SMILES.

—A well-informed man belongs to the true know-ability.

—Little Carrie G. said she liked sea-bathing, only her mouth leaked and let in salt water.

—Don't remark that there's nothing new under the sun. There are sixty new styles of spring bonnets.

—Every woman knows that beauty is not lasting; but a little more can be put on when the first coat fades.

—Why is paper money more valuable than gold. When you put it in your pocket you double it, and when you take it out you find it still increases.

—A family in Boston has a dog twenty-five years old. He was originally a hound, but he's staid with them so long that they now call him a tarrier.

—The exasperated owner of a corner store in Augusta, Me., put up a sign, reading: "Wanted, the ten laziest men in town—to loaf on this corner."

—Lives of grocery men reminds us
They can make their starch half lime,
And with sugar wholly blind us,
Putting sand in all the time.

—An exchange says: "A Texas editor was knocked down and robbed of two dollars." The exchange should give more particulars. Who did the money belong to?

—No one knew why William Burton, of Iowa, laid down and died, until a year after the sad event. Then they found a letter in which he said: "I can not bare to liv after muther has boxt my ears."

—After all, the profession of journalism is the safest of all others. You never hear of an editor losing his life in an ocean disaster, or railroad smash-up. It is, perhaps, a little more tiresome, but it's safer to walk.

—"I say, ma," exclaimed a little minx of thirteen, "do you know what is the pyrotechnical remedy for a crying infant?" "Goodness gracious me, no! I never heard of such a thing!" "Well, ma, it's rocket."

—Her mother said the little creature lived on love, but one month after marriage, when the grocery bill came in, he saw that he had made the greatest oversight of his life by not ascertaining what that particular love was for.

—Judge—"How comes it that you dared break into this gentleman's house in the dead of night?" Prisoner—"Why, judge, the other time you reproached me for stealing in broad day. Am I not to be allowed to work at all?"

—It was a colored preacher who said to his flock: "We have a collection to make this mornin', and for de glory of heaven whichever of you stole Mr. Jones' turkeys don't put anything on de plate." One who was there says: "Every blessed niggah in de church came down with de rocks."

—"Yes," said a fresh girl at a show, "I know my bean goes out between acts, but he's nice and never drinks anything but a cup of coffee, because I can always smell it as plain as day, and I know the smell of coffee from beer or whiskey, if I am a little bit green." It is a very happy thing for a young man to have a girl's confidence.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Winfield Scott Hancock,

OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

William H. English,

OF INDIANA.

HANCOCK—ENGLISH—VICTORY.

The announcement over the wires on Thursday that Winfield Scott Hancock, of Pennsylvania, and William H. English, of Indiana, had been nominated for first and second places on the Democratic ticket was hailed with almost universal delight in this section. The five tried and true friends who are mentioned as being mainly instrumental in bringing about so glorious a result will ever be remembered by a grateful and oppressed people. Not one foul spot can be found on General Hancock's life record, and his party will have no charges to refute, and should, with such a leader, score an easy victory.

Stalwart Republican leaders and the journals representing their views, which generally rave so on such occasions, are now decidedly silent, and the worst they have as yet attempted is that General Hancock is no statesman. Well, would it not be better for their man and his chances that he never had been a statesman? He would in that case be minus the De Golyer and Credit Mobilier weights, an experience that will seriously interfere with his entering the White House. Again, some of the most rabid Republican writers remark that our man "is a soldier, and that's all." Well, their man was a soldier, and retains the honorable title of General, sullied, however, with such attachments as De Golyer, Credit Mobilier, etc., something, of course, which our coming President cannot lay claim to.

We are rather delighted to know that he is not a statesman, even if Republicans are proud of statesmanship qualities, which, in the case of Garfield, means everything tricky and contemptible, even to perjury. Gen. Hancock, in his soldier's life, has displayed the most essential attributes, which go to make up the successful statesman. His judgment and sound sense has been too often illustrated to need comment or eulogy. It is not difficult for a man of his calibre to fit himself for any position, no matter how exalted or responsible. Furthermore, as we stated a few weeks ago, if he is elected he will be President—and "don't you forget it."

William H. English, of Indiana, filled many of the most responsible and dignified offices in the grant of his own State, and is also one of her most successful business men. In 1851 he was chosen Speaker of the Legislature when only twenty-nine years of age. In 1852 he was elected to Congress, and returned for three succeeding terms.

Though an acknowledged statesman, and interested in politics since he was twenty-one years of age, there is not the slightest stain on a name which is revered at home, and will be honored and supported through the length and breadth of the land.

WHERE SHALL WE PASS THE SUMMER.

