THERE IS A BRIGHT SPOT ON THE SKY.

The following gem we clip from a recent issue of the New York Ledger, and take great pleasure in reproducing it. It is from the gifted pen of Jersey's most favored poet, Hugh F. McDermott, editor and proprietor of the Jersey City Herald:

The dream of years sometimes betrays
A golden grief o'er golden days—
That grief which chants on memory's shell
The dirges of a dead farewell.
But when their strains grow low and die,
There is a bright spot on the sky.

With all life's ills I am content,
If well my days are daily spent.
When shadows from a distant land
Shall come and lead me by the hand,
Resigned I'll go without a sigh,
For there's a bright spot on the sky.

Should hearts grow cold and men forget
The hand that placed them in its debt—
Since error is the fate of all,
And some will stand while some will fall,
No man by me shall prostrate lie
While there's a bright spot on the sky.

This world is good, this land is fair,
And all are free its joys to share.
But roses bloom and roses fade,
And brightest jewels have their shade;
If gloom surround then gaze on high;
There is a bright spot on the sky.

In every home let sunshine dwell,
On every face let kindness tell;
In every heart let joy delight;
And should some sorrow dim the sight,
Take courage, then, and look on high,
For there's a bright spot on the sky.

To other hearts and other hands,
To other climes and other lands,
The coast is dark along that main
Whose pilgrims ne'er return again;
But in that long and last good-by
A star will lead from sky to sky.

THE "SPIELER'S" PRIDE.

The Joy of the "Tuffs" in Developing the "Dip."

The latest and most disgusting innovation on terpsichore, which it would be a crime to call dancing, is what is known among "de tuffs" as the "Knickerbocker Dip," and introduced by some third-rate professor in New York. To begin with, hanging would be too good for the author, and as far as his followers are concerned they should be entirely ostracised by even that class attending the ordinary pic-nic. It is impossible to imagine anything in the way of pedal evolution so entirely devoid of the slightest grace or poetry of motion. No female making the slightest pretensions to respectability has been discovered, so far, engaging in this undignified pastime, and a sensitive woman would not care to be present where it is in progress. There is some consolation in this fact, yet it often occurs that most select parties are intruded upon—through some means or other known only to the craft—by the veriest rowdies of both sexes, and under some circumstances are almost forced to be witnesses of this disgusting exhibition of the depraved. Fortunately, however, "de dip" is not likely to become popular, and I hope, for the sake of the respectable portion of the community, that it will never gain a footing in the more select circles of society.

It was the writer's misfortune, last week, to attend officially a "summernight's festival," or some such affair, at a prominent garden in this city. The members of the club and their guests were, in the main, apparently of the better class. A few of those pests of all public places, known as "pivoters" or "spielers," also happened to be there, and every one of them engaged in the "dip," of course. If a waltz was played, they "dipped;" if a polka, they "dipped;" they "dipped" through the lanciers and quadrilles also, and some even attempted the "slide and dip" during the march. It was my misfortune, as I have already stated, to be present, but the pain was more than counteracted when two over grown loafers, not worthy of being called men, and who were among the "dippers," were thrown bodily into the street, sans ceremonie, by the officers of the club. This brace of beauties endeavored to argue their rights, having paid their way, etc., while it was plainly depicted in their every feature and style that they were of that class who would rather scale an 18-foot fence than pay 25 cents and be honest, even though the entertainment was for the benefit of some poor widow, and that widow a near relation. It was later ascertained that the pair who had been ejected were seen entering over the fence shortly before. Admitting even that such a class pay their way, it affords them no licence to bring a respectable gathering into ill repute or to offend and annoy the majority present. Under some circumstances, and particularly where such characters are concerned, "might makes right," but where the former is lacking in the rough element, they should be obliged to behave themselves just so long as their superiors in respectability and intelligence are prepared to tolerate their presence.

