fint They Will Do.

A New York contemporary devotes some pace to the discussion of an alleged scheme for reclaiming the Hoboken meadows, which, although not altogether original, may be worthy of more than passing attention, in view of the interest that has recently revived in the future of the "meadow district." Of course the projectors of the scheme will not be bothered about the stagmant water. We quote from the article as

Since the memory of the oldest inhabitant the "Hoboken Meadows," as the area of sunken lands extending from the "Shades" at Weehawken to Jersey City proper, are familiarly known, have been a subject for discussion politically, physiologically, scientifically, geographically, experimentally and ignoramously, until the subject has become lmost threadbare.

There is perhaps no spot of ground outside the bounds of civilization and the United States, that has altered its geographical aspect so much in fifteen years as Hobo-

Where is the romantic Elysian Fields, made famous by Aaron Burr, and the tragic fate of the beautiful cigar girl; where base hall was fostered in its infancy, and 'neath whose forest of noble chestants and butter nuts tales of love which in quantity and quality would fill every stery paper now running, and then still be continued. Where is it? we ask, and echo suswers-

Where is Sylvan lake that diamo drop crystal that sparkled so beautifully at the foot of old "Fox Hill," where, in winter, when the Frost King had chained its tiny ripples, youth and beauty gathered upon its glassy surface, and held high carnival 'neath the bright beams of the Queen of Night ? It has done what a great many ople ought to do-dried up.

Where is Fox Hill, down whose sloping sides ye classic Hobokener meandered on a sled and then walked up again? Leveled.

But the mesdows, they remain. In vain have the Mayors of Hoboken and Jersey City grown hoarse talking about filling upnot the Mayors, but the meadows-and vainly, has the New Jersey Legislature wrestled with the subject. The annual crop of miasma, mosquitoe and stench yielded by the meadows has never failed, and this year has been no exception to the rule, notwithstanding the terrible drought that has prevailed, and guined or materially interfered with every Indeed, careful statisticians state boldly that there is more mosquitoes and stench to the square inch in the immediate vicinity of the meadows than any other place in the world outside of Barren Island.

But there is a change about to occurgrand transformation scene, and thus these lines! A company of public spirited gentlemen, the names of whom we are requested not to divulge at present, have hit upon a plan whereby the meadow miasma shall be done away with, and the heretofore unsightly bogs made to blossom as the rose.

They argue that as Holland and Belgium are two of the richest agricultural countries in the world, and made so by reclaiming the land from the sea, why not this vast area of rich bog land, extending as it does for miles, be utilized for vegetable gardens to feed the hungry millions all about it ?

The great Mississippi valley, with its miles upon miles of deadly morass, is under perfect cultivation, and yet the cultivators dare not commence labor before sunrise or remain after sundown, because of the pesti tential fevers that lurk hydraheaded in the dark fastnesses; and if this be true in this case, why is it not possible for the Hoboken meadows to bring forth the fruits of the earth luxuriantly James of sadot) and the world by announcing that unless mankind ceased to propogate there would soon come a disgusting stramble for diener, beloving bosom food enough to feed them all: but he based his argument upon the theory that man in cultivating the soil commenced first upon the richest, and that when it became worn out he must of necessity retrograde in his farming manipulations, and thus in time there would be nothing left to manipulate. But in the Hoboken meadows we have a contradiction of his theory, because the meadow and sunken lands all about New York city will in time become the great farm gardens apper which the people will depend; and the Hoboken that man in cultivating the soil commenced apany are the first to commence and fort Arisable land.

It is obvious to all, without argustient to substantiate the facts, that when this wait area of meadow land is reblatmed and farm gardening commenced, how crops will spring from the rich, virgin soil without any great labor, and thus what has proven an eyespers and a pest-hole for years will be attilized for the benefit and happiness of millions.

THE PAST TRAIN TO THE WEST. New York to Chicago in One Day and Two Hours-... Only

The latest outcome of the railroad war is a imited express train to Chicago over the Pennsylvania Railroad, which will make the trip the in twenty-six hours, or ten hours less than the Pacific express over the same road, now the fastest Chicago train out of New York. The train will leave New York at 8 A.M. The first train of the series started two weeks ago last Monday, and is a decided success. The accommodations on this train is limited to such a number of cars as can be hauled with certainty of making the running schedule time. By this arrangement detention for the purpose of adding cars is avoided. "The Chicago Limited," as this train is called, is composed of parior, sleeping and dining coaches, carry pas gers only for Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, Chicago, and points beyond.

Breakfast is served immediately after leaving Jersey City, dinner about 1 o'clock when the train leaves Harrisburg, and sup-per at 6 o'clock before reaching Pittsburg. The following morning breakfast is served before the train arrives at Chicago. The price of each meal is seventy-five cents, and the menu is elaborate.

