HOUSE IS DAMAGED, TWO HURT IN BLAST

Cause of East Grand Street Explosion Laid to Faulty Fixtures—Dishes and Furniture Broken—Estimate Loss at $1,000.

An explosion of illuminating gas Saturday afternoon in the house oc- cupied by Edward Magee at 1147 East Grand street resulted in con- siderable damage and Mrs. Magee and her son, Edward Walsh, being knocked semi-unconscious. Furniture and dishes were broken. Robert Walsh, 3-month's old, escaped injury. The damage is estimated at $1,000. The cause is laid to faulty fixtures.
Dennis Boyle, of 913 Anna street, thinking there was a fire, turned in 10-39 alarm from Box 1-1. When Engine Companies Nos. 1 and 2 and Truck Company No. 1 arrived, there was nothing for them to do.
The Magee family moved into the house last Thursday, having come here from Staten Island. The gas was turned on Saturday, shortly be- fore noon Saturday, and no attempt was made to use it until about 5 o'clock. Mrs. Magee, who was alone at the time, started to prepare the evening meal. There was an explosion in the wall between the kitchen and dining-room.
Plaster on the walls and ceiling near the doorway between the two rooms fell, the second story flooring was ripped up and the stair railing was broken. Practically every dish in the kitchen closet was smashed. Furniture in the second floor rooms was reduced to kindling wood.
An examination after the explosion showed that a dead-end gas pipe en- tered the wall from the basement at the junction of the baseboard and floor moulding. It is believed that the space between the walls had be- come filled with gas due to a leak in the pipe and the lighting of the gas plug caused the explosion. Al- though a burst of flame accompanied the explosion, nothing was set on fire.
As soon as he had recovered from the force of the explosion, Mr. Ma- gee, who was in the dining-room, rushed to the basement where he turned off the gas at the meter.
Mrs. Magee and her son, Mr. Walsh, were knocked down. Mrs. Magee had to be carried into the street by neighbors. Mrs. Walsh gained consciousness a few seconds later.
The infant was in his carriage on the side of the dining-room farthest from the explosion. Mrs. Walsh, who was with him, was not hurt.

WALES TO LUNCH AT WHITE HOUSE

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—One of the highest compliments in diplomatic usage—a strictly private luncheon with the executive family—is planned for the Prince of Wales upon his ar- rival in the United States for the international polo matches next month at Meadowbrook, says the Washing- ton Post, to-day, adding that it un- derstands the royal visitor will reach New York August 30, on the Berth- aria.
The Prince's call at the White House was decided upon, the Post re- lated, after King George had vetoed a proposal that he come to the United States incognito, as Lord Renfrew, Scotland. He is a viscount, com- monly required use of the Prince's highest title on a visit to the United States, except that it might be dis- pensed with for a private pleasure trip, and this necessitated arrangements for him to pay his respects formally to the President.
The prince of the house of Wales, one functions of its kind in American history, is attributed not only to the mourning of the executive family for Calvin Coolidge, Jr., but to a desire to return similar courtesies extended by the King and Queen recently to Secretary and Mrs. Hughes and Secretary Mellon and his daughter. Afterwards, says the Post, members of the Cabinet and their wives may be invited to the White House, in a strictly informal manner, to welcome the Prince.
Various cities will be visited by the Royal party on this trip under present plans, the newspaper con- tinues, and only one large social function has been arranged, a dinner and dance by Clarence Mackay at Harbor Hill, September 5, the evening of the first of the series of polo matches for the famous international challenge cup, the American open championship and the Monty Water- bury Memorial trophy.
The Prince will be met at New York by the Post adds, by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard; J. Butler Wright, third assistant secre- tary of state, in charge of protocol and Major Oscar K. Gubser, the President's junior aide and formerly attached to the American embassy in London, as the personal and unofficial representative of Presi- dent Coolidge. The executive has detailed Gubser to act as personal aide to the Prince during his stay in the United States.
The Royal visitor will occupy the house of James A. Burden at Syosset, Long Island, during the polo matches, and Governor Whitman will be host in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Bur- den, who are in Europe. After the championship matches conclude on September 14, the Prince is ex- pected to leave immediately for his ranch in Manitoba.

CRUISER GIVING AID TO 'PLANES RAMS INTO ICE

SEARCH FOR LANDING PLACES IMPEDED.

By the Associated Press.
REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 11.— The United States Cruiser Raleigh, exploring the east coast of Green- land in search of a landing for the American army round-the-world fliers, to-day reported to Rear-Ad- miral Thomas P. Magruder that she was in a dense fog sixty miles east- southeast of Angmagssilik and that she had encountered many floating ice cakes.
While the vessel was attempting to gain the open water of Ice, a hummock damaged its starboard propeller, ac- cording to the report to the Admiral.
In a statement this morning, Ad- miral Magruder said it was doubtful if Angmagssilik could be used as a base by the scout planes which are being carried by the cruisers Raleigh and Richmond to explore the coast. A plan had been considered whereby these planes would carry fuel for the round-the-world planes over the Angmagssilik ice field.
The Danish steamship Gertrud Rask which is ice bound southeast of Angmagssilik and which reported yes- terday that she needed assistance, is Richmond, flagship of the convoying squadron. In the opinion of Rear Admiral Magruder, a flight will be completed successfully, barring possible accidents or unforeseen adverse weather.
The planes are faced with three possibilities in making their next hop. First, the Raleigh by means of her scout planes may find a safe land- ing haven for them on the Greenland coast; second, they may fly to Ang- magssilik fiord, which is free of ice, provided the Raleigh's planes can take enough fuel there to provide for the next hop, and third, they may abandon the attempt to fly from this port to Iviqtuk on the western coast of Greenland, or to a base near Cape Farewell, on the southernmost tip.
The last-named project would en- tail a flight of 750 miles, thus elim- inating the hazardous task of landing at sea to re-fuel from the Raleigh.

Rams Into Ice Drift.

By the Associated Press.
ON BOARD THE U. S. CRUISER RALEIGH, Off the East Coast Of Greenland, Aug. 10 (delayed)—Pro- ceeding slowly through dense fog and cautiously approaching the East Coast of Greenland in search of a safe landing place for the American round- the-world fliers who are now in Reykjavik, Iceland, the Raleigh this morning had the hoped-for discovery of an ice- free harbor, their next landing place. The Raleigh at 10:30 o'clock this morning found the harbor was free of ice in the form of a small drift.
Little can be done until the fog lifts which, it is hoped, will be in time to allow the two scout planes which the Raleigh is carrying to begin a search for landing places on the coast line this afternoon.

ELUSIVE AUTOIST, CAUGHT, FINED $50

For driving an unregistered auto- mobile, which carried no license plates, Eugene Schultz, of 454 Maple avenue, was fined $50 in Police Court this morning.
The police say that they had been looking for Schultz since May 25, when he was stopped by State Motor Vehicle Inspector Lawler and asked to show his license.
At that time Sihultz is said to have told Lawler that he had left his li- cense at home. He was allowed to go after it, with the understanding that he return with it. Schultz failed to appear. The police declare they had not seen him until yesterday when he was arrested driving the same car, still unregistered.
Charges were also made against Schultz for driving without a license, but they were not pressed.
He has been playing hide-and- seek with the department," said In- spector James J. Shanley, who made the arrest.

RAT BITES CHILD SLEEPING IN CRIB

One-year-old Florence Ellsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ellsworth, of 412 East Jersey street, was badly wounded by bites of a rat on both feet about 2:30 o'clock this morning while asleep in her crib on the first floor of the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Estner, of 443 Fulton street. She was taken to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, where the wounds were cau- terized. She was discharged from the hospital about noon yesterday and received further treatment. It was stated at the Estner home to- day that the child went to bed in the same room, was awakened by the child's screams. She also heard the thud of a rat jumping from the crib to the floor. Upon investigating, she found the child's feet bleeding from four bites on the left foot and two on the right foot. The child's grand- father and uncle, James Estner, also have awakened and took the baby to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital. The parents were notified by telephone.
Mrs. Estner said to-day that the window of the bedroom, adjoining the bedroom, was open about six inches and she believed the rat jumped through the opening.

BEATEN OFFICIAL POSTPONES CASE

M'NAIR AND DR. CLEARY IGNORE EACH OTHER.

Upon application of Francis A. Gor- don, attorney for the complainant, the assault and battery charge brought by Robert J. McNair, of 703 Linden ave- nue, tax assessor of the Tenth Ward, against Dr. George C. Cleary, a den- tist at 80 Broad street, was postponed for a week by Judge in Police Court to- day until 10 A. M. August 26. Dr. Cleary was placed in the custody of Constable Aaron Kaufman.
The trouble between Dr. Cleary and Assessor McNair culminated in a fist fight in front of the latter's home last Thursday night. The following after- noon the assessor swore out a com- plaint of assault and battery against the dentist.
Both were in court to-day. Dr. Cleary arrived shortly after 9 o'clock and stood in the main hallway of Po- lice Headquarters, reading a news- paper. A short time later Assessor McNair arrived and walked past Cleary. They did not speak. McNair took up a post in the rear of the police courtroom. Cleary remained in the hallway.
A short time later Mr. Kaufman entered the building from East Scott place, and sought his client. To- gether they left the building and con- ferred about fifteen minutes in an automobile in East Scott place.
After their conference they en- tered the courtroom, brushing by Mr. McNair, who stood with his arms folded. Attorney Kaufman and Dr. Cleary entered the enclosure before Judge Brown and were in- formed of the postponement.
Plaintiff and defendant came face to face as Dr. Cleary, still with his attorney, left the room. They stared at each other, but no sign of recog- nition was made. Dr. Cleary, how- ever, was smiling throughout the short proceedings.
After the dentist and his attorney left the court, McNair spoke briefly with Judge Brown. He made no comment other than that he un- derstood his client was not in any other court this morning. He was also waiting as he left.

JOSTLED IN CAR, MONEY IS GONE

Roselle Man Reports Robbery on Union Trolley.

Special to the Journal.
ROSELLE, Aug. 11.—Jostled by three men as he was preparing to leave a Union line trolley car at the stop opposite his home shortly before 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Hugh Hughes, of 642 Third avenue, after- ward discovered when he wanted to pay off his employes that the $250 he had drawn from an Elizabeth bank for that purpose was missing.
Hughes immediately reported his loss to the Roselle police. As the jostling incident occurred just east of the Elizabeth city line, the matter was referred to the Elizabeth police, who are investigating.
According to the police, Hughes boarded the Union line car at West Jersey and Broad streets, Elizabeth, with the $250 he had drawn from an Elizabeth bank to pay off his men. Hughes who are constructing a house one block from his home. The car was crowded and Hughes moved for- ward when he got off at State Motor- man James Lawler and asked to show his license.
At that time Sihultz is said to have told Lawler that he had left his li- cense at home. He was allowed to go after it, with the understanding that he return with it. Schultz failed to appear. The police declare they had not seen him until yesterday when he was arrested driving the same car, still unregistered.
Charges were also made against Schultz for driving without a license, but they were not pressed.
"He has been playing hide-and- seek with the department," said In- spector James J. Shanley, who made the arrest.

ELIZABETH AUTO BADLY DAMAGED

Drivers Unhurt in Collision at Park.

WEEK-END ACCIDENTS ARE NUMEROUS.

Special to the Journal.
ROSELLE PARK, Aug. 11.—An auto driven by Dan Koenig, of 42 Sec- ond avenue, Garwood, collided with a Ford driven by Charles S. Riley, of 1054 Anna street, Elizabeth, at 7 o'clock last night at the intersection of Westfield avenue and Dalton street. Neither driver was injured, but the left door of Riley's machine was pulled off the body and the left rear wheel was broken.
Koenig was driving west on West- field avenue when Riley came out of Dalton street and turned east on Westfield avenue. Before Koenig could stop his car, the collision oc- curred. Patrolmen Duyckinck and Krauss made the investigation.

Dorothy Boon, 14 Hurt.

Dorothy Boon, 14 years old, of 133 Walnut street, escaped injury when the bicycle she was riding was hit by a machine driven by Richard Muir, of 1217 Stuyvesant avenue, Union, at Chestnut street, directly in front of police headquarters shortly before noon yesterday. The bicycle, owned by Mrs. David Weinberg, of 45 Baldwin avenue, Newark, who was in the ma- chine at the time, was driving south on Chestnut street. The girl was riding her bicycle in the same direc- tion and, according to the police, she turned suddenly to the left in front of the automobile. She was knocked to the street by the impact, but escaped injury. The rear wheel of the bicycle was bent- badly. Mrs. Weinberg agreed to pay. Officer Behring investigated the accident.

Walking Home Hurt.

Struck while walking about her home ear- ly last evening, Eugenia Hienbach, of 503 Westfield avenue, stepped on a rusty nail. She was taken to the St. Elizabeth Hospital. Elizabeth, where she was given an injection of tetanus anti-toxin.

Accidents at Railway.

Special to the Journal.
RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—When a De- troit-touring car driven by Herman B. Holsten, 19 Hooper street, New Brunswick, and Saturday night with a truck owned by Herbert L. Adams and driven by Paul L. Adams, of Edgewater, at Commerce and Hobart av- enues, Rahway, Saturday afternoon, Holsten received two cuts on one lip and a cut on her tongue. The windshield was broken and the front axle of the Holsten Durant car. Motorcycle Officer George McIntyre investigated.
Slight damage was caused Saturday night when a machine driven by Sa- badino Zullo, of 117 Monroe street, crashed into the rear end of an auto- mobile driven by Fred Lowe, of 38 William street. Zullo was summoned to ap- pear in Police Court to-morrow af- ternoon.
Meyer Gordon, of 830 Central ave- nue, Plainfield, reported at police headquarters that his machine and a boy riding a bicycle in Westfield ave- nue had bumped into his machine. Gordon said he found the boy on the floor. S. Young and had him exam- ined. He was uninjured and his bi- cycle was not damaged. The name of the boy was not obtained by the police.
The Ford car was only ten feet ahead of Barry, who was traveling at a good rate of speed, when the car suddenly swerved around, according to the patrolman. The speeder es- caped but Heller was arrested by Barry on the charge of reckless driv- ing and gave a bond of $200 for ap- pearance in court.

Both Cars Damaged.

A car driven by Herman Wallen- stein, of 20 Seymour avenue, Newark, collided with a car owned by Edward Gardner, of 33 Cleveland avenue, and driven by Carmen Angelone, of 19 Cleveland avenue, Harrison, in front of 431 North Broad street, at 9.20 Saturday night, according to a report made by Patrolman Ward. Both cars were slightly damaged.
At 8.45 o'clock Saturday night a car driven by Leighton Williamson, of 247 Hillside avenue, Hillside, collided with a car driven by Henry Buettner, of 29 Reid street, at North Broad and Mary streets. Williamson, according to Patrolman Christman admitted that the accident was his fault and stated that he would pay for the dam- age done to Buettner's car.

Come to Full Accord in All-Night Session---Confer- ence End in Sight.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Allied and German experts at- tached to the International Reparation Conference have reached a full agreement on the Dawes program, it was announced this noon. They remained in session until 3 o'clock this morning to arrive at an understanding on reparation payments in kind, on which the Germans held out until the results of Premier Herriot's Paris mission became known.
The French Premier's return with his cabinet's approval of his Ruhr evacuation policy in his pocket put new life and hope into the negotiators, and British observers believe the conference will end by Thursday. The completion of the experts' work here and Premier Herriot's success in his Paris mission justifies the hope that the conference will come to a close before the week-end, ac- cording to a Foreign Office spokesman.

DISCUSSING RUHR.

The all-important question of the evacuation of the Ruhr was being discussed late this afternoon at a conference of the principal French and Belgian delegates. Until they have reached an agreement among themselves on this problem there will not be another meeting with the Ger- mans, and it is not expected such a meeting will come before to-morrow.
This morning the "Big Fourteen"— the Allied and German delegation leaders—met for an hour and a half at No. 10 Downing street and heard M. Herriot's report of his Paris trip. They then briefly considered the one remaining problem within the pur- view of the conference proper—that of the Allied military men remaining on the German lines.
This issue is so closely connected with that of the evacuation of the Ruhr that both seem likely to be set- tled at the same time, although the latter will be kept outside the conference.

See Acceptance Assured.

It is thought Premier Herriot is returning from Paris with the ap- proval of his ministerial colleagues and of Marshal Foch to the evacua- tion of the Ruhr by the French mili- tary forces on the understanding to assure acceptance by the Germans.
The first of the three protocols necessary to put the Dawes plan in operation was signed on Saturday by the Germans and representatives of the Reparation Commission. This document embodies formal acceptance of the Dawes plan, the Reparation Commission on its part pledging all German assets, making them avail- able as security for the proposed loan to the country.
Of the remaining protocols, one is between the Allies and Germany and the other contains an agreement among the Allied nations. The ef- fectiveness of the one signed Satur- day depends upon these two, a con- clusion which in turn hangs on the ability of Premier Herriot and the Germans to get together following the premier's return from Paris.
Names for the post of permanent sergeant-general to carry the Dawes plan into effect are being discussed generally now in conference circles since the announcement that the Germans will agree to the evacuation of the Ruhr on conditions which it seems likely the Germans will accept. James A. Logan, American representa- tive on the reparation commission, Dwight W. Morrow, of J. P. Morgan and Company, and Paul D. Cravath, are three Americans mentioned fre- quently for the post, together with a number of "dark horses," who have not been identified with reparation affairs.
Owen D. Young, of the Dawes com- mittee, seems to be generally regard- ed in conference circles as the ideal man to initiate the Dawes plan, but his announcement that he would only consider taking the post temporarily makes the selection of his successor necessary at an early date.

Solution With League.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Aug. 11.—That the prob- lem of France's security can be solved by a League of Nations plan to keep a check on German disarma- ment is generally inferred from a long conference held by Premier Her- riot with Paul Boncour, Socialist deputy and president of the sub-com- mittee of the higher committee of Na- tional Defense charged with studying the plan in question.
The plan was discussed at a meet- ing attended by General Debeney, chief of general staff and representa- tive of Marshal Foch; the chief of the naval staff, General Dumesnil, and a representative of the Foreign Of- fice.

TWO MEN HURT BY AUTOMOBILES

Policeman Injured As Driver Makes Sudden Turn.

SERIES OF MOTOR ACCI- DENTS OVER WEEK-END.

Injury to two men, one of whom was a policeman and damage to a number of automobiles, were the toll of the week-end motor accidents in this city. Motorcycle Patrolman Rich- ard Barry was one of the victims.
Felix Marcsak, 46 years old, who said he lived at 749 Bayway, was struck on the Bayway about mid- night last night as he was being taken by a sedan driven by Paul Bennett, of 130 Fifth avenue, Elizabeth. According to Marcsak's account, the sedan was going north on Baltic street, near Bayway and carried no lights. Marcsak was knocked down and sus- tained multiple contusions of the body. He was given tetanus anti- toxin treatment, and this morning his condition was reported as being fair, by the hospital authorities.
Bennett was held in bail pending the result of Marcsak's injuries. With him in the car were Walter Cobersky, of 1175 Magnolia avenue, and Walter Rayne, of 631 Broadway.

Trolley Hits Auto.

While chasing a speeding car on North Broad street Saturday after- noon Motorcycle Patrolman Richard Barry narrowly escaped serious in- jury when a Ford car driven by George Heller, of 22 South Reid street, turned around abruptly in front of the motorcycle patrolman without giving a signal. Barry crashed into the left front wheel of the Ford, badly damaged his motorcycle and injured his left knee. Barry remained on duty.
The Ford car was only ten feet ahead of Barry, who was traveling at a good rate of speed, when the car suddenly swerved around, according to the patrolman. The speeder es- caped but Heller was arrested by Barry on the charge of reckless driv- ing and gave a bond of $200 for ap- pearance in court.

Both Cars Damaged.

A car driven by Herman Wallen- stein, of 20 Seymour avenue, Newark, collided with a car owned by Edward Gardner, of 33 Cleveland avenue, and driven by Carmen Angelone, of 19 Cleveland avenue, Harrison, in front of 431 North Broad street, at 9.20 Saturday night, according to a report made by Patrolman Ward. Both cars were slightly damaged.
At 8.45 o'clock Saturday night a car driven by Leighton Williamson, of 247 Hillside avenue, Hillside, collided with a car driven by Henry Buettner, of 29 Reid street, at North Broad and Mary streets. Williamson, according to Patrolman Christman admitted that the accident was his fault and stated that he would pay for the dam- age done to Buettner's car.

GIVES HIS $744 TO STRANGERS

Rahway Man Loses Savings On Visit to New York.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—Police of this city and New York are trying to locate the three men alleged to have swindled Louis Gopobianco, of 65 Irv- ing street, out of $744. According to the story told the police by Gopobianco, he went to New York Wednesday to secure a passport for a trip to Italy.
While in New York he went into a restaurant and there got into con- versation with three men whom he did not know. They agreed to aid him and took $44 which Gopobianco had in his pocket. They left the city, tak- ing with them. The following morning they told him they were going into business and in such a way would bring considerable money.
After he had told them he had $700 in a local bank they suggested that he join the company. They accompanied him to Rahway while he drove the money out of the bank and gave it to them as proof that his intentions were gen- uine. He told the police they must have duped him. Since turning the money over to the men he has not heard from them.
Complaint was made at police headquarters Saturday night by L. D. Dalton, of 341 West Grand street, that someone had picked his pocket of $100 while he was in the store of the safe of Mauyra & Dunphy, at Main and Irving streets.

INMATES ESCAPE AT REFORMATORY

Two Men Elude Guards Over Week-end.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—Two escapes from the New Jersey Reformatory have been made in two days. After sounding the evening call last night Roscoe Archer, colored, of Camden, flies spoared. How he escaped has not been determined.
Another Saturday, Dominick Salem, who was committed from North Bergen for eighteen months and is only three months from end of serv, made his escape from a gang of inmates working in the institu- tion garden. Salem lingered in the rear of the garden until they were ready to proceed to dinner and disappeared just before the march to the institu- tion.
Since the riot at the Reformatory on July 30 all privileges have been withdrawn and the corrective jurisdic- tion has caused dissatisfaction among the inmates and incited their efforts to escape.
Extra guards throughout this sec- tion have been notified to watch for the pair and their early capture is expected.

CLASSON POINT GOAL OF M'LEOD ASSOCIATION

The destination of the Neil Mc- Leod, Jr., Association excursion on August 27, is to be Classon Point, N. Y., the excursion committee of the organization announced. This is the same spot as last year. The com- mittee decided that the point fur- nished the best dancing facilities, had an efficient accommodations for the crowd that is expected to be aboard this year.
United States Senator Edge has tentatively agreed to be present, and National Committeeman Hamilton F. Kean, who is stumping for the Sen- atorial nomination with Senator Edge, has promised if possible to be on hand.

JERSEY CROPS ARE BACKWARD

Dry Weather and Cool Nights Retard Growth.

Special to the Journal.

TRENTON, Aug. 11.—Summarizing crop conditions August 1, the State Department of Agriculture today said July was not a favorable month for the farmers. Although in the first part conditions favored growth, the exceedingly dry weather and cool nights prevailing in all parts of the State for the past three weeks has slowed up most crops, sweet corn and melons particularly.

Hail in certain areas in the second week of July injured fruits and truck crops. The dry weather has made it difficult to prepare the ground for late crops. Plant diseases and insect injury continue to be more severe than usual.

"Corn is still backward and unless we have a very favorable fall, many fields will not reach maturity," according to the department. "Grain and grasses were favored by ample moisture during the spring and early summer and these crops are generally good. Potatoes were late in starting and stands are somewhat uneven. The crop made excellent growth during June and the forepart of July. A good crop of cobblers and giants is now practically assured. Late round varieties are beginning to need rain badly and some late blight is showing.

"Sweet potatoes have improved and stem rot seems less prevalent than usual. Apples have shown a sharp decline since a month ago, due to June drop, which occurred late this season. Early varieties are extremely light with few exceptions. Late apples are somewhat better.

"The peach crop is heavy in all sections and pears are above the average. Onions and cabbage yielded well. Tomatoes are in good condition in the central counties, but below the average in South Jersey. Berries have been damaged to some extent by dry weather."

The grape crop August 1 was estimated at eighty-three per cent. of normal, compared with eighty-four per cent. a year ago, but on an average for the production in the past ten years.

Farm labor demands exceed the supply. The supply is figured at eighty-seven per cent. and the demand at ninety-one per cent.

LOSS ABOVE $2,000,000 IN OLD HICKORY BLAZE

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—Powder, machinery and buildings valued at $28,000,000, war-time prices, and at more than $2,000,000 at present valuation, were destroyed in a fire that swept clean a forty-acre tract in the heart of the Old Hickory Powder Plant at Jacksonville, Tenn., near here yesterday morning.

Approximately 45,000,000 pounds of gun powder, stored by the United States Government as a war reserve, were consumed in the flames.

The cost of manufacturing this powder during the war, according to Major Oscar Krupp, United States Ordnance Department officer in charge, was fifty cents a pound, making the total cost $22,500,000. The present market value of the powder is one cent a pound, making the total value $450,000, Major Krupp said.

The fire is said to be the greatest single loss the Government has suffered since the war.

SHIPS' CREWS DETAINED AFTER BLAZE OFF N. J.

By the Associated Press.

CAPE MAY, Aug. 11.—The auxiliary sloop Telirie was burned to the water's edge off Cape May Point and the former submarine chaser Cariari she was towing from New York to Costa Rica was driven ashore by the heavy waves. Members of both crews, who made their way to shore in small boats, were ordered detained by coast guard officials until their clearance papers from New York are examined and an investigation of the cause of the fire is completed.

Captain I. Simmonson, of the Telirie, said the Cariari was to be delivered to the Costa Rican Government. He said the fire had started in the engine room and gained such rapid headway that the crew was forced to abandon the craft, which sank shortly afterward. The auxiliary sloop carried a crew of four and the Cariari two men.

MUSICIAN AND WIFE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

By the Associated Press.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 11.—Donald A. Eynon, an Easton musician, and his wife were killed and Frank Opitz, also a musician, was seriously hurt yesterday when their motor car ran up a steep embankment near Martin's Creek, and then rolled down, landing upright. Mr. and Mrs. Eynon were thrown out and Opitz was pinned in the driver's seat.

Mrs. Eynon was killed instantly and her husband died a few hours later. Opitz had his skull fractured and physicians said his chances for recovery were slight.

REFINERY WORKER HURT WHEN HIT BY WRENCH

When a wrench he was using at the Bayway Refinery of the Standard Oil Company slipped Saturday afternoon, Michael Verchick, 39 years old, of 432 Elizabeth avenue, was struck in the upper lip. He was treated at the St. Elizabeth Hospital.

DOG SUPERVISOR WILL QUIT POST

Dr. Ungerer, Westfield, Objects to Serving Summonses.

Special to the Journal.

WESTFIELD, Aug. 11.—When the Town Council meets at the Town Hall to-night the members will receive the resignation of Dr. Harry Ungerer as superintendent of the Westfield dog and cat department. The doctor stated yesterday that he intended to place his resignation in the hands of the town clerk this morning at 10 o'clock. He wished to have emphasized the fact that while his formal resignation within three months.

Dr. Ungerer refused to fully explain the grounds for his action, but while he preferred to keep his contented himself by saying, "I do not like to serve summonses on any of my fellow citizens."

It is a matter of common knowledge among town officials that the dog supervisor was given forty-two summonses more than a week ago with orders to serve them on dog owners who had neglected to have their dogs licensed for 1924. He was instructed to make sure that everyone served was at the present time the owner of a dog.

Those best acquainted with the doctor say he is opposed to the imposition of canines, and attributed his refusal to deliver the summonses to this conviction.

Dr. Ungerer resigned once before, but agreed to return to his position. He says, however, that he doesn't intend to make a habit of resigning and being reinstated.

AUTOIST SLIGHTLY HURT.

Abrasions on his right hand and left knee were received by Felicet Zingaro, boy of 625 Central avenue, Saturday morning when an automobile belonging to Michael Giunta of 624 Ripley place, in which he was riding, collided with an automobile driven by Harriet A. Dederick, of 624 East Broad street, at North street and Central avenue.

GUARDSMAN ARRESTED.

Lieutenant Edward Nelson served warrant on Charles Delago, of Plainfield, Saturday afternoon on the request of Major William A. Ross, commander of the Second Squadron, Third Cavalry, New Jersey National Guard, who charged Delago with having abscated himself from six drills. Delago paid a $12 fine and was released.

HOLE DAMAGES CARS.

A number of automobiles traveling over West Dudley avenue Saturday night were damaged on striking an excavation in the roadway near North avenue, caused by the heavy rain. Benjamin Nicholls of 1141 North Second street, Plainfield, and Edward Casazza of North avenue, North Plains, were among those whose cars were damaged. Casazza placed a red lantern over it, and Patrolman Ernest H. Long was sent to put another one on. Motorcycle Patrolman Robert C. McCollum, yesterday morning, found the hole 2 feet deep and extended from the gutter to the center of the road, 12 or 14 feet. He set up sticks to warn motorists of the danger.

LINDEN KIDDIES USE NEW PARK

Curtis Street Play Spot Boon in Hot Weather.

LINDEN, Aug. 11.—Many children of the borough and also the township as well as adults have been enjoying the new borough park in Curtis street the latter part of last week during the hot wave and they will continue to use this happy mecca where they obtain temporary relief from the heat. Hundreds are present practically every day and those who are not using the wading pool are enjoying the playground devices that have been installed in the park. The crowds of happy children frolicking in the park are a pleasant sight to Mayor John Verreyt who sponsored the movement for the park and the other borough officials who took a hand in establishing the park.

The tract of land, which was purchased from a member of the Gesner family is located in a hollow, several feet below the level of Curtis and Gibbon streets. Through the park runs West Brook, which at this point is quite wide and in the center is a small island. The borough employes have been working at the site for several months preparing it for the much wanted park last week. The dam, which is about 18 inches high, affords a suitable wading pool for the children, some of whom often go into the brook with their bathing suits.

The park has been equipped with some of the best playground material, much of which was donated by the Standard Oil Company. These devices include, swings, slides, see-saws, etc. The park is often crowded at night also during the warm weather with bathers. This is the first and only park with a pool in Linden.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Lindas Negro Falls Three Floors—Slightly Hurt.

Special to the Journal.

LINDEN, Aug. 11.—Falling three stories and suffering no more serious injuries than a sprained back and a few contusions is the record of Charles Sampson, 20 years old, colored, of 609 Third avenue, Elizabeth.

Sampson visited his mother-in-law at the Lincoln House Saturday night. Going to a window to seek relief from the oppressive heat, Sampson leaned far out over the ledge, lost his balance and toppled to the street, three stories below. His friends rushed to his aid, expecting to find him dead, and called the police.

The ambulance was summoned and Sampson was rushed to the St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, where it was said this morning that he was suffering from a sprain in the lumbar region of his back and from contusions. He is expected to be discharged from the hospital in a few days.

BISHOP ON INSPECTION TOUR OF AIR MAIL FIELD

Postmaster Charles R. Bishop on Saturday visited the air mail field on Staten Island, gaining additional information regarding the new branch of the postal service.

AUTO AFIRE.

The automobile belonging to Howard Sheldon, of 1146 East Jersey street, caught fire yesterday afternoon when it started the motor after buying gasoline at the filling station, 575 Newark avenue. The engine was slightly damaged by the blaze, which was promptly extinguished by the owner.

FAIL TO SAVE PLAYMATE

CLIFTON, Aug. 11.—Mary Dobiak, aged 11, was drowned while swimming with playmates of her own age in Nash's Pond here yesterday afternoon. Mary and Stella Orm, sisters, aged 9 and 12, respectively, responded to the child's call for help, but the water was too deep for them and they had hard work saving themselves. The body was recovered.

A Little Message to Our Friends

The world is a testing place. All things are challenged. All things are tried to see their fitness. The farmer looks over his seeds before he plants them in the ground. The scientist examines materials in the laboratory before allowing their entrance into compounds. The mason taps a brick, a line, a stone, by hand the carpenter's level is continually at hand to confirm accuracy of line in building. The writer tries various words. The musician attempts different notes. The inventor goes through innumerable experiments. Progress comes out of testing, out of endeavor and rejection, until the right thing comes. But challenge is only one-half in the story of achievement. Acceptance is the other half. Once tried and found correct, a thing needs no more testing, else life would be full of useless duplication and waste. The shopper who knows where quality is centered is the wise one. But once tested and found reliable, it is further wisdom for the shopper to accept the benefits of relations with such a department store that has proved its worthiness.

"You didn't remember your Clutch"

"OUT of sight, out of mind, ladv", says the old-time Fleet Boss. "You've got to remember to keep your clutch collar lubricated, keep your clutch adjusted right, and have the clutch cleaned out occasionally, even if you can't see it work. If you let it slip along, you waste power. If it grabs, you strain your whole car. Adjustment and the right oil will cut down these trips to the shop."

"Standard" Polarine oils in the motor also lubricate most clutches properly without extra attention. A little neats foot oil on your leather cone clutch will ease the grabbing. There are other "Standard" lubricants for clutch collars and wet type clutches. While "Standard" Polarine motor oils deservedly outsell every other brand in this state, they are by no means the only "Standard" products you need to know. SILVER MINERS IN BAD STRAITS

Gold Producers Also Say They Garner No Profits.

By HARRY B. HUNT.
NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Prospects for prospectors are bad, says Senator Tasker L. Oddie, chairman of the Senate's special committee investigating the gold and silver industry.

In fact, according to Oddie, digging gold and silver has become even less profitable than digging parsnips and potatoes.

If the farmers who have thought they've had hard times for the past few years had been delving deep for their living instead of merely scratching the face of nature, he opines, they'd have had something really to kick about.

And just as the farmers have been demanding relief by legislation to stimulate the exportation of American foodstuffs, Oddie wants the Government to lend a hand to save the gold and silver magnates from bankruptcy.

China His Hope.

Casting about for some new world market for silver, Oddie has picked China as the one best bet.

If China can be persuaded to amend her "complicated and heterogeneous currency system," which now "seriously limits the market possibilities of silver," a silver lining to the present clouds will be provided.

Timely assistance by the Polish Government, which recently purchased six million ounces of silver to be made into small change for the Poles, has been a help.

But no such relief has come to the gold and silver producer as has come to the farmer, in the bounding prices of corn and hogs, wheat and cotton. Instead, the price of silver hangs close around the record low mark of 62.3 cents per ounce, reached last summer. And as for gold:

"Relatively many more mines producing gold have been forced to shout down, due to adverse economic conditions," Oddie declares.

Oddie's sympathies naturally go to the boys who try to get their gold and silver direct from the veins of Mother Earth. For that's where he got his.

Although he was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., the west lured him in his early teens. He spent three years, from 16 to 19, as a cowboy.

He returned to New York and tried his hand at real estate and banking, meanwhile studying law at night. But soon after he got his law degree from New York University the call of the West got him again and he deserted the Empire State and the gubbies of Gotham for good.

Made Lucky Strike.

He lit in Nevada in February, 1898. As there wasn't any immediate demand for his legal services, he mixed a bit in mining and prospecting.

In 1899 his big luck came. He was one of the discoverers of the great gold and silver camp of the Tonopah. He was manager of the Tonopah properties for the first five years.

Goldfield, perhaps Nevada's most famous camp, came into being largely as a result of the Tonopah discovery, and there followed a revival in mining activity in Nevada that carried the State to its greatest peak of prosperity.

Naturally, Oddie never has lost his interest in gold and silver. Between times of mining and prospecting, he took up agriculture, livestock and politics. After serving as district attorney and State Senator, he was governor from 1911 to 1915, and in 1920 was elected to the United States Senate.

His inquiry into the gold and silver situation, with a view to stimulating new markets for these precious metals and bringing the mining business back to its old-time prosperity has been his chief accomplishment as Senator.

MAN KILLED BY CAR.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Edward Bub, 85 years old, shot and killed his 57 year-old wife yesterday and then committed suicide. Their bodies were found by their only surviving son, Charles Bub. The old man's left arm encircled his wife's neck, while in his right hand he still clutched a pistol. Death had taken five sons of the aged pair during the last year. Brooding grief, together with the fact that both Bub and his wife suffered with cancer, is believed to have affected Bub's mind.

Alexander Oberton, 36, also shot and killed his wife yesterday because, as he told the police, "she was always nagging me for being out of work." Oberton slightly wounded his wife's brother, who had gone to her assistance, and later attempted to hang himself with his suspenders in his cell. He was found unconscious by a turnkey and cut down in time to save his life.

ADMIT PART IN HOLD-UP

By the Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 11.—Police said last night that Gervino Santhes and Frank Rides, of New York, arrested here last night as suspicious characters, have confessed to taking part in the robbery of an alleged gambling house at 6 West 100th street, New York, early Saturday morning, during which one man was killed. Santhes was taken to the Jersey City Hospital for treatment of injuries alleged to have been sustained in jumpin from a window after the robbery.

ELIZABETH DOCTOR AIDS FATAL CRASH INJURED

Two men and a woman were killed and two other women and a man seriously injured when a large touring car turned over in Mount Freedom avenue, Morristown, at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Dr. Walter F. Phelan, of 61 Cherry street, this city, was a witness as he was motoring right behind the ill-fated auto. He gave first aid treatment.

The dead are Lester Greaves, 20, son of former Assemblyman, of 154 Valley street, South Orange; Thomas McF. McGuern, 25, of 45 Hazelwood avenue, Newark, and Miss Mary O'Grady, of South Sixth street, Newark.

The injured are The Misses Margaret and May McDonald, both of 259 South Eighth street, Newark, and Arthur Higgor, a former policeman, of Newark.

Dr. Phelan said to-day that he was returning from a trip to Pennsylvania, and immediately stopped his machine when he found that the car had overturned. After giving treatment to the injured Dr. Phelan called an ambulance from the Memorial Hospital, Morristown, to which institution the injured were taken.

The touring car was being driven quite rapidly at the time of the accident, Dr. Phelan said, and was swerved to the side of the roadway to avoid an oiled stretch of road.

TWO FILIPINOS KILLED IN POWDER EXPLOSION

By the United Press.

MANILA, Aug. 11.—Explosives stored on Talim Island, in the center of Laguna De Bay, blew up yesterday, killing two soldiers of the Philippine constabulary and injuring a number of children in a native village on the island. The explosives were contained in the dynamite magazine of the Bureau of Public Works, and constituted virtually all the high explosives in the islands except those belonging to the United States Government.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined. A hole twelve feet deep was left where the magazine stood.

6,000 G. A. R. VETERANS AT BOSTON CONVENTION

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—With more than 6,000 veterans and as many more enrolled in its allied organizations here, the annual National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic began to organize to-day. Executive details being completed, the first day of the encampment will close with a semi-official gathering in Symphony Hall, where the greetings of State and municipal officials will be extended to the veterans.

The executive boards of the Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans Auxiliary together with their respective credentials committees, spent the morning with routine details. The Women's Relief Corps presented flags to several churches and Boy and Girl Scout organizations.

The afternoon concluded with a patriotic service at the New Old South Church at which Past Commander-in-Chief Corporal James Tanner, of Washington, spoke.

ANN LUTHER TO FINISH STORY OF WHITE'S LOVE

By the United Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 11.—Ann Luther took the witness stand in her suit against Millionaire Jack White for $100,000 for alleged breach of contract again to-day to tell the final chapter of her relations with the Western mining man, who, she said, made love to her in two languages and promised to star her in a series of films.

The film star, who was near collapse when she left the stand at the closing session of last week's hearings on Friday, was refreshed by a week-end on the seashore, her attorneys said.

CHILD'S ARM INJURED PLAYING WITH ANOTHER

AUTOIST FATALLY HURT.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—Frederick Lightfoot, 52, of 824 Market street, Camden, died in the Atlantic City Hospital yesterday afternoon from a fracture of the skull, sustained when his car overturned on the Absecon boulevard Saturday. Lightfoot and James Dean, 51, of 2048 Frederick street, Philadelphia, were on their way to this city when the machine, driven by Lightfoot, skidded and upset. An operation was performed on Lightfoot Saturday night, but he did not rally from the shock. His companion escaped with slight injuries.

BACK SPRAINED.

Frank Picerori, 26 years old, of 843 East Jersey street, sprained his back while carrying a heavy box of groceries Saturday. He was treated at the St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mah Jongg Powerful Aid

China may find one swift pave diconcerting: "But certainly it is not China's to complain. For if a difference in time values is one observation which the triumph of the game Mah Jongg suggests to the half-way philosophic mind, another is the accident of fame. We may yet discover that Mah Jongg has done more for China's prestige in seven months than her statesmen and her all too active soldiers have done in seven years. Prestige is a child of pleasure. It took the Chauve Souris and the Art Theater of Moscow to impress the great American subconsciousness with the fact that all Russians might not carry bombs. Mah Jongg is the first fresh contact with China we have had in twenty years. They tell us that even the coolies in that country are alert enough to play the game. Can a nation that knows when to chow and when to pung, which wind prevails when East Wind loses, whether forty-two is more than sixty-eight if one is doubled seven and the other six, consist entirely of laundrymen and cooks? If Mah Jongg had been discovered a year earlier China might have had American opinion behind her at the Far Eastern Conference in Washington.—New Republic.

AUGUST Furniture Sale

Take Time to Compare

BUYING furniture is a serious proposition with you. A hat lasts only a season. Food is eaten soon, and if you didn't like it you won't buy that kind again. A car may be out of style six months after you buy it. BUT FURNITURE—Furniture is a vital part of every day of your life! Furniture rightly chosen should and does last a LIFETIME!

Then why hurry about it? Why buy in the first store you visit without considering what beauty, what quality, what price may be had elsewhere? We'd like you to buy here of course. But we're more anxious that you come here and compare before you buy. We'd like you to convince yourself that here may be had all that is possible to get in furniture.

We'd like you to compare quality for quality, price for price and (very important) service for service. Then make a decision.

For you will never know what a fine place this is to buy unless you visit us—you will never know how well satisfied you can be with your purchase. In fairness to yourself—

Come, Compare!

"What a Cool, Comfortable Place"

SO spoke one of our Saturday customers. For it is, we think, one of the pleasantest places possible in which to buy. High ceilings, plenty of light, broad aisles with no crowding of furniture, all give an opportunity to really judge the furniture before you buy it.

Budget Plan Helps Everyone

WE'VE noticed lately how many well-to-do business people and professional folk have been taking advantage of this simple method of buying. They prefer this to disturbing their investments. Those in moderate circumstances are doing the same to avoid disturbing their savings.

A Typical August Sale Value

A FOUR-PIECE bedroom suite rivaling anything we have offered in many months. It is of combination walnut in the newest two-tone effect. Consists of the 45-inch dresser, full size bow-end bed, 36-inch chifforobe and 48-inch vanity dresser. At the very low price of $229.50

Social Notes

Those present yesterday at tea at the Elizabeth Town and Country Club were: Miss Jeannette Merrick, Miss Frederika Weeks, Miss Dorothea H. Wingert, Richard F. Green, Alan Bowers, Robert T. Hoyt, Mark Jacobs, R. Mason Kirkland, Orville B. Lamason, C. Barton Muldaur, Jr., Franklin A. McCarthy, Jr., Gerald Priestman, Rufus King Weeks and Norman Parsons, all of Elizabeth; Clifford David, of Orange, Reice Disc of New York; Howard R. Mulford, of Roselle, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vandeventer, of Plainfield.

A "midsummer frolic" was held by a number of children from 5 to 10 years old, on the lawn at the home of Harry Weber, of 451 Orchard street, between 7 and 9 o'clock Friday evening. Miss Elizabeth Beck, a teacher in the 6B Morn school, was the coach and Jean and Betty Weber were in charge of the program. The proceeds, $8.82, were given to the Virginia Asylum. Cake and lemonade were sold.

The program included a Japanese dance by Frances Frank and Mary Carroll, and a special ballet dance by Doris Wolff. Jean and Doris Meier-hoffer gave a duet and Frances Frank excelled in a Russian solo dance. Doris Wolff, in a costume of rose color tulle and old gold, trimmed with artificial flowers, showed unusual ability for toe work in a rose-bud dance. One of the features was a flower dance by five girls. Mary Carroll and Frances Frank were dressed as sunbeams and Betty Weber and Doris and Jean Meier-hoffer were "flowers." The children sang between each number. About forty five friends were present.

The Union county organization of the National Association of Stationary Engineers will go outing to night to the Rahway Waterworks. Members and friends from Elizabeth will leave from the City Hall at 7 o'clock in private cars, and meet the delegations from Roselle and Rahway at the park.

Joseph P. Flynn, the chairman, has arranged the special music for dance tonight, while the swimming pool and playgrounds will be available to all. Assisting Mr. Flynn on the committee are Allen Huelsenbeck, Michael McGarry, N. J. Mooney and W. J. Cocker. Mr. Flynn asks all members who own cars to bring them along.

Leaving from the Recreation Pier at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning aboard the steamer "Onteora," the Junior T. A. B. Society will hold its annual excursion to Undercliff Beach on the Hudson River. The usual large crowd is expected to attend.

A program of entertainment and recreation has been arranged by the committee, which is headed by Kyran Brennen.

Weddings

DIVORCE IS GIVEN TO LINDEN MAN

Absolute Decree Is Allowed Harvey C. Ellis.

Special to the Journal.

TRENTON, Aug. 11.—Harvey C. Ellis, of 404 Hussa street, Linden, has been granted an absolute divorce from his wife, Mrs. Lillian Ellis, of 254 Palisade street, Union Hill, in a decision just handed down by Chancellor Walker.

Ellis named Raymond F. Nichols, of 515 Main street, Union Hill, as corespondent, citing various dates in January last.

The couple have no children. According to the papers filed in Chancery Court, Mrs. Ellis is living with her mother in Union Hill.

Ellis was represented by Attorney Michael H. Feldman, of Elizabeth. City Attorney Joseph T. Hague, of Elizabeth, as special master, was designated by the Chancellor to hear the evidence. Mrs. Ellis did not offer a defense, and the special master recommended that a divorce be given Ellis.

Ellis is an electrical engineer. He is a Past Grand Tall Cedar of Elizabeth Forest No. 6, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, of Elizabeth.

The couple were married July 28, 1921, by Rev. Clement J. Hoyt, at the parsonage of St. James Church, Elizabeth.

SOVIET THANKS CAPITAL

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—The moscow newspapers attribute the renewal of the Anglo-Russian negotiations and their successful conclusion after a temporary breakdown to the important place which Soviet Russian holds with British capitalism.

Declaring that Soviet Russia would never agree to accept loans under conditions similar to those which the allies are imposing on Germany, the editorial newspaper Izvestia added: "there is no need to contrive for schemes like the Dawes plan. We have our own plan, namely the intelligent of delegates from the United States, are attending the International Mathematical Congress, which is here to-day. The conclave is to last since 1920.

AT YOUR DRUGGIST

Many more Michelin Tires are in use than of any other make. They have proved that:

4th They give a new joy to motoring which must be experienced to be appreciated.

AZTEC MARKINGS FOUND ON NEVADA CAVE WALL

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 11.—Discovery of figuring on Aztec characters on the rock wall of a cave in eastern Nevada, near the Lehman Caves National Research, was announced by Dr. R. F. Schoppelle, University of Nevada archae ologist, to day. He described the find as one of the most important of its kind among Western archaeological discoveries of recent times.

The figurings are said to be the first such Aztec characters discovered. Rock writings resembling Egyptian hieroglyphics also were noted by the expert.

Members of the exploration party expressed belief that further investigation would uncover an underground city among the caves and on the banks of an underground river.

WAT FLOOD RELIEF TAX

By the Associated Press.

PERRINS, Aug. 11.—Members of the diplomatic corps here favor a customs surtax to obtain funds for the relief of flood sufferers, as was done for the relief of the famine in 1924. An application for the surtax has been made by the International Famine Relief Commission and it is understood that the foreign office soon will make a formal demand for such a surtax, amounting to ten per cent. of the present customs rate, to be applied for six months.

