JERSEY MILITIA READY TO MEET WILSON CALL

SITUATION IS GRAVE

Baker Seeks Congress Permit to Use Militia in Mexico.

REPLY TO CARRANZA

U. S. Note to Contain Refusal to Take Away Troops.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 19.—The Mexican situation looks so dubious to-day that Secretary of State Lansing frankly admitted there is "more excitement and irritation in Mexico than heretofore." The statement was more significant in view of Lansing's persistent refusal for weeks to make any comment except to mention "co-operation" with the de facto government.

The biggest spot developed in the situation to-day was Secretary of War Baker's request to Chairman Hay, of the House Military Committee that Congress authorize putting into operation section 111 of the new military bill. This permits use of the National Guard in the regular military service on foreign soil.

Ten thousand words or more—a strong and forceful refusal to heed Carranza's withdrawal request—will be en route to First Chief Carranza before night. This note may precipitate the trouble that every official fears—an actual clash between Mexican forces and Americans. Announcement that the note would go to-day was made after the Mexican Embassy had delivered a secret note to Lansing, presumably a request that this Government's reply be hastened.

Consul John R. Silliman is en route for the border, leaving the interior of Mexico without any full American consuls in charge. Meanwhile new warnings to Americans to quit the troubled country have gone forward.

Mobilization of militia proceeded throughout the country to-day. No orders dispatching any of these forces to the border had been announced up to noon; many of the men may never see border duty. Making them available, however, is a precaution against trouble—calling Carranza's bluff and perhaps averting war.

War Department officials to-day expressed gratification over reports from railroads of the country as to ability and willingness to aid in the mobilization of militia. These reports would not be made public, but officials declared the railroad problem the least of their difficulties.

Some months ago, officials explained, this transportation question was discussed and plans laid for just such an emergency.

The situation was further complicated to-day when Mexican Ambassador Designate Arredondo presented to Secretary Lansing a request that all American naval commanders in Mexican waters be instructed not to attempt to disembark during this part of the excitement, even if they are unarmed, in order to prevent possible complications.

Meanwhile some officials said the request was unusual and insisted that it undoubtedly was made in good faith by Carranza, and that it is evident he is going to extreme measures to prevent any occurrence that might occasion an outbreak.

Arredondo wired to Carranza Secretary Baker's orders of yesterday calling out the militia. He explained he wanted his First Chief to be sure to get that portion of the explanation which called particular attention to the fact that the militia was for border duty and that the action meant no immediate change in this Government's attitude.

The request regarding naval commanders, it was pointed out, was a result of a clash recently between marines and Mexican soldiers at Mazatlan, the report of which was sent to Arrendondo. This report read:

"Yesterday (June 18) morning some marines in a launch attempted to disembark at the wharf and were requested not to land until the Mexican Government could be consulted with. They then returned to the ship, but a few hours later returned with arms and again attempted to land. While parleying with Mexican officers at the wharf a drunken Japanese nearby, in the excitement of the occasion, fired on two American officers who had landed. The men in the launches, thinking they had been fired on by the Mexicans, opened fire. The Mexican soldiers then arrested the two officers and returned the Americans' fire. Although few shots were fired, two Mexican soldiers and one civilian were wounded."

REFUGEES REACH U. S.

Proclamation in Yucatan Orders Americans to Leave Mexico.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Galveston, Tex., June 18.—The steamer Nils arrived here to-day from Progreso, Mexico, with nine refugees aboard, who reported that all Americans in the State of Yucatan have been ordered out by proclamation of the Mexican Governor. A copy of the proclamation was produced, informing the Americans they must leave because the two countries are in "a state of war."

The refugees say all American gunboat is at Progreso removing Americans and that other refugees are embarking on passenger vessels.

HEED RUSH ORDER FOR GUARD DUTY IN MEXICAN CRISIS

Hospital Corp Members Ready.

ARMORY IS SCENE OF ACTIVITY.

Members of Second Infantry Await Call.

The First Field Hospital Company, with headquarters in this city, will leave to-morrow afternoon or Wednesday morning for Sea Girt, where it will be mobilized with the other units of the First Brigade preparatory to leaving for the Mexican border. This is the only Elizabeth company which has been ordered to the front, although it is believed by many of the officers that the Second Regiment will be called out before the end of the week.

Orders calling out the hospital company were received this morning by the commander, Major Harold D. Corbusier, and he immediately took steps to move his organization. As a result there is unusual activity at the First Battalion armory, where the officers and members of the organization have been assembling and gathering together the equipment. The actual work of loading the equipment will probably be started early to-morrow morning, when the men will again report at headquarters.

Major Corbusier stated to-day that the hospital is in first-class condition, and is ready for active service. It now has thirty-four men and three officers, including the commanding officer, the others being Captain D. A. Kraker and Captain F. A. Roberts. It will be necessary to recruit the organization up to the war strength of sixty-seven men, said Major Corbusier, and he announced that all who desire to recruit for service should do so at once. Officers will be on duty for this purpose to-night and all day to-morrow. When the organization leaves for the mobilization camp an officer will remain here to receive recruits.

Regarding the situation as it affects the infantry organizations, little information could be obtained from Elizabeth officers. Lieutenant-Colonel William B. Martin, of the Second Infantry, was in communication with the Adjutant-General's office this morning, but nothing definite could be learned as to the future course of the infantry. He declared, however, that he believed the entire First Brigade will be called out. This will include the First, Fourth and Fifth Regiments, First Squadron of Cavalry, all of the field artillery, the Signal Corps, the Engineering Corps, the First Field Hospital Company and the Ambulance Company. The cavalry will include Troop D, stationed at Plainfield.

Owing to the call for the National Guard the school of instruction for the officers of the New Jersey National Guard was discontinued, and the Elizabeth officers, including Major Conrad Hall, Captain Harry O. Warren, Lieutenant Charles R. Bohn, Lieutenant-elect Thomas Hall, Lieutenant Grant and Second Lieutenant Dabb returned to this city to-day. Captain Warren stated that the officers were called out at 12.20 o'clock this morning and were ordered by Brigadier-General Hine to return to their home stations.

In speaking o fthe situation Captain Warren stated that nothing definite could be learned at Sea Girt this morning. The orders went to press at 2 o'clock this morning, and will probably be issued late this afternoon. He stated, however, that while the First Brigade wil be caled out according to the general belief among the officers, it is generally felt that the Second and Third Regiments will be ordered out before the end of the week. It is said that the announcement regarding the calling out of the Firts Brigade has aroused no little amount of dissatisfaction among the officers of the other infantry organizations, and it is believed that this will result in the entire five regiments being sent to Sea Girt. It is expected to have the brigade at Sea Girt on Thursday.

The First Battalion of the Second Regiment, Major Hall commanding, is reported as ready to move and the men are anxious for active service. According to Second Lieutenant Frank V. Lowden, the battalion quartermaster and commissary, he could move the organization as soon a sthe men are assembled at the armory.

The organization has all of its equipment, Mr. Lowden declared, and it is in first-class condition. If orders were received this afternoon, he asserted, the battalion could be at Sea Girt to-morrow morning. All the companies in Major Hall's command are recruited up to their maximum peace strength and soe have men on the waiting list.

The situation is being watched with a great deal of interest by Elizabeth officers and guardsmen, all of whom are anxious to get into active service. Captain Harry O. Warren, of Company I, has issued a call for a meeting of the non-commissioned officers of his organization for to-night at the armory, and it is likely that the situation will be discussed.

According to Colonel Martin, the First Frigade has been called because it is a brigade organization. If it would depend on the question of efficiency the Second Regiment would be the first to be ordered out.

AWAITS RESULT OF "ACID TEST"

Wilson to See If Business Men Back Militia Law.

PRESIDENT GRAVE FOLLOWING CALL FOR TROOPS.

By ROBERT J. BENDER.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 19.—President Wilson to-day awaited results of the "acid test" applied to business men of the country in the issuance of orders for National Guard mobilization.

May 30, in Arlington Cemetery, Wilson told 500 veterans of the Civil War that within a month it might be up to the Nation's industrial chiefs to determine whether the new militia law was to receive the support which might be expected from the business men in their enthusiasm for preparedness. It is not likely that President Wilson at that time believed the law would face fire so soon. But it may be said he regards the present situation as a splendid application of the test. He is awaiting results with keenest interest.

As rapidly as the war department received reports to-day from the different militia commanders throughout the country they were forwarded to Wilson.

In the meantime Washington appreciates to-day that a real crisis confronts the President in Mexico. Always a little quick to get excited over international developments due to its proximity to "the works," Washington, strangely enough to-day, is taking the situation calmly.

Last night, following the issuance of militia mobilization orders, official and civilian Washington was aroused as it has not been since the occupation of Vera Cruz. People gathered in clusters under street lamps, in front of store windows and elsewhere to read the story of the militia call. The State, War, and Navy building was ablaze with lights until early to-day.

Throughout the afternoon and early evening the President motored with Mrs. Wilson. He was unusually grave. He took the step he did with great reluctance upon expressed to a number of mined upon expressed to a number of his intimate friends his concern over the sorrow the call would bring into homes of the country.

BACKS GENERAL ON WITHDRAWAL

Funston Checks Criticisms of Retirement at Brownsville.

SAYS BANDIT GANG HAD BEEN SCATTERED.

San Antonio, Tex., June 19.—A disposition to criticise General Parker at Brownsville for withdrawing the American column sent into Mexico Saturday morning was checked to-day by General Funston.

The latter stated that Parker had been instructed to withdraw when he had accomplished the object of the invasion—the dispersal or capture of the bandits—or when he found accomplishment impossible. He said that Parker had accomplished his object.

The withdrawal of the expedition, comprising several hundred men, took place yesterday. Armed men described by Parker as "bandits" fired on the retreating column. A minor rear guard action result, in which one Mexican was killed and two wounded. No American was hit.

Major Anderson, commanding the expedition, was ordered back to the American side after Parker had exchanged notes with Ricaeault Matemoras, commandant, through Mexican Consul Garza. Ricacault informed Parker that unless the expedition, which he regarded as an "invading force," was withdrawn, it would be attacked.

Parker replied that the belligerent attitude of the Mexican commander was the best guarantee for continuation of the expedition's presence in Mexico, and that if attacked, the American troops would stay.

Ricacault's attitude was much milder on receipt of Parker's reply, and he began withdrawing Carranza troops from the route the Americans would traverse on their way out. When this was completed, Parker sent word to Anderson to withdraw.

The withdrawal is regarded by army men here as having the effect of avoiding a clash, but it is believed the precedent will make similar operations along the border more difficult in the future. It is feared, too, that the early termination of the chase would have a stimulating effect on future band raids.

Brigadier-General James Parker, who is in command of the American troops at Brownsville, is a native of Newark, a son of the late Cortlandt Parker and brother of Congressman R. Wayne Parker. He is a graduate of West Point Military Academy, and has seen much important and responsible service in this country and the Philippines.

In 1889 he was awarded a medal by Congress for distinguished gallantry at Vigan, Philippine Islands.

CARRANZAISTAS CALM.

No Known Violence Offered American Citizens in Mexico City.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Mexico City, June 19.—Though completely apprised of the critical situation existing between the United States and Mexico, the Carranzaists here, taking example from the officials, are calm to-day. No violence has been offered any American so far as known.

Some of the newspaper editorials are resentful, of what they regard as warranted violation of Mexican autonomy by the United States, but advise citizens to await the action of the Government.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

(Special to the Journal.)

Bayonne, JJune 19.—Joseph Lampinski, 24 years old, who is said by the local police to have lived in the Bayway section of Elizabeth, died in the City Hospital here last night as the result of injuries sustained early yesterday at the East Twenty-second street Central Railroad station. Lampinski was seen to sit on the northbound express track and it is thought that he fell asleep. He was found by railroad employes with both legs cut off and his skull fractured.

There is no Joseph Lampinski listed in the Elizabeth directory.

FALLS THREE STORIES.

John Degruler, 26 years old, of 111 Insles place, fell three stories from a window at his home yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the General Hospital. His injuries consist of a fracture of the right rib, laceration of the right leg, lacerations of the forehead and the right index finger.

U. S. MOVE STIRS LATIN AMERICA

SYMPATHIES WITH MEXICO IN PRESENT TROUBLE.

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, June 19.—News of the mobilization of the American militia stirred intense interest and developed a wide difference of opinion in South America to-day.

The great mass of the people in South America are bitterly hostile toward the sudden military activity in the United States and look upon the action of President Wilson with distrust. They fear that the United States, despite protestations to the contrary, is planning territorial expansion. They believe that if the United States does not actually propose to extend its boundaries southward, it certainly does propose to attempt a paternal protectorate in South America merely as a disguise for the first step toward aggression.

The general opinion of the public is expressed as follows:

"Americans in Mexico are now harvesting the well deserved result of their long meddling and interference in Mexican affairs. They are reaping the harvest of blood which is the inevitable fruit of their political and financial intrigues. Now these plotters, caught in the net of their own construction, are calling on the Government at Washington to save them even at the cost of a long and terrible war."

That public sentiment is solidly with the Mexicans cannot be doubted.

In official and aristocratic circles there is evidence of a moderately trustful attitude toward President Wilson and a mild semi-belief in the disinterestedness of the United States. The attitude of the aristocracy is summed up in the following comment by a Government official:

"We do not distrust President Wilson, but our people would be pleased with fresh guarantees in stronger terms that there will be no territorial acquisition in the event of actual war between the United States and Mexico."

Intervention and war are considered the same thing and the situation is causing open anxiety. The failure of the A. B. C. conferences at Niagara Falls is recalled with but slightly concealed doubt of whole-hearted co-operation of the United States with the Governments of South America.

South American Governments undoubtedly will expect a new declaration of purposes from President Wilson in the event of hostilities.

STRIKE UNSETTLED.

Machinists Report No Change in Fight for Eight-hour Day.

The strike of the machinists in this district for the eight-hour day is at a standstill and there seems to be no chance of an immediate settlement. A meeting of the strikers held in Foresters' Hall, Fifth and East Jersey streets, this morning gave rise to no new developments.

A rumor that a number of the strikers from the plant of Woodward & Company, in Newark avenue, were to return to work this morning prompted a crowd of the strikers to gather at that plant at an early hour, intent upon protesting if any of the men attempted to go back to work in the shop. This report apparently was unfounded, however, for there were no attempts made by any of the strikers to go back.

All the strikers, it is said, are loyal to the cause and it is not anticipated that any will attempt to quit the ranks until some satisfactory settlement is made.

Strikers in this district are anxiously awaiting the outcome of a conference to be held between the machinists and employers of the Newark district in that city to-morrow morning. It is said that if some settlement is not forthcoming from that meeting it is probable that the strike will assume even wider proportions than at present.

ROOSEVELT FOR HUGHES.

Colonel Will Publicly Endorse G. O. P. Nominee, is Report.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Oyster Bay, June 19.—Colonel Roosevelt will publicly endorse Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican Presidential candidate, immediately after the meeting of the Progressive National Committee in Chicago on June 26, it was learned to-day.

Though nothing is known positively of what the Progressive committee will do, it is expected the committee anticipates accepting Colonel Roosevelt's declination.

Colonel Roosevelt has asked the hundreds who have written him since the nomination to be satisfied with his public appreciation of their willingness to help. He said he has found it physically impossible to make replies to all letters.

State Military Men on the Jump for Sea Girt Mobilization.

TROOPS WILL SOON BE MOVING

First Official Order Is to Put Rifle Range in Readiness for Guardsmen—No Time to Be Lost.

TRENTON REFLECTS PREPAREDNESS SPIRIT

General Sadler Expects 3,000 Guardsmen in State to Respond to Call for Service—Railroads Hold Trains Ready—Troops Will Assemble in Armory Early To-Morrow.

BULLETIN.

San Antonio, Tex., June 19.—General Funston stated this afternoon that the National Guard will be mobilized in its respective States and that its membership will be sent to the border only when he calls for the various State detachments. He added that it will probably be some time before any of these troops reach the border.

Trenton, June 19.—The New Jersey military authorities are on the jump today making ready for the mobilization of the National Guard following the call of President Wilson for one brigade of three regiments of infantry, one squadron of cavalry, two batteries of field artillery, one company signal corps, one field hospital and one ambulance corps for service on the Mexican border.

With Governor Fielder directing affairs from Sea Girt and Adjutant-General Wilbur F. Sadler and Quartermaster-General C. Edward Murray and their departments working from the State House, conferences were held this morning and orders were issued for the mobilization of the State troops at Sea Girt.

A spirit of preparedness pervades the military section of the capitol. Khaki-clad subordinate officers, hurriedly summoned for the conferences, are rushing to the military departments and then hurrying away again to execute the order. The first order issued was to General Bird W. Spencer, inspector of rifle practice, to get the rifle range at Sea Girt in readiness for target practice, in order to lose no time in giving the troops practical shooting experience after they reach the mobilization camp.

The official orders call out these troops: First Regiment, of Newark, Colonel Frazer; Fourth Regiment, of Jersey City, Colonel Steel; Fifth Regiment, of Paterson, Colonel Vanwalraven; two batteries of artillery, Battery A, of Orange, Captain Tanterman, and Battery B, of Camden, Captain Barnard; the squadron of four troops of cavalry commanded by Major Bryant, of Montclair, comprising Troops A, Captain Freeman, and Captain Kyle, both of Newark; Troop B, of Red Bank, Captain Stout, and Troop D, of Plainfield, Captain Borden; the Signal Corps, of Jersey City, Captain Dear; the Field Hospital Company, of Elizabeth, Captain Corbusier, and the Ambulance Company.

The commands will mobilize at Sea Girt at their peace strength, which is sixty-five men to a company, and then will be recruited up to war strength if such orders come from Secretary of War Baker.

The commands are ordered to report at their armories to-morrow morning, and at that time the orders for the move to Sea Girt will be issued.

Adjutant-General Sadler said to-day he expected to have the troops moving to Sea Girt by Wednesday morning.

General Sadler took up to-day the matter of transportation and has asked the railroad companies to have ready the necessary special trains for the movement. It is expected that close to 3,000 troops will respond to the call.

General Sadler said to-day the State guard is as ready as it can possibly be and he expected the commands would all give a good account of themselves. It is not known here just when the troops will be ordered to the Mexican border. The official telegram of General Sadler conveying the orders to the three colonels was:

"Assemble companies of your command at their armories immediately and begin recruiting to maximum strength of 150 for each company. Hour of departure to mobilization camp will be furnished later."

"No person will be accepted who is not effective and able-bodied or who is under 18 or over 35 years of age or who is unable to speak the English language, except that the superior age limit of 35 years does not apply to these members of the enlisted personel of a company who volunteer and are accepted as a part of the organization to which they belong or honorably discharged men from volunteer forces. Minors between 18 and 21 years must have consent of surviving parent or legally appointed guardian.

"Transportation forwarded to recruiting officers and regimental quartermasters, seventy-five cents per man per day, will be allowed for cooked meals authorized for those actually present for duty as shown by morning report. Have regimental commissary take proposal for subsistence, prepare for shipment to Sea Girt with troops every article of equipment in possession of organization. Detailed orders will issue later."

Busy in New York State.

New York, June 19.—The New York National Guard cavalry, artillery and infantry, 17,000 strong, will have completely assembled at Beekman, near Poughkeepsie-on-the-Hudson, by Wednesday, guard officers said to-day.

More than 150 officers of the guard are on the ground already, preparing for the coming of the men.

The militia, if recruited to war footing would number 22,000. Strenuous efforts will be made to increase to this number before the movement to the Mexican border starts.

Pennsylvania Makes Plans.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 19.—Mobilization of the Pennsylvania National Guard in its armories on June 22 and movement to Mount Gretna on or before Monday, June 26, will be ordered before nightfall, it was officially made known this afternoon. The Thirteenth Infantry, Scranton; the Ninth, at Wilkes-Barre, and a battalion of infantry scattered will not be mobilized. The orders were being given finishing touches shortly after noon.

War Spirit in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, June 19.—Genuine war spirit animated National guardsmen here to-day while militia officers were completing preparations for mobilization at Mount Gretna, pending official issuance of a call for duty from Governor Brumbaugh. Adjutant-General Thomas J. Stewart, commander of the State guardsmen, sent word from Harrisburg to-day that the militia probably would not be mobilized before Thursday. He stated, however, that by Saturday his entire command would be ready to move on an hour's notice.

The National Guard of Pennsylvania totals 11,028 officers and men, comprising four brigades of infantry, a regiment of cavalry, one of field artillery, a battalion of signal troops, a wireless company, two field hospital companies and two ambulance companies. There is also a battalion of naval militia.

It is the belief of officers here that the first, second and fourth brigades of infantry would be ordered to the Mount Gretna mobilization camp first.

Plans for mobilization were completed months ago when the Mexican situation became acute. Since then the quartermaster's department of the Keystone State militia laid in complete equipment for everw unit of the service.

Mobilization in Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., June 19.—Delaware's eight companies of militia, representing two provisional battalions numbering 437 men, will be mobilized in the armories in Milford, Dover, Newark, New Castle and Wilmington at 8 o'clock to-night. The commissioned officers were all summoned here to-day to confer with the officials here relative to moving to the State rifle range below New Castle, where they will go into camp to-morrow or Wednesday.

Activity in Maryland.

Baltimore, June 19.—National Guard officers are meeting at Brigade headquarters this morning preparing the order that will send into camp practically all of the Maryland militia. The troops will go into camp immediately at the site near Laurel. Three regiments of infantry, one troop of cavalry, one machine gun company and one field hospital are included. The movement to Laurel will begin to-day.

Virginians Prepare Camp.

Richmond, Va., June 19.—Preliminary to duty on the Mexican border preparations are being made to-day to establish a concentration camp at the Virginia State Fair Grounds here to mobilize the First and Second Volunteer regiments, four batteries of field artillery, one signal and field hospital corps. Meanwhile companies composing these military units will be recruited to their full strength.

The mobilization order does not affect the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion, which is an independent military unit.

LIFE INSURANCE IS WAR PROBLEM

Companies in England Pay Out Enormous Sum.

INSURE AGAINST DANGER OF ZEPPELIN RAIDS.

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, June 10 (by mail)—Now that the married men of England are drafted to the front, the cry has arisen: "Who'll keep our life insurance paid up, while we're at the front?" The government is expected to set aside a sum to keep up the payments for married men.

Life insurance in wartime is a difficult problem for the man who wants to be insured. Also for the insurance company.

Soldiers cannot get life insurance. No company will take the risk. But the life insurance companies of England are so game that the man carrying life insurance at the time he went to the front is assured that his widow and family will receive his insurance money, no matter how he may be killed.

All Policies Paid.

All life insurance policies issued in the United Kingdom have always borne a clause that the companies would not pay for death caused by war. Nobody expected war; therefore nobody objected to the clause. But when war began and the men of England marched off to the front from their desks and their offices, the directors of life insurance companies met and decided that in spite of the war clause they would pay for deaths in war on all outstanding policies, but would issue no new policies on the lives of men going to the front.

The life insurance companies have paid out for the deaths of men killed in battle a tremendous sum.

Fancy Offers Rejected.

"Isn't it possible for a rich man, going to the front, to secure life insurance, if he is willing to pay enough for it?" an insurance man was asked.

"No. We've had all kinds of fancy offers, but we cannot make rates of any kind. The man who wished battlefield insurance would have to pay us much more money in premiums than we could pay his beneficiaries.

"An even bet we couldn't afford to take. He'd be betting us $100,000, say, that he would be killed and we would be betting the same amount that he would not. All the odds would be in his favor."

"Are there any special classes of soldiers whose lives are worth less than others?"

"Yes. Flying men. We figure the odds are four to one against them."

"But if a flying man was carrying life insurance before the war, would you pay for his death?"

"Yes, just as if he were an ordinary soldier. We've paid on the death of more than one man who was killed in the air."

Special Policies Dropped.

The insurance companies, early in the war, made an attempt to prepare a policy for soldiers and officers. At first, the policy holder was asked to pay a premium of $16 on every $100. The rate then went up to $18 and when the companies faced the choice of making a twenty per cent. rate or stopping soldier insurance, they chose the latter course.

The insurance of civilians against war risks, however, is being developed by London insurance companies, whose actuaries are working out such questions as:

"What are the odds that any certain person will not be killed by Zeppelin bombs?"

"What are the odds that Germany will not succeed in sending a great flock of Zeppelins over London and killing thousands?"

One company, whose experts studied the air question at great length, now bets you $5,000 against $10 that you will not be killed by any missile that falls from the sky, whether if by an enemy bomb or a piece of British bomb fired at enemy aircraft.

This same company is also willing to bet 500 to 1 that you will not be killed by an enemy invasion.

ANTI-LIQUOR RESOLUTION DEFEATED BY CARPENTERS

Newark, June 19.—Following an animated discussion, the efforts of a few total abstainers to force through a resolution condemning the liquor traffic was defeated Saturday at the closing session of the two days' convention of the New Jersey Council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, held here in the Eagles' Hall.

There was considerable uneasiness among officials of the organization that such a resolution had been offered, owing to the fact that about 1,200 carpenters of the State are employed in breweries, but its overwhelming defeat reassured them and the squall speedily blew over.

The carpenters went on record as favoring vocational training in the public schools and passed resolutions sustaining William L. Hutchinson, of Indianapolis, the National president of the organization, in suspending the New York district council for refusing to abide by his decision in a strike case.

All of the principal officers were re-elected by acclamation as follows: President, Samuel Botterill, East Orange; vice president, George W. Adams, Trenton; secretary, John R. Burgess, Jersey City; treasurer, C. C. Mowel, Newark. The following were chosen members of the executive committee: J. W. Keyport, Atlantic City; John C. Mattashed, Newark; A. B. Losey, Morristown; E. M. Paton, Hackensack; Henry Zimmerman, Elizabeth, and A. J. Dean, Vineland. Zimmerman and Dean are new members.

H. H. Souder, of Atlantic City, was elected delegate to the New York State convention; Stephen J. Stoll, of Newark, to the Massachusetts State Council convention; James Larkin, of Jersey City, to the Pennsylvania State Council convention, and Joseph E. James, of Trenton, to the Connecticut State Council convention.

There were 145 delegates in the convention, all sections of the State being represented. Reports read indicated that conditions in New Jersey for members of the craft were better now than they have been in many years. President Botterill declared that the attitude of employers is reasonable and conciliatory, indicating a readiness to adjust or avoid difficulties by conference with the employes.

POLITICAL BATTLE ON.

Governorship Main Plum in Minnesota Primary Contest.

(Special to the Journal.)

St. Paul, Minn., June 19. Minnesota's State primary to-day concluded a lively fight. It was a State affair, with Congressional seats in the offing.

Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, who is filling out the unexpired term of W. S. Hammond, deceased, is the Republican candidate for renomination who probably will get his name on the ballot at the election. S. G. Iverson, former State auditor, is opposing Burnquist. F. B. Kellogg, who gained National fame as a trust buster; Senator M. E. Clapp, A. C. Eberhart, former Governor and Congressman C. A. Lindbergh are after Clapp's toga. Their fight has been a merry one, not entirely free from mud. Lindbergh got a lot of Scandinavian and Progressive votes to-day.

In the Democratic Gubernatorial tray, a three-cornered fight has aroused much interest. S. D. Works, C. M. King and T. P. Dwyer were the candidates. Works has been identified with the reactionary Democrats in the State Legislature. Dwyer, a Minneapolis boilermaker, polled a large labor vote. King is a good rounds advocate.

Dan Lawler, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, was the only Fred Lynch faction Democrat in the field. He was opposed by A. J. Davis, of Minneapolis.

Socialists and prohibition tickets were not filed.

Where He Got It.

He was a witness in a case in the police court.

"What is your name?" inquired Prosecutor Robinson.

"Mah name?" from the darky incredulously.

"I'm talking to you," snapped the prosecutor.

"Well, suh, mah name is Hallowed Hopkins," answered the negro.

"Hallowed Hallowed!" gasped the judge. "Where did you get that name?"

"From mah maw," answered the negro. "It am from de Scriptmahs."

"From the Scriptures? What part of the Scriptures?"

"Doan you all r'membah, judge, wheah it says 'Hallowed be thy name'?"

FOR "LITHUANIAN DAY."

General Collins on Committee to Draw Up Resolutions.

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19.—General Dennis F. Collins, city comptroller of Elizabeth, was appointed chairman of a committee to draw up resolutions requesting Congress to set aside a day to be observed in the United States as "Lithuanian Day," at the annual meeting of the United Lithuanian Societies here Saturday afternoon.

The meeting, which was held at Vailsburg Park, followed a parade of 5,000 men, women and children in honor of Lithuanian Day and of Newark's anniversary celebration. "Hyphenates" were tabooed in the procession, the marchers carrying American flags and streamers, bearing the words "America First." There also were numerous pretty floats and decorated automobiles in the line of march.

Besides General Collins, the committee appointed to draw the resolutions, includes: The Rev. Anthony Milaukis, of Brooklyn; City Counsel Spaulding Frazer, Valentine W. Ambroze and K. Vaskevve, of Newark.

HEAR CANTATA "RUTH."

O. E. S. Chapters Attend Service at Grace Church.

Members of Eureka Chapter, Lucinda Chapter and Augusta Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, attended services at the Grace Episcopal Church, Second and East Jersey streets, last night. The service was featured with the singing of the cantata, "Ruth," the words for which were written by Edward Oxenford, and the music by Alfred R. Gaul. Owing to having but recently undergone an operation on his throat, the rector, the Rev. J. Fredrik Virgin, was unable to give an address.

The cantata was given under the direction of the organist, Carman P. Prall. The soloists and characters they represented were: Naomi, contralto, Miss Florence Hutchinson; Ruth, soprano, Miss Emma Schwebemeyer; Orpah, soprano, Miss Emma Schwebemeyer; Boaz, bass, Charles May.

The members of the choir are: Sopranos, the Misses Emma Schwebemeyer, Mary Seeger, Annis Holden, Ada Wray, Viola McGinty, Minnie Fuhst, Emma Harris and Mercy Parfit, and Mrs. Fred Davis; altos, Mrs. N. Lambertson, the Misses Florence Hutchinson, Martha Neilson, Ruth Wimmer and Anneline Dixson; tenors, Frank Hetherington and Francis Angwin; basses, Charles May, William Maggs and Ross Strickland.

U. S. DIRIGIBLE DESIGNED.

Montclair Man Has Aircraft That Government May Buy.

Montclair, June 19.—Max A. Herbert, of this place, has designed a dirigible airship of the Zeppelin type, which he hopes to see constructed by the United States Government. He said yesterday he had entered into negotiations with the Federal authorities for the sale of his patents.

The features, which Herbert says make it of special value, are airtight compartments stretching the entire length of the body to render the airship unsinkable in case of a fall into water, a new bomb-dropping device and sectional construction by means of which the craft can be lengthened or shortened as desired. Four electric motors drive the eight propellers and the body is lighted throughout by electricity.

Bamberger's is the Place in Which to Spend Your Shopping Minutes

Entire Sample Line of High-Grade German and Austrian Linens at 1-3 Off

Comprising a Number of Very Beautiful Sample Linens, Which are the Products of One of the Best Manufacturers of Fine German and Austrian Linens

It is rarely that an occasion of this kind is advertised by any house, and when so placed before the public it behooves any woman to purchase as liberally as possible of the offerings which are advertised.

Every piece is perfectly made and finished as far as construction is concerned. Being samples, however, they are slightly mussed and soiled from handling, which naturally brings the price down to its present low level.

In spite of the fact that these linens are not as spic-and-span as they might be, they will, nevertheless, be as white as snow after the first laundering. This is, without a doubt, one of the handsomest assortments of linens that we have ever secured, and as the opportunity is not likely to be repeated, particularly at this exceptionally low price, we advise you to secure a liberal amount of this merchandise and, as far as possible, to anticipate your future requirements.

Chiffon Novelty Voiles at 12½c Per Yard

Regular 25c Novelty Chiffon Voiles, 38 to 40 Inches Wide, in a Host of Designs and Colorings, at 12½c a Yard

For instance, we are showing the fashionable and popular awning stripe in great assortment. Again, there are scores of pretty floral effects and conventional checked designs.

There's no lack of diversity in the designs and coloring. They are more beautiful than anything we have seen in some time. Great originality is displayed in the combinations of coloring which abound in this assortment.

The price obtained was due principally to the fact that these voiles are called the "Mill Seconds," and are subject to trifling imperfections, which, however, are unnoticeable in the great majority of the pieces on sale. We have marked them at half price, that is 12½¢, while the entire quantity of 10,000 yards last.

I. O. O. F. LODGES HONOR DEPARTED

Impressive Memorial Service is Held at Weequahic Park.

ADDRESS GIVEN BY FORMER GOVERNOR FORT.

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19.—Odd Fellows from all parts of Essex county, with guests from Union and other counties, met in a natural amphitheater at Weequahic Park yesterday afternoon for the annual memorial services of the United lodges of Essex county. Officers of the Grand Lodge and Grand Encampment were seated on the platform, and addresses were given by the Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, grand chaplain, and former Governor John Franklin Fort, of East Orange.

The symbolic three links of Odd Fellowship in white peonies stood out against the green lawn on one side of the hill, and above them was an arch with the words, "Visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead, educate the orphan." As the memorial roll was read during the exercises by R. L. Laird, secretary of the general committee, relatives and lodgemates of the dead brothers deposited flowers in the space below this arch, which was marked off with palms. The exercises were in charge of J. W. Merrell, of Granite Lodge, Newark, chairman of the general committee.

The exercises opened with selections from "The Bohemian Girl" and "Carmen," played by von der Heide's Band, of Newark. To the music of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the members of Canton Essex Patriarchs Militant marched down the hill in uniform, bearing an American flag, and took seats near the speakers' platform, which was also draped with a flag. The assembly united in an opening ode written for the service. The Rev. Dr. A. Boyland Fitz-Gerald led in the invocation.

Former Governor John Franklin Fort spoke first on the object of assembling for the exercises. It is a beautiful custom, he said, to honor the memory of the dead. The tombs of Grant and Lincoln symbolize a Nation's mourning, and all Great Britain has recently been mourning for Lord Kitchener. But mourning, former Governor Fort declared is only for the physical presence of the man. We do not think of Grant or Lincoln as physical individuals. We think of their spiritual power. In the same way, the speaker said, the memorial service of the Odd Fellows is not an occasion of mourning, but of commemoration of the spirit of Odd Fellowship, which can inspire the living brothers to carry it forward as the brothers of former days have handed it down to them.

Grand Master F. Howard Lloyd, of Matawan, read the proclamation calling upon Odd Fellows to set aside a day for such a service. The oration of the Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, of Sayreville, grand chaplain, was given immediately after the proclamation, as the speaker had to leave for Waterbury, Conn., where he addressed the Odd Fellows of that State last evening.

The Rev. Mr. Lippincott said he did not come to exhort the brothers to prepare for death, but to make the most of themselves while they were living. The fittest survive, he said, but men's ideas of fitness are slowly changing. On the material plane the fittest are those who do most for themselves and least against others. The civilized world has not outgrown that plane, Mr. Lippincott said, and its list of heroes contains many whose fitness was of that kind.

But a newer, half spiritual plane, the Rev. Mr. Lippincott added, has been asserting itself ever since the days of the Old Testament. On this plane, stated Mr. Lippincott, he is fittest who does most for himself and least against others. His ideal is self-conquest. But this is still selfish. The highest plane, the speaker said, is wholly spiritual, and on this he is fittest who does most for others. His ideal is self-crucifixon, which alone can bring immortality. This, Mr. Lippincott declared, is the spirit of Odd Fellowship. The ideal Odd Fellow will bring about the ultimate humanity of universal brotherhood, which is as far above the present as the present is above savagery.

During the exercises hymns were sung by the Hamilton brothers' quartet. Band selections followed the address, and after a closing ode sung by the assembly and a prayer, "taps" was sounded as the close of the service. Among the grand officers on the platform were: Edwin F. Osborne, of Newark, grand guardian of the grand lodge and grand warden of the grand encampment; Harry S. Pine, of Trenton, grand secretary of the grand lodge; John P. Stratton, of Mt. Royal, grand warden of the grand lodge; Past Grand Master Charles A. Woodruff, of Newark; John Knox, of Asbury Park, grand patriarch of the grand encampment; John Dahmer, of New Brunswick, grand herald of the grand lodge; Past Grand Patriarchs Stephen Schlieff, of Plainfield; Harry S. Phillips, of New York; Samuel S. Kearns, of Morristown; James Walling, of Keyport; Amos B. Pierce, of Newark; Edward C. Burke, of Newark; Gustav Erb, of Newark. Members of the Elizabeth lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were in the assembly as guests of the Essex county lodges. They included representation of Franklin, Elizabethport, Housa and Memorial lodges, Columbia Encampment, Esther Rebekah lodge and Royal Queen Lodge and the All Brothers Association.

The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says she can't see why people make such a fuss over a street car strike when it's so easy to call a taxi.

QUIET SATURDAY NIGHT.

But Few Offenders Arraigned Before Judge Mahon.

One of Elizabeth's most orderly Saturday nights was recorded yesterday morning before Judge Mahon in police court. Only a few prisoners were on the docket, and they appeared in the roles of defendant to answer charges of a minor nature.

A delegation from Bayonne contributed strongly to the funds of the city as a tax upon their visit here Saturday night with the avowed purpose of "stirring up the town." Jack Dobey, 19 years old, was the leader, and he was backed by John Romaniski, 22 years old; Frank Balmiski, 22 years old, and Michael Zarey, 23 years old. The quartet met Patrolman J. E. Kelly, and yesterday morning were assessed $5 each by Judge Mahon on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Toney Keizer, of Bound Brook, won his freedom by explaining that Saturday was the anniversary of his fiftieth birthday, and that he attempted to take a drink for each year that had elapsed during the half century.

Frank Alowski, 30 years old, of First street, was found in a helpless condition by Patrolman Ryan. He was discharged with advice, "Stop drinking in the future."

John Eyers, of 252 Port avenue, became imbued with the untamed West spirit after Central Railroad Detective Doody had ordered him off railroad property, and appeared with a loaded .32-caliber revolver, threatening to eliminate any barriers in his path. Eyers was assessed $25, and after confessing that he lacked funds, was committed to the county jail for a period of sixty days.

PLEADS FOR BEST MAN.

Congressman Against "Essex or Hudson" Argument in Gubernatorial Race.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—Congressman Isaac Bacharach, of the Second New Jersey District, issued a statement to the voters of the district to-day, in which he asked them to ignore considerations of sectionalism in the coming Gubernatorial campaign and vote for the candidate best qualified to lead the party to success in November. The Congressman states that county committeemen in all parts of the State are being approached with the argument that the candidates must come from Essex or Hudson counties in order to have a chance of winning at the November election. The statement follows:

"Attention has been directed to an effort from certain quarters to enlist the support of county committeemen on the theory that the Republican Gubernatorial nominee must come from the most populous counties of the State in order to win on election day.

"It would seem, if Republican politics has reached this confined stage, that hereafter the other nineteen or twenty counties of New Jersey are expected to loyally furnish the majorities, but Essex or Hudson is to supply the candidates.

"Is the balance of the State to infer that Essex County Republicans, for instance, would not be loyal to candidates other than from that county? Certainly any such inference would be an unwarranted attack on the quality of Essex Republicanism. The rank and file of the voters will not be favorably impressed if the best argument a candidate can advance is that he 'comes from' a populous county. Sectionalism has nothing to do with the coming campaign. I respectfully suggest that the voters consider only the record, merit, aggressiveness and future policy of the candidates, rather than their particular county residence. To accept the other doctrine as sound is to assume that, not only for the coming primaries, but for all time, our Gubernatorial selections must be allotted to either Essex or Hudson county

EXTREME WEAKNESS AND SUFFERING

Read How Mrs. Goodling got Relief and Strength.

York, Pa.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found it to be all you say it is. I was so sick that I could not stand at my sink to wash dishes and I could not sit without a pillow under me. I had the doctor every few days but since I have taken the Compound I don't have to send for him. I have had three children and could not raise any of them, but since I have taken the Compound I have a bright baby boy. I advise every suffering woman to try it and get relief. It has done wonders for me."—Mrs. CATHARINE GOODLING, 138 E. King Street, York, Pa.

When a medicine has been successful in bringing health to so many, no woman has a right to say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." There are more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Goodling, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

If there are any complications you don't understand, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

RAPS ELECTION LAWS OF STATE

ROBERT H. M'CARTER TAKES ATTORNEYS TO TASK.

(Special to the Journal.)

Atlantic City, June 19.—Jersey election laws, subject of more litigation during the past two years than any other statutes relating to municipalities, were branded "perfectly unsatisfactory" by Judge William H. Speer, of the Circut Court, here Saturday before the closing sessions of the New Jersey State Bar Association in eighteenth annual convention at the Hotel Traymore.

Judge Speer took the lawyers to task for their failure to evince sufficient professional pride in the enactment of the legislature, declaring that there was need of a general revision and codification of the laws. He termed the present automobile laws "monstrosities," and with other measures the "crude work of unskilled legislators."

Sarcastic arraignment of the profession by former Attorney General Robert H. McCarter, for their lack of application to public life and affairs, stirred up considerable interest during the afternoon. He observed that the sole purpose of the association appeared to be an annual talk and feed fest.

John R. Hardin, of Newark, retiring president of the association, made a defense of the lawyers in his annual address at the closing session, declaring the indictments against members of the bar were based upon false premises.

To cure an apparent defect in the common law relative to the trials of principals and accessories in homicide cases, a draft of a bill was submitted, providing for the trial of accessories without regard to principals. The matter was referred to the legislative committee to report at the winter meeting. Existing law requires both to be tried together, it was pointed out, and fails to make any provision for the arraignment of the accessory if the principal shall die or is not apprehended.

A bill to make it optional with the court whether convicted defendants shall be admitted to bail also was referred to the committee.

GREAT MID-SEASON SALE

IT SCORES A WELL-MERITED SUCCESS

And rightly so, for just consider what this GREAT MID-SEASON SALE means to you—it means that you can secure things for your person and for your home at prices so decisively below regular that you will have left in your pocket a substantial surplus over and above the sum you have set aside for the purpose.

It means that one-fourth, one-third or even one-half of the money you intended to spend for summer merchandise which you really need can be put aside for a rainy day, or can be utilized most advantageously to purchase more or better merchandise than you intended.

In a word, this GREAT MID-SEASON SALE can be summed up as an event that offers you the present season's best, coolest, most comfortable furnishings and household needs at prices that would be considered most extraordinary even at the fag end of the summer. The occasion to make worth-while savings is so unusual that to hesitate would be the height of folly.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

and nowhere more so than in the activities of organized charity. Effective work in restoring families to self-support calls for adequate knowledge as a basis for action.

In its work among the poor, the Charity Organization Society makes it a point to secure a knowledge of such pertinent facts regarding the families under its care as will make for thorough planning and wise action.

TUTTLE JUBILANT OVER CONVENTION

Says Party Stands United Behind Woodrow Wilson.

BELIEVES COUNTRY WILL RETURN PRESIDENT.

Former Congressman William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, Democratic candidate for the Congressional nomination for the Fifth district, returned to his home last night from the Democratic National conventional at St. Louis, which he attended as a district delegate, bubbling over with enthusiasm over the renomination of Woodrow Wilson for President. Although the convention is now history, Mr. Tuttle is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the gathering which developed, he said, into a jubilee because of the evident unity of the Democrats for the first time in many years.

"The feeling among the delegates and all others who attended the St. Louis convention," said Mr. Tuttle, "is one of unbounded enthusiasm and optimism in the success of the National ticket. At the conclusion of the work of the convention the delegates held a jubilee, and it was the unanimous opinion among those with whom I talked that as Democrats they have every reason to feel that as the campaign goes on our chances are going to become more certain of success. In fact there was no doubt in the minds of the delegations from the several States as to the ultimate outcome, as the Democrats are absolutely united for the first time in over twenty-five years.

"So far as New Jersey is concerned the members of the delegation were unanimous in the feeling that the State will support Wilson and that the Democrats are justified in the belief that with the party united and the Progressives dissatisfied with the Republican nomination Jersey will be found in the Democratic column on election day. Wittpen is an exceptionally good candidate and there is no reason at all why he should not win. In fact, the New Jersey Democrats are confident that success will attend their efforts both for the Presidency and the Governorship.

"So far as the fight in this Congressional district is concerned," continued Mr. Tuttle, "there is nothing new. As a matter of fact there has been nothing done yet. Of cour-e it is taken for granted by my friends that I will be the candidate, but no steps have been taken. I know of no other candidate for the Democratic nomination in this district and there may be none. The result of the fight in this district will depend entirely upon the result of the independent voting. There are a great many independent voters in Morris and Union counties, and if they feel that the present administration is entitled to encouragement they will elect a Democratic Congressman. If not they may elect a Republican Congressman. The whole thing will depend upon the attitude of the independent voters, as they are the controlling element.

"The county is normally Republican," declared Mr. Tuttle. "I say this, although I understand that most of the Republican orators who participated in the recent campaign against a small board insisted that the county would be Democratic, as an argument for the continuance of the large board. As in the district, the situation is entirely in the hands of the independent voters. It is simple a question whether they feel that the Democrats are entitled to support for their conduct of National affairs, or believe that Hughes should be elected. Whichever way the independents vote the county and district will go."

WANTS STATE TO GET RID OF SALT MARSH MOSQUITO

Beach Haven, June 19.—Resolutions calling on the State Legislature to take immediate steps to abolish the salt water marsh mosquito were adopted at the closing session here Saturday of the third annual convention of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, which represents a total membership of 80,000. It was explained that at present one fourth of the marshes are being drained, resulting in the partial elimination of the migratory mosquito. Similar work can be done all along the coast, it was declared, aiding in the development of vast tracts of realty. The convention recommended that the Legislature appropriate sufficient funds to drain every marsh in the State in the next five years.

The convention also passed resolutions, protesting against the proposed erection of a garbage disposal plant on Staten Island, opposite Elizabeth, and called upon the State authorities to take action. Protest also was made against New York City shipping refuse from its streets and institutions to this State.

October 9 was decided as the date for the observance of Fire Prevention Day. A day next spring, to be selected later, was fixed upon as New Jersey Day, when the work of aiding retail dealers and agriculturists will be forwarded by field workers to travel from place to place. A large silver cup, donated by the Long Beach Board of Trade, was accepted as a prize to be given to the organization making the best showing each year. Perth Amboy was selected as the place for holding the next convention.

Adrian O. Murray, of the Elizabeth Board of Trade, was appointed a member of the governing committee of the federation. Augustus V. Hamburg, of Newark, was reelected director, and State Senator Thomas A. Mathis, of Toms River, was chosen vice-chairman.

Speaking at the banquet, which concluded the convention Saturday night, Dr. Talcott Williams, of the Columbia School of Journalism, said there is no need to fear the result of the Presidential election because Wilson and Hughes have each declared for preparedness. The speaker also praised the American newspaper and said it would be a potent factor in our future as regards war or peace.

DENIES BURGLARY CHARGE.

Whitlock Home Intruder Held for Grand Jury.

John Reckleffs, of 456 Glenmore avenue, Brooklyn, who was captured last Monday night by Patrolman Mayea after he and an accomplice had looted the home of W. P. Whitlock, 637 North Broad street, and Reckleffs attempted to escape by leaping from a second-floor window, was arraigned before Judge Mahon in police court yesterday afternoon and committed to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Reckleffs gave his name as "James Hamilton" when arraigned upon the charge of burglary brought by Chief of Police Mulcahy and entered a plea of not guilty.

BECOMES BRIDE OF PETTIT MYER

SCORES OF GUESTS ATTEND WEDDING RECEPTION.

Seldom has Elizabeth seen a more beautiful wedding than that of Miss Jessie Maud Winans and Pettit A. Myer, which was solemnized Saturday evening at Westminster Church.

The church was elaborately decorated with palms, which formed a background for quantities of pink peonies and mountain laurel. On the pews where the members of the families sat there were tied tall bunches of white carnations, Japanese iris and asparagus fern.

There was an organ recital before the bridal party entered the church, to the music of the wedding march from Lohengrin. The ushers were Everett Bunzel, of New York; John Williams, of Orange; Earl Myer, of Scranton, and Richard Slauson, of this city. They were followed by the three bridesmaids, Miss Mary Myer, Miss Edna Vreeland and Miss Marion Blancke, and then by the matron of honor, Mrs. Clayton Berry Jones.

The gowns of the bridal party were especially attractive. The matron of honor wore French blue net over blue silver cloth; there was a very short skirt, with bouffant panniers frilled with tulle and edged with tiny roses. The waist was of peach-colored passementerie cut square, with short frilled sleeves. Her hat was a sailor shape of blue Georgette crepe, edged with peach-colored crepe and trimmed with small clusters of pink and blue roses. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were of pink faille taffeta with an old-fashioned hoop skirt. There was a flounce of silver lace on the skirt and festoons of silver ribbon and pink roses. The waist of white tulle and silver lace was off the shoulders and there were little wired sleeves of the tulle and lace with roses and a touch of blue. Their hats were pink crepe with tulle crowns, trimmed with pink and blue orange blossoms, and there were tulle scarves which wound around the neck. They carried tall white crooks, on which were tied with pink satin ribbon, bunches of pink roses and blue cornflowers.

The bride's gown was of tulle over silver cloth. There were two overskirts of the tulle edged with silver lace and embroidered in pearls. The waist was of duchesse lace over tulle, cut square neck, and having long tulle sleeves. The court train was of tulle edged with silver cloth and embroidered in pearls, with insets of duchesse lace. She wore a tulle veil with a bandeau of lace in the front, and a tall ruching of tulle at the back with clusters of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley and orchids and she carried a beautiful point lace handkerchief, a family heirloom.

The bride walked alone and was met at the chancel by the bridegroom and his best man, Randolph Myer. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Louis B. Crane, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Myer, the mother of the bridegroom, was handsomely gowned in pearl gray with orchid crystal trimming and wore a large bunch of orchids. A large reception followed at 139 Westfield avenue, where the house was elaborately decorated with Easter lilies, Japanese iris and palms. The halls were hung with smilax and banked with mountain laurel. The dining-room was done entirely in pink roses and the porch was a mass of peonies. There was music during the evening by Rosenberg's orchestra.

Among the guests at the reception were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Myer, Millard Myer, Mrs. William Myer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Myer, of Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. Alexander Myer, of Stelton; Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Rose, Mr. and Mrs. H. LAST CONSUL COMING OUT.

Silliman, Only Remaining Envoy in Interior, Heads for U. S.

Washington, June 19.—Consul John R. Silliman, of Saltillo, is en route to the border under orders from the State Department to quit his post. Consul Hanna, at Monterey, who left his post and reached Laredo, advised the State Department to-day that Silliman is heading toward the border.

There are now no full consuls in interior Mexico, though at coast points they still remain and probably will unless serious trouble develops.

RENAMED SCHOOL HEAD.

Supervising Principal Walton Reelected by Springfield Board.

(Special to the Journal.)

Springfield, June 19.—At a special meeting of the Township Board of Education held on Saturday night at the schoolhouse, by unanimous vote, E. V. Walton, of Morris avenue, was reappointed supervising principal.

It is thought that Mr. Walton will also be reappointed supervisor of the Union Township schools.

ASTOR WEDDING DELAYED.

Bar Harbor, Me., June 19.—"The five-day law" has delayed until Thursday the marriage of Mrs. Madeline Force Astor to William K. Dick, of New York, which was planned for to-day.

The cold-hearted authorities of Maine spoiled Mrs. Astor's birthday anniversary present—a husband—by holding rigidly to the letter of the law. The marriage was secretly planned to take place to-day, Mrs. Astor's 23d birthday anniversary.

HONOR SOLDIERS OF WAR OF 1812

State Society Unveils Tablet at Old First Church.

MRS. R. H. WILES, NATIONAL PRESIDENT, HONOR GUEST.

There were seven showers which came down and visited Elizabeth on Saturday, and all of them before 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but the "seven sisters" did not daunt the determination of the patriotic folk who had planned to attend the tablet unveiling arranged by the New Jersey Society Daughters of the War of 1812. Fully 200 persons gathered at the First Presbyterian Church, and as the rain ceased others joined the company until there were fifty more. They were all well repaid, for the program was in every respect a pleasure.

The State society had as its special guest of honor Mrs. Robert Hall Wiles, of Chicago, the National president, and several New Jersey women of prominence were also in the company. The exercises at the church were preceded by a luncheon at the home of the State president, Mrs. Mathias Steelman, 18 Orchard street. About thirty-five were present, including Mrs. Wiles, the officers of the State society and others. The guests were pleasantly entertained informally with recitations by Miss Marguerite Baldwin. They were conveyed to the church in automobiles.

At the church the pastor, the Rev. William Force Whitaker, D. D., presided. He had given careful attention to a number of little details that added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The general theme of the program was "The Men of 1812," and Dr. Whitaker told of those whose bodies lie in the graveyard adjoining the old church. He spoke particularly of Gov. Aaron Ogden, upon whose monument a wreath was placed later in the afternoon.

Music by the Edna White Quartet, of New York City, was thoroughly enjoyed, and there was a brief address by Mrs. Wiles, the National president, who, in referring to the recent tablet unveiling at Jersey City High School, commended the State society for its activity, saying that New Jersey carries the honors for having performed the greatest amount of substantial work in a given period. Mrs. Wiles spoke also of the value of patriotism.

Dr. Whitaker gave into the hands of the State president the remainder of the exercises. Mrs. Steelman spoke briefly, telling of the "young Ogdens" present to take part in the ceremony.

