A CHAT WITH THE PROPRIETOR.

As we are about introducing a new feature in our series of local sketches, we deem a few words of explanation in order. Our original intentions were to present to our readers every institution and establishment in our city, both educational, sacred and industrial, that the only parties interested. We started this immense trade? would be worthy of notice, and by this means acquaint our neighbors as much as possible with the importance and thrift of our city. We were somewhat delayed in reaching the latter class, owing to our churches requiring more time and space to devote to each a fair share of prominence than we at first realized. They are, after fourteen weeks, however, permanently and we hope satisfactorily disposed of, and we are now free to carry out our original programme and do full justice to the various and extensive business establishments, which are more numerous in our city than is generally supposed.

We consider, without any fear of contradiction, the coal interest as the most important Hoboken can boast; and amongst our heaviest traders and dealers the subject of our sketch, the Castle Point Coal Company, stands pre-eminent. Owing to the immense demand for dock and pier accommodations in craft. New York for other purposes, Brooklyn and our city have naturally become, as it were, the great depositories or depots which supply the innumerable steam craft daily plowing the Hudson and adjacent waters with their coal. This fact and others. brings Hoboken a patronage which the ordinary citizen knows little about unless interested in the business. At all hours of the night and day during sumevery description-even many of the present. larger and most magnificent excursion steamers-may be seen taking in supplies at the dock of this company, where the arrangements are most complete and the facilities unequaled for promptly delivering large orders. We referred in the heading of this article to the company as a young institution, and now qualify by explaining that operations were begun in the season of 1878, the organizers comprising only Messrs. M. T. Bennett and John Stevens, with the former gentleman as manager. The coal trade was pretty well divided up in this vicinity about the date whereof we write; but, nothing daunted, the new firm immediately began catering to the trade's requirements, and with what success the present magnitude of its business will more plainly exhibit than any statement we might make. Appreciating the fact that the coal trade has, or rather should have, considerable interest for all classes-ranking as it does foremost amongst our staple articles-we instructed our representative to inquire into the subject and endeavor to glean some facts as to present proportions and future prospects as to supply, demand, prices, etc. A talk with some of our more prominent retail dealers suggested the propriety of visiting the Castle Point works and interviewing the proprietors, who was referred to as about the best posted amongst individual dealers and undeniably the one who handled the largest cargoes coming into this market.

With this object in view, our reporter made a call at Mr. Bennett's office on Sixth street dock, where he found that enterprising gentleman surrounded by a bevy of-not beauties by any meansbut honest, hardy-looking mariners, including every grade, from the rough-and-ready chief engineer of a canal boat to the "nobby" commander of an excursion steamer. It is hardly necessary to add, that our representative, armed only with a "Faber" and that supply of R.—You have several agencies in this cheek with which scribes are proverbi-

R.-I would like to learn something of the magnitude of the coal trade in this city. Since you are considered the heaviest dealer, could you give me an idea of the quantity you handle in one year?

B.—Yes, sir; over twenty years. R.—Always in Jersey?

The extra session of the Council on Thursday night met, and adjourned to meet again two weeks from that day. In the meantime the object of the meeting will be extensively advertised, so that those citizens who wish to be heard on the drainage matter, may go before the committee at that time and give their views on the subject.

The Herald's evening mouth-piece, in "blowing off" the other night, showed unmistakable symptons of becoming an alarmist. It "spouts" about the growing danger of a Nihilist out-break in this country and darkly hint that the physicians were concealing President Garfield's true state, and that he is really in a more dangerous condition than reported by them.

As we predicted in last week's ADVER-TISER, the Council passed Mr. Niven's claim for expenses to Trenton, over the Mayor's veto. Mr. Niven's statement to the Council, that Mr. Besson had privately told him when the expense was incurred, that he (Besson) should favor the payment of such claim, does not add much to Besson's reputation for truthfulness or consistency.

Councilman Miller thinks that the "City Fathers" would be setting a bad example in granting a license to a house of public entertainment, where Sunday performances are given. As the Mayor is one of the most constant frequenters of the entertainments referred to, the ADVERTISER throws open its columns to his Honor for his opinion on the subject. It would undoubtedly have great weight.

The President's condition has been steadily improving, during the week. Some of the New York papers on Wedjournals, and the latest accounts were entirely satisfactory. Dr. Bliss stated rday that the attending physicians ed no further apprehensions. President's life may now be con-

WHY?

On the 21st of June, the Council, by a majority vote, appointed Dr. Samual A.

