Churchill Says Atlantic Holds Key To War.

PICTURES GRAVITY OF SITUATION.

Declares Full Help of American Resources Needed — Repeats Warning of Invasion Peril—Also Sees Possibility Hitler May Strike at Turkey or Russia.

By the United Press.

LONDON, April 9. — Prime Minister Winston Churchill today warned that Adolf Hitler's mightiest war effort threatens to sink America's aid-to-Britain and may explode at any moment in an invasion of Britain, an attack on Turkey and a thrust at Russian wheat granaries and oil fields.

Whatever the events in the Balkans, in Africa—where he said that even Egypt may be threatened by Nazi panzer divisions—or elsewhere, Churchill declared that the main theater of war was the battle of the Atlantic.

ATLANTIC HOLDS KEY.

"Everything," said Churchill, "turns on the battle of the Atlantic which is proceeding with growing intensity on both sides."

He said that German submarines and surface raiders are ranging ever further westward toward American shores, seeking to sink America's aid to Britain. He declared that unless this menace is met and defeated "the life of Britain" will be threatened and "the purposes . . . to which the Government and people of the United States have devoted themselves" will be frustrated.

Churchill said that only the full resources of America's shipbuilding industry would enable Britain to carry on full scale warfare into 1942 in the face of the German submarine and surface raider blitz.

He said a disaster would ensue if

Special to the Journal.

CLARK, April 9.—The public relations department of the General Motors Corporation in New York City today confirmed the announcement by the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) that a vote to strike had been taken at the Inland Division here, and awaited approval for a walk out from Detroit headquarters.

Only a small amount of the local work is applied to National defense. Some of this is for army trucks. The plant makes truck steering wheels as well as a diversity of rubber accessories, which are sent to the various assembly plants of the corporation.

The workers' demand is for up to 25 cents an hour increase in some cases, and a general equalization of pay among the various plant departments, General Motors officials said. The corporation has offered a flat 5 cents an hour increase.

10 COAST GUARD CUTTERS SHIFTED TO HELP BRITAIN

Release of U. S. Craft Announced by White House—Craft Being Prepared.

WILL BE TURNED OVER ON THIS SIDE.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The release of ten coast guard cutters to the British was announced today at the White House.

Stephen Early, Presidential press secretary, told reporters the coast guard vessels had not yet been delivered to the English, but were being prepared for the transfer under terms of the lease-lend bill.

He said he preferred not to disclose the names of the cutters out until they were built from 1928 to 1932.

No commercial ships or naval craft are involved in the deal, Early said. Presumably, he added, the cutters will be turned over to British crews on this side of the Atlantic, as was done in the case of fifty destroyers to Britain in exchange for defense base sites.

The vessels will help replenish Britain's vital forces used for maintaining her trans-Atlantic supply lines, but whether additional armed craft will be transferred to England was not indicated. Britain has said that she is badly in need of ships to escort convoys.

The cutters are armed but Early said he thought they had little more than one-pound cannons mounted on them. He said he doubted that additional armament would be placed on the ships before the transfer.

The White House secretary said the cutters were "good boats" that had been in service for some time.

Coast Guard officials declined to give any information about which ships were involved, from what services they will be withdrawn, or what effect the transfers might have on Coast Guard functions.

However, the general description of the vessels fitted the ten 250-foot cutters of the Coast Guard's "lake" class. They are the Cayuga, Itasca, Sebago,

BALKAN REPORTS STAGGER STOCKS

Further Declines Follow News of Nazi Gains.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 9.—War stocks slumped further today as the market digested news of the Nazi advance into Greece and Yugoslavia.

Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, du Pont, Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft and other holders of big arms contracts were off one to around two points near mid-day.

Dealings, however, slackened with a let-down in offerings compared with the previous session's outburst of liquidation.

Losers of fractions to more than a point were general, including General Motors, Santa Fe, New York Central, Western Union, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Kennecott and Owens Illinois Glass.

Johns Manville and Certo De Pasco were up slightly.

Corporate bonds mostly yielded for additional losses. Commodities were uneven.

MARONEY NEW SERGEANT —AUTO TOLL DRIVE.

Sweeping changes in every division of the Police Department were made by the Police Commission last night as Capt. Joseph T. Coughlin was elevated to deputy chief, seven new lieutenants' posts were filled and a patrolman was advanced to sergeant.

Effective April 16, Deputy Chief-elect Coughlin will assume new duties under action by the board which recreated the post at a salary of $3,850. Captains receive $3,200. The increase is not in the budget but City Council will be asked to appropriate the $650, it was explained.

One of the chief tasks of Coughlin will be an intensive enforcement effort aimed to reduce auto accidents.

On the same date Sergts. Gustave Steffens, Edward Flaherty, Joseph Donovan, Harry Johnson, Hugh Martin, Joseph Magen, and Bernard Lavin will become lieutenants, their salaries being increased from $2,525 to $2,700 a year.

Radio Patrolman Thomas Maroney, who headed the Civil Service eligible list, was raised to rank of sergeant, also effective April 16.

Capt. Michael F. Manning of the First Precinct was designated acting chief until further orders. Chief Frank Brennan is ill in Alexian Brothers Hospital.

Commissioner Walter S. Kaczmarski presented the resolutions on the changes and advancements which were voted unanimously.

PRESIDENT SEES HEAD OF C. I. O.

Confers With Murray on Defense Labor Rows.

By the United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations reports to President Roosevelt today on C.I.O. labor disputes involving defense.

Murray comes directly from conferences in Detroit with Ford Motor Company and United Automobile Workers officials trying to settle a strike at the huge River Rouge Ford plant.

The Roosevelt-Murray conference had been planned for yesterday but was postponed so Murray could go to Detroit. Officials declined to comment, but President Roosevelt is expected to tell Murray that Congress probably will enact drastic anti-strike legislation unless labor disputes stop impeding defense production.

In addition to the Ford strike, which involves some 125,000 workers, the most important C.I.O. disputes involving defense are the threatened strike of 200,000 United States Steel Corporation workers and the strike at the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corporation at Elizabeth, N. J.

Secretary of Labor Perkins was reliably reported to be ready to send the Ford strike to the National Mediation Board today unless U. S. Conciliator James F. Dewey has more success in his negotiations with the company and union officials.

LEAHY TRIP CRITICIZED BY PARIS NEWSPAPER

By the Associated Press

VICHY, France, April 9.—Admiral William D. Leahy, United States ambassador to France, was expected to return to Vichy tomorrow, cutting short his visit to the Riviera because of events in the Balkans.

Admiral Leahy was in Monte Carlo today, after a visit to Toulon, where he witnessed Red Cross distribution of a ship's cargo of milk from the United States.

The Paris newspaper Paris-Midi carried an article yesterday questioning whether the ambassador's trip was "a food supply survey or a propaganda tour?"

The article said "Bern diplomatic circles" had charged that "the trip made a very bad impression on the French Government" and added:

HITLER'S BLITZKRIEG SWEEPS AHEAD.

Powerful Nazi divisions smashed ahead in all arenas in the Balkans today. Salonika, shown above on map, was captured and part of the Greek army surrendered, Berlin reported. Skoplje, in Yugoslavia, was taken and gains made in the Rupel Pass and Kilkis (indicated by arrows) regions along the Struma and Vardar River fronts.

AXIS FORCES CONTINUING GAINS IN LIBYA.

By the Associated Press

CAIRO, Egypt, April 9. — British troops have occupied Massaua, chief seaport of Eritrea, virtually completing their conquest of Italian East Africa, the Middle East Command announced today.

The Fascist defenders of the Red Sea port capitulated yesterday, a GHQ war bulletin said, and the Imperial forces quickly moved in.

With the fall of Massaua, the Italians have been routed from all their main bases along the Red Sea and Indian Ocean coasts and the capitals of Mussolini's three East African colonies are in British hands. They are Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Asmara, Eritrea; and Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland.

In addition, the British have recaptured Berbera, capital of British Somaliland, which the Italians had seized early in the African war.

Today's communique said that pursuit of retreating Italian forces in Ethiopia "is being maintained."

Axis Gains In Libya.

By the Associated Press

ROME, April 9.—German and Italian forces are continuing their advance across Libya from captured Derna in pursuit of retiring British forces, the Fascist High Command announced today.

Mopping up of the "vast region" reoccupied by the advancing Axis armies is proceeding rapidly, the daily war bulletin declared.

Recapture of Derna, announced by the High Command yesterday, was said to have been the result of a "brilliant maneuver" which overcame the resistance of British mechanized units at Masa, and Mechili south of that port.

German warplanes, the Italians said, were lending effective aid in the Libyan operations, bombing and machine-gunning British columns.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 9 —Italy today demanded the recall of the American assistant military attache in Rome in apparent reprisal for the action of the United States in forcing the withdrawal of the Italian naval attache from this country.

The State Department announced that the Italian Government had made the request for the withdrawal of Captain William C. Bentley in the same note in which it complied with the American request for withdrawal of Admiral Alberto Lais, the Italian naval attache here.

The text of the State Department announcement...

"By note of April 3, 1941, the Secretary of State notified the Royal Italian ambassador that Admiral Alberto Lais, naval attache of the Royal Italian Embassy was persona non grata to this Government and requested that the Royal Italian Government withdraw him immediately from the United States.

"The Secretary of State has now been informed by the Royal Italian ambassador in a note dated April 8 that Admiral Lais had ceased from his functions and will leave this country without delay.

"In the same note, the Royal Italian ambassador stated that Capt. William C. Roosevelt "Not Satisfied" With Progress.

ASKS FOR ACCELERATION OF PRODUCTION.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Defense chiefs were expected today to put on pressure for speed and more speed in preparing America's defenses after word from President Roosevelt that there still was room for an awful lot of improvement.

Although the production has been greatly accelerated in recent months, President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he still was not satisfied with its progress.

A few hours later Vice President Wallace, speaking to the Foreign Policy Association in New York, asserted that "only defeatism on the psychological and economic fronts in the United States" could prevent a British victory over Germany.

A Nazi victory and a Nazi peace are unthinkable," Wallace said. "To avoid such a calamity we will help ourselves through helping England by all methods short of war. Britain will win."

President Roosevelt covered several aspects of the defense program at his conference. His comments included:

1 That the labor situation in defense plants is working in the general direction of a law providing for cooling off periods during which strikes could not be called. Several bills along this line have been introduced in the Senate and House.

2 That defense industries, bases and stations are being distributed on a National basis, with the greatest speed and efficiency in mind, rather than with the thought of extending equal dollars and cents benefits to each State.

3 That the President preferred to go along with the over whelming majority of the newspapers at this time" in opposition to censorship. He authorized use of the direct quotation.

4 That military aid to Yugoslavia was being rushed across the seas as fast as possible.

5 That the United Service Organizations for National Defense, just organized in New York to operate more than 300 recreational, welfare and spiritual service clubs at army, navy, and defense cen-

"METAXAS LINE" FORTS SMASHED

Greek Defenders Fight Stubbornly But Berlin Reveals Eastern Wing of Army Is Forced to Capitulate Between Salonika and Turkish Frontier—Panzer Divisions Smash Farther On In Vardar Valley—British Troops Not Yet In Action, Athens Reports Say.

By the Associated Press

BERLIN, April 9. The powerful Nazi army has smashed its way clear down the Vardar River valley, captured Salonika and forced the surrender of the whole eastern wing of the Greek army between Salonika and the Turkish border, the High Command announced today.

Other German forces have taken Skoplje and Veles, Yugoslavia, and are advancing rapidly toward the Albanian border and junction with Italian forces after taking Tetovo and Prilep, the High Command said.

TAKE RAIL TOWN.

Farther north in Yugoslavia, a communique said, German armored troops captured the vital railroad city of Nis, while others took Maribor and crossed the Drava River.

In Northeastern Greece, a communique said, panzer divisions driving south from Bulgaria captured the town of Xanthe, thirty miles northwest of the port of Kavallo, and advanced from there to the shores of the Aegean Sea.

Many of the Greek soldiers who surrendered had fought desperately in the Struma River valley, trying to stem the crushing German advance which broke through the expensive string of fortifications known as "The Metaxas Line," after the late Premier General John Metaxas.

The first official report here of the successful German advance came in a high command statement earlier which said the armored forces had driven a wedge southward from Yugoslavia, cutting off the Yugoslavs from British or Greek reinforcements and taking more than 20,000 prisoners.

To the south, the war bulletin said, German troops drove past Lake Doiran, in Southeastern Yugoslavia, and into Greek territory.

Mountain and infantry divisions under Field Marshal General Siegmund Wilhelm List, supported by dive bombers, were credited with the break-through into Yugoslavia and Greece.

(Dispatches from Athens said one German division striking down the Vardar Valley cut off Northeastern Greece and trapped Greek defense forces in the Struma River line farther east. Reliable sources in London said German troops had entered Salonika.)

The high command said the German drive into the Skoplje region of Yugoslavia had extended more than sixty miles from the Bulgarian frontier, "despite difficult mountain territory."

Six generals were said to have been among the 20,000 prisoners taken in Southern Yugoslavia, along with much artillery and war materials of all kinds.

A German spokesman declared today that "the Serbian state is tottering after only a few days of operations by our forces."

The assertion followed quickly an announcement that several important Serb key positions guarding Yugoslavia's southern zone had been seized by the Nazi army after stiff resistance.

DNB, official German news agency, declared thousands of Yugoslav soldiers had been captured and that a vast amount of war material—as yet unestimated—had been seized.

The Germans apparently were following the same procedure as in the French campaign — reporting the status of the struggle at the termination of certain phases.

Meanwhile, spokesman declared the British still won't come out and fight," and paid tribute to the Greeks.

British Not Yet in Action

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, April 9.—With the same speed and power which smashed the Allies in Northern France, a German blitzkrieg division has split Greece in two, but the British apparently have not yet gone into battle.

Nazi mechanized forces drove a wedge into the rugged country west of Salonika, cutting off the big Macedonian port and trapping uncounted troops along the Struma River line, although garrisons were holding out grimly in the valley forts.

(London and Berlin sources said Germans had entered Salonika.)

To the northwest, Yugoslav soldiers after abandoning Skoplje to the advancing Nazis, were battling panzer units in the mountains northwest of the town, a Yugoslav communique said.

These forces, the communique said, hoped to prevent the Germans from cutting the country in two. Despite "enormous losses," the Germans were said to have swept past Skoplje, some fifty-five miles inside Yugoslavia from Bulgaria, to attack Katchanik Pass, only thirty-one miles from the Albanian frontier.

(Stefani, official Italian news agency, declared the Germans had broken through Australian and New Zealand troops in the Struma Valley, but Berlin itself asserted that the Germans had not yet met the British and a spokesman tauntingly suggested the British were afraid to come out to fight.)

A British military spokesman merely said no British contact had been established with the Germans, "nor is there any indication when that contact will be effected."

Flat lands and good roads of the Vardar Valley, which the Germans took after a surprise dash across Southeastern Yugoslavia, enabled them to proceed at break-neck speed since dawn toward Salonika.

Outnumbered Greeks were said to be fighting only a delaying action, and their plan was to give up Salonika rather than have it subjected to heavy fire such as destroyed it in the World War.

Resistance above Salonika gave way gradually as the German division, moving with the speed of the blitz campaigns in Poland and the West, hit the lowlands where the Vardar empties into the Aegean and then wheeled eastward toward the city.

The move completed the separation of the Struma Valley defense garrisons, farther east, from the rest of the Greek and British forces. Earlier, the high command announced communications with the Struma front had been broken.

The defense was costing the attackers thousands of lives, the Greeks declared. They said intense fire from Rupel, Usatic, Paligyrons and Karasuli forts had covered the sides of the narrow passes with the bodies of gray-green clad Nazis.

British bombers operating from Greece struck at the communication and supply line behind the advancing column.

A British R. A. F. communique said in spite of most unfavorable weather conditions yesterday, Royal Air Force bomber formations attacked with success throughout the day German motor transport and tank columns in the Strumica area of Southern Yugoslavia.

This was the section in the Southeastern corner of old Serbia through which the Germans struck to take the Vardar road to Salonika.

All Nazi Forces.

By the Associated Press

BERN, Switzerland, April 9. Adolf Hitler's mechanized legions have entered the Greek port of Salonika, backdoor to southeastern Europe, and plunged more than half way across Yugoslavia to within thirty-one miles of the Albanian frontier in three days of fighting.

Uncounted thousands of Greek troops defending the Struma River line were trapped by the German blitz division which drove to the big Aegean port cutting Greece in two.

The British said their mechanized expeditionary force still had not gone into action. Its whereabouts in Greece, Yugoslavia or Albania were not disclosed.

Other German forces drove across Yugoslavia to occupy Skoplje, key railroad town at the head of the Vardar Valley some fifty-five miles from the Bulgarian border, and swept on to launch fierce assaults on Kachanik Pass.

The Yugoslav high command said its forces had inflicted "enormous

FRANK D. HALSEY TAKEN BY DEATH

Native Here, War Veteran, Author Ill Long Time.

Frank Davis Halsey, a former resident of Elizabeth, assistant manager of the Princeton University Press, with which he had been associated since 1922, died yesterday afternoon at the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Lyons, following a long illness. Mr. Halsey lived in Princeton.

Born in Elizabeth, March 1, 1891, the son of the late Melire W. and Elizabeth D. Halsey, he was a direct descendant of Thomas Halsey, who settled in Southampton, L. I., in 1640, and of Stephen Crane, who came to Elizabeth, then Elizabethtown, in 1664.

Mr. Halsey long was identified with books and publishing, being best known for a post-war novel, "The Last Mile," and several humorous books having to do with Princeton University, from which he was graduated in 1912, president of his class and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He received his earlier education at Battin High School and at Pingry School, from which he was graduated in 1908.

For five years prior to the World War Mr. Halsey was in the advertising business in New York. He was with the Rogers Peet Company and later with the advertising agency of Berrien-Durstine, Inc.

In February, 1917, Mr. Halsey volunteered for the American Ambulance Service in France, returning to the United States in July of the same year to enter the Officers' Training School at Fort Myer, Va. Commissioned a first lieutenant he sailed again for France the following year and served as an artillery observer with the 138th Aero Squadron until the armistice.

Noted for his dry wit and keen mind, Mr. Halsey was well known to all Princeton alumni for the impartiality and the understanding analysis of his football reports on the Princeton varsity each fall in the Princeton Alumni Weekly. He was formerly editor-in-chief of the Daily Princetonian, and long was correspondent for several metropolitan dailies.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy Burr Halsey; two sons, Davis and Woodruff Halsey; a sister, Miss Henrietta C. Halsey, of Elizabeth, and two brothers, Woodruff W. Halsey, of this city, and Frederick K. Halsey, of Hillside.

NAZI BLOW SEEN AT AMERICAN AID

the Germans succeeded in their attempt to send to the bottom America's much needed war supplies.

The Prime Minister spoke in somber and solemn tone. He was more grave than the House of Commons has seen him at any time since the collapse of France.

He said Germany presents these menaces to Britain and the world:

1. The battle of the Atlantic where British sea power is challenged.

2. The Balkans where Nazi panzer divisions reached the Aegean at Salonika at 4 A. M. today and may at any moment attack Turkey and drive for the wheat fields of the Ukraine and the Caucasus oil fields.

3. Britain, itself, which at any moment may be invaded.

4. Africa, where only hard British fighting will prevent German recovery of all of Cyrenaica and invasion of Egypt with the threat to the Suez lifeline which that carries.

Only the gigantic shipping output of the United States, he said, would enable the British to maintain a full scale war effort throughout 1942.

"Everything turns," he said, "upon the battle of the Atlantic which is proceeding with growing intensity on both sides."

"U-boats," he said, "and surface raiders are ranging ever father westward and ever nearr the shores of the United States. They constitute a menace which must b overcome if the life of Britain is not to be endangered and if the purposes may I add, to which the Government and people of the United States have devoted themselves are not to b frustrald.

"It will, indeed, be disastrous," he said "if the great masses of weapons, munitions and instruments of war of all kinds made with the toil and skill of American hands at the cost of the United States and loaned to us under the Lend-to-Britain act, to sink in the depths of the ocean and never reach the hard pressed fighting line."

Churchill warned that Adolf Hitler may at any time try to invade Britain and also strike at Turkey.

"There are many signs," he said, "which point to a Nazi attempt to secure the granary of the Ukraine and the oil fields of the Caucasus as a means of gaining the resources with which to wear down the English speaking world."

Churchill warned France that the blockade will be maintained against her.

He indicated that Britain would not permit powerful French battleships to go to France from Africa.

Churchill spoke on introducing a resolution thanking the fighting forces for victories in the Mediterranean and Africa.

It was unanimously adopted.

FAVOR REJECTION OF LONGER WEEK

Refinery Workers Cool to Company Proposals.

Continuance of the present thirty-six hour work week and renewed efforts for a general wage increase are favored by Bayway Refinery employes in place of the management's offer to increase hourly rates 4½ to 8½ cents an hour provided the workers go to a forty-hour week.

This was indicated at a three-hour mass meeting conducted by the Bayway Refinery Employes' Association, independent collective bargaining organization, last night in Scott Hall and attended by an orderly group of approximately half of the 2,500 workers who would be affected by the Standard Oil Company's proposal.

The management's offer is scheduled to go to a referendum vote of the entire group later this month, when the association holds its annual election of council representatives. Set for the week of April 21 to 26, the mail balloting will permit the mechanical or day workers and the process or shift workers to vote as separate units.

Questions on Ballot.

The mechanical force will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on whether to accept the forty-hour week and the offered wage increase. Process employes will be asked to vote on what stake in the proposal will be allowed to vote on one of two questions, whether they wish to accept the forty-hour work week and the wage increase, or whether they will accept the forty-hour principle, work an average of thirty-six hours and gain the increase in pay.

When last night's session was concluded, the reaction of the men in attendance was that the council members should bargain for a general wage increase but that because the needs of the minds of the working personnel in the three New Jersey plants, relating to job security, the thirty-six-hour schedule be maintained. This reaction was described by one employe as "overwhelming."

Under the present setup, process workers in five days or forty hours one week, and four days or thirty-two hours the next, giving the thirty-six-hour average. If the forty-hour principle is adopted, the management, it is argued, could ask them to work an extra shift of eight hours every other week at the regular rate of pay. All time over the thirty-six-hour average now is compensated at a time and a half rate.

Thomas J. Brennan, president of the association, conducted the meeting and Thomas W. MacMillan, secretary, gave a resume of the council's actions since the proposal, now being considered in a modified form, first was presented in December. He traced the negotiations through several joint and joint conference sessions with management representatives.

The matter of pay for unworked holidays no longer is an issue, the council having agreed to accept pay for five named holidays. This was a compromise between the seven asked by the employes and four offered in the original company proposal.

Effects of Change.

In the lengthy discussion which centered on the forty-hour question, it was asserted that if the process workers accept the forty-hour week, eighty-two men will have to be transferred out of that division into the mechanical department. Further, it was said, approximately 25 per cent of the process men would have to back down into lower-rated positions although their pay would be slightly larger as a result of the wage rate. Also, a small percentage of the men who would not be affected by the 'back down' would receive as much as an hour per day more than now to the additional hours and the boost in rates.

It also was said that the management, under the present thirty-six hour agreement, could put into effect the same plan for which it seeks employe approval, without need of the workers' vote, by paying the time and a half rate for four extra hours per week. If an employe works forty hours now, he gets pay for forty-two. With the rate increase added to the forty-hour proposal, the result would be the same.

Association officers pointed out today that an embarrassing situation might arise if the management and the process group accepted the forty-hour principle and obtained the rate increase and the mechanical group rejected the forty-hour proposal. This immediately would create a disparity in the rate set-up. Salaried workers who had not petitioned for an increase have been granted a 5 per cent boost, effective as of April 1.

Fifteen of the sixteen council members attended the meeting, one being ill. All were asked to express their personal opinions as to the management's proposal as presented. Fourteen expressed opposition, the other stating that he favors it.

Council members were urged by the group to press to decision the association's case for a 10-cent hourly rate increase, which has gone to arbitration. This is based upon the management's use of contractors in the yard, resulting in payment to contractor's employes of rates above that paid for comparable work by refinery employes. This is alleged to violate the company's agreement to pay equal rates for comparable work. The method of arbitration is outlined in the association's constitution.

ITALY ASK U. S. ATTACHE RECALL

tinued to stand guard over the United States Embassy today as rumors circulated that Premier Mussolini might recall his ambassador to Washington because of the "sequestration" of Italian ships in American ports.

Amid indications of rising Fascist irritation, an authoritative source declared that the Italian Government had withdrawn Admiral Alberto Lais, naval attache at the embassy in Washington under protest that the U. S. action was unfriendly and illegal.

The Italian Government was said to have taken the step after its advances were violations from the moral viewpoint and under international law.

The United States asked Admiral Lais' recall last Thursday in connection with alleged orders for sabotaging some of the seized ships which were found to have been damaged.

It was pointed out by an authoritative source that the ships were taken into custody under an espionage act of 1917, an act passed while the United States was at war, but that asserted the situation now is different because the United States is not at war and is having "normal diplomatic relations" with Italy.

Italian seamen disabled their ships, correspondents were told, because they foresaw "sequestration" as a result of statements by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The ships were not so damaged as to obstruct American harbors or territorial waters, it was said.

A high Fascist said the crews of the Italian ships had been "accorded inhumane treatment, with most of them confined to squalid quarters without the least hygiene and decency which is one of the privileges of which American civilization boasts."

This action, he asserted, "constitutes obvious violation of the right hospitality, all the more shocking in as much as it deals with citizens of a state with which the United States is not at war."

Italian protests were based on three juridicial arguments, including that of the crews' "inhumane treatment," the correspondents were told.

They acquired "special significance," it was added, from the asserted intention of the Washington Government to confiscate the ships for the use of the British.

10 COAST GUARD CUTTERS GIVEN

Saranac, Shoshone, Chelan, Champlain, Mendota, Pontchartrain, and Tahoe.

The White House announcement apparently excluded the possibility of transfer now of any of the Coast Guard's seven bigger vessels, which were built after 1932. Altogether, the Coast Guard has about eighty-five cutters of sea going size, but the ten "lake" class cutters are the second best group in the service.

At last reports, the lake cutters were distributed widely on both Pacific and Atlantic duty. The Chelan, for instance, was reported officially a few days ago to be preparing to go out in the North Atlantic on annual ice patrol. The Shoshone has been patrolling the Pacific coast, but recently put in at an east coast port for overhaul. All of the class have participated in rescues at sea.

The "lake" cutters make about sixteen knots, believed by naval experts to be fast enough for combatting submarines which are slower. They were believed to have two five-inch guns apiece.

Since the coast automatically becomes a part of the navy in time of war, coast guard vessels usually are built along naval lines. The "lake" ships are roughly equivalent to destroyers, but not as heavily armed or as fast.

ters, deserve the united support of Americans.

The President reported that the Government had actually spent $1,-800,000,000 for construction and acquisition of facilities in the first three months of 1941 as against $1,400,000,-000 in the last half of 1940.

For aircraft, ships, and ordance the Government spent an average of $197,000,000 a month for the first quarter of this year, as against $116,-000,000 for the last half of 1940.

A total of $240,000,000 went for new plant facilities in January, February and March, compared with $45,000,-000 in the entire year 1940.

For bases, stations, and fortifications, the President reported, an outlay of $550,000,000 for the quarter year just ended as against $330,000,-000 in the last half of 1940.

None of the total outlay of $1,800,-000,000, which included still other categories, was for British orders, he said.

He agreed with a recent statement by John D. Biggers, Office of Production Management production chief, that the next 100 days would be precious in the all-out defense and aid programs. He added that the next 100 days after that also would be crucial ones.

mered anew at battered Coventry and other objectives in England.

The Coventry raid lasted several hours. The government-said damage was considerable and that it was feared casualties might be heavy.

The raid on Germany's submarine "nest" at Kiel was the second in two nights. Of last night's raid, the Air Ministry said the port was "heavily and successfully attacked."

(Berlin said strong Royal Air force units raided Northern German coastal towns during the night, killing a number of persons, including women and children. Four British raiders were shot down, the Germans said).

R. A. F. night fighters claimed destruction of six German bombers, and the Air Ministry News Service said others were "damaged and known to be in trouble as they made for home."

Aside from the concentrated assault on Coventry, the British said Nazi bombers struck in force at other factory towns in the industrial Midlands, while scattered flights ranged widely across England, attacking sharply in the southeast and on south coast towns.

London had an early alarm, followed by anti-aircraft fire but no bombs, and the all-clear sounded before midnight.

Coventry Suffers Again.

By the Associated Press.

COVENTRY, England, April 9.—The German air force, in a double bombing attack last night, pounded Coventry, the victim of extremely severe raiding last November.

This was the town which the government in its earlier reports identified only as a Midlands town.

Today Coventry dug through the rubble again, removed its dead and injured and sought to go back to work just as it did last November.

Nazis Tell of Heavy Raids.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 9.—Several hundred Nazi planes raided England last night, heavily bombing Portsmouth and Coventry and other objectives on the south and southeast coasts, the Germans reported today.

The night attacks were said to have inflicted further losses on British shipping, sinking one 4,000-ton vessel and damaging another of 20,000 tons in the port of Harwich.

Two direct bomb hits were scored on a British destroyer near Grimsby, and two merchant ships—one of 4,000 and one of 3,000 tons—were damaged at Tynemouth, returning pilots declared.

The Royal Air Force was reported to have lost four planes in an overnight raid on the German naval base of Kiel, making a total of nine English aircraft said to have been downed in air fights and by ground batteries. Strong British air units were said to have killed and injured a number of women and children in attacks on north German coastal towns, during which bombs fell in residential districts.

BRITAIN'S FORCES OCCUPY MASSAUA

British source said word was received today that British forces had captured Massaua, Eritrea's port on the Red Sea, completing the conquest of that Italian East African colony.

For days "Free French" and British Empire forces had lain in contact with the outer defenses of Massaua.

One report pictured them merely as waiting for the Italians to surrender, but at the same time it was supposed that the garrison was sabotaging harbor works and shipping, faced in the Red Sea by a British naval force.

Now, except for mopping up, the Eritrean campaign is complete, the London informant said.

Massaua could be used as a port of embarkation for troops sailing to the other areas (possibly Southeastern Europe).

2 Fascist Battalions Taken.

By the United Press.

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 9.—British Empire forces which captured Addis Ababa took two complete Black Shirt battalions, more than sixty pilots and 1,000 Italian air force ground crew personnel, a South African communique said today.

"Important stocks of arms and material of all kinds also were captured," the communique said.

SALONIKA FALLS TO NAZI TROOPS

losses" on the advancing Germans and were battling fiercely against their drive toward Albania to join the Italian forces there.

A British military spokesman here said "We have no indication that our troops have yet established contact with the enemy, nor is there any indication when that contact will be effected."

This was contradicted by Stefani, official Italian news agency, which said the Germans had broken through Australian and New Zealand troops in the Struma Valley.

Turkey, non-belligerent ally of Britain, continued to sit on the fence and was reported interning Greek troops who entered the country after they had been isolated by the Germans.

Simultaneously the Italians were reported to have launched an eastward drive from Albania in an attempt to hammer a wedge between Greece and Yugoslavia by joining hands with another German column, which already has slashed west from Bulgaria more than half way through the 100-mile wide "waist of Yugoslavia."

Indications that the Bulgarian army soon might take an active part in the war on the side of the Axis were seen by observers, meanwhile in reports from Sofia that Yugoslav troops had attacked Bulgar outposts.

The British, profiting by their experience at Dunkerque, presumably were drawn up in a second line of defense southwest of Salonika.

This theory appeared bolstered by comments in London yesterday that Salonika, important allied base for Balkan operations in the World War, could not be considered vital in the present campaign and that possession of the Greeks' city area would give the Germans little without command of the sea.

The Greeks said the way for the German drive on Salonika was paved by the retreat of the Yugoslav right wing, which enabled the Nazis to seize the town of Doiran near the junction of the Greek - Yugoslav - Bulgarian frontiers.

Fascists Occupy Town

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 9.—The Italian High Command announced today that Fascist troops had occupied Kranj in the extreme northwest tip of Yugoslavia at the junction of the Italian and German frontiers.

Italian bombing planes were reported to have attacked warships and seaplanes in the Yugoslav harbor of Sibenik, about 200 miles south of Kranj, and to have damaged barracks and motor truck concentrations ashore.

Other planes were said to have bombed Yugoslav air bases at Divulje and Vodice and machine-gunned motorized columns and horse-drawn supply trains.

Large groups of Yugoslav prisoners were said to have been captured elsewhere in local fighting, in addition to several hundred Greek troops.

The Italian announcements of the capture of Kranj coincided with unofficial reports of the launching of a Fascist drive from northern Albania in an effort to contact German troops pounding across the narrow waist of Yugoslavia.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, said the Italians had crushed "desperate attempts" by the Greeks to make contact with their Yugoslav allies along the Albanian shore of Lake Ochrida, on the Albanian-Yugoslav border.

The Italian offensive was developing powerfully today, the agency said, in anticipations of meeting with "victorious" German columns.

The dispatch said Italian paratroops captured units of Yugoslav troops attempting to cross Lake Scutari en route in an effort to land in northern Albania.

"UPS" AND "DOWNS."

By the Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, April 9.—Judge Leslie I. George is "fed up" with his get up. He fairly jumps from his chair when he decides to rise. The reason is that friction of his clothing on his new leather chair generates static electricity.

He says the sensation of getting up is getting him down.

DEAN OF CONGRESS DIES; LEADER OF DRY FORCES

SEN. MORRIS SHEPPARD, Of Texas, who was sponsor of prohibition amendment.

SHEPPARD DEAD; SENATE VETERAN

Hemorrhage Fatal to Texan, Noted Dry Leader.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, dean of Congress in point of service and sponsor of the National prohibition amendment, died today. He would have been 66 years old next month.

Dr. George W. Calver, capitol physician, said death resulted from a slow hemorrhage into the brain at 5 A. M.

Senator Sheppard suffered an intracranial hemorrhage April 4 following several weeks of overwork. He became unconscious later that day but remained at home in care of his physician until Sunday, when he was taken to Walter Reed Hospital.

As chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, Sheppard was in charge of much important legislation in connection with the defense program. This included the selective service act, the Nation's first compulsory peace-time military training law. He also was a member of the Senate commerce, irrigation and reclamation and manufactures committees.