Crawford and Russell Ogden, the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. Crawford Ogden, marched up to the chancel bearing between them a huge wreath of laurel and peonies. On either side were broad streamers of ribbon, blue and gray, and the two little folks passed down the center aisle of the church carrying the wreath. Directly behind them were Miss Josephine Carter and Archibald Gracie Ogden, Jr., also representatives of the Ogden family. Then came Mrs. Wiles and Mrs. Steelman, followed by officers, members and guests.

Out of the historic old church the large company filed and marched to the side of the edifice where the tablet had been placed. Five members of the order, Mrs. James E. Van Dyke, of East Orange; Mrs. A. G. Van Houten, of Newark; Mrs. James Curren, of Montclair; Mrs. George W. Cassidy, of Fanwood, and Mrs. William J. Shearer, of Elizabeth, formed a semi-circle, and in the center stood Archie Ogden, ready to unveil the tablet. At the signal he drew the cord which held the flag, and its folds were lifted until they were draped above the memorial. The audience expressed its pleasure by prolonged applause. Mrs. Steelman asked Mrs. A. L. Stillwell, of Somerville, to read the inscription, and the words, which in years to come will be read by many a visitor at the old church, were heard. The tablet, which is of copper bronze, commemorates the lives and deeds of eighteen soldiers and sailors, who served in the War of 1812.

An enjoyable feature was the recitation by Mrs. Herman Stueck, of Jersey City, of the poem, "The Spirit of 1812." The placing of the wreath was also a pretty feature. Mrs. Charles Leon Mathey, a great granddaughter of Mathias Ogden; Miss Todd, of Dunellen; Miss Durrell, of Jersey City, and Miss Alice G. Lawrence, of this city, formed an aisle, and through this the wreath was carried to the monument, where Miss Carter, taking it from its youthful bearers, placed it high upon the shaft.

For the closing song "America" was sung by the entire company, and the walk through the cemetery followed, Dr. Whitaker in charge.

A bit of hospitality provided through the thoughtfulness of Dr. Whitaker was the serving of lemonade, several members of the Hannah Caldwell Club presiding over the punch bowl. Several men and women of the church were also present to greet the visitors, and the thanks of the company was expressed by Mrs. Steelman for all these marks of hospitality and cordial good will.

Discord Enough, Maybe.

Why doesn't somebody put the voice of the people on a few graphophone records?—Judge.

ST. JOHN'S HOLDS SCHOOL CLOSING

Pupils Attain Good Records in Examinations.

PLAYLET BY LITTLE FOLKS A PART OF PROGRAM.

St. John's Sunday school held its closing exercises Saturday afternoon. Notwithstanding the lowering sky and heavy downpour of rain the atendance was large, evincing the great interest taken in the work of the school. The first part of the program was in the church, at which time the rector, the Rev. L. E. Hubard, highly complimented the school on the splendid progress made during the past year, and thanked the teachers and officers for the good service rendered.

James W. A. Smith, the superintendent of the school, made a brief report on the final examination papers and called particular attention to the very satisfactory manner in which the questions were answered. The best paper in the senior department was written by Hannah Hargreaves, and the best paper in the junior department was written by Augusta Peter. Both papers were read by Mr. Smith. He also explained that the primary and normal departments did not have written examinations, and read the names of the pupils who have written final satisfactory papers:

Excellent—Hahlnah Hargreaves, Augusta Peters, Eleanor Schweers, Mildred Payne, Mildred McKennon, Harold Krenbek, Gertrude Becker, Mildred Boulton, Rose Cramer, Harriette Church and May White.

Very good—Gertrude Gabriel, Elsie Payne, Loulse Brokaw, Beatrice Harper, Edna Ziller, Emma Hargreaves, Josephine Morrison, Lillian Mohan, Alice Bretthauer, Hilda Morgan, Jack Richters, James Turner, Elwood Schreiber, George Ranscher, W. von der Hayden, Walter Miller, Florence Hopkins, Eleanor Ogden, Esther Plecker, Eleanor Wright, Jane Montgomery, Martha McKennon, Dorothy Wright, Lillian Schwab, Martha Schweers, Grace Bickel, Margaretta Eggerstedt, Gertrude Glecker, Rose Angott, Catherine Reining, Mildred Wridenhofer, Emma Sprake, Francis B. Karb, P. Hoffucker, Charles Spegel, William Pallock, Lillian Killough, Marie Hirsch, Evelyn Schrifer, Annie Welcher, Lillian Milligan, Bertha Hosking, Evelyn Osterman, Dorothea Smith, Mildred von der Hayden, Mabel Heiss, Brewster Lyon, Herman Melebeck, Fred. Hofacker, Joseph Ritter, Alfred Thompson and Raymond Frankenberger.

Good—Louis Bickel, Milton Spitzfaden, Russell Griffen, Ed. La Tourette, Martin Mauer, Frederick L. Glasby, Daisy Barnes, Hannah Sprake, Eva Littamer, Edna Debo, Edna Gabriel, Mable Fagan, Florence Blessing, Wilbur Meckings, Edward Hattinger, Gilbert Slever, William Townley, George Angott, Walter T. Cocker, G. Alexander, Esther Gracie Ogden, Margaret Ogden, Claire Barnes, Mildred Kensington, Loretta Bruner, John Reagan, Edward Bauer, Frederick Schaffer, Margaret Rauscher and Milton Scheckler.

Mrs. Hubard, the superintendent of the primary department, presented each child promoted to the junior department with a church calendar, with the picture of St. John's Church, as well as a certificate of promotion.

After the service in the church the school, under the leadership of the banner bearer, J. W. A. Smith, Jr., of the beginners' class, marched into the parish house, where the primary department entertained the school and visitors with a little ten-minute playlet, entitled "A Remarkable Dream About What Happens in the Superintendent's Table Drawer at Midnight," followed by verses: "About Our Sunday School," the chorus being sung by the whole department, to music composed by Mrs. Bauman Lowe.

HILLSIDE.

Seventeen young people of St. Catherine's church received first communion yesterday morning at the 9 o'clock mass. The Rev. Father O'Connor officiated. Following the communion a breakfast was served to the young people by the Women's Club of the church. Those who received first communion were: William Schackley, William Gother, Louis Weber, Frank Seng, Stanley Troeshok, Tillie Sebrousky, Elsie Farkaf, Catherine Bauser, Tinka Nastic, Alvin Dunon, Joseph Hanoder, Francis Collins, Irene Volk, Mae Jacobi, Agatha Scharkly, Susie Peters and Elizabeth Ackermann.

The annual trolley ride of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Elizabeth Avenue Presbyterian church will be held on Saturday afternoon to Palisades Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kirkman, of Hollywood avenue, have returned from a brief stay at Eatontown.

A card party will be held in the parish hall of St. Catherine's church tomorrow night under the auspices of the young ladies of the church.

The township schools will close Friday for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brinckman, of Pennsylvania avenue, are on a trip to Niagara Falls.

Officers have been elected by the Men's Class of the Weequahic Presbyterian Church as follows: President, R. R. Magee; vice-president, Newton Wyckoff; secretary, H. E. Clark; treasurer, P. J. Sorenson. The present membership numbers thirty-three.

Frederick Felger, of Munn avenue, has returned from a trip through the West.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Oscar Young, Jr., of Hillside avenue, who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stuyvesant in Rockville, L. I., have returned.

A sale of home-made cake, pie and fudge was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Supner, for the benefit of the piano fund of the Hillside Avenue School.

Mrs. Thomas Robertson and Miss Christine Robertson, of Brooklyn, have returned after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Tichenor, of North Broad street.

John W. Gilmore, of Hillside avenue, in company with a number of friends from New York City, is on a trip to Lake Champlain, N. Y.

Mrs. Lewis Dutcher, of Williamson avenue, is visiting at Economy, Ind.

Best Quality Mosquito Netting 8-Yard Piece, 79c

A One-Price, Cash System and Its Advantages

A one-price, selling-for-cash system such as we maintain is the best possible guarantee against discrimination of any kind. Briefly it means we protect all purchasers against overcharges, such as frequently prevail elsewhere to offset the rebates allowed by a sliding scale of prices. This is robbing Peter to pay Paul and we do not countenance it as it has no place in our just scheme of merchandising.

Aside from this prevailing equality in the matter of prices there is a further economic advantage in trading with us as our prices are as low as prices consistently can be for high-grade merchandise when purchases and sales are conducted on a cash basis only.

Be Cool, Be Comfortable, Wear a Middy Blouse

We have just received a new lot for women, misses and children. They are the latest thing in middy styles. Board of Trade Notes.

By ADRIAN O. MURRAY,
Acting Secretary.

Now that a secretary has been unanimously decided upon for the Elizabeth Board of Trade, it behooves the members, after accepting a man to fill this office, to also, as their part, assume the responsibility of interesting themselves in the possibilities, capabilities and workings of the Board of Trade organization so that the individual who has agreed to assume the secretaryship will find that he is backed up by men of standing in the community with ability to assist in making the organization the power that it necessarily will have to be in order to fulfil its purpose.

It is the duty of the secretary to analyze the strong and the weak points of the city or community which his organization represents. It is up to him, together with the advice and counsel of the members of that organization, to seek and find and put into practice remedies for the weaknesses and to enlarge and make the most of the city's possibilities. In order to be able to accomplish this, it is absolutely essential that a secretary, who is a representative individual of the representative organization, should have the support and co-operation of every citizen of the community. It is an easy matter to abuse, condemn and criticise unjustly; but it is much better and more constructive to counsel, advise and co-operate in regard to those things which will be to the best interests of the community as a whole.

It seems perfectly natural and human to be impatient for direct and immediate success as a result of efforts put forth; but the public must bear in mind that, as a rule, the larger and more far-reaching the project, the greater the time required to accomplish the desired end in the best possible way. In board of trade work plans have to be laid. The mind of the public must be so influenced and controlled as to recognize the advisability of action along certain channels. Co-operation must be secured, and it is very essential that in order to be fair minded patience and generosity must be exercised.

It is not every year that the business men of Elizabeth have the opportunity of visiting so near home a convention of the size and caliber as that of the Advertising Men's Clubs of the World to be held in Philadelphia, June 25 to 30.

Advertising has reached a stage where it is recognized as being an integral part of all civic, commercial, professional and industrial life.

The program prepared is the best in the history of the association. Men of National repute will be there, prepared to give talks that will be an inspiration to all present. Those present will derive the benefit of the experience of others who have accomplished wonderful results.

A home and personal touch will be afforded by having an Elizabethan among the speakers, namely Ambrose McManus, president of the Board of Trade, who will talk to the retailers.

Philadelphia affords a welcome to all. The Poor Richard Club and other commercial and civic organizations of Philadelphia have left nothing undone that will add to the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. The University of Pennsylvania has offered its rooms for the various departments and conferences. It is indeed an opportunity for every business man in this city and community to get the very most at the least possible cost.

Commodious touring automobiles will leave Broad street, Elizabeth, 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 25, for Philadelphia. This will make a delightful trip. It is purely optional whether you return by automobile or railroad, but it is absolutely essential and beneficial that you attend.

The formal complaint, based on the claims of discrimination against the New Jersey portion of the New York freight rate zone in railroad rates and service, has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. Mayor Mravlag, William Selton and George C. Russell, of Elizabeth, are members of the general committee to assist in prosecuting the complaint. It is expected that if this discrimination can be eliminated it would have the effect of inducing manufacturers to locate in northern New Jersey instead of in New York State.

Rudyard Kipling hit the nail on the head when he wrote the following:

"It ain't the guns nor armament, nor funds that they can pay, but the close co-operation that makes them win the day. It ain't the individual, nor the army as a whole, but the everlastin' teamwork of every bloomin' soul."

An excellent opportunity is given the men of the United States to acquire information and knowledge first-hand regarding the workings of the United States Navy in the summer cruise arranged to take place along the Atlantic coast, beginning August 15 and lasting until September 12.

This is the first time that an opportunity has been given civilians to enable them to be in direct touch with work of this nature. The naval training cruise for civilians represents the same idea on water as is put into play through the Plattsburg camp on land. It is surprising how little the average citizen knows in regard to battleships, torpedo boats, hydro-aeroplanes, etc., and particularly in regard to their active operation in naval warfare. As a rule, those things people know most about, they are most interested in; and it is said by naval officers that if civilians knew more about the navy they would be more directly interested. This interest would be of great benefit to the navy in the promotion of projects which, at the present time, are made almost impossible.

The committee appointed by the Board of Trade is enthusiastically and earnestly taking up the idea of trying to influence a number from Elizabeth to avail themselves of this trip. The committee, at its last meeting last Tuesday night, decided to enlarge the committee so as to enlist the co-operation of other civic organizations, churches and the Board of Education. Wouldn't it be fine if Elizabeth could send forty men to participate and enjoy this summer cruise? With that number it would be possible to have an Elizabeth division. All those desirous of taking this cruise should apply at the Board of Trade rooms as early as possible. The sooner your application is in the better. Any further information desired can be obtained by applying at the Board of Trade rooms, 13th Broad street.

The committee on loft building, a subcommittee of the industrial development committee, met last week and discussed the power building proposition as adaptable to Elizabeth. It was decided that it would be advisable to secure additional data and more definite information before taking further steps in this important project.

MOTHER ADOPTS TWINS.

Cleveland, June 19.—After years of search and patient waiting, Mrs. M. J. Prendergast, 47 years of age, herself a twin, and mother of six children, has adopted her heart's desire, twin baby boys. The babies were orphaned by the death of their mother, a West Virginia cousin of Mrs. Prendergast.

Years ago Mrs. Prendergast began her search. There were three pairs of twins in her father's family; her grandmother had twins, and there were several other pairs on other branches of Mrs. Prendergast's family tree.

The plump youngster has been christened Tom L. Johnson Prendergast, and the smaller one, Newton D. Baker Prendergast, after Cleveland's most celebrated sons.

TO ENFORCE STORAGE LAW.

State Bureau Planning for New Act Effective July 1.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—The State Department of Health is making preparations for the enforcement of the new cold storage act, which goes into effect July 1. Plans for its enforcement are being developed with the expectation that local boards of health will enforce the provisions of the section with reference to the placarding of cold storage food when offered for sale, as it is believed that this work properly comes within the scope of local board of health activities. From the consumer's point of view the requirement as to the placarding of cold storage foods is one of the important provisions of the act. With reference to this point the law reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful to sell, or to offer or expose for sale, articles of food which have been held in any cold storage warehouse for a period of thirty days or over without notifying persons purchasing, or intending to purchase the same, that they have been so kept by the display of a placard conspicuously marked "Cold Storage Goods," on the bulk, mass or articles of food, and it shall be unlawful to represent or advertise as fresh articles of food which have been held in any cold storage warehouse for a period of thirty days or over."

The words, "Cold Storage Goods," on placards displayed in places where such goods are sold must be in solid black letters at least one inch in height. The penalty for failure to make such announcement where cold storage goods are offered for sale, or for advertising as fresh goods that have actually been in cold storage, is from $10 to $50.

The foods which, under the law, are regarded as subject to cold storage methods of preservation include fresh meat and fresh meat products—except in process of manufacture, fresh food, fish, game, poultry, eggs, milk and milk products, and edible fats and oils. It will be noted that the most important foods in this list are the nitrogenous or proteid foods.

The new law makes better provision than the old for the supervision of cold storage plants by providing for the licensing of such plants by the State Department of Health. The act also straightens out some legal difficulties that have hampered prosecutions under the old law. The amount of foods in cold storage must be reported to the State Department of Health monthly instead of quarterly, as heretofore.

How To Choose Your Drug Store

Select your drug store with the same care that you select your doctor.

Trade at a drug store that pays more attention to making a customer than to making a sale.

Trade at the drug store where you can be sure that you are getting the most and the best for your money.

Trade at the drug store where you can "feel at home". Where you can feel at liberty to make use of all the resources a real drug store peculiarly has for your help, convenience and accomodation.

It is that kind of a drug store we take pride in running.

The relations between a druggist and his customers are akin to those between a doctor and his patients.

The moment a druggist forgets this fact he ceases to be a real druggist.

We want you to make use of all the advantages our Service holds out to you.

We are always ready to refund your money without question or quibble on any purchase you make here that is not perfectly satisfactory to you in every respect.

SINGER FIREMEN BREAK RECORDS

Fine Showing Made by Factory Brigade.

FIRST AID NURSES APPEAR AT ANNUAL GAMES.

Although interrupted by several hard showers the annual field day of the fire department of the Singer Manufacturing Company held in the Singer yard on Saturday was a big success. The affair was attended by more than 800 people, while scores looked on from the windows of the factory and applauded the work of the factory fire-fighters.

The event was marked by the appearance for the first time of the firemen in their new uniforms of blue blouses, blue caps and white neckties. These uniforms were secured through the efforts of Superintendent Oliver L. Dosch and were greatly admired.

One of the most interesting features was the initial appearance of the Singer first aid nurses, who occupied a special stand. Wearing the regulation uniform of a nurse with a Red Cross band around the arm the young women received a hearty applause as they marched from the scene of activities. As the Singer fife and drum corps struck up a lively march they stepped out with the precision of trained soldiers. Their marching was highly complimented.

The nurses were organized by Dr. A. O. Buck, the company surgeon. One was selected from each department. They are regular employes of the company, ready to answer any emergency call in their particular department. A course of instruction in first-aid nursing has been outlined for them and they will be given a thorough training. Paul Kaiser is the secretary of the first-aid society and the assistants to Dr. Buck are George Lang and Daniel Mehegan. The nurses are: The Misses Grace Vehgte, Edna Ryder, Edna Werner, Ethel Smith, Florence Burns, Helene Mason, May Duffy, Grace Kitzler, Sadie Donnelly, Ethel Flannagan, Marguerite Murphy, Catherine Nolan, Elizabeth McMahon, Nellie Ellsworth, Mary Galvien, Anna Devlin, Marion Cantress, Clara Donnelly, Effie Doherty, Louise Hoerrner, Agnes Spillane, Ida Martin, Nettie Jackaway, Margaret Connors and Elsie DeGroot.

New Records Established.

The program of events which started at 1 o'clock was marked by the establishment of two new records by Company No. 7, under Foreman John Busch. It opened with a review of the department and the nurses who constitute an auxiliary to the firemen. Headed by the fife and drum corps and Marshal Z. A. Craig they marched past the reviewing stand, after which Philip Sidney, chairman of the fire commissioners, gave a brief address. In the stand were: Superintendent O. L. Dosch, Mr. Sidney, Secretary B. F. Conner, E. F. Hiller, W. J. McConnell, T. N. Garson, P. B. Poucher and Harry Goss, who represented the State Labor Bureau. Other interested spectators were Charles DeDoctor, Police Commissioner Charles H. Moore, Colonel Robert L. Patterson, former Police Chief John A. Peters and William J. Bender.

The first event was the hand extinguisher contest, which was won by Company No. 7. This company broke the previous record of thirteen seconds made by Company No. 9 in 1913, the new time being twelve and two-fifths seconds. In this event two men from each organization participated. One carried a six-gallon extinguisher and the other an ax. They ran fifty yards, mounted a ladder to a roof, cut a hole in a box and played the chemical on the "blaze." The men showed remarkable agility. The department flag, which will be held for the year by the winning company, was the prize.

Company No. 7 established another new record in the ladder contest. This organization broke its own record of eleven seconds made last year, the new time being ten and two-fifths seconds. In this event, the companies ran 100 feet, erected a ladder against a building, the first man mounting it and placing both feet on the roof being the winner. This was somewhat spectacular and demonstrated the agility of the Singer firemen. In several instances men had started to climb the ladder before it had been placed against the building. The Bourne Cup, which will be held for one year, was the prize.

The chemical engine contest proved interesting. Each company ran 200 feet over an angular course with a chemical engine and discharged its contents at a red flag. This was won by Company No. 8, which defeated Company No. 7, the winner of last year. The prize for this event was the house flag.

Wins Alexander Trophy.

Company No. 5 was the winner of the company run for the Alexander trophy, which was won last year by Company No. 7. Each company was required to run 400 feet, detach the hose from the carriage, connect to a hydrant and wet the signal flag. There was quite a lot of amusement, as some of the firemen and spectators standing nearby received a slight "ducking." Companies Nos. 4 and 8 were disqualified because the water was turned on before the nozzle had been securely fastened, causing it to break away from the hose.

This event had to be temporarily discontinued owing to a downpour of rain, which sent the firemen and spectators scampering for cover. It lasted but a few minutes, however, and the program was resumed. In the hose-stretching contest Companies Nos. 1, 3, 5 and 7 participated. In this they were required to streach 1,000 feet of hose and get a stream in action. This was done in forty-nine seconds, a new record over the time made by the same organizations in 1910, when it was one minute and twenty-two seconds.

The last event was a brigade run. Four companies had to carry seven lengths of hose and nozzle, run 400 feet, couple the hose, connect the hydrant, carry the nozzle to the roof of a building and get the stream in action. This was done by Companies Nos. 2, 4, 6 and 8. The turning on of the fire towers closed the exhibition.

The men were then lined up before the reviewing stand to receive the prizes, but another hard shower caused a temporary break in the program. When the sun once more made its appearance the men again appeared and received their rewards from Superintendent Dosch. He congratulated the men on their fine work and commented upon the fact that they were not fair weather fighters. "If the time ever comes," he said, "for real work I know you will be on the job. You are capable of it."

Company 7 was rather slow in coming up to the stand, and in presenting their prizes, Superintendent Dosch congratulated the members on their speed in going after the "bacon," but declared they were slow in coming to collect. Company No. 5 won a big silver cup, and in presenting it Superintendent Dosch said: "You received the big cup to-day, and I hope you will enjoy all that can be poured into it."

Cheers for Dosch.

In behalf of the members, Chief Angus A. Beyer thanked Superintendent Dosch for the uniforms, and the men gave three hearty cheers for the head of the Elizabeth plant. Throughout the entire day Chief Beyer stood out prominently in the contests, and the excellent showing made by the department fully demonstrated his ability as a leader. Chief Beyer has been associated with the department for many years. He was appointed first assistant chief in 1905, and upon the resignation of W. S. McCormick as chief in 1910 Mr. Beyer was named as head of the department.

Following the program the fire commissioners and firemen held a banquet at Schmoldt's Hotel, Third and Trumbull street, and the floor captains at Kohlenberger's Hotel in Trumbull street. The nurses were entertained in the private dining-room in the factory. It was announced that the annual outing of the department will be held July 20.

The floor captains are:

Do you want a clear skin?

Many an otherwise attractive man or woman is a social failure because of a poor complexion. If your skin is not fresh, smooth and glowing, or has suffered from an unwise use of cosmetics, let Resinol Soap help nature to clear it, in a normal, healthy way.

Simply use Resinol Soap regularly once or twice a day, and see if it does not quickly soothe and cleanse the pores, lessen the tendency to pimples, and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvety.

When the skin is in really bad condition, spread on just a little Resinol Ointment for ten minutes before using Resinol Soap. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For samples, free, write to Dept. 25-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Best for Shaving Stick.

STATE PRISON DATA IS GIVEN

New Wage Scale Encourages Convicts to Work.

PRISONERS RAISE VEGETABLES FOR OWN USE.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—Interesting statistics are given in the annual report of the New Jersey State prison, just issued for the year 1915. The board of inspectors last fall decided on a wage scale for the convicts of 2½ cents a day and this encourages the men in their work. This applies to all prisoners who work in the prison and at the farm and road camps. At the Leesburg farm 285 acres have been cleared of wood and brush. Enough vegetables have been raised at the farm to provide much of the food for the prisoners.

The products raised at the farm amounted to $4,753.03. These included 17,068 quarts of milk, 224 dozen eggs, 185 baskets of green peas, 5,000 heads of cabbage, 665 bushels of field corn, 1,527 pumpkins, 1,546 cantaloupes, 26,974 pounds of tomatoes, 1,856 bushels of potatoes, etc. Aside from this, thousands of feet of lumber were cut and sold.

Twenty-seven prisoners made escapes from the camps and farm during the year. Considerable printed matter is now turned out at the prison, where a printing office has been established. Seventeen died during the year and seven were electrocuted. Eleven were committed to the State Hospital for the Insane and 375 were paroled.

Nine men are serving life sentences, one man is serving a 60-year sentence, thirty-five are in for 30 years, sixteen are in for 25 years, twenty in for 20 years, nineteen in for 15 years, nine for 14 years, 111 for 12 years, seventeen for 10 years, and fifteen for 7 years.

Essex county leads with the greatest number of men, having 270, while Camden is second with 139. Hudson has 126 and Mercer seventy-four. Italians lead in number, there being 211 of that race, while China has three. One prisoner was only 13 years old when received at the institution, while 101 were from 15 to 20 years. The majority of convicts were young when received.

During the year 1914, 481 men were received, while during 1915 the average was nearly one a day. One hundred and sixty-three of the men cannot read or write. Of the 1,354 prisoners, 1,013 are white males, and 320 colored males.

The different class of expenditures, for maintenance account, amounted to $178,961.56. The total earnings through the shops amounted to $63,077.09.

Of the sixty men sentenced to be electrocuted, forty-two were killed, twelve were afterward given prison sentences, one committed suicide while waiting a new trial, one died suddenly on the day set for electrocution and four are now waiting to be put to death. The amount of food consumed amounted to 2,360,113 pounds. This included 445,000 pounds of potatoes, 87,336 pounds of fresh beef and 114,170 pounds of corned beef.

The mail received for the prisoners included 31,393 letters, and 17,599 letters were mailed for the convicts. The total number of packages received was 9,527.

A modern hospital is provided for the prisoners, while there are two clinics a week for treatment of chronic eye, ear, nose and throat diseases. Every prisoner is vaccinated when received. The principal disease in the institution is tuberculosis, and this is due to the lack of space for daily exercise.

THE VEXED MEXICAN SITUATION.

War clouds hang low and black over the Rio Grande. The President has answered General Venustiano Carranza's insolent threat by calling out the National Guard of the several States for border duty. The order is issued as a measure of safety. There are few who do not find in the present situation, however, a gravely serious crisis.

The militia will be mobilized to take the places of regular troops now guarding the border against bandits and invaders. Upon their arrival the regulars will be given freedom to support the troops already operating across the border.

The United States may or may not be provoked into taking drastic action in dealing with the Mexican situation. What happens will depend entirely upon the obstinate, vainglorious so-called head of the Mexican Government. It is hoped that wiser counsels than now govern may prevail at the Mexican capital. This country cannot do less, however, than prepare for the worst. It will not do to allow the Mexicans to catch us napping.

The present crisis might readily have been expected at almost any time during the past three years. In fact, it is not more serious than the one precipitated when Vera Cruz was occupied. It is the direct and logical result of the Administration's method of dealing with the Mexican situation. The Administration, in supporting Carranza, has nurtured a viper, and the reptile is now ready to strike. If war ensues, Carranza will be able to turn guns against the soldiers of Uncle Sam that the Administration unwisely put into his hands.

The mischief has been done, however, and there is now no choice of action. While the people of the United States do not desire war, if it comes, the Government must be and will be supported. If it comes, it should not end until the fear of this country has been put into Mexican hearts and order and government has supplanted present anarchy and chaos in that distracted country. This country should do for Mexico, if the call comes, as much as has been done for the Cubans and the Filipinos.

A TURN FOR THE BETTER.

There was a time when the European conflict first began that the sympathies of a large percentage of Americans were with the Teutonic allies. The thing that more than anything else acted upon the American mind to change it was the foolish propaganda established for the purpose of forcing German opinions down American throats. It was accompanied by that other accursed attempt to bulldoze our public men and cripple our industries.

So-called German American organizations and individuals and the activities of the paid agents of the German government and the insistent, arrogant clamorings of the language newspapers and magazines served to alienate Americans by the thousands who leaned heavily to the German cause.

Some of the wiser heads among Germans in this country have recently pointed out the blunders that have been made. Professor Kuko Franeke charges that the German sympathizers in this country are themselves to blame because Americans are arrayed so largely on the side of the Allies.

Many Germans have seen the mistake that has been made and are laboring to correct it. It will be noticed, for instance, that Dr. Charles J. Hexamer, president of the National German-American Alliance, in his Flag Day address at Philadelphia did not once mention the word "German-American." He did often say "we Americans." He said it with a spirit of earnestness and loyalty that can hardly be questioned.

WHICH IS MOST SACRED?

Which, as a matter of fact, is the most important, most sacred, most responsible and most dignified position, the office of Chief Executive of the Nation, or the position of Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States? Has it demeaned the dignity of the judicial office held by him that former Justice Hughes resigned his position to accept the nomination for the Presidency, or has his action increased the confidence of Americans in the quality of the justices of the court to have one of them drafted for service in the higher office at a time when the needs of country demanded the service?

The circumstances under which Charles Evans Hughes became the Republican candidate are well-known to the country. They are known to every Democrat as well as every Republican. He did not want the office. The leaders of the party, to whom party success means more than anything else, did not want him. He answered a call to service that came spontaneously from the great heart of the people.

The bench is honored and its prestige has been augmented by the act that recognized the ability, integrity and breadth of vision of one of its members.

NO ROOM FOR THE HYPHENATES.

The New York World, showing a despicable kind of partisanship of which that newspaper is too often guilty, demeans the republic and the American people by attempting to make it appear that either candidate or either dominant party would in any way lend comfort to the noxiousness of a divided allegiance. The World forgets, in its vain endeavor to drag down the Republican candidate, that it drags down the republic. Such an act, under the circumstances, unprovoked, amounts to little less than treason.

The New York Times, a substantial Democratic newspaper, rebukes the poltroonery of the World as follows:

"Both candidates are American in heart and soul. Both expressly renounce the support of voters who are not first of all, and above all, Americans. Neither leaves any place in the campaign for those who put some other allegiance above their allegiance to the United States. * * *

"The candidates of both parties have put the hyphen and the hyphenates out of the campaign. Now let the politicians and the managers see to it that they are kept out. There was a tremendous effort made at Chicago to get hyphenate matter into the Republican platform. It failed. A mightier effort will be made at St. Louis. Some of the Democrats on the committee on resolutions are more than suspected of a certain sympathy with the vociferous group of misrepresentative German-Americans who will try to secure recognition in the platform for the alien interests they seek to promote. It would be a monstrous political blunder to let them have their way. Ten Eastern States, including New York, will be lost to the party that attempts any catering to the hyphen vote. It would be a crime to lift the condemnation that both candidates have pronounced upon the pest of divided allegiance. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes have put the hyphen out of American politics. Keep it out."

AN UNDILUTED AMERICAN.

There is only one small punky in the Republican ointment. The German-American Alliance, out of patience with the President and having no one else to support, saw fit to endorse the candidacy of Charles Evans Hughes. The endorsement was given him before the Republican candidate had uttered a word making known his sentiments; while he was yet in a position making it impossible for him to express himself upon this particular matter of divided allegiance and hyphenism. He had not been able to repudiate the implied allegation that he lacked in Americanism.

The more partisan of the Democratic newspapers have seized upon the circumstance and are making it a text for a petty attack upon the loyalty of the Republican candidate. When questioned during his stay in New York about his attitude toward the hyphenates, Mr. Hughes made known his convictions as clearly and forcibly as it is possible to state a thing by the use of English speech. He said:

"My attitude is one of undiluted Americanism. Anybody who supports me is supporting an out-and-out American, an out-and-out American policy, and nothing else.

"I had thought that I stated my position on this subject very clearly in my telegram to the Republican Convention, but if there is any doubt about it I am ready to say it again."

Such a statement will satisfy every fair-minded American.

Human fallibility is often emphasized by witnesses on the stand under oath. An instance in point is shown by the testimony of a witness in the Orpet case, now before the courts of Wisconsin. The chum of the dead victim of the tragedy retracts as a State witness evidence that aided the State when it was given before the coroner's inquest and replaces it with quite a different statement. Isn't it about time that something should be done to make a witness in a life-and-death case more responsible for his or her statements?

Eulogizing President Wilson in his "keynote" speech at the St. Louis convention, Martin H. Glynn perorated as follows: "He has fastened the brakes of justice upon the wheels of power; he has lifted the mists from the temple where our liberties are enshrined." Whadye mean, Marty, "fastened the brakes of justice on the wheels of power?" And with what did he lift the mists from the temple—a jackscrew?

"Weights and measures week" in New York City was opened yesterday with services in many churches, during which sermons were preached on the subject of the celebration or references were made to it from the pulpit. Evidently the campaign for common honesty is to be one fight right after the other.

The Bull Moose decided not to get their long legs tangled in the net that the Democrats set for them at St. Louis. There is nothing about the Democratic party that is alluring to a Progressive.

Among the numerous alluring figments of the summer resort write-ups that of "The Summer Capital" applies only to our own Long Branch.

It is a safe bet that the next Vice-President will hail from Indiana.

A railroad strike right in the midst of the vacation season might boom the stock of the steamboat lines, anyway.

Third Parties in U. S. Politics.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Washington, June 19.—The spectacular part which the Progressive Party has now played during two Presidential years recalls the stories of other third parties which have had an important place in the American political drama.

Nearly always their activities have been striking and picturesque, accompanied by a great deal of noise and enthusiasm. Nearing always, after a few years, they have completely, quietly and forever disappeared, and their prophets have either been forgotten or have mounted new hobbies.

This ephemeral and disturbing character has given third parties rather a doubtful standing in the minds of many persons who are more conservative than discerning; and it is certain that the significance of these political movements has never been generally understood. As a matter of fact, third parties, despite the excesses of zeal and doctrine that have characterized many of them, have been the real instruments of economic and social reform in the United States. Invariably, they have weakened the more reactionary of the two stronger parties, and have thus brought about the success of the more liberal. Always, too, they have brought forth a large brood of political creeds and dogmas, some of which would not stand the test of logic and common sense, and others that became planks of other party platforms and were enacted into law.

* * *

By far the most interesting of these third parties was the Populist party of Kansas, which polled a formidable vote for President in two elections, was represented in both Houses of Congress, and controlled several State governments. To its splitting of the vote was largely due Cleveland's defeat of Harrison by a narrow margin. It fathered the notorious "free silver" doctrine, which died a natural death after having helped to defeat the Democratic party. On the other hand, the income tax was a Populist doctrine, and to the prestige attained by that party is largely due the adoption of the income tax as a plank in the Democratic platform, and its final enactment into law.

* * *

The story of the Populist party is so typical of third party movements that it is worth a detailed account. It had its origin in the eighteen-eighties, and in the discontent of Western farmers. At that time the American market for foodstuffs was in a condition almost incredible in this day of high living expense. Farmers got only forty cents a bushel for wheat, and ten to thirteen cents for corn, while fat cattle sold at one and one-half to three cents a pound. The farmer could live off his own acres, but he sought in vain to get any cash. In some States, corn was actually burned because it was cheaper than coal.

* * *

This condition was probably due, in considerable measure, to overproduction. Our urban population was a great deal smaller then; the country could not eat what it raised. The farmers, however, encouraged by ambitious political leaders, laid the blame upon monometallism (the gold standard) protective tariffs, exorbitant freight rates, and many other things that might be remedied by legislation.

* * *

The immediate outcome of this situation was the formation of a large number of farmer's organizations, among the strongest of which was the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, which ultimately attained a membership of millions. This and other similar organizations met and discussed at length their grievances against the politicians and the railroads, and sought a measure that would bring relief. The silver miners of the Western States suggested one. They pointed out that a scarcity of the circulating medium, especially at crop-moving time, was at the root of the farmers' trouble, and that unlimited coinage of silver was the remedy. This idea took swift and vigorous hold. It seemed logical, it offered a quick and complete solution of the difficulty by the passage of one measure of legislation. Trained economists, who had studied the history of currency, knew that bimetallism was an antiquated doctrine, which had been tried and found wanting; but anything they had to say was drowned out by the noise of perfervid oratory.

The Farmers' Alliance took to itself one National organization after another, and soon became a formidable political influence. In the campaign of 1890 it elected some thirty Congressmen, a Senator and three Governors by its influence, and that in spite of desperate efforts on the part of both the old parties to ridicule, abuse and orate it out of existence.

The growth of its political activity gradually brought about the organization of the membership of the Farmers' Alliance into a political party. "People's Parties" were organized in one State after another, and finally, in 1892 a National nominating convention was held at Omaha. It was a stormy one. Fervid leaders hotly denounced both the old parties; the delegates went wild with excitement, climbed on the chairs and tables, paraded all over the hall, and generally interfered with the proceedings.

* * *

Sufficient order was finally obtained to nominate "General Jumping Jim" Weaver for President and James G. Field for Vice-President. A vigorous campaign was carried on, in the face of all sorts of difficulties. In the South the rural population was largely Populist, but the cities were controlled by the Democrats, and the Populist candidates encountered such vociferous opposition that they had to give up some parts of their speaking tours. Nevertheless, the Populist party polled over 1,000,000 votes for President, was the first "third party" to obtain a place in the electoral college, and elected a number of Senators and Congressmen. In 1894 the country was torn by labor troubles which reacted strongly in favor of the Populists. They polled nearly 1,500,000 votes, and elected six Senators and seven Congressmen. After that the party gradually ceased to function, largely because the Democrats had taken up many of its chief dogmas. Largely ridiculed, it had nevertheless administered a rebuke to the party in power, and initiated principles that were to become a part of the National law.

* * *

The fore-runner of the Populist party was the Greenback party. The basic principle of this organization was that the Government should issue paper money directly, and that it should be used in the payment of Government bonds; but this party did not attain any real power until it united with the Labor Reform party. Among its principles were that grants of Government land to corporations should be discontinued, and that Oriental labor should be excluded from this country.

* * *

The Greenback party first nominated Peter Cooper, famous New York capitalist and founder of Cooper Institute, for President. He was 85 years old, and, of course, made no active canvass. There were about 80,000 votes cast for him. Later, in a non-presidential year, the party polled over 1,000,000 votes. Then General Weaver was nominated for the Presidency in 1880. He received only 300,000 votes. Nevertheless his campaign was memorable and significant. He traveled 20,000 miles and made over 100 speeches. He was the first leader to thus go directly before the people with his cause, and the first one successfully to crystallize and use that body of radical reform sentiment which has come to play such an important part as the balance of power in American politics.

Observations and Reflections of An American Sightseer.

Lahore.

Lahore gives a striking impression of the great age of civilization in India. In this crowded old Punjab town you see here and there a house twelve or fifteen feet below the street level, with its roof little higher than the first story of surrounding buildings. That house is a remnant of past centuries when the whole city stood many feet lower than it does now. Lahore tops a low mound, and that mound is made up of its own past centuries. Penned in its narrow walls the city has been rebuilt again and again over old ruins until the ground level slowly lifted.

Lahore has been called the heart of India. Here the customs of the northern peoples, at least, have crystalized with time, until the touch of English progress can barely ripple the surface. There is a college for native princes in Lahore, where the sons of rajahs are taught the ways and the learning of the occident, but experience shows that while a few such youths may introduce reforms and changes on their return to their kingdoms, for the most part western culture is but a phase with them. They turn easily back to the old ways and manners of their fathers before them. As the princes so the people. India is too old to change in a day, or a century.

The life of Lahore is never monotonous to anyone who delights in shifting types and peoples. The city is a meeting-place for north and south. Hither come wealthy traders from the south to meet the trading caravans that ply the Himalayan passes—the rocky snow-blocked routes from Kashmir and Afghanistan. In the caravan-serais Hindu and Musselman, hill-man and plains-dweller meet and dicker. There are Arabs from over the Arabian sea, and Persians from north-westward. The Persian is always a readily recognizable figure with his rich speech and graceful indolent bearing.

The English in Lahore live apart from the native city, the military folk in the cantonment and the men of the civil service in Donald Town, the European quarter. Their post is no enviable one in the hot weather, with the thermometer haunting the hundred mark night and day, but in winter Lahore has a delightful climate, and the white man leaveus his exile with all the sports and social gayeties of the little island half-a world away.

PENNSY MAKES APPEAL TO MEN

Asks Employes to Stand by Road if Strike Comes.

OTHER RAILROADS MAY FOLLOW EXAMPLE.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has sent out an appeal to its 146,000 employes east of Pittsburgh to stand by the road in case of a strike, which is considered imminent as a result of the railroad's refusal to concede the demands of the freight trainmen. The four brotherhoods of railroad employes who have been in conference with the management since June 1 consider it a challenge, and President A. B. Garretson, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors, calls it an effort to intimidate the men. It is said that other railroads will adopt a similar method.

The railroad's call, issued by General Manager S. C. Long, is as follows:

"Your attention is called to the fact that a conference which has been in session in New York City between general managers of railroads of the United States and the presidents of the four trainmen's organizations has resulted in a disagreement.

"A strike ballot is being taken by the train employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

"The total cessation of train movement will result in the stopping of work in all departments, with consequent loss of earnings to all employes.

"We do not believe the contemplated strike will be ordered by any of our loyal employes. This company employs 146,000 men. Of this number 25,000 are in the train service. It is not reasonable to expect that the wages of the remaining 121,000 employes not in the train service shall be jeopardized or stopped by a strike of less than one-sixth of all the employes.

"Shall these men in defiance of right and justice be permitted to stop the operation of the railroad and deprive it of the ability to serve the public?

"Shall they also be permitted to deprive others of the opportunity to earn wages, producing suffering and distress not only among our employes and their families, but to the public as well?

"The management under the law is required to operate the railroad in the interests of the public, and if a strike eventuates, it will be incumbent on all loyal employes to be faithful to their duty and operate the railroads.

"For seventy years this company has served the public. Many of our men have served the company for twenty-five to forty years, and are still in the employment of the company.

"Shall they be thrown out of work and be deprived of a livelihood by reason of a wage controversy among trainmen not connected with their departments?

"If this strike of trainmen is carried on, our company will require engineers, firemen, conductors and passenger and freight brakemen. The management calls attention of all faithful employes to the necessity that may arise to meet such an emergency.

"Those who feel and believe with the management that the traffic of the company must move, regardless of any wage controversy, and who are willing to volunteer their services to assist the company in doing its duty to the public, to the stockholders and to loyal and faithful employes, will send their names to their immediate superior officers, stating for what service they are volunteering.

"The management gives assurance to those who may volunteer and whose services is accepted that they will retain their positions and will be given all the protection necessary in a crisis of this nature."

CRASHES INTO R. R. ARCH.

Auto Driven by Frank Mooney Snaps Off Front Wheels.

Skidding after the brakes had been applied, an automobile owned by Metz Brothers, proprietors of the Fairmount Garage, 1160 Fairmount avenue, crashed into an abutment of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Union and West Jersey streets shortly after 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The auto was driven by Frank Mooney, of 1111 East Grand street, who applied the brakes as he reached West Jersey street while going north on Union street, in order to avoid a collision.

The car, a Mercer, literally leaped upon the pavement, the front striking the railroad arch with such terrific force as to knock off the front wheels. Witnesses said that Mooney was driving at a speed of less than fifteen miles an hour, but Patrolman Lawler, who witnessed the accident, said that the speed was greater than this. Mooney escaped injury.

GERMANS MOURN.

Services Are Held for Gen. von Moltke, Who Died of Apoplexy.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Berlin, June 19.—Mourning services are being held to-day and others planned in memory of the late Lieutenant General Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the supplementary staff of the German army, who died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday afternoon at a memorial meeting of the Reichstag for the late Fieldmarshal von der Goltz.

Helmuth von Moltke was a nephew of the famous Field Marshal von Moltke, chief of the Germany army in the Franco-Prussian war.

To-day a London newspaper prints a story on good authority that von Moltke was one of the several who urged upon the Kaiser the declaration of war against Russia and France.

COLLEGE TEAMS IMROVE ON RULES OF FOOTBALL

Boston, June 19.—"There's a code of ethics for football players beyond the point where the rules now stop," declared E. K. Hall, chairman of the Football Rules Committee, in a statement made public to-day. Fourteen colleges of the East and West have endorsed the Dartmouth man's remarks and have subscribed to the code which was drawn up last night.

Holding side line coaching, beating the ball, talking to your opponents, talking to officials are all branded as unworthy of college players and the suggestions will be added to this year's rules.

TO CELEBRATE FIELD MASS.

50,000 Expected to Be Present at Weequahic Park Service.

Elizabeth Knights of Columbus and members of Elizabeth Catholic parishes will be present at the celebration of the first solemn high field mass ever held in New Jersey, which will take place next Sunday at Weequahic Park. The ceremony is to be held under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus as one of the events in connection with Newark's 250th anniversary celebration. As the function will be unique in this State, it is anticipated that it will attract fully 50,000 Catholics to Weequahic Park and a large number of persons of other faiths.

The mass will begin promptly at 11 o'clock in the morning, and will be concluded at 12.15 o'clock, approximately. The altar will be erected on a natural elevation within a few rods of the field house looking down over the baseball fields. The space in front of the altar takes in nine baseball diamonds, and, it is believed, will afford ample room for the large crowds expected.

In addition to a general invitation given to the public to attend the service special invitations have been sent to the members of the Committee of One Hundred of the Newark anniversary celebration, to Governor James F. Fielder, to Mayor Thomas L. Raymond and to other State officials and to Essex county and Newark officials, as well as to county and city officials in all parts of New Jersey. Assurances have already been received that there will be a large attendance of Knights of Columbus from all parts of New Jersey and from New York and Brooklyn in response to invitations sent to the various councils of the order. High dignitaries of the church throughout the diocese of Newark and elsewhere have been invited and are expected to attend.

The "Mass Coram Pontifice" will be celebrated with the Bishop, the Right Rev. John J. O'Connor, presiding. The assisting priest will be the Right Rev. Monsignor Isaac P. Whelan, and the Right Rev. Monsignor Patrick J. Cody, who is one of the members of the Committee of One Hundred, will celebrate the mass. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Michael J. White, pastor of St. Columba's Church. The other officers of the mass will be as follows: Deacon, the Rev. M. P. Corcoran, of St. John's Church; subdeacon, the Rev. Edward F. Quirk, of St. Joseph's Church; deacons of honor, the Rev. James J. McKeever, of St. Rose of Lima's Church, Newark, and the Rev. Rudolph Huelsebush, of St. Augustine's Church, that city; master of ceremonies, the Rev. John A. Duffy, chancellor of the diocese, and the Rev. John A. Dillon, superintendent of parochial schools.

COLDEST IN 45 YEARS.

First Seventeen Days of June Also Record for Rain.

—Trenton, June 19.—For the benefit of those interested in the popular question of what is so rare as a day in June, the local official of the Weather Bureau presents the following facts: Up to June 17 this has been the coldest June in forty-five years, with an average temperature of 61.3 degrees. In the first seventeen days there have been nine continuously rainy days, which is another new record for the first half of the month, although in 1903 there were ten continuously rainy days, June 12 to 21, inclusive. The weather man has no hopes of surpassing this record the present month.

Of Interest in Realms Where Woman Reigns

By LAURA LEONARD.

The Two Neighbors.

Once upon a time, not so many years ago, there were two women who were neighbors. One was a smallish, plain-looking woman with a pleasant smile and a cheerful manner; the other was very good looking, save for a frown that now and then passed across her handsome face. The name of the plain-featured woman, queerly enough, was Mrs. Lovely, while the woman with the handsome features was known as Mrs. Grumpy.

Both of these neighbors were good housekeepers; both knew how to make biscuits that would take a prize in any bread-making contest; both kept their husbands' socks neatly mended and both saw to it that the front door steps never had a chance to collect dust.

But the similarity in their ways of doing things ended there. The other neighbors used to say that there never were two women more unlike.

Somehow, Mrs. Grumpy was not popular in the neighborhood. When a neighbor saw her opening the gate and coming up the walk, she was likely to exclaim: "Oh, dear; there comes Mrs Grumpy." Of course, you, gentle reader, can draw your own inference as to what this meant. After Mrs. Grumpy had gone, and the neighbor was telling her good man, when he came home to supper, all the happenings of the day—when she got to speaking of Mrs. Grumpy's call the husband would pitch a laugh and most likely say: "Oh, Mrs. Grump-Grumpy! And what was she chewing about to-day?" Whatever he meant by that I leave you to guess, but that was about the manner of his remark.

When the grocer saw Mrs. Grumpy's handsome figure coming toward his store he was likely to remark: "Here comes that Mrs. Grumpy. I wonder what's wrong now?" If the grocer clerk could leave the counter, he usually slipped off into the back room before Mrs. Grumpy turned the latch, just to make it appear that he was out.

It was the same at the butcher's. The butcher liked Mrs. Grumpy's money just as well as he liked Mrs. Lovely's, better, perhaps, because Mrs. Grumpy spent more. But he had been heard to say that "it always gave him a turn" when he saw Mrs. Grumpy coming. This was because, try as hard as he might, it did not seem possible to please Mrs. Grumpy. There was always something for her to find fault about. Sometimes it was because the butcher boy did not shut the gate. She had asked him a dozen times, she explained, never to leave it open because the big dog across the way might get in and scratch up her garden. Sometimes she found fault because the weather was too hot—or too cool, or because it didn't get "settled," or because her garden wouldn't grow or because the butcher had painted his store green instead of a nice white, or because the butcher boy delivered the meat the day before, ten minutes too early. It seemed that things went wrong just to spite her and that she carried around with her a spirit of fault-finding that enveloped her in a nimbus just as the olden time saints used to be surrounded by a halo of glorified light. Mrs. Grumpy's halo had no glory in it, which made a difference.

The grocer clerk and the butcher boy and a good many other people used to say, that since Mrs. Grumpy was bound to feel uncomfortable anyway, what was the use of trying to please her? It only made her more uncomfortable. So the butcher boy continued to fetch the meat too early and the grocer boy kept on forgetting to shut the gate every time he went to Mrs. Grumpy's house, just so that she should not be made too uncomfortable by having nothing to complain about.

With Mrs. Lovely it was quite different. When she was a little girl, she had heard somebody say, "Molasses traps more flies than vinegar does." She didn't quite understand what it meant, then. But when she grew up and became a housekeeper and learned the ways of flies she remembered the homely saying and understood it.

All her friends used to say that Mrs. Lovely was "just too sweet for anything." The grocer clerk liked to carry goods to her house, and she never had to remind him to shut the gate. The butcher boy took pains to get her delivery made just at the right time, and as for the butcher and grocer, they were so pleased to have Mrs. Lovely come into the store that they fairly beamed on her and rubbed the palms of their hands together from sheer satisfaction.

It was the same when Mrs. Lovely went visiting. She seemed to carry happiness with her and there was always a welcome waiting for her. Her relations were quite sure to be jealous if she spent more time with one than with the other, and good will surrounded her as happiness surrounds a bride.

When Mrs. Grumpy took sick and died, the neighbors said: "Well, she's gone at last, poor soul! I wonder if she will find fault with heaven!"

When it became known that The Last Sickness had fallen on Mrs. Lovely there was not a family in her part of the country that did not feel sorry. And they said: "Heaven will be the happier now, because she will be there."

The moral is, that if you are looking for a halo you should take pains to get the right kind of a one.

Pelerines.

Pelerines seem to be a distinguishing feature in fashion, tied at the waist, the ends finished with a bow and distended on either side, says the Queen, London. The cape effect has crept into evening gowns, cut after Velasquez and other Spanish voluminous shapes, with many fluffy frillings of chiffon beneath. Magnificent evening wraps are made in rich tones of tulle shot with gold, having a huge upstanding collar, and we are copying the capes of Joffre blue which the messengers wear.—Exchange.

Sport Hats Have Floppy Brims—Sometimes.

The sport sailor does not disdain shepherdess lines, as witness this new model from a very authoritative milliner. That hat is of supple leghorn and white net is shirred over the brim to the edge, where a frill of black net is joined on under a cording. The band and streamers are of black and white grosgrain ribbon. The hat looks well with a sport blouse of striped linen in black and white.

Sleepy-Time Tales.

By HOUSTON G. CURRIER.

Cuffy Bear Goes Swimming.

As Cuffy Bear tore through the forest, with the bees clustering all about his head, he thought he never would reach the brook. He was going straight for the deep pool, which he had often visited in order to watch the speckled trout darting about in the clear water.

Now and then Cuffy paused in his mad rush, to bury his face in the thick blanket of dead leaves that covered the ground. But just as soon as he raised his head the bees would settle on his face again. And Cuffy would rush off once more as fast as he could go.

At last he came to the brook. And he leaped right off the big boulder that hung high over the pool and landed kersplash! right in the middle of it. How the water did fly in all directions! And Cuffy went right down out of sight.

Of course, the bees wouldn't go down into the water, too. They knew they'd be drowned if they did. So they hungered in a swarm above the water. They hovered there in the air and waited. And when, after a moment, Cuffy's head came up out of the pool, they swooped down and began to sting him again.

Cuffy promptly ducked his head. And he swam under water to the further side of the pool and came up once more. To his surprise the bees were right there waiting for him. And he ducked under again, and swam to the opposite side near the big boulder. And once more, when he came up to breathe, he found the buzzing bees all ready to pounce upon his nose.

So poor Cuffy had to keep pulling his head down into the pool. He would keep it there just as long as he could hold his breath; and then he would simply have to stick his nose out of the water in order to draw some fresh air into his lungs.

It was not long before Cuffy became very tired from so much swimming. So he found a shallow place where he could stand on the bottom of the brook, with just enough water to cover him, and where he could poke his nose out whenever he had to. And just as often as his little black nose came up above the surface of the pool the bees lighted on it and stung Cuffy again.

All the rest of the afternoon poor Cuffy had to stay there in the water. For the bees did not leave him until sundown. And then, when the last one had gone, Cuffy crawled out of the brook and started toward home. His little round body and his sturdy little legs were not warm now, as they had been when he sat down beneath the tree to get cool. For the mountain brook was ice-cold; and Cuffy felt quite numb from standing in it so long. But cold as he was, his face felt like fire. And for some reason, which Cuffy couldn't understand, he could hardly see to pick his way through the shadows of the forest.

