HOW THE PRESIDENTS DIED.

such tragic and pathetic circumstances may render interesting some brief and Almost to the last he was pestered by detached notes upon the subject of the passing from life of his predecessors in last writing was a statement to help his the Presidential chair and the scenes at tending their inhumation. Washington took cold during a five hours ride over his plantation on the 12th of December, 1799, during the last he was very hoarse, but he made very light of it. "I never take anything for a found Washington breathing with difficulty and hardly able to utter a word intelligibly. Doctors were sent for, and meanwhile he was bled and a gargle was prepared, but on attempting to use it he was convulsed and nearly suffocated. About ten minutes before he expired (which was between ten and eleven o'clock) his breathing became easier. He lay quietly. Dr. Craik put his hands over his eyes, and he expired without a struggle or a sigh. The body was buried on the 18th, a schooner being stationed off Alexandria to fire minute guns while the procession moved from the house to the vault. At the tomb the Rev. Mr. Davis read the funeral services and delivered a brief address, after which the Freemasons performed their ceremonies and the body was deposited in the vault. Such were the death and burial of the first and greatest of the Presidents.

The second and third Presidents died on the semi-centenary of American independence, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the latter the writer and the former the orator of the Congress of 1776; the one the author of the Declaration of Independence and the other a pillar of its support and its ablest advocate and defender." Adams at ninetyone preserved a remarkable activity of mind, though his sight was impaired so that he could neither read nor write. He passed away calmly and without suffering, at sunset on the Fourth of July.

At eleven o'clock on the night of July 3, he whispered to Mr. N. P. Trist, his grandchild's husband, who sat by the bed: "This is the Fourth?" Mr. Trist remained silent, being unwilling to say "not yet." "This is the Fourth?" again whispered Jefferson, and, when the watchman nodded, "ah!" he sighed, and sank into sleep with an expression of satisfaction upon his countenance. They thought him dying, but he lingered until 12:40 o'clock in the afternoon, occasionally indicating a desire by words or "I resign my soul to God and my daughter to my country," is a popular version of his latest utterances.

Madison died June 28, 1836, the last survivor of the signers of the Constitution. During his last illness, when the family and the doctor were at dinner, his voice was heard feebly from the adjoining chamber: "Doctor, are you pushing about the bottles? Do your duty, doctor, or I must cashier you."

Monroe was the third President to die on Independence Day, he passed away in New York city in 1831 at the residence of his son-in-law, Samuel E. Gouverneur. Ill health had compelled him to resign the Presidency of the Virginia Constitutional Convention. His remains were deposited with public honors in the Marble Cemetery, Second street, where they reposed until 1858 when they were removed, under the escort of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., then commanded by Col. Abram Duryee, to Hollywood Cemetery, at Richmond, Va., the occasion being memorable for the enthusiastic warmth with which New York's citizen soldiers were received by their Southern brethren.

When ducted upon the portico by Dr. Edgar. the Secretary was called at daybreak he After a prayer, Jackson's favorite psalm was sung, "Why should we start and fear to die?" A sermon was preached from the text "These are they which came out of great tribulation," and the service concluded with a hymn.

Martin Van Buren died at Kinderhook, N. Y., at two A. M., July 24, 1862, of asthma that developed into a painful catarrhal affection of the throat and lungs. One of his last distinct utterances was to his clergyman, "There is but one reliance." He was buried on Monday, the 28th, a solitary flag flying them desperate. Harrison died April 4, 1841. He rode on horseback to his inauguration, and stood bareheaded and without an overcoat to deliver his inaugural, contracting pneumonia aggravated by subsequent imprudence in exposing himself to the weather of that bleak spring. His last words, heard by Dr. Worthington, were: "Sir, I wish you to understand the true principles of the Govern ment. I wish them carried out. I ask nothing more!" A procession two miles in length accompanied the body, drawn on a funeral car by six white horses, to its temporary resting place in the Congressional burying ground, where the Episcopal service was conducted by Dr. Hawley.