Sheppard, a Democrat, completed thirty-eight years' service in Congress last October 11. He was elected to the House in 1902 to succeed his father, who died during his third term, and entered the Senate January 29, 1913. Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith of South Carolina, first elected in 1908, ranks as dean of the Senate but he had no prior service in the House.

Dr. Calver said the veteran Texas legislator had "shown the effects of overwork and strain for several weeks" but "his devotion to duty and his sense of responsibility kept him at work in spite of the advice of his friends and physician to take a rest."

Surviving are his widow and three married daughters, Mrs. Richard Arnold, of Texarkana, Tex.; Mrs. Connie Mack, Jr., of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Arthur Keyes, Jr., of Rutland, Vt. Keyes is a Harvard student.

Less than two weeks ago Mrs. Keyes, the former Lucile Sheppard, was married in the family home here. The Senator and Mrs. Sheppard received a large number of friends, including many members of the Senate.

LIONS' CLUB GIVES $50 TO GENERAL HOSPITAL

A $50 contribution to the Elizabeth General Hospital building fund was voted yesterday by the Elizabeth Lions' Club in the Winfield Scott Hotel.

Preliminary plans for the annual vacation home for blind women of Union County at Pine Beach this summer were outlined by Dr. John W. Wirth, who attended a recent meeting of Union County Lions' Club representatives in Cranford. A request from the Family and Children's Society for eyeglasses for a needy girl was approved.

Arrangements were made for transporting blind residents of Elizabeth to the annual dinner meeting of the Union County Blind Association next Tuesday at the Flagship in Union. Several members of the club also plan to attend.

Dr. Rudolph Sussman was appointed to meet with American Business Club leaders tomorrow regarding plans for the annual joint service club Music Week program next month. The bowling team reported a two-game victory last week over the Omega Club, leaders of the service club league.

Austin J. Totterdell, former secretary and now an honorary member, invited members to visit LaGuardia Field where he is associated with the Casey Jones School of Aeronautics.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

Wars in "Peace."

In the twenty-one years between World War I and World War II there has never been a year when all the nations of the globe were actually at peace. A look back through the action-filled pages of history will recall these conflicts for you.

1. In what war, shortly after close of World War I, did two European nations, new close allies, engage in conflict?
2. In what war did a European nation invade an African country on whose soil battles of World War II are now being fought?
3. In what war, since 1918, did two enemies of the World War II engage in battle?
4. In what war preceding the current conflict did German and Italian troops fight side by side?
5. What two Asiatic nations have been involved in some sort of conflict intermittently during the past ten years.

PARADOXES FILL DYKSTRA CAREER

Draft Head Again Holds Focus As Mediator.

This is the first of three stories about the man who has been catapulted into one of the Government's toughest defense jobs.

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
Associated Press Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 9.—He's a born preacher, but in all his fifty-eight years he's never worth the cloth of the church.

He's a man of many towns yet he's never really had a home town.

He's directed the affairs of a large American city, but he's never climbed the ropes of municipal politics.

He ran the first peace-time draft in the Nation's history, yet he's never uttered the command, "squads right!"

He holds a satchel full of college degrees, but he squirms like a small boy on a piano bench when his friends call him "doctor."

Now he heads the new defense mediation board, yet he's never been active in a labor union, nor has he ever been a large employer of labor.

He Was a Glamour Boy.

Why Clarence Dykstra did not turn out to be a stage "Romeo" sometimes puzzles his own family.

Even in school, Clarence was obviously equipped to become a "glamour boy." Good looking, tall (6-feet-3), athletic and possessed of a presence even a Barrymore might envy, young Dykstra was sorely tempted by the stage. In his senior year at the University of Iowa he was leading man in a college play.

But Clarence decided to think the thing through.

He had worked hard in college, waiting tables, stoking fires, doing any odd job to earn his way. So he decided to capitalize on the "A" grades he'd been making, and choose a teaching career, although he also considered the ministry.

He Prefers To Teach.

To this day teaching is Clarence Dykstra's favorite occupation. Four years ago he took over the presidency of the University of Wisconsin. Soon he had organized two classes a week in political science.

At first his 400 students merely listened respectfully. Then, attentively. Finally, with interest and enthusiasm. Now, when Doctor Dykstra appears for his lecture, the students give him the college yell they usually reserve for football heroes.

Clarence Dykstra is equipped for the National mediation task by his Dutch intelligence, perseverance, discipline, and diplomacy.

The first of these qualities he inherited from his mother, Margaret, and his minister-father, Dr. Lawrence Dykstra.

The last three of Clarence's qualities are part of the upbringing a child could expect in the Dykstra household. Requirements for restraint and the good life were the bane of existence for all seven of the Dykstra children. But they stood the test.

All of them learned early in life that "rough stuff" was out, that the community in which they happened to be living at the moment expected of them, moral leadership and Grade "A" department.

He was Born In Cleveland.

Clarence was born in Cleveland, O., during one of the elder Dykstra's pastorates there. But he went to elementary school mostly in Chicago. There was never much money in the Dykstra household. The family had no use for any more than it took to live in reasonable comfort. And they didn't always have comfort.

"Clarence Dykstra simply doesn't give a hoot about money," a close friend told me.

It is noteworthy that Dykstra quit his $25,000 a year job as city manager of Cincinnati, O., a few years ago, to take his Wisconsin educational post at $15,000.

Now as chairman of the Defense Mediation Board, Dr. Dykstra gets $25 a day only when actually sitting. His friends say he never gave the money a thought, even though it should be necessary for him to step down as draft director, and probably as university president. He took the job, knowing full well that the more successful he was as mediator, the fewer the cases, and the less money he'd receive.

$3,843,302 IN POULTRY SOLD IN N. J. AUCTIONS

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, April 9.—New Jersey poultrymen sold approximately $3,843,302 worth of live chickens at three farmers' auction markets from April, 1931 to January, 1940, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

During the period covered by a study made by D. T. Pitt, department statistician, about 20,821,224 pounds of chicken were sold at the Flemington, Vineland and Mount Holly auctions. The 1931-39 average price per pound of all kinds of poultry sold at the markets was 18.46 cents.

Pitt said New Jersey auction prices were somewhat higher than Philadelphia wholesale prices.

JAPAN'S HOME MINISTER WARNS CRISIS IS NEARER

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, April 9.—Home Minister Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma told the conference of governors from all Japan today that this nation at present "faces increased pressure by the United States and Britain."

"We cannot tell when a new, serious crisis may develop in East Asia," he added.

The home minister, who has emerged as one of the key figures in the cabinet through changes last week by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, linked the situation in Asia with the spread of war in the Balkans.

TINY SKY-SPIES IN NAVY'S PLANS

Non-Inflammable Airships to Do Scout Duty.

By Special News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Tiny sky-spies ranging far seas are in the plans of the U. S. Navy for defense of the Panama Canal, great harbors and other strategic points.

They are non-inflammable airships inflated by helium.

The navy hopes eventually to have forty-eight of these craft for off-shore patrol duty. From tremendous heights they could spot enemy surface operations and silently glide back to the battle fleet for a direct "blimp-to-ship" voice report if necessary.

No other nation can have this weapon because helium is produced only in Texas. A foreign power would have to inflate the gas bags with highly explosive hydrogen, the kind used by the giant German dirigible "Hindenburg" which exploded over Lakehurst, N. J., in 1937.

The American navy has eight of these non-rigid ships at Lakehurst and four others are building this year. They are fabric-covered, can cruise at fifty knots for forty hours and are about three times the size of the commercial "blimps" now a common sight over many cities.

New ones authorized by the Congress will be only one-tenth the size of the ill-fated "Macon" and "Akron." These dirigibles were 785 feet long with a 6,500,000 cubic feet capacity, and cost about $2,500,000 apiece, largely because of their huge metal framework. The sky-spies will be little more than motorized balloons in construction and cost an average of about $250,000.

Secretary Ickes says the Government plant at Amarillo, Tex., is amply able and eager to provide all the gas needed for National defense. Congress gave him authority to forbid exports in quantities sufficient for military purposes. On that premise, he refused Germany 18,000,000 cubic feet to inflate a monster dirigible shortly before outbreak of hostilities.

Rear Admiral J. H. Towers, U. S. N. bureau of aeronautics, says the new airships would be excellent for observation work because they could stay aloft much longer than airplanes and go out in fog or other weather hazards. They will carry two-way radio communication but, Towers said, have the exclusive advantage of throttling their speed to that of a moving ship or remaining stationary at altitudes low enough for air and surface commanders to swap information by voice.

He says he expects them to be of vital importance in convoying minesweepers, minelayers and anti-submarine flotillas. If attack came, they could be equipped with bombs and no enemy submarine—fairly easily detected from the air—would dare come to the surface while a blimp skimmed along overhead ready to blast it apart.

The airships will be primarily non-combatant, however, because their comparatively slow speed and bulk make them good targets for enemy aircraft. But they can stay out of effective range of surface guns and protect themselves in the air to a certain extent with light cannon and machine guns.

Their lifting power, helium, could be incased in hundreds of separate cells and, since it is immune to fire, could be riddled with bullets before the ship was forced down.

If and when the forty-eight ships are in service, authorities say, every major coastal defense point will have them and can dispense with the captive balloon now antiquated by its limited sphere of effective observation.

Congress, reluctant to a certain point because of disastrous past experiences with lighter-than-air craft, also has approved $3,000,000 for construction of a small, experimental dirigible of American design. The Navy wants to test its value many hundreds of miles at sea, far beyond range of its airships, in observation, patrol and convoy service.

Of the Navy's lighter-than-air ship, only the "Los Angeles," built in Germany and flown across the Atlantic in 1924, has gone flying on. It was retired from active service a few years ago and is now at Lakehurst, N. J., where it is used as a training ship.

SPECIAL TRAINS LISTED FOR WASHINGTON TRIP

The famous Japanese cherry blossoms will be in bloom this week-end around the tidal basin in Potomac Park, Washington. For the accommodation of those who will visit the wonderful display, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will operate special low rate excursions leaving at midnight Saturday and on Sunday morning, returning from Washington on Sunday afternoon and night. Similar excursions will be available also on April 26-27.

These arrangements will not only give opportunity to view the cherry blossoms, but will also permit time to visit many of the public buildings.

Stamp News

No philatelic items have been announced for Pan American Day, April 14, because sixteen of the twenty-one republics issued 1940 commemoratives honoring the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Union. The Pan American Union, however, has issued a set of twenty-four "Know the Americas" poster stamps, presenting scenic views and places of interest in the American republics. Many of the subjects have already appeared in postal issues.

April also marks the thirty-first anniversary of the dedication of the Pan American Union building at Washington, D. C., pictured on the poster stamp above. Construction of this building, headquarters of the International Bureau of American Republics, was made possible by Andrew Carnegie's gift of $850,000.

The Union was created at the close of the first Pan American Conference in 1890 as the permanent organization of the conferences. The Union promotes peace, commerce and friendship among American republics by fostering trade, social, juridical and cultural relations.

Latest addition to its numerous activities is a philatelic agency to make new stamp issues of Latin America easily available to collectors.

Bill Is Amended

The Ferster Bill was released from the House Labor Committee on Monday night, April 7, to allow amendments which were heralded April 1 as already made. Some of the newspapers, judging from their editorials, figured that the amendments already had been made.

It is important that the bill has been amended so as to limit the payment of overtime to above forty-eight hours, rather than forty hours, as provided in the bill up to the date of amendment.

The newspapers report, too, that persons earning $200 or more a month are exempted from the provisions of the bill. On what social theory is it figured that a man who earns $175 a month must be protected from rapacious employers, while the man who earns $200 shall not be so protected?

Somehow it recalls the sign on the doorpost of a business concern: "Hours for All but Executives, Forty-two a Week." The limit on many an executive is likely to be around sixty. Are executives and those who earn $200 or more a month hardier in New Jersey than others?

If the State Legislature passes the Ferster Bill, even in its amended form, it will be the first of the States to do so, according to the State Chamber of Commerce.

It is not necessary however, to apprise the people of New Jersey that it is a State has a wage minimum law, affecting women and minors. The provisions are reasonable, and the law has not been antagonized. This newspaper believes a comprehensive law of the same character would best serve all concerned.

It should be recognized that the character of labor and wage values vary widely; and hours and wages should be fixed according to the character of the task.

"Time to Take Stock"

When you have your car inspected at one of the numerous stations in this State, you will receive a message from Commissioner Magee. Let us hope that those who need this message most read it, as well as those who are good and careful drivers.

Commissioner Magee points out, first of all, that this State, which enjoyed the reputation of being the safest for two years, increased its highway tragedies by ninety-seven in 1940. Nor is there any other reason for it than the one given by the commissioner.

Commissioner Magee says: "The simple and unvarnished truth is that too many thousands of people are driving motor cars today who are emotionally unfit to drive. These very people, strangely enough, are extremely scrupulous in every other social relationship but once having passed their original driving tests, they proceed to violate every safety precaution and every rule of the road."

Commissioner Magee calls attention to what they can be seen doing daily, as follows. "Driving through red lights if no policeman is in sight." That statement can be verified by many drivers. One of them will testify that he saw a young chap pull out and pass another driver who had stopped for the light, and deliberately go through.

The other idiocies are listed as follows: "Failing to stop at plainly marked Stop Signs. Crowding other cars off the highway. Refusing to dim their headlamps. Brushing off pedestrians on the crosswalk. Driving in excess of legal and common sense speeds. Intruding on the right of way of others."

The commissioner might have called attention also to those who have the vicious habit of driving in the inner lane of a four-lane highway.

The commissioner points out that the public is becoming impatient over the toll of accidents that are caused by the few "emotionally unfit" drivers. It will soon call for more drastic regulations. Accidents can be avoided, and more drastic regulations, if each driver will drive "by common sense rule." The many accidents are caused by a few careless, reckless drivers.

Changing Labor Day

When the Senate passed the bill to change the date for celebrating Labor Day from the first Monday in September to the second Monday, did its members consider what effect it would have in 1941?

This year the first Monday in September happens to fall on September 1. The summer vacation generally ends with the Labor Day celebration. The seashore people would like to see the day postponed so as to extend their season.

In 1942, however, the first Monday in September falls on the 7th, and the second Monday would fall as late as September 14. The opening of schools would be delayed until after the middle of the month.

Moreover, the summer vacationists will arrive home in Elizabeth late in September, and the opening of the whole business season will be delayed until late in the month.

Most of the other affairs and plans of the State will be disjointed to serve the seashore resorts. Is it worthwhile to change the date for celebrating Labor Day, to please a few thereby injuring the vast majority?

Yugoslavia a Mixed Nation

The Kingdom of Yugoslavia, against which the full force of Nazi fury is now being launched, has an area of 95,558 square miles, or a little more than the combined area of New York State and Pennsylvania, with a population of 16,200,000, or somewhat more than two-thirds of aggregate populations of these two States.

This country is composed of the old kingdom of Serbia and Montenegro and large sections of the old Austria-Hungary. Three dominent races constitute its population—the Serbs, the Croats and the Slovenes— although there are a number of racial minorities, including Germans, Hungarians, Rumans, Albanians and Turks. The Serbs are the most numerous race, but they do not constitute a flat majority.

For several centuries Serbia was under Turkish rule, but in 1815 it became more or less autonomous, and in 1878 it became independent. Later the Serbs began to agitate in behalf of their fellow Slavs in Austria-Hungary. This movement became more pronounced after Austria-Hungary in 1908 annexed the two South Slav districts of Bosnia and Herzegovina, which Serbia had been administering under technical Turkish sovereignty.

Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, was assassinated in the streets of Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia, in June, 1914, by two pan-Slavs. Although they were subjects of Austria-Hungary, the Serbs were accused of aiding them. Out of this incident the first World War grew.

The Croats and Slovenes in the northwest of Yugoslavia has been more industrialized than the agricultural Serbs. They also have been more strongly exposed to the culture of western Europe, and look upon the Serbs as uncivilized, charging them with oppression. The Montenegrins, a primitive folk, have always been independent in their mountain fastnesses.

Recent reports from Yugoslavia, however, indicate that this nation of mixed races is developing a spirit of greater unity in the face of the common enemy. Known as fierce fighters, the Yugoslavians doubtless will give a good account of themselves in their struggle to retain their freedom.

Not a Good Reason

Some are still arguing that the attitude of the people towards gambling was shown by the favorable action taken in the State at large towards pari-mutuel betting at the race tracks.

They forget that so far as some of the counties are concerned they showed the attitude of their residents by voting down the gambling proposition. Union County voted it down by a substantial majority.

The sentiment of the people towards gambling, at least in the pari-mutuel form, is shown by the protests that are arising wherever it is proposed locating race tracks near cities. The people know what will happen to the business interests in those cities. The thousands and millions bet at race tracks will not be spent for shoes, groceries, clothing, etc., in shops and stores.

Even Hudson County has barred the professional bingo promoters, and for what reason? Because the authorities there know that the people who patronize their games were being mulcted of their savings, and were being debauched by encouraging and stirring the gambling vice in them. The Hudson prosecutor has banned the importation of bingo followers from other counties, who have been pouring their money into the hands of such promoters.

Just as the "Sport of Kings" has been made the agency of the gambling promoters, so the innocent, enjoyable sport of bingo has been exploited by professional gambling promoters, and used to debauch the people and rob them of their savings.

Cause of Accidents

In the constant search for causes of highway and street accidents and fatalities, many causes are found. In the part of both drivers and pedestrians, the main cause is always pointed out to be carelessness.

It has been learned, in New York State, that 40 per cent of all persons killed in traffic accidents are pedestrians. Motor Vehicle Commissioner Mealey of that State, centers attention on the driver who refuses to heed the safety and the rights of others, and the pedestrian who refuses to take necessary precautions, as those who are chiefly responsible for the ghastly toll of fatalities that is piled up annually.

In the Empire State in a period of ten years there have been 14,902 pedestrians struck down and killed. What a ghastly picture, when it is realized that the number killed is greater than the entire population of many cities.

It is shown that night driving is particularly dangerous, from either the viewpoint of the operators of cars or pedestrians. It is revealed that 60 per cent of fatal accidents in New York State occurred at night.

Night is the time when every wayside tavern has a ring of cars of patrons around it, as observation shows. Is it not likely, as emphasized by what the observation of the head of the motor police of Pennsylvania demonstrates, that many night accidents are due to bad driving caused by drinking?

Democracy doesn't consist of precepts—but precepts put in practice for all its citizens.

History repeats. Addis Ababa is again an interesting name in news reports.

For some people, all the fun went out of binge when the gambling lure was taken out of it.

MR. BILLOPP

Preference.

Some guests are very annoying because when you ask them what part of the fowl they prefer they reply that any part will do.

You may assure them that you have every part handy and you wish they would speak up. They will insist that it doesn't make any difference in the least.

Ask them if they would like some of the white meat. They will tell you that they would love some of the white meat. But, perhaps they are not telling the truth.

Try them out with the suggestion of some of the dark meat and they will say that that is quite all right with them. Suggest that they might, instead, prefer a wing. They will reply that they are fond of wings.

Now you know perfectly well that if they were all alone in a room with a fowl they would select some portion of it first. Therefore, no matter how much you protest, they have a preference.

If they have a preference why can't they state it instead of beating around the bush? As though you didn't have all you could do to carve without puzzling your brain over what portion to give them.

This is a very bad habit on the part of guests and they ought to be broken of it. Until you know what is on their minds you can't go on with the carving and the vegetables are probably growing cold while the debate proceeds.

Half measures won't do. Drastic action is necessary. So, when you have a guest who is addicted to the habit, don't argue with him. Treat him at his word. Just give him the neck. Then the next time he is at your house he will probably come out frankly, freely and without reservation, and tell you what he prefers.

DAILY EDITORIAL

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Staff Writer.

HOLY WEEK, 1941.

As if to underline a contrast Hitler chose Holy Week to launch his assault on two more countries. On the very Palm Sunday which marks the day when the Prince of Peace entered Jerusalem riding humbly on the humblest of beasts of burden, Hitler's armed men rode across the borders of Yugoslavia and Greece mounted on the most modern of flesh-destroying machines.

During that climatic week when Jesus faced His ordeal, and trod the road to Golgotha, twenty additional millions of people in 1941 are also placed on the road that leads to the place of the skull, face to face with the crucifixion by shell, bomb and fire that is war.

The official Nazi explanation of this sounds very like the words that were spoken by Pharisees in that other Holy Week; they ring hollowly, convince no one. Yugoslavia is invaded because it refused to allow its roads and facilities to be used as an avenue of attack on a friendly neighbor. Greece is invaded because, defending itself from an Italian attack which had not even a Pharisaical justification, it welcomed friendly aid to help fend off that attack.

So a Nazi protestation of peaceful intent goes with the invasions, saying in words like those of the Pharisees, "Had they yielded to our every request, they would not have been invaded; we wished only peace, so long as everything we asked was turned over to us in a peaceful way. But, of course, our polite request for peaceful submergence of the national existence of these people being refused, we have no alternative but war."

Let us not forget that what died during the original Holy Week so long ago was again resurrected—that the whole story is one of the triumph of life over death. So it may be that those countries which are being led this Holy Week down to the place of the skull may yet live again.

We have faith that the way of life will yet triumph over the way of death.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

DISCOURAGE BANDIT PLAY.

"I'M THE bandit, the bad man. I must shoot you and you must fall down and be dead. Bang, bang! You're dead. Fall down, you silly. I shot you and you're dead."

Three-year-old Billy, knowing nothing of bandits or badmen or guns, did not understand the command of his leader and stood gawking at him. The "bandit" seized him by the shoulders, shoved him down and kicked him for good measure, shouting, "You're dead. I shot you."

But there was life in Billy, and a primitive force that the bandit had not reckoned with. Up rose Billy, fighting mad, and before the bandit could plant his feet for battle he went down on his back yelling, "Ma-ma-a-a, Billy's killing me!"

Both mothers rushed to the scene of carnage. Both small boys talked at once. The bandit's mother eyed him coldly. "You're almost six and Billy is only three and you're pounds and pounds heavier. I want to know how come he knocked you down and why. You come into the house. I've something to say to you."

"But, Billy," said his mother reproachfully. "Why did you strike your friend? You fighting? I'm astonished. What have you to say for yourself?"

"He isn't my friend. Not any more. He's a bandit and a badman and I won't play it. He shot me and made me dead and kicked me, so I gave him a punch in the stomach hard with all my might. See if I'm going to get killed and kicked and everything by him. See if I am. Just see—"

"There, there, it's all over. Don't start fighting again. I am sure it was all a mistake. You'll be good friends again in the morning. Let's get Skipper and take a walk down the street to see what we can see down there. I'll bet there's a new red wagon like the one you wanted in Ferguson's window."

The bandit game is popular these days, and it does no good. What children imagine themselves to be as they play has an effect on their thinking, their manners and their behavior. Bandits' manners are not desirable in little children. Nor have bandits any place in the American scheme of things. The movies that display them, the cartoons that tell theft stories in comic pictures, and the radio programs that feature them are not good for children and we may as well settle the matter at the start. Keep such things out of the children's reach. They need not attend such movies, see such cartoons, listen to such programs. There are many good plays and programs and pictures for them without these that can only do them harm.

Childhood is a brief span at best. During its brief years we have to set the pattern of a child's behavior. For that we need all the help we can get from public opinion and behavior, the radio, the press and the stage, the school and the church. We need nothing the bandits and the badmen have to offer. The less we see and hear of them the better.

THE FLAME OF IMAGINATION.

A FIRE, in an open country, fed by the wind, travels fast—but not so fast as does the imagination when fully afire.

America owes its unbelievable advancement, over a comparatively short period, almost wholly to the flame of imagination that has given to the world its finest example of democratic government and the will to serve all mankind.

It was the flame of imagination that swept through the mind of Thomas A. Edison, giving light to the world. Also it has brought about cheap transportation by automobile and train, and has peopled waste lands and created many useful invention and forms of civilization.

Before every man, stirred by imagination, are heights to climb, objectives to gain, and a way of life better than the one now attained. Once put the imagination to fire and wonders begin to form! It has always been thus.

Nothing is more valuable to the future of a child than to stir his imagination, and help him to light it into a flame.

It was the flame of imagination that drove the early pioneers to the far lands, that put trains to the sea and which made great wastes fertile by irrigation. And perhaps it will be this same flame of imagination that will, at long last, find a means of stopping the slaughter of innocent human beings, and the destruction of man's inherited property, through war. Let us hope and pray that such a flame is starting to burn somewhere in some divinely gifted brain!

Day and night this flame of imagination is sweeping through laboratories and little homes where men and women toil, early and late, seeking a solution for many of the mysteries that confound and confuse the world. Ideas kindle this flame—therefore get ideas!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Sweeping the Mind."

JUST FOLKS

TWO ROADS.

"There are two ways to go," Life said,
"The easy and the hard.
And one is long enough to tread
By difficulties barred.
The easy way is timed to pace
Safe and serene and commonplace.

"The easy way abandons pride.
Ambition, wisdom, skill.
From what seems hard it turns aside
The feet and limbs to fill.
You'll find its youngsters as a rule
Resent being made to go to school.

"Who takes the easy way must take
The poor rewards of ease,
The pay the unskilled hand can make,
And numberless are these.
The easy way is gay and loud,
And always peopled with a crowd.

"But worth is difficult to keep.
And difficult to keep.
Progress is won by stress and strain.
Great skill is never cheap.
Ambition's road through hardship lies.

QUESTIONS--ANSWERS

By Journal's Washington Service Bureau.

Q. How long is a moment?

A. Formerly, in medieval reckoning, a moment was considered the fortieth or fiftieth part of an hour; in rabbinical reckoning, 1-1080 of an hour; later, a second. Now it is defined as a very small period of time, a period too short to be taken into account.

Q. Do the stars really have motion of their own, other than the apparent motion given them by the earth's movements?

A. The stars are in motion in space, but they are so far away from us that they appear to be fixed. If, however, there is anything in the Universe that actually is fixed, and not in motion, astronomers have yet to discover it. All stars are actually moving at random in orbits that only appear to be straight lines, and all constellations will gradually lose their present configurations, although thousands of years are required for such transitions.

Q. Did the feudal system have any lasting effect on English and American law?

A. The principles of the system form the basis of English and American law in regard to real property.

Q. What does the surname Russell mean?

A. Ruddy, from the French.

Q. How many tons of shipping did German submarines destroy during World War I, and how many lives were lost?

A. Approximately 15,000,000 tons of shipping, involving the loss of more than 16,000 lives.

Q. How many United States citizens have joined the Royal Canadian Air Force?

A. Approximately 1,200, up to March 1, 1941.

Q. What was the total public relief expenditure in the United States for the period, 1936 through 1939?

A. $13,106,649,000.

Q. How did the number of strikes in the United States in 1916, the year preceding our entry into the World War, compare with the number in 1940?

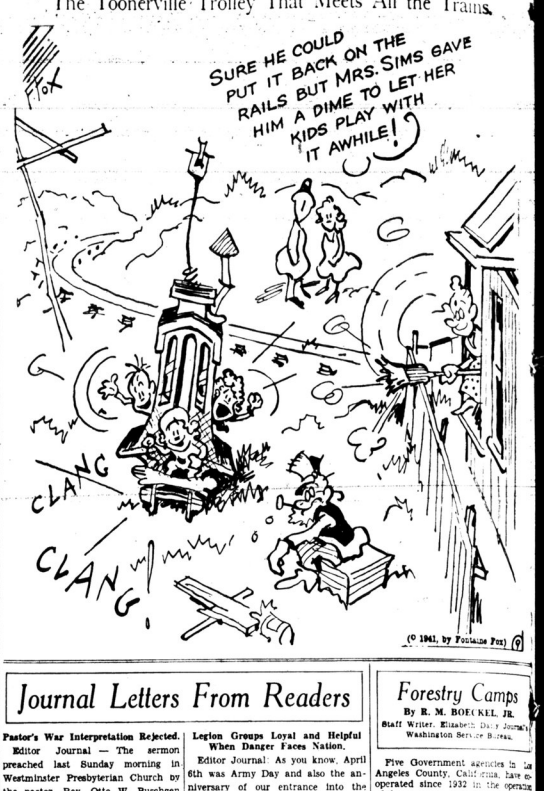

A. In 1916 there were 3,789 strikes involving 1,599,917 workers, 1940 there were 2,450 strikes involving 577,000 workers.

Q. Where and when was Rex Harrison, the actor, born? Is he married?

A. Born Huyton, Lancashire, England, March 5, 1908, son of William Reginald Harrison and wife, Edith Carey. Educated in Uppingham. Married to Noel Marjorie Collette Thomas.

Journal Letters From Readers

Pastor's War Interpretation Rejected.

Editor Journal — The sermon preached last Sunday morning in Westminster Presbyterian Church by the pastor, Rev. Otto W. Buschgen and published in part in the Journal on Monday must have shocked many good people who look upon England and her allies as champions of the democratic way of life, and representing the Christian viewpoint in the present struggle, and it must have surprised many who respect that fine old church and wish it well. The following paragraph from the sermon as quoted in the Journal is sufficient for illustration:

"This war is frankly a war between two ideologies which have left Jesus Christ standing at the door. Two major nations are at war. They are bone of the same bone, flesh of the same flesh. They are at war because neither of them had enough Christianity to observe the first principles of Christianity, which are two positive commands: 'Love thy neighbor as thyself,' and the second, 'Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them.' Both will lose the battle because they have already surrendered to the forces of him whom Martin Luther called, 'That prince of darkness grim.' It is he who will win, regardless of what the diplomats may determine, or the historians of the future may declare."

Is it surrendering to the Prince of Darkness to fight for one's home, one's freedom and the freedom of weaker neighbors against the murderous attacks of the Pagan Hitler and his horde of barbarians? If so, the moral ideals and hopes of the majority of the Christian people of the world must be wrong.

What the historians of the future will declare, none of us know, but it seems to many of us, that unless all of them are pupils of that master history twister, Herr Goebbels, there will be some who will condemn the brutal and inhuman onslaught of the Nazi war machine against the rest of Europe, and unless the historians of the future lose all sense of what is decent and right, they will praise the courage and the unconquerable spirit of the people of Britain and Greece and their allies in refusing to compromise with Nazism. It seems strange to me that a minister of the gospel should fail to grasp this.

The pastor of a church is naturally looked upon as the leader and spokesman of his congregation and I am wondering if the people of Elizabeth who have read your account of the sermon will think that it reflects the attitude and belief of the congregation of Westminster Church. I can assure you that there are many people who like myself, attend Doctor Buschgen's church who do not approve of the statements made in the paragraph quoted above, especially. We approve of and greatly admire the courage and spirit of resistance of the British and Greeks and allied peoples and some of us have helped them in their epic struggle against the Prince of Darkness ("Devil" seems a more appropriate term) Nazi Germany.

Legion Groups Loyal and Helpful When Danger Faces Nation.

Editor Journal: As you know, April 6th was Army Day and also the anniversary of our entrance into the World War.

As the Americanization Committee chairman of Argonne Post No. 6, American Legion, I am indeed happy to be associated with a group of men who forever have the welfare of this great country at heart. Theirs is an unselfish devotion; and the annals and records of Argonne Post are an example of the splendid work done by these men in the past two decades.

Now this country faces another crisis, and, with the experience gained in the last war, the leaders of our country and State, and also our cities, are preparing, so that a repetition of past errors will not again occur.

An example, is the call which our Major James T. Kirk made for volunteers from among the veterans to act as a police reserve for emergency purposes. Argonne Post, including the commander, Louis P. Logobardi, volunteered more than 50 per cent. These men gave unstintingly of their time, and all those who volunteered, graduated. This action surprised most fathers of the City of Elizabeth; their appreciation for so splendid a showing was mentioned in one of your recent issues. These men, besides being good legionaires, can also obey orders, and this community is indeed fortunate to have such fine veterans.

Another activity is the radio emergency unit, which is functioning 100 per cent, composed entirely of legionaires of Argonne Post No. 6. The new Home Guard has many men from the other posts in this vicinity.

Recently former President Herbert Hoover came to Elizabeth in the cause of Finland. A call was made for volunteers, and Argonne Post No. 6 was publicly thanked for its cooperation. I could go on at length for many paragraphs, but the men of the American Legion are interested only in the welfare of this country and to keep and cherish the ideals of Americanism.

The immortal Lincoln said: "That a house divided cannot exist," and the legionaire is ever watchful that no "ism" filters into our daily lives.

The American Legion is vitally interested in our youth groups and has been cooperative with all organizations, and schools. It sponsors Americanism contests in the grade, junior high schools, high schools and parochial schools, and is engaged in other activities too numerous to mention.

In closing, permit me to say that the men of the American Legion are ever willing to give of their time and efforts to help all their fellow men, and they have a fervent prayer on their lips that history as will not repeat itself.

Americanization Chairman,

DETECTING TUBERCULOSIS.

The Plainfield Courier-News recently published a chart which showed that in one year in the United States tuberculosis took a toll of 5,239 victims between the ages of 5 and 20.

Although deaths from accidental causes outnumber those from tuberculosis, there is no disease that constitutes a greater menace to the youth of our Nation than tuberculosis.

The chart served to emphasize the need of intensifying the campaign against the White Plague and stopping it before it has a chance to get started.

In that connection the Union County Tuberculosis League, Inc., is conducting this month its annual "Early Diagnosis Campaign," Dr. James G. Boyes, this city, consulting roentgenologist at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, New Providence Township, and a member of the Board of Directors of the county tuberculosis league, points out in behalf of the campaign that the best time to find tuberculosis is before the symptoms appear."

"The chest X-ray," Dr. Boyes says, "will show the presence of active disease before the victim knows he has it. Then treatment can be started before the disease becomes deeply entrenched in the body."

Dr. Boyes cites thirteen cases of tuberculosis found recently among high school students in Union County. "None of the students, it is said, had any apparent outward symptoms of the disease and the chest X-ray was the only way it could have been discovered.

Thus, the means has been provided for detecting tuberculosis. The task now is to educate the public to make use of these methods which medicine and science have developed to wipe out tuberculosis—the killer of youth.—Plainfield Courier-News

GARDEN STATE, INDEED.