When they found that the other campers were not there yet. It was quite natural, however, that they should carry on their conversation of the day before.

"You know, Jack," said James, "what you told me yesterday about Columbus being prepared to the extent of a caravel is great, but what about the poor sailors when they came to land in a strange country?"

"Oh, they were prepared, too," said Jack. "Each one had a _____ or a _____."

Cheery Chats and Side Talks

Clothes Psychology.

By RUTH CAMERON.

THE psychology of clothes is always an interesting study.

First we make (or buy) our clothes, and then our clothes make us.

"It's positively weird," a friend of mine said to me the other day, "the way I feel in that new hat. I never had a big, striking hat before and it makes me feel loud. When I have it on I feel myself walking and holding my arms akimbo, the funny way girls who are a little loud do, and even sitting with my feet crossed and my skirts way up. It's all that horrid hat."

Most of us have had some similar experience. Some special garment has struck a keynote and we have found ourselves living up or down to it.

We Ought to Be Able to Rise Above Clothes, But ——

I suppose we ought to be able to rise above clothes, but so few of us are.

Shabby clothes make us feel shabby and apologetic and inefficient. New clothes make us feel smart and up-to-date. Becoming clothes give us rightful self-confidence. To be overdressed makes us uncomfortably clothes-conscious.

I heard of a woman the other day who wanted to help a girl in whom she was interested to obtain a position. To that end she insisted on supplying her with a complete outfit of clothes, not particularly expensive, but smart and becoming. "And when she put those clothes on," her benefactress says, "her whole manner changed. She stood straighter, she smiled, she looked like another girl. And she got the position, not only because she looked more attractive, but because she had more compelling power in her."

"How can you find time to change your dress and fix yourself up for the afternoon every day? I should think you'd be too busy and too tired," I said one day to a mother of four small children.

It Rests Her to Change Her Dress.

"It rests me to change my dress," she said. "If I can possibly find the time, I bathe and put on different underwear as well as a different dress."

The whole subject of dress and its effect on us merits not more attention, but more scientific attention, than most women give it.

Their children, their homes, their clothes, their social relationships, are the channels for self-expression for the woman without a profession. To have a self worth expressing and to express it well in all these directions, is a task that no woman need despise.

FACE ONE MASS OF HORRIBLE PIMPLES

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I looked a frightful sight a few months ago. My face was just one mass of horrible pimples and blackheads, and new ones were always sure to appear as soon as the old ones were gone. The pimples were large and hard and would bleed most of the time. My skin became dry and would itch which forced me to scratch it and by so doing I would irritate it until it pained. I could hardly sleep.

"The trouble lasted for six or seven months and I used everything that was recommended to me, but I wasn't relieved. Then my Doctor recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I began to use them. The pimples began to dry up in two weeks and in about four weeks I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Helen Silverman, 170 E. 4th St., New York City, July 10, 1915.

TODAY'S DAINTIEST DISH

COOKERY IS BECOME A NOBLE SCIENCE

Broiled Lamb Chops With Peas

By CONSTANCE CLARKE.

THE lamb chops should be cut to the desired thickness, trimmed neatly, removing all unnecessary fat, seasoned with a little salt and pepper, and broiled, turning them every three minutes, allowing eight minutes for chops cut one inch thick.

The distinctive touch of this dish is its Bernaise sauce. Once one serves this with lamb chops it will be found an indispensable adjunct to the chops thereafter.

SAUCE—Reduce two tablespoonfuls of white tarragon vinegar to about half the quantity with twelve crushed peppercorns, half a saltspoon of paprika pepper, two bay leaves, a little thyme, one small onion, then add four raw yolks of eggs, and work in by degrees a quarter of a pound of butter, then strain. This sauce requires care in making.

Take two cups of shelled peas and put them into boiling water with a bunch of mint tied in a piece of muslin; season the water with a little salt, sugar, and a tiny pinch of soda; boil the peas gently for fifteen to twenty minutes, then strain off and mix them with three tablespoonfuls of butter. Serve on the dish with the chops. Arrange chops around a mound of toasted bread and serve the sauce in a sauce boat.

Saving the Babies.

Out of every thousand babies born in the United States, at least 112 die before they are a year old.

In New Zealand the number is only 51 to the thousand.

The chief reason for the high mortality in this country is the lack of care given to the child and mother preceding and following birth.

New Zealand has the lowest infant death rate in the world, because it has been actively working to improve the health of women and children.

Caring for children so that they live and thrive has come to be regarded as a science. But it is a science based upon simple, practical rules. They can be readily followed by any woman who will take the trouble to learn them.

The health and life of babies is of value to the entire community, because upon them depends its future prosperity. Every baby has a right to living conditions conducive to his welfare. This right is becoming recognized by every intelligent community as well as by individual parents.

Scientists are giving intensive study to all the requirements of these conditions. Their study is producing knowledge which will help you to keep your baby in good health, to lessen his chance for early death, to make his prospect for growing up more certain.

The Elizabeth Daily Journal will place in the hands of any reader the literature of the United States Public Health Service on the care of the baby.

HOPE MEMORIAL MARKS PROGRESS

Services Held on Anniversary of Sunday School.

UNVEIL BRONZE MEMORIAL TO THOMAS R. WHITE, JR.

Hope Memorial was filed to its capacity yesterday afternoon, when appropriate exercises to mark the forty-second anniversary of the founding of the Sunday school were held and a tablet to the late Thomas R. White, Jr., was unveiled by Frank C. Ketterer, Jr., and F. W. Buerkle, of the Adult Bible class. Fourteen children were baptized and fifty pupils were graudated from the different departments. A special offering, for the benefit of the building fund, netted a substantial sum. A banner of white silk with gold lettering was presnted to the school.

The tablet in memory of Mr. White, designed by the Rev. J. H. M. Dudley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, is of bronze and bears the following inscription: "1858-1916. To the Glory of God and in Loving Memory of Thomas R. White, Jr." This is followed by a Latin quotation: "Who went about doing good." Brief addresses were made by Mr. Dudley, Clarence J. Buzby, and prayer was offered by the Rev. Louis B. Crane, D. D., pastor of Westminster Church.

The evening service of the congregation was of a patriotic nature and was distinguished by the presence of Elizabeth Council, No. 10, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, numbering about seventy-five. The decorations were of red, white and blue, and the National emblem was much in evidence. Special music was a feature. The Rev. William B. Hamilton, the pastor, preached on the subject "The Price of Freedom," and took his text from Acts 22, twenty-eighth verse: "And the chief captain answered, 'With a great sum obtained I this freedom. And Paul said, 'But I was free born.'"

Mr. Hamilton spoke of the flag, what it stands for, and briefly of the treatment it has received at the hands of certain persons of late. He referred to the burning of the flag by the Rev. Bonck White in New York City and of a woman who had intentionally trampled upon the colors. eH also outlined the history of the National emblem.

In part Mr. Hamilton said: "I am intensely American. I believe positively that we should not take orders from any foreign power, directly or indirectly. We have paid the price ofour freedom, any anyone who becomes a citizen of this country should obligate himself to stand by the country to which he has pledged allegiance.

"There are two great enemies of freedom, ignorance and slavery. The latter includes evil, the power of drink, bad habits, immorality. You can help to fight against the slavery of intemperance by standing by those of the Exeise Board who are fighting this curse. Woman has her part in the organized effort against wrong. She can make an orgnized effort in the school, in the city, in the State and principally in the home. She ha san opportunity for organized effort in the church.

"You don't have to go to war to be honored as a patriot. We should honor those in the past who have paid the price and upon the fruits of whose labors in science, art and literature we are now gthering."

TRANSFER RECORDS.

Police Indexing Arrests Made in New Card System.

Detective-Sergeant Willitm Campbell, Desk Sergeant Kelper and Patrolman Orthlof are engaged in the task of transferring records of the police department to the card index system which was recently installed at police headquarters.

The names are being placed upon the cards with complete description of the arrest and disposition dating back to 1906. As arrests average 3,000 each year, the task is far from a light one. In past years the records were kept in volumes in such manner as to make searches for past records of prisoners difficult and dengthy.

THE SPEED OF ANIMALS.

Scientists Have Computed Rates From Horse to Tortoise.

Interesting computations have been made by certain scientists as to the speed of various animals, and from these we gather that a riding horse usually covers forty inches in a second while walking, while at a jog-trot it covers eleven feet in a second.

The elephant, which can pull more than six horses, moves over about four and one-half feet in a second, and running as rapidly as it can is able to travel only about eighteen feet in a second.

The lion is said to run faster than the swiftest hunting horse, which is from eighty to 100 feet a second, according to the country through which it is compelled to travel.

Tests differ greatly as to the speed of a hare. Some claim it can travel at the rate of sixty feet a second, while others claim it cannot travel more than half that distance.

The great variety of deer are all very speedy, but in certain localities they can travel much more rapidly than in others. A roebuck has been known to cover seventy-four feet a second when pursued by dogs.

The giraffe is said to pass over the ground at the rate of about fifty feet a second, while the kangaroo covers ten to fourteen feet a second.

The tortoise travels at the rate of about half an inch in a second.—New York Journal.

DEFENDANR REARRANGED.

Front Street Man Fined for Failure to Educate Daughter.

Frank Dowdoivez, of 226 Front street, was rearraigned before Judge Mahon in police court yesterday on a charge of violating the compulsory education law, the complaint being brought by Andrew P. Hughes, secretary of the Board of Education. Mr. Hughes has the defendant before the court two weeks ago when alleged misstatements made by Dowdoives resulted in Judge Mahon adjourning the case in order that an investigation might be made.

When first arraigned, the defendant testified that he had not sent his daughter to St. Peter and Ptul's School because the girl was in New Brunswick with relatives in that city and was attending school there. In the meantime Mr. Hughes invpstigated and found, he testified, that the girl was keeping house for two brothers in New Brunswick and was not attending any school. Judge Mahon reprimanded the defendant for his former misstatements and imposed a fine of $5.

A large class of children received their first Holy Communion yesterday morning at the Church of the Assumption. The Rev. S. J. LoVecchio, pastor of the church, was the celebsant of the mass.

The sixth annual strawberry festival and dance of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Church of the Assumption will be held to-morrow night in Assumption Hall. The women will be assisted by a number of the men of the parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Brueckner, of 401 Westfield avenue, east, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace Katherine Brueckner, to Harold A. Hurley, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hurley, of 16 Wyoming avenue, Elizabeth.

UNION.

The Christian Endeavor meeting in Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church last night was led by Mrs. Gideon Ludlow, of Cranford. Mrs. Ludlow was one of the originators of the Christian Endeavor Society in Connecticut Farms Church.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached last night by the Rev. Harry Nesbitt to the graduates of the Union Township High School. The members of the class are: Marion Keenan, Marion Kennedy, Gertrude Meyh, Isabella Parks, Russell Parks and Samuel Levine. The faculty of the High School, also present, consists of the Misses Margaret Plume, Alice Hemmenway and Edith Week.

At the commencement exercises of the eighth grade of Connecticut Farms Grammar School on Wednesday evening one of the most interesting features will be the exercise, "The District School." The school will be in charge of Earl Miller, the president of the class, who will demonstrate the scope of the instruction that the class received during the term by asking such questions as exemplify the subject matter. Mrs. Laura G. Burns, departmental teacher of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, who has charge of the music, is drilling the pupils in the musical part of the program.

Preparations for the high school commencement to be held in the church on Thursday evening are being made by the faculty. The commencement program will be somewhat different from the customary exercises. Only two essays will be read and a few musical selections sung, after which an address will be given by a prominent speaker.

A strawberry and ice cream festival will be given in the Town Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church.

The Town Committee will hold its regular meeting this evening in the Town Hall.

"I TOLD YOU SO," SAYS THE QUAKER MAN

So Great Was the Demand for Quaker Herb Extract That All Could Not Be Supplied at Gorsuch's Last Saturday—Call During the Week if You Can and Be Assured of Attention.

Things happened just as the Quaker man predicted. Last Saturday, especially during the evening hours, the demand for Quaker Extract was so great that many people could not await their turn to be supplied. This is regrettable, but it was unavoidable. Much of this crush and inconvenience could be avoided if people would call during the week. The Quaker man can be seen every morning, afternoon and evening at Gorsuch's drug store, No. 129 Broad street, so try to arrange your visit accordingly. The question arises, "What is causing or has caused this tremendous demand for Quaker Herb Extract?" If you have been reading this paper regularly of late you will know the answer to this question. It may be answered in one word—"RESULTS." Results in cases of rheumatism, catarrh, stomach, liver and kidney complaints; results in cases of tapeworms, pinworms and stomach worms; results to men, women and children in all parts of the city; results which cannot be doubted; results which have been proved many times, even by signed and sworn testimonials. The crushing demand for Quaker Herb Extract, therefore, is a consequence to these results. One benefited and grateful person has recommended it to others, and thus the demand comes from every section of the city. Quaker Herb Extract is safe, pure, yet active and curative. It cannot harm even a most delicate infant. The startling results reported last Saturday alone would create amazement everywhere. Tapeworms are still being brought in every day—worms from children also. You can see quite a collection at Gorsuch's if you wish. Many local people have allowed their names and history of their cures published in this paper, and there are also many more who object to this publicity, but cheerfully allow their names to be given at the store.

If, therefore, you suffer from rheumatism, catarrh or stomach troubles call on the Quaker man at Gorsuch's drug store, No. 129 Broad street, at once and let him tell you all about this really wonderful Quaker Herb Extract. If you cannot call, order by mail. The price is three bottles for $2.50, or $1 per bottle. 'Phone orders also filled promptly. Another word or two. Last week a small child who had been ailing for over fourteen months was given Quaker Extract and Worm Tablets, and as a result it expelled one stomach worm, hundreds of small worms, and also a tapeworm. Seems unbelievable, does it not? Yet the facts are at hand. Did Quaker Herb Extract save this child's life? The answer is left to you.—Advertisement.

LINDEN.

MANY ATTEND OUTING.

Many persons from Rahway, Elizabeth and Linden attended the annual outing of the Branch 123, Workmen's Sick and Death Benefit Association, of Rahway, held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Progress Club grounds in Mitchell avenue. Many games were played, refreshments were served and dancing was participated in. Music was furnished by Lehman's orchestra, from Elizabeth. An address, regarding the foundation and steady growth of the Sick and Death Benefit Association, was made by August Claessens, of New York City. The speaker also told of the value of Socialism, and its importance in bringing about a reform favorable to the working class. During the past ten years where the salaries have been increased one per cent., declared Mr. Claessens, the price of living has increased ten per cent.

REFORMED CHURCH NOTES.

The members of the Bible school of the Reformed Church will hold a social in the lecture room of the church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip will meet to-morrow evening in the lecture room.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet on Thursday afternoon at the parsonage.

The annual excursion of the Reformed and Grace Episcopal churches will be held on Wednesday, July 26, to Asbury Park.

LINDEN PARAGRAPHS.

John P. Winans, Jr., has returned to Washington, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Winans, of Wood avenue.

The Township Committee will meet to-night in the town hall.

Children's Day was appropriately observed last night at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

A card party will be given by the Ladies' Guild of Grace Episcopal Church in the parish room to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are welcome.

Little Bobby Beatem went with his mother to buy a pair of knickerbockers. When he had looked at all the varieties in the store he was still dissatisfied.

"I want that pair in the window," he protested.

"These are just exactly like them," said the clerk, "but if you want that particular pair I'll get them for you."

And he produced them, much to Bobby's satisfaction. They bore a sign which read, "These knickerbockers can not be beat."—Judge.

Boys Jar Head From Wax Figure in Chowcase.

Joseph Witter, of 1065 Elizabeth avenue, complained to Patrolman Menig yesterday that small boys had decapitated the wag figure of a woman which was kept in a movable show case in front of Witter's store.

The merchant said that two boys had shaken the case with such violence that the "woman's" head had fallen off.

FORD CAR RAMS TROLLEY.

(Special to the Journal.)

Rahway, June 19.—While driving a Ford automobile last night, John Huff, of Ludlow street, who was coming out of Church street into Grand, hit a trolley car, damaging his auto badly. The trolley car was none the worse for the accident. Mr. Huff admitted that he was to blame. He is learning to drive an auto and had an instructor in the car with him at the time of the accident. Aside from a general shaking up, neither of the occupants of the auto was hurt.

In Lodge Circles.

Hawthorne Lodge, No. 156, Order Sons of St. George, met Friday night at their lodge room, East Jersey and Fifth streets. There was a large attendance of members. The secretary and treasurer read their reports for the last term, which showed a record gain in membership and finance. The officers for the ensuing term were installed by the district deputy of Union county, James E. Thomas, as follows: Worthy president, Frank Phillips; worthy vice-president, George A. Thomas; worthy secretary, James A. Le Huray; worthy treasurer, James Edward Thomas; worthy messenger, William Paul; worthy assistant secretary, Henry Benton; worthy assistant messenger, Charles Mason; worthy chaplain, Arthur T. Neale; worthy inside sentinel, Gordon Ogier; worthy outside sentinel, Nathan Miller; trustee, William Carne. The picnic committee reported progress in the plans for the event to be held July 4, which promises to be the most successful ever held under the auspices of the lodge. There will be the usual program of sports and dancing.

FINED FOR HAVING GUN.

(Special to the Journal.)

The Conquerer.

Ajax, the professional strong man, tugged and toiled, strove with all the power of his mighty body.

At last the circus giant was face to face with a task that seemed too much even for his herculean strength.

Perspiring at the pores, he gritted his teeth and began anew.

The muscles in his neck stood out like whipcords as he lent every atom of his superhuman strength to the task.

He stopped perspiring and started to sweat.

He had lifted a horse in each hand, he had picked up a grand piano with his ear, he had bitten a telephone in half with his teeth. Should it be said at last he had failed?

"Never!" hissed Ajax, and with the fury of despair he fell again at the hardest task of his career, contorting himself into a dozen frenzied shapes.

Victory!

At last Ajax managed to insert the collar button in the back buttonhole of his newly-starched shirt!—Exchange.

EAGLES TO ENTERTAIN.

Will Celebrate Ladies' Night—To Hear Lecture.

A large audience is expected to attend ladies' night to be given under the auspices of Elizabeth Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at their home on Elizabeth avenue, to-morrow evening. The feature of the entertainment will be an illustrated lecture on the "Story of the Telephone," by F. A. Hickey, commercial representative of the New York Telephone Company, followed by motion pictures of "The Telephone Girl." The affair is to be held in the open garden in the rear of the club, and in case of inclement weather arrangements have been made to hold it in an enclosed building. It was necessary to postpone the entertainment previously scheduled on account of rain.

Other features of entertainment will be offered during the evening, and the musical program will be taken care of by the Eagles' Band.

PERSISTENT WOOER.

Barber Again Arrested After Seeking Interview With Girl He Shot.

(Special to the Journal.)

Bayonne, June 19.—Louis Felite, 24 years old, formerly a barber, of 77 Ocean avenue, Jersey City, who was committed eleven months ago to the Rahway Reformatory, was arrested here this morning by Lieutenants Rigney and Noonan, of the Bayonne police, on a technical charge of disorderly conduct.

Felite was arrested on May 7, 1915, after an attempt to kill Miss Margaret Cassidy, of 751 Boulevard, who had refused to marry him. According to the story of his previous arrest, Felite went to Miss Cassidy's home disguised as a health officer and shot the girl and her sister, Mrs. Mary McGee. Both were badly wounded but recovered. Felite entered the house accompanied by a Miss Grace Hawthorne, but she was not committed.

After Felite had been released last week he made several attempts to see Miss Cassidy, but on each occasion she eluded him. This morning he telephoned to the house three times, and after the third call Miss Cassidy's brother, Joseph, learned from the operator that Felite was calling from a pay station at the West Eighth street Central Railroad station.

He called up police headquarters and the two above-mentioned officers were detailed to the station. They found that Felite had purchased a ticket to Westfield, but that he had gotten off the train when it was halted at the drawbridge. The policemen placed Felite under arrest.

"I just love to hear you speak French," said the young girl to her male companion.

"Do 'you?" said the youth with a pleased grin. "Why?"

"Because it is so different from other people's French," said the sweet young thing.

The youth looked more pleased than ever—for a moment. Then the girl went on slowly:

"Yes, so different from most people's French—specially French people's!"—Seattle Times.

DEDICATION EXERCISES.

Elaborate Program is Planned for Lincoln School.

Abraham Lincoln School, No. 14, Grove and Murray streets, will be formally dedicated Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when an elaborate program will be given in which Mayor Mravlag, the members of the Board of Education, the school children and the Liederkranz will take part. The public is invited by the Board of Education to attend the exercises, which will be held in the school auditorium.

Commissioner Martin P. O'Connor, chairman of the committee on sites and new buildings of the school board, will preside and the program will be as follows:

BOY STILL UNKNOWN.

No Clue to Identity of Lad Injured by Train in Rahway.

(Special to the Journal.)

Rahway, June 19.—Efforts of the police and of officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have so far been unsuccesful in establishing the identity of the 13-year-old boy found at 12.33 A. M. Saturday on the railroad embankment at Poplar street with a fractured skull and a broken leg. The boy, who was taken to the Elizabeth General Hospital, is still unconscious, although hopes for his recovery are entertained by the physicians at that institution.

A detailed description of his clothing given out by the police follows: White outing waist, dark tie, black belt, knee pants and coat of mixed gray, black stockings, lace shoes, black and plaid cap.

De Palma's First Experience.

This story is going the rounds about De Palma:

Ralph's first experience with a motor car is well worth recording. It seems the owner of the machine had a constitutional aversion to entrusting his speed 'bus, a one-lunger of the most primitive type, to the guidance of anyone save himself. De Palma pleased so hard, however, that he finally obtained the concession of being allowed to jack up the rear wheels of the car and run it standing still.

To think of the future premier of the American speed industry chugging away at the wheel of his one-lunged flier, shifting gears and manipulating the accelerator without budging an inch, is rivalled only by the picture of John D. borrowing car fare.—Exchange.

KODAKS took the bother out of photography long ago—and a good share of the expense as well.

All the Kodaks and Brownies are extremely simple to operate. Anyone can make good pictures the Kodak way—even the little tots.

And afterward we'll develop the film and make the prints, or you can—just as you like. Our finishing department is up-to-the-minute and our experts "know how" from years of actual experience.

Cranford Pastor Gives Advice to Class of 1916.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON BY THE REV. DR. GREENE.

(Special to the Journal.)

Cranford, June 19.—The baccalaureate sermon to the senior class of the Cranford High School was preached by the Rev. Dr. George Frances Greene in the Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. The members of the class, principals of the schools and members of the Board of Education occupied seats in the front of the church.

The Rev. Dr. Greene took for his text Luke 14:11, "For whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." Dr. Greene said that these words were uttered by Jesus in commenting on the rule of life and that they meant that the true Christian placed others first and himself last. The finished Christian, he said, could not retain selfishness.

Dr. Greene said that he did not want the young people to believe that they should hide their talents, but to display them and add zest to life. In charging the members of the class Dr. Greene said: "No matter what your work might be, serve acceptably, to the best of your ability, put others first and yourself second, think of giving work for service, rightly and honestly; put God first in your work and if you do this your lives will be happy and you will be promoted."

The commencement exercises of the class will be held in the auditorium of the Cleveland High School on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Louise Cox will give the valedictorian address, Miss Margaret Hansel the salutatory address, and William Arthur the class history. Essays will be given by Miss Dorothy Simenton, Miss Viola Firmbach and Miss Katherine Rumble. Music will be furnished by the Cranford High School Glee Club and Prof. Gloeckner's orchestra. The diplomas will be presented by Hugh Hearon, president of the Board of Education.

The graduates: Jeannette B. Armstrong, William Martin Arthur, Corinne C. Belden, Mary Louise Cox, Anna C. Diamond, Warren J. J. Darwent, Viola Veronica Firmbach, Margaret A. Hensel, Marjorie A. Lamb, Florence Wardwell McClure, Harold W. Marks, Raymond Moody, Edward S. Morris, Agnes C. Ogden, Prudence W. Rindell, Kathryn G. Rumble, Harold C. Sanford, Dorothy C. Simonton, Joseph Bailey Tomlinson and E. Eleanor Willenbrock.

The Eighth grade commencement exercises will be held in the auditorium of the Cleveland School on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

Children's Day exercises in the First M. E. Church were also appropriate to Flag Day. The program comprised an address of welcome by Superintendent B. F. W. Randolph; violin and mandolin music by Kenneth Lofghren and William Maroney, accompanied by Mrs. Orf; recitation, "The Live Bouquet," by twenty-one girls; kindergarten class exercise, assisted by Judge W. W. Mendell; recitation, "The Coming of Summer," by Elizabeth McFadden; address to the school, by the Rev. Paul Dennis, minister of the church; recitation, "Are You Trying," Lena Carusa; exercise, by ten members of the Standard Bearers, and Daisy Drill by Florence Gould and Vivian Kaff. The singing by the school was excellent.

A varied program of songs, responsive readings, recitations and an address by the Rev. J. E. Washabaugh, the minister, formed the program of Children's Day exercises in St. Paul's M. E. Church. The opening prayer was said by the Rev. Mr. Morey; addresses of welcome were given by Eleanor Karr and Rufus Apgar; recitations were given by Robert Hobbs, Dorothy Hollenbeck, Alberta Miller, Charlotte Cox, Edna McKusick, Ethel Bratton, Charlotte Closter and Youlanda Szabo. Dorothy R. Karr, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Karr, was baptised. The program closed with a salute to the flag by the children.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

While one of the officers was not looking, R. Martine, colored, decided to break jail yesterday morning, and dashed away. Officer Neilson gave chase and soon recaptured Martine. When brought before Judge Roosa, Martine was fined $2 and costs for being drunk and disorderly in South avenue on Saturday night. He was arrested in South avenue by Policeman Woods.

Mrs. Andonetto De Fabio was fined $2 and costs and Coroner De Fabio $3 and costs by Judge Roosa on Saturday for disorderly conduct. The man and woman took part in a "mix-up" in Lincoln avenue. They were arrested by Sergeant William Jennings.

NEW TEACHER NAMED.

The Teachers Committee and the other members of the Board of Education held a formal meeting on Saturday evening to consider the five applications presented for the position of principal of the Cranford High School to succeed Prof. J. A. Corliss, resigned. No definite action was taken. Miss J. Raymond, of Virginia, was chosen as teacher of French and German in the high school, and her appointment will be recommended to the board at its regular meeting to be held to-morrow evening.

CRANFORD NOTES.

The Cranford Carnival Association will meet this evening in the township rooms.

The first quarterly conference will be held in St Paul's M. E. Church next Thursday evening. The Rev. Dr. Hubach will be in charge of the meeting.

A class of forty boys and girls, who have been receiving instruction of the Rev. Father Mueller, rector of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, received their first Holy Communion at the 7.30 high mass yesterday.

FINISH COURSE AT ST. MARY'S

Fourteen Students Get Parochial School Diplomas.

PRIZES AWARDED AT FINAL EXERCISES.

(Special to the Journal.)

Rahway, June 19.—The commencement exercises of St. Mary's School were held last night in St. Mary's Church before an audience that filled the church. The Rev. James A. Lundy, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Roselle, delivered the graduation address. The Catholic schools, he said, trained the pupils in their duty to the State and to society. The idea of success taught in those schools, he said, was the success that comes automatically with right living.

The Rev. Father P. A. Maher, pastor of St. Mary's Church, presented the diplomas and class honors to the graduates. Medals were presented to the graduates and prizes of books to the honor roll pupils.

Donors of prizes and medals were: Donor of prizes, The Quinn & Boden Company; donors of medals, Ladies' Auxiliary A. O. H. Children of Mary, Rosary Society, Altar Guild, Knights of Columbus, Rahway Council No. 1140; Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division No. 3; Mrs. George V. Andelfinger, Mrs. James McGraff, Mrs. A. Lambert, James H. Kearney, Sr., Thomas Sullivan, Sr., Charles H. Bader, J. J. P. Coffey, John F. Geyer, Peter Carter, J. T. Kelly, John Duff and St. Mary's Alumni Association.

Music was furnished by the school orchestra, under the direction of the music instructor of the school, Sister M. Sebastian, O. S. D. The orchestra included Peter McCue, A. Wallace Pangborn, Helen Duff, Hilda McCartney, Frances Ramsin, Marie Schneider, Dorothy Schneider, Margaret Johnson and Anna Drexler.

The graduates: Marion Frances Walker, Charles Anton Bader, Margaret Elizabeth Miller, August Carl Andelfinger, James Francis Sullivan, Alice Veronica Brady, Julia Monica Kjeh, Gertrude Grace Sullivan, Elizabeth Cecelia Duff, William Gore Pollard, Margaret Mary Schwindinger, Grace Veronica Kearney, Margaret Alberta Mullen and Margaret Marie McNearney.

St. Mary's School roll of honor for the year: Eighth grade, Carl Andelfinger, Charles Bader, Grace Kearney, Margaret Mullen, Margaret Miller, Marion Walker and Gertrude Sullivan; Seventh grade, Anna Bilarazijh and Elizabeth Smith; Sixth grade, Vincent Reilly, James Kinnealy, Wallace Pangborn, Frank Keating, John Coffey, James Quinn, Joanna Ford, Sarah McCluskey and Anna Mullen; Fifth grade, John Ahomavic, Catherine Miller, Alice Flanagan, Catherine Franke, Eleanor Ledden and Loretta Keeshan; Fourth grade, Kyron Pangborn, George Walker, Albert Miller, Margaret Schwindinger, and Catherine Kimmick; Third grade, Allen Hamtil, Francis Darrah and Clarence Titus; First grade, Francis Gerlach.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

Children's Day exercises were held yesterday afternoon in Milton chapel. The Rev. L. Y. Graham, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, spoke on "The Importance of Little Things." Previous to his main talk, he paid high tribute to the late George A. Bush, who was for many years superintendent of the chapel. The celebration yesterday was in a sense the celebration of the thirty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the chapel, which was opened in 1880. The program included recitations by Anna Ditmars, Beatrice Brunt, Kenneth Thomas, Frank Clive, Ida Lewis, Elizabeth Miller, James Smith, Florence Ditmars, Joseph Price, Edith Mouser, Dora Price, Margaret Ditmars, Alice Ditmars, Edna Brunt and Rowena White. Books were awarded to the Misses Dora Price, Helen Brunt and Helen Worth and Joseph Price for attending fifty Sundays in the year. A musical service entitled "Children of the Kingdom" was presented and music was furnished by the C. E. orchestra of the Second Presbyterian Church, under the direction of Frederick L. Mintel. The members are: Violins, Miss Elsie Harned and Carlton A. Ransom; mandolins, Blanchard and Edwin Durand; piano, Miss Gladys Harney. The treasurer's report showed all bills paid and a balance of $149.79.

HOME WEDDING PRETTY EVENT

Miss Braun, of Westfield, Bride of Wilkes-Barre Man.

COUPLE GO ON TRIP TO NIAGARA FALLS.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—Miss Mary Charlotte Braun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Braun, of 109 Grandview avenue, became the bride of David W. Jones, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., at a pretty home wedding held in the home of the bride's parents on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The nuptials were performed by the Rev. John Sauer, of Bayonne, minister of St. Luke's German Lutheran Church in Garwood.

Miss Pauline Braun, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and George Jones, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The wedding march was played by Walter Sell, of Westfield. The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine. She wore a tulle veil caught with lilies of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of sunset roses. The bridesmaid was gowned in white crepe de chine and carried pink roses. The house was decorated with flowers, the color scheme being pink and white. The nuptials were performed under a bower of roses.

Guests were present at the wedding and reception, which followed, from Elizabeth, Garwood, Westfield, Plainfield, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Minneola, L. I. After a wedding trip to Niagra Falls, the couple will reside in Westfield.

SERMON TO GRADUATES.

Baccalaureate Address in Westfield Given by the Rev. Mr. Snow.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—The Rev. Charles T. Snow, pastor of the First Baptist Church, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the senior class of the Westfield High School in the First M. E. Church. He told of the necessity for each member of the class to know the living God and said that divine co-operation was the only way in life.

In charging the graduates Dr. Snow told the class that these days and moments were sacred to them and that they did well in beginning their commencement exercises in the house of God. "From now on," he said, "there should be a meaning in life which you may not have had before; you have attained much, but you need divine co-operation in the future life."

The other ministers of the town assisted with the service. Dr. W. I. Steans gave the opening prayer and the Rev. J. A. Smith led the responsive Scripture reading. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Gillette.

The senior class, officers and faculty of the school and members of the Board of Education occupied pews in front of the church.

ROSE SHOW IN LIBRARY.

126 Persons Take Part in Exhibit in Westfield.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—Two hundred varieties of roses were exhibited by 123 amateur growers and three professionals at the Westfield Free Public Library on Saturday afternoon and evening. The flowers were displayed in vases on the tables in the library and each was marked with the name of the exhibitor.

The exhibit was the result of the suggestion of Miss Bessie Smith, the librarian, and to her belongs much credit for its success. The judges were Mrs. J. B. Harrison, Mrs. C. R. Pitcher, Mrs. H. W. Evans and Mrs. H. H. Griswold.

The prizes were awarded as follows: For most artistic arrangement of roses, Mrs. John Spalckhaver, a garden book; Mrs. J. C. Morrow and Mrs. E. J. Johnson received honorable mention; best single rose, Mrs. John Platt, prize, a garden book; Mrs. H. T. Nitchie and Mrs. J. C. Morrow received honorable mention; best group of roses, Mrs. H. T. Nitchie, prize, a garden book; Mrs. C. R. Allen and Mrs. C. S. Hinchman received honorable mention. In the professional class, Herder Brothers received first prize and Charles Doerer honorable mention.

Those who placed roses in the competition were: Miss Beatrice Buddell, Mrs. N. E. Kirby, Mrs. H. T. Nimmons, Mrs. A. B. Price, Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mrs. G. H. Bradfield, Mrs. C. S. Hinchman, Mrs. T. R. Nitchie, Mrs. John Spalckhaver, Mrs. J. C. Morrow, Mrs. John Platt and Mrs. G. R. Allen.

The exhibit was visited by a large number of citizens who were enthusiastic over the display. The exhibit will hereafter be an annual event at the library.

GUILD HAS FESTIVAL.

Fancy Dances Add to Program Arranged by Westfield Women.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—The Woman's Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal Church held its second annual flower festival in the parish house on Saturday afternoon and evening. During the festival, an entertainment consisting of original dances under the direction of Miss Marion Denman, proved very interesting. The program of dances comprised Dutch, Holland and country dances in costume. Those who took part: Miss Catherine Nicholas, solo dance; Miss Lucy Williams and Roy Canfield, exhibition of the Maurice Perican; and Miss Dorothy Roy and Edward Daye, fancy waltz. Mrs. J. H. Verlinden acted as accompanist. Miss Denman and Mrs. Verlinden were presented with large bouquets by the members of the guild for their part in making the festival a success.

Other features of the festival included music by the Hawaiian Band led by Miss Jeanette Perkins. The members of the band, all young people of the town, were dressed in Hawaiian costume. The Rev. J. A. Smith, rector of the church, gave several vocal solos.

In addition to the entertainment there were several booths from which needlework articles made by members of the guild and cake and candy were sold. The needlework booth was in charge of Mrs. C. O. Miles and Miss Walcott, the cake and candy booth was in charge of Miss Grace Philip, ice cream cones were sold by Mrs. Nimmons and ice cream and cake were sold by Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mrs. W. A. McAllister, Mrs. C. M. Tremaine, Mrs. F. G. Smith, Mrs. E. S. Dix and Miss Hale.

The parish hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and flags. The decorations were arranged by Mrs. M. E. Newcombe, Mrs. E. H. Westlake, Mrs. H. H. McCowatt and Mrs. H. C. Nicholas. Miss G. Brady was chairman of the committee in charge of the festival.

MISS WICHERN ENTERTAINS.

Miss Dora Wichern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Wichern, of 536 First street, entertained a number of friends at her home on Saturday night in honor of her eighteenth birthday anniversary. The house was decorated in pink and white. Dancing, music and games were the features of the evening. A buffet luncheon was served. Miss Lillian Lambert, Miss Freda Titus and Howard Van Syckle played piano solos and Miss Helen Lambert gave vocal solos. Miss Wichern received many presents. Those present were: The Misses May, Minnie and Dora Wichern, Viola Winn, Grace Howard, Beulah Stiles, Mabel and Ruth Holmes, Stella Bidneed, and Oliver Coons, Alvan McDonough, Theodore Wichern, Russell Stiles, Lionel Howard, Russell Huyler and Albert Stoll, of Westfield; the Misses Sadie and Freda Titus, of Bayonne; the Misses Helen and Lillian Lambert, of Willow Grove; Miss Catherine Russell, Irving Jewell and Clifford French, of Fanwood; L. Giddes, of Plainfield; James White, of Elizabeth; Earl Bernard, of Newark; Alfred Straughan, Harold Lawrence and Howard Van Syckle, of Cranford; Albert Barras, Jay and John Vossler, of Bound Brook; M. B. Walsh, of Brooklyn; Jack Schaefer, of Philadelphia; David Carpenter and Arthur Connolly, of Woodbridge; Christ Lewis, of Scotch Plains, and Mr. and Mrs. Wichern, of Westfield.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The automobile fire engine is again in commission. The car was damaged several days ago and it was found necessary to get parts from the factory in Detroit to make repairs.

The Westfield Building and Loan Association will hold a monthly meeting in its rooms in Elm street to-morrow evening.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church realized $40 from the festival held on the church lawn on Saturday afternoon and evening for the benefit of Camp Endeavor. Miss Ruth App was chairman of the committee in charge.

Fifty children received their first Holy Communion at the 7.15 high mass in Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church yesterday.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. Church will hold a meeting and lawn social at [illegible] Miss Marion Ferris, in Embree Crescent, to-morrow evening.

Mrs. T. P. Price, of Cumberland street, has been entertaining her sisters, the Misses Nellie and Sadie Southwick, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Glenn A. Wilson is spending the summer at Asbury Park.

The Uffn Pinochle Club will meet on Wednesday evening at the residence of Emanuel Eckel, in Chestnut street.

John McGwire, of Dudley avenue, has returned from a week-end visit in Philadelphia.

SPRINGFIELD.

Mrs. William Hartmann, of Salter street, has issued cards for an afternoon whist to be held at her home on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sternberg, of Chester, have returned after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] avenue.

A strawberry and ice cream festival was held Saturday afternoon on the lawn of the Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Sunday school.

The Rev. James H. MacDonald, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Episcopal Church, Newark, will be the speaker at the commencement exercises of the Springfield High School on Friday night.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church has decided to hold a fair during the early fall.

SENIORS HEAR ABLE SERMON

Keep Gospel in Mind, Roselle Class is Told.

BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

(Special to the Journal.)

Roselle, June 19.—Relatives and friends of the graduating class of 1916 of the Roselle High School filled St. Luke's Episcopal Church last night, when the baccalaureate sermon was preached by the rector, the Rev. Clarence S. Wood. Long before the graduates reached the church every pew was filled, with the exception of those reserved for the class, members of the faculty and the Board of Education.

The rector preached an eloquent sermon to the graduates, using for his text "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to them that believe," Rom. 1:16. Speaking to the graduates, the Rev. Mr. Wood said:

"Remember, you are going out into the world, a world of successes and failures, but if you bear in mind the gospel of Christ which sustained St. Paul during his life, you will succeed in the true meaning of the word, and you shall also be strengthened to overcome the difficulties of this life."

The boys' choir of thirty voices, under the direction of Stuart Maclean, gave a splendid musical program.

The graduates: William Henry Benedict, Mary Marguerite Bond, Richard Marvin Clynoweth, Sadie Lucille Cohen, John Bloss Davenport, Horace Franklin Davies, Catherine Margaret Dermody, Mary Elizabeth Dudash, James Joseph Gaffney, Ethel Louise Gebhardt, Myrtice Edwina Haskell, Wendell Edison Haskell, Marion Margaret Hennessey, Roy Hilding Jacobi, Marjorie Wellington Johnson, Jeannette Marie Kenely, Margaret Beatrice Lewis, Edith Catharine Lutz, I. Strevell Martin, Jr., Mary Isabel Mattern, Laura Beatrice Meyer, James Kingsland Ostrander, Henrietta Stadelman, Della May Woolley and Katherine Charlotte Wright.

POLICEMAN STOPS RUNAWAY.

A horse owned by Philip Wenz, of Wheatsheaf road, and in charge of his small son, became frightened by a passing train while standing at the Central Railroad station yesterday afternoon, and ran away. The horse was hitched to a small wagonette. Officer David Hennessy, of the local police force, ran into the street at Second avenue and Chestnut street, and brought the runaway to a stop. Young Wenz, who had left the horse at the station, ran up breathlessly a few moments later and claimed the rig. Neither horse nor wagon was damaged.

CHURCH WORKER SPEAKS.

The Rev. J. M. Moore, secretary of the five-year program committee of the New Jersey State Convention, preached yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church. Next Sunday morning the Rev. Thomas E. Vassar, of Elizabeth, a retired Baptist clergyman, will preach and in the evening Assemblyman William Runyon, of Plainfield, will deliver an address. During the month of July the Baptists will unite with the First Presbyterian Church and attend the services at the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Robert C. Hull, of Summit, will preach during the month of July.

ROBBINS-CAMPBELL.

A wedding in which Roselle people were interested took place on Saturday afternoon at Skillman, when Miss Hattie Voorhees Campbell, a former teacher in the borough schools, and more recently a teacher in Newark, became the bride of Clifford T. Robbins, of Newark. Some of the bride's Roselle friends were among those in attendance at the ceremony, which was performed by the pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church at Griggstown. The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Campbell, was prettily decorated for the event, and about eighty guests were in attendance. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white net over taffeta, and her becoming veil was caught with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Grace Robbins, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor, and wore light blue silk. Mr. Robbins was attended by the brother of the bride, Dr. Herman B. Campbell, of Newark. There were many gifts. After a wedding supper, served by a caterer, Mr. and Mrs. Robbins left for a short wedding tour. The bride's traveling gown was of dark blue silk. The new home will be in East Orange.

ROSELLE NOTES.

Miss Mary Mattern, of Second avenue, east, is kept to her home by illness.

Mrs. George Robinson, of Fourth avenue, west, and son, left Saturday for Connecticut, where they will remain for the summer.

Miss Gladys Boell, of Poplar street, will entertain the Misses Hasagen, of Staten Island, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanson, of Drake avenue, have moved to Elizabeth.

Stephen Durash, of Third avenue, will leave this week for a sojourn at Lake Hopatcong.

Mr. and Mrs. Bulsizer, of Poplar street, spent yesterday at Princeton, making the trip by automobile.

Miss Madeline Vega, of Chestnut street, entertained a number of her friends at cards on Saturday afternoon. Among those present were: The Misses Ruth Clements, Mae [illegible] Folsom and Florence Benners, of Elizabeth; Miss Gladys Shedd and Miss Charlotte Vega, of Roselle.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Hadley, of Fifth avenue, west, have returned from a short vacation in Atlantic City.

Andrew Marge, of the Aldene section of Roselle Park, was arrested on Saturday evening by Officer Fenton Keenan for being drunk and disorderly. He was arraigned before Recorder Martin and fined $3.

The condition of the Rev. Charles E. Woodall, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who is critically ill in the Elizabeth General Hospital, remains unchanged.

Charles Ernest Cashmore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ernest Cashmore, of Sixth avenue, west, entertained twelve of his little friends on Saturday afternoon in honor of his fifth birthday anniversary.

The Parent-Teacher Association will present to-morrow night, at the Borough Hall auditorium, Miss Lois Weber, star of "Where Are My Children?" "Hypocrites" and other notable features, in a vital human interest drama of the soil fields called "Sunshine Molly." Supporting Miss Weber is her husband, Phillips Smalley, who produced the picture. The Smalleys are noted for the heart interest touch which they put in all their pictures, and the interesting way in which the plot is worked out.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew will also be shown in one of their laugh-provoking comedies, "The Swooners," together with the Paramount Pictograph, the magazine of the screen, which will also be shown.

Lois Weber in "Sunshine Molly," at the Borough Hall to-morrow evening at 8 P. M. Also Mr. and Mrs. Drew and pictograph. Admission 15c.—Adv.

PARISH SCHOOL DIPLOMAS WON

RHEUMATISM IS EASILY RELIEVED BY CLEANSING THE BLOOD

S. S. S. Gives Quick Relief by Toning Up the Blood.

Yes, but how? A natural question. The answer is that you must cleanse your blood by stimulating it to healthy, vigorous action, so that it will throw off the germs and impurities that cause Rheumatism. The action of this wonderful blood purifier, S. S. S., is to practically renew the life blood, giving it vigor, stimulate the flow, making it throw out the germs and the poisonous impurities. The excruciating pains of Rheumatism, whether it is the shooting, stabbing Sciatic, the crippling agony or muscular Rheumatism, the aching arms and legs that break one's sleep, will be entirely relieved by S. S. S. Don't use nostrums and drugs. Take the blood bath—Nature's blood tonic, S. S. S. Get it at any druggist's, but insist upon S. S. S. Let us tell you about blood diseases. Send for booklet, "What the Mirror Tells," or if your case is a peculiar case, write Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga., but begin treatment at once.

ENDEAVOR CLASS CLOSES SEASON

SEVENTEEN GRANTED EXPERT CERTIFICATES.

Seventeen Christian Endeavorers belonging to societies connected with the Elizabeth Union of Christian Endeavor and Epworth League were graduated on Saturday evening from the class in Expert Endeavor which has been conducted under the auspices of the union. The exercises were held in the chapel of the Third Presbyterian Church, attended by the graduates and several friends.

Every feature of the closing was enjoyable. Following prayer and the singing of a prayer hymn, there were several short talks or papers by members of the class. The secretary, Ralph M. Barton, reviewed the class sessions, telling of outstanding incidents. The teacher spoke in appreciation of the faithfulness and the spirit of the members. A symposium on "Why It Pays" was given in two-minute talks by Miss Edna Beckwith, Miss Edna Winans and Arthur E. Warner. There was a very pleasing solo by Miss Vivian Balne, who was accompanied by Miss Mildred Apgar. Miss Balne was warmly applauded and responded with another selection.

"Bits of Christian Endeavor History" were given by Miss Pauline Mader, who spoke of the first society at Portland, Me.; David Johnson, who spoke of the societies in America, and James Peden, who told of the work in foreign lands. Paul T. Wolcott told how the newly acquired wisdom of the experts could be transmuted into action, and he gave some sound advice, humorously put.

William Russell, district secretary of Essex county Christian Endeavor societies, addressed the class on the best ways of securing associate members and winning them to Christ.

PETER SHERIDAN DEAD.

Former Councilman Succumbs at His Home in Rahway Avenue.

Former Councilman Peter Sheridan, 72 years old, of 205 Rahway avenue, died yesterday at the St. Elizabeth Hospital. He was ill since last December.

Mr. Sheridan was a native of Ireland, but came to this country and settled in this city with his parents when but 2 years old. He was one of the oldest communicants of St. Mary's Church and he attended this church when services were held in a house in Rahway avenue. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's parish. Mr. Sheridan was an old volunteer fireman, having been affiliated with Washington Company, No. 3 and was a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association.

QUALIFY FOR PROFESSIONS.

EDWARD BOLLER,
Who will enter Bellevue Hospital, New York, as an interne.

DAVID S. FORMAN,
Who was graduated Friday night from New Jersey Law School.

YOUNG MEN TO PRACTISE LAW AND MEDICINE HERE

Edward Boller, of 433 East Jersey street, after four years of study at the Albany Medical College, which is a part of Union University, will take the New York State Board Examinations next week and will then serve as an interne in the Bellevue Hospital, New York City. Boller intends to spend two years at this institution prior to attending Johns Hopkins for several months.

Boller's renown as a baseball and basketball star is known to practically every follower of these two sports in this city. At the Battin High School he pitched on the baseball team and played with the basketball five. In the fall of 1910, following his graduation from high school, Boller entered Rutgers College, where for the two years of his undergraduate life at the New Brunswick seat of learning he was a member of the 'varsity baseball and basketball teams.

In September, 1912, he forsook Rutgers to take up the study of medicine at Albany, and for four years he captained the basketball and baseball teams of this college. Many local nines have won distinction through the work of Boller, and the "Suburbans," of Brooklyn, were favored with his services for two seasons.

Boller was a member of the senior entertainment committee at Albany, the Nu Sigma Nu (a medical fraternity), Theta Nu Epsilon at Rutgers (a sophomore secret society), and of the Rutgers Queens Club. At the completion of his study Boller expects to practise in this city.

David S. Forman, of 327 Elizabeth avenue, was graduated Friday night from the New Jersey Law School in a class of forty-one students with a degree of Bachelor of Laws. Forman is a graduate of the Battin High School and of the Continental School No. 3. At School 3 he was president of the class of 1909, and while at Battin played on his freshman class football team and on the 'varsity during his senior year.

During the last year at law school Forman was attorney in two mock trials and was recognized as a forceful and convincing speaker. At high school he was active in debating and was a member on the victorious team which upheld the negative side of an inter-society debate in 1913 on the question, "Should There Be Two High Schools?"

Forman has served clerkships with David S. Feinswog, Welcome Bender and is now with the firm of Groves & Depew, of this city. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. M. H. A.

H. A. POUNTNEY BURIED.

Tribute Paid to Prominent Citizen by Dr. Cobb.

Friends of the late Henry A. Pountney assembled yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William C. Manvel, 422 Cherry street, for the funeral service. The house was filled with relatives and friends, and the Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, conducted a simple but impressive service, reading Scripture selections, offering prayer and speaking of the life of Mr. Pountney and the traits which had so endeared him to the members of his family and others.

HENRY A. POUNTNEY.
Well-known citizen who passed away in Elizabeth last week.

Dr. Cobb said that seldom had it been his privilege to visit through an extended illness one who had shown such patience and such thoughtfulness of others. He had not known Mr. Pountney in his active, busy days, but only during that period since his retirement from business and since the infirmities of age had been advancing upon him. That association, however, had been an influence which he was glad to have had in his life, and the clergyman said that in the life of the deceased and in the ministry given by those dear to him there were lessons for all present.

"One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "The Christian's Good Night" were sung with beautiful expression and fine feeling by a quartet consisting of Edmund W. Rogers, Warren W. Rogers, S. Albert Howell and William Darlington.

This morning interment took place in Evergreen Cemetery in the family plot.

Funeral of George C. Brehm.

The funeral of George C. Brehm, of 1023 Laura street, was held this morning from the Church of the Sacred Heart, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. Father Florian, C. S. B. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and there were many floral tributes. The bearers were John Reilly, Peter Dempsey, William Gibney and George Kirk.

STREET CLEANER TAKES OWN LIFE

Thomas Ziegler Shoots Self With Small Rifle.

DESPONDENT SINCE DEATH OF WIFE.

Said to have been despondent since the death of his wife last January, Thomas Ziegler, 54 years old, of 504 New York avenue, committed suicide at his home this morning by shooting himself in the head with a .22-caliber rifle. Ziegler, who was employed by the Department of Public Works, left his home at 5.30 o'clock this morning and returned at 7.30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock he was found by his daughter stretched across the bed in his room with the rifle still clutched in his hands.

Dr. Otto Wagner was summoned and upon arriving found that Ziegler had been dead for at least an hour. The physician found that the bullet entered at the right temple and came out through the left eye, causing instant death. Dr. Wagner notified the county physician and the police.

Detective-Sergeant Rabig and Detective McCarthy made an investigation and learned that Ziegler had suffered greatly since the death of his wife and had taken his life with the Flobert rifle, which had such a short barrel as to permit his placing the muzzle to his temple, as if it were a pistol.

Ziegler was born in Germany and came here twenty-nine years ago, having been employed as a street cleaner for many years. He is survived by four sons, William, Frank, Alphonse and Albert, and one daughter, Martha.

AID WAR SUFFERERS.

Children of St. Adelbert's Church Raise Relief Funds.

A sum exceeding $150 was collected for the relief of the Polish war sufferers at an entertainment given in the parish hall of St. Adalbert's Church, Third street, last night. The entertainment was given by children of the parochial school of that church, and the hall was filled with parents and friends of the young people.

The amount collected together with sums obtained in other ways for the relief of the Polish war victims will be sent to the New York headquarters of the National Polish relief fund.

COMMEMORATE MARTYR.

Commemorating the work of Prague, the Bohemian martyr, who was burned at the stake 500 years ago, the Elizabeth branch of the Bohemian Alliance held a demonstration in Marx's Colosseum, Fourth street and Elizabeth avenue, last Friday night. An elaborate program was presented, and included an impressive tableau. Nearly 1,000 persons attended the exercises. Speakers described the life of the martyr of Prague. Dancing followed.

NO ARRESTS MADE.

For the first time in many months not a single arrest was made Sunday which has usually been a day when there have been numerous prisoners who have faced charges of a various nature. This morning Judge Mahon had no cases to dispose of.

Funeral of Marion Frie.

The funeral of Marion Frie, infant daughter of Emil and Eleanor Horner Frie, was held this morning from the home of her parents, 840 Grove street, the Rev. Lyttleton E. Hubbard, rector of St. John's Church, officiating. The interment was in Rosehill Cemetery.

MARRIED HALF CENTURY.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH LEUSER,

HONOR AGED COUPLE ON GOLDEN WEDDING

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leuser, the fiftieth anniversary of their coming from Germany to America and the seventy-sixth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Leuser were celebrated by a party given at their home, 628 Fulton street, Saturday night. Members of the family with a few friends of the couple joined with them in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Leuser have been residents of Elizabeth since coming from Germany. They are members of St. Michael's church. Both are well and active. Mr. Leuser, who is seventy-three years old, is employed in the small parts department of the Singer plant, having worked there for more than thirty-five years.