Of the damsels who have so far encouraged this outrage, they are about on a par with the male "dippers," and can be easily recognized at any pleasure party by always coming alone. In nine cases out of ten they find their company on the inside, and can be specially distinguished by never, well ha— going out to supper, and always waiting until the orchestra sounds "Home, Sweet Home."

I do not know whether such displays come under the jurisdiction of the authorities, but I do consider it the duty of both the pulpit and the press to seriously agitate the subject whenever and wherever it may come to their notice, and much good would surely result from such a course. Night pic-nics can be conducted respectably if the managers of clubs, associations, etc., will devise some means of dealing with a class which has already brought this mode of pleasure into disrepute. As far as I am concerned, I would advise all parties having such matters in charge to under no consideration tolerate "de dip." This would be so much for a starter. Furthermore, if they decline, for their own self-respect, to carry out this suggestion, let them be considered in the same light as the few disreputable offenders and be so reported to the public. To encourage a wrong or nuisance by toleration makes one a party to the offence.

In the future, any officer of a club who shall permit this abuse, to the annoyance and disgust of their friends and, in many instances, relatives, will be so reported by

SHYANN.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Winfield Scott Hancock,

OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

William H. English,

OF INDIANA.

A LAME EXCUSE.

The most novel defence yet offered in behalf of Garfield is contained in some peculiar remarks uttered by Hon. Thos. Kinsella, and eagerly caught up by the Republican press as important evidence from the Democratic side of the house. The burden of Mr. Kinsella's song is simply that Garfield is poor. So much the worse. The American people like manhood even in a rogue. Garfield's poverty only proves his lack of courage in fraudulent transactions. He has shown his willingness to sell his honor at any time, but his natural smallness of soul limits him to the littlest operations. A pickpocket is no less a scoundrel in mind than a burglar. All that Garfield dislikes in the premises is the being found out. The people don't care to elect a man to the high office of President when they know him to be mean enough to perjure himself for a matter of $329. If he had imitated the example of Logan and said (as Logan said) "Yes, I had shares in the Credit Mobilier," he would have stood much better in public estimation. But he said, "I never received any shares nor agreed to receive any." Subsequent developments proved him to be a flat-footed perjurer, and that's where the shoe pinches. He is only poor because he is too mean and short-sighted a man to go in heavily. He is willing enough to make money. The defence won't do.

INDIFFERENT POSTMASTERS.

If the triumph of Democracy in the coming Presidential campaign accomplishes nothing for the nation beyond the removal of incompetent and unprincipled Postmasters, it will achieve wonders and be hailed with acclamations of joy everywhere. Even the residents of West Hoboken, Democrats and Republicans alike, have for years complained of their Postmaster, who is accused of being incorrigibly stupid. Some people say he can scarcely read. Yet he is retained in office against actual protests that have been forwarded to Washington by citizens who are not politicians. In New York city there has been more petty thieving by letter-carriers and clerks than ever occurred under any other administration than that of Thomas L. James, who appears to be only fitted for farm labor. He uses no discretion in his selection of employees, and even the blunders committed by them would make an interesting history by themselves. It was hoped that the verdict of $60,000 damages recently rendered against him for infringement on a patent would sicken him of the Postmastership, but his appearance at Chicago, hand-and-glove with leading Republicans, gives token that he means to make up the deficiency directly out of other people's pockets. There is no office that should be held more sacred than that of Postmaster; but it is one least regarded by Republican leaders.

"The Great Republic."