All first-class through tickets will be ionored on this train, but there is an extra charge for seats in the cars as fellows: $2 to Harrisburg, $4 to Pittsburgh and $8 to Fort Wayne and Chicago.

In speaking of this train, Mr. Samuel Carpenter, the popular and gentlemanly General Eastern Passenger Agent, said his company was, to a certain axiont, localed to put it on the road. The low rates at which Western tickets are selling had a tendency to attract a very promiscuous class of travel, and over-crowd the trains. To this objection had been made by the regular patrons. The new train would afford such of them as desired an opportunity to make the trip in the most speedy and comfortable manner possible. He added that this train was only put on after urgent request had been made, and he did not doubt that it would become as popuhar as the present limited express which has been running between New York and Washington. We may add just here, that for interprise in relation to accommodating the traveling public, the Pennsylvania Railroad w stands at the head of the list of roads to

Reception to T. P. O'Connor, M. P.

A reception, in which about 5,000 members of different Irish societies took part, was given, Sunday last, in Jersey City, to Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., of Galway. At 2 o'clock Mr. O'Congor, accompanied by Mr. John Parnell, reached the slip at the foot of Exchange place by a Cortlandt street ferryboat. He was met by a committee, consisting of Grand Marshal Harrison, Chief Aid Monohan, and ex-Mayor McGavisk and Mr. J. Kelly of this city, and other prominent gentlemen. At the Windsor Hotel the party entered coaches and were driven at the head of the procession to Caledonia Park, where Mr. O'Connor spoke. In the course of his speech he said: "There lies in prison in Dublin in a cell fit for criminals, a man who has an empire over 20,000,000 of Irishmen throughout the world To be King of Ireland would be a magnificent honor: to be President of the Irish Republic would be still better; but it is yet a far prouder position to be the leader of the Irish race. Charles Stuart Parnell the embodiment of Ireland's hopes and highest aspira-tions. What are the means by which he sup-ports himself? Has he armies? Has he navies? Has he police? No! But more owerful than armies, more potent than navies, more sacred than police, he possesse the unpurchased affections and confidence of

In the evening a meeting was held at the Opera House in Montgomery street, and was largely attended. Mr. John Parnell presided and Mr. O'Connor again spoke. Mrs. Parnell lao spoke.

Guiteau's Trial.

No further time will be granted in the Guiteau case, which will come up for trial on Monday next. A large number of experts are ing summoned by the prosecution to testify upon the question of insanity. Judge Ports Years ago the Rev. Dr. Malthus startled of New York, has been active in selecting experts, as this subject will constitute the most important feature in the trial. However, it is probable that the question of jurisdiction will be brought up and that of malpractice may be considered. Guiteau's counsel have selected witnesses who, they say, will testify to the ineanity of the assassin. Some re-markable facts will be elicited, and altogether the trial, irrespective of its importance to the country, will be one of the most interesting ver known in modern jurisprudence.

As far as Assembly is concerned, Hoboken was chiefly interested in the Ninth and Seventh Districts, the former having been secured to the party exclusively by Hoboken votes. Let us glance at the votes for Directorat-Large, as Aldridge was the Republithat office. Besson advertised himself as running under the same banner. From this it is obvious that it was the man Besson that was defeated, by votes in his own party. It is a practical demonstration of the truth of the Apven-Trans's statement that Besson, by his own conduct, had ruined his chances of election, and that he could not depend on the solid support of his party.

No matter what their grievances were, or how badly the Mayor and Council had treated them, they would have shown more manhood by promptly responding to a fire alarm and performpartment, than by "sticking it out" as they did, in order to "get square" with the Mayor and Council.

It is true that the Mayor's persistent opposition to all measures which the Council endeavored to adopt for the comfort and convenience of the volunteer firemen was the primary cause of their disaffection. He has uniformly worked and talked against them. The scurrilous abuse contained in an article members of that company opposed him

The people living near this district, who oppose the pumping plan, are unnecessarily alarmed at the tax they expect to have to pay for the work. They entertain the mistaken idea that it will fall entirely upon them. They do not own nearly the largest pertion of the meadows, and would only pay a small proportion of the tax, if the owners alone in Hoboken: were taxed. But this is not the case The whole city will be called upon to pay the expenses of the pumping works.

But the vote which authorized Beyer & Tivy to commence work was a useless and wasted measure. The Mayor will undoubtedly veto the resolution and six be carried out; and furthermore we do not believe that anything will be done not believe that anything will be done towards abating the nuisance for some of the time to come. THE R. P. SUN ON THE PIRE.