The couple was married in Germany and on the same day sailed for America, coming directly to Elizabeth. They have four children, three daughters and one son, all of whom reside here.

They were greeted by many friends in honor of the anniversaries observed Saturday and were the recipients of many gifts including bouquets of flowers. A short musical program including vocal solos by Mrs. Joseph Leuser, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Troutman was given during the evening.

Among those present at the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. Casper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thome and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leuser, Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thome and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Bergsted and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Troutman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fiedlein and family, Miss Elizabeth Watson and Jacob Kline.

FUNDS FOR RECREATION.

Commissioners to Petition Council for Appropriation of $7,500.

The Board of Recreation Commissioners held a meeting Saturday night to complete the budget for the coming fiscal year. It was decided to petition City Council for an appropriation of $7,500, which is an increase of $1,500 over the amount granted last year. This increase, it was pointed out, is needed for the maintenance and supervision of the new playground at Second avenue and South Seventh street, which will be opened this summer and also to permit and earlier opening of the South Broad street ground next summer.

The board desired to open the latter ground early in the spring, but was prevented by lack of funds. The only other business of the meeting was the passage of a resolution to open playgrounds Nos. 1, 3, 5, 6 and South Broad street on July 5.

RAILROADS READY TO MOVE TROOPS

Will Be No Delay in Transportation, Is Word.

ROADS TO BE CLEARED FOR TROOP TRAINS.

New York, June 19.—The railroads of the country are ready for the greatest preparedness test in history in the moving of the militia, of the country to the Mexican border.

This was the word from the offices of railroads both in the East and West to-day. Officials united in declaring that as fast as the Administration orders State troops moved they will be ready to transport them. The way will immediately be cleared for the movement of troop trains and alreay engines and cars sufficient to handle the thousands of men are available.

The problem of ftransporting supplies bay be more complicated. The Eastern roads are just emerging from a serious freight congestion, but the managers believe sufficient cars will be available to handle the additional business caused by the demands that will come from the Government for troop supplies.

"The railroads are prepared to move troops just as quickly as they are assembled," was the statement of officials of both the Pennsylvania and the New York Central Railroads.

"There is plenty of passenger rolling stock available for the almost instant use," it was said at the New York Central. "Trains could be made up just as quickly as called for. They would in all likelihood be given the preference over every other train and could be sent across the country in record time.

"Hundreds of cars which before 1914 were used to handle the traffic in immigrants westward are now on the side-tracks. There are more than enough to handle every man Uncle Sam wants moved. Handling supplies might be more difficult as the roads are just emerging from a serious freight congestion."

"The Pennsylvania Railroad," said an official, "can assemble troop trains within an hour of the time of order. They would be given preference over all other trains. Every piece of our rolling stock would be available for immediate use."

Uncle Sam Comes First.

Madison, Wis., June 19.—"We will turn over the entire railroad to the Government for the movement of State troops if it's necessary," was the announcement of President R. H. Aishton, of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, here to-day. "We have issued instructions to all superintendents to hold the necessary equipment for the troops and will do everything in our power to assist the Government," said Aishton.

THE SKELETON IN THE CLOSET

Thereby Hangs a Tale

By F. A. Mitchel

The city of New York was founded on the southernmost point of Manhattan Island and first grew to the eastward. Later it started up Broadway, and the east side, as it is called, fell into decadence. But till after the beginning of the nineteenth century the handsomest residences were in the neighborhood of the East river.

Some years ago workmen engaged in tearing down an old dwelling near Franklin square—in which Washington lived when first inaugurated president—came upon a closet built in a wall in which was a skeleton. How it got there was a mystery, for there was no opening to the closet, it being inclosed within four thick walls. The find was referred to a historical society, which appointed Heilager Bogardus, an antiquarian, to investigate the whole matter and report. The following is extracted from the papers filed with the society:

"The fact that the skeleton was found within four solid walls is easily explained. The house was repaired and altered during the last decade of the eighteenth century, and the wall wherein was the door to the closet was made whole. The apartment inclosed was of such size that workmen would not necessarily have seen what it contained, especially since there were no windows to admit light in that part of the house.

"As to there being such a closet at all, the story connected with it is a sufficient explanation, for the opening, which was walled up, was closed by a sliding panel. What has not been satisfactorily explained is the use for which the closet was designed. At the time the house was built such secret chambers were not unusual, especially in the homes of those who were in constant danger from some enemy. But in America when the country was first settled avenues of escape were rather tunnels through which the settlers might save themselves from besieging Indians. It seems probable that the house in Franklin square was thus provided by its builder, Meinheer Van Vranken, simply because he had a similar closet in his residence in Rotterdam, for it appears that his ancestors were prominent officials in the Netherlands during that period when the bloodthirsty Duke of Alva held the country in his grip."

[illegible] concerning the skeleton found in the closet. Meinheer Van Vranken came to America in 1658, bringing with him what was in those days a fortune. Soon after landing he sent to Holland for brick with which to build his residence and completed it in 1662, modeling it after his home in Rotterdam, even to the secret closet. When it was completed the house was the finest in the city, which was then a Dutch town and called New Amsterdam.

Now, it was in 1664 that the city was captured by the English, the Dutchmen refusing to make an effort to defend it despite the protestations of their governor, Peter Stuyvesant, who stamped with his wooden leg and swore by St. Nicholas that they were an arrant set of cowards, unworthy of the protection of their patron saint.

This change in the government was also a bitter pill for Meinheer Van Vranken to swallow. He was Dutch from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet, and his ancestors, who had been sailors, had fought the English when the Netherlands were a power on the sea. Now, meinheer had a very pretty daughter, Anneke by name, who much more readily adapted herself to the new country than her old father, who could be content in it only so long as it was Dutch. When the English landed many of the inhabitants of New Amsterdam went down to the Battery, where the aquarium now stands, to see them come ashore. Among them was Anneke Van Vranken, buxom and with eyes as blue as the heavens above and two ropes of flaxen hair hanging down her back.

One of the boats which brought supplies ashore was commanded by Ralph Eggleston, a midshipman, nineteen years old, three years Anneke's senior. Though six feet in his stockings, he wore the jacket of a middy, decorated with brass buttons, that shone resplendent in the sun and added to the attractions of his handsome person. His eye lighted upon Anneke, who stood among those looking on, and Anneke's eye lighted on him. To her this young man, giving orders to a dozen stalwart men, who obeyed his slightest command, was little less than a god. But the young man was on duty and, having unloaded his boat, set off for his ship, lying out in the Hudson river.

Busy as he was, however, young Eggleston found time to give Anneke Van Vranken an admiring glance, and in return there was a rapture in her eyes at what was to her a heavenly vision. It was but a few days after this that while walking under the guns of the fort, whereon the English had replaced the Dutch flag, Anneke met the midshipman, who was on shore leave, strolling about with a brother officer.

This meeting seems to have resulted in an acquaintance between Ralph and Anneke [illegible] was brought about is not known. First sight lovers are not apt to be kept apart through the want of an introduction. Be this as it may, the two went together down to the southernmost point of the island and passed the time there till sunset (when the midshipman's leave expired), sitting on a rock making love with that rapidity which can only be attained by persons in their teens.

Eggleston wished to visit Anneke in her home, but she told him that the sight of an Englishman was enough to throw her father into a fit, and if he knew that she had made the acquaintance of one of those who had taken the city and changed its name from New Amsterdam to New York he would sail back to Holland with her by the first vessel going there. Therefore, not being able to meet the girl who had charmed him in her own home, he made an appointment to meet her elsewhere.

The next meeting between the Englishman and the Dutch girl was in this wise: Anneke was standing on the shore of the East river just north of the wall that gave the present name to Wall street, not more than five or six minutes' walk from her home. A boat pulled by a single oarsman was coming round the southern end of the island and approaching the shore where Anneke stood. She went down to the water's edge, the boat's stern was swerved to the shore, she stepped in, and the boat continued its course in the direction of the islands lying to the eastward.

It is unnecessary to mention that the oarsman was Ralph Eggleston, who had pulled around from the Hudson river to meet his new found sweetheart to take her for a ride on the East river, where they could make love without being interrupted. Instead of pulling across the river and thence south on the opposite shore and returning by Governors island, they very foolishly went directly past Anneke's home. True, the house was some distance from the shore and perhaps she thought that she might not be seen from there. She did not reckon on the fact that the house was on a hill and that her father had brought to America the very spyglass with which his father, Captain Van Vranken, had discovered a British ship that he had attacked and sunk. Meinheer happened at the time of this boat ride to be strolling about his grounds. Unfortunately for the lovers the sunlight was reflected from the gold trimmings of the officer's uniform. Meinheer Van Vranken, wondering what one of these hated naval men was doing out on the water with a woman—who must be Dutch—went to the house, took down Captain Van Vranken's spyglass, brought it to bear on the occupants of the boat and, to his horror, discovered his daughter there in company with a British officer.

I know not what immediately followed the revelation. The next link in the chain of the story is that Meinheer Van Vranken determined to shake the dust of Manhattan Island off his shoes—since it had become English soil—and go back to Rotterdam with his family. By this move he intended to separate Anneke from the English midshipman who had crept into her affections while her father was drinking destruction to the English fleet in drafts of schnapps.

Anneke was put under a strict watch during the period in which the preparations were being made for the return to the Netherlands, for there was much to be accomplished. Even the heavy four post bedsteads required the strongest horses on the island to drag them to the landing and a lighter of extra size to take them to the ship. Anneke was in charge of Katrina Lemke, an old maid who had no sympathy for young lovers and hated the English. This woman was enjoined not to let her charge out of her sight for a single moment, and since the father feared the young midshipman might, under pretense of searching the house for arms, bring a party of men to take away his sweetheart a six pound cannon was mounted at the only gate in the high wall surrounding the place.

The day the family were to sail for Holland Katrina Lemke and Anneke were left in the house till the last minute, while Meinheer Van Vranken superintended the hauling of the last of the household goods to the landing. When he had finished his task and seen his family and goods put on board the ship he returned for his daughter and her duenna.

He found the house vacant.

From this point the story is vague. It does not appear that Katrina Lemke was ever found. The next heard of Anneke Van Vranken she was living in England, the wife of Captain Sir Ralph Eggleston of the British navy. The loss of the duenna and the escape of her charge are to be accounted for only by conjecture, though there is an unsubstantiated tradition that it was explained by Lady Eggleston. This explanation accords with the recent discovery of the skeleton in the closet.

The tradition is that while the two women were alone together in the Van Vranken home Anneke broke away from her jailer and hid in the closet. The duenna followed her and entered the closet, and Anneke slipped out and shut the door. Anneke, thinking only of flight, left the place and communicated with her lover, who came ashore, married her and took her to his ship.

Anneke did not know—what I now suppose to have been the case—that in closing the door of the closet it had been held by a spring lock. The panel closed automatically with the closing of the door. My theory is that Katrina Lemke was caught in the closet, could not release herself and perished. Doubtless the skeleton discovered there was hers. This theory is borne out by the fact that it is the skeleton of a woman.

Your next employer is not likely to overlook your Journal ad—if you make it "live and true."

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by "The Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, in the County of Union," State of New Jersey, at a meeting to be held at the Office of the Board of Education in the Battin High School, on South Broad Street, Elizabeth, New Jersey, on the (10th) tenth day of July, 1916, at eight o'clock in the evening of that day, for the erection and completion of two new school buildings, one to be erected on the school site on Third Avenue, Spencer and South Fifth Streets, and the other to be erected on the school site on North, Madison and Monroe avenues, in the City of Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Proposals to be considered must be made out on forms supplied by the Architect, and each building shall be bid upon separately, and must be in strict accordance with the requirements of the plans and specifications.

Bids to be submitted separately on each division of the work as expressly provided for by the plans and specifications and bids for each building shall be made separately and also separately on each of the following divisions of work for each building, namely: "General Construction," "Plumbing," "Electrical," "Heating and Ventilating."

Alternate Bids—Each and every bidder shall also estimate on the alternate requirements mentioned in the plans and specifications, and shall so designate the amounts to be added or deducted from the base bid, as the case may be, in the space allotted to same on the bid blank.

Plans and Specifications may be obtained on application at the office of the Architect, Godfrey Poepel, 2 Julian Place, Elizabeth, New Jersey, or examined in the office of the Secretary of the Board of Education, and each applicant shall state definitely the branch of work he intends to bid upon.

A deposit of $25 for each building will be required of each bidder receiving plans and specifications, which shall be returnable conditionally upon the return to the Architect of the plans and specifications within the specified time limits. A charge of $25 additional for the plan of each building will be made for plans and specifications in excess of a limited number to defray expenses of duplication, but no bidder shall receive more than one set of plans for each building, and no such deposit nor payment shall be construed to give any bidder ownership of the plans and specifications.

Retention of Plans—Bidders shall not retain plans and specifications longer than the time limits mentioned in the specifications under penalty of forfeiture of the deposit money.

Sub-contractors shall obtain plans and specifications from general contractors.

Bidders may be required to qualify to the satisfaction of the Board of Education, both as to financial responsibility and capability of efficient execution of the work.

Contractors to whom contracts may be awarded shall furnish a surety company bond satisfactory to the Board of Education equal to fifty per cent. of the contract price, as provided for and in accordance with the specifications.

All bidders shall tender with their bids a certified check or surety bond in amount equivalent to ten per cent. of the base bid for the purpose mentioned in and by the specifications.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all base bids and any and all alternate bids, waive any and all informalities, and award contracts either in part or as a whole, as may be deemed best for the interest of the Board of Education.

Where They Met.

They were both retired officers, and had just been introduced in the smoking-room of the club.

"Do you know, colonel," said the major, "I cannot help thinking I've met you before?"

"And, strangely enough, sir, I have a very similar feeling with regard to you."

"Were you at the storming of Mudpore, colonel?" asked the major at last, after a silence.

"I was, major."

"And were you present at the time the fort exploded and blew up the entire place?"

"I had that honor."

"There, now, I know where I have seen you before. I passed you as you were going up and I was coming down. Your hand, colonel."—Pittsburgh Sun.

Bred in the Bone.

It was at the school distribution, where the audience consisted mainly of mothers, proud or envious, according to their parts in the proceedings.

Up rose one small boy on the platform. Striking a dramatic attitude, he began boldly:

"Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears!"

Whereupon a woman in the hall turned to her companion.

"There, that's the Jones boy!" she said, coldly. "He wouldn't be his mother's son if he wasn't trying to borrow something!"—Answers.

ABOUT TOWN.

August J. Treano has been appointed inspector of the paving work in Grove street by the Board of Works, at a salary of $3 a day.

Chief of Police Mulvahy has in his possession a pocketbook which was found yesterday by a patrolman. The pocketbook contains a considerable sum of money and its owner may obtain it by identification of the property.

RIDERS IN COLLISIONS.

Two Motorcycles Are Driven Into Automobiles.

Two motorcycle accidents were reported by the police yesterday, in both instances their riders colliding with automobiles and escaping serious injuries by a narrow margin. Shortly after the noon hour Patrolman Hildenbrand, witnessed a mishap at Westfield avenue and Cherry street. The accident occurred when John Weynsky, of 14 DeKalb avenue, Plainfield, drove his motorcycle into a truck driven by William G. Burke, of 101 Camden street, Newark.

The auto truck was about to turn into Cherry street and the driver gave the proper signal which Wzynsky failed to see while riding behind it. As a result the motorcycle crashed into the side of the truck demolishing the cycle and throwing its rider directly beneath the truck. Only the quick action of Burke in bringing the machine to an instant stop saved the cyclist from being crushed beneath its wheels. Both Hildenbrand and Patrolman Rooney who was close by reported that the driver of the truck had been in no way at fault and said that Wzynsky had admitted that the accident had been due to his failure to notice Burke's signal that he was going to turn. The affair was also witnessed by S. S. Miller, of 93 Westfield avenue.

At 5.10 P. M. a motorcycle ridden by Frank Hauck of 321 High street, city dog catcher, struck an auto driven by Felix Best, of 1118 Anna street. The accident occurred at Walnut and Anna streets, Hauck being thrown to the street, sustaining severe lacerations of the hips. He was taken to the Alexian Hospital and later removed to his home. Best was accompanied in the auto by Alexander English, of 567 Walnut street.

SEEK STONE THROWERS.

The police are seeking the identity of several boys who are charged with hurling stones at the small son of Mrs. John Sochwick, of 318 Fay avenue, one of which struck the boy in the eye. It is said that the boy may lose the sight of his eye.

WINS CYCLING PRIZE.

Charles Laing, who is a member of Truck Company No. 3, was the winner of the third prize in the Newark motorcycle parade Saturday afternoon. Accompanying Laing in a side car and on the back of the machine were his wife and four children—Mary, Marie, Charles and Esther. They were all dressed in white and the machine was decorated with the National colors.

Art of Bait Casting.

The bait caster! What memories of lily-padded lakes, shimmering in the burnished gold of the setting sun, of a roseate twilight peace, when the lake is one vast mirror: of the furious battles with that bulldog of the sweet waters, the black bass, are his! A most difficult art, one that requires more than a modicum of practice to acquire—to place that lure precisely in a given spot forty or fifty feet away, where a bass may lurk—not near the spot, but right in it, mind you—to land that lure so as to stimulate a frog or minnow naturally leaping or jumping to escape possible attack by a bass; to do all this with a short rod and high-speed reel, casting the lure as a small boy throws an apple from the end of a stick—to do this with accuracy and deftness is no unworthy ambition.

And after the strike comes a battle between a five-pound fish and a 150-pound man, equalized by fair tackle, that into any man—especially if he proves himself worthy to beat the fish at his own game, to take him with all the handicaps imposed by the necessary tackle and win out against all the snags, tactics, leaps and plunges, rushes and feints employed by the battling bass.—American Forestry.

If you are able to offer a real bargain in a used car, you have a proposition that is profitably advertisable in the Journal.

Birthday Surprise.

The Hofbrau House was the scene of a happy gathering Saturday night, the friends of Louis F. Gallaudet, of 50 Sayre street, dockmaster of the Central Railroad at Jersey City, giving him a surprise in celebration of his fiftieth birthday anniversary. Mr. Gallaudet was completely surprised when ushered into the dining-room where the party was assembled. A fine dinner was enjoyed, followed by songs, toasts and music.

Among those present were: Mrs. Charles Redder, Mrs. Anna Stern, Mrs. Piperse, and A. Weholz, of Jersey City, agent of the Central Railroad; John Cassidy, chief clerk; Charles Hambright, general foreman; James Kyle, Mr. Chambers, of the Gillen Lighterage Company; Captain John Peterson, of the Wright & Cobb Lighterage Company; Captain John Ragurt, of the Ajax Cement Company, also representatives of dock and yard departments of the Central Railroad.

A handsome loving cup was presented to Mr. Gallaudet as a token of esteem and regard by those present, and others who were unable to be there. Mr. Weholz, in making the presentation, evoked rounds of applause as he eloquently expressed the sentiments of the diners toward their guest of honor. Mr. Gallaudet made a happy response, which pleased the assemblage greatly.

The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" closed the festivities.

Moore-Haines.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Haines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Haines, and Wilbur A. Moore, formerly of this city and now of New Haven, Conn., and son of Mrs. Agnes A. and the late Howard B. Moore, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 1211 East Broad street, Saturday night, at 6 o'clock, by the Rev. N. M. Simmonds, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. Miss Jane Whittemore played the wedding march from "Lahengrin." The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was performed under a bower of daisies.

Miss Marguerite Van Nostrand was the maid of honor and Mr. Moore was attended by Ralph L. Shearer. The bride was attired in white taffeta, trimmed with silver radium lace, and her veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lillies-of-the-valley. Miss Van Nostrand wore a gown of pink and blue flowered organdie and carried pink Killarney roses. Miss Florence Haines, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore white lace over pale blue silk and carried a basket of sweet peas. The gift of the bride to the maid of honor was a silver vanity case and Mr. Moore's gift to the best man was a silver cigarette case. Following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding supper served.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Haines, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Staddard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Jaeger, Mrs. A. Moore, of Shamokin, Pa.; Mrs. G. A. Haines, 3d, Aubrey Goddard, Jr., and Bernard Goddard.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

An enjoyable celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Elias R. Howard, of 50 Orchard street, was held Saturday evening at their home. About thirty guests from Paterson, Millburn, Roselle, Suffern, N. Y., and this city enjoyed their hospitality. Piano selections and an informal social evening were followed by refreshments served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard were married in New York City, but have been residents of Elizabeth for several years. A number of attractive gifts in silver were brought by the guests and Mr. and Mrs. Howard received the good wishes of all present.

Tenth Birthday Anniversary.

Miss Kathryn Doelfel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Doelfel, of 685 Garden street, entertained a number of her little friends Saturday afternoon with a party celebrating the tenth anniversary of her birth. The afternoon was spent in playing numerous games for which prizes were awarded. Selections were rendered on the piano by the Misses Ruth Jones and Florence O'Neill. At a late hour in the afternoon the guests were served with refreshments. Among those present were: The Misses Marietta Madden, Margaret Cramsie, Bessie Auer, Jessie Heller, Emma Douglas, Margaret O'Neill, Burnetta Collins, Margaret Buick, Alma Dion, Maud Newcomb, Gladys Carlson, Leona Hurley, Ruth Jones, Masters Richard Jones, Walter Cramsie, Edward Ricker and William Ricker, all of Elizabeth; Gladys Pohl, of Jersey City; Julia Kirby and Mrs. M. Karl, of Roselle; Miss Harriet Kirby, of Beverly; Master Jack Kenneth Talbot, of Beverly; Mrs. William H. Kip and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doelfel.

The annual picnic of the Socialist Liedertafel was held Saturday afternoon and evening at Marx's Colosseum, Fourth street and Elizabeth avenue. Prize bowling and dancing provided entertainment. Music was furnished by Liedertafel orchestra, of Newark. In addition to the members of the Elizabeth society representatives of the Newark, Linden, New York and Brooklyn organizations were present. The committee in charge comprised: Chairman, Joseph Nuss; treasurer, Joseph Graff; financial secretary, Emil Lacker, and John Schicho.

Married Quarter Century.

Many friends and relatives gathered last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Martin, 123 Jefferson avenue, on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The bride of a quarter century who was formerly Miss Nannie Synder, of Roanoke, Va., was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. J. H. Boyd, of Easton, and Mrs. Laura Hall, of this city. The house was profusely decorated with flowers and streamers of pink and white.

At 9.30 an elaborate supper was served, the centerpiece of the table being a huge wedding cake. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Martin many happy returns of the day. Many useful and beautiful gifts of cut glass and silver were received by Mrs. Martin, including a chest of silver from her husband.

The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Lynch, Miss Bessie Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. William Millen and Mrs. A. C. Lounsbury, of Roselle; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boyd and Dr. and Mrs. Pearce, of Easton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Miss Sadie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Becker and Charles Shoy, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andre, Mr. and Mrs. Finlay, Miss Berylund, Miss Anna Berglund, Mrs. Laura Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oakley, of Elizabeth.

He Dressed Well.

Amos Whitaker, a miserly millionaire was approached by a friend who used his most persuasive powers to have him dress more in accordance with his station in life.

"I am surprised, Amos," said the friend, "that you should allow yourself to become so shabby."

"But I'm not shabby," firmly interposed the millionaire miser.

"Oh, but you are," returned his old friend. "Remember you father. He was always neatly, even elegantly dressed. His clothes were always finely tailored and of the best material."

"Why," shouted the miser, triumphantly, "these clothes I've got on were father's."—Lippincott's Magazine.

MURRAY AND "THROCK" IN RICHMOND TOURNAMENT

The scene of Harold A. Throckmorton's tennis activities have shifted to the Richmond County Country Club's invitation round robin men's doubles at Dongan Hills, Staten Island. "Throck" is teamed with the clever R. Lindley Murray, and up to yesterday afternoon this pair had competed in three different matches. Saturday they lost a match to Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Alrick H. Man and yesterday they broke even. They lost to Van Dyke Johns and Willis E. Davis, the Californians, and beat Frederick C. Inman and Theodore R. Pell.

Elizabeth's representative and Murray won 9—11, 9—3, 6—4 from the Pell-Inman duo and lost 6—3, 6—2 to the Californians, Johns and Davis. The most sensational match yesterday was played between Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Alrick C. Man and Johns and Davis. The former won 19—17, 6—1. Inman and Pell also took a match from Bull and Man.

NEW-COMER ANNEXES CUP IN DUANE TOURNAMENT

Patrick Keogh, a new-comer at the Duane traps, captured the beginners' event at the weekly shoot of the Duane Rod and Gun Club yesterday afternoon at the traps in Spring street. Keogh broke fifteen out of twenty-five. He was also tied with Adam Anthes for first place in a ten-bird event, with six each. John Anthes, Jr., also had a big day. He copped three firsts and was tied in two other events with Charley Gibson.

Anthes and Gibson were tied in the first event with twenty out of twenty-five and in the third with twenty-three out of twenty-five. Johnny Enz gave Anthes a hard fight in the sixth event, the latter winning by one bird with twenty-one out of twenty-five. The next shoot will take place Independence Day.

CHARLEY GIRARD HOLDS CHINESE TEAM HITLESS

While Artie Romer was pegging a no-hit, no-run game against the T. A. B. S. nine here yesterday afternoon for the New York Police nine, and equalling Charley Girard's record, old boy Charles, another former T. A. B. S. flinger, was pitching the Bushwicks to a no-hit, no-run victory over the Chinese University nine of Hawaii. Girard's team won 3 to 0. Prior to yesterday Girard was the only pitcher who ever twirled a no-hit, no-run game on the T. A. B. S. field. He performed this feat several years ago for the Burns crew against a colored team. The Bushwicks club ran up four hits. Apau and Ako pitched for the Chinese ball club. Paul Dietz, a former T. A. B. S. player, was at shortstop for the Bushwicks. He collected a hit and had three put-outs, one assist and one error.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero: Walter Johnson, of the Senators, whose twirling in the pinches shut off hits when they meant runs for the Browns. Johnson struck out six.

Herzog's Red Legs ran and swam through a field of mud and water to a 5 to 1 victory over the Cardinals.

Weaver, of the White Sox, let loose a wild heave after two were down in the seventh, and the Reds immediately started a rally, which netted two runs and which afterward proved enough to win the game.

Joe Jackson contributed his regular three hits.

Nineteen hits and as many runs was the total of the Yanks bombardment against the Indians.

The Browns were saved a shut-out, when two walked in the sixth and a single by Pratt sent in a run.

Cobb showed some great footwork on the paths. The Tiger star stole twice on Schang, of the Athletics.

NO SINGER BASEBALL.

Singer baseball fans must wait until another day to decide whether or not the victory gained by the Small Parts players in their last meeting with the Tool Room outfit was an accident or not. Wet grounds caused a postponement of Saturday's tilt, while the Shuttle-Babcock Wilcox game scheduled for Bayonne was also called off.

His by Right.

An Irish chauffeur in San Francisco, who had been having trouble with numerous small boys in the neighborhood, who persisted in throwing mud on his car, discovered one day on examining his car that there was a dead cat on one of the seats. In his anger he was about to throw the carcass into the street when he espied a policeman.

Holding up the carcass he exclaimed: "This is now I am insulted. What am I to do with it?"

"Well, don't you know! Take it straight to headquarters and if it is not claimed within a month it becomes your property."—Harper's Magazine.

ENGELS DEFEATS ELLER IN RACE OVER HURDLES.

Clear skies and a bumper crowd greeted the athletes who competed in the Egenolf Day Nursery games, the best tournament ever staged by the Singer Association, at Bennett Park yesterday afternoon. From 2.30 o'clock until just a few minutes before the hour of 6 was tolled, things happened thick and fast at the big play field of the Singer factory employes, and they were things which made every one in that vast throng glad that they were there. No set of games ever presented in Elizabeth were better handled, for not a single second of unnecessary delay crept into the matinee, while the races were glowing tributes to the fairness of the handicapper, whose excellent judgment made practically every number a driving affair that was decided in the home-stretch.

Featuring the carnival was the 120-yard low hurdle race in which Jack Eller attempted to lower the world's record for that distance. But there were no records broken, the weather man attending to that by dousing the path until it defied the best effort of a corps of trained men to put in the lightning fast shape for such a performance.

Upset in Hurdle Race.

And while the weather man took care of the track, Arthur L. Engles took care of Mr. Eller and he did his work well. Eller, running in the first heat, scampered home in fifteen seconds, a very encouraging sprint, in view of the fact that at no time was he hard pushed. Engels competed in the second heat and everyone scented a lively scrap in the finals when he raced home in time one-fifth of a second slower than Eller's. But here again the weather man interceded, and before these two stars went to the scratch in the final a brisk breeze, which swept down the lanes full in their faces, had sprung.

Despite this handicap the race was run in "15 flat," and Engels was the winner by a margin that left no doubt that in him the flying cop has a rival entitled to the greatest consideration on any kind of a track and in any kind of weather. The race made by Engels in his upset of the favorite may well be proclaimed the feature of yesterday's tournament.

Eller Beaten in Special.

It was probably a desire to salve the sting of Eller's defeat over the hurdles that prompted the committee to add to a perfectly balanced program a special 100-yard dash in which "John J." himself, Billy La Rose, of the Knights of St. Anthony, and Frank Stephenson started. Yesterday wasn't Eller's day, however. La Rose, a youngster with only a year's experience and who won the junior metropolitan championship over the 100-yard stretch at New Brunswick on Saturday, won the race, beating Frank Stephenson to the tape in the best finish of the day. Aller was third. The heat was run in 10 flat.

Jim Plant, another champion who grabbed his crown at New Brunswick, took the lead early in the two-mile run and set the pace right up to the finish mark. F. Kiesser, of the Morningside A. C., was the winner in the one and one-half mile walk.

Singer Wins Factory Relay.

The quartet of the Singer Company didn't treat their guests from the Bloomfield plant of the Sprague Electric Company and the Bigelow Varnish Company shop with any kind of consideration at all. Fleet Michael Galluppo opened up a city block of daylight between his heels and the visiting runners, and then Fred Clark, Henry Mueller and Eddie Hruby saw to it that none of Miguel's fine work went to waste.

Eddie Hruby, who has done his full share in collecting the five trophies now in the possession of the Assembling Department; his teammates, Jack Price and Adolph Schwartz and Henry Mueller, of the Shuttle, were the winners in the events closed to Singer employes. Hruby went over the timbers to victory in the 220-yard hurdles, while Mueller made a beautiful race in the 100-yard dash. Jack Price just nosed out Louis Roerig by a pretty combination of brain and brawn in the 1,000-yard novice, and Schwartz copped the candy in the 440.

The Departmental Relay was the only fizzle of the tournament. But two teams put in an appearance for this event and as both of these were from the Assembling, Coach Gross's boys had an easy time adding eight more points to their score.

The Assembling won the point trophy for closed competition with a total of 35, holding a lead of 23 counts over the Shuttle athletes, who were second. The Long Island A. C., with twelve points, won the open events point trophy. The summaries:

Points scored in competition closed to Singer employes—Assembling Department, 35; Shuttle Department, 12; Engineering Department, 2; Special Machine, 1.

CHARLEY MARSDEN WILL PITCH FOR RAHWAY CLUB

COPSHAW HOLDS GARWOOD SAFE

SOUTH ELIZABETH PLAYERS WIELD BLUDGEONS WELL.

A good sized crowd turned out yesterday to see Tommy Ward's South Elizabeth tossers pound Pitcher Decker, of the Garwood Young Men's Club, for thirteen hits and a total of eight runs on the Southerners' lot. The best the visitors could do was to touch George Copshaw six times and hang up half the number of tallies registered by the homesters.

South Elizabeth started right off in the first inning by ringing up a brace of counters. They followed this up with one in the second, a pair more in the third, another ace in the sixth and a final couple in the seventh. Garwood's counts were put over in the fifth and sixth, two in each frame. Rudy Eilers led in hitting for Elizabeth, poling out three bingles and scoring a run. The scores:

BELMONTS NAIL GAME IN NINTH

O'Leary's Hit Beats Hustlers by 1 to 0 Score.

MAHAR AND FARRELL HAVE GREAT CHUCKING DUEL.

Johnny Mahar, the Linden pitching phenom, pegged the champion Belmonts to one of the classiest victories of the season yesterday morning when the Frog Hollow bunch defeated the Hustlers 1 to 0 on Moxley's field. This win clinched the series for the champions. The former Linden High School flinger fanned fifteen batters, which boosted his strike-out mark to fifty-six for four games. He let the Hustlers down with three hits. Ray Farrell yielded five hits to the champs. Not an extra base-hit was collected by either nine. Johnny O'Leary's single drove in Jack Price with the winning run in the ninth after one out.

Jack Price, who romped across the rubber with the only tally for the Belmonts, whanged out a pair of hits. Hauser, O'Leary and Rudy Eilers chalked up the other safeties for the Belmonts. "Hank" Hruby, O'Connor and Kirkman were the only Hustlers able to connect safely with Mahar's slants. The score:

GOLFERS LAUGH AT HEAVY RAINS

Suburbanites Play Matches in Great Downpour.

IRA WHEELER CARRIES OFF CLASS B PLAY HONORS.

Golf enthusiasm is a great thing. Just a simple declarative sentence, but what a tale it tells. Of course, a "Doubting Thomas" here and there may question the veracity of this wee sentence, but to these gentlemen let it be said "You oughta been out at the Suburban Saturday afternoon."

Now, "Annie" Kellerman is some girl. She performs wonderful feats in the water, but then the aforesaid Annette gets well paid for her tricks. Saturday afternoon a young army of Suburbanites went a golfing on their home links, and while they golfed the rain commenced to fall. In truth it fell in great gobs and buckets full, quite completely dousing everything in sight, but golfing enthusiasm is as waterproof as a duck's neck, so the golfers golfed on, performing stunts in a sea of water and mud that would have put even the talented A. K. to shame. And, bear in mind, Annette gets paid for her bit. See now where the greatness of golfing enthusiasm comes in?

Despite the overabundance of dampness that greatly added to the popularity of the nineteenth tee, the Suburbanites managed to get in a whole lot of golf, and their scores were nothing more than taunting flings at Jupiter Pluvius, for they were without exception good cards, right up on a par with the competition.

In the feature match of the afternoon Ira Wheeler defeated R. K. Vezin, 5 up and 3 to play, and won the chief cup in Class B competition of the spring tournament. In Duffers' Cup play, Joseph H. Nolte defeated John W. Whelan, 3 and 2; C. A. Swift defaulted to J. C. Kellogg, Jr., and Dr. Green defeated R. B. Cissell, 2 up.

C. E. Haupt and Ira Wheeler shared honors in the 18-hole handicap, each player returning a net score of 76. First prize in the "Sweeps" fell to Dr. Horace R. Livengood, returning a card of 74. R. T. Potts was second with a 77, and B. B. Miler took the third award with 78.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKS.

Philadelphia, June 19.—Willis E. Davis, of California, will meet Craig Biddle, of Marion, to-day in the final match for the State single tennis title at Haverford. The final round in the doubles is expected to be reached this afternoon.

Dillon Outdraws Moran.

Row Postponed Race.

TROTTING RACES OFF.

A muddy track necessitated the calling off of the matinee trotting races scheduled to take place Saturday afternoon at the Weequahic Park. The events will be run off Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The following classes will be represented: 2.35, 2.25, 2.19, 2.24, 2.15 and free-for-all.

KRAMER SCORES THIRD STRAIGHT

Wins Half-Mile Bike Race in Titular Series.

RAYMOND EATON IS FIRST IN REPECHAGE EVENT.

Frank Kramer increased his lead in the fight for the National professional bike championship this year. The big chief scored his third straight victory yesterday afternoon at the Newark Velodrome track when he disposed of Alfred Grenda, the Australian, in the final heat of the half-mile event, the third of a series of six numbers to decide the title. Kramer also had to beat such stars as Bob Spears and Alfred Goullet to cop yesterday's race.

Raymond Eaton, the local cyclist, copped the one-mile repechage. Ernest Ohrt was second and Thomas Grimm, of Irvington, took third place; Arthur Spencer, of Toronto, failed to wrest the Brassard from Frank Cavanaugh. The summaries:

The Brassard (one mile; professional)—Frank Cavanagh, Newark, vs. Arthur Spencer, Toronto. Won by Cavanagh. Time, 2.37 4-5.

Half-mile novice—Won by Alfred Nannen, Carteret; Alfred Staehle, Newark, second. Time, 1.08.

Half-mile handicap (amateur)—Won by Roy Lilvany, Newark (75 yards); Thomas Fitzsimmons, East Orange (30 yards), second; William Purdue, East Orange (75 yards), third; Marcel Burger, New York (55 yards), fourth. Time, 0.53 2-5.

Miss-and-out invitation (professional)—Won by Jacob Magin, Irvington; William Hanley, San Francisco, second; John Bedell, Newark, third; E. F. Root, Boston, fourth; George G. Cameron, New York, fifth. Time, 4.41 3-5.

Two-mile open (amateur)—Won by John L. Staehle, Newark; Artie Farnow, Salt Lake City, second; Gus Lang, Irvington, third; William Weimer, Newark, fourth. Time, 5.00 4-5.

One-mile repechage (professional)—Won by Ray Eaton, Newark; Ernest Ohrt, San Francisco, second; Thomas Grimm, Irvington, third; Floyd Krebs, Newark, fourth; Frank Corry, Australia, fifth. Time, 1.47 3-5.

Australian pursuit race (amateur)—William Spencer, Toronto, vs. E. J. Carroll, San Francisco. Won by Spencer. Distance, 5 miles. Time, 7.14 3-5.

Two-mile tandem (professional)—Won by Spears and McNamara; Iver Lawson and William Hanley, second; Jacob Magin and Percy Lawrence, third. Time, 8.47 2-5.

"JOE" DICKENSON SCORES SWEEP IN AUTO RACES

Joseph W. Dickinson, of Cranford, won four of the six events at the Olympic Park auto race meet held Saturday night. The Cranfordite, driving a Stutz Special, took first place in the time trials, half-mile flying start; event No. 3, three-mile, class E; event No. 4, five-mile Olympic Park trophy race, and event No. 5, Australian pursuit race, 5-mile. He was second in event No. 6, three-mile free-for-all, handicap. R. D. Jackson, of Westfield, driving a J. and F. Special, was second in event No. 3, and second in event No. 1. George Adams, the Brooklyn millionaire sporting man, was first in event No. 2, a three-mile run, and F. W. Wilcox collected the big honors in event No. 9.

MAURICE GENNERT SECOND.

Maurice Gennert, the former Pingry athlete, representing the New York Athletic Club, took second honors in the hammer throw at the junior metropolitan championships in New Brunswick, Saturday afternoon. Gennert tossed the twelve-pound pea 155 feet 8 and 1-2 inches, while his teammate, W. T. Brown, won the event with a throw of 170 feet and 1 inch. J. J. Conway, of the Irish-American A. C., got off a heave of 148 feet 11 inches and was third.

TOO DAMP FOR S. S. NINES.

No Sunday School League baseball games were played Saturday afternoon. Although the early morning rains had left the fields in poor shape the S. S. A. L. athletes all made ready to go through with the three games scheduled, but a postponement of the entire card was made necessary by the heavy showers which visited this section during the afternoon.

NEW WESLEYAN CAPTAIN.

Charles G. Chapin, of Wilbraham, Mass., was yesterday chosen captain of the Wesleyan baseball team to succeed Edward Markthaler, of this city, who graduates this year. Chapin has been catcher for the 'varsity nine for three years.

HEGEMAN IN FINALS.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—F. M. Hegeman defeated A. E. Keller in the semi-finals of the Westfield Golf Club championship on Saturday. The finals will be played next Saturday.

ANOTHER FOR BORDEN'S.

Elizabeth chalked up another win in the Borden League Friday afternoon, defeating the Union Hill team for the second time in a championship tussle. The score was 13 to 8. The tilt was halted in the seventh inning by rain. Circonelli pitched for Elizabeth. Next Thursday Elizabeth will be at Newark. The line-up of the Elizabeth team in Friday's game follows: Bindwald, right field; MaNamee, second base; Circonelli, pitcher; Berns, shortstop; Lutz, third base; Guillaume, left field; Gillespie, center field; Tangan, catcher, and Beringer, first base.

SWAG LOT TOO WET.

Seventh Ward players were again idle yesterday morning, their game scheduled with the Alerts, of Newark, being called off because of wet grounds. Manager Germann is on the hunt for a crack nine to oppose his gang next Sunday.

ROMER TWIRLS HITLESS GAME FOR COP CLUB

T. A. B. S. Unable to Locate Southpaw and Lose Out by 6-0 Score.

VETERAN HURLS GREATEST GAME OF CAREER.

Artie Romer, the elongated, wrong-shouldered flinger who used to be out there pegging for Joe Burns and his T. A. B. S. ball club, carved his name in the baseball Hall of Fame yesterday afternoon, when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Abstainers for the New York Police Department nine on the T. A. B. S. field. The score was 6 to 0. Romer's feat goes down in the baseball annals of the New York Police nine as the best bit of pegging ever credited a N. Y. P. D. mound man.

From the beginning it was evident that the coppers were out to give the Tabs the nicest little pasting they've been treated to this season. The whole gang was after everything, and took all kinds of chances. Romer's "serve" was most deceptive, and, with the whole squad livened up to real fighting spirit, the visitors simply whaled into our own little Matty Sheridan for thirteen hits, four of which were infield taps too difficult to be handled for outs.

Twenty-nine Face Romer.

Just twenty-nine Elizabethans faced the big southpaw, and not a single player got past first. In the second Johnny O'Leary drew a free pass, Peploski reached the initial cushion in the seventh when Joe Malsolmson's peg pulled Grothee off the bag, and Kaiser perched and glued on first when he forced "Pop" at second with an infield tap to Fennelly at second. In other words, the Tabs didn't have a look-in. It was all Romer.

Johnny O'Leary and John Clougher threatened to break into the hit column in the fifth, but Dave Barry was under O'Leary's long lift in a jiffy despite the muddy territory in which he was forced to labor, and Tieneckner in left made another sensational catch of the wicked drive off Clougher's bat. "Big Artie's" most sensational inning was the eighth, in which he pegged just three balls to retire the side.

James Irving Present.

Next to Romer's superb pitching came Jimmy Irving's wonderful work around shortstop. Jimmy had an exceptionally busy afternoon making four put-outs and seven assists. His wonderful stops of hard-hit balls, his throws from difficult angles and the daring chances he took to catch players napping on the keystone bag elicited applause throughout the game. He is the same Jimmy whose playing beat the cops two weeks ago.

The visitors scored their first count in the second on a passed ball. They added two more in the third on a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly and boosted the tally to five in the fifth on a pair of hits and two errors. Keifer scored the sixth run on Froelich's single after smashing a triple to center in the ninth. The score:

JOHN C. ILG

861 Elizabeth Ave.

SAW SERVICE IN NOTABLE CIVIL WAR BATTLES.

Edwin Marsh, of 44 Prince street, has again been honored by the New Jersey Department of the G. A. R., by being named one of the ten delegates from this State to the National Encampment to be held next September in Kansas City, Mo. He was elected at the annual State Encampment held last Thursday and Friday in Atlantic City, this being the tenth time he has been appointed as one of New Jersey's representatives to the National encampment.

Mr. Marsh is a native of England, but came to this country with his parents when a boy and settled in this city, where he has resided for sixty-one years. At the outbreak of the Civil War he ran away from home and enlisted in what was then known as the Excelsior Battery at New York. He enlisted on March 5, 1862. The battery was later made the Tenth New York Independent Battery.

During the three years he was in the Union army he participated in a number of battles and had several narrow escapes from being captured by the Confederates while on foraging expeditions. Among the engagements in which he took part were: Cedar Mountain, Sulphur Springs, Second Battle of Bull Run, South Mountain, Snicker's Gap, Chancellorsville, Rappahannock Station, Madison Court House, Spottsylvania, Petersburg, Charlestown, Port Republic, Wood stock Races, Cuttlett's Station, Chantilly, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Mine Run, Wilderness, Cold Harbor, Weldon Railroad, Hill Town, Cross Keys and Cedar Creek.

At the Battle of Spottsylvania he was chief orderly under General Sedgwick and was the last man to whom the officer issued an order before he was shot. He was made a corporal following the Battle of Chancellorsville. During this engagement the cannon with which his squad was working was struck. One man was killed and two others, leaving but four to man the gun. They were ordered to retire, but Mr. Marsh persisted in remaining and kept on firing. As a reward for his service he was given the stripes of a corporal.

Mr. Marsh was discharged at Harper's Ferry, Va., on March 4, 1865. He returned to his home intending to go back to his command at the expiration of a month, but his mother refused to allow him to do so.

For many years he resided downtown, but came uptown to live five years ago. He was engaged in the coal and lumber business, retiring twenty years ago. Mr. Marsh is a member of Judson Kilpatrick Post, No. 61, G. A. R., of which he is a past commander.

URGES SCHOOL SUPPORT.

Dr. Mackel Preaches on Needs of Parochial Institutions.

In urging liberal support for St. Patrick's grammar and high schools, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Charles H. Mackel, D. D., rector of St. Patrick's Church, declared in a twenty-minute address at the 10 o'clock mass yesterday morning that the members of the parish should realize the great value of the work the schools are doing. He urged that the members of the parish contribute substantially to the monthly collections as the schools are free institutions, supported entirely by monthly contributions.

The school needs, Dr. Mackel said, were growing apace with the rapidly growing population of the community. These needs must be impressed upon the parishioners, he said, in order that they might understand the necessity for liberality in their support of the institutions.

Loyalty to the Catholic church and to all of its activities, Dr. Mackel declared, demands sacrifices and none to better purpose than the maintenance of the parochial schools at a high standard of excellence.

HONORED FOR TENTH TIME BY G. A. R. OF NEW JERSEY

EDWIN MARSH,
Who will be one of the State representative at G. A. R. National Encampment in Kansas City, Mo., next September.

WILL COMMAND ATLANTIC FLEET

Vice-Admiral Mayo to Succeed Admiral Fletcher.

OTHER CHANGES IN AMERICAN NAVY.

(Special to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—When Vice-Admiral H. T. Mayo succeeds Admiral Frank F. Fletcher in command of the Atlantic fleet today, he will be advanced to the rank of admiral. Rear Admiral De Witt Coffman, commanding the sixth division of the fleet, will be advanced to the grade of vice-admiral, succeeding Admiral Mayo. Admiral Fletcher will automatically become a rear admiral. He will receive an important shore detail.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced these changes after a conference with President Wilson. The Secretary also conferred personally this week with Admirals Fletcher and Mayo.

"When relieved of the command today," said Secretary Daniels, "Admiral Fletcher will have served a little longer than fleet commanders usually serve. He is a splendid officer and has accomplished much with the fleet. He has completed his tour of duty as commanding officer of the fleet, and there is no other reason for the change.

"Admiral Mayo is an officer of great ability, and has rendered splendid service," said Mr. Daniels. "He has the confidence of the officers and men in the entire fleet."

Admiral Mayo is the man who precipitated the trouble with Huerta, which resulted in the occupation of Vera Cruz by American forces. The Admiral insisted that Huerta salute the American flag because of the arrest of American marine at Tampico when they went ashore to get mail. Later marines were landed at Vera Cruz, and Admiral Fletcher was in command of that movement.

In service circles unanimous praise was given today to Mr. Daniels's selection of Vice-Admiral Mayo for the most coveted of posts. There is a particular feeling of satisfaction at the appointment because of the fear that Vice-Admiral Mayo's part in the Tampico affair during the critical days of the struggle with Huerta had placed the officer's star under a cloud.

But Admiral Fletcher proved a strong friend for Vice Admiral Mayo, and when the Atlantic fleet was organized, with Admiral Fletcher in command, Rear Admiral Mayo received command of the battleship squadron and of the first division, with the rank of vice-admiral.

Vice-Admiral Mayor comes to fleet command at the age of 56, retiring in December, 1918. His recent duties have been as commandant of the Mare Island Navy Yard, aid for personnel, and division commander in the Atlantic fleet.

ITALIANS FOR EDGE.

To Banquet Republican Gubernatorial Candidate in Newark.

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19.—One hundred Newark citizens of Italian descent will give a banquet in honor of State Senator Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic City, in the Washington restaurant here to-night, at which the candidacy of Senator Edge for the Republican nomination for Governor will be ratified. It is planned to have every guest sign the following pledge to support the Atlantic City man in the coming primaries:

"We, American citizens of Italian descent of the county of Essex, promise you our sincere support at the primary and the election, and wish you an overwhelming victory."

Gaetano M. Belfatto, president, and the Rev. Peter Di Nardo, vice-president, of the Italo-American Republican League of Essex County, are the leading spirits of the committee arranging the dinner. Senator Edge is billed to make an address.

TO TEST NEW FUEL.

Naval Board Will Try Out Discovery of Trenton Man.

Trenton, June 19.—"Gasofoam," the new fuel discovery by Henry T. Caullett, of Trenton, will be given a thorough test this week under the direction of the committee Internal Combustion Engines of the Navy Consulting Board. Caullett claims for his fuel that it is an effective substitute for gasoline, and that it can be placed upon the market as a comparatively inexpensive commodity. It has been tested by automobile manufacturers, and the reports of the results are highly favorable.

The Naval Board is anxious to determine its adaptability for Government purposes, and arrangements have been made to conduct a test of its merit at the works of the Locomotive Company of America, Bridgeport, Conn.

QUICK TRIP TO CHINA.

Pekin, China, June 19.—The record for trans-Pacific travel from San Francisco to Pekin by the Southern route was lowered twenty-four hours when Corporal John Alexander and fourteen privates of the United States Marine Corps arrived here for duty with the American legation guard of Marines, after having been thirty-four days en route from San Francisco. The best previous record was thirty-five days and nine hours.

The party of United States Marines left San Francisco via an army transport, and at Guam, Marianna Islands, transhipped to the U. S. S. Brooklyn, which brought them directly to Shanghai. They came from Shanghai to Pekin by rail.

JERSEY MILITIA READY TO MEET WILSON CALL

SITUATION IS GRAVE

Baker Seeks Congress Permit to Use Militia in Mexico.

REPLY TO CARRANZA

U. S. Note to Contain Refusal to Take Away Troops.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 19.—The Mexican situation looks so dubious to-day that Secretary of State Lansing frankly admitted there is "more excitement and irritation in Mexico than heretofore." The statement was more significant in view of Lansing's persistent refusal for weeks to make any comment except to mention "co-operation" with the de facto government.

The biggest spot developed in the situation to-day was Secretary of War Baker's request to Chairman Hay, of the House Military Committee that Congress authorize putting into operation section 111 of the new military bill. This permits use of the National Guard in the regular military service on foreign soil.

Ten thousand words or more—a strong and forceful refusal to heed Carranza's withdrawal request—will be en route to First Chief Carranza before night. This note may precipitate the trouble that every official fears—an actual clash between Mexican forces and Americans. Announcement that the note would go to-day was made after the Mexican Embassy had delivered a secret note to Lansing, presumably a request that this Government's reply be hastened.

Silliman Coming Home.

Consul John R. Silliman is en route for the border, leaving the interior of Mexico without any full American consuls in charge. Meanwhile new warnings to Americans to quit the troubled country have gone forward.

Mobilization of militia proceeded throughout the country to-day. No orders dispatching any of these forces to the border had been announced up to noon; many of the men may never see border duty. Making them available, however, is a precaution against trouble—calling Carranza's bluff and perhaps averting war.

War Department officials to-day expressed gratification over reports from railroads of the country as to ability and willingness to aid in the mobilization of militia. These reports would not be made public, but officials declared the railroad problem the least of their difficulties.

Some months ago, officials explained, this transportation question was dis-

WAR CHIEF ARRIVES.

General Sernao, in Juarez, May Take Command of Mexicans.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Juarez, Mex., June 19.—General Francisco Sernao, War Minister Obregon's chief of staff, arrived here to-day on a secret mission. It is reported Serano will take command of all Carranza troops in Northern Mexico in the event of war with the United States. Serano refused to discuss his mission.

NEW NOTE TO AUSTRIA.

U. S. Renews Demand for Disavowal of Petrolite Attack.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—The State Department to-day dispatched a note to the Austrian Government renewing its demand for a disavowal and reparation for an attack by an Austrian submarine on the tank steamer Petrolite last fall.

REFUGEES REACH U. S.

Proclamation in Yucatan Orders Americans to Leave Mexico.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Galveston, Tex., June 19.—The steamer Nils arrived here to-day from Progreso, Mexico, with nine refugees aboard, who reported that all Americans in the State of Yucatan have been ordered out by proclamation of the Mexican Government. A copy of the proclamation was produced, informing the Americans they must leave because the two countries are in "a state of war."

The refugees say an American gunboat is at Progreso removing Americans and that other refugees are embarking on passenger vessels.

OFFICERS MUST SERVE

Cannot Be Relieved of Service Except at President's Order.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Chicago, June 19.—No militia officer can be relieved of service during the life of his present commission except by order of the President, according to a War Department order transmitted to General T. H. Barrick, commander of the Central Department to-day.

HEED RUSH CALL FOR GUARD DUTY IN MEXICO CRISIS

Hospital Corp Members Ready.

ARMORY IS SCENE OF ACTIVITY.

Members of Second Infantry Await Call.

The First Field Hospital Company, with headquarters in this city, will leave to-morrow afternoon or Wednesday morning for Sea Girt, where it will be mobilized with the other units of the First Brigade preparatory to leaving for the Mexican border. This is the only Elizabeth company which has been ordered to the front, although it is believed by many of the officers that the Second Regiment will be called out before the end of the week.