J. M. Hager's great historic entertainment, "The Great Republic," produced in allegory and tableaux, came off at the First M. E. Church on Thursday and Friday evenings. The magnitude of Prof. Hager's undertaking may be conceived when it is considered that he had to carry out a programme embracing nearly every incident of historic importance in the history of the country from its discovery to the glorious ending of the war and the lamentable assassination of President Lincoln. As an allegorical representation, we assert, defying contradiction, that nothing so grand has ever been even attempted, nor has anything so correct as a truthful picture of past events ever come before the eye of any audience in this country. Every unbiased spectator of the entertainment must admit that, from beginning to end, it consisted of nothing but truthful portrayals, in language and tableaux, of important events which had happened in days gone by, and which were rendered in the most suitable language of poetry, prose and dialogue; while the scenes and groups of allegorical tableaux have never been equalled by anything of a similar nature. The rendition of the different parts, by those selected to carry out the entertainment, would do credit to some of our best elocutionists, and speaks well for the ability of the teachers and scholars of Hoboken's public schools, from whose ranks a majority of the performers were selected. There were also a number of ladies and gentlemen not connected with the schools, who acquitted themselves handsomely. The church was crowded in every part both evenings, and we congratulate Prof. Hager on the successful consummation of his truly wonderful and inimitable allegory and tableaux, while we must express our regret that, not having a programme, we are unable to give the names of those who assumed the various roles in the entertainment. We are happy, however, to be able to announce that the receipts were large, and will materially assist in establishing a Hoboken Teachers' Library, which was the object aimed at by the projectors and patrons of the entertainment.

Depravity—Inhumanity.

The case of Jacob Kuntz, who shot his wife and then killed himself, on Wednesday morning, at Union Hill, discloses traits of character which, for downright inhumanity, barbarity and cruelty, it was, we believe, very generally supposed, could not be combined in any one member of the human family. From the earliest recollection of his eldest son he was in the habit of abusing and whipping both wife and family, and on one occasion having belabored his wife so badly that he thought she was dead, he set to work in a cold-blooded, systematic manner to bury the victim in the snow to a depth of fifteen feet, intending to remove the remains to a better place of concealment when occasion would suit. In one year he shot at his son twenty-six times, and the son produces one of the balls which had taken effect. He has been time and again arrested for offenses of a murderous character, and at the time of the commission of the final tragedy, he was under two bonds for similar offenses. So bad was this man as a father and husband, that the son, with a horrible imprecation, expressed joy at the fact of his being "out of the way now." Of course, with such a brute in human shape, the wife could not remain, and nine weeks before the committal of the last dread deed she left her home and received a refuge in the house of a married son. But here she was pursued by his devilish malignity—watching the house nightly for a chance to carry out a fiendish threat to take her life. How well he succeeded the bloody corpse of the unnatural suicide and the bleeding form of the dying wife but too plainly attest.

Graduates of the High School.

The examination of the graduating class of the Hoboken High School for 1880 came to a close last week. The result was highly satisfactory to the teachers, and speaks well for the aptitude of the scholars; and we doubt much if any similar institution in this State, or, perhaps, we might say in the whole country, can display a better showing than that we give below. And it affords us pleasure to congratulate teachers, pupils, and the parents of the latter on this happy result. Surely, Hoboken may well feel proud of its High School, and its graduating class of 1880:

The New School Trustee.

The Committee of the City Council appointed to investigate the Hoffman School Trustee matter, decided adversely as regards that gentleman's right to hold his seat after a change of residence from the Third Ward. At the last session of the Council Thomas S. O'Brien, a well-known and brilliant writer and principal of a New York school, was unanimously appointed to fill the vacancy. Ex-Trustee Hoffman still believes he could retain his seat in the School Board if he felt so disposed, but admits that after so judicious a selection by the Council, which he considers perfectly satisfactory to the public and so agreeable to himself, that he is prepared to endorse their action.

LACONICS.

—The "fire laddies" of Engine Company No. 1 go on their annual moonlight excursion next Friday.

—A large banner, representing Hancock and English, will soon be thrown across Washington street.

—Robert Gantzberg, Jr., son of the proprietor of the Theatre Comique, sails for Berlin next Thursday, to be gone a year.

—The Knights of Honor and their many friends will view Coney Island by moonlight, gaslight and electric light on Tuesday, the 20th inst.