That the Hoboken firemen ought to have done their duty at the Eagle Dock fire of Sunday night is unquestionable, Apparently the reason why they did not do it was that several of the companies had voted to disband the night previous, and, being a volunteer department, they presumably had the right to do this. They considered themselves as out of the department by their own action, based on sundry grievances. Besson Hitting Back.

It will be seen by the following squib from the Jersey City Evening Journal, that Mayor Besson got tired of the opposition of that paper and the Stuate-Zeitung, of New York, and has finally "hit back:"

"Mayor Besson has caused papers to be served on the Evening Journal in a suit for libel, and he only wants $10,000 damages. He has also, it is reported, commenced a suit against the New York Stauts-Zeitung, but what amount of damages he will claim from that paper we do not know. The allege libel, in both cases, is for publishing the fact that a poor, unfortunate German, who had taken poison, was allowed to die in the Hobo ken station house, where he was confined in the prisoner's department for nearly fourteen hours. We simply stated the facts, that the Mayor knew the man was in the prison; was informed that he was in a dying condition, and that neither he nor any other official had pity enough for the dying man to cause his removal to a proper place."

Fred. W. Moller, the popular auctioneer, has charge of the sale of the Otto Cottage property, which will take place on the 17th of Charles F. Mattage, for 30,709, making a total of $40,000.

The steamer Roxburg Castle, from Dundee via Nerveastle, now lying at the Red Cross Dock, foot of Fourth street, brought over twelve head of English thoroughbod eatile, which were landed on Tuesday. They belong to Mr. Poots, of Morristown. State Veterinary Inspector McLaughlin took charge of them, and will, after a proper examination, turn them over to their owner.

A New Ballroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, after making a preliminary survey for the projected new route from New York to Long Branch, running from Metuchen across through Middle-sex county, striking Monmouth near Mt. Pleasant, thence through Holmdel township to Red Bank—the latter part of week before last passed through near Keyport in an-other preliminary survey. This route, we understand, will start from South Amboy, cross the Long Branch Railroad near Me gan, thence to Keyport, crossing the Captain Wm. Walling farm on the outskirts of the town, about one block west of the Broad street station of the Freehold & New York Ballway, and from thence to Red Bank in a line to the shore. All things considered, we think either of the new routes would be de-sirable, and a great benefit to those traveling ween New York and Long Branch.

The Land League meeting, on Monday, vas well attended. Five new members were was well attended. Five new members were added to the roll: Resolutions were passed thanking Mr. Peter McGavist, Chairman of the Executive Committee, for the interest and real manifested by him in bringing the reception of T. P. O'Conhor, M. P. from Galway, to such a successful termination on Sunday list, at Jersey City. Rev. Father Corrigin made a munifested during the reception of the successful termination on Sunday list, at Jersey City. Rev. Father Corrigin made munificent donation in renewing his yearly ubscription to this Branch. The President equested all present to attend the next meeting, and to procure the attendance of other rembers of this Branch, as business of great portance would be transacted.

The Delinquent Firemen.

The Grand Jury will conclude its labors on Monday afternoon next, to which time it adjourned from Wednesday. The last case to be inquired into will probably be that of the delinquent fixemen. Several of the jurors have been heard to condemn the action of those firemen who refused to do duty, in no measured terms, and it is sitogether fixely that they will find an indictment against them. A large number of witnesses will be summoned. The Mayor has aignified his willingness to testify in the matter. II KEWARE STRUCT ROBOTED

the old Eagle Dock and a number of small vessels and freight barges, was by far the largest, and occasioned the greatest loss, of any confiagration that has visited our city pertained as yet, but it is probable that it will exceed $700,000. The Eagle Dock alone cost a quarter of a million to build, and the miscellaneous cargo upon it was worth over $150,000 more. The entire insurance on the dock, freight and shipping is said to be about $400,000.

When the alarm was sounded Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 premptly responded and were the first to arrive at the burning dock. This company was soon joined by Engine No. 2, and the members of both did noble service in arresting the progress of the flames. In response to a telegram for assist-ance the Jersey City Fire Department sent over two steamers and a truck, and after they arrived many members of our depart-ment, who had refused to serve, went to work with a will.

The steamer Rialto, of the Wilson Line, which was loading at the dock, caught fire in her rigging and lost all her light spars and salls, and the wood-work above her deck was damaged. A Pennsylvania B. R. tug beat, the captain of which, it is said, received $1,000 the captain of which, it is said, received $1,000 for his services, towed her out into the stream, where the fire-tug Havemeyer, of New York, extinguished the fire on her deck.

The Havemeyer and the Buffalo rendered very efficient aid with their powerful pumps and hose. The Plymouth Rock, which was moored to the Newark street dock caught fire and was towed out by the Havemeyer and the flames extinguished.