Orders calling out the hospital company were received this morning by the commander, Major Harold D. Corbusier, and he immediately took steps to move his organization. As a result there is unusual activity at the First Battalion armory, where the officers and members of the organization have been assembling and gathering together the equipment. The actual work of loading the equipment will probably be started early to-morrow morning, when the men will again report at headquarters.

Major Corbusier stated to-day that the hospital is in first-class condition, and is ready for active service. It now has thirty-four men and three officers, including the commanding officer, the others being Captain D. A. Kraker and Captain F. A. Roberts. It will be necessary to recruit the organization up to the war strength of sixty-seven men, said Major Corbusier, and he announced that all who desire to recruit for service should do so at once. Officers will be on duty for this purpose to-night and all day to-morrow. When the organization leaves for the mobilization camp an officer will remain here to receive recruits.

Regarding the situation as it affects the infantry organizations, little information could be obtained from Elizabeth officers. Lieutenant-Colonel William B. Martin, of the Second Infantry, was in communication with the Adjutant-General's office this morning, but nothing definite could be learned as to the future course of the infantry. He declared, however, that he believed the entire First Brigade will be called out. This will include the First, Fourth and Fifth Regiments, First Squadron of Cavalry, all of the field artillery, the Signal Corps, the Engineering Corps, the First Field Hospital Company and the Ambulance Company. The cavalry will include Troop D, stationed at Plainfield.

Owing to the call for the National Guard the school of instruction for the officers of the New Jersey National Guard was discontinued, and the Elizabeth officers, including Major Conrad Hall, Captain Harry O. Warren, Lieutenant Charles R. Bohn, Lieutenant-elect Thomas Hall, Lieutenant Grant and Second Lieutenant Dabb returned to this city to-day. Captain Warren stated that the officers were called out at 12.20 o'clock this morning and were ordered by Brigadier-General Hine to return to their home stations.

In speaking of the situation Captain Warren stated that nothing definite could be learned at Sea Girt this morning. The orders went to press at 2 o'clock this morning, and will probably be issued late this afternoon. He stated, however, that while the First Brigade will be called out according to the general belief among the officers, it is generally felt that the Second and Third Regiments will be ordered out before the end of the week. It is said that the announcement regarding the calling out of the First Brigade has aroused no little amount of dissatisfaction among the officers of the other infantry organizations, and it is believed that this will result in the entire five regiments being sent to Sea Girt. It is expected to have the brigade mobilized at Sea Girt on Thursday.

The First Battalion of the Second Regiment, Major Hall commanding, is reported as ready to move and the men are anxious for active service. According to Second Lieutenant Frank V. Lowden, the battalion quartermaster and commissary, he could move the organization as soon as the men are assembled at the armory.

The organization has all of its equipment, Mr. Lowden declared, and it is in first-class condition. If orders were received this afternoon, he asserted, the battalion could be at Sea Girt to-morrow morning. All the companies in Major Hall's command are recruited up to their maximum peace strength and some have men on the waiting list.

The situation is being watched with a great deal of interest by Elizabeth officers and guardsmen, all of whom are anxious to get into active service. Captain Harry O. Warren, of Company I, has issued a call for a meeting of the non-commissioned officers of his organization for to-night at the armory, and it is likely that the situation will be discussed.

According to Colonel Martin, the First Brigade has been called because it is a brigade organization. If it should depend on the question of efficiency the

RUSSIANS DRIVE TOWARD KOVEL

Germans Admit Attacks Are Only Partly Repulsed.

SLAVS PUSH ON PAST CITY OF CZERNOWITZ.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Berlin, June 19.—Amission that the Russians in their offensive opposite the railroad center of Kovel are making progress is made in the official statement of the War Office to-day. The statement declares General Linsingen's forces defending this portion of the line have only "partly repulsed" the Russian attacks.

Russians Pass Czernowitz.

London, June 19.—With Czernowitz, capital of Bukowina, in their hands, and some of the cavalry units already far past it to the north in flanking attacks on the retreating Austrians, the Russians have renewed the fury of their attacks in the region of Brody, opposite Lemberg, according to dispatches from Petrograd.

If the drive in this region is successful the Russian line from the Lutsk region to the Rumanian border will be straightened out. A heavier resistance than that of Czernowitz is expected here as the line can be readily reinforced by means of the railroad from Lemberg.

Furious fighting continues in the Kovel region with the Russians slowly but surely advancing despite the most stubborn resistance of the combined German and Austrian troops. With Kovel and Lemberg taken the military critics predict a general retreat of the east front forces of the central Powers.

Verdun Attacks Fail.

Paris, June 19.—Violent German infantry attacks on French positions north of Hill 321, near Verdun, were repulsed according to the statement of the War Office this morning. On the west bank of the Meuse the Germans shelled the southern slopes of Dead Man Hill heavily.

A German attack in the region of Chattancourt as repulsed by French curtain fire and efficacious counter preparations with infantry. Two squadrons of French airmen bombarded Vozieres barracks station, dropping sixty-one big caliber shells with good effect.

FIREMAN KILLED BY PLUNGE FROM RAISED LADDER

Tillerman Zellmer Dies in Ambulance on Way to Hospital.

MEN FALL INTO NETWORK OF WIRES.

One member of Truck Company No. 3 was killed and another escaped death this afternoon when an extension ladder which they were using in practice for the annual inspection snapped and threw the men into a tangle of telegraph wires at First avenue and High street.

The dead man is Paul Zellmer, who died in the ambulance on the way to the Alexian Hospital.

The injured man is in the General Hospital and his name is Elmer Fratz.

The men had placed the extension ladder against a building and had mounted it when the top part broke loose from its fastenings and hurled the men to the street. In their descent they struck two live electric wires.

The accident was witnessed by department officials, including Colonel Robert L. Patterson, president of the fire board. Mayor Mravlag was called and administered first aid while the ambulances were on their way from the hospitals.

Zellmer was tillerman of the truck company. He entered the department on April 4, 1905, and was assigned to Truck Company No. 1. Upon the motorization of Engine Company No. 3 and the purchase by the city of the new No. 3 motor truck he was assigned to the latter company.

Fratz is a ladderman. At the General Hospital where he was taken it was stated at 2.30 o'clock to-day that he was on the operating table and that his condition was serious. The hospital authorities did not know the extent of his injuries.

It is understood that members of the Board of Fire Commissioners and Fire Chief Gerstung are anxious that an immediate investigation be made to determine responsibility for the accident.

The ladder from which the two men plunged is a sixty-five-foot extension ladder of the most improved type.

WORKING AT WESTON'S.

Operations Resumed at Electrical Istrument Plant in Waverly.

Operations at the Weston Electrical Instruments Company's plant in Waverly were resumed this morning with about two-thirds of the entire working force employed.

Edward F. Weston, one of the officials of the company, gave out the following statement:

"We have resumed operations with about two-thirds of the help and operations will continue."

Mr. Weston said that there had been a rumor current to the effect that the plant was to again close down despite the resumption of work to-day. There was no ground for this report, he said. No concessions have been granted, he added, as no demands were made upon the concern.

The Weston plant closed down last week following a walk-out of part of the working force. Many Elizabeth girls employed at the plant were out of employment temporarily, but it is understood that practically all were back at their work to-day.

The Weston plant, along with several other Newark factories, was affected by the strike of the machinists for an eight-hour day.

ROOSEVELT FOR HUGHES.

Colonel Will Publicly Endorse G. O. P. Nominee, Is Report.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Oyster Bay, June 19.—Colonel Roosevelt will publicly endorse Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican Presidential candidate, immediately after the meeting of the Progressive National Committee in Chicago on June 26, it was learned to-day.

Though nothing is known positively of what the Progressive committee will do, it is expected the committee anticipates accepting Colonel Roosevelt's declination.

Colonel Roosevelt has asked the hundreds who have written him since the nomination to be satisfied with his public appreciation of their willingness to help. He said he has found it physically impossible to make replies to all letters.

FALLS THREE STORIES.

John Degruien, 26 years old, of 111 Inslee place, fell three stories from a window at his home yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the General Hospital. His injuries consist of a fracture of the right rib, laceration of the right leg, lacerations of the face and the right index finger.

CONGRESS SILENT.

Fears Trouble With Mexico and Keeps Off War Question.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—Though Congress felt to-day that serious trouble with Mexico is at hand, all action or discussion was studiously avoided. There was a feeling that the whole situation should be left to the President and military authorities.

Current funds are ample for transportation expenses of the guard.

Senators and Congressmen were watching closely the actions of the various National Guard. This they regard as the first real test of the military legislation just passed.

BACKS GENERAL ON WITHDRAWAL

Funston Checks Criticisms of Retirement at Brownsville.

SAYS BANDIT GANG HAD BEEN SCATTERED.

San Antonio, Tex., June 19.—A disposition to criticise General Parker at Brownsville for withdrawing the American column sent into Mexico Saturday morning was checked to-day by General Funston.

The latter stated that Parker had been instructed to withdraw when he had accomplished the object of the invasion—the dispersal or capture of the bandits—or when he found accomplishment impossible. He said that Parker had accomplished his object.

The withdrawal of the expedition, comprising several hundred men, took place yesterday. Armed men described by Parker as "bandits" fired on the retreating column. A minor rear guard action result, in which one Mexican was killed and two wounded. No American was hit.

Major Anderson, commanding the expedition, was ordered back to the American side after Parker had exchanged notes with Ricacault Matemoras, commandant, through Mexican Consul Garza. Ricacault informed Parker that unless the expedition, which he regarded as an "invading force," was withdrawn, it would be attacked.

Parker replied that the belligerent attitude of the Mexican commander was the best guarantee for continuation of the expedition's presence in Mexico, and that if attacked, the American troops would stay.

Ricacault's attitude was much milder on receipt of Parker's reply, and he began withdrawing Carranza troops from the route the Americans would traverse on their way out. When this was completed, Parker sent word to Anderson to withdraw.

The withdrawal is regarded by army men here as having the effect of avoiding a clash, but it is believed the precedent will make similar operations along the border more difficult in the future. It is feared, too, that the early termination of the chase would have a stimulating effect on future band raids.

Brigadier-General James Parker, who is in command of the American troops at Brownsville, is a native of Newark, a son of the late Cortlandt Parker and, brother of Congressman R. Wayne Parker. He is a graduate of West Point Military Academy, and has seen much important and responsible service in this country and the Philippines.

In 1889 he was awarded a medal by Congress for distinguished gallantry at Vigan, Philippine Islands.

CARRANZAISTAS CALM.

No Known Violence Offered American Citizens in Mexico City.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Mexico City, June 19.—Though completely apprized of the critical situation existing between the United States and Mexico, the Carranzaists here, taking example from the officials, are calm to-day. No violence has been offered any American so far as known.

Some of the newspaper editorials are resentful of what they regard as warranted violation of Mexican autonomy by the United States, but advise citizens to await the action of the Government.

JERSEYMEN FINED.

London, June 19.—An American named Hanelson, and John Pagel, a Swede, both representatives of a manufacturing company of Camden, N. J., were fined 50 pounds each to-day after being found guilty of having visited a shipyard with the intention of gaining information about war vessels. They were tried in Newcastle.

TRENTON REFLECTS PREPAREDNESS SPIRIT

General Sadler Expects 3,000 Guardsmen in State to Respond to Call for Service—Railroads Hold Trains Ready—Troops Will Assemble in Armory Early To-Morrow.

BULLETIN.

San Antonio, Tex., June 19.—General Funston stated this afternoon that the National Guard will be mobilized in its respective States and that its membership will be sent to the border only when he calls for the various State detachments. He added that it will probably be some time before any of these troops reach the border.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—The New Jersey military authorities are on the jump today making ready for the mobilization of the National Guard following the call of President Wilson for one brigade of three regiments of infantry, one squadron of cavalry, two batteries of field artillery, one company signal corps, one field hospital and one ambulance corps for service on the Mexican border.

With Governor Fielder directing affairs from Sea Girt and Adjutant-General Wilbur F. Sadler and Quartermaster-General C. Edward Murray and their departments working from the State House, conferences were held this morning and orders were issued for the mobilization of the State troops at Sea Girt.

A spirit of preparedness pervades the military section of the capitol. Khaki-clad subordinate officers, hurriedly summoned for the conferences, are rushing to the military departments and then hurrying away again to execute the order. The first order issued was to General Bird W. Spencer, inspector of rifle practice, to get the rifle range at Sea Girt in readiness for target practice, in order to lose no time in giving the troops practical shooting experience after they reach the mobilization camp.

The official orders call out these troops: First Regiment, of Newark, Colonel Frazer; Fourth Regiment, of Jersey City, Colonel Steel; Fifth Regiment, of Paterson, Colonel Vanwalraven; two batteries of artillery, Battery A, of Orange, Captain Tanterman, and Battery B, of Camden, Captain Barnard; the squadron of four troops of cavalry commanded by Major Bryant, of Montclair, comprising Troops A, Captain Freeman, and Captain Kyle, both of Newark; Troop B, of Red Bank, Captain Stout, and Troop D, of Plainfield, Captain Borden; the Signal Corps, of Jersey City, Captain Dear; the Field Hospital Company, of Elizabeth, Captain Corbusier, and the Ambulance Company.

The commands will mobilize at Sea Girt at their peace strength, which is sixty-five men to a company, and then will be recruited up to war strength if such orders come from Secretary of War Baker.

The commands are ordered to report at their armories to-morrow morning, and at that time the orders for the move to Sea Girt will be issued.

Adjutant-General Sadler said to-day he expected to have the troops moving to Sea Girt by Wednesday morning.

General Sadler took up to-day the matter of transportation and has asked the railroad companies to have ready the necessary special trains for the movement. It is expected that close to 3,000 troops will respond to the call.

General Sadler said to-day the State guard is as ready as it can possibly be and he expected the commands would all give a good account of themselves. It is not known here just when the troops will be ordered to the Mexican border. The official telegram of General Sadler conveying the orders to the three colonels was:

"Assemble companies of your command at their armories immediately and begin recruiting to maximum strength of 150 for each company. Hour of departure to mobilization camp will be furnished later."

"No person will be accepted who is not effective and able-bodied or who is under 18 or over 35 years of age or who is unable to speak the English language, except that the superior age limit of 35 years does not apply to these members of the enlisted personel of a company who volunteer and are accepted as a part of the organization to which they belong or honorably discharged men from volunteer forces. Minors between 18 and 21 years must have consent of surviving parent or legally appointed guardian.

"Transportation forwarded to recruiting officers and regimental quartermasters, seventy-five cents per man per day, will be allowed for cooked meals authorized for those actually present for duty as shown by morning report. Have regimental commissary take proposal for subsistence, prepare for shipment to Sea Girt with troops every article of equipment in possession of organization. Detailed orders will issue later."

Captain James M. Sheen, of the Quartermaster Corps, of Atlantic City, was placed in charge of contracts and the transfer of supplies from this State to the United States military authorities. Lieutenant-Colonel Henry D. Styer and Lieutenant Charles B. Elliott, the two regular army officers now stationed in New Jersey as inspectors and instructors, were designated as mustering officers and will take charge of the work of recruiting the New Jersey commands up to war strength.

The following assignments were also made: Major Harry L. Harris, of Paterson, subsistence; Captain Edward S. Edwards, Jr., of Jersey City, purchasing horses and mules; Captain Frank A. Reinhard, of Jersey City, in charge of the camp grounds at Sea Girt; Major John Kilpatrick, of South Orange, laying out the camp and the water supply; Captain Charles W. Stark, of Trenton, transportation.

These officers are all detailed from the quartermaster corps.

Busy in New York State.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

New York, June 19.—The New York National Guard cavalry, artillery and infantry, 17,000 strong, will have completely assembled at Beekman, near Poughkeepsie-on-the-Hudson, by Wednesday, guard officers said to-day.

More than 150 officers of the guard are on the ground already, preparing for the coming of the men.

The militia, if recruited to war footing would number 22,000. Strenuous efforts will be made to increase to this number before the movement to the Mexican border starts.

Pennsylvania Makes Plans.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 19.—Mobilization of the Pennsylvania National Guard in its armories on June 22 and movement to Mount Gretna on or before Monday, June 26, will be ordered before nightfall, it was officially made known this afternoon. The Thirteenth Infantry, Scranton; the Ninth, at Wilkes-Barre, and a battalion of infantry scattered will not be mobilized. The orders were being given finishing touches shortly after noon.

DELAYS IMPEACHMENT.

Committee Recommends "No Action Now" in Madshall Case.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—A recommendation that no action be taken at this time on the impeachment charges filed against Snowden Marshall, of New York, by Representative Buchanan, of Illinois, was made to-day in a report filed by the Carlin sub-committee. Some official acts of Marshall as district attorney, however, are severely criticistd.

At the request of Representative Buchanan, who asked for a hearing before the full Judiciary Committee, it was decided to have both Marshall and Buchanan here Friday.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

(Special to the Journal.)

Bayonne, June 19.—Joseph Lampinski, 24 years old, who is said by the local police to have lived in the Bayway section of Elizabeth, died in the City Hospital here last night as the result of injuries sustained early yesterday at the East Twenty-second street Central Railroad station. Lampinski was seen to sit on the northbound express track and it is thought that he fell asleep. He was found by railroad employes with both legs severed.

There is no Joseph Lampinski listed in the Elizabeth directory.

INSURE AGAINST DANGER OF ZEPPELIN RAIDS.

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, June 19 (by mail).—Now that the married men of England are drafted to the front, the cry has arisen: "Who'll keep our life insurance paid up while we're at the front?" The government is expected to set aside a sum to keep up the payments for married men.

Life insurance in wartime is a difficult problem for the man who wants to be insured. Ask for the insurance company.

Soldiers cannot get life insurance. No company will take the risk. But the life insurance companies of England are so game that the man carrying life insurance at the time he went to the front is assured that his widow and family will receive his insurance money, no matter how he may be killed.

All Policies Paid.

All life insurance policies issued in the United Kingdom have always borne a clause that the companies would not pay for death caused by war. Nobody expected war; therefore nobody objected to the clause. But when war began and the men of England marched off to the front from their desks and their offices, the directors of life insurance companies met and decided that in spite of the war clause they would pay for deaths in war on all out-standing policies, but would issue no new policies on the lives of men going to the front.

The life insurance companies have paid out for the deaths of men killed in battle a tremendous sum.

Fancy Offers Rejected.

"Isn't it possible for a rich man, going to the front, to secure life insurance, if he is willing to pay enough for it?" an insurance man was asked.

"No. We've had all kinds of fancy offers, but we cannot make rates of any kind. The man who wished battlefield insurance would have to pay us much more money in premiums than we could pay his beneficiaries.

"An even bet we couldn't afford to take. He'd be betting us $100,000, say, that he would be killed and we would be betting the same amount that he would not. All the odds would be in his favor."

"Are there any special classes of soldiers whose lives are worth less than others?"

"Yes. Flying men. We figure the odds are four to one against them."

"But if a flying man was carrying life insurance before the war would you pay on his death?"

"Yes, just as if he were an ordinary soldier. We've paid on the death of more than one man who was killed in the air."

Special Policies Dropped.

The insurance companies, early in the war, made an attempt to prepare a policy for soldiers and officers. At first, the policy holder was asked to pay a premium of $16 on every $100. The rate then went up to $18 and when the companies faced the choice of making a twenty per cent. rate or stopping soldier insurance, they chose the latter course.

Un insurance of civilians against war risks, however, is being developed by London insurance companies, whose actuaries are working out such questions as:

"What are the odds that any certain person will not be killed by Zeppelin bombs?"

"What are the odds that Germany will not succeed in sending a great flock of Zeppelins over London and killing thousands?"

One company, whose experts studied the air question at great length, now bets you $5,000 against $10 that you will not be killed by any missile that falls from the sky, whether it by an enemy bomb or a piece of British bomb fired at enemy aircraft.

This same company is also willing to bet 500 to 1 that you will not be killed by an enemy invasion.

ANTI-LIQUOR RESOLUTION DEFEATED BY CARPENTERS

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19. Following an animated discussion, the efforts of a few total abstainers to force through a resolution condemning the liquor traffic was defeated Saturday at the closing session of the two days' convention of the New Jersey Council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, held here in the Eagles' Hall.

The fight was considerable uneasiness among officials of the organization that such a resolution had been offered, owing to the fact that about 1,200 carpenters of the State are employed in breweries but its overwhelming defeat silenced them and the squall speedily blew over.

The carpenters went on record as favoring vocational training in the public schools and passed resolutions sustaining William L. Hutcheson, of Indianapolis, the National president of the organization, in suspending the New York district council for refusing to abide by his decision in a strike case.

All of the principal officers were re-elected by acclamation as follows: President, Samuel Botterill, East Orange; vice president, George W. Adams, Trenton; secretary, John R. Burgess, Jersey City; treasurer, C. C. Mowel, Newark. The following were elected members of the executive committee: [illegible] port, Atlantic City; John C. Mattashed, Newark; A. B. Losey, Morristown; E. M. Paton, Hackensack; Henry Zimmerman, Elizabeth, and A. J. Dean, Vineland. Zimmerman and Dean are new members.

H. H. Souder, of Atlantic City, was elected delegate to the New York State convention; Stephen J. Stoll, of Newark, to the Massachusetts State Council convention; James Larkin, of Jersey City, to the Pennsylvania State Council convention, and Joseph E. James, of Trenton, to the Connecticut State Council convention.

There were 115 delegates in the convention, all sections of the State being represented. Reports read indicated that conditions in New Jersey for members of the craft were better now than they have been in many years. President Botterill declared that the attitude of employers is reasonable and conciliatory, indicating a readiness to adjust or avoid difficulties by conference with the employes.

POLITICAL BATTLE ON.

Governorship Main Plum in Minnesota Primary Contest.

(Special to the Journal.)

St. Paul, Minn., June 19. Minnesota's State primary to-day concluded a lively fight. It was a State affair, with Congressional seats in the offing.

Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, who is filling out the unexpired term of W. S. Hammond, deceased, is the Republican candidate for renomination who probably will get his name on the ballot at the election. S. G. Iverson, former State auditor, is opposing Burnquist. F. B. Kellogg, who gained National fame as a trust buster; Senator M. E. Clapp, A. C. Eberhart, former Governor and Congressman C. A. Lindbergh are after Clapp's togs. Their fight has been a merry one, not entirely free from mud. Lindbergh got a lot of Scandinavian and Progressive votes to-day.

In the Democratic Gubernatorial fray, a three-cornered fight has aroused much interest. S. D. Works, C. M. King and T. P. Dwyer were the candidates. Works has been identified with the reactionary Democrats in the State Legislature. Dwyer, a Minneapolis boilermaker, polled a large labor vote. King is a good roads advocate.

Dan Lawler, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, was the only Fred Lynch faction Democrat in the field. He was opposed by A. J. Davis, of Minneapolis.

Socialists and prohibition tickets were not filed.

Where He Got It.

He was a witness in a case in the police court.

"What is your name?" inquired Prosecutor Robinson.

"Mah name?" from the darky incredulously.

"I'm talking to you," snapped the prosecutor.

"Well, suh, mah name is Hallowed Hopkins," answered the negro.

"Hallowed Hallowed!" gasped the judge. "Where did you get that name?"

"From mah maw," answered the negro. "It am from de Scriptuahs."

"From the Scriptures? What part of the Scriptures?"

"Down yon all r'membah, judge, wheah it says 'Hallowed be thy name?'"

FOR "LITHUANIAN DAY."

General Collins on Committee to Draw Up Resolutions.

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19.—General Dennis F. Collins, city comptroller of Elizabeth, was appointed chairman of a committee to draw up resolutions requesting Congress to set aside a day to be observed in the United States as "Lithuanian Day," at the annual meeting of the United Lithuanian Societies here Saturday afternoon.

The meeting, which was held at Vailsburg Park, followed a parade of 5,000 men, women and children in honor of Lithuanian Day and of Newark's anniversary celebration. "Hyphenates" were tabooed in the procession, the marchers carrying American flags and streamers, bearing the words "America First." There also were numerous pretty floats and decorated automobiles in the line of march.

Besides General Collins, the committee appointed to draw the resolutions, includes: The Rev. Anthony Milaukis, of Brooklyn; City Comsel Spaulding Frazer, Valentine W. Ambroze and K. Vaskevee, of Newark.

HEAR CANTATA "RUTH."

O. E. S. Chapters Attend Service at Grace Church.

Members of Eureka Chapter, Lucinda Chapter and Augusta Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, attended services at the Grace Episcopal Church, Second and East Jersey streets, last night. The service was featured with the singing of the cantata, "Ruth," the words for which were written by Edward Oxenford, and the music by Alfred R. Gaul. Owing to having but recently undergone an operation on his throat, the rector, the Rev. J. Fredrik Virgin, was unable to give an address.

The cantata was given under the direction of the organist, Carman P. Prall. The soloists and characters they represented were: Naomi, contralto, Miss Florence Hutchinson; Ruth, soprano, Miss Emma Schwebemeyer; Orpah, soprano, Miss Emma Schwebemeyer; Boaz, bass, Charles May.

The members of the choir are: Sopranos, the Misses Emma Schwebemeyer, Mary Seeger, Annis Holden, Ada Wray, Viola McGinty, Minnie Fuhst, Emma Harris and Mercy Parfit, and Mrs. Fred Davis; altos, Mrs. N. Lambertson, the Misses Florence Hutchinson, Martha Neilson, Ruth Wimmer and Angeline Dixson; tenors, Frank Hetherington and Francis Angwin; basses, Charles May, William Maggs and Ross Strickland.

U. S. DIRIGIBLE DESIGNED.

Montclair Man Has Aircraft That Government May Buy.

Montclair, June 19.—Max A. Herbert, of this place, has designed a dirigible airship of the Zeppelin type, which he hopes to see constructed by the United States Government. He said yesterday he had entered into negotiations with the Federal authorities for the sale of his patents.

The features, which Herbert says make it of special value, are airtight compartments stretching the entire length of the body to render the airship unsinkable in case of a fall into water, a new bomb-dropping device and sectional construction by means of which the craft can be lengthened or shortened as desired. Four electric motors drive the eight propellers and the body is lighted throughout by electricity.

Bamberger's is the Place in Which to Spend Your Shopping Minutes

Entire Sample Line of High-Grade German and Austrian Linens at 1-3 Off

Comprising a Number of Very Beautiful Sample Linens, Which are the Products of One of the Best Manufacturers of Fine German and Austrian Linens

It is rarely that an occasion of this kind is advertised by any house, and when so placed before the public it behooves any woman to purchase as liberally as possible of the offerings which are advertised.

Every piece is perfectly made and finished as far as construction is concerned. Being samples, however, they are slightly mussed and soiled from handling, which naturally brings the price down to its present low level.

In spite of the fact that these linens are not as spic-and-span as they might be, they will, nevertheless, be as white as snow after the first laundering. This is, without a doubt, one of the handsomest assortments of linens that we have ever secured, and as the opportunity is not likely to be repeated, particularly at this exceptionally low price, we advise you to secure a liberal amount of this merchandise and, as far as possible, to anticipate your future requirements.

I. O. O. F. LODGES HONOR DEPARTED

Impressive Memorial Service is Held at Weequahic Park.

ADDRESS GIVEN BY FORMER GOVERNOR FORT.

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19.—Odd Fellows from all parts of Essex county, with guests from Union and other counties, met in a natural amphitheater at Weequahic Park yesterday afternoon for the annual memorial services of the United lodges of Essex county. Officers of the Grand Lodge and Grand Encampment were seated on the platform, and addresses were given by the Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, grand chaplain, and former Governor John Franklin Fort, of East Orange.

The symbolic three links of Odd Fellowship in white pronies stood out against the green lawn on one side of the hill, and above them was an arch with the words: "Visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead, educate the orphan." As the memorial roll was read during the exercises by R. L. Laird, secretary of the general committee, relatives and lodgemates of the dead brothers deposited flowers in the space below this arch, which was marked off with palms. The exercises were in charge of J. W. Merrell, of Granite Lodge, Newark, chairman of the general committee.

The exercises opened with selections from "The Bohemian Girl" and "Carmen" played by von der Heide's Band, of Newark. To the music of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the members of Canton Essex Patriarchs Militant marched down the hill in uniform, bearing an American flag, and took seats near the speakers' platform, which was also draped with a flag. The assembly united in an opening ode written for the service. The Rev. Dr. A. Boyland Fitzgerald led in the invocation.

Former Governor John Franklin Fort spoke first on the object of assembling for the exercises. It is a beautiful custom, he said, to honor the memory of the dead. The tombs of Grant and Lincoln symbolize a Nation's mourning, and all Great Britain has recently been mourning for Lord Kitchener. But mourning, former Governor Fort declared is only for the physical presence of the man. "We do not think of Grant or Lincoln as physical individuals. We think of their spiritual power. In the same way, the speaker said, the memorial service of the Odd Fellows is not an occasion of mourning, but of commemoration of the spirit of Odd Fellowship, which can inspire the living brothers to carry it forward as the brothers of former days have handed it down to them.

Grand Master F. Howard Lloyd, of Matawan, read the proclamation calling upon Odd Fellows to set aside a day for such a service. The oration of the Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, of Sayreville, grand chaplain, was given immediately after the proclamation, as the speaker had to leave for Waterbury, Conn., where he addressed the Odd Fellows of that State last evening.

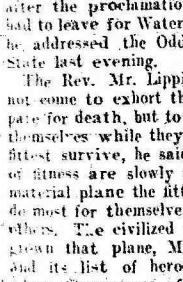
The Rev. Mr. Lippincott said he did not come to exhort the brothers to prepare for death, but to make the most of themselves while they were living. The fittest survive, he said, but men's ideas of fitness are slowly changing. On the material plane the fittest are those who do most for themselves and least against others. The civilized world has not outgrown that plane, Mr. Lippincott said, and its list of heroes contains many whose fitness was of that kind.

But a newer, half spiritual plane, the Rev. Mr. Lippincott added, has been asserting itself ever since the days of the Old Testament. On this plane, stated Mr. Lippincott, he is fittest who does most for himself and least against others. His ideal is self-conquest. But this is still selfish. The highest plane, the speaker said, is wholly spiritual, and on this he is fittest who does most for others. His ideal is self-crucifixon, which alone can bring immortality. This, Mr. Lippincott declared, is the spirit of Odd Fellowship. The ideal Odd Fellow will bring about the ultimate humanity of universal brotherhood, which is as far above the present as the present is above savagery.

During the exercises hymns were sung by the Hamilton brothers' quartet. Band selections followed the address, and after a closing ode sung by the assembly and a prayer, "taps" was sounded as the close of the service. Among the grand officers on the platform were: Edwin F. Osborne, of Newark, grand guardian of the grand lodge and grand warden of the grand encampment; Harry S. Pine, of Trenton, grand secretary of the grand lodge; John P. Stratton, of Mt. Royal, grand warden of the grand lodge; Past Grand Master Charles A. Woodruff, of Newark; John Knox, of Asbury Park, grand patriarch of the grand encampment; John Dahmer, of New Brunswick, grand herald of the grand lodge; Past Grand Patriarchs Stephen Schlieff, of Plainfield; Harry S. Phillips, of New York; Samuel S. Kearns, of Morristown; James Walling, of Keyport; Amos B. Pierce, of Newark; Edward C. Burke, of Newark; Gustav Erb, of Newark. Members of the Elizabeth lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were in the assembly as guests of the Essex county lodges. They included representation of Franklin, Elizabethport, Housa and Memorial lodges, Columbia Encampment, Esther Rebekah lodge and Royal Queen Lodge and the All Brothers Association.

EXTREME WEAKNESS AND SUFFERING

Read How Mrs. Goodling got Relief and Strength.



York, Pa.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found it to be all you say it is. I was so sick that I could not stand at my sink to wash dishes and I could not sit without a pillow under me. I had the doctor every few days but since I have taken the Compound I don't have to send for him. I have had three children and could not raise any of them, but since I have taken the Compound I have a bright baby boy. I advise every suffering woman to try it and get relief. It has done wonders for me."—Mrs. CATHARINE GOODLING, 138 E. King Street, York, Pa.

When a medicine has been successful in bringing health to so many, no woman has a right to say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Goodling, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

QUIET SATURDAY NIGHT.

But Few Offenders Arraigned Before Judge Mahon.

One of Elizabeth's most orderly Saturday nights was recorded yesterday morning before Judge Mahon in police court. Only a few prisoners were on the docket, and they appeared in the roles of defendant to answer charges of a minor nature.

A delegation from Bayonne contributed strongly to the funds of the city as a tax upon their visit here Saturday night with the avowed purpose of "stirring up the town." Jack Dobey, 19 years old, was the leader, and he was backed by John Romaniski, 22 years old; Frank Balmiski, 22 years old, and Michael Zarey, 23 years old. The quartet met Patrolman J. E. Kelly, and yesterday morning were assessed $5 each by Judge Mahon on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Toney Keizer, of Bound Brook, won his freedom by explaining that Saturday was the anniversary of his fiftieth birthday, and that he attempted to take a drink for each year that had elapsed during the half century.

Frank Alowski, 30 years old, of First street, was found in a helpless condition by Patrolman Ryan. He was discharged with advice, "Stop drinking in the future."

John Eyers, of 252 Port avenue, became imbued with the untamed West spirit after Central Railroad Detective Doody had ordered him off railroad property, and appeared with a loaded .32-caliber revolver, threatening to eliminate any barriers in his path. Eyers was assessed $25, and after confessing that he lacked funds, was committed to the county jail for a period of sixty days.

PLEADS FOR BEST MAN.

Congressman Against "Essex or Hudson" Argument in Gubernatorial Race.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—Congressman Isaac Bacharach, of the Second New Jersey District, issued a statement to the voters of the district to-day, in which he asked them to ignore considerations of sectionalism in the coming Gubernatorial campaign and vote for the candidate best qualified to lyead the party to success in November. The Congressman states that county committeemen in all parts of the State are being approached with the argument that the candidates must come from Essex or Hudson counties in order to have a chance of winning at the November election. The statement follows:

"Attention has been directed to an effort from certain quarters to enlist the support of county committeemen on the theory that the Republican Gubernatorial nominee must come from the most populous counties of the State in order to win on election day.

"It would seem, if Republican politics has reached this confined stage, that hereafter the other nineteen or twenty counties of New Jersey are expected to loyally furnish the majorities, but Essex or Hudson is to supply the candidates.

"Is the balance of the State to infer that Essex County Republicans, for instance, would not be loyal to candidates other than from that county? Certainly any such inference would be an unwarranted attack on the quality of Essex Republicanism. The rank and file of the voters will not be favorably impressed if the best argument a candidate can advance is that he lives in a populous county. Sectionalism has nothing to do with the coming campaign. I respectfully suggest that the voters consider only the record, merit, aggressiveness and future policy of the candidates, rather than their particular county residence. To accept the other doctrine as sound is to assume that, not only for the coming primaries, but for all time, our Gubernatorial selections must be allotted to either Essex or Hudson county."

RAPS ELECTION LAWS OF STATE

ROBERT H. M'CARTER TAKES ATTORNEYS TO TASK.

(Special to the Journal.)

Atlantic City, June 19.—Jersey election laws, subject of more litigation during the past two years than any other statutes relating to municipalities, were branded "perfectly unsatisfactory" by Judge William H. Speer, of the Circuit Court, here Saturday before the closing sessions of the New Jersey State Bar Association in eighteenth annual convention at the Hotel Traymore.

Judge Speer took the lawyers to task for their failure to evince sufficient professional pride in the enactment of the legislature, declaring that there was need of a general revision and codification of the laws. He termed the present automobile laws "monstrosities," and with other measures the "crude work of unskilled legislators."

Sarcastic arraignment of the profession by former Attorney General Robert H. McCarter, for their lack of application to public life and affairs, stirred up considerable interest during the afternoon. He observed that the sole purpose of the association appeared to be an annual talk and feed fest.

John R. Hardin, of Newark, retiring president of the association, made a defense of the lawyers in his annual address at the closing session, declaring the indictments against members of the bar were based upon false premises.

To cure an apparent defect in the common law relative to the trials of principals and accessories in homicide cases, a draft of a bill was submitted, providing for the trial of accessories without regard to principals. The matter was referred to the legislative committee to report at the winter meeting. Existing law requires both to be tried together, it was pointed out, and fails to make any provision for the arraignment of the accessory if the principal shall die or is not apprehended.

A bill to make it optional with the court whether convicted defendants shall be admitted to bail also was referred to the committee.

IT SCORES A WELL-MERITED SUCCESS

And rightly so, for just consider what this GREAT MID-SEASON SALE means to you—it means that you can secure things for your person and for your home at prices so decisively below regular that you will have left in your pocket a substantial surplus over and above the sum you have set aside for the purpose.

It means that one-fourth, one-third or even one-half of the money you intended to spend for summer merchandise which you really need can be put aside for a rainy day, or can be utilized most advantageously to purchase more or better merchandise than you intended.

In a word, this GREAT MID-SEASON SALE can be summed up as an event that offers you the present season's best, coolest, most comfortable furnishings and household needs at prices that would be considered most extraordinary even at the fag end of the summer. The occasion to make worth-while savings is so unusual that to hesitate would be the height of folly.

Store Editorials

Our Policy of Preparedness

We regard our store in the light of a public servant. We aim at all times to be prepared to render to our customers the service that they have right and reason to expect of us.

Our policy of preparedness consists in always maintaining complete assortments of the merchandise that is in demand by our customers; in warranting the quality of the goods we sell, and being prepared to make good if anything bought of us proves unsatisfactory.

The preparedness of this store to meet your needs is doubly appreciated this month when most stores have only depleted stocks to offer.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

and nowhere more so than in the activities of organized charity. Effective work in restoring families to self-support calls for adequate knowledge as a basis of action.

In its work among the poor, the Charity Organization Society makes it a point to secure a knowledge of such pertinent facts regarding the families under its care as will make for thorough planning and wise action.

TUTTLE JUBILANT OVER CONVENTION

Says Party Stands United Behind Woodrow Wilson.

BELIEVES COUNTRY WILL RETURN PRESIDENT.

Former Congressman William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, Democratic candidate for the Congressional nomination for the Fifth district, returned to his home last night from the Democratic National conventional at St. Louis, which he attended as a district delegate, bubbling over with enthusiasm over the renomination of Woodrow Wilson for President. "Although the convention is now history, Mr. Tuttle is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the gathering which developed, he said, into a jubilee because of the evident unity of the Democrats for the first time in many years.

"The feeling among the delegates and all others who attended the St. Louis convention," said Mr. Tuttle, "is one of unbounded enthusiasm and optimism in the success of the National ticket. At the conclusion of the work of the convention the delegates held a jubilee, and it was the unanimous opinion among those with whom I talked that as Democrats they have every reason to feel that as the campaign goes on our chances are going to become more certain of success. In fact there was no doubt in the minds of the delegations from the several States as to the ultimate outcome, as the Democrats are absolutely united for the first time in over twenty-five years.

"So far as New Jersey is concerned the members of the delegation were unanimous in the feeling that the State will support Wilson and that the Democrats are justified in the belief that with the party united and the Progressives dissatisfied with the Republican nomination Jersey will be found in the Democratic column on election day. Wilfpen is an exceptionally good candidate and there is no reason at all why he should not win. In fact, the New Jersey Democrats are confident that success will attend their efforts both for the Presidency and the Governorship.

"So far as the fight in this Congressional district is concerned," continued Mr. Tuttle, "there is nothing new. As a matter of fact there has been nothing done yet. Of course it is taken for granted by my friends that I will be the candidate, but no steps have been taken. I know of no other candidate for the Democratic nomination in this district and there may be none. The result of the fight in this district will depend entirely upon the result of the independent voting. There are a great many independent voters in Morris and Union counties, and if they feel that the present administration is entitled to encouragement they will elect a Democratic Congressman. If not they may elect a Republican Congressman. The whole thing will depend upon the attitude of the independent voters, as they are the controlling element.

"The county is normally Republican," declared Mr. Tuttle. "I say this, although I understand that most of the Republican orators who participated in the recent campaign against a small board insisted that the county would be Democratic, as an argument for the continuance of the large board. As in the district, the situation is entirely in the hands of the independent voters. It is simply a question whether they feel that the Democrats are entitled to support for their conduct of National affairs, or believe that Hughes should be elected. Whichever way the independents vote the county and district will go."

WANTS STATE TO GET RID OF SALT MARSH MOSQUITO

Beach Haven, June 19. Resolutions calling on the State Legislature to take immediate steps to abolish the salt water marsh mosquito were adopted at the closing session here Saturday of the third annual convention of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, which represents a total membership of 80,000. It was explained that at present one fourth of the marshes are being drained, resulting in the partial elimination of the migratory mosquito. Similar work can be done all along the coast, it was declared, aiding in the development of vast tracts of realty. The convention recommended that the Legislature appropriate sufficient funds to drain every marsh in the State in the next five years.

The convention also passed resolutions, protesting against the proposed erection of a garbage disposal plant on Staten Island, opposite Elizabeth, and called upon the State authorities to take action. Protest also was made against New York City shipping refuse from its streets and institutions to this State.

October 9 was decided as the date for the observance of Fire Prevention Day. A day next spring, to be selected later, was fixed upon as New Jersey Day, when the work of aiding retail dealers and agriculturists will be forwarded by field workers to travel from place to place. A large silver cup, donated by the Long Beach Board of Trade, was accepted as a prize to be given to the organization making the best showing each year. Perth Amboy was selected as the place for holding the next convention.

Adrian O. Murray, of the Elizabeth Board of Trade, was appointed a member of the governing committee of the federation. Augustus V. Hamburg, of Newark, was reelected director, and State Senator Thomas A. Mathis, of Toms River, was chosen vice-chairman.

Speaking at the banquet, which concluded the convention Saturday night, Dr. Talcott Williams, of the Columbia School of Journalism, said there is no need to fear the result of the Presidential election because Wilson and Hughes have each declared for preparedness. The speaker also praised the American newspaper and said it would be a potent factor in our future as regards war or peace.

DENIES BURGLARY CHARGE.

Whitlock Home Intruder Held for Grand Jury.

John Reckleffs, of 456 Glenmore avenue, Brooklyn, who was captured last Monday night by Patrolman Mayea after he and an accomplice had looted the home of W. P. Whitlock, 637 North Broad street, and Reckleffs attempted to escape by leaping from a second-floor window, was arraigned before Judge Mahon in police court yesterday afternoon and committed to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Reckleffs gave his name as "James Hamilton" when arraigned upon the charge of burglary brought by Chief of Police Mulcahy and entered a plea of not guilty.

BECOMES BRIDE OF PETTIT MYER

SCORES OF GUESTS ATTEND WEDDING RECEPTION.

Seldom has Elizabeth seen a more beautiful wedding than that of Miss Jessie Maud Winans and Pettit A. Myer, which was solemnized Saturday evening at Westminster Church.

The church was elaborately decorated with palms, which formed a background for quantities of pink peonies and mountain laurel. On the pews where the members of the families sat there were tied tall bunches of white carnations, Japanese iris and asparagus fern.

There was an organ recital before the bridal party entered the church, to the music of the wedding march from Lohengrin. The ushers were Everett Bunzel, of New York; John Williams, of Orange; Earl Myer, of Scranton, and Richard Slauson, of this city. They were followed by the three bridesmaids, Miss Mary Myer, Miss Edna Vreeland and Miss Marion Blancke, and then by the matron of honor, Mrs. Clayton Berry Jones.

The gowns of the bridal party were especially attractive. The matron of honor wore French blue net over blue silver cloth; there was a very short skirt, with bouffant panniers frilled with tulle and edged with tiny roses. The waist was of peach-colored passementerie cut square, with short frilled sleeves. Her hat was a sailor shape of blue Georgette crepe, edged with peach-colored crepe and trimmed with small clusters of pink and blue roses. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were of pink faille taffeta with an old-fashioned hoop skirt. There was a flounce of silver lace on the skirt and festoons of silver ribbon and pink roses. The waist of white tulle and silver lace was off the shoulders and there were little wired sleeves of the tulle and lace with roses and a touch of blue. Their hats were pink crepe with tulle crowns, trimmed with pink and blue orange blossoms, and there were tulle scarves which wound around the neck. They carried tall white crooks, on which were tied with pink satin ribbon, bunches of pink roses and blue cornflowers.

The bride's gown was of tulle over silver cloth. There were two overskirts of the tulle edged with silver lace and embroidered in pearls. The waist was of duchesse lace over tulle, cut square neck, and having long tulle sleeves. The court train was of tulle edged with silver cloth and embroidered in pearls, with insets of duchesse lace. She wore a tulle veil with a bandeau of lace in the front, and a tall ruching of tulle at the back with clusters of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley and orchids and she carried a beautiful point lace handkerchief, a family heirloom.

The bride walked alone and was met at the chancel by the bridegroom and his best man, Randolph Myer. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Louis B. Crane, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Myer, the mother of the bridegroom, was handsomely gowned in pearl gray with orchid crystal trimming and wore a large bunch of orchids. A large reception followed at 139 Westfield avenue, where the house was elaborately decorated with Easter lilies, Japanese iris and palms. The halls were hung with smilax and banked with mountain laurel. The dining-room was done entirely in pink roses and the porch was a mass of peonies. There was music during the evening by Rosenberg's orchestra.

Among the guests at the reception were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Myer, Millard Myer, Mrs. William Myer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Myer, of Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. Alexander Myer, of Stelton; Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Rose, Mr. and Mrs. H. LAST CONSUL COMING OUT.

Silliman, Only Remaining Envoy in Interior, Heads for U. S.

Washington, June 19.—Consul John R. Silliman, of Saltillo, is en route to the border under orders from the State Department to quit his post. Consul Hanna, at Monterey, who left his post and reached Laredo, advised the State Department to-day that Silliman is heading toward the border.

There are now no full consuls in interior Mexico, though at coast points they still remain and probably will unless serious trouble develops.

RENAMED SCHOOL HEAD.

Supervising Principal Walton Reelected by Springfield Board.

(Special to the Journal.)

Springfield, June 19.—At a special meeting of the Township Board of Education held on Saturday night at the schoolhouse, by unanimous vote, E. V. Walton, of Morris avenue, was reappointed supervising principal.

It is thought that Mr. Walton will also be reappointed supervisor of the Union Township schools.

ASTOR WEDDING DELAYED.

Bar Harbor, Me., June 19.—"The five-day law" has delayed until Thursday the marriage of Mrs. Madeline Force Astor to William K. Dick, of New York, which was planned for to-day.

The cold-hearted authorities of Maine spoiled Mrs. Astor's birthday anniversary present—a husband—by holding rigidly to the letter of the law. The marriage was secretly planned to take place to-day, Mrs. Astor's 23d birthday anniversary.

HONOR SOLDIERS OF WAR OF 1812

State Society Unveils Tablet at Old First Church.

MRS. R. H. WILES, NATIONAL PRESIDENT, HONOR GUEST.

There were seven showers which came down and visited Elizabeth on Saturday, and all of them before 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but the "seven sisters" did not daunt the determination of the patriotic folk who had planned to attend the tablet unveiling arranged by the New Jersey Society Daughters of the War of 1812. Fully 200 persons gathered at the First Presbyterian Church, and as the rain ceased others joined the company until there were fifty more. They were all well repaid, for the program was in every respect a pleasure.

The State society had as its special guest of honor Mrs. Robert Hall Wiles, of Chicago, the National president, and several New Jersey women of prominence were also in the company. The exercises at the church were preceded by a luncheon at the home of the State president, Mrs. Mathias Steelman, 18 Orchard street. About thirty-five were present, including Mrs. Wiles, the officers of the State society and others. The guests were pleasantly entertained informally with recitations by Miss Marguerite Baldwin. They were conveyed to the church in automobiles.

At the church the pastor, the Rev. William Force Whitaker, D. D., presided. He had given careful attention to a number of little details that added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The general theme of the program was "The Men of 1812," and Dr. Whitaker told of those whose bodies lie in the graveyard adjoining the old church. He spoke particularly of Gov. Aaron Ogden, upon whose monument a wreath was placed later in the afternoon.

Music by the Edna White Quartet, of New York City, was thoroughly enjoyed, and there was a brief address by Mrs. Wiles, the National president, who, in referring to the recent tablet unveiling at Jersey City High School, commended the State society for its activity, saying that New Jersey carries the honors for having performed the greatest amount of substantial work in a given period. Mrs. Wiles spoke also of the value of patriotism.

Dr. Whitaker gave into the hands of the State president the remainder of the exercises. Mrs. Steelman spoke briefly, telling of the "young Ogdens" present to take part in the ceremony.

Crawford and Russell Ogden, the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. Crawford Ogden, marched up to the chancel bearing between them a huge wreath of laurel and peonies. On either side were broad streamers of ribbon, blue and gray, and the two little folks passed down the center aisle of the church carrying the wreath. Directly behind them were Miss Josephine Carter and Archibald Gracie Ogden, Jr., also representatives of the Ogden family. Then came Mrs. Wiles and Mrs. Steelman, followed by officers, members and guests.

Out of the historic old church the large company filed and marched to the side of the edifice where the tablet had been placed. Five members of the order, Mrs. James E. Van Dyke, of East Orange; Mrs. A. G. Van Houten, of Newark; Mrs. James Curren, of Montclair; Mrs. George W. Cassidy, of Fanwood, and Mrs. William J. Shearer, of Elizabeth, formed a semi-circle, and in the center stood Archie Ogden, ready to unveil the tablet. At the signal he drew the cord which held the flag, and its folds were lifted until they were draped above the memorial. The audience expressed its pleasure by prolonged applause. Mrs. Steelman asked Mrs. A. L. Stillwell, of Somerville, to read the inscription, and the words, which in years to come will be read by many a visitor at the old church, were heard. The tablet, which is of copper bronze, commemorates the lives and deeds of eighteen soldiers and sailors, who served in the War of 1812.

An enjoyable feature was the recitation by Mrs. Herman Stueck, of Jersey City, of the poem, "The Spirit of 1812." The placing of the wreath was also a pretty feature. Mrs. Charles Leon Mathey, a great granddaughter of Mathias Ogden; Miss Todd, of Dunellen; Miss Durrell, of Jersey City, and Miss Alice G. Lawrence, of this city, formed an aisle, and through this the wreath was carried to the monument, where Miss Carter, taking it from its youthful bearers, placed it high upon the shaft.

For the closing song "America" was sung by the entire company, and the walk through the cemetery followed, Dr. Whitaker in charge.

A bit of hospitality provided through the thoughtfulness of Dr. Whitaker was the serving of lemonade, several members of the Hannah Caldwell Club presiding over the punch bowl. Several men and women of the church were also present to greet the visitors, and the thanks of the company was expressed by Mrs. Steelman for all these marks of hospitality and cordial good will.

Discord Enough, Maybe.

ST. JOHN'S HOLDS SCHOOL CLOSING

Pupils Attain Good Records in Examinations.

PLAYLET BY LITTLE FOLKS A PART OF PROGRAM.

St. John's Sunday school held its closing exercises Saturday afternoon. Notwithstanding the lowering sky and heavy downpour of rain the atendance was large, evincing the great interest taken in the work of the school. The first part of the program was in the church, at which time the rector, the Rev. L. E. Hubard, highly complimented the school on the splendid progress made during the past year, and thanked the teachers and officers for the good service rendered.

James W. A. Smith, the superintendent of the school, made a brief report on the final examination papers and called particular attention to the very satisfactory manner in which the questions were answered. The best paper in the senior department was written by Hannah Hargreaves, and the best paper in the junior department was written by Augusta Peter. Both papers were read by Mr. Smith. He also explained that the primary and normal departments did not have written examinations, and read the names of the pupils who have written final satisfactory papers:

Excellent—Hahhnah Hargreaves, Augusta Peters, Eleanor Schweers, Mildred Payne, Mildred McKennon, Harold Krenbek, Gertrude Becker, Mildred Boulton, Rose Cramer, Harriette Church and May White.

Very good—Gertrude Gabriel, Elsie Payne, Louise Brokaw, Beatrice Harper, Edna Ziller, Emma Hargreaves, Josephine Morrison, Lillian Mohan, Alice Bretthauer, Hilda Morgan, Jack Richters, James Turner, Elwood Schreiber, George Ranscher, W. von der Hayden, Walter Miller, Florence Hopkins, Eleanor Ogden, Esther Plecker, Eleanor Wright, Jane Montgomery, Martha McKennon, Dorothy Wright, Lillian Schwab, Martha Schweers, Grace Bickel, Margaretta Eggerstedt, Gertrude Glecker, Rose Angott, Catherine Reining, Mildred Wridenhofer, Emma Sprake, Francis B. Karb, P. Hoffacker, Charles Spegel, William Pallock, Lillian Killough, Marie Hirsch, Evelyn Schrifer, Annie Welcher, Lillian Milligan, Bertha Hosking, Evelyn Osterman, Dorothea Smith, Mildred von der Hayden, Mabel Heiss, Brewster Lyon, Herman Melebeck, Fred. Hofacker, Joseph Ritter, Alfred Thompson and Raymond Frankenberger.

Good—Louis Bickel, Milton Spitzfaden, Russell Griffon, Ed. La Tourette, Marin Mauer, Frederick L. Glasby, Daisy Barnes, Hannah Sprake, Eva Littamer, Edna Debo, Edna Gabriel, Mable Fagan, Florence Blessing, Wilbur Meekings, Edward Rettinger, Gilbert Slover, William Townley, George Angott, Walter T. Cocker, G. Alexander, Esther Gracie Ogden, Margaret Ogden, Claire Barnes, Mildred Kensington, Lorretta Brumer, John Reagan, Edward Bauer, Frederick Schaffer, Margaret Ranscher and Milton Scheckler.

