrations. If there was a use or purpose in trying in the first place, then surely there is a use and purpose in trying - and trying hard - to carry it through.

Any or all New Year resolutions are unnecessary if we forget the calendar date and view every day as a New Year's Day. The slogan, "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again" is the best day by day resolution any one can make. As we meet the challenge of every new day, a circumstance may tend to knock us down in disappointment or despair. To keep the "Try, try again" resolution requires our getting up once oftener than we fall down. It is really quite simple. But it requires pluck, not luck. . .

With the first lap of the high school basketball campaign completed, the short and the tall of it have the jump in the area scoring race. Twenty-three boys on ten area teams averaged ten or more points in games played during December. At the top of the list are Glenwood Collings, Metuchen's 5-8 guard, and Frank Fitzgerald, St. Joseph's 6-5 center.

Fitzgerald, a lanky junior, has scored more points (149) than any other area cager, while Collings has the best per game average, a sizzling 24.8. In the four games his team has played, Collings has tossed in 99 points. Fitzgerald owns a 21.3 average in seven games.

Madison Township's Joe Masker, who has netted 98 points in five contests, is right behind in the average department with a 19.6 mark, while Edison's John Shroba is runnerup behind Fitzgerald with 126 points in seven games, an 18-point per game average.

Rounding out the area's top ten according to average are Carey Bond of Jamesburg, 18.5; Glen Davis of Madison Township, 17.0; Rocco Funari of Highland Park, 16.2; Don Mandy of Sayreville, 15.8; Dave Wohl of East Brunswick, 15.0, and Bruce Dangremond of Metuchen, 14.5.

Based on points scored, the top ten behind Fitzgerald, Shroba, Collins and Masker are Mandy, 95; Davis, 85; Tom Stine of St. Joseph's, 85; Wally Senkowski of Sayreville, 82; Funari, 81, and Bob Light of Edison, 76.

Edison gets the early season nod as the area's top quintet, a notch ahead of St. Joseph's. Sayreville is next in line, a shade ahead of Highland Park, based on its showing in the Holiday Festival Tournament. East Brunswick is fifth, with Madison Township a close sixth. Metuchen gets the seventh slot.

The three remaining teams, South River, Jamesburg and Stevens, have yet to post a win, but we'll rate them in that order.

Congratulations to St. Joseph's for copping the Msgr. Sullivan Tournament during the holidays. Sayreville and Edison also showed well in Holiday Festival play until they went up against Perth Amboy.

Trib-beauts also are deserved to seven local lads who picked up county wrestling championships last week: John Heald of Stevens (98), Ron Micchelli of Madison Township (106), Len Cassidy of East Brunswick (123), Henry James of Stevens (136), Ed Edwards of East Brunswick (157), Joe Bono of Stevens (168) and Ted Zeh of Sayreville (177). For Cassidy and Zeh, the titles were especially noteworthy. Cassidy was voted the tourney's most valuable grappler for the second consecutive year, while Zeh is the first Bomber ever to take a county crown.

A North Brunswick lad, Cecil Snyder (168) of New Brunswick High, advanced to the semi-final round before bowing out.

What's ahead for '66?...A repeat of 1954 on the major league level, as the Cleveland Indians and San Francisco Giants cop pennants. Jints take Series....Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears in National Football League.... New York Jets and San Diego Chargers in AFL.... Celtics continue to dominate National Basketball Association....Chicago Black Hawks wrap up both league and Stanley Cup titles in National Hockey League.... Gary Player emerges as top money winner on pro golf circuit.

There's little doubt that Perth Amboy is the best basketball team in Middlesex County and perhaps the state, but a number of coaches and fans are frowning upon the Panther's efforts late in the game during the Holiday Festival. They note that the Bay City boys' stellar seven were permitted to stay in the ball games much too long, especially against Edison and Sayreville. The final scores in these contests, 76-37 and 108-50, were credited to the Panthers' full court press and very little action for the reserves who didn't leave the bench until late in both ball games.

It took more than a decade for someone to top Joe Servon's all-time career scoring mark set at South River. Sayreville's Jeff Osowski did it last winter, but less than a year later, his record has been wiped out by Jerry Paluch of St. Mary's of Perth Amboy. Paluch surpassed Osowski's total of 1,428 last week and rates a chance at hitting 1,800 points before the season is over.

And don't bet that Paluch's mark won't go down the drain by 1968, the final year for John Somogyi, St. Peter's scoring sensation. Only a sophomore, Somogyi, who showed a 27.1 average through the first six games this year, had a career total of 630, heading into play this week.

Rutgers Gym will not be the site of the annual state high school wrestling tournament this winter. The state finals, slated for March 5, have been switched to Asbury Park's Convention Hall. Capacity crowds of 3,000 have been jammed into RU in past years. Convention Hall will accommodate more than 4,000 fans.

Owl Five Rocks Falcons; Eagles Roll While Bulldogs Slip, Hawks Slide

Highland Park rocks St. Joseph's.... Edison rolls.... Metuchen Slips.... Stevens slides.

That's the basketball story as area cagers opened 1966 court action Tuesday night.

Edison, with a second half surge, defeated Madison Township, 59-46, while South Plainfield thumped Metuchen, 81-50. Stevens fell to Union, 52-36.

Highland Park's 73-60 victory over St. Joseph's was considered as a mild upset, in view of the Falcons' showing in the Msgr. Sullivan Tournament last week. The Owls saw their season mark slip to 3-2 last week when St. Peter's belted them, 83-66.

Rocco Funari was high man in a losing cause with 17 points, three more than Bob Perla. Jack Simczak and Jack Fertig each chipped in with 10.

Funari came through with a sizzling 30-point performance for the Owls against St. Joseph's. Simczak added 19 and Mark Roth accounted for 13.

Coach Bob Kertes' boys, now 4-2, will tangle with Clifford Scott in a road contest tomorrow night. The locals return home Tuesday night when winless South River invades.

The loss to the Parkites dropped St. Joseph's mark to 5-3, heading into tomorrow night's home game with Immaculata of Somerville. St. Peter's will come to town Sunday afternoon. Coach Ron Kelly's charges annexed the Sullivan tourney title in South Amboy by besting St. Mary's the host team, 69-41, in the finale. The Falcons reached the championship contest by knocking off Hoffman 87-59.

Frank FitzGerald continued his hot scoring pace to take game honors in both tourney tilts. The 6-5 senior netted 17 in the opener and 22 in the finale. Five Falcons, in fact, tallied in double figures against Hoffman. Mike Rapach and Tom Stine each tossed in 13, while Ed Weingart and Bob Maier had 12 apiece. Stine with 19 and Rapach with 11 were double-digit dribblers against St. Mary's.

Fitzgerald also was the big gun in the loss to Highland Park, accounting for 22 points. Weingart tallied 13 and Maier had 10.

Edison's triumph over Madison Township lifted the Eagles' log to an impressive 6-2, both losses having come at the hands of unbeaten Perth Amboy. Coach Bob Coward's boys were "consoled" in the consolation game of the Middlesex County Holiday Festival Tournament won by Perth Amboy. The Eagles ripped Carteret, 64-50. John Shroba was an outstanding for the locals with 28 points, a dozen of them from the foul line. Brian Diesley chipped in with 11.

Three Eagles set the pace against the Spartans. Shroba had 17, while Diesley chipped in with 12, but the return to form of Wayne Ferrullo will please Coward most. The senior forward who has been bothered by a back ailment flipped in 16 points.

Coward's crew will take to the road tomorrow night to meet Piscataway. On Tuesday, the Eagles will hop over to New Brunswick to meet the winless Zebras.

Metuchen's mark dipped to 1-4 with the loss to South Plainfield. The Bulldogs had been idle for almost two weeks, since being ousted in the Holiday Festival by Sayreville, which went on to take the runnerup trophy.

Bruce Dangremond was high man for the Bulldogs Tuesday with 19 points, and Steve Miner added 14. Glenwood Collins, who went into the game with almost a 25-point per game average, was held to 11.

Coach Bill Blindow's boys will take to the road looking for victory number two tomorrow night against Roselle Park.

Stevens was no match for Union who pinned the seventh consecutive defeat on the winless Hawks.

Last week Coach Connie Muniz' Hawks lost to John F. Kennedy, 85-49. Ray Davis, who has picked up the scoring pace of late, was the only local to score in double figures. He netted 12 points against JFK.

Stevens will play host to St. Peter's tomorrow night, and Union comes to the township gym for a rematch on Tuesday night.

Stan Bryant had 10 points to lead the Hawk offense.

Grapplers Get Going

Schoolboy wrestlers, who got the 1965-66 season off to a rousing start with the annual Middlesex County Tournament last week, will launch their dual meet seasons this week.

Stevens, which already has met New Brunswick, Piscataway and Madison Township (yesterday), will head south Saturday to take on Southern Freehold Regional in a 2 p.m. match. The Hawks, led by county champions John Heald (98), Henry James (136) and Joe Bono (168) will face John F. Kennedy Tuesday night in an away clash.

Edison also will be in action on Saturday. The Eagles will travel north for a 10 a.m. match with Seton Hall. A road contest awaits the Hawks at Woodbridge next Wednesday evening.

Highland Park will head for Manville Saturday night. The Owls will play host to Metuchen Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 p.m.

Duplicate Bridge For Everybody!

Metuchen's first Sunday night Duplicate Bridge Club will meet this week at 7:30 p.m. in the BIL, Old Franklin School House on Middlesex avenue.

The newly-organized Raritan Valley Bridge Club is a member of the American Contract Bridge League and master points will be awarded according to ACBL rules. Master Point Night will be the second Sunday of the month.

The club has been organized by Mr. and Mrs. William Fishner, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Silien and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Pick. Both Mrs. Fishner and Mrs. Silien are qualified bridge instructors.

All area residents interested in duplicate bridge are invited to attend. Admission is $1.25 per person.

Basketball Program Formed for Adults

An adult basketball program has been started in Metuchen, Councilman Eugene Haley, chairman of the Recreation Department reported this week.

Franklin School will be open Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 to 10 p.m. for the adult recreation.

Haley also announced that the Recreation Department is conducting its basketball clinic for youngsters for the fifth consecutive year. Youngsters meet Saturday mornings at Franklin School.

Las Vegas Night

The Chaim Weizman Group of the Raritan Valley Chapter of Hadassah will host a Las Vegas Night on January 15 at Congregation Etz Ahaim, Highland Park. A donation of $1.50 will include some play money and refreshments.

Ex-Twirling Champ Is A Talented Teacher

Sharon Wanke, whose talents as a majorette have won her more than a score of titles, is proving to be an even more talented teacher.

Sharon's Rangerettes, directed by Miss Wanke, won the national twirling team and twirling ensemble championship at the "World's Most Beautiful Majorette" pageant Sunday. The pageant was sponsored by the World Twirling Association at the Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City.

The Rangerettes also won several first, second and third place trophies in the solo competitions.

Miss Wanke, who was the 1963 "World's Most Beautiful Majorette," was mistress of ceremonies for this year's event which saw her student, Jeanne McDonald, 14, win the title of "Junior World's Most Beautiful Majorette."

Other Rangerettes copying prizes were Cynthia McClusky, Susan McDonald Jodi Mayerowitz, Debbie West, Kathleen Salva, and Lynn and Cathy Chamberlain.