YOUTHS BENEFIT BY ARMY CAMPS

Military Training Fits Them for Civilian Duties.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—With about 32,000 young men in attendance, Uncle Sam's citizens' military training camps are in full swing at twenty-nine points throughout the country. Obedience to authority, teamwork, personal hygiene and the responsibilities of citizenship are being taught in the courses, the "Basic," "Red," "White," and "Blue." Youths from 17 to 24 years are eligible for training during their first year at camp, if their physical condition warrants. In the other courses, the maximum age is 31 years. The individuals are trained in one of six branches, infantry, coast artillery, field artillery, cavalry, engineers, infantry and signal corps, after they have taken the preliminary course. There are no aviation, quartermaster or hospital courses, as these are in the specialist class.

Uncle Sam furnishes the uniforms, which are turned back to the government at the close of the camp, and pays all expenses of the successful applicants. Medical and dental attendance and laundry are free. No obligation of future service is assumed by the applicant.

The War Department has ascertained, after four years' experience with the camps, that the American youth is somewhat below par physically. He gains on an average of four pounds after a season in a military camp. He passes a higher percentage in the army intelligence test than did the men summoned for service in the World War, but officers point out that sixty per cent. of the boys are students.

Captain C. C. Lowe, who is in charge of "recruiting" for the camps, has approached business men on the subject of getting more industrial workers into training, and many employers are co-operating with the government in allowing an extra two weeks off during the summer to permit eligible employes to take the thirty days' training course.

The Boy Scout movement has been an aid to the camp idea, and former scouts make up an appreciable percentage of the campers.

Uncle Sam is looking forward to training 50,000 boys in thirty camps in 1925. He had 10,000 boys in 1921; 22,000 in 1922 and 25,000 last year as against 32,000 this year.

SEEK STOLEN AUTO.

The police are searching for a Cole automobile, the property of Anthony Hubeny, of 527 Spring street, which was stolen from Frelinghuysen avenue, near Dreamland Park, late Saturday night. Hubeny also reported the theft to the Newark police.

FALLS DOWN STAIRS.

Mrs. Jacob Rokos, of 146 First street, reported to Patrolman Butler Saturday afternoon that her four-year-old daughter, Francis, fell down a flight of stairs in their home but that the child did not appear to be hurt. The patrolman offered to call a doctor, but the mother did not think a physician was needed.

MOONSHINERS ROUTED.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 15 (by mail).—Within a week nature accomplished what a corps of deputy marshals and dry agents failed to do in many months. Two forest fires started by moonshine stills practically annihilated the industry in this region. Forest rangers report that they have come across a dozen stills destroyed by the flames. In some instances the owners barely escaped with their lives.

ADOPT LABOR PACTS.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, July 22 (by mail).—Before the World War and as a result of generations of efforts, only two international labor conventions had been adopted, but since the war sixteen international instruments have been elaborated through the machinery in the international labor office of the League of Nations. The two pre-war conventions covered the questions of night work for women and the use of white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches.

GERMANS SEEK JOBS.

DUSSELDORF, Germany, July 23 (by mail).—German skilled workers are leaving the Fatherland in quest of better luck elsewhere in such alarming numbers that German industry is seriously jeopardized. This is especially true of Ruhr Valley. A conference was recently held here between representatives of the Prussian government and the Rhenish industrials, at which this question was aired.

BAD ROADS IMPROVED.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Oklahoma and South Dakota, two States noted in the past by automobile tourists for their bad roads, are mending their highways with the result that in the future driving through them will be better and easier. Oklahoma announces that 350 miles of hard surfaced roads are being built and the cost of the program, together with bridges, will reach $9,950,000. Financed by seventy per cent. of a motor vehicle license tax and the entire proceeds from a two-cent tax on gasoline, the 6,000 mile trunk highway system of South Dakota, begun in 1919, will be approximately one-fourth completed and gravel surfaced at the close of 1924, under supervision of the State highway commission.

CONSCRIPTS DISCIPLINED

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, July 12 (by mail).—The Japanese army has a special disciplinary corps for dealing with conscripts who fight their compulsory service too bitterly or who show leanings toward Socialistic or radical ideas, according to Lieutenant General Isaei Ugaki, Minister of War, speaking to the House of Representatives recently. General Ugaki did not indicate the methods used, but said the results had been satisfactory.

STATUE COMPLETED.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11.—The statue of Joan of Arc by Fremiet, ordered last January by Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, of this city, to be placed in a park here as a tribute to the French pioneers who helped to settle Oregon, has been completed in Paris at the foundry of F. Barbedienne, famous caster of bronzes, according to information received here. The statue is a full-sized reproduction of the Fremiet statue at the Place des Pyramids in Paris, and, like the original, is finished in gold leaf.

FEDERAL EXPERTS BUSY WITH TESTING RESEARCH

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Demands of private manufacturers of scientific and engineering instruments for the Government's official stamp of approval have resulted in an appeal for additional financial support by the Bureau of Standards, which has just completed the fiscal year with approximately 140,000 tests, more than a hundred fold increase compared with the accomplishments the first year of its existence twenty-two years ago.

Upon the findings of the bureau depend millions of dollars of expenditures in the world of physical science and engineering. While most of the testing is done for the Government, examinations also are made for commercial firms and individuals, more than 40,000 test folders, covering 600,000 such tests, for which a charge is made, having been issued since 1902.

The Government work is given preference, however, and in some cases all testing except that for the Government has had to be refused because the demand exceeds the facilities for doing the work.

ST. WALBURGA'S OUTING COMMITTEE TO MEET

The committee in charge of the outing on August 27 of St. Walburga's Orphanage will meet to-morrow evening to complete details. The trip will be made to Asbury Park by way of the Central Railroad, the special train being scheduled to leave the Broad street station at 8.55 A. M., and Elizabeth avenue at 9.10 A. M. It will return from the shore resort at 8.15 P. M.

PRINTERS WIN FIGHT.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—The Federal Trade Commission approves co-operative cost-finding and cost accounting by the trade association of an important industry, in the publication here to-day of a letter of the United Typothetae of America, International Association of master printers. Simultaneously with its publication, suit brought in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by the association against the Federal Trade Commission was dismissed. The action is regarded in industrial circles as a victory for better business methods and stabilization of industry.

WOMEN'S NEW FALL DRESSES, 25.00

Sizes 36 to 44 Extra Sizes 42½ to 48½

This is more than a special selling of dresses at a lower-than-usual price—it is really an early presentation of models that the smart woman accepts. Here you will find charming interpretations of the straight-line silhouette—a mode that is unusually fetching when the frocks choose, for their very own, such smart fabrics as—

Bengaline Faille Satin and Figured Crepes

Sensible Governor Silzer.

There is nothing left to be desired in the attitude Governor Silzer of New Jersey has taken toward National Defense Day. If the War Department and the President, as head of the army and navy, are given as willing and loyal support of their plan as accorded by the Governor of this State, all concerned ought to be well satisfied.

The proclamation that Governor Silzer has sent out over the State includes a call to the patriotism of citizenship of New Jersey as well as the State military organizations and patriotic organizations. "It is of the highest importance," the Governor says "that the patriotic spirit of our people be maintained and the propaganda of those who would leave us defenseless in an emergency be offset."

"I urge," the Governor writes in his proclamation, "all citizens of military age who are called upon by local committees to indicate their indorsement of the principle of service by assembling for appropriate observance of this day with a local organization of the Regular Army, National Guard or Organized Reserves; and also at that time to pay tribute to the memory of our gallant soldiers who participated in the battle of St. Mihiel. I urge upon all citizens of the State to co-operate with the military authorities and patriotic societies in fittingly carrying out the purpose of the day."

Governor Silzer earns the approbation of every patriotic resident of New Jersey for the broadminded view he has taken of the value of Defense Day, and for his eagerness to cooperate with the authorities at Washington in making the day a test of the preparedness resources of the State.

Not a Doubtful State.

The New York Times sets down New Jersey as a doubtful State this Presidential year. It will require a lot of laughing on the part of the Republican leaders to make it so.

There has been no dissatisfaction heard or seen among Republicans of New Jersey over Calvin Coolidge and the Administration at Washington. There is harmony on the party in so far as the National Administration goes. Where there is discord, it is in the case of Republican officials who are not in accord with the Coolidge policy and program.

On the other hand, there is a lack of harmony in Democratic ranks. The Democrats of New Jersey are disgruntled because Al Smith was not nominated. They may have accepted John W. Davis as a substitute, but are not enthusiastic over him. They are far from being satisfied with the choice of Charles W. Bryan for the second place on the National ticket. It is known that Democrats are saying that they don't give a hang whether or not Bryan ticket wins.

If La Follette makes any remarkable impression on New Jersey it will be to the injury of the Democrats. Some labor votes will go to him, but many more of them will come from the ranks of the Democrats than from those of the Republicans.

It is the opinion of shrewd politicial observers that New Jersey will not have a hard time voting the electoral vote from this State. The New York Times has another guess as to the political status of New Jersey.

What May Happen.

There has been much speculation as to what will happen if the election should be thrown into the House of Representatives. Those who have studied the political complexion of the House are quite convinced that the Democrats will not control it.

The Constitution provides that each State shall have one vote. It will require a majority of all the States to elect. The present complexion of the House is as follows: Delegations in which there is a majority of Republican members, twenty-three; delegations in which there is a majority of Democratic members, twenty-two; delegations in which the Republican and Democrats are equal in number, two.

There is doubt, too, that some of the States that are put down as for one of the old parties might vote for the third party candidate, if he succeeds in making the electoral vote in such St.

If the election should eventually go to the Senate the Republicans have a better chance than in the House. The complexion of the Senate is as follows: Republicans, fifty-one; Democrats, forty-three, and Farmer Labor, two. There is extreme danger, however, that the Republicans would be losing to the radical section of so-called Republicans preferring Brookhart to Butler.

Either in the case of the election being thrown into the House or the Senate there are chances of changes in voting strength being forced by the illness or death of members. The whole situation for the Republicans, however, is promising, if it should happen that Mr. Coolidge does not, as now expected, win a majority of electors.

Shrewd political calculators are confident that the election of President Coolidge is assured. They do not figure that La Follette will win more than three or four States at the best. They do figure that the majority of President Coolidge over the Democratic candidate will be decisive.

There is a very strong undercurrent of sentiment, in the nature of instinct among the voters, that the country will be safe in the hands of the upright, determined man in the White House.

The La Follette Issue.

Some of the political strategists think the best way to handle the La Follette issue is to ignore it. The very best way to handle any imperilling issue in the United States is to get it out into the sunlight where all the people can see it and understand it.

This is the view that the Republican National Committee takes of the situation. La Follette and his visionary views and his motley backing will be fought in every State where there is any chance whatsoever of the Progressives winning electoral votes. The Republicans are going to force the fighting in every State where radical sentiment is at all pronounced.

"Such a course will inevitably give Senator La Follette prominence in the news. Some timid folk deprecate this. They think that the La Follette movement is profiting greatly from the free publicity given to it. Why don't the papers quietly agree not to mention his name, not to print the reports of his committees, not to include news about the third party in the current political gossip? The thing could not be done even if the effort were made to do it. Senator La Follette is in the news, whether we like it or not. The people have a right to know what he is doing and saying. If his claims are absurdly exaggerated, let them be printed just the same, in order that the public may judge. If the danger of his candidacy is real, the more explicitly the truth is published the sooner will the peril be met. In any case, the hush up policy, as applied to Senator La Follette or anybody else active in public life, is not merely a gross mistake—it is absolutely impossible."

The La Follette movement is one that must be met with intelligence and handled vigorously. There are many sound thinking individuals who may be attracted by the personality of the Wisconsin Senator, look on him as a Republican who is trying to reform his party and the country at large. They may forget to look at the radical groups that are back of him and at a record of things advocated that sound thinking voters cannot indorse, for example, his attack on the Supreme Court. The thing to do is to make plain the doctrines he advocates and what would be the effect of putting them in operation. The voters should be informed as to the meaning of the movement.

Outgrown Quarters.

It is significant that the Elizabeth members of the Union County bar have directed an appeal to the Board of Works asking that body to provide more adequate quarters for the Elizabeth District Court.

At the present time the court is housed in the county building. There are some residents of the county, particularly of Elizabeth, it appears, who think the city should provide accommodations for this important court.

At the same time these members of the Union County Bar Association call attention to inadequacy of present quarters of the District Court, they also call attention to the fact that it approximately seventy per cent. of the cases tried in it are brought to or against residents living outside this city. It functions, in some measure, therefore, as a county court.

The important thing about the petition of the lawyers is this, that attention is called to the fact that the present quarters of the court have not been changed or enlarged for more than twenty years, although the population of the county has increased 100 per cent. and the business of the court has increased 100 per cent.

It calls attention to the patent fact that the same conditions prevail throughout the Courthouse building. Those who occupy the building do not believe that the quarters of the District Court are more crowded than those of the departments of the county that are located in the building. Moreover, some of the more important departments are located outside the building.

Davis Meets Smith.

The rumor that there was coldness between the Democratic candidate for President, John W. Davis, and Governor Al Smith has been stilled. They have broken bread and drank from a bottle of White Rock together at a New York hotel. Newspaper reporters saw that some out of the conference appeared in high spirits.

It is said that Governor Smith will refuse, very decidedly, to be a candidate for renomination as Governor of New York. Here in New Jersey a Governor does not have the chance of refusing renomination, since he is barred by the Constitution from holding that office for three years next after his term of service shall have expired." In New York it is different.

But Governor Smith is reported to be ready to take the stump for Mr. Davis and the Democratic ticket. That would be advantageous, as it would give the country a chance to get better acquainted with him, and might forward his chances for being nominated by the Democrats for the Presidency at some future time.

This indicates that Governor Smith has his look up over what happened to him in the recent convention of his party, and is not going to let go until he has his chance to be some President.

It is believed, however, that Governor Smith would not refuse to run for Governor again in New York, if the Hylan boom takes shape to an extent to be at all menacing to the Democratic party. The Democrats of New York, it is very well understood, do not want Hylan for Governor.

It sounds unreasonable, but if you travel far enough in the open you'll get to where you can't smell hot dogs.

By the Way

Dirt.

One thing we'll never conquer is dirt. Dusting, clothes washing, body bathing, machinery cleaning, floor scraping, street scraping—all these are by products of civilization and will last as long as civilization.

The very existence of dirt and dust makes it certain that man will always have to work. The soap industry furnishes figures illustrating how dirt keeps us busting. Americans this year will make 2,500 million cakes of soap. Our lazy ancestors invented perfumes so they wouldn't have to use so much soap.

Bible.

The Bible continues to be the world's best seller. Over seven million copies were distributed in 1923 by the American Bible Society. This was a gain of two and a half million copies over the year before, and reflects the stimulation of interest in religion.

It is so popular that the largest hotel in New York has to order a new supply for its guest rooms every four months to replace stolen copies.

Roads.

Better roads and more of them are constantly being made available to the motor tourist. Fourteen thousand miles of highway, built with Federal aid Uncle Sam's financial help, are now under construction, to cost 262 million dollars.

More than twice that much has been appropriated since the Federal aid road act became law in 1916.

It's for wiser to build for lasting ness rather than mileage. A considerable part of our roads wear out so fast, it's like pouring public money down the sewer.

Facts of Interest

Michigan owns about 600,000 acres of forest land.

Minnesota owns about half a million acres of virgin timber.

The present National forests of the United States cannot turn out more than a fifth of the lumber we use annually.

About 1,700 big concerns own over 200,000,000 acres of forests in this country.

Of the 200,000,000 acres of forest land in the Eastern United States, about three per cent. is State owned.

CLUB DES CENT.

A FEW years ago a club was founded in France called the Club des Cent, which, as its name shows, had a membership strictly limited to one hundred, and was devoted to keeping up the tradition of French cooking and encouraging good hotel keeping.

This organization has, since its foundation, undertaken a regular survey of France and it is reckoned that each of its members has already traveled, by motor car, twenty-five thousand miles in search of good and comfortable inns.

In fact the Club des Cent is not only ready to patronize palaces and good-class hotels, but also the most modest village inn, provided it is scrupulously clean and provided also that the cooking is good.

Some of the mottoes of the club are worth looking over. They are:

"Hotel keepers, give us good attendance and you will become rich. Give us bad attendance and it will be the worse for you."

"Coffee made in advance is but bad coffee."

"Keep your cheese under a glass cover. Feed your guests, not the flies."

"No chemical extracts in cooking. In the preparation of meals the Club des Cent knows no other factory than the kitchen."

Every year this club awards two gold medals to the chefs and cooks who, after searching inquiry, have proved worthy of such a distinction.

Some while ago a group of members of this club went on a mission to the United States. They traveled on the French Line, or what is known as the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. They found the cooking on these ships admirable, and that French culinary traditions were observed, and that on the two boats, the Paris and the France, the chefs were real gastronomic artists.

This year the Club des Cent awarded its gold medals to M. Jean Leer, chef of the France, and M. Jean Lindauer, chef of the Paris. These medals were presented to their recipients at a breakfast, or luncheon given on board the France, when M. J. dal Piaz, the president of the great French shipping company, presided, and when the members of the Club des Cent and their friends gathered in force to do homage to these chefs who had so successfully initiated many travelers into the delights of real old fashioned French cooking.

The French are traditionally the best cooks in the world and it is but right that some organization should get behind this tradition and give it furtherance.

OUR CHILDREN.

By ANGELO PATRI.

HANDS OFF.

WHEN people first discovered their hands it was in order to reach out and take something they wanted. That instinct persists to a remarkable degree to-day, and I am willing to risk being called a prophet just to state that I believe it is always going to persist as long as folks are folks. And no harm done at that, if we will only use a little discretion in the reaching.

For instance, in the matter of handling children. It is most natural for one of us to want to out to touch and take the child who comes near to us. Children are very lovely and their appeal is irresistible, but that is no excuse for our putting our hands upon them. We have but to reflect for an instant to remember that our instinct rebels against any one's placing hands upon us. Children have the very same instinct. Most of them shrink from being touched, especially by a stranger.

But in spite of the child's very evident reluctance we persist in picking him up and seating him upon our laps and cuddling him and stroking his hair and chucking him under the chin and tickling him and otherwise maltreating him, until he screams aloud, when we hasten to crown our offense by smothering his remonstrance with kisses. Isn't it shameful?

A child has a personality and a dignity all his own and it ought to be respected. If it isn't, things are bound to be unpleasant for everybody concerned. The child has an outburst of temper or hysterics and he is either punished or pampered toward his further undoing. Left to himself he would undoubtedly have gone on his way, showing inconsequent such things as temper or nerves.

Kissing and cuddling little children constitute one way by which infectious diseases are carried to them. People coming from the cars and the shops and the crowded streets pick up a tender, unguarded little one and inoculate him with kisses. Any grown person should know better than that, but some folk seem to find it hard to understand.

While the interruptions are hard on the child and the shocks resultant from his struggles for freedom are very wearing; while the danger from contagion is serious; the gradual breaking down of his personality is appalling. Nothing that endangers a child's personal pride to himself and his power should ever touch him. Laying unwelcome hands upon him threatens his inherent self-respect and dignity, and his mother is well within her duty when she objects to any form of it.

Shouldn't he be loved and cuddled? Of course. He needs to be played with and patted and stroked and squeezed and all the rest of it, but you will find he is waiting for it when he wants it. He will hold out his hands to mother or father or some dearly loved friend like grandfather or Nana. That's just the idea. Keep hands off the children until they ask for the caress. Then it feeds their souls and both of you will make their day glad with love. Which is as it ought to be.

To-day's Talk.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

ON SWALLOWING.

LONG before I understood what it was all about there was deep interest to me in the food I ate after it had been swallowed. I wondered just how it was cared for and just how the body absorbed it.

I have since learned much of the process of digestion and the wonderful way in which our Creator arranged every detail so that even our blunders of eating might be straightened out, and no lasting harm come to the body.

The process of swallowing means so much because it is the beginning of great things of growth that I like to think of swallowing a different way.

Swallowing disappointment for instance.

All of us have to do it at some time or other. But here again the process of digestion does its service. Disappointment comes. We swallow it, regret it, and keep trying not to "make a face" over it. Later on we find that instead of doing us harm and working ill to our happiness that in reality we have been made stronger, more fit, and better able to face life at its best and at its worst.

It is a good thing that we cannot see very far ahead. Wouldn't we worry our heads to pieces though, if we could!

To be honest and kind and brave, to take the days as they come and fill them with the best of what we are capable, to reflect upon the acts of our past but without regrets for all the mistakes we have made, to take a stoic stand and weather life in all its modes and moods, to forgive all wrongs, both intentional and unintentional, to fight on happily and gladly—and then to swallow the rest—those are the steps of life that lead us to contented night-falls.

After the disappointment, or blunder, or regret, or whatever it is, has been swallowed, then the process of digestion begins in earnest and then a man or woman is made!

THE SUMMER COTTAGE.

I sing the summer cottage by the lake,
Which parents suffer for the children's sake—
A little shack 'neath summer's azure skies,

At seems to know that it was built for fun;
No serious care its workmanship bespeaks—
'Tis only when it rains it ever leaks.

There is a welcome at its kindly door,
Used weekly by a dozen friends or more;
The host, kept busy gathering meat and fruits,

Fresh vegetables—this is the tale we tell—
But we who live these summer cottage days
Find beets and onions all they ever raise.

Here one may feast his eyes on lovely scenes
And feed himself on salmon and sardines.

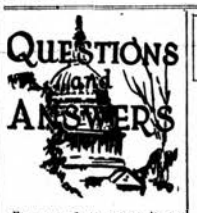

I sing the summer cottage by the lake,
Which parents suffer for the children's sake;
Here with a smile discomforts grim we bear,

THE POWERFUL KATZINKA AND AUNT SOPHRONY WINKLE HAVE BEEN APPOINTED SPECIAL OFFICERS TO STOP "THEM CITY WIMMIN" FROM SWIMMING IN MILLER'S POND IN THOSE "ONE PIECERS."

You can get an answer to any question of fact or information by writing to the Question Editor, Elizabeth Daily Journal, Washington Bureau, 1322 N.Y. avenue, Washington, D. C., inclosing two cents in stamps for reply. Medical, legal, and marital advice cannot be given, nor can we do research be undertaken. All other questions will receive a personal reply. Unsigned requests can not be answered. All letters are confidential.—The Editor.

Q. Are fish found in great depths of the ocean very strongly built to resist the great pressure at such depths?

A. No, on the contrary, their bony and muscular systems are feebly developed. Pressure at great depths is great, but it acts not only inside as well as outside the fish, but inside and outside each cell of the fish as well, and there is no more tendency for the fish to be crushed than for a human body to be crushed on the earth by the fifteen pounds per square inch (at sea level) on the earth are subjected to. Deep sea fish are adapted to the pressures which they must stand.

Q. Are sponges plants or animals?

A. Animals; one of the lowest forms of animal life.

Q. What does E Pluribus Unum mean and when did the U. S. Government adopt it?

A. It is Latin, meaning, "from one." It was the device of the first government originated in the design for the Great Seal of the U. S. submitted by Adams, Franklin, and Jefferson, in 1776.

Q. When and how should Columbine seeds be planted?

A. Just about the first part of August. They should be wintered in cold frames and set out in the spring in a permanent location. They should bloom the first year, usually in June. The soil should be kept moist on top until the young plants come through. The seeds should be planted at least ¼ inch deep.

Q. Fire of a kind.

Q. What is a good recipe for spiced currants?

A. Seven pounds of currants, 5 pounds of brown sugar, 3 tablespoonfuls cinnamon, 3 tablespoonfuls cloves, 1 pint vinegar. Pick over currants, wash, drain, and remove stems. Put in a preserving kettle, add sugar, vinegar and spices tied in a piece of muslin. Heat to boiling point and cook slowly one and a half hours. Store in a stone jar, and, keep in a cool place.

Q. What is the present annual immigration quota from Germany?

A. 51,227, of which not more than 10% can be admitted in any one month.

Q. How many women farmers are there in the United States?

A. According to the census of 1920, 231,719.

Q. How long after desertion is a deserter from the U. S. Army subject to arrest?

A. Three years, if he deserted in time of peace. If he deserted in time of war, he is always subject to arrest.

Q. How can moles be controlled?

A. By placing teaspoonful quantities of concentrated lye in their runways at 25 and 50 foot intervals.

Q. What does Scotch-Irish mean?

A. This denotes the people of Lowland Scotch descent inhabiting northern Ireland, especially descendants of the Scottish Presbyterians who settled in Ulster in the Seventeenth century; also, it is used to designate emigrants or descendants of these people in America and elsewhere.

Q. In a game of draw poker you hold the joker wild, what is the highest hand?

A. Five of a kind.

Q. Who wrote the poem "Where the West Begins"?

A. Arthur Chapman.

Q. Is calcium lactate used in medicine, if so, for what?

A. Yes, it is particularly valuable for supplying lime to the system.

Q. Have aviators ever flown as high as the height of Mt. Everest?

A. Mt. Everest is 29,002 feet in height and man has flown to a height of 36,555 feet.

Q. What is the largest producing gold mine of the United States?

A. Home Stake Mine, Lead, South Dakota.

Q. How old was Cleopatra when she died?

A. Between 38 and 40—according to some historians. Her exact age is not known.

Q. Are there any libraries especially for negroes?

A. Yes, quite a number of them. The most important one is the Western Branch, Louisville, Ky.

Q. Can I bring my brother from Poland as a relative who has preference under the immigration law, or does he come within the quota?

A. He comes within the quota, or does not have preference either as to non-quota or preference within quota immigrant.

ADVERTISING.

MY bus wasn't doing as well as it should; the works weren't clicking right, under the hood; mechanics would tinker around it and curse; they made the air pinker and made the car worn. Grown tired of the acres of grief and expense, I wrote to the makers in language intense, "There is no devising," I said, in my note, "a worse advertising, for you, than my boat. "As expert we're sending," they wired me that day, "you'll soon find that mending your sumptuous dray." He came with his spanner, his crowbar and drill, his Chesterfield manner, and oodles of skill. And when he had finished, in three hours or two, the knock was diminished, the piston rang true. And here is my dwelling at all through the grad, my neighbors I'm telling of service I had. "My grief was titanic," I often have said; "they sent a mechanic, nor charged me a red." No ad can rank higher in value, I trow, than praise from a buyer of service he's seen. Now business is failing for Yapper & Young, for Jimpson is wailing of how he was stung. They sold him a chisel, and said it was fine, and it proved a finale, the blade out of line. And Jimpson is roasting this firm in his talks, the letters he's posting are loaded with knocks. And people, on hearing the taunts from Lis tongue, quite widely are steering from Yapper & Young.

EIGHT PERSONS INJURED AS CAR RAMS INTO POLE

By the Associated Press.

PATERSON, Aug. 11.—Four of eight occupants of a big touring car that crashed into a pole at Pompton Lakes last night, are in Paterson hospitals suffering with fractures of the skull. They are Angelo Stabile, of Brooklyn; Thomas Titus, of North Bergen; Julius Tartelo, of West Hoboken; Thomas Arienello, of Pompton Lake.

The driver of the car, Peter Bi[illegible], of West Hoboken, is also in a serious condition with internal injuries, and Frederick Cannella, Paterson, is suffering from shock and bruises. Domenico Tartelo, 10, and Joseph Mastaccio, were slightly injured. Bigoni lost control of the car on a hill and it skidded 100 feet before crashing into the pole.

HEAD WOUNDS PUZZLE AFTER POOLROOM ROW

By the Associated Press.

PATERSON, Aug. 11.—Luigi Monte, 34, is in the General Hospital here with two wounds in his head, each the size of a half dollar. He is conscious though his skull is fractured. He says he does not know what happened. Police arrested Michael A. Bellafiol, 55, owner of a poolroom, who admits firing four shots at Monte after he had hurled a chair through the poolroom window.

Hospital doctors said they are unable to say that Monte's wounds were caused by shots.

CATHOLICS MAY EAT MEAT NEXT FRIDAY

Catholics will be allowed by church to eat meat on Friday next. A dispensation a few years ago was granted to all Catholics when a feast day falls on a Friday and on August 15 is the Feast of the Assumption the privilege of omitting the usual restriction may be exercised. Announcement to this effect was made to the masses in Elizabeth Catholic churches yesterday. Thursday, however, is a fast day, a day on which the use of flesh meat is forbidden. The Feast of the Assumption always is observed August 15. It commemorates the assumption of the Virgin Mary into Heaven.

SWIMMER'S HEART FAILS

By the Associated Press.

FORT LEE, Aug. 11.—Charles Clausen, 32, of Charleston, S. C., drowned in New York, was seized with heart failure yesterday in Palisades amusement park pool, and sank before aid could reach him. Physicians who examined the body said they found no water in the lungs.

Of No Value.

AUTO ROUND-UP NETS $493 FINES

Warrants for Trio Who Ignored Summonses.

Fines of $493 were collected in Police Court Saturday by Judge Brown following the arraignment of motorists caught in the round-up last Monday night by State Motor Vehicle Inspectors. Two men ignored the summonses which had been issued.

James J. Stanley, inspector in charge, caused warrants to be issued for John Vergo, of 505 Chestnut street, Roselle, and Albert C. Kelly, of 704 Chestnut street, Roselle, who were absent.

Stanley granted postponements to seven defendants who, for lawful reasons, were unable to appear and asked for other dates. They will be given hearings August 18. Louis Isiuk, of Brooklyn, was granted a continuance until August 11, the police meanwhile holding his Ford car as security because he resides outside of the State.

Those who will appear on August 18 are Gus Reider, of 849 Magnolia avenue; Abraham Schwartzman, of 1053 North avenue; William C. Wittman, of 8 Miller street; Eugene Bauman, of 416 Livingston street; Howard Rathgel, of 447 Broadway, and Walter Sullivan, of 25 Spencer street.

The fines ranged from $4 to $50. Those assessed $50 were Samuel Rothberg, of 700 Grier avenue; Wilbur Meise, of 300 South Broad street, and Alfred Klug, of 1450 Catherine street; all having driven without having obtained licenses, and George Allinger, of 522 Union avenue, Cranford; Joseph Krejick, of 230 Galloping Hill road, Roselle Park, and Walter Horn, of 65 South Thirteenth street, Newark, for permitting unlicensed persons to drive their cars.

The court first took up the minor infractions, such as illegal lights and obscure license plates. Those drivers were arraigned in groups. Those charged with operating cars without licenses were arraigned individually. Where the offender had a license, but had left it home by accident the court issued a warning and granted a suspended sentence. Some given suspended sentences were Carmen Gallaschio, of 639 Fourth avenue; Ernest Ishagen, of 520 East Jersey street; Walter Kunnitsoff, of 130 Fifth street; Tony Leo, of 903 Fourth avenue; Miss Anna Gentile, of 660 Van Buren avenue; Theodore Yeerger, of 35 Prospect street; Miss Dora Pingis, of Edgar road, Linden; Karl Dornfield, of 945 Madison avenue; Anthony Wasilewski, of 614 Walnut street, Roselle; John G. Hart, of 107 West Twenty-first street, New York City; Hyman Woodstein, of 324 Bond street; Edward Johnson, 1151 Broad street, Newark, and Thomas Cenis, of 522 Grier avenue.

Emil Fess, of 250 Pine street, was fined $25 for loaning his license to Tony Leo, of 905 Fourth avenue. Both men are jitney drivers and when Leo was approached by the inspectors and found to have no license, Fernat is alleged to have slipped him his card. Leo was given a suspended sentence.

WARDROBE KILLS NEGRO

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—Struck squarely on the head by a heavy wardrobe which fell as it was being hoisted in a second-story window, Carlos Young, 44, negro, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon, his skull being fractured by the blow. Young and his brother, Joseph, were hoisting the wardrobe from the ground with a light clothesline. When it had reached about half the desired height, the rope broke and Young, who was directly underneath, could not jump away quickly enough to avoid being hit.

INVITE SILZER TO PARK

By the Associated Press.

NORTH BERGEN, Aug. 11.—Governor George S. Silzer is expected to be the guest of honor to-morrow at the concluding exercises in Schoenen Park in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Platt Deutsch Volk Fest Verein. The anniversary celebration began yesterday.

LIGHTNING KILLS MAN.

By the Associated Press.

UNION HILL, Aug. 11.—Christian Hegney, 28, of Hackensack, was instantly killed by lightning while standing under a tree at Bloom and Jefferson avenues, during Saturday night's storm. Although scores of pedestrians were nearby Hegney was the only one injured by the bolt.

KILLED BY FATHER'S CAR

By the Associated Press.

MILBURN, Aug. 11.—Dorothy Shyiester, aged 17 months, died yesterday from injuries sustained when she was run over by her father's car as he was backing it out of the garage. The rear wheel passed over the child's head.

MOTORIST GIVEN SAFETY FACT

First aid to the uninjured is safety. Safety is the best preventative of accidents. But the most common form of first aid is the dressing of wounds to prevent infection, and the treatment of fractures and sprains in order to save a patient until the doctor arrives.

First aid is an important factor in every automobile camper's trip. He should make provisions for such help in advance to himself and to those who are traveling with him by providing himself with a complete first aid kit before starting on a trip. He should know how to use the articles included in the kit. The directions on the kit will tell how to take care of this particular feature of first aid work.

Probably the greatest number of minor injuries which automobile campers suffer from may be classed as cuts, scratches and bruises. Any wound whether it be made by a needle or a nail, by the bite of geese or by a butcher knife, by a tin can or a drinking glass, must be treated immediately.

Cover the wound with five per cent. solution of tincture of iodine and bandage fast (no tight) in sterilized gauze. Remember, first of all, that infections are dangerous and, in some cases, deadly. Secondly, remember that every cut, bruise or scratch is a potential infection if not attended to properly. If a cut, scratch or bruise is washed and treated with an antiseptic, kept clean and allowed to heal, there will be absolutely no danger of infection. Incidentally, remember that nature is the best healer of all and do not use drugs or other medicinal preparations to speed up the healing process.

Woodhull's

Yes, Indeed, There's a Lot of Good News!

For one thing market reports have taken a more cheerful tone. That extra dividend on Steel has a good old fashioned prosperous sound. Agriculture, the basis of all prosperity, is having something of a boom so now instead of the presidential candidates helping the farmer, the farmer will have to help the presidential candidates. But the best and surest sound of prosperity and sound conditions in this city is the old fashioned response that is coming to this Annual Discount Sale. Breaking records now is an every day occurrence—because the goods that people want are here and the prices all are less than they usually sell for. Better see what this Sale has in it for you.

CHURCH WEDDING COLORFUL AFFAIR

Rahway Couple Have An Elaborate Ceremony.

Special to the Journal.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—With the hues of the rainbow reflected in the gowns of the bridal party the most elaborate wedding of the season took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Mary's Church where Miss Mary C. Sammarco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vito Sammarco, of 190 Main street, became the bride of Fernando R. Cherubini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cherubini, of 10 Ludlow street. The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was performed by Rev. M. J. Boylon.

To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," played by Sister Sebastian, the bridal party proceeded down the center aisle of the church to the altar. Miss Rose Teti, of New York, was maid of honor, while there were five bridesmaids, including Miss Rose Cherubini, a sister of the bride, of this city; Miss Grace Bangor, of Carteret; Miss Helen Goerke, of Carteret; Miss Regina Valvecchio, of Fanwood; Miss Theresa DeStefano, of New Dover; best man, John DeStefano, of New Dover; flower girls, Eleanor and Lucy DeStefano, sisters of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Rodoquino, of this city; ushers, Carmen Sammarco, brother of the bride; Pompeo Cherubini, brother of the bridegroom; Frank Corrado, Elmido Giannechini, and Louis Trappa, all of this city.

During the ceremony Edward J. Heinle, of Irvington, sang "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning" and "O, Promise Me."

The bride was becomingly gowned in Roman crepe, with flounced sides and ornamented with steel beads. She wore a crown of pearls and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The rainbow hues of the gowns in the bridal party made a most attractive setting for the ceremony. Miss Teti appeared in Nile green, while Miss Cherubini was attired in peach, Miss Bangor in blue, Miss Goerke in pink, Miss Calvacchi in pale yellow and Miss DeStefano in orchid. The flower girls were in white with pink sashes. They carried baskets of flowers. The bridesmaids wore georgette and carried flowers to match their gowns.

After the wedding at the church the members of the bridal party went to Elizabeth and were photographed, after which they returned to Evans hall in this city where a civil ceremony was performed by Mayor Frank L. Foulks, after which a brilliant reception was held. Music was furnished by the Silver Tone Six, of which the bride's brother, Carmen Sammarco, is a member. Dancing was enjoyed and an abundance of refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Cherubini left for a trip to Atlantic City. Upon their return they will reside at 190 Main street.

They received a large number of valuable gifts, including silverware, cut glo furniture, linen, china, clocks, and many other useful articles. Among the gifts was a large floor lamp from the Newark Electrical Supply Company by whom the bride was formerly employed. The bridegroom's gift to the best man was a white gold penknife, while the ushers also received gold penknives. The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a gold locket, while the bridesmaids received gold bar pins and the flower girls also received gold pins.

The hall and the table of the bride were artistically decorated in pink and white.

Among the invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Comdi, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cittadino, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Margott and family, Anthony Fazio, of Utica, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Sammarco, Roselle, N. J.; Miss Cecilia Piccinoeri, Pittsfield, Mass.; James Carricola, Mr. and Mrs. John Tarchini, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Teti, Miss Rose Teti, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raffeo, Joseph Umbro, of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. John Teti, Mr. and Mrs. Max Lewin, Long Branch; Miss Theresa Maitel, Raritan, Miss Myrtle Williamson, Charles W. Crane, Somerset.

Miss Gertrude Glasser, Miss Veronica Ferris, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson, Miss Margaret Voorhees, Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, Jr., Newark; Sister Assunta, New Brunswick; Mrs. Jessie Heinle, Edward Heinle, Irvington; Miss Catherine Mannery, Miss Margaret Dunn, Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. Frank John, Mr. and Mrs. H. EVANS-RICHARD.

Trenton Man Weds Rahway Girl at Home Ceremony.

Special to the Journal.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—One of the most attractive of the midsummer weddings took place Saturday night at 7 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Richards, of 19 Hazelglen, when their daughter, Miss Anna L. Richards, and John Ward Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith O. Evans, of Trenton, were married by Rev. E. J. Symons, of Manitowoc, Wis., an uncle of the bride.

As the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin were played by Miss Mildred Evans, sister of the bridegroom, the bridal party assumed their places beneath a bower of bells, surrounded by a profusion of floral beauty in which yellow and white predominated. The bridesmaid was Miss Hazel Richards, a sister of the bride, while the best man was Dewi Evans, of Trenton, a brother of the bridegroom. The ribbon bearers were Miss Mildred Evans and Edward Richards, of Elizabeth, and the ring bearer, Miss Grace Richards, of Elizabeth, all three being nieces of the bride.

The bride was attractively attired in white crepe, with over lace, wore a veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet. The bridesmaid was dressed in yellow crepe de chine and carried flowers to match her gown. The ribbon and ring bearers wore white dresses.

After the ceremony a dinner was served, a reception held for immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will have their wedding trip at a later date because of the business activity of Mr. Evans' position. They made a short trip over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will occupy their newly furnished home at 101 Second street, Bound Brook.

Mrs. Evans is a member of Trinity Methodist Church, Epworth League, choir and various other church organizations. Mr. Evans is a civil engineer in the employ of the State Highway Department and is a member of the Prospect Presbyterian Church, Trenton.

Invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Griffith O. Evans, Dewi and Owen Evans, of Trenton; Miss Mildred Evans, Bradley Beach; Mr. and Mrs. George Glasson, Miss Helen Glasson, of Irvington; Mrs. Dora Hoag, Miss Viola Hoag, Bradley Beach; Rev. E. J. Symons, Miss Dorothy Symons, Manitowoc, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Richards, the Misses Eleanor Frances, Grace and Jean Richards, of Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Richards, the Misses Ann and Henrietta Richards, of this city.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

For alleged disorderly conduct at the municipal swimming pool late yesterday afternoon, Arthur Meise, 25 years of old, of 500 Scott Road extension, and George Starr, 24, of 816 Washington place, Elizabeth, were arrested by Detective Sergeant James Thompson, Motorcycle Officer George McIntyre, Patrolman Paul Mancuso and Special Officer John O'Donnell. According to Water Engineer David Gage they were creating a general disturbance. They will be arraigned in Police Court to-morrow afternoon. Mr. Gage says he will ask Major Frank L. Foulks for more effective police protection for the municipal swimming pool, or else he will close the place.

Two or three times over the week-end Detective Sergeant James Thompson was summoned to Union place to quell disturbances in which Mrs. Frieda Kuberski is alleged to have figured. In one of these one of her children, about 4 years old, was hit with a hatchet and painfully injured on the side of the head. Bricks, bottles and an iron pipe figured in the melee and some of these are at police headquarters as evidence for Police Court hearing to-morrow. Mrs. Kuberski was in court as complainant two weeks ago, but the case was dismissed.

Jefferson Beiley, colored, who bounced a brick on the head of Joseph Barber, colored, employee living at the Pennsylvania Railroad camp, was captured to-day by Railroad Detectives Comuale and Bodine when he returned to collect pay due him. Bailey's case was adjourned one week in Police Court because Barber was not present to press the complaint. Bailey then fled to Bridgeton, but is said, returning to-day for money due him.

VISITING PASTOR HEARD.

Rev. W. P. Chase, of Livingston, occupied the First Presbyterian pulpit Sunday morning at the union service with the First Baptists and gave a rousing discourse on "Personal Contact With Jesus." His words were effective and contained much spiritual vitality. The musical feature was a fine solo, "Hold Thou My Hand," Briggs, sung by Miss Freda Seirs. The mid-week prayer meeting will be in charge of Elder I. W. Story and "The House of Prayer" will be the topic. On Wednesday evening, August 20, Jesse Lounsbury will speak on Camp Endeavor and show pictures of the C. E. county fresh air camp. Miss Helen Squier will be in charge of the meeting. The preaching service for the next three Sundays will be held at the First Baptist Church, the First Presbyterians uniting.

"Hello, Tom, off for vacation?"
"No—just come back."
"Feel any change?"
"Not a blame cent."—Boston Transcript.

EXEMPTS WANT BENEFIT CHANGE

Charge Death Payments Are Not Equitable.

Special to the Journal.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—With fully 150 delegates present a lively quarterly session of the Association of Exempt Firemen of the Fifth Congressional District, Union and Morris counties, was held at the headquarters of the Rahway Exempt Firemen's Association in Main street yesterday afternoon. The chief topic of discussion was the death benefit payment by the State Firemen's Association. In addresses made it was claimed that discrimination had been made in the past and it was the general sentiment of the meeting that all should be served alike. With this object in view the Union and Morris Association will go to the State convention at Atlantic City in September with the avowed determination of eliminating the alleged discriminatory features and place the payments on an equitable basis.

Speeches dealing with various phases of this matter were made by President John S. Anderson, of Belvidere, head of the State Exempts' Association; First Vice-president Captain William T. Cox, of Elizabeth; Second Vice-president Charles Vreeland, of Dover, who is also president of the Union and Morris Association; Charles Schaefer, of this city, secretary-treasurer of the latter body; Secretary E. C. Passaser, of Clifton; Thomas Butler, Roselle Park; George Squier, Elizabeth; Vice-president Isaac Seeley, of Westfield, and Union and Morris Association, and others. Secretary Joseph V. Baker, Dover municipal clerk, and Treasurer William A. Hendrickson, of Roselle Park, were other officials present.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Sterling on Sunday, November 9. There are sixteen organizations in the Union and Morris Association, including Boonton, Dover, Elizabeth, Madison, Mountainside, New Providence, Rahway, Rockaway, Roselle, Roselle Park, Sterling, Summit, Union, Vauxhall, Westfield and Wharton. There are nine organizations in these two counties not affiliated with the association.

The Rahway Exempts provided a bountiful dinner for the visiting delegates, their hospitality being warmly commanded by the visitors. The dinner was served by Patrick O'Donnell, while the arrangements were in charge of a committee consisting of Charles Schaefer, chairman, William Cornelius, George Heimstadter, George Pinfield, Charles Post, C. William Mintel, Charles Dumbach, DeWitt C. Foulks and President William A. Godfrey.

BALL GROUNDS DESERTED.

When Chief of Police John A. Smith went to the West End baseball grounds yesterday to make further investigation into the baseball game preparatory to again reporting to Mayor Frank L. Foulks about the noise, against which a petition was received by the City Commissioners, he found that the game slated between the Cardinals and Rovers, of Elizabeth, had been cancelled. His further investigation of Sunday baseball now awaits the playing of the next game.

RAHWAY BREVITIES.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. McCormuck, formerly of this city, now of Newark, are visiting for the month at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, Esterbrook avenue, who have gone on a western trip for four weeks. Mr. McCormick is field-parole officer for the State Department of Institutions and Agencies. He formerly resided here and is receiving a warm welcome from his many friends.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HAVE BIG OUTING

Garwood and Linden Groups Go to Raritan.

Special to the Journal.

GARWOOD, Aug. 11.—The Sunday schools of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, of Garwood, and Grace Episcopal Church, of Linden, held their annual picnic to Duke's Park, at Raritan, Saturday. The trip was made in automobiles and buses, leaving the church in Locust avenue, west, at 8 A. M. More than 150 enjoyed the outing, eighty-five going from here and seventy-five from Linden.

Fourteen cars carried the Garwood picnickers and five cars and a big auto truck carried those from Linden. Upon arriving at the park tents were pitched near the dam as dressing rooms for the bathers and the children and grown-ups all enjoyed a swim. Watermelon, hot dogs and ice cream was provided for the picnickers.

There was a heavy shower at 5 P. M., but the majority got under cover in the cars.

G. O. P. CLUB NETS $400.

The Garwood Republican Club netted $400 as its share of the receipts of Matt J. Rielly's Shows which exhibited here last week. The heavy shower of Saturday night practically spoiled the performances for the week. The outfit left yesterday for Port Reading, where it will show this week.

GARWOOD PARAGRAPHS.

The monthly meeting for the payment of dues will be held by the Garwood Building and Loan Association this evening in the Borough Hall. The directors' business meeting will be held to-morrow night.

Policeman Johnston Brewer and family and Miss Edith Miller, spent the week end at Sargentsville.

Mrs. Joseph Braun, of Spruce avenue, has returned from a visit in Connecticut.

Roselle Park

HOME BUILDERS APPRECIATE AID

Scotch Plains B. & L. Has Record Growth in Year.

Special to the Journal.

SCOTCH PLAINS, Aug. 11.—The phenomenal success of the Fanwood and Scotch Plains Building and Loan Association, which was founded two years ago, is shown in its second annual report, recently prepared.

The association was formed two years ago for the purpose of encouraging home building of the right sort. It favored new construction and the granting of money on such loans. It has been conservatively managed with little overhead expense and at the present time many new homes are being erected here with its funds. The main purpose and aim of the association is "To Help Folks to Help Themselves," and this motto has been carefully followed out in all the dealings of the organization.

The total receipts of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, were $43,628.94. The total disbursements during the same period were $43,628.94. The condition of the association at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1924, is: Assets, $63,904.25; liabilities, $63,-904.25.

The number of shares given out in the first series was 982; paid in per share, $24; profit per share, $2.80; book value, $26.80. The total number of shares out now is 2,579; total dues paid in, $47,070; total profit per series, $4,824.10.

The officers of the association are as follows: President, Alexander Muir; first vice-president, Charles Sheelen; second vice-president, Frank B. Weldon; treasurer, Henry Kaufmann; secretary, Edward R. Hatfield; counsel, Peter J. McDonough, Jr.; directors, George K. Badger, Thomas F. Barrett, Charles Roberts; directors, term expiring 1925, George H. Staples, George H. Johnston, Henry Kaufmann and Henry C. Meyer; directors, term expiring 1926, Frank E. Weldon, Alexander Muir, Edward R. Hatfield, Charles Sheelen; directors, term expiring 1927, Edgar C. Markham, Robert N. Earl, John Z. Hatfield, Samuel B. Macaulay.

ON LONG AUTO TRIP.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles B. Livingston, and son Harold, all of San Antonio, Tex., arrived here in a Ford automobile Saturday afternoon, having been on the road since May. Mrs. Livingston is a daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Wade, of Scotch plains. Rev. Mr. Livingston is a Methodist Episcopal clergyman. He will remain in the North. On their way North the family drove through Texas to New Mexico, and thence through Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The only engine trouble they had was while they were in Nebraska.

