—A two-foot rule—Don't wear tight shoes.
—A regular attendant at the club—A policeman.

—It doesn't tire a man to put down a carpet so much as it ires him.

—The man who invests his money in mines must, in order to be successful, mine his own business.

—There are some men so talkative, that nothing but the toothache can make one of them hold his jaw.

—If a man would only strike but an instant sooner than he does, he would get the mosquito every time.

—It is said that Ohio wives do their own house work. Now that is the kind of a no hire idea that we like.

—It hurts a man just about as much to burn him in effigy as it does to have his shadow on a stone wall butted by a goat.

—The latest novelty is a "barometer handkerchief." Your wife can tell by the perfume of the article, whether you've been to the bar or not.

—"Will your mother ever marry again?" he inquired. "Not with my approval," she answered. "Such is my opinion thus far, and not a step father."

—"Bedad," exclaimed a patriotic Irishman, "but it's a ripe water-melon that should be the emblem of Ireland. It always has the green above the red."

—Whenever a doctor makes his appearance in a new settlement in the far West, the inhabitants know that it is about time to pick out a location for a cemetery

—The Baroness Rothschilds paid 20,000 francs to have a cataract taken from her eye! Good gracious! wonder how much she pays to have the waterfall taken off her head!

—"The only reason why I got my ears boxed," said Johnny, "was because when mother said a neighbor had borrowed a hen of her, I said the lent-hen season had arrived."

—During a hailstorm in Troy, a boy heaved a twenty-pound cake of ice into the street, and over fifty persons made oath that it was a hailstone, and that they heard it strike a roof and bound off.

—When two women, who are friends, meet on the street, they smile right there. When two men, who are friends, meet on the street, they adjourn to the nearest saloon to "smile." The latter method is the most expensive.

—A California girl was guilty of a mean trick the other day. She eloped with her objectionable lover the same day her mother was enamelled; and, as the latter was compelled to remain shut up three days, or else crack all over, the couple managed to get away without pursuit.

—Fast time.—Several men lately swam the Mississippi river above New Orleans on a wager. A reporter of the race says: "None of them seemed to be putting forth much effort till it was discovered that an alligator had struck out from shore as a competitor; and then—well, every man did his best to keep the alligator from carrying off the stakes."

—A drag driven by an elegantly attired lady, with a trim and neatly dressed colored boy perched on the footman's seat behind, was passing through the street, when it was espied by an old negro woman. "Bress de Lord," she exclaimed, raising her hands as she spoke, "bress de Lord, I never 'spected to see dat. Wonder what dat young cullud gemmen pays dat young white woman for driving dat kerridge? I know'd it'd come, but never 'spected to lib to see it. Dis nigga's ready to go 'way now."

—A clergyman in Pittsburg lately married a lady with whom he received the substantial dowry of $10,000 and a fair prospect for more. Soon afterwards, while occupying the pulpit, he gave out a hymn, read the first four stanzas and was reading the fifth,

"Forever let my grateful heart
H's boundless grace adore," when he hesitated and exclaimed, "Ahem. The choir will omit the fifth verse," and sat down. The congregation, attracted by his apparent confusion, read the remaining lines:

"Which gives ten thousand blessings now,
And bids me hope for more."

THE NEXT ASSEMBLYMAN.

Although the renomination of Mr. James Curran for the Assembly was for weeks past considered certain, yet we were forced to think with the old darkey that "white man very uncertain," until the matter was definitely and emphatically settled Saturday night by the gentleman being the choice on the first ballot. We know of no political or public reasons why it should be otherwise. Of course, every prominent man must have enemies and Mr. Curran is no exception. He has found it necessary in his official career to differ in views even with good friends, creating thereby a personal animosity which should never be allowed to enter into politics, particularly during so important a campaign. As far as party feelings are concerned, Mr. Curran has left nothing to be desired. His record in the House, although his first term, was good and his work beneficial. Returning this winter (and he surely will) with the experience gained during the last session and the deep-set Democratic principles which he is known to possess, he will be an invaluable representative. It is not the proper time to send a novice, and we feel perfectly well satisfied that the gentleman nominated will, by his course next winter, prove in every way worthy of the confidence reposed in him by the solid Democracy of Hoboken.

THAT SOFA.