Helfer to the office of City Physician. Two weeks later Mayor Besson sent to the Council a message purporting to be a veto of this appointment, giving the most absurd of reasons for so doing. The matter was then referred to the Corporation Attorney for his opinion, notwithstanding the fact that an opinion fromt hat official had been received at the same meeting, showing that the Mayor had no power to veto appointments. Nevertheless, Mr. Niven sent in his opinion on this special case, which was read at the meeting last Tuesday night. The communication was voluminous, covering the whole ground; abounding in references, and citing a decision of similar, which justified the opinion previously rendered by him, that the Mayor's veto power only extended to legislative measures. This certainly ought to settle the City Physician matter as well as the other appointments which the Mayor "returned without approval." But not so thought the learned Council.

A resolution was immediately introduced, to appoint Dr. Helfer City Physi-Honor the Mayor. This was out of order and was so declared by the Chair, but his decision was set aside, and the motion put and lost by some of the members declining to vote. A similar course was pursued in regard to Street like result followed.

Why was the Corporation Attorney asked for his opinion if the Council believed the Mayor to be right? These same Councilmen appointed Mr. Niven to the office of Corporation Attorney Mr. Harflick, Helvetia Co., 61; Mr. Luhrs, Mr. Curtin thinks he knows of more than one pleasanter position than that presumably because they believed him Palisade Co., 58. There were various amusto be possessed of sufficient legal knowledge to properly discharge the duties of that office. Why do they "sit on" the minded that he has not yet contributed man of their choice? And, to go to the bottom of the matter, why did they put the city to the expense of keeping a Corporation Attorney at $1,200 a year, if they know enough law to run its affairs without his assistance?

DISEASED BEDDING

The facts stated were, that certain parties were engaged in purchasing the straw the ocean-going steamers, and bringing last, in response to a call made by a number it into the city, where it was sold for of prominent liverymen, a large assemblage packing purposes.

His wounds were first patched up by City Physician Helfer and then he was held on the charge of assaulting his wife. He has since died while under arrest. County Physician Converse held a post mor tem, and found his heart displaced and one lung conjected, consequently the Dr. is of the opinion that death did not result from his wounds and no inquest will be held.

Office of CITY TREASURER, HOBOKEN, N. J., July 5th, 1881. To the Honorable the Mayor and Council of the City of Hoboken:

GENTLEMEN—The city, as you are aware of, was sued by the county to obtain the remaining balance of $49,458 15 of State and county tax for the fiscal year commencing December 1st, 1880, and ending November 30th, 1881. I have paid the same to the County Collector in full, as I thought best to save County Collector in full, as I thought best to save unnecessary expense.

I think it very unjust by the county towards our city to make us pay the interest on temporary loans the County Collector got to make to pay the county's running expenses, as Hoboken is really the only place in Hudson County which pays its taxes promptly, while Jersey City owes about $000,000, and other towns are also far in arrears; therefore the county has to use part of our money to pay interest on such loans.

Our bank balance has been, by the payment to the county, very much reduced, so that I was com-pelled to let the last school warrant for $0,200, the police warrant for $3,203 47, and a warrant for Mr. Meyster for $2,500 run on interest.

I judge that the money now deposited to the credit of the city in the bank will be sufficient to pay all warrants drawn between now and August are residents in Hudson street.

Hudson street is no place for the repository of a fire apparatus. It is distinctively our street of fine residences, and an engine house located in this particular locality would appear very much out of place. Such action would have no precedent among our sister cities, and its singularity would have a tendency to depreciate realty in its immediate neighborhood at least.

To the Council:

I return without approval your resolution of the 28th ultimo, to purchase a lot on east side of Bloomfield street, between Second and Third streets, 20x75 feet, at one hundred and twenty-five dollars per foot frontage, amounting to two thousand and five hundred dollars, for the erection of a house for Hook and Ladder Company No. 1.

and Ladder Company No. 1.

The price is altogether too high. It is far above what property in that vicinity has lately been sold for. It is higher in price per square foot than the lot on Hudson street has been offered us for an engine house. That lot is 20x160 feet, this one 20x75, and at the same rate per square foot the Bloomfield street lot would amount to three thousand three hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents, whereas all that is asked for the Hudson street lot is three thousand dollars. We can form our own conclusions as to the respective values of the two locations.

To the Council:

Per requisition of the Board of Education, as presented at your session of the 28th ultimo, I find that this sum is "to pay the pay-roll of the public schools for the month of July, 1861.

Hudson street being one of our principal thoroughfares, many of our residents, particularly ladies, are extremely sensitive to passing by where others have occasion to publicly assemble—and volunteer firemen will sit out in front of their houses, particularly where the attractions are inducing, and small blame to them for so doing. But the comfort, the conveniences and the interests of others must also be considered, and having considered them, I deem it better for the public interest to disapprove of your action in this respect.