BREVITIES.

The fire department put out a fire which ignited a pile of sawdust near the Twin Falls Mills about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The young people of the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church will go to Dreamland Park, Newark, to-night, by auto.

The official board of the First Methodist Church will meet Tuesday night.

Alexander Muir visited Camp Kilmer, near Metuchen, N. J., on Saturday, where his son Alex, Jr., and other local boys are acting as camp leaders.

KLAN INITIATES CLASS OF FIFTY

Ceremony Conducted on Hess Farm at Cranford.

Special to the Journal.

CRANFORD, Aug. 11.—The Ku Klux Klan held a meeting out the Martin Hess farm, in Walnut avenue, near the Lehigh Valley Railroad, Saturday night, at which more than fifty candidates from Hudson and Essex counties were initiated. Members of the order from all over the State attended, coming here in their cars, which were parked on the big farm. Lights were furnished for the meeting by storage battery lamps brought to the scene on a truck. The occupants of cars coming over Walnut avenue were enabled to get a good view of the ceremonies, when they were not kept moving by the police, who prevented parking along the roadway.

The ceremony was an orderly one and ended with the burning of a cross. There was no parade or demonstration in the town preceding the meeting and only those who happened to pass the farm knew that the meeting was being held.

A woman resident of the neighborhood, who noticed the cars assembling at the farm, notified the police and Patrolman Harry Cook was sent to investigate. As soon as he saw the large number of cars being parked he notified Chief Hennessey. Chief Hennessey detailed nearly all of the force to the scene, but there was nothing for the officers to do excepting to care for traffic, as they were barred from the farm by pickets in citizens' clothes, who told them the land was private property and that permission had been given by the owner for the meeting.

TRAFFIC WELL HANDLED.

There were no automobile accidents here yesterday although traffic was very heavy. A car was ditched in Linden place when a wheel having been left there by an automobile party last night on account of trouble. Cars belonging to Lora Peck of 409 Elizabeth avenue, Albert Ladona of Trenton, and Albert Lodona of Trenton, bumped together on Elizabeth avenue, breaks crossing the intersection, inflicting slight damage to both vehicles. The owners exchanged names and proceeded on their way.

CRANFORD NOTES.

Rev. William F. Weeks, of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, has preached in the Presbyterian Church yesterday morning.

Rev. Harold I. Stratton, of Acton Heights, Mass., has been the guest of Kenneth Martin, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, at the rectory in Forrest avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bates, Hampton street, are at their summer cottage at Upper Saranac, N. Y.

Members of the police force are circulating a petition for the signatures of voters asking the Township Committee to have the police force on eight hour day for police put up to the people to vote at the coming election. The people voted the men the pension and increased salaries a year ago and now the police are asking for the shorter working day. The petition is being signed by nearly every resident approached.

An Estimate.

"Would you care to go to the movies to-night?" he asked her.

"Indeed I should, and you are so kind," she told him. "What is the bill for to-night?"

"Oh, I think about $14 will do it, including the taxi."—Boston Transcript.

The same pipe—the same tobacco —yet it tastes entirely different

DID you ever see Burley tobacco as it comes from the farmer's curing barn—a big leaf, dark green-brown in color, "new", unripe? Chew a bit of this leaf, and you'll find it rank, bitter, and unpalatable; smoke it, and you'll get only a hot stinging harshness.

Then open a tin of Velvet, test this same Burley after it has been "aged in wood", and notice the pronounced difference. The green has turned to rich brown, the bitterness has become mellow "body", the bite and harshness have utterly disappeared. What is left is Burley tobacco at its appetizing best—ripe, mild, seasoned, and just right for smoking.

Here, then, are two extremes, green leaf and "aged in wood" tobacco. To make one from the other requires acreage of plant, equipment, and huge sums tied up in tobacco for long unproductive periods—for "ageing in wood" is a tedious and costly process. Countless experiments have therefore been made in the search for a faster, cheaper method of ripening—experiments ranging from greenhouse "forcing" to bacteriological colonising; and some of these have been part way successful. But even at their best, the "hurry-up" methods fall somewhere in that intermediate ground between green leaf and ripeness, and far short of the mellow perfection gained by ageing in wood. In all our half century as tobacco manufacturers, we have found nothing that equals ageing in wood to ripen and sweeten tobacco for smoking.

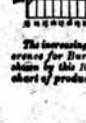

Tobacco varies even on the same stalk. It takes expert buying to secure uniform high quality.

Velvet, therefore, is made entirely of tobacco that has been truly aged—aged in wood. It is made of the highest grade of Kentucky Burley that money can buy, and every ounce of it goes through this mellowing process—nor can you get such mildness, such cool satisfying goodness, in any other way.

COUNTY TOWNS GET ROAD FUNDS

Hillside and Union Share in State Aid Money.

Special to the Journal.

TRENTON, Aug. 11.—With only $525,000 to meet requests for $1,320,000 in township road aid, the State Highway Commission today apportioned the fund for thoroughfares regarded as the most important of the connecting links submitted for consideration. Union county's allotment follows: Hillside township, $8,100 for one and one-half miles of macadam and Four Streets road, Union township, $16,000 for one-half mile of concrete on Valley street.

Never before had the Highway Commission been besieged for assistance by townships in so many counties of the State. Under the statute making the grant, the Highway Commission sets aside $25,000 annually for the townships in each county, a total of $525,000 for the State. The township receiving any of the fund is required to contribute at least twenty-five per cent. to the sum granted by the Highway Commission. In former years townships in many of the counties neglected to improve their roads on this percentage basis and the money they could have received reverted to a general fund for other townships which were anxious for a share.

Because of the general demand for good roads now, however, townships in seventeen counties have already committed themselves to the road twenty-five per cent. to whatever allowance was made by the Highway Commission, and in many instances they will take up the difference to carry to completion improvements which the State's share will not cover. Township ships in the four remaining counties, it is expected, will soon submit roads to make up their full quota of $525,000. One of these counties is Hudson, with two townships, which will have roads for participation in the $52,402 still to be distributed.

The State money will not be available for distribution before next January and the townships will either wait until that time before starting their work or will do their own financing now in anticipation of their allotment.

WOMAN SLAIN IN FIGHT PATERSON MAN'S WIFE

By the Associated Press.

PATERSON, Aug. 11.—Peggy Larue, the young woman who was reported shot and killed by Frederick McLean, near Columbia, Pa., Saturday was identified here last night as Peggy Abbott, the wife of William F. Abbott. She left here eighteen months ago with Joseph of the Peace William Snyder, and went to Canada. Later when Snyder's funds ran low, the couple went to New York, where Snyder worked as a barber and Mrs. Abbott in a restaurant.

Snyder fled this city with several thousand dollars of bail money which he accepted from prisoners brought before him and failed to return on demand when the cases were disposed of. He was arrested in New York, brought here and sentenced to State Prison. He is still serving his term at Trenton. The girl disappeared after Snyder's arrest. Her husband said last night, that he last heard from her just after the year when she was employed as a nurse in the New Jersey State Village for Epileptics, at Skillman. She asked permission to return home to see her children. Abbott said he did not answer her letter. He said last night that he would go to York and make arrangements for his wife's funeral.

Pugilist Under Guard.

By the Associated Press.

YORK, Aug. 10.—Frederick McLean, a pugilist known as "Sailor Kid Mack," who is alleged to have shot and killed Peggy Larue and wounded Leslie Ogle, of York, and D. W. Dorwart, of Lancaster, near here yesterday, is under police guard at the York Hospital. McLean was said to have shot himself through the chest after shooting the others during a dispute over possession of a pistol. His condition is critical.

The Nervous Wreck

By E. J. RATH

Copyright, 1924, by NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young cattleman, drives Sally Morgan, daughter of a Montana ranch owner, over a rough, uncertain trail from the ranch to the railroad station.

They run out of gasoline and the occupants of a passing car refuse to lend them any. The Wreck takes five gallons of the potato of a ranch they drive on. Next morning they stop at a ranch and meet Charley Maxwell, the latter's fiancé, who is a boarding because he has lost his cooks just before the arrival of the driver. Sally cooks a breakfast which so pleases Mcsween that he takes a wheel off their car in order to keep them on the ranch. Forced to accept the inevitable, Sally takes a job.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Probably she dreamed. But she was never quite sure of it, because if it began as a dream it ended as something that really happened. There was a rhythmic throbbing in her ears, and as she came slowly and reluctantly to consciousness it grew steadily louder. It lasted a considerable time, and as she came slowly and reluctantly to consciousness it grew steadily louder. It lasted a considerable longer. No; it was not the flivver. It was a different kind of an engine, more orderly and dignified—and higher.

She leaned forward and pushed aside a corner of the curtain. The thing that made the noise had just come to a stop outside. Sally stared at it with round eyes.

"Why, I believe—Oh, it is."

She flipped out of the chair with the sudden speed of a cat and raced in the direction of the kitchen.

"They've trailed us!" she gasped, as she ran.

CHAPTER VIII.
Hiding Out.

As Sally charged into the kitchen by way of the pantry, the Wreck was coming in through the door that opened on the yard. He stared at her in plain surprise; he did not know she could run fast.

"What's the hurry?" he asked, mildly.

"We're trailed!"

"Trailed? What do you mean?"

"Have they seen you?" she panted.

"Who? What are you talking about? I haven't seen anybody but some horses down in the corral."

"Well, we're trailed all right, Henry Williams. They're out in the front yard."

"Who's out in front?"

"The people you stuck up—the big car."

"Oh, all right," he said. "We'll stick 'em up again."

Sally groaned.

"We've got to get out of here," she said, sharply. "We've got to make a getaway. We'll get a couple of horses down at the corral before they see us. You'll get me a horse, Bill."

It was a despairing thing to contemplate the Wreck on horseback, but it seemed the only chance.

"Oh, I can ride," he said. "I can ride anything. Only it's easier to stick 'em up. "We'll take their car."

Sally shook her head angrily.

"No, you idiot!" she cried. "We'll take horses, if we get a chance at them. Hurry!"

She had seized him by the hand and was dragging him in the direction of the door when he stalled Charley McSween. Sally stopped and eyed him appraisingly. If the Wreck intended on whipping him, this seemed to be the chosen time. And if what was necessary, she would help.

"I was just looking for you," said Charley, addressing the Wreck. "I want a hand with some baggage outside."

"Huh?" inquired the Wreck.

"Baggage," repeated Charley. "The boss is here."

Sally and the Wreck exchanged a slow glance. Then she pinched his fingers tightly, and he knew it was meant to be some sort of signal.

"I'll say husband doesn't handle baggage."

Again she pinched the Wreck's fingers.

"That's the reason he don't handle baggage?" inquired Charley. "Ain't it dignifiers?"

"He—he's not strong," said Sally.

"I don't be ain't exactly powerful lookin', ma'am. But a while back he said he was goin' to lick me, so I thought maybe he, could tussle a couple of trunks without sustainin' any personal damage."

"No; you'll have to get somebody else," said Sally.

Charley made no effort to conceal the disgust in his soul. He inspected the Wreck from his horn-rimmed spectacles to his shoes, following the examination with a gesture of contempt.

"Seein' as your wife won't let you," he remarked, "I suppose me and the chauffeur'll manage."

The Wreck never knew how he managed to maintain any self-control, but he blamed it all on Sally. All he did was to shout:

"If you think I'm a baggage-smasher, you just wait and see what happens to your dishes."

Charley went out with a remark to the effect that he did not have to pay for the dishes. The Wreck and Sally stared at each other.

"You've stuck up the owner of the place!" she wailed.

"He was a hog," said the Wreck, with fine simplicity.

He was not worrying about the owner; his mind was occupied with plans to revenge himself for the insult put upon him by Charley McSween.

"Of all the awful luck," continued Sally, in an awed whisper. "To think that we actually walked into his hands. I knew there was something queer about this place the minute I took a look around the house."

"Well, what do we do now? Swipe the horses?"

Sally considered, then shook her head slowly.

"No; I think we'd better wait now. I don't believe it's quite as bad as I thought. You see, they didn't know we were after it. They were coming, anyhow. Probably they don't know we're armed—and, right, they ain't anything to what they used to do. Only the boss is pretty stirred up, which may be a good thing. He comes from the East where they don't know anything about such things."

The Wreck was standing at a window, polishing his spectacles. It was Sally's first conscious glance at him without the horn rims. He gave her a swift impression of being another person. But there was no time to study him; Charley was too interesting.

"Who is the boss?" she asked, trying to be indifferent.

"His name is Underwood," Charley. "He's from New York. funny the way those New Yorkers themselves down in the country a pile of travelin' to get in. And I don't come here oftener than once a year. This time he's here all the week. It don't sound reasonable, but he did. He's got his boy and girl with him, I expect he'll stay a few weeks."

Talks on Health Topics

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Why Raise Mosquitoes?

One of the greatest obstacles in the way of the health education of the plain people is the fact that the plain people already have so many things which ain't so. This Billings complaint is a great deal more serious than the victims of it realize, for it keeps them languishing in a state of misinformation which very often means needless suffering. Take mosquitoes about the place. What a lot of plain people still think these pests are unavoidable, that the mosquitoes develop in the weeds, under the bushes and in the tall grass about nearly neglected yards, or even in the cool shade of well kept hedges or other shrubbery in one's own dooryard. Surely they have been taught differently but that's the discouraging thing about Billings complaint, it's so very, very difficult for the victims to unlearn what they know. People with very bad cases of Billings complaint find doctors an unsatisfactory source of casual or courteous advice. It seems the people build up problems out of their own understanding—which is all wrong—and the doctors are too bored to attempt to tell it all over again and so they let it go or burn and have their way out of it the best they can. This mosquito business, now. It isn't worth while trying to tell folks with Billings complaint that the mosquitoes do best breed under the bushes or in the tall grass, for they know better and only feel sorry for your ignorance.

The mosquitoes are partly to blame themselves, for they certainly do like to congregate in cool, moist dark places, in the shade of the barberry bush or under a privet, where they exchange tales of woe and pick their teeth and get tips on the ivy of the game. But so far as any multiplication is concerned we hangouts of recreation places might do as well as Sangster clinics. The mosquitoes can breed only in standing water, and anything from an obstructed eave to a cow track or a discarded tomato can will do to hold the water. If the tall grass, the barberry bush and privet act as a cover for discarded junk, mosquitoes may breed there just as well as they do in the rain barrel or fountain or pond or sluggish creek. Clean up these breeding places and the mosquitoes will disappear. If a pool of water or a pond or fountain can't be drained, sprinkle a wee bit of kerosene oil on the surface. That suffocates the mosquito larvae (wiggle-tails), for they have to come to the surface frequently for air or live all the time at the surface of the water. If it is a rain barrel or other receptacle where water or watery material is kept, keep it tightly covered or at least screened against access of mosquitoes seeking a place to lay their eggs. Ponds, fountains and other open standing water may be stocked with minnows, which eat the larvae, or even goldfish, which are less effective than minnows.

Enough mosquitoes to make an entire neighborhood miserable may be cultivated in an obstructed eave or drain pipe or in an uncovered garbage can or rain barrel or water in a fountain in which water stands for a week or longer.

Mosquitoes in the neighborhood are as definitely a mark of bad grounds keeping as flies in the home are a mark of bad housekeeping.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Inferiority Complex.

What is meant by the term "inferiority complex"? (R. W. J.)

Answer. It is one of the new terms of the new psychology. As nearly as I can understand it means a kind of undue humility, an ingrowing notion that one is inferior to the common standard in one way or another and that notion tends to influence one's conduct or behavior in life. Some of us are no doubt inhibited or handicapped with inferiority complexes, but as it looks to me there are more folks raring and tearing around the world with superiority complexes.

Spots.

Kindly tell me what to use to remove large dark spots on each side of the neck. (Mrs. K. M.)

Answer.—If it were the back of the neck I could tell you a word, but I am uncertain what the nature of the spots on the side of the neck may be, and so I can only suggest that you give your physician a chance at the spots, or consult a physician who is a skin specialist.

Acidosis.

Please inform me whether citric acid is as good as soda for acidosis. (R. S. M.)

Answer.—I do not think citric acid would be so good, though the citric acid salts in such fruits as oranges, lemons, grapefruit or limes would probably be as good or better than soda to oppose acidosis.

Old Gargle.

Several years ago you gave a formula for a gargle for preventing hoarseness or huskiness of the voice. Being a singer I tried it out and found it just the grandest old thing. Now I have lost the recipe and the druggist can't remember what it was and we're in a dreadful situation over it. Won't you gather under your banner a great number of new friends, and forever oblige a few old ones by giving that gargle formula again? (A. T.)

Answer.—This is a bad season for formulas—the proofreaders and printers are all kinds warm and worn this time of year and there's no telling what they might do to such a formula if I ventured to try to print it. But I'll be glad to send it to you by mail. It wasn't my invention, but a recipe I lifted from the late Dr. Shoemaker's work on therapeutics.

Corns Not Little Bunions.

I have a bad bunion and a friend tells me you have given a fine remedy for corns. (Mrs. H. H.)

Answer.—Corns are merely a kind of purgatory, whereas bunions are something else again. Send for my monograph on the care of the feet, which will give you comfort if not sympathy.

KEEPING UP WITH THE MOVIES

By A. H. FREDERICK.

NEA Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11.—Not all the heroes of the silver sheet appear upon its surface. By no means.

Consider "The Lost World," Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's story now being filmed at First National studio under supervision of Earl Hudson.

Prominent in the cast are a boa constrictor, a ring-tail monkey, a leopard and an alligator. So prominent indeed that should they find steady employment at their present salaries, their respective earning capacities would be $36,500, $14,600, $18,250 and $12,000 per year.

But they do not, as do some couple of thousand other seekers of motion picture work, appear soliciting employment at the studio casting office. They must be sought—and found.

That brings us to our hero, Charles K. Brown, purchasing agent for First National.

Let directors be as unreasonable as they may in their property requests, Brown must fill them. Then, after Brown has scoured the country and whooped a peccary, for instance, overnight the director changes his mind and decides the peccary should be a lava mastiff. Brown smiles and, without halting production, appears with the lava mastiff.

Perhaps severest test is being given Brown in the present picture. Not only must he supply things of the known world, but also of the "lost world."

The script called for several breathing, fighting dinosaurs, an animal which all the world (including cinema directors) knows is utterly extinct.

Charles K. Brown, bear and gila monster.

"Let Brown worry about that," said the director.

Other properties which the purchasing agent obtained (only heaven and he know how) for the picture were:

A chuckawalla; wasps and bees; two Egyptian mummies; an Indian god and effigies thereof; alligators; a buck; a hippopotamus; prehistoric skulls, skeletons and horns, all remnants of a lost world; eight different kinds of monkey and one baboon; two pigmy ostriches; a macaw; an owl.

That is part of the list for the present production!

"But the hardest assignment I ever had," says Brown, "was furnishing a pair of ice skates. Imagine that for a job in Los Angeles. After tracing recent arrivals, finally I found a family recently come here from Iowa. There were the skates, up stairs in the attic."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A Crush to Be Stopped.

My 18-year-old girl deserts me for another woman. She prefers to be over to her house all the time, wants to sleep and eat there. It breaks my heart to see her so crushed on a woman who is not her mother. Mrs. M. R. T.

Answer.—I sent you a personal letter in answer to your inquiry and publish your questions only that other mothers may read it and see the headline. The possible situation is not one that can be explained openly in this column.

Absolutely Confidential.

I would like to add to this long letter a much more serious matter relative to my oldest girl, but I hesitate because I have no guarantee that the case will be kept confidential.

Answer.—Every letter containing a question and a stamped self-addressed envelope to the local newspaper is forwarded unopened to me. The questions are abbreviated and answered in this column or else, as is more often the case, answered in private correspondence. The large number of letters received each day would fill ten times over the space allotted to me by the newspapers.

Enjoys a Good Cry.

I have a daughter of 12 who enjoys the luxury of tears. She weeps copiously at the least occasion. I am worried about her. Mrs. E. R.

Answer.—Girls of that age are apt to be emotional. Some giggle. Some cry. Nervous fatigue may have something to do with it. More likely, in this particular age, it is due to the increased sensitiveness of the nervous system and the consequent exaggeration of the motor responses. In one way or another she must have emotional expression.

But Where's the School?

It was a Saturday morning in one of those modern high schools in Texas of which the State of a Lone Star is so proud. The domestic science teacher was working overtime directing an electrician in regard to changing some stage wires for the Monday night performance.

He was an interesting mechanic and while at work he said to the teacher, "This is some place, what a wonderful hall this is, somewhat different than the school building I went to."

"Would you," she replied, "like to look around a bit? I'll be glad to show you." So they went to the gymnasium, the swimming pool, the shower, the lunch room, the shops and the rooms for domestic science.

"Say, lady," said the electrician, "this is fine, now please s'ow me the school."

The mechanic was perfectly sincere in his request. He did not appreciate that a school no longer consists merely of school rooms. The modern school not only still deals in the three R's of the old school, but it has in addition the three L's—education for labor, education for leisure, and education in liberalizing.

The old school had to furnish only "book learning," because the home, kitchen and the shop furnished the education for labor. The old school had no conception of education for leisure because in those days leisure was out of the question in the twelve-hour day. The old school had no nice tiled pool or indoor gymnasium, as the creek and chores made them unnecessary.

After the electrician had seen the class rooms, assembly hall and science laboratories he said, "Now I see where the taxpayers' money goes, but it's worth it."

How many of us are like the electrician?

A Puzzle a Day.

Two men, A and B, owned a plot of ground on which there were ten trees (see drawing).

They decided to divide the plot so each had the same amount of land, and in such a manner that each one would have five trees on his property.

What was the most practical way in which to divide the ground?

Saturday's Answer:

IF ANY BOY WHISPERS, I AM GOING TO PUNISH HIM!

There are two concealed countries in the sentence; each of the bright scholars discovered a different one:

The countries are Siam and Persia. WhisperS I AM; WhisPERS I Am!

SONNET

Tired with all these, for restful death I cry,
As to behold desert a beggar born,
And needy nothing trimm'd in jollity,
And purest faith unhappily forsworn,
And gilded honor shamefully misplaced,
And maiden virtue rudely strumpeted,
And right perfection wrongfully disgraced,
And strength by limping sway disabled,
And art made tongue tied by authority,
And folly, doctor-like, controlling skill,
And captive Good attending Captain Ill;—
Tired with all these, from these would I be gone,
Save that, to die, I leave my Love alone.

I just couldn't understand what husband was getting at, little prise, and I said:

"But surely, Jack, it is a good thing for a woman who works to think she can take care of herself."

"It all depends," he said, "on what you mean by 'taking care of herself.' Some girls seem to take care of themselves very capably, if you see what I mean, and others need protection, but ere They want protection, but sometimes, ey get so much for it sometimes, there is nothing much left to protect, and so they lose the only splendid thing that life has given them.

"One thing I think that is the great trouble with Mrs. Atherton, Leslie—people don't want to be protected. She doesn't want to be protected when she can't want to be protected when she is that way, but Syd was not a easy-going, and, of course, you know Sally is. I don't think Sally is. I don't think she'd be a good thing, Jack, for a wife to be able to earn more money than her husband. There's something in that makes a man's gorge rise. It gives him an inferiority complex and makes a very disagreeable man always a very disagreeable man live with. In fact, I think I would ther live with the most egotistical man alive.

"Now tell me about Syd," I said.

"You're no idea, dear, how interested he is in that foolish little coral gimcrack he sent you. I wouldn't be surprised if he went looking all over the earth for some just like it.

"Syd's a splendid chap, Leslie, and he'd make some girl an awfully good husband. I wish he would marry. In fact, I've never known why he didn't marry. I'm satisfied there's some hid den page in his life, but just what it is I have never known, intimate as we are.

"He'd make a nice balance wheel, don't you think, for a girl like Sally?" I observered.

"Never in a thousand years," was Jack's vehement assertion. "Don't you go to making any matchmaking plans that will take the most efficient secretary I have ever had away from me."

I couldn't help smiling at Jack's earnestness, for in my heart I knew that Sally was the last woman that Syd would fall in love with. I just wanted to know what Jack would say about it.

Little Jack's sleepy wail called me from the room. I heard my husband go in to his bedroom, and I knew that he was preparing for bed. I had had a very happy evening, little Marquise. Jack and I had had something new to talk about, and talking with someone you love on new things is very diverting and satisfying. Through it all there runs an undercurrent of emotion which tells you that someone loves you.

TO-MORROW—Letter from Richard Sumners to Beatrice Grjeushaw.

SIMPLER SHOE STYLES FASHIONABLE.

Shoe Styles Are Simpler

Now Is Time to Wear Out All Your Old Pumps.

By MARIAN HALE.

NEA Service Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—You might as well start in now and wear out all your pumps with the fancy openwork sections and the designs in fancy leather.

For style authorities say we are going to revert to the plainest of shoe styles, and that the oxford, long despised, is to be with us again.

This may be part of the propaganda to force gowns to be more elaborate. Recently we have worn fancy shoes, largely because dresses were so very plain and simple. Any elaboration could only come in the footwear because bare old dresses would have none of it.

More Subdued.

With elaborate gowns, however, footwear must be subdued. Therefore for fall we find the tailored strapped or buttoned oxford of kid for wear with tailored costumes and the opera, Colonial, or the one-strap pump for dress wear.

Suede is said to be less fashionable than it has been, patent leather is holding its own, but soft kid is coming to the front as the most popular leather. It is liked not only in brown and black, but in bronze and the loster tones.

With plainer pumps there is also to be a return to more conservative heels. The burnt orange and flesh tints that have been so common will give way to gun metal, brown and very sheer black.

No Exaggeration.

The vamp is neither long nor short. The whole idea is to keep the foot in proportion to the body. Heels on oxfords may be low or a modified Spanish, and those on pumps may be low or French, but there are no exaggerated high heels, or extremely curved ones.

Shoe dealers are going to inaugurate a campaign for appropriateness in shoes. They hope to impress upon women the desirability of keeping satin and fabric models strictly for evening or dress wear and to make kid or patent leather the only correct thing for street.

Apple Fritters.—Mix together one cup of flour and one-third teaspoon of salt and add two-thirds of a cup of water, the beaten yolks of two eggs and one-half teaspoon of melted butter. (This batter may be used either for apple fritters or peach fritters.) Pare and core ripe apples and cut in rings crosswise. Let these rings stand for ten minutes sprinkled with powdered sugar, then dip them into the batter and place in deep fat which is hot enough to brown a cube of bread in a few seconds. When the rings are a golden brown and done through drain on rumpled brown paper before serving. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Curried Rice.—Boil three cups of brown or uncooked rice in water to cover well. Add one tablespoon of salt and let cook till the rice is tender. Dry the rice slightly by placing it in the oven for ten or fifteen minutes. Now add four tablespoons of butter mixed to a paste with one teaspoon of curry powder, stirring this in lightly with a fork. Serve hot.

Cheese Tarts.—Scald together one cup each of sweet and sour milk, then strain through a piece of cheesecloth. Add to the curd one cup of granulated sugar, the beaten yolks of four eggs, the juice and rind of one lemon, one-quarter of a pound of almonds, blanched and finely chopped, and a pinch of salt. Mix well and put into small tart pans which are lined with uncooked pie-pastry. Sprinkle each tart with extra chopped almonds and bake in a fairly brisk oven for thirty minutes—or till the mixture is firm.

Southern Fig Ice Cream.—Cook in the top of a double boiler three cups of sweet milk, one cup of sugar and the yolks of five eggs. When this mixture will "coat a spoon" cool it, then flavor with one tablespoon of vanilla. Now add one pound of figs finely chopped, one and one-half cups of heavy cream beaten till stiff and fold in five stiffly-whipped egg whites. The cream is now ready to freeze. Never fill a freezer-can more than three-fourths full as space must be allowed for increase in bulk during freezing; if the can is overcrowded the mixture will have a coarse grain when frozen. Use one part of salt to three parts of ice during freezing, but when the work is nearly over have removed dasher and plugged dasher-hole in the can cover, use one part of salt to four parts of ice for packing the mixture to stand and "ripen."

BEAUTY CHATS

Shampoos for Blonde Hair.

When you are choosing a shampoo for you, should consider the effect certain chemicals on different kinds hair. Blonde hair, for instance, quite special care and quite different atment from brunette. The ash-de hair will need a certain amount soda; red-blonde, henna; the rest d, sulphur. There is a certain rmless shampoo to brighten light lored hair which is made by steep-g half a pound of honey and one pound of rhubarb stalks in three pints f white wine. The white wine needs xplanation. Grape juice made from hite grapes will do if three ounces f lay rum are added.

A somewhat stronger shampoo fotion omes for brunettes. It calls for the olk of one egg, a scant half-tea-poonful of powdered borax or bicar-onate of soda, and one cup of home ade red wine. Red grape juice may e substituted for the wine and a easpoonful of rum added. The idea is that dark grapes contain tan-in which is good for brunette hair.

Glycerine soap is also good for blonde hair. It should be melted with enough hot water to make a thin ix, with which lemon or bay rum s added. Liquid green soap is also good for light hair, but is so very rritating that I never recommend it except to follow an oil rub.

For very pale gold hair put a teaspoonful of powdered borax or bicar-bonate of soda, or the juice of half a lemon in the final rinse water. These are all bleaching agents and also dry out some of the oils from the hair.

Blonde hair, however, must be reasonably dry to be pretty.

For medium gold hair beat up a couple of eggs, yolks and white, and rub on the scalp an hour before the shampoo. The sulphur in the egg will counteract the too much yellow and give richness of color. Use a mixture of one-third powdered henna and two-thirds powdered castile soap for red-gold hair.

Blackie:—A list of foods for so great a reduction as you contemplate will consume too much space for printing at this time; but I will be glad to send you a list; together with other information on reduction, if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope requesting your request.

Miss B. P.:—If you cannot have the hair removed through the electric needle process, extract all the coarse hairs by using a blunt end tweezers. Bleach all the fine ones with peroxide.

Household Hints

By CAROLINE CORNWALL

Copyright, 1924.

Large Melons Best.

Large Honey Dew and Casaba

melons are usually better than the smaller ones. The test for ripeness is the same as that of smaller varieties.

Whip Whipped Cream.

Plan for Week.

Plan a week's meals at a time. A meal that is planned with reference to others here better food values and more variety at less expense tha none planned with reference to only one serving.

Left-Over Eggs.

Silver and Gold.

Keep silver and gold chains bright by covering occasionally with paste of sifted whiting and ammonia, then brush off with a soft cloth or a chamois skin.

Oatmeal Crackers.

Home-made oatmeal crackers, crisp and wholesome, make attractive lunches, when spread with honey. A paste made of milled raisins is always an acceptable spread for bread and crackers.

Keep in Cool Place.

Store lemons in a cool dry place.

If each one is wrapped in dark paper it will keep longer

Long Gloves.

Long gloves are being seen again in Paris with evening gowns, those of flesh-colored suede that reach close to the shoulder being the most beautiful.

Mockline.

The surplice neckline is being successfully revived and is featured both for daytime and evening.

Many Bracelets.

As many as twenty bracelets of fine platinum wire or colored glass are worn on one arm of the smart woman.

Clean Old Brass.

Three-Piece Costume

Here is a three-piece costume of the type that is to be extremely fashionable this winter. The coat and skirt are of black and gray striped velvet brocade, and the blouse straight blouse is of gray. The coat is so long that it may easily be worn as a wrap with other gowns, while the blouse and skirt give the effect of a complete costume without the wrap. The smartest suit coats are very long and follow the straight, comfortable lines of this one.

Artificial Pearl.

Satin Wraps.

What Shall I Do? Letters

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE.

Should She "Sneak Out?"

Dear Miss Page:—I see that you give a lot of people good advice so I come for the same. I am 18 and am very fond of a young man who has asked me to go car-riding with him. My mother does not allow this and I would very much like to go.

I told this young man that mother doesn't let me go riding and he told me to sneak out.

I would rather have your advice.—"Puzzle."

Do you want to do anything that you can tie the name of "sneak" to like that? Don't you see why your mother doesn't want you to go? A boy who wouldn't have any more honor than to advise you that way probably wouldn't have it in other ways. And most likely your mother feels that you haven't, as yet, had enough experience with people to know whom to trust. As your letter certainly shows, you need advice. And since you don't feel sure about the young man, I do hope you will take my advice and have nothing more to do with such a boy.

Not Worth the Trouble.

Dear Madam:—I have been friends with a girl who turned out to be very false. I am a girl who lives in a country town and made good friends with a couple that live in my neighborhood. Their sister lives with them too. I introduced my best girl chum to them and at first she was glad to "not care to visit them so often." That kept me away from them. Then we accidentally came into contact with the husband of the family, and after we had had a very pleasant time being shown around his place of business she decided the family was worth cultivating.

Now she has made the most intimate friendship with them, has quarreled with me and has completely turned them against me. I can't tell you how miserable and hurt and jealous I feel. I am so nervous I can hardly write. She is there every day; they do all they can to get me angry and they don't even look at me. Please tell me how to regain my friendship or I'll go mad.—"I. M."

No, you won't, dear. They aren't worth it, any of them. I know just how you feel; the same thing is one shape or another happens occasionally to all of us. The only thing that helps is to get it soundly into your head that mean things do not hurt anybody but those that do them; that they can not hurt you one bit; and that you are glad you found out what the quality of their friendship was before you leaned too hard on it. You just make other friends and forget all about them as they deserve.

Inquiries of general interest addressed to Miss Page in care of this paper will be answered as speedily as possible in these columns in their turn. Personal replies cannot be promised but will be made whenever possible if a stamped and self-addressed envelope is enclosed. It is requested that all inquiries to this department bear the full name and address of the writer. These names will never be published and will be known only to Miss Page who sometimes wishes to get in personal touch with her correspondents instead of attempting to answer them through the column.—The Editor.

Combination Cucumber Salad for Four.

One cup cucumber dice, one cup celery slices, one-third cup English walnut meats, one-quarter cup shredded green pepper, one-quarter cup grated raw carrot, two medium-sized tomatoes, one-half cup boiled salad dressing, four ounces lettuce.

All the ingredients should be very cold. Let the celery stand in ice water for an hour after slicing to crispen. Combine cucumber, celery, nuts, pepper and carrot with salad dressing. Pare tomatoes and cut in halves. Slice off the rounded part so the slices will be firm on the lettuce. Put a mound of the salad mixture on each slice of tomato and serve on a bed of lettuce. Use the well-bleached inside leaves that will cup around the salad.

BEDTIME STORIES.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

THE USELESS SEARCH.

To say you doubt is impolite; Besides, the other may be right.
—Boomer the Nighthawk.

When Mrs. Boomer the Nighthawk told Peter Rabbit that her cousin, Mrs. Whip-poor-will, had no more use for a nest than had she herself, Peter was most impolite. He came right out and said he didn't believe it. Yes, sir; he said he didn't believe it. You see, until he had found the two eggs of Mrs. Boomer on a flat rock in the Old Pasture it had never entered his head that any bird could get along without a nest.

But though Peter said he didn't believe it, he couldn't be satisfied until he had found out for himself. You see, there was a doubt in Peter's mind. The more he thought about it the more he wondered if he had been a little hasty in refusing to believe what Mrs. Boomer had told him. Over in the Green Forest he could hear Whip-poor-will calling his own name over and over and over again until it seemed as if he never paused to take breath.

"Good evening," said Peter, "are you living around here?"

"I'll go over there and find out for myself," thought Peter, and away he went.

He had no trouble in finding Whip-poor-will. But by the time he found him it was dark in the Green Forest.

"Good evening," said Peter. "Are you living around here?"

Whip-poor-will stopped calling his own name long enough to reply. "It looks like it, doesn't it?"

Peter admitted that it did. "Then I suppose Mrs. Whip-poor-will is living here, too," said Peter.

"Certainly. Where else would she be likely to be living?" retorted Whip-poor-will.

Peter couldn't answer this, and so he didn't try. "I don't see her around anywhere," said he.

"That is because you don't look in the right place," replied Whip-poor-will.

"What is she doing?" Peter asked.

"Attending to her own business, which just now happens to be her home duties," replied Whip-poor-will.

"Then she must have a nest and eggs!" cried Peter.

"Must she?" Whip-poor-will asked.

"Hasn't she?" demanded Peter.

"That's for you to find out," retorted Whip-poor-will. And this was all that Peter could get from him.

Of course, Peter hunted around everywhere, although he pretended not to be hunting. But it was dark, and he soon realized how foolish he was. So he decided to stay over in the Green Forest until daylight and then see if he could find Mrs. Whip-poor-will's nest. But when daylight came he was no more successful than before. He didn't find a nest of any kind. Whip-poor-will went to sleep on the ground. Peter looked very carefully for Mrs. Whip-poor-will nearby. But he didn't see her anywhere, and so at last he gave up. If Mrs. Boomer had told him the truth he was wasting time looking for a nest. And looking for a couple of eggs on the ground would be like looking for one lone clover leaf in a field of grass.

MANNERS

OF CAREFUL PEOPLE

The marriage of a widow is the same as a maid's except she does not wear white or orange blossoms, nor does she have bridesmaids. The wedding in best taste for a widow should be in a small church or chapel. The bride generally wears afternoon dress.

MOTHERS

AND THEIR CHILDREN

Play in Hot Weather.

One Mother Says:

When the weather is very hot I never like to have the children play violent games, yet telling them to be quiet doesn't keep them still very long. At such times I try to spend as much of the day with them as possible. In the afternoon I make orangeade, or on some such excuse get them gathered around me in a shady place in the yard or on the porch. Then I tell them stories or suggest quiet games that they can play with me. Children need to be told how to keep quiet as well as when to keep quiet.

Handkerchiefs.

Handkerchiefs of crepe de chine printed with very bizarre designs in fresh colors are made in every size from the tiny square that may be put inside the glove to the large model that may be used for a scarf if necessary.

Dainty Collars.

White handkerchief linen or organdie is used to make very dainty collars or gilets for the black velvet costume.

Keep cool—try this new Summer breakfast

WHY eat heavy foods in Summer—foods that make you hot and uncomfortable?

Why fry and cook a Summer's morning?

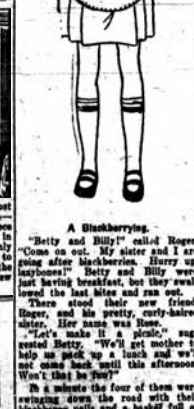

Here's a complete breakfast, luscious beyond compare, the world's premier vigor food, cooked and ready in three minutes.

That's quicker than toast! Quicker than coffee! Prepare it while the fruit is being served. Try it—it's the Summer breakfast supreme.

COLOR CUT-OUT

A Blackberrying.

"Betty and Billy!" called Roger. "Come over here out. My sister and I are going after blackberries. Hurry up, lazybones!" Betty and Billy were just having breakfast, but they swallowed the last bites and ran out.

"Let's make it a picnic," suggested Betty. "We'll get mother to help us pack up a lunch and we'll not come back until this afternoon. We'll have a fine time."

In a minute the four of them were swinging down the road with their blackberry pails and a basket full of ham and lettuce sandwiches, bananas, cookies and pickles.

* * *

Want Ad Information

Elizabeth Daily Journal

Classified Advertisements

Count six average words to a line. Initials, numerals and abbreviations each count as a word and compound words as two words. Minimum cost is price of three lines.

Line rates per day for transient ads:

	Cash.	Charge.
6 Consecutive Days	9 cents	11 cents
3 Consecutive Days	11 cents	13 cents
1 Day	13 cents	15 cents

Special rates given to everyday advertisers.

All orders for irregular insertions will be charged for at the one-time rate.

Ads ordered for three or six days and stopped before that time will be charged only for the actual number of times the ad appeared, charging at the rate earned.

No "till forbids"; display lines not sold.

The Journal will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

The inadvertent omission or incorrect publication of advertising will be rectified only by cancellation of the charge made for the service rendered.

Key numbers are assigned classified advertisers for their protection and identification; replies will not be delivered without presentation of identification card or ad voucher.

All adds are edited, accepted and arranged according to Journal standards of classification; undesirable copy will be rejected.

CLOSING HOURS—Classified ads to be published same day must be received by 10 A. M.; Friday, 9:45.

Telephone Your Want Ads

Ads are accepted over the telephone at the CHARGE RATE given above as a convenience to advertisers, but the CASH RATES will be accepted as FULL PAYMENT if paid at the business office on or before the sixth day following the first insertion of each ad, otherwise the CHARGE RATE will be collected. No responsibility for errors in telephoned ads will be assumed and their accuracy cannot be guaranteed.

PAINTING THE TOWN RED

Are you the type of person about whom folks say, "When he was a youngster, he just painted the town red," meaning that you were on the go—active and energetic, allowing no one to put anything over on you. But when you take stock of yourself now, do you find that you are different, doing things in a humdrum manner? Or do you still make people "sit up and take notice" at your snap and energy?

Are you allowing the other fellow to get ahead of you with modern ideas? Is he selling his houses and renting his property more quickly? Then it means that he uses Want Ads. He knows that they "hit the mark" and are the last word in modern advertising.

YOUR COMPETITOR USES WANT ADS AND SELLS HIS PROPERTY.
WHY NOT PROFIT BY HIS EXAMPLE?

AN ORDINANCE TO APPROPRIATE THE SUM OF TEN THOUSAND ($10,000.00) DOLLARS FOR THE PURPOSE OF TEMPORARILY FINANCING THE LOCAL IMPROVEMENT OF MAKING WATER, SEWER AND GAS CONNECTIONS PRIOR TO THE PAVING OR REPAVING OF STREETS ABOUT TO BE IMPROVED, AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF TEMPORARY LOAN BONDS TO THE AMOUNT OF SAID APPROPRIATION, AND FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE SAME.

Be It Ordained by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Elizabeth:

SECTION 1. That there shall be and hereby is appropriated for the local improvement of making water, sewer and gas connections prior to the paving or repaving of streets about to be improved, the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars or so much thereof as shall be necessary for the purpose.

SECTION 2. For the purpose of temporarily financing said local improvement, and to provide for the payment of the cost of same, the City shall borrow the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary, and issue temporary loan bonds therefor, which shall state in general terms the purpose for which they are issued; such bonds shall be dated on the date of issue and shall be payable within six (6) years and shall bear interest at a rate to be determined by the Comptroller, not exceeding six per centum (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance the Comptroller of the City is hereby authorized to determine any and all other matters in respect to said bonds, and the proper officials of the City are hereby authorized to do all things necessary or convenient to carry out the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 3. That so much of the cost and expense incurred in the making of said local improvement as can be lawfully charged or assessed upon the land and property in the vicinity thereof, benefited or increased in value by reason thereof, or specially benefited by said local improvement, shall be duly charged by the Board of Public Works or assessed by the Commissioners of Assessment, according to the valid provisions of an act entitled "An Act Concerning Municipalities" approved March 27th, 1917, the amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and other laws applicable thereto, provided that all such charges or assessments shall be in proportion and shall not in any case exceed the special benefits received, and in case the cost of said local improvement shall exceed the amount of such benefits, the amount of such excess shall be borne by the City at large. The amount received from any assessment levied upon property benefited by the aforesaid local improvement shall be applied in payment of, or on account of the indebtedness secured by the aforesaid temporary loan bonds.

Passed August 5th, 1924.

In Memoriam

BALNE—To the precious memory of our beloved husband and father, Henry J. Balne, who departed this life suddenly on August 11, 1916.

The years shall not outgo our thinking of thee.

Wife and Daughters,
ELLEN O. BALNE,
VIVIENNE JENNINGS,
BEATRICE F. BALNE.
Arbor, Dunellen, N. J.

BAUER—In memory of Frederick Bauer, who died August 11, 1923.

Just a year ago to-day,
Short and sudden was the call,
Dearest brother, beloved by all,
Always generous, devoted and kind,
A beautiful memory he left behind.

His sister,
MRS. GEORGE LIVINGSTON.

KERR—In fond and loving memory of a devoted husband and father, Richard H. Kerr, who entered into rest August 10, 1923.

They die in Jesus and are blest,
How kind their slumbers are;
From suffering and from sin released,
And freed from every care.
Far from the world of toil and strife,
They're present with the Lord;
The labors of their mortal life
End in a large reward."

MRS. RICHARD H. KERR AND FAMILY.

Card of Thanks

HOULIHAN—I, the undersigned, wish to express my sincere thanks to my relatives, neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy extended toward me during my recent bereavement in the death of my beloved husband, Martin Houlihan. I especially wish to thank the reverend clergy of St. Mary's Church and the visiting clergy, the Elizabethport Mutual Building and Loan Association and all who attended the funeral.

MRS. ANN HOULIHAN,
109 West Jersey Street.

Deaths

CRANFORD WINS OUT IN NINTH

Plainfield C. C. Nosed Out in Last Frame.

The Cranford B. B. C. defeated the Plainfield Catholic Club yesterday afternoon at Cranford by a score of 6-5. The winners sewed up the game with one run in the last inning. To open the ninth frame, the visitors went out in order, and after two out in the homesters' half of the frame, McMillan singled and Holt, who was running for him, stole second. Poole was hit by a fast one, and Speidel singled, allowing Holt to amble home.

The Plainfielders started off auspiciously, running up a lead of two runs after the home crew had led, 3-0. Constant plugging on the part of the Cranfords won the game. Speidel's hitting featured the game, while the fielding of Wahls was little short of sensational. McCarthy, left fielder of the Plainfield Club, also made some fine catches in his region of the field.

POLICE WARN PARENTS.

Must Keep Bicycle Riding Children Off Sidewalks.

Special to the Journal.

ROSELLE, Aug. 11.—Because of the many complaints received at police headquarters, Chief Burt Avery to-day issued a request to all parents whose children own bicycles to prevent the youngsters from riding their vehicles on the sidewalks. This request does not apply to the younger children who ride velocipedes, but to the older ones who possess bicycles.

One of the complainants stated that a boy riding a bicycle approached, from the rear, a woman leading a small child and missed colliding with the child by the margin of only a few inches. Other complaints have been made by older persons who are too feeble to get out of the way quickly when a bicycle approaches them on the sidewalks.

A borough ordinance passed some years ago expressly prohibits children over six years of age from riding bicycles or tricycles on sidewalks within the borough limits and in view of the complaints that have been received Chief Avery intends to enforce the ordinance to the letter if his request is not complied with. The riding of bicycles or tricycles on the sidewalks is also prohibited under the provisions of Section No. 24, Chapter No. 156, of the State Traffic Act, Laws of 1915.

PARK HEALTHY, REPORTS SHOW

Ranks Among Best in Union County.

ROSELLE, Aug. 11.—This borough is one of the healthiest communities in Union County, according to Health Officer William Morris. During the month of July the only cases of contagious diseases reported by physicians were two cases of measles and one case of smallpox. The lone case of smallpox came to Roselle from New York in the person of a two and a half year old child on July 4. The child has since recovered and has been taken back to New York.

The present healthy condition of the residents of the borough may be judged from the fact that the only cases of disease in Roselle now are two light cases of whooping cough. The good air which one finds in the borough and the rigor which the sanitary code is enforced by the Board of Health is in a large measure responsible for the absence of serious diseases. The streets are kept clean and no filth is allowed to accumulate.

According to Health Officer Morris, there has been no case of rabies in the borough in three years. Early in June a dog, which was thought to be rabid was killed and its head was sent to Trenton for examination but Morris has received a report from the State Board of Health to the effect the dog was not rabid. In tests which were conducted at Trenton the brain of the dog was examined and serum from the brain was injected into a healthy dog upon which it had no effect.

Chief Burt Avery is continuing to keep dogs off the streets. A week has gone by since he issued his request to dog-owners to keep their animals from running loose about the borough and thereby endangering children who sometimes yield to a desire to pet the dogs. Chief Avery is pleased with the co-operation the citizens of the borough with the efforts of the police and no more children being bitten by dogs have been reported to headquarters this week.

