M'PHERSON'S MONUMENT.

Unveiling a Statue of the Gallant General at His Home in Ohio.

The dedication of the monument at General James B. McPherson drew from fifteen to twenty thousand people, a large number being soldiers. Many local military organizations were present twenty-five posts of the Grand Army of the Republic. General W. B. Hazen, Signal Officer, was present from Washhis way from the Yosemite, accompanied were Gen. W. Strong, of Chicago; Gen. M. Force, of Cincinnati; Gen. M. D. Leggett, of Cleveland; T. O. Robinson, of Kenton; R. P. Kennedy, of Belle fontaine; ex-Secretary Belknap, of Iowa; and numerous officers of Gen. McPherson's old staff. Lieutenant Governor Hickenlooper, McPherson's chief engineer, telegraphed his regrets, as did also Gen. Logan, of Chicago. Congressmen T. W. Kilfer, J. B. Rice, Wm. McKinley and Amos Townsend were present. A procession over two miles long formed in the afternoon and marched to the Mc-Pherson Cemetery. A beautiful arch was erected at the entrance on which were inscribed the names of the battles in which Gen. McPherson was engaged. On the speaker's platform were the surviving members of Gen. McPherson's family-his aged mother, her daughter and widowed daughter-in-law. Mrs. Hayes sat beside them. Ex-President Hayes, acting as president of the day, called the assemblage to order. Clyde has been the home of the Mc-Pherson family for half a century. Here the General's boyhood was passed and here his aged mother still lives. The village is proud of his fame, and the monument unvailed is the outgrowth of the desire to perpetuate his connection with it. A few years ago an effort was made to have the remains removed to the National Cemetery at Washington, D. C. An undertaker went on for that purpose, but the citizens got out an infunction and he went back unsuccessful. Since then the remains have been left in peace. The homestead is a neat white cottage at the edge of the village. It is occupied by the venerable Mrs. McPherson alone. A widowed daughter-in-law is, however, a near neighbor. She preserves numerous mementoes of her distinguished son, among which is a magnificent sword, presented to the General by New York friends. An engraving of the statue erected by Southern admirers of McPherson a few years ago, is greatly prized by her. Separated from the homestead by an orchard is McPherson Cemetery, her gift to the village. In it sleep her husband and three sons. It is here that the monument is erected. It stands in a commanding position on a gently sloping eminence at the entrance of the cemetery. The pedestal is of Quincy granite and is nine feet high. The statue is of bronze. From the top to the foot of the pedestal it measures eighteen feet. McPherson stands in the uniform of a major general. The statue was cast in Cincinnati and cost $10,000. There are two other monuments to.Gen. McPherson. One, an equestrian statue. is at Washington; the other is the monument erected in 1877 by the Southern people near the spot where McPherson fell near Atlanta.

Why There are no More Fish in the Hackensack.

Fishermen and crabbers, who for years have earned a living by dipping into the Hackensack River, are complaning that this season is a remarkably poor one and the trouble is attributed to the pipes of the Standard Oil Company. Usually crabs make their appearance in June, but so far this year not the first one of the crustaceas has been seen. In the vicinity of the oil pipes, however, great numbers of dead eel, perch and other fish may be found floating, belly up, on the surface. It is claimed that this is because of the late leak in the pipe, caused by an anchor, whereby thousands of barrels of oil were spilled. This must be interesting news to the Fish Commissioners, who have spent considerable time in stocking our rivers, and perhaps a thorough investigation would not be out of place.

Mrs. Garfield's Gratitude.

The following is an account of an interview between Mrs. Garfield and the Vashington correspondent of the N. Y.

Mrs. Garfield sat quite silent for come moments, apparently preoccupied by thought, and when she broke the silence BILLIARD AND POOL TABLES. her voice was tremulous with emotion

"If it were only possible," she said, for my husband and me to go around and see all those dear people who have been so grateful in their remembrance for us here of late days, I would be so happy; and I know he would, too. I Clyde, on July 22d, to the memory of want to thank them-to tell them all how kindly I feel toward them for what they have said to me. I never could understand anything about politics, and veterans of the Army of Tennessee and if I liked a person it made no difference whether they were Republicans or Demfrom all parts of the State, including ocrats; and now I have grown to think that there is not much difference between the two great parties, for one says just as kind words in our present afflicington; Gen. W. T. Sherman stopped on tion as the other. It makes me feel like forming an opinion as to what I would by Col. Bacon and other members of his do were women permitted to vote as well staff. Governor Foster was present with as men. I believe I would get two his full staff. The other notable officers tickets, fold them together so as to look like one, and drop both in the ballot-

An Alleged Jersey Volcano.

