Inquest Would Punish Delinquents' Parents

Grand Jurors Finish Study On Youth

Juvenile Bureau Urged In Each Town—Court, Police Work Hailed

Summary punishment of parents held responsible for the delinquency of their children was one of six recommendations on juvenile crime problems handed up yesterday afternoon by the January term Grand Jury.

After many weeks of study, the inquest reported its findings in a three-page presentment delivered in Superior Court to Judge Richard J. Hughes.

The Grand Jury, also studying the water supply problem in Union County, won an extension of its term from July 1 to July 15 to complete its survey.

In addition to the recommendation on punishment of parents, the Grand Jury also suggested:

1. Establishment of a special juvenile bureau in each municipal police department where none is presently in existence.

2. Establishment of a course in the subject in the training school conducted by the Union County Police Chiefs' Assn.

3. Issuance by the Juvenile Court of a confidential report to the police chief on the disposition of every juvenile case emanating from his municipality.

Would Change Law

4. Changing the juvenile laws to permit "local" hearings, rather than Juvenile Court action, in cases involving minor charges against first offenders.

5. Lowering of the present age limit of 18 in Juvenile Court to an age to be fixed after a legislative study and a survey by the State Law Enforcement Council.

In its study of the juvenile delinquency problem, the inquest interviewed Juvenile Court Judge Libby E. Sachar and police officials from several communities.

It stated the belief that both the court and municipal police "are giving this problem the attention it deserves."

Text of Presentment

Max J. Berzin, former mayor of Kenilworth, is foreman of the Grand Jury. The presentment on juvenile delinquency follows:

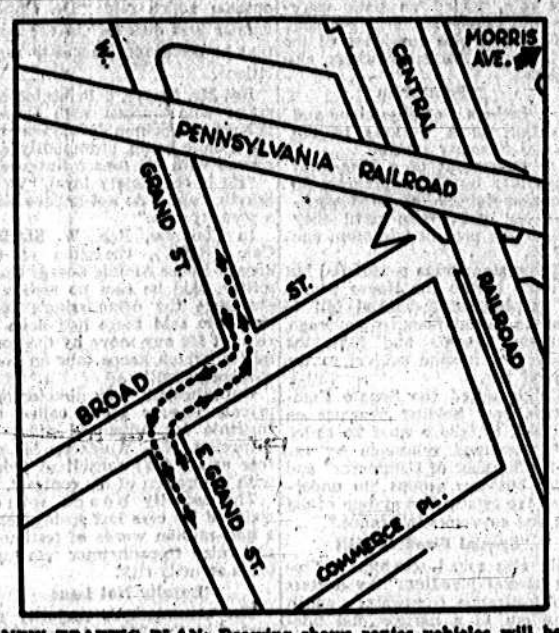

"This Grand Jury, realizing that there are many facets to juvenile delinquency and that a complete study of the problem would be too great a matter for the time at their disposal, but believing that a study of procedure by both the Juvenile Court and the police departments of Union County merited their attention, invited Judge (Libby E.) Sachar of the Union County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court to discuss the problem with the Grand Jury and thereafter invited various mem-

Tractor Mower Topples, Pins, Hurts Operator

LINDEN—Vincent Stefanick, 31, of 720 Clinton St., an employe of the George H. Nelson Construction Co., Rahway, is in serious condition in Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth, with injuries suffered this morning when a tractor lawn mower he was operating on an embankment toppled over on him, police reported.

The accident occurred while Mr. Stefanick was working at the Bayway Refinery of the Esso Standard Oil Co. His injuries include a possible fracture of the skull, possible fractures of the right shoulder and right ankle and lacerations of the face.

NEW TRAFFIC PLAN: Drawing shows routes vehicles will be required to take as they leave E. and W. Grand Sts. at Broad St.

Turns from Grand St. Into Broad Banned

3-Month Trial to Start As Soon As Signs Are Ready—Capt. Flaherty Sees Traffic Flow, Pedestrian Safety Aided—Buses Excluded

A traffic plan requiring vehicles leaving E. Grand St. to head directly into W. Grand and those coming out of W. Grand St. to turn into E. Grand was approved by the Board of Works yesterday for a three-month trial.

No. 11 buses would be the only vehicles excluded from the regulations. They would be permitted to stay in Broad St. for their northward trip after they leave E. Grand St.

All other vehicles leaving E. Grand St.—and those emerging from W. Grand as well—would be forced to get off Broad St. after traversing the short stretch between E. and W. Grand. Turns off Broad St. will be permitted.

Parking Ban Too.

The new regulations will be put into effect as soon as signs are prepared, the board said. They also will include a ban on parking on the north side of E. Grand St. between Broad St. and Jefferson Ave. from 4 to 6 p.m.

Capt. Flaherty recommended the new Broad St. setup to facilitate the flow of vehicles and pedestrian traffic. He said it would be particularly advantageous in improving the safety of pedestrians.

The area's crosswalks across Broad St. presently are subject to hazardous conditions, Capt. Flaherty pointed out.

There also was a discussion on a proposal by the State Division of Motor Vehicles that speed limit signs be installed in Route 1. The city officials agreed but not with the limits suggested by the state.

Differ on Limits

Capt. Flaherty recommended a maximum of 30 miles an hour between the Linden line and North Ave. and 40 miles between North Ave. and Newark. The state proposed 40 and 50, respectively. Its recommendations were based on surveys of driving habits in Route 1.

Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte took part in the meeting. Also present were Board of Works Commissioners William H. Runyon and Ralph V. Mancini, Police Sgts. James McGann and Walter Truzack and Eighth Ward Councilman Maurice A. O'Keefe, who was interested particularly in the Route 1 speed limits.

Spokesmen for merchants and other interested parties were Lyman H. Ware, division manager of the Public Service Coordinated

Hoffman Probe Waits Data On Hotel Parley

TRENTON (AP)—A bank president was expected to give her version today of a secret hotel meeting that resulted in disclosure of former Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's post-mortem confession to a $300,000 bank embezzlement.

Attorney General Grover C. Richman said he awaited a sworn affidavit from Mrs. Mary G. Roebling, president of the Trenton Trust Co., who participated in the June 10 meeting in the Hotel Hildebrecht, two blocks from the statehouse.

At the same time, Richman prepared to release a statement from another banker, George A. Kress, treasurer of the South Amboy Trust Co., which Hoffman headed. Kress, who saw Hoffman's after-death letter admitting he swindled his own bank, was expected to shed some light on Hoffman's charge that he was blackmailed by a state official who threatened to expose him. Kress was believed to have seen the bombshell letter the night of June 10.

May Clear Conflict

Mrs. Roebling's affidavit was designed to clear up apparent conflicts over a $150,000 deposit in her bank as described in a similar affidavit released yesterday. The earlier affidavit was sworn to by William S. Conklin, secretary to the Employment Security Division which Hoffman headed almost up to his death June 4.

J. Connor French, general counsel of Trenton Trust, who also attended the hotel meeting, described Conklin's affidavit as "entirely wrong" in certain instances.

Conklin quoted French as saying Trenton's Trust's board of directors had discussed a $150,000

Churchill-Eisenhower Talks Seen Leaving Asia Stand Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawmakers found few tangible signs today in a statement by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill of any immediate new American-British effort to save Indochina and her neighbors from the Reds.

Churchill said here on his departure for Ottawa yesterday that his five-day talks with Mr. Eisenhower had shown the unity of English speaking peoples is "unbroken and unbreakable."

"I am sure that if we hold together, with all those who come to help us from every land and clime, then we shall be able not only to save ourselves but also to preserve the cause of freedom in the world," he declared.

General Accord

There was in Congress general agreement with this and approval of the Eisenhower-Churchill statement of principles issued shortly before Churchill left. But some senators professed to see more importance in the remark of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that the conference of leaders had laid the foundations "for the work we have yet to do."

Sen. Walter George of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he believed that "some good was accomplished by the conference, but the British haven't changed their minds."

George added he thinks the British remain unconvinced that united action is possible or desirable in Southeast Asia and are resigned to French concessions to the Communist-led rebels in Viet Nam.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn), commented that the Eisenhower-Churchill statement of principles "leaves completely unanswered the pressing problems of the developing fall of Viet Nam behind the Iron Curtain."

Knowland Critical

Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif), who has been critical of British differences with American policies in Southeast Asia, said he wants to learn more about the conference before committing himself on its results.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said it seems obvious that world peace depends largely on the "unity of the free nations," adding that he hopes the conference brought American and British leaders closer together in their thinking.

Water Curb Eased To Save Lawns

ROSELLE — Borough officials today eased restrictions on water use issued a week ago.

Borough Clerk Melvine E. Levers, issued a public notice to all residents as follows: "Effective Sunday, July 4, at 9 p.m. and each Sunday thereafter, until further notice, it will be all right to water your lawns and gardens, and the Mayor and Council wish to thank the citizens of Roselle for their cooperation during this emergency."

Mr. Levers said the action was promoted by pleas from numerous residents who requested action to save their lawns from destruction. The pleas were called to the attention of Mayor Francis A. Pitman, who ordered consultation with Plainfield-Union Water Co. officials with the result that the one-night-a-week sprinkling edict was issued.

Armistice Session Called

Fighting Over, Castillo Seen in Position to Dictate Own Terms

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala's 12-day civil war appeared at an end today, with Communism and President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman the losers.

Rebel chief Carlos Castillo Armas and Col. Elfego Monzon, head of the current military government, were expected to meet today or tomorrow in neighboring El Salvador to work out details of an armistice and a new government.

Diplomats here in the Guatemalan capital believed the two—both anti-Communists — would join in still another new governing junta. The general feeling was that Castillo Armas could dictate his own terms.

Monzon's four-man junta, which took over in the capital before dawn yesterday, already had launched a roundup of Communists. Arbenz and most of the top Reds escaped for the moment, taking refuge in the Mexican embassy. Many lesser-rank leftists and fellow travelers were among the first to denounce Communism and cheer, "We have won."

The time of the Castillo-Monzon meeting was not known here early today, but it was expected to be held as soon as the rebel leader could reach San Salvador's capital, El Salvador.

Ready to Talk

The rebel's rear headquarters said late yesterday Castillo Armas was ready to discuss truce terms but insisted on assurance that the anti-Communist drive would continue.)

The Catican's nuncio to Guatemala, Msgr. Ennaro Erolino, agreed to be the third party at the armistice conference.

Though no formal cease-fire had been proclaimed from either side, all fighting was believed to have halted. Latest information in the capital said the rebels held the state of Zacapa and Chiquimala, as well as Puerto Barrios, the country's chief port on the Caribbean.

It was generally conceded that the Army's resistance to Castillo's forces had collapsed.

U.S. Ambassador John Peurifoy who played a major advisory role in the rapid government shifts, described the outcome as "our first victory" against Communism in the western hemisphere.

Sleepless and haggard after the long conferences, he told newsmen last night he was "greatly encouraged by the present government in its determination to eliminate Communism."

Embassy Bulges

The Mexican Embassy bulged with leftist and Communist refugees, just as El Salvador's diplomatic home here had been crammed with fugitives from Arbenz' government before the Army forced him to resign Sunday night. Other beds and former government officials holed up in the Argentine embassy.

U.S. embassy sources said that along with Arbenz, those in the Mexican compound included former Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello, former Interior Minister Charnaud MacDonald, and such top Communists as Jose Manuel Fortuny, Victor Manuel Gutierrez and Julio Estrado.

Also reported in the Mexican embassy were two members—Monzon was the third—of the 36-hour-old junta which supplanted Arbenz Sunday night and was itself replaced yesterday. The fugitive members were Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz, the provisional President and Army chief of staff under Arbenz, and Col. Jose Angel Sanchez.

The new government warned, however, that the safe conduct abroad it had promised to political refugees would not apply to "those guilty of crimes, killing and murder." It also began checking bank accounts of government officials and Communists to prevent sudden transfers of funds abroad.

The crackdown on the Communists and the intimation that the

3 Steel Firms Sign Pay Rise, Pension Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers had pen and ink ready today for basic steel producers to follow the lead of U. S. Steel Corp., and sign contracts giving 600,000 men a 5-cent an hour pay boost, higher pensions and improved insurance programs.

U. S. Steel, employing 190,000 USW dues-paying and usually the contract pace setter, was first to sign yesterday.

A few hours later, the second largest producer, Bethlehem Steel Co., said it would sign for its 80,000 employes in New York today. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., the fourth largest producer with about 25,000 USW employes, signed the same agreement.

A spokesman for the big union headed by David J. McDonald said all other basic steel producers with which the union has contracts expiring at midnight tonight are expected to be in the fold soon.

Average hourly rates under the new U.S. Steel contract, which runs for two years, will be from $2.19 to $2.29. The 5-cent hike becomes effective tomorrow.

The insurance and pension benefits take effect next Nov. 1. The insurance program will be frozen at its new level two years and the pension plan for three years.

Big steel explained its pension setup this way:

It now pays a minimum pension of $100 a month to employes with 25 years service. This includes Federal Social Security. Under the new plan, an employe retiring at 65 with 30 years of service will get a minimum pension of $140 monthly, including Social Secur-

High Wire Snaps, Sets Off Fires

ROSELLE PARK—Residents of the Webster Ave.-Walnut St., area and 200 passersby were treated to a pre-Fourth of July pyrotechnics display at 8 o'clock last night when a high tension electric wire fell and burned, scorching a parked automobile.

The display began atop a utility pole, following a short circuit. Sparks were followed by vivid flashes of fire, which became more intense as the insulation burned and the wire came in contact with tree branches and finally a 1947 green sedanette owned by Allister Fraser of 436 Walnut St.

Sgt. Thomas Quinn detailed Radio Patrolmen Thomas Martin and Walter Terbecki to the scene to guard pedestrians and traffic. The police sounded a general alarm of fire and a Public Service emergency crew was summoned. Firemen smothered the fire with chemical foam.

Police said the car was scorched on the side, roof and trunk.

Car Rolls Over 3 Times In Crash; Driver Hurt

BERKELEY HEIGHTS—Roger Bauman, 26, of RFD 2, Plainfield, suffered a spine injury and shock at 6:30 o'clock last night when his car, struck head-on by another, according to police, rolled over three times at Valley View and Diamond Hill Rds. He was reported in fair condition today at Overlook Hospital, Summit.

According to Police Capt. Vito La Sasso, Mr. Bauman's car, proceeding on Valley View Rd., was struck by one operated by Mrs. Sarah Kohan of 230 Pine St., as it emerged from Diamond Hill Rd. Mrs. Kohan was given a summons charging careless driving. She was uninjured.

Mr. Bauman was taken to the hospital by the Rescue Squad.

Oppenheimer Denied Clearance By AEC

A-Board Votes 4-1 on Ban—Declares Him Unfit to Handle Nation's Nuclear Secrets Due to Character, Associations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has nailed down the ban against atomic pioneer J. Robert Oppenheimer with a 4-1 declaration that he is unfit to handle America's nuclear secrets because of "defects of character . . . and dangerous associations."

The commission thus closed out late yesterday its role in a long and wordy battle with the 50-year-old physicist who was once one of its most trusted advisers.

What the next act would bring was unclear. Neither Oppenheimer nor his attorneys were saying what steps, if any, they contemplated. One unanswereed question would he appeal to President Eisenhower?

The President has declined comment in the case since, on his orders, Oppenheimer's security clearance was suspended last December.

Oppenheimer appealed then, and the AEC set up a special security panel to consider his case. It heard 38 witnesses, including Oppenheimer, and on May 27 voted 2-1 against him.

Oppenheimer, in New York last night after the commission released its decision upholding the board's ruling, had no direct comment on the majority report.

Stocks Continue Forward Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened higher today in an extension of yesterday's recovery.

United Fruit opened on a 2,000-share block up ¾, Robertshaw-Fulton was ahead ½ on 2,700 shares, Chrysler up ⅛ on 2,000 shares, Mathieson Chemical up ⅝ on 2,500 shares and Radio Corp. unchanged on 4,500 shares.

Also headed higher were Boeing, U.S. Steel, American Cyanamid, Studebaker, Southern Pacific and Anaconda. Losses were posted by International Telephone, Sears Roebuck and Standard Oil (New Jersey). Yesterday the market sold off sharply and then made a recovery that too kit to a new high since 1929. A number of brokers predicted that this show of strength would bring higher prices today.

Nunan Facing Prison, Fine In Tax Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph D. Nunan Jr., once the nation's top tax collector, has been found guilty of income tax evasion.

A Brooklyn Federal Court jury convicted the former commissioner of internal revenue yesterday on all five counts of an indictment charging him with evading payment of $91,086 for the years 1946 through 1950.

The 55-year-old Nunan faces a possible total sentence of 25 years in jail and a $50,000 fine. He was continued in $1,500 bail pending sentencing July 22.

Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen told the jury of seven women and five men the verdict was "justified by the evidence."

Nunan, an appointee of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, served as the nation's number 1 tax collector from 1944 to 1947, when he resigned to return to the private practice of law.

The indictment charged him with reporting income of $416,144 for 1946-1950, when it actually was $543,396. He thus paid taxes of $200,437, when he should have paid $291,523, the government said.

The defense contended the money on which Nunan was accused of failing to pay taxes was inherited by his wife and was not subject to tax.

Nunan claimed he withdrew his assets of $170,000 from the bank in 1933 and kept the money in a tin box, banking it again in 1940.

Testifying in his own behalf in the trial, Nunan said he became tax collector for the Brooklyn district "through the fortunes of politics."

"As collector I was primarily an administrator, not particularly an expert on tax laws," he said.

60-Foot Torrent Hits Laredo; Hundreds Dead in Mexico

Rio Grande Flood Wrecks Bridges, Surrounds Texas City of 60,000—Towns Across Border in Bad Shape—Water Covers Two-Story Houses

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — This border city fought for its life today in the greatest Rio Grande flood in history while 85 miles up the river tremendous loss of life was feared at Piedras Negras, Mexico.

Nearly 100 miles north of the river, at Ozona, Tex., 16 persons were dead and one was missing in a flash flood like several Sunday which sent the Rio Grande rampaging out of its banks.

The madly rushing waters—which rose at a rate of three feet per hour—snatched at the lives and possessions of some 163,000 persons in four cities yesterday. But last night, police at Eagle Pass across from Piedras Negras said the river there was back in its banks.

Dead in Hundreds

Of the possible loss of life at Piedras Negras, a state highway patrolman indicated it might reach into the hundreds.

"I'm sure there were a lot of lives lost," the patrolman said. "They are in awful bad shape over there. Water went over the roofs of two-story houses."

As the river returned to its banks at Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras, the big fight centered at Laredo and Nuevo Laredo.

Over 60 Feet

At 6 a.m. Associated Press reporter Dave Cheavens, on the scene, reported that the river had reached a level of 60.49 feet and was rising.

Sun Dies for 76 Seconds in Total Eclipse

Spectacular Show Viewed in Top 3rd of World

By the Associated Press.

The sun died for 76 seconds early today as a spectacular total eclipse swept across the top third of the world from the farmlands of Nebraska to the plains of India.

In what appeared to be a giant struggle for dominance of the heavens, the moon chewed away at the sun for half an hour.

Slowly, the moon kept nipping at the sun that rose one-fourth eclipsed. Within 13 minutes, one half the sun was blacked out as darkness followed dawn.

At 5:07 a.m. Central Standard Time, the moon completely obscured the sun and an eerie darkness fell across a path 70 miles wide.

Light jutted from behind the black moon during totality as the corona or outer halo of the sun spilled out to two extended points like two stems from a giant onion.

Millions watched the celestial spectacle as the sun broke from behind the moon, the first razor-thin crescent of sunlight splash-

Ordinance OKs Food Sales In Liquor Shops

It was legal today to sell peanuts, pretzels, popcorn and potato chips at liquor stores.

City Council authorized the sale of such products and some others by adopting on second and final readings last night an ordinance to amend regulations governing alcoholic beverage control.

In other revisions of the liquor code, the city's number of package goods stores was limited to 30, the present total, and the rule concerning transfers was altered for licensees who lose their premises through fires or other disasters.

The governing body acted on the revisions after a long conference which preceded the special meeting and after a recess to further discuss the changes. According to several councilmen, the prolonged delays were caused by discussions on the rule limiting transfers to a radius of 1,500 feet.

Comments Lacking

The amendments were introduced June 16 and the public hearin gwas rushed because of their possible effects on 1953-54 licenses, which expire today. The public hearing on the ordinance last night failed to arouse a word of comment.

The provisions affecting the type of merchandise state that the sale of alcoholic beverages is prohibited at any place at which any other mercantile business is carried on except that the licensee may sell other beverages, mixers, popcorn, pretzels, nut products, potato chips; cocktail olives, cherries and onions; cigars and cigarettes.

The limitation on the number of liquor stores to 30 is six below the maximum allowed by state regulations.

The change concerning transfers provides that the Municipal Board of Alcoholic Beverage Control may grant exceptions to the 1,500-foot rule in cases involving destruction of the premises.

Provision Stated

The new regulation says that whenever any licensed place is destroyed by "fire, earthquake, hurricane, or other disaster beyond the control of the licensee and the owner of the same does not rebuild or refuses the lease or rental agreement, the Municipal Board of Alcoholic Beverage Control may, in its discretion, permit an exception" to the 1,500-foot rule.

GOP Senators Map Strategy On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Republican Senators were called to a hastily-summoned conference today to hammer out a party policy on a GOP-inspired income tax cut plan to counter a Democratic tax-slashing drive.

The conference could have a far-reaching effect on the administration's big $1,477,000,000 tax reform bill now before the Senate. Preliminary voting on the measure was scheduled later today.

Exemption Increase

The Democratic plan, led by veteran Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), would cut everybody's income taxes by boosting the present $600 personal exemption to $700 beginning next year. It would cost the treasury an estimated $2,300,000,000 a year.

The more moderate Republican proposal would provide a $20 tax "credit" ($40 for married couples) for persons in the lower tax brackets who pay that much or more a year in income taxes. One of its backers predicted it would amount to $1,000,000,000 in tax relief.

Mushrooming support among Republicans for the last-minute GOP tax cut plan forced the meeting. Some Republican leaders were clearly worried by the "family fight" as well as the politically-potent Democratic proposal.

Republicans Divided

All Republicans were not supporting the tax credit idea. Sen. Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and the GOP Conference, was one of those opposed.

Regardless of what the Republicans do about their own proposal, they faced a nip-and-tuck battle on George's proposal. It was expected to be the first issue up for a vote unless replaced by a substitute.

The Democrats counted on having virtually their full strength on hand in the narrowly divided Senate and expected all but four or five of their members to support George's proposal. They hoped to pick up enough Republican votes —despite strong administration opposition—to put the plan over.

House Vote Set In Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House expected to put its final stamp of approval on the administration's foreign aid program today, trimming only $109,000,000 from the $3,447,608,000 authorization bill.

The House approved most of the program yesterday but waited until today to hold a final vote.

Foreign aid foes still had a chance to press for further cuts, but all moves for big slashes were beaten down yesterday.

Only cuts adopted yesterday were $27,000,000 for development of special non-atomic weapons among the allies and $75,000,000 to finance British aircraft production. The House Foreign Affairs Committee previously cut the President's request by $7,000,000 on economic aid for Europe.

The House also voted disapproval of the British-proposed "Locarno" non-aggression pact for Southeast Asia. Adopted as an amendment to the foreign aid bill was a motion by the committee stating that it is the "sense of Congress" that funds for the Indochina war should be barred for any country which enters a treaty guaranteeing Communist territory in Asia. About a third of the bill is earmarked for Indochina.

The House shouted down a move by Rep. Burr P. Harrison (D-Va) to kill $800,000,000 carried in the bill for the Indochina war.

The bill reflects a shift in emphasis from Europe to Asia in the foreign aid program. It gives 27 per cent of the funds to Europe compared to 40 per cent last year, and gives 50 per cent of the aid to Asia compared to 38 per cent last year.

steel railroad bridge connecting Laredo and Nuevo Laredo had washed away, the first at 2:30 a.m. and the second an hour later.

Laredo, a city of nearly 60,000 people, was virtually surrounded by water, Cheavens said. The river, he said, made a serpentine sweep around the outskirts. He added that all that could be seen of the highway bridge between the United States and Mexico was the customs house. A report said the bridge still was intact although under about 18 feet of water.

Mayor Joe Martin of Laredo said "We believe we have everything under control. Only on Convent Ave., the approach to the International Bridge, had water backed into the business district. In all, about 40 blocks paralleling the river were affected."

Tension had eased at Eagle Pass when the crest of 53.6 feet passed yesterday at 4:30 a.m., but concern continued for Piedras Negras' 35,000 water-harried residents.

A reporter after flying over the Mexican city said, "They're in a desperate situation. I saw about 1,000 persons stranded on rooftops and 1,000 more camped in the hills. I don't know what happened to the rest."

ing an astounding amount of light on the path of totality.

Within 56 minutes after totality, the phenomenon that will not be seen for another five generations in many areas was over and the sun was again the undisputed sovereign of the skies.

The shadow of the moon passing between the earth and the sun spread the trail of darkness from northeastern Nebraska across parts of South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

In other parts of the nation a partial eclipse was visible where weather conditions were favorable.

After the giant shadow leaped across Lake Superior, it spread across parts of Canada, Greenland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Russia, the Middle East, Pakistan and into India.

It took the massive path of gloom only about three hours to cover the 8,000 miles from Nebraska to India.

Weather conditions were ideal for observing the eclipse along the first part of the path of totality.

In northern Ontario, however, where many Canadian scientists had clustered at the little village of Mattice, a low overcast hid the spectacle. Astronomers who had spent the night adjusting their instruments stood by helplessly as clouds obstructed their view.

TRUMAN ENJOYS ECLIPSE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Harry Truman, recovering from a major operation, saw this morning's eclipse of the sun.

Truman's night nurse at Research Hospital here said her patient asked to see the eclipse and she pulled his bed over to a window.

"He enjoyed it very much," she said.

Truman underwent an operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix June 20.

A-Plant Opens, Russia Claims

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio announced today the Soviet Union has opened its first industrial atomic power station with a capacity of 5,000 kilowatts.

The broadcast quoted a statement from the Soviet Council of Ministers saying the station opened Sunday producing electrical current for both industry and agriculture.

It did not give the location but said other stations of larger size are planned with a capacity from 50,000 to 100,000 kilowatts.

The United States is now building the equipment for its first peacetime atomic power plant to be located at Shippingport, Pa., on the Ohio River.

President Praises Segregation Ban

DALLAS (AP)—President Eisenhower says the recent Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation in public schools reflects social and political maturity.

The President's statement was contained in a message read yesterday at the opening session of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People convention.

"We must have patience without compromise of principle. We must regard for differences of opinion have understanding without disdain which actually exist," he said.

"We must have continued social progress, calmly but persistently made, so that we may prove without doubt to all the world that our nation and our people are truly dedicated to liberty and justice for all."

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman from New York, told the opening session,

"We are not going to stand idly by while enemies of the democratic process in the person of public officials whose salaries are paid from funds derived from taxes of all the people hold closed-door conferences for the publicly-announced purpose of devising ways and means of evading the court's ruling."

Hours Violations Hit by Barbers

Charges that about a dozen Elizabeth barbers are violating a city ordinance b yopening before 9 a.m. were made last night by members of Elizabeth Chapter 752, Associated Master Barbers of America. The chapter meeting was at 1182 Elizabeth Ave., with John A. Signore presiding.

Members agreed to act as "spotters" in the Elizabeth area and to press charges against shop owners who violate the opening and closing hour regulation.

The chapter sent a recommendation to Gov. Robert B. Meyner that Andrew Fohl of Perth Amboy, a state vice president, be appointed for a three-year term to the State Board of Barber Examiners.

Social Security Expansion Plea Made By CIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIO today urged the Senate to go further than the House in expanding Social Security coverage.

Joseph Childs, speaking for the CIO, asked the Senate Finance Committee in prepared testimony to boost the ceiling on earnings taxed to $6,000 a year, instead of the $4,200 voted by the House and the present $3,600. The current tax rate, levied on both workers and employers, is 2 per cent.

Childs, a vice president of the CIO United Rubber Workers, also urged:

2-Point Plea

1. Inclusion of physicians and migrant farm workers in the Social Security system.

2. Enactment of a long-term disability insurance program so pension rights of disabled workers are not frozen until they reach the present minimum age of 65.

These steps were considered but rejected before the House passed an administration-backed bill to broaden Social Security coverage, increase benefits and hike the amount of income subject to the payroll tax.

Childs urged the Senate Committee, how holding hearings on this bill, to ignore what he called a "determined campaign by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce" and other business groups "to undermine the established system of old age and survivors insurance."

"Special Pleaders" Hit

He also asked senators to "resist special pleadings" by doctors and insurance companies "which arise out of a narrow and misguided interest." The House Ways and Means Committee first voted to include physicians, but later reversed itself, in part because of objections from the American Medical Assn.

deposit it had with Hoffman's South Amboy bank and that it was decided to make a withdrawal the day after the hotel conference.

"Mr. Conklin is entirely wrong," French said. "Our board of directors did not talk about that account at all."

French said when he first heard of the deposit he ruled that there would be no withdrawal "and we would preserve the status quo."

Claims Bank Profited

The $150,000 was deposited last year by Trenton Trust in Hoffman's bank and did not bear interest. Gov. Robert B. Meyner has charged that Hoffman, as employment security chief, had improperly kept a non-interest-bearing account of nearly $3,000,000 in state disability benefit funds in Trenton Trust. Richman has said Trenton Trust cleared a $300,000 profit on this account.

Others attending the hotel conference included Harry Green, Hoffman's lawyer, and Mrs. Ada Leonard, the former governor's daughter who later gave an affidavit-versior of her father's letter to Richman after burning the original. Green was retained by Hoffman after Meyner suspended him as employment security director for alleged "irregularities" last March.

only commissioner to recommend reinstatement of his security clearance, as having rendered a "fair and considered statement."

The majority report was signed by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and commissioners Eugene M. Zuckert and Joseph Campbell, both of whom appended statements of their own.

Commissioner Thomas E. Murray, agreeing with them that Oppenheimer should be denied access to secrets, wrote a separate opinion which said: "Dr. Oppenheimer was disloyal" in the sense that he disregarded security regulations.

But Mr. Smyth, a Princeton scientist who worked with Oppenheimer in wartime development of the atomic bomb, strenuously disagreed with his four colleagues.

"He is completely loyal," wrote Smyth, "and I do not believe he is a security risk."

In Congress, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chariman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he sees no reason to challenge the commission's decision. He said there had been no request for any move by the committee, which keeps tabs on commission activities.

Oppenheimer, now director of a private researc group called the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., winds up his career as an AEC consultant today, with expiration of his contract.

The security board which weighed his case last spring heard a half-million words of testimony and ruled Oppenheimer was loyal but a security risk.

Loyalty Not Issue

The commission's majority report said the 992-page transcript of this board's hearings together with its other documents, plus military intelligence and FBI reports, indicated Oppenheimer no longer merits the government's confidence.

The question of his loyalty, it said, was not at issue. As the commission majority saw it, the issue was whether it was in the interest of national security to let Oppenheimer see "some of the most vital secrets in the possession of the United States."

Loyalty is only one of the criteria, it said, for deciding under the 1946 Atomic Energy Act who may handle atomic secrets.

"Substantial defects of character and imprudent and dangerous associations, particularly with known subversives who place the interests of foreign powers above those of the United States, are also reasons for disqualification," said the report, and it added:

". . . We find Dr. Oppenheimer is not entitled to the continued confidence of the government and of this commission because of the proof of fundamental defects in his 'character' . . .

"We find that his associations with persons known to him to be Communists have extended far beyond the tolerable limits of prudence and self-restraint which are to be expected of one holding the high positions that the government has continuously entrusted to him since 1942."

To this, Dr. Smyth dissented: "I can not accept this conclusion or the fear behind it."

Army Probers Wait Data On 2 Staff Aides

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Senate Investigating subcommittee called a closed meeting today to learn why two of its regular staff members were not cleared to handle Defense Department secrets.

The subcommittee also hoped to agree at the meeting on the issues to be covered in its forthcoming report on the 36-day hearings on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's fight with the Army.

A third question to be considered is what the group should do with a confidential Army report on officials responsible for the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, Army dentist labeled by McCarthy as a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

The meeting was called by Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) who is still serving as acting chairman of the subcommittee during the investigation of the Army McCarthy dispute. McCarthy, regular subcommittee chairman, stepped down from the group during the inquiry.

Mundt asked the Defense Department last week whether security clearance for the two subcommittee staff members had been denied or merely delayed. They applied for clearance in March and April, 1953.

He would not reveal the answer nor identify the staff employes prior to today's meeting.

Democrats said they would seek a strong recommendation in today's meeting that the two non-cleared employes be fired because they have access to subcommittee files.

"Washington liked the way I ran my office and made me U. S. commissioner."

The 16-day trial was highlighted by the testimony of gambler Frank Erickson and James P. Finnegan, former tax collector at St. Louis and a pal of former President Harry S. Truman. Finnegan is now serving a sentence for misconduct in office.

Erickson testified that he lost a $1,800 bet to Nunan that Truman would not be reelected as President in 1948. He said he gave Nunan, who was backing Truman, odds of 9 to 1.

Nunan claimed he did not report the winning on his tax return because other gambling losses during the year balanced it off.

bers of the police departments of Union County to a similar discussion.

"It is the opinion of this Grand Jury, based on the testimony given before it, that both the Juvenile Court and the police departments of the county are giving this problem the attention it deserves. However, the Grand Jury offers the following suggestions which it feels might be of some assistance not only in Union County, but throughout the state:

Asks Special Training

"1A. That each police department set up a special bureau of at least one member (where none is now in existence) to take over all matters concerning juveniles. It further recommends that these members receive training in the theory and practice of dealing with juveniles.

"1B. It recommends that the training school of the Union County Police Chiefs' Assn. establish such a course for all students in the school and an advanced course for designated members to attend.

"2. It recommends that the Juvenile Court furnish a confidential report of its disposition of each case to the chief of police of the municipality where the case originated and that this report be made available to the member in charge of juvenile matters.

Would 'Localize' Treatment

"3. The present law gives exclusive jurisdiction to the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court in most cases of offenses against the law by juveniles. We believe that much constructive and rebuilding work can be done on local levels and thus avoid official docketing and the stigma of court cases.

"We, therefore, suggest that consideration be given to revising the law so that when a police department has a designated member, or members, to handle juvenile matters, and, when the municipality has a Juvenile Conference Committee, that first offenders charged with minor offenses under the Disorderly Persons Act may, in the discretion of the member of the police department charged with handling juvenile matters and with the consent of the complainant, be referred to, and disposed of by, the Juvenile Conference Committee without court charges or trial, provided that the police department member assigned to juvenile matters is a member of the Juvenile Conference Committee. A report, however, of the findings and steps taken in each such case shall be made to the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court.

'Summary' Punishment

"4. We further recommend that, if the Juvenile Court shall determine that the parents of a juvenile are responsible for the actions of the juvenile by reason of the neglect or indifference of such parents, the court may summarily punish them as for a violation of the Disorderly Persons Act.

"5. We believe that the present juvenile age of 18 should be lowered and recommend to the Legislature and to the State Law Enforcement Council that a study be made to determine what the lower age should be.

"We further direct that the county clerk forward copies of this presentment to the governor of New Jersey, the senator and Assembly delegation from Union County, the State Law Enforcement Council, the Juvenile Court judge, the chief of police and mayor of each municipality in Union County, the director of the school maintained by the Union County Police Chiefs' Assn., the chief of the Union County Park Commission Police and the Union County Park Commission, the Union County Grand Jurors' Assn. and the press."

war's end was near brought Guatemala City to life yesterday for the first time in weeks.

Crowds Roam Streets

Anti-Communist feeling ran high. Crowds roamed the streets, tearing down Red posters and shouting "down with the Communists."

A large crowd nearly rioted at the Mexican Embassy and a heavy guard of soldiers protected the government officials and Reds refuged inside.

Political prisoners arrested by Arbenz' Communist-dominated police poured from the prisons. They said they had been tortured and beaten almost daily—until June 26, the day before the President was ousted.

Of the four junta members who took over the government yesterday, only Monzon is known to the public. The others are Col. Mauricio Dubois, who was named Minister of Foreign Relations; Col Enrique Klos De Leon, Communications Minister, and Col. Jose Luis Cruz Salazar, Defense Minister.

Monzon so far was setting something of a longevity record. He resigned as President Juan Jose Arevalo's Interior Minister in 1950 after Congress censured him for cracking down on the Communists, then returned to the cabinet under Arbenz as Minister Without Portfolio.