SPRINGFIELD WINS IN HECTIC NINTH INNING

The strong Maplewood baseball team invaded the Springfield lair yesterday, and were defeated in one of the best games of ball ever played on the suburban diamond. The Farmers trailed the Maplewood bunch until the last frame, and in this session they tallied two runs. Bunnell [illegible] the ball game was in. Bunnell started the ninth, when he fanned. Foran was an easy out, and the game was about over. Murphy, however, slammed out his fourth hit of the fray, and Ruby singled. Anderson punched a double to right, that won the game, Ruby scoring the winning run, making a fine dash to the plate.

Next Sunday, the Springfield crew will tackle the Elizabeth A. C. on the Springfield grounds.

Red Caps Defeat Caseys in Thriller---Lyceum Bouts on Tap To-night

BUNCHED BINGLES UPSET NEW HURLER

By FRED J. BETZ.

The Pennsylvania Red Caps, a fast colored aggregation, stepped into the Caseys ball orchard yesterday afternoon and handed them a 4 to 2 beating. The game was a fine pitcher's duel between Wiley, of the visitors, and Woerner, the Casey's new southpaw artist, the former having the edge, his spitball baffling the locals through the regulation nine innings.

The dusky chaps started fireworks in the opening canto, but a flashy double play broke up their efforts and they did not score. Baynard, lead-off for the Red Caps, took one to the fence and banged it to right for two. Crossen fanned, but Smith lifted the first pitched ball for a long liner over the right field barrier. With men on second and third, Smith hit a high fly to Jacobson, who grabbed the sphere out of the air and shot it home, catching Baynard who was trying to score on the catch, a yard from the plate. The fans howled with delight at the splendid piece of fielding and "Jake" received a big hand as he walked to the bench.

The Caseys had to be content with one hit in their time at bat. Jacobson was an easy out, but Eddie Morris singled. He swiped second, and went to third when the shortstop juggled the ball around in center, in an effort to catch him off the bag. O'Leary hit a stinger to the shortfielder, who promptly threw home and caught Morgan easily. [illegible] made the last out for the side, hitting to the first baseman.

The visitors took the lead in the second frame, when they clouted out two hits, and with the aid of an error, a pass, scored two counters. [illegible] led off with a pass and was out at second on a close play, Bailey going to Hudgins, who tried to get the Red Caps' catcher on second for a double play. Wiley single and the bases were congested. Saunders went to the plate, on Johnson's hit to the shortstop, who threw home. Later, Allen lifted a high fly, and Bailey scored the first tally of the game. Wiley tallied later, when [illegible]'s bingle got through "Bus" Hudgins at third.

The locals scored their first run in the fourth inning, Hudgins starting the trick with a single to center. [illegible] walked, and Keating hit safely, a slow roller but the second baseman recovered the ball in time to get "Bibby" at the plate. Leahy singled and Doc Cook rushed over the platter.

The Red Caps put the game in the bag in the fifth inning, scoring two again on successive singles by [illegible] and Harris, and a double by [illegible]. They managed to get a man on third in the next session, but that was the nearest they could get to scoring for the rest of the contest.

The Caseys' last run came in the seventh. "Jake" doubled to left, and tallied when the short stop made a third miscue of the pastime on [illegible]'s easy roller.

[illegible], the Red Cap's star hurler, the manager had the Caseys well in hand all through the afternoon, and the spitter was working to perfection. In the last frame he fanned all of the three men to face him, and only in the seventh inning, when the locals scored their second run, did it seem as though he would have to send out distress signals. He pulled out of the hole however, and stuck to his guns for the rest of the game.

On the other hand, Bill Woerner, the Caseys' new hurler, fanned nine of the dusky crowd, but their nine hits, including five doubles, was enough for the visitors to win the game.

[illegible]AULT CONFIDENT OF EXTENDING MADDEN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Bartley Madden, New York heavyweight, will meet Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, in a fifteen-round match at the Queensboro Stadium, in Long Island City, to-night. Although no title is at stake, the winner of the bout will be considered a possible candidate for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown.

Renault, who has engaged in fifty bouts, during which he was knocked out only once, expects to push Madden to the limit. The New Yorker pins his hopes of victory on the fact that he never has been knocked off his feet in twelve years of boxing and has been defeated only by Harry Wills and Charlie Weinert.

A return engagement between Jerry Eckridge, holder of the junior lightweight championship of the [illegible], and Panama Joe Gans, who lost the title to Eckridge at the [illegible] bouts, will be a secondary feature of to-night's card.

DEMPSEY PREPARING FOR POSSIBLE BOUT FOR 1924

By the United Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will be ready to defend his title against the winner of the Firpo-Wills fight, if Tex Rickard wants to stage the fight in October, according to a message received from Jack Kearns, his manager.

Kearns wired from Los Angeles that Dempsey would rather wait until next spring to meet the winner, but that he was giving up the movies and would be ready to work this fall if the arrangements can be made.

The manager of the champion mentioned a big offer that had been received from a London syndicate for a match between Dempsey and Tom Gibbons and he said it was so large that he would consider [illegible].

MURRAYS TAKE DOUBLE-HEADER

Sullivan Twirls in "Iron Man" Exhibition.

The Murray team strengthened its hold on first place Saturday when the Elizabeth outfit defeated the Clark team, of Newark, in two games, Sullivan's "iron man" stunt being the big feature. The scores of the games were 12-3 and 13-6. Sullivan allowing but two hits in each of the contests. In winning the two games the winners piled up a total of twenty-four runs and thirty-five hits.

The husky ace of the Newark avenue crew pitched two of the most sensational games ever witnessed on the local diamond, and the visitors were helpless before his marvelous speed and control. Twenty-four batters faced him in the first frame, while eighteen saw the plate in the second, which was a five-inning affair.

The Elizabeth team played havoc with the delivery of the Newarker's hurlers and scored whenever they desired. Nygard, twirler in the first contest, was hit the harder of the two, nineteen hits being clouted out in this game. Krauscbe and Kelly were the main offenders while Harrington hit the only homer of the two games, in the second.

Diehl Defeats Durant.

Although Durant struck out seventeen, and allowed but four hits, two passes in the sixth frame spelled defeat for him, as both of the runners scored what proved the winning runs, and Diehl defeated Durant, 2-1. The breaks were plainly against the Braves' hurler, although his tendency to be wild lost the game for him. Mattie and Cotton pitched for the winners and they allowed seven scattered hits, and the losers did not bunch to any extent to score.

MICKEY SPEEDS UP FOR BENNY

Champ Now Well On Way to Tip-Top Condition.

Special to the Journal.

SUMMIT, Aug. 11.—There is more truth than poetry in the rumor that things are going hard with Mickey Walker's sparring partners here at Johnny Collins' ideal training quarters. The whole trouble seems to lie in the fact that Mickey is beginning to regain his well-known form, due to five days of the training grind. During the first few days of training Walker appeared slow and, all in all, was in obvious need of the regular training he has since gained.

However, in his workouts of Saturday and yesterday the welterweight title holder displayed to the satisfaction of his manager, Joe Degnan, and the entire camp retinue that it will not be long before the real Mickey Walker will be seen in the ring. You can't blame sparring partners, Sammy Vogel, Rudy Martins, Jimmy Drew, and Joe Lewis for taking on an object view on life in general. With Mickey's "right" there is trouble aplenty for those who risk the danger of stepping into the ring with him.

Rudy Martins, the French light heavyweight, has about decided that trading punches with Mickey is no diversion for a peaceful man. The fast stepping Sammy Vogel seems to be about the only boxer in camp Mickey has any trouble hitting often enough to appease his bellicose disposition when in the ring.

Spalla Likes Walker.

Erminio Spalla, Italy's offering to the heavyweight ranks, who is training here for three forthcoming bouts to take place this month, is a staunch admirer of Mickey Walker's style of fighting. There is no more keen observer hereabouts when Mickey is boxing with a sparring partner every afternoon.

When in this country for the first time, Spalla viewed Walker in action and took back to Italy with him many fine points of the fistic art, and as he relates, knocked out the first man he met with one of Mickey's deceptive shifts. "Mickey some fighter, alright," is the way Spalla gives his opinion of Walker.

Fine Preliminaries.

In his anxiety to give the fans a series of bang-up preliminaries as an appetizer to the world's welterweight championship duel, matchmaker James J. Johnston, of the Cromwell A. C., under whose auspices the Second Battle of the Century will be held, announces the completion of two of these bouts.

The semi-final of eight rounds will bring together Eddie Burnbrook, sensational army welterweight champion, and Willie Harmon, of New York's East Side. The fur will surely fly when this pair get going. Burnbrook has the distinction of never having lost a fight, scoring forty knockouts in sixty odd battles. He is a terrific puncher, the right cross being his greatest asset. Harmon is an experienced ringster, cool, calculating under fire. The faster the going the better he likes it.

Preceding Burnbrook and Harmon, Johnston will trot out Al Brown, a "dead ray" for George Dixon, to use a popular pugilistic expression, against Murray Layton, another East Sider, pride of the Ghetto. Although Brown scales 112 pounds it is a matter of record that he has flattened boys all the way up to 130 pounds. He is one of the greatest New York developments since Sid Terris came into prominence. The bout is scheduled for six rounds. Brown is a terrific puncher for his inches, clever and can take it. He never misses a punch. The rabid enthusiasts will see a scrap second to none when Brown and Layton square off.

EAST ENDS WIN

The East Ends of this city, traveled to Rockland Lake, N. Y., yesterday and defeated the Rockland Lake B. B. C. by a score of 10-3, the game being decided in the favor of the Elizabeth team by a rally in the fifth inning that netted them eight markers. They pounded out eight of their ten hits in this frame alone. The home team almost upset the tricks, when they scored nine runs in the first two innings, however, but Corcoran tightened up and the homesters were held scoreless for the rest of the game.

The homesters outhit the visitors, but the Elizabethans had the punch and their rally won the contest for them.

SOUTH ORANGE CASEYS DOWNED

Braves Repeat Victory Over Suburban Knights.

The Elizabeth Braves took the South Orange Caseys into camp, Sunday afternoon, at Dirt Diamond, South Orange, by the score of 6 to 4. The Indians were forced to change their lineup owing to the absence of several of their stars. This was the Indians' third straight victory and the second defeat handed the Caseys by the Indians this season. This has been the only time the Caseys have been defeated this season. They had fourteen straight victories up until yesterday.

Whittaker won his second victory for the Braves, holding the Caseys scoreless after the third inning. He held the Knights to seven hits, and allowed but one pass. The Indians made four miscues which were instrumental in the Caseys' scoring. However, he was pretty well supported considering the condition of the field, and two double plays cut off the Caseys from any further trouble. One of the plays came in the ninth inning. With one out Molla singled, Burke hit a line drive over second, which Kelly took with one hand, Molla thinking it was a sure hit had started for second, and Kelly doubled him off ending the game.

The Indians started off by scoring once in the eye-opener on Sumson's single, two sacrifices and a single by Klett. The Caseys evened matters in their half of the inning and took the lead in the second. Here, however, the Indians came up and tallied thrice again putting themselves in the lead. Frank, Klett and Kelly both hit hard balls at Sheridan, who made fine stops but threw wildly to first in each instance sending over two more runs.

The Caseys again evened matters in their half of the inning on two successive hits, and an error which enabled the two runners to score. The Indians scored once in the fourth and the fifth sewing up the game, and were then contented to hold the Knights scoreless.

CAN BENNY LEONARD TAKE HIS THIRD CHAMP?

RAHWAY FIGHTS FOR HARD GAME

Elizabeth A. C. Defeated After Eleven Innings.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—After eleven innings of a see-saw battle, marked by heavy hitting, Rahway A. A. defeated the Elizabeth A. C. Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park, 9 to 8. For six innings Handso outclassed Snowden, but in the seventh the Rahway batters made four safeties for three runs and seemingly clinched, but the Elizabethans coupled three hits with two errors in the eighth and tied the score.

Neither side was able to score in the ninth and tenth, although Brady led off with a triple in the tenth, but his teammates were unable to hit. In the eleventh a single by Book and a triple by Reihy gave the visitors a tally. In the last of the eleventh Armstrong doubled. After Durand had flied out Armstrong went to third on Laurent's hot hit to Book. The pair then worked a double steal, Armstrong scoring and Laurent advancing to second. Schultz hit a hard one, which Book was unable to hold and Laurent went to third. Russo singled to right and Laurent scored the winning run, with Schultz being left at third.

Handso was hit hard in the seventh and eleventh, while Snowden was bombarded in the third, fourth, eighth and eleventh. Book got five hits, two of them doubles, in six times up. Reihy got four hits and Woronski two. For Rahway, Schultz and Russo got four hits apiece, while Armstrong and Laurent had a pair each. Book and Gregory did the best fielding for the Elizabethans, while Armstrong and Durand excelled for the home team, Armstrong getting seventeen putouts and an assist. Price played well for the visitors. Durand made a sensational catch of a line drive by Price. Book made a dandy catch of a drive by Collins.

ELIZABETH A. C. WINS.

The Elizabeth A. C. traveled to South River and defeated the Polish Giants, of that place, yesterday afternoon by a score of 5-4. The game was decided in the ninth frame, when the Elizabeth crew scored three runs and sewed up the game. After trailing for the first four innings, the visitors tallied two runs in the fifth and was out in the sixth. The home team also scored three times in the last inning, but lacked the punch to put over the tying run in this canto. Wronski was the best hitter for the winners, while Pine had a "big" day at bat for the South River bunch.

BOURNE BREAKS COURSE RECORD

Clips Four Strokes Off Echo Lake Par.

Walter R. Bourne, the professional of the Echo Lake Golf Club broke the course record on Saturday afternoon when he negotiated the layout in 68, four strokes under par. The former mark of 69 was made recently by Bobby Cruickshank of Shackamaxon. Bourne is playing unusually good golf for his first year with the Echo Lake Club. He finished up high in the National Open and the P. G. A. tourney. Many of the golfers of this section are predicting that Bourne will cut a wide swath through the American golf ranks before another season is over.

Not an upset was registered in the first round matches of the Shackamaxon Club championship on Saturday afternoon. All the favorites came through strong. The winning list included Harold S. Baird, former Newark A. C. and Downtown Club titleholder, Baxter Sparks, erstwhile Princeton University player and Herbert C. Buchanan, present Shackamaxon champion.

Baird's next opponent will be Bob Meier who conquered Walter Mehl in the closest match of the day. John J. Leonard, one of the best players of the Shackamaxon Club is not in the tourney this year.

First Sixteen.

H. S. Baird defeated Harold Bennett, 3 and 2; Bob Meier defeated Walter Mehl, 1 up; J. J. Carew won from Stacy Bender by default; W. B. Sparks defeated R. C. Harris, 4 and 3; R. T. Revere defeated T. Acki, 4 and 3; Ralph Aronson defeated T. J. Larson, 4 and 3; H. C. Buchanan defeated A. H. Bennett, 6 and 5; Walter Jacobs Jr. defeated Frank E. Bennett, 4 and 3.

Second Sixteen.

Arthur Tuttle won from John May by default; W. T. Earle defeated R. J. Gilbert, 7 and 6; W. J. Connelly defeated E. B. Case, 3 and 2; B. B. Bolling defeated E. G. Rogers, 8 and 7; John Barr defeated Stanley Jarris, 4 and 3; Dr. D. Sheffer defeated W. F. Bass, 5 and 4; J. E. Adams defeated R. L. Allen, 1 up; P. Brundage defeated Ray Doyle, 1 up.

Other club scores are as follows:

WELTERS FEATURE BROAD ARENA CARD

Ward to Hurl Defi at Winner of Woody-Shaw Battle.

Forty rounds of boxing are on the card this evening at the Lyceum Boxing Club arena for the weekly dish of action. Every bout, on paper at least, looks like a tornado, and if the former Lyceum shows are anything to go by, this evening should be a scorcher.

In the top bout, an eight-round affair, Young Vic Woody, the Port welter favorite, is slated to do battle with Willie "Young Tiger" Shaw, of Bayonne. Both boys have shown here recently and the fans know what to expect. Woody is just basking in the limelight after getting a decision over Vic Clifford, while Shaw drew an even break with Willie Ramsey, the Clan Gordon star. Woody is slated for a big rise this time out, and he is keen to show the home-town fans some real punching and action.

In the semi-final bout, another eight-rounder, Larry Regan will hop out of semi-retirement to take a crack at Lester Applebaum, of Rahway. These two battlers are well known for their speed and pep while in action, and it is a certainty that there will be real fireworks going when these two are set loose.

Fistic uproar is also slated in two six-rounders. In the first Andy Gerry will try his stuff on Ollie Slinger, a former Elizabeth star who has been out of the game for a couple of years. Slinger was a classy star bout performer not so long ago and the fans are wondering whether Andy will be able to stand Ollie's gaff for six rounds. In the second six-rounder Joe Petrone will try out Johnny Tashan, a newcomer from the Clan Gordon stable.

It was announced by the officials of the club this morning that Georgie Ward and Sam Golden, his manager, would be on hand this evening to get a bout with the winner of the Woody-Young Tiger fight. Ward is preparing for a heavy campaign through the welter ranks and wants to get some stiff opposition from the best boys in this section before his home-town fans.

Three four-rounders will open up the evening. Larry Mullen will mix with Bobby Nohl, Johnny Grant will face Joe DePhillips and Jack Arthurs will show with Bill Black, Benton Fowler's latest champion-to-be.

WALTER THOMAS ENTERS NATIONAL JUNIOR TEST

Walter Thomas, captain-elect of Battin High School's tennis team, and youthful protege of William T. Tilden, has handed in his entry blank to compete in the national junior tennis championship, which will be held on the South Side Tennis Club's courts, in Chicago, starting to-day. The New Jersey boy created a sensation on the local courts and he was playing in Maplewood when Tilden was attracted by him, because of the wonderful form he displayed. Tilden took the Elizabeth boy with him on his Western invasion, where Thomas was successful in winning six titles. His biggest honor at the present time is national clay court champion, which he won in Chicago.

Entries have been received from A. L. "Sandy" Weiner, who is also one of Tilden's pupils, and Donald Strachan, of Philadelphia.

LINDEN STOPPED BY HARTLEY A. A.

The Linden baseball club met defeat yesterday afternoon, when the crack Hartley A. A., of Kearny invaded their grounds and defeated them 6-4. The game was fast and at times great fielding was flashed.

The homesters took the lead in the first inning when they pushed over a tally, holding the visitors scoreless until the fourth frame, when they tallied once. The Kearny crew put the game on ice, scoring three runs in the sixth and two more in the following cantos.

Harrison, the visitors' left fielder, had a great day at bat collecting four hits of five trips to the platter, one of which was a triple. The Hartley infield also flashed fine form, completing three double plays, and handling many hard chances.

Grupe, the Linden hurler was hit hard, and the winners scored all their runs on clean hitting. He struck out four and walked three. Sax, on the other hand held the losing team well, and pitched fine ball in the pinches.

The Elgins took possession of first place in the Junior Twilight League, when they defeated the Comets, who had formerly been in the van with a half game lead. The game was played at Continental Field, Saturday and the score was 6-5.

Voynick hurled the Elgins to the lead and was touched up for two bingles but he was strong in the pinches, and forced ten of the losing crew to whiff the ozone. Manhart, star slugger of the winners, celebrated the occasion by rapping out three hits, including a double and a homer.

Pushing a run over in the final chapter put the game on ice for the Elgins, after the score had been tied since the fifth frame.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 7---THE TRAVELERS VISIT THE KANGAROOS.

"Where are we going now," asked Nick when the pleasant had passed them both carefully in his back after they had left Weezy. "Who else are you going to visit on your vacation?"

"I believe I'll go to see Kicky Kangaroo," said Weezy. "We used to have a lot of fun in the circus. He's a long way off, but that doesn't seem to stop the Fairy Queen tangle. Let me see if I have my ears. Let me see. Here's that card? The last post-card I had from him had his address on it."

"It must be in your satchel," said Nick.

"So it must," said Weezy.

As the Twins opened the satchel they took out Weezy's nighty and his socks and his toothbrush and there, sure enough, was the lost postcard. It says 'Bamboo Grove, Australia,' read Nick.

"Yes, sir! Of course!" said Weezy, "and my memory was as long as a trunk. But it's only as long as a tail. My head will never serve as a hook. I'm afraid. Wasn't it lucky I happened to have that card with me! Hold tight now, here we go!"

Weezy gave a few flaps with his ears and soon the travelers were sailing away over mountains and seas until they came to Australia. And that's what the whale said to me, when they asked him out to dinner.

And before they knew it there they were at the Bamboo Grove, where Kicky Kangaroo lived.

"It's a sort of tangly place under the trees there was a house and on the door-plate it said, "Minster and Kangaroo."

"Why, it doesn't say a word about Kicky," said Weezy anxiously.

"Oh, it never mentions the children," said Nick grimly. "But if his mother and daddy are here, he must be, too."

"Of course!" said Weezy.

"It's Weezy," said Weezy, "I mean me."

At that the door flew open and out jumped Kicky Kangaroo himself.

"Hello, Weezy!" he cried. "It is lucky my old friend Weezy, the elephant! Are you still doing a circus act?"

"No!" said Weezy. "These are not circus riders. They're Nancy and Nick, the Twins. I'm taking them on travels. And we've come to visit you."

"Then you're just in time," said Kicky. "We're having a ball-game this afternoon between the Jumpers and the Boxers and we need a better and an umpire. Do you want to play? You can bat, Weezy, and Nick and Nancy can be umpires who wins, and Nancy can watch."

"That's fine!" cried Nick and Nancy and Weezy together.

They all went to the ball-field and after meeting Kicky's friends, the game began, with Weezy at the bat.

You never saw such a fast ball-game in your life, and when it was over the score was about two hundred to one hundred and ninety. For when the Kangaroo hops you for home they just gave one hop with their strong hind legs and tails, and there they were. And runs! It was something awful!

But everybody said that Weezy was the best batter they ever had, he knocked the ball so far.

They had such a good time they all stayed a week.

THE AFRICAN JUNGLE---Chapter 8.

As Jack entered the dining-room he made a great discovery. The old cook of the ship was standing with his arms in the air. And right on top of him the ship cook was rubbing away in a terrible fury between the cook's legs and upset him. Away went flying in all directions.

colored voters, then there is no doubt but that we will put him over.

"Already more than 118 pastors of colored churches, representing 40,000 colored voters, have signed petitions for our candidate."

Edge Arraigned.

State Senator Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, campaign manager for Mr Kean, brought out a new angle to the campaign. Before making his address he promised newspaper men he would bring out a statement that would act in the nature of a boomerang to charges recently made by Mr. Edge. He refused, however, to disclose its nature in advance.

The "surprise" came as the climax of Senator Pierson's speech. He recalled an address of Mr. Edge in which the charge was made that the Kean campaign headquarters had already used up the appropriation allowed for campaign expenses.

"And I will now say," he declared, "that I am the campaign manager of Mr. Kean. Before the law I stand responsible for those expenditures. And I want to say that every dollar spent and received will be accounted for. Also, I will be one of the most interested in looking over the account which must be filed with the Secretary of State by Mr. Edge.

"Mr. Edge has said we are spending a lot of money for postage. We are. But, ladies and gentlemen, I want to say, and if I can go as a warning, that Mr. Edge must be careful ■ the future of the mail he sends out on Governor paper, in Governor envelopes, and which does not ever carry a two cent stamp, for up until now he has been taking advantage of the franking system allowed Government officials. There is a penalty of $300 for each offense in which matter other than that of Government business is transmitted through the mails under a frank."

Pierson's Address.

"The campaign is indeed getting interesting. Its interest chiefly lies in the humorous way that Mr. Edge is jumping around the ring and fanning the air. I think I know Mr. Edge pretty well but I am surprised that one so well balanced should lose his head so early in the game.

"You know Mr. Edge is an advertising agent and why he thinks it is cowardly for Mr. Kean to refuse to debate with him on a public platform I cannot understand. Mr. Edge knows perfectly well that Mr. Kean is a business man and not a platform speaker or debater. Mr. Kean believes in doing things, not talking and posing; that is why Mr. Kean has not been advertised throughout the State for the past decade.

"Then too, I have discovered Mr. Edge plays the game by system. Just follow me a minute and you will see something of his system. At first when Mr. Kean's candidacy was announced, Mr. Edge seemed to be quite satisfied, indeed jubilant that he had no more formidable opponent than he thought Mr. Kean would be. He sent out this propaganda.

"Of course, he does not deal in personalities, but at the Cleveland convention his secretary, now his campaign manager, set going the rumor that Mr. Kean had slighted him on the allotment of room. I have gone into this matter thoroughly and find that it is absolutely false.

"Then the rumor that Mr. Kean would withdraw from the race, but he has evidently found that Mr. Kean is not only in the race, but is making something of an interesting contest of it.

"Now about this talk that Mr. Hague would give Mr. Edge such support as he would need to win. I know nothing about where Miss Port got her information, but when Mr. Edge was trying to discourage those in the State who had political influence, his own lieutenants told this to a great number of prospective converts. No doubt, many of you heard just this tale from the Edge people. But Mr. Edge has now found that there are a larger number of people in the Republican Party who stand for principle and his forces are pretty well lined up, now he is trying to charge the rumor to our side.

"I have heard it on a dozen occasions from Edge workers and only three weeks ago got the same thing from his chief lieutenant in South Jersey. This is only a part of the Edge system.

Defends Frelinghuysen.

"Then when Mr. Frelinghuysen came out for Mr. Kean, Mr. Edge undertook to read into Mr. Frelinghuysen's statement that Joe intimated that he would rather see a Democratic Senator elected than to have Mr. Edge re-elected. This was dastardly, as 'Joe' Frelinghuysen is true and never has, and I do not believe ever will, play any part of such a game. From what I have heard, however, of Mr. Edge's treatment of Mr. Frelinghuysen I could see that Mr. Frelinghuysen would be warranted in not being interested in Mr. Edge's candidacy at the primaries.

"The latest feature of Mr. Edge's system developed in the Passaic meeting when he charged that Mr. Kean has already spent the full limit allowed by law. I am his campaign manager and charged with the responsibility for expenditures and you may rest assured that when the accounting goes in, every cent of receipts and expenditures will be properly accounted for. It will not be a statement like Mr. Edge's personal receipts from Jess Salmond, made last fall, then when the Newark News discovered it to be a fraud and exposed the imposition, Jess Salmond came up missing for several months until the thing blew over.

"Mr. Edge will also have to make a statement and it will be interesting to know where his contributions come from, as I think the people of the State are at the present time, interested in this feature of Mr Edge's campaign.

"I noted that in Mr. Edge's statement he recites printed postage and so forth. We are sending out a substantial amount of printed matter, as our theory is that when people know the facts about just how much Mr. Edge really did support the President, they won't be so interested in his professions in this direction. As to postage, I will admit Mr. Edge has had something of the advantage of us as, of course, every United States Senator has the franking privileges for his speeches, letters, pertaining to Government business, etc. This, I guess, is alright, but when Mr. Edge uses these franking privileges and the Government stationery for his political matter, we wonder just how the INDEPENDENT part of it is.

"I had handed to me this morning, a letter Mr. Edge addressed on his official Senate paper to the postmasters of the State, asking for the names and addresses of the employes of their offices, stating that he wants to write a letter explaining about the Postal Pay Increase Bill. I think, Mr. Edge will need to explain quite a good deal to the postal employes about his conduct on this bill. In fact, I am informed that they want to know some rather pertinent things about it, but that is another chapter, and as Mr. Edge wants to do the explaining, we are going to let him. I would suggest, however, that he does not send these letters under his frank, because this means more work for the clerks and carriers and from what I know about their feeling toward Mr. Edge in connection with this bill, I would suggest that he does not try their patience any longer by sending personal communications to them under the Government frank."

Kean Speaks.

Mr. Kean, when introduced, denied he has engaged in personalities during the campaign. Instead, he said, he has attacked the public record of Mr. Edge.

"And any man in public office who cannot stand to have his record exposed should get out," he declared.

Mr. Kean said:

"We have a campaign that is unusual in many ways. The most unusual feature of it all is Mr. Edge's nervousness over the criticism leveled at his public record. Here we have a man who claims to be a fighter and who, after starting his campaign by saying that he was standing upon his record, stages a 'back to' when his record is held up to the light of public opinion. Edge claims I am indulging in personalities. That is untrue. Everyone knows it is untrue. I have not attacked Edge personally. I have attacked his record. His record is vulnerable and I claim I am justified in calling attention to his public acts.

"We believe the voters are interested in knowing that Senator Edge has built up an unsavory political machine to further his personal ambitions and selfish aims that he may endure, irrespective of the consequences to the Republican party.

"That the Republican party is suffering more and more disastrous results in New Jersey through the actions of Senator Edge cannot be controverted. All that is necessary to prove this is a glance at election results in recent years. Republican candidates of high type have been defeated for Governor and United States Senator through defection of Republican voters. Senator Edge has preached a gospel, which is not Republicanism."

Likened to Tammany.

"Mr. Edge's political activities are a part of his political record, and I think you will agree with me that we have not criticized Mr. Edge on anything but his political record. There is no objection to Republicans criticising the acts of Tammany Hall politicians, yet Edge lieutenants have gone as far as any Tammany politician in their political actions.

"Instance the performance of Jess Salmond and Walter Van Riper and their followers in Essex county and their course in the Essex-Hudson County bridge bill. See Tom McDonald, superintendent of the Hudson County Bureau of Elections, Assemblyman Lutz, Hudson County Republican Committee, discharging two men from the Hudson Election Bureau because they were supporting me. Then look at Edward Sturgess, revenue collector of the South Jersey district, dropping Monmouth county from his office because the Monmouth Senator wouldn't take Edge's dictation in legislative matters.

"Further I would have you direct attention to the Legislative Halls at Trenton and see the efforts of Edge to meddle in affairs there. The highway matter is only one of many instances why Senators have told me that if the Edge control is put broken that service at Trenton will be better, for they will be only acting under orders from Edge.

"At Washington, as at Trenton Edge is advocating the interests of Wall Street. When it is expedient for him to oppose President Coolidge he does so, as was instanced by his vote against the inheritance tax bill and support of a postal bill which did not take cognizance of the President's pocket-of-postponement plan, and opposed the bill without any reason except that it would have been a political asset in the approaching election. It also was a betrayal of the postal employes, who would not have been assured of their increase had there been such a provision in the bill.

Printed Spectacles.

"I am ready to leave such criticisms to you to determine if they are not proper in a political campaign, and I am also willing to have you pass upon the question of whether or not I am a fit man to represent the people of Union county in the United States Senate, which is the only office I am asking for at the hands of the voters. I am willing to submit my record as a public servant to the people of Union county, and I am willing to abide by their decision."

ELECTRICAL WORKERS ENJOY ANNUAL OUTING

More than 135 members of local No. 675, Electrical Workers' Union, left by motor from the Moose house, 32 West Scott place, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning for the fourteenth annual excursion of the local to Keyport-by-the-Sea, Great Kills, S. I.

A program of athletic events and a dinner had been arranged by the committee which was composed of Theodore Roll, chairman; V. J. Taylor, Arthur Hargreaves, R. D. Lewis, and Samuel Kistner.

TWO MOTORISTS FINED.

Charged with driving an automobile without lights, Nathan Gemerly, of 21 Cedar avenue, Linden, was fined $3 by Judge Brown in Police Court this morning. Jacob Blum, of 101 Norwood street, Newark, was fined $10 for failure to observe traffic signals. Both complaints were made by Patrolman Heffernan.

Beaf King Before He Takes Power.

Tribal chiefs on the West Coast of Africa have absolute power over the subordinate village chiefs and their subjects. The great chief's person is sacred, and no one may touch him under penalty of death.

But before the tribal chief is made king, there is a period of instruction by the village chiefs. They have elected the man from their own number to succeed a dead king, and in an isolated place they teach him in his new duties. If he is slow to grasp the lessons, he is beaten with sticks, cuffed and maltreated. His person is not yet sacred, as he is not king. But on the day appointed he is brought before all the people, acclaimed king, and thenceforth his instructors are subject to his slightest whim.—Detroit News.

HOUSE IS DAMAGED, TWO HURT IN BLAST

Cause of East Grand Street Explosion Laid to Faulty Fixtures—Dishes and Furniture Broken—Estimate Loss at $1,000.

An explosion of illuminating gas Saturday afternoon in the home occupied by Edward Magee at 1147 East Grand street resulted in considerable damage and Mrs. Magee and her son, Edward Walsh, being knocked semi-conscious. Furniture and dishes were broken. Robert Walsh, 5-month's old, escaped injury. The damage is estimated at $1,000. The cause is laid to faulty fixtures.
Dennis Boyle, of 911 Anna street, thinking there was a fire, turned in an alarm from Box No. 32. When Engine Companies Nos. 1 and 2 and Truck Company No. 1 arrived, there was nothing for them to do.
The Magee family moved into the house last Thursday, having come here from Baton Rouge, La. The gas was not turned on until shortly before noon Saturday, and no attempt was made to use it until about 5 o'clock. Mrs. Magee lighted a gas plate to prepare the evening meal. There was an explosion in the wall between the kitchen and dining-room.
Plaster on the walls and ceiling over the dining-room, Mrs. Walsh's rooms fell, the second story flooring was ripped up and the main ceiling was broken. Practically every dish in the kitchen closet was smashed. Furniture in the second floor rooms was ripped to shreds by splinters.
An examination after the explosion showed that a dead-end gas pipe entered the wall from the basement at the junction of the baseboard and door moulding. It is believed that the space between the walls had become filled with gas due to a leak in the pipe and the lighting of the gas plate caused the explosion. Although a burst of flame accompanied the explosion, nothing was set on fire.
As soon as he had recovered from the force of the explosion, Mr. Magee, who was in the dining-room, rushed to the basement where he turned off the gas at the meter. In the kitchen, Mrs. Magee and her son, Mr. Walsh, were knocked down. Mrs. Magee had to be carried into the yard to recover from shock. Walsh regained consciousness a few seconds later.
The infant was in his carriage on the side of the dining-room farthest from the explosion. Mrs. Walsh, who was with him, was not hurt.

POWER LACKING, HORRE RESIGNS

Quits Adjustment Board in View of Opinion.

NO USE IN "BOTHERING" WITH ZONE LAW.

George W. Horre has tendered his resignation to the Board of Works as a member of the Adjustment board, it was learned to-day. Although it was admitted at the office of the Board of Works this morning that the resignation was awaiting action of the board, it was said that it had not yet been "officially received."
The contents of the letter were not made public, but Commissioner Horre said to-day he did not care to serve longer on a board that does not function.
The city attorney says the law doesn't stand, so what's the use of bothering with it?" he said.
He referred to the recent ruling of City Attorney Joseph T. Hague, which was given the Board of Works with reference to apartment houses in restricted neighborhoods.
Officials at City Hall to-day intimated that Commissioner Horre's resignation was prompted because of a recent resolution adopted by the Board of Works changing the classification of Morris avenue, between Tremont Morrell and Reid streets, to permit the erection of apartment houses.
Commissioner Horre was a member of the old Board of Appeals, which recently gave way to the present Board of Adjustment. His term on the Board of Appeals expired May 15, last, and he was appointed for a two-year term on the Board of Adjustment, dating from May 20, last.
Members of the Board of Adjustment anticipate a lively session tomorrow night when they meet to pass upon applications for apartment houses and gasoline stations. Many property owners within the zone have been invited to the office of Joseph McGovern, attorney for the board, concerning the proposed new structures and asking what steps to take to opposition.
According to Mr. McGovern, opposition will be strongest against a permit for a gasoline station on the southeast corner of Rahway road and Jefferson avenue, which is being eliminated, while speaking on current events before the Exchange Club at noon to-day in the Manhattan Tea Room. He also warned against the aim of Senator La Follette to have Congress override decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court.
He advocated study of the messages of the Presidential candidates and for the greatest co-operation the citizens and public officials.
"We are living in a wonderful age and we don't realize it, because we are a part of it," said former Judge Morgan. After calling attention to the radio, transmission of photographs by wire, and the United States Navy now circling the globe, he remarked: "During the past fifteen years the Rotary Club, Exchange, Kiwanis and Lions have sprung up by giving service to the community. They are primarily luncheon clubs and the trouble is that they are not strong enough to mould public opinion. When we imagine we are progressing, we usually find we are snubbed.
"We see a great deal in the papers about such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan," he stated. "If the thinking men and women of the country would unite, they could destroy this organization. Any invisible society is a detriment to the country. Last Sunday I read in the paper, and was amazed, that the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club and the Rotary Club of which, I believe, is president is the Exchange and other social members of St. Petersburg, Fla., which, I imagine, is considered a typical modern city, had adopted resolutions in which they stated that they did not intend to have any Jews in their city because they considered them to be foreigners.
"Think of what this means!" he asked. "If the Jews should get away from New York City, they could move to me and I and Jews in Petersburg intend to keep them out of our city. This will mean that the country would be divided and it would be necessary to prevent cross-roads as from one city to another. This is un-American and outrageous. It is time for the good men to the front, Rotary and other organizations and time for us

THINKS LEOPOLD WAS ABNORMAL

Influenced by Loeb on Day of Crime, Says Alienist.

WOULD NOT HAVE DONE IT ALONE, CLAIM.

By the United Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., was "not normal" on May 21, 1924, when he and Richard Loeb killed Robert Franks, Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, defense alienist, testified to-day at the judicial hearing of the youths.
"My conclusion is based," Dr. Hulbert said, "on his abnormally highly developed intellect; on his immature judgment and on the fact that his emotions are so slight that they permitted him to act in an abnormal manner."
Leopold's abnormal mental condition, had a direct bearing on the murder, Dr. Hulbert declared. This condition left him open to suggestion from his associate, Loeb. Alone, Leopold would not have committed the crime, Dr. Hulbert said.
"Loeb in committing his part in the Franks murder, was largely swayed by motives harbored since childhood," Dr. Hulbert said. "Although his education was not in itself a factor, his outside reading, including the detective stories he started reading at the age of nine, continued up until the time of the crime, was a factor. The fact that his emotions and his judgment were immature would have influenced him."
"Neither Nathan Leopold nor Richard Loeb could have committed the murder of Robert Franks were it not for their abnormal minds."
Following this testimony the defense turned Dr. Hulbert over to the prosecution for cross-examination.
State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe attempted first to bring out that the witness had had little of any importance in visualing criminals. Dr. Hulbert named several prominent Chicago criminals whom he had examined.
Crowe then shifted his tactics, asking the witness what if any thing, he found in the physical examinations of Leopold and Loeb that would indicate they were mentally abnormal or had criminalistic tendencies.
The witness said nothing in the physical examination—exclusive of the Alienist's test—could indicate they were abnormal mentally or criminalistic tendencies. He said, however, that laboratory test would indicate either abnormality mentally or criminalistic tendencies. He said that laboratory tests of gland reactions in both boys indicated diseased functions of their brain.
"Are you a doctor, Mr. Hulbert, that these two intellectuals didn't cheat you?" Crowe asked.
"I am sure they didn't," the witness replied.
"Well, couldn't they have cheated you if they had wanted to?"
"No."
"Why?"
"Because, I'm brighter than they are."
"Do you mean intellectually or emotionally, doctor?"
"Both," the doctor replied with a smile toward the youthful college graduates.
"Does that go for the precocious Mr. Leopold as well as Loeb?" Crowe asked.
Crowe assailed the credibility of Dr. Hulbert as a witness. He repeatedly drove at the point that this witness had not had nor conducted several of the laboratory tests and that he could not give out the names of the laboratory experts who made them.

CRUISER GIVING AID TO 'PLANES RAMS INTO ICE

By the Associated Press.
REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 11.—The United States Cruiser Raleigh, exploring the east coast of Greenland in search of a landing place for the American army round-the-world fliers, to-day reported to Rear-Admiral Mayo-Smith that she was in a dense fog ninety miles east-southeast of Angmagsalik and that she had encountered many floating ice formations.
While the vessel was attempting to gain the sea clear of ice, a hummock touched it, slightly damaging the starboard forward propeller, according to the report to the Admiral.
In a statement this morning, Admiral Eberle said it was doubtful if Angmagsalik could be used as a base by the scout planes which are being carried by the cruisers Raleigh and Richmond to explore the coast. A plan had been considered whereby these planes would carry fuel for the round-the-world planes over the Angmagsalik ice field.
The Danish supply ship Gertrud Rask which is ice bound southeast of Angmagsalik and which was reported yesterday that she needed coal, expects to clear the ice pack in two days, she reported to-day. Flight Commander Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith has arranged a trawler here to carry 300 tons of coal to the Danish ship and to re-fuel her at the edge of the ice pack.
Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson believe that the hope of providing a base at Angmagsalik at some point further south on the east coast of Greenland now depends on the Gertrud Rask.
There is no question of calling off the world flight because of conditions around the shore of Greenland, according to an official statement issued on board the cruiser Richmond. Flight Commander Smith, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith has arranged a trawler here to carry 300 tons of coal to the Danish ship and to re-fuel her at the edge of the ice pack.

The aviators are faced with three possibilities in making their next hop. First, they may find a base for the scout planes may find a safe landing haven for them on the Greenland coast; second, they may fly to Angmagsalik Harbor, which is free of ice, provided the Raleigh's planes can take enough fuel there to provide for the flight; third, they may attempt a non-stop flight from this port to Iceland on the western coast of Greenland, or to a base near Cape Farewell, on the southernmost tip.
The last-named project would entail a flight of 700 miles, necessitating the heaviest load for landing at sea to re-fuel from the Raleigh.

ON BOARD THE U. S. CRUISER RALEIGH, Off The East Coast Of Greenland, Aug. 10 (delayed).—Proceeding slowly through dense fog and cautiously approaching the East Coast of Greenland in search of a safe landing place for the American round-the-world fliers, the cruiser was in Reykjavik, Iceland, awaiting word of the hoped-for discovery of an ice-free harbor, their next landing place, the Raleigh at 10:30 o'clock this morning for the first time ran into ice in the form of a small drift.
Little can be done until the fog lifts, it is hoped, but it is the purpose to allow the two scout planes which the Raleigh is carrying to begin a search for landing places on the coast line this afternoon.

ELUSIVE AUTOIST, CAUGHT, FINED $50

For driving an unregistered automobile, which carried no license plates, Eugene Schultz, of 454 Magie avenue, was fined $50 in Police Court this morning.
The police say that they had been looking for Schultz since last May. Inspector of the State Motor Vehicle Inspector Lawlor and asked to show his license.
At that time Schultz is said to have told Lawlor that he had left his license at home. He was allowed to go after it, with the understanding that he return with it to police headquarters. The police declare they had not seen him until yesterday when he was arrested driving the same car, still unregistered.
Charges were also made against Schultz for driving without a license, but they were not pressed.
"He has been a very hide-and-seek with the department," said Inspector James J. Shanley, who made the arrest.

RAT BITES CHILD SLEEPING IN CRIB

One-year-old Florence Ellsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ellsworth, of 412 East Jersey Street, was badly wounded by bites of a rat on both feet shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, while asleep in a crib in the front room of the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bulmer, of 343 Fulton street. She was taken to the Elizabeth General Hospital, where the wounds were pronounced fair. She was taken to the hospital in the automobile of Patrolman Charles Christensen, of the Fulton street station, who was summoned by the child's grandmother, Mrs. Bulmer.
The child's mother, Mrs. Blanch Collins, was seriously injured when the negro attacked them with an axe. Mrs. Collins had repulsed his advances, and was awakened by the same room, was awakened by the child's screams. She saw the rat leave the crib, jumping from the crib to the floor. Upon investigating, she found the child's foot bleeding from two bites on the left foot and one on the right foot. The child's grandfather and uncle, James Bulmer, also were awakened and took the baby to the Elizabeth General Hospital. Dr. Nicholas Brothers, Dr. Douglas and Dr. Boyle attended the child.
Mrs. Bulmer said to-day that the negro is in the bathroom, adjoining the bedroom in which the baby was found, when she heard the rat jumped through the opening.

Charge Against Dentist to Be Heard August 26.

M'NAIR AND DR. CLEARY IGNORE EACH OTHER.

Upon application of Francis A. Gordon, attorney for the complainant, the assault and battery charge brought by Robert J. McNair, of 763 Linden avenue, tax assessor of the Tenth Ward, against Dr. George C. Cleary, a dentist at 80 Broad street, was postponed by Judge Brown in Police Court to-day until 10 A. M., August 26. Dr. Cleary was placed in the custody of his counsel, Aaron Kaufman.
The trouble between Dr. Cleary and Assessor McNair culminated in a fistic fight in front of the latter's home last Thursday night. The following afternoon the assessor swore out a complaint of assault and battery against the dentist.
Both were in court to-day. Dr. Cleary arrived shortly after 9 o'clock and stood in the main hallway of Police Headquarters, reading a newspaper. A short time later Assessor McNair, his counsel and Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson believe that the hope of providing a base at Angmagsalik at some point further south on the east coast of Greenland now depends on the Gertrud Rask.

CHARGES GUARDS ASSIST RUM MEN

Monmouth County Officers Causes Investigation.

By the Associated Press.
ASBURY PARK, Aug. 11.—An open charge that the Avon station of the United States Coast Guards is co-operating with rum runners was made by Monmouth County Detective Davenport to County Prosecutor Sexton to-day.
As a result of the charges, Superintendent M. W. Rasmussen, of the fifth district of the coast guards, and Chief Officers here, has announced that he has ordered Detective Davenport, Prosecutor Sexton, Captain Brower, of the Avon station, and the police personnel of that station to report to him for a conference and probe of the charges this afternoon. He added that a sweeping investigation will be made.
Detective Davenport reported that during Saturday night, which he spent on the Avon coast guard station, he was by him to flash danger signals to a rum runner which was approaching the shore at Shark River Inlet. He also reported a car in the other coast guardsmen on the shore working with the rum runners.

ELIZABETH AUTO BADLY DAMAGED

Drivers Unhurt in Collision at Park.

WEEK-END ACCIDENTS ARE NUMEROUS.

Special to the Journal.
ROSELLE PARK, Aug. 11.—An auto driven by Gus Koenig, of 42 Second avenue, Garwood, collided with a Ford driven by Charles S. Riley, of 1004 Anna street, Elizabeth, at 11 o'clock last night at the intersection of Westfield avenue and Ashton street. Neither driver was injured, but the fender on Riley's machine was pulled off the body and the left rear wheel was broken.
Koenig was driving west on Westfield avenue when Riley came out of Dalton street and turned east on Westfield avenue. Before Koenig could stop his car they collided. Officers Durocher and Krauss made the investigation.
Dorothy Dixon, 14 years old, of 133 Walnut street, escaped injury when the bicycle she was riding was struck by a machine driven by Richard Lee, of 241 New street, Orange, on Chestnut street, directly in front of police headquarters shortly before noon Saturday. Lee, chauffeur for Mrs. David Weinberg, of 45 Baldwin avenue, Newark, who was in the machine at the time, was driving south on Chestnut street. The girl was riding her bicycle in the same direction and, according to the police, she swerved into the path of the automobile. She was knocked to the street by the impact, but escaped injury. The rear wheel of the bicycle was broken, for which Mrs. Weinberg agreed to pay. Officer Behring investigated the accident.
While walking about her home early Sunday morning, Eugenia Hlenbach, of 505 Westfield avenue, stepped on a rusty nail. She was taken to the St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, where she was given an injection of tetanus anti-toxin.

Accidents at Rahway.

Special to the Journal.
RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—When a Dodge touring car driven by Thomas Malonick, 21 Orchard street, Newark, skidded Saturday night with a truck owned by Herbert Lee Adams and driven by David L. Adams, of Edgewater, Mrs. Frances Holsten received two cuts on one lip and a cut on her tongue. The windshield was knocked from the Dodge car on the Durant car. Motorcycle Officer George McIntyre investigated.
Slight damage was done Saturday night when a Ford driven by Stanislaus Zolle, of 117 Monroe street, crashed into the rear of an auto driven by Fred Foster, of 55 Willow street. Zolle was summoned to appear in Police Court to-morrow afternoon.
Mrs. Gordon, of 830 Central avenue, Plainfield, reported at police headquarters Saturday night that a boy riding a bicycle had driven into and bumped into his machine. Gordon took the boy to the office of Dr. J. R. Young and had him examined. The boy was not injured. The cycle was not damaged. The name of the boy was not obtained by the police.
There was a collision last night at St. George avenue and Union street, between a touring car driven by Detective Gunning, 83 Roosevelt avenue, Raritan, and Lafayette Oliver, of 1223 Broad street, Newark, riding a motorcycle. Gunner said Oliver ran into the car of his operated by his subordinate. Motorcycle Officer McIntyre investigated.