New Jersey's farmers certainly must be making the most of their opportunities. At any rate, the United States Department of Agriculture reports that last year this State stood second with respect to cash income per farm. A few of the figures are: California, $4,758; New Jersey, $4,031; New York, $2,143; Connecticut, $2,123 and Pennsylvania, $1,609.

Of course, allowance must be made for the size of farms, crops and products and other relevant factors but it is none the less encouraging to note that New Jersey agriculture compares very favorably with that of Commonwealths which, it might be considered, well ahead in the race for enhanced farm "productivity."—Trenton Times.

Forestry Camps

By R. M. BOECKEL, JR.
Staff Writer, Elizabeth Daily Journal's Washington Service Bureau.

Five Government agencies in Los Angeles County, California, have cooperated since 1932 in the operation of forestry camps for delinquent boys aged 16 to 20 years. Their program has attracted wide attention in other parts of the country, and has been so favorably received in Los Angeles that plans are at present under way to establish additional camps for delinquents between the ages of 13 and 15.

Forestry camps were started nine years ago to meet a pressing need for expanded correctional facilities. To be eligible for placement in a forestry camp a boy must be physically and mentally normal and have had no more than a short delinquency record. Circumstances have, in some instances, forced assignment to the camps of boys who did not meet these requirements, but efforts are being made to eliminate these boys as rapidly as possible.

In the course of a week the average youth in a Los Angeles County forestry camp puts in forty-four hours of work at reforestation, fire fighting, camp maintenance, building and maintaining road and trails. Twelve hours are spent in organized outdoor athletics, and eight hours in school. For his work each boy receives fifty cents a day which in the course of his three or four-month stay, usually amounts to enough to enable him to buy a suit of clothes and make himself presentable enough to land a job.

The work done by the boys must be such that if it were not done by them would require the hiring of laborers in the county. Forestrymen have said that the per-boy workday output in Los Angeles forestry camps exceeds the average per-man workday output of adults in the city and county boards of education supply each camp with a certified teacher for each twenty boys in camp. Each teacher conducts three forty-five-minute classes four nights a week.

At one time or another the Los Angeles forestry and probation departments have operated six different sizes of camps, accommodating from as few as thirty to as many as 200 boys. Great emphasis has been placed on keeping capital investment in the camps at a minimum so that the largest possible proportion of available funds can be used for the work of rehabilitation. Camp cabins are built of pre-fabricated sections which can be disassembled and moved by truck thus the camps may be shifted about the county to meet changes in the forestry work load and fire risk.

The operating personnel of a typical boy camp consists of a camp director who is a deputy probation officer, an assistant director who is a forestryman, two crew leaders who are deputy probation officers, four student (apprentice) deputy probation officers, four forestrymen, one head cook, an assistant cook and a kitchen helper. With the exception of the last three, all of the operating personnel engage in rehabilitation work among the boys making the ratio between rehabilitative personnel and boys one to five—an extremely favorable proportion.

Costs of forestry camps are low in comparison with those of other correctional institutions. The average capital investment per bed in these camps, well-equipped correctional schools is $2,500; in the camps it is $250. It costs Los Angeles $866 to put a boy through the average stay of fourteen months in a State correctional school. It costs them $234 for the average stay of four months in camp—and it is safe to say that the camps contribute more in ideals and services than their costs of operation.

ZONING CHANGE REFUSED AGAIN

Board Stands Firm in Ban on Filling Station.

Four applications for exceptions to the city's zoning ordinance provisions were heard last night by the Board of Adjustment meeting at City Hall, with the board voting approval of two and denial of the others.

One of the proposals turned down was for property at 702 Newark avenue, at the corner of Waverly place, owned by the Hazard Estate, which sought to gain permission to establish a gasoline filling station, not permitted in a Business "A" zone. The board had once decided adversely by a year ago, and since that time the owners have unsuccessfully sought to have the area rezoned to Business "B" before the Board of Works.

Last night's hearing was by special consent of the board, for a reopening of the case. In all the moves, strenuous objections have been registered by owners of neighboring properties.

The board denied the application of Henry W. Willhardt, on which testimony had been heard at the March 11 meeting, for permission to extend his public garage at 618 Monroe avenue, an existing non-conforming use in a Residence "B" zone.

The grants were to Simon Kilow, for construction of a three-car garage and extension of a junk yard business at 313 Niles street, in a Residence "B" district, and to the Ruger Holding Company at 610 Spring street, for breaking the required set-back alignment with gasoline pumps for a filling station.

FLAMES FROM OVEN START FOUNDRY FIRE

Flames from a core oven on the second floor of the Moore Brothers Foundry, 47 Bond street, set fire to the roof of the building yesterday afternoon, causing considerable damage. Roof beams and a large section of the roof were burned. Engine companies 4 and 5, Truck Company 2 and the Emergency Squad were summoned through the alarm box located in the plant. Firemen were at the scene for an hour.

Sparks from an incinerator dropping on the roof of building No. 2 caused a fire scare at Mravlag Manor at 12:30 A. M. today. Engine Company 2 was called. There was no damage.

Brush fires were extinguished yesterday by Engine Company 6 at 577 Pennsylvania avenue, by Engine Company 8 at 744 West Grand street, and by Engine Company 9 at 1097 Mary street.

HANDBAGS ARE LOOTED IN FACTORY REST ROOM

Ransacking of two handbags owned by employes of the Colonial Soap Chemical Company, 150 Bayway, with the loss of $26.50 in cash and some personal effects, is being investigated by Plainclothesmen Hoffman and Kronicki. It was said today by Capt August F. Winkelmann of the detective bureau.

The employes are Miss Agnes Holcombe, of 123 Seventh avenue, west, Roselle, and Mrs. Vesta Becherer, of 66 East Emerson avenue, Rahway. They told the police that last Friday morning the women's rest room at the plant, just beyond the guard house, was entered and $17.50 in bills and change taken from Miss Holcombe's handbag and $9.00 from that of Miss Becherer.

MISHAP PERILS VIADUCT TRAFFIC

Tractor-Trailer Is Upset, Removal Is Difficult.

Traffic on Route 25 at East Jersey street was tangled at 1 o'clock this morning when a tractor and trailer overturned at the foot of the Elizabeth avenue viaduct and balked the efforts of a crew from a garage to right the heavy vehicle.

Radio Patrolmen Dunn and Kelly reported that the tractor, operated by Daniel Archer, 40 years old, of Pylesville, Md., was proceeding north on the highway, when at the foot of the viaduct ramp one of the front wheels locked its brakes, causing the vehicle to veer into the southbound lanes of traffic and turn on its side.

A serious blockade of traffic resulted, and Sergeant Harry Johnson and a crew of six patrolmen set flares and directed traffic around the spot while the garage wrecker attempted to right the tractor. It was finally necessary to call the emergency car of Public Service Coordinated Transport, which is equipped with a heavy-duty hoist and which succeeded in setting the tractor upright again. Both tractor and trailer were so damaged that they had to be towed to a garage.

Robert Davern, 10 years old, of 224 Jefferson avenue, was treated last evening at the Elizabeth General Hospital for lacerations and abrasions of his face and a possible fracture of the arm, as a result of being struck by a car in front of 116 Jefferson avenue. Patrolmen Maroney and Hattrick reported that the car driver was Walter Diabin, of 101 Hamilton street, Harrison. The boy was released after treatment.

ARMY WARNS SHIPPING OF FIRING OFF COAST

An announcement today by the U. S. Army Information Service, New York City, warns shipping that heavy seacoast firing will be conducted by troops at Fort Hancock from 9 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. on April 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19.

During the firing on these dates, which are tentative and subject to weather conditions and clear visibility, it will be unsafe for shipping on the left boundary consisting of a line from Sandy Hook Light through Scotland Light Ship and extending seaward to a distance of 37,000 yards, the announcement points out. The right boundary consists of a line due east to the Long Branch Coast Guard Station and extending seaward to a distance of 25,000 yards.

PLANE INDUSTRY WEIGHING FUTURE

Present Expansion Raising Post-Emergency Worry.

This is the second of three daily stories concerning the rapidly expanding aviation industry striving to meet defense needs.

By DEVON FRANCIS.
Written for Special News Service.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The way to make an airplane is to labor a year on a design and then hand-build it at cost which may run as high as $1,000,000.

The way to make 1,000 airplanes is to "freeze" that design and then scour the countryside for 10,000 competent workmen to build them.

American aircraft manufacturers, suddenly become members of a key industry in the march toward National rearmament, are hard put to find men to build the 37,000 warplanes on their books.

It's a considerable order, getting 200,000 more employes in the next six months for their workshops. They already have 175,000. The rest must be procured, and trained for skilled and semi-skilled tasks.

New factories being thrown up in this country for warplane production are harbingers of economical and social changes which only history will be able to evaluate.

What is to become of these establishments when the National emergency is over? What is to become of the workmen? Those are questions which worried executive heads of the aircraft industry and official Washington before the multi-million dollar expansion program actually got under way.

The demand for fresh labor created by the air defense program placed an additional load on an industry already trying to obtain enough workmen to fill the then current orders. Only 60,000 workmen were on the pay rolls at the close of 1939. Established schools offering training courses were few.

While it was doubling its 1939 production and launching a new expansion program, the industry had to devise means of instituting a bigger vocational training system. Airplanes are not made like automobiles. "On-line" production methods are obviated by the amount of hand-work necessary. Whereas ten men can manufacture 10 automobiles a year, it takes ten men to turn out one airplane in the same period of time.

While individual aircraft manufacturing companies have set up their own vocational training systems, all fall into a National pattern including schools operated in many instances by city governments. Educational institutions have installed vocational courses.

The industry supplies instructors and materials.

When a trainee has been taught the rudiments of his trade, he goes into a factory. At this point a new industrial departure, called up-grading, occurs. As a man becomes more proficient in one skill, he is up-graded to another skill.

A workman achieving, finally, all-around proficiency is made a supervisor. Up-grading was introduced when the manufacturers discovered a lack of all-around mechanical skills in the available labor supply.

A study prepared by the bureau of labor statistics, United States Department of Labor, as of December 19, 1940, estimated that by August, 1941, a total of 455,500 workers would be employed on fuselages, engines and propellers in aircraft and automobile plants.

The industry itself considers that figure somewhat high for the date. It believes a half million workers may well be employed by a year from next summer. The current hiring rate in East and West Coast plants is 5,200 men a week. If maintained, that would bring aircraft employment to 445,000 by spring, 1942.

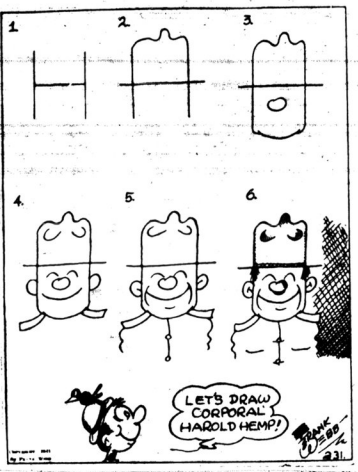

In addition to extensions of old plants and new ones under construction by the industry proper, automobile factories are to be devoted to making engines and the fabrication of sub-assemblies—that is, parts of planes such as control surfaces and wings.

Many of the sub-assemblies will go to the four Government assembly plants provided for in the so-called Knudsen plan for the manufacture of two and four-engine bombers. Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, under this program, will build parts for 3,800 bombers.

The manufacturers are trying to be long-headed about post-emergency conditions. They are exploring the commercial and military markets here and abroad. Freighting by air is receiving serious study. A tenfold, or even twentyfold, expansion of airline operations is counted on to create a demand for planes.

Nor is the potential market in airplanes for private use being overlooked. Designs for safer, lightweight machines are being revised. Airplanes may never be as popular as automobiles, the manufacturers surmise, but they can be a lot more popular than they are now.

"I have been separated from my wife for several years. We have a small son whom I care for and support. My wife works and supports herself. What will be my status in the Selective Service Act?"

If you file your questionnaire as a married man with a dependent child you will likely be placed in Class III. However, remember that your local draft board has complete authority and what you say is a dependent child may not be so in their eyes after they have heard the whole story.

"Our three sons are all eligible for the draft and by coincidence have drawn numbers quite close together. Is it likely that all three will be called about the same time? If so, it would leave us without sufficient support. All three boys now contribute to help out my meager wages. Is it true that the draft is limited to one person from each family?"

It is decidedly not true that the draft is limited to one person in a family.

Under the Selective Service Act any members could be drafted from one family. In your case I would suggest that you consult with your local board. It is quite possible that one or more might be given deferment because of your dependency on them. Remember, however, that this is only my opinion and not an official ruling.

Tomorrow: "I have been placed in Class I-B for "limited military service." Just what does this mean and when might I be expected to be called for service?"

REAL TEST.

By the Associated Press

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., April 9.—Shelby County's new rural fire truck had just been delivered. A salesman was waiting to demonstrate it. Somebody telephoned there was a fire on Hiram Drake's farm. The salesman, Fire Chief Bernard Jones and an assistant got into the truck and hurried off. Inside of a half hour, the fire eight miles from the city was out, and they were on the way back. The chief said he'd pass the demonstration.

QUICK CHANGE.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 9.—The day after he got home from four years in the Navy, Malcolm E. Bymaster, 23, was drafted to be inducted into the Army in May. He said he might as well go.

"It's just one of those things," he remarked.

The invention of the parachute is unknown, but Sebastian Lenormand was the first person to demonstrate its practical uses. He descended by parachute from the tower of Montpellier Observatory, France, 1783, seeking a means to aid persons to escape from burning buildings.

EASTER BLOOMS PLENTIFUL HERE

Prices in Some Cases Lower Than Last Year's.

A varied and plentiful supply of flowers and plants is assured for Easter, with prices either about the same or under those of 1940, according to Elizabeth florists. Because of an increase in employment, shops here expect the best trade in years.

"As a result of a later Easter and warmer weather, the supply of flowers, both cut and plants, will be adequate to meet any demand," one florist said.

"There are plenty of flowers of all types, except the hyacinth, and with a later Easter season, prices are about the same and in some cases lower than last year," another dealer said.

The scarcity of hyacinths, it was said, is directly attributable to the war. The development of the plant in this country has been limited and the importation of bulbs from Holland, France and England virtually has been nil for some time, it was pointed out.

The Easter lily, grown in South Jersey, New York and Long Island, is among the popular flowers for the holiday. Prices for a potted plant range from $1 upward. Other varieties in demand include the Darwin tulip, cineraria, hydrangea and azalea. All may be had from $1 upward, the price depending on size and quality.

Confectionery stores here report a brisk demand for Easter candies. Stores are offering varied confections for children and grownups, including candy eggs, colored bunnies filled with candy, dolls, and boxed chocolates wrapped in purple and yellow cellophane imprinted with lilies and daffodils.

Novelty stores are displaying mechanical rabbits and chicks that operate on wheels and carry sacks of Easter candies.

The first year to see the automobile industry turn out a million vehicles was 1916.

STATE PARKWAY PROJECT URGED

Scenic Drive Would Probably Touch Union County.

Creation of a State Parkway Authority, which would construct motor routes on which tolls would be charged until the parkways are paid for, is proposed by a special Assembly committee of which Assemblyman Glickenhaus, of Essex, is chairman. One such route would probably cross Union County, members of the committee said, in connecting north Jersey with shore points, although it was emphasized that no committee attempt would be made to designate the alignment of such a parkway.

Toll roads are in successful operation in Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut, the legislators point out, and in their report they include data gathered from the experience of those near-by States. Among the committee recommendations are a provision that the roads, when paid for, should be taken over and maintained by the State Highway Department; that no existing State routes should be included in the toll routes, which would be for pleasure travel only, that Federal funds be sought because of the National defense possibilities of such routes in time of emergency, and that the parkways should be landscaped attractively without encroachment of commercial advertising.

Trucks, billboards, an over-abundance of gasoline stations and roadside stands have become a detriment to pleasure driving in the State, the committee holds, and the parkways would ban these conditions, making for uninterrupted travel.

THOUSANDS AMAZED BY NEW HOUSE PAINT MADE BY DUPONT

Keeps White houses WHITER!

● STARTS Whiter ...contains brilliantly white titanium pigment!

● STAYS whiter—because it's "self-cleaning"!

● Excellent hiding and fast, easy application!

● Looks better longer!

DU PONT House Paint starts whiter . . . and stays whiter than ordinary paints because it's "self-cleaning"! It forms a tough, durable film which protects the surface from rust, rot, or decay. Like all paints, it collects dirt on exposure to the elements. As time goes on, however, a fine white powder forms on the surface of this new paint. This powder is washed away by heavy rains, carrying the dirt with it and exposing a fresh white surface. Usually this self-cleaning process starts after a few months of exposure under normal conditions of weather, but may be delayed under unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions. Because the "self-cleaning" process is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

New "Self-Cleaning" formula now available in light colors, too.

The new Du Pont Tru-Tint formula offers you lovely light colors with the same extra value, the same "self-cleaning" qualities that you get in the white Du Pont House Paint. While Du Pont House Paint costs no more than other good paints, it saves you money because it needs fewer repaintings. Next time you paint, be sure your painter uses Du Pont House Paint.

RAHWAY, April 9.—Past presidents of Rahway Safety Council were given a surprise honor last night at the annual banquet held at Green's Hotel, each being given a gold badge. REDUCES RAHWAY BILL.

Errors Court Cuts Contractors' Claim on Appeal.

Special to the Journal.

RAHWAY, April 9.—Rahway officials received copies yesterday of the decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals through which the original bill of $78,000 of the Northern States Improvement Company was reduced to approximately $5,000. The bill was for extras and over-runs in the construction of the Rahway intercepting sewer built to connect with the Rahway Valley trunk sewer. It represented more excavating than was indicated in the original contract and higher prices for extra work than were allowed for units in the terms of the contract.

The litigation dates back to 1938. Former Judge Orlando H. Dey was special counsel for Rahway, with City Attorney Eugene F. Mainzer cooperating. Through Court of Chancery action, the original bill was reduced to $18,000 and an appeal to the Court of Errors and Appeals was taken. The decision reducing the amount to approximately $5,000 saves the city about thirty-six points in tax rate.

URGE BUS MEASURE.

Terms of a Mutual Savings Bank Loan are made to aid the borrower

A reason why a number of persons object to borrowing on a first mortgage loan, is due to the fear that the terms will be too rigid and difficult to meet.

This is not so at our bank. We try to give consideration to each borrower's individual requirements—his income—his future earnings—his resources, and then we work out a plan that will suit.

We invite conferences on First Mortgage Loans.

LINDEN FIRM OFFICIALS CITED FOR EXAMINATION

Special to the Journal.

NEWARK, April 8.— Gerald D. Stone, of Bayonne, as trustee in bankruptcy of the Tip Top Tailors, Inc., 449 Central avenue, this city, desires to examine three officials of the Allied Clothing Corporation, of Linden, in connection with an investigation into the affairs of the Newark concern, against which involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were filed here several months ago.

The three men the trustee desires to have examined are Charles M. Alexander and Jerome Hilton, and objections to this move were made by their counsel, Charles Okin, of Newark, yesterday before Referee in Bankruptcy George W. Porter, who ruled that because Charles M. Hilton at one time was a director of the Newark concern, he may be questioned, but reserved ruling as to the other two men.

Objections to the examination of the three Hiltons were raised by Attorney Okin, chiefly because the Allied Clothing Corporation and the Dominion Holding Company, in which they are officials, have been named as defendants in a Chancery Court action brought by the bankruptcy trustee, and also it would violate their constitutional rights.

Adjournment of the bankruptcy hearing was allowed by Referee Porter until April 28 to permit Attorney Okin to apply to the Chancery Court for a ruling, either next Tuesday or April 22.

W. P. Twyman said Whippoorwill Way was "taking a beating" due to truck traffic, and was told that the Chatin road would be completed in due time, but that patching on the street would be done if necessary.

URGES WORKERS TO AID DEFENSE

Mayor M'Manus Calls For United Effort.

Special to the Journal.

LINDEN, April 9.—Mayor Myles J. McManus last night urged Linden workers to cooperate in the National defense program by applying their skills toward the speed-up of production in the vital and diversified industries.

Speaking before a largely attended meeting of the McManus Association at its clubrooms, Mayor McManus said Linden has an important role in the National defense picture.

Persons who need a "brush up" on skills which they have acquired but not used during the depression years may be referred to training projects for this needed instructor, he pointed out.

"William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management, has asked employers with defense contracts to recruit all the labor they may need through the State Employment Service, with which the Linden unit cooperates. He has done this in the interest of speedy and efficient National defense, he said.

"The State employment office in Elizabeth is a channel through which employers and workers can be brought together in an orderly manner. It is the means by which this community can cooperatively man the machines which are aiding in the production of material needs for defense.

"I appeal to you to do your part in this great National effort. If you are unemployed and able to work—or if you need training to fit you for a defense job—or if you are now working on a non-defense job which does not use a skill which is vital to defense, register now with the State employment office in Elizabeth or through the Linden board," Mayor McManus concluded.

Clarence J. Hunt, president of the association, presided, and Councilman Charles S. Silvano, chairman of the entertainment committee, said the St. Patrick's party and dance was a financial as well as a social success.

AUTO SPREADS HAVOC.

Car Hits House, Hedge and Trees in Dash at Union.

Special to the Journal.

UNION, April 9.—A house, a hedge and two shade trees were damaged about 4 A. M. today when an auto driven by Arthur Lehman, 27 years old, of 23 Colonial avenue, Springfield, ran wild in Burnet avenue. The motorist told Patrolman Lewis Anderson and Henry Kitchell the car swerved out of control and that his brakes appeared inoperative as he tried to avoid a small animal which ran in front of the auto as he drove south on Burnet avenue.

The roadster swung over a walk, damaged one shade tree and knocked another down and cut a hole in a hedge on property of P. J. Wahlers at 1061 Burnet avenue, continued down the street and struck a porch on the residence of George M. Weise at 1055 Burnet avenue, damaging it severely, according to Kitchell and Anderson.

WILL STUDY U. S. HOUSING PLANS

Clark School Official in Washington For Purpose.

Special to the Journal.

CLARK, April 9.—W. C. Wilson, member of the Board of Education, went to Washington last night to investigate plans for the Federal housing project in Clark, following informal discussion of the subject by school board members. Wilson said his trip was made on his own initiative to "look into the housing situation" to determine what effect it may have on the township, particularly on its school and other municipal expenses. He is leading an opposition group.

The board members concluded it would take at least $100 to educate every additional pupil, exclusive of transportation and debt service costs. In the absence of any definite government school plan, the commissioners refrained from discussion in regular meeting and withheld decision on their attitude toward the housing project. Wilson said he expected at next Union County Park Commission regular meeting, who also are on a housing project mission to Washington today.

Leon Schindler presided. Other commissioners on hand were William Channon, David Ruddy, James O'Connor, Amon Martin and Wilson. C. H. Brewer is the district clerk.

"But I wanted a bath TONIGHT!"

How many hours have you wasted "waiting for the tank to heat up"? How many times have you secretly decided that cleanliness isn't worth the price?

With an automatic gas hot water heater installed in the basement a turn of the faucet will bring you all the hot water you want. Hot water for baths . . . hot water for the laundry . . . hot water in the kitchen . . . any hour of the day or night!

Moreover, the temperature rarely varies more than a few degrees. The water never gets scalding hot . . . never turns cold in the middle of a shower or a Monday wash. Thermostatically controlled, fully insulated, the heat goes on only when it's needed.

And with all the "luxury" of an automatic gas hot water heater, it costs surprisingly little to operate. Stop in tomorrow and let us show you the new models. We'll be glad to answer all your questions without obligating you in any way.

MANEUVERS TO 'DEFEND' N. J. COASTLINE MAPPED

By the Associated Press.

FORT DIX, April 9.—The Forty-fourth Division will engage in five-day maneuvers for defense of the New Jersey coastline, beginning about May 15.

Major General Clifford R. Powell, division commander, said every available man and piece of apparatus would participate in the large scale tactical exercises, the first real test of the division as a unit under combat conditions since it was inducted into Federal service.

Powell explained that the maneuvers would involve a theoretical enemy invasion from sea, with the Forty-fourth advancing toward landing points, occupying defensive positions and withdrawing. The exercises will extend as far south as Cape May.

A railhead will probably be established at Millville or Bridgeton to supply rations and supplies.

Staff officers already have surveyed Burlington, Atlantic, Cumberland and Cape May counties for possibilities concerning movement and supply.

Holy Week services were scheduled to start today at the fort. A Passover observance for Jewish soldiers was listed for 5:15 P. M. with Catholic and Protestant rites in the evening.

CHICAGO SUNRISE RITES WILL LURE THOUSANDS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 9.—By prayer and publicity the faithful are being summoned to Chicago's annual Easter sunrise service at Soldier Field Sunday.

Typical of the "breezy" methods of the "Windy City," was the work of the Protestant interdenominational committee of twenty-one laymen in charge, who hope there will be a throng of 50,000 or more, weather permitting.

They let it be known by billboards, posters for automobile bumpers, and car cards that the outdoor service would be held for the ninth time—it was begun in 1933 on the grounds of the Century of Progress Exposition—and has been held at Soldier Field since 1934.

It was broadcast that this year's program would include a "hill-billy evangelist, Dr. Walter D. Kallenbach, of Llanerch, Pa.; a mixed choir of 300 voices, a Chinese baritone soloist, Rev. Philip Lee of Chicago, and a half-hour pre-service organ concert.

The committee arranged again to proclaim the theme of the service, "Christ Is Risen"—to the outdoor audience in seventy-four loud-hailers and ten feet wide.

SAYS DIABETIC DRIVERS CAN OVERCOME FAINTING

By the Associated Press.

TIFFIN, O., April 9.—The diabetic can drive his automobile without fear of fainting at the wheel if he eats every two hours.

Declaring diabetics often experience fainting sensations as a reaction to insulin, Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, of Boston, noted diabetes clinician, said food will revive such patients promptly.

The faint feeling occurs as the insulin reduces the blood's sugar content and may be allayed by eating a lump of sugar, Dr. Joslin said.

The Harvard professor emeritus appeared last night at closing conference sessions of the Northern Tri-State Medical Association, which embraces Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

Experimental diabetes in animals has brought investigators and cures which now guide in the treatment of humans and ultimately may lead to a cure of the disease in man, he reported.

Dr. Joslin said that each 100,000 persons in the United States knows they have diabetes and that the number of cases actually existing is probably four times as many as are known.

TEACHERS GIVEN $7400 INCREASE

Hillside School Board Apportions Increments.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9—Teachers' pay increases totaling $7,400—mostly in $50 increments—were granted by the Board of Education at its meeting in the high school last night. The board said that contracts to teachers will be mailed out this week.

The increases follow a pattern established last year, when the school board made its first moves to adjust salaries. It is understood that this plan has the approval of the Hillside Teachers Association. It is designed to scale salaries for elementary and high school teachers on the basis of experience.

Elementary teachers recommended by the supervising principal are to be paid $1,400, $1,600 and $1,800 upon completion of three, seven and ten years' work, respectively. For those in the junior and senior high schools, the scale is $1,600, $1,800 and $2,000. In experienced teachers' starting compensation is $1,200 in the elementary schools and $1,400 for the others.

Department heads and directors were appointed as follows for the 1941-42 school year: Manual training, Constantine J. Harper; music, Daniel Kautzman; boys' physical education, Samuel Dubow; girls' physical education, Miss Irma B. Ostrom. English, Walter Krumbiegel and Mrs. Margaret G. English. All these department leaders are at the senior high school, with the exception of Mrs. English, who is at the junior high school. Most of them are among those receiving increases.

Four teachers were named to go under tenure starting the 1941-42 school year: Miss Constance Halsted, Miss Adelaide Murphy, Miss Florence Gundaker and Leonard J. Buckner.

The report of the school nurses showed there were 234 cases of contagious diseases in March. German measles accounted for most of these. There were seven cases in every school except Calvin Coolidge, where only three were reported. There were eighty cases of contagious disease at the senior high school.

The board granted many applications for use of school buildings, and received a report from Mrs. Emmet T. White on the meeting of the State Federation of District Boards of Education. At her suggestion a resolution was passed expressing opposition to Assembly Bill 301, which, in many cases, would enable children not living in their home communities to attend school without tuition payment.

A bill submitted by the supervising janitors for $98, to be paid Edward Gottlieb, high school teacher, was questioned by Herbert R. Otto. Learning the bill was for $72 tuition and $24 expenses for courses Gottlieb took at New York, Otto declared that such payment might set a precedent likely to be embarrassing, since many teachers take part-time courses.

It was stressed, however, that Gottlieb was asked to take the courses by school authorities, so that hiring an additional teacher might be avoided. After long discussion the bill was ordered paid, but only after the board passed a resolution stating that no teacher may take a course at the board's expense without first having the school body's approval.

Otto also questioned use of the school fund made up of gifts by graduating classes, and Board President Raymond R. King named Otto, Francis H. Walker and Mrs. Walling as a committee to investigate. Otto said that since the board was officially custodian of school funds, it had a right to know the purposes to which such moneys are put.

TOWNSHIP SELLS SITE FOR HOMES

Hillside Gets $5,280 For Tillman Street Lots.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—Sale of 450 front feet of municipal-owned land in Tillman street for $5,280 was arranged by the Township Committee at a meeting last night in the Coe Avenue Junior High School. The purchaser, Homes-Built-to-Order Corporation, will erect about ten low-priced residences on the property. Township Attorney Emil A. Herrigel will complete the transfer of the land within a few weeks.

Lengthy wrangling on the price of the land took place before agreement was reached. With the Township Committee demanding $12 a front foot, Ellsworth J. Sterner, representing the corporation, at first said $10.50 was about the best offer possible, and then, went to $11. In all 485 front feet of the Tillman street land were involved. It was finally decided that if the company would buy 440 feet at the $12 price, the municipality would "throw in" ten feet more and would keep a less desirable thirty-five foot strip.

August T. Gray, Hillside developer, had previously arranged to obtain the Tillman street property under an arrangement whereby he would pay $8 a front foot in cash and give the municipality clear title to other land upon which there are large tax accumulations. He withdrew his offer last night, saying that the competing bid was one which would more quickly give the municipality the ratables it desires.

The committee passed on final reading an ordinance providing for the paving of Sweeland avenue between Bloy and Paul streets. Bids for this work to be carried out under a State grant-in-aid plan, will be received April 23. The governing body also confirmed assessments for materials on the sidewalk construction project competed in Conant street by the WPA.

The committee arranged to meet at 8 P. M. Monday in the municipal building with township auto dealers and used car lot owners. There will be discussion of the municipal ordinance licensing used car lots—a topic long subject to controversy here. As a safeguard to pedestrians, the committee refused to allow gasoline pumps at a garage at 1426 North Broad street, near Mertz avenue.

A $3,000 offer for a house the township owns at 380 Long avenue was referred to the township attorney for investigation. The Elizabeth, Union, Hillside, Irvington Line, Incorporated, was given permission to run three more buses, and this line and Public Service Coordinated Transport were allowed to change their routes to include passage over the new Route 29 overpass near Bloy street.

At the suggestion of the Recreation Board, Miss Julia Prejzyk was named a recreation worker at $16 a week and Mrs. Elizabeth McCrath at $22 a week. They are being paid by the township to keep up the Liberty avenue Community Center, where WPA supervisers were laid off. Both recreation leaders previously worked on the project.

The governing body's sub-committee on building received a suggestion from Building Inspector Charles Hanson that a residence at State street and Acme place be condemned as unsafe and demolished. The Union County Park Commission, it was announced, has assisted in preparing plans for a new field at the Calvin Coolidge School, to be developed by the township with WPA aid.

Hillside School Board Members Clash on Control of Athletics.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—The Student General Association at the senior high school was the topic of discussion last night between two Board of Education members, Harlow H. Curtis and Walter W. Smith. Smith is chairman of the board's athletic committee, which post Curtis held last year.

The dispute started when Smith revealed that there will be baseball, basketball and football at the junior high school next year. While approving this, with other board members, Curtis demanded to know where equipment would be obtained and was not satisfied with Smith's explanation that it could be provided by the S. G. A.

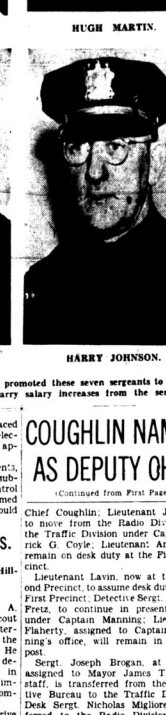

When the board president, Raymond R. King, joined with Smith in accusing Curtis of "raising technicalities," Curtis angrily retorted with a recommendation which would provide sweeping changes in the S. G. A. organization. This was not in the form of a resolution, and was received by King without comment or action.

Curtis demanded that all coaches be paid by the Board of Education exclusively, and that the board have control of all moneys derived from athletics. He insisted also that the high school athletic director be placed in charge of all teams and the selection of all coaches with board approval.

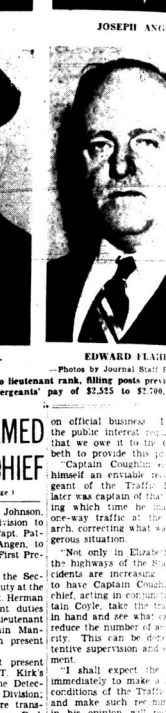

Gate receipts at athletic events, Curtis said, are not now directly subject to Board of Education control and he declared that persons named by the S. G. A. to handle funds should be approved by the board.

Boy Scout Executive Speaks at Hillside Rotary Luncheon.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—William A. Wright, Union Council Boy Scout executive, was the speaker at yesterday's Rotary Club meeting in the Hillside Presbyterian Church. He outlined plans of the council for developing a 1,700-acre camp site in Morris County, and told how the improved camp would benefit the communities served by the council.

Speaking of the fund-raising drive through which the council hopes to obtain $30,000 to develop the camp, Wright emphasized that the money invested will bear fruit for many years to come.

The club discussed the inter-city meeting to be attended by about 300 Rotarians and guests in the Bristol-Myers Company recreation building here April 22.

The Township Committee has postponed its scheduled April 22 meeting until April 23 so that members of the governing body may be present.

TUBERCULOSIS DIAGNOSIS TECHNIQUES DISCUSSED

Dr. M. T. Weissman, of Elizabeth, and Dr. Paul Geary and Dr. James G. Boyes, both of Plainfield, were speakers this morning at the third session of a "Refresher Course in Tuberculosis" being sponsored by the Union County Medical Society and the Union County Tuberculosis League. The meetir was held at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, New Providence.