When Arbenz was forced out Sunday night, he remained as a member of Diaz' junta, an then led the faction which forced the Army chief out yesterday.

policy between Britain and the United States.

Any policy difference between the two major western allies are of supreme importance to Canada.

For while this country is a member of the British Commonwealth and strongly tied to Britain in many ways, it also is powerfully influenced by the pull of American policy. Hence Canadians hope at all costs to avoid a situation which might force them to choose between widely-divergent British and American policies.

Perhaps recognizing this, Churchill said yesterday, "Canada is the master link in Anglo-American unity."

'Haymes' Decision Seen Month Off

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Crooner Dick Haymes' deportation hearing has ended with contradictory testimony on the record and a decision not expected for another month.

The key point on which there were sharply differing statements by witnesses was whether there were specific instructions the singer was not to be warned a trip to Hawaii last year might make him liable for deportation.

At the conclusion of the five-day hearing yesterday, Haymes left to join his wife, actress Rita Hayworth, vacationing at Lake Tahoe.

A native of Argentina, the crooner had been ordered deported after an earlier hearing, but the immigration board of appeals set aside the ruling.

The appeals board action came after Richard Cody, a former immigration service official, swore in an affidavit he had been told not to advise Haymes that the trip to Hawaii would make him deportable because of a military draft exemption claimed during World War II. He waived his chances at U.S. citizenship when he claimed exemption as a citizen of a neutral country—Argentina.

Cody, who was Haymes' star witness in the hearing, testified the crooner had complied with the law and been told so before the Hawaii trip. Cody also testified that Herman R. Landon, director of immigration at Los Angeles instructed him not to warn Haymes that the Hawaiian trip would bar him from re-entry to the continental United States.

False Alarm All Right When Chief Sends It

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—None of the local firefighters appeared angry today that he had to answer a false alarm yesterday. It was rung in by Fire Chief Kenneth Caul.

The fire chief explained it this way: He woke up and noticed a red glare behind the barn. He called the department and reported the barn was ablaze.

It turned out that the glare was the reflection from flares set around a road construction job.

Luigi Gasparotto Dies; Italian Ex-Aide, 81

VARESE, Italy (AP)—Luigi Gasparotto, former Italian defense minister, died last night at the age of 81.

He was named minister of war in the cabinet of Ivanoe Bonomi in 1921. After the advent of Mussolini, he served briefly in his government as press chief but broke with the Fascists in 1924.

During World War II Gasparotto fled to exile in Switzerland

World News Roundup

Interesting Happenings of the Day Presented In a Brief Digest

By International News Service.

The swift march of events during the past 24 hours has dramatically altered conditions in troubled Guatemala.

Yesterday morning Guatemalan was fighting Guatemalan and Communists held important posts in the Guatemalan government. Today a cease-fire is in effect and a harsh crackdown on domestic Reds is under way. This is how it occurred.

Early yesterday morning, a confirmed and consistent anti-Communist, Colonel Elfeco H. Monzon seized control in a bloodless coup from the day-old regime of Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz of which he had been a member. Monzon swiftly began a roundup of the Communists who supported Diaz, the handpicked successor to leftist President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Then the colonel asked for U.S. and Salvadorean aid in arranging a battlefield truce. Contact was made with liberation chief Gen. Carlos Castillo Armas who led the anti-Red invasion of Guatemala 13 days ago. The cease-fire took effect at 10 p.m. (EDT) last night.

Monzon and Castillo Armas are scheduled to meet in San Salvador this morning. One report says representatives of the two men already have conferred, and agreement reached whereby Castillo Armas will enter the military junta now ruling Guatemala.

Castillo Armas, in an article written for International News Service, says the government will be returned to an essentially Democratic system.

The small but intense anti-Red leader, whose movement for a time seemed doomed to failure, says he will seek to spread to all classes of the republic the social improvements which the previous government handed out to small groups of the laboring class.

If the peace negotiations are successful, the meeting of the American republics' foreign ministers set for Rio De Janeiro July 7 may be called off. The Council of the Organization of American States will probably be called together to reconsider the need for the meeting which was to take up the threat posed by Red inroads in Guatemala.

OPPENHEIMER LOSES

The long career of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer as a top government atomic adviser apparently has come to an end. Yesterday the Atomic Energy Commission upheld by a 4-to-1 vote the special security board's finding that the so-called father of the atomic bomb should be barred from further access to government nuclear secrets. Members of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee have indicated they will not challenge the decision and it is unlikely that President Eisenhower will do so.

EISENHOWER-CHURCHILL

It is a rare day that the press of events will push a joint statement by the leaders of the free world's two most powerful nations into the category of secondary news. But that is the situation. The statement was that issued by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill which stated their agreement on aims for peace, arms reductions and peaceful use of atomic energy.

One major result of the series of Eisenhower-Churchill talks is the speedup of plans for a Southeast Asian defense alliance. Military and diplomatic officials in Washington are rushing the work in the firm belief that the compromise reached with the British leader amounts to a go ahead signal.

TRUMAN IMPROVED

Seventy-year-old private citizen Harry S. Truman, as the ex-President likes to refer to himself, apparently has won his battle against a dangerous post-operative infection. A late bulletin from Research Hospital in Kansas City says Mr. Truman is doing perceptibly better. He is still listed as in serious condition, but private citizen Truman is quoted saying—"We have this thing licked."

ECLIPSE OF SUN

An unusually large number of Americans will be out of their beds at an unusually early hour today to catch one of nature's rare sights—an eclipse of the sun. The total eclipse will be seen only by residents of a narrow band running through Nebraska and Minnesota. In Minneapolis, a crowd of amateur scientists bedded down with telescopes and smoked glasses to give them a good look at the phenomenon.

Red Humor Toes Party Line

NEW YORK (AP)—Even humor in the Soviet Union is supposed to have "social content."

Soviet cartoonists, humorists and satirists find almost all their employment in propaganda work for their government. They get pretty caustic, too.

This was underlined by a recent Krokodil cartoon lampooning former U.S. Defense Secretary James Forrestal's suicide following a nervous breakdown. It showed him bound in a straitjacket and landing on his head.

The U.S. government protested the cartoon. The Russians returned the protest note to the American embassy in Moscow, refusing to accept it as "unworthy."

U.S. Chief Target

In the foreign affairs field the chief target is always the United States. A cartoon in Komsomol Pravda showed a Soviet version of Uncle Sam unloading a large box on the shore of a country labeled Guatemala. The box bore the legend "United Fruit Company" and was half-tipped over, with bombs, grenades and little saber-brandishing Guatemalan "rebels" all rolling out of it. It was intended to illustrate the Communist thesis that the United States started the Guatemalan uprising.

In the domestic field, Soviet satirists and cartoonists also wield wicked pens. But they cannot criticize or satirize party policy, only its execution. Their targets vary widely — inefficient bureaucrats or factory executives, lazy farmers, shoddy goods, speculators, etc.

The chief vehicle for satire is Krokodil (Crocodile), which appears every 10 days in 400,000 copies. That is not much for a nation of 210 million people and it's obvious that most readers of the magazine must be the upper layer of the party and government bureaucracy—at whom much of its satire is aimed. Krokodil is published in color. It uses the work of some of the finest artists of the country.

Bulletin Boards, Too

"Pepper" is published in the Ukraine and there are similar publications in other Soviet republics. Many institutions have bulletin boards devoted to local satire on the Krokodil pattern.

There are other humor forms in Russia: Farces and satires in drama theaters, humorous sketches and monologues on the vaudeville stage, motion picture comedies and the like. These also fit the Krokodil pattern of "social usefulness"—or to put it more simply, propaganda.

Occasionally cartoons are published which have no political content at all—and sometimes little humor.

The magazine Ogonyok carried a panel recently showing a young boy who put his pup into a large doghouse with a "Beware the Dog" sign. His young pals were making fun of the miserably small pooch. In the next picture, young master installs a megaphone to amplify the pup's bark. His friends scatter in fright.

End of funny cartoon.

Metuchen TV Plant Facing Walkout

METUCHEN (AP) — Some 1,400 CIO Electrical Workers threatened a strike against the Westinghouse Radio and Television Co. tonight unless both sides can iron out a three-month-old contract dispute.

Westinghouse Division Manager T. J. Newcomb warned that if the employes walked out it might destroy the company's future in the television manufacturing field and the jobs of the workers.

Negotiations have been underway since April in an effort to solve "many and varied problems" and incorporate the solutions in a new contract to supplant the one that expires tonight.

Production was halted yesterday for the third time in two weeks when union workers left their jobs in an "unauthorized" walkout. The demonstration was staged in protest after the company disciplined 65 workers who refused to work overtime with time-and-one-half pay.

It was not explained why the employes refused the overtime, but when Westinghouse ordered a day's furlough, other union members also refused to work.

The Westinghouse division here is one of the few plants in the country engaged in the manufacture of color television sets. Newcomb said it was "the most critical situation in the history" of the plant.

Police Drag Hudson River After Finding Death Note

NEW YORK (AP) — Police searched the Hudson River today for the man who left a note scribbled alongside a newspaper photograph showing a sailor dangling over the side of a parapet.

The note, bearing the name Gerald S. Sheehy and found in a brown sports jacket near the river, read:

"My turn is next."

The photograph appeared on the back page of a newspaper and showed two policemen gripping the sailor, who later said he was despondent over a recent divorce and wanted to die.

Police said the man who left the note apparently jumped from the George Washington Bridge.

Letter Travels to Italy To Make 3-Mile Trip

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP)—The Corunna Milling Co., three miles away, sent a letter containing a $109 check to Dr. H. M. Allshouse, an Owosso dentist two months ago.

The letter was received Tuesday —after traveling 7,000 miles to Italy and back.

A brief note in Italian accompanying the letter said it was found in a newspaper mailed to Dr. Vincempo Spatore by his parents in Owosso.

Marie McDonald Offers Sleeping Pills Defense

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Trial of actress Marie McDonald on misdemeanor charges of hit and run driving while under the influence of a drug has been set for Oct. 4.

Through her attorney, Miss McDonald, 20, pleaded innocent yesterday and requested the jury trial which was granted by Municipal Judge Henry Draeger.

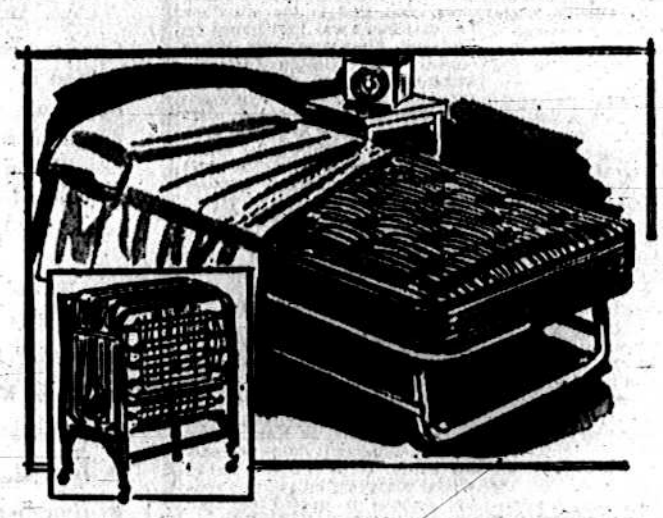

The attorney, G. Bentley Ryan, introduced an affidavit from the shapely actress' physician that said:

"She has been ill for a number of years, suffering from an active duodenal ulcer and a neuromuscular condition."

Miss McDonald was arrested June 21 after her car hit three parked automobiles and a fourth which was halted for a stop sign. She told police she had taken two nembutol and four seconal tablets which her physician had prescribed.

Foreign News Briefs

CAIRO, Egypt (U.P.)—The long deadlocked Anglo-Egyptian negotiations on the Suez canal will be resumed by mid-July, a high Egyptian government official predicted last night.

The prediction followed London reports that Britain was prepared to make a new offer. The source said informal contacts have been maintained between the two delegations since March.

DUESSELDORF, Germany (U.P.) —Rank-and-file Communists today were blamed by party leaders for the defeat of Red candidates in Sunday's state elections in north-Rhine Westphalia.

The Communist party lost all 12 seats it had in the state parliament in the elections. Freies Volks, official Communist organ in West Germany, said local Communists "underestimated the importance of our fight against nationalism and chauvinism."

CALLAO, Peru (U.P.) — William Willis, 61-year-old New Yorker, radioed "all's well" at the end of the first week of his attempt to cross the Pacific ocean on a 34-foot raft made of seven balsa tree trunks.

Willis, who estimated the trip will take from four to five months, left here June 22 with a cat and parrot as his only companions. He made his first report yesterday via a powerful radio transmitter-receiver.

SEOUL, Korea (U.P.) — Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tae told the National Assembly today that South Korea was ready to walk out of the Geneva conference even before the talks broke down.

But, he said, the ROK delegation decided it should not walk out until the U.S. agreed no other course was open. Pyun headed the ROK delegation to Geneva.

BOGOTA, Colombia (U.P.) — A representative of the Colombian government was en route to the United States today to purchase 10,000 television receivers.

Fernando Gomez-Agudelo, head of the national television station, left yesterday. The sets will be resold to the public here at rock-bottom prices in a move to expand the T-V audience.

TOKYO (U.P.)—A week-old forest fire raged with new fury today after blackening a 10,000-acre area of valuable hardwood trees in southeast Hokkaido.

Some 200 firefighters and two companies of reserve police have been called out to fight the flames eating through the tinder-dry stands in one of Japan's most valuable lumbering areas.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (U.P.) — President Paul Magloire of Haiti was the guest today of President Gen. Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua.

Magloire, on a good-will tour of the Caribbean nations, arrived here yesterday for a two-day visit. He was accompanied by his wife and a party of 34.

Workman Awards Up to $3 Million

TRENTON (AP) — Carl Holderman, New Jersey commissioner of Labor and Industry, today announced that awards approved by the State Division of Workmen's Compensation increased by nearly three million dollars last year.

Holderman said the division's annual report showed it approved 54,824 original awards during 1953 and increased settlements made under 1,498 previous awards.

He said the awards involved compensation of $31,362,503—an increase of $2,960,638 above 1952.

The commissioner said there were 13 more fatal industrial accidents during 1953 than during 1952 and the number of non-fatal cases increased by 3,825.

In addition, Holderman said, 2,847 cases were disposed of without compensation after a formal hearing in each instance.

15-Cent Cup of Coffee Profit Seen 300 P.C.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fifteen cents per cup of coffee gives restaurants more than 300 per cent gross profit, says Dr. Roberto E. Canessa, minister of foreign affairs of El Salvador.

Dr. Canessa told the Chamber of Commerce of the Americas here yesterday that the public shouldn't blame coffee producers for these prices and said government leaders "have leaped on the coffee price bandwagon."

He said one cent per pound increase in the price of coffee costs American consumers 27 million dollars, but four-fifths of this remains in the United States.

Longshoremen Suspend Jersey City President

JERSEY CITY (AP)—Frank Murray today labeled as unconstitutional a motion by dockworkers to suspend him as president of Local 1247 of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.).

Members of the local met last night at a rump session for the purpose of nominating new officers. Thirty policemen were on hand and at one point threatened to break up the meeting during a heated argument.

Murray and about 25 of his followers walked out. The 100 or more remaining dockers promptly passed unanimously a motion to suspend Murray, and named executive vice president Joseph Agostino temporary head of the local. They refused to go ahead with nominating new officers.

The local represents some 700 longshoremen on Jersey City and Leonardo docks.

Clark 'Laughed' at Wife When She Pulled Gun

AMESBURY, Mass. (AP)—An investigator says Melvin W. Clark Jr., 29, "just laughed" when his wife brandished a .22 caliber pistol moments before he was shot dead in the culmination of what Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Gregg said was a row over other men.

Mrs. Lorraine E. Clark, 27, mother of three, is charged with first degree murder in the death of her husband on April 10, the day before Palm Sunday.

Cregg said Mrs. Clark has signed a statement admitting she killed her husband. He refused to divulge the full contents of the statement because of what he termed "lurid revelations." He said it would not be fair to the three Clark children.

An investigator who refused the use of his name said last night Mrs. Clark told about her husband's reaction during the few minutes preceding his death in the statement she is said to have signed.

Clark, the investigator said, just laughed when the gun was waved in front of him. Then the first of two bullets apparently struck him between the eyes. Clark reeled across the room of their Lake Attitash home and then was shot a second time by a bullet which entered his left eye.

Lakewood As A Plane Aerie Gets Review

With members of the New York Port Authority, Austin J. Tobin, executive director, in attendance, Governor Meyner told the Mayors' Committee and various other officials that the report against Lakewood as a major airport site given by Charles R. Erdman will be reviewed. Mr. Erdman's contrary report, submitted this spring, was in reversal of an earlier view he had expressed as head of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Governor Meyner's decision for review is interesting, but folks living hereabouts are bound to find a lot more claim for attention in the statement of Mr. Tobin to the press. He said:

"Immediately after last November's election, Governor Meyner sent for me and some of the commissioners of the Port Authority to go through matters in which he was interested. He obtained a report from the NATCC telling of plans to work out flight patterns, climb out procedures, and the continued transfer of test and familiarization flights from Newark Airport and all the work the NATCC has been doing to take hazards away from congested areas.

"The governor has received from me and Mr. Glass continued reports on the progress of noise abatement work of the NATCC. We also advised the governor we are very, very much encouraged and that complaints at the NATCC complaint center are way, way off to a very small percentage of what they were last year.

"There still is noise during instrument weather conditions and westerly winds. But, we are making tremendous strides in improvement."

That is Mr. Tobin's story as it appeared in the last edition of Monday's Elizabeth Daily Journal. We ask you to fix this firmly in your mind because on the FIRST page of the FIRST edition of Monday's Journal, in almost the exact same spot where the Governor's Lakewood conference story started, there was a picture of the late Captain John Phillips Jr. of Roselle.

Captain Phillips was one of 14 Air Force men killed in a crash Sunday at Riverside, Calif. Two more in a Navy Beech were killed when their ship crashed in the air near Columbus, Ohio, with an American Airlines Convair, the 34 passengers aboard which escaped with minor hurts. And on the same day, at LaGuardia, 36 passengers aboard a Colonial Airlines plane escaped with their lives when the pilot effected a dramatic return to earth after the landing gear had locked on take-off. These are the news stories that interest far, far more than Mr. Tobin's pat discussion of patterns and routine reference to "noise abatement," or reduction in the number of "complaints" not forgetting "progress."

People have stopped making "complaints" because "complaints" are of no avail. Port Authority and NATCC have sat out the storm as it were until the majority of "hysterical" people of Elizabeth gave up complaining. There is still noise, which frightens no one and we have not bothered to take seriously any further talk about patterns since a plane captain put an end to deception by stating point blank that a pilot with a cargo of human lives must depend on air currents rather than traffic lights when he takes his ship aloft.

But, Mr. Tobin fails to point out that amid all his "complaints," all his "noise abatement," all his "patterns," all his "progress" that planes keep right on falling. That is why Lakewood, even though it would snatch control of a great New York-Philadelphia air terminal from the Port Authority, is the place to replant Newark as an international field. In the center of such a great concentration of population Newark is a misplacement which Mr. Tobin doesn't bother to debate, while leaning on the stock distractions of "noise," "patterns" and "progress"—good old reliable trite and dog-eared "progress." Governor Meyner should not let himself be deceived regarding the necessity for removing the international plant from Newark Airport.

Mr. Churchill "Presses" On to Ottawa

Great Britain's Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, has "pressed" to Ottawa after his conferences at Washington with President Eisenhower where both leaders agreed to "press forward" for a defense system in Southeast Asia regardless of whether the French Indochina armistice talks succeed or break down.

After their final meeting yesterday there was still another statement to supplement the "pressing forward" of Monday. In this latter statement it was announced that the two men will continue, "in intimate comradeships." That seemed to be the main point in the statement which included other things, all of which have a familiar sound, such as efforts "to secure world peace based upon principles of the Atlantic charter"; such as extending "the hand of friendship" to all peaceful people; such as using "every peaceful means to secure the independence of all countries" and such as "we will not be a party" in confirmation or extention of "unwilling subordination" of once independent states "now in bondage."

Well, that's about the way they left it. But, anyhow, Mr. Churchill has again been to Washington with all his props and personality and, as usual, Mr. Churchill was quite the center of attention all the while he was here. Now he has pressed along to Ottawa without leaving any hints that he has changed his mind anent never "presiding at the distintegration of Her Majesty's empire." It would have been nice if he could have left behind some indication of how "we" are going to go about all this uplift, which certainly has not been "pressing forward" with any regard for schedule.

The need of the moment appears to be a little pinpointing on the part of the English speaking world while the Russians keep moving their own red-topped pins farther and farther out from Moscow on the map of the world. However, to this exent there was some degree of satisfaction in the conference: At least there was an honest exchange of viewpoints and at the end none of the dishonest avowals of intent employed by Russia to foster the turmoil, the chaos, and the outright perfidy on which communism thrives. Meanwhile the Asians for Asia "press on" in a manner that could explain so much generality in the Washington statement.

TODAY'S TALK—

Lock All Fear From Life

By GEO. MATTHEW ADAMS

I believe fear to be one of the major evils. It has no value whatsoever in our daily lives. As a matter fact, it is one of our greatest enemies. Where there is no fear there are love, faith, hope, and confidence in a Heavenly Father who watches over us constantly, whether we are aware of the fact or not.

Adams.

Lock out all fear from your life, as you would lock your home to keep out those who would steal from you. Fear, however, is a far more dangerous thief, for it keeps stealing away from you the control that your will and better nature should have all to themselves. We give up our own selves to a very great degree when we fear and needleesly worry.

It is an old, old expression that most of our fears never materialize. This is true after we have tasted much of life, we learn how its many lessons prove themselves. The main one is that most fears have never had a single leg on which to stand! Fears are like spies. They hide and sneak about in the dark. And they leave wicked gossip and false rumors behind.

Have you noted how calm and relaxed are those who exhibit no conscious fear in their lives? They believe in the simple virtues, and without fanfare try to demonstrate the livableness of life, and call others to do the same. Lock all fear—out! It has no place in the healthy, happy human being.

In a most helpful book published many years ago, by Josephine Jackson, M.D., called "Outwitting Our Nerves," I came across these lines: "Learn to call up fear only when speedy legs are needed, not a cool head or a comfortable digestion. Fear is a costly proceeding, an emergency measure like a fire-alarm, to be used only when the occasion is urgent enough to demand it."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG —

Blame Bureaucratic Blundering For Administration Headache

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Bureaucratic blundering in the Budget Bureau, which is the Eisenhower equivalent for the "Roosevelt brain trust," has been responsible for recent inconsistencies and policy reversals that embarrass the White House. The budgeteers, who number many New Dealish hangovers, have given the President wrong advice, although he must share some blame.

Tucker.

It was Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes, for instance, who ruled that Alger Hiss must receive eventually his $700-a-year pension, despite the circumstances behind his conviction. To assume such a legalistic attitude in the face of the Stevens-McCarthy sensations signifies almost incredible stupidity, which Eisenhower and Congress had to repudiate.

In even more important matters, involving grave questions of national security, the bright young men in the bureau have made such highly questionable decisions that they were reversed by the White House, Congress and the National Security Council.

WHITE HOUSE COMMAND—The Budget Bureau's responsibility lies in the fact that all major matters of policy, especially when they involve expenditures of money, must be "cleared through" this agency. Hughes consults so regularly with Eisenhower that the voice of the budget is the command of the White House.

Budget informs Congress and all executive agencies whether proposed legislation or action is or is not "compatible with the administration's program," usually in writing. FDR started this system of centralized control and clearance, and Ike has continued it for want of a better check. It also comports with his chain-of-command ideas.

The budgeteers, however, rightfully attribute some responsibility to the White House. They try simply to apply Ike's general economic and political philosophy—private enterprise versus government expansion, Federal economy, a balanced budget—to specific problems. But they practice neither flexibility nor imagination. And they are political babes in Washington.

UNIMAGINATIVE EXPERTS—In proposing that the Atomic Energy build a steam plant and sell power to TVA customers, they were simply seeking to prevent TVA from becoming a vast utility system instead of the Federal waterpower project it was supposed to be. TVA now derives more than 30 per cent of electricity from steam plants. The figure will reach 60 per cent, if the present trend continues.

To check such a movement into the field of private industry is a definite Eisenhower pledge. But the unimaginative and non-politically minded budget experts made no attempt to explain or defend the action in popular and nontechnical language.

From both the engineering and financial angles, they have a plausible and substantial defense for interchanging AEC-TVA power. But again, they were too legalistic and bureaucratic.

POUND-FOOLISH POLICY—In the case of the famous government-built tin smelter at Texas City, Texas, the budgeteers persuaded Ike to adopt a penny-wise and pound-foolish policy. He recommended on their advice that the plant, which is operated under lease by Dutch interests, be closed down. Basic idea was to save money and get the government out of the smelting business.

But, this smelter happens to be the only one on the Western Continent that can process low-grade ores from Bolivia. With Indochina tin supplies threatened, we may have to depend on Bolivia as a source of supply, as we had to in World War II.

A resolution reversing the Budget Bureau's proposal, sponsored by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, was adopted unanimously by the Armed Services committee, and by the Senate. House passage is certain because of favorable committee action. As in the Hiss case, Ike now admits that the original Hughes recommendation was a bad mistake.

SIX BASIC CROPS—

Omnibus Farm Bill—One Year Support

WASHINGTON — The omnibus farm bill sponsored by a majority of the House Agriculture Committee was scheduled to come up in the House today. The committee bill would, contrary to the administration's wishes, fix for one more year the mandatory price supports of the six basic crops at 90 per cent of parity.

At the same time, the committee bill would, in line with administration desires, expand the power of the secretary of agriculture to restrict acreage on price-supported crops. On peanuts, one of the six "basics," the secretary could cut the acreage by 5 per cent a year until the peanut surplus ended.

Peanuts are produced on a large scale in seven states, all in the South: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas (formerly much more than now), Virginia. It was obviously the political influence of these states during the New Deal that led to the choice of peanuts as a basic commodity —they are outranked in money value by ten or a dozen crops not classified as basic.

In mid-May the average farm price of peanuts was 11.2 cents a pound, 18 per cent under the effective parity price of 13.6 cents. As of May 1 the government owned or held as pledges against loans 273 million pounds, as against 193 million 12 months before.

Peanut growers themselves, through their representatives in Washington, agreed to additional acreage restriction in order to retain the 90 per cent-of-parity price supports. And the farm bloc in Congress may try to work out a similar compromise with the administration on the latter's demand for flexible price supports on all crops, suggesting: "If you'll agree to mandatory 90 per cent price supports to keep the prices up, we'll agree to acreage cuts to keep the supply down." — Editorial Research.

Meyner Riding Crest Of Wave

By LAWRENCE J. KEEFE

The hour has come to take inventory of the New Jersey Republican State organization. Time is fleeting and a few weeks hence will be too late for constructive purposes. Even now the plight of the good ship GOP grows perilous. The deckhands as ever are true and loyal. The bridge, though, is manned by an insufficiency of master mariners. The scarcity of weather-beaten old tars who understand the vagaries of wind and tide is striking. Also, more than slightly ominous. The captain, former State Senator Samuel L. Bodine, of Hunterdon, is highly respected and highminded. The Flemington lumberman in truth is of deeply conservative gubernatorial timber himself. But as a chief navigator, he lacks the three essentials of experience, driving power and inspirational force.

Like Governor Meyner, the Republican State chairman is an alumnus of Lafayette but here the resemblance between the two ends. Bodine would destroy the dominance of the State Government by his neighbor from nearby Warren but it isn't in the wood that he will attain his objective, this year at least.

Keefe

There is a moment to club and a moment to cultivate. The Republican chieftains of old who ran into periods when Democratic governors were riding the crest, often resorted to the art of cajolery and seeming acceptance of a New Day. That Meyner now is riding the crest, hits every observer squarely in the eye daily.

Significantly one doesn't hear a beating of the war drums at present by such redoubtable Republican warriors as Senator Frank S. Farley of Atlantic and the Mathises, father and son from the pine woods of Ocean. No, that is left for the brash amateurs the Forbeses and the Dumonts.

Someone of political prominence has suggested to this column that the living ex-governors of the Republican faith should be summoned into council to advise on the strategy of the fall campaign. The idea is rather appealing but like so many Republican proposals these days it is weak on the practical side.

A NOT HAPPY TRIO

It would be difficult to find a trio so lacking of complete agreement and unity of understanding as former Governors Edge, Driscoll and Larson. Though it may not be a pleasing description to all three, the fact is that the only real "pro" in the group is Edge. And it is the services of skilled "pros" that is the great need of the Republican party in New Jersey.

Too much of the existing atmosphere in the State government is a heritage from the Driscoll days. It must be painfully admitted that the recent Governor didn't leave the State House with clean and wholesome corridors and cubby holes. That is why Governor Meyner is able to make progress by opening the windows and letting in the light. The Driscoll fame, it also cannot be denied, came out of his first administration when he compelled the calling of the Constitutional Convention after Governors Edison and Edge had conditioned the public to accept such a startling reform. The second regime, when the Governor became smitten with the germ of national glory and so temporized with the politicos, was a disappointment.

Out of some county, a new State power usually rises rather unexpectedly. In mighty few counties, are there any potentialities for the Republican whipsnappers today.

WOOLLEY TOP LEADER

The sole Republican county leader who is tops now and doubtless would be willing to assume wider responsibilities, is County Chairman Russell H. Woolley of Monmouth. Other than Farley and Mathis, Woolley is the one Republican of organization prominence who most closely approaches the stature of those who made the Republican party shockproof and well nigh invincible in the past. Despite the heavy and sometimes devastating fire to which they often were subjected within their own party, the "Davy" Bairds, the Major Lentzes, the "Dory" Strongs, the John Keans, of the earlier days of the century, gave the Republican organization a solidity and a firmness that it no longer possesses.

Although the picture on the whole lacks bright spots and might be taken as depressing to the hopes of those who yearn to see former Congressman Clifford P. Case of Rahway elected to the United States Senate, it doesn't necessarily follow that the Case candidacy already is doomed to disaster.

NEGATIVE DREAMS

Republican dreams of returning at an early date to power in New Jersey, rest largely on certain elements of a negative nature. They think that Democratic bosses' displeasure with Governor Meyner might result in a "laying down" on the Governor's interests at the polls. This isn't impossible but mostly it is based in wishful thinking.

The Governor is addressing his appeal to the people at large and not to the operators of the party machine. Consciously or not, he is following the lead set by some of the great national Democrats of byegone days, the Grover Clevelands and the Woodrow Wilsons. Also, the influence of his friendship and admiration of Adlai E. Stevenson is evident. The policies and the philosophy of the Meyner administration are similar to those of the Stevenson administration a few years ago in Illinois.

According to current belief in political circles, two such outstanding Democratic figures as former Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City, and former Attorney General David T. Wilentz of Middlesex, aren't brimful of gaiety at the rewards their organizations have gathered from the Meyner regime.

Kenny reputedly believed that three posts of major significance would drop in his basket as soon as the new Governor took over. Kenny had booked on the labor commissionership, the presidency of the Civil Service Commission, and, it is thought, the attorney generalship. The Civil Service plum alone went his way but even here joy wasn't unconfined, as Kenny's first choice was hurdled and the honor went to one who was further down on the list, the well-equipped Sheriff Kelly.

Former Congressman Edward J. Hart, long the chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was Kenny's candidate for labor commissioner. This was thought to be a sure shot; so much so that Hart has been quoted as having told Congressional associates in Washington that he was retiring in order to assume the labor commissionership back home.

Wilentz announced his withdrawal from politics almost two years ago. Democratic demand in Middlesex was a big factor in inducing him to change his mind. His county, which had been headed with three rousing cheers for Elmer H. Wene as the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, wavered at Wilentz's pleading and gave Meyner a fair break. It then swung to him by an immense majority in November. Wilentz was confident that he again would be a major factor in the Trenton government and an "insider" at every turn.

ANNOYING GOVERNOR

Middlesex was recognized by the Governor in the naming of County Clerk Edward J. Patton as secretary of state but little else has gone there and Wilentz hasn't been one of the Governor's mentors. Eyebrows were raised high when Wilentz let loose with an eulogy of former Governor Hoffman and a blast at Meyner when Hoffman was suspended as director of the unemployment division of the State government. The eyebrows still are raised and haven't come down yet. Wilentz and Hoffman were closely associated ever since they were boyhood friends in the Amboys.

The human equation may be a compelling reason for the dulled enthusiasm of Thorn Lord, the able Mercer county Democratic chairman, for the Governor. Lord had been mentioned on several occasions in the past as possessing all the qualifications of an excellent gubernatorial candidate. Lord, a naturally modest gentleman, never took the boomlet with any great seriousness and did nothing to keep them green. He was a prime factor in obtaining the organization endorsement for Meyner.

In Memoriam

BRUGGER—In sad and loving memory of a dear father, father-in-law, and grandfather, William Brugger, who passed away June 30, 1948.
The call was sudden
The shock severe,
We never thought your time so near,
You live with us in memory still
But just today but always will,
You said none the last farewell
You said good-by to none.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
There has been a lonely heartache, often silent tears,
To the beautiful memory of the one we loved so dear.
CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

BRUGGER—In sad and loving memory of a beloved husband, William Brugger, entered into God's Kingdom, June 30, 1953.
(God's Greatest gift returned to God)
Time brings sad memories
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received
That day we still remember well.
The dearest one the world could hold
The cherriest smile and a heart of gold.
Those who knew him ought to know
How much we lost one year ago.
LOVING WIFE, KATHRYN.

FORRESTER—In sad and loving memory of Daniel Forrester, who passed away June 30, 1949.
It's said time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget
But so far time has only shown
How much we miss him yet
WINNIE, MALCOLM and CHILDREN.

Pleasant to Most of U. S.
By the Associated Press.

Pleasant weather appeared the outlook to most of the country today as current heat waves in many areas were broken.

Thunderstorms rumbled across wide sections in the central part of the nation last night, with strong winds and heavy rains in many cities. The storms broke the stifling heat.

In the southeast, cooling air from the Atlantic and from the Gulf brought at least temporary relief from the stifling hot weather.

Early today a belt of thundershowers extended over West Central Illinois westward across Northern Missouri, Kansas and the Eastern slope of the Rockies in Colorado. The smaller band of showers was reported in Southeastern Michigan and near Lake Erie in Northern Ohio.

The cool air moved eastward and southward from the Rockies but daytime temperatures were in the 90s in the Central States. It was 106 in Kansas City and 101 in Little Rock, Ark., while Chicago, before arrival of gusty winds and rain, sweltered in 97-degree heat. It was the 15th day in June temperatures had reached 90 or higher, a record for the month.

Skies were clear in most of the country early today, favorable for the eclipse of the sun. Early morning conditions: New York 64 and cloudy; Washington 67 and clear; Miami 78 and clear; Seattle 57 and partly cloudy; San Francisco 55 and cloudy; Los Angeles 62 and cloudy; Salt Lake City 73 and partly cloudy; Dallas 79 and clear; Oklahoma City 72 and clear; Minneapolis 65 and clear; St. Louis 71 and partly cloudy; Detroit 73 and showers; Chicago 71 and clear.

NEW YORK
Random Observations

By JOHN CAMERON SWAYZE

PARIS, France — There are two clocks in Paris that have caught my fancy. One is the huge timepiece high on the wall above the waiting room at Le Bourget Airfield. It is ringed with the names of cities of the world and New York needn't think it is such-a-much. The only U.S. town inscribed there is Washington. One of the names completely stopped me—Tananarive. I found out later, it's the capital of Madagascar, which I suppose you knew all along.

Swayze

The other clock is the one in the tiny bar at Ludwig Bemelmans' Hotel at 4 Rue de la Colombe, which is behind Notre Dame and a street that few Paris taxi drivers can find without help from a gendarme. The building which Bemelmans is gradually turning into a hostelry of 12 rooms dates to 1225, by the way, and, I should say, looks practically every year of its age. Some say he will make a fortune there. I don't know, it all depends on whether the spot becomes such a fad he can boost the tariffs sky-high and still draw. As for the clock, there's nothing unusual about it except that it will run only upside down. I was cynical and doubted it so the barman climbed on a chair, unhooked the large affair and turned it right side up. The clock stopped. So there it hangs in reverse and you can figure out the time any way you like, including standing on your head if the whim strikes you. At Bemelmans', chances are no one would bat an eye.