Police Accuse Driver.

Special to the Journal.
LINDEN, Aug. 11.—Calogero Selighrigno, of 344 First street, Jersey City, was arrested yesterday on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, after the machine he was driving had collided with a car driven by Harry Pavsner, of 736 Walnut street, Roselle, at Edgar road and Stiles street. Selighrigno was released in $500 bail, furnished a bond of $500 for his appearance in Police Court on August 20.
According to the police, Selighrigno was intoxicated and was alone responsible for the accident which occurred at 2:30 o'clock yesterday, when he was driving had a New Jersey license tag, while he carried a New York driver's license, the police say.
Accidental Death Verdict Rendered.

Come to Full Accord in All-Night Session---Conference End in Sight.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Allied and German experts attached to the International Reparation Conference have reached a full agreement on the Dawes program, it was announced this noon. They remained in session until 3 o'clock this morning to arrive at an understanding on reparation payments in kind, on which the Germans held out until the results of Premier Herriot's Paris mission became known.
The French Premier's return with his cabinet's approval of his Ruhr evacuation policy in his pocket put new life and hope into the negotiators, and British observers believe the conference will end by Thursday. The completion of the experts' work here and Premier Herriot's success in his Paris mission justifies the hope that the conference will come to a close before the week-end, according to a Foreign Office spokesman.

TWO MEN HURT BY AUTOMOBILES

Policeman Injured As Driver Makes Sudden Turn.

SERIES OF MOTOR ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END.

Injury to two men, one of whom was a policeman and damage to a number of automobiles, were the toll of the week-end motor accidents in this city. Motorcycle Patrolman Richard Barry was one of the victims.
Felix Marcsak, 46 years old, who said he lived at 740 Bayway, was taken to the St. Elizabeth Hospital last night after he had been struck by a car driven by Paul Bennett, of 130 Jasles place. According to Marcsak's account, the sedan was going north on Bible street, near Bayway and carried no lights. Marcsak was knocked down, and sustained multiple contusions of the body. He was given tetanus anti-toxin treatment, and this morning his condition was reported as being fair, by the hospital authorities.
Bennett was held in bail pending the result of Marcsak's injuries. With him in the car were Walter Cohen, of 115 Jasles avenue, and Walter Rayne, of 531 Broadway.

Trolley Hits Auto.

While chasing a speeding car on North Broad street Saturday afternoon, Motorcycle Patrolman Richard Barry narrowly escaped serious injury when a Ford car driven by George Heller, of 22 South Reid street, turned abruptly in front of the motorcycle patrolman without giving a signal. Barry crashed into the left front wheel of the car, being thrown to the road by the motorcycle and injured his left knee. Barry remained on duty.
The Ford car was only ten feet ahead of Barry, who was traveling at a good rate of speed, when the car suddenly swerved around, according to the patrolman. The speeder appeared before Police Commissioner Walsh in Police Court on August 20.
Two Cars Damaged.
A car driven by Herman Wallenstein, of 20 Seymour avenue, Newark, collided with a car owned by Edward Gallanoco, of 324 Cleveland avenue, and driven by Carmen Angelone, of 19 Cleveland avenue, Harrison, in front of 451 North Broad street, at 9:20 Saturday night, according to a report filed at Police Headquarters. Both cars were slightly damaged.
At 8:45 o'clock Saturday night a car driven by Leighton Williamson, of 1247 Hillside avenue, Hillside, collided with a car driven by Henry Boettner, of 29 Reid street, at North Broad and Mary streets. Williamson, according to Patrolman Christensen, admitted that the accident was his fault and stated that he would pay for the damage done to Boettner's car.

GET HERRIOT REPORT.

This morning the "Big Fourteen"—the Allied and German delegation leaders—met for an hour and a half at No. 10 Downing-street and heard M. Herriot's report of his Paris trip. They then briefly considered the one remaining problem within the purview of the conference proper—that of the Allied railway men remaining on the German lines.
This issue is so closely connected with that of the evacuation of the Ruhr that both seem likely to be settled at the same time, although the Ruhr issue will be kept outside the conference.

Ruhr Also Discussed.

During the morning the allied delegates also met with the Germans who approved the conclusions of the second committee which has been studying the problem of the economic evacuation of the Ruhr.
Prime Minister MacDonald accepted a suggestion made by M. Herriot that the Allied delegates, sometime before the end of the conference, exchange views with the German delegates on the resumption of military control of Germany in order to give France assurances regarding her security.
M. Herriot declared that the decisions taken by the Allies at the conference concerning the evacuation of the Ruhr, had shown the peaceful spirit of France and had brought immediate results. He said the conference now was assured of success.

See Acceptance Assured.

It is thought Premier Herriot is returning from Paris with the approval of his ministerial colleagues and of Marshal Foch to the evacuation of the Ruhr by the French military forces under conditions such as to assure acceptance by the Germans.
The first of the three protocols necessary to put the Dawes plan in operation was signed on Saturday by the Belgian representatives at the Reparation Commission. This document embodies formal acceptance of the Dawes plan. The Reparation Commission on its part ratifies all German assets, making them available as security for the proposed loan to Germany.
Of the remaining protocols, one is between the Allies and Germany and the other contains an agreement among the allied nations. The effectiveness of the one signed Saturday depends upon these two, a conclusion which in turn hinges on the ability of Premier Herriot and the Germans to get together following the premier's return from Paris.
Names for the post of permanent reparations agent to carry the Dawes plan into effect are being discussed generally now in conference circles since the announcement that the French will agree to the evacuation of the Ruhr on conditions which it seems likely the Germans will accept. Gilbert Logan, American representative on the reparation commission; Dwight W. Morrow, of J. P. Morgan and Company, and Paul D. Cravath, are three Americans mentioned frequently for the post, together with a number of "dark horses," who have not been identified with reparation affairs.
Owen D. Young, of the Dawes committee, seems to be generally regarded as the conference circles as the ideal man to initiate the Dawes plan, but his announcement that he would only consider taking the post temporarily makes the selection of his successor necessary at an early date.

JERSEY CROPS ARE BACKWARD

Dry Weather and Cool Nights Retard Growth.

Special to the Journal.

TRENTON, Aug. 11.—Summarizing crop conditions August 1, the State Department of Agriculture today said July was not a favorable month for the farmers. Although in the first part conditions favored growth, the exceedingly dry weather and cool nights prevailing in all parts of the State for the past three weeks has slowed up most crops, sweet corn and melons particularly.

Hail in certain areas in the second week of July injured fruits and truck crops. The dry weather has made it difficult to prepare the ground for late crops. Plant diseases and insect injury continue to be more severe than usual.

"Corn is still backward and unless we have a very favorable fall, many fields will not reach maturity," according to the department. "Grain and grasses were favored by ample moisture during the spring and early summer and these crops are generally good. Potatoes were late in starting and stands are somewhat uneven. The crop made excellent growth during June and the forepart of July. A good crop of cobblers and giants is now practically assured. Late round varieties are beginning to need rain badly and some late blight is showing.

"Sweet potatoes have improved and stem rot seems less prevalent than usual. Apples have shown a sharp decline since a month ago, due to June drop, which occurred late this season. Early varieties are extremely light with few exceptions. Late apples are somewhat better.

"The peach crop is heavy in all sections and pears are above the average. Onions and cabbage yielded well. Tomatoes are in good condition in the central counties, but below the average in South Jersey. Berries have been damaged to some extent by dry weather."

The grape crop August 1 was estimated at eighty-three per cent. of normal, compared with eighty-four per cent. a year ago, but on an average for the production in the past ten years.

Farm labor demands exceed the supply. The supply is figured at eighty-seven per cent. and the demand at ninety-one per cent.

LOSS ABOVE $2,000,000 IN OLD HICKORY BLAZE

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—Powder, machinery and buildings valued at $28,000,000, war-time prices, and at more than $2,000,000 at present valuation, were destroyed in a fire that swept clean a forty-acre tract in the heart of the Old Hickory Powder Plant at Jacksonville, Tenn., near here yesterday morning.

Approximately 45,000,000 pounds of gun powder, stored by the United States Government as a war reserve, were consumed in the flames.

The cost of manufacturing this powder during the war, according to Major Oscar Krupp, United States Ordnance Department officer in charge, was fifty cents a pound, making the total cost $22,500,000. The present market value of the powder is one cent a pound, making the total value $450,000, Major Krupp said.

The fire is said to be the greatest single loss the Government has suffered since the war.

SHIPS' CREWS DETAINED AFTER BLAZE OFF N. J.

By the Associated Press.

CAPE MAY, Aug. 11.—The auxiliary sloop Telirie was burned to the water's edge off Cape May Point and the former submarine chaser Cariari she was towing from New York to Costa Rica was driven ashore by the heavy waves. Members of both crews, who made their way to shore in small boats, were ordered detained by coast guard officials until their clearance papers from New York are examined and an investigation of the cause of the fire is completed.

Captain L. Simonsson, of the Telirie, said the Cariari was to be delivered to the Costa Rican Government. He said the fire had started in the engine room and gained such rapid headway that the crew was forced to abandon the craft, which sank shortly afterward. The auxiliary sloop carried a crew of four and the Cariari two men.

MUSICIAN AND WIFE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

By the Associated Press.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 11.—Donald A. Eynon, an Easton musician, and his wife were killed and Frank Opitz, also a musician, was seriously hurt yesterday when their motor car ran up a steep embankment near Martin's Creek, and then rolled down, landing upright. Mr. and Mrs. Eynon were thrown out and Opitz was pinned in the driver's seat.

Mrs. Eynon was killed instantly and her husband died a few hours later. Opitz had his skull fractured and physicians said his chances for recovery were slight.

DOG SUPERVISOR WILL QUIT POST

Dr. Ungerer, Westfield, Objects to Serving Summonses.

Special to the Journal.

WESTFIELD, Aug. 11.—When the Town Council meets at the Town Hall to-night the members will receive the resignation of Dr. Harry Ungerer as superintendent of the Westfield dog and cat department. The doctor stated yesterday that he intended to place his resignation in the hands of the town clerk this morning at 10 o'clock. He wished to emphasize the fact that this was his second resignation within three months.

Dr. Ungerer refused to fully explain the grounds for his action, but stated himself by saying, "I refuse to serve summonses on any of these fellow citizens."

It is a matter of common knowledge among town officials that the doctor was given forty-two summonses more than a week ago with orders to serve them on dog owners who had neglected to have their dogs licensed for 1924. He was instructed to make sure that everyone served was at the present time the owner of a dog.

These best acquainted with the doctor say he is opposed to the idea of attempting to attribute opposition of reminder, and attribute his refusal to deliver the summonses to this conviction.

Dr. Ungerer resigned once before, but agreed to return to his position. He says, however, that he doesn't intend to make a habit of resigning and being reinstated.

AUTOIST SLIGHTLY HURT.

GUARDSMAN ARRESTED.

Lieutenant Edward Nelson served a warrant on Charles Delago, of Plainfield, Saturday afternoon on the request of Major William A. Hugo, commander of the Second Squadron, 102nd Cavalry, New Jersey National Guard, who charged Delago with having absented himself from six drills. Delago paid a $12 fine and was released.

HOLE DAMAGES CARS.

A number of automobiles traveling over West Dudley avenue Saturday night were damaged on striking an excavation in the roadway near North avenue, caused by the heavy rain. Benjamin Nicolls of 1141 South Second street, Plainfield, and Edward Cassana of North avenue, North Plains, were among those whose cars were damaged. Cassana placed a red lantern over it, and Patrolman Ernest H. Long was sent to put another one out. Motorcycle Patrolman Robert C. McCollum, yesterday morning, found the hole 2 feet deep and extended from the gutter to the center of the road, 12 or 14 feet. He set up sticks to warn motorists of the danger.

Now he's a successful youth, and the worry she does most all the way from the office end to hiking out to direct steam shovel and trench machine crews.

LINDEN KIDDIES USE NEW PARK

Curtis Street Play Spot Boon in Hot Weather.

Special to the Journal.

LINDEN, Aug. 11.—Men, children of the borough and also the township as well as adults have been enjoying the new borough park in Curtis street the latter part of last week during the hot wave and they will continue to use this happy resort where they obtain temporary relief from the heat. Residents are pressing practically every day and those who are not using the wading pool are enjoying the playground devices that have been placed in the park. The records of happy children frolicking in the park are a pleasant sight to observe and Tuesday will be the day when West Elmora, which is the section of the town nearest the park, is quite wide and in the center is a small island. This, though occupies more room, watching it, for several months, preparing it for just such weather as last week. The dam, which is about 15 inches high, affords a suitable wading pool for the children, some of whom often go into the brook with their bathing suits.

The park now is equipped with much of which was donated by the Standard Oil Company. These devices include, swings, slides, teeter, etc. The park is often crowded at night also during the warm weather with bathers. This is the first and only park with a pool in Linden.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Linden Negro Falls Down Flues—Slightly Hurt.

Special to the Journal.

LINDEN, Aug. 11.—Falling three stories down a flue and escaping serious injuries than a separated back and a few contusions is the record of Charles Bonaparte, a negro, who, a resident of 607 Third, Linden, Bonaparte visited his mother-in-law at the Lincoln House following night. Going to a window he fell through from the opposite side. Bonaparte missed for out over the edge, but his balance and landed on the street, a distance of 30 feet. His friends rushed to his aid, supposing to find him dead, and called the police.

The ambulance was summoned and Bonaparte was rushed to the St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, where it was said his injuries were not fatal, suffering from a sprain in the lumbar region of his back and from contusions. He is expected to be discharged from the hospital in a few days.

AUTO AFIRE.

The automobile belonging to Howard Shelley, of 1246 East Grove street, caught fire yesterday afternoon when he started the motor after buying gasoline at the filling station, 310 Newark avenue. The engine was slightly damaged by the flames which was promptly extinguished by the owner.

FAIL TO SAVE PLAYMATE

CRESTON, Aug. 11.—Mary Dobiak, aged 13, was drowned while swimming with playmates of her own age in Nash's Pond here yesterday afternoon. Marv and Stella Orm, sisters, aged 9 and 12, respectively, responded to the child's call for help, but the water was too deep for them and they had hard work saving themselves. The body was recovered.

A Little Message to Our Friends

The world is a testing place. All things are challenged. All things are tried as to their fitness. The fairest looks over the seals before he places them in the ground. The chemist examines materials in the laboratory before allowing their entrance into compounds. The master has his plumb line close by, and the carpenter's level is continually at hand to confirm an accurate goal that is buildings. The writer tries various words. The musician attempts different notes. The inventor goes through innumerable experiments. Progress comes out of testing, out of experiment, out of comparison, until the right thing results. But challenge is only one-half in the story of achievement. Acceptance is the other half. Once tried and found correct, a thing is worth while having, else life would be full of useless duplication and waste. The shopper who takes pains to compare, to investigate, to test, to prove, is wise. But once tested and found reliable, it is further wisdom for the shopper to accept the benefit of relations with such a department store that has proved its worthiness.

"You didn't remember your Clutch"

"OUT of sight, out of mind, lad", says the old-time Fleet Boss. "You've got to remember to keep your clutch collar lubricated, keep your clutch adjusted right, and have the clutch cleaned out occasionally, even if you can't see it work. If you let it slip along, you waste power. It grabs, you strain your whole car. Adjustment and the right oil will cut down these trips to the shop."

"Standard" Polarine oils in the motor also lubricate most clutches properly without extra attention. A little neats foot oil on your leather cone clutch will ease the grabbing. SILVER MINERS IN BAD STRAITS

Gold Producers Also Say They Garner No Profits.

By HARRY B. HUNT.
NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Prospects for prospectors are bad, says Senator Tasker L. Oddie, chairman of the Senate's special committee investigating the gold and silver industry.

In fact, according to Oddie, digging gold and silver has become even less profitable than digging parsnips and potatoes.

If the farmers who have thought they've had hard times for the past few years had been delving deep for their living instead of merely scratching the face of nature, he opines, they'd have had something really to kick about.

And just as the farmers have been demanding relief by legislation to stimulate the exportation of American foodstuffs, Oddie wants the Government to lend a hand to save the gold and silver magnates from bankruptcy.

China His Hope.

Casting about for some new world market for silver, Oddie has picked China as the one best bet.

If China can be persuaded to amend her "complicated and heterogeneous currency system," which now "seriously limits the market possibilities of silver," a silver lining to the present clouds will be provided.

Timely assistance by the Polish Government, which recently purchased six million ounces of silver to be made into small change for the Poles, has been a help.

But no such relief has come to the gold and silver producer as has come to the farmer, in the bounding prices of corn and hogs, wheat and cotton. Instead, the price of silver hangs close around the record low mark of 42.3 cents per ounce, reached last summer. And as for gold:

"Relatively many more mines producing gold have been forced to shout down due to adverse economic conditions," Oddie declares.

Oddie's sympathies naturally go to the boys who try to get their gold and silver direct from the veins of Mother Earth. For that's where he got his.

Although he was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., the west lured him in his early teens. He spent three years, from 16 to 19, as a cowboy.

He returned to New York and tried his hand at real estate and banking, meanwhile studying law at night. But soon after he got his law degree from New York University the call of the West got him again and he deserted the Empire State and the gulches of Gotham for good.

Made Lucky Strike.

He lit in Nevada in February, 1898. As there wasn't any immediate demand for his legal services, he mixed a bit in mining and prospecting.

In 1899 his big luck came. He was one of the discoverers of the great gold and silver camp of the Tonopah. He was manager of the Tonopah properties for the first five years.

Goldfield, perhaps Nevada's most famous camp, came into being largely as a result of the Tonopah discovery, and, there followed a revival in mining activity in Nevada that carried the State to its greatest peak of prosperity.

Naturally, Oddie never has lost his interest in gold and silver. Between times of mining and prospecting, he took up agriculture, livestock and politics. After serving as district attorney and State Senator, he was governor from 1911 to 1915, and in 1920 was elected to the United States Senate.

His inquiry into the gold and silver situation, with a view to stimulating new markets for these precious metals and bringing the mining business back to its old-time prosperity has been his chief accomplishment as Senator.

MAN KILLED BY CAR.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Edward Bub, 88 years old, shot and killed his 87-year-old wife yesterday and then committed suicide. Their bodies were found by their only surviving son, Charles Bub. The old man's left arm encircled his wife's neck, while in his right hand he still clutched a pistol. Death had taken five sons of the aged pair during the last year. Resulting grief, together with the fact that both Bub and his wife suffered with cancer, is believed to have affected Bub's mind.

Alexander Oberton, 36, also shot and killed his wife yesterday because, as he told the police, "she was always nagging me for being out of work." Oberton slightly wounded his wife's brother, who had gone to her assistance, and later attempted to hang himself with his suspenders in his cell. He was found unconscious by a turnkey and cut down in time to save his life.

ADMIT PART IN HOLD-UP

By the Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 11.—Police said last night that Gervino Santhes and Frank Rides, of New York, arrested here last night as suspicious characters, have confessed to taking part in the robbery of an alleged gambling house at 6 West 109th street, New York, early Saturday morning, during which one man was killed. Santhes was taken to the Jersey City Hospital for treatment of injuries alleged to have been sustained in jumpin from a window after the robbery.

ELIZABETH DOCTOR AIDS FATAL CRASH INJURED

Two men and a woman were killed and two other women and a man seriously injured when a large touring car turned over in Mount Freedom avenue, Morristown, at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Dr. Walter F. Phelan, of 61 Cherry street, this city, was a witness as he was motoring right behind the ill-fated auto. He gave first aid treatment.

The dead are Lester Greaves, 20, son of former Assemblyman, of 154 Valley street, South Orange; Thomas McP. McGovern, 25, of 65 Hazelwood avenue, Newark, and Miss Mary O'Grady, of South Sixth street, Newark.

The injured are The Misses Margaret and May McDonald, both of 239 South Eighth street, Newark, and Arthur Rignor, a former policeman, of Newark.

Dr. Phelan said to-day that he was returning from a trip to Pennsylvania, and immediately stopped his machine when he found that the car had overturned. After giving treatment to the injured Dr. Phelan called an ambulance from the Memorial Hospital, Morristown, to which institution the injured were taken.

The touring car was being driven quite rapidly at the time of the accident, Dr. Phelan said, and was swerved to the side of the roadway to avoid an oiled stretch of road.

TWO FILIPINOS KILLED IN POWDER EXPLOSION

By the United Press.

MANILA, Aug. 11.—Explosives stored on Talim Island, in the center of Laguna De Bay, blew up yesterday, killing two soldiers of the Philippine constabulary and injuring a number of children in a native village on the island. The explosives were contained in the dynamite magazine of the Bureau of Public Works, and constituted virtually all the high explosives in the islands except those belonging to the United States Government.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined. A hole twelve feet deep was left where the magazine stood.

6,000 G. A. R. VETERANS AT BOSTON CONVENTION

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—With more than 6,000 veterans and as many more enrolled in its allied organizations here, the annual National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic began to organize to-day. Executive details being completed, the first day of the encampment will close with a semi-official gathering in Symphony Hall, where the greetings of State and municipal officials will be extended to the veterans.

The executive boards of the Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans Auxiliary together with their respective credentials committees, spent the morning with routine details. The Women's Relief Corps presented flags to several churches and Boy and Girl Scout organizations.

ANN LUTHER TO FINISH STORY OF WHITE'S LOVE

By the United Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 11.—Ann Luther took the witness stand in her suit against Millionaire Jack White for $100,000 for alleged breach of contract again to-day to tell the final chapter of her relations with the Western mining man, who, she said, made love to her in tyo languages and promised to star her in a series of films.

The film star, who was near collapse when she left the stand at the closing session of last week's hearings, on Friday, was refreshed by a week-end on the seashore, her attorneys said.

CHILD'S ARM INJURED PLAYING WITH ANOTHER

AUTOIST FATALLY HURT.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—Frederick Lightfoot, 52, of 824 Market street, Camden, died in the Atlantic City Hospital yesterday afternoon from a fracture of the skull, sustained when his car overturned on the Absecon boulevard Saturday. Lightfoot and James Dean, 51, of 3048 Frederick street, Philadelphia, were on their way to this city when the machine, driven by Lightfoot, skidded and upset. An operation was performed on Lightfoot Saturday night, but he did not rally from the shock. His companion escaped with slight injuries.

BACK SPRAINED.

Frank Picaroni, 20 years old, of 843 East Jersey street, sprained his back while carrying a heavy box of groceries Saturday. He was treated at the St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mah Jongg Powerful Aid

China may find our swift pace disconcerting; but certainly it is not China's to complain. For if a difference in time values is one observation which the triumph of the game Mah Jongg suggests to the halfway philosophic mind, another is the accident of fame. We may yet discover that Mah Jongg has done more for China's prestige in seven months than her statesmen and her all too active soldiers have done in seven years. Prestige is a child of pleasure. It took the Chauve-Souris and the Art Theater of Moscow to impress the great American subconsciousness with the fact that all Russians might not carry bombs. Mah Jongg is the first fresh contact with China we have had in twenty years. They tell us that even the coolies in that country are alert enough to play the game. Can a nation that knows when to chow and when to pung, which wind prevails when East Wind loses, whether forty-two is more than sixty-eight if one is doubled seven and the other six, consist entirely of laundrymen and cooks? If Mah Jongg had been discovered a year earlier China might have had American opinion behind her at the Far Eastern Conference in Washington.—New Republic.

AUGUST Furniture Sale

Take Time to Compare

BUYING furniture is a serious proposition with you. A hat lasts only a season. Food is eaten soon, and if you didn't like it you won't buy that kind again. A car may be out of style six months after you buy it. BUT FURNITURE—Furniture is a vital part of every day of your life! Furniture rightly chosen should and does last a LIFETIME!

Then why hurry about it? Why buy in the first store you visit without considering what beauty, what quality, what price may be had elsewhere? We'd like you to buy here of course. But we're more anxious that you come here and compare before you buy. We'd like you to convince yourself that here may be had all that is possible to get in furniture.

We'd like you to compare quality for quality, price for price and very important service for service. Then make a decision.

For you will never know what a fine place this is to buy unless you visit us—you will never know how well satisfied you can be with your purchase. In fairness to yourself—

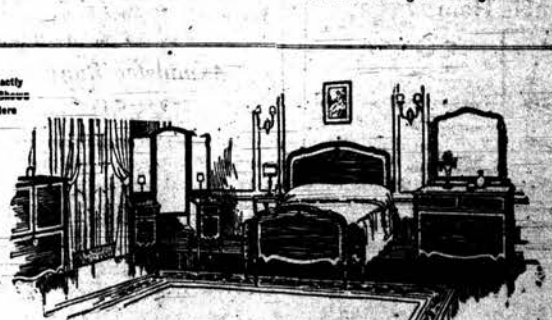

Come, Compare!

"What a Cool, Comfortable Place"

SO spoke one of our Saturday customers. For it is, we think, one of the pleasantest places possible in which to buy. High ceilings, plenty of light, broad aisles with no crowding of furniture, all give an opportunity to really judge the furniture before you buy it.

Budget Plan Helps Everyone

WE'VE noticed lately how many well-to-do business people and professional folk have been taking advantage of this simple method of buying. They prefer this to disturbing their investments. Those in moderate circumstances are doing the same to avoid disturbing their savings.

A Typical August Sale Value

A FOUR-PIECE bedroom suite rivaling anything we have offered in many months. It is of combination walnut in the newest two-tone effect. Consists of the 45-inch dresser, full size bow-end bed, 36-inch chiffrobe and 48-inch vanity dresser. At the very low price of $229.50

Social Notes

Those present yesterday at tea at the Elizabeth Town and Country Club were: Miss Jeannette Merrick, Miss Frederika Weeks, Miss Dorothea H. Wingert, Richard F. Green, Alan Bowers, Robert T. Hoyt, Mark Jaquith, R. Mason Kirkland, Orville B. Lamason, C. Barton Muldaur, Jr., Franklin A. McCarthy, Jr., Gerald Priestman, Rufus King Weeks and Norman Parsons, all of Elizabeth; Clifford David, of Orange; Brice Disbrow, of New Jersey; Howard R. Mulford, of Roselle, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vandereuter, of Plainfield.

A "midsummer frolic" was held by a number of children from 5 to 10 years old, on the lawn at the home of Harry Weber, of 253 Orchard street, between 7 and 9 o'clock Friday evening. Miss Elizabeth Birch, a teacher in the El Mora school, was the coach and Jean and Betty Weber were in charge of the program. The proceeds, $6.32, were given to the Orphan Asylum. Cake and lemonade were sold.

The program included a Japanese dance by Frances Frank and Betty Carroll, and a special ballet dance by Doris Wolff. Jean and Doris Meierhoffer gave a duet dance and Frances Frank executed a Russian solo dance. Doris Wolff, in a costume of rose color tulle and old gold, trimmed with artificial rosebuds, showed unusual ability for toe work in a rose-bud dance. One of the features was a flower dance by five girls. Mary Carroll and Frances Frank were dressed as sunbeams and Betty Weber and Doris Meierhoffer were "flowers." The children sang between each number. About forty-five friends were present.

The Union county organization of the National Association of Stationary Engineers will hold an outing to-night on the Rahway Waterworks. Members and friends from Elizabeth will leave from the City Hall at 7 o'clock in private cars, and buses and delegations from Roselle and Rahway at the park.

Joseph P. Flynn, the chairman, has arranged for special music for dancing, while the swimming pool and playgrounds will be available to all. Assisting Mr. Flynn on the committee are Allen Huelsenbeck, Michael McGarry, N. J. Mooney and W. J. Cocker. Mr. Flynn asks all members who own cars to bring them along.

Leaving from the Recreation Pier at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning aboard the steamer "Onteora," the Junior T. A. B. Society will hold its annual excursion to Undercliff Beach on the Hudson River. The usual large crowd is expected to attend.

A program of entertainment and recreation has been arranged by the committee, which is headed by Kyran Brennan.

Weddings

Luedtke-Seeger.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Helen Seeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seeger, of 724 Pearl street, and Alfred Luedtke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Luedtke, of 540 Livingston street. The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride by Rev. Oscar Benndorf, of the Calvary Lutheran Church of Hillside. Miss Emma Miller was maid of honor, and Arthur Luedtke, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. A reception for the immediate families followed the ceremony and the couple left for a wedding trip to the Catskill Mountains.

Rickert-Corson.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Emma May Corson, niece of Mrs. Emma Legg, of 251 Franklin street, and James F. Rickert, of Bayonne. The ceremony was performed on July 5 at the rectory of the East Baptist Church by Rev. A. W. Hand. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Van Pelt. Mrs. Van Pelt is a sister of the bridegroom.

Dances

A block dance will be held Wednesday evening in Linden avenue, near El Mora avenue, by the Rector's Aid Society of Grace Episcopal Church. There will be attractive music, and refreshments will be sold. If the night is stormy the dance will be held on the first clear evening thereafter.

Engagements

The engagement of the Misses Eleanor Milner Lines and Anna Evans Lines, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Klopp Lines, of Flushing, L. I., was announced Saturday evening at an engagement party given at their summer home at Quogue, L. I. The girls are sisters of Mme. Beale Bordley Davidson, formerly of this city, and now of Philadelphia, and have visited in this city several times. Miss Eleanor Lines will marry Donald Crabbe Graeff, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Graeff, of New York City and Quogue. Her sister will marry Thomas R. Beschner, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Buechner, also of New York City, and Quogue. Obituary Notes

Eugene F. Rehill.

Eugene F. Rehill, 24 years old, a former resident of this city, died early yesterday morning in Mt. Pocono, Pa., where he was engaged in the wholesale hay, grain and feed business. His body has been brought to the home of his mother, Mrs. Orilla B. Rehill, 1146 Anna street.

Mr. Rehill resided at Mt. Pocono four years. He formerly was a communicant of the Sacred Heart Church, but during his residence in Pennsylvania he attended the Church of Our Lady of the Perpetual Help. He was a member of Elizabeth Council, No. 253, Knights of Columbus.

In addition to his mother, Mrs. Rehill is survived by two brothers, Hugh V. Rehill, of California, and Cyrus B. Rehill, of this city, and five sisters, Mrs. George McElroy, of Butler; Mrs. T. A. Quinn and the Misses Claudine L., Corinne A., and Orille S. Rehill.

Philip J. Specht.

Philip J. Specht, 64 years old, died Saturday at his home, 253 Schiller street. He was the husband of Mrs. Anna Specht and son of the late Morris and Mrs. Eva Specht.

Born in Germany, Mr. Specht lived here forty-eight years, forty-four of which he was employed at the Singer plant. He was formerly a member of Company E, Third Regiment, National Guard. Mr. Specht was a communicant of St. Michael's Church, and a member of the Bavarian Sick and Death Benefit Society, the Sick and Death Benefit Society of the Assembling Department, Singer factory, and the Bushtown Association.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Specht is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Charles Krebs, Mrs. Harry Seip, Mrs. Stephen Miskowitz, and Sister Engratia, of the Order of Christian Charity, of Philadelphia; a son, Maurice Specht, and six grandchildren.

Mrs. James M. Battell.

Special to the Journal.

ROSELLE PARK, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Margaret M. Battell, 58 years old, wife of James E. Battell, died last night at her home, 320 Hemlock street, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Battell was born in New York City, but lived in Bergen, N. Y., the greater part of her life. She moved to Elizabeth seven years ago and five years later came here. She was a communicant of St. Joseph's Church, Roselle.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Battell is survived by two sons, James E. Battell, Jr., and Alexander Battell; a daughter, Mrs. Julia Earl, and three grandchildren, all of Roselle Park.

Frank X. Gilg.

Frank X. Gilg, 58 years old, of 520 Fulton street, died Saturday evening in the Post Graduate Hospital, New York City, after a long illness. He was formerly a patient in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, but was taken to New York for an operation.

Born in France, Mr. Gilg lived here thirty-six years. He formerly was a machinist at the Singer plant but retired six years ago.

Mr. Gilg is survived by three sons, Frank, Alfred and Robert Gilg; a daughter, Mrs. William Manhardt, and a brother, Rev. Father Joseph Gilg, of Loiret Cher Sur, France.

Funeral of John Utsinger.

Special to the Journal.

WESTFIELD, Aug. 11.—The funeral of John Utsinger, who was found dead in bed at the Westfield Hotel Saturday morning, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the funeral parlors of the Grey Burial Company on East Broad street. Rev. Edward J. Holden, pastor of the First Baptist Church, conducted the service and a large number of friends of Mr. Utsinger, and fellow employes at Tuttle Brothers, where he worked many years, were present. Many beautiful flowers were brought in honor of Mr. Utsinger. The bearers were Albert Quipp, Meinert Murphy and John Fallon, of Tuttle Brothers; Fred A. Warden and William Eustice, of the fire department, and Fred Minnick, of the Exempt Firemen's Association. Interment was made in the old Presbyterian Cemetery, Plainfield.

Funeral of Margaret Moran.

The funeral of Margaret Moran, 3 years old, daughter of James and Mrs. Annie Hoff Moran, who died Thursday, was held from the home of her parents, 14 Delaware street, Saturday afternoon. There were many floral tributes. Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Funeral of William J. Murphy.

The funeral of William J. Murphy, who died Thursday, was held from his home, 52 West Jersey street, this morning. A high mass of requiem was offered at St. Mary's Church by Rev. John H. Byrne.

There was a large attendance at the funeral and many sent flowers. The bearers were James Murphy, Richard Mackessy, Cornelius Heskins, Alexander Dougherty, John J. Egyers and John Ganey. Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, where Rev. Father Andrew J. Quinlan, C. S. B., read the prayers for the dead.

Funeral of Mrs. James L. Moran.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Moran, wife of James L. Moran, who died Friday night, was held from her home, 902 Third avenue, this morning. Rev. J. A. Lundy offered a high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church.

There was a large attendance at the funeral and many sent flowers. The bearers were James Murphy, Richard Mackessy, Cornelius Heskins, Alexander Dougherty, John J. Egyers and John Ganey. DIVORCE IS GIVEN TO LINDEN MAN

Absolute Decree Is Allowed Harvey C. Ellis.

Special to the Journal.

TRENTON, Aug. 11.—Harvey C. Ellis, of 404 Hiaza street, Linden, has been granted an absolute divorce from his wife, Mrs. Lillian Ellis, of 254 Palisade street, Union Hill, in a decision just handed down by Chancellor Walker.

Ellis named Raymond F. Nichols, of 615 Main street, Union Hill, as co-respondent, citing various dates in January last.

The couple have no children. According to the papers filed in Chancery Court, Mrs. Ellis is living with her mother in Union Hill.

Ellis was represented by Attorney Michael H. Feldman, of Elizabeth. City Attorney Joseph T. Hague, of Elizabeth, as special master, was designated by the Chancellor to hear the evidence. Mrs. Ellis did not offer a defense, and the special master recommended that a divorce be given Ellis.

Ellis is an electrical engineer. He is a Past Grand Tall Cedar of Elizabeth Forest No. 6, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, of Elizabeth.

The couple were married July 28, 1921, by Rev. Chester J. Hoyt, at the parsonage of St. James Church, Elizabeth.

Special to the Journal.

UNION, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Adam Duckes, of 96 Montclair avenue, Union, was found dead in bed by her husband, David Duckes, at about 6 o'clock this morning.

Duckes notified the police, and the body was taken to Martin's Morgue.

Elizabeth County Physician Darlaw, who viewed the body, said death was due to heart disease.

SOVIET THANKS CAPITAL

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—The moscow newspapers attribute the renewal of the Anglo-Russian negotiations and their successful conclusion after a temporary breakdown to the important place which Soviet Russian looks with British capitalism.

Declaring that Soviet Russia could never agree to accept the economic conditions similar to those which the allies are imposing on Germany, the official newspaper Isvestia adds: "there is no need to contrive for schemes like the Dawes plan. We have our own stash, namely to create an economical plan for the Soviet union. Our plan needs no allies aid to help it along."

Over 1,000,000 Michelin Balloon Tires are now running!

a new Tire Era is here—the balloon era—and Michelin is its leader

Many more Michelin Tires are in use than of any other make. They have proved that:

2nd They save hundreds of dollars per car by protecting the car from jars and jolts.

4th They give a new joy to motoring which must be experienced to be appreciated.

AZTEC MARKINGS FOUND ON NEVADA CAVE WALL

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 11.—Discovery of figuring in Aztec characters on the rock wall of a cave in eastern Nevada, near the Lehman Caves National Research, was announced by Dr. B. F. Schappelle, University of Nevada archaeologist, to-day. He described the find as one of the most important of its kind among Western archaeological discoveries of recent times.

The tracings are said to be the f thest north Aztec markings discovered. Rock writings resembling Egyptian hieroglphics also were noted by the expert.

Members of the exploration party expressed belief that further investigation would uncover an underground city among the caves and on the banks of an underground river.

WAT FLOOD RELIEF TAX

By the Associated Press.

PEKING, Aug. 11.—Members of the diplomatic corps here favor a customs surtax to obtain funds for the relief of flood sufferers, as was done for the relief of the famine in 1921. An application for the surtax has been made by the International Famine Relief Commission and it is understood that the foreign office soon will make a formal demand for such a surtax, amounting to ten per cent. of the present customs rate, to be applied for six months.

[Y]OUTHS BENEFIT BY ARMY CAMPS

By the Associated Press.

[W]ASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—With 32,000 young men in attendance, [Uncle] Sam's citizens' military training camps are in full swing at twenty-[nine] points throughout the country. [Ob]edience to authority, teamwork, [physic]al hygiene and the responsibili[ties] of citizenship are being taught in [the] courses, the "Basic," "Red," [White] and "Blue." Youths from [17 to] 24 years are eligible for train[ing d]uring their first year at camp, [if th]eir physical condition warrants [it. I]n the other courses, the maxi[mum] age is 31 years. The [stud]ents [are tr]ained in one of six branches, [infant]ry, coast artillery, field artillery, [engine]ers, infantry and signal corps, [after] they have taken the preliminary [course]. There are no aviation, quar[term]aster or hospital courses, as [thes]e are in the specialist class.

[Uncl]e Sam furnishes the uniforms, [whic]h are turned back to the govern[ment] at the close of the camp, and [pays] all expenses of the successful [appli]cants. Medical and dental at[tend]ance and laundry are free. No [obliga]tion of future service is as[sumed] by the applicant.

[The] War Department has ascer[tained] after four years' experience [with] the camps, that the American [youth] is somewhat below par physical[ly. H]e gains on an average of four [pounds] after a season in a military [camp]. He passes a higher percentage [in the] army intelligence test than did [the m]en summoned for service in the [World] War, but officers point out that [only] per cent. of the boys are [illiter]ate.

[Ca]ptain C. C. Lowe, who is in [charge] of "recruiting" for the camps, [has a]pproached business men on the [subje]ct of getting more industrial [work]ers into training, and many em[ploye]rs are co-operating with the gov[ernm]ent in allowing an extra two [weeks] off during the summer to per[mit] eligible employes to take the [thirty] days' training course.

[The] Boy Scout movement has been [adde]d to the camp idea, and former [Scouts] make up an appreciable per[centage] of the camps.

[Uncl]e Sam is looking forward to [havin]g 50,000 boys in thirty camps [next year]. He had 10,000 boys in 1921; [22,000] in 1922 and 25,000 last year as [agains]t 32,000 this year.

[S]EEK STOLEN AUTO.

[The] police are searching for a Cole [automo]bile, the property of Anthony [Hub]ey, of 527 Spring street, which [was st]olen from Frelinghuysen ave[nue, ne]ar Dreamland Park, late Sat[urday] night. Hubeny also reported [the th]eft to the Newark police.

[F]ALLS DOWN STAIRS.

[Mrs.] Jacob Rokos, of 146 First [street], reported to Patrolman Butler [yester]day afternoon that her four-[year-o]ld daughter, Francis, fell down [a flig]ht of stairs in their home but [that] the child did not appear to be [hurt]. The patrolman offered to call [a do]ctor but the mother did not [think] a physician was needed.

[MO]ONSHINERS ROUTED.

[AN]CHORAGE, Alaska, July 15 [(by m]ail).—Within a week nature [accom]plished what a corpe of deputy [marsh]als and dry agents failed to do [in m]any months. Two forest fires [start]ed by moonshine stills practically [wip]ed the industry in this re[gion]. Forest rangers report that they [have] come across a dozen stills [destr]oyed by the flames. In some in[stances] the owners barely escaped [with] their lives.

[A]DOPT LABOR PACTS.

By the Associated Press.

[GE]NEVA, July 22 (by mail).—Be[fore] the World War and as a result [of g]enerations of efforts, only two [inter]national labor conventions had [been] adopted, but since the war [sixte]en international instruments have [been] elaborated through the ma[chiner]y in the international labor [office] of the League of Nations. The [two] pre-war conventions covered the [quest]ions of night work for women [and] the use of white phosphorus in [the] manufacture of matches.

[G]ERMANS SEEK JOBS.

[D]USSELDORF, Germany, July 23 [(by] mail).—German skilled workers [are le]aving the Fatherland in quest of [bette]r luck elsewhere in such alarming [numb]ers that German industry is ser[iousl]y jeopardized. This is especially [true] of Ruhr Valley. A conference [was r]ecently held here between rep[resent]atives of the Prussian govern[ment] and the Rhenish industrials, at [whic]h this question was aired.

[I]RISH AID FORESTRY.

By the Associated Press.

[D]UBLIN, July 24 (by mail).—[This] year the Free State Government [plant]ed 4,000,000 trees on 1,000 [acres] of land and proposes this year [to pl]ant 1,000 acres. The Govern[ment] is inviting the county commit[tees] of agriculture to set aside a cer[tain] sum for forestry and will make [a gr]ant of $100 for every acre used [for] growing trees.

[B]IG DEAL IN SCOTCH.

By the Associated Press.

[G]LASGOW, Scotland, July 24 (by [mail]).—Seven hundred and fifty [thous]and gallons of Scotch whisky re[cent]ly changed hands in Glasgow in [one] deal. This is one of the biggest [sales] of whisky on record since the [end] of the war.

PLAINFIELD'S OLDEST APARTMENT UNSAFE

PLAINFIELD, Aug. 11.—The oldest apartment house in Plainfield has been found unsafe by Building Inspector Thomas Butler and, under orders from the Tax and Building Department, it must be vacated within ten day. The structure, known as Truell Inn, in Park avenue, was erected fifty-one years ago and is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Truell and Mrs. Truell's daughter, Mrs. Noel G. Evans.

EDGE TO GIVE SPEECH TO-DAY AT DUNELLEN

A near invasion of Union county will be made this afteroon at 5 o'clock by Senator Walter E. Edge, who is a candidate for re-election, when he will speak in front of the new Elks' Clubhouse in Dunellen. He will be accompanied by a number of party workers from Middlesex county.

BAD ROADS IMPROVED.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Oklahoma and South Dakota, two States noted in the past by automobile tourists for their bad roads, are mending their highways with the result that in the future driving through them will be better and easier. Oklahoma announces that 350 miles of hard surfaced roads are being built and the cost of the program, together with bridges, will reach $9,959,000. Financed by seventy per cent. of a motor vehicle license tax and the entire proceeds from a two-cent tax on gasoline, the 6,000 mile trunk highway system of South Dakota, begun in 1919, will be approximately one-fourth completed and gravel surfaced at the close of 1924, under supervision of the State highway commission.

CONSCRIPTS DISCIPLINED

STATUE COMPLETED.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11.—The statue of Joan of Arc by Fremiet, ordered last January by Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, of this city, to be placed in a park here as a tribute to the French pioneers who helped to settle Oregon, has been completed in Paris at the foundry of F. Barbedienne, famous caster of bronzes, according to information received here. The statue is a full-sized reproduction of the Fremiet statue at the Place des Pyramids in Paris, and, like the original, is finished in gold leaf.

FEDERAL EXPERTS BUSY WITH TESTING RESEARCH

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Demands of private manufacturers of scientific and engineering instruments for the Government's official stamp of approval have resulted in an appeal for additional financial support by the Bureau of Standards, which has just completed the fiscal year with approximately 140,000 tests, more than a hundred fold increase compared with the accomplishments the first year of its existence twenty-two years ago.

Upon the findings of the bureau depend millions of dollars of expenditures in the world of physical science and engineering. While most of the testing is done for the Government, examinations also are made for commercial firms and individuals, more than 40,000 test folders, covering 800,000 such tests, for which a charge is made, having been issued since 1902.

The Government work is given preference, however, and in some cases all testing except that for the Government has had to be refused because the demand exceeds the facilities for doing the work.

Sensible Governor Silzer.

There is nothing left to be desired in the attitude Governor Silzer of New Jersey has taken toward National Defense Day. If the War Department and the President, as head of the army and navy, are given as willing and loyal support of their plan as accorded by the Governor of this State, all concerned ought to be well satisfied.

The proclamation that Governor Silzer has sent out over the State includes a call to the general citizenship of New Jersey as well as the State military organizations and patriotic organizations. "It is of the highest importance," the Governor says, "that the patriotic spirit of our people be maintained and the propaganda of those who would leave us defenseless in an emergency be offset."

"I urge," the Governor writes in his proclamation, "all citizens of military age who are called upon by local committees to indicate their indorsement of the principle of service by assembling for appropriate observance of this day with a local organization of the Regular Army, National Guard or Organized Reserves; and also at that time to pay tribute to the memory of our gallant soldiers who participated in the battle of St. Mihiel. I urge upon all citizens of the State to co-operate with the military authorities and patriotic societies in fittingly carrying out the purpose of the day."

Governor Silzer earns the approbation of every patriotic resident of New Jersey for the broadminded view he has taken of the value of Defense Day, and for his eagerness to co-operate with the authorities at Washington in making the day a test of the preparedness resources of the State.

Not a Doubtful State.

The New York Times sets down New Jersey as a doubtful State this Presidential year. It will require a lot of bungling on the part of the Republican leaders to make it so.

There has been no dissatisfaction heard or seen among Republicans of New Jersey over Calvin Coolidge and the Administration at Washington. There is harmony in the party in so far as the National Administration goes. Where there is discord, it is in the case of Republican officials who are not in accord with the Coolidge policy and administration.

On the other hand, there is a lack of harmony in Democratic ranks. The Democrats of New Jersey are disgruntled because Al Smith was not nominated. They may have accepted John W. Davis as a substitute, but are not enthusiastic over him. They are for Governor Silzer in the event of the choice of Charles W. Bryan for the second place on the National ticket. It is reported that Democrats are saying that they don't give a hang whether or not their ticket wins.

If La Follette makes any considerable impression on New Jersey it will be to the injury of the Democrats. Some Republicans will get votes for him, but many more of them will come from the ranks of the Democrats than from those of the Republicans.

It is the opinion of shrewd political observers that Calvin Coolidge will not have a hard time winning the electoral vote from this State. The New York Times is another guess as to the political status of New Jersey.

What May Happen.

There has been much speculation as to what will happen if the election should be thrown into the House of Representatives. Those who have studied the political complexion of the House are quite convinced that the danger of a deadlock is not overdrawn.

The Constitution provides that each State shall have one vote. It will require a majority of all the States to elect. The present complexion of the House is as follows: Delegations in which there is a majority of Republican members, twenty-three; delegations in which there is a majority of Democratic members, nineteen; and five delegations in which the Republicans and Democrats are equal in number.

There is danger, too, that some of the States that are put down as for one of the old parties might vote for the third party candidate, if he succeeds in winning the electoral vote in such States.

If the election should eventually go to the Senate the Republicans have a better chance than in the House. The complexion of the Senate is as follows: Republicans, fifty one; Democrats, forty three; and Farmer Labor, two. There is extreme danger, however, that the Republicans would be betrayed by the radical group of so called Republicans preferring Bryan to Dawes.

Either in the case of the election being thrown into the House or the Senate there are chances of changes in voting strength being forced by the illness or death of members. The whole situation for the Republicans, however, is precarious, if it should happen that Mr. Coolidge does not, as now expected, win a majority of electors.