The female heart often flutters at the question, but the female mind is not always adequate to a wise conclusion. It has been customary with many foolish families to go from one country place to another just for the appearance of being fashionable. Americans, however, are gradually growing more discreet in their notions of summer enjoyment. Perhaps the purse of paterfamilias is not so long as it was, or perhaps there is a greater desire for comfort. Whatever may be the cause, the improvement in our habits is likely to be beneficial to everybody and in all directions. To go from Hoboken to any place but the sea-shore, for the summer, is the height of absurdity. A city is always cooler in the summer than the country, because of the shade not usually found on a farm, and as for regular summer resorts none that can be found in the interior are preferable to Hoboken. Here we have not only rural scenery, and a delightful river view, but cool breezes that are not surpassed by any but those of the immediate sea coast. And the sea coast is not always desirable, because it sometimes induces pulmonary complaints, and during a sudden change in the weather the atmosphere is apt to be altogether too chilling. There is some fun to be had in the Saratoga hotels, but otherwise the place is exceedingly dreary and does not compare in beauty of scenery, with portions of Hudson County. There is fun enough to be had here, for those who choose to be social, and a trip to the gayeties of metropolitan life is always handy. Fishing, hunting, boating and bathing are abundant within easy distance of the most populous sections of our city. No one but downright idiots will make any serious sacrifices now-a-days for the sake of fashion. The country generally has been too much over-worked by mere follies to make anything popular that is not comfortable. To residents of Hoboken, therefore, who ask themselves the question "Where shall we pass the summer?" there is but one legitimate answer—stay at home.

An Enterprising Pastor.

The Reverend D. R. Lowrie, who has presided over the destinies of the First M. E. Church for the past fifteen months, has accomplished more good in that short time than all his predecessors. Mr. Lowrie has been so successful in every undertaking advanced for the benefit of his church, and has so impressed and won his congregation that every move of his is met with their universal approbation and assistance. The latest and most elaborate addition to the interior of the building is a grand Jardine & Son organ, which has been secured mainly through an ingenious mode of contribution introduced by the pastor. The instrument, of which we give a full description below, will be first heard on the occasion of a monster concert, which takes place on the 30th inst., and at which a number of prominent artists will assist:

GREAT ORGAN.
1. Open Diapason.....	8 foot
2. Dulciana.....	8 "
3. Stopped Diapason.....	8 "
4. German Gamba.....	8 "
5. Flute Harmonic.....	4 "
6. Principal.....	4 "
7. Flageolet.....	2 "
8. Mixture.....	3 ranks
9. Trumpet.....	8 foot

SWELL ORGAN.
10. Stopped Diapason.....	8 foot
11. Viola di Gamba.....	8 "
12. Violina.....	4 "

PEDAL ORGAN.
13. Bourdon.....	16 foot
14. Violoncello.....	8 "

MECHANICAL STOPS.
15. Coupler, Swell to Great.
16. Coupler, Great to Pedal.
17. Pedal Check.
18. Tremolo.
19. Bellows.
20. Balanced Swell.

All the stops in this organ are "full stops," with a total of 806 pipes. The key-desk is reversed. The organ is 16 ft. 8 in. wide, 10 ft. 2 in. deep, and 19 ft. 9 in. high. The case is finished to match the church and richly ornamented.

Hager's "Great Republic."

The above entertainment, described as allegory and tableaux, can be better understood as a grand living illustration of all the stirring and eventful incidents connected with the history of America, from the landing of Columbus down to the nomination of General Hancock. Some idea can be formed of its magnitude, when it is known that it requires nearly 500 persons to properly carry out the programme. This number has been selected from among the teachers and scholars of the public schools, besides many volunteers. Professor Hager has been engaged for weeks in training and rehearsing this large number, and is confident, from the intelligence and aptness already displayed, that this wonderful living picture will receive the representation it deserves.

The First M. E. Church has been engaged, and on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, July 8 and 9, will be well worth visiting.

Apart from the great attraction, the object of the entertainment is so praiseworthy that all interested in the schools will, no doubt, be glad to assist. The proceeds go toward establishing a Hoboken Teachers' Library, a much-needed institution, and this fact in itself should secure a large attendance.

The Fellow Who is Named Like Him.