Tyler was taken ill on Sunday, January 12, 1862, while at breakfast at the Ballard House, Richmond, and died at midnight on the 17th. "Let me give you some stimulant," said his doctor. "I will not have it," replied the dying man, and, closing his eyes, he passed away quietly. His body lay in state at the Capitol. He was a member of the Confederate Congress, and was interred

Taylor attended the Fourth of July ceremonial in 1850, when the dust from Kosciusko's tomb was deposited in the Washington Monument, and endured for several hours the heat of a day he declared worse than any he had experienced in Mexico or Florida. Going home he insisted on eating freely of unripe cherries and drinking cold water and iced milk, despite the remonstrances of his servant, bringing on an attack of cholera morbus and typhoid, of which he died on the 9th. An imposing procession accompanied his remains to the Congressional Cemetery, the Episcopal service having previously been read in ing-days, how many years will it take a the East Room by Dr. Butler and Dr.

Millard Fillmore died at Buffalo at 11 P. M., on Sunday, March 8, 1874, and was buried on the 12th, after the body had lain in state in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Danger of Plate Glass.

This plate glass window racket has its outs as well as its advantages. The women like it, for the immense glasses act as mirrors, and a woman passing them can look at her reflection and see that her garments are all right, and it's very comforting to the female mind to be able to do that for half a mile at a stretch. But there are ways in which this mirroring can make trouble. Young Symonds, be it understood, was engaged to a young lady to whom he was deeply devoted, and as he was walking down Bromfield street, he spied a lady looking in at a window very intently. Her back was toward him, but he saw the reflection of her face in the glass and recognized it as his sweetheart. He had not seen her for at least eighteen hours, and such a long separation of lovers makes and down the street. It was an hour when few people are passing through that thoroughfare and there was nobody in sight. He resolved to steal up behind his girl and give her a kiss, and with much circumspection did so. To be kissed by a man in such a place and way naturally startled the lady, and she turned and screamed. And then Synonds observed to his horror that it vasn't his girl he had kissed, but another of about the same size. But that wasn't the worst of it. Oh, no; his girl vas standing inside with her face close o the window, and it was that he had aken for a reflection. And she came out and burst into tears and was indigant and declared she would break the ngagement, and the other girl called an officer to arrest Symonds for assault, and no amount of explanation could elear the matte And it cost Symonds $50 to settle the affair, and his engagement is off, and he'd like to break every plate glass window in Boston.—Boston

My physcian has recommended perfect quiet for me, and says, above all thing, I must avoid being in crowds. Noticing that you did not advertise in the newspapers, I thought that this would be as quiet a place as I could find, so I just dropped in for a few hours of complete isolation." The merchant picked up a bolt of paper cambric to brain him, but the man went out. He said all he wanted was a quiet life.

OUR WATER SUPPLY.

It was thought that the problem of supplying Hoboken with decent drinkbeen solved some time ago, when the Council impowered the Board of Water Commissioners to enter into a contract with the Hackensack Water Company, with that end in view. But it seems that, according to a communication from Mr. Bacot, the President of the Hackensack Company, addressed to the Board of Council, that learned body had nothing to do with it, except as private citizens. It transpires that a city cannot arrange for its water supply without bringing the matter before the people and allowing them to decide the question by an election. Accordingly the Council, at its last session, passed a tion be held in the city on November 8, the same conditions as the general election, for the purpose of obtaining the assent or dissent of the legal electors to

In order to refresh the memory of our readers and enable them to vote intelligently on the question, we will state in substance what the plan is:

It comes from the Hackensack Water Company, which proposes to erect, at a cost of about $1,250,000, suitable works, and contract to supply the city with water from the Hackensack river. miles distant, at least four miles above the city of Hackensack, which is above tide water and above any large settleit, and the freshest water can be obtained. #### Murderously Assaulted.

Thomas Leonard, aged forty-five, a laborer, residing at 14 Jefferson street, and his son esolution ordering that a special elec- James, aged fourteen, were arrested on Monday night by Officers Maxwell and Kerrigan at the same time and places, and under charged with an atrocious assault and battery with intent to kill, on Herman Grimm, of 173 Bloomfield street. For a long time there has been considerable ill-feeling between Leonard and Grimm, and a few weeks ago it culminated in a fight in which Leonard was severely thrashed.