French women of quality seldom smoke on the streets in Paris, in contrast to the practice at home, and ladyfolk from the U. S. commit a faux pas when they fail to follow local customs . . . An incongruous note pops up now and again. Hard by Maxim's, a landmark that is sheer Paris, is an American style Snack Bar . . . And then there is the Hotel Florida with a legend over the telephone, "The Land of Sunshine." On the Boulevard Malesherbes, just a hop from the Place de l'Opera, I had hardly expected this.

Harry's New York bar, in the Rue Daunou, carries on after all these years with its own special flavor, the old paneled walls festooned with pennants of American colleges and framed clippings from U. S. gazettes. Harry McElhone, who still runs it, is not an American but a Scotsman, who once worked at the Hotel Plaza in New York and who bought the cafe 30 years ago from the famed jockey, Tod Sloan. Sloan had taken it over from the founder, an American woman, who started the business in 1911. At certain seasons I'm told the most familiar sound in the place comes from around the basement piano—college anthems known at home from coast-to-coast.

Prominently displayed over an appropriate container is a large sign, "Chiens Chauds a Tout Heure," which translates roughly, "Hot Dogs at any Hour." And, for those who don't savvy, another placard, "Try Our Red Hots."

I'm an old hot dog man, but I shunned temptation. In France I'll eat snails with abandon. But when it comes to hot dogs in a Paris cafe run by a Scotsman, I simply don't have the nerve.

NEA Forum Hears School Critics

NEW YORK (AP)—Critics of current public education in the United States had their say yesterday in a forum sponsored jointly by the National Education Assn. and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The schools were defended in turn by Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the California Teachers Assn., and John K. Norton, professor of education at Columbia University Teachers College.

One of the critics, history professor Arthur Bestor Jr. of the University of Illinois, claimed there has been a "retreat from learning in the public schools."

He said fundamentals are being neglected in modern schools in favor of such vague subjects as "life adjustment." He added:

"Reading, writing and arithmetic are indispensable studies in the elementary schools because no intellectual life worthy of the name is possible without these particular skills. . . .

"If we are allowing these fundamentals to be pushed aside . . . we are dooming our children and our nation to intellectual mediocrity and intellectual sterility."

Corey replied that the subjects Bestor recommended still make up the basic school curriculum. "These subjects are still taught with more emphasis on mental discipline than on practical life situations," he added.

Meyner Addresses N.J. Police Chiefs

SPRING LAKE (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner urges police chiefs to keep themselves posted on modern methods in the prevention and detection of crime.

In a talk last night at the annual meeting of the N.J. Assn. of Chiefs of Police, Meyner said that the job of the law enforcer has changed considerably.

Criminals now use up-to-date methods of operation, he said, and policemen must keep informed about advances made in crime prevention and detection.

Meyner suggested that local police take a training course and examinations similar to those required of state police.

Turning to a different subject, Meyner said all branches of government must cooperate in combatting juvenile delinquency. Youngsters who break the law could become habitual criminals unless they get the proper sympathy and understanding, Meyner added.

The police chiefs were urged by Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. McNulty, president of Seton Hall University, to work toward setting up local Alcoholics Anonymous clinics in hospitals in their communities.

The three-day meeting ends today.

Unscheduled Raid Alarm Has Town in Uproar

GROVE CITY, Ohio (U.P.)—When this community's air raid siren went berserk yesterday it threw the whole town into an uproar.

The fire department rolled out—and didn't know where to go. Anxious residents called police The police chief frantically called officials in neighboring towns.

Finally, the Civil Defense technician removed the siren's plug and calm was restored.

British Picture Awarded Film Festival Honors

BERLIN (AP)—Audiences attending the fourth international festival here have chosen the British film "Hobson's Choice," starring Charles Laughton, as the feature they liked best.

In the full-length documentary field, Walt Disney's "The Living Desert" was picked as the favorite.

The pictures were picked from screen contributions from 30 nations. Members of the audiences rated the films as excellent, good, medium or bad, and their reactions were tabulated in a point system.

The results, announced today at the close of the 12-day festival, showed that "Bread, Love and Fantasy" from Italy, with Gina Lillobrigida and Vittorio De Sica playing the main parts, ranked second among the features. Third in audience favor was the French film "The Renegade."

Graduates Find Jobs Scarce

More than two-thirds of this year's Thomas Jefferson and Battin high school graduates who sought permanent employment still had not found jobs when school closed, it was learned today from reports filed by the guidance counselors.

A general tightening of the employment market was cited by both Charles D. Taylor of Jefferson and Robert L. Luse of Battin. The latter asserted there were relatively few job opportunities for girls in industrial plants. In general, he said, the employment picture is the worst since the 1930s.

Fewer Working Permits

The general decline in employment opportunities is evidenced further by the records on issuance of working papers to children under 18 through the office of Dr. Kirk Seaton, director of guidance and special services for the school system. Students must have a promise of a job in order to obtain the papers.

The number issued in April, May and so far in June this year was down to 429. In the same three-month period in 1953 there were 745 and in 1952 the total was 749.

The closing of schools found 92 Jefferson graduates still job hunting. Only 33 who had located permanent work. There were 109 job seekers at Battin in contrast to 62 who had definite employment.

The number of job openings increased during June, it was reported, with about half the Battin group laced during that period. Normally, placements through the school guidance offices continue in July with 65 permanent and summer jobs filled during that period last year at Jefferson and 55 at Battin.

This year, however, the Board of Education voted as an economy measure not to follow the 20-year practice of retaining counselors at both schools.

113 With College Plans

Questionaires distributed to the seniors showed that in addition to those planning to take parmanent jobs there are approximately 113 who will enter college in the fall. Forty-two of these are among Battin's 264 graduates. Approximately one-third of Jefferson's class of 227 has college plans, with 71 of the students definitely accepted prior to the close of school.

Many of the permanent jobs obtained so far were developed through summer or part-time jobs held by the students while still in school. In cases where the applicants obtained other work, present undergraduates have been referred to the vacancies.

Eighteen of Jefferson's seniors reported they had definite plans for entering military service immediately after graduation. Others intend to enlist if worthwhile employment is not found. One of the Battin seniors planned to enter the armed forces.

In addition to the categories cited, Battinites reported the following plans: 8 will seek nurses' training, 24 plan other advanced schooling including secretarial courses, 2 will go to summer school, 15 will enjoy vacations and 14 are undecided. Sixteen want summer employment.

$1-$2.50 Raises Offered by Bell

NEWARK (AP)—Wage increases ranging from $1 to $2.50 a week have been offered by the N.J. Bell Telephone Co. to more than 15,000 non-management employes.

The company announced yesterday it made the offer during contract negotiations with the CIO Communications Workers of America, the Telephone Workers Union of N.J. (Ind) and the Commercial Telephone Workers Union of N.J. (Ind).

The CWA represents telephone operators and traffic department employes; the TWU represent plant, engineering and accounting employes; and the CTW is bargaining representative for business office workers.

Under terms of the company offer, some 3,100 employes in the top bracket who now earn more than $81 weekly would receive wage boosts of $2.50. The proposal also includes a $1.50 increase for 8,000 other workers and a $1 boost for still another 4,200.

Some 4,500 employes in beginning grades would not be affected, except as they increased their term of service with the company.

If the offer is accepted, Bell said, a splicer or switchman now earning the maximum of $102 would receive $104.50; an installer at the present top of $99 would get $101.50; telephone operators now earning $62 would receive $63.50; service assistants (senior type operators) now at $75.50 would get $77.

A Bell spokesman said the three unions have the proposal under study.

Contracts with the unions expired in May, and have been extended during the negotiations.

Reciprocal Trade Bill Sent to Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has sent President Eisenhower a bill to continue the reciprocal trade agreements act for another year. The 20-year-old law died June 12.

Congressional action on the bill was finished yesterday. President Eisenhower has asked Congress to get to work soon on his broader recommendation for a three-year extension of the trade law together with bigger tariff-cutting powers. He has urged approval of this program early next year.

Most of the authority for negotiation of new pacts has been used up, but the law still would permit the working out of a trade agreement with Japan. Senate leaders have said this is under consideration.

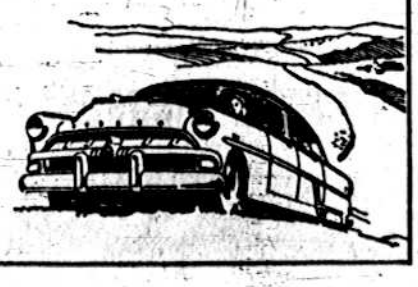

Suspicion of Robbery

ANGOLA, La. (U.P.)—The Antolite, weekly newspaper of the Louisiana State Penitentiary here, complained editorially today that it received only $2.80 for 100 copies of the five-cent newspaper on sale at an "honor box" inside the prison.

Court Won't Drop Raffles Law Test

JERSEY CITY (AP) — The State Legal Games of Chance Commission has failed in a bid to have dismissed a civil action aimed at testing the legality of a "bargain day" automobile drawing in West New York.

Superior Court Judge Haydn Proctor refused yesterday to dismiss the civil action. The motion for dismissal was made by Dep. Atty. Gen. Frederick J. Gassert, representing the commission and Hudson County Prosecutor Frederick P. Law.

The civil action was filed recently by the West New York Board of Trade. Morris Cooper, a West New York merchant, was indicted June 22 by a county grand jury on a charge of engaging in a lottery. Stores, in an effort to drum up sales, were giving away coupons for a drawing on a car.

A similar drawing had been scheduled for Monday by a group of Jersey City merchants, but this was canceled pending a legal study by the merchants' council.

Prosecutor Law had instructed Jersey City police to watch for possible violations of law in the drawing.

A hearing on the civil action is scheduled for September.

N.J. Employes Aid Asked In Savings Bond Drive

TRENTON — State Treasurer Archibald S. Alexander enrolled today in the current drive for U.S. Savings Bonds among State employes. Present at the signing was Leslie Brown, president of Lenox Inc., Trenton and Russell S. Britton, deputy director of the U.S. Savings Bonds Division. Brown is vice chairman of the U.S. Savings Bonds Committee.

Alexander urged all state employes to sign up on the Payroll Savings Plan as an excellent thrift device and he stated "a better structure of the great national debt involves the ownership of more and more United States Bonds by more and more people."

The current drive which Alexander is heading under the direction of Gov. Robert B. Meyner is the most outstanding effort that has ever been made to encourage state employes to join this plan.

Crowds Visit Cemetery To See 'Bleeding Statue'

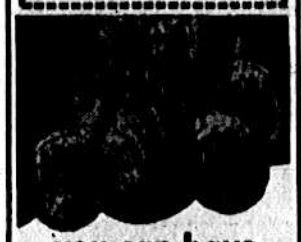

SAUGERTIES (AP)—Reports that a widow had found what appeared to be blood on a statue over her husband's grave last night brought crowds to St. Mary's Cemetery in search of the "bleeding statue."

Mrs. Mary Fabian had recently placed the statue, an imported seven-foot image of the sacred heart of Jesus, over the grave. On a visit to the cemetery she noticed a dark substance on the statue.

It looked like blood, she told Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone of nearby Glasco. Mayone took samples for chemical analysis.

But before it could be determined what the substance was, word of the discovery spread and people gathered at the cemetery from throughout the surrounding Hudson Valley area.

What's Your Answer

The New Jersey Weekly Child Safety Quiz

The question below was asked of 30,000 New Jersey parents recently in a study of parental attitudes toward situations which may prove hazardous to children.

The study was the joint effort of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, the New Jersey State Safety Council, the New Jersey State Department of Health, and the National Safety Council.

It is endorsed by the Medical Society of New Jersey and the New Jersey Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

There is frequently more than one solution to a given situation. Check what you think would be most likely answer and compare your answer with the one given below.

A BUTTON PROBLEM

Mrs. Cole is sewing a dress. Eighteen-months-old Jimmy is playing around and sees her open a box with bright colored buttons, of all sizes, some plastic, some metal. He wants to play with the buttons. What should she do?

1. [ ] Hide the buttons and put off sewing them on until the child is asleep.
2. [ ] Run a loop of string through some of the buttons, tie it and give it to him to play with.
3. [ ] Give him the buttons to play with as long as he stays in the same room with her.
4. [ ] Give him only the plastic buttons to play with, the idea being that they are safe if he puts them into his mouth.

Dr. Renee Zindwer, chief of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health of the New Jersey State Department of Health, who prepared the questions in consultation with the Professional Examination Service of the American Public Health Association, advises as follows with reference to the situation:

Little children are apt to put small loose objects in the mouth or ear or nose and possibly might choke on them. For this reason Mrs. Cole should act according to solution number 2. Solution number 1 obviously would be quite impractical from her point of view. Answers 3 and 4 would let Jimmy play with loose buttons and Mrs. Cole's being in the same room does not assure that the child might not quickly put a button in the ear, mouth or nose.

Declarer Fails The Hard Way

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service.

Probably most players would lose today's slam in a very simple and uncomplicated manner. The "normal" line of play is to ruff the first spade, draw four rounds of trumps, and then confidently lead out the ace of diamonds. When the diamonds fail to break, South is down two.

Jacoby

When the hand was actually played, the declarer was good enough to find a complicated way to go down. South ruffed the opening spade, led a trump to the jack, and returned a low diamond toward his hand.

This was a fine idea so far. If East ruffed, South would play a low diamond. He would then be able to ruff a spade continuation, draw the trumps, and run all of the diamonds without fear.

East saw the danger, and discarded a spade instead of ruffing. South won with the ace of diamonds and led another trump to dummy's king in order to lead a second diamond towards his hand. East discarded a club, and South won with the king of diamonds.

Having gone thus far with his plan, South naturally had to continue. He led a club to dummy's king and led dummy's last diamond. East again discarded, and South won with the queen of diamonds. When South now led a low diamond and ruffed with dummy's six, East rose to the occasion by refusing to overruff.

Declarer was in the dummy and couldn't get out. In order to return to his own hand, South had to ruff a black card. This left him with only one trump to East's two trumps. There was then no way to make the slam.

Opening lead—♠Q

South was on the right track, but he made one slight slip. It was correct to lead a trump to dummy at the second trick in order to return a diamond. It was not correct to lead a second trump to dummy.

After winning the first diamond with the ace, South should lead a club to dummy in order to lead a second diamond. East discards, and South wins with the king. South leads another club to dummy and leads a third diamond to his queen.

If East still refuses to ruff, South can now lead a small diamond, ruffing with dummy's king. Dummy's low trump can be led and South clears up the trumps, making all 13 tricks.

Veteran to Be Entombed In Cement for Burial

ONARGA, Ill. (AP)—A war veteran's body will be buried Thursday in a slanting tomb and packed with cement but no one in Onarga knows why.

Frank Grove, 69, a soldier in the war with Spain, the Mexican border expedition and World War I, died yesterday in a soldiers home in Washington.

A decade ago he built a tomb standing at a 45-degree angle. He often showed the tomb with pride to his friends but none of the elderly Onarga residents recalls why Grove built it on an angle.

Elmer Natterstad, Onarga mortician, said he has been instructed to remove the body from the casket, wrap it up in canvas and encase the body in fresh cement. He said he will carry out the instructions.

The tomb has this inscription: "He was well born and is sealed in cement beneath."

Carrier Catapult Change Ordered

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy will modify the plane-launching catapults on all but two aircraft carriers as a result of the May 26 explosion aboard the carrier Bennington. The disaster cost more than 100 lives.

A Navy official said yesterday all carriers affected by the modification plan have catapults operated on a hydraulic principle, except the Intrepid and the Hancock, which have steam catapults.

Although no official cause for the Bennington disaster has been announced, the Navy believes the explosion and the fire started in the catapult.

Boys' State Sets Governor Race

NEW BRUNSWICK (AP) — Citizens of New Jersey Boys' State today went about the business of picking candidates for governor at party conventions.

Delegates of the mythical state's two political parties—the national and federal—met at the conventions to make their choices of the candidates who will run in tomorrow's primary election.

A boy governor will be elected Friday, the climax of the ninth annual Boys' State sponsored by the New Jersey American Legion.

In addition to the conventions, the 550 high school pupils will take part in a panel discussion today on the free press in the United States.

Newly elected city officials were sworn in last night, and then the delegates elected state senators for the six counties.

The six new senators were Robert Filder, Riverside; George Gray, Newton; Charles S. Eytel, East Orange; Bruce Carlson, Penns Grove; John Hiney, Bergenfield, and Robert McCafferty Jr., Roselle Park.

Also elected were assemblymen and county freeholders.

Boys' state held on the campus of Rutgers University, aims at giving high school youngsters a first hand lesson in the workings of government.

Held in conjunction with Boys' State is the eighth annual Girls' State on the New Jersey College for Women campus.

The 280 girl delegates, also broken up into national and federal parties, today hold state and county primaries. They select a girl governor tomorrow.

Named as state committeewomen from the three counties of Girls' State last night were Kathleen Di Croccio of Nutley, Alicia Wallis of Princeton, and Carol Crobaugh of Irvington—all Federals, and Rosemary O'Connor of Little Ferry, Harriette Ayers of Branchville and Anne Ludwig of Bogota—all Nationals.

5 Teachers Dismissed For Silence on Reds

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Board of Education has dismissed five veteran teachers, ending an inquiry of 31 educators who refused to answer questions on alleged Communist associations before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Dismissed yesterday were Mrs. Leanora C. Jacobs, Mrs. Esther G. Soler, 44, Mrs. Goldie Watson, 44, Thomas J. Deacon, 47, and Dr. Wilbur L. Mahaney, 51. All had at least 24 years teaching experience.

Three of the five invoked the fifth amendment when called before the House committee. Mrs. Watson invoked the first amendment. Mahaney admitted he had been a Communist but refused to name his associates. He and Mrs. Watson were held in contempt of Congress.

The 31 teachers were dismissed by the board over the last seven months on charges of incompetency.

Administration Pro-Labor Mitchell Tells Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary James P. Mitchell told a Labor Department employes' pep session yesterday that Eisenhower administration policies are "pro-labor."

"Despite what you may hear to the contrary," Mitchell said, "I ask you to look at the facts, look at the President's program for health and social legislation. No one can say that this is not pro-labor."

Mitchell urged Labor Department employes to get busy trying to devise new ways to do their work better, saying they needed "a shake-up, not a physical check-up but mental." He said he found "tremendous talent" among employes but wanted to make sure it was used to the fullest extent.

U.S. Highway Aid Given to States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks today announced apportionment of 875 million dollars in federal highway aid for what he said would be "The greatest surge in highway construction in the history of America."

The money will be doled out to the states and territories during the fiscal year beginning a year from tomorrow as they put up matching funds and make highway improvement expenditures.

Weeks said early earmarking of the funds "will have a favorable impact on the economy."

Under the new program, Weeks said, federal spending for highway aid will approximately equal income from federal gasoline taxes.

Of the total, the primary highway system will get over 315 million dollars, interstate roads 175 million, secondary roads 210 million, and urban roads 175 million.

New York got the biggest allotment — over 56 million dollars. Vermont got the smallest—4 million. New Jersey got $16,783,499.

Prospects Good for Consumer During Remainder of Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The consumer—and aren't we all?—can take a sunny view of the rest of the year. Jobs should be a little easier to find. Wages and fringe benefits in many cases will be a little higher. Work weeks should average closer to 40 hours again—and therefore paychecks will be a little fatter.

It shouldn't cost any more to live, and bargains will be found for the looking. There'll be an abundance of things to buy and salesmen eager to get your trade.

Credit will be easier and money plentiful, in the banks—meaning it'll be easier for you to get into debt. But the interest you pay should be no higher, if as high.

Drop at Bottom

These prospects are based on the widely-held belief that the slide from the war boom is around the bottom now, that after the usual summer doldrums, business in general will start up, noticeably, if moderately.

The layoffs that made the early months of the year a bad time for many American families are coming much less often now. The average work-week has just started to reverse itself and lengthen again.

If businessmen are right in their belief that inventory trimming is about over, a return to normal ordering practices should increase factory production this fall. This would mean you'll work longer weeks or go back to work if laid off.

Hourly wage increases granted this year in some industries will mean fatter paychecks as working weeks lengthen.

So far this year the total paid out in wages and salaries is down from a year ago. But personal income has stayed high nationally because of an increase in other forms of income. Dividend payment totals are higher and unemployment and pension benefits have increased. Tax cuts also help sweeten take-home pay.

But your chance for further individual tax relief is dim. The federal government continues to operate at a deficit and needs tax revenue. State and local governments, moreover, need to build new roads, schools and hospitals and to meet rising labor and other service costs. They're looking for new ways to tax.

Prices Uncertain

Prices are just as likely to drop as to rise. Merchants and manufacturers have plenty of goods they'd like to sell. Rising cost problems may tempt them to hike prices. Competition and fear of your reaction is more likely to keep them from it. The majority opinion in business and industry is that the present price levels will be largely unchanged at year's end.

Food will be abundant, unless the weather renegs on its present promise, and food prices will swing seasonally. More meat is coming to market and high-priced pork may take a tumble.

Savings have been running along this year at about the same rate as last, some folk managing to sock a little away in spite of the high cost of living. Savings rates can't be forecast—depending as they do on that intangible, how the consumer feels about spending or waiting.

Another bit of public psychology agitating the forecasters at mid-year—Is the public coming into the stock market?

Brokers say there are signs that he is at last. Most of the year's upturn in stock prices has come about through purchasing by regular professionals and by the big investors, such as the industrial pension funds. But recent buying splurges have stock market followers asking if the public isn't beginning to buy now.

Part of their reasoning is based on that old market saying, "The public always comes in at the top."

Home Agent Goes To Convention

Mrs. Mary W. Armstrong, home agent, left yesterday afternoon for the national convention of home economics leaders to be held for four days beginning Tuesday in San Francisco.

Mrs. Armstrong will represent the New Jersey Home Economics Assn., of which she is president. The only other New Jersey delegate will be Miss Verna Danley, of the state education office in Trenton, who is a member of the association's council.

At a session of the executive board Thursday in Newark, both reviewed New Jersey home economics activities for presentation at the convention. Among the board members is Mrs. Helen McCann, home economics teacher in Summit.

Mrs. Armstrong will be back by mid-July, returning by way of the Canadian Rockies.

Wells Supply Some For Auto Washing

Norman Wyatt of Elizabeth, president of the Car Wash Operators Assn. of New Jersey, said today that many auto laundries have continued operations despite the current water shortage because they use water from their own wells. Such water would be unsuitable for drinking and other household purposes, he claimed.

One Elizabeth company dependent on the city water supply has voluntarily restricted its business. Mack D. Eleazer, a partner in the Blue Door Auto Laundry at 446 Trinity Pl., said today he has been turning away two to five customers a day since he heard of the shortage last week.

Four other Union County car washers using city water reported no curtailment of daily schedules. None of the nine county laundries interviewed has been asked by municipal officials to limit its use of water.

Elizabeth P-TA Activities

The executive board of Woodrow Wilson School 19 P-TA entertained the faculty recently at a luncheon at Townley Restaurant, Union.

Mrs. Oreste Alessi, president, presented a gift from the board to Mrs. Eleanor Delaney, principal, in recognition of her recent attainment of a doctor's degree. Miss Elizabeth Smith of the faculty provided entertainment.

Court Reiterates Parking Lot OK

Superior Court Judge Frank L. Cleary, who ruled June 18 that the Board of Works was within its rights in granting a zoning variance to permit a parking lot at 839-843 Westminster Ave., yesterday denied a motion to reconsider his decision.

Reconsideration was asked by seven Westminster Ave. residents who have battled the works board decision for 18 months. Last June Judge Cleary remanded the case for a fuller determination by the Board of Adjustment and the Board of Works. On June 18 of this year he upheld the action of both bodies.

The plaintiffs contended that the variance was illegal and arbitrary.

Defendants in the case were the Ursino Realty Co., owner of the property involved; the Board of Adjustment and the Board of Works. They claimed the lot would ease present traffic congestion in Pingry Pl., on which the property fronts.

Richard F. Green represented the plaintiffs, John L. McGuire appeared for Ursino Realty and Asst. City Attorney Jacob Pfefferstein was counsel for the city agencies.

7 Panther Valley Mines Shutting Down Today

LANSFORD, Pa. (U.P.) — Seven Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. mines were scheduled to close permanently today as state officials made 11th hour attempts to save the jobs of some 4,500 Panther Valley miners.

Gov. John S. Fine directed W. H. Behrens, deputy secretary of commerce, yesterday to contact company officials and present the 10-point miners' program for keeping the shafts open.

Fine met with Behrens and Commerce Secretary Andrew Cordoni in Wilkes-Barre to appraise the plan which includes an offer by the miners to work 20 days without pay so the company can build a $1,500,000 surplus.

Chou Flies Back To Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai returned to Communist China today after attending the Geneva conference on Asia and meeting with top officials in India and Burma.

The Red leader's plane stopped for an hour at this British crown colony for refueling before flying on to Canton and Peiping.

Concluding their Rangoon talks, Chou and Burmese Premier U Nu issued a joint communique last night pledging to "strive their utmost for promotion of peace." They expressed hope, particularly, that peace can be restored satisfactorily in Indochina.

The communique also announced that Burmese-Chinese relations would be guided by the same principles agreed upon by Red China and India to cover their relations on Tibet and reiterated by Chou and Indian Prime Minister Nehru at the end of their weekend conference in New Delhi.

These, the communique said, are "mutual respect for each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty, non-aggression, non-interference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit and peaceful co-existence."

Brunsdale Leads Dakota Primary

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Gov. Norman Brunsdale, seeking a third term, today led his nonpartisan league-backed opponent, Wallace E. Warner in North Dakota's GOP primary election contest.

With ballots counted in 875 of 2,337 precincts Brunsdale had 33,421 and Warner 25,984.

Brunsdale, a Mayville banker, has Republican Organizing Committee indorsement. Warner, a Grand Forks lawyer and former state attorney general, has a strong Democratic background despite his Republican faction indorsement. He was elected attorney general as a Republican, however.

The Democrats nominated a slate without contests.

Both incumbent Congressmen, Rep. Otto Krueger and Rep. Usher L. Burdick held leads.

X-Ray Magic Spots Tooth Trouble

(Presented herewith is one of a series of articles on dental health published in cooperation with the Union County Dental Society.)

The magic of X-ray helps a dentist find tooth trouble.

With the aid of this magic eye he can look at structures that are hidden below the gum line. He can spot decay long before it is felt by the patient. He can examine the condition of the tooth pulp, the soft tissue in the roots of the teeth.

Dentists depend largely on X-rays to show whether roots are well formed or broken, and whether foreign bodies, such as parts of fillings, have become wedged beneath the gums.

Discovered in 1896, X-rays were quickly adapted to dentistry, and today are an indispensable part of the dentist's equipment.

The dentist is highly skilled in reading X-ray films which are black and white photographic impressions of the interior of the object photographed. Objects are depicted in varying tones of black and white, depending on their densities.

Since the dentist knows the normal form and shape of teeth and the bone surrounding them, he can quickly tell by the different densities the presence or absence of abnormal conditions. Thus, a metallic filling, being denser than the tooth, would appear lighter in the film. Where there is tooth destruction from decay, a darker shadow would appear.

The great advantage of X-ray, of course, is that decay can be spotted in an early stage when the tooth can be filled and saved without the loss of much tooth structure.

Use of X-rays is especially important in the pre-school child in order to determine whether the permanent teeth are developing properly and whether there are any extra teeth that may be crowding the erupted teeth and forcing them out of position.

Dentists recommend a full mouth X-ray for children at least once a year to note the relative development and growth of the individual teeth and jaws.

For those who must wear artificial teeth, an X-ray is essential to show the condition of the gum tissues and whether there are any retained roots or unerupted teeth that would make the wearing of dentures difficult.

X-rays are also valuable in the diagnosis and treatment of periodontal diseases (diseases of the gums and supporting structures of the teeth.)

Court Increases Hammer Bail

WILMINGTON, Del. (U.P.)—Bail was increased to $15,000 today for Frederick Hammer, who shot his estranged wife, shipping heiress Andrea Luckenbach Hammer, in a wild shooting affray in the paddock of crowded Delaware Park Race Track Monday.

Hammer, 46, was committed to the New Castle County Workhouse yesterday in default of $10,000 bail after saying he did not mean to shoot his wife but at a horse he had raised.

Later, however, higher bail was set for the former race track employe at the request of State Attorney General H. Albert Young. Young said it was justified by "the nature of the offense and the circumstances under which it was committed."

The attractive 33-year-old heiress to a $3,000,000 shipping fortune, hit by three .32 caliber bullets, continued to improve following operations in Delaware Hospital.

Italy Police Crack Down On Striking Farmers

FERRARA, Italy (AP)—Cracking down on agitators of Ferrara Province's costly farm strike, Italian police raided union headquarters in a dozen towns today. They seized documents and arrested union and Communist Party officials.

The farm unions and owners of 4,000 affected farms agreed to meet late today in Rome with Labor Minister Ezio Vigorelli to discuss a compromise. Rome's official Communist newspaper L'Unita forecast an agreement would be reached between the owners and the 100,000 Red-led farm laborers, who have been refusing to work without an increase in pay.

Churchmen Laud Social Role Plea

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A call for the world's churches to take the lead in fighting social injustices drew a demonstration of approval last night by 3,500 Congregational Christians.

Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, secretary general of the World Council of Churches, told them the council's coming assembly may reopen "a lost dimension of Christian faith"—hope for a better future.

The audience which filled Yale University's Woolsey Hall broke in with a burst of hand-clapping when the international church leader declared:

"The time has come when the role of the church in economic and social affairs is terribly decisive."

Visser't Hooft, referring to the theme of the assembly at Evanston, Ill., in August—"Christ, The Hope of the World,"—said this has become "a neglected theme in the life of the church."

The Military Answers

Tips for Servicemen, Vets, Draft Eligibles

By MAJ. THOMAS M. NIAL

In claiming veterans benefits, half of the task is knowing what benefits you are orwill be eligible for. The other half is knowing how to go about getting them.

Throughout the United States many organizations and agencies help you on both of these. Most of them are associated with four specific organizations which are all good sources of information and help.

First are the Veterans Administration offices. The VA has 70 regional offices, located in most of the major cities in the United States and with at least one in every state. Besides these, the VA has 296 regular offices in other cities. All the VA hospitals also have at least one contact officer to handle vets' problems occurring in the hospitals.

The second source is the veterans' organizations. The main vets' organizations are American Legion, American Veterans of World War II, Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. There are a number of other vets' organizations which would help you if you requested it, but most don't have the facilities to offer theh help given by the four larger organizations.

Here's a rundown of what the four large organizations have in the way of individual assistance:

American Legion—The Legion has some 17,500 posts located in almost every town and city in the United States. Each is supposed have have a service officer who can give you a least cursory information about your rights. Then it has some 1,000 men who are accredited to the VA to handle all kinds of claims and other processing for you. Most of these are full-time, paid service officers. In every VA regional office the Legion has at least one full time service officer.

AMVETS—With its 1,200 posts around the country, AMVETS has service officers in each. It also has service officers located in each of the VA regional offices.

DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS—The DAV has some 1,800 to 1,900 chapters in the United States, and one officer in each of its chapters is assigned to supplying information on vets' benefits. The DAV also has 200 full-time service officers, including at least one at each of the VA regional offices.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS—The VFW has some 10,000 posts, with service officers at each post. Along with the help these officers can give, the VFW has 283 accredited service officers, most of whom spend full time helping vets get the right information on their benefits. Also, there's at least one full time, paid service officer in each of the VA regional offices.

The third source of help is various state service departments. Forty-four states have such departments, many of them with quite a number of full time service officers. Take Indiana, for instance: 79 full time men are stationed throughout the state to advise vets.

Generally, these state departments are particularly well informed on state veterans benefits, which lots of vets might otherwise never hear about.

The fourth source for help is the American Red Cross. Although the Red Cross doesn't confine itself to helping veterans, it does have a number of field directors who deal solely in vets' problems. The Red Cross has 3,700 chapters, with at least one in every county in the United States. It has some 2,500 full time employes and some 2,200 part time employes, along with a regular corps of 7,300 volunteers.

Watchmakers Ask For Tariff Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Preparedness Subcommittee today called a hearing on the American Watch and Clock industry—to determine its contribution to national defense.

Spokesmen for the industry say the situation in World War II, when the entire industry was devoted to manufacturing timing devices for defense, proved a strong industry is essential in this country.

Industry witnesses have contended the American market was taken over by Swiss imports while domestic firms were in war production. Unless early and adequate tariff protection is afforded, they argue, there will be no domestic industry to fall back upon in event of another emergency.

One of the main themes is that the skills required in designing and producing watches, clocks, time fuses and other precision instruments takes years of training and if the industry is injured or put out of business it would take too long to recruit and train workers in an emergency.

Importers and representatives of foreign producers contest these claims, asserting the skills involved in adjusting, casing and otherwise preparing imported movements for sale are virtually the same as those needed in time of war.

They also insist it would upset the balance of trade under reciprocal trade agreements and prove to be a blow to the economic recovery of friendly nations if the pleas of domestic producers were granted.

Movie Shark Stunt Man Slips, Suffers Bite

SANTA MONICA, Calif (AP)—Movie stunt man Frank Donahue has been busy all week catching sharks. Finally one caught him.

With his bare hands he caught more than 60 sharks off Santa Monica bay, only to find that they were too small. He tossed them all back since he needed a fish at least seven feet long as a wrestling partner in a movie scene.

Yesterday he jumped off his boat and swam around. Sharks swam close as usual. Donahue grabbed the tail of the nearest one and flipped it onto the boat deck. Then he climbed aboard for a look.

The boat rocked, Donahue slipped and fell against the flopping shark. It bit deep into his right elbow and forearm.

Guatemala Revolt Puts Squeeze on U. S.

By U.S. SEN. MARGARET CHASE SMITH

WASHINGTON—The civil war in Guatemala has placed our country in a diplomatic squeeze between the concept of non-intervention and non-aggression on the one hand and self-survival, opposition to Communism and enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine on the other.

Since the formation of the United Nations, our country has taken the position that opposition to aggression and enforcement of peace should be exercised through the United Nations rather than directly to any single country. We took that position on the defense of South Korea after it had been invaded by the Communists. And so we went through the motions of first getting United Nations action and approval.

Smith.

All in all, the record of the United Nations on united action against Communist aggression in South Korea was not exactly inspiring. The most that could be said was that the U.N. did not run away from its responsibility, as the League of Nations did years ago on its responsibility to oppose Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia.

Now some argue with considerable logic that the United States must not get involved in Guatemala but, rather, that the action should be through the United Nations.

So the United States is confronted with the question of policy as to which is to prevail in the direct conflict between the Monroe Doctrine and the United Nations. I say that the Monroe Doctrine should prevail. I say that we should not permit the Reds to use the United Nations to keep us from protecting our own security and the security of the Western Hemisphere.

Cancer can be cured if it is caught soon enough and cut out. If not, it ultimately kills the victim. The cancer of communism has now started in the very heart of the Western Hemisphere—in Guatemala in Central America. It can be cut out now without much difficulty. But if it is permitted to remain in Guatemala, it will spread to neighboring countries which, seeing it unchecked in Guatemala, will be afraid to oppose it themselves. If that happens, the lifeline between the United States and South America will have been severed and blocked by the Communists.

The decision is clear. For our own survival, we must uphold and follow the always successful Monroe Doctrine and not permit it to be vetoed by the seldom successful United Nations in the Guatemalan threat.

Reds Chalk Up Victory in Widely Separated Talks

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The two big conferences just held in Washington and New Delhi seem to have resulted in a diplomatic victory for Communism.

The Washington conference between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Winston Churchill showed that there still are wide differences between the United States and Great Britain.

These differences include immediate policy in Southeast Asia to prevent further Red aggression and the possibility of peaceful co-existence between democracy and world Communism.

Churchill wants to wait a while before he commits Britain to participation in a Southeast Asia security pact. Also, though he has been a consistent and active anti-Communist since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 he cherishes the belief—which he did not always hold — in the possibility of peaceful co-existence. President Eisenhower believes peaceful co-existence is possible only if the Communists unexpectedly become peaceful.

But the New Delhi conference between Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai disclosed no differences in policy between India and Communist China.

On the contrary, those two leaders of 960,000,000 Asiatic people seem to have been brought closer together—for the present.

Their conference was based on the idea that peaceful co-existence between the Communist and non-Communist worlds is entirely possible.

It was based largely, too, on the idea that Nehru and Chou should constitute a sort of joint voice of Asia in Asiatic affairs.

The Nehru-Chou conference is likely to strengthen "neutralism" in East Asia and make it more difficult to get the cooperation of some East Asiatic countries in any pact against Red aggression.

As regards co-existence, incidentally, some of the statements made on that issue by Churchill, Nehru and Chou might almost have been written by the same man.

