His Opposition to the Working Classes and Advocacy of Importing Chinese Cheap Labor.

[Personal and Confidential]

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23, 1880.

Dear Sir:

Yours in relation to the Chinese problem came duly to hand.

I take it that the question of employes is only a question of private and corporate economy, and individuals or companies have the right to buy labor where they can get it the cheapest.

We have a treaty with the Chinese Government which should be religiously kept until its provisions are abrogated by the action of the General Government, and I am not prepared to say that it should be abrogated until our great manufacturing interests are conserved in the matter of labor.

Very truly yours,

J. A. GARFIELD.

H. L. MOREY,
Employer's Union, Lynn, Mass.

THE LAST PLEA.

Only three days more and a most momentous question will be decided. The most important issue known to the people of this country will come up for their consideration, and they alone have their own fate to decide. Let them, by their votes, not submit to another four years of fraud, corruption and tyranny, leaving the administration to the care of a parcel of presumptuous office-holders, but throw off the yoke, assert their independence, and introduce a system of administration in direct accordance with the Constitution and in every way favorable to the masses, who alone appoint the rulers and whose welfare will be made a primary consideration. This can be accomplished, and if the voters are only true to themselves and have the progress and success of the country and honor and dignity of the Government at heart, the next President will be

who is really the people's choice, and whose name stands to-day as unsullied as it did when first put in nomination, notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts of his enemies, aided by a partisan and unprincipled press. Let not the Free Trade scare, which has been misrepresented and has no existence, deter or cause one voter to sacrifice the ablest and best candidate presented for your suffrage in many years. Do not allow the credit and reputation of our Government to be weakened among nations by placing at its head such a character as James A. Garfield.

The next important question for consideration is our State ticket. If Jersey-men are only true to their principles and the best interests of the community at large, there will be no question about the election of the Democratic nominee, who is known as a whole-souled gentleman, a brilliant attorney, and who has proven the friend of the working classes on more than one occasion while a member of the Legislature, particularly on the prison labor question. The most frantic efforts of our opponents have also failed to connect our coming Governor's name with one single transaction in a lifetime that might interfere with his occupying the most exalted position in the State. There may be no serious charges of a personal nature against the Republican candidate, Mr. Potts, but his career as a statesman is not by any means flattering. It is known he was a staunch supporter of awarding contracts to prisons, and being a monopolist of a pronounced type in favor of cheap labor, must necessarily be the foe of the workingman. The name of which has been put forward for Congress, and who asks the support of a United Democracy to ensure success, needs no comment. A brilliant record, secured during many years of public service, speaks far louder than words and is sufficient to call out the full vote of the party, which means election in this district. He has by no means a strong or popular opponent in the person of Lewis A. Brigham, who was elected two years ago by Democratic votes which he won't get this time. We predict for our next Congressman an overwhelming majority.

GEORGE C. LUDLOW,

ELIJAH T. PAXTON

desires to go to the State Senate as our representative, and will, in spite of the flimsy charges which have been trumped up only to be as promptly withdrawn. Mr. Paxton was once before made the victim of the same contemptible conspiracy, and it will be remembered that it resulted to the gentleman's benefit. Many voters, becoming indignant on that occasion at so base an attempt to destroy a man's reputation, warmly supported the villified candidate. He only needs a straight Democratic vote, which he will secure beyond any doubt, to win.

WILLIAM McAVOY

is booked for the next Surrogate of Hudson County. If any malcontents are inclined or have been induced to withhold their support from Mr. McAvoy, they must either change their tune or else cease to claim allegiance to the Democracy. Remember, the delegates elected by Democratic voters selected this gentleman as their standard-bearer, and it is the duty of Democrats to recognize their action and elect, if possible, their candidate. Remember also that two very important county offices, Sheriff and Clerk, are filled by Republicans, due entirely to disaffection and treachery in our ranks; and don't forget, either, that this is a very cunning dodge on the part of the Republican leaders, who are slowly but surely gaining every important position in Hudson County, and are doing all in their power to indirectly create dissatisfaction among Democrats while they alone reap the benefit. The friends of the present incumbent, Mr. Robert McCague, have no right to throw away this office, particularly after that gentleman's manly letter of last week, in which he fully explains his duty, agrees to perform it, and does not desire any such sacrifice.