Grimm was naturally of a quiet disposition, and, anxious to avoid trouble, managed to keep out of Leonard's way, the latter having repeatedly threatened to get satisfaction. Grimm, who is about thirty-three years old, keeps a fish store on Bloomfield street, and came, on the evening of the assault, down to 13 Jefferson street, to deliver some goods. The younger Leonard reported to his father Bringing the water from a point twelve that Grimm was in the store, and father and son "laid for him" outside. The father provided himself with a brick, which he broke in half, and the boy was armed with a loaded ment on the river, no sewage can effect whip. When Grimm came out Leonard struck him on the head with one piece of the brick, which stunned him, then knocked him down and beat him with the other half. The boy in the meantime used the loaded handle of the whip upon the victim's head.

The Church Square Park "Gang."

For some time past the Sisters of St. Mary's and other residents in the neighborhood of Church Square Park, have been much annoyed by a gang of disorderly young men and boys who congregate in this park at night, and make a disturbance, by loud yelling and cursing, and insulting people passing by. Some time ago a few arrests were made and things were more quiet for a time, but recently the nuisance has revived.

On Saturday night last Roundsman Jacobus came down on the crowd and captured speech, accepting the honor, and promis- | Charles Curley, whom he considered the most boisterous. ## Collision Number Three.

At about 8 o'clock last Saturday morning in the thick fog that prevailed, the Hoboker ferryboat James Rumsey, collided with the steamer Massachusetts, of the Fall River Line. The ferryboat was leaving its slip, but just what the Massachusetts was about does not appear to be known. The damage to neither boat was serious, but the Sound steamer suffered the most from the accident. ## Ninth Regiment Notes.

Mr. Charles Erlenkoetter, Captain of Company D, will probably be the next Major of the Ninth Regiment.

It is said that a new company, to be known as Company A, Ninth Regiment, N. G. S. N. J., under command of Captain Wm. B. Mason, is being organized in Lafavette and vicinity. Judging from the standing of the gentlemen interested in the movement this will be the banner company in the State. The roll is being rapidly filled up and the company will soon be mustered in. Rumor says that the Ninth will hold a grand fair at the opening of their new armory in the City Hall, early in December. The proceeds will be devoted to "finishing up" the armory, as there are no funds in the city treasury to complete the work. At the close of the fair, if it takes place, the suggestion made by the ADVERTISER some time ago could be easily adopted. A grand ball would make a fit ending to the fair and be appro-

Political Notes.

The coming Sheriff, Con. J. Cronan, is making a quiet but effective canvass of the county.

Senator McPherson's term as U.S. Senator will expire on March 4th, 1883, and it is said tion. he is looking for re-election. All the Assembly nominations have been made with the exception of the Sixth District; and Democrats have every reason to be proud of their candidates. New Jersey, on the 8th of November, will elect a Sheriff in each county in the State, and a Senator in the counties of Monmouth, Camden, Essex, Gloucester, Salem, Somerset, Union and Warren. The German Democratic Club of the Fourth District has endorsed the nomination of Mr. Cronan for Sheriff, and in a letter to that candidate, said: "We consider your nomi-

Work in the last of has been going begging for so long a time-Tuesday evening gave their endorsement to Justice Thomas Aldridge, the Anti-Monopoly nominee for the position.

The Republican Convention of the Ninth Assembly District, was held at Amsberg's Hall, Tuesday evening, and nominated Mayor Besson for the Assembly. His only opponent was Mr. John Wareing. Besson received all but two votes on the first ballot. The Republicans did not show a "long head" in ominating Besson to run against such a popular man as "Bob." McCague. Besson will make as poor a run as any man his party could put up.

At a meeting of the Jeffersonian Club, of the First Assembly District, held this week, the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"That we hereby ratify the nominations of Cornelius J. Cronan for Sheriff, Frederick P. Budden for Director-at-Large, Edward T. McLaughlin for Member of Assembly, and Thomas E. Whelan, Robert Duffy and John J. Devitt for Coroners, and that we do pledge this time until the close of the election"

Threatening His Wife.