Mrs. Hubard, the superintendent of the primary department, presented each child promoted to the junior department with a church calendar, with the [illegible] St. John's Church, as well as a certificate of promotion.

After the service in the church the school, under the leadership of the banner bearer, J. W. A. Smith, Jr., of the beginners' class, marched into the parish house, where the primary department entertained the school and visitors with a little ten-minute playlet, entitled "A Remarkable Dream About What Happens in the Superintendent's Table Drawer at Midnight," followed by verses: "About Our Sunday School," the chorus being sung by the whole department, to music composed by Mrs. Bauman Lowe.

HILLSIDE.

Seventeen young people of St. Catherine's church received first communion yesterday morning at the 9 o'clock mass. The Rev. Father O'Connor officiated. Following the communion a breakfast was served to the young people by the Women's Club of the church. Those who received first communion were: William Schackley, William Gother, Louis Weber, Frank Seng, Stanley Troeshok, Tillie Sebrousky, Elsie Farkaf, Catherine Bauser, Tinka Nastic, Alvin Dunon, Joseph Hanoder, Francis Collins, Irene Volk, Mae Jacobi, Agatha Scharkly, Susie Peters and Elizabeth Ackermann.

The annual trolley ride of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Elizabeth Avenue Presbyterian church will be held on Saturday afternoon to Palisades Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kirkman, of Hollywood avenue, have returned from a brief stay at Eatontown.

A card party will be held in the parish hall of St. Catherine's church tomorrow night under the auspices of the young ladies of the church.

The township schools will close Friday for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brinckman, of Pennsylvania avenue, are on a trip to Niagara Falls.

Officers have been elected by the Men's Class of the Weequahic Presbyterian Church as follows: President, R. R. Magee; vice-president, Newton Wyckoff; secretary, H. E. Clark; treasurer, P. J. Sorenson. The present membership numbers thirty-three.

Frederick Felger, of Munn avenue, has returned from a trip through the West.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Oscar Young, Jr., of Hillside avenue, who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stuyvesant in Rockville, L. I., have returned.

A sale of home-made cake, pie and fudge was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Supner, for the benefit of the piano fund of the Hillside Avenue School.

Mrs. Thomas Robertson and Miss Christine Robertson, of Brooklyn, have returned after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Tichenor, of North Broad street.

John W. Gilmore, of Hillside avenue, in company with a number of friends from New York City, is on a trip to Lake Champlain, N. Y.

Mrs. Lewis Dutcher, of Williamson avenue, is visiting at Economy, Ind.

A One-Price, Cash System and Its Advantages

A one-price, selling-for-cash system such as we maintain is the best possible guarantee against discrimination of any kind. Briefly it means we protect all purchasers against overcharges, such as frequently prevail elsewhere to offset the rebates allowed by a sliding scale of prices. This is robbing Peter to pay Paul and we do not countenance it as it has no place in our just scheme of merchandising.

Aside from this prevailing equality in the matter of prices there is a further economic advantage in trading with us as our prices are as low as prices consistently can be for high-grade merchandise when purchases and sales are conducted on a cash basis only.

Board of Trade Notes.

By ADRIAN O. MURRAY,
Acting Secretary.

Now that a secretary has been unanimously decided upon for the Elizabeth Board of Trade, it behooves the members, after accepting a man to fill this office, to also, as their part, assume the responsibility of interesting themselves in the possibilities, capabilities and workings of the Board of Trade organization so that the individual who has agreed to assume the secretaryship will find that he is backed up by men of standing in the community with ability to assist in making the organization the power that it necessarily will have to be in order to fulfil its purpose.

It is the duty of the secretary to analyze the strong and the weak points of the city or community which his organization represents. It is up to him, together with the advice and counsel of the members of that organization, to seek and find and put into practice remedies for the weaknesses and to enlarge and make the most of the city's possibilities. In order to be able to accomplish this, it is absolutely essential that a secretary, who is a representative individual of the representative organization, should have the support and co-operation of every citizen of the community. It is an easy matter to abuse, condemn and criticise unjustly; but it is much better and more constructive to counsel, advise and cooperate in regard to those things which will be to the best interests of the community as a whole.

It seems perfectly natural and human to be impatient for direct and immediate success as a result of efforts put forth; but the public must bear in mind that, as a rule, the larger and more far reaching the project, the greater the time required to accomplish the desired end in the best possible way. In board of trade work plans have to be laid. The mind of the public must be so influenced and controlled as to recognize the advisability of action along certain channels. Co-operation must be secured, and it is very essential that in order to be fair-minded patience and generosity must be exercised.

* * *

It is not every year that the business men of Elizabeth have the opportunity of visiting so near home a convention of the size and caliber as that of the Advertising Men's Clubs of the World to be held in Philadelphia, June 25 to 30.

Advertising has reached a stage where it is recognized as being an integral part of all civic, commercial, professional and industrial life.

The program prepared is the best in the history of the association. Men of National repute will be there, prepared to give talks that will be an inspiration to all present. Those present will derive the benefit of the experience of others who have accomplished wonderful results.

A home and personal touch will be afforded by having an Elizabethan among the speakers, namely Ambrose McManus, president of the Board of Trade, who will talk to the retailers.

Philadelphia affords a welcome to all. The Poor Richard Club and other commercial and civic organizations of Philadelphia have left nothing undone that will add to the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. The University of Pennsylvania has offered its rooms for the various departments and conferences. It is indeed an opportunity for every business man in this city and community to get the very most at the least possible cost.

Commodious touring automobiles will leave Broad street, Elizabeth, 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 25, for Philadelphia. This will make a delightful trip. It is purely optional whether you return by automobile or railroad, but it is absolutely essential and beneficial that you attend.

* * *

The formal complaint, based on the claims of discrimination against the New Jersey portion of the New York freight rate zone in railroad rates and service, has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. Mayor Mravlag, William Sefton and George C. Russell, of Elizabeth, are members of the general committee to assist in prosecuting the complaint. It is expected that if this discrimination can be eliminated it would have the effect of inducing manufacturers to locate in northern New Jersey instead of in New York State.

Rudyard Kipling hit the nail on the head when he wrote the following:

"It ain't the guns nor armament, nor funds that they can pay, but the close co-operation that makes them win the day. It ain't the individual, nor the army as a whole, but the everlastin' teamwork of every bloomin' soul."

* * *

An excellent opportunity is given the men of the United States to acquire information and knowledge first-hand regarding the workings of the United States Navy in the summer cruise arranged to take place along the Atlantic coast, beginning August 15 and lasting until September 12.

* * *

This is the first time that an opportunity has been given civilians to enable them to be in direct touch with work of this nature. The naval training cruise for civilians represents the same idea on water as is put into play through the Plattsburg camp on land. It is surprising how little the average citizen knows in regard to battleships, torpedo boats, hydro-aeroplanes, etc., and particularly in regard to their active operation in naval warfare. As a rule, those things people know most about, they are most interested in; and it is said by naval officers that if civilians knew more about the navy they would be more directly interested. This interest would be of great benefit to the navy in the promotion of projects which, at the present time, are made almost impossible.

The committee appointed by the Board of Trade is enthusiastically and earnestly taking up the idea of trying to influence a number from Elizabeth to avail themselves of this trip. The committee, at its last meeting last Tuesday night, decided to enlarge the committee so as to enlist the co-operation of other civic organizations, churches and the Board of Education. Wouldn't it be fine if Elizabeth could send forty men to participate and enjoy this summer cruise? With that number it would be possible to have an Elizabeth division. All those desirous of taking this cruise should apply at the Board of Trade rooms as early as possible. The sooner your application is in the better. Any further information desired can be obtained by applying at the Board of Trade rooms, 120 Broad street.

* * *

The committee on loft building, a subcommittee of the industrial development committee, met last week and discussed the power building proposition as adaptable to Elizabeth. It was decided that it would be advisable to secure additional data and more definite information before taking further steps in this important project.

TO ENFORCE STORAGE LAW.

State Bureau Planning for New Act Effective July 1.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—The State Department of Health is making preparations for the enforcement of the new cold storage act, which goes into effect July 1. Plans for its enforcement are being developed with the expectation that local boards of health will enforce the provisions of the section with reference to the placarding of cold storage food when offered for sale, as it is believed that this work properly comes within the scope of local board of health activities. From the consumer's point of view the requirement as to the placarding of cold storage foods is one of the important provisions of the act. With reference to this point the law reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful to sell, or to offer or expose for sale, articles of food which have been held in any cold storage warehouse for a period of thirty days or over without notifying persons purchasing, or intending to purchase the same, that they have been so kept by the display of a placard conspicuously marked "Cold Storage Goods," on the bulk, mass or articles of food, and it shall be unlawful to represent or advertise as fresh articles of food which have been held in any cold storage warehouse for a period of thirty days or over."

The words, "Cold Storage Goods," on placards displayed in places where such goods are sold must be in solid black letters at least one inch in height. The penalty for failure to make such announcement where cold storage goods are offered for sale, or for advertising as fresh goods that have actually been in cold storage, is from $10 to $50.

The foods which, under the law, are regarded as subject to cold storage methods of preservation include fresh meat and fresh meat products—except in process of manufacture, fresh food, fish, game, poultry, eggs, milk and milk products, and edible fats and oils. It will be noted that the most important foods in this list are the nitrogenous or proteid foods.

The new law makes better provision than the old for the supervision of cold storage plants by providing for the licensing of such plants by the State Department of Health. The act also straightens out some legal difficulties that have hampered prosecutions under the old law. The amount of foods in cold storage must be reported to the State Department of Health monthly instead of quarterly, as heretofore.

MOTHER ADOPTS TWINS.

(Special to the Journal.)

Cleveland, June 19.—After years of search and patient waiting, Mrs. M. J. Prendergast, childless wife of a wealthy twin, and mother of six children, has adopted her heart's desire, twin baby boys. The babies were orphaned by the death of their mother, a West Virginia cousin of Mrs. Prendergast.

Years ago Mrs. Prendergast began her search. There were three pairs of twins in her father's family; her grandmother had twins, and there were several other pairs on other branches of Mrs. Prendergast's family tree.

The plump youngster has been christened Tom L. Johnson Prendergast, and the smaller one, Newton D. Baker Prendergast, after Cleveland's most celebrated sons.

Is There Anything—Next to Your Family—As Truly Important As Your Home?

Home?—why everyone of us remember every nook and cranny of it. Who of us cannot instantly recall the many happy and never-to-be-forgotten things that happened there? As you felt, so your children will feel about their home.

Make it comfortable and cosy. Help your children grow up to be finer men and women by putting them in finer and better surroundings. And you yourselves will be better for it!

Our warehouses are bulging with furniture and floorcoverings and we have had to take additional space because we know that prices are advancing and will continue to advance, and therefore we have spent thousands of dollars in advance to protect you, our Patrons, and those who WILL BE our Patrons.

At all times we Guarantee Satisfaction. So come in and see the beautiful furniture which we have displayed in a "different" manner. Artistic doesn't necessarily mean expensive at McManus Bros. And the woman who knows her home is right, always has a smiling invitation to "Come in."

How To Choose Your Drug Store

Select your drug store with the same care that you select your doctor.

Trade at a drug store that pays more attention to making a customer than to making a sale.

Trade at the drug store where you can be sure that you are getting the most and the best for your money.

SINGER FIREMEN BREAK RECORDS

FIRST AID NURSES APPEAR AT ANNUAL GAMES.

Although interrupted by several hard showers the annual field day of the fire department of the Singer Manufacturing Company, held in the Singer yard on Saturday was a big success. The affair was attended by more than 800 people, while scores looked on from the windows of the factory and applauded the work of the factory fire-fighters.

The event was marked by the appearance for the first time of the firemen in their new uniforms of blue blouses, blue caps and white neckties. These uniforms were secured through the efforts of Superintendent Oliver L. Dosch and were greatly admired.

One of the most interesting features was the initial appearance of the Singer first aid nurses, who occupied a special stand. Wearing the regulation uniform of a nurse with a Red Cross band around the arm the young women received a hearty applause as they marched from the scene of activities. As the Singer fife and drum corps struck up a lively march they stepped out with the precision of trained soldiers. Their marching was highly complimented.

The nurses were organized by Dr. A. O. Buck, the company surgeon. One was selected from each department. They are regular employes of the company, ready to answer any emergency call in their particular department. A course of instruction in first-aid nursing has been outlined for them and they will be given a thorough training. Paul Kaiser is the secretary of the first-aid society and the assistants to Dr. Buck are George Lang and Daniel Mehegan. The nurses are: The Misses Grace Veligte, Edna Ryder, Edna Werner, Ethel Smith, Florence Burns, Helene Mason, May Duffy, Grace Kitzler, Sadie Donnelly, Ethel Flannagan, Marguerite Murphy, Catherine Nolan, Elizabeth McMahon, Nellie Ellsworth, Mary Galvien, Anna Devlin, Marion Cantress, Clara Donnelly, Effie Doherty, Louise Hoerrner, Agnes Spillane, Ida Martin, Nettie Jackaway, Margaret Connors and Elsie Detroot.

New Records Established.

The program of events which started at 1 o'clock was marked by the establishment of two new records by Company No. 7, under Foreman John Busch. It opened with a review of the department and the nurses who constitute an auxiliary to the firemen. Headed by the fife and drum corps and Marshal Z. A. Craig they marched past the reviewing stand, after which Philip Sidney, chairman of the fire commissioners, gave a brief address. In the stand were: Superintendent O. L. Dosch, Mr. Sidney, Secretary B. F. Conner, E. F. Hiller, W. J. McConnell, T. N. Garson, P. B. Poucher and Harry Goas, who represented the State Labor Bureau. Other interested spectators were Charles D. Doctor, Police Commissioner Charles H. Moore, Colonel Robert L. Patterson, former Police Chief John A. Peters and William J. Bender.

The first event was the hand extinguisher contest, which was won by Company No. 7. This company broke the previous record of thirteen seconds made by Company No. 9 in 1913, the new time being twelve and two-fifths seconds. In this event two men from each organization participated. One carried a six-gallon extinguisher and the other an ax. They ran fifty yards, mounted a ladder to a roof, cut a hole in a box and played the chemical on the "blaze." The men showed remarkable agility. The department flag, which will be held for the year by the winning company, was the prize.

Company No. 7 established another new record in the ladder contest. This organization broke its own record of eleven seconds made last year, the new time being ten and two-fifths seconds. In this event, the companies ran 100 feet, erected a ladder against a building, the first man mounting it and placing both feet on the roof being the winner. This was somewhat spectacular and demonstrated the agility of the Singer firemen. In several instances men had started to climb the ladder before it had been placed against the building. The Bourne Cup, which will be held for one year, was the prize.

The chemical engine contest proved interesting. Each company ran 300 feet over an angular course with a chemical engine and discharged its contents at a red flag. This was won by Company No. 8, which defeated Company No. 7, the winner of last year. The prize for this event was the house flag.

Wins Alexander Trophy.

Company No. 5 was the winner of the company run for the Alexander trophy, which was won last year by Company No. 7. Each company was required to run 400 feet, detach the hose from the carriage, connect to a hydrant and wet the signal flag. There was quite a lot of amusement, as some of the firemen and spectators standing nearby received a slight "ducking." Companies Nos. 4 and 8 were disqualified because the water was turned on before the nozzle had been securely fastened, causing it to break away from the hose.

This event had to be temporarily discontinued owing to a downpour of rain, which sent the firemen and spectators scampering for cover. It lasted but a few minutes, however, and the program was resumed. In the hose-stretching contest Companies Nos. 1, 3, 5 and 7 participated. In this they were required to stretch 1,000 feet of hose and get a stream in action. This was done in forty-nine seconds, a new record over the time made by the same organizations in 1910, when it was one minute and twenty-two seconds.

The last event was a brigade run. Four companies had to carry seven lengths of hose and nozzle, run 400 feet, couple the hose, connect the hydrant, carry the nozzle to the roof of a building and get the stream in action. This was done by Companies Nos. 2, 4, 6 and 8. The turning on of the fire towers closed the exhibition.

The men were then lined up before the reviewing stand to receive the prizes, but another hard shower caused a temporary break in the program. When the sun once more made its appearance the men again appeared and received their rewards from Superintendent Dosch. He congratulated the men on their fine work and commented upon the fact that they were not fair weather fighters. "If the time ever comes," he said, "for real work I know you will be on the job. You are capable of it."

Company 7 was rather slow in coming up to the stand, and in presenting their prizes, Superintendent Dosch congratulated the members on their speed in going after the "bacon," but declared they were slow in coming to collect. Company No. 5 won a big silver cup, and in presenting it Superintendent Dosch said: "You received the big cup to-day, and I hope you will enjoy all that can be poured into it."

Cheers for Dosch.

In behalf of the members, Chief Angus A. Beyer thanked Superintendent Dosch for the uniforms, and the men gave three hearty cheers for the head of the Elizabeth plant. Throughout the entire day Chief Beyer stood out prominently in the contests, and the excellent showing made by the department fully demonstrated his ability as a leader. Chief Beyer has been associated with the department for many years. He was appointed first assistant chief in 1905, and upon the resignation of W. S. McCormick as chief in 1910 Mr. Beyer was named as head of the department.

Following the program the fire commissioners and firemen held a banquet at Schmoldt's Hotel, Third and Trumbull street, and the floor captains at Kohlenberger's Hotel in Trumbull street. The nurses were entertained in the private dining-room in the factory. It was announced that the annual outing of the department will be held July 29.

STATE PRISON DATA IS GIVEN

New Wage Scale Encourages Convicts to Work.

PRISONERS RAISE VEGETABLES FOR OWN USE.

(Special to the Journal.)

Trenton, June 19.—Interesting statistics are given in the annual report of the New Jersey State prison, just issued for the year 1915. The board of inspectors last fall decided on a wage scale for the convicts of 2½ cents a day and this encourages the men in their work. This applies to all prisoners who work in the prison and at the farm and road camps. At the Leesburg farm 285 acres have been cleared of wood and brush. Enough vegetables have been raised at the farm to provide much of the food for the prisoners.

The products raised at the farm amounted to $4,753.03. These included 17,068 quarts of milk, 224 dozen eggs, 185 baskets of green peas, 5,000 heads of cabbage, 665 bushels of field corn, 1,527 pumpkins, 1,646 cantaloupes, 20,974 pounds of tomatoes, 1,850 bushels of potatoes, etc. Aside from this, thousands of feet of lumber were cut and sold.

Twenty-seven prisoners made escapes from the camps and farm during the year. Considerable printed matter is now turned out at the prison, where a printing office has been established. Seventeen died during the year and seven were electrocuted. Eleven were committed to the State Hospital for the Insane and 375 were paroled.

Nine men are serving life sentences, one man is serving a 60-year sentence, thirty-five are in for 30 years, sixteen are in for 25 years, twenty in for 20 years, nineteen in for 15 years, nine for 14 years, 111 for 12 years, seventeen for 10 years, and fifteen for 7 years.

Essex county leads with the greatest number of men, having 270, while Camden is second with 159. Hudson has 126 and Mercer seventy-four. Italians lead in number, there being 211 of that race, while China has three. One prisoner was only 13 years old when received at the institution, while 101 were from 15 to 20 years. The majority of convicts were young when received.

During the year 1914, 481 men were received, while during 1915 the average was nearly one a day. One hundred and sixty-three of the men cannot read or write. Of the 1,354 prisoners, 1,013 are white males, and 320 colored males.

The different class of expenditures, for maintenance account, amounted to $178,961.56. The total earnings through the shops amounted to $63,077.09.

Of the sixty men sentenced to be electrocuted, forty-two were killed, twelve were afterward given prison sentences, one committed suicide while waiting a new trial, one died suddenly on the day set for electrocution and four are now waiting to be put to death. The amount of food consumed amounted to 2,360,113 pounds. This included 445,000 pounds of potatoes, 87,336 pounds of fresh beef and 114,170 pounds of corned beef.

The mail received for the prisoners included 31,393 letters, and 17,599 letters were mailed for the convicts. The total number of packages received was 9,527.

A modern hospital is provided for the prisoners, while there are two clinics a week for treatment of chronic eye, ear, nose and throat diseases. Every prisoner is vaccinated when received. The principal disease in the institution is tuberculosis, and this is due to the lack of space for daily exercise.

THE VEXED MEXICAN SITUATION.

War clouds hang low and black over the Rio Grande. The President has answered General Venustiano Carranza's insolent threat by calling out the National Guard of the several States for border duty. The order is issued as a measure of safety. There are few who do not find in the present situation, however, a gravely serious crisis.

The militia will be mobilized to take the places of regular troops now guarding the border against bandits and invaders. Upon their arrival the regulars will be given freedom to support the troops already operating across the border.

The United States may or may not be provoked into taking drastic action in dealing with the Mexican situation. What happens will depend entirely upon the obstinate, vainglorious so-called head of the Mexican Government. It is hoped that wiser counsels than now govern may prevail at the Mexican capital. This country cannot do less, however, than prepare for the worst. It will not do to allow the Mexicans to catch us napping.

The present crisis might readily have been expected at almost any time during the past three years. In fact, it is not more serious than the one precipitated when Vera Cruz was occupied. It is the direct and logical result of the Administration's method of dealing with the Mexican situation. The Administration, in supporting Carranza, has nurtured a viper, and the reptile is now ready to strike. If war ensues, Carranza will be able to turn guns against the soldiers of Uncle Sam that the Administration unwisely put into his hands.

The mischief has been done, however, and there is now no choice of action. While the people of the United States do not desire war, if it comes, the Government must be and will be supported. If it comes, it should not end until the fear of this country has been put into Mexican hearts and order and government has supplanted present anarchy and chaos in that distracted country. This country should do for Mexico, if the call comes, as much as has been done for the Cubans and the Filipinos.

A TURN FOR THE BETTER.

There was a time when the European conflict first began that the sympathies of a large percentage of Americans were with the Teutonic allies. The thing that more than anything else acted upon the American mind to change it was the foolish propaganda established for the purpose of forcing German opinions down American throats. It was accompanied by that other accursed attempt to bulldoze our public men and cripple our industries.

So-called German-American organizations and individuals and the activities of the paid agents of the German government and the insistent, arrogant clamorings of the language newspapers and magazines served to alienate Americans by the thousands who leaned heavily to the German cause.

Some of the wiser heads among Germans in this country have recently pointed out the blunders that have been made. Professor Kuno Francke charges that the German sympathizers in this country are themselves to blame because Americans are arrayed so largely on the side of the Allies.

Many Germans have seen the mistake that has been made and are laboring to correct it. It will be noticed, for instance, that Dr. Charles J. Hexamer, president of the National German-American Alliance, in his Flag Day address at Philadelphia did not once mention the word "German-American." He did often say "we Americans." He said it with a spirit of earnestness and loyalty that can hardly be questioned.

WHICH IS MOST SACRED?

Which, as a matter of fact, is the most important, most sacred, most responsible and most dignified position among the offices of Chief Executive of the Nation, or the position of Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States? Has it demeaned the dignity of the judicial office held by him that former Justice Hughes resigned his position to accept the nomination for the Presidency; or has his action increased the confidence of Americans in the quality of the justices of the court to have one of them drafted for service in the higher office at a time when the needs of country demanded the service?

The circumstances under which Charles Evans Hughes accepted the Republican candidate are well-known to the country. They are known to every Democrat as well as every Republican. He did not want the office. The leaders of the party, to whom party success means more than anything else, did not want him. He answered a call to service that came spontaneously from the great heart of the people.

The bench is honored and its prestige has been augmented by the act that recognized the ability, integrity and breadth of vision of one of its members.

NO ROOM FOR THE HYPHENATES.

The New York World, showing a despicable kind of partisanship of which that newspaper is too often guilty, demeans the republic and the American people by attempting to make it appear that either candidate or either dominant party would in any way lend comfort to the noxiousness of a divided allegiance. The World forgets, in its vain endeavor to drag down the Republican candidate, that it drags down the republic. Such an act, under the circumstances, unprovoked, amounts to little less than treason.

The New York Times, a substantial Democratic newspaper, rebukes the poltroonery of the World as follows:

"Both candidates are American in heart and soul. Both expressly renounce the support of voters who are not first of all, and above all, Americans. Neither leaves any place in the campaign for those who put some other allegiance above their allegiance to the United States. * * *

"The candidates of both parties have put the hyphen and the hyphenates out of the campaign. Now let the politicians and the managers see to it that they are kept out. There was a tremendous effort made at Chicago to get hyphenate matter into the Republican platform. It failed. A mightier effort will be made at St. Louis. Some of the Democrats on the committee on resolutions are more than suspected of a certain sympathy with the vociferous group of misrepresentative German-Americans who will try to secure recognition in the platform for the alien interests they seek to promote. It would be a monstrous political blunder to let them have their way. Ten Eastern States, including New York, will be lost to the party that attempts any catering to the hyphen vote. It would be a crime to lift the condemnation that both candidates have pronounced upon the pest of divided allegiance. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes have put the hyphen out of American politics. Keep it out."

AN UNDILUTED AMERICAN.

There is only one small punky in the Republican ointment. The German-American Alliance, out of patience with the President and having no one else to support, saw fit to endorse the candidacy of Charles Evans Hughes. The endorsement was given him before the Republican candidate had uttered a word making known his sentiments; while he was yet in a position making it impossible for him to express himself upon this particular matter of divided allegiance and hyphenism. He had not been able to repudiate the implied allegation that he lacked in Americanism.

The more partisan of the Democratic newspapers have seized upon the circumstance and are making it a text for a petty attack upon the loyalty of the Republican candidate. When questioned during his stay in New York about his attitude toward the hyphenates, Mr. Hughes made known his convictions as clearly and forcibly as it is possible to state a thing by the use of English speech. He said:

"My attitude is one of undiluted Americanism. Anybody who supports me is supporting an out-and-out American, an out-and-out American policy, and nothing else.

"I had thought that I stated my position on this subject very clearly in my telegram to the Republican Convention, but if there is any doubt about it I am ready to say it again."

Such a statement will satisfy every fair-minded American.

Human fallibility is often emphasized by witnesses on the stand under oath. An instance in point is shown by the testimony of a witness in the Orpet case, now before the courts of Wisconsin. The chum of the dead victim of the tragedy retracts as a State witness evidence that aided the State when it was given before the coroner's inquest and replaces it with quite a different statement. Isn't it about time that something should be done to make a witness in a life-and-death case more responsible for his or her statements?

Eulogizing President Wilson in his "keynote" speech at the St. Louis convention, Martin H. Glynn perorated as follows: "He has fastened the brakes of justice upon the wheels of power; he has lifted the mists from the temple where our liberties are enshrined." Whadye mean, Marty, "fastened the brakes of justice on the wheels of power?" And with what did he lift the mists from the temple—a jackscrew?

"Weights and measures week" in New York City was opened yesterday with services in many churches, during which sermons were preached on the subject of the celebration or references were made to it from the pulpit. Evidently the campaign for common honesty is to be one fight right after the other.

The Bull Moose decided not to get their long legs tangled in the net that the Democrats set for them at St. Louis. There is nothing about the Democratic party that is alluring to a Progressive.

Among the numerous alluring figments of the summer resort write-ups that of "The Summer Capital" applies [illegible].

It is a safe bet that the next Vice-President will hail from Indiana.

A railroad strike right in the midst of the vacation season might boom the stock of the steamboat lines, anyway.

Third Parties in U. S. Politics.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Washington, June 19.—The spectacular part which the Progressive Party has now played during two Presidential years recalls the stories of other third parties which have had an important place in the American political drama.

Nearly always their activities have been striking and picturesque, accompanied by a great deal of noise and enthusiasm. Nearing always, after a few years, they have completely, quietly and forever disappeared, and their prophets have either been forgotten or have mounted new hobbies.

This ephemeral and disturbing character has given third parties rather a doubtful standing in the minds of many persons who are more conservative than discerning; and it is certain that the significance of these political movements has never been generally understood. As a matter of fact, third parties, despite the excesses of zeal and doctrine that have characterized many of them, have been the real instruments of economic and social reform in the United States. Invariably, they have weakened the more reactionary of the two stronger parties, and have thus brought about the success of the more liberal. Always, too, they have brought forth a large brood of political creeds and dogmas, some of which would not stand the test of logic and common sense, and others that became planks of other party platforms and were enacted into law.

* * *

By far the most interesting of these third parties was the Populist party of Kansas, which polled a formidable vote for President in two elections, was represented in both Houses of Congress, and controlled several State governments. To its splitting of the vote was largely due Cleveland's defeat of Harrison by a narrow margin. It fathered the notorious "free silver" doctrine, which died a natural death after having helped to defeat the Democratic party. On the other hand, the income tax was a Populist doctrine, and to the prestige attained by that party is largely due the adoption of the income tax as a plank in the Democratic platform, and its final enactment into law.

* * *

The story of the Populist party is so typical of third party movements that it is worth a detailed account. It had its origin in the eighteen-eighties, and in the discontent of Western farmers. At that time the American market for foodstuffs was in a condition almost incredible in this day of high living expense. Farmers got only forty cents a bushel for wheat, and ten to thirteen cents for corn, while fat cattle sold at one and one-half to three cents a pound. The farmer could live off his own acres, but he sought in vain to get any cash. In some States, corn was actually burned because it was cheaper than coal.

* * *

This condition was probably due, in considerable measure, to overproduction. Our urban population was a great deal smaller then; the country could not eat what it raised. The farmers, however, encouraged by ambitious political leaders, laid the blame upon monometallism (the gold standard) protective tariffs, exorbitant freight rates, and many other things that might be remedied by legislation.

* * *

The immediate outcome of this situation was the formation of a large number of farmer's organizations, among the strongest of which was the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, which ultimately attained a membership of millions. This and other similar organizations met and discussed at length their grievances against the politicians and the railroads, and sought a measure that would bring relief. The silver miners of the Western States suggested one. They pointed out that a scarcity of the circulating medium, especially at crop-moving time, was at the root of the farmers' trouble, and that unlimited coinage of silver was the remedy. This idea took swift and vigorous hold. It seemed logical, it offered a quick and complete solution of the difficulty by the passage of one measure of legislation. Trained economists, who had studied the history of currency, knew that bimetallism was an antiquated doctrine, which had been tried and found wanting; but anything they had to say was drowned out by the noise of perfervid oratory.

* * *

The Farmers' Alliance took to itself one National organization after another, and soon became a formidable political influence. In the campaign of 1890 it elected some thirty Congressmen, a Senator and three Governors by its influence, and that in spite of desperate efforts on the part of both the old parties to ridicule, abuse and orate it out of existence.

The growth of its political activity gradually brought about the organization of the membership of the Farmers' Alliance into a political party. "People's Parties" were organized in one State after another, and finally, in 1892 a National nominating convention was held at Omaha. It was a stormy one. Fervid leaders hotly denounced both the old parties; the delegates went wild with excitement, climbed on the chairs and tables, paraded all over the hall, and generally interfered with the proceedings.

* * *

Sufficient order was finally obtained to nominate "General Jumping Jim" Weaver for President and James G. Field for Vice-President. A vigorous campaign was carried on, in the face of all sorts of difficulties. In the South the rural population was largely Populist, but the cities were controlled by the Democrats, and the Populist candidates encountered such vociferous opposition that they had to give up some parts of their speaking tours. Nevertheless, the Populist party polled over 1,000,000 votes for President, was the first "third party" to obtain a place in the electoral college, and elected a number of Senators and Congressmen. In 1894 the country was torn by labor troubles which reacted strongly in favor of the Populists. They polled nearly 1,500,000 votes, and elected six Senators and seven Congressmen. After that the party gradually ceased to function, largely because the Democrats had taken up many of its chief dogmas. Largely ridiculed, it had nevertheless administered a rebuke to the party in power, and initiated principles that were to become a part of the National law.

* * *

The fore-runner of the Populist party was the Greenback party. The basic principle of this organization was that the Government should issue paper money directly, and that it should be used in the payment of Government bonds; but this party did not attain any real power until it united with the Labor Reform party. Among its principles were that grants of Government land to corporations should be discontinued, and that Oriental labor should be excluded from this country.

* * *

The Greenback party first nominated Peter Cooper, famous New York capitalist and founder of Cooper Institute, for President. He was 85 years old, and, of course, made no active canvass. There were about 80,000 votes cast for him. Later, in a non-presidential year, the party polled over 1,000,000 votes. Then General Weaver was nominated for the Presidency in 1880. He received only 300,000 votes. Nevertheless his campaign was memorable and significant. He traveled 20,000 miles and made over 100 speeches. He was the first leader to thus go directly before the people with his cause, and the first one successfully to crystallize and use that body of radical reform sentiment which has come to play such an important part as the balance of power in American politics.

THE TRAVELETTE

Observations and Reflections of An American Sightseer.

Lahore.

Lahore gives a striking impression of the great age of civilization in India. In this crowded old Punjab town you see here and there a house twelve or fifteen feet below the street level, with its roof little higher than the first story of surrounding buildings. That house is a remnant of past centuries when the whole city stood many feet lower than it does now. Lahore tops a low mound, and that mound is made up of its own past centuries. Penned in its narrow walls the city has been rebuilt again and again over old ruins until the ground level slowly lifted.

Lahore has been called the heart of India. Here the customs of the northern peoples, at least, have crystalized with time, until the touch of English progress can barely ripple the surface. There is a college for native princes in Lahore, where the sons of rajahs are taught the ways and the learning of the occident, but experience shows that while a few such youths may introduce reforms and changes on their return to their kingdoms, for the most part western culture is but a phase with them. They turn easily back to the old ways and manners of their fathers before them. As the princes so the people. India is too old to change in a day, or a century.

The life of Lahore is never monotonous to anyone who delights in shifting types and peoples. The city is a meeting-place for north and south. Hither come wealthy traders from the south to meet the trading caravans that ply the Himalayan passes—the rocky snow-blocked routes from Kashmir and Afghanistan. In the caravan-serais Hindu and Musselman, hill-man and plains-dweller meet and dicker. There are Arabs from over the Arabian sea, and Persians from north-westward. The Persian is always a readily recognizable figure with his rich speech and graceful indolent bearing.

The English in Lahore live apart from the native city, the military folk in the cantonment and the men of the civil service in Donald Town, the European quarter. Their post is no enviable one in the hot weather, with the thermometer haunting the hundred mark night and day, but in winter Lahore has a delightful climate, and the white man leavens his exile with all the sports and social gayeties of the little island half a world away.

PENNSY MAKES APPEAL TO MEN

OTHER RAILROADS MAY FOLLOW EXAMPLE.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has sent out an appeal to its 146,000 employes east of Pittsburgh to stand by the road in case of a strike, which is considered imminent as a result of the railroad's refusal to concede the demands of the freight trainmen. The four brotherhoods of railroad employes who have been in conference with the management since June 1 consider it a challenge, and President A. R. Garretson, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors, calls it an effort to intimidate the men. It is said that other railroads will adopt a similar method.

The railroad's call, issued by General Manager S. C. Long, is as follows:

"Your attention is called to the fact that a conference which has been in session in New York City between general managers of railroads of the United States and the presidents of the four trainmen's organizations has resulted in a disagreement.

"A strike ballot is being taken by the train employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

"The total cessation of train movement will result in the stopping of work in all departments, with consequent loss of earnings to all employes.

"We do not believe the contemplated strike will be ordered by any of our loyal employes. This company employs 146,000 men. Of this number 25,000 are in the train service. It is not reasonable to expect that the wages of the remaining 121,000 employes not in the train service shall be jeopardized or stopped by a strike of less than one-sixth of all the employes.

"Shall these men in defiance of right and justice be permitted to stop the operation of the railroad and deprive it of the ability to serve the public?

"Shall they also be permitted to deprive others of the opportunity to earn wages, producing suffering and distress not only among our employes and their families, but to the public as well?

"The management under the law is required to operate the railroad in the interests of the public, and if a strike eventuates, it will be incumbent on all loyal employes to be faithful to their duty and operate the railroads.

"For seventy years this company has served the public. Many of our men have served the company for twenty-five to forty years, and are still in the employment of the company.

"Shall they be thrown out of work and be deprived of a livelihood by reason of a wage controversy among trainmen not connected with their departments?

"If this strike of trainmen is carried on, our company will require engineers, firemen, conductors and passenger and freight brakemen. The management calls attention of all faithful employes to the necessity that may arise to meet such an emergency.

"Those who feel and believe with the management that the traffic of the company must move, regardless of any wage controversy, and who are willing to volunteer their services to assist the company in doing its duty to the public, to the stockholders and to loyal and faithful employes, will send their names to their immediate superior officers, stating for what service they are volunteering.

"The management gives assurance to those who may volunteer and whose services is accepted that they will retain their positions and will be given all the protection necessary in a crisis of this nature."

CRASHES INTO R. R. ARCH.

Auto Driven by Frank Mooney Snaps Off Front Wheels.

Skidding after the brakes had been applied, an automobile owned by Metz Brothers, proprietors of the Fairmount Garage, 1100 Fairmount avenue, crashed into an abutment of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Union and West Jersey streets shortly after 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The auto was driven by Frank Mooney, of 1111 East Grand street, who applied the brakes as he neared Union street, in order to avoid a collision.

The car, a Mercer, literally leaped upon the pavement, the front striking the railroad arch with such terrific force as to knock off the front wheels. Witnesses said that Mooney was driving at a speed of less than fifteen miles an hour, but Patrolman Lawlor, who witnessed the accident, said that the speed was greater than this. Mooney escaped injury.

GERMANS MOURN.

Services Are Held for Gen. von Moltke, Who Died of Apoplexy.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Berlin, June 19.—Mourning services are being held to-day and others planned in memory of the late Lieutenant General Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the supplementary staff of the German army, who died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday afternoon at a memorial meeting of the Reichstag for the late Field-marshal von der Goltz.

Helmuth von Moltke was a nephew of the famous Field Marshal von Moltke, chief of the Germany army in the Franco-Prussian war.

To-day a London newspaper prints a story on good authority that von Moltke was one of the several who urged upon the Kaiser the declaration of war against Russia and France.

COLLEGE TEAMS IMROVE ON RULES OF FOOTBALL

Boston, June 19.—"There's a code of ethics for football players beyond the point where the rules now stop," declared E. K. Hall, chairman of the Football Rules Committee, in a statement made public to-day. Fourteen colleges of the East and West have endorsed the Dartmouth man's remarks and have subscribed to the code which was drawn up last night.

Holding side line coaching, beating the ball, talking to your opponents, talking to officials are all branded as unworthy of college players and the suggestions will be added to this year's rules.

TO CELEBRATE FIELD MASS.

50,000 Expected to Be Present at Weequahic Park Service.

Elizabeth Knights of Columbus and members of Elizabeth Catholic parishes will be present at the celebration of the first solemn high field mass ever held in New Jersey, which will take place next Sunday at Weequahic Park. The ceremony is to be held under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus as one of the events in connection with Newark's 250th anniversary celebration. As the function will be unique in this State, it is anticipated that it will attract fully 50,000 Catholics to Weequahic Park and a large number of persons of other faiths.

The mass will begin promptly at 11 o'clock in the morning, and will be concluded at 12.15 o'clock, approximately. The altar will be erected on a natural elevation within a few rods of the field house looking down over the baseball fields. The space in front of the altar takes in nine baseball diamonds, and, it is believed, will afford ample room for the large crowds expected.

In addition to a general invitation given to the public to attend the service special invitations have been sent to the members of the Committee of One Hundred of the Newark anniversary celebration, to Governor James F. Fielder, to Mayor Thomas L. Raymond and to other State officials and to Essex county and Newark officials, as well as to county and city officials in all parts of New Jersey. Assurances have already been received that there will be a large attendance of Knights of Columbus from all parts of New Jersey and from New York and Brooklyn in response to invitations sent to the various councils of the order. High dignitaries of the church throughout the diocese of Newark and elsewhere have been invited and are expected to attend.

The "Mass Coram Pontifice" will be celebrated with the Bishop, the Right Rev. John J. O'Connor, presiding. The assisting priest will be the Right Rev. Monsignor Isaac P. Whelan, and the Right Rev. Monsignor Patrick J. Cody, who is one of the members of the Committee of One Hundred, will celebrate the mass. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Michael J. White, pastor of St. Columba's Church. The other officers of the mass will be as follows: Deacon, the Rev. M. P. Corcoran, of St. John's Church; subdeacon, the Rev. Edward F. Quirk, of St. Joseph's Church; deacons of honor, the Rev. James J. McKeever, of St. Rose of Lima's Church, Newark, and the Rev. Rudolph Huelsebush, of St. Augustine's Church, that city; master of ceremonies, the Rev. John A. Duffy, chancellor of the diocese, and the Rev. John A. Dillon, superintendent of parochial schools.

COLDEST IN 45 YEARS.

First Seventeen Days of June Also Record for Rain.

Trenton, June 19.—For the benefit of those interested in the popular question of what is so rare as a day in June, the local official of the Weather Bureau presents the following facts: Up to June 17 this has been the coldest June in forty-five years, with an average temperature of 61.3 degrees. In the first seventeen days there have been nine continuously rainy days, which is another new record for the first half of the month, although in 1903 there were ten continuously rainy days, June 12 to 21, inclusive. The weather man has no hopes of surpassing this record the present month.

The Two Neighbors.

Once upon a time, not so many years ago, there were two women who were neighbors. One was a smallish, plain-looking woman with a pleasant smile and a cheerful manner; the other was very good looking, save for a frown that now and then passed across her handsome face. The name of the plain-featured woman, quaintly enough, was Mrs. Lovely, while the woman with the handsome features was known as Mrs. Grumpy.

Both of these neighbors were good housekeepers; both knew how to make bi-scuits that would take a prize in any bread-making contest; both kept their husbands' socks neatly mended, and both saw to it that the front door steps never had a chance to collect dust.

But the similarity in their ways of doing things ended there. The other neighbors used to say that there never were two women more unlike.

Somehow, Mrs. Grumpy was not popular in the neighborhood. When a neighbor saw her opening the gate and coming up the walk, she was likely to exclaim: "Oh, dear; there comes Mrs. Grumpy." Of course, you, gentle reader, can draw your own inference as to what this meant. After Mrs. Grumpy had gone, and the neighbor was telling her good man, when he came home to supper, all the happenings of the day, when she got to speaking of Mrs. Grumpy's call the husband would belch a laugh and most likely say: "Oh, Mrs. Grump-Grumpy! And what was she chewing about to-day?" Whatever he meant by that I leave you to guess, but that was about the manner of his remark.

When the grocer saw Mrs. Grumpy's handsome figure coming toward his store he was likely to remark: "Here comes that Mrs. Grumpy. I wonder what's wrong now?" If the grocer clerk could leave the counter, he usually slipped off into the back room before Mrs. Grumpy turned the latch, just to make it appear that he was out.

It was the same at the butcher's. The butcher liked Mrs. Grumpy's money just as well as he liked Mrs. Lovely's; better, perhaps, because Mrs. Grumpy spent more. But he had been heard to say that "it always gave him a turn" when he saw Mrs. Grumpy coming. This was because, try as hard as he might, it did not seem possible to please Mrs. Grumpy. There was always something for her to find fault about. Sometimes it was because the butcher boy did not shut the gate. She had asked him a dozen times, she explained, never to leave it open because the big dog across the way might get in and scratch up her garden. Sometimes she found fault because the weather was too hot or too cool, or because it didn't get "settled," or because her garden wouldn't grow or because the butcher had painted his store green instead of a nice white, or because the butcher boy delivered the meat the day before, ten minutes too early. It seemed that things went wrong just to spite her and that she carried around with her a spirit of fault-finding that enveloped her in a nimbus just as the olden time saints used to be surrounded by a halo of glorified light. Mrs. Grumpy's halo had no glory in it, which made a difference.

The grocer clerk and the butcher boy and a good many other people used to say that since Mrs. Grumpy was bound to feel uncomfortable anyway, what was the use of trying to please her? It only made her more uncomfortable. So the butcher boy continued to fetch the meat too early and the grocer boy kept on forgetting to shut the gate every time he went to Mrs. Grumpy's house, just so that she should not be made too uncomfortable by having nothing to complain about.

With Mrs. Lovely it was quite different. When she was a little girl, she had heard somebody say, "Molasses traps more flies than vinegar does." She didn't quite understand what it meant, then. But when she grew up and became a housekeeper and learned the ways of flies she remembered the homely saying and understood it.

All her friends used to say that Mrs. Lovely was "just too sweet for anything." The grocer clerk liked to carry goods to her house, and she never had to remind him to shut the gate. The butcher boy took pains to get her delivery made just at the right time, and as for the butcher and grocer they were so pleased to have Mrs. Lovely come into the store that they fairly beamed on her and rubbed the palms of their hands together from sheer satisfaction.

It was the same when Mrs. Lovely went visiting. She seemed to carry happiness with her and there was always a welcome waiting for her. Her detractions were quite sure to be jealous if she spent more time with one than with the other, and good will surrounded her as happiness surrounds a bride.

When Mrs. Grumpy took sick and died, the neighbors said: "Well, she's gone at last, poor soul! I wonder if she will find fault with heaven?"

When it became known that The Last Sickness had fallen on Mrs. Lovely there was not a family in her part of the country that did not feel sorry. And they said: "Heaven will be the happier now, because she will be there."

The moral is, that if you are looking for a halo you should take pains to get the right kind of a one.

Pelerines.

Pelerines seem to be a distinguishing feature in fashion, tied at the waist, the ends finished with a bow and distended on either side, says the Queen, London. The cape effect has crept into evening gowns, cut after Velasquez and other Spanish voluminous shapes, with many fluffy frillings of chiffon beneath. Magnificent evening wraps are made in rich tones of tulle shot with gold, having a huge upstanding collar, and we are copying the capes of Joffre blue which the messengers wear.—Exchange.

Sport Hats Have Floppy Brims—Sometimes.

The sport sailor does not disdain shepherdess lines, as witness this new model from a very authoritative milliner. That hat is of supple leghorn and white net is shirred over the brim to the edge, where a frill of black net is joined on under a cording. The band and streamers are of black and white grosgrain ribbon. The hat looks well with a sport blouse of striped linen in black and white.

Sleepy-Time Tales.

By HOUSTON G. CURRIER.

Cuffy Bear Goes Swimming.

As Cuffy Bear tore through the forest, with the bees clustering all about his head, he thought he never would reach the brook. He was going straight for the deep pool, which he had often visited in order to watch the speckled trout darting about in the clear water.

Now and then Cuffy paused in his mad rush, to bury his face in the thick blanket of dead leaves that covered the ground. But just as soon as he raised his head the bees would settle on his face again. And Cuffy would rush off once more as fast as he could go.

At last he came to the brook. And he leaped right off the big boulder that hung high over the pool and landed kersplash! right in the middle of it. How the water did fly in all directions! And Cuffy went right down out of sight.

Of course, the bees wouldn't go down into the water, too. They knew they'd be drowned if they did. So they lingered in a swarm above the water. They hovered there in the air and waited. And when, after a moment, Cuffy's head came up out of the pool, they swooped down and began to sting him again.

Cuffy promptly ducked his head. And he swam under water to the further side of the pool and came up once more. To his surprise the bees were right there waiting for him. And he ducked under again, and swam to the opposite side near the big boulder. And once more, when he came up to breathe, he found the buzzing bees all ready to pounce upon his nose.

So poor Cuffy had to keep pulling his head down into the pool. He would keep it there just as long as he could hold his breath; and then he would simply have to stick his nose out of the water in order to draw some fresh air into his lungs.

It was not long before Cuffy became very tired from so much swimming. So he found a shallow place where he could stand on the bottom of the brook, with just enough water to cover him, and where he could poke his nose out whenever he had to. And just as often as his little black nose came up above the surface of the pool the bees lighted on it and stung Cuffy again.

All the rest of the afternoon poor Cuffy had to stay there in the water. For the bees did not leave him until sundown. And then, when the last one had gone, Cuffy crawled out of the brook and started toward home. His little round body and his sturdy little legs were not warm now, as they had been when he sat down beneath the tree to get cool. For the mountain brook was ice cold; and Cuffy felt quite numb from standing in it so long. But cold as he was, his face felt like fire. And for some reason, which Cuffy couldn't understand, he could hardly see to pick his way through the shadows of the forest.

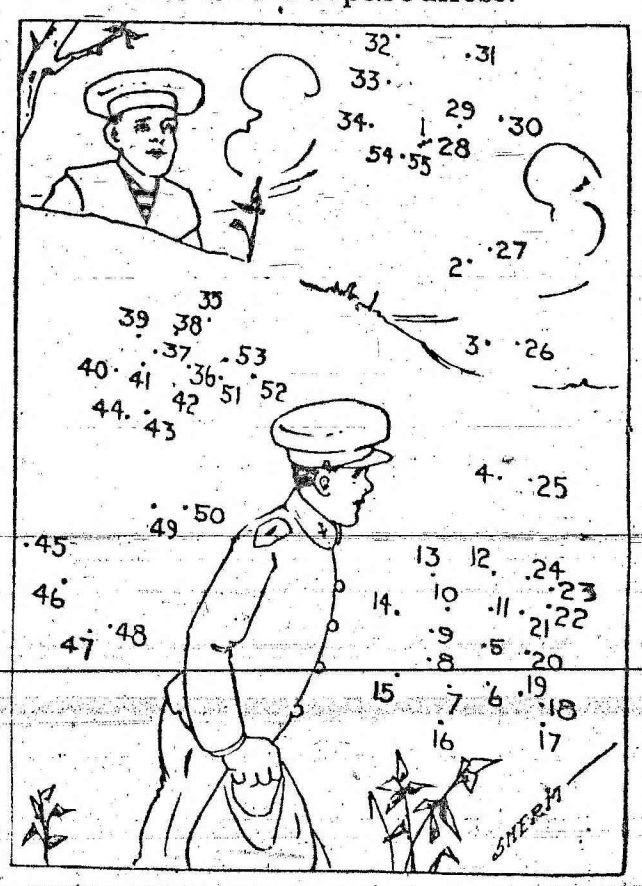
The Dot Preparedness.



WHEN James and Jack went out to the camping ground with their lunch, they found that the other campers were not there yet. It was quite unusual, however, for them to be the first ones on the ground before.

"You know, Jack," said James, "what you told me yesterday about Columbus being prepared to the extent of a caravel is great, but what about the poor sailors when they came to land in a strange country?"

"Oh, they were prepared, too," said Jack. "Each one had a ——— or a ———."

To find out what the sailors had, join the dots with a pencil line, beginning with dot No. 1 and taking them in numerical order. Then cut out and paste each day's picture in a scrap book, and when the last one is printed, you will have "The Dot Preparedness" story complete in permanent book form.

Cheery Chats and Side Talks

Clothes Psychology.

By RUTH CAMERON.

THE psychology of clothes is always an interesting study.

First we make (or buy) our clothes, and then our clothes make us.

"It's positively weird," a friend of mine said to me the other day, "the way I feel in that new hat. I never had a big, striking hat before and it makes me feel loud. When I have it on I feel myself walking and holding my arms akimbo, the funny way girls who are a little loud do, and even sitting with my feet crossed and my skirts way up. It's all that horrid hat."

Most of us have had some similar experience. Some special garment has struck a keynote and we have found ourselves living up or down to it.

We Ought to Be Able to Rise Above Clothes, But ——

I suppose we ought to be able to rise above clothes, but so few of us are.

Shabby clothes make us feel shabby and apologetic and inefficient.—New clothes make us feel smart and up-to-date. Becoming clothes give us rightful self-confidence. To be overdressed makes us uncomfortably clothes-conscious.

I heard of a woman the other day who wanted to help a girl in whom she was interested to obtain a position. To that end she insisted on supplying her with a complete outfit of clothes, not particularly expensive, but smart and becoming. "And when she put those clothes on," her benefactress says, "her whole manner changed. She stood straighter, she smiled, she looked like another girl. And she got the position, not only because she looked more attractive, but because she had more compelling power in her."

"How can you find time to change your dress and fix yourself up for the afternoon every day? I should think you'd be too busy and too tired," I said one day to a mother of four small children.

It Rests Her to Change Her Dress.

"It rests me to change my dress," she said. "If I can possibly find the time, I bathe and put on different underwear as well as a different dress."

The whole subject of dress and its effect on us merits not more attention, but more scientific attention, than most women give it.

Their children, their homes, their clothes, their social relationships, are the channels for self-expression for the woman without a profession. To have a self worth expressing and to express it well in all these directions, is a task that no woman need despise.

FACE ONE MASS OF HORRIBLE PIMPLES

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I looked a frightful sight a few months ago. My face was just one mass of horrible pimples and blackheads, and new ones were always sure to appear as soon as the old ones were gone. The pimples were large and hard and would bleed most of the time. My skin became dry and would itch which forced me to scratch it and by so doing I would irritate it until it pained. I could hardly sleep.

"This trouble lasted for six or seven months and I used everything that was recommended for me, but I wasn't relieved. Then I read an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I began to use them. The pimples began to dry up in two weeks and in about four weeks I was healed." TODAY'S DAINTIEST DISH

"COOKERY IS BECOME A NOBLE SCIENCE"

Broiled Lamb Chops With Peas

By CONSTANCE CLARKE.

THE lamb chops should be cut to the desired thickness, trimmed neatly, removing all unnecessary fat, seasoned with a little salt and pepper, and broiled, turning them every three minutes, allowing eight minutes for chops cut one inch thick.

The distinctive touch of this dish is its Bernaise sauce. Once one serves this with lamb chops it will be found an indispensable adjunct to the chops thereafter.

SAUCE—Reduce two tablespoonfuls of white tarrigan vinegar to about half the quantity with twelve crushed peppercorns, half a saltspoon of paprika pepper, two bay leaves, a little thyme, one small onion, then add four raw yolks of eggs, and work in by degrees a quarter of a pound of butter, then strain. This sauce requires care in making.