At the last session of the School Board Principal W. A. Campbell petitioned that body for a sofa to be placed in the ladies' dressing room of School No. 4 for the accommodation of fainting teachers and scholars. We do not know how seriously No. 4 particularly is troubled with this unfortunate affliction of female loveliness, but we have learned of such cases occurring in other schools where the absence of such an article of furniture made it decidedly inconvenient. We presume school teachers and pupils of the female department have as much right as any and more cause to faint than many persons engaged in other callings. We admire Mr. Campbell's sense of duty to those under his charge as well as his delicacy in endeavoring to guard against the possibility of himself being called on to occasionally support an armful of female intelligence during the prevalence of such trying ordeals as we have just referred to, particularly when the avoirdupois of many of his probable "fainting artists" is considered. Mr. Campbell is a thoughtful, far-seeing superintendent, and believes in taking no such chances. Neither will the supplying of said sofa to the school be viewed in the light of "inducements for ladies to faint," as a crusty old bachelor of our acquaintance remarked.

LACONICS.

—Don't forget to register on Tuesday.

—The "up the snoot" is increasing in this city, and the livery men and others are becoming alarmed.

—The young people of St. Paul's Church have formed a social organization called the Young People's Union.

—It is probable that the Republicans will concentrate on ex-Mayor Besson for Assembly. This will mean a walk over for Curran.

—"What We Shall Be" will be the subject of the sermon at the M. E. Free Tabernacle to-morrow morning. Rev. M. E. Ellison will preach at 7:30 P. M.

—Jolly "Joe" Bownes, who keeps matters straight at Snake Hill, paid a flying visit to this city on Tuesday. He can't help "flying" when behind that trotter of his.

—The Democratic Assembly delegates met at Plunkett's, on Saturday evening last, and on the first ballot renominated Hon. James Curran. B. N. Crane received one and Michael Coyle two votes.

—Henry Stein, aged six years, of No. 112 Bloomfield street, was run over on Wednesday by a heavily-loaded truck and had his hip fractured. He was removed to his home and attended by Dr. Helfer.

—Eight or ten boat clubs of this city will be represented in the thirty four mile row around Manhattan Island, starting from the Fields at eight o'clock to-morrow morning. The boys are welcome to the sport.

—John Rheinfrank, proprietor of a saloon corner of Fifth and Bloomfield streets, who was indicted by the Grand Jury for keeping a disorderly house, has been convicted and sentenced to one year in the State Prison.

—Either Mr. Duggan lost his coat, hat and prayer book in Hudson Square Park Wednesday, or else some other party had Duggan's book in his pocket. The above articles were found and await an owner at the station.

—Mrs. Jurisch, who has for many years conducted a fashionable dancing school in this city, is out with cards for her winter opening. The Madam is pronounced an excellent teacher, and in the past has secured large patronage.

—Louis Claus, who resided corner of 2d and Washington streets, retired apparently in good health on Sunday evening last and was found dead in bed by his wife the following morning. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause.

—Don't forget to register on Tuesday.

—Don't forget to register on Tuesday.

—A gentleman viewing the Republican parade on Wednesday evening remarked to a friend, "Why, there's the canal-boat; I wonder where's the mule?" when a passer-by promptly responded, "The mule is the candidate, didn't you know that?"

—The original band of University colored jubilee singers of New Orleans, said to be the best traveling, will be at the First M. E. Church next Wednesday evening. They visited Hoboken about a year ago and created a very favorable impression.

—Major William C. Morris, mounted on a "fiery, untamed steed," was the most imposing figure in the Republican parade on Wednesday evening. He so completely threw the rear guards in the shade that it would require field glasses to see some of them.

—Mrs. Fraser, the business manager of the bill sticking firm of Fraser & Co., complained to Recorder McDonough that her "Willie" required the care of the Court owing to his continuous indulgence in stimulants for a few weeks past. William was gathered in.

—The Second Ward Democratic Club, with commendable enterprise, have appointed a committee to specially attend to securing naturalization papers for aliens. The members of this committee will be at Odd Fellows' Hall every Wednesday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock.

—Frequent rehearsals and other preparations are going on for the production on a grand scale of the opera of "Golden Hair and the Three Bears," at Stevens Institute, on the 21st and 22d of the present month. The best local talent have been secured, and a rich treat is promised.

—The Republican parade on Wednesday evening was, as regards appearance, not bad, but the utmost scattering of the forces did not increase the number "worth a cent." A reliable gentleman, who kept count, reports the extravagant total of 898 in line, counting the boys, canal boat, horse, etc.

—At the last meeting of the Equitable Social Club the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President, Peter Boncolet; Vice President, Theo. Muench; Recording Secretary, Otto Kiem; Corresponding Secretary, Henry Lohman; Treasurer, Chas. Engel; Sergeant-at-Arms, Julius Nelson.