Shrewd political calculators are confident that the election of President Coolidge is assured. They do not figure that La Follette will win more than three or four States at the best. They do figure that the majority of President Coolidge over the Democratic candidate will be decisive.

There is a very strong undercurrent of sentiment, in the nature of instinct, among the voters, that the country will be safe in the hands of the upright, determined man in the White House.

The La Follette Issue.

Some of the political strategists think the best way to handle the La Follette issue is to ignore it. The very best way to handle any imperilling issue in the United States is to get it out into the sunlight where all the people can see it and understand it.

This is the view that the Republican National Committee takes of the situation. La Follette and his visionary views and his motley backing will be fought in every State where there is any chance whatsoever of the Progressives winning electoral votes. The Republicans are going to force the fighting in every State where radical sentiment is at all pronounced.

"Such a course will inevitably give Senator La Follette prominence in the news. Some timid folk deprecate this. They think that the La Follette movement is profiting greatly from the free publicity given to it. Why don't the newspapers quietly agree not to mention his name, not to print the reports of his committees, not to include news about the third party in the current political gossip? The thing could not be done even if the effort were made to do it. Senator La Follette is in the news, whether we like it or not. The people have a right to know what he is doing and saying. If his claims are absurdly exaggerated, let them be printed just the same, in order that the public may judge. If the danger of his candidacy is real, the more explicitly the truth is published the sooner will the peril be met. In any case, the hush-up policy, as applied to Senator La Follette or anybody else active in public life, is not merely a gross mistake—it is absolutely impossible."

The La Follette movement is one that must be met with intelligence and handled vigorously. There are many sound thinking individuals who may be attracted by the personality of the Wisconsin Senator, look on him as a Republican who is trying to reform his party and the country at large. They may forget to look at the radical groups that are back of him and at a record of things advocated that sound thinking voters cannot indorse, for example, his attack on the Supreme Court. The thing to do is to make plain the doctrines he advocates and what would be the effect of putting them in operation. The voters should be informed as to the meaning of the movement.

Outgrown Quarters.

It is significant that the Elizabeth members of the Union County bar have directed an appeal to the Board of Works, asking that body to provide more adequate quarters for the Elizabeth District Court.

At the present time the court is housed in the county building. There are some residents of the county, particularly of Elizabeth, it appears, who think the city should provide accommodations for this important court.

At the same time these members of the Union County Bar Association call attention to the inadequacy of present quarters of the District Court, they also call attention to the fact that approximately seventy per cent. of the cases tried in it are brought by or against residents living outside this city. It functions, in some measure, therefore, as a county court.

The important thing about the petition of the lawyers is this, that attention is called to the fact that the present quarters of the court have not been changed or enlarged for more than twenty years, although the population of the county has increased 100 per cent. and the business of the court has increased 100 per cent.

It calls attention to the patent fact that the same conditions prevail throughout the Courthouse building. Those who occupy the building do not believe that the quarters of the District Court are more crowded than those of the departments of the county that are located in the building. Moreover, some of the more important departments are located outside the building.

Davis Meets Smith.

The rumor that there was coldness between the Democratic candidate for the Presidency and Governor Al Smith has been stilled. They have broken bread and drank from a bottle of White Rock together at a New York hotel. Newspaper reporters say they came out of the conference apparently in high spirits.

It is said that Governor Smith will refuse, very decidedly, to be a candidate for renomination as Governor of New York. Here in New Jersey a Governor does not have the chance of refusing renomination, since he is barred by the Constitution from holding that office for three years next after his term of service shall have expired." In New York it is different.

But Governor Smith is reported to be ready to take the stump for Mr. Davis and the Democratic ticket. That would be advantageous, as it would give the country a chance to get better acquainted with him, and might forward his chances for being nominated by the Democrats for the Presidency at some future time.

This indicates that Governor Smith "has his back up" over what happened to him in the recent convention of his party, and is not going to let go until he has his chance to become President.

It is believed, however, that Governor Smith would not refuse to run for Governor again in New York, if the Hylan boom takes shape to an extent to be at all menacing to the Democratic party. The Democrats of New York, it is very well understood, do not want Hylan for Governor.

By the Way

Dirt.

One thing we'll never conquer is dirt. Dusting, clothes washing, body bathing, machinery cleaning, floor sweeping, street scraping—all these are by-products of civilization and will last as long as civilization.

The very existence of dirt and dust makes it certain that man will always have to work. The song industry pictures figures illustrating how dirt keeps us hustling. Americans this year will make 2,500 million cakes of soap. Our lazy ancestors invented perfumes so they wouldn't have to use so much soap.

Bible.

The Bible continues to be the world's best seller. Over seven million copies were distributed in 1923 by the American Bible Society. This was a gain of two and a half million copies over the year before, and reflects the stimulation of interest in religion.

It is no wonder that the largest hotel in New York has to order a new supply for its guest rooms every four months to replace stolen copies.

Roads.

Better roads and more of them are constantly being made available to the motor tourist. Fourteen thousand miles of highway, built with Federal aid (Uncle Sam's financial help), are now under construction, to cost 262 million dollars.

More than twice that much has been appropriated since the Federal aid road act became law in 1916.

It'll be some build for lasting ness rather than mileage. A considerable part of our roads wear out to fast, it's like pouring public money down the sewer.

DAILY EDITORIAL.

By Dr. FRANK CRANE.

CLUB DES CENT.

A FEW years ago a club was founded in France called the Club des Cent, which, as its name shows, had a membership strictly limited to one hundred, and was devoted to keeping up the tradition of French cooking and encouraging good hotel keeping.

This organization has, since its foundation, undertaken a regular survey of France and it is reckoned that each of its members has already traveled, by motor car, twenty-five thousand miles in search of good and comfortable inns.

In fact the Club des Cent is not only ready to patronize palaces and good-class hotels, but also the most modest village inn, provided it is scrupulously clean and provided also that the cooking is good.

Some of the mottoes of the club are worth looking over. They are:

"Hotel keepers, give us good attendance and you will become rich. Give us bad attendance and it will be the worse for you."

"Coffee made in advance is but bad coffee."

"Keep your cheese under a glass cover. Feed your guests, not the flies."

"No chemical extracts in cooking. In the preparation of meals the Club des Cent knows no other factory than the kitchen."

Every year this club awards two gold medals to the chefs and cooks who, after searching inquiry, have proved worthy of such a distinction.

Some while ago a group of members of this club went on a mission to the United States. They traveled on the French Line, or what is known as the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. They found the cooking on these ships admirable, and that French culinary traditions were observed, and that on the two boats, the Paris and the France, the chefs were real gastronomic artists.

This year the Club des Cent awarded its gold medals to M. Jean Leer, chef of the France, and M. Jean Lindauer, chef of the Paris. These medals were presented to their recipients at a breakfast, or luncheon given on board the France, when M. J. dal Piaz, the president of the great French shipping company, presided, and when the members of the Club des Cent and their friends gathered in force to do homage to these chefs who had so successfully initiated many travelers into the delights of real old fashioned French cooking.

The French are traditionally the best cooks in the world and it is but right that some organization should get behind this tradition and give it furtherance.

OUR CHILDREN.

By ANGELO PATRI.

HANDS OFF.

WHEN people first discovered their hands it was in order to reach out and take something they wanted. That instinct persists to a remarkable degree to-day, and I am willing to risk being called a prophet just to state that I believe it is always going to persist as long as folks are folks. And no harm done at that, if we will only use a little discretion in the reaching.

For instance, in the matter of handling children. It is most natural for any of us to reach out to touch and take the child who comes near to us. Children are very lovely and their appeal is irresistible, but that is no excuse for our putting our hands upon them. We have but to reflect for an instant to remember that our instinct rebels against any one's placing hands upon us. Children have the very same instinct. Most of them shrink from being touched, especially by a stranger.

But in spite of the child's very evident reluctance we persist in picking him up and seating him upon our laps and cuddling him and stroking his hair and chucking him under the chin and tickling him and otherwise maltreating him, until he screams aloud, when we hasten to crown our offense by smothering his remonstrance with kisses. Isn't it shameful?

A child has a personality and a dignity all his own and it ought to be respected. If it isn't, things are bound to be unpleasant for everybody concerned. The child has an outburst of temper or hysterics and he is either punished or pampered toward his further undoing. Left to himself he would unbalance no one's poise in his way, blissfully unconscious of such things as temper or nerves.

Kissing and cuddling little children constitute one way by which infectious diseases are carried to them. People coming from the ears and shops and from the streets pick up a tender, guarded little one and inoculate him with kisses. Any grown person should know better than that, but some folk seem to find it hard to understand.

While the interruptions are hard on the child and the shocks resultant from his struggles for freedom are very wearing; while the danger from contagion is serious; the gradual breaking down of his personality is worse. Nothing that endangers a child's personal pride to himself and his power should ever touch him. Laying unwelcome hands upon him threatens his inherent self-respect and dignity, and his mother is well within her duty when she objects to any form of it.

Shouldn't he be loved and cuddled? Of course, He needs to be played with and patted and stroked and squeezed and all the rest of it, but you will find him inviting that when he wants it. He will hold out his hands to mother or father or some dearly loved friend like grandfather or Nana. That's just the idea. Keep hands off the children until they ask for the caress. Then it feeds their souls and bodies, and makes their day glad with love. Which is as it ought to be.

To-day's Talk.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

ON SWALLOWING.

LONG before I understood what it was all about there was deep interest in me in the food I ate after it had been swallowed. I wondered just how it was cared for and just how the body absorbed it.

I have since learned much of the process of digestion and the wonderful way in which our Creator arranged every detail so that even our blunders of eating might be straightened out, and so lasting harm come to the body.

The process of swallowing means so much because it is the beginning of great things of growth that I like to think of swallowing a different way.

Swallowing disappointment for instance.

All of us have to do it at some time or other. But here again the process of digestion does its service. Disappointment comes. We swallow it, keeping down our willingness to "make a face" over it. Later on we find that instead of doing us harm and working ill to our happiness that in reality we have been made stronger, more fit, and better able to face life at its best and at its worst.

It is a good thing that we cannot see very far ahead. Wouldn't we worry our heads to pieces though, if we could!

To be honest and kind and brave, to take the days as they come and fill them with the best of what we are capable, to reflect upon the acts of our past but without regrets for all the mistakes we have made, to take a good stand and weather life in all its modes and moods, to forgive all wrongs, both intentional and unintentional, to fight on happily and gladly—and then to swallow the rest—these are the steps of life that lead us to contented night-falls.

After the disappointment, or blunder, or regret, or whatever it is, has been swallowed, then the process of digestion begins in earnest and then a man or woman is made.

THE SUMMER COTTAGE.

I sing the summer cottage by the lake,
Which parents suffer for the children's sake—
A little shack 'neath summer's azure skies,

It seems to know that it was built for fun;
No serious care its workmanship bespeaks—
'Tis only when it rains it ever leaks.

There is a welcome at its kindly door,
Used weekly by a dozen friends or more;
The host, kept busy gathering meat and fruits,

Fresh vegetables—this is the tale we tell—
But we who live these summer cottage days
Find beets and onions all they ever raise.

Here one may feast his eyes on lovely scenes
And feed himself on salmon and sardines.

I sing the summer cottage by the lake,
Which parents suffer for the children's sake;
Here with a smile discomforts we begin,
Which borne at home would drive us to despair.

Q. Are fish found in great depths of the ocean very strongly built to resist the great pressure at such depths?

A. No, on the contrary, their bony and muscular systems are feebly developed. Pressure at great depths is great, but it acts not only inside as well as outside the fish, but inside and outside each cell of the fish as well, and there is no more tendency for the fish to be crushed than for a human body to be crushed on the earth by the fifteen pounds of air pressure per square inch which all bodies (at sea level) on the earth are subjected to. Deep sea fish are adapted to the pressures which they must stand.

Q. Are sponges plants or animals?

A. Animals; one of the lowest forms of animal life.

Q. What does E Pluribus Unum mean and when did the U. S. Government adopt it?

A. It is Latin, meaning, "from one." Its use by the American Government originated in the design by the Great Seal of the U. S. submitted by Adams, Franklin, and Jefferson, in 1776.

Q. When and how should Columbine seeds be planted?

A. Plant about the first part of August. They should be watered in cold frames and set out in the spring in a permanent location. They should bloom the first year, usually in June. The soil should be kept moist on top until the young plants come up. The seeds should be planted at least ¼ inch deep.

Q. What is a good recipe for spiced currants?

A. Seven pounds of currants, 6 pounds of brown sugar, 3 tablespoonfuls cinnamon, 3 tablespoonfuls cloves, 1 pint vinegar. Pick over currants, wash, drain, and remove stems. Mix sugar, spices, and vinegar and boil 5 minutes. Add currants and boil slowly one and a half hours. Store in a stone jar, and keep in a cool place.

Q. What is the present annual immigration quota from Germany?

A. 51,227, of which not more than 10% can be admitted in any one month.

Q. How many women farmers are there in the United States?

A. According to the census of 1920, 261,719.

Q. How long after desertion is a deserter from the U. S. Army subject to arrest?

A. Three years, if he deserted in time of peace. If he deserted in time of war, he is always subject to arrest.

Q. How can moles be controlled?

A. By placing teaspoonful quantities of concentrated lye in their runways at 2½ and 50 foot intervals.

Q. What does Scotch-Irish mean?

A. This denotes the people of Lowland Scotch descent inhabiting northern Ireland, especially descendants of the Scottish Presbyterians who settled in Ulster in the Seventeenth century; also, it is used to designate one of descendants of these people in America and elsewhere.

Q. In a game of draw poker the joker wild, what is the highest?

A. Five of a kind.

Q. Who wrote the poem "Where the West Begins"?

A. Arthur Chapman.

Q. Is calcium lactate used in wine, if so, for what?

A. Yes, it is particularly used for sweetening lime to the extent of 1 to 2 pounds per 1,000 gallons.

Q. Have aviators ever been high as the height of Mt. Everest?

A. Mt. Everest is 29,002 feet in height and man has flown to a height of 36,555 feet.

Q. What is the largest producing gold mine of the United States?

A. Homestake Mine, Lead, South Dakota.

Q. How old was Cleopatra when she died?

A. Between 38 and 40—according to some historians. Her exact age is not known.

Q. Are there any libraries especially for negroes?

A. Yes, quite a number of them. The largest exclusively for negroes is the 135th Street Branch, Louisville, Ky.

Q. Can I bring my brother to this country who is now imprisoned as a relative who has previously come under the immigration laws—he came within the quota?

A. He comes within the quota, but does not have preference of admission quota or preference within the quota over other immigrant.

ADVERTISING.

MY boss wasn't doing as well as it should; the works weren't doing right, under the hoofs; merchants would tinker around and curse; they made the air pinker and made the air sore. Grown tired of the acres of grief and expanse, I wrote to the makers in language intense. "There is no devising," I said, in a note, "a worse advertising, for you, than my boat. When we're sending," I received in the day; "you'll soon find yourself mending your sumptuous way." He came with his spouse, a crowbar and drill, his Chesterfield manner, and oodles of skill. And when he had finished, in three hours or two, the boat was diminished, no planks gone from its bow. In my dwelling we all through the grad, my neighbors I'm telling of service I had. "My grief was titanic," I often have said; "they sent a motor boat charged into a red." We all were much lighter in rules, I wot, than praise from a buyer of service he's seen. Now business is failing for Yapper & Young, for Jingson is wailing of how he is stung. They sold him a chisel, and it has no file, and it goes a fizzle, the blade out of line. And Jingson is roasting the firm in his talks, the letters he's posting are loaded with knocks. The people, on hearing the tenets from Lin tongue, quite widely are steering from Yapper & Young.

Little Benny's Note Book.

By LEE PAPE.

After supper pop litt a cigar and put his feet up saying, Well, I feel'eater well tonight, somehow or other. I suppose my digestive glands are holding a socialist, or something, he sed.

I bin thinking of getting my hair bobbed, he sed.

Bang goo'd all my tires at once, I never felt worse in my life, pop sed. And you know how willing I am generally, I meet a different one of my friends every day with their hair bobbed and I'm really starting to feel sexually old fashion. I saw Lillian Larkins down town this afternoon and low and behold she had hers bobbed as sed.

I thawt you couldent stand that Larkins woman, pop sed.

Nobody I can, the dubbie face thing, and thats jest wy I hate to let her get ahed of me, ma sed. If you open me up with hair you'd think I was wonderfull, she sed.

If I ever saw you with bob hair Id never think ages, pop sed.

Now Willyum, I'll tell you be as sheerd, if other men can get use to it wy can't you? ma sed, and pop sed, I know wat yours trying for, you're trying to humiliate me, thats your ideer, I know it.

Wel do you meen, how do you meen, wy Willyum, ma sed, and pop sed, Jest because my hair is getting a little thin on top is nuto of all I can do to try to save it, you want to go and have yours cut off jest to draw attention to mine and humiliate me.

Wy, Willyum, sutten as I deer, wat a thawt. Sutch a thing never even entered my mind, how can you say sutch a thing, Willyum? ma sed.

Because its true, thats wy, pop sed. You see my hair gradually leaving my head along in the world, day by day, and you think the best thing you can do is make yours look as much like it as possible so people will notice mine and left at me, he sed, and she sed, Now Willyum dont take it so seriously, I wont say eny more about it if youre going to take sutch an absurd attitude as that.

And she went in her own room and pop took out his pocketcomb and wiped his forehead saying, That was a narro escape, and the worst of it is, Im afraid that gag wont work more than once.

FIGHT PROPOSED ROAD REPAVING

Plainfield Property Owners Seek Court Ban.

Special to the Journal.
NEWARK, Aug. 11.—Property owners in East and West Fourth streets, Plainfield, to-day took formal exception to the proposal of the city to repave the two thoroughfares at an estimated cost of $75,000, two-thirds of which would be assessed against the property and one-third against the city at large.

Representing eighty-two of the ninety-two property owners of the streets, William R. Wilson, an Elizabeth attorney, filed an application with Supreme Court Justice Kalisch in chambers here asking for a rule to show cause why a writ of certiorari should not be issued or a writ of certiorari to review City Ordinance No. 237 and the proceedings connected therewith.

The two streets are macadamized at the present time and are the thoroughfares upon which the Fourth street line of the Public Service Railway Company operated until recently, when the city permitted the company to abandon its service.

Appearing in opposition to-day was former State Senator Charles A. Reed, corporation counsel of Plainfield. Argument was heard and affidavits filed with Justice Kalisch, who made the application returnable before the Trenton branch of the Supreme Court on September 11.

The property owners have remonstrated against the appropriation of $75,000 for repaving and the method of defraying the cost, contending that the present macadam would furnish an excellent foundation for a coat of asphalt paving.

Informed that official action was scheduled to be taken to-night on the matter by the Plainfield Common Council, Justice Kalisch remarked that definite steps toward re-paving the street before the application of the property owners had been settled in court would make the city liable, if the decision of the court favored the property owners.

COUPLE FOUND BEATEN TO DEATH WITH BAT

By the United Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—Beaten to death by robbers some time Sunday, bodies of Caspar Yuergens, 60, bachelor, and his sister Theresa Yuergens, 55, were found to-day by a milkman in their home back of the grocery store they have conducted here for several years.

Evidences of a hard struggle and of a thorough search for money were found. Every room in the house had been ransacked, the contents being strewed over the floors. Neighbors heard no noise of any kind. A bloody baseball bat was found hidden under a stairway.

WARDROBE KILLS NEGRO

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—Struck squarely on the head by a heavy wardrobe which fell as it was being hoisted to a second-story window, Carlos Young, 44, negro, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon, his sk ll being fractured by the blow. Young and his brother, Joseph, were hoisting the wardrobe from the ground with a light clothesline. When it had reached about half the desired height, the rope broke and Young, who was directly underneath, could not jump away quickly enough to avoid being hit.

MOTORIST
GIVEN SAFETY FACT

First aid to the uninjured is safety. Safety is the best preventative of accidents. But the most common form of first aid is the dressing of wounds to prevent infection, and the treatment of fractures and sprains in order to make a patient until the doctor arrives.

First aid is an important factor in every automobile camper's trip. He should make provisions for possible injuries to himself and to those who are traveling with him by providing himself with a complete first aid kit before setting out on a trip. He should learn how to use the articles included in the kit. The directions on the kit will tell how to take care of this particular feature of first aid work.

Probably the greatest number of minor injuries which automobile campers suffer from may be classed as cuts, scratches and bruises. Any wound whether it be made by a needle or a nail, by a blade of grass or by a butcher knife, by a tin can or a drinking glass, must be treated immediately.

Cover the wound with five per cent. solution of tincture of iodine and bandage (not too tight) to prevent germs from entering the cut. Remember that tetanus germs are all, that infections are dangerous and in some cases, deadly. Secondly, remember that every cut, bruise or scratch may make blood poison if not attended to properly. If a cut, scratch or bruise is washed and treated with an antiseptic, kept clean and allowed to heal, there will be no danger of infection. Incidentally, remember that tetanus is the most dreaded of all germs and can enter a cut, scratch or other injury through dirt, dust, manure, etc.

Woodhull's

PITCHERS FAIL OVER OLDTIMERS

Famous Catcher Says 1924 Batters Are No Better.

By BILLY EVANS.

NEA Service Writer.

"It's just the same old game. No faster than when I quit the big show.

"In some respects, it seems to me that it has gone back considerably, batting for instance.

"The crack batters of to-day are not any better than those of ten or fifteen years ago. The ball is livelier and the pitching poorer.

Billy Sullivan, famous catcher of the Chicago White Sox in the days of Fielder Jones and the "Hitless Wonders," so expressed himself to me the other day, since returning from baseball he has lived in the far North west.

This fall two of Billy's sons will enter Notre Dame. Both are star athletes. One of the boys gives promise of being as great a catcher as his father, accompanied by the boys he made the trip from Oregon by auto.

Sullivan had been watching the White Sox in action and would rather wished that he had been born ten years later.

It was Billy Sullivan who handled the delivery of Ed Walsh when the premier spitball pitcher was at the top of his game. Other great pitchers on the box staff at that time were "Doc" White, Nick Altrock and Frank Smith.

"Not having seen a big league game for years I was anxious to learn the cause of the slugging that now features major league baseball," said Sullivan.

"Twenty years ago if a dozen hitters finished the season with an average of .300 or better it was considered a big year from a batting standpoint. Now there are three times that many, often more.

"After watching the 1924 model big league teams in action I am positive that the batters of to-day are no better than hitters like Lajoie, Wagner, Delahanty and others.

"The great increase in batting is due to a decided falling off in pitching. However, I can offer no reason for the apparent slump in the work of the pitchers."

Sullivan is of the opinion that less inside baseball is being played to-day than when he was a star. Incidentally he believes that coaching is far easier task than when he was guiding the destinies of the White Sox pitchers.

"It strikes me that the slugging game has changed the job of the backstop considerably. No longer does the opposition keep the catcher worried.

"When I was catching it was a constant battle of wits between base runner catcher and batter. On every ball pitched the catcher had to have his head up.

"In those days one run meant a great deal, often the ball game, naturally more inside stuff was pulled in an effort to put over a tally.

"Trying to break up the hit-and-run seems to be the biggest task of the modern catcher. The oldtime catcher had a dozen worries to this one."

Sullivan can't see that the game has changed any for the better, and says he would like to be playing with the White Sox of 1906 in the present American League race.

O'ROURKE HELPS TYGERS INTO FIRST PLACE AGAIN

Frank O'Rourke, the Elizabethan who is now a member of Ty Cobb's Tyger crew at Detroit, continued his sensational work yesterday when he starred for the Junglecrs against the Red Sox. The Tygers won the tilt, 13-7, and went into first place while the Sox fell footo Cleveland, and.

O'Rourke had a big day at the plate. In six trips to the dish he banged out a double and two singles, walked once and was hit by a pitched ball. He scored three runs and stole a cushion. His work in the field was as usual more than brilliant, and he accepted three chances without an error. So far he has averaged one double play per game and has yet to be charged with a miscue.

Ty Cobb, the Detroit manager, was on a sack pilfering rampage yesterday, getting the keystone sack once, third twice and home once.

MORGAN FLAYS KU KLUX KLAN

to assert our duties as citizens and put our foot down on something that is a greater menace to the country than the German army. I am not so sure that such a condition does not exist in Elizabeth, and it is time to stop it.

"Yesterday I read a book called the 'Rage of Isham,' in which it described the persecution of the Christians by that country, which was once one of the strongest in the world. At one time they were a peaceful people, but this condition gradually came on. St. Petersburg is a symptom of what may grip this country.

"To-day Mr. Davis, the Democratic Presidential candidate, is being notified of his nomination, and he will make a reply in which he will state what he intends to do if he is elected," former Judge Morgan continued. "This is a great day for the country just the same as the day when President Coolidge is notified of his nomination. I am not speaking politically now. When these men speak it will give us a chance to know the policies of those who are to govern us.

"I hope you will read what Mr. Davis has to say and examine his message as American and not partisans. I wish you would do the same thing with the utterances of those who are candidates for Congress, the State and various municipal offices. After you have studied the candidates, go out and vote. Whatever calamities befall us will be due to our not voting and failure to take an interest in the affairs that concern us greatly.

Dangerous Idea.

"And then I want to speak about the third party which is headed by Senator La Follette, who is running on a platform that calls for the overruling of the decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court. According to his idea, if Congress passes a bill a second time after the U. S. Supreme Court declares it unconstitutional, it will become a law. Think of what this means. Our security is in the courts and not in the army and navy as we often believe. Our rights are guaranteed by the Constitution. We have to be careful because we are likely to be under the spell of mob rule at times.

"If enough people decided that the New Jersey courts should not function, then we would be helpless. The rights of our courts are guaranteed by the Constitution and we did not surrender them when we ratified the Constitution. It is one of the most dangerous ideas advocated.

"In conclusion, I want to speak about criticism of our public officials," he stated. "I wish you would assume that they are honest and that they take their offices in response to a high call of duty. I hope the time will come when the citizens will go to them and discuss their ideas on public affairs. If that time comes, I hope you will do everything within your power to assist."

LA FOLLETTE-WHEELER MEDALS FOR DONORS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Thousands of bronze medals are to be struck off for distribution among contributors to the La Follette-Wheeler campaign fund.

A model has been made by Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, a life-long friend of Senator La Follette. Dies are being prepared and the medals, about the size of a quarter, will be ready for distribution in a week or ten days.

The medals show a profile of La Follette, superimposed on one of Senator Wheeler of Montana, his running mate. One will be given to each contributor of one dollar or more to the fund being raised in the interest of the Independent ticket.

La Guardia to Speak.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Representative F. H. La Guardia, who bolted the Republican ticket in favor of the La Follette-Wheeler combination, will stump the country for the Independent organization, he said to-day. The tour has not been outlined as yet, but La Guardia said he expected to speak in San Francisco, St. Louis, Detroit, Kansas City, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. La Guardia also will work in New York State, in plans to run for Representative on the independent ticket.

MAC LAREN AND PARTY ENROUTE TO CANADA

By the United Press.

DUTCH HARBOR, Unalaska, Aug. 11.—Major A. Stuart MacLaren and his party of British airmen were en route southward to-day from Dutch Harbor for Prince Rupport B. C. From Prince Ruppert they will go to Victoria, making the trip aboard the trawler Thiepval.

The Thiepval arrived here Saturday, with the fliers and their plane, damage to which forced abandonment of the flight. The fliers were entertained here, but were reticent in discussing their expedition.

Major MacLaren expressed great pleasure when he heard of the progress of the American flight and regretted the accident which befell Lieutenant Leigh Wade, of the American expedition.

DAVIS CONFIDENT VICTORY AWAITS

Wants People "Fully Informed" in Campaign.

By the United Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 11.—A sharp demand for complete and immediate organization of his campaign was the first formal political utterance of John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the Presidency in taking up the reins of party government to-day.

His demand was voiced at the meeting of the Democratic National Committee at which Clem Shaver was elected the new chairman.

The Democratic candidate, is talking to the party workers, made it plain that he is confident victory will come with the end of the campaign. He said the people will decide in favor of the Democrats if they are "fully informed" and that it was the duty of the committee to provide this education.

Davis said in part;

"It is a sincere pleasure to me to welcome you here to my native State and to the city of my birth. As you have doubtless observed, the city of Clarksburg is not so large as either of New York or Denver, but we hope to rise as high in the world as Denver or sit as level as Detroit among her plains. And yet you will find here a human atmosphere, human movements, old and new, which go to make up America.

"Many racial strains are represented in the city of population, and few schools of thought, political or religious, are without their adherents; but in them all the humble virtues of industry and thrift and honesty and human kindness still persist, and through them all run the inevitable frailties of our common human nature. Their great desire at the moment is to show to you the sense of honor which they feel in your presence and to testify to their interest in the ceremony that cans you here. The Democrats of the State especially will be stimulated and encouraged by the fact that you have come to mingle with them.

"As your candidate I welcome myself to this opportunity to come again into personal contact with you. It is to you that I look not only for advice and guidance during the campaign but for that organized effort which is indispensible to political success. It would border on impertinence to preach to seasoned veterans like yourselves the necessity for organization. All of us know that no political battle is ever won. If I may paraphrase the Scriptures, conventions may plant and candidates may water, our organization alone can give the increase. Thus it is your peculiar task to furnish—to stimulate those organizations that are already at work, to build up those that are weak and to furnish organization in those places where it is lacking. * *

"According to established precedent, I believe I am permitted to suggest to you the name of a chairman for your committee. As you have already learned, I have determined to offer for your consideration the name of Mr. Glen L. Shaver, of Fairmount, in this State, whom I have had the privilege of knowing for very many years. He served for eight years as chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee of this State and as such brought us the first Democratic Governor in twenty years. He served with distinction for six years as a member of the State Legislature, and therefore knows something of the slings and arrows of a political candidacy. It goes without saying that I would not bring him to your attention if I did not entertain the highest opinion of his political sagacity, his personal integrity and his individual courage. I beg, therefore, to commend him to you as one worthy of your entire confidence."

Broadcasting Plans Ready.

By the United Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Direct wires from Clarksburg, W. Va., to Station WCAP, Washington, will carry the speeches and exercises incidental to the official notification of John W. Davis of his nomination as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency to-night.

Eleven other broadcasting stations will listen in with WCAP, enabling listeners in all parts of the country to hear the speeches.

The ceremonies will commence at 8 P. M. Eastern standard time, and everything from the playing of the National anthem to the benediction, including the notification speech and Davis' acceptance, will be broadcasted by the following stations: WCAP Washington; WEAF, New York; WNAC, Boston; WJAR, Providence; WMAF, South Dartmouth; WGR, Buffalo; WGY, Schenectady; KDKA, Pittsburgh; WJAF, Kansas City; WLW, Cincinnati; WGN, Chicago, and WSB, Atlanta.

5,000 ODD FELLOWS MEET AT DREAMLAND

About 5,000 members of the Odd Fellow and Esther Rebekah Lodges of Union and Somerset counties gathered Saturday afternoon and evening at Dreamland Park, for their annual get-together outing.

Badges were the only necessary passport to all the attractions of the resort, and also served as a means of identification, for the main purpose of the gathering, which was fellowship among the lodge members of the various cities represented.

Elizabeth was present with members from Elizabethport, Franklin, Memorial and Columbia Encampment for the men, and Esther Rebekah for the women.

The chairman of the arrangements committee was Deputy Grand Master Samuel J. Krimey, of Plainfield. Elizabeth arrangements were cared for by William J. Gallagher, of the Franklin Lodge.

SIX BOYS ARE PAROLED PENDING INVESTIGATION

Six small boys were paroled until wanted, last night, pending an investigation by Probation Officer William B. Hamilton of the charges of malicious mischief, preferred against them by Detective Martin and Patrolman Santa Maria.

Four large windows and two small ones in the rear of School No. 15, at Third and Spencer streets, were found broken, and the police were asked to investigate.

When questioned by the officer, William Barberg, 9 years old, of 231 Spencer street; William Dodd, 8, of 235 Spencer street; Harry and Benjamin Raskin, 8 and 10, respectively, of 321 Third avenue, and Michael and Anthony Grimaldi, 10 and 8, respectively, of 312 Spencer street, admitted that they had been stoning the windows, while at play in the rear of the school.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HAVE BIG OUTING

Garwood and Linden Groups Go to Raritan.

Special to the Journal.

GARWOOD, Aug. 11.—The Sunday schools of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, of Garwood, and Grace Episcopal Church, of Linden, held their annual picnic at Duke's Park, Raritan, Saturday. The trip was made in automobiles and buses, leaving the church in Locust avenue, west, at 10 A. M. More than 150 enjoyed the outing, eighty-five going from here and seventy-five from Linden.

Norteeu cars carried the Garwood picnickers and five cars and a big auto truck carried those from Linden. Upon arriving at the park tents were pitched near the dam as dressing rooms for the bathers and the children and grown-ups all enjoyed a swim. Watermelon, hot dogs and ice cream was provided for the picnickers.

There was a heavy shower at 5 P. M., but the majority got under cover in the cars.

G. O. P. CLUB NETS $400.

The Garwood Republican Club netted $400 as its share of the receipts of Matt J. Rielly's Shows which exhibited here last week. The heavy shower of Saturday night practically ended all the performances for the week. The outfit left yesterday for Fort Reading, where it will show this week.

GARWOOD PARAGRAPHS.

The monthly meeting for the payment of dues will be held by the Garwood Building and Loan Association this evening in the Borough Hall. The directors' business meeting will be held to-morrow night.

Policeman Johnston Brewer and family and Miss Edith Miller, spent the week end at Sargentsville.

Mrs. Joseph Braun, of Spruce avenue, has returned from a visit in Connecticut.

CARROTS AND SPINACH BEAT STEEL AS SAFE

By the United Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—A premonition that burglars were about to pay a second visit to his vegetable shop caused Ralph Ginsberg to hide $100 among the carrots and spinach. His safe was locked with $5 in it.

Fred Muller and Abe Harris, who own shops near by laughed at Ginsberg.

To-day when the three opened their shops they found three safes rolled into the rear. Harris and Muller's safes had been opened and several hundred dollars taken.

NOT SENATE ASPIRANT, HENRY FORD DECLARES

By the Associated Press.

MARLBORO, Mass., Aug. 11.—"I am not a candidate for the United States Senate and I don't intend to be a candidate on the Republican or any other ticket."

This was Henry Ford's answer to the action in Michigan, Saturday, when his name was filed with the Secretary of State as one of the contenders for the Republican nomination in that State. He attributes the filing to his political enemies.

Ford said he had written to the Secretary of State in Michigan asking for full particulars of the filing and asking the names of those responsible for having his name placed before the voters of the State. He said he would make public the answer.

FIREMEN ARE OVERCOME IN EAST ORANGE BLAZE

By the Associated Press.

EAST ORANGE, Aug. 11.—Three firemen were overcome and 100 guests were routed from the Marlborough Hotel to-day when a break in a refrigerating machine allowed ammonia fumes to fill the building. Fire Chief Flynn and Fireman Harry Hector were dragged from the burning building after they had stop the leak, and one of their rescuers, James Slattery, was the third victim.

They were revived later after firemen with masks had succeeded in checking the ammonia fumes.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO AS BOLT HITS HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

RIDGEBURY, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Daniel A. Stabler, and his son, Howard, 14 years old, were instantly killed when lightning struck the Stabler home here last night. The other sons, Ralph and Joshua, were severely burned and Irvine Cain, of Knoxville, Tenn., an uncle of the boys, was stunned.

Lightning struck the house while the group was awaiting dinner in the kitchen. Mrs. Stabler and another son were in a nearby room and escaped uninjured.

DRINKS ACID, DIES.

By the Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 11.—John Coriell, 41, committed suicide by drinking two ounces of carbolic acid last night, according to reports to the police to-day. He is said to have obtained the poison at a drug store, where he declared he wanted it for cleaning purposes. Coriell's daughter, Helen, found him. He died two hours later at the city hospital.

DEFICIT HALTS TRIAL.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Aug. 11.—A court martial trying 200 Filipino scouts on charges of mutiny was forced to adjourn to-day on account of lack of funds with which to pay the official stenographer. Before adjournment the court overruled a defense motion for acquittal.

RELIEF 'PLANE HELD UP

By the Associated Press.

EASTPORT, Me., Aug. 11.—The airplane Boston 11, forced to turn back by fogs and rain squalls to seek shelter here yesterday on her flight from Virginia to Pictou, N. S., as relief plane for Lieutenant Leigh C. Wade, will remain here to-day.

Tuning up and other repairs being done on the smooth beach at Broad Cove, where she found a safe haven, will keep the plane here.

Scotch Plains B. & L. Has Record Growth in Year.

Special to the Journal.

SCOTCH PLAINS, Aug. 11.—The phenomenal success of the Fanwood and Scotch Plains Building and Loan Association, which was founded two years ago, is shown in its second annual report, recently prepared.

The association was formed two years ago for the purpose of encouraging home building of the right sort. It favored new construction and the granting of money on safe loans. It has been conservatively managed with little overhead expense and at the present time many new homes are being erected here with its funds. The main purpose and aim of the association is "To Help Folks to Help Themselves," and this motto has been carefully followed out in all the dealings of the organization.

The total receipts of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, were $43,628.94. The total disbursements during the same period were $40,923.84. The officers of the association at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1924, is: Assets, $63,904.25; liabilities, $63,904.25.

The number of shares given out in the first series was 682; paid in per share, $24; profit per share, $2.80; book value, $26.80. The total number of shares out now is 2,579; total dues paid in, $47,670; total profit per series, $4,824.10.

The officers of the association are as follows: President, Alexander Muir; first vice-president, Charles Sheelen; second vice-president, Frank E. Weldon; treasurer, Henry Kaufmann; secretary, Edward R. Hatfield; counsel, Peter J. McDonough, Jr.; auditors, George K. Badger, Thomas F. Barrett, Charles Roberts; directors, term expiring 1925, George H. Staples, George H. Johnston, Henry Kaufmann and Henry C. Meyer; directors, term expiring 1926, Frank E. Weldon, Alexander Muir, Edward R. Hatfield, Clark's Sheelen; directors, term expiring 1927, Edgar C. Markham, Robert E. Earl, John Z. Hatfield, Samuel B. Macaulay.

ON LONG AUTO TRIP.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles B. Livingston, and son Harold, all of Bay Ridge, Tex., arrived here in a Ford automobile Saturday afternoon, having been on the road since May. Mrs. Livingston is a daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Wade, of Scotch plains. Rev. Mr. Livingston is a Methodist Episcopal clergyman. He will remain in the North. On their way North the family drove through Texas to New Mexico, and thence through Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The only engine trouble they had was while they were in Nebraska.

BREVITIES.

The fire department put out a fire which ignited a pile of sawdust near the Twin Falls Mills about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The young people of the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church will go to Dreamland Park, Bridgeton, to-night, by auto.

The official board of the First Methodist Church will meet Tuesday night.

Alexander Muir visited Camp Kiwanis, Hewitt Junction, N. Y., on Saturday, where his son Alex, Jr., and other local boys are acting as camp leaders.

KLAN INITIATES CLASS OF FIFTY

Ceremony Conducted on Hess Farm at Cranford.

Special to the Journal.

CRANFORD, Aug. 11.—The Ku Klux Klan held a meeting on the Martin Hess farm, in Walnut avenue, near the Lehigh Valley Railroad, Saturday night, at which more than fifty candidates from Hudson and Essex counties were initiated. Members of the order from all over the State attended, coming here in their c. s, which were parked on the big farm. Lights were furnished for the meeting by storage battery lamps brought to the scene on a truck. The occupants of cars coming over Walnut avenue were enabled to get a good view of the ceremonies, when they were not kept moving by the police, who prevented parking along the roadway.

The ceremony was an orderly one and ended with the burning of a cross. There was no parade or demonstration in the town preceding the meeting and only those who happened to pass the farm knew that the meeting was being held.

A woman resident of the neighborhood, who noticed the men assembling at the farm, notified the police of Cranford and Garwood, who were sent to investigate. As soon as he saw the large number of cars being parked he notified Chief Hennessey. Chief Hennessey detailed nearly all of the force to the scene, but there was nothing for the officers to do excepting to care for traffic as they were barred from the farm by pickets in citizens' clothes, who told them the land was private property.

TRAFFIC WELL HANDLED.

There were no accidents here yesterday, although traffic was very heavy. A car was parked in practically every place it was possible to leave it, from Saturday night on following the Klan meeting. Cars from Perth Amboy, Rahway, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Somerville, Albert Ladore and Bound Brook arrived, bumped together and left Cranford in a procession of seven grade crossings, without a single collision or interfering with traffic. Cars from both vehicles, the Cranford police and proceeded on their way.

CRANFORD NOTES.

Rev. William F. Wood, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will be assisted in the pulpit by Rev. Dr. Charles Clinton Hall, of Charlotte, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hall, of Hampton street, are at the Hotel Chalfonte, Upper Saranac Lake, N. Y.

The members of the census takers are circulating a petition among the citizens of voters asking the authorities to have the polls open for one hour instead of an eight hour day. The petition is to be presented to the police at the coming election. The petitioners claim that the short hour and increased salaries is a reason why the police are anxious to have a shorter working day. The petition is being signed by every resident approached.

As Estimate.

"Would you care to go to the opera to-night?" he asked her.

"Indeed I should, and you are so kind," she told him. "What is the opening?"

"Oh, I think about $14 or $15, including the taxi."—Transcript.

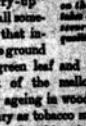

The same pipe—the same tobacco —yet it tastes entirely different

DID you ever see Burley tobacco as it comes from the farmer's curing barn—a big leaf, dark green-brown in color, "new", unripe? Chew a bit of this leaf, and you'll find it rank, bitter, and unpalatable; smoke it, and you'll get only a hot stinging harshness.

Then open a tin of Velvet, test this same Burley after it has been "aged in wood", and notice the pronounced difference. The green has turned to rich brown, the bitterness has become mellow "body", the bite and harshness have utterly disappeared. What is left is Burley tobacco at its appetizing best—ripe, mild, seasoned, and just right for smoking.

Here, then, are two extremes, green leaf and "aged in wood" tobacco. To make one from the other requires acreage of plant, equipment, and huge sums tied up in tobacco for long unproductive periods—for "ageing in wood" is a tedious and costly process. Countless experiments have therefore been made in the search for a faster, cheaper method of ripening—experiments ranging from greenhouse "forcing" to bacteriological colonizing; and some of these have been part way successful. But even at their best, the "hurry-up" methods fall somewhere in that intermediate ground between green leaf and ripeness, and far short of the mellow perfection gained by ageing in wood. In all our half century as tobacco manufacturers, we have found nothing that equals ageing in wood to ripen and sweeten tobacco for smoking.

Tobacco curing room on the same plank. It is aged in wood for a year before uniform high quality.

Velvet, therefore, is made entirely of tobacco that has been truly aged—aged in wood. It is made of the highest grade of Kentucky Burley that money can buy, and every ounce of it goes through this mellowing process—nor can you get such mildness, such cool satisfying goodness, in any other way.

A Noted Catcher Does the Mask.

Forty years ago to-day—August 11, 1884—the Detroit and Cleveland played a game of no particular consequence at the time, but now historic for the fact that it marked the first appearance in fast company of Charles L. Zimmer, later to become famous as the catcher of Cy Young and other great stars. Charley couldn't hit Moffett on that day so long ago, fanning three times. The score:

THREE ARRESTED AS FIGHT RESULT

Victim and Those Who Aid Him Are Freed.

Washington Merritt, of 636 Elizabeth avenue, was injured about the face in a fight in Fifth street, near Broadway, Saturday night, and with two men who ran to his aid was arrested on a disorderly charge. The others were Peter Feeney, of Hamlet, and Joseph Bogdas, of 134 Fifth street.

When he was taken to the Second Precinct station, Merritt, the police say, gave his name as "Mickey Walker." To-day he told Judge Brown in police court that he was struck by a locomotive and knocked into a bed of cinders.

Patrolman Roberts was walking in Fifth street, when he saw a fight some distance away. He reports that he found Bogdas holding up Merritt while Feeney stood nearby. He noticed that Merritt walked a few feet and then saw him fall. The three then were arrested.

After he was "booked" at the Second Precinct Station, Merritt was taken to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, where he was treated for lacerations over the eyes and bruises about the face. Feeney was locked up from Saturday night until this morning and Bogdas was released under bail.

In Police Court to-day, Bogdas said that he was in his house and heard a disturbance. He ran out and saw Merritt lying in the street. He picked him up and was joined by Feeney, a spectator.

In disposing of the case, Judge Brown said that Feeney and Merritt had both been punished sufficiently and Bogdas had apparently been acting only as a pacifier. He suspended sentence on the three charges.

GET 600 POUNDS OF BIG SEA BASS

Sergt. Matson and Thomas Fleres Have Good Luck.

With about 600 pounds of sea bass to their credit, Detective-Sergeant Luke Matson and Thomas Fleres, of 105 First street, returned late Saturday evening from Waretown, Barnegat Bay, where they spent three days fishing. The fishermen found the bass running heavily about five miles beyond the Barnegat Light and there, aboard the fishing smack of Captain Thomas Rackhouse, brought up most of their catch. The fish averaged about two pounds each.

Early yesterday morning Desk Sergeant William E. Lloyd was surprised to find fifty large bass behind the desk of the Second Precinct Station. He distributed the sea food among the men about to leave the station and remarked, "Luke must have had some luck."

Sergeant Matson has fished with Captain Rackhouse for the past thirty-five years and swears that if there are any fish in Barnegat the Captain knows where to find them. Perhaps he is right, for, according to Sergeant Lloyd, Matson has not returned empty handed in that time.

STANDARD OIL INQUIRY OPENED IN MISSOURI

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 11.—Investigation of the oil situation in Missouri, directed against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana by Attorney-General J. W. Barrett to determine whether proceedings should be brought against the company for violation of the anti-trust law, was under way to-day.

Officials and records of the company and a number of retail gasoline merchants, filling station agents and garage owners from over the State have been subpoenaed.

Attorney-General Barrett, in asking the investigation, said he had been informed that the company "has conspired with other oil companies to control prices," and that it was making illegal discrimination between various communities in the State in the matter of price.

MAN HIT BY TROLLEY CAR AS IT TURNS LOOP

Henry Jackson, of 53 Pine street, received bruises on the left leg and right arm, when struck by a trolley turning the loop at East Jersey and Front streets, shortly after midnight last night. Jackson, who refused to go to a hospital for treatment, told Patrolman Schneider that he had been helping two women board the car, when he was struck by the rear step as the car moved off. The trolley, No. 4082 of the Elizabeth-Newark line, was in charge of Conductor Daniel Ritter and Motorman Andrew Miller.

The same car, carrying passengers from the late Coney Island boat, was derailed at a switch in East Jersey street on the 12.30 A. M. trip. It was nearly an hour reaching Broad street. At the Public Service office in Newark this morning it was said the probable cause was the [illegible] being made to the tracks in [illegible] Jersey street.

FREEHOLDERS ON TRIP TO SKILLMAN VILLAGE

Several members of the Board of Freeholders left for Skillman this morning to join with freeholders from other counties in an inspection of the New Jersey Village for Epileptics, at the invitation of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies.

At the same time the monthly meeting of the New Jersey Association of Freeholders will be held there.

REBUKES PLEA AGAINST NEGRO

Coolidge Says He Has Right to Seek Office.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Replying to a letter of protest against the candidacy of a negro in New York State for Congress, President Coolidge to-day expressed "amazement" at the suggestion that he intervene, and reaffirmed his intention of administering the constitution, which, he pointed out "guarantees equal rights to all our citizens, without discrimination on account of race or color."

The letter, made public at the White House, was written by the President to Charles R. Gardner, of Fort Hamilton, N. Y. Gardner had sent a newspaper clipping concerning the candidacy of a negro for a seat in Congress from New York and suggested "repeated ignoring of the growing race problem does not excuse us for allowing encroachments."

"Leaving out of consideration the manifest impropriety of the President intruding himself in a local contest for nomination," Coolidge wrote in reply, "I am amazed to receive such a letter.

"Our Constitution guarantees equal rights to all our citizens, without discrimination on account of race or color. I have taken my oath to support that constitution. It is the source of your rights and my rights. I propose to regard it and administer it as the source of the rights of all the people, whatever their belief or race. A colored man is precisely as much entitled to submit his candidacy in a party primary as is any other citizen. The decision must be made by the constituents to whom he offers himself and by nobody else."