JAMES CURRAN,

of this city, goes back to the Legislature this Winter just as sure as his name is James. And why not? Who has done more, who has ever tried to do as much, for his constituents? His case hardly calls for comment, the name of his opponent being really the weakest on the Republican ticket. Mr. Besson's strength was no doubt based on his Mayoralty run in 1879, and his selection due to his having defeated a Democrat on that occasion. His friends seem to have lost sight of the fact that he was aided by many renegade Democrats; that his opponent was a weak man thrust forth at the last moment; that the issue was only local; that last Spring his vote against the present Mayor fell off over 1,000, and also that the Mayor of Hoboken has no say, anyhow, in selecting a United States Senator. Here is where "the shoe pinches," and right on these grounds, independent of any other consideration, will Mr. Curran receive, at the lowest calculation, 700 majority.

We wish all our candidates success, and from now until election day will contribute, as heretofore, our humble mite towards that object. To our Democratic citizens we have only to add, be true to your principles, faithful to your teachings, and go to the polls with only the welfare of your country and party at heart, and the battle is won. Let no prejudices or personal feelings interfere with your duty and success is ours beyond doubt.

"TRUTH IS MIGHTY AND WILL PREVAIL."

The power and correctness of the above adage was never so painfully illustrated as within the past week, when the spotless (?) Garfield was so terribly arraigned by the little paper of that name over the river. It remained for the Radical leader, who long since was pronounced by his own party and press a perjurer and swindler, to arraign himself before the public as a poltroon and hypocrite. None are surprised at the new role assumed by this man, as none could consistently expect to discover any traces of either honor or manhood in such a composition. The letter to H. L. Morey, President of the Employers' Union, of Lynn, Mass., favoring Chinese cheap labor, was intended as a bait to catch the support of capitalists in that State, who were themselves partial to the Celestial. The moral (?) candidate must also influence the American working men's vote, or at least not turn such a powerful lever against himself by an admission of his advocacy of the Mongolian; therefore, when his views, contrary to expectation, appeared in the columns of Truth, Mr. Garfield did not hesitate to deny his own handwriting and signature and pronounce the letter a forgery. His statement was endorsed by one D. B. Ainger, postmaster at Washington, D. C., who stated positively to Marshall Jewell that no such cancelling stamp was in use at his office prior to April 13, 1880, or nearly three months after the Morey letter had been forwarded. There is little doubt that the contemptible part played by the distinguished P. M. had been already laid out for him and the preciseness as regards the date of the introduction of the stamp was fatal. The journal which made the charges and verified them knocked the postmaster's statement into "smithereens" with equal facility, showing, in its issue of the 27th, fac simile copies of said stamp, both previous, during and after the date of the Morey letter.

These startling disclosures, in connection with the Jewell "repeater frauds" and the support of the New York Herald, would be sufficient to dampen the ardor of the most ambitious and force into obscurity any candidate, no matter how great the inducements. Not so, however, with the notorious Garfield, whose whole public life has been one series of mean frauds perpetrated for small considerations. What will such a character not stoop to when the prize is the Presidency and the consideration $50,000 per annum, or ten times as much as the DeGolyer bribe.

NEW POLICE COMMISSIONER.

His Honor Mayor O'Neill made a very judicious selection when he nominated W. H. Dillworth to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of ex-Mayor Joseph Russell in the Police Board. Mr. Dillworth is a reliable, sound Democrat, and one of Hoboken's most respected citizens. The Council were equally complimentary to the gentleman and honest to the interests of the department when they unanimously confirmed the nomination. We regretted Mr. Russell's retirement, principally because we deemed him among the most active and honorable of our officials, and because we believed it would be a very hard matter to fill his place. We are pleased, however, to acknowledge the Mayor equal to the emergency, and to admit that a most worthy successor in all, excepting, perhaps, experience, has been chosen to succeed the ex-Commissioner.

AT IT AGAIN.

The members of the Board of Education are at their old tricks again. A verbatim report of the proceedings of the last session is unfit for publication. Some of the worthies accused their confreres of practicing the "Garfield loan system," and such expressions as liar, fraud, etc., were freely indulged in. Charges of a very serious nature were preferred against a female principal, but were temporarily hushed. The proceedings, from beginning to end, were a series of pitched battles, and the language anything but select. The old adage, "when thieves fall out just men get their dues," was plainly and, to some of the participants, painfully illustrated on this occasion in all perhaps excepting the just man's dues, the School Board having no particular admiration for the latter class under any circumstances. To use modest language, the meeting was about as disreputable as experts in such matters could make it. The pugilistic body need no longer take second place to Barnum, for they are indeed securing to Hoboken the "greatest show on earth."