Miss Wanke, who retired from competition two years ago, opened her own studio in Metuchen last fall. She is also a judge with the World Twirling Association.

State Scribes Tab Sue Pitt Among Honored Athletes

Charles Gogolak, Princeton University's record-breaking, soccer-style placekicker, and Curt Blefary, former Mahwah High athlete named the American League's rookie of the year as a Baltimore Oriole outfielder, will receive the top awards, January 30, at the New Jersey Sports Writers Association's annual banquet, it was announced today by Ed Nichterlein, association president.

Bing Devine of the New York Mets front office will join the award winners on the dais as the featured speaker of the program, scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Greenbrier Restaurant, Route 1, North Brunswick.

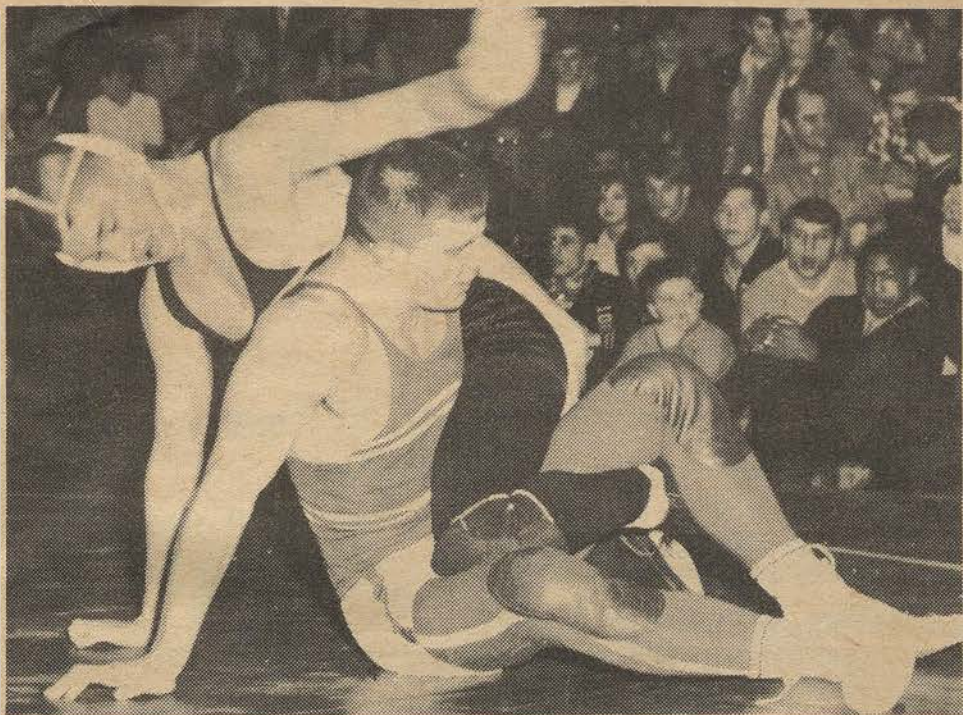

The writers will give Gogolak an award as New Jersey's amateur athlete of the year. Blefary, voted the state's outstanding professional athlete, will be taking part in an overseas baseball program on the banquet date. His former roommate, Catcher John Orsino, will accept the award in his place.

Umpire Tom Gorman will get a distinguished service award and Princeton basketball Coach Bill van Breda Kolff will be honored for his selection as college coach of the year.

The program also will include awards to former Georgetown cager Rick Barry, Trenton State soccer Coach Mel Schmid, swimming champion Sue Pitt of Highland Park, Montclair High Coach Clary Anderson, raceway driver Stanley Dancer, Seton Hall baseball Coach Owney Carroll and Navy basketball Coach Ben Carnevale. Ed Donovan, New York Knicks executive, will be among the speakers.

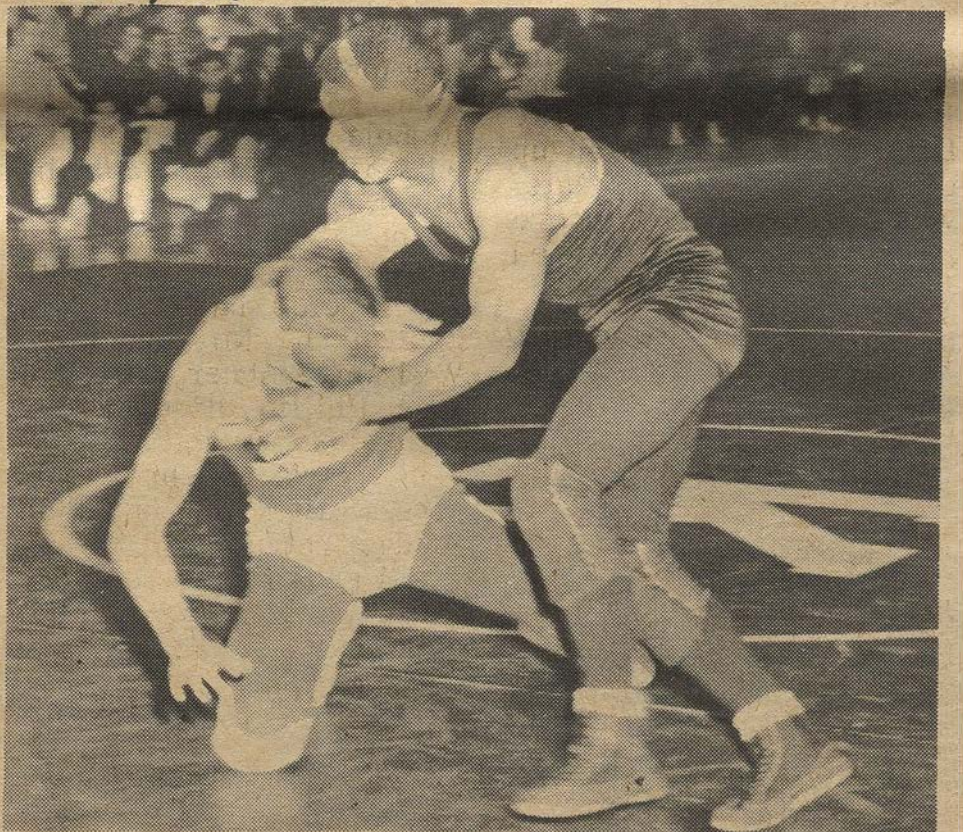

KNEE ACTION--Joe Bono of Stevens scored a 7-1 preliminary win over Middlesex' Jim Folkman. Bono copped the 168 pound crown.

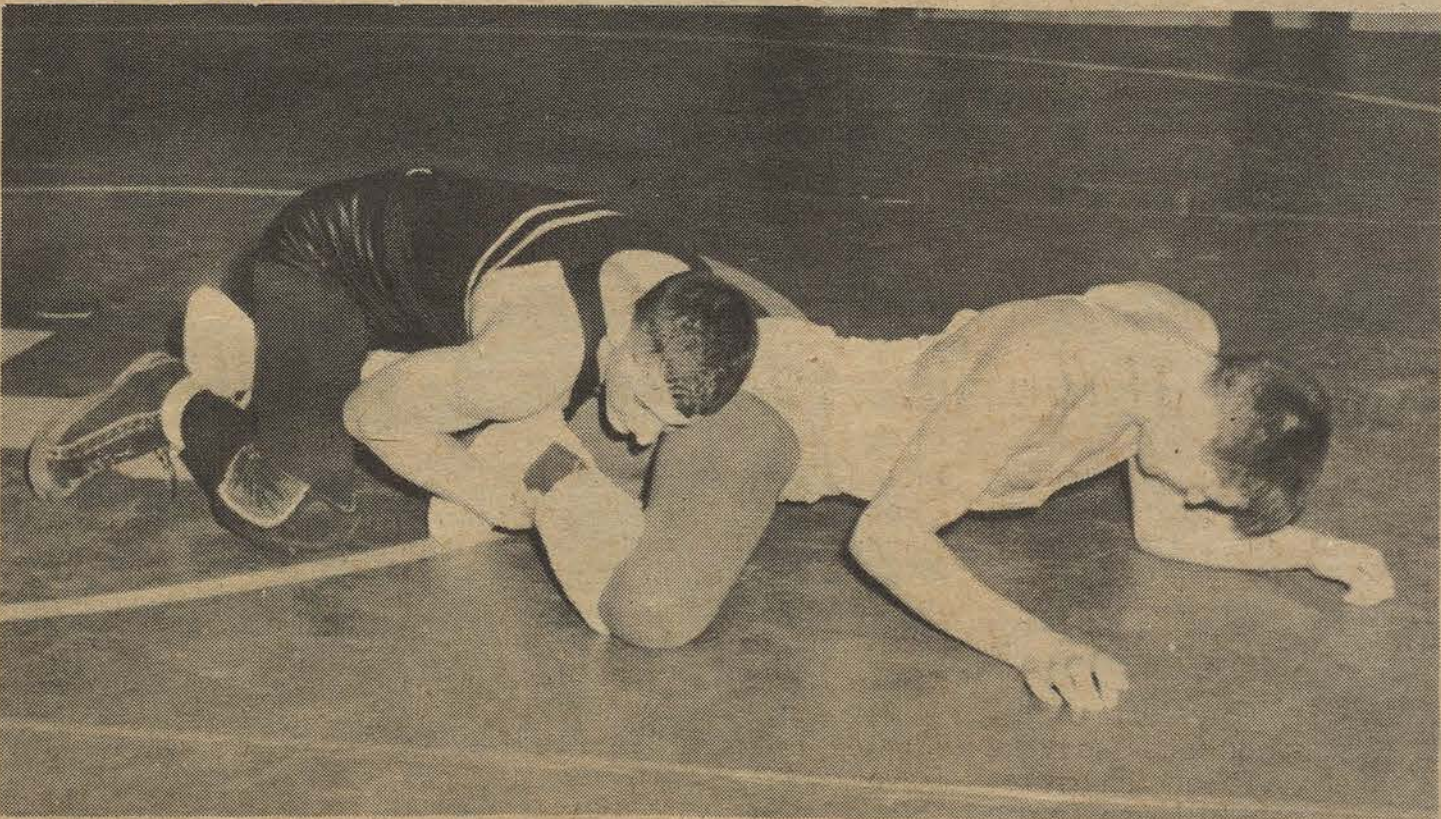

NEIGHBORHOOD BATTLE--Stevens' Bob Gerling mixes it up with Edison's Bill Pollex in a 127-pound preliminary bout. Gerling won a 4-0 decision.

WHICH ONE'S THE HAWK? -- John Heald (right) of John P. Stevens copped the 98-pound title. Along the way, he defeated Madison Township's Ken Pagagi, a Spartan whose making like a Hawk. Heald, the real Hawk, won the decision, 6-0.

BAGGING A BEAR -- John P. Stevens' Henry James, 136-pound king, brings East Brunswick's Bob Boig to the mat in a semi-final match. James scored a 3-0 decision over the Bear.

Stevens High Trio Captures County Wrestling Crowns

Piscataway High School, as expected, garnered the team title in the annual Middlesex County Wrestling Tournament at John P. Stevens High School last week, but youngsters from area schools had their place in the sun, too.