LAUNDRY MEN ENJOY THEIR ANNUAL OUTING

Seventy-five male employes of the Morey La Rue Laundry Company, 16 West Jersey street, went to Seidler's Beach Saturday on their annual outing. The new yellow and black automobile trucks of the firm were used. A baseball game was held and the Staten Island workers of the Morey La Rue Company defeated the Elizabeth contingent, 7-4.

WOMAN IS FINED $15 ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Mrs. Ella Cross, colored, of 79 Broadway, was fined $15 on a charge of assault and battery by Judge Brown in Police Court this morning. Upon the complaint of Mrs. Jennie Spong, of 77 Broadway, she was arrested at 9.15 o'clock last night by Patrolman Weiner. During an argument, Mrs. Spong said that Mrs. Cross attacked her.

SHAMOKIN MAN HELD OVER NIGHT BY POLICE

George Harris, of Shamokin, Pa., was arrested last night in the Elizabethport station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey by Patrolman [illegible]rtin Kennedy because he was unable to give an account of himself. He was discharged this morning when arraigned in Police Court before Judge Brown.

WON'T PAY COURT FINE, DEFENDANT IS JAILED

Robert McAdams, of 40 First street, told Police Judge Brown this morning that he wouldn't pay a fine of $5 on a charge of being disorderly. "Put me inside," said McAdams. The prisoner then was placed in a cell. His arrest was made at 11:15 o'clock Saturday night by Patrolman Schneider, who told the judge this morning that McAdams was one of several men at First and East Jersey streets. They were wrestling. Schneider feared they would go through a window. He ordered them to move. All but McAdams obeyed, the policeman said. McAdams denied the charge this morning. He will be released upon payment of the fine.

THREE MEN CHARGED WTIH BEING DRUNK

Three men were arraigned on charges of being drunk and disorderly before Judge Brown in Police Court this morning. Arrested at Fourth street and Port avenue at 12.45 o'clock Sunday morning by Detective Martin, William Harris, 25 years old, of 415 New Point road, was fined $5. Detective Martin stated that Harris resisted arrest.

200 VISIT GIRLS IN SCOUT CAMP

New Group Goes to "Lou Henry Hoover" To-day.

More than 200 parents and friends visited at the Girl Scout Camp, Lou Henry Hoover, at Lidell's Pond, near Morristown, yesterday. The third week opened at camp to-day, when twenty-one girls arrived by bus from this city, chaperoned by Mrs. Rosalie Butler, a member of the junior council. Twelve girls returned home at noon after spending a week at the camp.

According to Miss Helen Townley, director of Girl Scout work in Elizabeth, one 14-year-old girl gained six and a half pounds after spending a week in the camp. The under-weight girls are given crackers and milk in the middle of the mornings and also at night before retiring, beside their three regular meals. All of the Scouts who have returned home are enthusiastic about the camp and especially commend the food that is served.

During the past week a camera man, representing the Fox Film Corporation visited the Camp and filmed the scouts in various activities. A one-act playlet, "A Day in Every Scout's Life," will be given at Camp this week under the direction of Lieut. Olive Houston, a councilor. The play was presented here in the Winfield Scott School in June and a silver cup was awarded to the troop from which the cast was selected.

The scouts who arrived at "Lou Henry Hoover" to-day included Margaret Stead, Elsie Terry, Edna Levine, Sophie Spector, Mildred Seymour, Edna Hennel, Elizabeth Erskine, Margaret O'Brien, Rosalita Butler, Catherine Lynes, Ruth Reynolds, Anna Murphy, Jean Murphy, Alice O'Rourke, Katherine McFadden, Mildred Terry, Helen Hollands, Elsie Townsend, Imogene Barrett, and Mary Fox. The girls who returned are Elsie Rankin, Leila Degenring, Vivian Kaufman, Minnie Price, Margaret Wilcox, Rowena Fray, Shirley Hermey, Ruth Beck, Viola Berry, Dorothy Totterdell, Harriet Dubins, and Anne Castor.

COMMITTEE WILL PLAN CAMPAIGN

Republicans to Discuss Mayoralty Situation.

The availability of candidates for the Mayoralty, and for councilmanic honors in the uneven numbered wards, will be subjects the members of the Republican City Committee will wrestle with to-night at the regular meeting in headquarters, 64 Broad street.

It is expected the committee will follow precedent, and have Chairman Thomas Searle name a sub-committee to canvass the situation with respect to suitable Mayoralty timber. Thus far former Police Judge Charles A. Otto is the only man mentioned.

The judge is in Maine, and is not expected back until August 30. He left word, however, that he hadn't made up his mind whether he would consent to lead the city ticket.

Chairman Searle said to-day that regarding the candidates for City Council the matter may be left to the committeemen from the First, Third, Fifth, Seventh, Ninth and Eleventh wards.

The committee will also endeavor to fill vacancies on the various district election boards in the city.

GOES TO BOSTON TO GET INDICTED ELIZABETHAN

County Detective Jeremiah P. McNamara went to Boston to-day to bring back Manuel Pedro, formerly of 147 Inslee place, this city, to answer an indictment for desertion found by the May Grand Jury. Pedro is alleged to have deserted his wife and their 4-year-old child January 24, and to have fled to Bridgeport, Conn., and later to have gone to Boston.

Chief of County Detectives Galation recently learned that Pedro was employed at 358 North street, Boston, and requested the Boston police to arrest him. Pedro was taken into custody Saturday as he was driving a Ford automobile. The Boston police notified Chief Galation, who detailed Detective McNamara to bring Pedro to this city. McNamara was accompanied by Plainclothesman Condron.

Pedro is a Portugese, 32 years old, and was married at Cumberland, R. I., November 25, 1918.

HARRY N. MOORE BURIED, MANY ATTEND FUNERAL

Harry N. Moore, of Allenhurst, husband of Mrs. Gertrude T. Moore [illegible] McManus, who died suddenly of heart disease as he was about to go bathing at Culver's Lake on Thursday, was buried this morning. The funeral was held from the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter McManus, 1329 North avenue.

A high requiem mass was offered at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev. Father John Campbell, the curate. The honorary bearers were George Smith, William T. Plum, Walter Reid, Harry McManus, Ambrose McManus and John A. Burke.

The funeral was largely attended, and the casket was banked with flowers. After the service the body was taken to Newark for burial in the Cemetery of the Holy Sepulchre.

DEMURS ON TAXI FARE, JAILED, AGREES TO PAY

"I was in Paradise for an hour and ten minutes," Edward Lewis, colored, of 1020 William street, told Judge Brown in Police Court this morning, "but I got twelve hours in jail."

Lewis engaged a taxicab on Broad street late last night and told Larry Ratel, driver for the Checker Cab Company, to take him to Newark. Ratel drove his fare to the Paradise Dance Hall, on Broad street, in that city, and carried him back again. At 1.40 o'clock this morning they arrived in Elizabeth, and, according to the driver, Lewis demurred at paying the $6 meter charge. Ratel called Patrolman Conroy and had his passenger arrested.

Arraigned in Police Court this morning, Lewis said that he had thought the matter over and decided to pay the cab bill.

WALES TO LUNCH AT WHITE HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—One of the highest compliments in diplomatic usage—a strictly private luncheon with the executive family—is planned for the Prince of Wales upon his arrival in the United States for the international polo matches next month at Meadowbrook, says the Washington Post, to-day, adding that it understands the royal visitor will reach New York August 30, on the Berengaria.

The Prince's call at the White House was decided upon, the Post related, after King George had vetoed a proposal that he come to the United States incognito, as Lord Renfrew. The King held that international courtesy required use of the Prince's highest title on a visit to the United States, even though it might be only a pleasure trip, and this necessitated arrangements for him to pay his respects formally to the President.

The privacy of the luncheon, one of few functions of its kind in American history, is attributed not only to the mourning of the executive family for Calvin Coolidge, Jr., but to a desire to return similar courtesies extended by the King and Queen recently to Secretary and Mrs. Hughes and to Secretary Mellon and his daughter. Afterwards, says the Post, members of the Cabinet and their wives may be invited to the White House, in a strictly informal manner, to welcome the Prince.

No other cities will be visited by the Royal party on this trip under present plans, the newspaper continues, and only one large social function has been arranged, a dinner and dance by Clarence Mackay at Harbor Hill, September 6, the evening of the first of the series of polo matches for the famous international challenge cup, the American open championship and the Monty Waterbury Memorial trophy.

The Prince will be met at New York, the Post adds, by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard; J. Butler Wright, third assistant secretary of state in a semi-official capacity, and Major Oscar N. Salbert, the President's junior aide and former military attache at the American embassy in London, as the personal and unofficial representative of President Coolidge. The executive also has detailed Salbert to act as personal aide to the Prince during his stay in the United States.

The Royal visitor will occupy the house of James A. Burden at Syosset, Long Island, during the polo matches, with Rogers Winthrop acting as host in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Burden, who are in Europe. After the matches, which are scheduled to end September 14, the Prince is expected to leave immediately for his ranch in Manitoba.

INMATES ESCAPE AT REFORMATORY

Two Men Elude Guards Over Week-end.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—Two escapes from the New Jersey Reformatory have been made in two days. After sounding the evening call last night Bugler Arthur Coats, of Camden, disappeared. How he escaped has not been determined.

About noon Saturday, Dominick Salem, who was committed from North Bergen for eighteen months and had only three more months to serve, made his escape from a gang of inmates working in the institution garden. Salem lingered in the rear of the garden detail as they were to proceed to dinner and disappeared just before the march to the institution.

Since the riot at the Reformatory on July 30 all privileges have been withdrawn and the curtailing of their freedom has caused dissatisfaction among the inmates and incited their efforts to escape.

Police stations throughout this section have been notified to watch for the pair and their early capture is expected.

OFFICIALS PLAN FOR BIG OUTING

Democrats to Desert City Hall Wednesday.

City Hall promises to be a desert Wednesday when Democrats from the city and county will join with the executive committee of the City Democratic Committee on the annual excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove.

City officials who are planning to make the trip are as follows: Mayor John F. Kenah, City Clerk Theodore Brokaw, Harry Eckerson and Joseph Furman, of the comptroller's office; Board of Works Commissioner Frank J. Travers, City Treasurer J. J. McGrath, Overseer of the Poor Anthony Sattler, Street Commissioner William P. Neafsey, Joseph McGovern, clerk of the Board of Adjustment and George Schardien, electrical inspector.

All offices, however, will remain open, it was said to-day. City employes who do not go on the excursion Wednesday are planning to take in the annual pilgrimage to Sea Girt Friday, Governor's Day for Union County.

JANITORS ON OUTING HEAR EX-PRESIDENT

George W. Yates, of West Hudson Local No. 1, past State president of the Public School Janitors' Mutual Aid and Benevolent Association, was the speaker yesterday at the eighteenth annual dinner and outing of Elizabeth Local, No. 4, at Sewaren. Fifty members were present. Games and swimming were enjoyed. The trip was made by automobiles which left from the City Hall at 10 o'clock.

The committee in charge was composed of John W. Eggers, of School No. 8, chairman; Alexander Dougherty, of Battin High School; Louis Fruh, of Kenilworth; David F. Holmes, of School No. 16, and Fred Foster, of School No. 1.

COMMUNISTS IN ROME DECRY MUSSOLINI RULE

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 11.—Unusually daring anti-governmental demonstrations were held here Saturday night and again last night by Communists while carabineers, it is asserted, looked on with apparent indifference and made no efforts to interfere.

The demonstration on Saturday centered around the Piazza Colonna in front of the Chigi Palace where the Communists shouted again and again "Down with Mussolini," "Down with Fascisms." Last night, according to newspaper reports to-day, the Communists attached red flags to a number of telephone poles.

GIVES HIS $744 TO STRANGERS

Rahway Man Loses Savings On Visit to New York.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—Police of this city and New York are trying to locate the three men alleged to have swindled Louis Gopobianso, of 65 Irving street, out of $744. According to the story told the police by Gopobianso, he went to New York Wednesday to secure a passport for a trip to Italy.

While in New York he went into a restaurant and there got into conversation with three men whom he did not know. They agreed to aid him and took $44 which Gopobianso had in his pockets. He stayed all night with the men. The following morning they told him they were going into business and had a sure way of making considerable money.

After he had told them he had $700 in a local bank they asked him to join the company. They accompanied him to Rahway while he drew the money out of the bank and gave it to them to put into the business enterprise. He told the police they must have doped him. Since turning the money over to the man he has not heard from them.

Gopobianso told the police the restaurant where he met the three men was in Mulberry street, in the Little Italy section of New York.

Complaint was made at police headquarters on Saturday night by L. D. Dalton, of 241 West Grand street, that someone had picked his pocket and removed $16 while he was in the safe of Musyka & Danylak, at Main and Irving streets.

JOSTLED IN CAR, MONEY IS GONE

Roselle Man Reports Robbery on Union Trolley.

Special to the Journal.

ROSELLE, Aug. 11.—Jostled by three men as he was preparing to leave a Union line trolley car at the stop opposite his home shortly before 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Hugh Hughes, of 642 Third avenue, east, afterward discovered when he wanted to pay off his employes that the $250 he had drawn from an Elizabeth bank for that purpose was missing.

Hughes immediately reported his loss to the Roselle police. As the jostling incident occurred just east of the Elizabeth city line, the matter was referred to the Elizabeth police, who are investigating.

According to the police, Hughes boarded the Union line car at West Jersey and Broad streets, Elizabeth, with the $250 he had drawn from an Elizabeth bank to pay off his employes who are constructing a house one block from his home. The car was crowded and Hughes moved forward when it was just east of the Elizabeth city line, preparatory to leaving at his home, which lies in Roselle, just over the line.

As he was preparing to leave, three men, he says, one short and two tall, jostled him. The short man stood in front of Hugues and the other men on either side. It was then that Hughes believed his pockets were picked.

Hughes believed he could identify the men if he saw them again. One of the tall men wore brown overalls and the other was dressed in a dark blue suit and wore a cap. The third of the trio was short and stout.

CLASSON POINT GOAL OF McLEOD ASSOCIATION

The destination of the Neil McLeod, Jr., Association excursion on August 27, is to be Classon Point, N. Y., the excursion committee of the association has decided. This is the same spot as last year. The committee decided that the point furnishes the best dancing pavilion, and has sufficient accommodations for the crowd that is expected to be on hand this year.

United States Senator Edge has tentatively agreed to be present, and National Committeeman Hamilton F. Kean, who is contending for the Senatorial nomination with Senator Edge, has promised if possible to be on hand.

AUTO ROUND-UP NETS $493 FINES

Warrants for Trio Who Ignored Summonses.

Fines of $493 were collected in Police Court Saturday by Judge Brown following the arraignment of motorists caught in the round-up last Monday night by State Motor Vehicle Inspectors. Two men ignored the summonses which had been issued.

James J. Shanley, inspector in charge, caused warrants to be issued for John Verga, of 505 Chestnut street, Roselle, and Albert C. Kelly, of 704 Chestnut street, Roselle, who were absent.

Shanley granted postponements to seven defendants who, for business reasons, were unable to appear and asked for other dates. They will be given hearings August 18. Louis Blank, of Brooklyn, was granted a continuance until to-day, the police meanwhile holding his Ford car as security because he resides outside of the State.

Those who were to appear on August 18 are Gus Reider, of 849 Magnolia avenue; Abraham Schwartsbach, of 1033 North avenue; William Wiftman, of 8 Miller street; Eugene Bauman, of 416 Livingston street; Howard Feithel, of 447 Broadway, and Walter Sullivan, of 15 Spencer street.

Schwartsbach and Bauman appeared in court to-day and each was fined $3 for driving without lights on charges preferred by Motor Vehicle Inspector Malay.

The fines ranged from $4 to $50. Those assessed $50 were Samuel Rothberg, of 700 Grier avenue; Wilbur Meise, of 500 South Broad street, and Alfred Klug, of 145 Catherine street; all having driven without having obtained licenses, and George Allinger, of 532 Union avenue, Cranford; Joseph Krejick, of 230 Galloping Hill road, Roselle Park, and Walter Horn, of 65 South Thirteenth street, Newark, for permitting unlicensed persons to drive their cars.

The court first took up the minor infractions, such as illegal lights and obscure license plates. These offenders were arraigned in groups. Those charged with operating cars without licenses were arraigned individually. Where the offender had a license, but had left it home by accident the court issued a warning and granted a suspended sentence. Those given suspended sentences were Carmen Gallacchio, of 638 Fourth avenue; Barnet Shapiro, of 836 East Jersey street; Walter Kusnitzoff, of 130 Fifth street; Tony Leo, of 603 Fourth avenue; Miss Anna Zintle, of 640 Van Buren avenue; Theodore Yoerger, of 35 Prospect street; Miss Dora Piungis, of Edgar road, Linden; Earl Dornfield, of 645 Madison avenue; Anthony Wasilewski, of 614 Walnut street, Roselle; John L. Hart, of 161 West Twenty-first street, New York City; Hyman Woodstein, of 324 Bond street; Edward Johnson, 1151 Broad street, Newark, and Thomas Craig, of 522 Grier avenue.

Emil Ferenzi, of 253 Pine street, was fined $25 for loaning his license to Tony Leo, of 603 Fourth avenue. Both men are jitney drivers and when Leo was approached by the inspectors and found to have no license, Ferenzi is alleged to have slipped him his card. Leo was given a suspended sentence.

PLAN MUNICIPAL DANCE FOR FRANKLIN STREET

Stock Market.

Jersey Central Soars 13¼ Points Following Merger Reports—Other Rails Rise.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The stock market report at important periods of the day follows:

10.30 A. M.—Stock prices responded at the opening of to-day's market to favorable week-end developments, including the full agreement of the reparations conference experts on the Dawes program and the unexpectedly favorable unfilled tonnage statement of the United States Steel Corporation. Atlantic Refining, however, broke 2 1-4 points following omission of the quarterly dividend. The early trading was marked by an almost entire absence of selling pressure except in isolated cases, where adverse news governed operations. High priced stocks were buoyant, with several coal carriers establishing new high records, including Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson and Jersey Central, the latter gaining 3 1-4 points. Foreign exchanges opened strong, sterling jumping more than 3 cents to a new 1924 high.

Noon—Strength of the railroad shares, many of which soared to new high prices for the year, featured the morning session, buying undoubtedly being influenced by reports that directors of the Erie and Pere Marquette railroads would meet within a week to act on the Nickel Plate merger. Delaware & Hudson stood out by climbing five points to a new top at 134¾, but a brisk demand also was noted for Rock Island, St. Paul preferred, "Katy" preferred, New Haven and Peoria & Eastern. Atlantic Refining was supported on the break to eighty-two and the other oils held firm in the face of unfavorable trade news, the Pan American issues and General Asphalt showing good gains. U. S. Steel ran into profit-taking around midday and dropped about a point from its early high but independent Steels, shippings and industrial specialties continued under steady accumulation. Call money opened at two per cent.

1:30 P. M.—Prices of high railroad shares were given another upward whirl in the afternoon in connection with merger reports, Jersey Central soaring 13¼ points to 251, a new high figure for the year. Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville & Nashville and Canadian Pacific also developed considerable strength. Among the specialties Foundation Company was run up four points and General Baking extended its rise to 9½. Stewart-Warner and Kayser were quite weak while Atlantic Refining ran off again to 81½.

CONTINUE TWO PROBES IN GILPATRIC'S AFFAIRS

By the Associated Press.

PUTNAM, Conn., Aug. 11.—Inquiry into the condition of trust funds and property of estates which have been handled by State Treasurer G. Harold Gilpatric as trustee under appointment of the local probate court, which has been instituted was to be continued to-day and the Federal bank examiners, who halted their inquiry into the affairs of the First National Bank of Putnam, of which he is cashier, were to resume their probe into the bank's condition.

Gilpatric, who shot himself in his home last Thursday, remained in a critical condition at the Day-Kimball Hospital, where he was reported to have passed a restless night. Otherwise his condition was unchanged, it was stated.

While no promises were made by the examiners or bank officials, it was confidently expected by stockholders of the bank and others that some addition to the more announcement that the bank is solvent would [illegible] to-day.

TWO BOYS HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Can't Explain How They Got Car in Which They Rode.

Robert Isman, 15 years old, of 780 Chandler avenue, Linden, and Tony Coligelio, 17 years old, of 50 Broad street, this city, are being held by the police on charges of being implicated in the theft of an automobile last night from Dreamland Park.

They were arrested on suspicion by Motor Vehicle Inspector Shanley just before midnight last night, as they were driving south on Broad street in an Essex sedan. The sedan was later reported to the police as having been stolen from Dreamland Park. The youths refuse to admit having stolen the car, but will not say how it got into their possession.

Sergeant Brennan, of the Traffic Squad, was sent this morning to search the rooms of Coligelio at 50 Broad street, but was unable to find anything of an incriminating nature. A similar search will be made this afternoon in Linden, where Isman lives.

The Newark police reported the stolen car to the Elizabeth headquarters, but Chief Moleahy will not surrender his prisoners until any possible charges here have been cleared, he stated to-day.

DOG BITES GIRL DURING QUARREL

Set Loose by Woman in Row, Is Testimony.

Pauline Madelessky, 13 years old, of 662 Amboy avenue, was bitten in the back by a dog let loose on her by Mrs. Katie Matz, of the same address, during a fight there about noon yesterday, it was stated by Frank Mich, also of 662 Amboy avenue, in Police Court this morning, when he, the girl, the woman, and Joseph Matz, the husband, were arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct made by Patrolman Miholcowitz. Each of them was fined $3.

Mrs. Matz and Pauline Madelessky engaged in a fight. After the dog, which has been tied, was let loose, according to Mich, he, his fifteen-year-old son and Mr. Matz entered into the fight. Because of the poor English spoken by the defendants, Judge Brown was unable to obtain the cause of the fight between the two women.

At the St. Elizabeth Hospital, the wound of the girl was cauterized and she will return this afternoon for further treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Matz and Mich also were treated at the hospital for injuries to their heads. They told Judge Brown that a stone had been thrown and that some person had used a broom stick, but he could obtain no further information.

Mich was unable to pay his fine, and Judge Brown gave instructions to place him in a cell. He attempted to take his three-year-old son with him. When the police took the son away from him, a slight disturbance in the court room took place.

LABOR LEADERS FACE DISPUTES

Take Up Controversies at Shore Conference.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—Jurisdictional controversies, some of them reported to be of international scope, had chief position to-day on the program of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. A score of prominent labor officials from as many industrial centers were called here to confer with Samuel Gompers and present arguments for their organizations at hearings before the executive council. It was expected that unless politics intruded again into the program the business of the council would be completed in three or four days.

Only nine of the council remained here. Matthew Woll, first vice-president, and Daniel Tobin, treasurer, departed yesterday to attend conventions of their respective international unions in other cities. Gompers, who in several of the council sessions, which have been in progress for eleven days, delegated Woll to temporary chairmanship, will preside at all conferences from now until adjournment.

The last official act of the council sitting with the whole membership was the designation of a "union label month," for thirty days beginning August 25. The efforts of 30,000 local unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. will be directed toward promoting the purchase of goods bearing trade union labels.

The label drive will be undertaken in conjunction with the label trades department of the federation. It was announced that approximately 100,000 committeemen would be appointed throughout the country to direct local campaigns. A large force of speakers will be mobilized and made available for mass meetings intended for the organization of the purchasing power of union men and women in each community.

"This drive will be the biggest movement of its kind in our history," declared Mr. Woll. "It will be a tremendous effort to bring together for support of union label products the full purchasing power of the 4,000,000 members of the American Federation of Labor, their friends and sympathizers, and we look for far-reaching results."

JAP MINERS KILLED.

By the United Press.

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 11.—Ninety miners working in Pit No. 5 of the Iriyama coal mine were buried when an explosion occurred on the 2,400-yard level to-day. Seventy-seven bodies, mangled beyond recognition, have been recovered by rescuers.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL.

By the Associated Press.

MORRISTOWN, Aug. 11.—Terrance [illegible], employed at a Far Hills estate, died in a local hospital during the night from injuries received when his automobile was struck by another as he drove from the estate with his family to go to church yesterday. O'[illegible]'s wife and daughter were only slightly hurt.

COUNTY TOWNS GET ROAD FUNDS

Hillside and Union Share in State Aid Money.

TRENTON, Aug. 11.—With only $525,000 to meet requests for $1,320,000 in township road aid, the State Highway Commission to-day apportioned the fund for thoroughfares regarded as the most important of the connecting links submitted for consideration. Union county's allotment follows: Hillside township, $8,000 for nine and one-half miles of macadam and Four Streets road; Union township, $16,000 for one-half mile of concrete on Valley street.

Never before had the Highway Commission been besieged for assistance by townships in so many counties of the State. Under the statute making the grant, the Highway Commission sets aside $25,000 annually for the townships in each county, a total of $525,000 for the State. The township receiving any of the fund is required to contribute at least twenty-five per cent. to the sum granted by the Highway Commission. In former years townships in many of the counties neglected to improve their roads on this percentage basis and the money they could have received reverted to a general fund for other townships which were anxious for a share.

Because of the general demand for good roads now, however, townships in seventeen counties have already committed themselves to add twenty five per cent. to whatever allowance was made by the Highway Commission, and in many instances they will make up the difference to carry to completion improvements which the State's share will not cover. Township ships in the four remaining counties. It is expected, will soon submit roads to make up their full quota of $25,000. One of these counties is Hudson, with two townships, which will have to raise its participation in the $52,462 still to be distributed.

The State money will not be available for distribution before next January and the latter will either wait until that time before starting their work or will do their own financing now in anticipation of their allotment.

WOMAN SLAIN IN FIGHT PATERSON MAN'S WIFE

By the Associated Press.

PATERSON, Aug. 11.—Peggy Larue, the young woman who was reported shot and killed by Frederick McLean, near Columbia, Pa., Saturday was identified here last night as Peggy Abbott, the wife of William F. Abbott. She left here eighteen months ago with Justice of the Peace William Synder, and went to Canada. Later when Snyder's funds ran low, the couple went to New York, where Snyder worked as a barber and Mrs. Abbott in a restaurant.

Snyder fled this city with several thousand dollars of bail money which he accepted from prisoners brought before him and failed to return on demand when the cases were disposed of. He was arrested in New York, brought back here and sentenced to State Prison. He is still serving his term at Trenton. The girl disappeared after Snyder's arrest. Her husband said last night, that he last heard from her June 1 of this year when she was employed as a nurse in the New Jersey State Village for Epileptics, at Skillman. She asked permission to return home to see her children. Abbott said he did not answer her letters. He said last night that he would go to York and make arrangements for his wife's funeral.

Pugilist Under Guard.

By the Associated Press.

YORK, Aug. 10.—Frederick McLean, a pugilist known as "Sailor Kid Mack," who is alleged to have shot and killed Peggy Larue and wounded Lenore O'Brien, of York, and D. W. Stewart, of Lancaster, near here yesterday, is under police guard at the York Hospital. McLean was said to have shot himself through the chest after shooting the others during a dispute over possession of a pistol. His condition is critical.

The Nervous Wreck

By E. J. RATH

Copyright, 1924, by NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young easterner, drives Sally Morgan, daughter of a Montana ranch owner, over a rough, uncertain trail from the ranch to the railroad station.

They run out of gasoline and the occupants of a passing car refuse to help them any. The Wreck takes five gallons at the points of a gun and arrives on time. Next morning they stop at a ranch and meet Charlie McSween, the foreman, who is in a quandary because he has lost his cooks just before the arrival of the owner. Sally solves his breakfast worries so pleases McSween that he takes a wheel off their car in order to keep them on the ranch. Forced to accept the inevitable, Sally takes a nap.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Probably she dreamed. But she was never quite sure of it, because it it began as a dream it ended as something real that really happened. There was a rhythmic throbbing in her ears, and as she came slowly and reluctantly to consciousness it grew steadily louder, developed a mechanical regularity about it that reminded her of the windmill at the Bar-M, but she realized an instant later that she was not in her own home. And it wasn't a windmill, either; it was more like an engine. Her eyes were blinking now. Why, it was an automobile! Sally sneezed herself straightened up in the big chair. If Henry Williams had resurrected that flivver, if he had found the sheet, if it had been in a fight with Charley McSween—well, then he was going to have some first-class trouble on his hands. Her ears were sharp now; now she was completely awake. She listened a second or two longer. No; it was not the flivver. It was a different kind of an engine, more orderly and dignified—wealthier.

She leaned forward and pushed aside a corner of the curtain. The thing that made the noise had just come to a stop outside. Sally stared at it with round eyes.

"Why, I believe—Oh, it is."

She flipped out of the chair with the sudden speed of a cat and raced in the direction of the kitchen.

"They've trailed us!" she gasped, as she ran.

CHAPTER VIII.
Hiding Out.

As Sally charged into the kitchen by way of the pantry, the Wreck was coming in through the door that opened on the yard. He stared at her in plain surprise; he did not know she ever run fast.

"What's the hurry?" he asked, mildly.

"We're trailed!"

"Trailed? What do you mean?"

"Have they seen you?" she panted.

"Who? What are you talking about? I haven't seen anybody but some horses down in the corral."

"Well, we're trailed all right, Henry Williams. They're out in the front yard."

"Who's out in front?"

"The people you stuck up—the big car!"

"Oh, all right," he said. "We'll stick 'em up again."

Sally groaned.

"We've got to get out of here," she said, sharply. "We've got to make tracks. We'll get a couple of horses down at the corral before they see us. You'll just have to ride."

It was a despairing thing to contemplate the Wreck on horseback, but it seemed the only chance.

"Oh, I can ride," he said. "I can ride anything. Only it's easier to stick 'em up. "We'll take their car."

Sally shook her head angrily.

"No, you idiot!" she cried. "We'll take horses. I've got a chance at them. Hurry!"

She had seized him by the hand and was dragging him in the direction of the door when in walked Charley McSween. Sally stopped and eyed him appraisingly. If the Wreck insisted on stopping him, it seemed to be the chosen time. And if it was necessary, she would help.

"I was just lookin' for you," said Charley, addressing the Wreck. "I want a hand with some baggage outside."

"Huh?" inquired the Wreck.

Sally and the Wreck exchanged a quick glance. She relaxed his fingers tightly, and he knew it was meant to be some sort of a signal.

"Well, my husband doesn't handle baggage."

Again she pinched the Wreck's fingers.

"What's the reason he don't handle baggage?" inquired Charley. "Ain't it dignified?"

"He—he's not strong," said Sally. The Wreck began to squirm and look truculent.

"Well, he ain't exactly powerful lookin', ma'am. But a while back he said he was goin' to lick me, so I thought maybe he could rassle a couple of trunks without sustainin' any personal damage."

"No; you'll have to get somebody else," said Sally.

Charley made no effort to conceal the disgust on his face. He inspected the Wreck from his horn-rimmed spectacles to his shoes, following the examination with a gesture of contempt.

"Seein' as your wife won't let you, he remarked, "I suppose me and the chauffeur'll manage."

The Wreck never knew how he managed to maintain any self-control, but he blamed it all on Sally. All he did was to shout:

"If you think I'm a baggage-smasher, you just wait and see what happens to your kitchen."

Charley went out with a remark to the effect that he did not have to pay for the dishes. The Wreck and Sally stared at each other.

"You—you stuck up the owner of the place!" she wailed.

"He was a hog," said the Wreck with fine scorn.

He was not worrying about the owner; his mind was occupied with plans to revenge himself for the insults of Charley McSween.

"Of all the awful luck," continued Sally, in a red whisper. "To think that we walked right into his hands. I knew there was something queer about this place the minute I took a look around the house."

"Well, what do we do now? Swipe the horses?"

Sally considered, then shook her head slowly.

"No; I think we'd better wait now I don't believe it's quite as bad as I thought. You see, they didn't trail us here, after all. They were coming, anyhow. Probably they don't know we're here; if they did, they'd have heard from it before this. We've got to figure this out now—carefully. The main thing is to keep them from seeing you. That's why I don't want let you go out to help with the baggage."

He was not a good hand at playing a waiting game, and said so. He was still in favor of going out and taking the 'ig car, a feat which presented to him no considerations of dismay. But Sally sharply ordered him to put the idea out of his head.

The situation bewildered her, but she did not think it had yet reached a crisis. Nobody in the car had seen her; it was very unlikely that they even knew their hold-up man had a girl with him. So long as she could keep the Wreck out of their sight and as long as the flivver remained locked up in a shed, there was still a chance to figure something out. But how utterly exasperating it was! Just when she was satisfied that they had blundered into a safe hideout, she discovered that they had used walked into the lion's den.

"The best to do, of course, is to keep them from seeing you," she said. "You'll have to stay in the kitchen all the time, I'm afraid. I suppose they'll come in here. They're not going to camp out in a kitchen," he growled. "It was dark last night, anyhow. I don't get a good look at me. I say we pulled down."

Charley came into the kitchen again.

"We got that baggage in, boss," he said. "And now, ma'am, I'll have to ask you to hustle me some real bungry."

The Wreck regarded her with a look of amused disappointment. If she going to turn to and cook for a hog? It was enough to be forced to cook for an unknown, but to discover your enemy was human was worse. He was about to spout, but she stopped him with a look.

"Seems they didn't get any ranch breakfast, except crackers, when they had with 'em," explained Charley. "That leaves 'em kind of hungry. They got hung up on the road, fact, they got held up."

"You don't mean it!" cooed Sally, who was digging into the flour barrel as a first step in the direction of making biscuits.

"Oh, it don't seem like it was serious, ma'am. That is, there was anybody got shot. Feller just took their watches and valuables and let 'em go without any gun play."

Sally ventured a look at the Wreck. He seemed to be curiously dazed.

"He's been done before," said Charley, who was slightly addicted to sin't anything to what they must do. Only the boss is pretty well stirred up, which maybe is natural enough. He comes from the East where they don't know anything about such things."

The Wreck was standing near a window, polishing his spectacles. It was Sally's first conscious glimpse of him without the horn rims. He got not a specific impression of being on other person. But there was no time to study him; Charley was interesting.

"Who is the boss?" she asked, trying to be indifferent.

"His name is Underwood," said Charley. "He's from New York. It's funny the way those New Yorkers buy themselves places that take out a pile of travelin' to get to. And it don't seem to come here oftener than once a year. This time he drove all the way. It don't sound reasonable, but he did. He's got his boy and girl with him. I expect he'll stay a few weeks."

Talks on Health Topics

Why Raise Mosquitoes?

One of the greatest obstacles in the way of the health education of the plain people is the fact that the plain people already know so many things which ain't so. This Billings complaint is a great deal more serious than the victims of it realize, for it keeps them languishing in a state of misinformation which very often means needless suffering. Take mosquitoes about the place. What a lot of plain people still think these pests are unavoidable, that the mosquitoes develop in the weeds, under the bushes and in the tall grass about nearby neglected yards, or even in the cool shade of well kept hedges or other shrubbery in one's own dooryard. Surely they have been taught differently—but that's the discouraging thing about Billings complaint, it's so very, very difficult for the victims to unlearn what they know. People with very bad cases of Billings complaint find doctors an unsatisfactory source of casual or curbstone advice. It seems the people build up problems out of their own understanding—which is all wrong—and the doctors are too bored to attempt to tell it all over again and so they let it go or hem and haw their way out of it the best they can. This mosquito business, now. It isn't worth while trying to tell folks with Billings complaint that the mosquitoes do not breed under the bushes or in the tall grass, for they know better and only feel sorry for your ignorance.

The mosquitoes are partly to blame themselves, for they certainly do like to congregate in cool moist dark places, in the shade of the barberry bush or under a privet, where they exchange tales of the chase and pick their teeth and get tips on the lay of the game. But so far as any multiplication is concerned such hangouts or recreation places might do as well as Saugster choice. The mosquitoes can breed only in standing water, and anything from an obstructed eave to a cow track or a discarded tomato can will do to hold the water. If the tall grass, the bushes or hedges are used as a cover for discarded junk, mosquitoes may breed there just as well as they do in the rain barrel or fountain or pond or sluggish creek. Clean up these breeding places and the mosquitoes will disappear. If a pool of water or a pond or fountain can't be drained, sprinkle a wee bit of kerosene oil on the surface. That suffocates the mosquito larvae (wiggle tails), for they have to come to the surface frequently for air or live all the time at the surface of the water. If it is a rain barrel or other receptacle where water or watery material is kept, keep it tightly covered or at least screened against access of mosquitoes seeking a place to lay their eggs. Ponds, fountains and other open standing water may be stocked with minnows, which eat the larvae, or even goldfish, which are less effective than minnows.

Enough mosquitoes to make an entire neighborhood miserable may be cultivated in an obstructed eave or drain pipe or in an uncovered garbage can or rain barrel or even in a flower urn in which water stands for a week or longer.

Mosquitoes in the neighborhood are as definitely a mark of bad grounds keeping as flies in the home are a mark of bad housekeeping.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Inferiority Complex.

What is meant by the term "inferiority complex"? (H. W. J.)

Answer—It is one of the new terms of the new psychology. As nearly as I can understand it means a kind of false humility, an ingrowing notion that one is inferior to the common standard in one way or another and that notion tends to influence one's conduct or behavior in life. Some of us are no doubt inhibited or handicapped with such inferiority complexes, but as it looks to me there are more folks raring and tearing around the world with superiority complexes.

Spots.

Kindly tell me what to use to remove large dark spots on each side of the neck. (Mrs. K. M.)

Answer—If it were the back of the neck I could tell you in a word, but I am uncertain what the nature of the spots on the side of the neck may be, and so I can only suggest that you give your physician a chance at the spots, or consult a physician who is a skin specialist.

Acidosis.

Please inform me whether citric acid is as good as soda for acidosis. (B. S. M.)

Answer—I do not think citric acid would be so good, though the citric acid salts in such fruits as oranges, lemons, grapefruit or limes would probably be as good or better than soda to oppose acidosis.

Old Gargle.

Several years ago you gave a formula for a gargle for preventing hoarseness or huskiness of the voice. Being a singer I tried it out and found it just the grandest old thing. Now I have lost the recipe and the druggist can't remember what it was and we're in a dreadful situation over it. Won't you gather under your banner a great number of new friends, and forever oblige a few old ones by giving that gargle formula again? (A. P.)

Answer—This is a bad season for formulas—the proofreaders and printers are all kinds warm and worn this time of year and there's no telling what they might do to such a formula if I ventured to try to print it. But I'll be glad to send it to you by mail. It wasn't my invention, but a recipe I lifted from the late Dr. Shoemaker's work on therapeutics.

Corns Not Little Bunions.

I have a bad bunion and a friend tells me you have given a fine remedy for corns. (Mrs. H. B.)

Answer—Corns are merely a kind of purgatory, whereas bunions are something else again. Send for my monograph on the care of the feet, which will give you comfort if not sympathy.

KEEPING UP WITH THE MOVIES

By A. H. FREDERICK,
NEA Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11.—Not all the heroes of the silver sheet appear upon its surface. By no means.

Consider "The Lost World," Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's story now being filmed at First National studio under supervision of Earl Hudson.

Prominent in the cast are a boa constrictor, a ring-tail monkey, a leopard and an alligator. So prominent indeed that should they find steady employment at their present salaries, their respective earning capacities would be $36,500, $14,600, $18,250 and $12,900 per year.

But they do not, as do some couple of thousand other seekers of motion picture work, appear soliciting employment at the studio casting office. They must be sought—and found.

That brings us to our hero, Charles K. Brown, purchasing agent for First National.

Let directors be as unreasonable as they may in their property requests, Brown must fill them. Then, after Brown has scoured the country and obtained a specimen, for instance, overnight the director changes his mind and decides the peccary should be a lava mustin. Brown smiles and, without halting production, appears with the lava mustin.

Perhaps severest test is being given Brown in the present picture. Not only must he supply things of the known world, but also of the "lost world."

The script called for several breathing, fighting dinosaurs, an animal which all the world (including cinema directors) knows is utterly extinct.

Charles K. Brown, bear and gila monster.

"Let Brown worry about that," said the director.

A chuckawalla; wasps and bees; two Egyption mummies; an Indian god and effigies thereof; alligators; red buck; a hippopotamus; prehistoric skulls, skeletons and horns, all remnants of a lost world; eight different kinds of monkey and one baboon; two pigmy ostriches; a macaw; an owl.

That is part of the list for the present production!

"But the hardest assignment I ever had," says Brown, "was furnishing a pair of ice skates. Imagine that for a job in Los Angeles. After tracing recent arrivals, finally I found a family recently come here from Iowa. There were the skates, up stairs in the attic."

A Puzzle a Day.

Two men, A and B, owned a plot of ground on which there were ten trees (see drawing). They decided to divide the plot so each had the same amount of land, and in such a manner that each one would have five trees on his property.

What was the most practical way in which to divide the ground?

Saturday's Answer:

IF ANY BOY WHISPERS, I AM GOING TO PUNISH HIM!

There are two concealed countries in the sentence; each of the bright scholars discovered a different one:

The countries are Siam and Persia. (WhisperS I AM; WhisPERS I Am.)

Your Boy and Your Girl

The Parent Counselor.

But Where's the School?

It was a Saturday morning in one of those modern high schools in Texas of which the State of a Lone Star is so proud. The dramatic teacher was working overtime directing as an electrician in regard to changing some stage wires for the Monday night performance.

He was an interesting mechanic and while at work he said to the teacher, "This is some place, what a wonderful hall this is; somewhat different than the school building I went to."

"Would you," was the replied, "like to look around a bit? I'll be glad to show you." So they went to the gymnasium, the swimming pool, the shower, the lunch room, the shops and the rooms for domestic science.

"Say, lady," said the electrician, "this is fine, now please a' ow me the school."

The mechanic was perfectly sincere in his request. He did not appreciate that a school no longer consists merely of school rooms. The modern school not only still deals in the three R's of the old school, but it has in addition the three L's—education for labor, education for leisure, and education in liberalizing.

The old school had to furnish only "book learning," because the home, kitchen and the shop furnished the education for labor. The old school had no conception of education for leisure because in those days leisure was out of the question in the twelve-hour day. The old school had no nice tilled pool or indoor gymnasium, as the creek and chores made them unnecessary.

After the electrician had seen the class rooms, assembly hall and science laboratories he said, "Now I see where the taxpayers' money goes, but it's worth it."

How many of us are like the electrician?

A Crush to Be Stopped.

My 18-year-old girl deserts me for another woman. She prefers to be over to her house all the time, wants to sleep and eat there. It breaks my heart to see her so crushed on a woman who is not her mother. Mrs. M. R. T.

Answer.—I sent you a personal letter in answer to your inquiry and publish your questions only that other mothers may read it and see the headline. The possible situation is not one that can be explained openly in this column.

Absolutely Confidential.

I would like to add to this long letter a much more serious matter relative to my oldest girl, but I hesitate because I have no guarantee that the case will be kept confidential.

Answer.—Every letter containing a question and a stamped self-addressed envelope to the local newspaper is forwarded unopened to me. The questions are abbreviated and answered in this column or else, as is more often the case, answered in private correspondence. The large number of letters received each day would fill ten times over the space allotted to me by the newspapers.

I have a daughter of 15 who enjoys the luxury of tears. She weeps copiously at the least occasion. I am worried about her. Mrs. E. B.

Answer.—Girls of that age are apt to be emotional. Some giggle. Some cry. Several factors may have something to do with it. More likely, at this particular age, it is due to the increased sensitiveness of the nervous system and the consequent awakening of the motor responses. In some way or another she must have emotional expression.

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in full and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Dr. Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

An Intimate Story of [illegible] Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

I just couldn't understand what my husband was getting at, little Marquise, and I said:

"But surely, Jack, it is a good thing for a woman who works to think she can take care of herself."

"Well," he said, "on what it all depends," he said, "on what you mean by taking care of herself. Some girls seem to take care of themselves too carefully, if you see what I mean. They want protection, but they pay so much for it sometimes that there is nothing much left to protect, and so they lose the only splendid thing that life has given them. However, I think that is the great trouble with Mrs. Atherton, Leslie—she doesn't want to be protected. She doesn't want to be protected when she married. She made this perfectly obvious to her husband. In this she is not clever, for every married woman should make her husband think that he is her protector, even if in her heart she knows he isn't and couldn't be if he tried.

"Oh, she and Sam thought they were madly in love with each other at that time, but Sam was not a money-maker, and, of course, you know that Sally is. I don't think it is a good thing, Jack, for a wife to be able to earn more money than her husband. There's something in it that makes a man's gorge rise. A man with an inferiority complex is always a very disagreeable man to live with. In fact, I think I would rather live with the most egotistical man alive.

"Now tell me about Syd," I said.

"You've no idea, dear, how interested he is in that foolish little coral gimcrack he sent you. I wouldn't be surprised if he went looking all over the earth for one just like it.

"Syd's a splendid chap, Leslie, and he'd make some girl an awfully good husband. I wish he would marry. In fact, I've never known why he didn't marry. I'm satisfied there's some hidden page in his life, but just what it is I have never known, intimate as we are."

"He'd make a nice balance wheel, don't you think, for a girl like Sally?" I observed.

"Never in a thousand years," was Jack's vehement assertion. "Don't you go to making any matchmaking plans that will take the most efficient secretary I have ever had away from me."

I couldn't help smiling at Jack's earnestness, for in my heart I knew that Sally was the last woman that Syd would fall in love with. I just wanted to know what Jack would say about it.

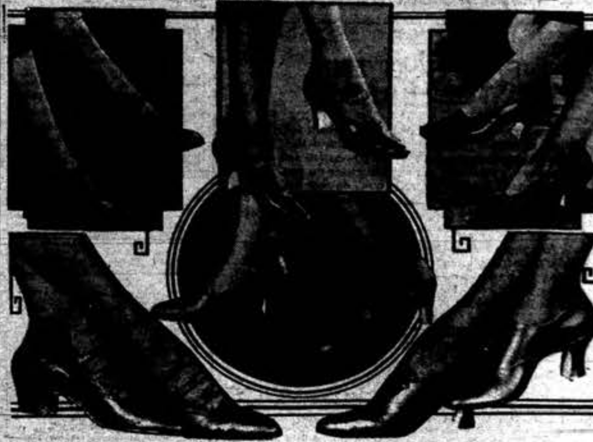

Little Jack's sleepy wail called me from the room. I heard my husband go in to his bedroom, and I knew that he was preparing for bed. I had had a very happy evening, little Marquise. Jack and I had had something new to talk about, and talking with someone you love on new things is very diverting and satisfying, if through it all there runs an undercurrent of emotion which tells you that someone loves you.

TO-MORROW—Letter from Richard Summers to Beatrice Grimshaw.

SIMPLER SHOE STYLES FASHIONABLE.

Shoe Styles Are Simpler

Now Is Time to Wear Out All Your Old Pumps.

By MARIAN HALE.

NEA Service Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—You might as well start in now and wear out all your pumps with the fancy openwork sections and the designs in fancy leather.

For style authorities say we are going to revert to the plainest of shoe styles, and that the oxford, long despised, is to be with us again.

This may be part of the propaganda to force gowns to be more elaborate. Recently we have worn fancy shoes, largely because dresses were so very plain and simple. Any elaboration could only come in the footwear because hats and dresses would have none of it.

More Subdued.

With elaborate gowns, however, footwear must be subdued. Therefore for fall we find the tailored strapped or buttoned oxford of kid for wear with tailored costumes and the opera, Colonial, or the one-strap pump for dress wear.

Suede is said to be less fashionable than it has been, patent leather is holding its own, but soft kid is coming to the front as the most popular leather. It is liked not only in brown and black, but in bronze and the beige tones.

With plainer pumps there is also to be a return to more conservative hosiery. The burnt orange and flesh tints that have been so common will give way to gun metal, brown and very sheer black.

No Exaggeration.

The vamp is neither long nor short. The whole idea is to keep the foot in proportion to the body. Heels on oxfords may be low or a modified Spanish, and those on pumps may be low or French, but there are no exaggeratedly high heels, or extremely curved ones.