Doctor Geary showed the sixty physicians and eleven public welfare workers who are taking the course how surgery can help in the treatment of tuberculosis by demonstrating what is known as thoracoplasty. The basis of all treatment in this disease, he said, is rest.

Doctor Weissman stressed how necessary it is in diagnosing tuberculosis to have a complete picture, including knowledge of the patient's ever having come in contact with the ailment. Physical examination, tuberculin test, the X-ray, laboratory examinations and finally, a complete study of all of these factors are necessary before making a final diagnosis, he stated.

Dr. James G. Boyes, consultant roentgenologist at Bonnie Burn, described methods used in studying X-ray plates.

Chief Coughlin; Lieutenant Johnson, to move from the Radio Division to the Traffic Division under Capt. Patrick G. Coyle; Lieutenant Angen, to remain on desk duty at the First Precinct.

Lieutenant Lavin, now at the Second Precinct, to assume desk duty at the First Precinct; Detective Sergt. Herman Pretz, to continue in present duties under Captain Manning; Lieutenant Flaherty, assigned to Captain Manning's office, will remain in present post.

Sergt. Joseph Brogan, at present assigned to Mayor James T. Kirk's staff, is transferred from the Detective Bureau to the Traffic Division; Desk Sergt. Nicholas Migliore transferred to the Radio Division; Desk Sergt. William O'Connor, assigned to Second Precinct desk duty.

Placed on Desk Duty.

Sergeant Maroney, to assume desk duty at the Second Precinct; Desk Sergt. James McGuire, to be on relief detail for the desk assignment at the First and Second Precincts and for the Radio Division; Lieutenant Johnson and Traffic Sergt. Ray Apgar, to alternate in tours of duty in the Traffic Division, "being strictly responsible for officers under their commands."

Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Novitskie, assigned to plainclothes duty in the Detective Bureau; Reserve Patrolman John Mullaney, shifted to duty as a plainclothesman in the Detective Bureau; Patrolman Frank Walsh, assigned to the Newark Avenue Branch of the Central Home Trust Company; Patrolman Robert E. Decker of the Second Precinct, assigned to motorcycle detail in the Traffic Division.

Elevation of the rank of detective for the plainclothesmen, which had been expected at last night's session, did not materialize, but the commissioners said this action merely awaited the preparation of the resolution under the advice of the city law department. A special meeting of the commission may be called to consider this move.

Isador Robinson, president of the board, in a statement issued after the meeting emphasized that the changes were in no sense a "shake-up, but rather . . . result of long study and are considered to be for the good of the department."

Not a "Shake-up."

Commissioner Robinson's statement follows:

"The changes being made today are not to be considered a 'shake-up,' but rather are changes made as a result of long study and which are considered to be for the good of the department.

Every city of our size in the State of New Jersey, and many cities smaller than Elizabeth, have for many years had the rank of a lieutenant, and the men doing detective work under the command of Captain Wilkelmann should have an official designation as detectives. The same thing applies to the rank of lieutenant. City Council recognized this in approving our budget, in which was made provision for the lieutenants, and all these men have qualified by examination, and were certified to us by Civil Service.

The rank of lieutenant in all large cities and in many of the smaller cities have long had deputy chiefs. We formerly had in our department the rank of deputy chief, and it is regrettable that this rank was ever abolished. Any city over 100,000 in population should have a deputy in command when the chief is busy on police work throughout the city, or as sometimes happens is out of the city on official business. I believe that the public interest requires this and that we owe it to the City of Elizabeth to provide this position.

"Captain Coughlin is entitled to himself an enviable record as a sergeant of the Traffic Division, and later was captain of that division during which time he inaugurated the one-way traffic at the Broad street arch, correcting what was a very dangerous situation.

"Not only in Elizabeth, but on all the highways of the State, traffic accidents are increasing. I would like to have Captain Coughlin as deputy chief, acting in conjunction with Captain Gerald Manning, directing the traffic activities in hand and see what can be done to reduce the number of accidents in the city. This can be done only by effective supervision and strict enforcement.

"I shall expect the deputy chief immediately to make a survey of the conditions of the Traffic Bureau, and make such recommendations as in his opinion will result in better enforcement, to the end that the number of accidents in the city be reduced to a minimum."

Took Rutgers Courses.

Sergeant Maroney lives at 820 Jackson avenue and was named a patrolman in 1929. He has attended the New York Police Identification School and has taken courses at Rutgers University in traffic enforcement, scientific crime detection, criminal law for police and juvenile delinquency.

Lieutenant Steffens, 672 Sheridan avenue, was appointed a policeman in 1918. He has won Statewide recognition for scientific crime research as head of the Crime Detection Laboratory. He is the department's bomb expert and instructed the newly-organized Emergency Police Reserve.

Lieutenant Flaherty, a veteran of more than twenty years in police work, was named sergeant in 1926. He lives at 138 Acme street. He has served on motorcycle duty and in the Detective Bureau.

Appointed as sergeant in 1929 Lieutenant Donovan has been on the force since 1921. He is in charge of the Identification Bureau and the record room. He resides at 940 Cross avenue.

Veterans in Service.

Lieutenant Angen was appointed to the department in 1916 and has been a sergeant since 1921. He lives at 740 Clarkson street.

Lieutenant Lavin is a veteran of more than thirty years police service. He has been a sergeant since 1926. He lives at 863 Elizabeth avenue.

Lieutenant Johnson of 904 Monroe avenue, was made a sergeant in 1928.

Lieutenant Martin has been in charge of detectives at the Second Precinct. He was named to the force in 1910 and has been a sergeant since 1927. He lives at 143 Acme street.

Captain Coyle last night presented recommendations of names of men to fill the Stewart place, Washington avenue and Lidgerwood avenue intersection.

Vacations for the department were authorized.

PORTABLE SETUP AIDS GAS STUDY

Ingenious Chamber Provides Quick Army Study.

By Special News Service

CAMP LIVINGSTON, La. April 9 — Army chemical warfare experts here have rigged up an ingenious chamber for giving soldiers an object lesson in how handy gas masks can be.

The CWS (Chemical Warfare Service) unit with the Thirty-second Division believes its portable gas chamber is unique in the army.

It can be moved anywhere, set up in a few minutes and handle demonstrations in gas mask technique for a great number of troops in a comparatively short period.

Lt.-Col. John D. Alexander, of Kenosha, Wis., and aides devised the chamber and had quartermaster workmen construct it from plywood.

Its thirteen light sections can be whisked anywhere by truck in an army camp and bolted together air-tight for gas mask lessons. It measures 8 feet wide by 12 feet long by 8 feet high.

"We call it a prefabricated gas chamber," says First Lieut. Maurice A. Peerenboom. "It works better than the permanent chamber in use at many training camps because we take it to the troops instead of their having to come to us.

"Then we find our chamber much better than the gas tent which, though portable, leaks too much. Boy, you really get a dose in ours."

And the Thirty-second's "gashouse gang" gave a convincing demonstration.

A squad of troops donned army masks and entered the chamber in which tear gas had been released in thick, almost-transparent clouds. Nothing happened and after a few minutes they filed out in the open field.

Then all trooped back into the chamber. At a signal, they removed their masks and within a few seconds scrambled out, stumbling over each other with streaming eyes.

Eyes cleared up under "gashouse gang" instructions for the troops to face the wind without rubbing their eyes because this would only keep them crying longer. Tears wash out these fumes quickly in fresh air.

In this way the men learn to depend on their gas masks," explained Lieutenant Peerenboom. "We teach them how to wear 'em and how effective they are against gas."

Lessons include sniffs at "safe" lethal gases. After a small quantity is released out in an open field, troops approach gingerly for a good whiff and beat a quick retreat. The idea is to teach them to know the odors.

● SERIAL STORY

DOLLARS TO DOUGHNUTS

BY EDITH ELLINGTON

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Bee sees the make-believe world she has learned to love crashing. She blames Clarence for calling in police. The morning papers confirm that thought. Anxiously she waits as Toby and Vera read the news. Surely they will recognize her. When they do not, she decides they have known her all the time, that they are just waiting to see what she will do.

BIG IDEA IS STOLEN.

CHAPTER XXVI.

"What's the matter with you, Bee?" Vera asked, as Beatrice rose from the table. "Jittery?" There was such matter-of-fact affection in her tone, such serene absence of undercurrent, that Beatrice knew at once she'd been wrong. These girls had not the faintest inkling of suspicion.

She must compose herself! She went into the bedroom, taking the tabloid with her. "Why don't they see?" she asked herself. "There I am, and—" she looked into the mirror. "There I am again!"

But something in the mirror arrested her. She examined the face on the front page.

"It is different."

She stared hungrily into the mirror. "I'm thinner, that's what it is. I—I've lost that superior, snobbish look. And—and I'm not glamorous any more."

In the photograph, she had been finished, assured, the glittering product of a deft hairdresser's art, a superb masseuse, a gifted modiste.

"And now, in this store dress with my hair all wrong and my chin so pointed and circles under my eyes . . . now I'm just another girl! I haven't had a facial in weeks. I've used up my expensive lipstick. I've given up mascara, lashcream, fresheners, pads when I lie down. . . ." Her eyes smarted. "I've changed. I'm not me any more."

She knew a bewildering stab of loss. Then she thought, "Toby's right. It's easy to be beautiful when you have lots of money."

She understood now the savage resentment of the girls in the store against the well-fed, rested, expensively furred customers who swept through the main floor. She understood why they said, "What's that dame got that I haven't?"

No, Toby and Vera had not been blind, this morning. They might have noticed some fleeting resemblance, but probably even that was fantastic. When you looked at Beatrice Huntington Davenport's picture, you simply didn't think of Bee Davis.

She was very silent, going to work with Toby. On the subway, every third person was reading about the kidnaping. Yet no one looked up from the paper to catch a fugitive likeness in the face of the girl across the aisle.

She thought, "Of course Mr. Weeming would recognize me instantly. And Clarence. And all those girls and men I played around with. They'd recognize me. The way they'd know me after I'd been through some wasting illness . . . ."

In the store, everybody was talking about the kidnaping. Even Miss Dane joined in. "It just goes to show you, being rich is no bed of roses. I'm glad Mr. Huntington's not alive to go through it. He thought the sun rose and set in that girl."

"Did you ever see her?" Beatrice asked.

"Once, when she was a little girl. He took her through the store. She had on a white bunny coat."

The coat had been ermine. Beatrice remembered it sharply. She'd been 10 years old.

After an hour or two, Budget Fashions settled down to the business of selling dresses. Beatrice waited on customers, and at the back of her mind there was a numbed wonder. Suppose she'd really been kidnaped? Who would care, would really grieve, except Clarence? "And he can always go back to Mimi Frothingham!"

Mr. Weeming might care. He was fond of her, beneath his constant disapproval. "But who else?

No one. No one at all. The store wouldn't change. It would go right on the way Bruce Shedrake and the the trust company wanted it to go.

"Yet, if I disappeared as Bee Davis—" her eyes sought Anthony's, and he smiled at her over the head of a woman he was talking to. "Why, Bee Davis is more important than Beatrice Davenport! Toby would miss me, and Vera. Even Terry's loathsome wit might fall him, for a while. Miss Dane would care. I know she would! And Getzie. And Miss Ryan."

In six short weeks, she had made a warm place for herself in many hearts. "I had no money, no job, nothing but the clothes on my back. They don't know where I came from, or anything about me. But they like me. They love me."

How wonderful that there were people in the world who could take a lone girl to their hearts, that way! "I was poorer when I was rich," she thought.

But sooner or later, if the papers kept on printing pictures, there'd be one picture that must check. Beatrice knew that. Despite the difference, someone must see. "Besides, the government men are searching for me. They'll trace me. They have ways. They're so clever at finding people!"

She had to call the hunt off. This was her last morning in Budget Fashions.

She looked at Miss Ryan, who must stop work next month. "I'll send her baby clothes and a crib and lots of things."

She looked at Miss Getz. "I'll arrange that pension."

But she grew cold, looking at Anthony. Will it mean the end of our love? Must it? Oh, how can I explain to him? How can I show him that I had to do it?"

Budget Fashions had never been dear to her, yet, in that moment, she wanted to gather it all up and hold it close to her heart. She wanted to keep all these girls for friends, she wanted to go on listening to the intimate details of their lives, she wanted to be just Bee Davis, another girl like themselves, instead of the heiress who was buying herself what they called an "Italian prince."

She'd never go back to Clarence, no matter what happened. "I don't want to even see him! All I want is Anthony! Oh, how will I tell him?"

In a little while, she'd be sitting across the table at lunch with him. "Then I'll leave the store and go to Mr. Weeming's office . . . ." She played with the thought of sticking this out another day. Even one little day was suddenly precious.

A man came into the department. A heavy man in a brown suit who stood beside a dummy in a lace dress and surveyed the department with shrewd, narrowed eyes.

"He's looking for me!" The humiliation of being trapped before she ended the masquerade herself crushed her. She shrank behind a rack of dresses. "I must get out of here!"

But Miss Getz, bumping into her, said, "Look at that." The man had taken out a tape measure. "They're going to put new carpet down. First up they'll be modernizing all over . . . ." Her tone was thoughtful. When they'd modernized upstairs, they'd shoved her down here. Now where could she go?

Anthony was standing at the wrapping desk, watching the men measure for the carpet. Beatrice went up to him. "First I heard about this."

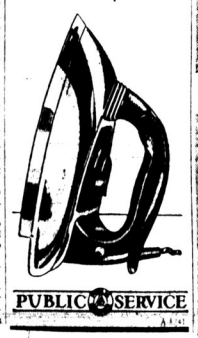

"Yes," he ripped out. "First I heard, too. But Miss Dane just explained it. They're redecorating the department, so they can use my idea!" His voice was bitter.

"Only, it has been reborn as the merchandise manager's bright little brain child!"

Catholic Club Basketball League Championship Will Be Decided Tonight

From Where We Sit

By JOHN J. HALL.

ALTHOUGH you can never be sure about Mr. Baer big Max probably made his last bow as an entertainer in polite fistic circles when he climbed down from the ring last Friday night after losing to Lou Nova. However, regardless of which way the arrow points you can never say for sure that Maximillian is through for keeps.

After the erstwhile "Livermore Larruper" had lost his championship to Braddock it was the concensus of opinion that he was through. His showing against the "Cinderella Man" had been so far off the pace of the husky who had beaten Primo Carnera in eleven rounds that few in the arena gave him a chance of hauling down another big purse.

Even Baer himself seemed to entertain some such opinion as he stood at the "mike" after the fifteenth round and practically spoke his farewell. Yet, before that same summer was over the public found Baer back in the ring with Joe Louis and, of all things, being paid $150,000 which may have been twice as much as he got for fighting Braddock.

The End—But No End.

WHEN Louis got through with him Baer was "definitely washed up." Labeled as a quitter by experts and fans who didn't know the inside story of that fight Max couldn't hope to ever again draw a major crowd. And, very frankly, it was our opinion that after the beating he took from the Negro the Californian was bound to be softened up.

Two years later we sat with him in his bedroom at Madame Bey's training camp and listened to him talk of new plans for carrying on in the ring. In a few days he was to sail for England to meet Tommy Farr who had been going great guns on the other side of the Atlantic.

We felt the knots in his big right paw where the breaks suffered in an exhibition with Eddie Simms before the Braddock fight, had mended. We listened to him talk about the new seriousness of purpose which married life had inspired.

We listened with a straight face as he said: "After I return I'll be ready for any of them." And we wished that all the hopes of this big guy who had been so greatly misunderstood could come true.

Life in the "Ol' Hoss."

IN London he lost a fifteen-round decision to Farr. After what had been heard about the Welshman here in the States it wasn't a bad job for a gent who was supposed to have been in the wringer two years before to stay with him. Then, as further proof that there was still some life in the 'ol' hoss' Max scored a ninth-round knockout over Ben Foord who had gone the route with both Farr and Max Schmeling.

Baer and Farr fought in London in April of 1937. And in August Tommy was in against Joe Louis for fifteen rounds at Yankee Stadium. Louis won the decision, but Farr emerged the hero.

In the face of this showing the Welshman was a sure shot for a return engagement the following summer but he made a mistake. In fact he made two mistakes. He fought Braddock the following January and lost the decision. This wasn't so bad. It was only a ten-round bout. A fifteen-rounder with Baer would re-establish him—only it didn't. The surprising Baer won a clear-cut decision and was back in good standing.

End of Another Road.

MAX fought Lou Nova in 1939 and was stopped in eleven rounds. Now he was through. Was he? A year ago he met up with Tony Galento who had stopped Nova after the latter beat Baer. And against Max Tony couldn't answer the bell for the eighth round. Then it was young Pat Comiskey, the Paterson kid who was being hailed as the coming heavyweight champion. Pat didn't finish the first round.

These two paved the way to a second Nova meeting—to a crowd which claimed every inch of space in the vast Madison Square Garden. Lacking a few days more than two months Baer had been shunted into the discard six years before, yet here he was boxing before a crowd which jammed the great Garden.

Nova won and Baer is through again. Sez who? Baer? Until Baer says so himself he won't be through. There were men who went streaming out of the Garden calling him all the hard names they could think of who'd be scrambling for ringside seats if he were to fight in Yankee Stadium in June.

Other Champs Pass On.

AND when he does hang them up for keeps I wonder what epitaph will be written to fit his departure. John L. Sullivan lost his heavyweight championship to Jim Corbett and his alibi was: "Corbett didn't beat me. John Barleycorn beat me."

Jack Johnson knocked out Jim Jeffries in the sixteenth round at Reno, Nev., and he beat "a hollow shell."

Jess Willard knocked out Jack Johnson in the twenty-sixth round at Havana, Cuba, and to this day dissenters will point to picture of the Negro lying on the canvas with a partially upraised arm and insist that "Li'l Arthur" was shielding his eyes from the sun—that he wasn't knocked out.

Jack Dempsey took Jess Willard apart at Toledo, O., and the crowning of a new champion was followed by rumors of plaster of paris in the bandages on the "Mauler's" hands.

Gene Tunney beat Dempsey in Philadelphia and a rain-soaked ring was blamed by those who bet and lost, and when the Marine repeated at Chicago he was given a "long count."

Jack Sharkey beat Max Schmeling and "We wuz robbed."

Max Baer slopped Primo Carnera in the eleventh round at the Garden Bowl out on Long Island and Carnera "broke his leg," which was true. The big Italian's leg was still in a heavy cast when I spent an afternoon with him at a New York hospital shortly before he went back home.

Baer lost to Braddock and he stifled the alibis by declaring before leaving the ring that he was glad if he had to lose that he lost to a family man who had known adversity. He lost to Nova—and even in defeat we find him stealing the spotlight from his conqueror as newspapers throughout the country carried pictures of Baer cavorting in the Nova's ring romping with their baby daughter the day after the fight.

What a gesture of sportsmanship on which to end a career! No alibis, no rumors just a victim who even in defeat holds the spotlight. I don't know what else the experts may write in Max Baer's fistic epitaph but this they can't avoid. He is the smartest, the best showman that ever drew on a boxing glove. And a great guy.

REDS GIVEN EDGE ON MOUND STAFF

Chosen to Repeat Flag Win in National League.

CARDS, DODGERS RATED STRONGEST RIVALS.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 9—Pitching wins pennants—especially National League pennants—and that's why the Cincinnati Reds will hold the winning ticket again.

The Reds have the best pitching staff in baseball with three potential twenty-game winners in Paul Derringer, Bucky Walters and Gene Thompson. They won fifty-eight games among them last year and can be reasonably expected to equal or surpass that total this season.

Although the Reds are the current world's champions, they have never been called a great team as ball clubs go. But they are a sound, solid team without a vital weakness. They lack power but they don't need terrific punch because they don't waste runs. They have the knack of pitching and defense that can operate on a one-run or three-run margin all day long. They won forty-one games by one-run margins last season. No lucky ball club could do that. There is every reason to believe that the Reds will continue to win those close, tight ones right down the line in 1941.

As the clubs get ready to go to the post the Reds look like a more formidable outfit than a year ago. Their pitching staff has more depth. Beyond the big three of Derringer, Walters and Thompson, are Jim Turner, Whitey Moore, Johnny Vander Meer, Monte Pearson and Elmer Riddle.

Vander Meer looks as if he's on the way back. The once-brilliant southpaw may easily be the surprise of the season. In seven games this spring he has worked twenty-eight innings, allowed ten runs (three unearned), permitted twenty hits, walked twenty-five and struck out twenty-five. Manager Bill McKechnie is counting on him as a starter and only wildness can keep him from being a winner. Pearson, the former Yankee, looks good and hasn't complained of any physical ailments. McKechnie is going slow with him and anything he does will be so much velvet. Joe Beggs, the relief star, shouldn't be overlooked in the Reds' pitching picture. He is the National League's top fireman.

The Reds aren't going to breeze to the pennant. They are going to get stiff opposition from two and maybe more quarters. The Cardinals must be reckoned with. Billy Southworth has put together a hustling, running ball club with more punch than possibly any other club. If the Cards' infield of Mize, Crespi, Marion and Brown holds up, St. Louis is likely to furnish the Reds' chief opposition.

If the Reds folded, the Brooklyn Dodgers could win the pennant if everything clicked. The odds, however, seem against it. The Dodgers have too many question marks — young Pete Reiser in center, second base, the pitching staff beyond Wyatt and Hugh Casey and Joe Medwick's comeback.

Don't sell the Chicago Cubs short. They may start slower but Jimmy Wilson has the makings of a tough ball club if and when he gets Bill Lee and Hank Leiber in the fold. The Cubs' two rookies, Lou Novikoff and Lou Stringer, look like the goods and are going to add verve to a team that went through the motions during the past two years.

Pittsburgh might be dangerous if Frankie Frisch comes up with a real pitching but none is in sight. The Giants have grown old and their efforts at rebuilding have been rather feeble. The Danning experiment was an unnecessary fiasco. The Bees have a good infield and may be tough to beat on occasion but have no serious rummaking power. The Phillies are to be pitied.

PASSES GOLF MILESTONE

JIM DANTE.

Suburban Golf Club professional who is starting the twenty-sixth season of his links career. It's his fourth year at Suburban.

Jim Dante Looks Ahead

Suburban Pro, Starting Second Quarter-Century In Game, Sees Golf Getting Better.

By CHRIS ZUSI.

Jim Dante, bronzed from a Florida sun and looking healthier than ever, sat in the locker room at Suburban, smilingly admitted he was starting the twenty-sixth year of his career in professional golf, and talked optimistically of the future. Not his own future but the future of the golf game.

CONDITION HELPS.

"You know" said the former president of the State P. G. A., "everybody attributes the generally lower scores in tournament golf to better equipment, better courses and better golf balls. Of course, these things all have helped. But a big factor, in my opinion, is condition of the players. Condition and a more thorough understanding of the game's science.

"The tournament pros today are as well-trained as professional athletes in any other type of competitive sport. They realize that they must be in tip-top shape, that the going is tough. It takes more than a good golf swing to win tournaments. A man must be in condition and he must have acquired that tournament hardness. The annual winter tour is the ideal way for any young pro with high ambitions as a player to gather the best kind of experience.

"Yes, golf is better than it was. And I'll say that it is going to get even better. Records are being broken all of the time—and more tournament and course marks are going to topple."

Few pros are better versed in the various phases of golf than Jim Dante. He has dabbled in tournament play—and has done pretty well, too—served as greenkeeper at several clubs and even as steward at one. He once aspired to be a golf architect and, during his years at Braidburn, built the last five holes of that course and rebuilt two other greens.

His father sent him to business college, hoping he'd follow a business career, but Jim was golf-mad even as a kid and when he had a chance, back in 1915, to join the pro shop staff at Baltusrol under George Low, he grabbed it. That lasted until he enlisted in the Army during the first World War. A civilian again, he struck out for himself with a pro-greenkeeper job at Rockaway River. He also was steward during his first year there.

Then to Madison as pro-greenkeeper, and on to Braidburn in 1923, serving in a similar capacity. He's starting his fourth year at Suburban and he says:

"I've knocked around as a lot of golf clubs, but I feel I'm home here. Suburban is one of the finest courses in this district."

Highlights of his career in the competitive end of the sport include leading the Met district qualifiers for the U. S. Open in 1936, winning the State pro-pro title with Jimmy Marucci in 1935 and twice finishing high up among the leaders in the State Open.

He has had long experience in teaching and lecturing and he sees a future along similar lines for his son, Joe, who is now 20 and beginning his third year in the shop at Suburban. Like his dad, Joe has his heart set upon golf as his career.

In Florida, Dante did a lot of private teaching, his pupils including Ben Bernie, the band-leader comedian, and his wife. He expects Bernie to pay him a visit at Suburban this summer.

AARON SMITH HALTED.

By the United Press.

Jerseys Hustling Club

By FRANK DUNHAM,
Jersey Journal.
Written for the Associated Press.

PT. PIERCE, Fla., April 9—They say Bill Terry drafted Tony Cucciniello for the post of manager at Jersey City primarily to polish up Sid Gordon, youthful shortstop gem, for a setting in the New York Giants' infield in 1942—if not sooner.

If that's the case, the veteran player-manager has gone the Giants' organization one better. Not only has he justified Terry's foresight, with respect to Gordon, but Cucciniello has done a pretty good job with the rest of the player material furnished him.

In about equal numbers, the 1941 Jersey Giants will be composed of youngsters on the way up and veterans who've been around a long while —and know what it's all about.

Signor Tony has aroused a spirit of camaraderie in his two-tone combination that, at least, assures Jersey city of a hustling, aggressive ball club—if not a pennant prospect. It appears to be strong defensively, if it can't boast of much hitting power.

Nine holdovers, who finished the season under Bert Niehoff last fall, will be back. They are pitchers Frank Pearce, Bill Harris, Hugh East, Hal Feldman and Roy Henshaw. Rae Blaemire, catcher; Sid Gordon and Del Young, infielders, and Allen (Dusty) Cooke and Hershel Martin, outfielders.

Anticipating the dearth of farm products, the Giant brain-trusters resorted to the open market and player draft for much needed enforcements. In addition, they sent a few players from the parent club. The drag-net paid off with a varied assortment of players, a majority of whom were battle-scarred veterans. Millburn (Lefty) Shoffner, who pitched for the old Jerseys in 1928-9, was purchased from the Cincinnati Reds. Bill Atwood, who caught for Bert Niehoff's 1939 pennant winners while on option from the Phillies, was bought from the same club. Young, second baseman for Nelhoff last season on option from the Phillies, also became the property of the Jerseys.

Ray Coombs, a pitcher with Shreveport of the Texas League last season, was picked up in the draft. Jack Burns, long a major league first baseman and former manager of the Toronto Leafs was acquired as a free agent when let out by the San Francisco Seals.

Four other newcomers can lay claim to youth. Jack Davis came into the fold, via the draft, from Houston of the Texas League and earned himself a regular berth at third base. Rene Monteagudo, Cuban speedball artist, was purchased from the Washington Senators. To this group is added Jack Brewer, a college pitcher from the University of Southern California, and Blaemire, both farmed out by the parent club the latter for the second time.

Pearce, leading moundsman last season, shows no evidence of losing his 1940 "form." East and Feldman, despite unimpressive records last year, have benefited by a season in the International League, and Coombs has proved himself a smart pitcher. These right handers are booked as starting pitchers, as well as Henshaw and Shoffner, who will start and relieve against picked clubs.

The infield will have Burns at first, Cucciniello at second, Gordon at short and Davis at third, with Young as utility man. Jimmy "Buster" Mayhard will help the outfield when the New York Giants send him along. The catching staff of Blaemire and Atwood is as good as any in the league.

RECORD CROWDS SAW GRAPEFRUIT CONTESTS

By the Associated Press.

TAMPA, Fla., April 9—If attendance at spring training games is any indication, major and minor league baseball gate receipts are due for a substantial increase this season.

A record 173,460 fans turned out for exhibition games in Florida during the training season just ended, the Tribune estimated today, compared with 126,000 last year.

Of these, 123,400 attended the Grapefruit League games of the major league teams, official records showed, while an estimated 50,000 went to minor league exhibitions. Last year the Grapefruit League attendance was 101,000 and the minors attracted an estimated 35,000.

Major league teams training in Florida this year were the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, New York Giants at Miami, Philadelphia Phillies at Miami Beach, Boston Red Sox at Sarasota, Detroit Tigers at Lakeland, Washington Senators at Orlando and Cleveland Indians at Fort Myers.

FOUR SELECTED FOR GOLF HONOR

Jones, Hagen, Sarazen and Ouimet in Hall of Fame.

AUGUSTA WILL BE SITE OF GAME'S SHRINE.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 9—Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Francis Ouimet are the first members of golf's newly-established Hall of Fame.

Creation of the Hall of Fame was announced yesterday by Tom Walsh, president of the Professional Golfers Association, which will sponsor the building of a shrine for the game at Augusta, Ga. The idea follows closely the pattern of the baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The P. G. A. Hall of Fame committee, composed of Grantland Rice, O. B. Keeler, Atlanta Journal; Kerr Petrie, New York Herald Tribune, and A. Lindo Fowler, Boston Transcript, selected Jones, Hagen, Sarazen and Ouimet as the first members. Hereafter, sports writers of the Nation will have complete and final jurisdiction on the persons selected, two each year.

All four, of course, are natural selections for the honor.

Jones, generally recognized in this country as the greatest golfer of all time, won the U. S. Open four times, won five U. S. Amateurs, three British Opens and one British Amateur. He won all four major titles in his famous 1930 "grand slam." Then retired from competitive golf with no more worlds to conquer at the age of 28.

Hagen's prizes include four British Opens, two U. S. Opens and five P. G. A. titles. Sarazen has collected two U. S. Opens, one British Open and three P. G. A. crowns. Ouimet won two Amateur titles and the U. S. Open once—in 1913 when he outlasted Harry Vardon and Ted Ray in a sensational playoff.

Walsh added that membership in the Hall of Fame would not be confined to players, but would be open to "all persons who have contributed to the welfare of the game," even to foreign born golf notables.

The association has designated James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio and Presidential candidate in 1920, as chairman of a committee to raise funds for the shrine at Augusta.

PINEHURST, N. C.—Medalist Dick Chapman, who shot a three-under-par in the qualifying round, paired today against Donald Ritchie of Stamford, Mass., in the first round of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Chapman, National Amateur titlist, putted as well as any time in his career yesterday as he set the pace for 138 starters. He was down in one putt on thirteen greens and finished with twenty-three putts for a 69. Ritchie qualified with a 79.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—With a second-round breakaway, Mrs. Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta went into the final eighteen holes of play in the women's title-holders' tournament today holding a nine-stroke lead over the field.

ANOTHER BOBBY

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, April 9—Fifteen-year-old Bobby Jones, III, son of the former grand-slam champion of golf, will make his tournament debut in the annual Southern prep and high school meet at Chattanooga, Tenn., a few weeks hence.

Weighing nearly 190 pounds and standing about six feet tall, young Bobby already is larger than his famed father.

St. Marys and Elmorans Clash in Rubber Contest

Wind-Up of Title Play-Off Series Slated for Hilltop Court—Crucial Game in Church League Set for Monday Night.

The championship of the Catholic Club Basketball League will be decided tonight when the St. Mary C. C. and the St. Genevieve C. C. meet on the St. Mary High School court. The contest is the third and "rubber" of their final play-off series in which the clubs are even with one victory apiece. Game time is 9:30 o'clock. Another crucial contest is slated Monday night at the Y. M. C. A., with Second Presbyterian pitted against Central Baptist. The Church Federation League second-half title will be at stake.

TWO GAMES TONIGHT.

The Second Presbyterian-Central Baptist tilt originally was scheduled for tomorrow night at Hamilton Junior High School, but was postponed by agreement. A pair of games carded tonight at the "Y" bring Second Presbyterian and Railway Presbyterian at 9 o'clock and Epworth Methodist and St. James Methodist at 10 o'clock. None of the four teams figures in the championship fight.

Another of the thrillers that have marked the play-off series appears in store for Catholic Club League fans who turn out for the "rubber." In each previous game it was the team "on the spot" that fought through to victory. Tonight both are "on the spot" and enter the championship game on exactly even terms.

St. Genevieves, the underdogs when the series opened, came through in the first game to win, 45-41. Then the St. Marys, facing elimination, turned the tables in the return contest by a 37-35 score.

The Elmora quintet, coached by Pius O'Hara, who once coached at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., may be forced to enter tonight's game without Jimmy Coughlin, the high-scoring forward, who missed the last contest because of illness. Then the starting line-up will probably have Eddie Lauerman and Al Scanlon, forwards; "Red" Burke, center; Frank Doherty and Frankie Aid, guards.

Injured Star Returns.

Scanlon, who missed two weeks because of injuries sustained in an automobile accident, was back for the second game of the series. Although his game was visibly "off" as the result of his long lay-off, he nevertheless turned in a creditable performance and is expected to do some damage tonight.

The St. Marys' starting line-up is in doubt. Coach "Bunchy" Grant benched himself for the second game and, strange as it seems, the team appeared to work better without him. The youngsters, forced to depend on themselves, played one of their best games of the year.

So tonight it may be Bill Singer and Joe McNamara, forwards; Jerry Mitchell, center; Grant and "Shorty" Peck, guards. Or it may be Singer and Pete Anselone or Eddie French, forwards; McNamara, center; Mitchell and Peck, guards.

Six teams entered the Church Federation Softball League at the Federation's spring meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. They are Central Baptist, St. James, Epworth Methodist, Second Presbyterian, First Presbyterian and Roselle Park Methodist Central Baptist won the league title last year. First Presbyterian and Roselle Methodist are new to the league.

Entry blanks were distributed for the fourth annual swimming meet to be held at the "Y" on May 3 under the direction of George Peters. The deadline for entry blanks last night indicated this year's meet will follow the successful pattern of its predecessors.

AWARD TO WINSTON.

By the Associated Press.

PRINCETON, April 9—Charles S. Winston, Jr., of Joliet, Ill., high-scoring varsity forward, was awarded the B. Franklin Bunn trophy for "sportsmanship, play and influence in Princeton basketball."