—The Rev. John Small, Jr., of Drew Theological Seminary, will preach in the M. E. Free Tabernacle to-morrow at 10:30 A. M. and 7:45 P. M.

—The teachers and children of the public schools were yesterday granted their annual vacation, which will continue until the first Monday in September.

—The new ferryboat "Lackawanna," recently built at Newburg for the Ferry Company, will arrive here and be put on one of the lines in a few days.

—The Rev. D. R. Lowrie will preach to-morrow at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. in the First M. E. Church. Vesper services before the evening sermon, which will be "Woman's Love; or, The Beautiful Queen."

—Charles Ackerman and Charles Gaunt, two promising young oarsmen of this city, both of whom are to participate in the Lake George regatta, have arrived at that place and are quartered at the Lake House.

—On Tuesday the teachers of the public schools, the members of the High School, and the adults taking part in the "Great Republic" allegory and tableaux, will go to Coney Island on the steamer Morrisania.

—There is one thing certain, our friend Stack is as energetic at street cleaning and repairing as he is at everything else he takes hold of. This is very evident from the condition of the streets since he took charge.

—The annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, of this State, will be held at Bordentown, beginning August 23d and ending on the 27th. On the last day there will be a sham battle between the land and naval forces.

—William McIntyre, a crazy Philadelphian, created a sensation on Washington street Thursday evening, by offering money to passers-by. He was taken into custody and, after being placed in a cell, tried twice to strangle him-self. Yesterday morning, by order of the Recorder, he was sent to the County Jail to await the action of Dr. Converse.

—The Young Men's Democratic Club of the Third Ward netted $35 at their festival, which took place at Otto Cottage Garden last month. At their meeting Thursday evening they decided unanimously to donate the amount to St. Mary's Hospital. No better use could be made of this sum or no more deserving institution rewarded. We heartily concur with the action of our young Democratic friends. The same club intend shortly raising a Hancock-English banner, the location to be decided at their next meeting.

—"Pete" Boncelet is one of the jolliest, as well as most agreeable, boys among the happy crowd known as the Equitable Social Club. "Pete" is also determined to keep up the reputation of the club for being social, convivial, etc., and sometimes the good-natured "Pete" does too much for the cause. On their chowder excursion to Saltersville, on Monday last, our friend was dead—waked and buried before he knew it; or, in other words, "Pete" was taken bodily from the wagon to the club room, where his friends "laid him out," and sang over him until he came to his senses. He's sorry, and will never do so any more.

Death of Thomas McDermott.

At a special meeting of Excelsior Engine Company, No. 2, held Monday evening, July 5th, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our late friend and fellow-member Thomas McDermott, who, although associated with us as a member of Excelsior Engine, No. 2, but a short period, had endeared himself to us all by the earnest and energetic manner in which he discharged the duties devolving upon him as a member of the Hoboken Fire Department, and

Whereas, It is but meet and right that this Company, at this time, shows its respect for his memory, and the appreciation in which he was held for his many excellent traits of character, and the loss it has sustained in his demise; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Thomas McDermott, this Company has lost an active member from its rolls, one who in the discharge of his duties was ever found ready and willing, and whose loss will be deeply deplored; and we sincerely sympathize with the bereaved family and share in their sorrow in this hour of their trial and affliction; and further

Resolved, That Excelsior Engine Company No. 2 in token of the memory of our deceased brother fireman, do attend the funeral in a body, and that the house and apparatus be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days; and further

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered at large on the minutes, published in all the papers of the city and a copy be presented to the family of the deceased.

Sad Case of Insanity.