Thus the Communists seem to have more reason than people of the free world to be happy over the outcome of the Washington and New Delhi conferences.

But the Red diplomatic victory is likely to be temporary. The differences between the United States and Britain are differences of judgment and timing only, as British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden put it in a speech before he and Churchill left for Washington.

The Anglo-American differences will not last. The beautiful friendship between Nehru and Chou could well be fleeting. With the Chinese Red dragon breathing hotly down the necks of countries all over Southeast Asia, Nehru's part of the co-existence may not be comfortable even though it is peaceful.

The Beauty Who Tamed Leo the Lion

NEW YORK (AP)—The marital romance of movie star Laraine Day and Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants baseball club, is a victory of love over dislike at first sight.

The first time Laraine, who looks like the girl every man hopes to wed, met Leo was in one of those velvet skip-rope Manhattan night clubs.

"Everybody crowded around to talk to him as if he were important," she recalled. "I didn't know who he was, but I certainly did dislike him."

The feeling was so strong that two years later, when Laraine saw Leo boarding a plane on which she was a passenger, she hoped he wouldn't sit by her because she dreaded having to talk to him. But Leo sat down and did most of the talking.

Boyle.

"I looked over at him after a while," said Laraine, "and suddenly thought to myself, 'This is the man I'm going to marry.' He didn't know it—but I did."

Soon after they were married.

As a girl Laraine hated baseball so much that she would umpire a game at school to keep from having to play it. But today she watches some 77 baseball games a year.

Laraine, who recently completed a leading role in "The High and the Mighty," has adjusted her film career so as not to let it conflict with the job of being Mrs. Durocher.

She makes a picture a year, acts in four television dramas, serves as a panelist on the TV program, "I've Got a Secret." But she goes to spring training with Leo, attends every home game here, and when the team takes to the road flies out to their California home to be with their children, Chris and Michele.

"Before I married Leo I wanted to win an Academy Award," she said. "Now all I want is for us to win the pennant. My work is secondary."

Laraine has done a wonderful public relations job for her husband's ball club. She is popular with the players and their wives. The sports writers like her, and the wives of the sports writers like her, too, for her pleasant, honest, friendly manner.

"People who meet Leo for the first time are always surprised to find out he isn't a roughneck," she said. "Why, Leo dresses beautifully, and he is always gracious and charming.

Laraine is credited by the sports writers with putting much of the present polish on her rhinestone-in-the-rough. She herself feels the stories of his truculence are exaggerated sports world myths.

With her, gently does it. The best part of the year is the winter period in their new home in Beverly Hills, which has a soda fountain in the den.

Leo loves ice cream," she said. "I serve him a banana split for lunch, and a thick chocolate milk shake in the afternoon. In the evening he likes a variety of sundaes."

Nobody pitches harder for Durocher today than the girl who looked at him in an airplane seven years ago and suddenly realized he was her world.

DISPOSER UNITS AND SEPTIC TANKS

We've had quite a bit of mail lately from people asking whether or not it's okay to install one of these kitchen sink disposal units into a sewage system that is run to a cesspool or septic tank. Today we hope to answer this question.

As far as a cesspool goes, almost anything is bad for them because a cesspool is nothing more than a big hole in the ground and eventually it either fills up or the ground around it becames so saturated with water that it can't absorb a drop more. In any event you end up with what in the trade is called "a flooded cesspool" and the only cure is to dig a new one.

A septic tank is, of course, much better than a cesspool and also more sensitive. It contains a lot of bacteria and these little fellows spend their time trying to reduce as much of the solid waste into a liquid as they can. Of course, they can't take care of all the solids but they do pretty well as a rule. If the tank is large enough it can handle the disposal unit without batting an eye. If it's too small to begin with you will probably have trouble but you are probably going to have trouble anyway so it doesn't make much difference. If the tank is normal and you connect in a disposal unit things will probably be fine but you will have to have the tank cleaned out at more frequent intervals than you did before the unit went into operation. What happens here is that the increase in both solids and liquids puts quite a strain on the bacteria and as the tank is limited in size they start falling behind on the job. Eventually the solids or sludge as it is called builds up to such a point that it must be removed to allow the tank to operate efficiently.

RAHWAY — A farewell party was given by members of Trinity Methodist Church last night to Mrs. Henry McDowell, organist, who will conclude her duties there on Sunday and go to another state, the location of which is not definite because her husband is subject for early call to military service.

Former Judge McLean Hailed As Bar Assn. Holds Outing

Retired Jurist Presented With Painting of Hamilton That Will Hang in Boxwood Hall—Trophies Given Golf Tourney Winners

Jurists and lawyers joined in a parting tribute to retired Superior Court Judge Donald H. McLean, played golf and ate at the annual outing of the Union County Bar Assn. yesterday at the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield.

Judge McLean was given an oil portrait of Alexander Hamilton. It will be hung in Boxwood Hall.

The presentation was made by County Judge Edward A. McGrath after Judge Harold W. Borden of Part I of District Court had sketched Judge McLean's career and Superior Court Judge Richard J. Hughes, assignment judge for the county, had extended "the sincere congratulations" of bench and bar.

Awards for Golf.

Golf occupied the afternoon, but was recalled momentarily at the dinner by the announcement that the Walter L. Hetfield III trophy had been won by Richard P. Muscatello and the Ervin S. Fulop trophy by William Welsh.

Eugene J. Kirk was chairman of the outing and dinner committee and Julius Kwalick was master of ceremonies. Joseph J. Mutnick was chairman of the special arrangements committee, but was absent because of the illness of Mrs. Mutnick in a New York Hospital. Harry Weltchek, president of the association, also announced that Judge John E. Barker of District Court is in a hospital in Boston.

Judge McLean, accepting the oil by Maxwell Simpson, said that it will be placed beside others in the Boxwood Hall shrine, which was the scene of the first meeting of Hamilton and George Washington.

Recalls Career

Judge McLean spoke briefly of his experiences from the time he resigned his seat in the Congress to return to the county, first as prosecutor and later as a judge. He pleaded for greater recognition for the judiciary in the matrimonial division, declaring the work often involves general equity and usually is clouded by vindictiveness and viciousness by litigants.

Judge Borden told the diners that Judge McLean had been the "personification of all the virtues required" for the jurist's role.

"This occasion," commented Judge Borden, "is not a farewell, but a welcome home."

His year here as assignment judge has been his happiest on the bench, Judge Hughes remarked in praising "the high professionalism at the bar" that he has encountered here. He also expressed his pleasure in his association with Judge Frank L. Cleary, also sitting here in Superior Court, and the County Court jurists, Judge McGrath and Judge Milton A. Feller.

Leaders Introduced

Among those introduced were Judge Cleary, Assembly Speaker O. Clifford Thomas, Frank Cohn, as a member of the Florida bar; Milton B. Conford, as counsel to the governor; Judge Feller, Judge Nicholas A. Tomasulo, Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte, Mayor Robert L. Sheldon of Roselle Park, Prosecutor H. Russell Morse Jr., Assistant Prosecutor Hyman Isaac, Jacob R. Mantel, Otto E. Adolph, and Richard B. Magner, vice president, and Harrison E. Johnston, secretary of the association.

The committees arranging the outing and special events included Bernard L. Davis, Lester Weiner, Joseph I. Bedell, Anthony D. Rinaldo, Mr. Adolph, Martin B. O'Connor, Donald Bourne, Mr. Magner, Frank J. O'Brien, Norman J. Abrams, George W. Wolin, Aaron Kaufman, John L. McGuire, John B. Stone Jr., George M. Kagan, Mr. Mantel, Donald G. Davis, Henry Farer, Judge Borden, Morris Hartman and Frank E. Blatz.

Well Water Sign Cuts Pressure Of Criticism for Park Man

ROSELLE PARK — Water shortages and restrictions on lawn sprinkling and car washing which plague most residents, are of no concern to Harvey J. Lichtenwalner of 20 E. Clay Ave. He merrily waters his lawn when he thinks it needs it, despite what he terms "mean looks and lots of criticism" from passersby.

However, the objections have subsided since he placed a sign on his lawn, "own well water." When Mr. Lichtenwalner purchased his home many years ago it came equipped with a well and attic storage tank.

The tank was subsequently removed to make storage room and the well was left unused until a borough-wide water shortage developed last summer. Mr. Lichtenwalner then tapped the well and installed an electric driven pump and compressor. That is the equipment which now waters his lawn to the envy of his neighbors whose grass is burned and brown and to the consternation and criticism of those who believe he uses scarce "city" water.

Mr. Lichtenwalner isn't worried about future, more severe water shortages. Yesterday he received a report of an analysis of his well water from a chemical laboratory which pronounced it pure to a high degree. He believes the well, about 80 feet deep and filled with water, is about 75 years old.

Mr. Lichtenwalner conducted a plumbing contracting business here from 1912 until his retirement three years ago. His hobby is Bible study which he pursues in a special basement study, part of which covers his well. It is filled with books, including a variety of Bibles of many languages.

Three Minutes a Day

By REV. JAMES KELLER, M.M.

THE WRONG ANSWER

In downtown Manhattan, a patrolman who had just gone off duty was making his way home, when he noticed a boy running blindly down the street.

He stopped the youth and inquired where he was going in such a hurry. The boy looked frightened. He replied that he was running to catch the subway. The patrolman's suspicions increased. There was no subway station in that direction.

"Where is the subway?" he asked. At length, the boy had to confess that he didn't know. He looked desperate.

Just then a man came panting down the street. "That's him?" he cried. "That's the one who robbed me of $31." The patrolman took the thief to the nearest police station.

Those who resort to evil pay a high price for the little they gain. Also they seldom have a moment's peace. Only those who are true to God, to themselves and to others know true peace of mind, heart and soul. Christ Himself stressed this when He said:

"The truth shall make you free." (John 8:32).

Grant me such a devotion to Thy truth, O Lord, that I shall suffer anything rather than betray it.

J. H. Stamler Cited By Pharmacists

ASBURY PARK — Joseph H. Stamler of Summit, counsel to the N.J. Pharmaceutical Assn., today became the 10th person in its 84-year history to receive honorary membership in the professional organization.

Action was taken at today's session of the annual convention. It recognizes the Newark attorney's successful appeal from Superior Court Judge Frederic R. Colie's decision in opening the sale of drugs and medicines to general stores. The State Supreme Court last week by a 6 to 1 margin reversed the Colie ruling, the association pointed out in its announcement. Mr. Stamler, who is a native of Elizabeth, also was cited for his endeavors to protect fair trade contracts and his many other services to pharmacy.

Other honorary members of the pharmaceutical association include Dr. Selman A. Waksman of Rutgers University, discoverer of streptomycin, and Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, co-author of the Robinson-Patman bill.

Yesterday the more than 1,000 conclave delegates heard Mr. Stamler read from the Supreme Court decision on the sale of drugs and medicines and declare it "points up the importance to the public of maintaining safeguards around the distribution of these powerful, potentially harmful products."

Rescue Squad Sets Ground Breaking

WESTFIELD — Ground will be broken at 8 p.m. Friday for the new headquarters of the Volunteer Rescue Squad in Spring St.

Squad members, all town councilmen, Mayor Chares P. Bailey and other guests are expected to attend. All Westfield residents have been invited.

Work on the squad's new headquarters is slated to get under way next week. The building, of block and frame construction, will incorporate the present building on a site leased to the squad by the town for $1 a year. The structure will have space for two ambulances, first aid equipment and other facilities.

Originally the building was expected to cost about $25,000. Since a fund drive concluded last week fell $8,000 short of that figure, the squad hopes to offset the deficit with volunteer labor from squad members and their friends.

When construction is completed, the Rescue Squad will provide 24-hour a day ambulance and first aid service.

Among the merchants who have volunteered to work on the building during daytime hours are W. W. Alexander, James Argenziano, Jacob Baron, Walter D. Burd, I. J. Berry, Charles Cantlay, F. R. Rev. John P. Sullivan, pastor, conferred with Chairman Fred G. Pfeiffer, Councilmen Clifford Comer and John Cauldwell and Mayor Reynolds C. Buckley.

The third floor has one large and three smaller rooms. The latter three have not been used. The City Hall was formerly Rahway High School before the structure was erected in Madison Ave. Necessary sanitary facilities will have to be installed.

Rahway Protests Storm Sewer Use

LINDEN — Mayor Reynolds C. Buckley of Rahway, and Fred Carmody, president of Rahway City Council, complained to Linden City Council last night that a N. Stiles St. industrial plant was emptying objectionable material into a storm sewer which later flows into an open ditch in Rahway and has resulted in complaints from residents in the area.

The Rahway delegation was given the courtesy of the floor by Council President Francis H. Dann, even though last night's session was a special meeting called specifically to receive bids and pass on ordinances.

Mayor Buckley said the new firm, later identified by Councilman William Dalziel as the Gummed Label Products Co., apparently inadvertently made a connection into the storm sewer instead of a sanitary sewer, creating a condition in the open ditch in Rahway which he claimed has proved objectionable to residents of his city. He introduced Mr. Carmody and Councilman Fred Ritter of Rahway, who accompanied him to the meeting.

Mr. Carmody asked Linden to take steps which would insure Rahway of speedy action in eliminating the condition by having the industry make the necessary switch to the sanitary sewer.

Mr. Carmody said it would be only a matter of constructing 12 feet of new pipe, according to the Rahway city engineer. City Engineer James Davison of this city said he did not think it was as easy as all of that.

It was decided that the matter be referred to the Board of Health, which already has undertaken an investigation of the area, according to Councilman William Dalziel of the Second Ward.

Clark Adopts Zoning Measure Covering Subdivision of Land

It provides for 7,500 square feet for Residence A homes; 8,500 square feet for Double A homes and 15,000 square feet for Triple A homes. Speaking in favor of the measure were Henry C. Mulligan, Charles Hild, Alador Jackson, commander of American Legion and others.

Thomas R. Evans, former town commissioner, member of Board of Adjustment and president of the Property Owners' Protective Assn., opposed regulations for Residence B zone, declaring flexible regulations are needed to allow two-family homes and that requirements should remain as they now exist and that new sideline limits are not practical.

Arthur Stern, representing the Raritan Construction Co., who have acquired the Westfield Airport property for home development objected to lot size and frontage in Triple A zone. Stemmer called a recess to discuss the Residence B, Double A length of lot and backline requirements after which the three commissioners unanimously voted the measure, including Mayor Stemmer, Town Commissioners Paul Hawkins and Frank Laine.

Mayor Stemmer at various times explained and clarified the regulations and their purpose and gave all an opportunity to be heard, thanking them for their interest and participation.

Town Clerk Michael Carney was aided in reading the lengthy ordinance by the three commissioners who read sections. Attorney Morris Barnett explain some of the paragraphs and Engineer Thomas Trounson also spoke. Off-street parking, curb requirements and other matters were injected into the discussion.

The commissioners also adopted an amendment to ordinance creating the Planning Board, further defining its powers and duties, and specifying how it shall be composed.

Linden Car Deal Stirs Protest

LINDEN — City Council, at a special meeting last night, adopted a number of improvement ordinances on final reading, and one appropriating $44,500 for the purchase of five new cars and other equipment. Council President Francis H. Dann presided.

Mayfair Motor Sales, Inc., of E. Elizabeth Ave., objected to the method of purchasing cars by naming the particular cars in the ordinance, claiming that the city would save approximately $600 on a car if purchased on a closed bidding basis. Mayfair is a Ford agency and the ordinance did not call for the purchase of any of these types of cars, although another Ford company make was mentioned.

Councilman Abe Weitzman moved that the ordinance be tabled so that council could study the suggestion made in the Mayfair letter, but he failed to get a second to his motion. His Republican colleague Councilman Richard C. Neyen voted with eight Democrats in finally adopting the ordinance after the letter was ordered received and filed. Mr. Neyen explained that he was voting "yes" on passage of the ordinance with the suggestion that in the future council seek bids on all makes of cars. Councilman Weitzman voted "no" on the ordinance. Democrats argued that department heads had suggested the makes they thought would best serve their departments.

Other ordinances adopted on final reading and the amounts of money appropriated were: Paving of De Witt Ter., from Elmwood Ter. to Raritan Rd., $45,000; paving of Summit Ter. from Fernwood Ter. to Raritan Rd., $38,000; curbs and gutters in Lincoln St., from Curtis St. to St. George Ave., $12,000; dedication of presently owned city lands and acquisition of other lands for a new park in the vicinity of Union St., in the Fifth Ward, $6,000; construction of a storm sewer in Morris Ave., from Carteret St. to Woodlawn Ave., $1,000; resurfacing Verona Ave., and building a turnabout at the Springfield Rd., end, $8,000; paving of Ogden St., from Allen St., southerly to its terminus, $6,000; and improving and widening West Brook from Route 1 to 11th St.

Another ordinance reappointing Walter Gerhard as a tax assessor for three years, beginning tomorrow, also was adopted on final reading.

Bids were received for construction of sidewalks in Summit Ter. and Fernwood Ter., improving the Walnut St. Park, and also for improvements in the Newton St. and Louis St. Parks.

Safeway Asphalting Co., of Rahway, was awarded the contract for the sidewalks and Walnut St. Park project at their lowest bids of $2,680, and $9,591.50; respectively.

Bids for the other two projects were rejected because they exceeded the appropriations.

Council will not meet again until July 20, as there will be only one meeting a month in July and August.

United Campaign Goal $141,950

SUMMIT — The United Campaign central committee adopted a budget of $141,950 last night and set that figure as the goal for its 1955 solicitation campaign. The eight participating agencies had requested a total of $178,817. This year $136,400 was raised.

The committee made the following allocations: YMCA, $40,436; YWCA, $25,064; Overlook Hospital, $26,700; family Service Association, $25,064; Boy Scouts, $6,600; Mental Hygiene Clinic, $6,000; Summit Home for Children, $4,750; Girl Scouts, $4,300.

Earmarked for office and campaign expense was $10,000; as a reserve for uncollectible pledges, $2,000 and for the United Defense Fund, $1,000.

Richard G. Moser, chairman of the budget survey committee, pointed out that approval of the $178,817 figure requested by the agencies would have been a per capita rate of $9.70 as compared to $7.17 here last year. He quoted other figures of $3.84 to $6.94 for other comparable communities.

The agency-suggested goal was unrealistic, Mr. Moser said.

The budget survey committee explained its shaving from budgets requested by agencies, as follows:

Boy Scouts were cut $984 because no provision was made for income from sustaining membership; Girl Scouts were decreased because policy restrictions appear to have limited efforts to solicit sustaining memberships or additional donations from Scout parents or friends.

The YMCA request of $40,436, a decrease of $1,002 from this year, was approved because of "studious" efforts on its part to implement suggestions made by the prior budget committee, thereby placing its services on a more self-supporting basis.

The YWCA request was slashed $7,129 because "more effort should be made to obtain funds from neighboring communities using the Y, and some way must be found to overcome the agency's inflexibility with regard to sustaining and other classes of supplementary membership."

The Summit Home for Children was pared $1,817 because the community "should not be expected to furnish its entire support, as Summit children represent approximately 60 per cent of the total the home is housing.

While appreciating the work done by Family Service Association, the budget committee lowered its request $1,817 because the position to supply funds for extension of service "without seriously handicapping other agencies."

No change was made in the request of the Mental Hygiene Clinic for $6,000.

Overlook Hospital's request was slashed $23,300 because only 26 per cent of non-paying patients reside in Summit.

Board's Pay Plan Hit by Teachers

LINDEN—The Linden Teachers' Assn. has adopted a resolution expressing dissatisfaction with a salary schedule offered to them by the Board of Education. However, they have indicated they will accept the board's proposal as a tentative plan to be further studied and amended in consultation with the board at a later date.

The resolution in part reads: "This association requests of the Board of Education a definite date prior to the third Thursday in September for the specific purpose of discussing salary problems and that the board reply to the association within a reasonable time, thereby making this date known."

Graduate Given Kiwanis Award

SUMMIT — Carmella Giannatassio, a member of this year's graduating class at Summit High School, was honored guest of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon yesterday in the Hotel Suburban. She is the first graduate to meet the requirement of the William E. Bedell award of $10.

Giannatassio

Kiwanis three years ago established the award in memory of Mr. Bedell, former newspaper editor, reporter and columnist, a charter member of the club. Miss Giannatassio was given the award on the basis of her "all around work" on the staff of the school's newspaper, The Tower. She excelled with her editorial work, reporting of spot news and creativeness as a short story writer.

Responding to an introduction by W. H. Woodside, director of journalism at the school, Miss Giannatassio paid tribute to Kiwanis for its "persistence over the years in sponsoring various projects" at Summit Home for Children.

School Use Sought In Youth Program

RAHWAY—Plans for use of Madison School gym for two afternoons a week for juvenile dancing and programs for children from 7 to 13 years were made last night at the meeting of the Citizens Youth Recreation Commission of the Madison School Area in session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jacknow of 835 Madison Hill Rd. The program will be held Wednesday and Thursday of each week, starting July 8. It is a part of the program to prevent juvenile delinquency.

Mayor Reynolds C. Buckley addressed the gathering and commended its successful work in keeping the area free from juvenile delinquency. Councilman Fred Ritter and Republican City Chairman Walter J. Sauers also spoke.

The group voted to incorporate and President Leo T. Deeny Jr. appointed a committee consisting of Howard Smith, Clarence Smith and Mrs. Peggy Feltman to take action.

The committee made a plea for more umpires for softball games in their local league where games are played Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Basketball will be started in early fall. President Deeny conducted the meeting with Mrs. Barbara Hummell, secretary.

Junior Reds Hunt Spies

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian children are being told in their own newspaper that they can help catch spies.

Major Soviet papers recently have been publishing frequent reports of "American-trained" spies and subversives captured in the Soviet Union. It is claimed that the Americans train Russian deserters and political exiles in West Germany, then parachute them back into the Soviet Union. These reports are part of a new campaign of vigilance in which the people are warned of the "foreign danger to our motherland."

Now comes Pioneer Pravda, the paper for Russian small fry, with a full-page poem, illustrated with drawings, to tell how children can contribute to this vigilance campaign and catch spies.

Pioneer Pravda's poem tells about four little boys of the pioneer organization who went fishing. They met a man who also was fishing—and with a fancy rod and reel which the boys envied.

The man also had a camera, and offered to take the boys' picture. But he concentrated on getting the boys to stand where a big factory would be in the background.

The kids reported this and other developments to the police who arrested the man.

The poem concludes:

"You are good boys,
You pioneers.
You were not idle
There on the shore.
You caught a real big fish,
Even though you had Primitive fishing tackle."

Mental Health Plea Collects $2,301

Contributions in the 1954 Elizabeth Mental Health Fund Drive have reached $2,301.73, approximately double the amount received in the city campaign last year, according to an announcement today by Donald L. Ferguson, chairman.

A final meeting of the campaign committee will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at Pingry School, Mr. Ferguson said in urging Elizabeth residents who have not been solicited to send their donations to W. Emlen Roosevelt, president of the National State Bank, who is drive treasurer.

Mr. Ferguson, who is assistant general manager of the East Coast manufacturing division, Esso Standard Oil Company, paid tribute to the leaders and solicitors who participated in this first direct appeal for funds to meet what he termed the long neglected mental health need.

A house-to-house neighborhood canvass was conducted in most areas of Elizabeth by a large group of volunteers directed by Mrs. Nathan Reibelz, 1042 Harding Rd. Mrs. Martin B. O'Connor of 1 DeWitt Rd. and Kenneth L. Messenger, director of Janet Memorial Home, were in charge of a special letter appeal and business solicitation was headed by Wesley C. Eick, appliance sales manager of Public Service Electric & Gas Co.'s office here. C. I. Bigelow and W. Selby Harney of Bayway Refinery were chairman and co-chairman of the industrial committee which included representatives of leading firms.

Expressing satisfaction at the public response to the "pioneer venture," Mr. Ferguson declared that "we feel the people of Elizabeth have become more aware of the whole problem of mental and emotional illness and are anxious to do what they can to help our Union County Mental Health Assn. fight this most serious threat to the well-being of our nation today."

Mother of 17 in 95th Year

Mrs. Felix P. Ricco Passes Another Milestone—Resides With 3 Daughters at 872 Kilsyth Rd.

Mrs. Felix P. Ricco of 872 Kilsyth Rd., now 95, looked back today on a full and happy family life as the mother of 17 children.

Born and brought up in Salerno, Italy, Mrs. Ricco came to New Jersey at the age of 22 after her marriage. Her husband, who left Italy two years earlier, worked in Newark as a barber to earn the money for Mrs. Ricco's passage. He continued in the barbershop business until his death in 1912.

The five children who are living in Union County did not plan a celebration when Mrs. Ricco reached her 95th anniversary last Thursday, because she was in poor health that day.

During the busy years when she was rearing her large family, the Elizabeth woman did all of her own shopping, baking and cooking. Miss Frances Ricco, one of three daughters who live with her at the Kilsyth Rd. address, remembers her mother's shrewd bargaining at the food market, where she would demand from the grocer "nothing but the best" for her family.

"It was nothing unusual for my mother to bake 8 or 10 pies on a Saturday," Miss Ricco recalls. "She made all her own bread and there were always little individual loaves for the children after school."

After the day's duties were done, Mrs. Ricco often stayed up until 1 or 2 o'clock at night to make dresses and other hand-sewn surprises for the children.

"My mother never noticed the time she spent," Miss Ricco said. "After all, she had a family to raise."

Rutkin Released, Awaits Retrial

NEWARK (AP)—James (Niggy) Rutkin, former bigshot bootlegger convicted of income tax evasion, was free in $25,000 bail today pending a rehearing on his motion for a new trial.

He looked pale and thin as he walked out of the Hudson County jail in Jersey City yesterday after his release on bail was approved by Federal Judge Thomas F. Meaney.

Attorneys for Rutkin had asked that their client be freed while his petition for a new trial goes through the courts. Rutkin had been in jail two years while appealing his conviction for evading payment of taxes on $250,000.

The U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals recently ordered a rehearing on Rutkin's bid for a new trial.

Judge Meaney set the $25,000 bail yesterday pending the rehearing Sept. 14.

After a professional bondsman put up his bail, Rutkin said he planned to enter a hospital for a checkup "and spend a lot of time at the shore."

Last November, Rutkin underwent a major operation for stomach ulcers.

He was convicted of income tax evasion in 1950 after a one-month trial at which the principal government witness was Joseph Reinfeld, a former partner of Rutkin's during prohibition days.

Reinfeld had testified he paid Rutkin $250,000 after the latter had threatened his life with a gun. But Rutkin contended that Reinfeld owed him the money as his share of the profits in a distillery deal.

When he applied for a rehearing, Rutkin claimed his conviction was obtained by Reinfeld as result of a conspiracy. He further declared that the U.S. attorney's office failed to introduce in evidence a statement from Abner (Longie) Zwillman. Rutkin said that if Zwillman's statement had been introduced, he wouldn't have been convicted.

Rutkin recently was awarded $75,000 in a New York civil suit against Reinfeld and others.

Shriners Continue Shore Hi-Jinks

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Shriners' hi-jinks spread more gaiety through this seashore resort today as they prepared for a marine parade and a trapshooters contest.

Fun is the keynote at the annual convention of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, now in its fourth day.

Ten thousand Shriners boomed through the city yesterday in a four-hour parade honoring their imperial potentate, Remmie L. Arnold of Petersburg, Va., who steps down tomorrow.

In the long line of march were 85 bands, chanter units, motorcycle squads, stunt teams, mounted horse patrols—and some clowns.

The marchers were decked out in dazzling uniforms and the red fez headgear that marks the order.

Arnold watched the boisterous procession from a reviewing stand along with Frank S. Land of Kansas City, who succeeds him as imperial potentate. Also in the stand was Past Imperial Potentate Harold Lloyd, the famed comedian.

The parade headed into huge Convention Hall where another 15,000 Shriners were gathered to cheer the marchers.

FBI Fingerprint Division 30 Years Old Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI's identification division will mark its 30th birthday tomorrow, with more than 131 million fingerprint cards in its files and additions at an average rate of 17,000 a day.

The division was founded in 1924 with slightly more than 810,000 fingerprint cards turned to it by the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police and the Leavenworth Penitentiary Bureau.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the fingerprint files are divided into criminal and noncriminal sections, with the latter accounting for more than 80 per cent of the persent collection. The files are in constant use, not only in criminal investigations, but in such other fields as identification of amnesia victims and victims of accidents or disasters, and in locating missing persons.

Police Hunt Gem Thief With Pointed Ears

HOUSTON, Tex. (U.P.)—Police here are looking for a jewel thief with pointed ears.

When Bonnie McGlassen reported a theif took $7,000 worth of jewelry from her apartment, police "dusted" the premises for fingerprints.

Detective Edgar Busch said the only print found was that of a pointed ear. He said the thief apparently pressed an ear to the door to make sure the apartment was unoccupied.

Attempted Bank Robbery Shows Net Loss of $10

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (U.P.)—It cost a nervous young bank bandit $10 to try to rob the Victory Savings and Loan Assn.

Police said Larry Morna, 19, entered the bank and took out a $10 bill to "open a savings account."

Then he forced clerks to give him a bag containing $2,000 and fled, leaving his $10 behind.

However, in his haste, Moran snatched the wrong bag and when he got to the airport he found the sack empty and the police waiting.

A summer drink's like a good parade...

the longer the better!

One band doesn't make a holiday parade. One swallow doesn't make a summer drink, either.

No sir, when you're pining for real hot-weather refreshment, a puny little drink in a pygmy-size glass seems to tease more than please.

Make mine tall and frosty and satisfying, thank you. And make it with a fine, full-flavored whiskey that holds its own amongst the lemons, mixers and ice.

In other words, Schenley. The reason for specifying Schenley is right here in this hourglass. The glass itself represents Nature's unhurried goodness. The big "S" stands for Schenley's skill. Together, they make Schenley the best-tasting whiskey in ages.

Might be a good idea to drop in on our big "Summertime is Schenley time" celebration at your package store or bar. It's nice to have Schenley on hand when folks come calling.

Italian-Yugoslav Agreement On Trieste Expected Soon

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—An Italian-Yugoslav settlement of the long and bitter Trieste dispute is expected momentarily by responsible diplomats here.

Barring a last-minute hitch, they say, announcement of agreement should come within the next two weeks.

A settlement would end one of Europe's thorniest postwar problems. Coming at this time, it also would realize a desire of the United States and Britain to put the Italian-Yugoslav feud aside before Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey conclude a proposed Balkan military alliance. The "Little Three" foreign ministers are scheduled to sign the alliance in Yugoslavia's summer capital of Bled between July 13 and 18. Final negotiations on terms of the pact are now under way in Athens.

Both Anxious

Some diplomats here believe that Italy and Yugoslavia are equally anxious to end their Trieste dispute before the Balkan alliance is signed.

Italy, which has strenuously opposed the pact, would be in a position to shrug it off as relatively unimportant in view of a final agreement on Trieste.

Yugoslavia, on the other hand, could play down Trieste by pointing to successful conclusion of a "historic" Balkan alliance.

Trieste Free Territory, an area about the size of Metropolitan New York City, was set up in 1947 under terms of the peace treaty with Italy. At the time the allies were unable to determine whether it should be given to Italy or Yugoslavia.

For administrative purposes it was divided into two zones. Zone A, including the big port city of Trieste, was placed under British-American control and is occupied by 7,000 British and American troops.

Zone B—About two-thirds of the whole territory but only one-third of the population of 300,000—was placed under Yugoslav control.

Both Italy and Yugoslavia claimed the whole territory.

October Trouble

In an effort to settle the dispute, the United States and Britain announced last Oct. 8. They would withdraw their troops from Zone A and turn it over to Italy.

The decision provoked strong protests, riots and saber-rattling on both sides of the Adriatic. The troops stayed.

For weeks, British and American diplomats in London have been trying to get Italian and Yugoslav agreement on a settlement.

When it comes, it is expected to parallel closely—territorially at least—the Allies' Oct. 8 decision. However, there will be two major differences so far as Yugoslavia is concerned.

The solution will be the result of negotiations and consultations in which Yugoslavia was included—not the case before Oct. 8. Yugoslavia leaders learned of that decision only two hours before it was announced.

And the settlement would recognize Yugoslavia's claims to Zone B. The present border also may be redrawn slightly to give Yugoslavia a few small Slovene communities in Zone A.

Black Bull on Black Road Ruled Driving Hazard

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—"A black bull on a blacktop highway is a menace to night driving," a Superior Court judge ruled yesterday.

The judge awarded Mrs. Agnes Smith $3,000 damages for personal injuries suffered when her auto collided with a bull one dark night on a blacktop road in 1949.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. (Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Growing Better Beets

Tips for Gardener Anxious to Improve Product

By HAYDN S. PEARSON.

It is interesting that Swiss chard, garden beets, mangel-wurzels and sugar beets all belong to the same species, Beta vulgaris, and will easily intercross if planted close together. Pollen from the stamens is readily carried by the wind and will fertilize the pistil flowers of any plants of the same species.

Last of Three Articles

Wild beets are common in the Near East and that is probably where they originated. Aristotle and Theophrastus described different kinds in the fourth century, B.C. There is no name in Sanskrit for beets so far as I know; so possibly this is one food plant that spread from the west toward the east, contrary to the usual procedure. Beets with large, sweet, fleshy roots are a botanical development since the Christian era. First recipes for cooking beets appeared in the 14th century in England. Up to 1800 English seedsmen listed just two roots: the Red and the Long Red. In a United States seed catalog in 1828 four kinds were listed.

If you like beets, make several plantings each season: early May, mid-June and mid-July. Beet greens, hot or cold, with homemade salad dressing are delicious; boiled tender beets well buttered and salted hit the right spot. Beet hash, the genuine red flannel, is one of my favorite suppers. Use 85 per cent cooked chopped beets, 12 per cent cooked chopped potatoes, three per cent onions. Fry three or four pieces of bacon in the spider; break the bacon into small pieces and mix into the hash. Fry the whole thing in the bacon fat. Serve it piping hot. Brother, it is good! And finish off with a quarter of a deep, juicy, cold raspberry pie. And if your conscience is clear, you are entitled to a dividend of a second piece of pie.

School Bond Rate 'Test Case' Due

Municipal finance officers and school administrators will be waiting with baited breath on the night of July 20 when bond issue bids for a $600,000 school are opened in Springfield.

They will be hoping that recent federal government lowering of bank reserve requirements will have the effect of also lowering interest rates on bonds.

Government finance experts estimate the action will free for credit purposes about 8 billions in bank loaning power.

The Springfield bid-opening will be the first test hereabouts of bond interest rates following the freeing of this money.

Thirty-year school bonds in this area recently have ranged from 3 per cent upwards.

It is anxiously hoped that the Springfield "test case" will produce a rate under 3.

Municipal and school budget officers point out that even a slight drop in interest rates can save the taxpayers a lot of money over 30 years.

HERE'S WHY A&P's FINE COFFEES ARE NOW ALL PRICED THE SAME!

The biggest factor in determining the price you pay for coffee is the green coffee cost. Conditions in the South American coffee producing countries determine these costs.

Normally, one type of coffee used in Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar cost 2¢ to 4¢ a pound less than the other types used in these blends. We have reflected this difference in the retail prices of these blends.

TODAY THE COST OF THE COFFEES IN THESE BLENDS IS ABOUT THE SAME. THIS IS THE ONLY REASON WHY, TEMPORARILY, WE ARE FORCED TO SELL ALL THREE BLENDS AT THE SAME PRICE.

NO CHANGE in Quality, Flavor or Blend of these Coffees

Charles Ries, Wife Celebrate Golden Wedding Date

LINDEN—Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Ries of 36 Pallant Ave., formerly of Elizabeth, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a dinner party Monday night at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Ries of the Pallant Ave. address.

Mr. and Mrs. Ries also have a daughter, Mrs. Clarence Decker of Frenchtown, and four grandchildren. Also attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Decker and children, Barbara, Joan and Clarence Jr.; Edwin C. Ries Jr. of Linden and Carl Decker of Raritan Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Ries were born in Elizabeth and lived there most of their lives. They were married June 28, 1904, in the old Lyons Farms Presbyterian Church, now the Elizabeth Ave. Presbyterian Church, Newark, by the late Rev. Walter Greenway. Before coming to Linden five years ago, the couple lived in Roselle Park for several years. They attend the First Presbyterian Church, Roselle.

Mohr About Warm-Weather Fashion—

Miracle-Fiber Summer Suits Will Put 'Good Humor' Man in Every House

By BERTA MOHR

Our menfolk are going to be in much better humor this summer despite the heat and humidity. Even though the great majority of them can't—or won't—wear shorts to business, they can still beat the heat, at least to a larger extent than in the past.