CHAMBERS HEAD OF TENNIS LOOP

N. N. J. T. A. Again Elects Elmoran President.

Hamilton Chambers of the Elmora C. C. was reelected president of the Northern New Jersey Tennis Association last night as the league, heading into its twenty-sixth season, held its first organization meeting at the Bloomfield T. C. Chambers will head the league for the second year. A. D. Pfeil of the Passaic T. C. was elected secretary and Victor Wallter of the Nutley T. C., treasurer.

The delegates chose June 7 as the date for the start of a new campaign. All seven of the clubs which participated last year were represented, and will retain their memberships. They are the Arlington Players' Club, which has won the championship for four successive years; Passaic T. C., Bloomfield T. C., Nutley T. C., Newark F. C., Forest Hills Club and Elmora.

The entry list was held open for a possible eighth member which would provide a balanced schedule. Seven clubs competed last year.

Dates were established for the league's annual singles and doubles championships. The singles will take place August 2 at the Bloomfield T. C. and the doubles August 9 at the Arlington P. C.

Elmora, which finished third in last season's campaign, will engage the Netherwood Club here in a fune-up match on May 25. The local club plans to put two courts in use Saturday and the rest a week later.

ANDREWS WILL DEFEND COUNTY TRAPS HONORS

C. J. Andrews of Plainfield will defend his Union County traps championship Sunday when the annual title tourney is held on the Park Commission's Cranford Range. The event is limited to residents of Union County.

Andrews won last year by breaking forty-nine of fifty targets. The same course and program will be used Sunday. Shooting will start at 2 o'clock.

AL SCHACHT TO DIRECT BEARS' BASEBALL SHOW

Al Schacht, baseball's famous clown, will be master of ceremonies at the baseball show in the Mosque Theater, Newark, next Tuesday night in honor of the Newark Bears. The show will follow a street parade of baseball teams and fans, welcoming the International League ball club, on its return from camp to open the league playing season.

Any school, semi-pro, industrial or amateur team wishing to take part in the parade may arrange to do so by contacting Joseph F. Walker, acting superintendent of recreation, at City Hall here. Seats for the baseball show will be reserved for paraders.

Infield Talent Shortage

There seems to be a boom market on infielders as the teams of the Union County Baseball League get ready for their fifteenth campaign.

Westfield is hunting for a first baseman and maybe a shortstop, and the Elizabeth A. A. is looking for a first sacker, all four positions are open at Garwood and even the champion Linden A. A. is sure of only Chick Bouska at second base.

Linden seems most seriously in trouble, for it was the champion's fine infield of Al Kasmin at first, Eddie Kasmin at short, Swackie Dunham at third and Bouska that played a big role in bringing Linden the National ABC title in 1939 and two U. C. League championships in a row.

Nemeth, long-range slugger and nifty fielder, is considering an offer from Birmingham of the Southern Association. Kasmin is slated to report to the Appleton, Wis., team, a Class D Cleveland farm, and the veteran Dunham slowed up last year and may be replaced, according to Manager Joe Dilbatis.

Westfield, weak at third base last year, must plug this gap, and also get a top-flight catcher if the team is to capitalize on its acknowledged strength. But Manager Marty Burke is also worrying bout Johnny Danzo, his stellar but temperamental shortstop, who is not yet definitely in the fold.

Manager Johnny Banyasz of Garwood hopes to use a flock of Upsala College tossers on his team this year. Garwood has used members of the Viking teams often in the past, but has had trouble keeping them once classes were over. Now he says he's figured out a plan that should be workable all season.

Westfield has a new pitching prospect in big Paul Satterthwaite, a local boy who graduated from Duke University last spring like a hefty, ski-feet, three-inches of muscle, and won his letter in college.

Manager George Cushing of the Elizabeth A. A. will call his ball players together Monday at a buffet lunch at the Winfield Scott Hotel. Plans will be talked over. The E. A. A. used Newark players largely last season, but unless different terms can be made with them this spring, according to Cushing, he will field a team of local youngsters.

They're having "inward trouble" already in the ranks of the Plainfield Bears. John "Whitey" Siergiej is heading a recalcitrant faction not satisfied with the current set-up, we are informed by a club official.

There will be plenty of baseball for Roselle citizens this summer, with the Roselle B. A. C. of the Intra-County League and the new Roselle Republicans, U. C. L. entry, alternating at Simpson and Washington fields.

Esso Bowlers Sew Up Industrial Circuit Title by Win Over Singer Team

Oilers Bag First Game By Lone Pin to Clinch

Split in Last Frame Helps Wipe Out Singer Lead—Losers Avoid Sweep Defeat to Finish Race in Second Place.

Defeating second-place Singer by a single pin in a thrill-packed opening game the Esso bowlers clinched the championship of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial League last night. Thus at the very outset of this tell-tale final match for both teams, in which Singer needed a sweep to retain the crown and Esso but one game to clinch, did the Refiners put over the crusher Esso went on to take the second game, too, but Singer grabbed the third to save second place. The largest bowling crowd of the season at the "Y" crammed every foot of space.

ESSOS IN RALLY.

League bowlers and followers will be talking for weeks about what might have happened had Singer, which had a lead of almost eighty pins midway in that first game, been able to win it. Perhaps the Singermen might have gone on to the sweep they needed. In any event, Singer was a demoralized team in the second game and was beaten by nearly 100 pins.

After the middle frames of that opener Esso began to chop down the Singer lead until finally, as the teams swung into the last frame, the margin had been cut to twenty-seven pins. Going down the line Eddie Renaud, Singer No. 3, had a miss, which made it very close. But coming up to the anchor-men, Singer seemingly had the game in hand. All the experienced Mike Schaeffer needed was a spare in the last frame to win. Tommy Cashman, Esso anchor, had already finished up; Schaeffer sent his ball down and banged into the 6-7-10 split. That was the ball game.

Essex Lodge's hope of overtaking Verhalage in the Masonic League faded to almost nothing last night when Anze won two games from the second-place team. Vehalage now leads by six games in the "lost" column, with nine to go.

A pair of records were set in the Industrial League. The Edisons rolled 1021, 1028 and 1,019 for a 3,070 record team total, and George Hays of the Streamlines rolled a 279 for high single game in the Class B division. Hays missed the No. 7 pin in the fourth.

Rahway Bowling Notes.

Al Spader set a new high three-game mark in Merck League when he rolled 692 for an average of 230.2. Other high averages: R. Cornell, 216.2; Smolar, 201.2; F. Nadler, 200.1; J. Cornell, 199.2. Best games: Koelbl, 223; Grone, 219; Woodford, 303; Drexler, 202.

In the Rahway Recreation Women's Social League Mary Albrecht registered 211 for high game. Best averages were made by Alice Baughman, Dorothy Crow, Marie Breslin, Mary Albrecht.

The Rahway "Y" Women's Bowling Club defeated the Prudential Girls, Newark, two out of three games. Rahway women rolled 779, 749, 819; Pru Girls, 655, 783, 734.

Lester Price set the pace in the Rahway Inter-County League with an average of 201.2 and big game of 226, leading the Y. M. H. A. to two-game victory over Dugans 2. A sweep was made by Dugans 1 over Rex Motor Club. Rocchietti averaged 194; Connolly, 187.2.

CAMDEN RACING SITE INSPECTED

Commissioners Take Look, Make No Commitments.

Special to the Journal.

TRENTON, April 9.—A preliminary inspection of a proposed horse-racing site in Delaware Township, Camden County, was made yesterday by the State Racing Commission, but no immediate prospects for a track in that section have appeared.

The commission did not comment on the possibility of a track in Delaware Township, which has been proposed by the Camden Park Racing Association, but Fred Ryan, secretary, said the 360-acre site "is a good looking spot of land."

The land is located on Route 40, six miles east of Camden.

Ryan said, however, that the commission was making "no commitments."

At the present time a provisional permit has been granted to the New Jersey Jockey Club for a track at the Seaview Golf Club, near Atlantic City.

Two other track applications also are before the commission, one for a site near Long Branch, and another for a new Atlantic City site.

Yesterday's inspection of the Camden Park Association's land was requested by H. M. Ward, Philadelphia realtor, who last July filed an application in behalf of the association.

The commission inspected the area last fall and made the reinspection when it learned that additional land had been acquired.

ERRORS FOIL ANDERSON AS TIGERS BEAT RAMS

Special to the Journal.

PRINCETON, April 9.—A six-hit game by Pitcher Bob Anderson went to waste yesterday afternoon when two errors behind him allowed Princeton to win, 4-3, over the Fordham University baseball team on University Field here. The Rams' junior hurler from Cranford went the route as his team met its first defeat in three games. He struck out five and passed one.

Princeton trailed, 2-0, until Pitcher Roy Talcott's infield grounder sent home Bill McCoy in the 6th inning. The Fordham shortstop, Jackie Hearn, of New Brunswick, threw wildly on the play and two more runs scored. In the seventh inning Anson Perins, of Irvington, scored the ultimate winning run on another error by Hearn.

BRUINS REPEAT OVER RED WINGS

Closing Rally Gives Boston Second Series Victory.

RESUME FIGHT FOR CUP ON DETROIT ICE.

By the United Press

BOSTON, April 9.—Solidly entrenched behind a two-game lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup hockey final series, the Boston Bruins headed for Detroit today with the Red Wings to resume their series tomorrow night.

The Bruins made it two straight over the Wings last night by scoring a 2-1 victory before 15,000 fans at Boston Garden.

Boston rallied with two goals in the game's final seven minutes to win after Detroit, superior on offense for most of the first two periods, scored at 2:41 of the third session. Modere Bruneteau, right wing, scored for Detroit on passes from Syd Howe and Johnny Orlando.

Rookie Terry Reardon equalized for Boston at 13:45 of the same period with a short shot from the right side into the left corner. Defenseman Desse Smith started the thrust by carrying to the backboards where Winger Herb Cain collected the disc and passed to Reardon.

Winger Roy Conacher scored the deciding tally at 17:45 to preserve Boston's unbeaten record against the Wings this season. The Bruins now have five wins and five ties against Detroit.

Conacher's shot came on a perfectly-timed play set up by Center Milt Schmidt who passed to the fast-moving Winger Conacher raced in on Rookie Goalie Johnny Mowers and shot from about ten feet out. It was a terrific drive that penetrated a narrow opening to Mowers' left.

Defenseman Flash Hollett joined the growing list of patched-up Boston players when Carl Liscombe broke a stick over his head late in the first period. Hollett received a stitch and Liscombe drew a major penalty, one of three during the game.

Mowers took time out briefly in the second period after Bobby Bauer kneed him on the head in a pile-up.

The fourth game of the series will be played at Detroit on Saturday night and, if required, other games will be played alternately at Boston and Detroit.

J., in the fifth round of a six-round preliminary bout at the Westchester County Center last night. In the eight-round main bout George Martin, 143½, of Boston, defeated Milo Theodorescu, 147½, of Rumania.

Just About Dogs

Even Layman Will Appreciate Standout Qualities Of Some U. C. K. C. Dog Show Entries.

By ARTHUR F. BEERS.

A man won't have to be a dog expert to enjoy himself Sunday at the Union County Kennel Club show in the Elizabeth Armory. All he needs is a liking for dogs, and the rest will be taken care of. On the benches will be some magnificent specimens, dogs that even the layman will be able to single out at a glance as something extraordinary in dogflesh. Almost every breed will have its champions, on display all day.

GREAT WHIPPET.

One of the dogs worth more than a casual glance will be the sensational whippet, Ch. Flornell Glamorous, owned by Mrs. George A. Anderson of Glen Head, L. I. Whippets, famed as racing dogs and faster afoot than greyhounds over short distances, have not often done much at bench shows, where beagles and dachshunde usually hog the hound honors.

Yet, so good is this Flornell Glamorous that not only has it taken innumerable best of hound-group awards, but has won best in show honors, an almost unheard-of feat for a whippet. Mrs. Anderson's dog received the best in show at Pittsburgh at one of the country's big shows. When show visitors look at Glamorous Sunday, they'll be looking at the best whippet of the day, beyond question.

Cocker spaniels are the most popular dogs in the United States, and are admired by almost every one. There will be dozens of fine cockers in the Armory, notable among them Ch Blackstone Brucie, owned by Leonard J. Buck, of New York City. Blackstone Brucie was best of breed in the Atlantic City K. C. show Saturday.

Among the most photographed of dogs are the poodles, those snowy-white dogs trimmed, combed and powdered to perfection before they are taken in the ring. One of them, Blakeen Jung Frau, was best of breed in the Armory in 1938, winning the big prize for Mrs. Sherman Hoyt of Katonah, N. Y. Mrs. Hoyt will try to repeat with other fine dogs Sunday, notably Blakeen Elger, which has won the non-sporting group many times and holds some best in show wins.

Bloodhound Champion.

Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge of Madison, the sportswoman whose kennels are perhaps the largest in the United States, has sixteen entries here, and among them is a bloodhound champion, one of the few in this now rare breed. Its name is Giralda's Dinah, and it will be on view Sunday. So, too, will Mrs. Dodge's champion greyhound, Giralda's Cornish Man.

Bulldogs always have great crowd-appeal, and at least two specially fine ones are entered. They are Ch. Berton's Jack Tar, owned by Wallace L. Benjamin of Arlington, Mass., and Ch. Bollerhill, owned by Mrs. Horace Birch of Denville.

If your fancy runs to toy dogs, don't miss Ch. Moneybox Gold Coin, owned by Mrs. Vincent Matta of Long Island, who owns the best-known American "Pom" kennels. Moneybox Gold Coin, long since a champion, was best of breed at Madison Square Garden last February, and has never been defeated for best of breed.

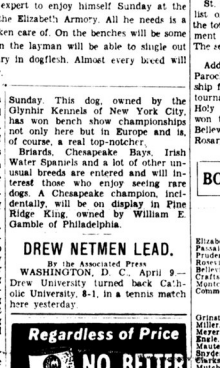

Wire-haired fox terriers have a host of admirers among laymen, who about not miss Hostess Queen Agnes of Glynhir if they are in the Armory Sunday. This dog, owned by the Glynhir Kennels of New York City, has won bench show championships not only here but in Europe and is, of course, a real top-notcher.

Briards, Chesapeake Bays, Irish Water Spaniels and a lot of other unusual breeds are entered and will interest those who enjoy seeing rare dogs. A Chesapeake champion, incidentally, will be on display in Pine Ridge King, owned by William E. Gamble of Philadelphia.

LOUIS WELL PAID

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—Joe Louis was paid $17,468.52 for the sixteenth successful defense of his heavyweight boxing title last night.

Tony Musto, the defeated challenger, was paid 15 per cent, or $6,550.70.

Mike Jacobs, co-promoter, announced the gross receipts as $53,595.50 and the official paid attendance as 17,472.

ENTRIES SWELL SOFTBALL LOOPS

Eight More Clubs Join City League—Two in AA.

Recreation softball took a big jump ahead last night when eight additional teams joined the ranks during an enthusiastic meeting at the City Hall Hanks of the City AA League, fastest of the circuits, grew to six teams when the Rough Riders and St. Patricks entered the fold. For the Class A or Class B loops, their classification to be determined later, newcomers were the Pilots, Unknowns, Devil Dogs, Regals, Quakers and St. Stans.

Additional teams were also registered for the Linden Recreation Leagues. The biggest jump was registered in the Industrial League, which now has thirteen teams. Du Pont, Esso, Cities Service, General Motors, Simmons and General Aniline were placed in Class A and Artistic Wire, Morey La Rue, Lidgerwood, Gordon, Gin, Plaskon, H. Baron and Lawrence Engineering in Class B. The Mobsters and Don Juans filed in Class A.

The Gross brothers, Emanuel and Morris, both of whom have been called in the selective service drawing, were guests of honor last night at a spaghetti dinner in La Polla's, 621 Third avenue, held by the Union County Softball Umpires Association. Both are members of the group. Emanuel is to leave shortly for his one-year term of service. Morris, a physical education student at Seton Hall College, has been deferred until the close of the school year in June.

In addition to the Gross brothers, the association lost one other member to the draft army, Nelson Phillips was among the first to be called. Lou Farkas, who drew No. 158, first to be picked in the draft pool, was excused because of dependents. Farkas and young Jake Aboff were considered most improved among the association's twenty-five last season.

The officers of the group, which reviewed its first year of existence last night, are Rocco Flammia, president; Harry Dingman, vice-president; Anthony Siano, secretary; Michael Ciurczak, treasurer, and Frank McGinley, assigner. Siano, succeeding Emanuel Gross, is the only new executive, the others having been reelected.

MUSTO STOPPED IN NINTH ROUND

Chicago Boxer Gives Louis Rugged Opposition.

FLOORED ONLY ONCE IN ST. LOUIS BATTLE.

By PAUL DIX.

United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—They grow tougher by the month for Bomber Joe Louis.

In the midst of a "victim-a-month" campaign among the lesser lights of the heavyweight division, he ran into tough Tony Musto of Chicago last night and went into the ninth round before his devastating attack finally caused Referee Arthur Donovan to halt the slaughter.

But the cheers of 17,456 spectators were all for Musto, a comparative unknown, who absorbed a terrific beating and asked no quarter. No matter how often Louis smashed his open target he was unable to score a knockout.

Donovan finally ended the bout after one minute, thirty-six seconds of the ninth round, when Musto, battered and bleeding, was unable to see the champion.

Like huge Abe Simon, who stayed on his feet long after the experts had expected him to fold up, Musto was forcing Louis when the end came.

It was the fifth successful defense in as many months for Louis and he will attempt another one in May against Simon. Either Billy Conn or Lou Nova will get a shot at the Bomber in June.

In all, Louis has defended his title sixteen times since he won it by knocking out James J. Braddock in June, 1937.

Although the outcome was a foregone conclusion, promoters Mike Jacobs and Tom Packs reported a total gate of $52,893. It was a record boxing crowd for St. Louis.

Joe had the fight all his own way except for a few moments when Musto, by sheer bullishness, managed to break through and land telling blows. Louis received a nick or two on the face and his nose was bleeding slightly at the end. Otherwise he was unhurt.

Louis had trouble finding the range on the squat challenger and was puzzled for a time by Musto's bobbing style. There was only one knockdown. In the third round, Louis slammed home a left hook that sent the challenger to the canvas. He was up before Donovan could begin his count.

It was Louis in the fourth and fifth, but Musto in the sixth, as the "human tank" made his last bid for glory. After Musto's one-round flurry Louis opened up in the seventh with rights and lefts to the head. Tony began to bleed badly and newsmen at ringside were showered with blood at every blow Louis landed.

Tony didn't want to quit when Donovan queried him between the eighth and ninth rounds. So out he came for the last chance and Louis showed no mercy.

"He was," Joe admitted, "a tough boy."

PAROCHIAL NINES GET KNUTE ROCKNE TROPHY

The Knute Rockne Club of Elizabeth will present the winner of the Parochial Grammar schools Baseball League with a championship trophy at the conclusion of this year's campaign, it was announced last night at a league meeting at City Hall.

St. Michael School was added to the list of entries last night, increasing the total to seven teams. Blessed Sacrament is a probable eighth member. The season will open April 20.

Additional entries for the city Parochial Schools marbles championship finals were qualified yesterday at tournaments held at St. Mary and Holy Rosary Schools. Joe Ryan, 13, won the St. Mary tourney and Leo Bellew, 10, was the victor at Holy Rosary.

ZIVIC "ON SPOT"

By the United Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Suspension of Welterweight Champion Fritzie Zivic by the New York State Boxing Commission becomes effective six days from today unless he posts two $2,000 forfeits to guarantee going through with scheduled fights against Tony Martellano in New York and Phil Furr in Philadelphia.

The commission went into action against Zivic at its meeting yesterday afternoon, following a personal appeal by Chairman Leon Rains of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

GALENTO LOSES TO BUDDY BAER

Tony Claims Broken Hand in Technical Knockout.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—His comeback attempt smashed by Buddy Baer's methodical jabbing and a superwhat mysterious injury to his once potent left hand, Tony Galento was just another bandaged-up heavyweight fighter today.

Tony, claiming his hand was broken, quit after six rounds of a scheduled ten-rounder with Baer last night, and Buddy, the Livermore, Cal., giant, was awarded a seventh-round technical knockout.

Dr. Marvin McLean, District of Columbia Boxing Commission physician, examined the badly-beaten Galento's hand in the ring as fans and officials crowded around. Dr. McLean refused to confirm Galento's claim of a break or serious injury. Galento's purse was held up pending an X-ray examination.

The commission announced an inquiry would be started to determine whether Galento was able to continue the fight.

Tony landed his left hand on Baer's face just before he went to his corner at the end of the sixth yelling he was hurt. One of his handlers started to remove Tony's glove and when the bell rang for the seventh Referee Eddie Lafond awarded the fight to Baer.

The New Jersey barkeep was bleeding from the nose and numerous small cuts about the face from the third round on. In the sixth, when Baer landed a score of painful jabs and twice jarred Galento with right uppercuts, Tony looked ready to call it a night.

Left and right jabs and occasional uppercuts, not of the knockout variety, were about all Buddy showed, but the Californian kept Galento at a distance after the second round through his eleven-inch advantage in reach. Baer, a 6 foot 6 inch 240-pounder, gave away seven pounds to Galento.

Tony started the bout with his usual two-hand charge, driving Baer to the ropes with a pair of straight rights and two left hooks. Buddy covered up better in the second, which ended even, and went on to win the next four rounds.

Galento tired after the second. And discarding his famed routine, Tony never once called Buddy, or anybody else, a "bum."

About 8,500 spectators paid approximately $25,000 to see the fight.

CLEVELAND LAD TAKES P. S. A. A. TABLE TENNIS

In semi-finals, Glassner eliminated Jack Seeland of Lafayette, 15-10, 15-8, while Hornstein put out Leroy Smith of Roosevelt, 15-6, 15-3.

In Memoriam

HOELZEL—In memory of Mrs. Lena Hoelzel, who passed away April 9, 1940.
A light is from our household gone
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home.
Which never can be filled.
Sage may it be that you are forgotten.
Though on earth you are no more;
But in our hearts you will be
As you always were before.
—A FRIEND.

KLEMPA—In sad and loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Ela Klempa, who died April 9, 1936.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid.
One who was better could never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true.
One in a million—that mother, was you.
Just in your judgement, always right.
Pleasant and liberal, ever upright.
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.
Our wonderful mother—that mother was you.

LANDMARK RAZED.

A part of the two-family house at 1842-44 Front street is being razed, preparatory to the repairing and remodeling of the structure into modern apartments. The early part of the house, which was added to at various times and which eventually was converted into a two-family dwelling, was built many years ago. It is lined with brick and beams in part of the house were mortised together without the use use of nails. The big main beams are of rough hewn oak. In removing a kitchen floor workmen discovered a cistern beneath it, dating from the time when almost every house in this vicinity had a cistern to hold rain water for laundry, the only other water supply being wells. The property on which the house stands adjoins the Alexander Muir residence and belongs to Mrs. Muir.

The committee voted to contribute $50 to the 1940 Franchise Tax Recovery Committee to help care for the expense of legislation to revamp the franchise tax assessments. The request of Roy H. Kurre for a water main along Martine avenue and into Rita terrace, along with necessary hydrants, was referred to committee. A letter from B. J. Carroll, president of the Maple Hill Farms Association, thanking the township for the efficient manner in which snow removal was handled in that section was received. MEASLES CASES WITHIN AVERAGE

Roselle Park Spread Not in Epidemic Class.

Special to the Journal.

ROSELLE PARK, April 9.—Health authorities here do not consider that this borough has an epidemic of measles, even though the disease is prevalent throughout the State, Charles E. Renton, clerk and registrar of vital statistics, said today.

Twelve new cases of measles have been reported here in the past two days, according to Mr. Renton, who says this is about the average for this period of the year. The March report to the Board of Health showed sixty-one cases of measles and twenty-seven cases of chickenpox among the contagious diseases. Many of these cases have been taken off the records as recovered and the new cases have shown a distinct dropping off in number in comparison.

Clerk Renton also said the Board of Health has a sufficient supply of quarantine cards on hand, with more available at its Union County Health Unit No. 1, Union, of which Roselle Park is a participating municipality.

Due to recent action of the Board of Health, quarantine cards now are posted for cases of measles, chickenpox and scarlet fever.

"True Friend and Wise Counselor"

Dorothy Dix

"The Big Sister of the Troubled and Perplexed"

Boys, if you want to be happy though married: DON'T marry until you are ready to marry. Don't let any girl float you to the altar on her tears, or jockey you into taking that fateful trip by her pleadings and protestations of affection, or bluff you into facing the person by her threats. Wait until you are prepared to take the responsibility of supporting a family. The boy who gives up his profession to marry in his teens always regrets it. So does his wife. The trouble with marrying on a shoestring is that it nearly always breaks.

DON'T marry for beauty. That is bound to be a losing bet because no woman can escape the ravages of time. Bad health, a few years of just the ordinary routine of living, child-bearing and rearing, and work and worry, and the roses have faded on the fairest cheek, gray has crept into the most golden hair, the most lissom figure has lost its allure. Then, if there was nothing but a pretty face to start with, if there was no character nor intelligence, what have you?

DON'T marry for money. The hardest way any man ever makes a dollar is by marrying it, for he has to earn it by walking the dog, running errands, taking orders and doing the things his boss wants him to do instead of the things he wants to do himself.

DON'T marry for anything but love. Marriage means a life sentence at hard labor for most men. It means giving up their personal liberty. It means adapting themselves to a woman's whims and peculiarities. It means spending the money they earn by the sweat of their brows on beauty parlors and satin slippers and party dresses and baby doctors and schools and colleges instead of on fishing trips and fine rods and vacations for themselves. And nothing but loving someone better than you do yourself makes it worthwhile.

DON'T marry a girl who doesn't come of good, honest stock. Think as much of the pedigree of your children as you do that of your dog. There is just as much difference between thoroughbred people and scrubs as there is between that of other animals.

DON'T marry a boxer. If you want to avoid getting a wife who will make you say "yes ma'am" to her, watch her in her own home. If she runs that, you can be very certain she would run yours. If her mother and father are afraid of her and her little brothers and sisters jump when she speaks, there isn't a chance that her husband won't be one of the meek little henpecked men who always walk about two yards behind their wives and sit where they tell them to.

DON'T marry a girl who hasn't a load of good, hard, horse sense. If a girl has that, she will take all the knocks of married life and come up smiling. You will never hear her complaining about the monotony of domesticity and being tied down by children. She will make the kind of a wife that a husband can depend upon to play with him through good times and fight at his side through bad times.

DON'T marry a cutie just because she rolls her eyes at you and asks adorably silly questions. If a girl is a little nitwit before marriage, she will be a bigger nitwit after marriage, and it won't be so funny when she doesn't know any of the things she should know. The only woman who is utterly hopeless as a wife is the fool.

DON'T marry a reformer. If a girl shows a passion for changing the ways of the heathen, walk high, wide and handsome around her. If you marry her, you will be the next victim. She'll go in for home missionary work.

DON'T marry any girl with whom you can't carry on a conversation about general topics of human interests. Husbands and wives can't spend thirty or forty years asking each other "Oose dovie is oo." They have to be able to talk about books, world events, politics, 100 different subjects, or else they bore each other to tears. It is wives with a conversational range that only runs from the kitchen to the nursery who set husbands roaming.

DON'T marry Mother's pet. She will expect you to be a slave to her, and the first time you treat her as if she were an adult woman she will go back to mother and sue you for divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.

Finally, boys, DON'T marry any girl who doesn't know how to cook and keep house. No matter how beautiful a girl is, no matter how talented, no matter how sweet and amiable, you won't be happy with her if you marry her unless she feeds you well.

The Function of B Complex.

Moderate insufficiency of vitamin B intake may account for a great many familiar complaints. Among the effects of moderate B deficiency (and of course when B deficiency occurs it is always B complex deficiency) is gastric atony and intestinal atony or weakness and loss of tone in the muscle coat of stomach and intestine. A common manifestation of gastric atony is a craving or demand for a larger amount of food, particularly carbohydrates, to satisfy the sense of fullness, if not the papetite, and so persons with moderate B complex deficiency often eat too much of the very class of foods (carbohydrate) which, as composed largely of white flour and white sugar, other refined cereals and syrups, provide little or no vitamins. And so, as it seems to me, the more they eat the more they want to eat of the kind of foods they do not need. Figures do not lie. Not that these victims of moderate prolonged B complex shortage are all too fat — many of them are just flabby and weak and lack only the vigor to maintain good posture.

In some sections of the southern States where pellagra is prevalent the deficiency may be mainly insufficient riboflavin and or insufficient riboflavin (vitamin G or vitamin B2 as it was formerly known) intake, but in every case, practically, there are signs or symptoms due to insufficient intake of other factors or entities of the natural B complex.

The function of B complex is to promote and maintain health and vigor. If the daily intake is adequate it will prevent or help correct the many troubles now recognized as commonly if not invariably due to B complex shortage, such as the following:

Slow growth, transverse ridging, spooning, pitting and brittleness of the nails. Juvenile anemia and so-called cachexia scholastica. Hypochromic anemia in adult women. Simple anemia in many instances. Indigestion and weak digestion. Atonic constipation and later spastic constipation or so-called "mucous" colitis. Poor circulation from weak heart muscle and weak arterial muscle coat. Retarded growth and development in children. Tongue appearing sharp or pointed and glazed or shiny red, instead of wide and rounded at the tip. Palpitation on exertion.

For normal folk or those with few indications of nutritional deficiency I advise a daily ration of not less than 1,500 units of vitamin D and vitamin B complex representing not less than 300 units of thiamin (B1), to supplement the ordinary diet. For people who have evident manifestations of nutritional deficiency I advise not less than twice these amounts of B complex and D as a regular daily supplement for the diet.

Of course such restoration of the essential vitamins to the diet will not cure conditions not due to vitamin deprivation. But it is remarkable how many everyday complaints which are as yet perhaps not serious enough to make one seek medical aid, do respond to simple vitamin feeding.

Stamina, second wind, resiliency, buoyant health, recuperative capacity, reserve power, resistance, vitality, good condition, fine fettle—it doesn't matter what you call it as long as you call it vite.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Dampness.

Live in flat with two children, 1½ and 3 years old. It is very damp. Will it hurt them, as I have heard you get rheumatic fever? (Mrs. P. C.)

Answer—It may not be as comfortable as a dryer place would be, but I assure you dampness never causes any illness. Send for monograph on "Air Conditioning"—inclose stamped envelope bearing your address. Trouble with most dwellings throughout the season when artificial heating, is necessary, is that they are too dry, that is, the air is too dry.

Humbug.

Article in magazine tells of a new anemia cure which is rubbed on and quickly absorbed by the skin. This seems to refute your theory. (W. N. R.)

Answer—But it doesn't refute the theory of P. T. Barnum. My skin is still available to any responsible person or group who may be willing to wager my skin can be made to absorb any medicine, food, drug or poison. Of course I'm a thick-skinned animal, but it is the best I can do. I can't offer any one else's skin for the test.

Your Kitchen Needs Told by Expert

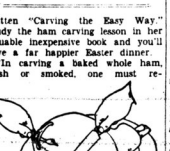

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Service Staff Writer.

Baked ham is a traditional Easter Sunday dish. Fragrant, tender, smooth and sweet, it deserves perfect carving.

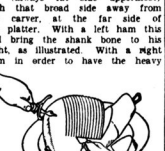

Lily Haxworth Wallace, a noted American writer on food, has just written "Carving the Easy Way." Study the ham carving lesson in her valuable inexpensive book and you'll have a far happier Easter dinner.

"In carving a baked whole ham, fresh or smoked, one must remember that there will be a right and a left, though of course this makes absolutely no difference to the quality of the meat.

Flatten one side.

"As shown in bottom drawing, the bone runs right through the ham but a little off center and as the broad or heavier side gives the best and choicest cuts, the ham should be placed on the platter (always fat side uppermost) with that broad side away from the carver, at the far side of the platter. With a left ham this will bring the shank bone to his right, as illustrated. With a right ham in order to have the heavy meaty side uppermost or toward the rear of the platter the shank bone will be at the carver's left.

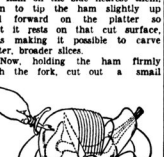

Cut slices to bone.

Method I.

"Insert the fork firmly in the ham at whatever point will give you, individually, the best and firmest control of that ham—with some this may mean far to the left, with others nearer the point at which the actual carving is done.

"Some carvers like, in the very beginning, to cut three or four thin slices parallel to the length of the ham on the side nearest them, then to tip the ham slightly up and forward on the platter so that it rests on that cut surface, thus making it possible to carve better, broader slices.

"Now, holding the ham firmly with the fork, cut out a small thick (or wedge shaped) slice near the shank bone and lay it aside. Then carve right down from the top surface to the bone and at almost right angles to that bone holding the knife slightly slantwise. Cut several slices, then if necessary run the knife along the bone parallel with it to release these for service. A little of the rich crisp fat should be served with each slice.

Or begin at H-bone.

Method II.

"Some carvers prefer beginning to carve at the thick end of the ham. In such case insert the fork at the left, make the first incision just right or left of the H-bone, depending on whether one is carving a left or a right ham, and work right across from the thick end toward the narrower shank end."

Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When a girl shows you her engagement ring, should you mention the beauty of it, or the size of the stone?

2. Should you ask the carat weight of a friend's diamond?

3. When an acquaintance speaks of his farm should you ask him the number of acres in it?

4. When you meet a young person should you immediately ask him (or her) his father's occupation?

5. Should a woman, in the first few minutes of copversation, tell a new acquaintance what her husband's occupation is?

What would you do if—

A bride shows you through her new house—

(a) Suggest improvements she can make in the future by saying "Later on you can do this and that"?

(b) Admire the house just as it is, without making any suggestions for improvements or saying "It's too bad you don't have this and that"?

Answers.

1. The beauty. The size of the diamond is the conspicuous thing about it.

2. No.

3. No. Some people think that is as personal a question as asking how much money a person has in the bank.

4. No. Though it may be nothing more than friendly interest on your part, it may seem to him that you are trying to place him in a certain cultural or economic level.

5. Not unless there is some reason for doing so.

Renew Quilt Covers.

If you have a quilt that needs a new cover, here's an attractive idea that is easy to carry out. Select good quality crinkled seersucker in a plain color. Cut from glazed chintz or figured linen huge clusters of brilliant flowers and applique onto the seersucker. Three flower clusters would probably be enough, since such designs stand out more strikingly if not overdone. Quilt in a large simple design by hand or with sewing machine.