It is with extreme regret that we have to announce the melancholy fate which has befallen one of our most widely-known and popular fellow citizens, Mr. Alexander Mydleton. He was nominated as a member of the Police Board by ex-Mayor Besson, previous to the election of the latter gentleman's successor, and since that time he has exhibited symptoms of such a desponding nature, believing that some untoward monetary misfortune was likely to overtake him and bring his wife and family into a state of dependency, and showing such symptoms of hypochondriacal derangement of the mind, that his friends considered it necessary to provide for his safe-keeping; and, in pursuance of this intention, the unfortunate gentleman was on Wednesday last conveyed to the State Lunatic Asylum at Morris Plains.

COUNCILMANIC NOTES.

The Council, at its last session, commenced by receiving and referring to appropriate committee a petition from property owners in the Fourth Ward asking for the construction of an open sewer at the corner of Second and Jackson streets. The Council also referred for consideration the petition of Joseph Mevius, park keeper, praying for payment of his salary, which, he alleges, was vetoed in a spirit of capriciousness by ex-Mayor Besson. Contractor Shortel complained of the want of a suitable place to dump ashes and garbage refuse, and asked the Board to provide a proper place for that purpose. The matter will, of course, receive proper official consideration.

Several architects presented protests against the decision of the Committee of the Whole in awarding the prizes for plans and specifications for the new City Hall to Mr. Himpler and to Messrs. Beyer & Tivy; but the Council, at a subsequent part of its proceedings, confirmed the action of the Committee of the Whole.

Upon the recommendation of the Committee on Laws and Ordinances Mr. Mausell was allowed $100 as extra compensation for the assiduous and untiring labor and ability bestowed by that gentleman on the altering and correcting of the tax sale books, and as a mark of the Council's appreciation of Mr. Mausell's services, the Board passed a resolution authorizing the payment of $50 of the award on account.

The Mayor vetoed the resolution of the Council advising a conference with the stand-owners now occupying sites on Market Square. His Honor also vetoed the resolution authorizing the purchase of new gold badges for the Chief and Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department, alleging as his reason that the badges belonged to the city, and that the officials, on retiring from service, should turn over the insignia of office to their successors.

The collection of $673 was reported by City Clerk Alberts, which was transferred by that gentleman to the City Treasurer.

The completion of the Jefferson street improvement was duly reported, and the books and accounts of Collector McMahon and ex-Street Commissioner Hefferan, which had received a thorough examination by City Accountant Clark, were reported correct by that gentleman.

The vacancy in the Third Ward School Trusteeship, occasioned by the non residence in the ward of ex-Judge Hoffman, was, upon motion of Councilman Mehan, directed to be filled by T. S. O'Brien, of considerable journalistic fame, and Principal of a Grammar School in New York. Although amendments were moved to substitute the names of Thos. Miller and Charles Erlenkoetter, Councilman Mehan's motion was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Warrants for $200 and $100 respectively in favor of G. Himpler and Messrs. Beyer & Tivy, for having submitted the best plans and specifications for the new City Hall were ordered drawn; the ordinance for improving Madison street was passed to its third reading; the Chairman announced the changes in the Committees, occasioned by the election of H. L. Timken for the Second Ward, and, under his revision, will stand as follows:

- Finance and Salaries—Crissy, Curtin, Mehan.
- Public Grounds and Buildings—Quirk, Curtin, Kaufmann.

—Dutchmen are but boys of larger growth.
—Gloves last the longest with the lady who has a diamond ring.
—No man can truly feel for the poor without feeling in his pocket.
—Men are geese, women are ducks, and birds of a feather flock together.

—A city woman will pick up a clothes-prop fourteen feet long to drive a two-ounce chicken out of the yard.

—One of the saddest and most vexatious trials that comes to a girl after she marries is that she has to discharge her mother and depend on a servant girl.

—Arabella (on her toes in a chair, clutching convulsively at her skirts)—“Oh! Bridget! A mouse! a mouse! Come catch it, quick!” Bridget—“Shure mum, there's no hurry. If this one gets away, I can catch plenty more for yer, mum.”

—But few words rhyme with “Advertiser.”