Seven local matmen, John Heald, Henry James and Joe Bono of Stevens, Len Cassidy and Ed Edwards of East Brunswick, Ron Micchelli of Madison Township and Ted Zeh of Sayreville annexed individual championships.

Five other local lads advanced to the finals before losing, while ten more reached the semi-final round.

In dethroning defending champion Edison, Piscataway finished ahead of runnerup Middlesex. East Brunswick, with 44 points, wound up in fourth place behind South Plainfield. Stevens was fifth with 42 points; Madison Township was sixth with 40. Sayreville finished a distant eighth, while South River, ninth; Edison and Metuchen, 11th, and New Brunswick, 13th, rounded out the local listing. Highland Park, participating in the tournament for the first time, did not score.

Cassidy, East Brunswick's standout 123-pounder, not only successfully defended his crown, but he was voted the tourney's outstanding wrestler for the second consecutive year. Cassidy was a pin winner in all four of his bouts, taking Madison Township's Bob Lang in 1:21 to wrap up the title in the finals.

Heald was the first boy to take a title by deciding South River's Shane Berman, 3-2, in the 98-pound class. Berman, unseeded in his class, was one of the surprises of the tourney in advancing to the finals.

Madison Township's Micchelli, top seeded at 106, coasted to the crown, as did Stevens' James, also first seeded at 136. James outpointed Sam Britt of Madison Township, 2-0 in the finale.

East Brunswick's Edwards swept to the top at 157, and Bono of Stevens took the 168-pound crown. Zeh's victory at 177 represented the first time a Sayreville wrestler gained a state championship.

In addition to Berman, Lang and Britt, East Brunswick's Jim Henry (115) and Madison's John

Hogan (heavyweight) advanced to the finals before losing and settling for runnerup honors.

Local boys who won their first two matches before bowing in the semi-finals were Ed Glassheim of East Brunswick (106), Jeff Miller of Edison (130) Carl Brown of East Brunswick (130), Bob Boig of East Brunswick (136), Pete Brown of Madison Township (141) Rich Mansfield of East Brunswick (148), Bob Gerling of John P. Stevens (148), Don Curreri of Stevens (157), and Ralph Kerr of Metuchen (168).

Zeh, incidentally, is the only champion who was not top-seeded when the tourney opened. The Bomber grappler was rated in second place behind Edison's Mike Nuzzo.

Other championship champs from non-area schools were Joe Lemmo of South Plainfield (115), Bob Anastario of South Plainfield (130), Ed Smith of Piscataway (141), Willie Bowers of Piscataway (148) and Mike Weber of Middlesex (heavyweight).

PRICE: TEN CENTS

WINTER WARMUP--Stephen Capestro (second from left), Edison Township recreation director, gets the township ice skating season off to a start with a group of residents. The all-purposed courts at Lincoln and John Marshall Schools and Hilltop and Raritan playgrounds, have been flooded to accomodate township skaters. Ice skating will be permitted whenever the weather is suitable. Capestro asked parents and children not to use the courts unless the gates have been unlocked by the Recreation Department.

Federal OK Hinges on Relocation

Edison's proposed urban renewal project is expected to get underway in a few months, providing an acceptable plan to relocate residents now living on the proposed site at Grove and Inman avenue is worked out.

"We're not going to put people out of their homes without finding a place for them to live," said Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics, after he and several other township representatives met with federal officials last week.

Federal officials indicated that the township's proposal to redevelop the 175-acre site with homes, apartments, commercial, industrial and park areas would be acceptable, providing a relocation plan is worked out.

The local delegation which met with the Federal officials included William Seeman, director of the housing authority; John Delesandro, business administrator, and Bernard Dwyer, president of the Township Council. They discussed the project plans developed by the Philadelphia consulting firm of Walker and Murray.

The mayor said that a relocation survey will be started by the township immediately. The man who will direct the relocation has yet to be officially named but the announcement will come Tuesday night when the Housing Authority meets at 8:30 p.m. at Julius Engle Gardens.

It is expected that Julius Kapcsandi, former member of the Planning Board who was not reappointed earlier this month, has been ticketed for the job of relocation director left vacant when Seeman stepped up to his present post as Housing Authority director late last year. Kapcsandi has been serving in an acting capacity since.

"The object of the survey will be to find out how many families must be displaced and taken care of," said Yelencsics, who indicated that a plan would be worked out in less than two months.

Once the relocation question is resolved, Federal approval is expected.

Under the terms of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965, the Housing Authority could lease private homes and apartments and rent them for public housing. The township has no plans to construct additional public housing to accommodate the relocation.

CECA's Work Isn't Completed Yet

Last year's action by the Council of Edison Civic Associations in obtaining 7,434 signatures on an initiative petition is believed to be the first time the provisions of the Faulkner Act have been used successfully anywhere in the area. Now, the provision of the act providing that citizens may initiate legislation is being tested by the challenge of the Meridian Development Corp. of Newark.

The Faulkner Act, a state statute under which Edison has chosen to operate, is used in municipalities throughout New Jersey. Among other things, it provides three means citizens may act when the normal means available may not act -- recall, initiation or challenge legislation passed by a governing body.

In successfully blocking the construction of garden apartments in certain township zones, the CECA used the initiative petition method to perfection. With more than the required number of signatures on the petition, the apartment ban referendum was placed on the ballot and passed by the township voters in November.

The Township Council then amended the zoning ordinance, causing Meridian to discontinue construction of a 420-unit project off Grove avenue.

Meridian, represented by Attorney Robert Greenbaum, contends the new zoning restrictions are illegal and that the referendum was unconstitutional since state law prohibits amending zoning ordinances by majority vote.

Meridian has filed a Superior Court suit against the township, but CECA, represented by Attorney Frederick C. Mezey, will intercede in the case. "This challenge by the Meridian Corp. demonstrates how far the greedy will go, even to the point of challenging the democratic system itself," said Alan Grossberg, chairman of the CECA. "With the help of the Edison Township attorney (Joseph Ferenczi) and Mr. Mezey, the rights of the people will be ably defended."

"Meridian is trying to

Planning Board Hires Firm To Study Its Master Plan

The firm of Herbert H. Smith Associates of Trenton will guide Edison Township through a major project of 1966 and in fact, the next five or six years -- revision of the Master Plan zoning ordinance.

The Planning Board, tell us that the referendum is illegal. They are trying to tell us that we no longer live in a democracy and cannot change the laws which govern us. It seems pretty clear that if we change the people who make the laws, we certainly have the right to change the laws themselves.

"This test case is not just a local issue. It involves all the municipalities in New Jersey which chose to operate under the Faulkner Act. It is a clear test as to whether or not the people have the right to change the laws which govern them."

noting the rapid growth of the township -- past, present and future -- hired the consulting firm which will study the present Master Plan and zoning ordinance. The consultants will be retained for the next five or six years. Smith Associates was hired after screening consultants for the past four months.

Federal funds which would cover about 50 percent of the costs involved in the current revisions are available, but the township would be obliged to update the Master Plan annually for six years. The current Master Plan was last revised in 1962. A year later, the zoning ordinance was revised.

A new study, according to the board, is necessary because of increases in population and industry, the expected release of the Camp Kilmer, Raritan Arsenal development and road improvements, notably the New Jersey Turnpike interchange and the Route 287 extension.

Smith Associates has studied planning programs in more than 200 communities in the East.

Will Edison Bid for More Kilmer Land?

The Federal Government's General Services Administration plans to sell 353 acres of Camp Kilmer land in March, but it isn't known whether Edison Township will be among the bidders.

"I don't know how much Kilmer land the Federal Government will let us buy," said Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics this week. Of the 353 acres, 204 acres are in the township, north of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and west of Plainfield avenue.

The township already owns a number of parcels of land on the Kilmer site, but they are not included in the acreage being put up for bids. The most recent purchase of Kilmer land, according to Yelencsics, was a 113-acre parcel. Previously-purchased parcels were of 110, 66, and 36 acres, among others.

The General Services Administration will advertise for bids on the land on February 11 and open them on March 28.

The land will be sold in parcels of 149, 115, 72 and 17 acres. The land has been designated as "excess" by the Federal Government.

Growing Old

By Louise Saul

A cloth around the woman's waist tied her to the chair. Her head weaved sleepily as she made a fighting effort to listen to the young man in front of the room. Finally, she gave up, closed her eyes, let her chin fall to her chest and slept soundly through the meeting.

What the young man was saying was, "I am a Social Security Administration field worker. I am here to tell you about Medicare, and what it can do for you. I hope we'll be able to sign most of you up right here this afternoon.

It was visiting day at the nursing home and Cornelius J. Denion and Thomas Barnet had come from the local Social Security office to spread the good news about Medicare. Experience had taught both men that old people are often more wary of good news than bad. Bad news is common and what it seems; good news, uncommon and suspect.

After carefully explaining both Plans A and B, Denion asked for questions. Most were asked by visiting relatives. "Do you mean," one man started, "that this Medicare is going to help me take care of my grandmother here?"

"Well, no," Denion sounded apologetic. -- "Not here but if she has to go to the hospital, it will pay. . ."

"But the hospital doesn't want her. She's not sick -- just too old to care for herself. It's $90 a week here. . ."

"At present," Denion said wearily -- as if reciting a sad lesson, "Medicare doesn't cover custodial care." A disappointed murmur went through the group. Only a gaunt old couple in the second row looked as if they had known it all along.

"But," Denion continued more brightly, talking now to the visitors, "if any of these old people should have to be hospitalized, medicare will take care of that."

"It couldn't cost much more than this," a man called.

"You're wrong," a woman offered. "My mother's illness cost $2,000. You wouldn't believe a little old lady could use $18 a day in drugs alone. But she can and I'm still paying it off." When she finished talking, the woman sitting next to her got up gingerly and slowly padded from the room. I wondered if it were her mother.

"Look," Denion gave his clinching argument. "It's free. Plan A which covers hospitalization is free. You owe it to yourself and the old people depending on you to at least take that."

Once he thought he had gotten enough converts to Plan A, the representative started on Plan B, which cost $3 a month and covers 80 percent of doctor bills. "Of course," he told the group, "the doctor's visits have to be a necessity. It just can't be for a routine check-up."

The wizened old man sitting next to me poked his elbow in my ribs and winked. "Hell," he grinned, "when you're over 80, there are no routine check-ups. It's all necessary glue and paste to keep you together." I smiled at his joke and made a friend for the afternoon. A few minutes later he offered me his Jewish newspaper.

"I'm sorry," I said, "but I can't read that."

"There aren't many of us left," he said sadly, and then leaned over and patted my knee. "But you're a nice girl, anyway," he consoled.

Later, when the questions were over and I walked over to the tables where people were signing up, the old man stood at my side listening intently.

"You should take Plan B too," Mr. Denion was suggesting to a woman.

"I can't afford it," she said. "My husband and I are paying $800 a month here. Of course that includes the newspaper but we can't do without that."

"Look," he insisted kindly, "if you should need a doctor. . ."

"My husband has to have a doctor every week."

"Well, then the $3 a month would pay 80 percent of that."

"All right," she said, "I'll take it. But just for him."

"But suppose you get sick."