Take two cups of shelled peas and put them into boiling water with a bunch of mint tied in a piece of muslin; season the water with a little salt, sugar, and a tiny pinch of soda; boil the peas gently for fifteen to twenty minutes, then strain off and mix them with three tablespoonfuls of butter. Serve on the dish with the chops. Arrange chops around a mound of toasted bread and serve the sauce in a sauce boat.

Saving the Babies.

Out of every thousand babies born in the United States, at least 112 die before they are a year old.

In New Zealand the number is only 51 to the thousand.

The chief reason for the high mortality in this country is the lack of care given to the child and mother preceding and following birth.

New Zealand has the lowest infant death rate in the world, because it has been actively working to improve the health of women and children.

Caring for children so that they live and thrive has come to be regarded as a science. But it is a science based upon simple, practical rules. They can be readily followed by any woman who will take the trouble to learn them.

The health and life of babies is of value to the entire community, because upon them depends its future prosperity. Every baby has a right to living conditions conducive to his welfare. This right is becoming recognized by every intelligent community as well as by individual parents.

Scientists are giving intensive study to all the requirements of these conditions. Their study is producing knowledge which will help you to keep your baby in good health, to lessen his chance for early death, to make his prospect for growing up more certain.

The Elizabeth Daily Journal will place in the hands of any reader the literature of the United States Public Health Service on the care of the baby.

HOPE MEMORIAL MARKS PROGRESS

UNVEIL BRONZE MEMORIAL TO THOMAS R. WHITE, JR.

Hope Memorial was filled to its capacity yesterday afternoon, when appropriate exercises to mark the forty-second anniversary of the founding of the Sunday school wehe held and a tablet to the late Thomas R. White, Jr., was unveiled by Frank C. Ketterer, Jr., and F. W. Buerkle, of the Adult Bible class. Fourteen children were baptized and fifty pupils were graudated from the different departments. A special offering for the benefit of the building fund, netted a substantial sum. A banner of white silk with gold lettering was presented to the school.

The tablet in memory of Mr. White, designed by the Rev. J. H. M. Dudley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, is of bronze and bears the following inscription: "1858-1916. To the Glory of God and in Loving Memory of Thomas R. White, Jr." This is followed by a Latin quotation: "Who went about doing good." Brief addresses were made by Mr. Dudley, Clarence J. Buzby, and prayer was offered by the Rev. Louis B. Crane, D. D., pastor of Westminster Church.

The evening service of the congregation was of a patriotic nature and was distinguished by the presence of Elizabeth Council, No. 10, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, numbering about seventy-five. The decorations were of red, white and blue, and the National emblem was much in evidence. Special music was a feature. The Rev. William B. Hamilton, the pastor, preached on the subject "The Price of Freedom," and took his text from Acts 22, twenty-eighth verse: "And the chief captain answered, 'With a great sum obtained I this freedom. And Paul said, 'But I was free born.'"

Mr. Hamilton spoke of the flag, what it stands for, and briefly of the treatment it has received at the hands of certain persons of late. He referred to the burning of the flag by the Rev. Bouck White in New York City and of a woman who had intentionally trampled upon the colors. He also outlined the history of the National emblem.

In part, Mr. Hamilton said: "I am intensely American. I believe positively that we should not take orders from any foreign power, directly or indirectly. We have paid the price of our freedom, and anyone who becomes a citizen of this country should obligate himself to stand by the country to which he has pledged allegiance.

"There are two great enemies of freedom, ignorance and slavery. The latter includes evil, the power of drink, bad habits, immorality. You can help to fight against the slavery of intemperance by standing by those of the Excise Board who are fighting this curse. Woman has her part in the organized effort against wrong. She can make an organized effort in the school, in the city, in the State and principally in the home. She has an opportunity for organized effort in the church.

"You don't have to go to war to be honored as a patriot. We should honor those in the past who have paid the price and upon the fruits of whose labors in science, art and literature we are now entering.

TRANSFER RECORDS.

Police Indexing Arrests Made in New Card System.

Detective-Sergeant William Campbell, Desk Sergeant Keiper and Patrolman Orthluf are engaged in the task of transferring records of the police department to the card index system which was recently installed at police headquarters.

The names are being placed upon the cards with complete description of the arrest and disposition dating back to 1906. As arrests average 3,000 each year, the task is far from a light one. In past years the records were kept in volumes in such manner as to make searches for past records of prisoners difficult and lengthy.

THE SPEED OF ANIMALS.

Scientists Have Computed Rates From Horse to Tortoise.

Interesting computations have been made by certain scientists as to the speed of various animals, and from these we gather that a riding horse usually covers forty inches in a second while walking, while at a jog-trot it covers eleven feet in a second.

The elephant, which can pull more than six horses, moves over about four and one-half feet in a second, and running as rapidly as it can is able to travel only about eighteen feet in a second.

The lion is said to run faster than the swiftest hunting horse, which is from eighty to 100 feet a second, according to the country through which it is compelled to travel.

Tests differ greatly as to the speed of a hare. Some claim it can travel at the rate of sixty feet a second, while others claim it cannot travel more than half that distance.

The great variety of deer are all very speedy, but in certain localities they can travel much more rapidly than in others. A roebuck has been known to cover seventy-four feet a second when pursued by dogs.

The giraffe is said to pass over the ground at the rate of about fifty feet a second, while the kangaroo covers ten to fourteen feet a second.

A snail can travel at the rate of about half an inch in a second.—New York Journal.

DEFENDANR REARRANGED.

Front Street Man Fined for Failure to Educate Daughter.

Frank Dowdoivez, of 226 Front street, was re-arraigned before Judge Mahon in police court yesterday on a charge of violating the compulsory education law, the complaint being brought by Andrew P. Hughes, secretary of the Board of Education. Mr. Hughes had the defendant before the court two weeks ago when alleged misstatements made by Dowdoivez resulted in Judge Mahon adjourning the case in order that an investigation might be made.

When first arraigned, the defendant testified that he had not sent his daughter to St. Peter and Paul's School because the girl was in New Brunswick with relatives in that city and was attending school there. In the meantime Mr. Hughes investigated and found, he testified, that the girl was keeping house for two brothers in New Brunswick, and was not attending any school. Judge Mahon reprimanded the defendant for his former misstatements and imposed a fine of $5.

ROSELLE PARK.

A. A. Frazee and family, of Warren street, enjoyed an automobile trip to Philadelphia and return yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoff and family, of Elizabeth, were the guests yesterday of Mrs. Van Stiege, of Chestnut street.

The Sunday school board meeting of the First Methodist Episcopal Church will be held to-night at the home of the superintendent, E. S. Zelley. This will be the last meeting until September.

Cottage prayer meeting of the First Methodist Episcopal Church will be held to-morrow evening at the residence of W. H. Bodine, 311 Westfield avenue, east.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Episcopal Church will hold the last business meeting of the season on Thursday at the church parlors. It will be an all-day meeting and luncheon will be served at noon.

A strawberry festival will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening in the basement of the First Methodist Episcopal Church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The teams captained by Mrs. Guy Mulliken and Mrs. Ada Douglas will be in charge. A luncheon will be served at 6 o'clock.

The baccalaureate address to the graduating class of 1916, of the Roselle Park High School, will be delivered next Sunday evening in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, by the pastor, the Rev. Winfield C. Snodgrass, D. D. The subject of his address will be "Ships and Havens."

Mr. and Mrs. Max Preusse, of Chestnut street, entertained Mrs. Preusse's sister and nephew, of New York, over the week-end.

Mrs. John B. Bunnell is visiting her daughter, Miss Dorothy Bunnell, at Bucknell University, Lewiston, Pa., who will graduate from that institution this week. Mrs. Bunnell will return on Thursday, accompanied by her daughter.

The regular meeting of Roselle Park Council, No. 72, daughters of America, will be held on Thursday evening, in Tuthill's Hall.

Mrs. James L. Muirhead, of Colfax avenue, whose term expired this year as chaplain of the New Jersey Division, Sons of Veteran Auxiliary, was again honored at the annual encampment which was held in Atlantic City last Thursday and Friday, when she was selected State instituting and installing officer.

A large class of children received their first Holy Communion yesterday morning at the Church of the Assumption. The Rev. S. J. LoVecchio, pastor of the church, was the celebrant of the mass.

The sixth annual strawberry festival and dance of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Church of the Assumption will be held to-morrow night in Assumption Hall. The women will be assisted by a number of the men of the parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Brueckner, of 401 Westfield avenue, east, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace Katherine Brueckner, to Harold A. Hurley, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hurley, of 16 Wyoming avenue, Elizabeth.

UNION.

The Christian Endeavor meeting in Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church last night was led by Mrs. Gideon Ludlow, of Cranford. Mrs. Ludlow was one of the originators of the Christian Endeavor Society in Connecticut Farms Church.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached last night by the Rev. Harry Nesbitt to the graduates of the Union Township High School. The members of the class are: Marion Keenan, Marion Kennedy, Gertrude Meyh, Isabella Parks, Russell Parks and Samuel Levine. The faculty of the High School, also present, consists of the Misses Margaret Plume, Alice Hemmenway and Edith Week.

At the commencement exercises of the eighth grade of Connecticut Farms Grammar School on Wednesday evening one of the most interesting features will be the exercise, "The District School." The school will be in charge of Earl Miller, the president of the class, who will demonstrate the scope of the instruction that the class received during the term by asking such questions as exemplify the subject matter. Mrs. Laura G. Burns, departmental teacher of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, who has charge of the music, is drilling the pupils in the musical part of the program.

Preparations for the high school commencement to be held in the church on Thursday evening are being made by the faculty. The commencement program will be somewhat different from the customary exercises. Only two essays will be read and a few musical selections sung, after which an address will be given by a prominent speaker.

A strawberry and ice cream festival will be given in the Town Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church.

The Town Committee will hold its regular meeting this evening in the Town Hall.

LINDEN.

MANY ATTEND OUTING.

Many persons from Rahway, Elizabeth and Linden attended the annual outing of the Branch 123, Workmen's Sick and Death Benefit Association, of Rahway, held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Progress Club grounds in Mitchell avenue. Many games were played, refreshments were served and dancing was participated in. Music was furnished by Lehman's orchestra, from Elizabeth. An address, regarding the foundation and steady growth of the Sick and Death Benefit Association, was made by August Claessens, of New York City. The speaker also told of the value of Socialism, and its importance in bringing about a reform favorable to the working class. During the past ten years where the salaries have been increased one per cent., declared Mr. Claessens, the price of living has increased ten per cent.

REFORMED CHURCH NOTES.

The members of the Bible school of the Reformed Church will hold a social in the lecture room of the church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip will meet to-morrow evening in the lecture room.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet on Thursday afternoon at the parsonage.

The annual excursion of the Reformed and Grace Episcopal churches will be held on Wednesday, July 26, to Asbury Park.

LINDEN PARAGRAPHS.

John P. Winans, Jr., has returned to Washington, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Winans, of Wood avenue.

The Township Committee will meet to-night in the town hall.

Children's Day was appropriately observed last night at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

A card party will be given by the Ladies' Guild of Grace Episcopal Church in the parish room to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are welcome.

Little Bobby Beatem went with his mother to buy a pair of knickerbockers. When he had looked at all the varieties in the store he was still dissatisfied.

"I want that pair in the window," he protested.

"These are just exactly like them," said the clerk, "but if you want that particular pair I'll get them for you."

And he produced them, much to Bobby's satisfaction. They bore a sign which read, "These knickerbockers can not be beat."—Judge.

"I TOLD YOU SO," SAYS THE QUAKER MAN

So Great Was the Demand for Quaker Herb Extract That All Could Not Be Supplied at Gorsuch's Last Saturday--Call During the Week if You Can and Be Assured of Attention.

Things happened just as the Quaker man predicted. Last Saturday, especially during the evening hours, the demand for Quaker Extract was so great that many people could not await their turn to be supplied. This is regrettable, but it was unavoidable. Much of this crush and inconvenience could be avoided if people would call during the week. The Quaker man can be seen every morning, afternoon and evening at Gorsuch's drug store, No. 129 Broad street, so try to arrange your visit accordingly. The question arises, "What is causing or has caused this tremendous demand for Quaker Herb Extract?" If you have been reading this paper regularly of late you will know the answer to this question. It may be answered in one word—"RESULTS." Results in cases of rheumatism, catarrh, stomach, liver and kidney complaints; results in cases of tapeworms, pinworms and stomach worms; results to men, women and children in all parts of the city; results which cannot be doubted; results which have been proved many times, even by signed and sworn testimonials. The crushing demand for Quaker Herb Extract, therefore, is a consequence to these results. One benefited and grateful person has recommended it to others, and thus the demand comes from every section of the city. Quaker Herb Extract is safe, pure, yet active and curative, it cannot harm even a most delicate infant. The startling results reported last Saturday alone would create amazement everywhere. Tapeworms are still being brought in every day—worms from children also. You can see quite a collection at Gorsuch's if you wish. Many local people have allowed their names and history of their cures published in this paper, and there are also many more who object to this publicity, but cheerfully allow their names to be given at the store.

If, therefore, you suffer from rheumatism, catarrh or stomach troubles call on the Quaker man at Gorsuch's drug store, No. 129 Broad street, at once and let him tell you all about this really wonderful Quaker Herb Extract. If you cannot call, order by mail. The price is three bottles for $2.50, or $1 per bottle. 'Phone orders also filled promptly. Another word or two. Last week a small child who had been ailing for over fourteen months was given Quaker Extract and Worm Tablets, and as a result it expelled one stomach worm, hundreds of small worms, and also a tapeworm. Seems unbelievable, does it not? Yet the facts are at hand. Did Quaker Herb Extract save this child's life? The answer is left to you.—Advertisement.

DECAPITATE "WOMAN."

Boys Jar Head From Wax Figure in Showcase.

Joseph Witter, of 1065 Elizabeth avenue, complained to Patrolman Menig yesterday that small boys had decapitated the wax figure of a woman which was kept in a movable show case in front of Witter's store.

The merchant said that two boys had shaken the case with such violence that the "woman's" head had fallen off.

FORD CAR RAMS TROLLEY.

(Special to the Journal.)

Rahway, June 19.—While driving a Ford automobile last night, John Huff, of Ludlow street, who was coming out of Church street into Grand, hit a trolley car, damaging his auto badly. The trolley car was none the worse for the accident. Mr. Huff admitted that he was to blame. He is learning to drive an auto and had an instructor in the car with him at the time of the accident. Aside from a general shaking up, neither of the occupants of the auto was hurt.

In Lodge Circles.

Hawthorne Lodge, No. 156, Order Sons of St. George, met Friday night at their lodge room, East Jersey and Fifth streets. There was a large attendance of members. The secretary and treasurer read their reports for the last term, which showed a record gain in membership and finance. The officers for the ensuing term were installed by the district deputy of Union county, James E. Thomas, as follows: Worthy president, Frank Phillips; worthy vice-president, George A. Thomas; worthy secretary, James A. Le Huray; worthy treasurer, James Edward Thomas; worthy messenger, William Paul; worthy assistant secretary, Henry Benton; worthy assistant messenger, Charles Mason; worthy chaplain, Arthur T. Neale; worthy inside sentinel, Gordon Ogier; worthy outside sentinel, Nathan Miller; trustee, William Carne. The picnic committee reported progress in the plans for the event to be held July 4, which promises to be the most successful ever held under the auspices of the lodge. There will be the usual program of sports and dancing.

FINED FOR HAVING GUN.

(Special to the Journal.)

Springfield, June 19.—Charged with violating the game laws by having a gun in his possession, Ferdinand Sideli, of this township, was arrested by Game Warden Hoblitzel this morning and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Carter. He was fined $20 and costs.

The Conquerer.

Ajax, the professional strong man, tugged and toiled, strove with all the power of his mighty body.

At last the circus giant was face to face with a task that seemed too much even for his herculean strength.

Perspiring at the pores, he gritted his teeth and began anew.

The muscles in his neck stood out like whipcords as he lent every atom of his superhuman strength to the task.

He stopped perspiring and started to sweat.

He had lifted a horse in each hand, he had picked up a grand piano with his ear, he had bitten a telephone in half with his teeth. Should it be said at last he had failed?

"Never!" hissed Ajax, and with the fury of despair he fell again at the hardest task of his career, contorting himself into a dozen frenzied shapes.

Victory!

At last Ajax managed to insert the collar button in the back buttonhole of his newly-starched shirt!—Exchange.

EAGLES TO ENTERTAIN.

Will Celebrate Ladies' Night—To Hear Lecture.

A large audience is expected to attend ladies' night to be given under the auspices of Elizabeth Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at their home on Elizabeth avenue, to-morrow evening. The feature of the entertainment will be an illustrated lecture on the "Story of the Telephone," by F. A. Hickey, commercial representative of the New York Telephone Company, followed by motion pictures of "The Telephone Girl." The affair is to be held in the open garden in the rear of the club, and in case of inclement weather arrangements have been made to hold it in an enclosed building. It was necessary to postpone the entertainment previously scheduled on account of rain.

Other features of entertainment will be offered during the evening, and the musical program will be taken care of by the Eagles' Band.

PERSISTENT WOOER.

Barber Again Arrested After Seeking Interview With Girl He Shot.

(Special to the Journal.)

Bayonne, June 19.—Louis Felite, 24 years old, formerly a barber, of 77 Ocean avenue, Jersey City, who was committed eleven months ago to the Rahway Reformatory, was arrested here this morning by Lieutenants Rigney and Noonan, of the Bayonne police, on a technical charge of disorderly conduct.

Felite was arrested on May 7, 1915, after an attempt to kill Miss Margaret Cassidy, of 751 Boulevard, who had refused to marry him. According to the story of his previous arrest, Felite went to Miss Cassidy's home disguised as a health officer and shot the girl and her sister, Mrs. Mary McGee. Both were badly wounded but recovered. Felite entered the house accompanied by a Miss Grace Hawthorne, but she was not committed.

After Felite had been released last week he made several attempts to see Miss Cassidy, but on each occasion she eluded him. This morning he telephoned to the house three times, and after the third call Miss Cassidy's brother, Joseph, learned from the operator that Felite was calling from a pay station at the West Eighth street Central Railroad station.

He called up police headquarters and the two above-mentioned officers were detailed to the station. They found that Felite had purchased a ticket to Westfield, but that he had gotten off the train when it was halted at the drawbridge. The policemen placed Felite under arrest.

Most Of All.

"I just love to hear you speak French," said the young girl to her male companion.

"Do you?" said the youth with a pleased grin. "Why?"

"Because it is so different from other people's French," said the sweet young thing.

The youth looked more pleased than ever—for a moment. Then the girl went on slowly:

"Yes, so different from most people's French—specially French people's!"—Seattle Times.

DEDICATION EXERCISES.

Elaborate Program is Planned for Lincoln School.

Abraham Lincoln School, No. 14, Grove and Murray streets, will be formally dedicated Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when an elaborate program will be given in which Mayor Mravlag, the members of the Board of Education, the school children and the Liederkranz will take part. The public is invited by the Board of Education to attend the exercises, which will be held in the school auditorium.

Commissioner Martin P. O'Connor, chairman of the committee on sites and new buildings of the school board, will preside and the program will be as follows:

Prayer by the Rev. William Force Whitaker, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; singing, "America," by the Liederkranz; address by Mayor Mravlag; music, selected, by a triple quartet of the Liederkranz, led by Otto Wimmer; brief addresses by School Commissioners Edgar B. Grier, Alexander Kaufman and John P. Clarke; presentation of American flag by R. Y. Von Minden, past State councilor, Jr. O. U. A. M.; acceptance of flag by Walter B. Timms, president of the Board of Education; singing, "Star Spangled Banner," by all present; presentation of Bible by Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, past State councilor of Elizabeth Council, No. 1, D. of L.; acceptance of Bible by William C. Armstrong, principal of the school; singing, "Battle Hymn of the Republic, by the school children; inspection of the building by the public.

BOY STILL UNKNOWN.

No Clue to Identity of Lad Injured by Train in Rahway.

(Special to the Journal.)

Rahway, June 19.—Efforts of the police and of officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have so far been unsuccessful in establishing the identity of the 13-year-old boy found at 12.33 A. M. Saturday on the railroad embankment at Poplar street with a fractured skull and a broken leg. The boy, who was taken to the Elizabeth General Hospital, is still unconscious, although hopes for his recovery are entertained by the physicians at that institution.

A detailed description of his clothing given out by the police follows: White outing waist, dark tie, black belt, knee pants and coat of mixed gray, black stockings, lace shoes, black and plaid cap.

De Palma's First Experience.

This story is going the rounds about De Palma:

Ralph's first experience with a motor car is well worth recording. It seems the owner of the machine had a constitutional aversion to entrusting his speed 'bus, a one-lunger of the most primitive type, to the guidance of anyone save himself. De Palma pleased so hard, however, that he finally obtained the concession of being allowed to jack up the rear wheels of the car and run it standing still.

To think of the future premier of the American speed industry chugging away at the wheel of his one-lunged flier, shifting gears and manipulating the accelerator without budging an inch, is rivalled only by the picture of John D. borrowing car fare.—Exchange.

MEXICANS RUSH TO JOIN COLORS

Many Volunteers for Carranza Are Reported.

EL PASO PREPARES FOR POSSIBLE ATTACK.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

El Paso, Tex., June 19.—Mexican volunteers were reported to-day to have responded to Carranza colors as a reprisal for President Wilson's ordering of American militia to the border.

General Treviño of Chihuahua is reported to have issued the call.

A number of El Paso Mexicans went to Juarez and enlisted in the Carranza army. Mexican women, many of them having come to El Paso to stay, hurried home to-day and remained there.

Carranza agents in El Paso, it was reported, had ordered that the Mexican Consulate here be closed at once.

Mexicans here interpret the change as indicating that the Allies will be far more lenient in their treatment of mails to and from Germany than heretofore, but that despite this will cling to right to search and seize.

Americans here interpret the change as indicating that the Allies will be far more lenient in their treatment of mails to and from Germany than heretofore, but that despite this will cling to right to search and seize.

Americans gathered for an anti-American outburst in Juarez yesterday afternoon and indulged in speeches. Juarez were not "provoked" in theory, however, against whom the mob could vent their feelings.

El Paso Scents War.

The border scented war to-day. Preparations were taken to repel an attack should Paso in the event war is declared by Mexico and the United States.

A Carranza force to cut off the retreat of part of the American expedition, it was reported.

Unconfirmed rumors were current that Carranza had a message to Washington notifying President Wilson that another raid would be looked on as a declaration of war, and that the withdrawal of troops from Mexico must begin within 48 hours from Monday or a week.

Every available motor truck in the city was engaged to-day in moving Columbus, N. M., looting and murdering Americans.

Stationed in a fortress a little south of Juarez, Carranza troops, equipped with machine guns and bolts, ran down American arrivals from Mexico stated Juarez had opened fire without the warning they are declared that the Juarez garrison has not enough food supplies to maintain its army over thirty days.

Several hundred men are entrenched at strategic points. No frontal attacks by Carranza forces were anticipated, but it was feared American patrols might clash with disorderly and unorganized bands.

A comparatively few El Paso husbands and fathers planned to send their women and children to northern cities. Information was received that 10,000 Mexican troops were hidden in the hills within twenty miles of Juarez, and its garrison of 4,000 men led to the fear that El Paso may be attacked.

Ready to Defend City.

"I am prepared for any emergency," said General George Bell, Jr., commanding the 5,000 American troops at Fort Bliss. "In case of an attack on El Paso our military will be ready to meet the invading forces and will give a good account of itself."

Battery A, of the New Mexico State militia, and a battalion of the Twentieth U. S. Infantry arrived in El Paso last night to reinforce the troops stationed at Fort Bliss.

Local authorities received information that Carranza cavalry had left Villa Ahumada for El Valle, which is between the American bases at Colonia Dublan and Namiquipa. General Pershing was reported to have only about a third of his forces below Colonia Dublan, and the Carranza move was interpreted to be in preparation to cut off their retreat. The Namiquipa base has been strengthened by planting field artillery on high bluffs commanding miles of the surrounding country.

BRITISH MORE PROMPT.

Protest About Mail Delay Brings Fruit, is Berlin Report.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Berlin, via London, June 19.—The note of President Wilson to Great Britain, protesting against the British seizures of American mails has begotten fruit. Saturday, Sunday and to-day more mail from America reached Germany than had arrived since February. Most of the letters are from four to six weeks old and all bear the big black letters placed on them in England, "Opened by the censor."

Americans here interpret the change as indicating that the Allies will be far more lenient in their treatment of mails to and from Germany than heretofore, but that despite this will cling to right to search and seize.

SINGER VETERAN DIES.

James Graham Succumbs to Illness at General Hospital.

One of the oldest residents, James Graham, of 21 South Second street, died on Saturday at the General Hospital after a week's illness. Born in Scotland nearly seventy five years ago Mr. Graham came to America when a young man. When the Singer Manufacturing Company established its plant in this city Mr. Graham came from New York City with the firm. He continued in its employ until it retired several years ago.

Mr. Graham was a member of the Grey-stone Presbyterian Church. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Isabel Graham and Mrs. Margaret Hoffman, and two sons, James and Archibald Graham. He also leaves a sister, Miss Mary Graham.

AMERICAN RED CROSS PREPARES FOR WORK

Nurses Make Ready for Duty While Militiamen Mobilize—Better Prepared for Any Emergency Than Ever Before as Result of Reorganization Started Last December.

Washington, June 19.—While red blooded American militiamen mobilized to-day with enthusiasm at the prospect of a fight or a military frolic another movement was started quietly and grimly. It was the first steps of the American Red Cross to be ready for the work that it does behind the battle lines.

The Red Cross just now is better prepared than at any previous time in its history to meet any emergency. This preparedness is a result of the great reorganization started last December at the behest of ex-President Taft, its chairman. Through this reorganization the work of the Red Cross is divided into two departments, one for military and the other civil relief.

The department work is that part of preparedness and completion of plans for personnel at home stations. The plan that is now ready for 425 persons, including twenty physicians, fifty nurses and about 100 orderlies. Material for such base hospital units at the outset against. Scores of men and women for the hospitals will be made from local relief corps recently established at ports and hospitals throughout the country. Wounded are first taken to dressing stations.

Those more seriously wounded are taken to temporary hospital stations. Those they are transported to the evacuation hospitals. From there they are taken over by the Red Cross field columns and transported to the Red Cross base hospitals.

Each field hospital has 500 beds. The regular army, incidentally, has enough supplies to care for 250,000 men, but it has less than the needed quota of physicians.

ORGANIZING COUNCIL.

Deputy Warden Johnston Seeks to Enlist Members in Order.

A local council of the Order of Independent Americans is being formed in this city through the activity of James Johnston, of 501 Fulton street, deputy warden of the Union county jail. A meeting will be held at Mr. Johnston's home Thursday evening, when the application for a charter will be prepared and sent to the State council of Pennsylvania. About fifteen signatures have been secured already and a number of others are expected.

The Independent Americans are described as "an American patriotic, fraternal and fraternal order." They secure sick benefits of $5 and death benefits of $500 for their members, and hold meetings for sociability and good fellowship. The dues are eighteen cents a week. The order is particularly strong in Pennsylvania, but has recently been spreading into other States, and New Jersey now has councils in Trenton and Camden. Mr. Johnston was formerly a member of the order in Pennsylvania, and State Councilor Robert D. Dickson, of Pittsburgh, wrote him and asked him to undertake the organization of a council in this city.

WARNS AGAINST TYPHOID.

Health Officer Offers Advice to Those Going on Vacations.

Good advice on how to take care of the health and guard against illness during summer vacation was offered to Elizabethans this morning by Health Officer Louis J. Richards. He cautions residents contemplating vacation trips not to wait for typhoid fever, but recommends that all who plan to go away immunize themselves against the dread disease by treatment with typhoid vaccine.

The vaccine is supplied to any physician in the city at a nominal cost by the health department, and one treatment usually acts as a preventive for three years. About three weeks is required, declared Mr. Richards, for the vaccine to gain strength enough in the body properly to fight off any attack of the fever. He advises persons who intend to go on vacations in July to take the treatment at this time.

According to the health officer, a large proportion of typhoid cases are imported from outside the city. Since January 1 only ten such cases have been reported here, he declared, and five of those were in one family. The last four contracted it because the first was treated at home instead of being sent to a hospital.

Mr. Richards also called attention to a circular sent out by the United States Public Health Service on "Sanitation in Summer Camps." This urges careful selections of foodstuffs and of high ground where the breezes blow and drainage is good, for the location of the tent. The water supply, it says, should be pure, and a warning is given to guard against insects of all varieties. Many of these insects, it is stated, not only torment, but are disease carriers as well.

HEED THE ORDER FOR GUARD DUTY

Second Regiment would be the first to be called out.

Collins Offers Services.

General Dennis F. Collins to-day reiterated the proffer of his services to the Government in the event of hostilities with Mexico, which he made about two years ago to President Wilson, when the United States navy occupied Vera Cruz, following difficulties with the Huerta administration. He said the offer is still on file in Washington, and that he stands ready to obey a summons at any time that he is called upon.

General Collins indicated his approval of the decision of President Wilson in calling out the National Guard to reinforce the troops now in Mexico. He expressed the opinion that a strong show of force would have a deterrent effect on the belligerency of Carranza and his lieutenants.

Although the Dick law legislated him out of active service General Collins still retains his commission as major-general, commanding the National Guard of New Jersey. That law requires the State militia to be recruited up to a division, containing three brigades, before the position of major-general can be created. As the present footing of the National Guard is slightly less than two brigades, General Collins could not resume his former command, but would have to be assigned to a volunteer command. He expressed his willingness to serve as a brigade commander if the Government decides to accept his services.

TRACK LABORER KILLED.

Run Down by Express Train in View of Fellow Workmen.

Run down by an express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad near the Bayway bridge shortly after noon to-day, Bastiano Catalzaro, of 555 Third avenue, a track laborer, was instantly killed in sight of a number of fellow employes. His body was thrown between the tracks and examination showed that he had been crushed internally and his arms and legs mangled.

Catalzaro was employed by the Keystone Construction Company, which has the contract for the elevation of the Pennsylvania tracks between this city and Rahway. With other track laborers he was working about 900 feet west of the Bayway bridge. They quit work for the lunch period at noon and started to walk toward the bridge.

As they reached the point of fatality, Catalzaro started across the tracks, apparently to climb down the embankment, and stepped on the westbound track, directly in the path of the express train. The train didn't stop, so the witnesses, one of whom was James Tonelli, of this city, were unable to learn its identity.

County Physician Westcott gave permission for the removal of the body to the man's home in this city. The victim was a widower, 45 years old. He is survived by a son, aged 16 years.

SERMON TO GRADUATES.

Baccalaureate Address in Westfield Given by the Rev. Mr. Snow.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—The Rev. Charles T. Snow, pastor of the First Baptist Church, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the senior class of the Westfield High School in the First M. E. Church. He told of the necessity for each member of the class to know the living God and said that divine co-operation was the only way in life.

In charging the graduates Dr. Snow told the class that these days and months were sacred to them and that they did well in beginning their commencement exercises in the house of God. "From now on," he said, "there should be a meaning in life which you may not have had before; you have attained much, but you need divine co-operation in the future life."

The other ministers of the town assisted with the service. Dr. W. I. Sloane gave the opening prayer and the Rev. J. A. Smith led the responsive Scripture reading. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Gillette.

The senior class, officers and faculty of the school and members of the Board of Education occupied pews in front of the church.

NO DINING CARS.

Chicago, June 19.—"No dining cars for the militia en route to the border."

This was the order of the Central department of the army to-day. The National guardsmen must either carry their food with them on the trains or arrange to detrain and eat at restaurants en route.

That's Different.

U. S. MOVE STIRS LATIN AMERICA

SYMPATHIES WITH MEXICO IN PRESENT TROUBLE.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, June 19.—News of the mobilization of the American militia stirred intense interest and developed a wide difference of opinion in South America to-day.

The great mass of the people in South America are bitterly hostile toward the sudden military activity in the United States and look upon the action of President Wilson with distrust. They fear that the United States, despite protestations to the contrary, is planning territorial expansion. They believe that if the United States does not actually propose to extend its boundaries southward, it certainly does propose to attempt a paternal protectorate in South America merely as a disguise for the next step toward aggression.

The general opinion of the public is expressed as follows:

"Americans in Mexico are now harvesting the well deserved result of their long meddling and interference in Mexican affairs. They are reaping the harvest of blood which is the inevitable fruit of their political and financial intrigues. Now these plotters, caught in the net of their own construction, are calling on the Government at Washington to save them even at the cost of a long and terrible war."

That public sentiment is solidly with the Mexicans cannot be doubted.

In official and aristocratic circles there is evidence of a moderately trustful attitude toward President Wilson and a mild semi-belief in the disinterestedness of the United States. The attitude of the aristocracy is summed up in the following comment by a Government official:

"We do not distrust President Wilson, but our people would be pleased with fresh guarantees in stronger terms that there will be no territorial acquisition in the event of actual war between the United States and Mexico."

Intervention and war are considered the same thing and the situation is arousing open anxiety. The failure of the A. B. C. conference at Niagara Falls is recalled with but slightly concealed doubt of whole-hearted co-operation of the United States with the Governments of South America.

South American Governments undoubtedly will expect a new declaration of purposes from President Wilson in the event of hostilities.

STRIKE UNSETTLED.

Machinists Report No Change in Fight for Eight-hour Day.

The strike of the machinists in this district for the eight-hour day is at a standstill and there seems to be no chance of an immediate settlement. A meeting of the strikers held in Foresters' Hall, Fifth and East Jersey streets, this morning gave rise to no new developments.

A rumor that a number of the strikers from the plant of Woodward & Company, in Newark avenue, were to return to work this morning prompted a crowd of the strikers to gather at that plant at an early hour, intent upon protesting if any of the men attempted to go back to work in the shop. This report apparently was unfounded, however, for there were no attempts made by any of the strikers to go back.

All the strikers, it is said, are loyal to the cause and it is not anticipated that any will attempt to quit the ranks until some satisfactory settlement is made.

Strikers in this district are anxiously awaiting the outcome of a conference to be held between the machinists and employers of the Newark district in that city to-morrow morning. It is said that if some settlement is not forthcoming from that meeting it is probable that the strike will assume even wider proportions than at present.

ROSE SHOW IN LIBRARY.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—Two hundred varieties of roses were exhibited by 123 amateur growers and three professionals at the Westfield Free Public Library on Saturday afternoon and evening. The flowers were displayed in vases on the tables in the library and each was marked with the name of the exhibitor.

The exhibit was the result of the suggestion of Miss Bessie Smith, the librarian, and to her belongs much credit for its success. The judges were Mrs. J. B. Harrison, Mrs. C. R. Pitcher, Mrs. H. W. Evans and Mrs. H. H. Griswold.

The prizes were awarded as follows: For most artistic arrangement of roses, Mrs. John Spalckhaver, a garden book; Mrs. J. C. Morrow and Mrs. E. J. Johnson received honorable mention; best single rose, Mrs. John Platt, prize, a garden book; Mrs. G. E. Hayes and Mrs. J. C. Morrow received honorable mention; best group of roses, Mrs. H. T. Nitchie, prize, a garden book; Mrs. G. R. Allen and Mrs. C. S. Hinshman received honorable mention. In the professional class, Harder Brothers received first prize and Charles Doerer honorable mention.

cussed and plans laid for just such an emergency.

New Warning Given.

The situation was further complicated to-day when Mexican Ambassador Designate Arredondo presented to Secretary Lansing a request that all American naval commanders in Mexican waters be instructed not to attempt to disembark during this part of the excitement, even if they are unarmed, in order to prevent possible complications.

Meanwhile some officials said the request was unusual and insisted that it undoubtedly was made in good faith by Carranza, and that it is evident he is going to extreme measures to prevent any occurrence that might occasion an outbreak.

Arredondo wired to Carranza Secretary Baker's orders of yesterday calling out the militia. He explained he wanted his First Chief to be sure to get that portion of the explanation which called particular attention to the fact that the militia was for border duty and that the action meant no immediate change in this Government's attitude.

The request regarding naval commanders, it was pointed out, was a result of a clash recently between marines and Mexican soldiers at Mazatlan, the report of which was sent to Arredondo.

Clash at Mazatlan.

This report read:

"Yesterday (June 16) morning some marines in a launch attempted to disembark at the wharf and were requested not to land until the Mexican Government could be consulted with. They then returned to the ship, but a few hours later returned with arms and again attempted to land. While parleying with Mexican officers at the wharf a drunken Japanese nearby, in the excitement of the occasion, fired on two American officers who had landed. The men in the launches, thinking they had been fired on by the Mexicans, opened fire. The Mexican soldiers then arrested the two officers and returned the Americans' fire. Although few shots were fired, two Mexican soldiers and one civilian were wounded.

Some administration officials to-day frankly admitted a fear that the dispatch of 100,000 more men to the border may cause some of the more reckless of Carranza's commanders to commit an act that can have only one result.

No officials seemed certain the mailed fist will have the desired effect. They did believe though that the United States would be thoroughly prepared by the latest step for anything that develops below the boundary.

Calling the militia, however, does not now mean intervention. The policy is still to keep General Pershing's column where it is and to strengthen the border patrol so much as to end the recent outbursts of banditry.

Carranza Believed Weakening.

Behind the militia call last night lies a realization, officially admitted, that the Carranza government grows gradually weaker with a consequent possibility of trouble between that regime and the United States. The big underlying thing is the economic situation—extremely bad, according to official reports. This reacts for trouble by creating a chaotic condition and by stimulating banditry among men whose only sustenance seems to lie in loot.

What State troops will be the first to move southward had not been decided early this afternoon. Secretary Baker said such movements will be announced as soon as determined upon. This question is being left solely to General Funston and General Mills, of the militia division. The former will ask for what troops he needs and specify where they are to be sent. General Mills, with the militia figures, including previous reports on their efficiency as shown in summer maneuvres, their strength and equipment, will decide which troops will be sent first.

It was said at the militia division to-day that of course some of the militiamen may never see the border. They will be garrisoned at points where regulars are stationed. But wherever they are they will be to all intents and purposes regulars—ready for instant service.

A number of responses from Governors were before Secretary Baker to-day. They said invariably that mobilization is in progress, as directed, or would start to-day. The first replies came from Oregon, Georgia, Maine, Indiana, Montana, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, North Dakota, Ohio, Virginia, Washington, Mississippi, Vermont, Tennessee, Missouri, Michigan and New York.

Preparedness Test.

Administration men said the militia call will prove a big test of how strongly the American people want preparedness. Their response to the militia call will be closely watched, but from reports already in the department the National Guards of numerous States are really anxious and willing to go.

All outward signs, except Carranza's reported withdrawal ultimatum, point to an effort by Carranza and his authorities to keep their men in check. Behind it, however, is a growing disposition among some Carranza officials to be more strenuous in demands upon the United States—perhaps for home consumption, but certainly in a way that displeases this Government.

The demands of General Trevino that General Pershing's men shall not move, except out, under pain of a Mexican attack, is still regarded here as a piece of Mexican bombast which however will go unheeded.

Army men openly express the fear that neither Carranza nor his commanders will be able to prevent an attack upon Pershing's column and the consequent precipitation of intervention. Should this occur they said war without doubt would follow.

GARWOOD.

The Garwood Borough Council will meet to-morrow night.

The Garwood Y. M. C. baseball team was defeated in Elizabeth by the South Elizabeth F. C. yesterday by a score of 6 to 4.

Commencement exercises of the eighth grade of the Garwood schools will be held in the auditorium of the Franklin School next Friday evening.

Grace and Victory Council, Daughters of Liberty, will meet next Thursday evening in the Jefferson School.

Garwood Camp, Woodmen of the World, will meet next Friday evening in Jefferson School.

OFFICERS CHEER MOBILIZE ORDER

National Call at Sea Girt Comes at Midnight.

BUGLE ROUTS MEN FROM THEIR TENTS.

The megaphoned words, "General Hine wanted on the telephone!" shouted over the tent tops at the officers' camp of instruction at Sea Girt at 12.15 o'clock this morning, presaged the first official announcement of the mobilization order to the officers of the National Guard of New Jersey.

Taps sounded at 11 o'clock. General Hine turned in and the lanterns in the tents went out. Only a few officers stayed up, sitting in the club house. To every appearance the camp was asleep.

When the voice to General Hine shouted through the megaphone shortly after midnight, a tremor seemed to pass over the darkened camp. General Hine, his blouse thrown over his pajamas, hurried from his tent to the clubhouse. A minute later he left the building and returned to his tent. Then sounded on the night silence the lilting notes of officers' call, and every tent belched forth men, some in pajamas, some in dressing gowns, but a considerable number in full uniform.

When all the officers in the camp—some 200 of them—had grouped themselves around the front of his tent, General Hine stepped forth.

"Gentlemen, we have received the order to mobilize," he said. "My instructions from the Governor are to break this camp at once. Officers will return to their home stations as early as it is possible for them to do so. Those who have conveyances may leave now; others should take the earliest trains available. The troops designated are the First Brigade of Infantry, the First Squadron, Batteries A and B, the Signal Company and the field hospital and ambulance troops."

A tense silence fell over the assembled officers. Then a voice:

"No word, general, concerning the Second and Third Regiments?"

General Hine's negative answer drew forth a distinctly audible sigh of disappointment fro mthe officers of the South Jersey regiments. Silence fell again. The sputtering of a wick in one of the new type camp lanterns could be heard. A night-flying insect struck the fly of the general's tent with a noise like a drum tap. A cough sounded like a pistol shot.

Then somebody cheered. The cheer came from one of the North Jersey officers and his fellows took it up and shrieked wildly. They cheered the order, they cheered themselves, they cheered General Hine, they yelled for the State of New Jersey and they slapped one another on the back and danced fantastic steps. The South Jerseymen drew off to one side, bitter in their disappointment.

WARSHIPS OFF MEXICO.

Nine U. S. Fighting Craft There and Others En Route.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—Nine warships already are in Mexican waters prepared for any eventuality. Fifteen more are either speeding there or will leave within twenty-four hours.

The battleships Nebraska at Vera Cruz, the gunboat Wheeling at Puerto Mexico, the gunboat Machias at Tampico and the gunboat Marietta at Tampico. En route to the east coast is the tender Dixie from Philadelphia to Tampico, the cruiser Salem from Guantanamo to Tampico, three destroyers from Key West to Vera Cruz, and the transport Hancock from Santo Domingo to Vera Cruz.

On the west coast are the gunboat Annapolis at Mazatlan, the gunboat Yorktown at Topolobampo, the supply ship Glacier at Topolobampo, the cruiser Cleveland at Guaymas and the cruiser Albany at Manzanillo. Admiral Winslow, commander of the Pacific fleet, is aboard his flagship the cruiser San Diego at San Diego, where he is organizing a squadron to leave at once for the west coast. He probably will select the cruisers San Diego, Chattanooga, Denver, Milwaukee and four destroyers.

The transport Buffalo is en route from San Diego to Mazatlan.

HITCHCOCK SEES HUGHES.

Says He Does Not Aspire to National Committee Chairmanship.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

New York, June 19.—Frank H. Hitchcock, the "man who put over Charles Evans Hughes" at Chicago, was one of the dozens of politicians who called on the Republican Presidential candidate to-day. It was his first visit since the nomination. Hitchcock said he had no ambitions to direct the Hughes campaign.

"I do not aspire to the chairmanship of the National Committee and I know nothing about who is in line for the place," he declared.

Hitchcock was in communicative mood. He would not talk about the Progressives or about general political plans.

George W. Wickersham called to-day. He has been one of the candidate's most persistent visitors. Frank Tamer, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was another caller. W. R. Wilcox, former chairman of the Public Service Commission and a strong prospect for the National chairmanship, saw Hughes for some time. Franklin Murphy, former Governor of New Jersey, also paid his respects to Mr. Hughes.

TRY SPY FOR FORGERY.

London, June 19.—Ignatius T. T. Lincoln, former member of Parliament and self-confessed spy, was held for trial on a charge of forgery to-day after his examination in Bow Street Court. Lincoln was recently extradited from New York.

JERSEY MILITIA READY

guardsmen, sent word from Harrisburg to-day that the militia probably would not be mobilized before Thursday. He stated, however, that by Saturday his entire command would be ready to move on an hour's notice.

The National Guard of Pennsylvania totals 11,028 officers and men, comprising four brigades of infantry, a regiment of cavalry, one of field artillery, a battalion of signal troops, a wireless company, two field hospital companies and two ambulance companies. There is also a battalion of naval militia.

It is the belief of officers here that the first, second and fourth brigades of infantry would be ordered to the Mount Gretna mobilization camp first.

Plans for mobilization were completed months ago when the Mexican situation became acute. Since then the quartermaster's department of the Keystone State militia laid in complete equipment for every unit of the service.

Mobilization in Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., June 19.—Delaware's eight companies of militia, representing two provisional battalions numbering 457 men, will be mobilized in the armories in Milford, Dover, Newark, New Castle and Wilmington at 8 o'clock to-night. The commissioned officers were all summoned here to-day to confer with the officials here relative to moving to the State rifle range below New Castle, where they will go into camp tomorrow or Wednesday.

Activity in Maryland.

Baltimore, June 19.—National Guard officers are meeting at Brigade headquarters this morning preparing the order that will send into camp practically all of the Maryland militia. The troops will go into camp immediately at the site near Laurel. Three regiments of infantry, one troop of cavalry, one machine gun company and one field hospital are included. The movement to Laurel will begin to-day.

Virginians Prepare Camp.

Richmond, Va., June 19.—Preliminary to duty on the Mexican border preparations are being made to-day to establish a concentration camp at the Virginia State Fair Grounds here to mobilize the First and Second Volunteer regiments, four batteries of field artillery, the signal and field hospital corps. Meanwhile companies composing these military units will be recruited to their full strength.

The mobilization order does not affect the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion, which is an independent military unit.

Ohio Prepares Camp.

Columbus, Ohio, June 19.—Scores of workmen to-day were making ready the 1,000-acre mobilization camp here to receive over 6,500 Ohio National guardsmen ordered out for Mexican service. The Ohio guardsmen have taken the oath of allegiance to the Federal Government since 1893 and can be used in Mexico at any time.

In sixty-two Ohio towns and cities officers and privates were saying their good-byes and closing up their civil affairs to-day.

Adjutant-General Benson Hough to-day ordered practically every unit of the Ohio organization to recruit to war strength. When this is finished the Ohio regiments ordered out will total over 12,500 men.

Enlisted men and officers will sleep in their respective armories starting to-night. Within five days most of the guard is expected to be encamped here.

TO DISCUSS BUDGET.

Increased Appropriations Will Cause Tax Rate Jump.

City Council will hold a special meeting to-morrow night, chiefly for the purpose of receiving a supplementary budget of the money to be raised by taxation in the approaching fiscal year for carrying on the municipal government. This tentative budget has been prepared by Comptroller Collins, and will be transmitted to council by Mayor Mravlag.

Comptroller Collins said to-day that he could give no estimate of the probable tax rate for next year, because he had figured the budget on the expenditures of the current year, without allowing for increased appropriations requested by the various departments. It is the general impression that despite the paring down of demands that the tax rate will take a jump of about ten points.

Following the usual procedure, the supplementary budget will be referred to the finance committee of the City Council, which, together with the mayor and comptroller, will consider the appropriations for the different departments before making a report.

ENDEAVOR CLASS CLOSES SEASON

SEVENTEEN GRANTED EXPERT CERTIFICATES.

Seventeen Christian Endeavorers belonging to societies connected with the Elizabeth Union of Christian Endeavor and Epworth League were graduated on Saturday evening from the class in Expert Endeavor which has been conducted under the auspices of the union. The exercises were held in the chapel of the Third Presbyterian Church, attended by the graduates and several friends.

Every feature of the closing was enjoyable. Following prayer and the singing of a prayer hymn, there were several short talks or papers by members of the class. The secretary, Ralph M. Barton, reviewed the class sessions, telling of outstanding incidents. The teacher spoke in appreciation of the faithfulness and the spirit of the members. A symposium on "Why It Pays" was given in two-minute talks by Miss Edna Beckwith, Miss Edna Winans and Arthur E. Warner. There was a very pleasing solo by Miss Vivian Balne, who was accompanied by Miss Mildred Apgar. Miss Balne was warmly applauded and responded with another selection.

"Bits of Christian Endeavor History" were given by Miss Pauline Mader, who spoke of the first society at Portland, Me.; David Johnson, who spoke of the societies in America, and James Peden, who told of the work in foreign lands. Paul T. Wolcott told how the newly acquired wisdom of the experts could be transmuted into action, and he gave some sound advice, humorously put.

William Russell, district secretary of Essex county Christian Endeavor societies, addressed the class on the best ways of securing associate members and winning them to Christ.

Four of the Plainfield Christian Endeavorers, three of whom had served as members of the board of examiners for the class, were present, and Miss Myra M. Donavan, speaking for Miss May A. Randolph, the chairman, who could not be present, said that it had been a pleasure to examine the papers, a statement which highly amused the class because of the large amount of work involved, but Miss Donavan insisted that it had been an enjoyable task and congratulated the young people on their work.

It was announced that all who had completed their tests had passed, and cards were distributed bearing the figures showing the percentage in each of the three exams and the general average. Four other members of the class, unable to complete the test within the prescribed time, will take their examinations later. One of these, Miss Julia T. Kerr, has a present average of 98. Three who enrolled at the beginning of the course dropped from membership. The seventeen who are now Christian Endeavor experts, and whose duty attested application for certificate cards have been sent to the general secretary, Dr. William Shaw, at Boston, are as follows:

Miss Dorothy Bouton, 97.8 per cent; Arthur E. Warner, 93; Mrs. Arthur E. Warner, 99.4; Paul T. Wolcott, 90.1; Miss Alice W. Holland, 89.5; Frank W. Jacobsen, 88.8; James Peden, 88.3; Miss Pauline Mader, 88; Ralph M. Barton, 87.8; Miss Mary C. Hoagland, 85.8; Miss Edna K. Winans, 85.5; Miss Beatrice Balne, 82; Miss Helen W. Jacobsen, 81; Miss Vivian Balne, 80.9; Miss Edna H. Beckwith, 80.6; David Johnson, 78.9; Edwin Gernert, 76.

After the announcement of averages there were further short talks. These were on expert methods in committee work, and were given by Miss Alice W. Holland, Miss Mary C. Hoagland, Mrs. A. E. Warner, Kenneth Randolph and Frank Jacobsen. A message from Miss Kerr, who is State superintendent of missionary work in the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, was read by the secretary, Miss Kerr having been asked to send a statement of her ideals for the societies of the State along missionary lines.

The thanks of the class were extended to the Plainfield experts for their assistance in examining the papers. "God be with you till we meet again" was sung in closing the exercises.

AWAITS BRIDEGROOM.

All Bar Harbor Watching for Man Who Will Wed Mrs. Astor.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Bar Harbor, Me., June 19.—All Bar Harbor is watchfully awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Madeline Astor's husband-to-be, William K. Dick, of New York, to-day. He is expected to reach Bar Harbor in time to attend the elaborate luncheon and yacht party given this afternoon by Mrs. Astor. Formal announcement of the coming marriage will be made.

It was rumored early to-day that the marriage might take place in New York instead of Bar Harbor, and the fact that it would be necessary to wait here five days required by law, seemed to strengthen the report.

AID WAR SUFFERERS.

Children of St. Adelbert's Church Raise Relief Funds.

A sum exceeding $150 was collected for the relief of the Polish war sufferers at an entertainment given in the parish hall of St. Adalbert's Church, Third street, last night. The entertainment was given by children of the parochial school of that church, and the hall was filled with parents and friends of the young people.

The amount collected, together with sums obtained in other ways for the relief of the Polish war victims, will be sent to the New York headquarters of the Central Polish Relief Committee.

QUALIFY FOR PROFESSIONS.

EDWARD BOLLER,
Who will enter Bellevue Hospital, New York, as an interne.

DAVID S. FORMAN,
Who was graduated Friday night from New Jersey Law School.

YOUNG MEN TO PRACTISE LAW AND MEDICINE HERE

Edward Boller, of 433 East Jersey street, after four years of study at the Albany Medical College, which is a part of Union University, will take the New York State Board Examinations next week and will then serve as an interne in the Bellevue Hospital, New York City. Boller intends to spend two years at this institution prior to attending Johns Hopkins for several months.

Boller's renown as a baseball and basketball star is known to practically every follower of these two sports in this city. At the Battin High School he pitched on the baseball team and played with the basketball five. In the fall of 1910, following his graduation from high school, Boller entered Rutgers College, where for the two years of his undergraduate life at the New Brunswick seat of learning he was a member of the 'varsity baseball and basketball teams.

In September, 1912, he forsook Rutgers to take up the study of medicine at Albany, and for four years he captained the basketball and baseball teams of this college. Many local nines have won distinction through the work of Boller, and the "Suburbans," of Brooklyn, were favored with his services for two seasons.

Boller was a member of the senior entertainment committee at Albany, the Nu Sigma Nu (a medical fraternity), Theta Nu Epsilon at Rutgers (a sophomore secret society), and of the Rutgers Queens Club. At the completion of his study Boller expects to practise in this city.

David S. Forman, of 227 Elizabeth avenue, was graduated Friday night from the New Jersey Law School in a class of forty-one students with a degree of Bachelor of Laws. Forman is a graduate of the Battin High School and of the Continental School No. 3. At School 3 he was president of the class of 1909, and while at Battin played on his freshman class football team and on the 'varsity during his senior year.