The secret weapons that will combat our jungle weather are presentable, air-cooled business suits. Most of them a man can wash and wear, often without iron care. Because most are thin, crisp, breeze-weight blends of the "miracle" fibers with one another or with natural fibers.

The rest are cottons-gone-dressy, such as a wrinkle-shedding bantam weight hairline cord called Prado, and a somewhat heavier, tweedy-looking denim, now acceptable for dress-up in charcoal gray, and even in off-white for dinner jackets.

Cotton is blended with orlon for a striped seersucker suit that won't look as if it had been slept in by the time he gets to the office. Dacron, the truly wonder-fiber that washes, dries in a wink, never wrinkles or discolors, yet looks and feels like silk both in suits and ties, comes unalloyed in dark colored dress-up suits. You'll prefer sending these to the cleaner for the infrequently needed sprucing up, but suits made of fine-striped cording that contains 65 per cent dacron and 35 per cent nylon will go right into the washing machine—and be worn only hours later, without benefit of ironing.

Linen laughs at wrinkles and, of course, washes like a dream when blended with dacron in a ratio of one part linen to two parts dacron. The latter holds a plurality over the acetate and rayon content in a thin cord, while orlon replaces it in a similar combination that results in a denser but dressier reverse-striped cord.

And there is further relief from heat-frazzled nerves in two dressy looking cords (especially in charcoal) composed of acetate, rayon and nylon; the lightweight one goes by the name of Sir Ultra, while a super-lightweight version is known as Sir Preme.

WASHABLE unlined jacket by Gordon of Philadelphia comes in natural color linen blended with 65 per cent dacron.

THREE MEN IN A-CORD, each in a different grouping of fibers, each washable, wrinkle-defying or shedding, and comfortable in hot, humid weather. Angelo Patri Explains—

Limits of Keeping and Giving Hard for Children to Learn

Toby is three years old, a fine big husky boy who believes in himself and wants other people to do so too. He will take the biggest piece of candy and if possible, two pieces, and will give no thought to the playmate standing by "candyless."

"Toby, give Sammy a piece." "You give him one," says Toby. This worries his mother for she does not want Toby to grow up being greedy and unthinking of other people, so she says, "I'm ashamed of you. Give Sammy a piece of that candy. And make it the biggest piece, or I'll take it all away from you and you'll get none."

Reluctantly, his lower lip stuck out, his face one blackness, Toby hands Sammy a piece of candy. "Here," and he shoves a sticky candy into his playmate's hand. His mother sighs, shakes her head and says, "Will he never learn?"

Give him a chance. At three years of age few children, that is few healthy children, give away their candy. Let them have it. To teach them to share their treats give them candy for themselves and candy for their guests. "This for you, this for Sammy."

Forced generosity is not nourishing to the spirit. To be of any use it must be spontaneous and at the age of 3 it rarely happens. The best one can hope for is willingness to give the extra piece. A good example set by the family does register when the child develops something of a social conscience, something of affection for his playmates.

New England Custom—

Salmon Favored For July 4th

By MARY W. ARMSTRONG
(Home Agent)

Salmon and peas for the fourth of July are an old New England tradition. But Salmon Steaks are a table delicacy that others than Yankees can enjoy at this season.

We refer to fresh rather than canned salmon for a special menu, of course. Salmon steaks, one of America's favorite foods, should be in good supply and moderately priced this summer, reports the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Armstrong

Salmon well deserves its popularity and has long been a prized table delicacy. Its natural juiciness, flavor and color are especially tempting. In addition, salmon is high in the important nutrients that we need every day — principally proteins, minerals and vitamins.

The summer run of salmon is now on along the Pacific Coast and Alaska. Available either fresh or frozen, salmon steaks are ready for your oven or broiler with no waste or preparation.

Broiled Salmon Epicurean.

2 pounds salmon steaks
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon rosemary leaves
2 tablespoons white vinegar
2 tablespoons salad oil

Sprinkle both sides of steaks with salt and pepper. Add rosemary and vinegar to the salad oil; shake well, and let stand at room temperature for an hour or longer; strain. Dip fish in oil mixture, and place on a preheated, greased broiler pan about two inches from the heat. Broil 5 to 8 minutes or until slightly brown. Baste with oil, and turn carefully. Brush other side with oil and cook 5 to 8 minutes more until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

Baked Salmon With Mushrooms

2 pounds salmon steaks or fillets
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 4-ounce can mushrooms, drained and sliced
¼ cup butter or other fat, melted
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon onion, grated

Sprinkle salmon on both sides with salt and pepper. Place in a wel-greased baking dish. Combine mushrooms, butter, lemon juice, and onion. Pour over the salmon. Bake in a moderate oven 350°F., for 30 to 35 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately on a hot platter. Serves 6.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

There's a Pattern to Fashion Change

The person who, more than almost anybody else, has influenced the fashion tastes of American women for more than half a century never fills out the ballot that the committee in charge of selecting 10 best-dressed women each year sends her.

McBride

"Do you consider the list important?" I asked Edna Woolman Chase, 79, Quaker-reared, connected for more than 60 years with Vogue Magazine, most of the time as editor and now as chairman of editorial board.

"The whole thing has been overpromoted as has so much nowadays," Mrs. Chase answered. "I think that standards have deteriorated. It seems to me that in order to broaden our point of view we have gone a little too far from center. People haven't the same values they used to have."

Her Quaker upbringing undoubtedly had much to do with molding this remarkable woman. Mrs. Chase thinks that a Quaker "sense of plain living and right thinking" is important.

"My grandfather once demonstrated honesty to me," she recalled. "He took a peck measure, filled it with grain, shook it down, added some more grain and smoothed it off.

"'That is a real peck,' he told me. 'If you want to pretend, pile in the grain lightly and let it look heaping. But it will not be an honest peck.' I've never forgotten the lesson in integrity."

The most dramatic moment of her 60 years in fashion, Mrs. Chase declares, was when the very short skirt suddenly dropped in 1930. "One day Jean Patou just said 'I can stand no more of this' and made a collection of long dresses," she explained. "Skirt lines descended, and women immediately looked different and much better."

Modern taste, Mrs. Chase finds, grows better, partly because women have discovered that it isn't money but discrimination that counts. She is not so happy about the state of the world.

"The troubles of the universe close in on one now," she remarked wearily. "I get my morning newspaper with my breakfast tray. I see the headlines—and then I don't want any breakfast."

Secrets of Charm—

Manners Make Every Traveler Envoy of Good – or Bad – Will

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Every person who goes traveling should be an unofficial ambassador of good will. If you're visiting a resort 50 miles from home . . . or sailing across the sea . . . your vacation behavior shouldn't appear a vacation from good manners.

Virtually every seasoned traveler returns from foreign countries cringing at the behavior of a few "awful Americans." Very often, I believe, this criticism is justified, and it isn't only in foreign lands that bad manners are substituted for more exemplary conduct; with some people, this happens in any place that isn't "home."

Powers.

They shout at waiters and ticket agents; they forget the verbal or monetary "thank you" for services performed; they extol life at home in comparison with the vacation setting; they "invade" public places with noisy exuberance.

The oft-phrased advice about "when in Rome" is sound advice. In other words, try not to take too much of your native locale and customs with you . . . act, as far as possible, like a Frenchman in France—or a New Yorker in New York.

You don't have to know all the habits of the place, American or otherwise, that you visit. But do read as much as you can about it beforehand. Dress to the occasion, casual or gay, just as you would at home—don't overdress. (Travel folders will tell you what clothes you're likely to need so you can go prepared.) Good taste is never out of place!

Be observant and interested in the life and the activities of your vacation spot. Be open-minded about the food (if you're a Southerner, you might just find you like the New England boiled dinner!) and the service. If you travel with a friend or with a group, don't hesitate to strike out on your own . . . half the fun of traveling is meeting new people.

Dr. Brady Insists—

Bones Are Calcium Storehouse In Spite of Old-Time Theory

The body of a physically active healthy adult contains 2¼ to 2½ pounds of calcium (lime), 99 per cent of it in the bones and teeth. The 1 per cent or less in the blood, heart, muscles, nerves, glands and glandular secretions is as essential for functional efficiency, vigor and vite as the 99 per cent is for the density and strength of the bones and teeth.

Whatever old timers believed or believe about it, no one with an elementary knowledge of nutrition can deny that the bones are the storehouse for calcium and the blood, heart, muscles, nerves and other tissues draw on the skeleton's stores to satisfy their requirements when or if the daily intake of calcium is insufficient.

The daily intake is insufficient in most instances here in Yankeeland because of our namby-pamby, refined, doctored, nutritionally inadequate diet.

The main fault of the modern American diet is lack of milk and/or milk products—the best natural source of calcium.

Enough calcium in 1½ pints of milk (three glasses) to satisfy the minimum daily requirement of a sedentary adult, but not enough to satisfy the minimum daily requirement of a growing active child or youth. Minimum daily requirement means only enough to prevent nutritional deficiency disease.

The optimal daily requirement of calcium for a sedentary adult is supplied by a quart of milk—four glasses; for a boy or girl who gets plenty of exercise every day, by three pints of milk—six glasses.

Optimal means more than just enough to prevent manifestations of nutritional deficiency. It means enough to maintain functional vigor and vite.

The more important functions of calcium in the body are:

1.—It is essential for ossification of bone.

2.—It is necessary for adequate contraction of the heart.

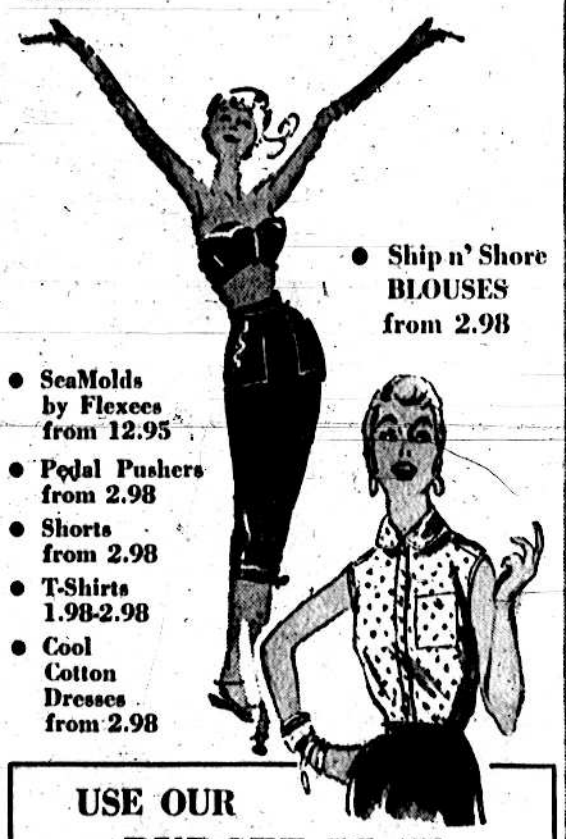

3.—It diminishes permeability of the walls of the smallest blood vessels.

4.—It regulates irritability of nerves.

5.—It is necessary for clotting of blood.

NLRB Rule Curbs Union Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board ruled unanimously today that an employer may refuse to bargain with a labor union which is operating a competing business.

This was the first NLRB ruling in such a case and it was considered significant because of the tendency of labor unions to invest surplus funds in such ventures as banks, buildings and even private businesses.

The case concerned the St. Louis branch of the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. In May last year Local 678 of the CIO United Optical and Instrument Workers of America decided to make some jobs for unemployed members by setting up a wholesale optical business. All the stock of the new firm, United Optical Wholesalers Inc., was held by union members.

Bausch & Lomb, then in negotiations with the union for new contract terms, found out that the union had established a competing business. The company then sent word through an attorney that it no longer considered the union a true labor organization, but a business competitor.

Moskal Challenges Fireworks Shift

Stanley J. Moskal, Republican candidate for City Council in the Fifth Ward, last night challenged the legality of using city funds "for the benefit of other towns" in the July 4 fireworks program.

For several years prior to 1952, the fireworks display was conducted at Mattano Park in the Fifth Ward. This year, for the third time, it will be held at Warinanco Park, with Elizabeth, Roselle, Roselle Park and Linden contributing to the cost.

In a meeting with his campaign committee last night at 313 Franklin St., Moskal criticized John C. Boyle, Fifth Ward councilman, and his Democratic colleagues in council for allowing the display to be removed from Mattano Park.

"There is a great concentration of population downtown," the candidate declared. "This is the area where the people enjoy the program the most and can least afford to spend July 4 at summer resorts.

"For many people who live here, the fireworks program has been the only recreation facility available on July 4. Why deprive these people of the fireworks? Most of them are not able to go to Warinanco Park because they don't own cars and lack other transportation facilities. Under the present setup, the majority of those benefiting do not live in Elizabeth."

If elected to City Council in November, Moskal said he would work to bring the fireworks back to Mattano Park. He said he would vote against spending city funds for the benefit of out-of-town residents.

CWV Units Plan Active Summer

An active summer schedule is in prospect for Union County Catholic War Veterans. A new five-point program is being drawn up, and each post has been requested to name a chairman to participate in program plans. The names are to be submitted to James A. Sullivan, county commander, by July 12.

All county posts and auxiliaries have been invited by Rev. Aloysius S. Carney, state chaplain and pastor of St. James Church, Springfield, to attend a state CWV picnic on the parish grounds Sunday, July 18. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will conclude the day's activities.

County CWV posts also are planning to take part in a carnival at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Lyons, Sept. 18. A county dinner dance is another event being considered for the near future.

Paul V. Caffrey, executive chairman of the CWV state hospital committee, reported at a recent meeting in St. Theresa's parish hall, Linden, that the county organization has received a citation from the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, for welfare work there. He also described activities sponsored by the group at Lyons. Refreshments were served by St. Theresa's Post 497 and its auxiliary.

Joseph F. Dietz Post 361 was authorized to send two boys and St. Anthony's Post 240 was authorized to send one boy to the Knights of Columbus camp at Culvers Lake.

Lions Club Hears Young Musicians

Accordion selections played by a group of young musicians featured the season's final meeting of the Elizabeth Lions' Club yesterday at the Winfield Scott Hotel.

The performers, who were directed by Michael Dizinnomx, are students of James DeLuca. Barbara Reitberg and Dorothy Yorke played "Vaya Con Dios" and "Young at Heart," respectively, as soloists, and Mrs. Maxine Dizinno and Diana Dizinno combined talents in a duet, "Lady of Spain."

Other players included: Anna Vasilevich, Gloria Grillo, Lorraine Majewski, Frederick Sahli, Andrew Erzenobowski, Thomas Malinousky, Alfonso LaMastra and Anthony Laico. Loring M. Watts presided. Garrett J. Connolly, assistant executive director of the Community Welfare Council of Eastern Union County, was a guest.

Alimony Delinquent Talks Way to 90-Day Term

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP) — John Penyiska opened his mouth three times in circuit court Tuesday. Each time it cost him 30 days in jail.

Judge Michael Carland told him to pay his wife Sally, back alimony or serve 30 days in jail.

"I'll take the days," mumbled Penyiska.

"That won't wipe out the debt," said the judge.

Penyiska voiced a protest.

"Maybe 60 days would be better," said the judge.

"Make it 90 as long as I'm going to jail," Penyiska barked. The judge complied.

Benefit Recipients Increase

There were 17,852 social security beneficiaries in Union County at the end of 1953, an increase of 2,303, as compared with the total at the same time in 1952, William J. Wilkie, manager of the Elizabeth office, revealed today.

Releasing statistics just made available, Mr. Wilkie said the monthly payments amounted to $881,097, a gain of $139,246.

The manager broke down the benefits as follows: 9,200 retired workers, $543,076; 2,675 wives or husbands, $91,638; 2,596 widows or widowers, $117,182; 717 mothers with children, $32,330; 2,408 children, $94,450; 56 dependent parents, $2,421.

"While these statistics may seem to be just so many figures in cold print," said Mr. Wilkie, "the payment monthly of $881,097 to the economic well being of the community at large, and in many cases represents the greatest or only source of income to the individual family concerned."

Statewide, benefits were paid to 230,950 persons in Dec. 1953, according to Joseph B. O'Connor, regional director.

Old age benefits totaling $7,072,562 were paid to 127,798 retired men and women workers in New Jersey. This was an increase of 21,573 in persons and $1,393,213 in total benefits over the figures for Dec. 1952. Survivors benefits were paid to 67,069 persons in New Jersey in December, an increase of 7,930 in such beneficiaries in a 12-month period.

The Union County figures for old age insurance payments reflect a national trend, Mr. Wilkie pointed out. In the country as a whole, more than 6 million persons were receiving such benefits at the end of 1953, almost a million more than in Dec. 1952, he said.

LET'S HAVE A LOOK

by Chris Zusi

BASEBALL'S annual popularity contest is in progress, with the fans voting for the players they'd like to see in the starting positions (except pitcher) for the all-star game July 13 at Cleveland. "They'd like to see" is used advisedly; the customers don't always vote for the players they think should start. That's why it's a popularity contest.

No simple matter, this business of picking the lineups, even for the non-partisan fan, if such there be. In the first place, what, exactly, governs the selection? Is it to be made strictly on 1954 performance or do lifetime records count? Or is it a combination of both?

Also, what about defensive ability? Do you consider that or do you use only the batting averages? And if stickwork decides, what about home-run hitting? Would you take the long-ball swatter over the guy with the better average who seldom hits for distance? If so, how many homers offset how much difference in average?

Complex But Not Worrisome

As you can see, this is a complex problem. But don't worry about it. Francis X. Fan isn't worrying, except maybe about whether the men he has named make the first team—and if they don't he'll do plenty of squawking. Somehow he knows how he wants those lineups to look and he has a world of confidence in his own selections.

The ballots are by no means all biased. We were looking over yesterday's list of leaders at the various positions and it seemed, on the whole, to make good sense. Obviously the voting fans who are guided by the records outnumber the strictly partisan customers.

In the National League they had Ted Kluszewski slightly ahead of Gil Hodges for first base, Granny Hamner topping Red Schoendienst for second, Ray Jablonski ahead of Ransom Jackson for third and Alvin Dark leading Peewee Reese in a close race for shortstop. We'd lean to Hodges because of his defensive skill; otherwise we'd go along with that infield. But we're puzzled by the fact that five third basemen were mentioned and Hank Thompson wasn't one of them. We wouldn't make Hank No. 1, because that would be partisanship. But we'll say this: He's the most under-rated player in the league.

Jackie Robinson Over Ralph Kiner

The outfield pacemakers were Ralph Kiner in left, Duke Snider in center and Stan Musial in right. That's quite an outfield. Still, we'd prefer Jackie Robinson to Kiner. Snider's record gives him an edge on Willie Mays but we'd want assurance that Willie would see at least part-time service.

There could be some argument over the fact that Roy Campanella has a substantial margin in the balloting for catcher, on account of Roy's low batting average, far behind that of Smokey Burgess of the Phillies. Yet Campy certainly is a much superior catcher and let's put it this way: With two or three on, would you rather have Campy or Burgess coming up for you?

American League infield leaders were Al Rosen, first base; Bobby Avila, second; Ray Boone, third, and Harvey Kuenn, short. Rosen isn't a good first baseman but he wields a heavy bat and he has to be on the team, which makes it unfortunate for Ferris Fain. At shortstop we'd take Chico Carrasquel of the White Sox because his b.a. is pretty close to Kuenn's and he's a more accomplished glove man.

What About Ted Williams?

Minnie Minoso, Mickey Mantle and Jim Piersall are the outfield nominees. But what about Ted Williams? How can you have an all-star game without Williams, unless he's in Korea? Minoso is a fine ballplayer, yet we'd have to take the Thumper as our starting left fielder.

Yogi Berra not only had the catching assignment pretty well sewed up but was the overall leader in votes. This may seem strange since Yogi hasn't been having a big year. Still, he's a standout at his position in his league. No argument there.

We do have a gripe, though, and it concerns the automatic naming of the World Series managers of the previous year to pilot the clubs in the mid-summer inter-league affair.

Some Fine Managers Don't Win Pennants

The idea, we suppose, is that the pennant-winning managers, as such, are the standouts in that department. But a manager's record is somewhat less convincing than a player's.

Take Casey Stengel, for instance. He had managed unsuccessfully for a long time before he came to the Yankees. Then he suddenly couldn't lose in five seasons and five World Series. Casey, incidentally, has yet to have a winner in four chances as all-star pilot.

Every city in both major leagues gets a crack as site of the game but only a very few managers get a chance. There are some excellent managers who don't win pennants, just as there are some fine players who never are on pennant-winning teams.

Why not give the all-star opportunity, once in a while, anyway, to a couple of patiently competent pilots who earn their money the hard way with perennial second-division clubs? It might prove an interesting change.

The Prudential A.A. cashed in on an early lead last night in gaining a 4-2 decision over Standard Oil in the Union County Industrial Baseball League's biggest game of the season at Warinanco Park.

The Newarkers reached two Esso hurlers for only four hits, all singles, while the Oilers combed two Pru tossers for nine bingles, including a double. However, while most of the Esso safeties went to waste, Pru scored four runs on two hits, two walks and an error in the first inning to take the decision.

As a result, the Newark nine regained first place with a 10-2 record and took a big step toward a second straight championship. It has games with Singer and Linden remaining on its schedule. Esso, now in second place with a 10-3 mark, also closes against Linden.

Pru's Sam Simmons and Esso's Frank Hunter waged a battle of managerial wits. Taking note of the five lefthanded hitters in the Prudential array, Hunter started Art Vanderwall, a righthander, and kept lefty Bob Meyers, his best hurler, on the bench. The idea, of course, was to make Simmons start his lefthanded swingers, who had been duck soup for Meyers in a two-hit, 3-0 shutout two months ago.

Faces Only One Batter

Vanderwall pitched to only one batter, but nonetheless he wound up as the losing hurler. He walked Bob Stengler and then was replaced by Meyers, who issued another pass to Bob Crane. Rod Coccetti beat out an infield single, loading the bases with one out. Then Howie Hulin bounced to Norm Jones at second, and Jones' throw to first got past Bob Bachman, allowing two men to score and putting runners on second and third.

Now it was Simmons' turn to do the masterminding. He yanked Jack Kulish, his regular first baseman, and sent righthander Walt Root to bat. Root delivered a line single to right center for two more runs, and Pru had a 4-0 lead.

After his first-inning difficulties, Meyers was red hot. He fanned seven batters and gave up only two more hits and no walks before the contest was called because of rain in the bottom of the sixth. Joe Breidt made an excellent catch on Coccetti's extra-base bid, but otherwise Pru had no scoring opportunities after the first.

Oilers Waste Hits

Esso, meanwhile, was pounding southpaw Harry Sutton for everything except runs. The Oilers wasted two line singles in the first. They got one run in the second on three hits, but again left two on base, and they put together their biggest threat in the fifth.

With one out, Meyers singled and Shamus Brady walked—the only pass given up by Sutton. With two out, Breidt lined a single to center, scoring Meyers. Then Pat Sharkey banged a hard single off Sutton's leg and the bases were loaded.

Hunter was the next scheduled batter, so Simmons yanked lefthander Sutton and brought in lefthander Ron Levitan, a veteran of several years of professional ball, to pitch to the Esso manager. He fanned him.

Weston Downs Singer

Weston Electric tripped Singer, 7-1, at Bennett Field in the only other game on the program. The Elizabeth A.A.-Cutrufello Superette contest was postponed by agreement.

Two weeks ago Weston's Tony Fernicola held Singer to two hits and got nothing but a 0-0 tie in eight innings for his efforts. Last night he pitched a two-hitter again and this time came off an easy winner. Both blows off him were infield tricklers and he pitched to only 22 men as Weston clicked off two double plays. The Singer run was registered by Ted Gunteski, who walked, stole second, took third on an out, and came home on Leo Wierzbinski's single in the second. Weston scored four runs in the same inning, two tallying on Bob Adams' double.

Giants Down Dodgers In 13-Inning Thriller

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants apparently are going to stay in first place until they run out of miracles. So far their supply has seemed almost unlimited.

They pulled another one out of the hat last night, beating their bitter rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-3 in 13 innings, when Dusty Rhodes delivered a two-out pinch single with the bases loaded and the Giants a run behind.

This was the 10th time since the season opened that the Giants have triumphed in their last chance at bat. And since they moved within striking distance of the lead they've used the Frank Merriwell finish so often that poor Frank is about tuckered out.

Three weeks ago yesterday a ninth-inning double by Monte Irvin drove in two runs for a 6-5 victory over Milwaukee. Two days later, still in Milwaukee, rookie Bill Taylor delivered a pinch homer in the 10th for a 1-0 victory that moved the New Yorkers into a first-place tie with Brooklyn.

Lead by 2 Games

Nineteen games later they are two lengths in front of the Dodgers. During that time they've won 16 and lost three and six of those victories came in the final inning.

Brooklyn twice tried to steal the script last night. Trailing 2-0 after eight innings, the Dodgers kept the game alive as Jackie Robinson singled with one out in the ninth and rode home on Roy Campanella's two-out, two-strike homer over the left field grandstand. In the top of the 13th rookie Don Hoak sliced a homer into the nearby right field seats.

But in their half of the 13th the Giants sandwiched three walks around two outs and Rhodes, after taking two strikes, turned the crowd of 31,464 into a bedlam with his hit up the middle.

DUSTY RHODES

Elsewhere in the National League the Chicago Cubs lost their 11th in a row, 7-0 to Milwaukee; Philadelphia whipped Pittsburgh 4-0 and Cincinnati crushed St. Louis 11-4.

Cleveland picked up half a game on Chicago in the American League and now leads the White Sox by two games. The Indians beat Baltimore 5-1 but Chicago had to settle for a split in a twin bill with Detroit, winning 5-0 after losing 10-3. The New York Yankees stayed three games back with a 14-5 triumph at Boston. Philadelphia shaded Washington 3-2.

Art Houtteman of the Indians broke a five-game Baltimore winning streak with a five-hitter. One of the Orioles' hits was a single by Dick Kryhoski, who stretched his streak to 19 games, longest in the majors this season.

Detroit jumped ahead of the White Sox in the first game as Harvey Kuenn opened with a home run. Sandy Consuegra checked the Tigers on three safeties in the nightcap which was shortened to eight innings by the league curfew.

Mantle Gets 4 Hits

Mickey Mantle paced the Yankee assault on the Boston pitching corps with four hits in five times up including a triple.

Arnold Portocarrero, a likely looking rookie, won his fifth straight for the Athletics with the help of a Washington error by Mickey Vernon and a triple by Bill Renna.

Jim Wilson of the Braves, who was on the market for $10,000 with no takers until he pitched a no-hitter earlier this month, turned in his fifth victory without a loss and his third shutout in beating the hapless Cubs.

An inside-the-park home run by Richie Ashburn with two mates on base broke a scoreless tie in the eighth inning at Pittsburgh as Herman Wehmeier pitched a seven-hit shutout.

Stan Musial hit his 24th home run, tying Willie Mays of the Giants for the league lead.

Brennans, Vagabonds Win Rahway League Games

RAHWAY—Two-hit pitching by Neal Davis and Ed Koczon's homer with one on in the third inning led the 6-1 victory of Brennans over Security Auto Wreckers in the Rahway City Softball League last night. Davis fanned eight. Pete Hugger's homer and double, plus Burgoyne's effective hurling, gave the Vagabonds a 7-2 win over the Aces. Bacek tripled for winners.

Turpin Ousted From Top 10

NEW YORK (AP)—Two former champions, middleweight Randy Turpin of England and welterweight Johnny Bratton of Chicago, are out of the first ten rankings for the first time in years in the latest ring magazine rating of boxers.

Veteran light heavyweight Danny Nardico also was dropped out of the elite group as editor Nat Fleischer gave every one of the eight divisions a good going-over today.

Turpin, ninth a month ago, and Philadelphia's Gil Turner, who was tenth, were dropped to make room for Argentina's Eduardo Lausse (10th) and Germany's Gustav (Bubi) Scholz (9th). France's Pierre Langlois jumped from sixth to fourth.

In the welterweight class, Bratton was removed and Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., joined the group in the ninth position.

Nardico, of Tampa, Fla., lost out when he was stopped in four rounds by flashy Paul Andrews of Buffalo. The 24-year-old Andrews leaped from seventh to fourth. Oakland Billy Smith of Atlantic City, N.J., took over Nardico's No. 8 spot.

Among the heavyweights, Tommy Harrison was replaced in the Big Ten by veteran Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle, and Earl Walls of Toronto and Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia traded the No. 7 and 8 berths with Walls now seventh.

Percy Bassett of Philadelphia once again became the No. 1 featherweight contender as the result of his 11th-round tko of Lulu Perez and Carmelo Costa's upset of Mexico's Baby Ortiz. Ortiz had been ranked first a month ago. Belgium's Jean Sneyers is now second, France's Ray Famechon third, Perez fourth and Ortiz fifth.

In the flyweight ranks, Leo Espinosa of the Philippines who lost a close decision to champion Yoshio Shirai, advanced from three to one. His countryman, Tanny Campo dropped one notch to second.

2 Galloping Hill Lads Move to Semifinals Of PGO Tourney

By BUD BAUMAN

Galloping Hill's Ed Famula and George Whittaker were in the semifinal round of the New Jersey Public Golf Organization's seventh annual junior tournament today at Ash Brook, each seeking to become the Hill's first state junior champion since Jack Maloney turned the trick in 1947. Other survivors of yesterday's two rounds were Jimmy Smith of Plainfield West and Jack Downey of Branch Brook. The tourney winds up today.

Of this quartet, Famula is the oldest and the most experienced in tournament play. He has been the stickout of the competition thus far, for he won the qualifying medal—for the second year in a row—with a 78 Monday and played par golf in vanquishing two rivals yesterday.

Smith and Downey are 16 years old and Whittaker, who graduated from Roselle Park High this month, is 17. They all will be eligible for the PGO junior next year.

Famula played the same kind of golf in both rounds yesterday, but with far different results. His morning match with Rod MacPherson of Branch Brook was a rout. Famula banged out nine pars, a birdie, and a bogey in 11 holes to win, 8 and 7, with MacPherson picking up after he hit a poor tee shot on the 11th.

Goes to 19th Hole

In the second round, however, Eddie ran into stubborn opposition from Charles Fatum Jr., son of the Succasunna G. C. pro and a sophomore at Rutgers University. This match went to the last hole, where Fatum, who hopes to become a greenkeeper, pounded his drive out of bounds and conceded, 2 up.

Famula picked up a two-hole lead with a 34 on the first nine, dropping putts of five and 30 feet for his two birdies, but the match became tied when Eddie three-putted the 11th and hit a poor drive on the 12th. Famula scored a birdie on the 16th, but Fatum took the 15th, where he almost had a hole-in-one.

Thus, they were still even going to the 18th, although Famula was even par. Fatum got a rather bad break on the 16th when his long drive carried into the brook in the middle of the fairway, and Famula took the hole with par to go ahead for good. The 17th was halved in par, and the match ended when Fatum hit his poor drive on the 18th. Famula, putting hurriedly, had a bogey on the 18th for a round of 72, easily the best in the tournament to date.

Whittaker Impressive

Whittaker, runnerup in the qualifying play, trounced Larry Corbo of Branch Brook, 7 and 6, in the first round, then turned back Frank Millin of Essex County West, 4 and 2, in the quarter-finals. Millin, who hit every shot with a big wrist action and never strayed from the fairway, played Whittaker even for 11 holes, then lost the 12th, 14th, 15th and 16th, on which Whittaker posted three pars and a birdie.

Downey made possibly the most interesting advance, for in the second round he turned back Jack Murphy of Elizabeth, 1 up. Murphy and Downey are 16-year-old fellows at St. Benedict's, where they play one-two on the golf team, and they are such close friends that Downey, who resides in Belleville, has been staying at Murphy's home here during the tournament. Each shot 79 yesterday and they were even until Murphy slammed his 16th drive into the woods. They each dropped a long putt to halve the 17th with birdies, and the 18th was halved in bogies when neither reached the green in two.

Smith, a South Plainfield resident who is an "amateur" assistant pro to Sam Kinder at Plainfield West, gained the semifinals by stopping two Saddle River entries. He beat Ted Cederstrand, 1 up, in the morning, then went 19 holes to trip Fred Walker, also by 1 up. Walker could have won the match by sinking a three-foot putt on the 18th, but he missed and Smith won the 19th with a routine par.

Record Score In Rifle League

The Union County Rifle League came up with the highest-scoring match in its history last night when Perth Amboy defeated Roseland, 1,000-990, at the Cranford range. The result left Perth Amboy, Roseland and Emanon deadlocked for the lead.

A total of 164 perfect shots were registered as seven sharpshooters had 200 scores. Jack O'Hare of the losers paced the individuals, placing every one of his 20 attempts in the bullseye. One behind with 19 X's was teammate Grace Stilworthy.

The quintet of 200 shooters for Perth Amboy included Charles Walter, Jack Ranagnano, Harold Silliman, Turk Samsoe and Lou Larsen. The Amboyans had 82 X's, two more than Roseland. Other 200 scores for Roseland were collected by Joe Halm and Fred Bauer.

Argonne's Ray Smith pitched one-hit ball after relieving Tony Tornatore with one out in the first inning. The Jefferson High southpaw was touched for an infield single in the sixth as he fanned nine and walked three in six and two-thirds innings.

Winfield scored first on Bobby Weeks' single, a walk and an error. Argonne sent 12 men to the plate in the third inning to score its six runs. Joe Michalski banged a double in the uprising. Moe Hall paced the Roselleites with three singles.

Union clinched its victory with three runs in the opening frame. Bill Richards hit a triple with two mates aboard and scored on an infield out. The winners collected their fourth tally in the second inning without a hit.

SOD, Bayway Win Youth Openers

Ralph Tango was the outstanding player as the Union County Youth Baseball Leagues opened their 10th campaign last night at Warinanco Park. Tango had four consecutive safeties and pitched a three-hitter to lead Standard Oil Development Union to a 6-4 triumph over Thomas & Betts in a Junior League clash.

Tango clouted a two-run homer in the second inning and added three singles. Esso's Ralph Petrosky came through with the key blow in the final frame when he clubbed a home run with two mates aboard as SOD Union took a 6-0 lead.

Bayway IPW defeated Elizabeth Elks, 6-3. Bayway scored four runs in the second, led by Bob Delaney's single which drove in two tallies.

The Midget Major League came up with a no-hitter as Ed Burke of the Pirates handcuffed the Athletics, 14-0. He struck out eight. The Yankees, last year's playoff champions, dropped a 9-8 decision in two extra innings to the Giants. Bob Ryan of the Yankees fanned 14.

The Phillies scored seven runs in the first inning to trim the Senators, 12-9; the Red Sox defeated the Dodgers, 7-3, and the Indians, scoring 11 in the first inning, turned back the Cardinals, 14-5.

Betty Coumbe Again Victor

NEW YORK (AP)—Top-ranked Mrs. Nellie Kagan of New York has gained the quarter-final round of the women's eastern clay court tennis tournament with her victory over unseeded Mary Blair of Oyster Bay, N. Y., 6-3, 11-9. Betty Coumbe of Westfield, N. J., also advanced.

Mrs. Kagan, the East's second ranking player, was forced to rally twice in the second set of her match yesterday before turning aside the East's No. 1 junior girl player.

Miss Coumbe, seeded fourth, beat Mrs. Marion Roller, New York, 6-0, 6-2. Second-seeded Isabel Troccole of the Bronx, defeated Mrs. Marion Roller, Rego Park, N. Y., 6-1, 6-0. Miss Troccole is the defending champion.

Carole Wright, 15-year-old Brooklyn high school student, eliminated Mrs. Gerda Appleby of Great Neck, N. Y., 6-2, 6-1.

Joan Koch, Greenwich, Conn., trimmed Mrs. Grace Vallee, Rye, N. Y., 7-5, 6-3.

If I Golfers to Meet Tonight

Union County's most exclusive golf association, the If I Club, limited to 18 members, will hold its summer meeting tonight at the home of W. W. "Muggsy" Whelan, 122 Elmora Ave.

The club will honor one of its members, Dr. Edward Krentar, former Elizabeth resident who is serving his first term as a Carteret councilman.

A fellow tooth extractor, Dr. Nick Tortorella of Elizabeth, president of the If I group, and Whelan, perennial secretary-treasurer, promise another eventful evening for their "golfers under the skin."

"Politics will have no place at this meeting," said Tortorella. "This is ONE club that's run strictly for pleasure and for the consolation of our members whose putts refuse to drop."