"I'll take my chances. Look, Mr. Denion," she confided, "my husband and I saved $30,000 for our old age. The way I figure it we can stay here another two and a half years. See it's all on this piece of paper. Now, we're both 80 and. . ."

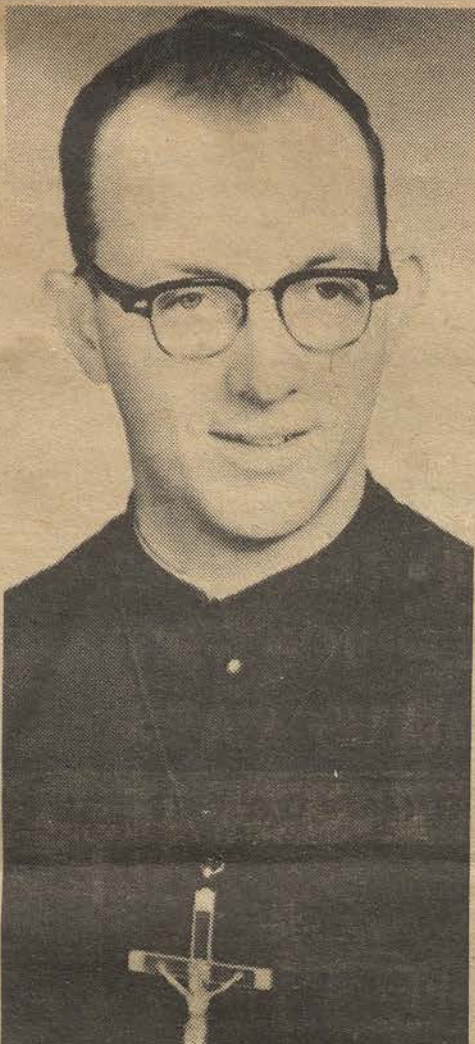

"Do you have any relatives?"

"There's just Charlie and me," she said. "And he's not so good. So I make all the decisions."

After a good 20 minutes Denion gave up and marked the card, "Can't afford Plan B." As he did so, he turned to me explaining, "I don't know if this helps any. But maybe if they see that many very old people can't afford the $3, they'll do something."

Several hours later I left the nursing home feeling that Medicare was a wonderful beginning -- but only a beginning if this country is to really care for its aged. And a heaviness set upon me.

It had everything to do with growing old.

School Bids Total $241,793

Cost of the 12-room addition to Edison's Benjamin Franklin School is expected to fall somewhat lower than the original estimate of $350,000, based on four contracts awarded by the Board of Education last week.

Contracts awarded for general construction, iron and steel work, heading and ventilating and electricity totaled $241,793. The board has yet to award the contract for plumbing or alternates in construction.

Canonico and Sons Inc. of North Brunswick submitted the low bid of $167,700 for general construction, while the Breen Iron Works of Hillside will install the iron and steel at a cost of $11,879. The heating and ventilating contract went to Boro Plumbing and Heating of South River which bid $35,014. Hi-Li Electric of Perth Amboy bid $27,200 for the electrical work and received the contract as the low bidder.

The board has a 90-day option to consider alternate bids of these companies. The contracts were awarded on base bids only. The addition to the Woodbridge avenue school is party of the township's $4 million expansion program.

Boyt's Can Save You Money on Income Tax

A complete record of all tax-exempt drug purchases is now being offered as a free service with charge accounts to local residents by Boyt's Drug Store, 411 Main street, Metuchen, and Boyt's Pharmacy, 73 Main street, South River, thanks to a remarkable new computer system called TIP (Tax Information Plan).

"In addition to doctor's prescriptions," a Boyt's spokesman pointed out, "thousands of pharmaceutical items are tax deductible. Until TIP, most consumers were unaware of this and it was only through a long, time-consuming process that the druggist could compile an accurate record to satisfy their needs at income tax time."

Under the TIP system--which took several years to develop and perfect--all of this has changed. Boyt's has a special form used as a sales slip to record all purchases, with a special column for those which are tax-exempt. A receipt goes to the customer, the pharmacist keeps a copy for his records and a third copy--which is in reality a cleverly designed punch card for a giant computer--is sent to TIP's Data Processing Center.

Each customer and each pharmacy are processed by the computer which prints out the record of purchases for each customer, with a copy for the pharmacist. These records are returned to the pharmacist who forwards them to the customer with his monthly statement. Should the customer's deductions ever be questioned by the Internal Revenue Service, these cards serve as valid proof-of-purchase.

The average pharmacy in this area stocks more than 6,000 deductible items. While there had been no trouble recording prescriptions ordered by physicians, or the more obvious deductible items like pain killers, cold preparations and antacids, there is a multitude of other items which, under present tax laws, may also be deducted.

Board Hopeful Robert Meyer Gives Platform

Highland Park Board of Education candidate Robert W. Meyer of Magnolia St. has issued a seven-point program as his platform for election to a three-year term.

Meyer has worked with numerous boards of education and superintendents over a period of 13 years when designing educational facilities throughout the state. "It is with this experience that I have been able to gain a valuable insight on the functions of a board of education without actually serving," he said. "If elected I promise to use this broad experience to carry out my program to the best of my ability."

The program outlined is:

- Ultimate use of all state and federal aid programs funds for building renovations as well as equipment, supplies and personnel.

- Improvement of general education courses and facilities--including a feasibility study of a post-graduate 13th year for general ed students, supported by state and federal funds.

- Master planning of physical facilities for the entire system related to borough activities with stress on playgrounds, parking, etc.

- Promise of cancellation of unused bond monies after completion of building program.

- Relief of overcrowding of eating facilities at the high school.

- Improvement of communications between Board of Education and public.

- Development of a plan for the Cedar lane area in cooperation with borough officials.

Meyer concludes his platform by stating, "Each one of the seven points belongs on the 'must' list if we are going to keep pace with progress and exert ourselves to leadership."

Receive Edisonites Into Ministry

Two Edison residents were among the 29 members of Jehovah's Witnesses received into the ministry Sunday at the conclusion of the Witnesses three-day convention in Plainfield.

Mr. Cercy, in reviewing the convention, noted that the local congregation returned home "with renewed energy to continue on zealously in their free home Bible study work."

For Tax Refunds

Savings Bond chairman for Middlesex County, John J. Roth (treasurer, Ronson Corporation) reminded taxpayers that the Treasury Department will once again offer them the opportunity of taking income tax refunds in United States Savings Bonds.

The savings option, introduced in 1963, is in addition to the two standard options of taking tax refunds in cash or applying them to next year's tax.

"When a taxpayer elects to take his refund in Series E Bonds," Roth said, "his money goes to work immediately on two jobs. It begins to build his financial security. At the same time, it contributes to our country's economic strength. Those who elect the U. S. Savings Bond option join millions of Americans who are investing in their country's future in this way."

Charity Is a Big Business, Big Service, Says Leader

By LOUISE SAUL

"Of course charity is a big business--the whole people-helping-people program in all its ramifications is probably one of the ten biggest businesses in this country," said William R. Wilson, director of the Heart of Middlesex County United Fund.

Perhaps the first thing one notices about Wilson is his accent. "I'm stuck with this Boston accent," he laughed, "but really at times it's an asset. People are so surprised at the way I speak that they find themselves listening to my speeches!"

And speech-making is an important part of Wilson's work. He recalled that during the initial days of the fund drive, he attended at least one meeting a night--including weekends--for 16 straight weeks. "I feel that people will give to what they understand. And it's up to us to help them to know the fund and its services."

A resident of North Brunswick, Wilson holds a bachelor's degree in social science and a master's degree in social work. Before coming to New Jersey, he held similar community service positions in Bangor and Portland, Maine.

According to the 34-year old Wilson, the difference between Maine and New Jersey is more than geographical. "In Maine," he said, "cities and towns are static, self-contained units. But here--why this whole part of New Jersey is one large city. It's fantastic--there is a complete overlapping of towns. Boundaries are hardly noticeable."

Wilson also believes that the power structure in this mushrooming area is an indefinite, illusive one. "In most New England towns you could ask 15 people to give you a list of the ten most influential people in town. All lists would probably be the same. Here, because of mobility and the population growth, no two lists would even resemble each other."

What does this mean to the United Fund director? In a word---work. It means that every year there are hundreds of people who must be told what agencies are serviced by the United Fund, what services are available, and what services are still needed by area communities.

It also means a too frequent change of leadership and workers. "We can't afford to lose our workers and start over each year," Wilson said. "It's just as important to have continuity as it is to have representative leadership."

This year the United Fund goal is $710,000--an increase of $53,000 over last year's goal. Explaining the need for the added revenue, Wilson said; "Our agencies have to serve larger geographical areas and increased populations. And, of course, we went into South River for the first time."

Does he think the United Fund, Heart of Middlesex

County, will eventually merge with the other county United Fund headquarters in Perth Amboy? He admits the possibility exists and sounds like a good idea---theoretically, since there is some overlapping of services, especially in Sayreville. But he is personally not sold on the idea. "In this country today," he explained, "there are two major forces at work--centralization and alienation. People must be able to identify with their own fund. It can't be effective if it becomes too impersonal--to large, too remote."

"But, he adds quickly and diplomatically, "this is a decision the community must make--not I."

To date the fund has reached 98.1 percent of its goal. Wilson is optimistic. "I'm a man who believes in achievables," he smiled. "And this is achievable."

Propose Redistribution Of Utility Firm Taxes

By GEORGE DAWSON

A Bergen County Democrat is proposing a redistribution of taxes on utility companies which could have a significant effect on property tax rates in this area.

The Democrat, Assemblyman Vito Albanese, has introduced a bill which would require the various state-assessed utility taxes -- gross receipts and franchise taxes -- to be made a factor in the apportionment of the county tax burden. The bill is a compromise between the rival positions taken by the Bergen County towns of Palisades Park and Ridgefield in a state-wide lobbying effort. Palisades Park wants the utility taxes distributed to towns on the basis of where the customers are, rather than where the utility property is. Ridgefield, which has a big power plant within its bounds, wants the law to stay the way it is.

The utility tax laws were enacted in 1940 to replace some local property taxes. The state assesses and collects the taxes and returns them to the towns in accord with how much utility property they have. The value of this property is not included in the property tables used by each county in determination of county tax bills.

The Albanese bill would allow the towns collecting the major share of these taxes to continue collecting it, but require them to assume a greater share of the county tax burden. The increase in the county taxes paid by some towns, accordingly, would be offset by decreases paid by others.

The bill would have had the following effect on county taxes in local towns if it had been in effect last year:

East Brunswick-$45,875 saving
Edison - $127,800 increase
Highland Park - $27,300 saving
Madison - $47,871 saving
Milltown - $15,000 saving
North Brunswick - $20,200 saving

Sayreville - $162,000 increase

South River - $27,500 saving

THIS IS WINTER--Calendars to the contrary no one really believes its winter until the first snow arrives. Area residents welcomed the season Sunday in Roosevelt Park. Mrs. Louis Fotopoulos of 20 Mason street, Edison, found this flying saucer just right for skimming the slopes. It was two to a sled for the Peter Stokes, Sr. and Jr., as Dad introduced his son to the thrills of sleigh riding. Linda Blease of Iselin found it required both her hands and feet to stay on as she rounds the bend on this slope.