Serving Waffles.

Waffles usually appeal to most folks as a fitting breakfast sign-off, but give an extra touch by mixing some chopped nuts and dates into the regular waffle batter. Soft brown sugar, butter and spice make a smart topper, very new. And orange sauce goes well with hot waffles for a festive breakfast.

About Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

VEGETABLE GARDENS REQUIRE SUN.

Few city properties are laid out to provide an ideal site for growing vegetables. There are varying reasons why this is true. Usually the small garden has a shade tree or perhaps several shade trees, or the proximity of other buildings, all of which prevent an even distribution of sunlight.

Naturally we do not want to cut down established trees and, of course, we cannot remove garages or our neighbor's house in order to make room for a row of cabbages. But even though our location is not ideal, it should not prevent an effort to grow vegetables, provided we have the time to care for them.

Any bare spot of ground, even as small a plot as 5 by 5 feet, will grow a supply of something in the way of vegetables. It will at least afford the necessary space for a few tomato plants or some radishes and lettuce, with even a little space left over for a plant or two of parsley.

The least size for an all-around garden to give a reasonble supply of vegetables is 20 by 20 feet, and from this size up, but much can be done with a somewhat smaller space.

The one thing we must consider when attempting to grow vegetables of any or all sorts is sunlight. We must have sunlight for at least a portion of the day, the longer the garden can have sun the better.

However, we all know that really good gardens are frequently seen in city back yards which get only a few hours' sun a day. In the Italian sections of our large cities beautiful vegetables are grown each year under most adverse conditions.

If a garden can have full sun from 9 o'clock in the morning until 3 or 3.30 o'clock in afternoon, any of the common vegetables can be grown successfully, even by an amateur. Many of the standard varieties can be grown with even less sun than this. This has been proven by actual experimental test. It is not considered an experiment of dubious results to try to grow vegetables in a partially shady site.

While good soil is best, we can take the soil as we find it and proceed to build it up. This isn't a hard task.

Never attempt to grow vegetables on low ground, where the water collects after rains. In such case all we can do is to improve the drainage or grow something aside from vegetables.

Q. Why are some foods sold in enamel, lined, cans?

A. To prevent discoloration, caused by the chemical reaction between some foods and plain tin.

Q. What is the best way to clean a baby's rubber bathinet?

A. Water and mild soap are generally sufficient to clean rubber goods. Gasoline swells and deteriorates rubber on prolonged contact, but there is no objection to wiping the suface with a cloth moistened in gasoline or carbon tetrachloride, if this is done quickly and the solvent is allowed to evaporate at once.

Home Counselor's Suggestions

By MARY W. ARMSTRONG

Home Demonstration Agent.

Oranges have been so domesticated that today a whole orange or orange juice conjures up no further image than the grocery market. However in their time oranges and other citrus fruits played an important role in the history of nations. In the 1700's the British Parliament adopted a law prescribing lime juice for seamen in the British Navy. From then on the antiscorbutic quality of citru fruit was accepted.

Diets which don't contain an adequate amount of ascorbic acid daily result eventually in bleeding gums, fatigue, a lowered resistance to disease, lack of appetite, tooth decay and declining vitality which evidences itself in a slowness or inability to recover from injuries.

Other powers also were attributed to the orange in the earlier days. In Kiangsu in the eighth century the ladies of nobility played with mandarin oranges so their hands would be scented with the fragrance. It was also reported around 310 B. C. that citrus fruit provided an effective antidote against poison and that they also sweetened the breath.

Although today we do not advocate citrus fruits as a cure all, we do stress their importance in the diet for their vitamin C content. They also supply minerals needed by the body.

When government agencies a few years ago compiled statistics to get a picture of what most people ate during a year, the results were somewhat surprising. It was disclosed that citrus fruits still did not appear regularly enough on the tables of at least forty-five million Americans.

How often do you serve oranges, lemons or grapefruit? Perhaps one of the following recipes might tempt you.

Orange Mint Cocktail.

6 small, rather sour oranges
Powdered sugar
Fresh mint
1 lemon
2 tablespoons pineapple juice
2 tablespoons sugar

Separate the orange into sections and remove the thin skin with a pair of scissors. Chill thoroughly, place in glasses, sprinkle with powdered sugar and add the lemon juice mixed with pineapple juice or sugar. Sprinkle with chopped mint and garnish with an upright sprig of mint in the center of the glass.

Orange Bavarian Cream.

1 ounce (2 tablespoons) granulated gelatin
½ cup boiling water
½ cup cold water
1 cup sugar
1½ cups orange juice
½ to 4 tablespoons lemon juice
A little grated orange rind (may be omitted)

Combine as directed for standard gelatin jelly. When the jelly begins to congeal, fold in one cup of whipping cream beaten to a stiff froth. The jelly may be whipped before adding the cream, if desired. It makes a more delicate product.

All requests for menus, recipes and other information on homemaking problems should be addressed to Mrs. Mary W. Armstrong, home demonstration agent, in care of the Elizabeth Daily Journal, or to her office, Courthouse Tower. The home demonstration service is free to all residents of Union County.

NAZI BLOW AT U. S. AID PREDICTED

Churchill Says Atlantic Holds War Key.

PICTURES GRAVITY OF SITUATION.

Declares Full Help of American Resources Needed — Repeats Warning of Invasion Peril—Also Sees Possibility Hitler May Strike at Turkey or Russian Oil Fields.

By the United Press.

LONDON, April 9. — Prime Minister Winston Churchill today warned that Adolf Hitler's mightiest war effort threatens to sink America's aid-to-Britain and may explode at any moment in an invasion of Britain, an attack on Turkey and a thrust at Russian wheat granaries and oil fields.

Whatever the events in the Balkans, in Africa—where he said that even Egypt may be threatened by Nazi panzer divisions—or elsewhere, Churchill declared that the main theater of war was the battle of the Atlantic.

ATLANTIC HOLDS KEY.

"Everything," said Churchill, "turns on the battle of the Atlantic which is proceeding with growing intensity on both sides."

Never had Churchill stated so emphatically and gravely that Britain's war efforts depends upon full-scale American effort, effort, he said, which in the shipping field, at least, must equal "that prodigy of output accomplished by the Americans in 1918."

He expressed hope, also, that the aid of Eire's sea bases and airfields might ultimately be given Britain.

He said that German submarines and surface raiders are ranging ever further westward toward American shores, seeking to sink America's aid to Britain. He declared that unless this menace is met and defeated "the life of Britain" will be threatened and "the purposes . . . to which the Government and people of the United States have devoted themselves" will be frustrated.

Churchill said that only the full resources of America's shipbuilding industry would enable Britain to carry on full scale warfare into 1942 in the face of the German submarine and surface raider blitz.

He said a disaster would ensue if the Germans succeeded in their attempt to send to the bottom America's much needed war supplies.

The Prime Minister spoke in somber and solemn tone. He was more grave than the House of Commons has seen him at any time since the collapse of France.

He said, German generals chose Britain's battle ground. He added:

1. The battle of the Atlantic where British sea power is challenged.

2. The Balkans where Nazi panzer divisions reached the Aegean at Salonika at 4 A. M. today and may at any moment attack Turkey and drive for the wheat fields of the Ukraine and the Caucasus oil fields.

3. Britain, itself, which at any moment may be invaded.

4. Africa, where only hard British fighting will prevent German recovery of all of Cyrenaica and invasion of Egypt, with the threat to the Suez lifeline which that implies.

Only the gigantic shipping output of the United States, he said, would enable the Britain to maintain a full scale war effort throughout 1942.

Everything turns," he said, "upon the battle of the Atlantic which is proceeding with growing intensity on both sides."

"U-boats," he said, "and surface raiders are ranging ever farther westward and ever nearer the shores of the United States. They constitute a menace which must be overcome if the life of Britain is not to be endangered and if the purposes, may I add, to which the Government and people of the United States have devoted themselves are not to be frustrated.

"It will, indeed, be disastrous," he said, "if the great masses of weapons, munitions and instruments of war of all kinds made with the toil and skill of American hands at the cost of the United States and loaned to us under the aid-to-Britain bill were to sink in the depths of the ocean and never reach the hard pressed fighting line."

Churchill warned that Adolf Hitler may at any time try to invade Britain and also strike at Turkey.

There are many signs," he said, "which point to a great attempt to invade the Province of the Ukraine and the oil fields of the Caucasus as a means of gaining the resources

Release of U. S. Craft Announced by White House—Vessels Being Prepared.

WILL BE TURNED OVER ON THIS SIDE.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The release of ten coast guard cutters to the British was announced today at the White House.

Stephen Early, Presidential press secretary, told reporters the coast guard vessels had not yet been delivered to the English, but were being prepared for the transfer under terms of the lease-lend bill.

He said he preferred not to disclose the names of the cutters but said they were built from 1928 to 1932.

No commercial ships or naval craft are involved in the deal, Early said. Presumably, he added, the cutters will be turned over to British crews on this side of the Atlantic, as was done in the case of fifty destroyers to Britain in exchange for defense base sites.

The vessels will help replenish Britain's vital forces used for maintaining her trans-Atlantic supply lines, but whether additional armed craft will be transferred to England was not indicated. Britain has said that she is badly in need of ships to escort convoys.

The cutters are armed but Early said he thought they had little more than one-pound cannons mounted on them. He said he doubted that additional armament would be placed on the ships before the transfer.

The White House secretary said the cutters were "good boats" that had been in service for some time.

Coast Guard officials declined to

CONDEMNS ROWS BETWEEN UNIONS

Perkins Hits Jurisdictional Blows to Defense.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9. Secretary of Labor Perkins expressed the opinion today that jurisdictional strikes were "most unfortunate at any time" and in defense industry were "not justified."

She made this assertion in response to questions by members of the House Military Committee during the committee's investigation of the defense program.

Defining jurisdictional strikes as those occurring between two unions within one labor organization, she said there were few strikes resulting from conflict between the Congress for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor, and that these could be readily settled through machinery of the National Labor Relations Board.

Before Miss Perkins took the stand, the committee decided to summon J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and J. B. Matthews, chief investigator for the House Committee on un-American Activities, to testify as to the extent of any subversive activity in defense industries. Representative Thomas. Republican, of N-w Jersey, had suggested they be called.

VOTE TO STRIKE AT CLARK PLANT

G. M. Division Walkout Awaits C. I. O. Approval.

By the Associated Press.

RAHWAY, April 9.—Local headquarters of the United Automobile Workers (Congress of Industrial Organization) announced today the employes had voted to strike at the Inland Manufacturing division plant of General Motors in Clark Township, for equalization of wages and higher base pay.

Results of the voting last night, which showed 162 in favor to sixteen against a strike, were forwarded by Local 736 to R. J. Thomas, international U. A. W. president, at Detroit. Work stoppage was delayed pending authorization from Thomas to carry out the strike.

E. E. Bollinger, plant supervisor, declined comment on the strike vote.

Peter Jarvid, international union representative for Region 9, said the union had been negotiating for eight weeks for a base hourly pay of 75 cents. He said the present average was 70 cents and that equal wages were not being paid employes on identical jobs.

Little Defense Work.

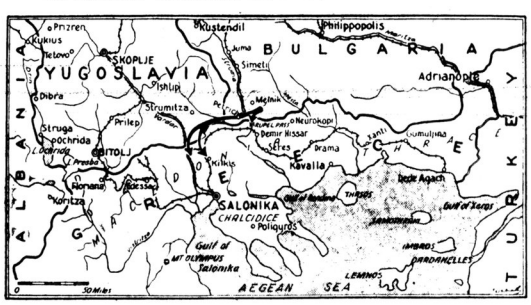

Special to the Journal.

CLARK, April 9.—The public relations department of the General Motors Corporation in New York City today confirmed the announcement by the United Automobile Workers (CIO) that a vote to strike had been taken at the Inland Division here, and awaited approval for a walk out from Detroit headquarters.

Only a small amount of the local work is applice to National defense. Some of this is for army trucks. The plant makes truck steering wheels as well as a diversity of rubber accessories, which are sent to the various assembly plants of the corporation.

The workers demand is for up to 25 cents an hour increase in some classes and a general equalization of pay among the various plant departments. General Motors officials said. The corporation has offered a flat 5 cents an hour increase.

AXIS FORCES CONTINUING GAINS IN LIBYA.

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 9. — British troops have occupied Massaua, chief seaport of Eritrea, virtually completing their conquest of Italian East Africa, the Middle East Command announced today.

The Fascist defenders of the Red Sea port capitulated yesterday, a GHQ war bulletin said, and the Imperial forces quickly moved in.

With the fall of Massaua, the Italians have been routed from all their main bases along the Red Sea and Indian Ocean coasts and the capitals of Mussolini's three East African colonies are in British hands. They are Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Asmara, Eritrea; and Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland.

In addition, the British have recaptured Berbera, capital of British Somaliland, which the Italians had seized early in the African war.

Axis Gains In Libya.

ROME, April 9.—German and Italian forces are continuing their advance across Libya from captured Derna in pursuit of retiring British forces, the Fascist High Command announced today.

Mopping up of the "vast region" recaptured by the advancing Axis armies is proceeding rapidly, the daily war bulletin declared.

Recapture of Derna announced by the High Command yesterday, was said to have been the result of a "brilliant maneuver" which overcame the resistance of British mechanized units who had reached south of that port.

German warplanes, the Italians said, were lending effective aid in the Libyan operations, bombing and machine-gunning British columns.

ITALY ASKS U. S. RECALL ATTACHE

Demand for Military Aide to Leave Rome Seen Reprisal for Request for Lais To Quit America.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9—Italy today demanded the recall of the American assistant military attache in Rome in apparent reprisal for the action of the United States in forcing the withdrawal of the Italian naval attache from this country.

The State Department announced that the Italian Government had made the request for the withdrawal of Captain William C Bentley in the same note in which it complied with the American request for withdrawal of Admiral Alberto Lais, the Italian naval attache here.

The text of the State Department announcement:

Naval Base Hit Hard For Second Straight Night.

LONDON, April 9.—Powerful forces of British bombers raided the German naval base at Kiel again last night, also attacked Bremerhaven and Emden, and bombed oil tanks at Rotterdam, the Air Ministry said today.

The raid on Kiel, aided by favorable weather, was described as "even more impressive" than the assaults on the preceding night. The British acknowledged, however, that the night's forays had cost them five planes.

County Engineer May Take Road Supervisor Post.

A successor to Herman Kling of Plainfield, deceased supervisor of Union County roads, probably will be announced by the Board of Freeholders tomorrow afternoon. Courthouse circles reported today that the choice will be County Engineer Fon C. Collins, of 126 Park street, Westfield. There would be no surprise, however, if the assistant county engineer, George Rich, gets the position.

Both the road job and the engineer's post pay $7,000 per year.

Earlier, it had been hinted that Rich, who lives at 234 Edgar place, this city, definitely would be shifted to the position made vacant by Kling's recent death at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium. Instead, it is said, Rich may succeed Collins.

Rich now earns $4,600 a year and is experienced in the road department as an associate of the freeholders' road committee which Charles L. Bauer, Jr. heads. This lent credence to reports he would land the road post. Bauer recently returned from a Southern vacation, during which definite action on Kling's successor was deferred.

Advantage of the move, Collins is said to believe, is that the road supervisor's post carries tenure of office for men who qualify as engineers and World War veterans. Collins fits these characteristics. As county engineer he is subject to periodic reappointment.

The question of whether the road supervisorship requires an engineer's rating has been plaguing the freeholders for several days, in view of the ambition of Freeholder Alfred C. Brooks, of Rahway, to obtain the job himself and quit the hurly-burly of competing for reelection every three years.

By-laws of the board require that an engineer be chosen for the job and, it is reported, there was a recent move to prevent any change in them which would permit appointment of Brooks. Six freeholders, it is said, are committed to vote "no" should Brooks and his supporters attempt to change

"METAXAS LINE" FORTS SMASHED

Greek Defenders Fight Stubbornly But Berlin Reveals Eastern Wing of Army Is Forced to Capitulate Between Salonika and Turkish Frontier—Panzer Divisions Smash Farther On In Vardar Valley—British Troops Not Yet In Action, Athens Reports Say.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 9.—The powerful Nazi army has smashed its way clear down the Vardar River valley, captured Salonika and forced the surrender of the whole eastern wing of the Greek army between Salonika and the Turkish border, the High Command announced today.

Other German forces have taken Skoplje and Veles, Yugoslavia, and are advancing rapidly toward the Albanian border and junction with Italian forces after taking Tetovo and Prilep, the High Command said.

TAKE RAIL TOWN.

Farther north in Yugoslavia, a communique said, German armored troops captured the vital railroad city of Nis, while others took Maribor and crossed the Drava River.

In Northeastern Greece, a communique said, panzer divisions driving south from Bulgaria captured the town of Xanthe, thirty miles northwest of the port of Kavallo, and advanced from there to the shores of the Aegean Sea.

Many of the Greek soldiers who surrendered had fought desperately in the Struma River valley, trying to stem the crushing German advance which broke through the expensive string of fortifications known as "The Metaxas Line," after the late Premier General John Metaxas.

The first official report here of the successful German advance came in a high command statement earlier which said the armored forces had driven a wedge southward from Yugoslavia, cutting off the Yugoslavs from British or Greek reinforcements and taking more than 20,000 prisoners.

To the south, the war bulletin said, German troops drove past Lake Doiran in Southeastern Yugoslavia, and into Greek territory.

Mountain and infantry divisions under Field Marshal General Siegmund Wilhelm List, supported by dive bombers, were credited with the break-through into Yugoslavia and Greece.

(Dispatches from Athens said one German division striking down the Vardar Valley cut off Northeastern Greece and trapped Greek defense forces in the Struma River line farther east. Reliable sources in London said German troops had entered Salonika.)

The high command said the German drive into the Skoplje region of Yugoslavia had extended more than sixty miles from the Bulgarian frontier, "despite difficult mountain territory."

Six generals are said to have been among the 20,000 prisoners taken in Southern Yugoslavia, along with much artillery and war materials of all kinds.

A German spokesman declared today that "the Serbian state is tottering after only a few days of operations by our forces."

The assertion followed quickly an announcement that several important Serb key positions guarding Yugoslavia's communications had been seized by the Nazi army after stiff resistance.

DNB, official German news agency, declared thousands of Yugoslav soldiers had been captured and that a vast amount of war material—as yet unestimated—had been seized.

The Germans apparently were following the same procedure as in the French campaign — reporting the status of the struggle at the termination of certain phases.

Meantime, the spokesman declared "the British still won't come out and fight," and paid tribute to the Greeks.

British Not Yet in Action

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, April 9.—With the same speed and power which smashed the Allies in Northern France, a German blitzkrieg division has split Greece in two, but the British apparently have not yet gone into battle.

Nazi mechanized forces drove a wedge into the rugged country west of Salonika, cutting off the big Macedonian frontier army, and trapping uncounted troops along the Struma River line, although garrisons were holding out gallantly in the vanguard.

(London and Berlin sources said Germans had entered Salonika.)

Off to the northwest, Yugoslav soldiers, after abandoning Skoplje to the advancing Nazis, were battling panzer units in the mountains northwest of the town, a Yugoslav communique said.

These forces, the communique said, hoped to prevent the Germans from cutting the country in two. Despite "enormous losses," the Germans were said to have swept past Skoplje, some fifty-five miles inside Yugoslavia from Bulgaria, to attack Katchanik Pass, only thirty-one miles from the Albanian frontier.

(Stefani, official Italian news agency, declared the Germans had broken through Australian and New Zealand troops in the Struma Valley, but Berlin itself asserted that the Germans had not yet met the British and a spokesman tauntingly suggested the British were afraid to come out to fight.)

A British military spokesman merely said no British contact had been established with the Germans, nor is there any indication when that contact will be effected."

Flat lands and good roads of the Vardar Valley, which the Germans took after a surprise dash across Southeastern Yugoslavia, enabled them to proceed at break-neck speed since dawn toward Salonika.

Outnumbered Greeks were said to be fighting only a delaying action, and their plan was to give up Salonika rather than have it subjected to heavy fire such as destroyed it in the World War.

Resistance above Salonika gave way gradually as the German division, moving with the speed of the blitz campaigns in Poland and the West, hit the Greeks where the Vardar empties into the Aegean, then wheeled eastward toward the city.

The move completed the separation of the Struma Valley defense garrisons, farther east, from the rest of the Greek and British forces. Earlier the high command announced communications with the Struma front had been broken.

The defense was costing the attackers thousands of lives, the Greeks declared. They said intense fire from Rupel, Usaite, Palouryoni and Karatash forts had covered the sides of the narrow passes with the bodies of gray-green clad Nazis.

British bombers operating from Greece struck at the communication and supply line behind the advancing column.

A British R. A. F. communique said in spite of most unfavorable weather conditions yesterday, Royal Air Force bomber formations attacked with success throughout the day German motor transport and troop columns in the Struma area of Southern Yugoslavia.

This was the section in the Southeastern corner of old Serbia through which the Germans struck to take the Vardar road to Salonika.

All Nazi Forces Advance

By the Associated Press.

BERNE, Switzerland, April 9. Adolf Hitler's mechanized legions have entered the Greek port of Salonika, backdoor to southeastern Europe, and plunged more than half way across Yugoslavia to within thirty-one miles of the Albanian frontier in three days of fighting.

Uncounted thousands of Greek troops defending the Struma River line were trapped by the German blitz division which drove to the big Aegean port, cutting Greece in two.

The British said their mechanized expeditionary force still had not gone into action. Its whereabouts in Greece, Yugoslavia or Albania were not disclosed.

Other German forces drove across Yugoslavia to occupy Skoplje, key railroad and road junction of the Vardar Valley some fifty-five miles from the Bulgarian border, and swept on to launch fierce assaults on Katchanik Pass.

The Yugoslav high command said its forces had inflicted "enormous

with which to wear down the English speaking world."

Churchill warned France that the blockade will be maintained against her.

He indicated that Britain would not permit powerful French battleships to go to France from Africa.

Churchill spoke on introducing a resolution thanking the fighting forces for victories in the Mediterranean and Africa.

It was unanimously adopted.

All depends upon America, Churchill declared and "once we have gained the battle of the Atlantic we are certain of a constant flow of American supplies which are being prepared for us then, however far Hitler may go, whatever the new millions and scores of millions he may lap in misery then it is sure that armed with the sword of retributive justice we shall be on his track."

Churchill declared that Britain was assured of several million tons of new American shipping in the next year.

"Here then" he said, "is assurance upon which we may count so that staying power without which it will not be possible to save the world from the criminals who assail its future."

United States Ambassador John G. Winant and his aides, W. Averell Harriman and Dr. James Bryant Conant were in the galleries.

Churchill said that the British had not yet been in action in Greece. He disclosed that the Greeks had told Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that they would fight to the death against both Germany and Italy, even if they had to fight alone.

Accordingly he said, Britain felt bound to give utmost aid to Greece. He said that British Chief of Staff Sir John Dill and Greek Marshal Alexander Papagos had agreed that successful resistance to the Axis was possible.

EDISON STUDIES PLAN FOR TOLL PARKWAYS

By the Associated Press

TRENTON, April 9.—Governor Charles Edison said today he was studying a proposal by a special Assembly committee that New Jersey establish a system of toll parkways.

An executive office attache said the Governor indicated he was interested in the recommendation but that it should be explored further before any action is taken.

The spokesman said Edison likened toll parkways to railroad Pullman service, in that better service would be made available to those wishing to pay a fee.

Edison conferred on the proposal with Assemblyman Jacob S. Glickenhaus, Republican, of Essex, chairman of the committee which recommended the plan.

FAVOR REJECTION OF LONGER WEEK

Refinery Workers Cool to Company Proposals.

Continuance of the present thirty-six hour work week and renewed efforts for a general wage increase are favored by Bayway Refinery employes in place of the management's offer to increase hourly rates 4½ to 8½ cents an hour provided the workers go to a forty-hour week.

This was indicated at a three-hour mass meeting conducted by the Bayway Refinery Employes' Association, independent collective bargaining organization, last night in Scott Hall and attended by an orderly group of approximately half of the 2,500 workers who would be affected by the Standard Oil Company's proposal.

The management's offer is scheduled to go to a referendum vote of the entire group later this month, when the association holds its annual election of council representatives. Set for the week of April 21 to 26, the mail balloting will permit the mechanical, day workers and the process or shift workers to vote as separate units.

Questions on Ballot.

The mechanical force will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" whether to accept the forty-hour week and the offered wage increase. Process employes who appear to have the most at stake in the proposal will be allowed to vote on one of two questions, whether they wish to accept the forty-hour work week and the wage increase, or whether they will accept the forty-hour principle, work an average of thirty-six hours and gain the increase in rates.

When last night's session was concluded, the reaction of the men in attendance was that the council members should bargain for a general wage increase but that because of fear in the minds of the working personnel in the three New Jersey plants, relating to job security, the thirty-six-hour schedule should be maintained. This fear was described by one employe as "overwhelming."

Under the present setup, process workers put in five days or forty hours one week and four days or thirty-two hours the next, giving the thirty-six-hour average. If the forty-hour principle is adopted, the management, it is argued, could ask them to work an extra shift of eight hours every other week at the regular rate of pay. All time over the thirty-six-hour average now is compensated at a time and a half rate.

Thomas J. Brennan, president of the association, conducted the meeting and Thomas W. MacMillan, secretary, gave a resume of the council actions since the proposal, now being considered in a modified form, first was presented in December. He traced the negotiations through several joint and joint conference sessions with management representatives.

The matter of pay for unworked holidays no longer is an issue, the council having agreed to accept pay for five named holidays. This was a compromise between the seven asked by the employes and four offered in the original company proposal.

Effects of Change.

In the lengthy discussion which centered on the forty-hour question, it was asserted that if the process workers accept the forty-hour week, eighty-two men will have to be transferred out of that division into the mechanical department. Further, it was said, approximately 25 per cent of the process men would have to back down into lower-rated positions although their pay would be slightly larger as a result of the increase. Even then a small percentage of the men who would not be affected by the 'back to' would receive as much as an 11 per cent pay increase for the additional hours and the boost in rates.

It also was said that the management, under the present thirty-six hour agreement, could put into effect the same plan for which it seeks employes approval, without need of the workers' vote, by paying the time and a half rate for four extra hours per week. If an employe works forty hours, he gets pay for forty-two. With the rate arrangement under the forty-hour proposal, the result would be the same.

Association officers pointed out today that an embarrassing situation might arise for the management if the process group accepted the forty-hour principle, and obtained the rate increase and the mechanical group rejected the forty-hour proposal. This immediately would create a disparity in the rate set-up. Employes who had not petitioned for any increase have been granted a 5 per cent boost, effective as of April 1.

Fifteen of the sixteen council members attended the meeting, one being ill. All were asked to express their personal opinions as to the management's proposal as presented. Fourteen expressed opposition, the other stating that he favors it.

Council members were urged by the group to "stand by decision" if association's case for a 10-cent hourly rate increase, which has gone to arbitration. This is based upon the management's use of contractors in the yard, resulting in payment to contractor's employes of rates above that paid for comparable work by refinery employes. This is alleged to violate the company's agreement to pay equal rates for comparable work. The method of arbitration is outlined in the association's constitution.

tinued to stand guard over the United States Embassy today as rumors circulated that Premier Mussolini might recall his ambassador to Washington because of the "sequestration" of Italian ships in American ports.

Amid indications of rising Fascist irritation, an authoritative source declared that the Italian Government had withdrawn Admiral Alberto Lais, naval attache at the embassy in Washington under protest that the U. S. action was unfriendly and illegal.

The Italian Government also said to have taken the view the ship seizures were violations from the moral viewpoint and under international law.

The United States seized Admiral Lais' recall last Thursday in connection with alleged orders for sabotaging some of the seized ships which were found to have been damaged.

It was pointed out by an authoritative source that the ships were taken into custody under an espionage act of 1917, an act passed while the United States was at war, but he asserted the situation now is different because the United States is not at war and is having normal diplomatic relations" with Italy.

Italian seamen disabled their ships, correspondents were told, because they foresaw "sequestration" as result of statements by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The ships were not so damaged as to obstruct American harbors or territorial waters, it was said.

A high Fascist said the crews of the Italian ships had been "accorded inhumane treatment, with most of them confined to the engine rooms without the least hygiene and decency which is one of the privileges of which American civilization boasts."

This action, he asserted, "constitutes obvious violation of the right hospitality, all the more sacred in-as-much as it deals with citizens of a state with which the United States is not at war."

Italian protests were based on three juridicial arguments, including that of the crews' "inhumane treatment," the correspondents were told.

They acquired "special significance," it was added, from the asserted intention of the Washington Government to confiscate the ships for the use of the British.

give any information about which ships were involved, from what services they will be withdrawn, or what effect the transfers might have on Coast Guard functions.

However, the general description of the vessels fitted the ten 250-foot cutters of the Coast Guard "lake" class. They are the Cayuga Itasca, Sebago, Saranac, Shoshone, Chelan, Champlain, Mendota, Pontchartrain, and Tahoe.

The White House announcement apparently excluded the possibility of transfer now of any of the Coast Guard's six 327-foot cutters which were built after 1932. Altogether, the Coast Guard has about eighty-five cutters of sea going size, but the ten "lake" class cutters are the second best group in the service.

At last reports, the lake cutters were distributed widely in both Pacific and Atlantic duty. The Cayuga, for instance, was reported officially a few days ago to be preparing to go out in the North Atlantic on annual ice patrol. The Saranac has been patrolling the Pacific coast, but recently put in at an east coast port for overhaul. All of the class have participated in sea.

The "lake" cutters make about sixteen knots, believed by naval experts to be fast enough for combating submarines, which are slower. They were believed to have two five-inch guns apiece.

Since the coast guard automatically becomes a part of the navy in time of war, coast guard vessels usually are built along naval lines. The "lake" ships are roughly equivalent to destroyers, but not as heavily armed or as fast.

SHIFT IS SLATED BY FREEHOLDERS

the supervisor's eligibility requirements as delineated in the by-laws.

Another problem involving Brooks would be the necessity of his resignation and a four-month wait until he could receive any appointment at the hands of his former colleagues. A State law regulates this.

The shifting of Rich and Collins, a majority of the freeholders feels, would avert any public explaining. Appointment of an appointee not certified as an engineer. It also would help to prevent major strife in the county's Republican organization, which, for several months, has been on the verge of open warfare. None of the freeholders wants to provide the spark to set this off and it certainly would be kindled, they think, if an "outsider" is named, no matter how deserving he might be from a political standpoint or qualified for the job.

Plenty of Republicans in the county consider themselves deserving. William I. McMane, director of the board, says twenty-five aspirants have been after King's post.

One candidate whose name entered the picture today is Herbert F. Salter, an Elizabeth engineer formerly active in party circles.

If the proposal involving Rich and Collins materializes, the post vacated by Rich is expected to go to a present assistant, Harry Jurnecka.

German targets, the Luftwaffe hammered anew at battered Coventry and other objectives in England.

The Coventry raid lasted several hours. The government said damage was considerable, and that it was feared casualties might be heavy.

The raid on Germany's submarine "nest" at Kiel was the second in two nights. Of last night's raid, the Air Ministry said the port was "heavily and successfully attacked."

(Berlin said strong Royal Air force units raided Northern German coastal towns during the night, killing a number of persons, including women and children. Four British raiders were shot down, the Germans said).

R. A. F. night fighters claimed destruction of six German bombers, and the Air Ministry News Service said others were "damaged and known to be in trouble as they made for home."

Aside from the concentrated assault on Coventry, the British said Nazi bombers struck in force at other factory towns in the industrial Midlands, while scattered flights ranged widely across England, attacking sharply in the southeast and on south coast towns.

London had an early alarm, followed by anti-aircraft fire but no bombs, and the all-clear sounded before midnight.

Coventry Suffers Again.

By the Associated Press

COVENTRY, England, April 9.—The German air force, in a double bombing attack last night, pounded Coventry, the victim of extremely severe raiding last November.

This was the town which the government in its earlier reports identified only as a Midlands town.

Today Coventry dug through the rubble again, removed its dead and injured and sought to go back to work just as it did last November.

Nazis Tell of Heavy Raids.

By the Associated Press

BERLIN, April 9.—Several hundred Nazi planes raided England last night heavily bombing Portsmouth and Coventry and other objectives on the south and southeast coasts, the Germans reported today.

The night raiders were said to have inflicted heavy losses on British shipping, sinking one 4,000-ton vessel and damaging another of 20,000 tons in the port of Harwich.

Two direct bomb hits were scored on a British destroyer near Grimsby, and two merchant ships—one of 4,000 and one of 3,000 tons—were damaged at Plymouth, returning pilots declared.

The Royal Air Force was reported to have lost four planes in an overnight raid on the German naval base of Kiel, making a total of nine English aircraft said to have been downed in air fights and by ground batteries.

The British air units were said to have killed and injured a number of women and children in attacks on north German coastal towns, during which bombs fell in residential districts.

British source said word was received today that British forces had captured Massaua, Eritrea's port on the Red Sea, completing the conquest of that Italian East African colony.

For days "Free French" and British Empire forces had lain in contact with the outer defenses of Massaua.

One report pictured them merely as waiting for the Italians to surrender, but at the same time it was supposed that the garrison was sabotaging harbor works and shipping, faced in the Red Sea by a British naval force.

Now, except for mopping up, the Eritrean campaign is complete, the London informant said.

Massaua could be used as a port of embarkation for troops sailing to the other areas (possibly Southeastern Europe).

2 Fascist Battalions Taken.

By the United Press.

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 9.—British Empire forces which captured Addis Ababa took two complete Black Shirt battalions, more than sixty pilots and 1,000 Italian air force ground crew personnel, a South African communique said today.

"Important stocks of arms and material of all kinds also were captured," the communique said.

losses" on the advancing Germans and were battling fiercely against their drive toward Albania to join the Italian forces there.

A British military spokesman here said "We have no indication that our troops have yet established contact with the enemy, nor is there any indication when that contact will be effected."

This was contradicted by Stefani, official Italian news agency, which said the Germans had broken through Australian and New Zealand troops in the Struma Valley.