Fish and Game Corner

By BILL BACKUS

The Union Anglers were almost blown off the lake on their annual fresh water fishing outing to Swartswood Lake in Sussex County, according to President Gene Stanley. The wind was so strong that it even blew around corners from the crack of dawn until dark. Even heavy lures were ineffective, and spin casters and top water addicts had their hands full.

Result was that the largest fish was a 16¾-inch pickerel, caught by Herb Keller. Not a single bass was taken. Anglers claim that they were hanging on the reeds by their teeth, afraid to be blown out of the lake.

While the largest pickerel was taken on bait, a second pickerel of 14½ inches, caught by Joe Richkus, was taken on a spinning lure. In the group which made the trip were Tom Crawford, chairman; Bill Fink, Herb Kelcher, Dick Boertmann, Dick Marsden, Walter Kelchner, Bob Struffenger, Henry Tarrant and Peter Richkus.

Sportsmen's Show Entry

The Conservation League of Union County is the first to announce that it will have an exhibition in the annual sportsmen's show of the Union County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, to be held at the Elizabeth Armory early in October.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the sportsmen's show committee and delegates from the various Union organizations at the Shade Tree Commission building last night. Plans of the Armory layout were presented by Joe Richkus, and the committee, with Nelson Haefner, federation president, studied the amount of space which can be allocated to the various organizations.

The State Fish and Game Commission will be asked to cooperate, and letters will be written by Secretary Andrew Clearie to Director A. Heaton Underhill of the Fish and Game Division, asking that Jules Marron, public relations director for the division, be assigned to the Armory exhibit job.

Robert C. Crane of Westfield has offered his cooperation, and Mayor Nicholas LaCorte of Elizabeth has indicated that the city's officials will do all they can to make the show the best Union County ever has had. The show had been held at the Westfield Armory the past few years.

Ed Humphreys, president of the Conservation League of Union County, has designated himself in charge of the committee on junior sportsmen which the league will attempt to develop this year. Joe Richkus and John Wittmeyer have been named delegates to the County Federation, with Bernie and Felix Mielach and Stanley Richkus as alternates.

The two original food patches planted on the conservation project of the Union County Federation have been developed again this year, but no new work has been done on the Sussex County tract. The area originally selected for another food patch was found to be so swampy that cultivation and seeding were out of the question. Additional food patches will be carefully selected and studied before the next planting program.

Capt. Otto Reut of the Highlanda discounts reports that bluefish won't hit a chum line while they are full of roe. Last year, says the striped bass expert, who also takes out bluefish parties in season, he found bluefish full of roe until the middle of August, and they were certainly thick in the chum slick out on the Shrewsbury Rocks. Several charter boats indicate they'll be getting their chum from Joey Julian on Route 36, Atlantic Highlands, this week, to take a stab at chumming.

Sea Bass Hitting

Sea bass are beginning to run strong. Some fine humpbacks have been caught on the offshore wrecks and fishing banks, but few have found their way into the New Jersey State Fishing Contest, sponsored by the Elizabeth Daily Journal. Now, with the bluefishing picking up and with other summer species, including tuna, in the offing, the tempo of entries should increase.

One of the first sea bass to be entered is that caught by Dorothy Mehlberver, of Philadelphia, caught aboard the Gertrude H, with Capt. H. Harms out of Belmar. She was using a glass rod, Penn No. 85 reel, Ashaway 24-pound test line, and clams for bait.

A fine blackfish was entered by Arthur M. Scutro, of 216 Palmer St., caught aboard the Mar-G-Lou, with Capt. Tommie Gray out of Forked River. Arthur was using a Howard rod, Penn reel, and DuPont 18-pound test nylon, with a 17-pound test leader and shrimp for bait. The fish was taken on a wreck.

Dr. Manuel J. Mally, of Atlantic City, submits a fine bluefish caught aboard the Happy Days, with Capt. Carl Rackoski out of Atlantic City. It was taken while trolling the lobster pot area about 15 miles offshore. Mally was using a four-foot glass rod, Penn reel, and Ashaway No. 12 nylon with a 25-pound test wire leader, with a nylon feather lure made by the M. and H. Company of Atlantic City, which authenticated the catch.

Another fine blue was submitted by Frank Wurum, of Newark, who caught it on his private boat, the Cynthia, while fishing with Myron Pepper of Newark, on the Shrewsbury Rocks. Wurum was using a Harnell No. 520 rod, Penn 4/0 reel, 40-pound test monofilament, and with a Tony Accetta No. 17 spoon.

A pickerel and a bass have been entered by Harry K. Estelle, of Red Bank, both caught in Tinton Manor Lake, with the pickerel taken on a South Bend rod, Ocean City reel, and 8-pound test nylon, with a Plucky lure. The same tackle was used to take the large-mouth bass, except that Estelle was using a jitterbug as the lure.

Saddler to Attend Park Ring Show

ROSELLE PARK—Sandy Saddler, world featherweight boxing champion; Jim Braddock, former heavyweight champ; Gus Lesnevich, ex-light heavyweight titleholder, and Don Newcombe, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, will head the list of celebrities at the Church of the Assumption amateur boxing program tonight at the Roselle Park High School athletic field.

Saddler

The show, starting at 8 p.m., will find free-swinging Elizabeth PAL boxers engaging in 14 three-round bouts. Proceeds will go to the Church of the Assumption building fund.

Saddler, training at Ehsan's Camp, Chatham, for a bout with lightweight Libby Manzo of Elmhurst, L.I., Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena, will be brought to the church show by Frank Orlando, chairman.

Among the other boxing notables expected are Harold Carter, Linden's fast-rising heavyweight; Ernie Durando and Charlie Norkus of Bayonne, Tony Galento of Orange, Freddie Russo of Rahway, Johnnie Addie, Madison Square Garden announcer, and Joseph F. Walker, New Jersey's new athletic commissioner.

Orlando said the committee also may succeed in getting Willie Mays, sensational New York Giants center fielder, to the show.

George Ward of Cranford, former lightweight star, and Joe Kukal of Linden will serve as referees. The judges will be Jim Tomasulo, former National AAU boxing champion, and John Scavone of Orange, president of the New Jersey Boxing Managers' Guild.

Senior Net Champ Bows to Collins

RAHWAY — "Young" Jim Collins of Roselle pulled an upset by eliminating top-seeded and defending champion Dr. V. Lemoine Heuser of Elizabeth, 6-3, 6-1, in the semifinals of the Union County seniors' tennis tournament last night at Ilderan Outing Club.

Collins, one of the youngest contenders at 41, was too steady for the 47-year-old Heuser. Continuing his fine play of late, the Elizabeth Town & Country Club performer had his overhand smashes working to perfection. Collins is seeded No. 3 in the tourney.

Collins' game showed a marked improvement at the close of the New Jersey State League season when he surprised Don Hawley of East Orange, 14-12, 6-3.

Ray Kuneyl of Rahway, seeded fourth, scored a 6-3, 6-1 win over Don Pottenger of Metuchen. The match was marked by long, spirited volleys. Kuneyl will play the winner of the Gene Terpak-Elford Durgan match for the other final-round berth.

In the Recreation Coastal Baseball League, McNeill Cooperage downed Rotary Club, 9-5. Masters doubled in second with three on and homered in fourth.

Now, It's The Motorist Who Is Responsible For A SAFE AND SANE 4th

If safety records are any indication, there will be more traffic victims this Fourth of July week-end than were ever killed or injured in the old days of unrestricted fireworks.

More cars will be on the road than ever before . . . going longer distances than ever before. If there were ever a time to drive carefully, it is this holiday week-end.

So, please . . . this week-end, drive carefully, considerately. Don't speed, don't crowd, don't jockey for position, don't try to pass when passing would only anger the drivers who are trying to be considerate. Above all, don't drive a car that is not in proper repair, that has faulty brakes or tires. Take this care, and enjoy a really happy holiday week-end.

Berkeley Tax Assessor Denies He Sliced Levies for Friends

Cut of $800 for Home Owner Who Circulated Petition for Political Ally Was Because Dwelling Was Not Complete, Plumb Says

BERKELEY HEIGHTS—Charges that he favored political allies in making assessments were denied by Tax Assessor Theodore C. Plumb last night at the ninth session of a State Department of Taxation inquiry into his conduct in office. The three-hour hearing was held in Columbia School.

During much of the session, again presided over by Aaron K. Neeld, director of the department of taxation, Mr. Plumb defended specific assessments cited as examples of favoritism, or otherwise criticized, by Earnest A. Liotta of Elizabeth, special counsel for the township.

The inquiry was undertaken following charges against Mr. Plumb by Township Committeeman William V. Dunkel.

In reply to a query by Liotta, Plumb said he did not make personal property assessments in Free Acres, a rental development, because residents are not taxed as home owners.

Liotta termed an $800 assessment reduction for John Bennett of Hillside Ave. an example of political favoritism. Bennett, he said, had circulated election petitions for Township Committeeman Ira F. Holley, a political ally of Plumb's.

Plumb countered with an assertion that the Bennett house continues incomplete, with an unfinished second floor. He cited this as the reason for the reduction. Liotta placed in evidence plans filed in 1949 by Bennett which show no intention of additional second-floor work.

The assessor also gave incompletion as his reason for not assessing a $72,000 model home in the Tip Top section.

Plumb also denied Liotta's allegation that he had raised the assessment on his own home from $1,900 to $2,100 so he could say: "I even raised my own assessment." Placing a value of $15,000 on his one-family dwelling, Mr. Plumb doubted he would sell at any price. He said the ratio of assessment on his dwelling to its possible value was 14 per cent, in keeping with other homes in the neighborhood.

Asked why he sought the assessor post, first by appointment and then by election, Mr. Plumb insisted it was a desire to be of community service. Mr. Liotta reminded the witness that there were "non-paying jobs available."

Mr. Plumb said he didn't remember ever asking Committeeman William V. Dunkel, signer of the township complaint against him, for an increase in salary. His pay was raised $200 to $1,600 in Jan., 1952.

The two-months-old hearing will be resumed at 7 p.m. tomorrow night in Columbia School. Liotta indicated he would require at least three more sessions to complete his cross examination.

First Film Vamp, Theda Bara Ill

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Theda Bara, the heavy-lidded siren of the silent screen, is reported gravely ill in a hospital following surgery.

The Los Angeles Times says she underwent an emergency operation yesterday for appendicitis and complications.

To most of the present generation she is only a name, dimly associated with the fantastic days when movies couldn't talk. But to those who remember the films of 30 or 35 years ago Theda Bara is the original vamp — the slinky siren of "A Fool There Was," entwined in satin and long strings of beads.

The memory of Theda Bara draped across a sofa, luring her man languidly with outstretched arms and heaving bosom, has brought many a reminiscient sigh to those who saw the 40 pictures she made between 1919 and 1923. But since 1921 she has been chiefly Mrs. Charles J. Brabin, a director's wife who gave up her career many years ago.

Her age is a carefully guarded secret, but 10 years ago the columnists were saying she had passed 50.

"The Serpent of the Nile," "The Tiger Woman," "Salome," "Cleopatra" and "Camille" probably would be ridiculous on the screen today, but to Theda they are still beautiful. To her they were sincere, their emotional impact supreme, their costumes classic, even though they represent now the experimental era of motion pictures.

School Board Sets Date For Fund Shift Vote

BERKELEY HEIGHTS—Theodore E. Kihlgren, president of the Board of Education, today said the board plans to hold a special school election from 6 to 9 p.m. Aug. 17 in Columbia School. Approval of the voters is sought to transfer $12,000 from the surplus in the current expense account to the building and grounds account. If voter sanction is given, he explained, the board will proceed with plans for improving the old section of the school.

Drought Brings N.J. Farmers New Problem—Water Rights

TRENTON (AP)—The New Jersey Department of Agriculture said today the continued dry spell in the state was causing farmers to consider "the question of water rights, which is a relatively new problem."

Fred W. Jackson, information director of the Agriculture Department, said increased use of irrigation by potato farmers in Central Jersey had brought about a situation where more and more of them were pumping water from the same stream.

Jackson said "this is causing them to consider the question of who owns the water that flows past a farm."

Turn to Irrigation.

The recurrent dry weather of recent summers, Jackson said, has caused may farmers to turn to irrigation as a way of solving their water difficulties. The problem of water rights was relatively minor before irrigation started to become a universal practice, he added.

Jackson said that at present he knew of no lawsuits over water rights because farmers were working out rotation systems among themselves. He said a difference of opinion, however, could cause unpleasantness and the State Water Policy and Supply Council was becoming concerned over the problem.

George R. Shanklin, assistant chief engineer to the council, said rights to water from New Jersey streams was covered by common law.

He said common law provided that only surplus water could be taken by a farmer from a stream which flows past his farm.

This means, Shanklin said, that during the current period of low water, none should be taken from a stream for irrigation or any other purpose.

Warning On Lawsuit

He said the situation would be all right as long as farmers could agree among themselves how to share water from a stream, but if a lawsuit were started, the courts probably would rule against all of them.

Shanklin said he understood a farmer could use all the water from a stream which rises on land entirely owned by him. He said such water sources were called "private streams" and were exempt from common law.

Shanklin said one way farmers could get around the common law was to build small ponds, but that this was an expensive procedure.

Jackson said the Agriculture Department felt "it is seriously dry throughout the state, but nothing that an inch or two of rain wouldn't cure."

Sourlands Battle In New Phase

Superior Court Judge Richard J. Hughes is considering a motion to dismiss the suit of Montgomery Township residents who seek to prevent the erection of a diabase-processing plant in their Somerset County community.

After nearly a month of testimony before Judge Hughes, the trial has been recessed to allow the court to study the motion.

If he grants it, the protesting citizens will appeal the decision to a higher court. If he denies the motion, the trial will resume July 6 in Trenton, Judge Hughes' home city.

During the four weeks of trial here, various experts on noise, dust, explosives and other subjects gave their views on the project, which is proposed by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. and is the source of violent controversy in Montgomery.

The case was transferred here from Somerset County because the only Superior Court judge there—Frederick Hall—disqualified himself. The matter then was assigned to Judge Hughes by Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt.

The plaintiffs claim the zoning ordinance which would permit erection of the $3.5 million plant is illegal and would present a health menace. The defendants claim their proposed plant would be hundreds of feet from the nearest adjacent property and would be completely safe.

Armas Pledges Nation's Return To Strict Democratic System

What are the aims, the policies of the "liberation" government of Gen. Carlos Castillo Armas, who has led the successful invasion of Guatemala? Armas spells out his program and answers those questions in the following article.

By GEN. CARLOS CASTILLO ARMAS

CHIQUIMULA, Guatemala (NS)—The aims of the movement I head can be summed up in this way: We will return the government to a system essentially Democratic in the strictest sense of the word and in harmony with definitions of the word by all American countries which have signed the pact of Inter-American solidarity.

In the field of social policies we will work for the good of all instead of the interests of special groups.

We will make social justice effective and seek to spread to all classes of the republic the social improvements which have been given the laboring classes.

Until now those improvements have been confined to certain parts of our southern and northern coasts where — because of the density of the working classes in those areas—the Communists, for political reasons, have made their greatest efforts.

We will seek to have the labor movement effectively fulfill the purpose for which unions are intended.

But we will not—under any circumstances—allow the labor movement to be captured by a central organization which can make it a tool in the service of left-wing politicians.

Experience has taught us that when labor unions are absorbed by a central group, they lose their natural right to run their own affairs and become unable to defend themselves.

Our basic economy policy will be to take all steps to increase production in both agriculture and industry.

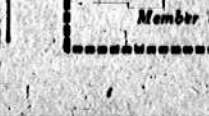

We will revise laws where necessary to allow both national and foreign capital to help develop our natural resources.

We will extend full guarantees and help to the investors of foreign capital since, unquestionably, these investments contribute greatly to the development of countries which lack them.

In international affairs, we will respect all obligations of the Republic of Guatemala under all treaties and other pacts which have been signed in the various international conferences.

We will reaffirm Guatemala's faith in hemispheric solidarity and extend our cooperation to other countries.

Inquest Would Punish Delinquents' Parents

Grand Jurors Finish Study On Youth

Juvenile Bureau Urged In Each Town—Court, Police Work Hailed

Summary punishment of parents held responsible for the delinquency of their children was one of six recommendations on juvenile crime problems handed up yesterday afternoon by the January term Grand Jury.

After many weeks of study, the inquest reported its findings in a three-page presentment delivered in Superior Court to Judge Richard J. Hughes.

The Grand Jury, also studying the water supply problem in Union County, won an extension of its term from July 1 to July 15 to complete its survey.

In addition to the recommendation on punishment of parents, the Grand Jury also suggested:

1. Establishment of a special juvenile bureau in each municipal police department where none is presently in existence.

2. Establishment of a course in the subject in the training school conducted by the Union County Police Chiefs' Assn.

3. Issuance by the Juvenile Court of a confidential report to the police chief on the disposition of every juvenile case emanating from his municipality.

Would Change Law

4. Changing the juvenile laws to permit "local" hearings, rather than Juvenile Court action, in cases involving minor charges against first offenders.

5. Lowering of the present age limit of 18 in Juvenile Court to an age to be fixed after a legislative study and a survey by the State Law Enforcement Council.

In its study of the juvenile delinquency problem, the inquest interviewed Juvenile Court Judge Libby E. Sachar and police officials from several communities.

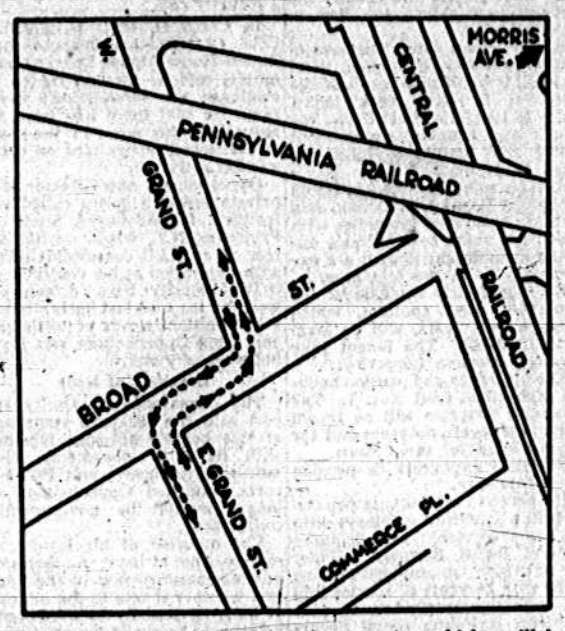

It stated the belief that both the court and municipal police "are giving this problem the attention it deserves."

Text of Presentment

Max J. Berzin, former mayor of Kenilworth, is foreman of the Grand Jury. The presentment on juvenile delinquency follows:

"This Grand Jury, realizing that there are many facets to juvenile delinquency and that a complete study of the problem would be too great a matter for the time at their disposal, but believing that a study of procedure by both the Juvenile Court and the police departments of Union County merited their attention, invited Judge (Libby E.) Sachar of the Union County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court to discuss the problem with the Grand Jury and thereafter invited various members of the police departments of

NEW TRAFFIC PLAN: Drawing shows routes vehicles will be required to take as they leave E. and W. Grand Sts. at Broad St.

Turns From Grand St. Into Broad Altered

3-Month Trial to Start As Soon As Signs Are Ready—Capt. Flaherty Sees Traffic Flow, Pedestrian Safety Aided—Buses Excluded

A traffic plan requiring vehicles leaving E. Grand St. to head directly into W. Grand and those coming out of W. Grand St. to turn into E. Grand was approved by the Board of Works yesterday for a three-month trial.

No. 11 buses would be the only vehicles excluded from the regulations. They would be permitted to stay in Broad St. for their northward trip after they leave E. Grand St.

All other vehicles leaving E. Grand St.—and those emerging from W. Grand as well—would be forced to get off Broad St. after traversing the short stretch between E. and W. Grand. Turns off Broad St. will be permitted.

The proposal, offered by Traffic Capt. Edward E. Flaherty, was approved on the trial basis by merchants of the area. The works board agreed to confer with the retailers again in three months to discuss results of the tryout.

Parking Ban Too.

The new regulations will be put into effect as soon as signs are prepared, the board said. They also will include a ban on parking on the north side of E. Grand St. between Broad St. and Jefferson Ave. from 4 to 6 p.m.

Capt. Flaherty recommended the new Broad St. setup to facilitate the flow of vehicles and pedestrian traffic. He said it would be particularly advantageous in improving the safety of pedestrians.

The area's crosswalks across Broad St. presently are subject to hazardous conditions, Capt. Flaherty pointed out.

There also was a discussion on a proposal by the State Division of Motor Vehicles that speed limit signs be installed in Route 1. The city officials agreed but not with the limits suggested by the state.

Differ on Limits

Capt. Flaherty recommended a maximum of 30 miles an hour between the Linden line and North Ave. and 40 miles between North Ave. and Newark. The state proposed 40 and 50, respectively. Its recommendations were based on surveys of driving habits in Route 1.

Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte took part in the meeting. Also present were Board of Works Commissioners William H. Runyon and Ralph V. Mancini, Police Sgts. James McGann and Walter Truzack and Eighth Ward Councilman Maurice A. O'Keefe, who was

School Aid Bill, Race Tax Get Meyner OK

TRENTON (AP) — Gov. Robert B. Meyner today signed into law a new distribution system for state aid to schools along with tax raises on corporate franchises and parimutuel betting.

The governor's office said a bill raising the tax on gasoline from three to four cents a gallon would not be signed until this evening.

The three tax bills are designed to bring in 28.5 million dollars during the first year of operation and 31 million dollars annually after that.

The distribution program, worked out by the State Tax Policy Commission, is based on a foundation program of $200 per pupil. The bills were introduced by Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. (R-Warren), a member of the commission.

Meyner and the Legislature had a long tug of war over when the program should start. The governor wanted the taxes collected for a full year before the added aid was given to the schools. He said the 28 million dollars would cover a budget deficit he anticipates in the 1955-56 fiscal year.

Republican legislators wanted both programs to start tomorrow. After a protracted struggle, both sides agreed to start collections immediately and to begin distribution next April 1.

This would put 20 million dollars into the treasury and some $7,200,000 into school aid during the first year of the program. After that, all the money would go to the schools, just about doubling the present level of aid.

Distribution of the money is a

Guatemala Civil War At End

Call Armistice Session —U.S. Embassy Hails Victory Over Reds

GUATEMALA (AP) — The fighting was over today in Guatemala's 12-day civil war, and the U.S. Embassy hailed the outcome as a victory over Communism.

The new military regime called on all civilians to surrender any arms in their possession. It prepared for talks with the anti-Communist insurgents on the future course of this Central American republic.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' rebel forces announced that a cease-fire would remain in effect pending formal armistice negotiations.

Former President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman was reported to have taken refuge in the Mexican embassy here, along with Communist and leftwing leaders who had supported his regime.

Col. Elfego Monzon, the leader of the new junta, called on all persons to surrender their arms or face severe punishment. The Arbenz government was said to have distributed arms to farmers and workers prior to his ouster on Sunday.

(In Washington President Eisenhower said he would be deceitful if he tried to hide his pleasure over the ouster of the Communists and their supporters in Guatemala.)

Monzon and Castillo Armas were expected to meet today or tomorrow in neighboring El Salvador to work out details of both the armistice and a new government.

Diplomats here in the Guatemalan capital believed the two—both anti-Communists — would join in still another new governing junta. The general feeling was that Castillo Armas could dictate his own terms.

Monzon's four-man junta, which took over in the capital before dawn yesterday, already had launched a roundup of Communists. Arbenz and most of the top Reds escaped for the moment, taking refuge in the Mexican embassy. Many lesser-rank leftists and fellow travelers were among the first to denounce Communism and cheer, "We have won."

The time of the Castillo-Monzon meeting was not known here early today, but it was expected to be held as soon as the rebel leader could reach San Salvador's capital, El Salvador.

(The rebel's rear headquarters said late yesterday Castillo

Lesser Refused New Trial

County Judge Edward A. McGrath today denied a new trial for Douglas S. Lesser, whom a county court jury on June 17 found guilty of conducting a bookmaking operation at Singer's between Jan. 1, 1952, and Oct. 23, 1953.

Lesser, 37, of 401 Amherst Rd., Linden, is slated to be sentenced July 20.

His counsel, Eugene J. Kirk, urged a new trial on a number of grounds. Among his contentions was one that Judge McGrath erred in not permitting character witnesses to testify because they were not residents of Linden or didn't know his reputation there. Another was a claim that the judge should have dismissed the case without submitting it to the jury because there was no proof Lesser had recorded bets.

Judge McGrath replied that the law on character witnesses was definite in restricting them to the community in which the defendant lives. He also held that the recording of bets could have been inferred by the jury because of testimony by witnesses that slips had been given to Lesser and there had been payoffs.

First Asst. Prosecutor Edmund J. Kiely represented the state.

President Rules Out 'Slave Pact' Peace

GRIM JOURNEY: Sheriff Alex C. Campbell escorts Alfred E. Stokes, right, out of Union County Jail for trip to death house at Trenton State Prison. Orland Reid, another prisoner, is in center.

Wises, Stokes Are Taken To Death House

The three men convicted of slaying Union Police Sgt. Clinton E. Bond today were transferred from the county jail to the death house at State Prison, Trenton, where they will await execution the week of July 25.

No incident marked their departure shortly after noon today. A caravan of three cars was used to transport the trio. Each was handcuffed to a deputy sheriff and another prisoner. A Union St. had been cleared of traffic by uniformed courthouse attendants. A crowd of the curious stood watching as the cars left from the jail entrance.

Harry Wise, 22, of 234 E. Ninth Ave., Roselle, one of two brothers convicted of shooting Sgt. Bond Feb. 12 following their $1,400 holdup of the Tuscan Dairy, Union, left in the first car, driven by Frank Paul, a sheriff's deputy. In the same car were William Matthews, 23, of 485 E. Hazelwood Ave., Rahway, one of four brothers involved in a manslaughter case last July 4, sentenced to serve from four to seven years, and C. Wyllys Cass and Leon Neumann, sheriff's deputies.

In the second car, driven by Under Sheriff Roy E. Carey, were Alfred Stokes, 21, of 245 Union St., convicted with the Wise brothers; Orland Reid Jr. of 1007 Broad St., Newark, who was sentenced last Friday to serve three to four years for breaking and entering, and Hubert O'Neill and Augustus Kline, sheriff's deputies.

Albert Wise, 23, brother of Harry, was in the third car driven by Sheriff Alex C. Campbell. The other prisoner, Paul Turner of 66-34 24th St., Middle Village,

Oppenheimer Denied Clearance By AEC

A-Board Votes 4-1 on Ban—Declares Him Unfit to Handle Nation's Nuclear Secrets Due to Character, Associations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has nailed down the ban against atomic pioneer J. Robert Oppenheimer with a 4-1 declaration that he is unfit to handle America's nuclear secrets because of "defects of character . . . and dangerous associations."

The commission thus closed out late yesterday its role in a long and wordy battle with the 50-year-old physicist who was once one of its most trusted advisers.

What the next act would bring was unclear. Neither Oppenheimer nor his attorneys were saying what steps, if any, they contemplated. One unanswered question would be appeal to President Eisenhower?

The President has declined comment in the case since, on his orders, Oppenheimer's security clearance was suspended last December.

Oppenheimer appealed then, and the AEC set up a special security panel to consider his case. It heard 38 witnesses, including Oppenheimer, and on May 27 voted 2-1 against him.

Oppenheimer, in New York last night after the commission released its decision upholding the board's ruling, had no direct comment on the majority report.

Praises Dr. Smyth

But he voiced confidence in the will of America's scientists to "work faithfully to preserve and strengthen this country." And he praised Dr. Henry D. Smyth, the only commissioner to recommend reinstatement of his security clearance, as having rendered a "fair and considered statement."

The majority report was signed by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and commissioners Eugene M. Zuckert and Joseph Campbell,

Nunan Facing Prison, Fine In Tax Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph D. Nunan Jr., once the nation's top tax collector, has been found guilty of income tax evasion.

A Brooklyn Federal Court jury convicted the former commissioner of internal revenue yesterday on all five counts of an indictment charging him with evading payment of $91,086 for the years 1946 through 1950.

The 55-year-old Nunan faces a possible total sentence of 25 years in jail and a $50,000 fine. He was continued in $1,500 bail pending sentencing July 22.

Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen told the jury of seven women and five men the verdict was "justified by the evidence."

Nunan, an appointee of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, served as the nation's number 1 tax collector from 1944 to 1947, when he resigned to return to the private practice of law.

The indictment charged him with reporting income of $416,144 for 1946-1950, when it actually was $543,396. He thus paid taxes of $200,437, when he should have paid $291,523, the government said.

The defense contended the money on which Nunan was accused of failing to pay taxes was inherited by his wife and was not subject to tax.

Nunan claimed he withdrew his assets of $170,000 from the bank in 1933 and kept the money in a tin box, banking it again in 1940.

Testifying in his own behalf in the trial, Nunan said he became tax collector for the Brooklyn dis-

Freedom For All Asked

Sees Coexistence With Reds Hope of World—Nixon Talk Defended

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the hope of the world lies in peaceful coexistence with the Communists, but declared: "I will not be a party to any agreement that makes anybody a slave."

In a news conference, the President indorsed broadly the concept of a peaceful co-existence—stressed by British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in their talks which closed here yesterday. But Mr. Eisenhower said this approach must not mean appeasement, and it must mean that no nation in the world should be subordinated to an outside power.

Within these bounds, the President said, the hope of the world lies in peaceable co-existence. The nations of the world must find ways of living together, he said.

Vietnam Question

President Eisenhower's remarks were touched off by questions about his talks with Churchill. One raised the possibility of whether the United States, as a result of the talks, might go along with a partition of Vietnam which would leave the northern part in Communist hands.

The President told reporters with emphasis—permitting direct quotation—that "I will not be a party to any agreement that makes anybody a slave and that's all there is to it."

He defended Vice President Nixon when asked about a speech Nixon had made last weekend to the effect that the foreign policy of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson was responsible for the loss of China and Korea and led to the crisis in Indochina.

A reporter said the Democrats didn't like the speech very much and asked whether Mr. Eisenhower had any observations on it.

The President replied that well, first of all, every individual is entitled to his own opinion. Second, he said, he likes and respects his Vice President. Third, he said, he thinks that it is his job to look ahead and not turn back.

To a question whether perhaps newsmen had been wrong in saying the Vice President speaks for the administration, President Eisenhower said that normally he does. But he said he had not, himself, read Nixon's speech and he declared that he wasn't going to be maneuvered into the position of condemning his Vice President.

Shows Up Late

The President walked into the news conference a coupe of minutes behind schedule, dressed in a tan suit and a tan figured tie.

First off, he said he wanted to enlist the help of news media in trying to cut the highway toll over the Fourth of July weekend. He said 400 Americans were killed last year, and he would like to see what newsmen could do about cutting it half, by working at it every day.

Then, on a question and answer basis, the conference roamed over many subjects, including:

Guatemala — President Eisenhower said it would be deceitful if he tried to conceal his pleasure that Communists and their supporters are being tossed out in the Central American republic.

Oppenheimer — The President said that he had no comment on the decision of the Atomic Energy Commission holding that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, one of the fathers of the atom bomb, no longer should handle atomic secrets because of "defects of character" and "dangerous associations".

If Oppenheimer wants to appeal, the President said, he will be heard. But he said in that event he thought the case would be referred to Attorney General Herbert Brownell for consideration.

Farm—The Chief Executive said he believes rigid price supports are damaging to the farmer but said he had no plans for a last minute appeal to the House to junk them. The House is approaching a crucial showdown on the issue of rigid supports versus

Waning June Second Driest; Rainfall Totals .85 of Inch

Normal Precipitation 3.75 Inches for Month—Low Was .07 in 1949—Total for Six Months Only 13.90—Temperatures Normal

June winds up today as the second most arid such month in the history of the 23-year-old U.S. Weather Bureau at Newark Airport, underscoring the record for the first six months of this year, also the second driest.

The weather bureau reported only .85 of an inch of rain has fallen in June so far, including the .04 of an inch measured as a result of a brief shower last night. The normal amount for June is 3.75 inches.

There is a possibility of more brief showers today, but they were not expected to add materially to the totals or to alter the precipitation standings of the month or the half-year.

The driest June on record was that of 1949, its precipitation measuring a scant .07 of an inch. That was a year of severe drought, with the total for all 12 months amounting to 34.06.

The rainfall for the first six months of 1954 has amounted to 13.90 inches as compared with a norm of 21.28 inches. The driest January through June period occurred in 1935 for which 13.38 inches were recorded. That was the most parched year in the history of the bureau, the precipitation aggregating 29.53 inches.

From the standpoint of temperature, June has averaged 71.1 degrees, based on estimates for today. This is close to normal. The weather bureau said the average maximum has been 81.1 degrees, and the average minimum, 61.1 degrees.

In Elizabeth Daily Journal statistics for the month, temperatures in the 90-degree level were recorded seven times, with the highest of 97 occuring on June 21. The lowest reading was 55 degrees on the 17th.

Sun Dies for 76 Seconds in Total Eclipse

Spectacular Show Viewed in Top 3rd of World

By the Associated Press.

The sun died for 76 seconds early today as a spectacular total eclipse swept across the top third of the world from the farmlands of Nebraska to the plains of India.

In what appeared to be a giant struggle for dominance of the heavens, the moon chewed away at the sun for half an hour.

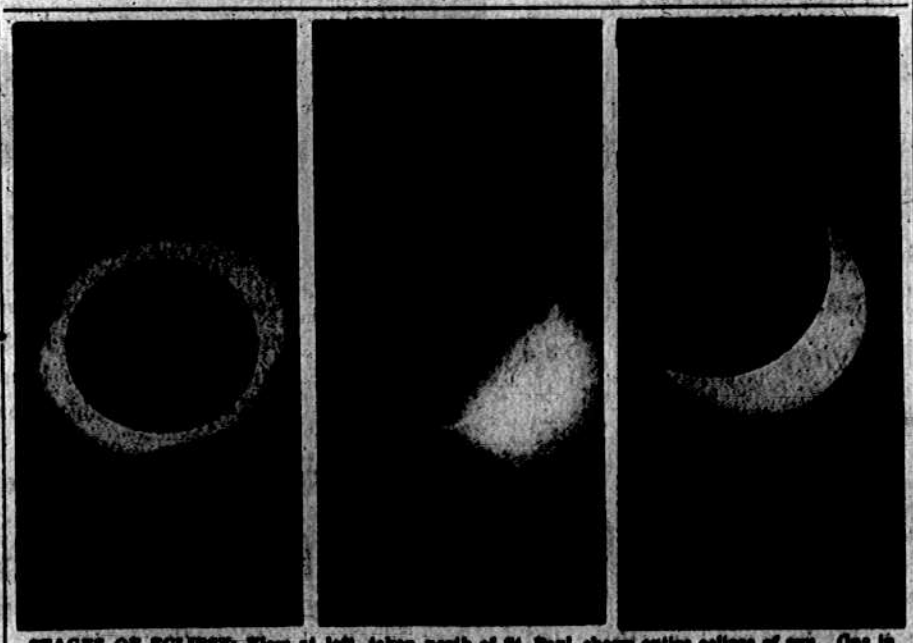

Slowly, the moon kept nipping at the sun that rose one-fourth eclipsed. Within 13 minutes, one half the sun was blacked out as darkness followed dawn.

At 5:07 a.m. Central Standard Time, the moon completely obscured the sun and an eerie darkness fell across a path 70 miles wide.

Light jutted from behind the black moon during totality as the corona or outer halo of the sun spilled out to two extended points like two stems from a giant onion.

Millions watched the celestial spectacle as the sun broke from behind the moon, the first razor-thin crescent of sunlight splash-

Appropriations Bills Approved By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hurrying to beat a midnight deadline, Congress today passed and sent to the White House the final three annual appropriations bills for the new fiscal year starting tomorrow.

The Senate completed action on the measures within an hour after the House had passed them.

The three measures provide funds for the state, justice and commerce departments; the labor and welfare departments; and the judicial and legislative branches of government.

The bills were compromises of different measures passed previously by the House and the Senate.

They make these appropriations: Legislative department, $70,695,754; federal judiciary, $27,501,740; Labor Department and related agencies, $311,784,500; Welfare Department, $1,163,413,761; State Department, $114,110,000; Justice Department, $176,864,500; Commerce Department, $837,022,000; U.S. information agency, $77,114,000.

The total of $3,278,506,255 in the bills cleared today is approximately $100,000,000 less than President Eisenhower requested last January.

Parkway Plans Parking Lots

TRENTON (AP)—The New Jersey Highway Authority said yesterday it may open large parking lots along the Garden State Parkway if the superhighway floods shore communities with cars they cannot handle.