J. Lind, of this city, was sent up for a short time for beating his wife some time ago. He had been free but a few weeks when he was again before the court on complaint of his better half. He had objected to a boarder that his wife had taken in the house during his imprisonment, and while remonstrating with her, he endeavored to impress his lecture upon her by drawing his knife and threatening to cut her throat. He evidently has not had enough of confinement.

Jersey "Takes the Cake."

The New Jersey Battalion, which repre sented the State National Guard at the Yorktown Centennial Celebration, arrived home on Sunday last, covered with glory and Yorktown dust. The "boys" have gallantly upheld the glory of the State, and won for themselves, not only the encomiums of the military and civilians at Yorktown, but have brought home the $1,000 silver prize vase. By the Committee on Finance and Salaries: The crack militia ragiments of the country were competitors for this prize. The famous Ninth Massachusetts, Boston's pride; the Fifth Maryland, Beecher's Brooklyn Thirteenth and the Michigan Regiment, all expected to get it, and the latter regiment had been drilled and coached for months by regular army officers, and went to Yorktown to carry off the vase.

The committee, composed of regular army officers, after carefully weighing the claims of all, unanimously decided that, for the best drill, finest camp and most soldierly conduct, Jersey "took the cake"-or rather the vase. The vase will be set up in the State House in ----

HOBOKEN, October 24, 1881.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Council of the City of Hoboken:

City of Hooken:

GENTLEMEN—The Hackensack Water Company, reorganized, respectfully submits for your consideration the following statement in reference to the contract entered into September the second, 1881, between the Water Commissioners of the City of Hoboken and this company, for a supply of pure and wholesome water, to be furnished to the inhabitants of your city, which said contract has been subsequently duly ratified and adopted by an ordinance of your Honorable Body.

ordinance of your Honorable Body.

That since the making of the contract above referred to, this company have been advised by eminent counsel of this State, to whom the proceedings taken by the respective parties to said contract have been submitted, that it will be necessary, in order to comply fully with the provisions of the act of the Legislature of this State and the supplements thereto—concerning the formation and management of water companies for supplying water to cities in the State—that the consent of a majority of the legal electors thereof voting at an election to be held in the city at any time to be fixed by the Board of Aldermen, Council or Legislature body of such city, should be first obtained, and that on this assent being expressed at such election, a contract for this purpose may be entered into by the corporate authorities of the city so to be supplied with water.

ate authorities of the city so to be supplied with water.

In pursuance as thus advised of these legal requirements, and to secure this company from any possible loss in the large amount of money necessary to the fulfillment of any contract for the purpose aforesaid, when made between the corporate authorities of the City of Hoboken and this company, it is respectfully desired that such assent shall be submitted to the decision of the legal electors of the City of Hoboken, at the approaching election, to be held on the eighth of Navember next, and on said assent being obtained, then such further proceedings may be taken by your Honorable Body to complete a contract between this company and the corporate authorities of the City of Hoboken as are required by the act above cited. It is further represented that any expenses incident to the submission of this mession at the election to the submission of this mession at the elec-It is further represented that any expenses incident to the submission of this question at the election referred to, will be defrayed by this company The Hackensack Water Company, reorganized

THE ROUND OF LIFE.

Two children down by the shining strand, With eyes as blue as the Summer sea, While the sunken sun fills all the land With the glow of a golden mystery; Laughing aloud at the sea-mew's cry, Gazing with joy on its snowy breast, Till the first star looks from the evening sky. And the amber bars stretch over the west.

A soft green dell by the breezy shore, A sailor lad and a maiden fair ; Hand clasped in hand, while the tale of yore Is borne again on the listening air. For love is young, though love be old, And love alone the heart can fill; And the dear old tale that has been told In the days gone by, is spoken still.

A trim-built home on a sheltered bay; A wife looking out on the glistening sea; A prayer for the loved one far away, And prattling imps 'neath the old roof-tree; A lifted latch and a radiant face By the open door in the falling night;

A welcome home and a warm embrace From the love of his youth and his children bright.