The story is from an exchange, which must be held responsible for its authenticity. We can only state that we have been at Oceanic several times within the past few weeks, and on one occasion stood within a few inches of the very spot where the alleged eruption occurred without encountering any of the sulphurous smell alluded to. The tale

"A singular sight occurred on the each in front of Ligier's Hotel, at Oceanic, a few nights ago. About fifty feet below high-water mark, after the water had fallen off and left the sand exposed, a flame burst out of the ground. It was two and a half feet long and one and a half feet high, and a cloud of smoke arose in the air from thirty to Odd Fellows' Hall and Turnhalle, hissing noise similar to that of a rocket and lasted for fully ten minutes. After it had subsided the same hissing sound could be heard when the sand where the name had been was stirred. For several days afterward the sand when stirred up emitted smoke and a very strong smell of sulphur. The sand since this singular occurrence seems full of phosphorus."

THE SCHOOL BOARD'S MISTAKE.

"When he opened his mouth he put his foot in it," is a saying that has become very familiar, and the men addicted to this perniciuos habit are by no means scarce. The woods are full of them and so are the cities. The species is indigenous to Hoboken, and the present crop is not small. Specimens may be found from the Mayor up.

The Week's Fire Record.

On Thursday morning at 4:30, a fire broke out in a small frame building on Monroe Street between Flish and Second streets. Engine No. 1 arrived on the scene and had a stream of water playing on the flames before the other companies had reached the spot. The fire was extinguished in a few minutes and the damage done did not exceed $250.

At about ten A. M., another alarm was sounded. Some straw caught fire in the stable in the rear of 50 Fourth street. Engine No. 1 was again the first on the spot, No. 3 having met with an accident shortly after leaving the house. The axle on the right hind wheel "sprung" and the men were unable to drag it further. The burning stra was wextinguished before the hose was ready for use, and the first order issued by Chief Engineer Kemp to Engineer Gilkyson was, "Draw your fire, Gil!" "Gil." drew his fire and the boys "ran home wid der marsheen." The damage was but trifling.

On Friday morning at five minutes before 3 o'clock, the citizens were startled by another same quiet, modest, dignified, unobtrusive rm of fire. It was in the cellar of a dwelling house, corner Park avenue and First street, the ground floor of which is occupied by a beer saloon. Engine No. 1 and No. 1 Truck got out of their house at the same time and in a race the engine reached the nearest water plug before the truck passed. There was not much of a fire but the smoke was very dense and filled the upper rooms of rescue by two members of 1 Truck. Wm. M Chapman entered the room and passed the victims through the window to Charles H. Roberts, who carried them down the ladder assisted by Frank Shaler. Very little damage was done and it is suspected that the fire was of incendiary origin.

There were a number of other alarms sounded during the week but the fires amounted to nothing.

Falk Out on Bail.

Charles O. Falk, who was arrested in this for alarm, but it would be well to avoid city on the 11th inst., on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, has been readditional precaution we would suggest leased on bail. The indictment charges that in May of last year, Falk, who was a drug broker doing business at 28 Liberty street, New York, obtained from Klein & Co., of 44 Cortlandt street, 100 ozs. of sulphate of morphia, valued at about $500, representing that it had been ordered by a Milwaukee drug house. Falk afterwards collected a brokerage on the sale. Subsequently, it was discovered that the Milwaukee house had not ordered the goods, that they had been resold by Falk and he had squandered the proceeds in a Wall street speculation. He promised Klein & Co., to make good the loss if time were given him, but this he has failed to do. and his arrest on the date above was the consequence. At the request of the complainants he has been released on $1,000 bail.

Careless Shooting.

A Gallant Rescue.

On Saturday afternoon last a swimming match took place in front of the Orion Boat Club house, and quite a crowd of spectators witnessed the affair from the shore. Among them was Liney Silver, a little boy who Extras.... resides at No. 213 Bloomfield street, who, while watching the swimmers, fell off the platform in front of the boat house into the water. He was carried out into the stream by the swift tide that was flowing, but was saved after considerable exertion by John Thomas, of the New York Volunteer Life Saying Corps, who plunged into the water from the shore. The crowd expressed its admiration of the gallant rescue by hearty cheering, as the little fellow, almost exhausted, was brought to the shore by Thomas.

The following report from the Committee of Public Grounds and Buildings was presented, reac and, on motion of Councilman Miller, received:

GENTLEMEN-Your Committee on Public Ground

The communication proposes to locate the fire houses on City Hall Square, along the line o Bloomfield street, in rear of City Hall, so as to save the cost of new lots. We have carefully considered the matter, and find it would not be advisable to adopt the measure for the following reasons, viz: the cost of new lots. We have carefully considered the matter, and tind it would not be advisable to adopt the measure for the following reasons, viz:

First.—The grade on both side streets, on which the entrances would have to be placed, is by far too steep to start, and to pull a steam engine up hill, more especially in day time, when only a small number of firemen are at hand, even the truck, being much lighter, could only be moved with great difficulty up such grade; in First street, the curb on Bloomfield street, is about 7½ feet below the curb on Washington street; in Newark street the difference between Washington and Eloomfield street curbs is not less than i feet, these grades cannot be changed without filling in and hiding the water table of the City Hall, or by building an area around the same, and disfiguring the entrancesto the Hall, by making them lower than the grade of the street.