Orre De Nooyer, chairman of the highway authority, said at a field meeting of the authority they are worried about where communities along the shore will put cars when the parkway opens from Irvington to Absecon around Aug. 1.

De Nooyer said the authority is considering placing a display advertisment in newspapers inviting private enterprise to set up the parking lots just off the parkway and connected to beaches by shuttle bus service.

But, he said, if private enterprise or local authorities are unable to do the job, the authority may do it.

The parkway is now open from Irvington to Woodbridge and for four miles north of Toms River.

GOP Senators Map Strategy On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Republican Senators were called to a hastily-summoned conference today to hammer out a party policy on a GOP-inspired income tax cut plan to counter a Democratic tax-slashing drive.

The conference could have a far-reaching effect on the administration's big $1,477,000,000 tax reform bill now before the Senate. Preliminary voting on the measure was scheduled later today.

Exemption Increase

The Democratic plan, led by veteran Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), would cut everybody's income taxes by boosting the present $600 personal exemption to $700 beginning next year. It would cost the treasury an estimated $2,300,000,000 a year.

The more moderate Republican proposal would provide a $20 tax "credit" ($40 for married couples) for persons in the lower tax brackets who pay that much or more a year in income taxes. One of its backers predicted it would amount to $1,000,000,000 in tax relief.

Mushrooming support among Republicans for the last-minute GOP tax cut plan forced the meeting. Some Republican leaders were clearly worried by the "family fight" as well as the politically-potent Democratic proposal.

Republicans Divided

All Republicans were not supporting the tax credit idea. Sen. Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and the GOP Conference, was one of those opposed.

Union County to a similar discussion.

"It is the opinion of this Grand Jury, based on the testimony given before it, that both the Juvenile Court and the police departments of the county are giving this problem the attention it deserves. However, the Grand Jury offers the following suggestions which it feels might be of some assistance not only in Union County, but throughout the state:

Asks Special Training

"1A. That each police department set up a special bureau of at least one member (where none is now in existence) to take over all matters concerning juveniles. It further recommends that these members receive training in the theory and practice of dealing with juveniles.

"1B. It recommends that the training school of the Union County Police Chiefs' Assn. establish such a course for all students in the school and an advanced course for designated members to attend.

"2. It recommends that the Juvenile Court furnish a confidential report of its disposition of each case to the chief of police of the municipality where the case originated and that this report be made available to the member in charge of juvenile matters.

Would 'Localize' Treatment

"3. The present law gives exclusive jurisdiction to the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court in most cases of offenses against the law by juveniles. We believe that much constructive and rebuilding work can be done on local levels and thus avoid official docketing and the stigma of court cases.

"We, therefore, suggest that consideration be given to revising the law so that when a police department has a designated member, or members, to handle juvenile matters, and, when the municipality has a Juvenile Conference Committee, that first offenders charged with minor offenses under the Disorderly Persons Act may, in the discretion of the member of the police department charged with handling juvenile matters and with the consent of the complainant, be referred to, and disposed of by, the Juvenile Conference Committee without court charges or trial, provided that the police department member assigned to juvenile matters is a member of the Juvenile Conference Committee. A report, however, of the findings and steps taken in each such case shall be made to the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court.

'Summary' Punishment

"4. We further recommend that, if the Juvenile Court shall determine that the parents of a juvenile are responsible for the actions of the juvenile by reason of the neglect or indifference of such parents, the court may summarily punish them as for a violation of the Disorderly Persons Act.

"5. We believe that the present juvenile age of 18 should be lowered and recommend to the Legislature and to the State Law Enforcement Council that a study be made to determine what the lower age should be.

"We further direct that the county clerk forward copies of this presentment to the governor of New Jersey, the senator and Assembly delegation from Union County, the State Law Enforcement Council, the Juvenile Court judge, the chief of police and mayor of each municipality in Union County, the director of the school maintained by the Union County Police Chiefs' Assn., the chief of the Union County Park Commission Police and the Union County Park Commission, the Union County Grand Jurors' Assn. and the press."

60-Foot Torrent Hits Laredo; Hundreds Dead in Mexico

Rio Grande Flood Wrecks Bridges, Surrounds Texas City of 60,000—Towns Across Border in Bad Shape—Water Covers Two-Story Houses

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — This border city fought for its life today in the greatest Rio Grande flood in history while 85 miles up the river tremendous loss of life was feared at Piedras Negras, Mexico.

(According to a United Press dispatch, a National Guard officer said today the flood has killed from 200 to 500 persons at Piedras Negras, Mexico.)

Nearly 100 miles north of the river, at Ozona, Tex., 16 persons were dead and one was missing in a flash flood like several Sunday which sent the Rio Grande rampaging out of its banks.

The madly rushing waters—which rose at a rate of three feet per hour—snatched at the lives and possessions of some 163,000 persons in four cities yesterday. But last night, police at Eagle Pass across from Piedras Negras said the river there was back in its banks.

Dead in Hundreds

Of the possible loss of life at Piedras Negras, a state highway patrolman indicated it might reach into the hundreds.

"I'm sure there were a lot of lives lost," the patrolman said. "They are in awful bad shape over there. Water went over the roofs of two-story houses."

As the river returned to its banks at Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras, the big fight centered at Laredo and Nuevo Laredo.

Over 60 Feet

At 6 a.m. Associated Press reporter Dave Cheavens, on the scene, reported that the river had reached a level of 60.49 feet and was rising.

Cheavens said two spans of the steel railroad bridge connecting Laredo and Nuevo Laredo had washed away, the first at 2:30 a.m. and the second an hour later.

Laredo, a city of nearly 60,000 people, was virtually surrounded by water, Cheavens said. The river, he said, made a serpentine sweep around the outskirts. He added that all that could be seen of the highway bridge between the United States and Mexico was the customs house. A report said the bridge still was intact although under about 18 feet of water.

little involved. Here is how it works:

1. The previous state school aid formulas are repealed and the new formula takes effect immediately.

2. Those school districts which do not stand to gain under the new formula will receive the same amount alloted to them under the old formulae from the 30 million dollars going to school aid in Meyner's 1954-55 budget.

3. Those school districts which stand to gain under the new formula will receive a quarter of their respective increases between now and July 1, 1955. The extra money will be distributed at periods during the year.

The tax bills Meyner signed raised the state's parimutuel "takeout" at three tracks from 12 to 13 per cent and increase the levy on corporate net worth from 8 to 2 mills.

The governor said he did not want to sign the gasoline tax raise until the day's business is over so that the law would go into effect with the beginning of the month, simplifying accounting procedures.

Queens, N.Y., was sentenced Friday to serve two to three years for larceny of a motor vehicle. Deputies Stanley Leonard and Alfred Greenberg also were in the car.

Application for a new trial for the Wise brothers and Stokes, who were convicted last Thursday, will be submitted to County Judge Milton A. Feller July 6, counsel for the trio indicated yesterday.

ing an astounding amount of light on the path of totality.

Within 56 minutes after totality, the phenomenon that will not be seen for another five generations in many areas was over and the sun was again the undisputed sovereign of the skies.

The shadow of the moon passing between the earth and the sun spread the trail of darkness from northeastern Nebraska across parts of South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

In other parts of the nation a partial eclipse was visible where weather conditions were favorable.

After the giant shadow leaped across Lake Superior, it spread across parts of Canada, Greenland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Russia, the Middle East, Pakistan and into India.

It took the massive path of gloom only about three hours to cover the 8,000 miles from Nebraska to India.

Weather conditions were ideal for observing the eclipse along the first part of the path of totality.

In northern Ontario, however, where many Canadian scientists had clustered at the little village of Mattice, a low overcast hid the spectacle. Astronomers who had spent the night adjusting their instruments stood by helplessly as clouds obstructed their view.

TRUMAN ENJOYS ECLIPSE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Harry Truman, recovering from a major operation, saw this morning's eclipse of the sun.

Truman's night nurse at Research Hospital here said her patient asked to see the eclipse and she pulled his bed over to a window.

"He enjoyed it very much," she said.

Truman underwent an operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix June 20.

the flexible system Eisenhower wants.

Politics—To a question as to what he thinks of Republican chances in November, Mr. Eisenhower said he has believed from the start that the American people want a well-thought out comprehensive program for handling foreign and domestic policy and that such a program has been laid before Congress. He said he thought much of it would be approved—enough so that it will be favorably considered by the voters.

No Specific Agreement

H-bomb—No specific agreements were reached in the conferences with Churchill on use and control of the hydrogen bomb. The President said there is nothing further to report along this line.

Korean Peace Prospects—At the moment, there is little change in the situation.

Big Three Conference—Again, the President expressed a willingness to do anything in the world for peace if there is evidence the other side is sincere. He said there was no specific understanding with Churchill regarding a possible meeting which also would include Soviet Premier Malenkov.

AEC Power—The President said the reason he directed the Atomic Energy Commission to go ahead with a private power development at West Memphis, Ark., was to provide time to take a good look at the TVA program, and try to find out what should be done from here on.

President Eisenhower said TVA projects now have moved out to the periphery of the TVA area and he knows of no way that TVA can be limited in boundaries, so the only thing he wants to do is to take a good look at it from every angle.

Southeast Asia—while it would take an hour to provide the full picture, one thing that makes conditions in the Far East appear more encouraging is that some of the concern over British-American differences now has been dispelled.

Center St. Man Sentenced To 3 Years in Prison

HACKENSACK — Osceola Brown, 27, of 317 Center St., was sentenced yesterday by Bergen County Judge Herman Vanderwart to three to five years in State Prison on a tavern holdup conviction.

Brown was accused of having taken $400 worth of liquor from Sweet's Tavern, North Arlington, on Dec. 30, 1952.

3 Steel Firms Set To Sign Union Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers had pen and ink ready today for basic steel producers to follow the lead of U. S. Steel Corp., and sign contracts giving 600,000 men a 5-cent an hour pay boost, higher pensions and improved insurance programs.

U. S. Steel, employing 190,000 USW dues-payers and usually the contract pace setter, was first to sign yesterday.

A few hours later, the second largest producer, Bethlehem Steel Co., said it would sign for its 80,000 employes in New York today. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., the fourth largest producer with about 25,000 USW employes, signed the same agreement.

A spokesman for the big union headed by David J. McDonald said all other basic steel producers with which the union has contracts expiring at midnight tonight are expected to be in the fold soon.

Average hourly rates under the new U.S. Steel contract, which runs for two years, will be from $2.19 to $2.29. The 5-cent hike becomes effective tomorrow.

The insurance and pension benefits take effect next Nov. 1. The insurance program will be frozen at its new level two years and the pension plan for three years.

Big steel explained its pension setup this way:

It now pays a minimum pension of $100 a month to employes with 25 years service. This includes Federal Social Security. Under the new plan, an employe rejiring at 65 with 30 years of service will get a minimum pension of $140 monthly, including Social Security. And the agreement calls for big steel to keep the present differential if Social Security benefits are boosted.

U.S. Steel workers and the corporation each will pay an additional two cents an hour for the improved insurance program.

McDonald estimated the total contract cost to big steel at about 12 cents an hour. The company didn't comment.

Guatemala

Armas was ready to discuss truce terms but insisted on assurance that the anti-Communist drive would continue.)

The Vatican's nuncio to Guatemalo, Msgr. Gennaro Gerolino, agreed to be the third party at the armistice conference.

Though no formal cease-fire had been proclaimed from either side, all fighting was believed to have halted. Latest information in the capital said the rebels held the state of Zacapa and Chiquimala, as well as Puerto Barrios, the country's chief port on the Caribbean.

It was generally conceded that the Army's resistance to Castillo's forces had collapsed.

U.S. Ambassador John Peurifoy who played a major advisory role in the rapid government shifts, described the outcome as "our first victory" against Communism in the western hemisphere.

Sleepless and haggard after the long conferences, he told newsmen last night he was "greatly encouraged by the present government in its determination to eliminate Communism."

Embassy Bulges

The Mexican Embassy bulged with leftist and Communist refugees, just as El Salvador's diplomatic home here had been crammed with fugitives from Arbenz' government before the Army forced him to resign Sunday night. Other Reds and former government officials holed up in the Argentine embassy.

U.S. embassy sources said that along with Arbenz, those in the Mexican compound included former Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello, former Interior Minister Charnaud MacDonald, and such top Communists as Jose Manuel Fortuny, Victor Manuel Gutierrez and Julio Estrado.

Oppenheimer

both of whom appended statements of their own.

Commissioner Thomas E. Murray, agreeing with them that Oppenheimer should be denied access to secrets, wrote a separate opinion which said: "Dr. Oppenheimer was disloyal" in the sense that he disregarded security regulations.

But Mr. Smyth, a Princeton scientist who worked with Oppenheimer in wartime development of the atomic bomb, strenuously disagreed with his four colleagues.

"He is completely loyal," wrote Smyth, "and I do not believe he is a security risk."

In Congress, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he sees no reason to challenge the commission's decision. He said there had been no request for any move by the committee, which keeps tabs on commission activities.

Oppenheimer, now director of a private research group called the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., winds up his career as an AEC consultant today, with expiration of his contract.

The security board which weighed his case last spring heard a half-million words of testimony and ruled Oppenheimer was loyal but a security risk.

Loyalty Not Issue

The commission's majority report said the 992-page transcript of this board's hearings together with its other documents, plus military intelligence and FBI reports, indicated Oppenheimer no longer merits the government's confidence.

The question of his loyalty, it said, was not at issue. As the commission majority saw it, the issue was whether it was in the interest of national security to let Oppenheimer see "some of the most vital secrets in the possession of the United States."

Loyalty is only one of the criteria, it said, for deciding under the 1946 Atomic Energy Act who may handle atomic secrets.

"Substantial defects of character and imprudent and dangerous associations, particularly with known subversives who place the interests of foreign powers above those of the United States, are also reasons for disqualification," said the report, and it added:

". . . We find Dr. Oppenheimer is not entitled to the continued confidence of the government and of this commission because of the proof of fundamental defects in his 'character' . . .

"We find that his associations with persons known to him to be Communists have extended far beyond the tolerable limits of prudence and self-restraint which are to be expected of one holding the high positions that the government has continuously entrusted to him since 1942."

To this, Dr. Smyth dissented: "I can not accept this conclusion or the fear behind it."

Hoffman Probe Waits Data On Hotel Parley

TRENTON (U.P.)—A bank president was expected to give her version today of a secret hotel meeting that resulted in disclosure of former Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's post-mortem confession to a $300,000 bank embezzlement.

Attorney General Grover C. Richman said he awaited a sworn affidavit from Mrs. Mary G. Roebling, president of the Trenton Trust Co., who participated in the June 10 meeting in the Hotel Hildebrecnt, two blocks from the statehouse.

At the same time, Richman prepared to release a statement from another banker, George A. Kress, treasurer of the South Amboy Trust Co., which Hoffman headed. Kress, who saw Hoffman's after-death letter admitting he swindled his own bank, was expected to shed some light on Hoffman's charge that he was blackmailed by a state official who threatened to expose him. Kress was believed to have seen the bombshell letter the night of June 10.

May Clear Conflict

Mrs. Roebling's affidavit was designed to clear up apparent conflicts over a $150,000 deposit in her bank as described in a similar affidavit released yesterday. The earlier affidavit was sworn to by William S. Conklin, secretary to the Employment Security Division which Hoffman headed almost up to his death June 4.

J. Connor French, general counsel of Trenton Trust, who also attended the hotel meeting, described Conklin's affidavit as "entirely wrong" in certain instances.

Conklin quoted French as saying Trenton's Trust's board of directors had discussed a $150,000 deposit it had with Hoffman's South Amboy bank and that it was decided to make a withdrawal the day after the hotel conference.

"Mr. Conklin is entirely wrong," French said. "Our board of directors did not talk about that account at all."

French said when he first heard of the deposit he ruled that there would be no withdrawal "and we would preserve the status quo."

Claims Bank Profited

The $150,000 was deposited last year by Trenton Trust in Hoffman's bank and did not bear interest. Gov. Robert B. Meyner has charged that Hoffman, as employment security chief, had improperly kept a non-interest-bearing account of nearly $3,000,000 in state disability benefit funds in Trenton Trust. Richman has said Trenton Trust cleared a $300,000 profit on this account.

Others attending the hotel conference included Harry Green, Hoffman's lawyer, and Mrs. Ada Leonard, the former governor's daughter who later gave an affidavit-version of her father's letter to Richman after burning the original. Green was retained by Hoffman after Meyner suspended him as employment security director for alleged "irregularities" last March.

BRUGGER—In sad and loving memory of a dear father, father-in-law, and grandfather, William Brugger, who passed away June 30, 1953.
The call was sudden
The shock severe,
We never thought your time so near.
You live with us in memory still
Not lost today, but always will,
You bid none the last farewell
You said good-by to none.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
There has been a lonely heartache, often silent tears,
To the beautiful memory of the one we loved so dear.
CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

BRUGGER—In sad and loving memory of a beloved husband, William Brugger, entered into God's Kingdom, June 30, 1953.
(God's Greatest gift returned to God)
June brings sad memories
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received
That day we still remember well
The dearest one the world could hold
The cherriest smile and a heart of gold,
Those who knew him ought to know
How much we lost one year ago.
LOVING WIFE, KATHRYN.

FORRESTER—In sad and loving memory of Daniel Forrester, who passed away June 30, 1949

Pleasant in Most of U. S.
By the Associated Press.

Pleasant weather appeared the outlook in most of the country today as current heat waves in many areas were broken.

Thunderstorms rumbled across sections in the central part of the nation last night, with strong winds and heavy rains in many cities. The storms broke the stifling heat.

In the southeast, cooling air from the Atlantic and from the Gulf brought at least temporary relief from the stifling hot weather.

The stormy weather extended over the central part of the country from Southwestern Texas to the Canadian border and from the Rockies to the Great Lakes region. Early today a belt of thundershowers extended over West Central Illinois westward across Northern Missouri, Kansas and the Eastern slope of the Rockies in Colorado. A smaller band of showers was reported in Southeastern Michigan and near Lake Erie in Northern Ohio.

The cool air moved eastward and southward from the Rockies but daytime temperatures were in the 90s in the Central States. It was 100 in Kansas City and 101 in Little Rock, Ark., while Chicago, before arrival of gusty winds and rain, sweltered in 97-degree heat. It was the 15th day in June temperatures had reached 90 or higher, a record for the month.

Skies were clear in most of the country early today, favorable for the eclipse of the sun. Early morning conditions: New York 64 and cloudy; Washington 67 and clear; Miami 78 and clear; Seattle 57 and partly cloudy; San Francisco 58 and cloudy; Los Angeles 64 and cloudy; Salt Lake City 73 and partly cloudy; Dallas 79 and clear; Oklahoma City 73 and clear; Minneapolis 63 and clear; St. Louis 71 and partly cloudy; Detroit 73 and showers; Chicago 71 and clear.

NEW YORK

By JOHN CAMERON SWAYZE

PARIS, France — There are two clocks in Paris that have caught my fancy. One is the huge timepiece high on the wall above the waiting room at Le Bourget Airfield. It is ringed with the names of cities of the world and New York needn't think it is such-a-much. The only U.S. town inscribed there is Washington. One of the names completely stopped me—Tananarive. I found out later. It's the capital of Madagascar, which I suppose you knew all along.

Swayze

The other clock is the one in the tiny bar at Ludwig Bemelmans' Hotel at 4 Rue de la Colombe, which is behind Notre Dame and a street that few Paris taxi drivers can find without help from a gendarme. The building which Bemelmans is gradually turning into a hostelry of 12 rooms dates to 1225, by the way, and, I should say, looks practically every year of its age. Some say he will make a fortune there. I don't know, it all depends on whether the spot becomes such a fad he can boost the tariffs sky-high and still draw. As for the clock, there's nothing unusual about it except that it will run only upside down. I was cynical and doubted it so the barman climbed on a chair, unhooked the large affair and turned it right side up. The clock stopped. So there it hangs in reverse and you can figure out the time any way you like, including standing on your head if the whim strikes you. At Bemelmans', chances are no one would bat an eye.

French women of quality seldom smoke on the streets in Paris, in contrast to the practice at home, and ladyfolk from the U. S. commit a faux pas when they fail to follow local customs . . . An incongruous note pops up now and again. Hard by Maxim's, a landmark that is sheer Paris, is an American style Snack Bar . . . And then there is the Hotel Florida with a legend over the telephone, "The Land of Sunshipe." On the Boulevard Malesherbes, just a hop from the Place de l'Opera, I had hardly expected this.

Harry's New York bar, in the Rue Daunou, carries on after all these years with its own special flavor, the old paneled walls festooned with pennants of American colleges and framed clippings from U. S. gazettes. Harry McElhone, who still runs it, is not an American but a Scotsman, who once worked at the Hotel Plaza in New York and who bought the cafe 30 years ago from the famed jockey, Ted Sloan. Sloan had taken it over from the founder, an American woman, who started the business in 1911. At certain seasons I'm told the most familiar sound in the place comes from around the basement piano—college anthems known at home from coast-to-coast.

Prominently displayed over an appropriate container is a large sign, "Chiens Chauds a Tout Heure," which translates roughly, "Hot Dogs at any Hour." And, for those who don't savvy, another placard, "Try Our Red Hots."

I'm an old hot dog man, but I shunned temptation. In France I'll eat snails with abandon. But when it comes to hot dogs in a Paris cafe run by a Scotsman, I simply don't have the nerve.

What's Your Answer

The New Jersey Weekly Child Safety Quiz

 The question below was asked of 30,000 New Jersey parents recently in a study of parental attitudes toward situations which may prove hazardous to children.*

The study was the joint effort of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, the New Jersey State Safety Council, the New Jersey State Department of Health, and the National Safety Council.

It is endorsed by the Medical Society of New Jersey and the New Jersey Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

There is frequently more than one solution to a given situation. Check what you think would be most likely answer and compare your answer with the one given below.

A BUTTON PROBLEM

Mrs. Cole is sewing a dress. Eighteen-months-old Jimmy is playing around and sees her open a box with bright colored buttons, of all sizes, some plastic, some metal. He wants to play with the buttons. What should she do?

1. [ ] Hide the buttons and put off sewing them on until the child is asleep.
2. [ ] Run a loop of string through some of the buttons, tie it and give it to him to play with.
3. [ ] Give him the buttons to play with as long as he stays in the same room with her.
4. [ ] Give him only the plastic buttons to play with, the idea being that they are safe if he puts them into his mouth.

Dr. Renee Zindwer, chief of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health of the New Jersey State Department of Health, who prepared the questions in consultation with the Professional Examination Service of the American Public Health Association, advises as follows with reference to the situation:

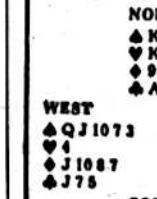

Little children are apt to put small loose objects in the mouth or ear or nose and possibly might choke on them. For this reason Mrs. Cole should act according to solution number 2. Solution number 1 obviously would be quite impractical from her point of view. Answers 3 and 4 would let Jimmy play with loose buttons and Mrs. Cole's being in the same room does not assure that the child might not quickly put a button in the ear, mouth or nose.

Declarer Fails The Hard Way

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service.

Jacoby

Probably most players would lose today's slam in a very simple and uncomplicated manner. The "normal" line of play is to ruff the first spade, draw four rounds of trumps, and then confidently lead out the ace of diamonds. When the diamonds fail to break, South is down two.

When the hand was actually played, the declarer was good enough to find a complicated way to go down. South ruffed the opening spade, led a trump to the jack, and returned a low diamond toward his hand.

This was a fine idea so far. If East ruffed, South would play a low diamond. He would then be able to ruff a spade continuation, draw the trumps, and run all of the diamonds without fear.

East saw the danger, and discarded a spade instead of ruffing. South won with the ace of diamonds and led another trump to dummy's king in order to lead a second diamond towards his hand. East discarded a club, and South won with the king of diamonds.

Having gone thus far with his plan, South naturally had to continue. He led a club to dummy's king and led dummy's last diamond. East again discarded, and South won with the queen of diamonds. When South now led a low diamond and ruffed with dummy's six, East rose to the occasion by refusing to overruff.

Declarer was in the dummy and couldn't get out. In order to return to his own hand, South had to ruff a black card. This left him with only one trump to East's two trumps. There was then no way to make the slam.

Opening lead—♠Q

South was on the right track, but he made one slight slip. It was correct to lead a trump to dummy at the second trick in order to return a diamond. It was not correct to lead a second trump to dummy.

After winning the first diamond with the ace, South should lead a club to dummy in order to lead a second diamond. East discards, and South wins with the king. South leads another club to dummy and leads a third diamond to his queen.

If East still refuses to ruff, South can now lead a small diamond, ruffing with dummy's king. Dummy's low trump can be led and South clears up the trumps, making all 13 tricks.

Veteran to Be Entombed In Cement for Burial

ONARGA, Ill (AP)—A war veteran's body will be buried Thursday in a slanting tomb and packed with cement but no one in Onarga knows why.

Frank Grove, 69, a soldier in the war with Span, the Mexican border expedition and World War I, died yesterday in a soldiers home in Washington.

A decade ago he built a tomb standing at a 45-degree angle. He often showed the tomb with pride to his friends but none of the elderly Onarga residents recalls why Grove built it on an angle.

Elmer Natterstad, Onarga mortician, said he has been instructed to remove the body from the casket, wrap it up in canvas and encase the body in fresh cement. He said he will carry out the instructions.

The tomb has this inscription: "He was well born and is sealed in cement beneath."

Carrier Catapult Change Ordered

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy will modify the plane-launching catapults on all but two aircraft carriers as a result of the May 26 explosion aboard the carrier Bennington. The disaster cost more than 100 lives.

A Navy official said yesterday all carriers affected by the modification plan have catapults operated on a hydraulic principle, except the Intrepid and the Hancock, which have steam catapults.

Although no official cause for the Bennington disaster has been announced, the Navy believes the explosion and the fire started in the catapult.

English Appointed Officer of Bank

Appointment of Richard English as assistant secretary of Central Home Trust Co. in charge of the mortgage department was announced today by Nathan R. Leavitt, president. The selection, effective July 12, was made yesterday by the board of directors.

A graduate of Pingry School, he received a bachelor of science degree in commerce and finance from Bucknell University in 1949 and a certificate in real estate from Rutgers University in 1951. He lives at 700 Westminster Ave. with his parents, Frank A. English, a vice president of Central Home, and Mrs. English.

The new officer is a candidate member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers and a member and former director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County. He is a director of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, a member of the Elizabeth Police Reserves, salesman member of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors and president of the Bachelors' Club of Elizabeth.

Guatemala Revolt Puts Squeeze on U. S.

By U.S. SEN. MARGARET CHASE SMITH

WASHINGTON—The civil war in Guatemala has placed our country in a diplomatic squeeze between the concept of non-intervention and non-aggression on the one hand and self-survival, opposition to Communism and enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine on the other.

Since the formation of the United Nations, our country has taken the position that opposition to aggression and enforcement of peace should be exercised through the United Nations rather than directly to any single country. We took that position on the defense of South Korea after it had been invaded by the Communists. And so we went through the motions of first getting United Nations action and approval.

Smith.

All in all, the record of the United Nations on united action against Communist aggression in South Korea was not exactly inspiring. The most that could be said was that the U.N. did not run away from its responsibility, as the League of Nations did years ago on its responsibility to oppose Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia.

Now some argue with considerable logic that the United States must not get involved in Guatemala but, rather, that the action should be through the United Nations.

So the United States is confronted with the question of policy as to which is to prevail in the direct conflict between the Monroe Doctrine and the United Nations. I say that the Monroe Doctrine should prevail. I say that we should not permit the Reds to use the United Nations to keep us from protecting our own security and the security of the Western Hemisphere.

Cancer can be cured if it is caught soon enough and cut out. If not, it ultimately kills the victim. The cancer of communism has now started in the very heart of the Western Hemisphere—in Guatemala in Central America. It can be cut out now without much difficulty. But if it is permitted to remain in Guatemala, it will spread to neighboring countries which, seeing it unchecked in Guatemala, will be afraid to oppose it themselves. If that happens, the lifeline between the United States and South America will have been severed and blocked by the Communists.

The decision is clear. For our own survival, we must uphold and follow the always successful Monroe Doctrine and not permit it to be vetoed by the seldom successful United Nations in the Guatemalan threat.

Reds Chalk Up Victory in Widely Separated Talks

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

The two big conferences just held in Washington and New Delhi seem to have resulted in a diplomatic victory for Communism.

The Washington conference between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Winston Churchill showed that there still are wide differences between the United States and Great Britain.

These differences include immediate policy in Southeast Asia to prevent further Red aggression and the possibility of peaceful co-existence between democracy and world Communism.

Churchill wants to wait a while before he commits Britain to participation in a Southeast Asia security pact. Also, though he has been a consistent and active anti-Communist since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 he cherishes the belief—which he did not always hold — in the possibility of peaceful co-existence. President Eisenhower believes peaceful co-existence is possible only if the Communists unexpectedly become peaceful.

McCann

But the New Delhi conference between Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai disclosed no differences in policy between India and Communist China.

On the contrary, those two leaders of 960,000,000 Asiatic people seem to have been brought closer together—for the present.

Their conference was based on the idea that peaceful co-existence between the Communist and non-Communist worlds is entirely possible.

It was based largely, too, on the idea that Nehru and Chou should constitute a sort of joint voice of Asia in Asiatic affairs.

The Nehru-Chou conference is likely to strengthen "neutralism" in East Asia and make it more difficult to get the cooperation of some East Asiatic countries in any pact against Red aggression.

As regards co-existence, incidentally, some of the statements made on that issue by Churchill, Nehru and Chou might almost have been written by the same man.

Thus the Communists seem to have more reason than people of the free world to be happy over the outcome of the Washington and New Delhi conferences.

But the Red diplomatic victory is likely to be temporary. The differences between the United States and Britain are differences of judgment and timing only, as British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden put it in a speech before he and Churchill left for Washington.

The Anglo-American differences will not last. The beautiful friendship between Nehru and Chou could well be fleeting. With the Chinese Red dragon breathing hotly down the necks of countries all over Southeast Asia, Nehru's part of the co-existence may not be comfortable even though it is peaceful.

Hal Boyle's Column

The Beauty Who Tamed Leo the Lion

NEW YORK (AP)—The marital romance of movie star Laraine Day and Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants baseball club, is a victory of love over dislike at first sight.

The first time Laraine, who looks like the girl every man hopes to wed, met Leo was in one of those velvet skip-rope Manhattan night clubs.

"Everybody crowded around to talk to him as if he were important," she recalled. "I didn't know who he was, but I certainly did dislike him."

Boyle.

The feeling was so strong that two years later, when Laraine saw Leo boarding a plane on which she was a passenger, she hoped he wouldn't sit by her because she dreaded having to talk to him. But Leo sat down and did most of the talking.

"I looked over at him after a while," said Laraine, "and suddenly thought to myself, 'This is the man I'm going to marry.' He didn't know it—but I did."

Soon after they were married.

As a girl Laraine hated baseball so much that she would umpire a game at school to keep from having to play it. But today she watches some 77 baseball games a year.

Laraine, who recently completed a leading role in "The High and the Mighty," has adjusted her film career so as not to let it conflict with the job of being Mrs. Durocher.

She makes a picture a year, acts in four television dramas, serves as a panelist on the TV program, "I've Got a Secret." But she goes to spring training with Leo, attends every home game here, and when the team takes to the road flies out to their California home to be with their children, Chris and Michele.

"Before I married Leo I wanted to win an Academy Award," she said. "Now all I want is for us to win the pennant. My work is secondary."

Laraine has done a wonderful public relations job for her husband's ball club. She is popular with the players and their wives. The sports writers like her, and the wives of the sports writers like her, too, for her pleasant, honest, friendly manner.

"People who meet Leo for the first time are always surprised to find out he isn't a roughneck," she said. "Why, Leo dresses beautifully, and he is always gracious and charming.

Laraine is credited by the sports writers with putting much of the present polish on her rhinestone-in-the-rough. She herself feels the stories of his truculence are exaggerated sports world myths.

With her, gently does it. The best part of the year is the winter period in their new home in Beverly Hills, which has a soda fountain in the den.

Leo loves ice cream," she said. "I serve him a banana split for lunch, and a thick chocolate milk shake in the afternoon. In the evening he likes a variety of sundaes."

Nobody pitches harder for Durocher today than the girl who looked at him in an airplane seven years ago and suddenly realized he was her world.

600 Join in March Imploring Lithuanian Independence

Nearly 600 parishioners of St. Peter and St. Paul's R. C. Church marched in a candlelight procession through the downtown section last night in a plea to Our Lady of Fatima for the restoration of Lithuania's independence.

The procession marked the final phase of a three-day Marian Year demonstration centered on a statue of Our Lady of Fatima which has been at the church since Sunday.

The statue, over 5 feet in height and handcarved from a solid block of oak, was borne by men of the Holy Name Society, who also served as a guard of honor. Rev. Michael G. Kemezis, the pastor, who arranged the celebration, walked immediately in front of the statue, followed by members of all the parish organizations.

March in First, Third Sts.

The line of march was from the church along Ripley Pl. to First St., up First St. to Inslee Pl., thence to Third St. and back to the church. It had been planned to have everyone in the line of march carry candles, but because of threatening weather only the altar boys, Girl Scouts and young women of the Sodality carried them.

During the procession, the choir, directed by Joseph Zilevicius, sang traditional Lithuanian hymns in honor of the Virgin Mary. The church bells tolled from the time the parishioners left the church until they returned.

The evening program began with solemn vespers celebrated by Rev. Joseph Aleksiunas, pastor of Our Lady Queen of Angels Church, Brooklyn. Rev. Dominic Pocus of Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Harrison, was deacon and Rev. Vincent Svirnelis of Livingston was subdeacon.

Rev. John A. Starkus of Bayonne, former parish administrator, preached the sermon, in which he declared that peace will come to the world only when men accept Christ's teachings.

Other Clerics Participate

Following the procession, Rev. Joseph Pragulbickas, parish assistant, led recitation of the Rosary. Clergymen participating in the services and procession included Rt. Rev. Ignas Kelmelis of Holy Trinity Church, Newark; Very Rev. Juvenalis Liauba, O.F.M., provincial of the Lithuanian Franciscan Fathers, Brooklyn; Rev. Walter Ziuraitis, O.P., of Metuchen, and Rev. Petras Totoraitis of Newark.

Serving as cross bearers were Peter Zemeikis, Albert Matulis and Raymond Thompson, students at Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington.

More than 200 parishioners signed pledges to join the Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima, a movement founded by Rev. Harold V. Colgan of Plainfield, formerly of Elizabeth.

Well Water Sign Cuts Pressure Of Criticism for Park Man

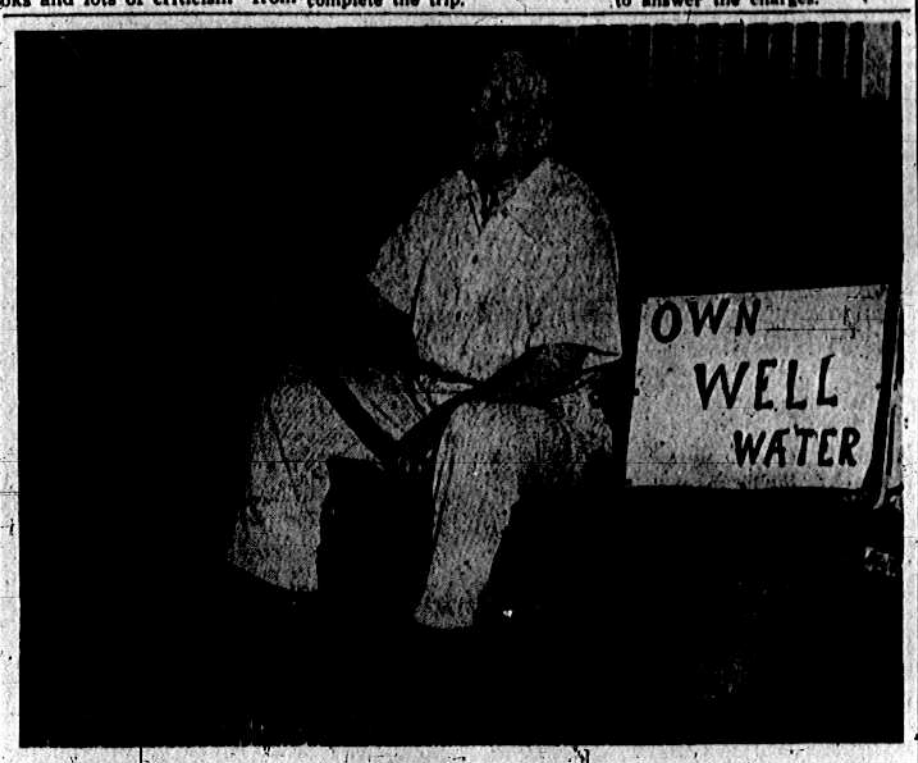

ROSELLE PARK — Water shortages and restrictions on lawn sprinkling and car washing which plague most residents are of no concern to Harvey J. Lichtenwalner of 20 E. Clay Ave. He merrily waters his lawn when he thinks it needs it, despite what he terms "mean looks and lots of criticism" from passersby.