Turkey, non-belligerent ally of Britain, continued to sit on the fence and was reported interning Greek troops who entered the country after they had been isolated by the Germans.

Simultaneously the Italians were reported to have launched an eastward drive from Albania in an attempt to hammer a wedge between Greece and Yugoslavia by joining hands with another German column, which already has slashed west from Bulgaria more than half way through the 100-mile wide "waist" of Yugoslavia.

Indications that the Bulgarian army soon might take an active part in the war on the side of the Axis were seen by observers, meanwhile, in reports from Sofia that Yugoslav troops had attacked Bulgar outposts.

The British, profiting by their experience at Dunkerque, presumably were drawn up in a second line of defense southwest of Salonika.

This theory appeared bolstered by comments in London yesterday that Salonika, important allied base for Balkan operations in the World War, could not be considered vital in the present campaign and that possession of the coast in that area would avail the Germans little without command of the sea.

The Greeks said the way for the German drive on Salonika was paved by the retreat of the Yugoslav right wing, which enabled the Nazis to seize Lake Doiran near the junction of the Greek - Yugoslav - Bulgarian frontiers.

Fascists Occupy Town

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 9.—The Italian High Command announced today that Fascist troops had occupied Kranj in the extreme northwest tip of Yugoslavia at the junction of the Italian and German frontiers.

The town, situated on a railroad, is about ten miles east of the Italian border.

Italian bombing planes were reported to have attacked warships and seaplanes in the Yugoslav harbor of Sibenik, about 200 miles south of Kranj, and to have damaged barracks and motor truck concentrations ashore.

Other planes were said to have bombed Yugoslav air bases at Divulje and Vodice and machine-gunned motorized columns and horse-drawn supply trains.

Large groups of Yugoslav prisoners were said to have been captured elsewhere in local fighting, in addition to several hundred Greek troops.

The Italian announcements of the capture of Kranj coincided with unofficial reports of the launching of a Fascist drive from northern Albania in an effort to cantact German troops pounding across the narrow waist of Yugoslavia.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, said the Italian had created desperate attempts" by the Greeks to make contact with their Yugoslav allies along the Albanian shore of Lake Ochrida, on the Albanian-Yugoslav border.

The Italian offensive was "developing powerfully today," the agency said, in anticipations of meeting with "victorious" German columns.

The dispatch said Italian patrols captured units of Yugoslav troops attempting to cross Lake Scutari on rafts in an effort to land in northern Albania.

GRAND MARSHAL SELECTION MADE

Saul Epstein to Lead Memorial Day March.

Past Commander Saul Epstein, of David Blick Post, 62, Jewish War Veterans, last night was named grand marshal for Elizabeth's Memorial Day parade next month. The selection was made by the post at the Y. M. H. A. in accordance with rules of the Central Committee of Elizabeth War Veterans, parade sponsor, providing for the rotation of the honor among the member organizations.

In connection with plans for the Memorial Day and allied activities, Commander Philip Cohen appointed Dr. Samuel Steinberg and Jay Kaufman to arrange for the post's participation in the parade. David Berman, Benjamin Morocco, Saul Lehr, Louis Weiss, Solomon Chaplin and Joseph Hart were named to assist in the decoration of veterans' graves in cooperation with other veterans' groups. Several members were selected to address school assembly groups at Memorial Day programs in the public school system.

Dr. Harry A. Paskow and Samuel Naimas were made co-chairmen of a committee to plan the post's annual memorial service Friday evening, May 30, in Temple Beth Israel.

Commander Cohen also appointed the following men to assist in the fund-raising campaign of Union Council, Boy Scouts of America, for development of its newly-acquired camp site: Mr. Morocco, Harry Pinkel, Max Tieger, Robert Herah, Mr. Epstein, Mr. Kaufman and Mr. Cohen. A similar group will be chosen by the women's auxiliary.

The post will hold its annual "Past Commanders' Night" program May 27 with Past National Commander J. George Predman, of Jersey City, and State Commander Harry Berkie, Hackensack, as guests. David M. Bockenek and Samuel S. Fishman are in charge of plans for this event.

Meeting here Monday evening, State officers and representatives of units in Jersey City, Morristown, Newark, Bayonne and Union City made plans for an entertainment program for Fort Dix soldiers April 28 under auspices of the State organization. Each unit will contribute toward the transportation of a professional musical comedy cast which will present the program. Candy and tobacco will be distributed to the soldiers. Jack Kevoe, Hillside, commander of Newark Post, 34, heads the general committee which will meet again Wednesday evening at the Newark Y. M. H. A.

A joint meeting and social hour with the auxiliary has been planned for the post's next session on April 22.

2 WESTMINSTER SOCIETIES MEET

Duties Assumed by New Officers of One Group.

Both women's organizations in Westminster Presbyterian Church held meetings yesterday, the Women's Society in the afternoon at the church and the Haines Guild in the evening at the home of Mrs. Reynold I. Devinney, 865 Kilsyth road.

Officers elected at the annual meeting of the Women's Society last month assumed their duties yesterday, with Mrs. Clarence N. Durrie, reelected president, presiding. The other officers for the coming year are:

Vice-presidents—Mrs. Howard R. Davis, Mrs. Carl E. Holmes, Mrs. Paul Pendorf, Mrs. Willard P. Whitlock, Jr., Mrs. J. Alexander Wilson and Miss Dorothy Lukens; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank Scott, Jr.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles R. Simpson; treasurer, Mrs. James C. Kellogg, Jr.; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Sidney W. Eldridge. All were in attendance except Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Eldridge.

The secretary read a letter from the trustees of the church thanking the society for redecorating the lecture room as its contribution toward the seventy-fifth anniversary observance held by the church. The society will furnish tables for the dining room, and Mrs. Durrie appointed the purchasing committee, naming Mrs. Whitlock, Miss Lukens, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Scott.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. G. Bartram Woodruff for her unremitting services in connection with the society's anniversary program.

Mrs. Kellogg who again heads the committee of arrangements for the annual lobster luncheon, announced that as in previous years the luncheon will be given on the first Thursday in May, which this year falls on the first day of the month.

After the business meeting Miss Anna Gerber led the group in an "Information Please" program. Taking part in the missionary panel were Mrs. O. W. Bushgen, wife of the pastor; Mrs. Kellogg, Miss Lukens and Mrs. George H. Trull. These women gave a variety of missionary facts, some of them apply to specific fields of which members of the society. To each propounder of a question Mrs. Paul Timmerman presented an attractive nosegay.

Closing devotions on the topic "The Miracle of a Gift" were conducted by Mrs. Frank A. English. Dr. Bueschgen pronounced the benediction.

The meeting of the Haines Guild last evening included an address by Mrs. Grace Henriksen on "How the War Emergency Affects America." Nineteen members attended. Gauze was folded for the Elizabeth General Hospital.

Terms of a Mutual Savings Bank Loan are made to aid the borrower

A reason why a number of persons object to borrowing on a first mortgage loan, is due to the fear that the terms will be too rigid and difficult to meet.

This is not so at our bank. We try to give consideration to each borrower's individual requirements—his income—his future earnings—his resources, and then we work out a plan that will suit.

We invite conferences on First Mortgage Loans.

OFFICERS NAMED BY MUSIC GROUP

Mrs. Loth Again President of Philharmonic Guild.

Mrs. Eric C. Loth, president, and all other officers were reelected at the annual meeting of the Elizabeth Philharmonic Guild last evening at the Altenburg Auditorium, 1150 East Jersey street. A full executive committee also was chosen.

Officers include: Vice-president, Mrs. Otto G. Altenburg; secretary, Mrs. Aaron Kaufman, and treasurer, Mrs. Ernest B. Degenring. The executive committee includes, besides the officers: Miss Marjorie Cole, Mrs. Otto Sickert, Miss Helen Benton, Mrs. August Geisler, Mrs. David C. Gordon, Mrs. Leo Kohn, Mrs. August May, Mrs. James R. MacHarg, Mrs. Albert Lewis, Miss Anna A. O'Brien, Mrs. Frederic Remington, Mrs. A. J. Schick, Mrs. Morris Welasberg and Mrs. Henry P. Robinson.

A business meeting which included annual reports by the officers was followed by a paper entitled "Music and Listening" by Mrs. William D. Sherman.

Plans were announced for a reception in honor of August May, conductor of the Elizabeth Philharmonic Orchestra, with a musical program, to be followed by a buffet supper, on May 13 at the Winfield Scott Hotel. Mrs. MacHarg is chairman of arrangements. Each member will be entitled to bring one guest.

An increase in membership from forty-eight last year to eighty-nine at present was noted by Mrs. Walter F. Meister, chairman of membership, in her annual report. Mrs. Nelson Tropp presented the report of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Sherman in her paper discriminated between the "hearer" and the "listener," saying that the "hearer's response was emotional while the listener's was intellectual." The classic and romantic schools of music in general are easily appreciated by cultured people, Mrs. Sherman said, but from Wagner on through to the most ultra-modern music, it is more difficult.

Melody, rhythm, harmony and tone color are the four basic elements of symphonic music, it was pointed out. The Charles program the first chose is simple form. It is with the introduction of tone color or timbre that "perplexity begins," the speaker said. Tone color is a device to awaken emotional response in the listener and has to do with the spiritual side of music, it was stated.

Illustrating the generalizations brought out, the speaker gave brief descriptions of famous musicians, starting with Haydn, "the father of symphonic music" and continuing through Mozart, Beethoven, Bach and the romantic school, up to the moderns of today. Wagner was treated separately as the master not only of a great art in music but also as expounding, through his music dramas, a profound philosophy. It is said, Mrs. Sherman stated, that it will take another 300 years before the real meaning of Wagner can be appreciated.

After Richard Strauss whose music contains "great beauty and great ugliness," Mrs. Sherman referred to Ravel, Stravinsky and Schoenberg as ultra-moderns, whose music must be listened to with an open mind and the utmost discrimination."

The paper closed with reference to the possibility of a real American music emerging from jazz and swing which the speaker considered most remote. A recording of Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun" followed the paper.

Mrs. Schick as chairman of hostesses was assisted in the social hour by Mrs. George Weissler, Mrs. Harry G. Devlin, Miss Grace Murphy and Miss Mary Barron.

LINDEN FIRM OFFICIALS CITED FOR EXAMINATION

Special to the Journal.

NEWARK, April 8. — Gerald D. Stone, of Bayonne, as trustee in bankruptcy of the Tip Top Tailors, Inc., 449 Central avenue, this city, desires to examine three officials of the Allied Clothing Corporation, of Linden, in connection with an investigation into the affairs of the Newark concern, against which involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were filed here several months ago.

The three men the trustee desires to have examined are Charles M. Alexander and Jerome Hilton, and objections to this move were made by their counsel, Charles Okin, of Newark, yesterday before Referee in Bankruptcy George W. W. Porter, who ruled that because Charles M. Hilton at one time was a director of the Newark concern, he may be questioned, but reserved ruling as to the other two men.

Objections to the examination of the three Hiltons were raised by Attorney Okin, chiefly because the Allied Clothing Corporation and the Continuation Holding Company, in which they are officials, have been named as defendants in a Chancery Court action brought by the bankruptcy trustee, and also it would violate their constitutional rights.

Adjournment of the bankruptcy hearing was allowed by Referee Porter until April 28 to permit Attorney Okin to apply to the Chancery Court for a ruling, either next Tuesday or April 22.

EDUCATION WEEK FOR BLIND IS SET

Women's Groups Collaborate on Program.

Arrangements were completed at a meeting at the Elks' Clubhouse yesterday for Elizabeth Education Week for the Blind to be held from April 28 to May 1 with daily luncheons at Levy Brothers store. Demonstrations of chair-caning, crocheting, mat-making and Braille-writing also will feature the week's program.

Mrs. Harry T. Mosman, general chairman, introduced Raymond T. Parrot, honorary chairman, who greeted the group, detailed the object of the program and commended the workers for their efforts in former years.

Mrs. Rudolph H. Heydt, chairman of the Protestant Day group, reported that forty-five churches of various denominations, including three in Cranford, will be represented in this year's program. She said that the groups of women are prepared to complete the project. Reports relating to completed plans for participation in the program also were submitted by Mrs. T. J. Conlin, chairman for the Catholic Day group; Mrs. Robert Herah for Jewish Day and Mrs. Frank Volker, for the Club Day unit.

Herbert Howe, supervisor of home industries for the State Commission for the Blind, also greeted the women and lauded their efforts in the annual campaign for the blind. He also told of the work of the State commission in behalf of the blind and said the program as arranged here gives them an incentive to make articles to be sold and to demonstrate their work.

Representing the Protestant women workers at the meeting were Mrs. F. J. Adams, Mrs. R. L. Drake, Mrs. Heydt, Mrs. E. M. Whipple, Mrs. W. R. Osmun, Mrs. Casper Dulk, Mrs. William Heckeroth, Miss Ruth Bollinger, Mrs. M. A. Fossum, Mrs. A. M. Ogden, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Mrs. T. B. Jones, Mrs. Roland W. Wright, Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. P. G. Lane, Mrs. Robert A. Jacques, Mrs. Casper A. Sander and Miss Martha Heathcote.

The Jewish group was represented by Mrs. Milton Levy, Mrs. Charles Mayer, Mrs. Isaac Kosberg, Mrs. James Rosensahn, Mrs. Albert A. Natelson, Mrs. Saul Bernstein, Mrs. Alfred Vos and Mrs. E. K. Goldstein.

The Catholic group was represented by Mrs. Allen Huelsenbeck, Mrs. C. A. Holaneck, Mrs. L. A. Conway, Mrs. William Zirkel, Miss Mary E. McDevitt, Mrs. Joseph Butler and Mrs. John Carroll.

SLEEPWALKER HURT.

Sleepwalking at his home, 309 Boyd street, at 4 o'clock this morning Joseph Orybinski, 21 years old, thrust his right hand through a bedroom window and cut his wrist severely, according to Patrolman Devaney. Four stitches were taken at the Alexian Brothers Hospital.

AIMS DISCUSSED BY NYA LEADERS

State Conference Here on Educational Program.

The aims of the educational program of the National Youth Administration, particularly the related training division, were discussed at the conference of NYA Related Training Workers of New Jersey yesterday at Elizabeth NYA Related Training School in Elias Boudinot School, 9. Ralph P. Gallagher, supervisor of guidance in the city's schools, and chairman of the related training program here, presided.

Prentice Reeves, of the State office of the NYA in Newark, discussed the general educational program offered by the organization and stressed the need for the occupational training of the out-of-school youth. He cited the related training program as an excellent way of fitting young men and women for positions. The problem of Negro youth was discussed by the speaker, who showed ways in which the NYA program aids colored boys and girls.

The general aims of the program were outlined by two other speakers, J. C. R. Coleman, Union County supervisor of NYA projects, and Robert Edgar, youth personnel director of NYA District 4. Mr Coleman discussed the attitude of youth toward the educational program and by relating personal experiences, depicted ways in which youth has been aided by the organization. Declaring that this area is the most advanced in the related training field, Mr. Edgar praised the work of the Elizabeth school. He discussed the problem of Negro youth and the need for making the related training program suitable to all types of boys and girls.

The work of the Elizabeth school was outlined by A. J. Stadeck, supervisor of the local unit. He declared that the main aim of the school is to relate work experiences and academic training to enable youth to obtain jobs. Each student is given individual treatment and instruction, the supervisor said. Actual practice in seeking jobs and practical experience in a variety of occupational fields are offered students. The actual academic program and teaching procedures were briefly outlined by the faculty of the school. Social studies work was discussed by Isadore Krasno and the English department's work by William Miller. Rocco Pelliccne described the program of the business education division and Saul Coplin the work of the mathematics classes.

A discussion period followed the talks. In addition to a number of NYA officials from Elizabeth, Newark and other parts of the state, Dr. Ray E. Cheney, superintendent of school; Merrill P. Paine, supervisor of English, and Kirk Seaton, supervisor of special education, were present.

WOMAN'S HANDS BURNED BATTLING FIRE IN HOME

Mrs. Frieda Brandt, 53 years old, suffered first degree burns of both hands at 12.40 o'clock this afternoon when she attempted to extinguish flames in a daybed in a second floor bedroom of her home at 1121 Chestnut street. After first aid treatment by members of the fire department's emergency squad, she was removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital in an ambulance.

Mrs. Mary Dennis, elderly occupant of the first floor, suffered shock and was carried to a bed in her apartment after all danger from the fire had been eliminated.

After further treatment at the hospital Mrs. Brandt was sent to her home.

Firemen were unable to determine what caused the blaze, which was confined to the furnishings of the bedroom. Acting Battalion Chief Robert Bauermann said there was every indication that Mrs. Brandt had made a desperate attempt to subdue the flames before the apparatus arrived.

Lieut. Charles Psako, Lieut.-elect James Robertson and Fireman George Forrester applied tannic acid to Mrs. Brandt's hands while firemen of Engines 6 and 8 and Truck 1 extinguished the blaze with a small hoseline.

TOWNSHIP SELLS SITE FOR HOMES

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—Sale of 450 front feet of municipal-owned land in Tillman street for $5,280 was arranged by the Township Committee at a meeting last night in the Coe Avenue Junior High School. The purchaser, Homes-Built-to-Order Corporation, will erect about ten low-priced residences on the property. Township Attorney Emil A. Herrigel will complete the transfer of the land within a few weeks.

Lengthy wrangling on the price of the land took place before agreement was reached. With the Township Committee demanding $12 a front foot, Ellsworth J. Sterner, representing the corporation, would pay only $10.50 was about the best offer possible, and ther, went to $11. In all 485 front feet of the Tillman street land were involved. It was finally decided that if the company would buy 440 feet at the $12 price, the municipality would "throw in" ten feet more and keep a less desirable thirty-five foot strip.

August T. Gray, Hillside developer, had previously arranged to obtain the Tillman street property with an arrangement whereby he would pay $8 a front foot in cash and give the municipality clear title to other land upon which there are large tax accumulations. He withdrew his offer last night, saying that the competing bid was one which would more quickly give the municipality the ratables it desires.

The committee passed on final reading an ordinance providing for the paving of Sweeland avenue between Bloy and Paul streets. Bids for this work to be carried out under a State grant-in-aid plan, will be received April 23. The governing body also confirmed assessments for materials on the sidewalk construction project competed in Conant street by the WPA.

The committee arranged to meet at 8 P. M. Monday in the municipal building with township auto dealers and used car lot owners. There will be discussion of the municipal ordinance licensing used car lots—a topic long subject to controversy here. As a safeguard to pedestrians, the committee refused to allow additional display pumps at a garage at 1426 North Broad street, near Mertz avenue.

A $3,000 offer for a house the township owns at 360 Long avenue was referred to the township attorney for investigation. The Elizabeth, Union, Hillside, Irvington Line, Incorporated, was given permission to run three more buses, and this line and Public Service Coordinated Transport were allowed to change their routes to include passage over the new Route 29 overpass near Bloy street.

At the suggestion of the Recreation Board, Miss Julia Prejsyk was named a recreation worker at $16 a week and Mrs. Elisabeth McCrath at $12 a week. They are being paid by the township to keep up the Liberty avenue Community Center, where WPA supervisors were laid off. Both recreation leaders previously worked on the project.

The governing body's sub-committee on building received a suggestion from Building Inspector Charles Hanson that a residence at State street and Acme place be condemned as unsafe and demolished. The Union County Park Commission, it was announced, has assisted in preparing plans for a new field at the Calvin Coolidge School, to be developed by the township with WPA aid.

ROW OVER FUNDS.

Hillside School Board Members Clash on Control of Athletics.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—The Student General Association at the senior high school was the topic of dispute last night between two Board of Education members, Harlow H. Curtis and Walter W. Smith, Smith is chairman of the board's athletic committee, which post Curtis held last year.

The dispute started when Smith revealed that there will be baseball, basketball and football at the junior high school next year. While approving this, with other board members, Curtis demanded to know where equipment would be obtained and, was not satisfied with Smith's explanation that it could be provided by the S. G. A.

When the board president, Raymond R. King, joined with Smith in answering Curtis on the financial difficulties, Curtis angrily retorted with a recommendation which would provide sweeping changes in the S. G. A. organization. Smith, also in the form of a resolution, and was received by King without comment or action.

Curtis demanded that all coaches be paid by the Board of Education exclusively, and that the board have control of all moneys derived from athletics. He insisted also that the high school athletic director be placed in charge of all teams and the selection of all coaches with board approval.

Gate receipts at athletic events, Curtis said, are not now directly subject to Board of Education control and he declared that persons named by the S. G. A. to handle funds should be approved by the board.

Boy Scout Executive Speaks at Hillside Rotary Luncheon.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—William A. Wright, Union Council Boy Scout executive, was the speaker at yesterday's Rotary Club meeting in the Hillside Presbyterian Church. He outlined plans of the council for developing a 1,700-acre camp site in Morris County, and told how the improved camp would benefit the communities served by the council.

Speaking of the fund-raising drive through which the council hopes to obtain $30,000 to develop the camp, Wright emphasized that the money invested will bear fruit for many years to come.

The club discussed the inter-city meeting to be attended by about 300 Rotarians and guests in the Bristol-Myers Company recreation building here April 22.

The Township Committee has postponed its scheduled April 22 meeting until April 23 so that members of the governing body may be present.

TEACHERS GIVEN $7,400 INCREASE

Hillside School Board Apportions Increments.

Special to the Journal.

HILLSIDE, April 9.—Teachers' pay increases totaling $7,400—mostly in $50 increments—were granted by the Board of Education at its meeting in the high school last night. The board said that contracts to teaches will be mailed out this week.

The increases follow a pattern established last year, when the school board made its first moves to adjust salaries. It is understood that the plan has the approval of the Hillside Teachers Association. It is designed to scale salaries for elementary and high school teachers on the basis of experience.

Elementary teachers recommended by the supervising principal are to be paid $1,400, $1,450 and $1,500 upon completion of three, seven and ten years' work, respectively. For those in the junior and senior high schools, the scale is $1,800, $1,850 and $1,900. The experienced teachers' starting compensation is $1,200 in the elementary schools and $1,400 for the others.

Department heads and directors were appointed as follows for the 1941-42 school year: Manual training, Constantine J. Harper; music, Daniel Kaufuman; boys' physical education, Samuel Dubow; girls' physical education, Miss Irma B. Ostron; English, Walter Krumbiegal and Mrs. Margaret G. English. All these department leaders are at the senior high school, with the exception of Mrs. English, who is at the junior high school. Most of them are among those receiving increases.

Four teachers were named to go under tenure, starting the 1941-42 school year: Miss Constance Halsted, Miss Adelaide Murphy, Mrs. Florence Gundaker and Leonard J. Buckner.

The report of the school nurses showed there were 234 cases of contagious diseases in March, German measles accounted for most of these. There were many cases in every school except Calvin Coolidge, where only three were reported. There were eighteen cases of contagious disease at the senior high school.

The board granted many applications for use of school buildings, and received a report from Mrs. Emmet T. White on the meeting of the State Federation of District Boards of Education. At her suggestion a resolution was passed expressing opposition to Assembly Bill 301, which, it many cases, would enable children not living in their home communities to attend school without tuition payment.

A bill submitted by the supervising principal for $96, to be paid Edward Gottlieb, high school teacher, was questioned by Curtis and Clift. Learning the bill was for $72 tuition and $24 expenses for courses Gottlieb took in New York, Otto warned that such payment might set a precedent likely to be embarrassing, since many teachers take part-time courses.

It was stressed, however, that Gottlieb was asked to take the courses by school authorities, so that hiring at additional teacher might be avoided.

Graham, 595 Madison avenue. Facts concerning Chinese and Japanese in this country will be given. Mrs. Herbert M. Ehlers will be in charge. Chinese music will be discussed, and piano selections will be played by Mrs. Irene Haynes. There will be vocal numbers by Mrs. Edward H. Cahill, Mrs. Floyd A. Reimer and Mrs. George E. Tubbs.

The broadcast will follow the business meeting, which will be conducted by the president, Mrs. N. S. Reeves. Devotions, on the topic, "The Door of Victory," will be led by Mrs. Ida A. Beardsley.

Refreshments will be served by the hostess and co-hostesses—Mrs. Archibald T. Hall, Mrs. Albert Thorn and Mrs. William H. Westervelt.

After long discussion the bill was ordered paid, but only after the board passed a resolution stating that no teacher may take a course at the board's expense without first having the school body's approval.

Otto also questioned use of the school fund made up of gifts by graduating classes, and Board President Raymond R. King named Otto, Francis H. Walker and Mrs. Walling as a committee to investigate. Otto said that since the board was officially custodian of school funds, it had a right to know the purposes to which such moneys are put.

LISTED MISSING, FOUND IN ARMY

Former Teacher Was Inducted Ahead of Schedule.

While a search was being conducted Monday evening and yesterday for Edward Cahill, 23-year-old former Elizabeth school teacher, he was serving his first hours as a member of the selective service army, Mrs. Gladys Cahill, of 851 Walnut street, his mother, had reported his disappearance to Desk Sergt. Nicholas Migliore.

Cahill volunteered for military service about two weeks ago and was given a physical examination. Accepted, he was told by Draft Board No. 8 that he would be summoned for induction on April 25. When a vacancy, resulting from deferment of Donald M. Hulick, of 826 Westfield avenue, developed in the eighth call group, however, he was sent to Newark Monday. Cahill was notified that he could waive the five-day notice and report for induction this week.

This he agreed to, and reported with the others Monday morning. Accepted by the army doctors, he was transferred to Fort Dix. The draft board failed, however, to announce the change in the eighth call group.

A substitute teacher in the industrial arts department of Lafayette Junior High School since September, Cahill submitted his resignation as of April 1. The resignation will be considered by the Board of Education tomorrow night.

Elizabeth has a second Edward Cahill who is a member of the school staff here. He is Edward A. Cahill, of 343 Union avenue, now on leave of absence as a science department teacher at George Washington Junior High School. A lieutenant in the National Guard, he is serving with the First Battalion, 114th Infantry, at Fort Dix.

MIGHTY WARSHIP JOINS U. S. NAVY

Battleship North Carolina Put in Commission.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The first battleship commissioned by the United States Navy in eighteen years took its place as a "ship of the line" today in sober but colorful ceremonies aboard the new 35,000 ton North Carolina at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The commissioning ceremonies on the quarterdeck, attended by 1,500 specially-invited guests headed by Secretary of the Navy Knox, were held under war-time restrictions with special police, Marines and sailors on guard.

"We are foreshadowing with this ship," Secretary Knox said in a brief address, "the greatest navy the world has ever seen."

He added, however, that this great fleet was not dedicated to war "but as the best possible guarantee of our peace and security."

The American people, he said, are devoted to the cause of peace, and peace for the United States may only be secured through adequate defense.

The U. S. S. Seattle, receiving ship, fired a nineteen-gun salute as Secretary Knox arrived. Admiral Harold Stark, chief of naval operations, and Governor J. Melville Broughton, of North Carolina, spoke briefly.

The North Carolina, a $70,000,000 vessel is the first of seventeen battleships ordered in the Nation's speedening program to become the mightiest naval power in the world.

Until her sister ship, the Washington, is commissioned in Philadelphia next month, the North Carolina will be the largest and most formidable ship in the U. S. Navy.

Her nine 16-inch guns, a score of smaller broadside guns and anti-aircraft weapons and her streamlined superstructure skewed back to effect greater mobility for the air guns, presented such an odd contrast to a nearby cruiser that one observer said the cruiser looked "like a skyscraper."

The North Carolina was laid down in October, 1937, and launched last June.

She will have a normal complement of seventy-five officers and 1,000 men under the command of Capt. Olaf M. Hustvedt, a native of Chicago and a resident of Decorah, Ia.

Commander Andrew G. Shepard, a native of York, Pa. and a resident of Rochester, N. Y., will be executive officer.

"But I wanted a bath TONIGHT!"

How many hours have you wasted "waiting for the tank to heat up"? How many times have you secretly decided that cleanliness isn't worth the price?

With an automatic gas hot water heater installed in the basement a turn of the faucet will bring you all the hot water you want. Hot water for baths . . . hot water for the laundry . . . hot water in the kitchen . . . any hour of the day or night!

Moreover, the temperature rarely varies more than a few degrees. The water never gets scalding hot . . . never turns cold in the middle of a shower or a Monday wash. Thermostatically controlled, fully insulated, the heat goes on only when it's needed.

And with all the "luxury" of an automatic gas hot water heater, it costs surprisingly little to operate. Stop in tomorrow and let us show you the new models. We'll be glad to answer all your questions without obligating you in any way.

MANEUVERS TO 'DEFEND' N. J. COASTLINE MAPPED

By the Associated Press

PORT DIX, April 9.—The Forty-fourth Division will engage in five-day maneuvers for defense of the New Jersey coastline, beginning about May 15.

Major General Clifford R. Powell, division commander, said every available man and piece of apparatus would participate in the large scale tactical exercises, the first real test of the division as a unit under combat conditions since it was inducted into Federal service.

Powell explained that the maneuvers would involve a theoretical enemy invasion from sea, with the Forty-fourth advancing toward landing points, occupying defensive positions and withdrawing. The exercises will extend as far south as Cape May.

A railhead will probably be established at Millville or Bridgeton to supply rations and supplies.

Staff officers already have surveyed Burlington, Atlantic, Cumberland and Cape May counties for possibilities concerning movement and supply.

Holy Week services were scheduled to start today at the fort. A Passover observance for Jewish soldiers was listed for 5.15 P. M., with Catholic and Protestant rites in the evening.

CHICAGO SUNRISE RITES WILL LURE THOUSANDS

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 9.—By prayer and publicity the faithful are being summoned to Chicago's annual Easter sunrise service at Soldier Field Sunday.

Typical of the "breezy" methods of the "Windy City" was the work of the Protestant interdenominational committee of twenty-one laymen in charge, who hope there will be a throng of 50,000 or more, weather permitting.

They let it be known by billboards, posters for automobile bumpers, and car cards that the outdoor service would be held for the ninth time—it was begun in 1933 on the grounds of the Century of Progress Exposition and has been held at Soldier Field since 1934.

It was broadcast that this year's features would include a blind evangelist, Dr. Walter Kallenbach, of Llanerch, Pa.; a mixed choir of 300 voices, a Chinese baritone soloist, Rev. Philip Lee of Chicago, and a half-hour pre-service organ concert.

The committee arranged again to proclaim the theme of the service—"Christ Is Risen"—to the outdoor congregation in letters fourteen feet high and ten feet wide.

SAYS DIABETIC DRIVERS CAN OVERCOME FAINTING

By the Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., April 9.—The diabetic can drive his automobile without fear of fainting at the wheel if he eats every two hours.

Declaring diabetics often experience fainting sensations as a reaction to insulin, Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, of Boston, noted diabetes clinician, said food will revive such patients promptly.

The faint feeling occurs as the insulin reduces the blood's sugar content and may be allayed by eating a lump of sugar, Dr. Joslin said.

The Harvard professor emeritus appeared last night at closing convention sessions of the Northern Tri-State Medical Association, which embraces Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

Experimental diabetes in animals has brought preventions and cures which now guide in the treatment of humans and ultimately may lead to cure of the disease in man, he reported.

Doctor Joslin said that only 700,000 persons in the United States know they have diabetes but that one out of every twenty men and one of every forty-five women over 65 have the disease.

remain on desk duty at the First Precinct.

Lieutenant Lavin, now at the Second Precinct, to assume desk duty at the First Precinct; Detective Sergt. Herman Fretz, to continue in present duties under Captain Manning; Lieutenant Flaherty, assigned to Captain Manning's office, will remain in present post.

Sergt. Joseph Brogan, at present assigned to Mayor James T. Kirk's staff, is transferred from the Detective Bureau to the Traffic Division; Desk Sergt. Nicholas Migliore transferred to the Radio Division; Desk Sergt. William O'Connor, assigned to Second Precinct desk duty.

Placed on Desk Duty.

Sergeant Maroney, is at present desk duty at the Second Precinct; Desk Sergt. James McGuire, to be on relief detail for the desk assignments at the First and Second Precincts and for the Radio Division; Lieutenant Johnson and Traffic Sergt. Ray Agar, to alternate in tours of duty in the Traffic Division, "being strictly responsible for officers under their commands."

Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Novitalle, assigned to plainclothes duty in the Detective Bureau; Reserve Patrolman John Mullaney, shifted to duty as a plainclothesman in the Detective Bureau; Patrolman Frank Walsh, assigned to the Newark Avenue Branch of the Central Home Trust Company; Patrolman Robert E. Decker of the Second Precinct, assigned to motorcycle detail in the Traffic Division.

Creation of the rank of detective for the plainclothesmen, which had been expected at last night's session, did not materialize, but the commissioners said this action merely awaited the preparation of the resolution under the advice of the city law department. A special meeting of the commission may be called to consider this move.

Isador Robinson, president of the board, in a statement issued after the meeting emphasized that the changes were in no sense a "shake-up, but rather . . . result of long study and are considered to be for the good of the department."

Not a "Shake-up."

Commissioner Robinson's statement follows:

"The changes being made today are not to be considered a 'shake-up,' but rather are changes made as a result of long study and which are considered to be for the good of the department.

"Every city of our size in the State of New Jersey, and many cities smaller than Elizabeth, have for many years had the rank of a lieutenant, and the men doing detective work under the command of Captain Winkelmann should have an official designation as detectives. The same thing applies to the rank of lieutenant. City Council recognized this in approving our budget, in which was made provision for the lieutenants, and all these men have qualified by examination, and were certified to us by Civil Service.

"The police departments in all large cities and many of the smaller cities have long had deputy chiefs. We formerly had in our department the rank of deputy chief, and it is regrettable that this rank was ever abolished. Any city over 100,000 in population should have a deputy in command when the chief is busy on police work throughout the city, or as sometimes happens is out of the city on official business. I believe that the public interest requires this, and that we owe it to the City of Elizabeth to provide this protection.

"Captain Coughlin established for himself an enviable record as a sergeant of the Traffic Division, and later was captain of that division, during which time he inaugurated the one-way traffic at the Broad street arch, correcting what was a very dangerous situation.

"Not only in Elizabeth, but on all the highways of the State traffic accidents are increasing. I would like to have Captain Coughlin as deputy chief, acting in conjunction with Captain Coyle, take the traffic situation in hand and see what can be done to reduce the number of accidents in the city. This can be done only by attentive supervision and strict enforcement.