An aged man in an old arm-chair; A golden light from the western sky; His wife by his side, with her silvered hair, And the open Book of God close by. Sweet on the bay the gloaming falls, And bright is the glow of the evening star But dearer to them are jasper walls And the golden streets of the Land afar.

An old church-yard on a green hillside, Two lying still in their peaceful rest; The fishermen's boats going out with the tide In the flery glow of the amber west. Children's laughter and old men's sighs, The night that follows the morning clear, A rainbow bridging our darkened skies, Are the round of our lives from year to year -Chamber's Journal.

A GREAT GUN.

Successful Casting of a Monster Accelerating Cannon in Reading. Pennsylvania.

The casting of a great cannon, twentyfive feet in length, at the Scott Works of the Reading Iron Company, at Reading, on Monday afternoon last, attracted quite a number of scientists, patentees and ordinance officers from New York Cor. Clinton and Second Streets. and Philadelphia. They went there by invitation of the New York patentees, and after a brief entertainment the visiting party, numbering about twenty-five, together with the officials of the company and invited local guests, proceeded

On their arrival they found two large reverberating furnaces charged with about 60,000 pounds of metal. Fronting the furnaces was a deep pit, which contained the mould for the great gun, standing upright ready to receive the molten metal. The flask or mould had two openings at the top to receive the fluid iron. At 3 o'clock the furnaces were simultaneously tapped. The flery metal from one ran through an iron trough lined with hard clay, while the metal from the other furnace ran into an eleven-ton ladle, with which it was poured into the flask. The mould was filled from the bottom, and by the careful pouring it evenly ascended to the top. In six minutes the flask was full.

The casting, so far as is known, was successfully accomplished. It will remain as it is at present for eight or ten days and possibly longer, when it will have sufficiently cooled to be raised to the surface and taken to the machine shops of the company to be finished. It will then be removed to Sandy Hook, N. J., to be officially tried. This gun is known as the Lymann-Haskell accelerating, or multi-charge cannon. It is a six-inch bore, and along the bore are four additional chambers for powder the latter being successively discharged after the initial charge of powder in the CARRIAGE PAINTER that 130 pounds of powder will throw a solid iron projectile weighing 150 pounds at least ten miles, and that it will go through a solid mass of wrought iron nearly two feet thick. The inventor claims that a twenty-inch accelerating gun is irresistible, far eclipsing the cele brated 100-ton Armstrong gun made for the Italian Government. The pockets are loaded in the same manne as a breech-loader, each pocket to contain twenty-eight pounds of powder. The chamber is to contain eighteen pounds. A velocity of 3,000 feet per second is claimed as attainable with this new gun.

A Printer's Joke.

Printers' jokes are not always enjoyable, but an exception may be made in favor of the witticisms of John B. Talman, of Lynn, Mass., who celebrated his golden wedding, recently, by giving $2,500 to the City Hospital, to be used for the benefit of the printers of Lynn, accompaning the gift with the following GENTLEMEN-Having been a pioneer in Dining Room business having outgrown the printing business in Lynn, and the capacity of his old place, has removed having spent a long term of years in the to (to me) pleasant application of the "Art Preservative of all Arts," and as my wife belongs to a typographical family, represented by a father and four (of six) brothers, I have improved the "golden' opportunity-vouchsafed but once in a lifetime—to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of our marriage by a gift to the Lynn Hospita' in behalf of the printers of Lynn. I, therefore, have this day "given out" to the Lynn Hospital a "take" of $2,500, to be "set up" and remain as "live matter," to be "worked off" as occasion may require, but in no "case" is the "original form" to be "distributed." I cherish the hope, for your sake, that the institution may never be obliged to "turn" for the want of "sorts," or have the misfortune to "pi the form "or "squabble" any part; but will keep the "furniture" so well "adjusted" and so ply the "mallet" and "shooting-stick" that not a "quoin" (coin) shall "drop out" or be lost, Thus may they be able to "work off" "token" after "token" year by year, till the last living member of the "black art" shall have "corrected" his last "proof."