Shoe dealers are going to inaugurate a campaign for appropriateness in shoes. They hope to impress upon women the desirability of keeping satin and fabric models strictly for evening or dress wear and to make kid or patent leather the only correct thing for street.

Three-Piece Costume

Here is a three-piece costume of the type that is to be extremely fashionable this winter. The coat and skirt are of black and gray striped velvet brocade, and the long, straight blouse is of gray. The coat is so long that it may easily be worn as a wrap with other gowns, while the blouse and skirt give the effect of a complete costume without the wrap. The smartest suit coats are very long and follow the straight, comfortable lines of this one.

Artificial Pearl.

Satin Wraps.

Apple Fritters.—Mix together one cup of flour and one-third teaspoon of salt and add two-thirds of a cup of water, the beaten yolks of two eggs and one-half teaspoon of melted butter. (This batter may be used either for apple fritters or peach fritters.) Pare and core ripe apples and cut in rings crosswise. Let these rings stand for ten minutes sprinkled with powdered sugar, then dip them into the batter and place in deep fat which is hot enough to brown a cube of bread in a few seconds. When the rings are a golden brown and done through drain on rumpled brown paper before serving. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Curried Rice.—Boil three cups of brown or uncoated rice in water to cover well. Add two teaspoons of salt and let cook till the rice is tender. Dry the rice slightly by placing it in the oven for ten or fifteen minutes. Now add four tablespoons of butter mixed to a paste with one teaspoon of curry powder, stirring this in lightly with a fork. Serve hot.

Cheese Tarts.—Scald together one cup each of sweet and sour milk, then strain through a piece of cheesecloth. Add to the curd one cup of granulated sugar, the beaten yolks of four eggs, the juice and rind of one lemon, one-quarter of a pound of almonds, blanched and finely chopped, and a pinch of salt. Mix well and put into small tart pans which are lined with uncooked pie-pastry. Sprinkle each tart with extra chopped almonds and bake in a fairly brisk oven for thirty minutes—or till the mixture is firm.

Southern Fig Ice Cream.—Cook in the top of a double boiler three cups of sweet milk, one cup of sugar and the yolks of five eggs. When this mixture will "coat a spoon" cool it, then flavor with one tablespoon of vanilla. Now add one pound of figs finely chopped, one and one-half cups of heavy cream beaten till stiff and fold in five stiffly-whipped egg whites. The cream is now ready to freeze. Never fill a freezer-can more than three-fourths full as space must be allowed for increase in bulk during freezing; if the can is overcrowded the mixture will have a coarse grain when frozen. Use one part of salt to three parts of ice during freezing, but when the work is done and you have removed dasher and plugged dasher-hole in the can cover, use one part of salt to four parts of ice for packing the mixture to stand and "ripen."

Should She "Sneak Out?"

Dear Miss Page:—I see that you give a lot of people good advice so I come for the same. I am 18 and am very fond of a young man who has asked me to go car-riding with him. My mother does not allow this and I would very much like to go.

I told this young man that mother doesn't let me go riding and he told me to sneak out.

I would rather have your advice.—"Puzzle."

Do you want to do anything that you can tie the name of "sneak" to like that? Don't you see why your mother doesn't want you to go? A boy who wouldn't have any more honor than to advise you that way probably wouldn't have it in other ways. And most likely your mother feels that you haven't, as yet, had enough experience with people to know whom to trust. As your letter certainly shows, you need advice. And since you don't feel sure about the young man, I do hope you will take my advice and have nothing more to do with such a boy.

Not Worth the Trouble.

Dear Madam:—I have been friends with a girl who turned out to be very false. I am a girl who lives in a country town and made good friends with a couple that live in my neighborhood. Their sister lives with them too. I introduced my best girl chum to them and at first she said she did "not care to visit them so often." That kept me away from them. Then we accidentally came into contact with the husband of the family, and after we had had a very pleasant time being shown around his place of business she decided the family was worth cultivating.

Now she has made the most intimate friendship with them, has quarreled with me and has completely turned them against me. I can't tell you how miserable and hurt and jealous I feel. I am so nervous I can hardly write. She is there every day; they do all they can to get me angry and they don't even look at me. Please tell me how to regain their friendship or I'll go mad.—"F. M."

No, you won't, dear. They aren't worth it, any of them. I know just how you feel; the same thing in one shape or another happens occasionally to all of us. The only thing that helps is to get it soundly into your head that mean things do not hurt anybody but those that do them; that they can not hurt you one bit; and that you are glad you found out what the quality of their friendship was before you leaned too hard on it. You just make other friends and forget all about them as they deserve.

Inquiries of general interest addressed to Miss Page in care of this paper will be answered as rapidly as possible in these columns in their turn. Personal replies cannot be promised but will be made whenever possible if a stamped and self-addressed envelope is enclosed. It is requested that all inquiries to this department bear the full name and address of the writer. These names will never be published and will be known only to Miss Page who sometimes wishes to get in personal touch with her correspondents instead of attempting to answer them through the column.—The Editor.

Home Furnishing

Some housewives hide the most attractive part of the living room—the fireplace—by placing a large piece of furniture or a group directly in front of it. This should be done only when the room is large enough to stand such a group. Otherwise the fireplace should be open to the view of the rest of the room.

BEAUTY CHATS

Shampoos for Blonde Hair.

When you are choosing a shampoo you should consider the effect certain chemicals on different kinds of hair. Blonde hair, for instance, needs special care and quite different treatment from brunette. The ash-blonde hair will need a certain amount of soda; red-blonde, henna; the red, sulphur. There is a certain

[illegible] shampoo to brighten light [illegible] hair which is made by steeping half a pound of honey and one [illegible] of rhubarb stalks in three pints of white wine. The white wine needs [illegible]. Grape juice made from [illegible] grapes will do if three ounces of bay rum are added.

A somewhat similar shampoo lotion [illegible] for brunettes. It calls for the [illegible] of one egg, a scant half-teaspoonful of powdered borax or bicarbonate of soda, and one cup of home made red wine. Red grape juice may be substituted for the wine and a tablespoonful of bay rum added. The [illegible] is that dark grapes contain tannin which is good for brunette hair. Glycerine soap is also good for blonde hair. It should be melted with enough hot water to make a thin paste, with witch hazel or bay rum added. Liquid green soap is also good for light hair; but is so very drying that I never recommend it except to follow an oil rub.

For very pale gold hair put a teaspoonful of powdered borax or bicarbonate of soda, or the juice of half a lemon in the final rinse water. These are all bleaching agents and also dry out some of the oils from the hair. Blonde hair, however, must be reasonably dry to be pretty.

For medium gold hair beat up a couple of eggs, yolks and white, and rub on the scalp an hour before the shampoo. The sulphur in the egg yolk is bleaching and gives richness of color. Use a mixture of one-third powdered henna and two-thirds powdered castile soap for red-gold hair.

Birdie:—A list of foods for so great a reduction as you contemplate will consume too much space for printing at this time; but I will be glad to send you a list, together with other information on reduction, if you mail me a self-addressed, stamped envelope repeating your request.

Miss R. P.:—If you cannot have the hair removed through the electric needle process, extract all the coarse hairs by using a blunt end tweezers. Bleach all the fine ones with peroxide.

To-morrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Large Melons Best.

Large Honey Dew and Cassaba

melons are usually better than the smaller ones. The test for ripeness is the same as that of smaller varieties.

With Whipped Cream.

Plan for Week.

Plan a week's meals at a time. A meal that is planned with reference to others has better food values and more variety at less expense than one planned with reference to only one serving.

Silver and Gold.

Keep silver and gold chains bright by covering occasionally with paste of sifted whiting and ammonia, then brush off with a soft cloth or a chamois skin.

Oatmeal Crackers.

Home-made oatmeal crackers, crisp and wholesome, make attractive lunches, when spread with honey. A paste made of milled raisins is always an acceptable spread for bread and crackers.

Keep in Cool Place.

Store lemons in a cool dry place.

Long Gloves.

Long gloves are being seen again in Paris with evening gowns, those of flesh-colored suede that reach clear to the shoulder being the most beautiful.

Neckline.

The camisole neckline is being successfully revived and is featured both for daytime and evening.

Many Bracelets.

As many as twenty bracelets of fine platinum wire or colored glass are seen on one arm of the smart woman.

Combination Cucumber Salad for Four.

One cup cucumber slices, one cup celery slices, one-third cup English walnut meats, one-quarter cup shredded green pepper, one-quarter cup grated raw carrot, two medium-sized tomatoes, one-half cup boiled salad dressing, four ounces lettuce.

All the ingredients should be very cold. Let the celery stand in ice water for an hour after slicing to crisp. Combine cucumber, celery, nuts, pepper and carrot with salad dressing. Pare tomatoes and cut in halves. Slice off the rounded part so the slices will be firm on the lettuce. Put a mound of the salad mixture on each slice of tomato and serve on a bed of lettuce. Use the well-bleached inside leaves that will cup around the salad.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Breakfast—One cup berries, one shredded wheat biscuit, one tablespoon sugar, one-half cup cream, one soft boiled egg, two bran and raisin muffins, one tablespoon butter, hot water.

Midmorning lunch—One cup whole milk, two graham crackers.

Luncheon—One cup cold bouillon, four toasted wafers with butter, four button radishes, two slices cold boiled tongue, two slices whole wheat bread, one tablespoon butter, individual peach shortcake with four tablespoons whipped cream.

Dinner—Eight ounces baked sea bass, one large baked potato, two tablespoons butter, four tablespoons lima beans in cream, one-half cup combination cucumber salad, two slices rye bread, eight iced watermelon marbles.

BEDTIME STORIES.

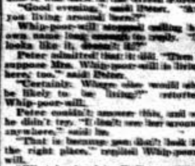

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

THE USELESS SEARCH.

To say you doubt is impolite;
Besides, the other may be right.
—Boomer the Nighthawk.

When Mrs. Boomer the Nighthawk told Peter Rabbit that her cousin, Mrs. Whip-poor-will, had no more use for a nest than had she herself, Peter was most impolite. He came right out and said he didn't believe it. Yes, sir; he said he didn't believe it. You see, until he had found the two eggs of Mrs. Boomer on a flat rock in the Old Pasture it had never entered his head that any bird could get along without a nest.

But though Peter said he didn't believe it, he couldn't be satisfied until he had found out for himself. You see, there was a doubt in Peter's mind. The more he thought about it the more he wondered if he had been a little hasty in refusing to believe what Mrs. Boomer had told him. Over in the Green Forest he could hear Whip-poor-will calling his own name over and over and over again until it seemed as if he never paused to take breath.

"Good evening," said Peter, "are you living around here?"

"I'll go over there and find out for myself," thought Peter, and away he went.

He had no trouble in finding Whip-poor-will. But by the time he found him it was dark in the Green Forest.

"Good evening," said Peter. "Are you living around here?"

Whip-poor-will stopped calling his own name long enough to reply. "It looks like it, doesn't it?"

Peter admitted that it did. "Then I suppose Mrs. Whip-poor-will is living here, too," said Peter.

"Certainly. Where else would she be likely to be living?" retorted Whip-poor-will.

Peter couldn't answer this, and so he didn't try. "I don't see her around anywhere," said he.

"That is because you don't look in the right place," replied Whip-poor-will.

"What is she doing?" Peter asked.

"Attending to her own business, which just now happens to be her home duties," replied Whip-poor-will.

"Then she must have a nest and eggs!" cried Peter.

"Must she?" Whip-poor-will asked.

"Hasn't she?" demanded Peter.

"That's for you to find out," retorted Whip-poor-will. And this was all that Peter could get from him.

Of course, Peter hunted around everywhere, although he pretended not to be hunting. But it was dark, and he soon realized how foolish he was. So he decided to stay over in the Green Forest until daylight and then see if he could find Mrs. Whip-poor-will's nest. But when daylight came he was no more successful than before. He didn't find a nest of any kind. Whip-poor-will went to sleep on the ground. Peter looked very carefully for Mrs. Whip-poor-will nearby. But he didn't see her anywhere, and so at last he gave up. If Mrs. Boomer had told him the truth he was wasting time looking for a nest. And looking for a couple of eggs on the ground would be like looking for one lone clover leaf in a field of grass.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Play in Hot Weather.

One Mother Says:

When the weather is very hot I never like to have the children play violent games, yet telling them to be quiet doesn't keep them still very long. At such times I try to spend as much of the day with them as possible. In the afternoon I make orangeade, or on some such excuse get them gathered around me in a shady place in the yard or on the porch. Then I tell them stories or suggest quiet games that they can play with me. Children need to be told how to keep quiet as well as when to keep quiet.

Handkerchiefs.

Handkerchiefs of crepe de chine printed with very bizarre designs in crude colors are made in every size from the tiny square that may be put inside the glove to the large model that may be used for a scarf if necessary.

Dainty Collars.

MANNERS OF CAREFUL PEOPLE

The marriage of a widow is the same as a maid's except she does not wear white or orange blossoms, nor does she have bridesmaids. The wedding in best taste for a widow should be in a small church or chapel. The bride generally wears afternoon dress.

COLOR CUT-OUT

A Blackberrying.

"Betty and Billy!" called Roger. "Come on out. My sister and I are going after blackberries. Hurry up, lazybones!" Betty and Billy were just having breakfast, but they swallowed the last bites and ran out.

"Let's make it a picnic," suggested Betty. "We'll get mother to help us pack up a lunch and we'll not come back until this afternoon. Won't that be fun?"

In a minute the four of them were swinging down the road with their blackberry pails and a basket full of ham and lettuce sandwiches, bananas, cookies and pickles.

PAINTING THE TOWN RED

Are you the type of person about whom folks say, "When he was a youngster, he just painted the town red," meaning that you were on the go—active and energetic, allowing no one to put anything over on you. But when you take stock of yourself now, do you find that you are different, doing things in a humdrum manner? Or do you still make people "sit up and take notice" at your snap and energy?

Are you allowing the other fellow to get ahead of you with modern ideas? Is he selling his houses and renting his property more quickly? Then it means that he uses Want Ads. He knows that they "hit the mark" and are the last word in modern advertising.

YOUR COMPETITOR USES WANT ADS AND SELLS HIS PROPERTY.

UNION COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.—In the Matter of Louis Swendsen, Who Has Been Absent From the State More Than Seven Years and is Presumed to be Dead. Order for Rule to Show Cause.
Upon reading and filing the verified application of Florence Doty, daughter of Louis Swendsen from all of which it appears that the said Louis Swendsen formerly a resident of the County of Union and the State of New Jersey has absented himself from the State of New Jersey for seven (7) years and upwards last successively:
It is on this Eighth day of August, 1924 ordered that a hearing will be had upon said petition and affidavit before the Surrogate of Union County on the 11th day of Sept., 1924, at Two o'clock in the afternoon or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard; at the Surrogate's Chambers No. 56 Broad Street, in the City of Elizabeth, N. J. for the purpose of having the said Louis Swendsen declared to be presumed to be dead in accordance with the statute in such case made and provided and why letters of Administration on his Estate shall not be granted to Florence Doty or to such other fit person as the said Surrogate may select.
And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in the Elizabeth Journal, a newspaper published in the City of Elizabeth, County of Union and State of New Jersey at least once a week for a period of three weeks successively preceding the date set for the hearing on this Rule to Show Cause.

In Memoriam

BALNE—To the precious memory of our beloved husband and father, Henry J. Balne, who departed this life suddenly on August 11, 1916.
The years shall not outgo our thinking of thee.
Wife and Daughters,
ELLEN O. BALNE,
VIVIENNE JENNINGS,
BEATRICE F. BALNE,
Arbor, Dunellen, N. J.

BAUER—In memory of Frederick Bauer, who died August 11, 1923.
Just a year ago to-day,
Short and sudden was the call,
Dearest brother, beloved by all,
Always generous, devoted and kind,
A beautiful memory he left behind.
His sister,
MRS. GEORGE LIVINGSTON.

KERR—In fond and loving memory of a devoted husband and father, Richard H. Kerr, who entered into rest August 10, 1923.
They die in Jesus and are blest,
How kind their slumbers are;
From suffering and from sin released,
And freed from every care.
Far from the world of toil and strife,
They're present with the Lord;
The labors of their mortal life
End in a large reward."
MRS. RICHARD H. KERR AND FAMILY.

Card of Thanks

HOULIHAN—I, the undersigned, wish to express my sincere thanks to my relatives, neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy extended toward me during my recent bereavement in the death of my beloved husband, Martin Houlihan. I especially wish to thank the reverend clergy of St. Mary's Church and the visiting clergy, the Elizabethport Mutual Building and Loan Association and all who attended the funeral.
MRS. ANN HOULIHAN,
109 West Jersey Street.

CRANFORD WINS OUT IN NINTH

The Cranford B. B. C. defeated the Plainfield Catholic Club yesterday afternoon at Cranford by a score of 6-5. The winners sewed up the game with one run in the last inning. To open the ninth frame, the visitors went out in order, and after two out in the homesters' half of the frame, McMillan singled and Holt, who was running for him, stole second. Poole was hit by a fast one, and Speidel singled, allowing Holt to amble home.

The Plainfielders started off auspiciously, running up a lead of two runs after the home crew had led, 3-0. Constant plugging on the part of the Cranfords won the game. Speidel's hitting featured the game, while the fielding of Wahls was little short of sensational. McCarthy, left fielder of the Plainfield Club, also made some fine catches in his region of the field.

POLICE WARN PARENTS.

Must Keep Bicycle Riding Children Off Sidewalks.

Special to the Journal.

ROSELLE, Aug. 11.—Because of the many complaints received at police headquarters, Chief Burt Avery to-day issued a request to all parents whose children own bicycles to prevent the youngsters from riding their vehicles on the sidewalks. This request does not apply to the younger children who ride velocipedes, but to the older ones who possess bicycles.

One of the complainants stated that a boy riding a bicycle approached, from the rear, a woman leading a small child and missed colliding with the child by the margin of only a few inches. Other complaints have been made by older persons who are too feeble to get out of the way quickly when a bicycle approaches them on the sidewalks.

A borough ordinance passed some years ago expressly prohibits children over six years of age from riding bicycles or tricycles on sidewalks within the borough limits and in view of the complaints that have been received Chief Avery intends to enforce the ordinance to the letter if his request is not complied with. The riding of bicycles or tricycles on the sidewalks is also prohibited under the provisions of Section No. 24, Chapter No. 158, of the State Traffic Act, Laws of 1915.

PARK HEALTHY, REPORTS SH[OW]

Ranks Among Best in U[nion] County.

ROSELLE, Aug. 11.—The [borough] is one of the healthiest [com]munities in Union County, [according] to Health Officer William [illegible]. During the month of July [illegible] cases of contagious disease [reported] by physicians were two [illegible] measles and one case of [smallpox]. The lone case of smallpox [came to] Roselle from New York in the [person] of a two and a half year old [child] on July 4. The child has [been dis]covered and has been taken [back to] New York.

The present healthy [condition of] the residents of the borough [may be] judged from the fact that [the only] cases of disease in Roselle [were] two light cases of whooping [cough]. The good air which one [finds in the] borough and the rigor which [the] sanitary code is enforced [by the] Board of Health is in a large [measure] responsible for the absence [of] serious diseases. The streets [are] kept clean and no filth is allowed [to] accumulate.

According to Health Officer [Mor]ris, there has been no case of [rabies] in the borough in three years. [Early] in June a dog, which was thought [to] be rabid was killed and its head [was] sent to Trenton for examination. [Mr.] Morris has received a report [from] the State Board of Health to [the] effect the dog was not rabid. [The] tests which were conducted at [Tren]ton the brain of the dog was [ex]amined and serum from the [brain] was injected into a healthy dog [on] which it had no effect.

Chief Burt Avery is continuing [to] keep dogs off the streets. A [week] has gone by since he issued his [re]quest to dog-owners to keep their [ani]mals from running loose about [the] borough and thereby endangering children who sometimes yield to [the] desire to pet the dogs. Chief [Avery] is pleased with the co-operation [of] the citizens of the borough with [the] efforts of the police and so [far no] children being bitten by dogs [have] been reported to headquarters [this] week.

Thomas H. Benedict, of Fifth [avenue], west, spent the week end [with] friends at Pigeon Cove, Cape [Ann], Mass.

Ernest R. Ryder, of 129 First [ave]nue east, is spending the month [in] Vermont.

Leonard Barrett, of South [illegible] and Selden C. Greves, Jr., of [illegible] avenue, east, who are spending [several] weeks at Camp Rich, Vt., on Lake Champlain, with their families, [have] returned from a trip to Montreal.

Dr. H. Merton Pierson, of [illegible] avenue, east, is expected home [from] his cottage at Camp Rich, [where] he has been spending the past few weeks with his family.

The many friends of Miss [illegible] Morris, of the high school staff, [will] be pleased to know that her operation for appendicitis in the [hos]pital at Hillsdale, Mich., was [success]ful, and she is steadily improving. Miss Norris, in a telegram, says [she] will appreciate letters from friends.

Miss Evelyn Schrader, of [Dela]ware, is the guest of Mr. and [Mrs.] William Krebaume of 162 Second [ave]nue, west.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mahaffey, [of] Fifth avenue, east, are driving a [new] Dodge sedan car.

Charles J. Johansen, of 116 [Pop]lar street, will leave Saturday [for] Boston, where Mrs. Johansen [and] family are spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Miner, [whose] marriage was an event of [much] social interest, are now at [New] Canaan, Conn. Mrs. Miner, previous to her marriage, was Miss [illegible] Bachman, daughter of Mrs. [illegible] S. Bachman, of Van Court [illegible].

Mrs. Howard Riley and children, [of] Third avenue, east, are visiting [Mrs.] Riley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Howe, of Fourth avenue, east, at their summer home in Ashfields, Mass.

Mrs. Joseph J. Mullan, of Third avenue, east, and Miss Audrey Mullan and Joseph, Jr., are spending their vacation at Cape May.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollenbaugh, of [Or]ange, have purchased an attractive home in Sixth avenue, east, between Walnut and Spruce streets.

Mrs. Morningstar, of 114 Chandler avenue, is entertaining her [nieces], the Misses Kathryn and Elinor Smith, of Chesterton, Md.

SPRINGFIELD WINS IN HECTIC NINTH INN[ING]

The strong Maplewood [baseball] team invaded the Springfield [grounds] late yesterday, and were defeated [in] one of the best games of ball [ever] played on the suburban diamond. The Farmers trailed the Maplewood bunch until the last frame, [and in] this session they tallied two runs [and] the ball game was in. Bunnell [open]ed the ninth, when he fanned [and] was an easy out, and the game [looked] about over. Murphy [then] slammed out his fourth hit of the fray, and Ruby singled, [Anderson] punched a double to right, [to win] the game, Ruby scoring the [winning] run, making a fine dash to the [plate].

Next Sunday, the Springfield [team] will tackle the Elizabeth A. C. on the Springfield grounds.

DEMPSEY PREPARING FOR POSSIBLE BOUT FOR 1924

By the United Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will be ready to defend his title against the winner of the Firpo-Wills fight, if Tex Rickard wants to stage the fight in October, according to a message received from Jack Kearns, his manager.

Kearns wired from Los Angeles that Dempsey would rather wait until next spring to meet the winner, but that he was giving up the movies and would be ready to work this fall if the arrangements can be made.

The manager of the champion mentioned a big offer that had been received from a London syndicate for a match between Dempsey and Tom Gibbons and he said it was so large that he would consider ...

MURRAYS TAKE DOUBLE-HEADER

Sullivan Twirls in "Iron Man" Exhibition.

The Murray team strengthened its hold on first place Saturday when the Elizabeth outfit defeated the Clark team, of Newark, in two games, Sullivan's "iron man" stunt being the big feature. The scores of the games were 12-2 and 12-0, Sullivan allowing but two hits in each of the contests. In winning the two games the winners piled up a total of twenty-four runs and thirty-five hits.

The lanky ace of the Newark avenue crew pitched two of the most sensational games ever witnessed on the local diamond, and the visitors were helpless before his marvelous speed and control. Twenty-four batters faced him in the first frame, while eighteen saw the plate in the second, which was a five-inning affair.

The Elizabeth team played havoc with the delivery of the Newarker's hurlers and scored whenever they desired. Nygard, twirler in the first contest, who hit the harder of the two, nineteen hits being clouted out in this game. Kraeuche and Kelly were the main offenders while Harrington hit the only homer of the two games, in the second.

Diehl Defeats Durant.

Although Samson struck out seventeen, and allowed but four hits, two passes in the sixth frame spelled defeat for him, as both of the runners scored what proved the winning runs, and Diehl defeated Durant, 3-2. The breaks were plainly against the Braves' hurler, although his tendency to be wild lost the game for him. Mattis and Cotton pitched for the winners and they allowed seven scattered hits, and the losers did not bunch to any extent to score.

CAN BENNY LEONARD TAKE HIS THIRD CHAMP?

Champ Now Well On Way to Tip-Top Condition.

Special to the Journal.

SUMMIT, Aug. 11.—There is more truth than poetry in the rumor that things are going hard with Mickey Walker's sparring partners here at Johnny Collins' ideal training quarters. The whole trouble seems to lie in the fact that Mickey is beginning to regain his well-known form, due to five days of the training grind. During the first few days of training Walker appeared slow and, all in all, was in obvious need of the regular training he has since gained.

However, in his workouts of Saturday and yesterday the welterweight title holder displayed to the satisfaction of his manager, Joe Degnan, and the entire camp retinue that it will not be long before the real Mickey Walker will be seen in the ring. You can't blame sparring partners, Sammy Vogel, Rudy Marlina, Jimmy Drew, and Joe Lewis for taking on an abject view on life in general. With Mickey's "right" there is trouble aplenty for those who risk the danger of stepping into the ring with him.

Rudy Martine, the French light heavyweight, has about decided that trading punches with Mickey is no diversion for a peaceful man. The fast stepping Sammy Vogel seems to be about the only boxer in camp Mickey has any trouble hitting often enough to appease his bellicose disposition when in the ring.

Spalla Likes Walker.

Erminio Spalla, Italy's offering to the heavyweight ranks, who is training here for three forthcoming bouts to take place this month, is a staunch admirer of Mickey Walker's style of fighting. There is no more keen observer hereabouts when Mickey is boxing with a sparring partner every afternoon.

When in this country for the first time, Spalla viewed Walker in action and took back to Italy with him many fine points of the fistic art, and as he relates, knocked out the first man he met with one of Mickey's deceptive shifts. "Mickey some fighter, alright," is the way Spalla gives his opinion of Walker.

Fine Preliminaries.

In his anxiety to give the fans a series of bang-up preliminaries as an appetizer to the world's welterweight championship duel, matchmaker James J. Johnston, of the Cromwell A. C., under whose auspices the Second Battle of the Century will be held, announces the completion of two of these bouts.

The semi-final of eight rounds will bring together Eddie Burnbrook, sensational army welterweight champion, and Willie Harmon, of New York's East Side. The fur will surely fly when this pair get going. Burnbrook has the distinction of never having lost a fight, scoring forty knockouts in sixty odd battles. He is a terrific puncher, the right cross being his greatest asset. Harmon is an experienced ringster, cool, calculating under fire. The faster the going the better he likes it.

Preceding Burnbrook and Harmon, Johnston will trot out Al Brown, a "dead rap" for George Dixon, to use a popular pugilistic expression, against Murray Layton, another East Sider, pride of the Ghetto. Although Brown scales 112 pounds it is a matter of record that he has flattened boys all the way up to 130 pounds. He is one of the greatest New York developments since Sid Terris came into prominence. The bout is scheduled for six rounds. Brown is a terrific puncher for his inches, clever and can take it. He never misses a punch. The rabid enthusiasts will see a scrap second to none when Brown and Layton square off.

EAST ENDS WIN

The East Ends of this city, traveled to Rockland Lake, N. Y., yesterday and defeated the Rockland Lake B. B. C. by a score of 10-9, the game being decided in the favor of the Elizabeth team by a rally in the fifth inning that netted them eight markers. They pounded out eight of their ten hits in this frame alone. The home team almost upset the tricks, when they scored nine runs in the next two innings, however, but Corcoran tightened up and the homesters were held scoreless for the rest of the game.

The homesters outhit the visitors, but the Elizabethans had the punch and their rally won the contest for them.

SOUTH ORANGE CASEYS DOWNED

Braves Repeat Victory Over Suburban Knights.

The Elizabeth Braves took the South Orange Caseys into camp, Sunday afternoon, at Dirt Diamond, South Orange, by the score of 6 to 4. The Indians were forced to change their lineup owing to the absence of several of their stars. This was the Indians' third straight victory and the second defeat handed the Caseys by the Indians this season. This has been the only time the Caseys have been defeated this season. They had fourteen straight victories up until yesterday.

Whittaker won his second victory for the Braves, holding the Caseys scoreless after the third inning. He held the Knights to seven hits, and allowed but one pass. The Indians made four miscues which were instrumental in the Caseys' scoring. However, he was pretty well supported considering the condition of the field, and two double plays cut off the Caseys from any further trouble. One of the plays came in the ninth inning. With one out Molla singled, Burke hit a line drive over second, which Kelly took with one hand, Molla thinking it was a sure hit had started for second, and Kelly doubled him off ending the game.

The Indians started off by scoring once in the eye-opener on Samson's single, two sacrifices and a single by Klett. The Caseys evened matters in their half of the inning and took the lead in the second. Here, however, the Indians came up and tallied thrice again putting themselves in the lead. Frank, Klett and Kelly both hit hard balls at Sheridan, who made fine stops but threw wildly to first in each instance sending over two more runs.

The Caseys again evened matters in their half of the inning on two successive hits, and an error which enabled the two runners to score. The Indians scored once in the fourth and the fifth sewing up the game, and were then contented to hold the Knights scoreless.

RAHWAY FIGHTS FOR HARD GAME

Elizabeth A. C. Defeated After Eleven Innings.

RAHWAY, Aug. 11.—After eleven innings of a see-saw battle, marked by heavy hitting, Rahway A. A. defeated the Elizabeth A. C. Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park, 9 to 8. For six innings Handeo outclassed Snowden, but in the seventh the Rahway batters made four safeties for three runs and seemingly clinched, but the Elizabethans coupled three hits with two errors in the eighth and tied the score.

Neither side was able to score in the ninth and tenth, although Brady led off with a triple in the tenth, but his teammates were unable to hit. In the eleventh a single by Book and a triple by Reihy gave the visitors a tally. In the last of the eleventh Armstrong doubled. After Durand had flied out Armstrong went to third on Laurent's hot hit to Book. The pair then worked a double steal, Armstrong scoring and Laurent advancing to second. Schultz hit a hard one, which Book was unable to hold and Laurent went to third. Russo singled to right and Laurent scored the winning run, with Schultz being left at third.

Handeo was hit hard in the seventh and eleventh, while Snowden was bombarded in the third, fourth, eighth and eleventh. Book got five hits, two of them doubles, in six times up. Reihy got four hits and Woronski two. For Rahway, Schultz and Russo got four hits apiece, while Armstrong and Laurent had a pair each. Book and Gregory did the best fielding for the Elizabethans, while Armstrong and Durand excelled for the home team, Armstrong getting seventeen putouts and an assist. Price played well for the visitors. Durand made a sensational catch of a line drive by Price. Book made a dandy catch of a drive by Collins.

ELIZABETH A. C. WINS.

The Elizabeth A. C. traveled to South River and defeated the Polish Giants, of that place, yesterday afternoon by a score of 5-4. The game was decided in the ninth frame, when the Elizabeth crew scored three runs and sewed up the game. After trailing for the first four innings, the visitors tallied two runs in the fifth and won out in the ninth. The home team also scored three times in the last inning, but lacked the punch to put over the tying run in this canto. Woronski was the best hitter for the winners, while Fine had a "foo" day at bat for the South River bunch.

BOURNE BREAKS COURSE RECORD

Clips Four Strokes Off Echo Lake Par.

Walter R. Bourne, the professional of the Echo Lake Golf Club broke the course record on Saturday afternoon when he negotiated the layout in 68, four strokes under par. The former mark of 69 was made recently by Bobby Cruickshank of Shackamaxon. Bourne is playing unusually good golf for his first year with the Echo Lake Club. He finished up high in the National Open and the P. G. A. tourney. Many of the golfers of this section are predicting that Bourne will cut a wide swath through the American golf ranks before another season is over.

Not an upset was registered in the first round matches of the Shackamaxon Club championship on Saturday afternoon. All the favorites came through strong. The winning list included Harold S. Baird, former Newark A. C. and Downtown Club titleholder, Baxter Sparks, erstwhile Princeton University player and Herbert C. Buchanan, present Shackamaxon champion.

Baird's next opponent will be Bob Meier who conquered Walter Mehl in the closest match of the day. John J. Leonard, one of the best players of the Shackamaxon Club is not in the tourney this year.

First Sixteen.

H. S. Baird defeated Harold Bennett, 3 and 2; Bob Meier defeated Walter Mehl, 1 up; J. J. Carew won from Stacy Bender by default; W. B. Sparks defeated R. C. Harris, 4 and 3; R. T. Revere defeated T. Acki, 4 and 3; Ralph Arnison defeated T. J. Larson, 4 and 3; H. C. Buchanan defeated A. E. Bennett, 6 and 5; Walter Jacobs Jr. defeated Frank E. Bennett, 4 and 3.

Second Sixteen.

Arthur Tuttle won from John May by default; W. T. Earle defeated R. J. Gilbert, 7 and 6; W. J. Connelly defeated E. B. Case, 3 and 2; R. B. Belling defeated E. G. Rogers, 8 and 7; John Barr defeated Stanley Jarvis, 4 and 3; Dr. D. Sheffer defeated W. F. Bass, 5 and 4; J. E. Adams defeated R. L. Allen, 1 up; P. Brundage defeated Ray Doyle, 1 up.

Other club scores are as follows:

Ward to Hurl Defi at Winner of Woody-Shaw Battle.

Forty rounds of boxing are on the card this evening at the Lyceum Boxing Club arena for the weekly dish of action. Every bout, on paper at least, looks like a tornado, and if the former Lyceum shows are anything to go by, this evening should be a scorcher.

In the top bout, an eight-round affair, Young Vic Woody, the Port welter favorite, is slated to do battle with Willie "Young Tiger" Shaw, of Bayonne. Both boys have shown here recently and the fans know what to expect. Woody is just basking in the limelight after getting a decision over Vic Clifford, while Shaw drew an even break with Willie Ramsey, the Clan Gordon star. Woody is slated for a big rise this time out, and he is keen to show the home-town fans some real punching and action.

In the semi-final bout, another eight-rounder, Larry Regan will hop out of semi-retirement to take a crack at Lester Applebaum, of Rahway. These two battlers are well known for their speed and pep while in action, and it is a certainty that there will be real fireworks going when these two are set loose.

Fistic uproar is also slated in two six-rounders. In the first Andy Gerry will try his stuff on Ollie Slinger, a former Elizabeth star who has been out of the game for a couple of years. Slinger was a classy star bout performer not so long ago and the fans are wondering whether Andy will be able to stand Ollie's gaff for six rounds. In the second six-rounder Joe Petrone will try out Johnny Tashan, a newcomer from the Clan Gordon stable.

It was announced by the officials of the club this morning that Georgie Ward and Sam Golden, his manager, would be on hand this evening to get a bout with the winner of the Woody-Young Tiger fight. Ward is preparing for a heavy campaign through the welter ranks and wants to get some stiff opposition from the best boys in this section before his home-town fans.

Three four-rounders will open up the evening. Larry Mullen will mix with Bobby Nehf, Johnny Grant will face Joe DePhillips and Jack Arthurs will show with Bill Black, Seaton Fowler's latest champion-to-be.

WALTER THOMAS ENTERS NATIONAL JUNIOR TEST

Walter Thomas, captain-elect of Battin High School's tennis team, and youthful protege of William T. Tilden, has handed in his entry blank to compete in the national junior tennis championship, which will be held on the South Side Tennis Club's courts, in Chicago, starting to-day. The New Jersey boy created a sensation on the local courts and he was playing in Maplewood when Tilden was attracted by him, because of the wonderful form he displayed. Tilden took the Elizabeth boy with him on his Western invasion, where Thomas was successful in winning six titles. His biggest honor at the present time is national clay court champion, which he won in Chicago.

Entries have been received from A. L. "Sandy" Weiner, who is also one of Tilden's pupils, and Donald Strachan, of Philadelphia.

LINDEN STOPPED BY HARTLEY A. A.

The Linden baseball club met defeat yesterday afternoon, when the crack Hartley A. A., of Kearny invaded their grounds and defeated them 6-4. The game was fast and at times great fielding was flashed.

The homesters took the lead in the first inning when they pushed over a tally, holding the visitors scoreless until the fourth frame, when they tallied once. The Kearny crew put the game on ice, scoring three runs in the sixth and two more in the following canton.

Harrison, the visitors' left fielder, had a great day at bat collecting four hits of five trips to the platter, one of which was a triple. The Hartley infield also flashed fine form, completing three double plays, and handling many hard chances.

Grupe, the Linden hurler was hit hard, and the winners scored all their runs on clean hitting. He struck out four and walked three. Sax, on the other hand held the losing team well, and pitched fine ball in the pinches.

The Elgins took possession of first place in the Junior Twilight League, when they defeated the Comets, who had formerly been in the van with a half game lead. The game was played at Continental Field, Saturday and the score was 6-5.

Voynick hurled the Elgins to the lead and was touched up for two bingles but he was strong in the pinches, and forced ten of the losing crew to whiff the ozone. Manhart, star slugger of the winners, celebrated the occasion by rapping out three hits, including a double and a homer.

Pushing a run over in the final chapter put the game on ice for the Elgins, after the score had been tied since the fifth frame.

NO. 7---THE TRAVELERS VISIT THE KANGAROOS.

"Who else are you going to visit on your vacation?"

"Why, we're going to see Kicky Mandeville at the circus. He's a lot of fun in the circus. He lives a long way off, but that doesn't matter since the Fairy Queen ought to get us there in no time. Let me see, it's Kicky and his pet parrot, isn't that right?" asked Weeny.

"Yes, sir! Of course!" said Weeny, "he's my servant was as long as he's tall. My head will never save me, I'm afraid.

"I happened to have that card in my hand right now, here we go. Weeny gave a few flops with his ears and soon the travelers were sailing away over mountains and seas until they came to Australia. "Now, that's what the whale said to me when they asked him out in the ocean.

"I believe they know it there they call the Bamboo Grove, where Kicky lived.

"A sort of tangly place under the trees there was a house and the circus plot, said Mister and Mrs. Kangaroo.

"By, it doesn't say a word about me," said Weeny anxiously.

"Oh, it never mentions the children," said Nick wisely. "That is the mother and daddy live here, he must tow."

"Of course!" said Weeny.

"Me!" said Weeny. "I mean us." At that the door flew open and out bounced Kicky Kangaroo himself.

"Hello there!" he cried. "It is you, my old friend Weeny the elephant! Are you still doing a circus act?"

"Yes!" said Weeny. "These are the three twins. They're Nancy and Nick, the twins. We're taking them on travels. And we've come to visit you."

"Then you're just in time," said Kicky. "We're having a ball game this afternoon between the Jumpers and the Hoppers and we need a batter and an umpire. Do you want to play? You can bat, Weeny, and Nick can be umpire to decide who wins, and Nancy can keep score."

"That's fine!" cried Nick and Nancy and Weeny together.

They all went to the ball-field and after meeting Kicky's friends, the game began, with Weeny at the bat.

You never saw such a fast ballgame in your life, and when it was over the score was about two hundred to one hundred and ninety. For when the kangaroos boys ran for base they just gave one hop with their strong hind legs and tails, and there they were. And runs! It was something awful.

But everybody said that Weeny was the best batter they ever had, he knocked the ball so far.

They had such a good time they all stayed a week.

colored voters, then there is no doubt but that we will put him over.

"Already more than 118 pastors of colored churches in the State, representing 40,000 colored voters, have signed petitions for our candidate."

Edge Arraigned.

State Senator Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, campaign manager for Mr Kean, brought out a new angle to the campaign. Before making his address he promised newspaper men he would bring out a statement that would act in the nature of a boomerang to charges recently made by Mr. Edge. He refused, however, to disclose its nature in advance.

The "surprise" came as the climax of Senator Pierson's speech. He recalled an address of Mr. Edge in which the charge was made that the Kean campaign headquarters had already used up the appropriation allowed for campaign expenses.

"And I will now say," he declared, "that I am the campaign manager of Mr. Kean. Before the law I stand responsible for those expenditures. And I want to say that every dollar spent and received will be accounted for. Also, I will be one of the most interested in looking over the account which must be filed with the Secretary of State by Mr. Edge.

"Mr. Edge has said we are spending a lot of money for postage. We are. But, ladies and gentlemen, I want to say, and it can go as a warning, that Mr. Edge must be careful in the future of the mail he sends out on Government paper, in Government envelopes, and which does not even carry a two cent stamp, for up until now he has been taking advantage of the franking system allowed Government officials. There is a penalty of $300 for such offense in which matter other than that of Government business is transmitted through the mails under a frank."

Pierson's Address.

"The campaign is indeed getting interesting. Its interest chiefly lies in the humorous way that Mr. Edge is jumping around the ring and fanning the air. I think I know Mr. Edge pretty well but I am surprised that one so well balanced should lose his head so early in the game.

"You know Mr. Edge is an advertising agent and why he thinks it is cowardly for Mr. Kean to refuse to debate with him on a public platform I cannot understand. Mr. Edge knows perfectly well that Mr. Kean is a business man and not a platform speaker or debater. Mr. Kean believes in doing things, not talking and proving that is why Mr. Kean has not been advertised throughout the State for the past decade.

"Then too, I have discovered Mr. Edge plays the game he system. Just follow me a minute and you will see something of his system. At first when Mr. Kean's candidacy was announced Mr. Edge seemed to be quite satisfied, indeed jubilant that he had no more formidable opponent than he thought Mr. Kean would be. He sent out this propaganda.

"Of course, he does not deal in personalities, but at the Cleveland convention his secretary, now his campaign manager, set going the rumor that Mr. Kean had slighted him on the allotment of room. I have gone into this matter thoroughly and find that it is absolutely false.

"Then the rumor that Mr. Kean would withdraw from the race, but he has evidently found that Mr. Kean is not only in the race, but is making something of an interesting contest of it.

"Now about this talk that Mr. Hague would give Mr. Edge such support as he would need to win. I know nothing about it where Mr. Fort got her information, but when Mr. Edge was trying to discourage those in the State who had political influence, his own brother-in-law, who is a great number of prospective converts. No doubt, many of you heard just this tale from the Edge people. But Mr. Edge has now found that there are a larger number of people in the Republican Party who stand for principle and his forces are pretty well lined up, now he is trying to charge the rumor to our side.

"I have heard it on a dozen occasions from Edge workers and only three weeks ago got the same thing from his chief lieutenant in South Jersey. This is only a part of the Edge system.

Defends Frelinghuysen.

"Then when Mr. Frelinghuysen came out for Mr. Kean, Mr. Edge undertook to read into Mr. Frelinghuysen's statement that Joe intimated that he would rather see a Democratic Senator elected than to have Mr. Edge re-elected." This was dastardly, as "Joe" Frelinghuysen is true and never has, and I do not believe ever will, play any part of such a game. From what I have heard, however, of Mr. Edge's treatment of Mr. Frelinghuysen, I could see that Mr. Frelinghuysen would be warranted in not being interested in Mr. Edge's candidacy at the primaries.

"The latest feature of Mr. Edge's system developed in the Passaic meeting when he charged that Mr. Kean has already spent the full limit allowed by law. I am his campaign manager and charged with the responsibility for expenditures and you may rest assured that when the accounting goes in, every cent of receipts and expenditures will be properly accounted for. It will not be a statement like Mr. Edge's personal representative, Jess Salmond, made last fall, than when the Newark News discovered it to be a fraud and exposed the corruption, Jess Salmond came up missing for several months until the thing blew over.

"Mr. Edge will also have to make a statement and it will be interesting to know where his contributions come from, as I think the people of the State are at the present time, interested in this feature of Mr Edge's campaign.

"I noted that in Mr. Edge's statement he recites printed postage and so forth. We are sending out a substantial amount of printed matter, as our theory is that when people know the facts about just how much Mr. Edge really did support the President, they won't be so interested in his professions in this direction. As to postage, I will admit Mr. Edge has had something of the advantage of us as, of course, every United States Senator has the franking privileges for his speeches, letters, pertaining to Government business, etc. This, I guess, is alright, but when Mr. Edge uses these franking privileges and the Government stationery for his political matter, we wonder just how the taxpayer feel about this.

"I had handed to me this morning, a letter Mr. Edge addressed on his official Senate paper to the postmasters of the State, asking for the names and addresses of the employes of their offices, stating that he wants to write a letter explaining about the Postal Pay Increase Bill. I think, Mr. Edge will need to explain quite a good deal to the postal employes about his conduct on this bill. In fact, I am informed that they want to know some rather pertinent things about it, but that is another chapter, and as Mr. Edge wants to do the explaining, we are going to let him. I would suggest, however, that he does not send these letters under his frank, because this means more work for the clerks and carriers to frank what I know about their feeling toward Mr. Edge in connection with this bill. I would suggest that he does not try their patience any longer by sending personal communications to them under the Government frank."

Kean Speaks.

Mr. Kean, when introduced, denied he has engaged in personalities during the campaign. Instead, he said, he has attacked the public record of Mr. Edge.

Mr. Kean said:

"We have a campaign that is unusual in many ways. The most unusual feature of it all is Mr. Edge's peevishness over the criticism levelled at his public record. Here we have a man who claims to be a fighter and who, after starting his campaign by saying that he was standing upon his record, stages a 'baby act,' when his record is held up to the light of public opinion. Edge claims I am indulging in personalities. That is untrue. Everyone knows it is untrue. I have not attacked Edge personally. I have attacked his record. His record is vulnerable and I claim I am justified in calling attention to his public acts.

"We believe the voters are interested in knowing that Senator Edge has built up an unsavory political machine to advance his personal ambitions and selfish aims that he may endure, irrespective of the consequences to the Republican party.

"That the Republican party is suffering more and more disastrous results in New Jersey through the actions of Senator Edge cannot be controverted. All that is necessary to prove this is a glance at election results in recent years. Republican candidates of high type have been defeated for Governor and United States Senator through defection of Republican voters. Senator Edge has preached a gospel, which is not Republicanism.

Likened to Tammany.

"Mr. Edge's political activities are a part of his political record, and I think you will agree with me that we have not criticised Mr. Edge on anything but his political record. There is no objection to Republicans criticising the acts of Tammany Hall politicians, yet Edge lieutenants have gone as far as any Tammany politician in their political actions.

"Instance the performances of Jess Salmon and Walter Van Riper and their followers in Essex county and their course in the Essex primary campaign last fall. See Tom McDonald, superintendent of the Hudson County Bureau of Elections and chairman of the Hudson County Republican Committee, discharging two men from the Hudson Election Bureau because they were supporting Edge, who would not have been assured of their increase had there been such a clause in the bill.

Pitiful Spectacle.

"I am ready to leave such criticisms to you to determine if they are not proper in a political campaign, and I am also willing to have you pass judgment on the spectacle of Senator States Senator playing to escape criticism who wants a hero tacle of Edge's whining pitiful spectacle in

Among the prominent were the following: Charles Stout, Co Burlington county; T. D. Wells of Cape May, the Republican County Sussex; Mayor George ilsborg, Mayor Joseph Bloomingdale, Rev. Newark, president Minister's Association Mayor Richard Gunn, publicity Kean's campaign; Wm ton a representative of can National Committee Nicholaus of Essex, Kean Women's Committee Jersey, and A. Beat King Before He Takes Power.

Tribal chiefs on the West Coast of Africa have absolute power over the subordinate village chiefs and their subjects. The great chief's person is sacred, and no one may touch him under penalty of death.

But before the tribal chief is made king, there is a period of instruction by the village chiefs. They have elected the man from their own number to succeed a dead king, and in an isolated place they teach him in his new duties. If he is slow to grasp the lessons, he is beaten with sticks, cuffed and maltreated. His person is not yet sacred, as he is not king. But on the day appointed he is brought before all the people, acclaimed king, and thenceforth his instructors are subject to his slightest wish.—Detroit News.