Incumbent Chamberlain: Keep Standards Up

John A. Chamberlain, Metuchen Board of Education incumbent, wants to continue the present high standards of education in the borough.

Chamberlain, a Metuchen resident for 20 years, also believes in "continual re-evaluation of curriculum and standards in order to maintain and improve the Metuchen system. Its present record of acceptance of 72 percent of the graduating seniors into higher education far exceeds the national average of 42 percent.

"In addition," said Chamberlain, "we also must continue to provide for those students whose formal education terminates with high school. Studies made by our administrative staff and faculty resulted in the addition of two new courses of motor mechanics and electronics in the high school curriculum during the year 1965-66.

"The favorable acceptance into higher education is a result of not only the secondary curriculum but also of basic foundations which have been established in the elementary and junior school."

Chamberlain has been active in various civic organizations. A past official of church boards of the Metuchen Reformed Church, he presently is working with the youth of the church as assistant superintendent of the church school. He has served as cubmaster, scoutmaster and on council committees of the Boy Scouts. A past president of the local YMCA, Chamberlain is now a member of the Board of Directors of the Central Atlantic Area YMCAs. This includes all YMCAs of New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Washington, D. C. and Puerto Rico. He is a member of the policy committee of this organization.

He and Mrs. Chamberlain reside at 100 Linden avenue and are the parents of three children—all Metuchen High School graduates. John Jr., a National Science Fellow in paleontology, is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University and is presently a graduate student at the University of Rochester. Susan and Stephen, June, 1965, graduates of the high school, are continuing their education, Susan as a freshman in elementary education at Kentucky Wesleyan College and Stephen as a student of computer programming in New York.

Chamberlain is employed as operations coordinator for Chevron Oil Company in Perth Amboy. He is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State University with both bachelor and master's degrees in engineering.

Candidate Backs Boro School Tab

"I think Metuchen citizens have no choice but to pass the school budget," Robert M. Rice, candidate for the Metuchen Board of Education, said in a prepared statement today.

"It would be false economy not to, because Metuchen would be hit with larger increases in ensuing years if the board's schedule for protecting the taxpayer were thrown off," he said.

Rice continued: "I believe the Board of Education has done a good job in trying to look ahead several years in order to even out the rising costs of education, so that the taxpayer is not faced with an enormous increase in any one year.

"As long as teacher salaries continue to rise, catching up with similarly trained fields, costs must rise. In New Jersey, where State aid to education is relatively weak, the burden of tax increases falls on the local system and thus the Board of Education.

"Under the circumstances, the board is faced with the decision of paying non-competitive salaries, and thus being unable to attract sound faculty, or doing the best it can with these rising costs. In Metuchen, the board has done its best to avoid a large jump at one time in the tax rate by careful planning."

Edison Custodians To Dine and Dance

The annual dinner and dance will be held by the Edison Township Custodians on Saturday at the Edison Moose Hall on Washington street.

Michael Bandics is chairman and Carmen Cutrona is in charge of the tickets. The music will be furnished by Y.T. Barton and his Sax Orchestra from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Guests invited include Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics, John J. Anderson, former school board secretary, Thomas McEvoy, board secretary, and John C. Thomas, assistant secretary.

Tull Cites His Background, Reasons for Seeking Seat

Roger Tull, one of five candidates vying for three seats on the Metuchen Board of Education, this week issued a statement citing his background and reasons for seeking election:

Dear Friends:

As you many know, I am a candidate for election to the Metuchen Board of Education. The purpose of this note is to acquaint you with my background and my reasons for seeking a position on the School Board.

"My undergraduate work was completed at Michigan State University where I majored in chemistry. After two years at Eastman Kodak Company, I entered the University of Illinois and completed the requirements for the doctor's degree in Organic Chemistry. During my stay at the University of Illinois, I taught freshman chemistry for two years. Since that time I have been a resident of Plainfield for seven years and Metuchen for ten years. I am manager of Process Research at Merck and Company, Inc. Rahway, New Jersey. In this capacity I am responsible for the synthesis of new drugs in the fields of arthritis, mental health, hypertension and animal health.

"My five children are all in school at the elementary junior and high school levels. I now feel the urge and the obligation to expand my interest in education from the parental level to the community level. My background and current interest in education should provide me with the capacity to help the Metuchen school system to continue in its progress toward the best in education. In addition to a natural interest in science and mathematics, I feel strongly that the study and use of the English language are of unusual importance in the education of our children."

What For?

What has the March of Dimes done for us lately?

Someone asked us this the other day, saying now that polio is licked, where's the money going? What is the March of Dimes actually doing these days? The answer is: PLENTY!

In the first place, the former polio fighters are now taking on the largest unmet childhood health problem in the United States. This is the way the American Academy of Pediatrics describes birth defects -- those conditions which result in an abnormal child being born to one in ten of our families each year.

Birth defects cause serious physical and mental disability among many thousands of these babies. They are also responsible for many more deaths annually than cancer when you consider the number of miscarriages and stillbirths caused by defective prenatal development.

Faced with a problem of such enormous proportions, the March of Dimes has moved both swiftly and efficiently. In just seven years it has become the largest private source of national support for research and care in birth defects.

It has created a nationwide network of centers to develop better methods of treating children with birth defects and to speed the application of new knowledge for their benefit.

Many research scientists supported by the March of Dimes are studying the nature of cells, chromosomes, body chemistry and systems, seeking to discover why birth defects occur and how they can be prevented.

Not so long ago, these advances seemed out of reach. Today, scientists and the March of Dimes are looking to the day when scarcely any mother will have to ask "Why did it happen to my baby?"

You can speed that day by giving now to the March of Dimes.

The Boy Scouts of America, Troop 39, held a camping trip to Farrington Lake, where they learned the art of making camp, making fires for winter cooking, with other fun mixed in between.

A board of review was held on Tuesday under the direction of Scout Commissioners Robert Moran and Charles Hennessey, with assistance from Vincent Scarpa, John Loko and Irving Ginsberg. The following boys advanced: Ronald Adams, star scout; Vincent Scarpa, first class and Thomas Loko, first class. Three boys passed tenderfoot: they are Clifford Urr, Michael Rinaldi, and Thomas Salvo.

An overnight hike at Farrington Lake is planned for February. The troop and committee are building new patrols as well as getting fathers and sons to join the troop. The men to call are Vincent Scarpa, John Loko, Michael Rinaldi or Irving Ginsberg.

Plans are in the making for summer scouting at Sakawain Camp with Scout master John Adams, for one week.

The new fundraising program for the coming year will include a fall fashion show, Chinese auction, and a dinner and theater party.

The next meeting of the group will be held Monday February 21, at the home of Mrs. John Malazdro.

Registration of the 1966 North Edison Little League will be held on Saturday, February 6, between 4 and 6 p.m.; and Tuesday, February 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Menlo Park First Aid Building on Rt. 27.

Reader Opposes Hughes' Plan for Menlo Center

TO THE EDITOR:

We have been continually reminded through brochures, newspaper advertisements and the past election of the growth of our township. Now, Gov. Hughes wants to stagnate this publicized growth by converting the Menlo Park Diagnostic Center into a hospital for sex offenders.

We do not want Edison Township engulfed with the ominous shadow of Greystone, where acts of perversion were committed among the patients and members of the staff. One of these acts was made public while others were not.

No matter how well equipped with security measures it is, a hospital of this kind belongs in an area that is not populated.

I have dispatched a letter to Gov. Hughes requesting him to reconsider locating an institution of this kind in our township.

I also have sent a letter to the Council of Edison Civic Associations requesting that they hold a meeting with representatives of their member associations who in turn should call a special meeting of their civic associations and canvass their membership on this issue.

On Wednesday, I asked the Township Council to openly oppose the building of this hospital and to send a letter to Gov. Hughes stating their opposition to this hospital.

I oppose the creation of a hospital for sex offenders in Edison and I will oppose it with the same vigor that I have pursued a Code of Ethics.

Rock Talk: GOP Views His Forte

How does it feel to be the lone Republican in an otherwise all-Democratic administration?

"Obviously, it's lonely," said Metuchen Borough Councilman Sam Rock, now the GOP needle in the Democratic haystack. "I'm somewhat disappointed, knowing the quality of the Republican candidates (Walter Duff, Keith Kinyon and William Jeney) from the last election. However, I'm appreciative that I have the opportunity to preserve the semblance of the two-party system which has disappeared in many surrounding towns and in the county where we so badly need it."

The local Democrats' resounding three-man victory last November, their second sweep in a row, left Rock as the GOP "watchdog." The situation is slightly different from that in which he found himself when he first took office in January, 1964. Each party was represented by three councilmen then, but Mayor Robert Flanagan gave the Democrats a slim 4-3 edge.

Rock feels he can serve a valuable function during this, the final year of his first three-year term on the governing body. "I can represent and make heard the Republican philosophy at the borough level. That is, government should do only those things which the individual cannot do for himself," he said. "This applies to matters such as the proposed swimming pool and the redevelopment of New street. Also, if given the opportunity, I can recommend qualified Republicans for consideration of various appointments." Rock openly has opposed the proposed municipal pool and the designation of the New street area as "blighted."

The terms of Rock and Democrat Dr. Irvine Kerrison, both victorious councilmen in the 1963 election, expire at the end of this year, but neither has tipped his hand on whether he intends to seek re-election. Will his present position as a minority of one influence his decision to run again?

"It would have been no doubt easier to make a decision if I were asked or had the opportunity again with majority rule," said Rock, who added he doesn't feel it will influence his decision which he has yet to make.

Summing up his function as the minority representative, which could result in his being out-voted, 5-1, on some issues, Rock said, "I feel I can be of even further service by representing and making heard a viewpoint which might otherwise be completely overlooked. Also there is much more to a councilman's responsibility than simply to vote. My background should permit me to make contributions to assigned departments in the area of automated procedures and assisting and developing a system of investing idle borough funds. The amount I can contribute if given sufficient responsibility and opportunity to participate should represent close to one-sixth of the total effort of the council."

Plan Training Program for Area Jobless

Two training programs for unemployed or under-employed residents of Central Jersey--designed to equip them with skills needed by area industry--will be started next month, it was announced today by Edward J. Hall, director of the State Division of Employment Security.

The first will be a 27-week course for radio and television repairmen and will begin on Monday, February 7, at Middlesex County Vocational and Technical High School in New Brunswick.

The second is a 21-week permanent jobs for "graduates." Further information about the training programs, however, may be obtained at any state employment office.

Both courses were prepared by the State Division of Vocational Education after a survey of the area indicated a current and future need for workers with these skills.

The program is financed under the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act. Eligible trainees may receive weekly allowances of up to $60 while attending classes.

course for automobile body repairmen and will start on the following Monday, February 14, at the Somerset County Vocational and Technical High School in Bridgewater Township.

Each course will be limited to 20 trainees. Classes will be held five days a week--from 4 to 10 p.m. for the radio-TV repairmen's course, and from 3:30 to 10 p.m. for the auto body repairmen.