Thursday's Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Democratic Central Campaign Club at Odd Fellows' Hall on Thursday evening was made unusually attractive by the presence of and addresses from several of the most distinguished lights in the Democratic ranks of this State. Ex-Governor Bedie dissected the tariff question to the apparent satisfaction of as large and select an audience as ever congregated in Odd Fellows' Hall. He also explained that Fred. A. Potts, the Republican candidate for Governor, was a citizen of New York, where he paid nearly $5,000 in taxes against only $30 annually in Jersey. He believed in the Governor of the State having local interests.

He was followed by the Hon. A. A. Hardenbergh, the Hon. E. T. Paxton, Mr. Wm. McAvoy, Captain C. E. Stahl and others, each of whom spoke in a convincing way on the general issues of the campaign. The latter gentleman, who is considerable of a humorist, received a hearty response when he requested the audience to rise and give three cheers for the full Democratic ticket, from Winfield S. Hancock down. The Hon. R. F. Rabe presided, and on the platform, besides the speakers, were a number of prominent citizens.

Great Ceasar! Read This.

The increase of 1,000 in the registration in the city is something unprecedented, and has set the "knowing ones" of both parties to thinking. We can safely credit this great gain mainly to the exertions of our efficient County Register, J. B. Cleveland, who has proved the most successful political "drummer" of the age. His system, which has been already explained through these columns, was decidedly novel and effective. The increase throughout the county will run close on 8,000. "Jerry" is a red hot Democrat, and you can bet on it he has not been "drumming up" any Garfield votes. The following is the count in this city: First Ward—First District, 542; Second District, 643. Second Ward, 768. Third Ward—First District, 951; Second District, 846. Fourth Ward—First District, 597; Second District, 659. Total in city, 4,997.

A View of Hoboken.

Messrs. O. H. Bailey & Co., the artistic lithograph publishers, are preparing an isometrical or "birds-eye" view of Hoboken which includes every building in the city, also all buildings now in course of construction, such as the new City Hall, the new ferry house, &c., as they will appear when completed. West Hoboken, including the Monastery, and also a portion of Jersey City Heights is included in the background. Judging from the lead-pencil sketch and lithographic copies of other cities by the same firm, which we have seen, we think this will form quite a useful and attractive ornament to either office or parlor. Mr. A. Ward is now taking subscriptions for lithograph copies of the view, and hopes soon to obtain enough orders to warrant the expense of lithographing.

Councilmanic Notes.

The session of the City Council on Tuesday night was short and not very interesting. The nomination of W. H. Dillworth as Police Commissioner, to replace ex-Mayor Russell, resigned, was unanimously endorsed by the members. James Dollard resigned as inspector of election in the First Ward and John Corish was appointed. W. J. Wings was appointed inspector on the Garden street improvement. A resolution was adopted authorizing the purchase of 475 feet of new hose at a cost not to exceed $62. The City Clerk was directed to advertise for proposals for lighting the lamps on the Coster estate. A number of claims were passed and licenses granted, and the meeting adjourned.

Police Matters.

At the meeting of the Police Commissioners last Monday evening several delinquent officers were cited to appear at the next session and explain away little irregularities, such as failing to report for duty, being off post, etc. Officer John Kivlon petitioned to have his sixty-day suspension sentence curtailed, and he was ordered to report to the Chief next Monday. A number of minor charges against officers were dismissed, and Chancemen Whalen and Kenny were appointed regular patrolmen.

LACONICS.

—The steamer Marion, Capt. John A. Carnie, will go to the fishing banks to-morrow, leaving Fifth street dock at 6:30 A. M.

—The German Conference Committee met at Odd Fellows' Hall on last Monday evening and endorsed the full Democratic County ticket.

—Tickets are out for the seventh annual ball of the Unique Social Club, which will be held at Old Fellow's Hall on Monday evening, November 22d.

—James Holloway, of Jersey City, a carpenter employed in the yards of the D. & W. R. R., while engaged in repairing a car on Wednesday was crushed to death by a train of cars backing down on the one where he was at work.

—A sailor named Hensing, belonging to one of the steamers of the National Line, fell from a row-boat near the ferry last Tuesday and narrowly escaped drowning. He was rescued by Richard Fowler, an employee of the Hoboken Ferry Company.

—An extra meeting of the Democratic Central Campaign Club was held at Odd Fellows' Hall last Saturday evening. In the absence of some foreign talent which had promised to address the assemblage, the Hon. John A. O'Neill, who presided, and Counselor Minturn delivered very able speeches.