Wm. C. Morris, who ran on the Republican ticket for Councilman from the Second Ward, attributes his defeat to the misfortune of having a namesake in town who is not very popular. Many believed the latter to be the candidate, and consequently cast their vote against him. William Caleb wants it understood that he is not the other "Billie C.," but is an old resident of Hoboken, and for many years has filled the position of Weighmaster at the Morris & Essex R. R. Co.'s dock; that he is a veteran of the Mexican war, was in Gen. Worth's regiment, under Gen. Winfield Scott, and was left for dead on the battle field of Molena Del Ray; that he was quarter-gunner on the U. S. ship Saratoga, and was also Captain in the 133d Regiment New York Volunteers, and we add that we know big William C. to be a pretty good fellow generally. This is not exactly a case of "the fellow that looks like me," but it proves that it is equally as unpleasant to have a fellow who is named like you.

The New Councilman.

Herman L. Timken made a very exciting race for Councilman in the Second Ward last Tuesday, and was elected by a majority of two votes, beating the regular candidates of both parties and an independent. Mr.

Timken was the choice of the property holders of the district, and to their exertions he owes his success. He has already represented the people in the same Board from the Third Ward on three successive occasions, and will enter on the duties of the new position with a knowledge which experience alone can give.

First Gun For Hancock

A Third Ward Hancock campaign club was organized on Thursday night at Mohle's "Orkaloona Hall," corner 9th and Garden streets, by electing the old war-horse, "Pop" McCague, President, Phillip Waldheim, Secretary, and Carsten Offermann, Treas.

LACONICS.

—Firecrackers and torpedoes are already ripe and young America has begun to celebrate the Fourth.

—The Rev. D. R. Lowrie will preach tomorrow morning in the First M. E. Church. Subject, "Light Among the Shadows." Evening Sermon, "Marriage from a Christian Standpoint."

—The Young Men's Democratic Club of the Third Ward will hold their first annual picnic at the Otto Cottage Garden on Wednesday evening. Although this is their first entertainment of this kind, the members have all had experience and thoroughly understand how to entertain their friends.

—The "Merry Twelve," composed of members of Truck No. 1, gave their second annual summernight's festival at the Otto Cottage on Tuesday evening, and it proved a very pleasant affair. The decorations were in good taste, the music good, and everybody went home praising their "merry" entertainment.

—The regatta of the New Jersey Yacht Club, on Wednesday, was a failure as regards a race, owing to no wind. Some wag has been unkind enough to suggest that if Senator Captain Rabe, of the "Minnehaha," had only taken his friend "Windy" along, as ballast, for instance, they would have had sufficient breeze on board—such as it is—to blow them to Halifax.

—A handsome little steam launch, sufficient to accommodate about fifteen persons, recently built by the Messrs. "Gus" and "Jes" Pierrez, will make a trial trip on next Thursday. The boat—not yet christened, but we could probably guess its future name if we would try hard—is intended for the accommodation of small pleasure parties, and will doubtless prove a source of much enjoyment to many of the young people of Hoboken.

—The Reverend Dr. Mabon, for thirty-five years pastor of the Grove Reformed Church, Jersey City Heights, will preach in the First Baptist Church to-morrow forenoon in exchange with the pastor, the Rev. W. Stuart Goodno. The centennial anniversary of the establishment of the first Sunday school in England by Robert Raikes will be celebrated by a grand literary and musical entertainment in the evening by the united forces of the Baptist and Baptist Mission Sunday Schools. The Rev. Dr. Blackall, of New York, will deliver the address.

—During the rehearsal of Professor Hager's "Great Republic" at No. 4 School Thursday afternoon there came near being a "terrible time," as a very indignant young lady expressed it. A pitched battle was imminent, in which five women and one man were likely to take part. It turned out, however, to be hardly serious enough to be termed even "a tempest in a teapot," and was nothing more or less than a misunderstanding all around, which every one interested, we trust, regrets. For the time being some of the young ladies were more or less "just mad enough to cry"—a tableau, by the way, we don't care to witness, no matter how interesting the subject.

Fraternity Lodge on Land and Water.