Trainees are being interviewed and selected at the New Brunswick office of the State Employment Service, 105 Joyce Kilmer avenue, which will help get

Red Cross Needs Help Locally

As American troop strength grows in Vietnam, Red Cross on-the-scene service to the men there grows with it, according to William J. Sande, assistant regional manager for the Red Cross Eastern Area. In addition, counseling and communication services provided by New Jersey Red Cross chapters for servicemen and their families at home have been stepped up sharply in recent months.

Because of the increased activity in Southeast Asia, the Red Cross is looking for additional staff members, Sande stated. Careers are available in Red Cross for young New Jersey men and women with a desire for service to others. Basic qualifications are the ability to work with people, willingness to serve anywhere in the world, good health, and a college education, preferably with major study in the social sciences, recreation, or allied fields. Interested persons should contact their local Red Cross chapter for further information.

Local chapters include New Brunswick, Woodbridge, Perth Amboy, Metuchen and Plainfield.

Plan Scout Posts

T. Wendell Barron of Milltown, president of Permacel, has been appointed chairman of the Middlesex Boy Scout Council's Special Interest Exploring Committee.

Barron and members of his committee, including Joseph A. Mammon of East Brunswick and A. H. Shanabrook of Milltown, will work with area industrial, business and professional organizations in setting up Explorer posts for high school juniors and seniors. The special interest posts are designed to help boys in exploring career opportunities.

How we needed snow! Not that one wants it, but the garden is vastly in need of water and snow being the poor man's manure, it is exceptionally helpful. Snow melts slowly. It protects the ground and takes with it nutrients to the lower depths.

Get out the catalogs and plan on paper where you are putting all the new seeds and plants, so as to have an idea how they will look when they are in place. Get the tools oiled and painted and sharpened, if it has not been done. Take the mower down and have it sharpened and serviced, so that when spring comes you are ahead of the rush. No one is very busy now and it will be possible to get good service.

If there is room in the garage, and building is a hobby, make a storage room for garden things. Bins for lime, Bonvung, fertilizer could be built under a counter. Shelves for flower arrangements and material will be most efficient. There are innumerable things a person who can use their hands can build for the garden.

Go out again, look under the snow and step on the perennials. After the warm and cold weather we have been having some of the plants will have heaved. It is most important to keep their roots covered.

Bring in pussywillows, which are beginning to show their velvet. Soak overnight in warm water and put in deep water in a sunny spot. Keep some long enough to grow roots. Plant in the rainy season in spring.

Put fertilizer on the lawn now if you wish to work outdoors. It will soak down in the rain or snow.

Plant Shirley poppies on the snow. This is the best way to plant these tiny seeds. The snow carries them slowly into the earth. In case there is no snow later, scatter them lightly where they are to grow and let the rain do the trick. This is not as infallible as snow, but will work.

Bulbs of daffodils, crocus and snowdrops are beginning to show. It is a hopeful sign.

Christmas rose should be in bloom now and Lenten rose is beginning to show buds. These are very hard to start but once established will bloom for years. Christmas rose should be covered with glass to keep it white and clean.

If space is available start some seeds this month, especially perennials and herbs. A muffin tin will help. Fill cups with vermiculite and water well and sow seeds. Cover with plastic and place in sunny window. When second leaves form transplant to one plant in a cup. Do not plant so many you have trouble. This method is good only for those plants that have a long growing season such as verbenas or summer savory. This will bring spring closer to you.

One Answer So Far

The 13th Annual Inter-community Tournament will take place in April in Milltown once again this year. Invitations for the small games competition have been sent out to many Middlesex County towns, but Edison is the only one to have accepted the challenge so far this year.

Sculptor Wayland Gregory, Dr. Gerald Bertin, professor of romance languages, and Dr. Bernice Boehm, professor of social work, will be featured in the annual Personality Series sponsored by the Middlesex County Chapter of the Brandeis University National Women's Committee.

Gregory opened the series Tuesday at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Arnold Rosenthal of East Brunswick. Gregory, who executed the "Fountain of the Atom" at the World's Fair, has been featured in museums and galleries in Europe and the U. S.

The series affords members and guests the opportunity to meet informally with outstanding personalities.

Dr. Bertin will meet with the group February 16 and Dr. Boehm, March 10. Reservations for the three meetings should be made with Mrs. Myron Lieberman of East Brunswick.

The sensational libel suit brought by Quentin Reynolds against Westbrook Pegler continues to captivate audiences at the Paper Mill Playhouse where Van Heflin is starring in "A Case of Libel." The play taken from Louis Nizer's autobiography, "My Life in Court," will continue at the Millburn theater through January 30.

Joan Fontain and Jeffrey Lynn open at the Paper Mill February 1 in "Dial M For Murder."

The Contemporary Chamber Ensemble will present a program of Contemporary Music for Brass Tuesday at 12:20 p.m. in Kirkpatrick Chapel on the Rutgers campus. The mid-day recital is open to the public without charge.

A limited number of tickets are available for the Jose Limon modern dance program Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Loree Gymnasium on the Douglass College campus. The free tickets are available through the Department of Physical Education.

Lynn Harrell, young American cellist, will be featured artist in the "bonus" concert, in the Voorhees Chapel Chamber Series, February 4, at Rutgers University.

Harrell's performance, originally scheduled for Wednesday, was changed to Friday because of his obligations as principal cellist of the Cleveland Orchestra.

The concert is a bonus in that it is an extra event given to series subscribers at no added charge. It is to start at 8:30 p.m. in Voorhees Chapel on the Douglass College Campus.

Tickets for non-subscribers may be purchased at the University Concerts Office, 542 George street, or at Voorhees Chapel the night of the concert.

Re-Introduce $600,000 Sewer Plan

Affected property owners in three areas of Edison ticketed for sanitary sewers will be assessed a total of $482,000, if an ordinance introduced by the Township Council is passed.

A public hearing on the three ordinances, originally introduced in November, will be conducted on February 9. Total cost of the three projects would be $600,000, $118,000 of which would be paid by the township.

Areas to receive sanitary sewers would be the Highlands, Wood avenue and Wood Acres. Originally, the ordinances were unveiled late last year, but they were withdrawn due to an error in form. They were re-introduced at the council's last meeting on January 12.

Sewers with an estimated cost of $321,000 would serve six streets in the Highlands area. The township would pay for $48,000 the remaining $273 being provided through assessments.

The Wood avenue area between Oxford road and Livingston avenue would be sewered at an estimated cost of $189,000--$148,000 in assessments and $41,000 by the township.

The final project in Wood Acres would cost about $90,000, $61,000 of which would be obtained through assessments, while the township pays the remaining $29,000. The area includes sections of Curtis and Wood avenues, Wood Acres drive, New Dover road and Woodbury court.

Affected property owners have been notified of the plans and hearing date by the township.

Adult School Registration Is Still Oper

If you're among a number of Edison residents who received the Adult School brochure in the mail last Thursday, too late for the registration deadline, don't despair. Registration has been extended through tomorrow evening, Charles A. Schweitzer, adult school director, announced this week.

Due to a delay in mailing the brochure which lists the wide variety of courses which will be offered during the spring semester, arrived at township homes after the registration dates of January 18-20.

Through last week, a total of 350 has signed up for the school. Total enrollment for the fall semester, the first ever held, was 850.

Schweitzer said interested residents can register tonight and tomorrow night from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Edison High School. Classes were started this week.

Business courses being offered are office machine practice, beginners and advanced typing, stenography, stock market, briefhand, bookkeeping and accounting.

Industrial arts courses: auto mechanics, woodworking, mechanical drawing, radio and television repair, electricity and electronics, and furniture repair.

Other courses cover music, fine art, sewing, mathematics, foreign languages (German, Italian, French and Spanish), English, drama, history, golf, first aid, physical culture, bridge, psychology, adult recreation, ballroom dancing and tennis.

A High School Equivalency Program is also offered.

club notes

A program on "Hats and History" will highlight the Wednesday meeting of the Evening Women's Club of Metuchen at 8:30 p.m. in the Education Building of St. Luke's Church.

Mrs. Jacob Krauszer, program chairman, has announced that a representative of Sperry & Hutchinson will be guest speaker. An exhibit of antique hats will be on display.

World's A Stage At Costume Ball

"All the world's a stage" and the Valley Players are out to prove it February 12 when people will be judged as players at the Wonderland Costume Ball at the Plainfield Country Club.

The little theater group will sponsor the costume ball for the benefit of its building fund. Prizes will be given for the best costumed couple and best woman's and best man's costumes.

Tickets, according to Mrs. Kenneth McDermott chairman, may be obtained from any member of the Valley Players.

EAGLES NEST

By Mickey Gargiulo

Things were really cooking around EHS last week. If you passed the Senior Home Ec. room anytime during the sixth and second period, you would probably think that you were passing our 50th state, Hawaii.

Mrs. D. Paulik's sixth and second period classes were having a real live luau. Honored guests were Principal Mr. C. Boyle, Vice Principals Mr. J. Masser and Mr. L. Scalon; and secretaries from the main office, Mrs. E. Maher and Mrs. A. Tangolics.

What's a luau without a 25-pound pig (cut in half to fit in the oven) with an apple in its mouth and cherries in its eyes? Hawaiian palm trees, leis, gayly colored dresses, flowers for the hair, coconut covered cheeseballs and the pretty girls sitting around on pillows on the floor really made you feel as though you were right there in Hawaii.

You don't have to be Italian to eat pizza. The Chefs' Club was mighty busy after school Thursday selling red hot pizza. More than 110 pizzas were sold in ten minutes, with more than 100 students and faculty members waiting anxiously on line.

Mrs. Paulik, advisor of the Chefs' Club commented, "The boys are very hard workers and seem to be learning a great deal. They are athletes as well as chefs." Mrs. Paulik added that Miss I. Aquila, student teacher "was a great help."

In the future, the chefs plan to take field trips to such places as the Prudential Building, Schraft's, and Stover, all located in New York. Senior Rich Florenzo couldn't help but admit, "Everybody loved the pizza."

Members of the club are President, James Leach, Vice President Tony Palomeri, Secretary Bob Downey, Treasurer Rich Florenzo and members Jeff Aptaker, Tom Downey, Clem Feranado, Jim Kane, Walt Klein, Dan Lynch, Rocco Mazza, Dan Peler, and Benny Thompson.

After graduation many seniors will probably go out into the cold, cruel world and work in large or small businesses, go on to further their education in business school, or to the college of their choice, or even continue playing in a band, maybe someday to go on to a career of music.

These are the plans of Dave Maniquis, senior. Dave has been playing the drums since he was 12, and has studied music since then with many different teachers. Now, he intends to take various courses in harmony and theory where he studies in New York City. After graduation he wants to further his knowledge by learning arranging and composing. From there, Dave remarked, "I hope to make music my career."

Dave has worked with many well-known recording artists, such as The Dupress, The Shangri Las, Joey Dee, The Dixie Cups, Martha and the Vandellas, and the Detergents. This has been a great experience in his life, but it means more to Dave to learn modern music and jazz.

Dave will be pretty busy in the summer. He'll be playing in the Catskills, where he has had many offers, and then on to fulfill his club engagements in the fall. Dave also teaches at Rondo Music Studios in Union and has many of his own private students. Dave revealed, "I find teaching very good experience and very profitable, so my time is very tight between teaching, playing, taking lessons, and practicing every opportunity I get. On my own time," Dave added, "I like to go see other musicians work, and see concerts by name bands."