The Advertiser,
He is wiser
Than the Kaiser,

About exhaust the panel.—Detroit Free Press. Then perhaps you never heard that: There once was a miser who lived by a geyser and fast rolling Iser, and married Elizer, and tried to advise her that no early riser would ever despise her, but highly would prize her, if early she hies her to kitchen and fries her old man's appetizer in the shape of a good breakfast before he gets up in the morning. And the panel isn't exhausted.—Philadelphia Bulletin. It seems as if you ought to cry sir! if you don't some one else will.

—A dashing young man in St. Paul
Loved a maiden exceedingly tall;
Two nights in the week
He would muster up cheek
And make the fair creature a call.

One day her pa shouldered his gun,
And went out to discover the son
Of a sea-cook who would
On a young heart intrude,
And say he was only in fun.

He met the young man in a store,
And blew him out through the front door;
A father-in-law jury
Let him off in a hurry,
But the boys shunned that girl evermore.

—A sea cap'n, who was asked by his wife to look at some pianos while he was in the city, with a view of buying her one, wrote home to her:—“I saw one that I thought would suit you, black walnut hull, strong buckheads, strengthened fore and aft with iron frame, sealed with white wood and maple. Rigging: steel wire—double on the ratlines, and whipped wire on the lower stays, and heavier cordage. Belaying pins of steel, and well driven home. Length of taffrail, over all, six feet one inch. Breadth of beam thirty-eight inches, depth of hold fourteen inches. Hatches can be battered down proof against ten-year-old boys and commercial drummers, or can be clewed up, on occasion, and sheeted home for a first-class instrumental cyclone.”

Notice to Contractors and Workmen.

BOARD OF EDUCATION,
HOBOKEN, N. J.

The Board of Education invites bids on the following parcels of work to be done during the Summer vacation of the schools, and which must be completed by August 20th, 1880. The Board does not bind itself to contract for all these parcels of work to be done during vacation, nor to give the work to the lowest bidder, if it thinks the interests of the city require it to be otherwise done.

Separate bids will be made and endorsed for each parcel of work, and presented to the Clerk of the Board of Education not later than July 12th, 1880, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Board Room in School No. 4.

Plans and specifications for the various parts of said work will be found at the store of Trustee Anderson, No. 126 Washington Street, Hoboken, N. J.:

1—Cleaning walls and kalsomining ten rooms in School No. 1 and three rooms in School No. 3.

2—Painting all the rear doors and outside of outside windows and window frames in Schools Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The sills to have two coats and the balance one coat of any shade of color selected.

3—All the outside blinds on Schools Nos. 1, 2 and 3 to be repaired and made good in all respects, and be painted one coat of any shade of brown or green selected, except the blinds on No. 3 School, which will have two coats.

4—A fence on the north side of School No. 4, about one hundred and twenty feet long and eight feet high, boards to be tongued and grooved, mill planed and beaded, and have square chestnut posts sunk four feet in the ground.

5—A certain amount of blue-stone flagging and Belgian block paving in the yards and rear entrance to School No. 4, (probably about four thousand feet—superficial—between flagging and paving).

6—Putting in two floors in the wings of School No. 3, and doing the work needed to finish and complete the four class rooms thus made, according to plans and specifications to be furnished.

7—Painting and graining all the inside wood-work now painted and grained in School No. 2. The wooden partitions will receive one coat and retain the same color as now.

8—Put in a steam supply pipe in School No. 4—of the same size and quality as the other steam supply pipes in basement at present—under the basement ceiling from the boiler, to which it will be connected, to the front of the front pier of brick, carry it thence up to the front of said brick pier to the third floor. Furnish and set up a radiator for each floor of the same quality as the other radiators in the building, and double the size of those in the Board Room; also furnish two radiators for the front hall of the same size as those in the Board Room. All these radiators and pipes to have all necessary connections, cocks, valves and cut-offs, and all needed attachments complete; to have a cut-off cock on the supply pipe near the boiler; also between each story.