—The Rev. D. B. F. Randolph will preach on "Political Freedom" at the M. E. Free Tabernacle to-morrow evening. This question would no doubt prove as instructive to a Republican congregation as its practice is foreign. The financial affairs of the church are reported as being in a flourishing condition.

—Madame Jurisch, teacher of dancing, entertained her pupils and friends to the number of over 100 couples at Kapp's Harmonia Hall, on Monday evening, and a very pleasant time was the result. The efficient manageress reports a prosperous business and a larger number of scholars at present than she has enjoyed for years.

—Autumnal services will be held at the First M. E. Church to-morrow. The chancel has been profusely decorated with autumn leaves and fruit for the occasion. It will also be the Sabbath school day, and the members of the latter are expected in force at the morning service, when the Rev. J. L. Hurlbut will preach. Service of song in the evening.

—The brilliant and eloquent Charles H. Winfield will deliver his last campaign address before a Hoboken audience at Odd Fellow's Hall on Monday evening. The closing remarks of this gifted orator on the eve of the "great issue" will indeed be a treat, and the honor to Hoboken will be, no doubt, appreciated by an immense gathering to hear him.

—The school teachers of Hoboken and the public in general are promised a big treat on the 10th of November, when the celebrated humorist, Josh Billings, will deliver his highly entertaining lecture, entitled "The Probabilities of Life," at the First M. E. Church. The proceeds will be devoted to the enlarging of the teachers' library, and this enterprise should meet with hearty support.

—"Our First Families," which has been the attraction at Daly's Broadway Theatre for some weeks past, will receive its last representation this evening. A new comedy, entitled "Needles and Pins," will be produced for the first time Monday evening, and judging from the grand preparations which have been made for its initial performance, it is destined for a long and prosperous run.

—Peter, or as he was familiarly known about town, "Pete" Collins, died at St. Mary's Hospital last Sunday. The decease had, like all men, his weaknesses, but the worst that can be charged to the memory of poor Peter were mistakes productive of too good nature. He would go to any extremity or make any sacrifice for a friend, and many will regret his death who were even in life his opponents.

—The fast-sailing yacht, known as "Flourance, the B. H. S. O. T. V.," changed hands last week, Mr. "Redny" Waldmann, one of the proprietors of the Eagle Dock, becoming the happy possessor of the homeliest if not the fastest boat on the Hudson. It is understood that the new owner is negotiating with a steam tug captain to tow him around next season, and will also settle his worldly affairs prior to his initial trip.

—Commodore Foote, who has been delighting the patrons of Weber's Germania Garden for the past two weeks, sails for England this afternoon under a twelve-months engagement to a prominent London manager. Manager Allworth has provided the following attractions for the ensuing week: Minnie Emery, a brilliant serio-comic; Miss Verona Carroll, balladist, and Connors and Cannon, in neat Irish songs and dances. Miss Lavinia, in operatic selections, has made such a decided hit that she, together with the ever-popular Millers, will remain.

-An American novel is called "A Lady's Four Wishes." An old bachelor says that he has not read the book, but that he knows the wishes are: "First, a new bonnet; second, a new bonnet; third, a new bonnet; and fourth, a new bonnet."

-A girl in Dublin struck her croquet partner on the head with the mallet; brain fever set in, and the young man nearly died. The girl was kept under arrest until his recovery, and when he got well she married him, and now he's sorry he didn't die.

-It is a mistake to say that some ladies prefer short men, while others prefer a man so tall that they must needs look up to him. This is, indeed, about the only question on which the universal feminine mind is agreed; for, with singularly few exceptions, women are in favor of Hy-men.

-Some men are born to bad luck. A New Hampshire man went through three years of the war, and wasn't even scratched, or sick a day, while his next neighbor got a wound in the only battle he was in, that entitles him to a big pension, while the first poor fellow has to work for a living.

-A would-be righteous man, who wanted to advertise the sensitiveness of his religious nature, had an inscription painted over the front door of his new house to this effect: "Let nothing enter here but what is good." A wag who read it said, slyly: "Then I suppose the master of the house intends to go in at the back door."

-Here is an extract from a boy's diary which some parents might read with profit: "Father and mother must be very sick today, and I'm afraid they won't live very long. They have both been at home all day, and they have neither scolded each other nor boxed my ears once. This has never happened before, within my knowledge, and I'm sure something awful is going to happen."