Dave is currently playing at the Turf Club in Matawan in the House Band. He has been in many bands since he took up the drums, but now finds free-lancing better because he gets more offers and calls.

His only complaint about the music business is: "No one nowadays seems to enjoy good music. Me? Give me jazz and I'm happy."

Dave added that he likes the music business so much because he meets so many new and interesting people. In conclusion Dave stated, "I just hope I make it." (With talent like this, how can Dave help but reach the top of the ladder of success?)

People in the audience will be roaring more than the mouse in the comedy production to be given by the junior class, "The Mouse That Roared". Portraying the male lead will be Mica Bertin who commented, "I am sure that the cast will work very hard to make this one of the biggest events of the Junior year." Playing opposite Mica is Joanne Cobb who added, "I hope that everyone will give us their support because the junior class is working very hard to make this an enjoyable play."

State Tourney Verdict: Eagles, Falcons, Owls In

The verdict is in.

Three area teams already have qualified for the annual post season state tournament action. The deadline for qualifying for the tourney is Saturday when teams must have at least a .500 record to participate. Edison (Group IV) Highland Park (Group II) and St. Joseph's (Parochial) all are now and will be above .500 by the deadline.

The other two area clubs Metuchen and John P. Stevens, have not qualified for the state competition, but they, along with Edison and St. Joseph's, can circle February 12 and February 18-19 on their calendars. They're the important dates for the second annual Middlesex County Coaches Tournament, in which they could salvage something from the campaign.

Thirteen teams are entered in the tourney and a committee will sit down to seed the participating schools. Seeding will be based on the records of the clubs as of February 12. Metuchen and Stevens won't be seeded among the top three entries which will draw first-round byes in the competition.

Undefeated Perth Amboy, defending champions, are a cinch to be top-seeded. Edison, Woodbridge, John F. Kennedy, St. Peter's and St. Joseph's figure to rate next in line, but not necessarily in that order.

Teams not seeded (among the top three) will see first round action in either the doubleheader on February 18 or a tripleheader on February 19.

Rounding out the tournament entries are East Brunswick, Madison Township, South River, Carteret and Piscataway.

The five winners in opening round play will see action with the three seeded teams again on Monday, February 21. The four survivors will clash on Friday, February 25, in the semi-finals. The championship game is ticketed for Monday, February 28.

Edison Winter Recreation Program Is in Full Swing

The second session of winter activities sponsored by the Edison Recreation Department was inaugurated last week with the opening of all-purpose courts for ice skating, but Recreation Director Stephen Capestro has a number of indoor activities planned too.

Starting tonight, bridge classes will be held at the Edison Health Center on Idlewild road. Classes for beginners will begin at 7 p.m. and for intermediates at 8:30 p.m.

Baton twirling and children's handicrafts resumed this week at 6:30 p.m. at Clara Barton School on Monday, Piscataway School on Tuesday, and Oak Tree School on Wednesday. The program will be resumed tonight at the Stelton School.

Ceramics classes for adults and teenagers are conducted at the Recreation Building Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m., and on Wednesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. They also will be held at 51 Philo boulevard on Mondays from 8 to 10 p.m. and on Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Ceramics classes also will be held at Edison High School on Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and from 8:40 p.m. to 10:10 p.m. The class, as well as the Adult Recreation Program on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the high school is held in conjunction with the Adult Education program sponsored by the Board of Education.

Capestro also announced the days for the townships four basketball leagues: Men's League, Mondays and Thursdays at John Adams and Thomas Jefferson High Schools; Senior League, Tuesdays and Wednesdays at John Adams and Thomas Jefferson High Schools; Boys' League, Saturday mornings at John Adams School, and Girls' League at the Oak Tree and Stelton Schools for junior and senior high school girls.

It's the Reds vs. the Grays At HP Girls' Sports Night

Highland Park High School's bi-annual Girls' Sports Night will be held February 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. in the high school.

Miss Maude R. Stockman, chairman of the girls' recreation program, has announced that this year's theme will be "Fantasia."

The mistress of ceremonies will be Eileen Zafarano. Captain of the Red team will be Meryl Schwartz and Carol Haleluk will captain the Gray team. The girls were chosen for their posts by the junior and senior classes.

The program, to be judged by outside physical education teachers, will include freshmen marching, sophomores exercising to music and dances by seniors and juniors. Judging will be based on original ideas, costuming and performance.

Highlights of the Sports Night will be the obstacle race and exhibitions by the cheerleaders, the drill squad and tumblers.

Assisting Miss Stockman in planning is Miss Robin W. Quigley, physical education teacher.

Falcons Sit Week Out After Upset Victory Over St. Rose Five

The eight-day vacation on which St. Joseph's embarked this week is somewhat more relaxing than it might have been for the Falcons, thanks to their 51-48 victory over St. Rose of Belmar last Sunday afternoon.

The win was the eighth in 14 outings for the locals, but more important, it snapped a three-game losing streak. Last Wednesday's loss to powerful Christian Brothers Academy, 66-39, followed consecutive defeats at the hands of South Plainfield and St. Mary's of Perth Amboy and represented the Falcons' poorest offensive game of the campaign.

Frank Fitzgerald's two buckets and one by Tom Stine, all of which came in the closing 30 seconds of the ball game, pulled the game out of the fire. With a half-minute remaining, the Falcons had trailed, 48-45.

Clutch performances, of course, are nothing new for Fitzgerald and Stine, who have provided the one-two scoring punch all season long. Fitzgerald, held to only eight points, the first time he didn't crack the double figure bracket this year, against CBA, came back to lead the way against St. Rose. The 6-5 senior racked up 20 points, slightly above his season average of 19.6.

Stine, who was high man with 16 against CBA, contributed 11 to the cause on Sunday, so he now carries

Bears Stop Funari, But Owls Triumph

East Brunswick High School managed to hold Rocco Funari to just three field goals and eight points Tuesday night, but Highland Park chalked up an easy 63-43 victory anyway. Funari also had a hot hand in netting 28 points in last Friday's 79-57 triumph over Sayreville, which assured the Owls of qualifying for the annual state Group II tournament. Coach Bob Kertes' cagers are 7-4, not counting the win over the Alumni.

With Funari in the freezer, Bob Perla and Mark Roth picked up the slack, as did Jack Simcsak, the team's second high point man behind Funari. Perla led the way with 18 points and Roth added 16. Simcsak, who gave Funari plenty of scoring support by netting 18 against Sayreville, added 12 Tuesday night.

The Parkites will tangle with Rumson-Fair Haven Friday night, while St. Peter's will come to town Tuesday evening for the second meeting between the schools. The Cards won the first, 83-66.

Fitzgerald has 275 points on the year, while Stine has 184. Their combined total of 459 represents about 55 percent of the team point production of 803. Fitzgerald, alone has accounted for almost 35 percent of the Falcon point-making.

The victory over St. Rose put St. Joseph's in an excellent position to finish the regular season with a winning mark for the first time in the school's history. Of course, the Falcons will see post-season action in both the state and county coaches tournaments.

They have four remaining games on their slate starting with Tuesday's return meeting with South Plainfield at home. The game represents the only upcoming clash in which the locals will be listed as the underdog. The Tigers bested them, 62-50, two weeks ago to launch them on their slide.

The Falcons will enter games with St. Mary's of South Amboy and St. Peter's a team which it defeated, 87-66, earlier, as the favorite. The remaining game with Woodbridge should be a tossup.

Edison Wins North-South War

The second battle of Edison Township's war between the North and the South was staged Tuesday night, and to the surprise of many, it was a battle. Edison High, representing the south side of town, was heavily favored because of the home court advantage, and a vastly better record going into the contest, but more important, it had easily disposed of John P. Stevens High, the south side representative, 70-44, in their first skirmish.

Edison jumped to a 20-7 first period advantage, but Coach Bob Coward's boys had to stave off a mighty charge by the Hawks to take a 54-49 verdict.

The win for Edison was the 10th in 14 outings, while Stevens suffered its 13th consecutive defeat.

The Eagles' 20-point first period total almost equalled their entire game production four days

Wrestling Roundup

There's More To Building Than Muscles--Ask Any Wrestling Coach

There's more to building a high school wrestling team than muscle-building, as any mat coach will tell you. It takes years to instruct a group of inexperienced boys in the intricate techniques of the sport. And when they finally learn, they pick up their diplomas.

Take Edison High School. The Eagles worked their way up to a county championship last season, but graduation losses and the 1964 transfer of the younger boys to Stevens has left Coach Ken Pagach with a big rebuilding job. As a result, the Eagle matmen entered this week with a 2-5 record.

On the other hand, Coach Cliff Loysen, who was largely responsible for establishing the sport at Edison High before moving over to John P. Stevens last year, has the Hawks riding high with a 6-1 record.

Metuchen, under first-year coach Dick Rees, has started its move to the top after a number of "down" seasons. The Bulldogs are 3-3. Highland Park has just been introduced to the sport, and needless to say, the inexperienced Owl grapplers are having a rough time winning and even scoring. The Parkites have yet to triumph.

Edison was dealt their fifth loss of the campaign by Madison Township last Saturday, 31-11. Mike Nuzzo, the Eagles' 178-pounder, was the locals' lone pin winner, while Mike Streczyk (123) and Jeff Miller (130) recorded decisions.

The Eagles will travel to Scotch Plains Friday night in search of their third win. On Wednesday, they will play host to John F. Kennedy.

Stevens added Carteret to its list of victims last week, topping the Ramblers, 36-8. John Heald (98) and Henry James (136) ran their undefeated strings to six, the former via the pin route.

Don Currier (157) and Jim Coleman (130) also recorded pins, while Charlie Adams (123), Nick Spadaro (141), Joe Rybnicky (148), Frank McElrath (168), Rich Cristello (178) and Ray Kenen (heavyweight) won by decisions.

Stevens will be at home Saturday night against Middlesex. On Tuesday night North Plainfield will invade the township gym.

Metuchen, losers to Middlesex, 32-11, earlier in the week, jumped back up to the .500 level with a convincing 33-9 triumph over Sayreville.

Richie Crane (115) and the Rule brothers, Jeff (98) and John (106), were the only Bulldogs to win against Middlesex, and they repeated in the victory column against Sayreville, all moving up to the next weight class. Jeff Rule, grappling at 106, pinned his Bomber opponent.

Other Bulldog winners against Sayreville were Charlie Birbaum (148) and John McDuffie (157) on pins, and Jim Ward (98), Bill Skudlarek (141), Warren Montagna (168) and Greg Novak (heavyweight) via decisions.

Metuchen will be out for its fourth success this afternoon in Perth Amboy against St. Mary's. Highland Park, which met Carteret yesterday, will head for Dunellen Wednesday afternoon.

John P. Stevens defeated Edison, 31-21, Tuesday night for its sixth victory of the season. The losers' mark slipped to 2-6.

John Heald (98) and Henry James (136) of Stevens maintained their unbeaten records, while Edison's Mike Nuzzo (178) extended his unblemished streak to six in a row.

Quartet Hot; MHS Loses

When your top scorer who's average is 20 points per game comes through with just two foul shots in a contest, you expect to lose. The only thing that can pull you through, you say, is if the four other starters get hot hands.