Second—It cannot be done, without either interfering with the rights of the owners of property along the streets, or the placing of steps on sidewalks at the crossings, which would be a lasting nuisance; such change of grade if the city has the power to order the same, would cost a large sum.

Third—By locating the houses along the line of Bloomfield street, a building of an enormous frontage would have to be constructed, being front on Bloomfield street. In 6 feet, and from 18 to 25 feet on each side street. The buildings should not be inferior to the rear of the City Hall, and the structure, with a frontage of not less than 146 feet, would consequently cost considerably more than separate engine houses, located on lots with private buildings, or building sites on either side.

separate eigen houses, located on lots with private buildings, or building sites on either side.

Fourth—The strip of ground between the rear wall of the City Hall and the east house line of Bloomfield street, is not fully 22 feet wide. A building erected on said strip, of 18 feet in width, would not leave 4 feet space between itself and the City Hall, considering the proposed elevation of the grade, and calculating the height of the stones of the engine houses at 12 feet each, and adding for the beams and space between roof; we conclude that the engine house would reach up to the ceiling of the main floor of the City Hall; it would therefore block the 12 windows (in rear) in basement and first story, depriving them of their light and ventilation. It would cut off the western breeze, (80 prevailing in the summer months) from the many windows between the two wings. It would not be judicious or practicable to erect the new building so close to the City Hall.

Fifth—The communication states that 10 feet would not be judicious or practicable to erect the new building so close to the City Hall.

Fifth—The communication states that 10 feet distance can be gained by shoving the proposed buildings out beyond the house line, up to the side walk proper, and that the city ordinance (approved r January 9th, 1898.) which absolutely forbids the use of the court yard space for other purposes than a stoops, areas and ornamental plots, could be repealed or amended. We will not dwell on the bad precedent this would establish. It would say to our citizens and taxpayers, when a law or ordinance crosses the ideas or intentions of public officials, they will not submit to the law, but want the law to submit to them, under the excuse that the purpose sanctifies the means. In this case the city authorities have no right to reduce the width of a street, after such width has been established, in the recorded and published map of the city, the width being from house line to house line. The established width of Bloomfield street is 65 feet, and the city can no more narrow the same than to close the whole street. The property owners on Bloomfield street opposite the City Hall, who bought their lots as lots fronting on a street 55 feet in width, as laid out in the Loss map, could at any moment stop the encroachments on the street by an injuction and litigation, and the sult would be useless delay and expense to the cay without accomplishing the location or completion of the buildings.

Our citizens and tax payers have generously buildings.

Our citizens and tax payers have generously borne the expense of $60,000.00 for the erection of a City Hall building which was to be an ornament to the city, and do not now want to have its appearance defeased by any other buildings on the

We recapitulate the arguments against the con First—The law will not allow to build outside the Second-This law can not be repealed. Third—The building, if erected inside the house line, only a few feet distant from the City Hall will destroy or impair the appearance, the light and ventilation of that costly edifice.

and ventuation of that costly edifice.

Fourth—If the city would allow such destruction nothing would be saved worth speaking of, because the extra cost of raising the grade, and the 110 feet more of frontage, would nearly eat up the pretended saving of the purchase cost of two lots. The amount of flagging on the square, would not be reduced but rather increased.

For the reasons stated, we owners the responsi-

For the reasons stated, we oppose the proposi-tion to erect the engine houses on City Hall Square, and we recommend as in the best interest of the city, the acquisition of two lots, and the erection of separate houses, leaving the City Hall building free from all obstructions.

Gentlemen—In the printing matter I am of opinion you should allow the Hudson County Democrat to print your proceedings. The release filed with your Clerk protects the city from any claim unless the Court decides the designation of the Advertiser to be invalid. Should that designation be held invalid, then the bemorrat would be entitled to compensation, and the Advertiser would not be so entitled. The city can only pay one paper legally. The Mayor and Council refuse to pay either paper until the Court decides which is the legal paper, and if your Board have any doubt, the safest plan would be to decline payment until the Court decides the point, and then act under the decision. You will thus avoid personal responsibility. It is easy to withhold money, but not so easy to recover it when unlawfully paid, and until the Court decides we are not entirely certain which is the legally official paper of the city.