About as jolly a party as ever "set sail on a barge" left Hoboken Thursday morning in company with the members of Fraternity Lodge, I. O. O. F., to visit Excelsior Grove, up the Hudson. The commodious barge "Caledonia" was "not too full, but just full enough" to be comfortable. The ladies were "not too full of fun, but just funny enough" to appreciate a good time, and the men—well, although some of them managed to get pretty fully of—, yet none were too full either, but just right, and the result, when everything is just as it ought to be, is always pleasant. The grove was reached after three hours' delightful sail, and then the festivities began in earnest, starting with lunching on the green. An impromptu match at quoit pitching was arranged between teams consisting of four single men—Messrs. W. N. Parslow, Lewis R. McCulloch, John Johnson and John McCulloch—against four married men—Messrs. Thos. Miller, J. C. Gahagan, Wm. Hammill, and A. W. Lattime—the former under the captaincy of Coroner Parslow and the latter led by ex-Councilman Miller, who, the way, is quite an expert. The married men succeeded in carrying off the laurels and a keg of beer besides. The youngsters were bent on satisfaction, and, inviting their late opponents to the shooting gallery, completely vanquished them by a score of 113 to 86. Coroner Parslow and Trustee McCulloch particularly distinguishing themselves, while John Johnson and John McCulloch also proved tolerable good marksmen. Not the slightest trouble or unpleasantness occurred during the day to in the slightest way mar the pleasure of the occasion, although some excitement was caused by the report that a row-boat, containing a man and boy, upset, and that the latter had been drowned. It was learned later that the occupants of the boat belonged to a New York party which had landed at the grove above, and the fears of several excited mammas accordingly subsided. After four hours of genuine enjoyment on terra firma, the party started for home, arriving at the Fifth street dock about 7 o'clock, and having but one fault to find and that was the time had been too short by half. The whole arrangement was ably managed by J. E. W. Kuper and E. E. Bentell, while Wm. N. Parslow, J. G. Gahagan, A. W. Lattime, Thos. Fields, Jno. Geery, Louis Meyers, Oscar Hauger, Robert Russ, C. Stuart, J. C. Field, C. Peterson, Wm. Tate, Wm Ward, John Wurdeman, Henry Gercken, Robert Nichols, F. Herwig, Jr., Chris. Dall and Henry Kubel also took an active interest. Several prominent city officials and their families were present, and that inveterate punster was also "on board," and had several very narrow escapes.

A Good Ship and Poor Crew.

The genial Harry Van Holland sailed over the course in company with the yachts of the New Jersey Club last Wednesday in his cat-boat, named the "Bald-Headed Snipe of the Valley." Harry regrets that the B. H. S. O. T. V. was not regularly entered, as he thinks he could have made it lively for some of the "crack 'uns." Mr. Van Holland, who is considerable of a mariner, was assisted by a crew composed of junior members of the Young Men's Christian Association of New York, and, though he made excellent time, thinks he could have done better with a few sailors on board. We will watch the career of the B. H. S. O. T. V. and her gallant commander.

Public School Graduates.

The examination of pupils of the Public Schools for admission to the High School, which closed last week, was very thorough and in the main satisfactory. The percentage obtained by many of the aspirants being quite flattering and much higher than was necessary to pass. The subjoined list gives the name of pupil, number of school and percentage:

[From the St. Louis Times.]

The other day a lady, accompanied by her son, a very small boy, boarded a train at Little Rock. The woman had a careworn expression hanging over her face like a tattered veil, and many of the rapid questions asked by the boy were answered by unconscious sighs.

"Ma," said the boy, "that man's like a baby, ain't he?" pointing to a bald-headed man sitting just in front of them.

"Hush!"

"Why must I hush?"

After a few moments' silence: "Ma, what's the matter with that man's head?"

"Hush, I tell you. He's bald."

"What's bald?"

"His head hasn't got any hair on it."

"Did it come off?"

"I guess so."

"Will mine come off?"

"Some time, may be."

"Then I'll be bald, won't I?"

"Yes."

"Will you care?"

"Don't ask so many questions."

After another silence the boy exclaimed:

"Ma, look at that fly on that man's head."

"If you don't hush I'll whip you when we get home."

"Look! There's another fly. Look at 'em fight—look at 'em."

"Madam," said the man, putting aside a newspaper and looking around, "what's the matter with that young hyena?"

The woman blushed, stammered out something, and attempted to smooth back the boy's hair.

"One fly, two flies, three flies," said the boy, innocently, following with his eyes a basket of oranges carried by the newsboy.

"Here, you young hedgehog," said the bald-headed man, "if you don't hush I'll have the conductor put you off the train."

The poor woman, not knowing what else to do, boxed the boy's ears, and then gave him an orange to keep him from crying.

"Ma, have I got red marks on my head?"

"I'll slap you again if you don't hush."

"Mister," said the boy, "does it hurt to be bald-headed?"

"Youngster," said the man, "if you'll keep quiet I'll give you a quarter."

The boy promised and the money was paid over.

The man took up his paper and resumed his reading.

"This is my bald headed money," said the boy. "When I get bald-headed I am going to give boys money. Mister, have all bald-headed men got money?"

The annoyed man threw down his paper, arose, and exclaimed: "Madam, hereafter when you travel leave that young gorilla at home. Hitherto I have always thought that the old prophet was very cruel for calling the she-bears to kill children for making sport of his head, but now I am forced to believe that he did a Christian act. If your boy had been in the crowd he would have died first. If I can't find another seat on this train I'll ride on the cow-catcher rather than remain in here."