However, the objections have subsided since he placed a sign on his lawn, "own well water." When Mr. Lichtenwalner purchased his home many years ago it came equipped with a well and attic storage tank.

The tank was subsequently removed to make storage room and the well was left unused until a borough-wide water shortage developed last summer. Mr. Lichtenwalner then tapped the well and installed an electric driven pump and compressor. That is the equipment which now waters his lawn to the envy of his neighbors whose grass is burned and brown and to the consternation and criticism of those who believe he uses scarce "city" water.

Mr. Lichtenwalner isn't worried about future, more severe water shortages. Yesterday he received a report of an analysis of his well water from a chemical laboratory which pronounced it pure to a high degree. He believes the well, about 50 feet deep and filled with water, is about 75 years old.

Mr. Lichtenwalner conducted a plumbing contracting business here from 1912 until his retirement three years ago. His hobby is Bible study which he pursues in a special basement study, part of which covers his well. It is filled with books, including a variety of Bibles of many languages.

NO SHORTAGE HERE:: Harvey J. Lichtenwalner, casually waters his lawn with supply drawn from well on his property at 20 E. Clay Ave., Roselle Park. Sign indicating source of water has helped alleviate earlier objections of others not so fortunate.

Driver's Collapse Reveals Injury

Raiford Box, a 35-year-old Chester, Pa., truck driver, is under treatment today in St. Elizabeth Hospital for a fractured skull discovered after a fainting spell yesterday in Route 1.

The truck operator told police and hospital authorities he suffered head injuries in an accident at Chester on Saturday, but there were no ill effects at the time.

While driving in Route 1 yesterday, he said, he suddenly felt weak. He "blacked out" shortly after pulling his massive rig into a roadhouse parking area on the highway near Garden St., police reported.

X-ray examination at St. Elizabeth spotted the fracture. He was reported in fair condition.

Police contacted the owners of the truck, which was sealed, and they sent a substitute driver to complete the trip.

Former Judge McLean Hailed As Bar Assn. Holds Outing

Retired Jurist Presented With Painting of Hamilton That Will Hang in Boxwood Hall—Trophies Given Golf Tourney Winners

Jurists and lawyers joined in a parting tribute to retired Superior Court Judge Donald H. McLean, played golf and ate at the annual outing of the Union County Bar Assn. yesterday at the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield.

Judge McLean was given an oil portrait of Alexander Hamilton. It will be hung in Boxwood Hall.

The presentation was made by County Judge Edward A. McGrath after Judge Harold W. Borden of Part I of District Court had sketched Judge McLean's career and Superior Court Judge Richard J. Hughes, assignment judge for the county, had extended "the sincere congratulations" of bench and bar.

Awards for Golf.

Golf occupied the afternoon, but was recalled momentarily at the dinner by the announcement that the Walter L. Hetfield III trophy had been won by Richard P. Muscatello and the Ervin S. Fulop trophy by William Walsh.

Eugene J. Kirk was chairman of the outing and dinner committee and Julius Kwalick was master of ceremonies. Joseph J. Mutnick was chairman of the special arrangements committee, but was absent because of the illness of Mrs. Mutnick in a New York Hospital. Harry Weltchek, president of the association, also announced that Judge John E. Barker of District Court is in a hospital in Boston.

Judge McLean, accepting the oil by Maxwell Simpson, said that it will be placed beside others in the Boxwood Hall shrine, which was the scene of the first meeting of Hamilton and George Washington.

Recalls Career

Judge McLean spoke briefly of his experiences from the time he resigned his seat in the Congress to return to the county, first as prosecutor and later as a judge. He pleaded for greater recognition for the judiciary in the matrimonial division, declaring the work often involves general equity and usually is clouded by vindictiveness and viciousness by litigants.

Judge Borden told the diners that Judge McLean had been the "personification of all the virtues required" for the jurist's role.

"This occasion," commented Judge Borden, "is not a farewell, but a welcome home."

His year here as assignment judge has been his happiest on the bench, Judge Hughes remarked in praising "the high professionalism at the bar" that he has encountered here. He also expressed his pleasure in his association with Judge Frank L. Cleary, also sitting here in Superior Court, and the County Court jurists, Judge McGrath and Judge Milton A. Feller.

Leaders Introduced

Among those introduced were Judge Cleary, Assembly Speaker G. Clifford Thomas, Frank Cohn, as a member of the Florida bar; Milton B. Conford, as counsel to the governor; Judge Feller, Judge Nicholas A. Tomasulo, Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte, Mayor Robert L. Sheldon of Roselle Park, Prosecutor H. Russell Morss Jr., Assistant Prosecutor Hyman Isaac, Jacob R. Mantel, Otto E. Adolph, and Richard B. Magner, vice president, and Harrison B. Johnson, secretary of the association.

The committees arranging the outing and special events included Bernard L. Davis, Lester Weiner, Joseph I. Bedell, Anthony D. Rinaldo, Mr. Adolph, Martin B. O'Connor, Donald Bourne, Mr. Magner, Frank J. O'Brien, Norman J. Abrams, George W. Wolin, Aaron Kaufman, John L. McGuire, John B. Stone Jr., George M. Kagan, Mr. Mantel, Donald G. S. Park Boy Hit, Injured by Car

A 7-year-old S. Park St. boy was pronounced in fair condition today at the Elizabeth General Hospital after he was struck by a car last night near his home. The mishap occurred at 7:05 o'clock.

The young victim, Harry Van Liew of 620 S. Park St., suffered a possible fracture of the skull, multiple abrasions of the left hand and arm, superficial lacerations of the right side of the mouth and abrasions of the scalp and both legs.

According to police, the vehicle which struck the boy was driven by Herman Plotkin, 35, of 5 Marmon Ter., West Orange. Mr. Plotkin told Radio Patrolmen Henry Smolen and John Cantrell the youth darted in front of his car at 614 S. Park St.

Mrs. Laura Deihl, 37, of 249 Windsor Way, Hillside, complained of arm injuries after a two-car collision at Catherine and E. Grand Sts. shortly after 8 o'clock last night. Fred Claggett, 38, of 1013 William St., driver of the second car, was given a summons for drunken driving and driving without a license in his possession.

Hours Violations Hit by Barbers

Charges that about a dozen Elizabeth barbers are violating a city ordinance by opening before 9 a.m. were made last night by members of Elizabeth Chapter 752, Associated Master Barbers of America. The chapter meeting was at 1182 Elizabeth Ave., with John A. Signore presiding.

Members agreed to act as "spotters" in the Elizabeth area and to press charges against shop owners who violate the opening and closing hour regulation.

The chapter sent a recommendation to Gov. Robert B. Meyner that Andrew Fohl of Perth Amboy, a state vice president, be appointed for a three-year term to the State Board of Barber Examiners.

Court Upholds $100 Fine Against Appliance Firm

JERSEY CITY (AP)—The conviction of the appliance firm "Two Guys from Harrison" for violating a local ordinance by remaining open on Sundays was upheld yesterday by Superior Court Judge John B. McGeehan.

The firm had been given a suspended sentence of a $100 fine in North Bergen Municipal Court for being open on a Sunday last March.

Fine Here Upheld

DISPOSER UNITS AND SEPTIC TANKS

We've had quite a bit of mail lately from people asking whether or not it's okay to install one of these kitchen sink disposal units into a sewage system that is run to a cesspool or septic tank. Today we hope to answer this question.

As far as a cesspool goes, almost anything is bad for them because a cesspool is nothing more than a big hole in the ground and eventually it either fills up or the ground around it becames so saturated with water that it can't absorb a drop more. In any event you end up with what in the trade is called "a flooded cesspool" and the only cure is to dig a new one.

A septic tank is, of course, much better than a cesspool and also more sensitive. It contains a lot of bacteria and these little fellows spend their time trying to reduce as much of the solid waste into a liquid as they can. Of course, they can't take care of all the solids but they do pretty well as a rule. If the tank is large enough it can handle the disposal unit without batting an eye. If it's too small to begin with you will probably have trouble but you are probably going to have trouble anyway so it doesn't make much difference. If the tank is normal and you connect in a disposal unit things will probably be fine but you will have to have the tank cleaned out at more frequent intervals than you did before the unit went into operation. What happens here is that the increase in both solids and liquids puts quite a strain on the bacteria and as the tank is limited in size they start falling behind on the job. Eventually the solids or sludge as it is called builds up to such a point that it must be removed to allow the tank to operate efficiently.

Three Minutes a Day

By REV. JAMES KELLER, M.M.

THE WRONG ANSWER

In downtown Manhattan, a patrolman who had just gone off duty was making his way home, when he noticed a boy running blindly down the street.

He stopped the youth and inquired where he was going in such a hurry. The boy looked frightened. He replied that he was running to catch the subway. The patrolman's suspicions increased. There was no subway station in that direction.

"Where is the subway?" he asked. At length, the boy had to confess that he didn't know. He looked desperate.

Just then a man came panting down the street. "That's him?" he cried. "That's the one who robbed me of $51." The patrolman took the thief to the nearest police station.

Those who resort to evil pay a high price for the little they gain. Also they seldom have a moment's peace. Only those who are true to God, to themselves and to others know true peace of mind, heart and soul. Christ Himself stressed this when He said:

"The truth shall make you free." (John 8:32).

League Postpones Playoff Game

UNION — The first half playoff game between the Union Little Baseball League's National Division leaders, the Pyro Plastics Braves and the Exchange Club Dodgers, has been postponed from Saturday until 6:15 p.m. July 14, it was announced today. The game will be played at Elastic Stop Nut field.

Albert Bell, league president, said the postponement was made necessary because a large number of the Pyro Plastics players will be out of town or for other reasons will not be able to play this weekend.

Joe Collins, New York Yankee first baseman, and several of his Yankee teammates, who were expected to be on hand for Saturday's game, will probably attend the Little League World Series during the second week in August, Mr. Bell said.

House Vote Set In Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House expected to put its final stamp of approval on the administration's foreign aid program today, trimming only $109,000,000 from the $3,447,608,000 authorization bill.

The House approved most of the program yesterday but waited until today to hold a final vote.

Foreign aid foes still had a chance to press for further cuts, but all moves for big slashes were beaten down yesterday.

Only cuts adopted yesterday were $27,000,000 for development of special non-atomic weapons among the allies and $75,000,000 to finance British aircraft production. The House Foreign Affairs Committee previously cut the President's request by $7,000,000 on economic aid for Europe.

The House also voted disapproval of the British-proposed "Locarno" non-aggression pact for Southeast Asia. Adopted as an amendment to the foreign aid bill was a motion by the committee stating that it is the "sense of Congress" that funds for the Indochina war should be barred for any country which enters a treaty guaranteeing Communist territory in Asia. About a third of the bill is earmarked for Indochina.

The House shouted down a move by Rep. Burr P. Harrison (D-Va) to kill $800,000,000 carried in the bill for the Indochina war.

The bill reflects a shift in emphasis from Europe to Asia in the foreign aid program. It gives 27 per cent of the funds to Europe compared to 40 per cent last year, and gives 50 per cent of the aid to Asia compared to 38 per cent last year.

President Praises Segregation Ban

DALLAS (AP)—President Eisenhower says the recent Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation in public schools reflects social and political maturity.

The President's statement was contained in a message read yesterday at the opening session of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People convention.

"We must have patience without compromise of principle. We must have understanding without disregard for differences of opinion which actually exist," he said.

"We must have continued social progress, calmly but persistently made, so that we may prove without doubt to all the world that our nation and our people are truly dedicated to liberty and justice for all."

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman from New York, told the opening session.

"We are not going to stand idly by while enemies of the democratic process in the person of public officials whose salaries are paid from funds derived from taxes of all the people hold closed-door conferences for the publicly-announced purpose of devising ways and means of evading the court's ruling."

Stock Prices Up On Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Higher prices prevailed in early trading in the stock market today. Turnover was rather light.

Fractional gains predominated in the steels, motors, aircrafts, televisions and electrical equipments. Rails and oils were mixed.

The steel labor settlement had little effect on steel shares. U. S. Steel was up ⅛ and Bethlehem ¼ while Republic and Youngstown traded unchanged.

DuPont, down 6 yesterday, opened today off 1. Mathieson Chemical, which will merge with Olin Industries shortly, gained ⅜. Elsewhere in the chemical group, American Cyanamid, Dow and Union Carbide showed small advances while Allied Chemical, a recent favorite, dropped a point.

United Fruit shares continued to advance on developments in Guatemala, where the company has big banana plantations. The stock was up 1⅛ shortly after the opening.

Other advancing stocks included General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Kennecott, Westinghouse and Atlantic Coast Line. Lower were National Distillers, Sears, Baltimore & Ohio and International Nickel.

Brokers had predicted a higher opening today because the market was advancing on a broad front at the close yesterday. Volume yesterday totaled 2,580,000 and the market edged to a new high since 1929.

Many rail lines opened lower in the bond market. Government issues were steady.

Water Curb Eased To Save Lawns

ROSELLE — Borough officials today eased restrictions on water use issued a week ago.

Borough Clerk Melvine E. Levers, issued a public notice to all residents as follows: "Effective Sunday, July 4, at 9 p.m. and each Sunday thereafter, until further notice, it will be all right to water your lawns and gardens, and the Mayor and Council wish to thank the citizens of Roselle for their cooperation during this emergency."

Mr. Levers said the action was promoted by pleas from numerous residents who requested action to save their lawns from destruction. The pleas were called to the attention of Mayor Francis A. Pitman, who ordered consultation with Plainfield-Union Water Co. officials with the result that the one-night-a-week sprinkling edict was issued.

Hillside Approves Ordinance For Strong Planning Board

HILLSIDE—Township Committee last night at a special meeting by a vote of 4 to 1 adopted two ordinances establishing rules and regulations of the Planning Board and giving it the right to sub-divide property.

The negative vote was cast by Township Committeeman Henry Goldhor, who objected to the two ordinances on the grounds that the final decision should be left in the hands of the Township Committee and not the Planning Board, an appointive body.

Township Committeeman Robert C. Kirkpatrick and Township Committeeman William Gural both pointed out that the rules and regulations provide for an appeal to the Township Committee. They said the State League of Municipalities recommended a strong planning board and pointed out the weaknesses of a board which serves only in advisory capacity.

Mayor Explains Setup

Mayor John M. Malone pointed out that four of the seven members of the board are appointed each year. One is the mayor, another a member of the Township Committee and a third the township engineer. The fourth member is appointed by the committee from the public.

Under the rules and regulations, the Planning Board has the power to approve or disapprove all applications for plot subdivisions. The rules establish types of plans and schedule of fees.

A letter was received from the Public Utilities Commission setting a hearing on a change in Union Township on the Route 48 bus line, at 11 a.m. July 8, in Newark. Miss Adele Braelow, township attorney, was directed to represent the township.

Pipe Repair Ordered

Road Overseer Arthur Riche was directed to repair a water pipe at the municipal garage Central Ave. at the estimated cost of $275. The pipe broke Sunday.

A letter from Police Chief Paul F. Korlesky recommended that a corner at Chestnut Ave. and Ramsey Ave. be cut back. The letter was referred to Township Engineer Henry Kreh.

Donald L. Maitland was appointed as a laborer in the road department at a salary of $2,600.

Township Clerk Howard J. Bloy was directed to notify all department heads that job application forms must be filed in his office and action must be taken by the Township Committee before any person is employed.

Congratulations were sent by the committee to Freeholder and Mrs. George W. Herlich on their 50th wedding anniversary.

High Wire Snaps, Sets Off Fires

ROSELLE PARK—Residents of the Webster Ave.-Walnut St., area and 200 passersby were treated to a pre-Fourth of July pyrotechnics display at 8 o'clock last night when a high tension electric wire fell and burned, scorching a parked automobile.

The display began atop a utility pole, following a short circuit. Sparks were followed by vivid flashes of fire, which became more intense as the insulation burned and the wire came in contact with tree branches and finally a 1947 green sedanette owned by Allister Fraser of 436 Walnut St.

Sgt. Thomas Quinn detailed Radio Patrolmen Thomas Martin and Walter Terbecki to the scene to guard pedestrians and traffic. The police sounded a general alarm of fire and a Public Service emergency crew was summoned. Firemen smothered the fire with chemical foam.

Police said the car was scorched on the side, roof and trunk.

Ice Cream Store Verdict Waited

HILLSIDE — Officials here expect a decision shortly by Judge Richard Hughes of the Law Division of the Superior Court, Union County, on a township suit to block erection of a drive-in ice cream store at 1139 Liberty Ave. The proposed store would be one of the Dairy Queen chain.

Two memoranda from J. Ellsworth Sterner and Joseph Kane, attorneys for the Liberty-Fitzpatrick Corp., applicants, and George Wagner, owner of the property, and one memorandum from Township Attorney Adele Braelow were filed.

Judge Hughes heard the arguments last Monday and Thursday.

The suit was filed by Building Inspector Charles Hanson and Dr. and Mrs. Ira Blumenthal of 1121 Liberty Ave.

In addition to Mr. Wagner and the Liberty-Fitzpatrick Corp., the defendants include the township Zoning Board of Adjustment.

According to the complaint, Mr. Wagner and the Liberty-Fitzpatrick Corp. asked the zoning board for permission to erect the structure after Mr. Hanson refused a building permit.

The zoning board by a vote of 3 to 2 approved the permit. The township claims no application was made to Mr. Hanson.

The township also contends that the action of the zoning board was illegal because the electric power which would be used in the machines is greater than that permitted in a Business A zone.

The suit asked the court to reverse the action of the zoning board and declare it null and void.

Hits Drill Engine, Car Driver Unhurt

HILLSIDE — Lloyd R. Collins, 21, of 83 Davis Ave., Kearny, escaped injuries at 12:56 a.m. today when his car struck a drill engine on the Lehigh Valley Railroad and a pole. His car was wrecked.

According to Collins, police said, he was driving in the eastbound lane of Route 22, when he was cut off by another vehicle, causing him to loose control of his car. The vehicle careened 150 feet across fields beside the highway into a drill engine, bounced off, swung around and collided with the pole.

Police who responded under the direction of Lt. Harry Schuetzle included Patrolmen Arthur Seale, George Shelbourne, Harold Frowery and Joseph Tomczyk.

Thief Uses Old Car Tire To Replace New One

Peter DeNuzio of 229 Spencer St. told police yesterday that someone took a new tire from the left front wheel of his car and replaced it with an old one when the vehicle was parked in the Singer parking lot. The substitution occurred between 4 p.m. Monday and 2 o'clock yesterday morning, he said.

Lehman Urges Rules To End Probe Abuse

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) declared today that abuse of the power to investigate has created public reaction "which may, unless we act quickly and wisely, result in a complete paralysis of the vital investigating power of Congress."

Unless Congress sets up its own rules for fair and impartial investigations, the Supreme Court may do it, Lehman said, adding he hopes the present broad Senate and House authority "is never hedged by rigid judicial restrictions."

Lehman spoke before a Senate Rules subcommittee holding hearings on a variey of proposed rules to govern Congressional investigations.

He said that "abuse of the investigating power by certain committees and certain committee chairmen" has been growing "not only over the past two years but over the past 20 years."

Because of expansion in the scope of investigations, Lehman said, many individual rights have "been grossly violated."

Members of the press have been called before investigating committees in an attempt to intimidate and to smear them," Lehman said. "This is a violation of the freedom of the press.

Lehman proposed that every witness be insured "against unjustified defamation and disgrace" by assuring him the right to tell his side of the story and the right to have an attorney present. Those facing 'adverse evidence" should have the right to cross examine and compel attendance of those making charges, he said.

Use 'Blue Roads,' Motorists Told

William J. Gaffney of Roselle, executive secretary of the New Jersey Petroleum Industries Committee, today recommended the use of "blue roads" by motorists seeking to avoid heavy traffic over the July 4 weekend. He pointed out that these routes, marked in blue on most road maps, are less traveled than those designated with red markings.

Many drivers believe the "blue roads" are poor but they are mistaken, Mr. Gaffney said. Actually, he continued, they are well paved highways that usually are as good as the ones marked in red. For the most part, he went on, they are county roads which are numbered in the 500s for ready identification.

"Start enjoying your weekend when you leave the garage," Mr. Gaffney suggested to holiday motorists. "All it takes is a map and some smart road selecting."

French Retreat Arouses Fear In Viet Nam

HANOI, Indochina (U.P.) — The new premier of Viet Nam, largest of the three Indochinese states, rushed here today to protest French evacuation of rich Nam Dinh province and to investigate reports the French may be preparing to sacrifice Hanoi itself to the Reds.

A government spokesman in Paris denied there is any "secret deal" with the Communists for evacuation of the entire Red River delta by French Union troops.

But in United Nations headquarters in New York, Prince Wan Waithayakon, Thailand's foreign minister said he had been told France is preparing to give up Hanoi and the vital port of Haiphong, through which American supplies have been flowing.

"If they are given up now," he warned, "then Saigon (the southern city which is capital of Indochina) will go too."

The people of Hanoi themselves expressed fears that the withdrawal from Nam Dinh province might mark the beginning of the end of the battle for Indochina.

Viet Namese Premier Ngo Dinh Diem also was known to be gravely concerned and to have come here to insist that there be no further shrinkage of the French defense perimeter in the delta.

French bombers and armored columns were attacking Red troop concentrations today in the crucial south delta from which thousands of refugees were fleeing toward Hanoi to escape Communist encroachment.

B-26's dumped 1,000 and 500 pound bombs on rebel bases near Phu Ly and Ninh Binh. Tanks and mechanized infantry fanned out between Ninh Binh and Phy Niao, 60 miles south of here and clashed with two rebel batallions.

The entire area is honeycombed with Communist soldiers and lies just to the west of abandoned Nam Dinh.

J. H. Stamler Cited By Pharmacists

ASBURY PARK—Joseph H. Stamler of Summit, counsel to the N.J. Pharmaceutical Assn., today became the 10th person in its 84-year history to receive honorary membership in the professional organization.

Action was taken at today's session of the annual convention. It recognizes the Newark attorney's successful appeal from Superior Court Judge Frederic R. Colie's decision in opening the sale of drugs and medicines to general stores. The State Supreme Court last week by a 6 to 1 margin reversed the Colie ruling, the association pointed out in its announcement. Mr. Stamler, who is a native of Elizabeth, also was cited for his endeavors to protect fair trade contracts and his many other services to pharmacy.

Other honorary members of the pharmaceutical association include Dr. Selman A. Waksman of Rutgers University, discoverer of streptomycin, and Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, co-author of the Robinson-Patman bill.

Guard Activates AA Unit Here

A new unit—Battery A, 109th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion—formally became a part of the New Jersey National Guard at ceremonies last night at the Elizabeth Armory.

A nucleus group comprising about 15 men was inspected by Lt. Col. Gustave George of the First Army headquarters at Fort Jay, N.Y., preliminary to mustering in rites. The new guardsmen were sworn in by Lt. Col. Frank Paul of the National Guard headquarters in Sussex Armory, Newark.

A drive now is under way to enlarge the unit to at least 60 members.

The prime function of the outfit will be to staff Elizabeth's anti-aircraft defenses at Drotar Field, where Regular Army men now are on duty. The changeover will be made in a few weeks after the new guardsmen are indoctrinated into routines there. The guard will inherit the Army's equipment.

Capt. Charles E. Washington of East Orange, battery commander, and First Lt. William Moore of Elizabeth, executive officer, took part in the induction program. Also present was Maj. Nicholas Garigliano of Jersey City, battalion commander.

The battery will be composed mainly of part-time members, but 15 men will be engaged full time to give 24-hour coverage at the Drotar Field gun location. Training sessions for part-time guardsmen will be conducted there each Tuesday night.

Prospective members were urged to enlist weekdays at the battalion headquarters in the Sussex Armory or on Tuesday nights at the Elizabeth Armory.

Hearing Arranged On Redeveloping

Preparations for a public hearing to help determine whether the property being considered by the Elizabeth Redevelopment Agency for a slum clearance project is a blighted area were completed last nightby the City Planning Board. It met at City Hall.

The hearing will be at 8 o'clock a week from tonight at the council chamber in City Hall. The area involved is bounded by Rahway Ave., S. Broad St., Pearl St. and the Pennsylvani a Railroad. It is virtually bisected by Washington Ave.

While the proposed redevelopment would be carried out by the agency set up for the purpose, two other municipal bodies—the planning board and the Board of Works—are charged by state law with the responsibility of determining the extent of blight. The planning body's findings are subject to the works board's approval, disapproval of modification.

The planning board last night outlined a procedure to hear all interested parties and to conduct the hearing in orderly fashion. It reviewed applicable legislation and data supplied by the redevelopment agency.

Progress of surveys in the development of the master plan for the guidance of the city's future growth was discussed with Murray Bisgaier, Seymour Stillman and James Collins of Community Housing & Planning Associates, the board's consultants. Commissioner Sylvan Zipper presided. Also present were Commissioners Robert S. Everett, Ralph V. Mancini, Albert S. Kopf and Theodore E. Carlberg.

Council Orders Flags Lowered 30 Days in Kenah Tribute

City Council last night ordered that flags on all public buildings under city control be flown at half staff for a period of 30 days in tribute to the memory of former Mayor John F. Kenah.

The former mayor died Saturday morning at the age of 85. The funeral was held this morning.

In paying respects to the late chief executive, who was a public official for 33 years and mayor for 10, council adopted a resolution offered by Councilman Sidney H. Stone of the 10th Ward and later viewed the bier at the James J. Higgins and Son Mortuary, 414 Westminster Ave.

The resolution was adopted by a standing, silent vote. It recorded "with deep and profound sorrow and regret" the death of the former mayor and noted that in addition to his 10 years as chief executive he served the city as tax assessor in the old Fourth Ward for six years and city clerk for 17.

"Always Friendly"

"Always friendly and affable," the measure said, "he brought to his public service a modest and retiring attitude toward all, a keen and lively understanding of their problems and a burning desire to help and assist those in the most need of help.

"He took office as mayor at a time when the city was just recovering from bankruptcy and as a result of his dogged economy the city once again was brought to the position where its bonds and obligations enjoyed high rating in the financial markets of the country. And yet despite his rugged economy he managed to enlarge and to improve our public school system to such a high degree of perfection that his pledge to provide a seat for every child was fulfilled.

"His unselfish service has left an indelible imprint upon the City of Elizabeth that will be felt for many generations to come.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the City Council does hereby express its sympathy to the members of his immediate family, and be it

"Further resolved, that all flags on public buildings under control and jurisdiction of the City of Elizabeth be flown at half staff for a period of thirty days, and be it

"Further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of City Council and a certified copy thereof be sent to the immediate family."

Bank in Tribute

The board of directors of the National State Bank also has adopted a resolution expressing sorrow on the death of former Mayor Kenah.

The statement follows:

"John F. Kenah became a member of this board Feb. 5, 1923, and served continuously until the day of his death. For many years he was chairman of its examining committee and a member of its loan and discount committee.

"He was a man of the highest integrity, patient, courteous, kind and considerate toward others; a loyal friend with a deep sense of responsibility in exercising the trust and confidence reposed in him by his fellow men.

"He will long be remembered for his good works."

The board entered the resolution in its minutes and will send an engrossed copy to former Mayor Kenah's family with expressions of sympathy.

Merit Held Guide in Choosing Teachers, Then Residence

Teachers and other educational personnel are employed in the school system on the basis of merit, training and experience with preference given Elizabeth residents where these qualifications are approximately equal.

That explanation of standing policy was given by Dr. J. Harry Adams, superintendent of schools, at the Board of Education meeting last night in answer to an inquiry from Dr. Michael W. Spirito, one of the commissioners.

Dr. Spirito commented that he noted many appointments on last night's calendar were not from Elizabeth and asked for information on the situation.

Most Are Residents.

The majority of teachers on the school staff are residents of Elizabeth, Dr. Adams explained, estimating the figure at 65 to 70 per cent of teaching personnel. The teacher supply is such, however, he added, that it is essential to consider applicants throughout the state to maintain the necessary replacements.

One complicating factor, it was pointed out, is the necessity of finding personnel with special qualifications to fill specific vacancies. Teachers of ungraded, industrial arts and kindergarten classes were cited as examples.

Dr. Adams declared that where the primary factors of merit, training and experience are approximately the same "home town people" are appointed. He added that if applications are not on file consideration cannot be given.

Appointments approved last night include: Irma Jozwiak, R.N., graduate of Jersey City State Teachers College with B.S. degree and of Jersey City Medical Center School of Nursing, six years' evaluated experience and substitute service here since last September, to be a school nurse in place of Veronica Wolke, resigned, at $3,667; John L. Huysman, graduate of Newark State Teachers College (M.S. degree), six years' evaluated experience, teacher of ungraded class, $3,700.

Stanley P. Yackiel, graduate of East Stroudsburg (Pa.) State Teachers College (B.S.), four years' evaluated experience, elementary teacher, $3,400; Lawrence A. vonBeidel, graduate of Pratt Institute (B.F.A.) and Teachers College, Columbia University (M.A.), three years' evaluated experience, teacher of art at Marquis de Lafayette Junior High School, $3,400; Patricia A. Coyle, graduate of St. Lawrence University (B.S.), elementary teacher, $3,000.

Shop Teacher Named

Thomas F. McNulty, graduate of Trenton State Teachers College (B.S.), 15 years' evaluated experience, teacher in machine shop, Thomas Jefferson High School, $4,500; Marilyn Lieberman, graduate of Montclair State Teachers College (B.A.), substitute service since September, elementary teacher, $3,300; Walter F. Bock, graduate of Seton Hall University (B.S.), three and one-half years' evaluated experience, teacher of ungraded class, $3,350; Ann Klitzchner, graduate of Newark State Teachers College (B.S.), teacher of art, Battin High School, $3,000, and Barbara Spector, graduate of New York University (M.A.), teacher at Grover Cleveland Junior High School, $3,100.

The seven commissioners present adopted a statement of tribute to the following retiring teachers and other personnel: Miss Fannie M. Bloch, Mrs. Myrtle V. Green, Mrs. Alice B. Leach, Dr. Amanda Loughren, Mrs. Agnes N. Mathews, Mrs. Deborah M. Melamed, Edward R. O'Brien, Merrill P. Paine, Howard O. Schantz, Mrs. Anna S. Seitz, Miss Anna G. Sullivan and Fred H. Wiebesiek. Commissioners absent were Dr. Rocco M. Nittoli and Leo B. Wojcik, who have been ill.

During the meeting, which was called to pay bills and wind up business for the fiscal year, the board also approved purchases and contracts for 1954-55 totaling more than $65,000.

Ordinance OKs Food Sales In Liquor Shops

It was legal today to sell peanuts, pretzels, popcorn and potato chips at liquor stores.

City Council authorized the sale of such products and some others by adopting on second and final readings last night an ordinance to amend regulations governing alcoholic beverage control.

In other revisions of the liquor code, the city's number of package goods stores was limited to 30, the present total, and the rule concerning transfers was altered for licensees who lose their premises through fires or other disasters.

The governing body acted on the revisions after a long conference which preceded the special meeting and after a recess to further discuss the changes. According to several councilmen, the prolonged delays were caused by discussions on the rule limiting transfers to a radius of 1,500 feet.

Comments Lacking

The amendments were introduced June 18 and the public hearin gwas rushed because of their possible effects on 1953-54 licenses, which expire today. The public hearing on the ordinance last night failed to arouse a word of comment.

The provisions affecting the type of merchandise state that the sale of alcoholic beverages is prohibited at any place at which any other mercantile business is carried on except that the licensee may sell other beverages, mixers, popcorn, pretzels, nut products, potato chips; cocktail olives, cherries and onions; cigars and cigarettes.

The limitation on the number of liquor stores to 30 is six below the maximum allowed by state regulations.

The change concerning transfers provides that the Municipal Board of Alcoholic Beverage Control may grant exceptions to the 1,500-foot rule in cases involving destruction of the premises.

Provision Stated

The new regulation says that whenever any licensed place is destroyed by "fire, earthquake, hurricane, or other disaster beyond the control of the licensee and the owner of the same does not rebuild or refuses the lease or rental agreement, the Municipal Board of Alcoholic Beverage Control may, in its discretion, permit an exception" to the 1,500-foot rule.

The code now bans transfers beyond a 1,500 radius from the location of the license.

The amendments were adopted by an 11-0 vote Councilman Edward Bielski was absent and Councilman Michael Lapolla was excused from voting.

After the council action, the ABC agency met and granted renewals of three licenses to complete its work in this respect. One of the renewals was a transfer for the Elizabeth Bowl Inc. The bowl license, lost when the burned-out bowl building at 562 N. Broad St. was reconstructed without provision for new bowling alleys or bar, was shifted to 1172-74 Elizabeth Ave.

Licenses Granted

The other 1954-55 licenses granted, effective tomorrow, were to Leo and Katherine Henry, 900-908 Jackson Ave., and William J. Zwick Inc., trading as Billy's Tavern, 1058-1060 Magnolia Ave.

The latest issuances brought to 262 the number of tavern licenses granted at $500 each, 30 stores at $250 and 18 club licenses at $150. The total yield on renewals was $141,200.

Former Councilman Charles G. Forman presided at the ABC board meeting. Also present were Councilmen John C. Boyle and Thomas A. Ford, the other members of the board.

Foreign Wars Group Chooses Committees

The council of the New Jersey Commandery, Military Order of Foreign Wars, named its nominating and annual dinner committees last night at the Winfield Scott Hotel. Maj. Willis R. Osmun of Elizabeth presided. The dinner will be held in December. The time and place will be decided later.

Americans' Savings Total $3 Billion in 3 Months

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Americans saved $3,300,000,000 in the first three months of this year for a new post-World War II record, the Securities & Exchange Commission reported.

The biggest increase was in holdings of stocks, bonds and other securities. The only decreases were in checking accounts and holdings of cash, and in paying off mortgage debt.

Personal savings in the first quarter of this year showed a normal decline from the last qurter of last year, when savings were $4,700,000,000. Otherwise, 1954's first quarter savings were higher than any quarter in 1953.

Maybank Hits GOP Role In FHA Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-SC) charged today Republicans are trying to "make a Democratic scandal" out of the Senate Banking Committee's probe of swollen profits and other alleged irregularities in government housing programs.

Maybank, senior Democrat on the committee, said the "real money" in "windfall" profits "was made by the Republicans in the east and by some very prominent Republicans." He said he could name names but hoped he would not have to.

The inquiry is aimed at finding evidence of collusion and other illegality in cases where builders and promoters of big apartment house projects pocketed "windfall" profits through the device of overestimating their construction costs in applying for government-insured mortgage loans. Also under study are reported abuses in government insurance of loans for home improvement and repairs.

The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) handled both the apartment construction program, now out of operation, and the home repair program which still is functioning.

Wyatt issued a statement in New York denying the charge.

"No windfall profit was ever contemplated," he said, "I gave no advice as to how to make such a profit and none was actually made. Actually the builder lost money on the project."

Social Security Expansion Plea Made By CIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIO today urged the Senate to go further than the House in expanding Social Security coverage.

Joseph Childs, speaking for the CIO, asked the Senate Finance Committee in prepared testimony to boost the ceiling on earnings taxed to $6,000 a year, instead of the $4,200 voted by the House and the present $3,600. The current tax rate, levied on both workers and employers, is 2 per cent.

Childs, a vice president of the CIO United Rubber Workers, also urged:

2-Point Plea

1. Inclusion of physicians and migrant farm workers in the Social Security system.

2. Enactment of a long-term disability insurance program so pension rights of disabled workers are not frozen until they reach the present minimum age of 65.

These steps were considered but rejected before the House passed an administration-backed bill to broaden Social Security coverage, increase benefits and hike the amount of income subject to the payroll tax.

Childs urged the Senate Committee, how holding hearings on this bill, to ignore what he called a "determined campaign by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce" and other business groups "to undermine the established system of old age and survivors insurance."

"Special Pleaders" Hit

He also asked Senators to "resist special pleadings" by doctors and insurance companies "which arise out of a narrow and misguided interest."