—Richard Lee was found by the officer at the ferry prostrate on the street, Wednesday morning, and suffering from fits. He was removed to his daughter's residence, who refused to admit him. The old man was very properly left in her hallway by the officer. She must be a decidedly affectionate child.

—The numerous attractions offered by the management of the American Institute Fair, at present going on in New York, are succeeding in keeping the immense building comfortably filled from morning till late at night. It is truly said that the Fair never presented so many novel and attractive features as the present season.

—Miss Minnie Steil, one of Hoboken most popular young ladies in society circles, was agreeably surprised by a large number of friends, under the auspices of the Niagara Social Club, last Monday evening at Kapp's Harmonia Hall. The gathering was indeed a brilliant and happy one, and the occasion of much innocent amusement.

—The Salvation Army, which held forth at 77 Newark street for several weeks, succeeded in making one convert as they are pleased to term it. Emil Leonhard is his name, and evidently religion struck him very lightly, as he celebrated the event by a rough and tumble fight with a sinner named Koehler, who took exceptions to his friend Emil's new departure.

—Don't forget to register on Tuesday.

—Don't forget to register on Tuesday.

—The Boston Ideal Company are rendering the latest and most popular comic operas at Booth's Theatre, and are drawing large audiences. This organization is recognized as foremost in their particular line. "Pinafore" has been produced during the past week in a style of magnificence never before attempted in New York.

—The boys of the "Garfield" Arthur Club say that Limerick—the loud-mouthed—has only come down $3. So much mud-slinging and loud talk ought to mean more money. Hayes' Civil Service order is a good cover to sneak behind. The high-toned office-holders—of the Limerick stripe—are comfortable in such a shadow.

—Manager Weber promises an unusually attractive bill for next week. The new company are Charles Shay and his troupe of performing dogs; Miss Etta Morris, a brilliant serio comic; Miss Fanny Edwards, a sweet and cultured balladist, and William Taylor, a finished dialect performer. The standard favorites, Max and Martha Miller and Miss Ida Wolny, remain.

—Nearly every company taking part in the Republican parade on Wednesday evening were known as light guards, light dragons, light canal men or something else light. A friend of ours remarked that he admired the consistency of the party leaders in calling their followers light, and also in taking so much trouble to secure so many light men physically as well as otherwise.

—Franklin B. Levering, for many years a resident of this city, died in New York on Tuesday evening, and his remains were immediately brought to Parslow's morgue. The deceased was an ex member of the Hoboken Council, and at one time held the position of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department. He was buried on Thursday with the usual honors paid to deceased firemen.

—The members of the Castle Point Boat Club have abandoned aquatic sports and their rendezvous at the Fields, and will spend the leisure hours of Winter in their elegantly-furnished club rooms, located in the Martha Institute building. This association, though among the latest organized of its class, has done some good work during the past season and already occupies a foremost position, both as to number and standing.

—The Rev. William Taylor, known as the California street preacher, can be heard at the First M. E. Church to-morrow morning at 10:30. Mr. Taylor enjoys a world wide reputation. The enterprise of the Rev. Mr. Lowrie in securing such a treat for his congregation and their friends is deserving of the highest commendation. At 7:30 P. M. a praise service will be held, led by chorus and choir. Rev. D. R. Lowrie will preach; subject, "The Marriage."

—The Union Battery of New York, commanded by Capt. Carlin, of this city, made an imposing show and was one of the features of the Republican parade on Wednesday night. They numbered 50 men, and were from the Fifth Assembly District. Accompanying them were such citizens as ex-Senator Lent, ex-Alderman Brady, Alderman Jacobus, of the Ninth district, and others. Much credit is due Capt. Carlin and his coadjutors of the Fifth District for the interest taken in Jersey affairs.

—Thomas, eldest son of James Smith, an old resident of this city, died at his father's house, on Park avenue, Tuesday night. The deceased had been ailing for some time, but great hopes were entertained up to last week of his ultimate recovery. He was one of Hoboken's brightest young men, noted for his intelligence as well as for his quiet, manly demeanor. He was on the point of graduating from a law class when his sickness interfered with his studies. Mr. Smith has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

—Don't forget to register on Tuesday.

HANCOCK & VICTORY.

Immense Gathering at Odd Fellows' Hall. Able Speeches by Ludlow, Hardenbergh, Brinkerhoff, Abbett, Stahl and Others.

ELOQUENCE, MUSIC AND FIREWORKS.