"I shall expect the deputy chief immediately to make a survey of the conditions of the Traffic Department, and make such recommendations as in his opinion will result in better enforcement, to the end that the number of accidents in the city be reduced to a minimum."

Took Rutgers Courses.

Lieutenant Flaherty, a veteran of more than twenty years in police work, was named sergeant in 1926. He lives at 138 Acme street. He has served on motorcycle duty and in the Detective Bureau.

Appointed as sergeant in 1929, Lieutenant Donovan has been on the force since 1921. He is in charge of the Identification Bureau and the record room. He resides at 940 Cross avenue.

Veterans in Service.

Lieutenant Angen was appointed to the department in 1910 and has been a sergeant since 1921. He lives at 749 Canten street.

Lieutenant Martin has been in charge of detectives at the Second Precinct. He was named to the force in 1910 and has been a sergeant since 1927. He lives at 143 Acme street.

Captain Coyle last night recommended erection of a traffic signal at the Stewart place, Washington avenue and Lidgerwood avenue intersection.

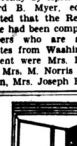

Vacations for the department were authorized.

Commissioners Robinson, Kazmarski, George F. Cushing and F. J. Donohue attended the session.

Ingenious Chamber Provides Quick Army Study.

By Special News Service

CAMP LIVINGSTON, La., April 9—Army chemical warfare experts here have rigged up an ingenious chamber for giving soldiers an object lesson in how handy gas masks can be.

The CWS (Chemical Warfare Service) unit with the Thirty-second Division believes its portable gas chamber is unique in the army.

It can be moved anywhere, set up in a few minutes and handle demonstrations in gas mask technique for a great number of troops in a comparatively short period.

Lt.-Col. John D. Alexander, of Kenosha, Wis., and aides devised the chamber and had quartermaster workmen construct it from plywood.

Its thirteen light sections can be whisked anywhere by truck in an army camp and bolted together airtight for gas mask lessons. It measures 8 feet wide by 12 feet long by 8 feet high.

"We call it a prefabricated gas chamber," says First Lieut. Maurice A. Peerenboom. "It works better than the permanent chamber in use at many training camps because we take it to the troops instead of their having to come to us.

"Then we find our chamber much better than the gas tent which, though portable, leaks too much. Boy, you really get a dose in ours."

And the Thirty-second's "gashouse gang" gave a convincing demonstration.

A squad of troops donned army masks and entered the chamber in which tear gas had been released in thick, almost-transparent clouds. Nothing happened, and after a few minutes they filed out in the open field.

Then all trooped back into the chamber. At a signal, they removed their masks and, within a few seconds, scrambled out, stumbling over each other with streaming eyes.

Eyes cleared up under "gashouse gang" instructions for the troops to face the wind without rubbing their eyes because this would only keep them crying longer. Tears wash out them fumes quickly in fresh air.

"In this way the men learn to depend on their gas masks," explained Lieutenant Peerenboom. "We teach them how to wear 'em and how effective they are against gas."

Lessons include sniffs at really lethal gases. After a small quantity is released out in an open field, troops approach gingerly, get a good whiff and beat a quick retreat. The idea is to teach them to know the odors.

"WASN'T FOOLING."

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 9—When two men snatched her mother's purse, Loretta Egan, 28, ran after them, shouting: "You'll be sorry! My father is a policeman!" Whereupon, the pair dropped the purse, its contents intact, and fled down an alley. Loretta wasn't fooling either. Her father is a police captain.

STRATEGIC MOVE.

HUTCHINSON, Kas., April 9—A yearling buffalo stamped around his corral daring his keepers, who wanted to crate him for shipment, to enter. The animal finally was deprived of water for twenty-four hours. When his trough was filled, he gulped long and loud—then keeled over.

He had been slipped a "Mickey Finn."

● SERIAL STORY

BY EDITH ELLINGTON

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Bee sees the make-believe world she has learned to love crashing. She blames Clarence for calling in police. The morning papers confirm that thought. Anxiously she waits as Toby and Vera read the news. Surely they will recognize her. When they do not, she decides they have known her all the time, that they are just waiting to see what she will do.

CHAPTER XXVI.

"What's the matter with you, Bee?" Vera asked, as Beatrice rose from the table. "Jittery?" There was such matter-of-fact affection in her tone, such serene absence of undercurrent, that Beatrice knew at once she'd been wrong. These girls had not the faintest inkling of suspicion.

She must compose herself! She went into the bedroom, taking the tabloid with her. "Why don't they see?" she asked herself. "There I am, and—" she looked into the mirror, "There I am again!"

But something in the mirror arrested her. She examined the face on the front page.

"It is different."

She stared hungrily into the mirror. "I'm thinner, that's what it is I—I've lost that superior, snobbish look. And—and I'm not glamorous any more."

In the photograph, she had been finished, assured, the glittering product of a deft hairdresser's art a superb masseuse, a gifted modiste.

"And now, in this old store dress with my hair all wrong and my chin so pointed and circles under my eyes . . . now I'm just another girl! I haven't had a facial in weeks. I've used up my expensive lipstick. I've given up mascara, lashcream, freshener pads when I lie down. . . ." Her eyes smarted. "I've changed. I'm not me any more."

She knew a bewildering stab of loss. Then she thought, "Toby's right, it's easy to be beautiful when you have lots of money."

She understood now the savage resentment of the girls in the store against the well-fed, rested, expensively furred customers who swept through the main floor. She understood why they said, "What's that dame got that I haven't?"

No, Toby and Vera had not been blind this morning. They might have noticed some fleeting resemblance, but probably even that was fantastic. When you looked at Beatrice Huntington Davenport's picture, you simply didn't think of Bee Davis.

She was very silent, going to work with Toby. On the subway, every third person was reading about the kidnaping. Yet no one looked up from the paper to catch a fugitive likeness in the face of the girl across the aisle.

She thought, "Of course Mr. Weeming would recognize me instantly. And Clarence. And all those girls and men I played around with. They'd recognize me. The way they'd know me after I'd been through some wasting illness. . . ."

In the store, everybody was talking about the kidnaping. Even Miss Dane joined in. "It just goes to show you, being rich is no bed of roses. I'm glad Mr. Huntington's not alive to go through it. He thought the sun rose and set in that girl."

"Did you ever see her?" Beatrice asked.

"Once, when she was a little girl. He took her through the store. She had on a white bunny coat."

The coat had been ermine. Beatrice remembered it sharply. She'd been 10 years old.

After an hour or two, Budget Fashions settled down to the business of selling dresses. Beatrice waited on customers, and at the back of her mind there was a numbed wonder. Suppose she'd really been kidnaped? Who would care, would really grieve, except Clarence? "And he can always go back to Mimi Frothingham!"

Mr. Weeming might care. He was fond of her, beneath his constant disapproval. "Bee, you're . . ."

No one. No one at all. The store wouldn't change. It would go right on the way Bruce Sheldrake and the trust company wanted it to go.

"Yet, if I disappeared as Bee Davis—" her eyes sought Anthony's, and he smiled at her over the head of a woman he was talking to. "Why, Bee Davis is more important than Beatrice Davenport! Toby would miss me, and Vera. Even Terry's loathsome wit might fall him, for a while. Miss Dane would care. I know she would! And Getzie. And Miss Ryan."

In six short weeks, she had made a warm place for herself in many hearts. "I had no money, no job, nothing but the clothes on my back. They don't know where I came from or anything about me. But they like me. They love me."

How wonderful that there were people in the world who could take a lone girl to their hearts, that way! "I was poorer when I was rich," she thought.

But sooner or later, if the papers kept on printing pictures, there'd be one picture that must check Beatrice knew that. Despite the difference, someone must see. "Besides, the government men are searching for me. They'll trace me. They have ways. They're so clever at finding people!"

She had to call the hunt off. This was her last morning in Budget Fashions.

She looked at Miss Ryan, who must stop work next month. "I'll send her baby clothes and a crib and lots of things."

She looked at Miss Getz. "I'll arrange that pension."

But she grew cold, looking at Anthony. Must it? Oh, how can I explain to him? How can I show him that I had to do it?"

Budget Fashions had never been dear to her, yet, in that moment, she wanted to gather it all up and hold it close to her heart. She wanted to keep all these girls for friends, she wanted to go on listening to the intimate details of their lives, she wanted to be just Bee Davis, another girl like themselves, instead of the heiress who was buying herself what they called an "Italian prince."

She'd never go back to Clarence, no matter what happened! "I don't want to even see him! All I want is Anthony! Oh, how will I tell him?"

In a little while, she'd be sitting across the table at lunch with him. "Then I'll leave the store and go to Mr. Weeming's office. . . ." She played with the thought of sticking this out another day. Even one little day was suddenly precious.

A man came into the department. A heavy man in a brown suit who stood beside a dummy in a lace dress and surveyed the department with shrewd, narrowed eyes.

"He's looking for me!" The humiliation of being trapped before she ended the masquerade herself crushed her. She shrank behind a rack of dresses. "I must get out of here!"

But Miss Getz bumping into her, said, "Look at that." The man had taken out a tape measure. "They're going to put new carpet down. First thing we know, they'll be modernizing all over. . . ." Her tone was thoughtful. When they'd modernized upstairs, they'd shoved her down here. Now where could she go?

Beatrice squeezed her hand, in an ecstacy of relief. "Don't worry, Getzie."

Anthony was standing at the wrapping desk, watching the men measure for the carpet. Beatrice went up to him. "First I heard about this."

"Yes," he ripped out. "First I heard, too. But Miss Dane just explained it. They're redecorating the department so they can use my idea." His voice was bitter.

"Only, it has been reborn as the merchandise manager's bright little brain child!"

In Memoriam

HOELZEL—In memory of Mrs. Lena Hoelzel who passed away April 9, 1940.
A light is from our household gone
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home.
Which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten.
Though your memory we are no more.
But in memory you are with us.
As you always were before.
A FRIEND

KLEMPA—In sad and loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Eva Klempa, who died April 9, 1936.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid.
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true.
One in a million—that mother was you.
Just in your judgment, always right.
Honest and liberal, ever upright.
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.
Our wonderful mother—that mother was you.

MEN GARDENERS HEAR TALK BY SOIL EXPERT

Soil and its conditioning were the theme of the meeting of the Men's Garden Club of Westfield last night in the Half Way House, Route 29, Mountainside. Professor Firman H. Bear, soils expert at the State Agriculture College, was the speaker.

More than eighty-five members and guests, from Westfield, Mountainside, Plainfield, Elizabeth and Linden were present. This was one of the largest functions conducted by the club.

Bear talked on soil structure and explained means of adapting it for growth, recommending particularly judicious use of peat moss and lime.

Fred D. Osman, the county agricultural agent, supplemented the talk with a picture of microscopic views of the struggle between fungi and nomatodes that characterises good soil.

BAR UNIT FAVORS FULL-TIME COURT

Asks Permanent Setup For Compensation Cases.

Permanent designation of a deputy commissioner of labor for compensation hearings here was recommended in a resolution adopted last night at a dinner meeting of the Union County Bar Association at the Winfield Scott Hotel. This step, the lawyers contended, would clear the calendar and end present confusion.

Deputy commissioners sit here frequently, but the Labor Department has no regular office in Union County and hearings are conducted in any court room at the Courthouse that may not be in use by other tribunals. Counsel and litigants consequently often are delayed and confused as to designation.

The proposal of the bar association, to be transmitted to the commissioner of labor, the Governor and the Legislature, advocates creation of a permanent office and hearing room and the full-time assignment of a deputy.

Guests included Isadore J. Kresel, Manhattan lawyer who participated victoriously in one of the major TVA litigations; Milton Unger, Newark, first vice-president of the State association; William Connor, Trenton, second vice-presidents of the State association; Harry Green, Newark, chairman of the State association membership committee; Edward O'Brien, president of the Plainfield association, and Richard Magner, president of the Linden association.

The attendance at this session, the first in the administration of Judge Louis C. Leimann, Jr., surpassed any meeting in the association's history in recent years. The program included an address by Kresel and remarks by other guests.

Aaron Kaufman, chairman of the activities committee, announced a "gridiron" dinner for May and a golf tourney for June. The dates will be determined by his committee.

Emanuel Wagner, chairman of the legislative committee, commented on pending legislation. Richard F. Green, chairman of the membership committee, introduced four new membe s and also proposed a revision in the membership section of the by-laws.

The new members are Henry W. Decker, Elizabeth; Arthur W. Herrigel, Newark; Martin B. O'Connor, Elizabeth, and Malcolm R. Johnson, Elizabeth.

Other guests at the session included Judge Lloyd Thompson, Judge Edward A. McGrath, Judge John L. Hughes, of Summit; Judge Elvin H. Ulrich, of Union; Judge Louis Rakin, of Linden; former Judge Clark McK. Whittemore, former Judge Salvatore LaCorte, Surrogate Charles A. Otto, Jr., former Judge Orlando H Dey, of Rahway; County Clerk Henry G. Nulton, Judge Henry S. Waldman, Frank J. Pfaff, Frank A. English, Assistant Prosecutor Thomas F. Hueston and George McIlroy.

LEGION LEADERS VISIT POST HERE

County Officers Speak at Bayway Group's Session.

County officers of the American Legion paid their official visit to Bayway Post, 280, last night at Eagles' Hall, 1108 Elizabeth avenue. Joseph G. Carty, State executive committeeman; Gustav Bohnenberger, Jr., county commander; Lloyd C. Rader and Michael Zuccarrello, county vice-commanders, spoke on phases of progress in the program of the county legion.

Other county officers present included Herbert E. Gustafson, historian; John Philhower, chaplain, and Jack Tannenbaum, sergeant-at-arms.

Plans were made for a delegation to visit Linden Post, 102, at its session on April 17 at Linden Post headquarters, Elizabeth avenue. A social hour will follow.

Commander Edward C. Earhart appointed John Yoerger as chairman of the Memorial Day committee and Peter Schwartz, chairman of the Poppy Day committee. A resolution concerning the death of John J. Banks, long a member of the medical department at the Bayway Refinery, will be forwarded to members of the family.

A committee was appointed by the commander to complete arrangements for the shift from Eagles' Hall to the Bayway Community Center at the post's meeting place. The move follows an invitation from the Bayway Refineries to make use of the community building.

A $25 attendance award was carried over until the next meeting on May 7. Refreshments were served under the direction of Nicholas Chuloff, chairman of last night's good and welfare committee.

RETURNING POLAR SHIP DUE MAY 20 AT BOSTON

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 9.—Admiral Richard E. Byrd's polar exploration ship, the Bear, arrived today from Punta Arenas, Chile, with forty-six members of the United States Antarctic Expedition who spent almost two years at Marguerite Bay.

The motorship North Star, with thirty-three other explorers who studied conditions at Little America, is en route to Seattle from Punta Arenas.

The Bear is expected to reach Boston about May 20, and the North Star probably will dock a week earlier in Seattle.

The parties had expected to remain in the south polar regions for five or six years, but ended their expedition when Congress refused to provide more than a total of $521,000 already granted.

Stock Market—Business

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 9.—War stocks took another beating today before the market found a firm footing.

Leading the retreat in an obvious reaction to the news of the swift Nazi advance into Greece and Yugoslavia, Bethlehem du Pont, United States Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse and Union Carbide dropped one to around two points but showed a partial recovery near the fourth hour.

Corporate bonds and most commodities yielded further ground with stocks.

Participating in the march to the rear were General Motors, Santa Fe, American Can, International Harvester, Western Union, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Anaconda and Kennecott, although the losses mainly were small.

Aluminum Company of America in the last hour dove five at one time and moderate declines were recorded in American Light & Traction, Bell Aircraft and Scovill Manufacturing.

Steel shares stiffened after disclosure Republic Steel in the first quarter earned $1.35 a share on its common against 42 cents in the like 1940 period, despite a larger provision for estimated Federal taxes than was paid for all 1940.

Business reports showed some interruption of activity from strikes. The soft coal shutdown was first largely responsible for a sharp drop last week in rail loadings. On the basis of preliminary reports of individual roads, it was estimated the freight haul was cut to about 682,000 cars from 792,125 the previous week.

Electric power consumption, however, held near peak levels, indicating over-all business was swinging along at the record-breaking pace of recent weeks. The Edison Electric Institute reported power output last week ran 16.7 per cent ahead of the comparable 1940 period.

Easter shopping, stimulated by the great rise in factory payrolls the past year, was expected to roll up the biggest spring retail trade since 1929, at least.

Trade sources forecast automobile retail sales through April would continue to set records for the season or come close to old records. March deliveries to consumers, it was noted, were nearly 30 per cent ahead of the figures for March, 1940.

Also noted was the Iron Age assertion that pig iron and steel output will be affected shortly unless a speedy settlement of the coal miners' strike allows resumption of mining.

One large source which depends upon beehive coke has been shut, and other furnaces may be forced to bank later in the week unless a supply of coal is shipped to beehive ovens in Western Pennsylvania, the magazine said.

While the majority of blast furnaces use by-product coke, instead of beehive coke, any work stoppage at this time seriously threatens maximum output of steel.

The Iron Age publication said the banking of blast furnaces by the Ford Motor Company because of labor difficulties accounted mainly for a decline of one point to 99 per cent in the average production rate in the industry.

Iron Age added that steel orders continued in an undiminished rate, in some instances in excess of March tonnages. The automobile industry has been told it cannot have as large a tonnage of steel as it desires for 1942 schedules to be produced in the last half.

Bond Market

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 9.—Rail issues slumped under expanded selling in a generally lower Bond Market today.

Losses of as much as a point were common toward mid-session and in some of the more speculatively rated carriers declines ran to around three points.

The market moved in step with the downward rush of German Panzer divisions in the Balkins. Traders ignored the fact domestic business was as they pondered the possible effect of fresh German war gains.

Bond Market sentiment was clarified, however, in the foreign dollar division. Germany Government 4½s of 1965 advanced in comparatively heavy trade but lower prices came through in issues of Italy, Belgium, Canada, Japan and Latin America.

Domestic corporates under pressure included Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles, 4½s, 1960, 5s of 1975, Illinois Central 4½s, North Western general 4s of 1957, Pere Marquette 4s, N. Y. Central 5s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of 1962, International Telephone 5s, American & Foreign Power 5s and General Steel Castings 5½s.

U. S. Governments followed the general downward pattern with losses ranging to one-eighth of a point.

TUBERCULOSIS DIAGNOSIS TECHNIQUES DISCUSSED

Dr. M. T. Weissman, of Elisabeth, and Dr. Paul Geary and Dr. James G. Boyea, both of Plainfield, were speakers this morning at the third session of a "Refresher Course in Tuberculosis" being sponsored by the Union County Medical Society and the Union County Tuberculosis League. The meeting was held at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, New Providence.

Doctor Geary showed the sixty physicians present five-reel public welfare workers who are taking the course how surgery can help in the treatment of tuberculosis by demonstrating what is known as artificial pneumothorax. The basis of all treatment in this disease, he said, is rest.

Doctor Weissman stressed how necessary it is in diagnosing tuberculosis to have a complete picture, including knowledge of the patient's ever having come in contact with the ailment. Physical examination, tuberculin test, the X-ray, laboratory examinations and finally, a complete study of all of these factors are necessary before making a final diagnosis, he stated.

Dr. James G. Boyea, consultant roentgenologist at Bonnie Burn, described methods used in studying X-ray plates.

WILLARD UNION PLANS INSTITUTE ON MAY 13

Willard Branch of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union yesterday selected Tuesday, May 13, as the date for a local Institute. There will be morning and afternoon sessions at Park Methodist Church, with a box luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Louis Freschlein, of 250 Westfield avenue, was hostess for yesterday's meeting, and the president, Mrs. Frank L. Bunting, was in charge. Mrs. Bertram Sauerbrun led the devotions. Reports of directors showed that the departmental work is progressing.

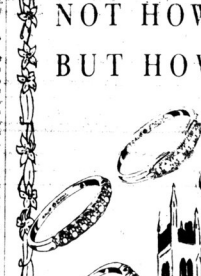

A Union Signal program was presented, with a quiz on contents of recent issues of the magazine, and the union renewed its subscriptions for copies sent to the Elizabeth Public Library and a branch library.

A group subscription to the Young Crusader for use in the Loyal Temperance Legion units, was renewed.

Mrs. Bunting announced that the spring institute of the Union County Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held Tuesday, April 29, in the Methodist Church, Springfield, with morning and afternoon sessions, and a potluck. The guest speaker will be the State W. C. T. U. president, Mrs. Mary DuBois, of Salem, whose address will be given in the afternoon. There will be a box luncheon at noon.

The members were much interested in the announcement that Mrs. Ella P. Christner, of Montclair, editor of the State paper, "White Ribbon News," has been appointed director of the National W. C. T. U. department of work for soldiers and sailors. Mrs. Christner is well known to members of the Elizabeth group, and they will cooperate in her plan for "Victory Jar" centers at army camps.

CHAPTER READY TO HELP SLAVS

U. S. Red Cross to Ship Goods Worth $1,000,000.

Elizabethtown Chapter, American Red Cross, along with other Red Cross chapters throughout the Nation, has been authorized by the National organization to accept contributions for relief in Nazi-attacked Yugoslavia, Mrs. H. Margaret Hansen, executive secretary of the chapter, announced today.

All donations made in the chapter for this cause will be so earmarked and sent directly to National Red Cross headquarters in Washington for transmission as funds and relief supplies to the war-torn country.

Mrs. Hansen said that she had word from National headquarters that immediately on the outbreak of hostilities, the American Red Cross contacted the society in Yugoslavia to ascertain relief needs, and pending a reply has authorized the purchase and shipment of relief items worth more than $1,000,000. These are to be dispatched to Yugoslavia as soon as possible. They consist largely of medical and surgical supplies, including ten field hospitals, 100,000 blankets, 1,500,000 quinine tablets, X-ray units, vaccines, and other medicines, and 2,000,000 chapter-produced surgical dressings.

It was also pointed out by Mrs. Hansen that for some time the American Red Cross has been pouring all kinds of relief supplies into Greece. More than $2,000,000 in cash and supplies has been sent to that country.

Supplies already purchased for Yugoslavia were ordered on the advice of the country's representatives in this country, who have also asked that Americans, wishing to contribute to help the nation's cause, send their money through the Red Cross chapters.

ARCHITECTS DINE, TALK OF TRENDS IN DESIGN

The Union County Society of Architects met last night with the Suburban Society, an annual custom, at Zigler's, East Orange. No formal program was offered, the talks and comments centered on the divided trend between modern and conventional American design for residential building.

The group was told that the modern trend is strongly apparent on both the west and east coasts, but that through the hinterland had not taken hold. Architects and clients preponderantly cling to standard American designs.

The modern, however, is making distinct headway in industrial and commercial construction.

New materials were suggested as a reason for the marked turn to modern design. These lend themselves particularly to business and manufacturing structures.

AUTO SPREADS HAVOC.

Car Hits House, Hedge and Trees in Dash at Union.

Special to the Journal.

UNION, April 9.—A house, a hedge and two shade trees were damaged about 4 A. M. today when an auto driven by Arthur Lehman, 27 years old, of 23 Colonial avenue, Springfield, ran wild in Burnet avenue. The motorist told Patrolmen Jack Anderson and Henry Kitchell the car swerved out of control and that his brakes appeared inoperative as he tried to avoid a small animal which ran in front of the auto as he drove south on Burnet avenue.

The roadster swung over a walk, damaged one shade tree and knocked another down and cut a hole in a hedge on property of F. J. Wahlers at 1061 Burnet avenue, continued down the street and struck a porch on the residence of George M. Weiss at 1060 Burnet avenue, damaging it severely, according to Kitchell and Anderson.

HEALTHY HABITS FOR GIRLS, TOPIC

Battin P.-T. A. Hears Talk by Dr. Gibb.

The need for development of habits of healthful living in girls of high school age was stressed by Dr. Alice Gibb, Elizabeth physician, yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Battin High School Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium. Dr. Gibb spoke on the topic, "The Physical and Mental Health of the High School Girl." She recommended adequate sleep and rest.

Pointing out the need for good, nourishing meals, Dr. Gibb recommended balanced diets, rich in vitamins and energy-producing foods. The value of outdoor exercise was emphasized. Dr. Gibb was introduced by Mrs. McIver Woody, program chairman.

Support of the joint concert to be given by Battin and Thomas Jefferson High School musical units, April 24 at Battin High School was voted by the association. The proceeds will be used to defray the expense of sending Battin and Jefferson student musicians to the National Music Competition Festival in Atlantic City, May 2 and 3. Henri Penois, of the New Jersey Philharmonic Orchestra, will be the guest conductor.

Plans for a card party May 1 at the school for the benefit of the Battin Student Aid Fund and Elizabethtown Chapter, American Red Cross were discussed. Mrs. Robert O. Bouton is chairman of arrangements. Tickets will be distributed to the closest body today under the direction of Mrs. Yolanda de Cesare, of the faculty. Mrs. W. G. Rice was named chairman of the nominating committee which will report at the April meeting May 8 when officers will be elected. Other members are Miss Anne Dewitt, Mrs. Woody, Mrs. Harold Card and Mrs. Herbert Wessels.

The association voted approval of the announcement made by Mrs. Aaron Cohn in that the Board of Education has appropriated $1,500 for the purchase of lockers for the school. Mrs. Cohen, a member of the committee which discussed the problem with the board reported in behalf of Joseph Drodzick, committee chairman. WINS HIS CHANCE AT NAVY CAREER

Janet Orphange Resident Gets Appointment to Annapolis.

ARTHUR G. REID
Jefferson High School boy selected for Naval Academy training.

Arthur G. Reid, 17-year-old senior at Thomas Jefferson High School, a resident of the Janet Memorial Home for nine years was notified yesterday afternoon by Representative Donald H. McLean of his appointment to the United States Naval Academy. The appointee earned the highest mark in competitive examinations held February 21 at the Elizabeth Post Office. Seventy-five boys, some of them of college age, were bested by the Elizabeth student.

Alternates as announced by Congressman McLean are Robert Barton Waddington, of 260 Second avenue east; Keefe Richard Stuart Baird, of 1115 Fifth avenue west; Roselle and Joseph Finelli, of 404 East Third street, Plainfield.

Arthur's success has not surprised his schoolmates. His well-rounded record lists him as secretary of his class, president of the Hi-Y and Al Chemers clubs and the eleventh-ranking senior among almost 500. He is a member of the Jefferson varsity wrestling team competing in the 145-pound class. He will be graduated in June. Other city schools he attended are Robert Morris School, 18, and Alexander Hamilton Junior High School.

Born in New York City his father served in the Navy during the World War and his grandfather also followed the sea. He said he has always been fascinated by the thought of a military career and has hoped many years for the appointment received yesterday.

"I knew I did fairly well in the exams, but not this well," he said.

Phidias I. Polis, his wrestling coach, a lawyer, fanned his ambition to enter naval service. Arthur is intensely interested in mathematics and science courses—a leaning that will help him at Annapolis, he thinks.

The board of managers of the home is justifiably gratified by Arthur's achievement and considers him one of the outstanding residents.

Another example of the sea's lure for Elizabeth's youth is given by William, Arthur's older brother, who lived at the Janet home until a few years ago. Now nearly 21 years old, he is an ordinary seaman traveling the world from South America. His ambition is to save enough money for a course at the United States Merchant Marine Academy.

Robert Waddington is the son of School Commissioner and Mrs. Robert Waddington. The father is president of the Roselle Board of Education. The son is a senior at Roselle Park High School. Roselle, where he is president of the Senior Honor Society. He has been an honor student the past five years in the college preparatory scientific course. He is a member of the Junior Essex Troop, of Westfield, junior auxiliary to the Essex Troop, cavalry. Waddington also is a candidate for entrance to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., and will take a competitive examination in May.

Richard Baird is the son of Mrs. Vivian B. Baird, who is conected with the Roselle school system. A senior at the Abraham Clark High School, he is a member of the Senior Honor Society and has been an honor student the past five years in the college preparatory scientific course. He has maintained an "A" average with all marks between 90 and 100 per cent, during his entire high school career.

Joseph Finelli, 18 years old, is a senior at Plainfield High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Finelli.

SEEK INCREASED HOLIDAY CLOSING

War Veterans to Ask Merchants to Cooperate.

The Central Committee of Elizabeth War Veterans wants stricter observance of American holidays by business men and will seek the support of two merchants' organizations by "suggesting" that holiday closing be observed by all retail firms.

Meeting last night in the Court-house, the committee comprised of representatives of all Nationally-chartered organizations of former service men, under of a recently-adopted resolution on the subject by the 20th annual, 1862, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Ray U. Peppercorn, chairman, instructed Victor Thompson, secretary, to write to the Broad Street and Elizabeth Avenue Improvement Associations regarding the committee's action.

Considering plans for next month's observance of Memorial Day the group announced that David Rice Post, 63, Jewish War Veterans, would be permitted under the rotation system to name the grand marshal for the parade. Capt. William K. Riley was elected chief of staff and Capt. Thompson, parade adjutant. At the suggestion of Daniel Byrnes, of Foreign Service Chapter, 34, Disabled American Veterans, Red Cross units will hold a field service at Liberty Square preceding the formation of the annual parade at that point.

Dr. Samuel Steckerl was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for veterans to address school assembly audiences at special Memorial Day observance on account of the public holiday. Through arrangements with Dr. Ray E. Chester, superintendent, the programs will be held on May 27, 28 and 29.

The committee set May 23, 24, 26, 27, 28 and 29 for the annual sale of memorial poppies distributed by the various veterans' organizations.

COUNTY CHURCH GROUP CONFERS

Home Department Leaders Meet at Springfield.

Special to the Journal.

SPRINGFIELD, April 9. — More than 100 persons attended the annual business conference of the County Home Department of the Union County Council of Religious Education at the Presbyterian Church yesterday. Mrs. Grace Durr, of Cranford, county superintendent, was in charge of the meeting. Following a welcome by officers the devotions were led by Rev. George Liggett, pastor of the host church. Reports of all county chairmen were received. Mrs. Durr also rendered a report of the work she had done during the year.

At the election, during which Mrs. Liggett presided, Mrs. Durr was reelected superintendent. All other officers also were reelected. An open forum was held and reports were made by department leaders. The luncheon speaker was Rev. Franklin Artley, of the Elmora Presbyterian Church, of Elizabeth.

Following the recess Rev. M. Y. Poynter, of the Methodist Church, of Cranford, gave a talk on the work of the home departments throughout the country. There was scripture reading and several hymns were sung. Illness prevented Mrs. Vernon Olson, of Newark, the scheduled speaker, from being present.

ELMORA CHURCH GROUP MAPS YEAR'S PROGRAM

Plans for its second year of service in the church and for the cause of missions were made yesterday afternoon by the Women's Missionary Society of the Elmora Presbyterian Church. The members met at the home of Mrs. Bruno Rapell, 661 Jefferson avenue with thep resident, Mrs. Norman Aydelotte, in charge.

It was voted that the mite box system be introduced in the group, that overseas sewing and gauze work be undertaken at the meetings, and that $50 be pledged to the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Elizabeth. Last year the group contributed to the work of the presbyterial society, but it was the consensus yesterday that the pledge this year should be for a definite sum.

The society will be in charge of the evening church service Sunday, April 27 and will present a play under Mrs. Aydelotte's direction.

The president named thep rogram committee for the year—Mrs. Rosa D. Ingalls, chairman, Mrs. Franklin L. Artley and Mrs. Rapell.

Mrs. Marie Christensen, of 565 Chilton street, will be hostess for the next meeting, to be held Tuesday, May 13, at which time the new schedule will go into effect—overseas sewing, beginning at 10:30 A. M., box luncheon, devotions, business meeting and program.

At the close of yesterday's meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Rapell and Mrs. August Winkelmann, co-hostess.

U. S. MEDIATION STEPS AWAITED

Phelps-Dodge Stoppage Certified to Federal Body.

Both sides to the Committee for Industrial Organization union and the management to the dispute which has tied up defense production in the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corporation plant in Bayway for the past three days today awaited action of the National Defense Mediation Board to which the stoppage has been certified by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

The Federal Government has stepped into the picture here because shutdown of the plant affects a nine state section of National defense program.

A request from the Navy Department that all plant union members be sent back to work at once to avoid cutting badly needed in warship construction has been granted, Peter D. Reich, international representative of the union, said today. The work will be done this afternoon.

Between fifty and 100 workers, according to need, will be permitted to pass through the picketlines to prepare the shipments, he said. The crews will load 47,394 pounds of red brass pipe for the Boston Navy Yard, 5,248 pounds of tubing going to the Westinghouse Company and 24,490 pounds of tubing consigned to the Bethlehem Steel Company.

The company has $30,000,000 worth of defense orders in four plants, at Bayway, in Los Angeles, in Fort Wayne and in Yonkers, but the three others all depend on the plant here to come a cent for primary processing. In addition to those contracts affected directly, the shutdown also hits some $200,000,000 worth of defense production in other plants.

Copper parts, cable, wire and tubing produced by Phelps-Dodge is used in a myriad of defense items, and their lack may mean loss of production in shipyards, airplane factories and tank plants.

Charles McLaren, chairman of the "strike" committee of Local 441, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, conducting a stoppage at the Bayway plant said today that the union's negotiating committee is ready to go to Washington or wherever the mediation board calls it.

A similar willingness on the part of the management to give every cooperation to the mediation board is "get this defense production going again as soon as possible" was expressed by a company spokesman, who said that the firm always has been ready to meet with the union's representatives.

The spokesman also pointed out that the Federal Government has taken notice of the importance of the Bayway plant to the National defense effort by the speed with which the stoppage was certified to the mediation board.

The Mayor's Industrial Relations Committee has offered its services as a mediation body, but has had no response from the management.

The union voted the overnight at a meeting Sunday at which a strike vote, taken last Thursday, was counted to show 1,287 in favor of a strike to 129 against it. The stoppage was declared effective Sunday midnight, pending authorization by the National offices of the union of a full-fledged strike.

The stoppage is a protest against what the union charges was "coercion, intimidation and bargaining in bad faith" on the part of the management. The union has demanded two weeks' vacation with pay for men with more than five years' service in addition to org week vacation with pay for those with less than five years; time-and-a-half for Saturday work, double time for Sunday, seven holidays with pay, a night shift bonus and a union shop.