"The bald headed man is gone," said the boy, and the woman leaned back and blew a tired sigh from her lips.

Four Rich Men.

The Liverpool Courier gives some rather interesting particulars as to the four men who are supposed to be the most wealthy living. Of these the poorest is His Grace the Duke of Westminster, whose income is set down at £800,000 a year. Taking it at that sum, the amount which the duke can spend without intruding on his capital is £2,000 a day, £80 per hour, and £1 10s a minute. The next man in the ascending scale is Senator Jones, of Nevada, whose income is valued exactly at one million stering, giving him the right to spend, if he likes, £2 a minute out of the revenue. The head of the Rothschild family comes next, with a yearly income of two millions, and the expenses which he can defray thereout are of course double as great as those of the Senator. At the top of the list comes Mr. J. W. Mackey, with a revenue of two and three-quarter millions, which enables him to disburse £7,000 a day, £300 an hour, and £5 a minute. The fortunes of the other three are insignificant if compared with this gentleman's wealth; for they were the growth of many years either of successful toil or lucky speculation or both combined. But Mr. Mackey, as the Courier remarks, was thirty years ago a penniless boy in Ireland. Sixteen years ago he was bankrupt, and now he is the owner of the richest silver mine that has ever been discovered.

Greatness of Soul.

To most of us the events that affect us are the greatest things of life. A birth, a death, a marriage, the accession of a fortune, the loss of property, the removal of our family, a change of occupation—these and other vicissitudes mark the dial plate of our existence, and stand out with unequalled prominence. Not so it is to the man with a truly great soul. He sees something larger than all these, something strong enough to hold them, and wide enough to contain them, yet superior to them. George Eliot, in her "Felix Holt," makes Esther—a young girl just waking into thought—say to her father, "That must be the best life." "What life, my dear child?" "Why, that where one bears and does everything because of some great and strong feeling, so that this and that in one's circumstances don't signify." She uttered a deeper truth than she imagined. The best life, the most valuable, and the most solidly happy, is one which is full of something out of self—so intent on some noble enterprise, or rendered so enthusiastic by an ideal of what life should be—that the events which ripple its surface do not disturb its full and deep undercurrent.

Notice to Contractors and Workmen.

BOARD OF EDUCATION, HOBOKEN, N. J.

The Board of Education invites bids on the following parcels of work to be done during the Summer vacation of the schools, and which must be completed by August 20th, 1880. The Board does not bind itself to contract for all these parcels of work to be done during vacation, nor to give the work to the lowest bidder, if it thinks the interests of the city require it to be otherwise done.

Separate bids will be made and endorsed for each parcel of work, and presented to the Clerk of the Board of Education not later than July 12th, 1880, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Board Room in School No. 4.

Plans and specifications for the various parts of said work will be found at the store of Trustee Anderson, No. 126 Washington Street, Hoboken, N. J.:

1—Cleaning walls and kalsomining ten rooms in School No. 1 and three rooms in School No. 3.

2—Painting all the rear doors and outside of outside windows and window frames in Schools Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The sills to have two coats and the balance one coat of any shade of color selected.

3—All the outside blinds on Schools Nos. 1, 2 and 3 to be repaired and made good in all respects, and be painted one coat of any shade of brown or green selected, except the blinds on No. 3 School, which will have two coats.

4—A fence on the north side of School No. 4, about one hundred and twenty feet long and eight feet high, boards to be tongued and grooved, mill planed and beaded, and have square chestnut posts sunk four feet in the ground.

5—A certain amount of blue stone flagging and Belgian block paving in the yards and rear entrance to School No. 4, (probably about four thousand feet—superficial—between flagging and paving).

6—Putting in two floors in the wings of School No. 3, and doing the work needed to finish and complete the four class rooms thus made, according to plans and specifications to be furnished.

7—Painting and graining all the inside wood-work now painted and grained in School No. 3. The wooden partitions will receive one coat and retain the same color as now.

8—Put in a steam supply pipe in School No. 4—of the same size and quality as the other steam supply pipes in basement at present—under the basement ceiling from the boiler, to which it will be connected, to the front of the front pier of brick, carry it thence up to the front of said brick pier to the third floor. Furnish and set up a radiator for each floor of the same quality as the other radiators in the building, and double the size of those in the Board Room; also furnish two radiators for the front hall of the same size as those in the Board Room. All these radiators and pipes to have all necessary connections, cocks, valves and cut-offs, and other needed attachments complete; to have a cut-off cock on the supply pipe near the boiler; also between each story.
