HOBOKEN, APRIL 23, 1881.

Official paper of the city of Hoboken. Circulation second to no other weekly journal in Hudson County.

Says the Herald: "Now for a howl against soulless corporations. The Harlem and Hudson River Railroad Companies have forbidden their brakemen to flirt while on duty."

Ye gods and little fishes! An Ohio man has declined an office under the government! Let him be canonized at once.

Interpreter (?) Hoffman can't find a place good enough for his hat in the court room, and, therefore, deposits it in Sheriff Coffey's office.

Another corner in pork is reported in Chicago (although all the corners in Chicago are popularly believed to be full of pork), and the "bills" and "bears" are having a lively time of it.

The consistency of the Hudson County Democrat (Rep) is something startling. It has been howling for weeks about its being printed, published, etc., in this city.

By the death of Lord Beaconsfield, one of the greatest men of the age has been gathered to his fathers. Himself a Jew, he labored successfully to establish the social rights of his fellows, proving to the world that a Jew can be just to all men.

The so called anti-monopoly is well enough in its way, and, if properly managed, might successfully accomplish a good work; but at present the scheme is full of defects, not the least among which is shown by the Jersey City leaders, who, while bitterly denouncing and opposing railroad corporations, have not had one word to say against the Standard Oil Company, at present the largest and most powerful corporation in the country.

It would appear, from recent reports, that a most determined stand was taken against Mr. Hauser, in the late election by proprietors of Newark street beer saloons. The only objection, so far, advanced by those pretended Democrats in support of their action is so contemptible and narrow-minded, that we regret being obliged to charge it to naturalized Americans.

County Clerk Van Horn, tried to burglarize his safe on Tuesday morning, but he signally failed. He had noted the combination on a slip of paper and put it in his pocket-book, and placed the later in his safe. He had no recollection of the numbers, and when he wanted to get some papers from the safe he found himself in a quandary.

ANOTHER BLOW AT DEMOCRATIC LIBERTY.

In the election for Sachems of the Tammany Society, the other night, John Kelly and his entire ticket carried the day. The whole powerful organization, and with it the Democratic destinies of the metropolis and State of New York, are in the hands of "Boss" Kelly and men known to belong to him body and soul.

Time was when the name of Tammany was respected; now it is feared, and not without reason. Any Democratic primaries in New York, independent of Tammany, are simply a farce. The "Boss" rules the primaries, and, of course, rules the local elections, because the New York Democracy meekly and submissively bows to his will.

Is it not perfectly natural that Republican members of the society should give the Democratic leadership to a man who, at a price, will insure Democratic defeat? Could they wish for another opponent than the man who elected Cornell and Garfield? Kelly is to-day almost bare of city patronage, and yet he stands in a position of supreme power; the arbiter of the destinies of New York Democrats, and can dictate to more than a hundred thousand Democratic voters in New York county.

The anti-Kelly faction are apparently hopeful, and talk of renewing the fight next April, when they confidently assert that the chances of success will be better. We fail to see from whence their reinforcements are to come. The effort made on Monday to oust him cannot be repeated with ease. Kelly's enemies, it is said, brought out a lot of superannated politicians to vote against him, some of whom had not attended a Tammany meeting, or entered the hall, for a quarter of a century.

A great deal of time has been wasted of late by professional chronic growers complaining about men who, born abroad, come to the United States to make money and then return and spend their accumulated cash in the "old country." Undoubtedly, many do this; but how small the number when compared with the vast "armies" who come to stay? The Frenchman, after amassing a modest little fortune, is, perhaps, the first to return to the land of his nativity.

The Italian is said, when he becomes wealthy, to return to his own country, yet there are few American Italians in Italy. The Irishman, despite his reputed love for "old Erin," once in America, takes root and seldom goes back. Even the "blasted Britisher," once he has made his way in the United States, becomes one of us.

Our city is a worthy proof of this statement. In the west the German becomes especially enthusiastic as to the welfare of his new country. He rises with his surroundings, the newer ideas seem to expand him, and he thoroughly appreciates a freer life. Sober in speech, he does not express it aloud, but internally he glories in an escape from tutelage. As he makes money and grows wealthy a desire to return to his country may steal over him.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Violent Death of a Turk and the Police Mystified. A Turk, known by the name of "Growler," because he has never been heard to utter a sound, has been in the employ of J. & W. Obreiter, cigar dealer, of 164 Washington street, for the past fifteen years.

AN OUTRAGE RESENTED.

A decidedly unjust article appeared in the columns of the ex-official organ last week, headed "The Engine House Outrage." It was intended as an attack on Mayor O'Neill and a glaring insult to the members of Hoboken Engine Company No. 1.

It is impossible to imagine any object for the base and cowardly attack, because he had never harmed any one. As far as is known he had no enemies, and never carried any money about with him.

Resolved, That we hurl back with scorn the reflection cast in the article published in the issue of the Hoboken County Democrat.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY ELECTRICITY.

Hoboken the only City in the United States where Photographers are Independent of Sunlight. Every citizen of Hoboken knows that at 106 Washington street there is a hardware store; but all of them are not aware that in the spacious loft over the store there exists the only establishment in the country where photographs are taken by the electric light.

The navigation of the Red Cross Line, from Dundee, 21 days, arrived on Tuesday with a cargo of 1,000 tons of merchandise, consisting of chemicals from New Castle, pig iron and jute goods.