This is what happened to Metuchen High Tuesday but a quartet of double figure scorers couldn't prevent the Bulldogs from going down to their eighth loss in ten outings. Middlesex romped to an 86-65 triumph.

Glen Collins, who entered the game with 180 points in the first nine minutes of the game, is the fellow who showed just two free throws in the contest. Steve Miner, Barry McCombs, Bruce Dangremond and Wayne Smith were the double digit dribblers.

Miner kept up his recent surge with 19 points, while McCombs tossed in 18, a dozen from the charity line. Dangremond, the number two man behind Collins all season long, contributed 14 and Smith added 12.

The Bulldogs will take on Watchung Friday.

Mrs. Price Wins Top Scholarship

Mrs. Donald Price of 35 Mill road, Edison, is the recipient of this year's $500 scholarship award presented annually by the Women's Auxiliary of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association.

Mrs. Price, a fifth-year student at the Rutgers College of Pharmacy in Newark, received the top award of the 11 awards presented by the auxiliary.

A 1960 graduate of Edison High School, Mrs. Price is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nemeth of 11 First street, Edison.

Interest in all the sciences, she says, led to her study of pharmacy. It is one field, she believes, that offers the science oriented student an opportunity to study all phases of science.

Mrs. Price, who should have graduated last year, explains that she took time off to have a baby. Attending June graduation ceremonies will be Stacey Price now 10 months old.

A member of Lambda Kappa Sigma, pharmaceutical sorority and the New Jersey and American Pharmaceutical Associations, Mrs. Price will serve her internship with Ace Drugs in Perth Amboy.

Metuchen Chapter Applies For Field Service Charter

Metuchen is well on its way to having its first foreign exchange student. The week-old Metuchen Chapter of the American Field Service, organized to support the American Field Service Club at the high school in its efforts to bring an exchange student to Metuchen, officially applied for its charter this week.

Mrs. Svante Mellgren, member for home and student family adjustment, has announced that interviews with host families is now underway. The applications of three families as prospective hosts must be submitted to the American Field Service by February 15.

Applicants for this fall's program were taken from lists submitted by the high school students. However, Mrs. Mellgren said that families interested in hosting a foreign exchange student in the future may list their name at the high school now. It is most desirable, she said, that the host family have a student in the same grade as the exchange student. This would mean that families with children now in the second year of high school are eligible to apply for host family in the 1967-68 school year.

The final phase of the borough's first field service program will begin February 16 when all interested residents of the community are invited to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. in the high school.

Fred Ruoff, finance chairman, will discuss fund raising efforts. The cost of the program is $750 and this must be raised by June 15.

The students themselves hope to raise this sum, Ruoff said, but, the adult chapter will supervise and support their efforts.

The initial fund drive will be a three-fold effort including appeals to clubs and churches, selected individuals and projects.

Bernard Belikove, chairman, speaking at Monday's meeting in his home, said he was gratified by the initial interest and enthusiasm for the program. Viewing this as a long-term project, he added the hope that all residents of Metuchen interested in this or future programs will attend the public meeting February 16.

HAWK TALK

Start saving your pennies, nickels, and dimes. Next Friday, February 4, volunteer salesmen will blanket the area in a two-week sale of "World's Finest Chocolate." Their endeavors will be zealous because the top salesman will be rewarded with either a gift certificate or savings bond. The top home room will be awarded a plaque. The cost of the chocolate bars is 50 cents each. Profits from this Student Council project will go towards our first foreign exchange student, which we eagerly anticipate. The foreign student assembly last November was both enjoyable and educational. It helped us to realize what a worthwhile and rewarding experience it is to the student and the student body.

Also sponsored by the SC was the March of Dimes drive, which netted $80. The school-wide campaign was conducted January 14, 17, and 18.

Miss Mary Ann Sudzina joined the ranks of our faculty last Monday as a permanent substitute. She replaced Mrs. Bonnie Maurer, who is now teaching French at EHS. Mrs. Nancy Carter took over the general science classes of Mrs. Marjorie Tierney, who left because of illness. Mrs. Edith Margolin has been honored with a teaching position for next year at Middlesex Junior College.

Eloise Good

You had better expect a raid on the pattern and fabric stores this weekend and a deluge of newly sewn outfits in a week or two. Yesterday morning, junior and senior girls were treated with a Fashion Show of Simplicity designs. The assembly program was arranged by Miss Mary Roscoe, Simplicity representative, who taught home economics at JPS last year. The various fashions were modeled by home economics students.

Although it may seem ridiculous, in the midst of this snowy, (Ah, at last!) winter, to plan your activities for the coming summer, remember -- it is never too early! If you are a high school junior, senior, or teacher, and you are interested in taking an advanced level course this summer, the Lawrenceville-Rutgers Summer Session may have just what you're looking for. The course runs from June 27 to August 5 and the following courses are offered: English, United States history, modern European history, French (fourth year), PSSC physics, BSCS biology, CBA chemistry, and calculus and analytic geometry. They also offer, on the high school level only, dramatic arts workshop and music history and performance.

Upon the successful completion of the course, you receive high school credit in New Jersey and may possibly be recommended for advanced placement in college. The cost is: tuition, $100; room and board, $200. However, those who are qualified and need financial aid are generally given it. If you are interested and would like more information, write now to: Director of the Lawrenceville-Rutgers Summer Session, Lawrenceville, New Jersey, 08532.

The names and pictures of the six finalists in the Cupid's Queen Contest will appear in the January issue of Hawkeye, to be distributed tomorrow. Judged on the basis of the picture submitted, the beauties will reign at the Second Annual Cupid's Capers February 18.

It may be that we have a group of potential architects and interior decorators in Robert Oese's Art III class. Cheryl Behr meticulously designed, constructed, and is now furnishing a hexagonal hunting lodge. Abstract models were constructed by Nancy Capellupo, whose model has a triangular court, and Karen Roselle, whose model is mainly glass. Norma Hoyer's house features a sunken living room, while Kristie Donahay constructed an Alpine ski lodge.

Many of our art students have been sketching seals for the Middlesex County College. The contest is open to students in grades 9-12, in Middlesex County. All entries should be sent to the County College by March 15. One first prize and two honorable mention prizes will be awarded. The seal should be round or oval and measure eight inches, and should be done in black ink on white oak tag or cream-colored material. All entries will become the property of the college.

Dr. Yeselson Teams To Edit New Book

Drs. Abraham Yeselson of Highland Park and Charles P. Blackmore of Princeton both members of the political science department at University College, the evening division of Rutgers, The State University, have edited a new book of readings on the American national government.

The book, "The Fabric of Democracy," is published by the American Book Co. and is designed as a supplement to course work in political science.

Dr. Yeselson is chairman of the University College political science department and Dr. Blackmore is an assistant professor.

Township Has Made Mark on Sports Scene

By AL MILLER

Home News Day Sports Editor

EDISON — A number of athletes, residents of this township, have made their mark in the sports world, particularly in recent years when they met their first athletic competition as representatives of the two comparatively new high schools.

Edison High, older of the two was first opened in 1960 and is in its 11th year. And J.P. Stevens opened its doors in September, 1964.

There has been a great change in the sports picture since Raritan Township became Edison in January, 1955.

Today, besides two up-to-date high schools, Edison has a number of recreation facilities, particularly in the field of golf and bowling.

For golfers there is the Middlesex County course at Raritan Arsenal, the Plainfield West nine and the Metuchen Golf and Country Club, which is actually in Edison.

Bowlers' Haven

And for bowlers, there is Edison Lanes with its 112 lanes, the largest bowling establishment in the world with the lanes running in one row. Originally built by the Swales brothers, Jim and Tom, 13 years ago with 66 lanes, the building was enlarged by 46 lanes two years later.

The only other bowling establishment in Edison is the Edison Bowl-O-Mat.

There were no high schools in Raritan Township but a number of residents made their mark in other secondary schools within Middlesex County and some went on to gain prominence on college athletic fields.

The most venerable of these is Thomas L. Hanson, one of Edison's most prominent lawyers, who played varsity center for two seasons on Rutgers football teams. He was graduated in 1910.

"At that time there were few prominent athletes in the township for everything was well scattered," said Hanson. "Most of the better athletes seemed to come from the larger towns and cities then," he added.

A number of Raritan Township residents starred on New Brunswick High School teams.

One of the most prominent was Joe Costa, who was later to become a Middlesex County freeholder. Costa was a starting end on the Zebras' only state championship football team — the 1926 eleven — and was captain of the 1927 team. He received all-state mention for his outstanding play.

One of the Best

One of the best of the township athletes to attend the New Brunswick school was Charlie Grandjean, a brilliant passer on the football team and a fine pitcher on the baseball team.

Mike Zafarana earned letters in both football and baseball and Bill Fisher was a capable basketball player.

Leo Meyers, Ken Moss and Elwood Wait, all from Raritan Township, were members of the New Brunswick High hockey team which won a state title in 1930.

Mel Ballou, one of the finest basketball players ever to perform for Highland Park High School was then a resident of Raritan Township as was Ken Stout, who earned Owls baseball and football letters, and then went on to perform for Temple.

Ray Milesik, son of Mike Milesik, veteran semi-pro pitcher of the 1920s, played short-stop at Perth Amboy High School.

Jimmy Costa, brother of Joe, was named Raritan Township's first director of recreation in 1935. He held that post through 1958, with a four-year break when he was in service.

He gradually built a complete recreation program, which encompassed 16 playgrounds with a fine handicraft program. Basketball, baseball and softball leagues were also conducted under his direction.

Went to the Lions

Richie Davis and Paul Padlak were among the finest athletes to represent Edison High. Davis, who earned All-County honors as a quarterback in 1963, was signed by the Detroit Lions and played until sidelined by an injury. He also played basketball for the Eagles. Padlak, quarterback of the 1964 eleven and a fine wrestler, later captained the Harvard mat team.

Others who stood out on the gridiron for Edison were Bob Kitzi, Bob Fakelman, John DiMuzio, Steve Rusznock, Bill Davis and Mike Wojcik. All gained All-County laurels.

Tom Garguilo, Pat Tylka and Rich Krychowecky were stand-out players on J. P. Stevens' first football team. Garguilo, who was a halfback in 1964 and 1965, will graduate this June from Albright. Tylka, quarterback for three seasons starting in 1964, is a senior at the University of Bridgeport and Krychowecky, fullback in 1964 and 1965, is attending Missouri Valley.

Among others who stood out on Stevens football teams were Artie Gigantino, John Chizmadia, John Barbarczuk, Steve Davis and Bill Thomas. The first year team had a 5-4 record and the 1965 and 1969 elevens both sported 7-2 marks. The overall record for the six years that Stevens has been represented on the gridiron is 33 victories against 21 losses.

Both schools had a number of other fine athletes and teams, particularly in wrestling.

The finest Edison trackman to perform for Rutgers is John Hanley, the only Rutgers man ever to win an IC4A running championship. He won the intermediate hurdles event last year when the meet was held on the Rutgers track.

Gene Frey, a good southpaw pitcher for Rutgers, also hailed from Edison, as did pitcher John Mooney, who had previously hurled for St. Peter's High. Dave Rinehimer, who played at center and tackle for Edison, is now a freshman at Rutgers.