During the last year at law school Forman was attorney in two mock trials and was recognized as a forceful and convincing speaker. At high school he was active in debating and was a member on the victorious team which upheld the negative side of an inter-society debate in 1913 on the question, "Should There Be Two High Schools?"

Forman has served clerkships with David S. Feinswog, Welcome Bender and is now with the firm of Groves & Depew, of this city. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. M. H. A.

H. A. POUNTNEY BURIED.

Tribute Paid to Prominent Citizen by Dr. Cobb.

HENRY A. POUNTNEY.
Well-known citizen who passed away in Elizabeth last week.

Presbyterian Church, conducted a simple but impressive service, reading Scripture selections, offering prayer and speaking of the life of Mr. Pountney and the traits which had so endeared him to the members of his family and others.

Dr. Cobb said that seldom had it been his privilege to visit through an extended illness one who had shown such patience and such thoughtfulness of others. He had not known Mr. Pountney in his active, busy days, but only during that period since his retirement from business and since the infirmities of age had been advancing upon him. That association, however, had been an influence which he was glad to have had in his life, and the clergyman said that in the life of the deceased and in the ministry given by those dear to him there were lessons for all present.

"One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "The Christian's Good Night" were sung with beautiful expression and fine feeling by a quartet consisting of Edmund W. Rogers, Warren W. Rogers, S. Albert Howell and William Darlington.

This morning interment took place in Evergreen Cemetery in the family plot.

Funeral of George C. Brehm.

The funeral of George C. Brehm, of [illegible] was held this morning from the [illegible] where a requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Florian, O. S. B. COMMEMORATE MARTYR.

Commemorating the work of Prague, the Bohemian martyr, who was burned at the stake 500 years ago, the Elizabeth branch of the Bohemian Alliance held a demonstration in Marx's Coliseum, Fourth street and Elizabeth avenue, last Friday night. An elaborate program was presented, and included an impressive tableau. Nearly 1,000 persons attended the exercises. Speakers described the life of the martyr Prague. Dancing followed.

NO ARRESTS MADE.

For the first time in many months not a single arrest was made Sunday which has usually been a day when there have been numerous prisoners who have faced charges of a various nature. This morning Judge Mahon had no cases to dispose of.

STREET CLEANER TAKES OWN LIFE

Thomas Ziegler Shoots Self With Small Rifle.

DESPONDENT SINCE DEATH OF WIFE.

Said to have been despondent since the death of his wife last January, Thomas Ziegler, 54 years old, of 504 New York avenue, committed suicide at his home this morning by shooting himself in the head with a .22-caliber rifle. Ziegler, who was employed by the Department of Public Works, left his home at 5.30 o'clock this morning and returned at 7.30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock he was found by his daughter stretched across the bed in his room with the rifle still clutched in his hands.

Dr. Otto Wagner was summoned and upon arriving found that Ziegler had been dead for at least an hour. The physician found that the bullet entered at the right temple and came out through the left eye, causing instant death. Dr. Wagner notified the county physician and the police.

Detective-Sergeant Rabig and Detective McCarthy made an investigation and learned that Ziegler had suffered greatly since the death of his wife and had taken his life with the Flobert rifle, which had such a short barrel as to permit his placing the muzzle to his temple, as if it were a pistol.

Ziegler was born in Germany and came here twenty-nine years ago, having been employed as a street cleaner for many years. He is survived by four sons, William, Frank, Alphonse and Albert, and one daughter, Martha.

MARRIED HALF CENTURY.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH LEUSER,

HONOR AGED COUPLE ON GOLDEN WEDDING

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leuser, the fiftieth anniversary of their coming from Germany to America and the seventy-sixth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Leuser were celebrated by a party given at their home, 628 Fulton street, Saturday night. Members of the family with a few friends of the couple joined with them in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Leuser have been residents of Elizabeth since coming from Germany. They are members of St. Michael's church. Both are well and active. Mr. Leuser, who is seventy-three years old, is employed in the small parts department of the Singer plant, having worked there for more than thirty-five years.

The couple was married in Germany and on the same day sailed for America, coming directly to Elizabeth. They have four children, three daughters and one son, all of whom reside here.

They were greeted by many friends in honor of the anniversaries observed Saturday and were the recipients of many gifts including bouquets of flowers. A short musical program including vocal solos by Mrs. Joseph Leuser, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Troutman was given during the evening.

Among those present at the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. Casper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thome and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leuser, Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thome and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Bergsted and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Troutman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fiedlein and family, Miss Elizabeth Watson and Jacob Kline.

ARMY NEEDS OFFICERS.

Staff Considers Giving Commissions to West Point Cadets.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—Embarrassed by a shortage of regular army officers at this time members of the General Staff to-day considered graduation next month of the class at West Point, who ordinarily would graduate in June, 1917. In the event of war some officials told Secretary Baker such a step would be necessary.

The suggestion now considered is to give these men their commissions in July and send them out as militia and recruit instructors. Should the number be insufficient, it was suggested these 140 cadets be commissioned and assigned posts while the class that would ordinarily graduate in 1918 be sent out as militia instructors.

Precedent for such action occurred during the Spanish-American War, when first classmen at the Military Academy were graduated in February, instead of June, 1898, and the class that would have graduated in 1899 was graduated in June, 1898.

LEAGUE ISLAND QUIET.

Not Enough Men and Officers to Send Detail South.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Philadelphia, June 19.—While the various units of Pennsylvania's National Guard are feverishly making ready to mobilize at Camp Mt. Gretna, quiet prevails at League Island Navy Yard to-day. The calm is because there are not enough officers and men at League Island to send a detail South. Officers at the navy yard shrugged their shoulders when asked to comment on the possibility of action. They pointed out that there were but 250 marines at the yard. This number is one-tenth of the usual quota, about 2,000 being in Haiti.

One officer, when asked whether any vessels would leave for Mexican waters, answered by saying that only forty per cent. of the men needed to place the ships at the yard on efficient footing were available.

Funeral of Mrs. Matthew Cunningham.

This morning at St. Patrick's Church funeral services were held for Mrs. Margaret Cunningham, wife of Matthew Cunningham, of 250 Bond street. Many relatives and friends were in attendance, and the esteem for the deceased was further expressed in the many floral tributes which later were conveyed to the cemetery in a barouche. Among them was a standing wreath bearing the word, "Mother," and a wreath inscribed "Grandmother."

A solemn high mass was celebrated [illegible] Rev. J. J. Dugan as deacon, and the Rev. Father Solomon as sub-deacon. Interment took place at Mt. Olivet Cemetery, the bearers being: Edward O'Brien, John Kiernan, James Reeves, Michael Norton, John Mullaney and William Buck.

RAILROADS READY TO MOVE TROOPS

ROADS TO BE CLEARED FOR TROOP TRAINS.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

New York, June 19.—The railroads of the country are ready for the greatest preparedness test in history in the moving of the militia of the country to the Mexican border.

This was the word from the offices of railroads both in the East and West to-day. Officials united in declaring that as fast as the Administration orders State troops moved they will be ready to transport them. The way will immediately be cleared for the movement of troop trains and already engines and cars sufficient to handle the thousands of men are available.

The problem of transporting supplies may be more complicated. The Eastern roads are just emerging from a serious freight congestion, but the managers believe sufficient cars will be available to handle the additional business caused by the demands that will come from the Government for troop supplies.

"The railroads are prepared to move troops just as quickly as they are assembled," was the statement of officials of both the Pennsylvania and the New York Central Railroads.

"There is plenty of passenger rolling stock available for the almost instant use," it was said at the New York Central. "Trains could be made up just as quickly as called for. They would in all likelihood be given the preference over every other train and could be sent across the country in record time.

"Hundreds of cars which before 1914 were used to handle the traffic in immigrants westward are now on the sidetracks. There are more than enough to handle every man Uncle Sam wants moved. Handling supplies might be more difficult, as the roads are just emerging from a serious freight congestion."

"The Pennsylvania Railroad," said an official, "can assemble troop trains within an hour of the time of order. They would be given preference over all other trains. Every piece of our rolling stock would be available for immediate use."

Uncle Sam Comes First.

Madison, Wis., June 19.—"We will turn over the entire railroad to the Government for the movement of State troops if it's necessary," was the announcement of President R. H. Aishton, of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, here to-day. "We have issued instructions to all superintendents to hold the necessary equipment for the troops and will do everything in our power to assist the Government," said Aishton.

FUNDS FOR RECREATION.

Commissioners to Petition Council for Appropriation of $7,500.

The Board of Recreation Commissioners held a meeting Saturday night to complete the budget for the coming fiscal year. It was decided to petition City Council for an appropriation of $7,500, which is an increase of $1,500 over the amount granted last year. This increase, it was pointed out, is needed for the maintenance and supervision of the new playground at Second avenue and South Seventh street, which will be opened this summer and also to permit an earlier opening of the South Broad street ground next summer.

The board desired to open the latter ground early in the spring, but was prevented by lack of funds. The only other business of the meeting was the passage of a resolution to open playgrounds Nos. 1, 3, 5, 6 and South Broad street on July 5.

MARKET STEADY.

Calling Out Militia Causes No Flurry in Stocks.

(Special to the Journal.)

New York, June 19.—The Stock Market showed no signs of great unsettlement at the opening, upon the news of the calling out of the militia. The course of prices in most instances was downward, but the decline was not very large, and in a few stocks firmness was shown. Mexican Petroleum declined two points, and U. S. Smelting was three points off. The copper stocks were lower, with Utah selling at a decline of over a point. Railroad issues were fractionally lower. United Fruit was strong, advancing four points, and Marine preferred gained a point.

In the second hour liquidations became rather general and prices yielded throughout the list. Copper and railroad stocks lost from one to two points. Motor issues were from three to four points off and munition stocks were several points lower. U. S. Steel declined one point.

The Curb Market showed weakness during the early trading, but most issues showed substantial recoveries from the old level. Chevrolet Motor declined twenty-two points and United Motors were nearly three points off. Midvale Steel showed a loss of over two points.

SHOT AS BURGLAR.

Wounded Man Says He Has Worked in Roselle Park and Cranford.

Stroudsburg, Pa., June 19.—Harry King, who says his home is at 211 Elm street, Newark, is in the General Hospital here from a gunshot wound in his right thigh. He was shot yesterday by Charles T. Nightingale, proprietor of the Gap Inn, after Nightingale had discovered his escaping from his store with cigarettes, candy and chewing gum, which he had stolen. King will live, the physicians say, although his wound is considered serious.

To County Detective William Neimyer the prisoner to-day said that he was 24 years old and had worked in the Van Court Inn at Roselle Park, and at Grimm's dairy farm, Cranford. A bicycle, which he was about to mount when Nightingale halted him, the police say, was stolen.

PLAN MEMORIAL SERVICE.

A memorial service in honor of the deceased members of the Knights of Pythias lodges in this city will be held in Greystone Church next Sunday night. All members of the three lodges comprising District 34 are requested to meet in the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock on that evening when they will march to the church.

TO GIVE GARDEN PARTY.

A garden party that gives promise of being a very enjoyable event is to be held to-morrow at the home of Mrs. Burnham C. Sickney, 430 Westminster avenue, under auspices of the Elizabethtown Branch of the International Sunshine Society. There will be a tennis tourney, a sale of fancy goods and cards. Ice cream and candy will be on sale and the branch will welcome the [illegible] of anyone [illegible] in the Arthur Home for Blind Babies.

HUGHES IN HEADQUARTERS.

Candidate Has Important Conferences Scheduled With Party Leaders.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

New York, June 19.—Charles E. Hughes returned to his political headquarters at the Hotel Astor to-day with an important series of conferences with Republican party leaders scheduled. Campaign plans were to be discussed, and it was believed the manager of Hughes' fight for the Presidency might be selected to-day.

The sub-committee on organization was to meet Candidate Hughes this afternoon. W. R. Wilcox, of New York, was reported to be favored as National chairman by some members of the committee and Hughes will express his preference for campaign manager when he meets them.

Murray Crane was one of Hughes' first callers. He refused to discuss his visit, but it was assumed he had talked over the matter of the appointment of a National chairman and returned to meet other members of the sub-committee, giving them Hughes' views.

Letters of every description continue to pour into the Republican candidate's headquarters.

Bertha Hughes, Newark, wrote, suggesting distant relationship with the candidate.

In his talk with the newspaper men to-day, Hughes said it was too early to make any definite statement as to campaign plans.

"I desire to meet thoroughly and completely all the issues," he said.

Hughes will leave for Providence at 5 o'clock to-day to attend his class reunion at Brown University commencement. There will be no politics connected with the trip. On his return, Thursday, the candidate will go to Bridgehampton, L. I., where he said he hoped to get in some quiet work.

Senator Lodge was closeted with Hughes this morning for three-quarters of an hour, Hughes declined to comment on the Mexican situation.

JOINS CARRANZA FORCE.

Former Texas Editor Hurries to Support of Mexican Garrison.

(By Telegraph to the Journal.)

Laredo, Tex., June 19.—Manuel Garza Vigil, former editor of a Mexican newspaper in this city, arrived in Nuevo Laredo with sixteen three-inch field pieces and 200 artillerymen to reinforce the Carranza garrison there.

CONSOLIDATING LODGES.

Nomination of officers for the new lodge to be formed by the three lodges of Knights of Pythias of this district will be made at a joint meeting to be held in the rooms of Harmony Lodge tomorrow night. Other business pertaining to the consolidation of the lodges will come before the meeting.

TO REPAIR DOCK.

Bearing a cargo of lumber for repairs to the dock at the foot of Marshall street, the tugboat Arthur Kill arrived at that dock this morning. The lumber is being unloaded to-day.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by "The Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, in the County of Union," State of New Jersey, at a meeting to be held at the Office of the Board of Education in the Battin High School, on South Broad Street, Elizabeth, New Jersey, on the (16th) tenth day of July, 1916, at eight o'clock in the evening of that day, for the erection and completion of two new school buildings, one to be erected on the school site on Third Avenue, Spencer and South Fifth Streets, and the other to be erected on the school site on North, Madison and Monroe avenues, in the City of Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Proposals to be considered must be made out on forms supplied by the Architect, and each building shall be bid upon separately, and must be in strict accordance with the requirements of the plans and specifications.

Bids to be submitted separately on each division of the work as expressly provided for by the plans and specifications and bids for each building shall be made separately and also separately on each of the following divisions of work for each building, namely: "General Construction," "Plumbing," "Electrical," "Heating and Ventilation."

Alternate Bids—Each and every bidder shall also estimate on the alternate requirements mentioned in the plans and specifications, and shall so designate the amounts to be added or deducted from the base bid, as the case may be, in the space allotted to same on the bid blank.

Plans and Specifications may be obtained on application at the office of the Architect, C. Godfrey Pogel, 2 Julian Place, Elizabeth, New Jersey, or examined in the office of the Secretary of the Board of Education, and each applicant shall state definitely the branch of work he intends to bid upon.

A deposit of $25 for each building will be required of each bidder receiving plans and specifications, which shall be returnable conditionally upon the return to the Architect of the plans and specifications within the specified time limits. A charge of $25 additional for the plan of each building will be made for plans and specifications in excess of a limited number to defray expenses of duplication, but no bidder shall receive more than one set of plans for each building, and no such deposit nor payment shall be construed to give any bidder ownership of the plans and specifications.

Retention of Plans—Bidders shall not retain plans and specifications longer than the time limits mentioned in the specifications under penalty of forfeiture of the deposit money.

Sub-contractors shall obtain plans and specifications from general contractors.

Bidders may be required to qualify to the satisfaction of the Board of Education, both as to financial responsibility and capability of efficient execution of the work.

Contractors to whom contracts may be awarded shall furnish a surety company bond satisfactory to the Board of Education equal to fifty per cent. of the contract price, as provided for and in accordance with the specifications.

All bidders shall tender with their bids a certified check or surety bond in amount equivalent to ten per cent. of the base bid for the purpose mentioned in and by the specifications.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all base bids and any and all alternate bids, waive any and all informalities, and award contracts either in part or as a whole, as may be deemed best for the interest of the Board of Education.

Where They Met.

They were both retired officers, and had just been introduced in the smoking-room of the club.

"Do you know, colonel," said the major, "I cannot help thinking I've met you before?"

"And, strangely enough, sir, I have a very similar feeling with regard to you."

"Were you at the storming of Mudpore, colonel?" asked the major at last, after a silence.

"I was, major."

"And were you present at the time the fort exploded and blew up the entire place?"

"I had that honor."

"There, now, I know where I have seen you before. I passed you as you were going up and I was coming down. Your hand, colonel."—Pittsburgh Sun.

ABOUT TOWN.

August J. Treano has been appointed inspector of the paving work in Grove street by the Board of Works, at a salary of $3 a day.

Chief of Police Mulcahy has in his possession a pocketbook which was found yesterday by a patrolman. The pocketbook contains a considerable sum of money and its owner may obtain it by identification of the property.

RIDERS IN COLLISIONS.

Two Motorcycles Are Driven Into Automobiles.

Two motorcycle accidents were reported by the police yesterday, in both instances their riders colliding with automobiles and escaping serious injuries by a narrow margin. Shortly after the noon hour Patrolman Hildenbrand witnessed a mishap at Westfield avenue and Cherry street. The accident occurred when John Wzynsky, of 14 DeKalb avenue, Plainfield, drove his motorcycle into a truck driven by William G. Burke, of 101 Camden street, Newark.

The auto truck was about to turn into Cherry street and the driver gave the proper signal which Wzynsky failed to see while riding behind it. As a result the motorcycle crashed into the side of the truck, demolishing the cycle and throwing its rider directly beneath the truck. Only the quick action of Burke in bringing the machine to an instant stop saved the cyclist from being crushed beneath its wheels. Both Hildenbrand and Patrolman Rooney, who was close by, reported that the driver of the truck had been in no way at fault and said that Wzynsky had admitted that the accident had been due to his failure to notice Burke's signal that he was going to turn. The affair was also witnessed by S. S. Miller, of 93 Westfield avenue.

At 5.10 P. M. a motorcycle ridden by Frank Hauck of 321 High street, city dog catcher, struck an auto driven by Felix Best, of 1118 Anna street. The accident occurred at Walnut and Anna streets, Hauck being thrown to the street, sustaining severe lacerations of the hips. He was taken to the Alexian Hospital and later removed to his home. Best was accompanied in the auto by Alexander English, of 567 Walnut street.

SEEK STONE THROWERS.

The police are seeking the identity of several boys who are charged with hurling stones at the small son of Mrs. John Sochwick, of 318 Fay avenue, one of which struck the boy in the eye. It is said that the boy may lose the sight of his eye.

WINS CYCLING PRIZE.

Charles Laing, who is a member of Truck Company No. 3, was the winner of the third prize in the Newark motorcycle parade Saturday afternoon. Accompanying Laing in a side car and on the back of the machine were his wife and four children—Mary, Marie, Charles and Esther. They were all dressed in white and the machine was decorated with the National colors.

Art of Bait Casting.

The bait caster! What memories of lily-padded lakes, shimmering in the burnished gold of the setting sun, of a roseate twilight peace, when the lake is one vast mirror; of the furious battles with that bulldog of the sweet waters, the black bass, are his! A most difficult art, one that requires more than a modicum of practice to acquire—to place that lure precisely in a given spot forty or fifty feet away, where a bass may lurk—not near the spot, but right in it, mind you—to land that lure so as to stimulate a frog or minnow naturally leaping or jumping to escape possible attack by a bass; to do all this with a short rod and high-speed reel, casting the lure as a small boy throws an apple from the end of a stick—to do this with accuracy and deftness is no unworthy ambition.

And after the strike comes a battle between a five-pound fish and a 150-pound man, equalized by fair tackle, that will put the exhilaration of eternal youth into any man—especially if he proves his own game, to take him with all the handicaps imposed by the necessary tackle and win out against all the snags, tactics, leaps and plunges, rushes and feints employed by the battling bass.—American Forestry.

If you are able to offer a real bargain in a used car, you have a proposition that is profitably advertiseable in the Journal.

Birthday Surprise.

The Hofbrau House was the scene of a happy gathering Saturday night, the friends of Louis F. Gallaudet, of 50 Sayre street, dockmaster of the Central Railroad at Jersey City, giving him a surprise in celebration of his fiftieth birthday anniversary. Mr. Gallaudet was completely surprised when ushered into the dining-room where the party was assembled. A fine dinner was enjoyed, followed by songs, toasts and music.

Among those present were: Mrs. Charles Redder, Mrs. Anna Stern, Mrs. Rapelye and C. A. Weholz, of Jersey City, agent of the Central Railroad; [illegible] bright, general foreman; James Kyle, Mr. Chambers, of the Gillen Lighterage Company; Captain John Peterson, of the Wright & Cobb Lighterage Company; Captain John Engert, of the Ajax Cement Company, also representatives of dock and yard departments of the Central Railroad.

A handsome loving cup was presented to Mr. Gallaudet as a token of esteem and regard by those present, and others who were unable to be there. Mr. Weholz, in making the presentation, evoked rounds of applause as he eloquently expressed the sentiments of the diners toward their guest of honor. Mr. Gallaudet made a happy response, which pleased the assemblage greatly.

The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" closed the festivities.

Moore-Haines.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Haines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Haines, and Wilbur A. Moore, formerly of this city and now of New Haven, Conn., and son of Mrs. Agnes A. and the late Howard B. Moore, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 1211 East Broad street, Saturday night, at 6 o'clock, by the Rev. N. M. Simmonds, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. Miss Jane Whittemore played the wedding march from "Lohengrin." The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was performed under a bower of daisies.

Miss Marguerite Van Nostrand was the maid of honor and Mr. Moore was attended by Ralph L. Shearer. The bride was attired in white taffeta, trimmed with silver radium lace, and her veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lillies-of-the-valley. Miss Van Nostrand wore a gown of pink and blue flowered organdie and carried pink Killarney roses. Miss Florence Haines, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore white lace over pale blue silk and carried a basket of sweet peas. The gift of the bride to the maid of honor was a silver vanity case and Mr. Moore's gift to the best man was a silver cigarette case. Following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding supper served.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Haines, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Jaeger, Mrs. A. Moore, of Shamokin, Pa.; Mrs. G. A. Haines, 3d; Aubrey Goddard, Jr., and Bernard Goddard.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

An enjoyable celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Elias R. Howard, of 50 Orchard street, was held Saturday evening at their home. About thirty guests from Paterson, Millburn, Roselle, Suffern, N. Y., and this city enjoyed their hospitality. Piano selections and an informal social evening were followed by refreshments served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard were married in New York City, but have been residents of Elizabeth for several years. A number of attractive gifts in silver were brought by the guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard received the good wishes of all

Tenth Birthday Anniversary.

Miss Kathryn Doelfel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Doelfel, of 685 Garden street, entertained a number of her little friends Saturday afternoon with a party celebrating the tenth anniversary of her birth. The afternoon was spent in playing numerous games for which prizes were awarded. Selections were rendered on the piano by the Misses Ruth Jones and Florence O'Neill. At a late hour in the afternoon the guests were served with refreshments. Among those present were: The Misses Marietta Madden, Margaret Cramsie, Bessie Auer, Jessie Heller, Emma Douglas, Margaret O'Neill, Burnetta Collins, Margaret Buick, Alma Dion, Maud Newcomb, Gladys Carlson, Leona Hurley, Ruth Jones, Masters Richard Jones, Walter Cramsie, Edward Ricker and William Ricker, all of Elizabeth; Gladys Pohl, of Jersey City; Julia Kirby and Mrs. M. Karl, of Roselle; Miss Harriet Kirby, of Beverly; Master Jack Kenneth Talbot, of Beverly; Mrs. William H. Kip and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doelfel.

The annual picnic of the Socialist Liedertafel was held Saturday afternoon and evening at Marx's Colosseum, Fourth street and Elizabeth avenue. Prize bowling and dancing provided entertainment. Music was furnished by Liedertafel orchestra, of Newark. In addition to the members of the Elizabeth society representatives of the Newark, Linden, New York and Brooklyn organizations were present. The committee in charge comprised: Chairman, Joseph Nuss; treasurer, Joseph Graff; financial secretary, Emil Lacker, and John Schicho.

Married Quarter Century.

Many friends and relatives gathered last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Martin, 123 Jefferson avenue, on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The bride of a quarter century, who was formerly Miss Nannie Synder, of Roanoke, Va., was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. J. H. Boyd, of Easton, and Mrs. Laura Hall, of this city. The house was profusely decorated with flowers and streamers of pink and white.

At 9.30 an elaborate supper was served, the centerpiece of the table being a huge wedding cake. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Martin many happy returns of the day. Many useful and beautiful gifts of cut glass and silver were received by Mrs. Martin, including a chest of silver from her husband.

The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Lynch, Miss Bessie Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. William Millen and Mrs. A. C. Lounsbury, of Roselle; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boyd and Dr. and Mrs. Pearce, of Easton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Miss Sadie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Becker and Charles Shoy, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andre, Mr. and Mrs. Finlay, Miss Berglund, Miss Anna Berglund, Mrs. Laura Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oakley, of Elizabeth.

He Dressed Well.

Amos Whitaker, a miserly millionaire was approached by a friend who used his most persuasive powers to have him dress more in accordance with his station in life.

"I am surprised, Amos," said the friend, "that you should allow yourself to become so shabby."

"But I'm not shabby," firmly interposed the millionaire miser.

"Oh, but you are," returned his old friend. "Remember you father. He was always neatly, even elegantly dressed. His clothes were always finely tailored and of the best material."

"Why," shouted the miser, triumphantly, "these clothes I've got on were father's."—Lippincott's Magazine.

MURRAY AND "THROCK" IN RICHMOND TOURNAMENT

The scene of Harold A. Throckmorton's tennis activities have shifted to the Richmond County Country Club's invitation round robin men's doubles at Dongan Hills, Staten Island. "Throck" is teamed with the clever R. Lindley Murray, and up to yesterday afternoon this pair had competed in three different matches. Saturday they lost a match to Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Alrick H. Man and yesterday they broke even. They lost to Van Dyke Johns and Willis E. Davis, the Californians, and beat Frederick C. Inman and Theodore R. Pell.

Elizabeth's representative and Murray won 9—11, 9—3, 6—4 from the Pell-Inman duo and lost 6—3, 6—2 to the Californians, Johns and Davis. The most sensational match yesterday was played between Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Alrick C. Man and Johns and Davis. The former won 19—17, 6—1. Inman and Pell also took a match from Bull and Man.

NEW-COMER ANNEXES CUP IN DUANE TOURNAMENT

Patrick Keogh, a new-comer at the Duane traps, captured the beginners' event at the weekly shoot of the Duane Rod and Gun Club yesterday afternoon at the traps in Spring street. Keogh broke fifteen out of twenty-five. He was also tied with Adam Anthes for first place in a ten-bird event, with six each. John Anthes, Jr., also had a big day. He copped three firsts and was tied in two other events with Charles Gibson.

Anthes and Gibson were tied in the first event with twenty out of twenty-five and in the third with twenty-three out of twenty-five. Johnny Enz gave Anthes a hard fight in the sixth event, the latter winning by one bird with twenty-one out of twenty-five. The next shoot will take place Independence Day.

CHARLEY GIRARD HOLDS CHINESE TEAM HITLESS

While Artie Romer was pegging a no-hit, no-run game against the T. A. B. S. nine here yesterday afternoon for the New York Police nine, and equalling Charley Girard's record, old boy Charles, another former T. A. B. S. flinger, was pitching the Bushwicks to a no-hit, no-run victory over the Chinese University nine of Hawaii. Girard's team won 3 to 0. Prior to yesterday Girard was the only pitcher who ever twirled a no-hit, no-run game on the T. A. B. S. field. He performed this feat several years ago for the Burns crew against a colored team. The Bushwicks club ran up four hits. Apau and Ako pitched for the Chinese ball club. Paul Dietz, a former T. A. B. S. player, was at shortstop for the Bushwicks. He collected a hit and had three put-outs, one assist and one error.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero: Walter Johnson, of the Senators, whose twirling in the pinches shut off hits when they meant runs for the Browns. Johnson struck out six.

Herzog's Red Legs ran and swam through a field of mud and water to a 5 to 1 victory over the Cardinals.

Weaver, of the White Sox, let loose a wild heave after two were down in the seventh, and the Reds immediately started a rally, which netted two runs and which afterward proved enough to win the game.

Joe Jackson contributed his regular three hits.

Nineteen hits and as many runs was the total of the Yanks bombardment against the Indians.

The Browns were saved a shut-out, when two walked in the sixth and a single by Pratt sent in a run.

Cobb showed some great footwork on the paths. The Tiger star stole twice on Schang, of the Athletics.

NO SINGER BASEBALL.

Singer baseball fans must wait until another day to decide whether or not the victory gained by the Small Parts players in their last meeting with the Tool Room outfit was an accident or not. Wet grounds caused a postponement of Saturday's tilt, while the Shuttle-Babcock Wilcox game scheduled for Bayonne was also called off.

His by Right.

An Irish chauffeur in San Francisco, who had been having trouble with numerous small boys in the neighborhood of his stand, discovered one day on examining his car that there was a dead cat on one of the seats. In his anger he was about to march cass into the street when he espied a policeman.

Holding up the carcass he exclaimed: "This is how I am insulted. What am I to do with it?"

"Well, don't you know? Take it straight to headquarters and if it is not claimed within a month it becomes your property."—Harper's Magazine.

ENGELS DEFEATS ELLER IN RACE OVER HURDLES.

Clear skies and a bumper crowd greeted the athletes who competed in the Egenolf Day Nursery games, the best tournament ever staged by the Singer Association, at Bennett Park yesterday afternoon. From 2.30 o'clock until just a few minutes before the hour of 6 was tolled, things happened thick and fast at the big play field of the Singer factory employes, and they were things which made every one in that vast throng glad that they were there. No set of games ever presented in Elizabeth were better handled, for not a single second of unnecessary delay crept into the matinee, while the races were glowing tributes to the fairness of the handicapper, whose excellent judgment made practically every number a driving affair that was decided in the home-stretch.

Featuring the carnival was the 120-yard low hurdle race in which Jack Eller attempted to lower the world's record for that distance. But there were no records broken, the weather man attending to that by dousing the path until it defied the best effort of a corps of trained men to put in the lightning fast shape for such a performance.

Upset in Hurdle Race.

And while the weather man took care of the track, Arthur L. Engles took care of Mr. Eller and he did his work well. Eller, running in the first heat, scampered home in fifteen seconds, a very encouraging sprint, in view of the fact that at no time was he hard pushed. Engels competed in the second heat and everyone scented a lively scrap in the finals when he raced home in time one-fifth of a second slower than Eller's. But here again the weather man intervened, and before these two stars went to the scratch in the final a brisk breeze, which swept down the lanes full in their faces, had sprung.

Despite this handicap the race was run in "15 flat," and Engels was the winner by a margin that left no doubt that in him the flying cop has a rival entitled to the greatest consideration on any kind of a track and in any kind of weather. The race made by Engels in his upset of the favorite may well be proclaimed the feature of yesterday's tournamnt.

Eller Beaten in Special.

It was probably a desire to salve the sting of Eller's defeat over the hurdles that prompted the committee to add to a perfectly balanced program a special 100-yard dash in which "John J." himself, Billy La Rose, of the Knights of St. Anthony, and Frank Stephenson started. Yesterday wasn't Eller's day, however. La Rose, a youngster with only a year's experience and who won the junior metropolitan championship over the 100-yard stretch at New Brunswick on Saturday, won the race, beating Frank Stephenson to the tape in the best finish of the day. Aller was third. The heat was run in 10 flat.

Jim Plant, another champion who grabbed his crown at New Brunswick, took the lead early in the two-mile run and set the pace right up to the finish mark. F. Kieser, of the Morningside A. C., was the winner in the one and one-half mile walk.

Singer Wins Factory Relay.

The quartet of the Singer Company didn't treat their guests from the Bloomfield plant of the Sprague Electric Company and the Bigelow Varnish Company shop with any kind of consideration at all. Fleet Michael Galluppo opened up a city block of daylight between his heels and the visiting runners, and then Fred Clark, Henry Mueller and Eddie Hruby saw to it that none of Miguel's fine work went to waste.

Eddie Hruby, who has done his full share in collecting the five trophies now in the possession of the Assembling Department; his teammates, Jack Price and Adolph Schwartz and Henry Mueller, of the Shuttle, were the winners in the events closed to Singer employes. Hruby went over the timbers to victory in the 220-yard hurdles, while Mueller made a beautiful race in the 100-yard dash. Jack Price just nosed out Louis Roerig by a pretty combination of brain and brawn in the 1,000-yard novice, and Schwartz copped the candy in the 440.

The Departmental Relay was the only fizzle of the tournament. But two teams put in an appearance for this event and as both of these were from the Assembling, Coach Gross's boys had an easy time adding eight more points to their score.

The Assembling won the point trophy for closed competition with a total of 35, holding a lead of 23 counts over the Shuttle athletes, who were second. The Long Island A. C. with twelve points, won the open events point trophy. The summaries:

100-yard dash (closed)—Won by H. Mueller, Shuttle Department; second, R. Harrison, Assembling; third, W. Brindley, Shuttle. Time, 10 4-5 seconds.

100-yard handicap (open)—Won by W. Goldmann, Brooklyn A. A., 7 yards; second, Joseph Hruby, Long Island A. C., 5 yards; third, J. Connelly, unattached, 6½ yards. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

Points scored in open competition—Long Island A. C., 12; Mohawk A. C., 8; First Bohemian A. C., 8; Brooklyn A. A., 7; New York A. C., 7; Ozanam A. C., 5; Knights of St. Antony, 5; Loughlin Lyceum, 5; Morningside A. C., 5; Pastime A. C., 3; Knights of St. Peter, 3; Irish-American A. C., 3; Trinity Club, 2.

Points scored in competition closed to Singer employes—Assembling Department, 35; Shuttle Department, 12; Engineering Department, 2; Special Machine, 1.

CHARLEY MARSDEN WILL PITCH FOR RAHWAY CLUB

COPSHAW HOLDS GARWOOD SAFE

SOUTH ELIZABETH PLAYERS WIELD BLUDGEONS WELL.

A good sized crowd turned out yesterday to see Tommy Ward's South Elizabeth tossers pound Pitcher Decker, of the Garwood Young Men's Club, for thirteen hits and a total of eight runs on the Southerners' lot. The best the visitors could do was to touch George Copshaw six times and hang up half the number of tallies registered by the homesters.

South Elizabeth started right off in the first inning by ringing up a brace of counters. They followed this up with one in the second, a pair more in the third, another ace in the sixth and a final couple in the seventh. Garwood's counts were put over in the fifth and sixth, two in each frame. Rudy Eilers led in hitting for Elizabeth, poling out three bingles and scoring a run. The scores:

St. Mary's Finish on Top.

St. Mary's baseballers, in a preliminary tilt to the South Elizabeth-Garwood game, yesterday, defeated the St. Theresa nine, of Summit, 6 to 5. The visitors did not score until the seventh, when they rang up their five runs. St. Mary's, one run behind, came back in their half and won the fracas. The score by innings:

BELMONTS NAIL GAME IN NINTH

O'Leary's Hit Beats Hustlers by 1 to 0 Score.

MAHAR AND FARRELL HAVE GREAT CHUCKING DUEL.

Johnny Mahar, the Linden pitching phenom, pegged the champion Belmonts to one of the classiest victories of the season yesterday morning when the Frog Hollow bunch defeated the Hustlers 1 to 0 on Moxley's field. This win clinched the series for the champions. The former Linden High School flinger fanned fifteen batters, which boosted his strike-out mark to fifty-six for four games. He let the Hustlers down with three hits. Ray Farrell yielded five hits to the champs. Not an extra base-hit was collected by either nine. Johnny O'Leary's single drove in Jack Price with the winning run in the ninth after one out.

Jack Price, who romped across the rubber with the only tally for the Belmonts, whanged out a pair of hits, Hauser, O'Leary and Rudy Eilers chalked up the other safeties for the Belmonts. "Hank" Hruby, O'Connor and Kirkman were the only Hustlers able to connect safely with Mahar's slants. The score:

GOLFERS LAUGH AT HEAVY RAINS

Suburbanites Play Matches in Great Downpour.

IRA WHEELER CARRIES OFF CLASS B PLAY HONORS.

Golf enthusiasm is a great thing. Just a simple declarative sentence, but what a tale it tells. Of course, a "Doubting Thomas" here and there may question the veracity of this wee sentence, but to these gentlemen let it be said "You oughta been out at the Suburban Saturday afternoon."

Now, "Annie" Kellerman is some girl. She performs wonderful feats in the water, but then the aforesaid Annette gets well paid for her tricks. Saturday afternoon a young army of Suburbanites went a golfing on their home links, and while they golfed the rain commenced to fall. In truth it fell in great gobs and buckets full, quite completely dousing everything in sight, but golfing enthusiasm is as waterproof as a duck's neck, so the golfers golfed on, performing stunts in a sea of water and mud that would have put even the talented A. K. to shame. And, bear in mind, Annette gets paid for her bit. See now where the greatness of golfing enthusiasm comes in?

Despite the overabundance of dampness that greatly added to the popularity of the nineteenth tee, the Suburbanites managed to get in a whole lot of golf, and their scores were nothing more than taunting flings at Jupiter Pluvius, for they were without exception good cards, right up on a par with the competition.

In the feature match of the afternoon Ira Wheeler defeated R. K. Vezin, 5 up and 3 to play, and won the chief cup in Class B competition of the spring tournament. In Duffers' Cup play, Joseph H. Nolte defeated John W. Whelan, 3 and 2; C. A. Swift defaulted to J. C. Kellogg, Jr., and Dr. Green defeated R. B. Cissell, 2 up.

C. H. Haupt and Ira Wheeler shared honors in the 18-hole handicap, each player returning a net score of 76. First prize in the "Sweeps" fell to Dr. Horace R. Livengood, returning a card of 74. R. T. Potts was second with a 77, and B. B. Miler took the third award with 78.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKS.

Philadelphia, June 19.—Willis E. Davis, of California, will meet Craig Biddle, of Marion, to-day in the final match for the State single tennis title at Haverford. The final round in the doubles is expected to be reached this afternoon.

New York, June 19.—Jack Dillon outpointed Frank Moran yesterday in the matter of Sunday attendance at their workout camps. The Hoosier drew nearly 8,000 visitors to Washington Park.

Row Postponed Race.

TROTTING RACES OFF.

A muddy track necessitated the calling off of the matinee trotting races scheduled to take place Saturday afternoon at the Weequahic Park. The events will be run off Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The following classes will be represented: 2.35, 2.28, 2.19, 2.24, 2.15 and free-for-all.

KRAMER SCORES THIRD STRAIGHT

Wins Half-Mile Bike Race in Titular Series.

RAYMOND EATON IS FIRST IN REPECHAGE EVENT.

Frank Kramer increased his lead in the fight for the National professional bike championship this year. The big chief scored his third straight victory yesterday afternoon at the Newark Velodrome track when he disposed of Alfred Grenda, the Australian, in the final heat of the half-mile event, the third of a series of six numbers to decide the title. Kramer also had to beat such stars as Bob Spears and Alfred Goullet to cop yesterday's race.

Raymond Eaton, the local cyclist, copped the one-mile repechage. Ernest Ohrt was second and Thomas Grimm, of Irvington, took third place. Arthur Spencer, of Toronto, failed to wrest the Brassard from Frank Cavanaugh. The summaries:

The Brassard (one mile; professional)—Frank Cavanagh, Newark, vs. Arthur Spencer, Toronto. Won by Cavanagh. Time, 2.57 4-5.

Half-mile novice—Won by Alfred Nannen, Carteret; Alfred Staehle, Newark, second. Time, 1.08.

Half-mile handicap (amateur)—Won by Roy Litvany, Newark (75 yards); Thomas Fitzsimmons, East Orange (30 yards), second; William Purdue, East Orange (75 yards), third; Marcel Burger, New York (55 yards), fourth. Time, 0.53 2-5.

Miss-and-out invitation (professional)—Won by Jacob Magin, Irvington; William Hanley, San Francisco, second; John Hedell, Newark, third; E. F. Rost, Boston, fourth; George C. Cameron, New York, fifth. Time, 4.41 3-5.

Two-mile open (amateur)—Won by John S. Staehle, Newark; Artie Farnow, Salt Lake City, second; Gus Lang, Irvington, third; William Wetmer, Newark, fourth. Time, 5.00 4-5.

One-mile repechage (professional)—Won by Ray Eaton, Newark; Ernest Ohrt, San Francisco, second; Thomas Grimm, Irvington, third; Floyd Krebs, Newark, fourth; Frank Corry, Australia, fifth. Time, 1.47 3-5.

Australian pursuit race (amateur)—William Spencer, Toronto, vs. D. J. Carroll, San Francisco. Won by Spencer. Distance, 5 miles. Time, 7.14 3-5.

Two-mile tandem (professional)—Won by Spears and McNamara; Iver Lawson and William Hanley, second; Jacob Magin and Percy Lawrence, third. Time, 8.47 2-5.

"JOE" DICKENSON SCORES SWEEP IN AUTO RACES

Joseph W. Dickinson, of Cranford, won four of the six events at the Olympic Park auto race meet held Saturday night. The Cranfordite, driving a Stutz Special, took first place in the time trials, half-mile flying start; event No. 3, three-mile, class E; event No. 4, five-mile Olympic Park trophy race, and event No. 5, Australian pursuit race, 5-mile. He was second in event No. 6, three-mile free-for-all, handicap. R. D. Jackson, of Westfield, driving a J. and F. Special, was second in event No. 3, and second in event No. 1. George Adams, the Brooklyn millionaire sporting man, was first in event No. 2, a three-mile run, and F. W. Wilcox collected the big honors in event No. 6.

MAURICE GENNERT SECOND.

Maurice Gennert, the former Pingry athlete, representing the New York Athletic Club, took second honors in the hammer throw at the junior metropolitan championships in New Brunswick, Saturday afternoon. Gennert tossed the twelve-pound pea 155 feet 8 and 1-2 inches, while his teammate, W. T. Brown, won the event with a throw of 170 feet and 1 inch. J. J. Conway, of the Irish-American A. C., got off a heave of 148 feet 11 inches and was third.

TOO DAMP FOR S. S. NINES.

No Sunday School League baseball games were played Saturday afternoon. Although the early morning rains had left the fields in poor shape the S. S. A. L. athletes all made ready to go through with the three games scheduled, but a postponement of the entire card was made necessary by the heavy showers which visited this section during the afternoon.

NEW WESLEYAN CAPTAIN.

Charles G. Chapin, of Wilbraham, Mass., was yesterday chosen captain of the Wesleyan baseball team to succeed Edward Markthaler, of this city, who graduates this year. Chapin has been catcher for the 'varsity nine for three years.

HEGEMAN IN FINALS.

(Special to the Journal.)

Westfield, June 19.—F. M. Hegeman defeated A. E. Keller in the semi-finals of the Westfield Golf Club championship on Saturday. The finals will be played next Saturday.

ANOTHER FOR BORDEN'S.

Elizabeth chalked up another win in the Borden League Friday afternoon, defeating the Union Hill team for the second time in a championship tussle. The score was 13 to 8. The tilt was halted in the seventh inning by rain. Circonelli pitched for Elizabeth. Next Thursday Elizabeth will be at Newark. The line-up of the Elizabeth team in Friday's game follows: Bindwald, right field; MacNamee, second base; Circonnelli, pitcher; Berns, shortstop; Lutz, third base; Guilaume, left field; Gilispie, center field; Lanagan, catcher, and Berinser, first base.

SWAG LOT TOO WET.

Seventh Ward players were again disappointed yesterday morning, their game scheduled with the Alerts, of Newark, being called off because of wet grounds. Manager Gerdan is on the hunt for a crack nine to oppose his gang next Sunday.

ROMER TWIRLS HITLESS GAME FOR COP CLUB

T. A. B. S. Unable to Locate Southpaw and Lose Out by 6-0 Score.

VETERAN HURLS GREATEST GAME OF CAREER.

Artie Romer, the elongated, wrong-shouldered flinger who used to be out there pegging for Joe Burns and his T. A. B. S. ball club, carved his name in the baseball Hall of Fame yesterday afternoon, when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Abstainers for the New York Police Department nine on the T. A. B. S. field. The score was 6 to 0. Romer's feat goes down in the baseball annals of the New York Police nine as the best bit of pegging ever credited a N. Y. P. D. mound man.

From the beginning it was evident that the coppers were out to give the Tabs the nicest little pasting they've been treated to this season. The whole gang was after everything, and took all kinds of chances. Romer's "serve" was most deceptive, and, with the whole squad livened up to real fighting spirit, the visitors simply whaled into our own little Matty Sheridan for thirteen hits, four of which were infield taps too difficult to be handled for outs.

Twenty-nine Face Romer.

Just twenty-nine Elizabethans faced the big southpaw, and not a single player got past first. In the second Johnny O'Leary drew a free pass; Peploski reached the initial cushion in the seventh when Joe Malsolmson's peg pulled Grother off the bag, and Kaiser perched and glued on first when he forced "Pep" at second with an infield tap to Fennelly at second. In other words, the Tabs didn't have a look-in. It was all Romer.

Johnny O'Leary and John Clougher threatened to break into the hit column in the fifth, but Dave Barry was under O'Leary's long lift in a jiffy despite the muddy territory in which he was forced to labor, and Tienekner in left made another sensational catch of the wicked drive off Clougher's bat. "Big Artie's" most sensational inning was the eighth, in which he pegged just three balls to retire the side.

James Irving Present.

Next to Romer's superb pitching came Jimmy Irving's wonderful work around shortstop. Jimmy had an exceptionally busy afternoon making four put-outs and seven assists. His wonderful stops of hard-hit balls, his throws from difficult angles and the daring chances he took to catch players napping on the keystone bag elicited applause throughout the game. He is the same Jimmy whose playing beat the cops two weeks ago.

The visitors scored their first count in the second on a passed ball. They added two more in the third on a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly and boosted the tally to five in the fifth on a pair of hits and two errors. Keifer scored the sixth run on Froelich's single after smashing a triple to center in the ninth. The score:

JOHN C. ILG

SAW SERVICE IN NOTABLE CIVIL WAR BATTLES.

Edwin Marsh, of 44 Prince street, has again been honored by the New Jersey Department of the G. A. R., by being named one of the ten delegates from this State to the National Encampment to be held next September in Kansas City, Mo. He was elected at the annual State Encampment held last Thursday and Friday in Atlantic City, this being the tenth time he has been appointed as one of New Jersey's representatives to the National encampment.

Mr. Marsh is a native of England, but came to this country with his parents when a boy and settled in this city, where he has resided for sixty-one years. At the outbreak of the Civil War he ran away from home and enlisted in what was then known as the Excelsior Battery of New York. He enlisted on March 5, 1862. The battery was later made the Tenth New York Independent Battery.

During the three years he was in the Union army he participated in a number of battles and had several narrow escapes from being captured by the Confederates while on foraging expeditions. Among the engagements in which he took part were: Cedar Mountain, Sulphur Springs, Second Battle of Bull Run, South Mountain, Snicker's Gap, Chancellorsville, Rappahannock Station, Madison Court House, Spottsylvania, Petersburg, Charlestown, Port Republic, Woodstock Races, Cattlett's Station, Chantilly, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Mine Run, Wilderness, Cold Harbor, Weldon Railroad, Hill Town, Cross Keys and Cedar Creek.

At the Battle of Spottsylvania he was chief ordealy under General Sedgwick and was the last man to whom the officer issued an order before he was shot. He was made a corporal following the Battle of Chancellorsville. During this engagement the cannon with which his squad was working was struck. One man was killed and two others, leaving but four to man the gun. They were ordered to retire, but Mr. Marsh persisted in remaining and kept on firing. As a reward for his service he was given the stripes of a corporal.

Mr. Marsh was discharged at Harper's Ferry, Va., on March 4, 1865. He returned to his home intending to go back to his command at the expiration of a month, but his mother refused to allow him to do so.

For many years he resided downtown, but came uptown to live five years ago. He was engaged in the coal and lumber business, retiring twenty years ago. Mr. Marsh is a member of Judson Kilpatrick Post, No. 61, G. A. R., of which he is a past commander.

URGES SCHOOL SUPPORT.

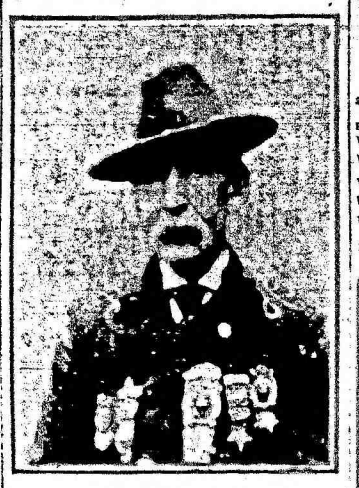
Dr. Mackel Preaches on Needs of Parochial Institutions.

In urging liberal support for St. Patrick's grammar and high schools, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Charles H. Mackel, D. D., rector of St. Patrick's Church, declared in a twenty-minute address at the 10 o'clock mass yesterday morning that the members of the parish should realize the great value of the work the schools are doing. He urged that the members of the parish contribute substantially to the monthly collections as the schools are free institutions, supported entirely by monthly contributions.

The school needs, Dr. Mackel said, were growing apace with the rapidly growing population of the community. These needs must be impressed upon the parishioners, he said, in order that they might understand the necessity for liberality in their support of the institutions.

Loyalty to the Catholic church and to all of its activities, Dr. Mackel declared, demands sacrifices and none to better purpose than the maintenance of the parochial schools at a high standard of excellence.

HONORED FOR TENTH TIME BY G. A. R. OF NEW JERSEY



EDWIN MARSH,

Vice-Admiral Mayo to Succeed Admiral Fletcher.

OTHER CHANGES IN AMERICAN NAVY.

(Special to the Journal.)

Washington, June 19.—When Vice-Admiral H. T. Mayo succeeds Admiral Frank F. Fletcher in command of the Atlantic fleet to-day, he will be advanced to the rank of admiral. Rear Admiral De Witt Coffman, commanding the sixth division of the fleet, will be advanced to the grade of vice admiral, succeeding Admiral Mayo. Admiral Fletcher will automatically become a rear admiral. He will receive an important shore detail.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced these changes after a conference with President Wilson. The Secretary also conferred personally this week with Admirals Fletcher and Mayo.

"When relieved of the command today," said Secretary Daniels, "Admiral Fletcher will have served a little longer than fleet commanders usually serve. He is a splendid officer and has accomplished much with the fleet. He has completed his tour of duty as commanding officer of the fleet, and there is no other reason for the change.

"Admiral Mayo is an officer of great ability, and has rendered splendid service," said Mr. Daniels. "He has the confidence of the officers and men in the entire fleet."

Admiral Mayo is the man who precipitated the trouble with Huerta, which resulted in the occupation of Vera Cruz by American forces. The Admiral insisted that Huerta salute the American flag because of the arrest of American marine at Tampico when they went ashore to get mail. Later marines were landed at Vera Cruz, and Admiral Fletcher was in command of that movement.

In service circles unanimous praise was given to day to Mr. Daniels's selection of Vice Admiral Mayo for the most coveted of posts. There is a particular feeling of satisfaction at the appointment because of the fear that Vice-Admiral Mayo's part in the Tampico affair during the critical days of the struggle with Huerta had placed the officer's star under a cloud.

But Admiral Fletcher proved a strong friend for Vice Admiral Mayo, and when the Atlantic fleet was organized, with Admiral Fletcher in command, Rear Admiral Mayo received command of the battleship squadron and of the first division, with the rank of vice-admiral.

Vice-Admiral Mayor comes to fleet command at the age of 56, retiring in December, 1918. His recent duties have been as commandant of the Mare Island Navy Yard, and for personnel, and division commander in the Atlantic fleet.

ITALIANS FOR EDGE.

To Banquet Republican Gubernatorial Candidate in Newark.

(Special to the Journal.)

Newark, June 19.—One hundred Newark citizens of Italian descent will give a banquet in honor of State Senator Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic City, in the Washington restaurant here to-night, at which the candidacy of Senator Edge for the Republican nomination for Governor will be ratified. It is planned to have every guest sign the following pledge to support the Atlantic City man in the coming primaries:

"We, American citizens of Italian descent of the county of Essex, promise you our sincere support at the primary and the election, and wish you an overwhelming victory."

Gaetano M. Belfatto, president, and the Rev. Peter Di Nardo, vice-president, of the Italo-American Republican League of Essex County, are the leading spirits of the committee arranging the dinner. Senator Edge is billed to make an address.

TO TEST NEW FUEL.

Naval Board Will Try Out Discovery of Trenton Man.

Trenton, June 19.—"Gasofoam," the new fuel discovery by Henry T. Caullett, of Trenton, will be given a thorough test this week under the direction of the committee Internal Combustion Engines of the Navy Consulting Board. Caullett claims for his fuel that it is an effective substitute for gasoline, and that it can be placed upon the market as a comparatively inexpensive commodity. It has been tested by automobile manufacturers, and the reports of the results are highly favorable.

The Naval Board is anxious to determine its adaptability for Government purposes, and arrangements have been made to conduct a test of its merit at the works of the Locomotive Company of America, Bridgeport, Conn.

QUICK TRIP TO CHINA.

Pekin, China, June 10.—The record for trans-Pacific travel from San Francisco to Pekin by the Southern route was lowered twenty-four hours when by rail.

Corporal John Alexander and fourteen privates of the United States Marine Corps arrived here for duty with the American legation guard of Marines, after having been thirty-four days en route from San Francisco. The best previous record was thirty-five days and nine hours.