Odd Fellows' Hall was full to repletion last evening. The vast assemblage had been attracted thither by the announcement that our next Governor and Congressman, besides several other distinguished statesmen and orators would be present and speak on the impending crisis. Over the stage was suspended an elegant painting of the coming President, General Winfield S. Hancock. After some soul-inspiring music, His Honor Mayor O'Neill expressed his regrets for the absence of the Hon. E. P. Stockton, who had telegraphed his inability to be present. He stated that the Gubernatorial candidate had not as yet arrived, but was momentarily expected, in the meantime he took pleasure in introducing the HON. WILLIAM BRINKERHOFF, of Jersey City. The Chairman was vociferously cheered, and the first speaker was greeted in the same manner. Mr. Brinkerhoff stated he was opposed to vilifying any man, but James A. Garfield's character was so bad that there was no alternative left. The Republican party had been so long in office and had become so brazen in their outrages that few, if any, of its representatives could boast of clean records. Grant, continued Mr. Brinkerhoff, presumes to compare Garfield to General Hancock, and, among other things, says he (Hancock) is a proud man. Well, thank God that he is proud, and had Grant been possessed of a little pride he would never have sacrificed honor, truth and principle, and fallen so low. Grant also wanted to know why Hancock was not selected to lead the army? Simply because he was a sound Democrat, and the Republicans, who were in power, knew it. When they wanted a man to go to the front and fight they selected our candidate, and never found him wanting. He has been heard on many a battle field and felt in many a battle, and has shed his blood and risked his life to aid in cementing this glorious union. The speaker continued: Our rivals are claiming that the Republicans did all the fighting. Why this is too absurd to be even noticed. General Butler is authority for the statement that in his command of 6,000 men 5,500 were Democrats. Mr. Brinkerhoff fully explained the solid South cry, and claimed that the Southerners favored the Democratic party only because the South believed that party loyal and just, both in the past and present, while they have been insulted and outraged by Republican leaders and their hirelings. He also severely arraigned the Radical press, and showed how Abraham Lincoln issued a proclamation promising many things to a crushed people, which his followers never fulfilled. The eloquent gentleman retired amidst deafening cheers.

The Chairman next announced HON. GEORGE C. LUDLOW, who had arrived some minutes previous. Our next Governor was very modest in his language, and said little or nothing against party or candidates, but was very emphatic, and used the most able logic in explaining the just and reasonable claims of his own side. He stated that Democrats must prove by the vote they cast next November that they are determined to stand no more nonsense or will be no longer bulldozed or duped by any Electoral Commission or other fraud of whatever nature. He spoke of the present as the most favorable opportunity offered in years to throw off the yoke, and it was for the voter to accomplish this grand change from oppression and wrong to freedom and a just recognition of their rights as American citizens. Mr. Ludlow spoke for some minutes in this strain, and also introduced the tariff and other important issues in the course of his speech. He was repeatedly applauded, and retired to make place for the

HON. A. A. HARDENBERGH, who made the most brilliant speech of the evening. He fully explained the prominent part which Democratic soldiers took in suppressing the rebellion, and stated that none were more faithful in Congress than Southern statesmen. He was a Northerner, but still knew no North, South, East or West. No; he only recognized one grand Union. He ridiculed the idea of holding up the Southern people, who had acknowledged defeat and peacefully submitted, to ridicule as a lot of barbarous Hottentots, when they had proven themselves good, loyal citizens. I have never met more chivalrous or honorable gentlemen than our Southern representatives in Congress. One would infer from Republican reports, that if your esteemed fellow citizen, Col. Lewis, was to appear in their meetings he would scare the whole party, he is such a monster. I remember when Senator Hill, of Georgia, favored an appropriation of one million and a half dollars for the purpose of a grand Centennial celebration, in which every State in the Union should participate. Mr. Hardenbergh referred at length to specie payments, and claimed to know something about the subject. He wanted a good, honest day's labor to be repaid with the value which God Almighty planted in the ground for that purpose. I like greenbacks as well as well as any man, but they must be supported by some solid value. Gentlemen, continued the orator, I am opposed to the Republican party particularly because they do not practice what they profess, and it is not creditable to them to profess their practices. You know, gentlemen, that Garfield made an earnest appeal in Congress for a stronger form of government, explaining in his speech that the grand time-honored principles of Thomas Jefferson were on the wane and those of Alexander Hamilton were plainly gaining ground. This was simply paving the way for himself or whoever else of his party that might next occupy the Presidential chair and taking power from the people. He next proceeded to speak on his own case, and claimed he preferred the confidence of his constituents to their respect, and if the people knew another who would be more likely to lead to victory, more fitting to represent them in the Forty-seventh Congress of this great Nation, or would carry their banner higher, just name him and he would gladly withdraw. He said, "I confess candidly I court election if it is only to have a hand in supporting the administration of the gallant Hancock, who will prove such a chieftain as the immortal Andrew Jackson, and drive from power the unprincipled and unfaithful to their trusts and the constitution." Mr. Hardenbergh was applauded to the echo and three rousing cheers were proposed for the speaker and the Hon. Geo. C. Ludlow and given with a will.