The Titanic, also of the Red Cross Line, arrived at her pier on Wednesday at noon, from Newcastle via Dundee, 17 days out, with a cargo of about 2,000 tons of general merchandise.

The steamer Denmark, of the National Line, arrived at 1 P. M. Thursday, from Liverpool, 14 days, bringing 380 passengers, a general cargo, and 6 fine stallions.

The entertainment, consisting of readings and recitations by Mr. Charles Roberts, Jr., of the College of the City of New York, and music on the organ by Prof. E. G. Jardine, given last Wednesday evening, at the First Presbyterian Church, was a decided success.

Singular Death.

A singular and mysterious death was reported on Saturday last at Weehavken. On Friday evening, about 7 o'clock, an unknown man entered the saloon kept by Michael Haman, at the Half-Way-House, in Weehavken, and asked for beer.

The man left, and walked out well enough, apparently sobered. Shortly afterward a night watchman found him, not far from the saloon, lying on the pavement unconscious.

Telephones in Hoboken.

The City Fathers have granted permission to the Metropolitan Bell Telephone Company to open a central office in Hoboken. They will connect the various business offices and stores with the central office, and also with the neighboring cities wherever their wires run.

The college publication, the Eccentric, has completed its seventh revolution, and the edition for 1881 appeared on Tuesday of last week.

There is a marked increase in the number of students at the college this year over that of any preceding year since its foundation.

The boys will have a strong base ball nine in the field this season and will without doubt acquire themselves creditably in the coming games.

Every one interested in athletic sports is anxiously looking forward to the announcement of the annual spring games. Is not the Institute Athletic Association a little tardy this year?

It is understood, and it is a matter of regret, that owing to a number of apparently good reasons, the College Boat Club is so far discouraged as to contemplate the sale of their boat-house and all the boats.

The senior class, under the direction of Prof. Denton, their able instructor in mechanics, have started on a tour of inspection through the manufacturing towns of New England.

The college publication, the Eccentric, has completed its seventh revolution, and the edition for 1881 appeared on Tuesday of last week.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

What a Newspaper Can Do--An Agile Septuagenarian--Why an Old Crow Loves Hoboken--Anticipated Business Improvements.

Editor Advertiser:

A few weeks since, an article appeared in the HOBOKEN ADVERTISER, telling the people of the great advantages of residing in Hoboken, where they can get the same amount of room for half the rent charged in New York.

The venerable George Lester, an old Albanian, and pilot for many years on the People's Line of steamers, took up his residence in this city several years since. Although he tallies seventy-seven on the roll of time, his residence in this pleasant climate has made him as agile as a youth.

Here, too, we met Charles E. Scharff, an Albany merchant, who abides in Hoboken, where he is connected with the steamship business. Charles says Hoboken is a lovely place in which to live. He never did so well or felt so happy in all his life.

Timothy Crow, formerly of the Assembly of New York, became a citizen of your place some years ago. He, too, is in love with Hoboken. "They are the cleverest people in the world," is the way he "crows" about them. Mr. Crow is one of the Lieutenants for Commodore Starin, member of Congress from New York.

The Stevens are going to build some blocks of flats, which will be an ornament to the city. They will be speedily filled from New York city.

The removing of the Battery will be completed about the 15th of May. River street will be opened through to the ferry. The old shops of the company will be demolished and new ones erected on the west side of River street.

The improvements in the vicinity of the ferry are going on rapidly.

Colonial Cash.

Kentucky had but one penny struck to her credit, which was dated 1791, and were made in England, and are very scarce and valuable.

Maryland had but one copper piece, which is known as the Lord Baltimore penny. For its obverse, it had the head of Lord Baltimore, facing the left, and on the reverse were two flags issuing out of a dual coronet, the crest of Lord Baltimore. These are supposed to have been made in 1659.

This State issued several silver pieces. It is supposed by some that this colony established a mint, but there is no doubt the money was all struck in England.

Louisiana had one penny, dated 1721, of which there are three varieties known. For the obverse, two 1s were crossed diagonally, surmounted by a crown. On the reverse were these words, "Colonies Francoises." Another type is dated 1792.

Virginia issued one penny in 1773, but it was of English origin, bearing the bust of St. George the Third on the obverse. They are very scarce and valuable. In 1753 proposals were made to the mother colony by Arthur Dobbs, Governor of North Carolina, to coin copper money for the colony, which was to consist of a half-penny, one penny and two penny pieces. The quantity to be determined by the Governor and Council, not to exceed fifty tons. The colony to deliver the copper at the mint, to pay all expenses and fees attending the coinage, and to be permitted to have such a device as they thought proper, but the scheme failed.

We find, however, that in 1694 there was one piece struck, evidently made in England. It was a half-penny. On the obverse was an elephant facing the left, and on the reverse, this singular device, "God Preserve Carolina and the Lord Proprietors." This was made from brass, and only four specimens of them are known.

At the same time and date appeared a piece known as the New England half-penny, and similar in the obverse, with the motto altered to "God Preserve New England." The object of its emission or the place of coinage, is not positively known.

Florida has the credit of issuing one penny only, and that, no doubt, was of Spanish origin, and there is only one piece known of it in this country. It is dated 1760.

In addition to those known as colonial pennies, that is, those that were duly accredited to the colony, there were others in circulation, the history of which are interesting, and I will give you a sketch of them in another paper. C. W. I.