CAPTAIN STAHL, OF TRENTON, took the stand next. His speech was very interesting, as were also the remarks of the Hon. Leon Abbett, who followed; but owing to the lateness of the hour we are forced to forego the pleasant duty of even furnishing a brief synopsis. The stage was occupied by the following distinguished orators, statesmen and officials: Mayor O'Neill, Hon. Geo. C. Ludlow, Hon. A. A. Hardenbergh, Hon. Robert Gilchrist, Hon. Leon Abbett, Hon. James Curran, Hon. William Brinkerhoff, Hon. E. P. C. Lewis, Hon. R. F. Rabe, Captain Stahl, P. H. Laverty, Freeholder Cook, Councilman Curtin, Dr. Elder and W. H. Dillworth.

The meeting was undoubtedly one of the most respectable and enthusiastic held in Hoboken in many years.

Get Your Papers.

Our friend County Register Cleveland is after the laggard voters, and is doing more efficient and telling work for his party in a quiet way than many who make a more pretentious display. Mr. Cleveland's plan is novel and original with himself. He has had prepared in his own office lists, taken from the census, of every male adult in each district, ward and precinct in Hudson County. These he has distributed among prominent Democrats to be carefully checked off with the registry books, and every person found not recorded in the latter will be inquired and brought to the front. This measure is expected to increase the Democratic vote in this county over 7,000 voters, and is due directly to the enterprise and exertions of Mr. Cleveland.

A Solid Club.

At the regular meeting of the Hancock and English Fourth Ward Club, held at James Lannigan's on Thursday evening, the following officers were elected:

- Marshal—John Logan.
- Captain—John W. Barnitt.
- First Lieutenant—Joseph Kemp.
- Second " —William Butchie.
- Third " —Julius Hahn.
- Fourth " —William Hearne.
- Fifth " —William Ryan.
- Sixth " —Len. Bradbury.
- Seventh " —R. Guinan.
- Eighth " —C. Callahan.

The above organization will turn out over one hundred uniformed men in the coming grand parade in Jersey; and, what is highly creditable, every man furnishes his own uniform. Uncle Sam can buy nothing for this crowd.

Supervisors of Election.

The following have been appointed Supervisors of the coming registration and election in this city by William Muirheid, Chief Supervisor of Elections:

- First Ward, First Precinct—Charles A. Hicks, D.; I. D. Applegate, R. Second Precinct—John R. McCulloch, D.; Thos. M. Valleau, R.
- Second Ward—Thos. P. Redmond, D.; Thos. H. Mickens, R.
- Third Ward, First Precinct—Thomas A. Kennedy, D.; Albert Jacobi, R. Second Precinct—John C. O'Sullivan, D.; Chas. H. Miller, R.
- Fourth Ward, First Precinct—Thos. G. Smith, D.; Daniel Spencer, R. Second Precinct—Chas. H. Fisher, D.; Edward S. Barnes, R.

—Miss Florence Battell, residing on Garden street, between Tenth and Eleventh, was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital last week, suffering from a cancer on the calf of the leg. Dr. Chabert removed the affected part, but the limb swelled to such a size as to leave no hopes of saving the unfortunate girl's life unless it was amputated above the knee. This operation was successfully performed on Tuesday by Drs. Chabert and Rue, who pronounce their patient's condition as very critical.

—Peter Schneider, formerly of First street, this city, moved with his family to Weehawken last Monday, and, from all that could be learned up to Wednesday, the mysterious Peter was still on the move. He left home on Monday evening and did not turn up again for two days. His explanation is a good one, however. He claims that while assisting a drunken man to his home the pair were locked up. That's just what a thick-headed Weehawken "cop" would do.

—The members of the Meteor Boat Club have decided to pass the Winter in bowling, and for that reason have organized a club to be known as the Meteor Bowling Club. They are determined that their new pastime will be made such a pleasant and healthy exercise as to fit each and every member for next Summer's rowing. The officers of the rowing department, elected last Saturday evening, for the ensuing year are: President, H. Miller; Vice President, J. J. Culbertson; Secretary, J. H. Steljes; Treasurer, C. L. Sack; Captain, F. E. Walter; Lieutenant, Louis Lancon; Board of Directors, H. Miller, J. J. Culbertson, F. E. Walter and C. L. Sack.