The ferryboat James Rumsey was kept in the slip, her fire pumps immediately bet to work and turned half a dozen streams of work and turned half a dozen streams of water on the sides and roof of the ferryhouse, which was in great danger. Captain Chase and Recorder McDonough took charge of the force employed in this work and prevented a much greater loss. No.1 engine was brought down by Councilman Quirk, Engineer Gilky-son, Gustav Hauser and half a dozen small

The bonded warehouse immediately in the rear of the burning dock, which is said to contain about $2,000,000 worth of property, caught fire three times and the Hoboken firemen had hard work in proventing the spread of the flames. The damage to the building was slight and the goods did not building was slight and the goods did not suffer much injury by water.
Several firemen were more or less injured. Edward Hecking, a former member of No.1 Truck, who had moved to Jersey City Heights, but who intended returning to this city and reuniting with his old company, went out on the end of the wharf with several firemen, when their escape was cut off by the flames and they jumped into the water. Hecking was not seen again until Tuesday afternoon, when his body was found in the river next the ruins of the dock. A man by the name of Cooke, who was with him on the dock, was picked up by the crew of a tug. Louis Israel, the hatter, drifted almost across Louis Israel, the hatter, drifted almost across the river before he was rescued. Joseph Frost, Henry Haggerty and Adam Bonner, all members of the Fire Department were injured, the latter being struck by the falling mast of one of the burning barges. He is now able to go about, though not entirely recovered. The crowd that gathered to witness the fire was so dense that it was difficult for the firemen to perform their duties properly.

It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20, 15 is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,-000 people were gathered in the immediate vicinity 'the scene of the action. Consider-ing the large number of roughs and New York criminals that had come across the river. Roundsman Hayes and the fifteen police officers at his command, are worthy of great praise for the manner in which they kept order. No disturbance occurred that was not promptly checked. Four New Yorkers, well known to the police, were arrested under the disorderly act, and sent to the penitentiary for ninety days by the Re-corder. None of the portable property lying outside of the wavehouse was stolen, though these four men were said to have made an attempt to carry off some fancy chinaware.

The dock, which is burned to the water's edge, was still on fire Monday morning, and during parts of Monday and Tuesday, one of the engines was obliged to use the hose on the smouldering timbers. On Wednesday afternoon it threatened to break out again An alarm was sounded and Truck No. 1, No. 1 Engine and Oceana Hose Co. were promptly on the scene, but their services were not needed. Some of the truck and hose companies from the lower side of the city also turned out, but returned to their houses with-out going further than Hudson street.

It is the intention of the owners to rebuild the Eagle Dock at once. New piles will have to be driven, and it will take a long time to clear away the debris before this work can be commenced.

The members of Washington Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 have assumed the management and expense of the funeral of young Hecking, which will take place to-morrow afternoon. The entire Fire Department has been invited to attend, and the truck house is draped in mourning. was also a member of Company F, Ninth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Land & Impro

Both on this continent and in Europe some of the most gigantic engi operations ever attempted are either already under way or will soon be begun. In Europe the tunnel under the English Channel comes first. Then we have the Arlberg tunnel through the Alps, dividing Austria from Switzerland; and the canal through the Isthmus of Corinth. In the United States the work on the Hudson River is progressing. In Canada the project for a tunnel under the St. Lawrence promises to be carried out at no distant time, large sums having been subscribed for the work. In Central America the surveys for the Panama Canal are proceeding.

First, as to the Channel tunnel. The Southeastern Railway Company of England are now conducting experiments on the English side of the Channel to determine whether the project is feasible, and whether it can be completed within a reasonable time. On the French side another company are ensaged in the same work. They have each found that the stratum through which they are boring is impervious to water, and that with the machinery at their command they can make two miles of progress in a year with an experimen tal gallery seven feet in diameter. That would be four miles for the two com panies together, and as, practically speaking, they have only twenty miles to go, the experimental tunnel could be completed in five years. The arrange ment between the English company and the French Tunnel Company is that they shall now go ahead until each has driven through a heading of a further length of a mile, or two miles in all. If they are successful they will probably keep on until each has completed his share of the remaining eighteen miles. Of course they would then meet in the middle of the channel, if all went well, four or five years from now, and the practicability of constructing the tunnel would be finally settled. It seems that so far as the English side is concerned, the shareholders of the Southeastern Railway have taken all the risk, having authorized an expenditure of $100,000 on the experiments. At a meeting of the company last month, the Chairman suggested that in order to proceed with these a small company formed to furnish the necessary capital without interfering with the finances of the railroad. The Southeastern Company, however, insists on having complete control of the tunnel, for the chairman declared, with good reason, that there could be no better property anywhere than that railroad if it should become part of a direct link extending from the north of England and Scotland to the extreme south of Europe and beyond.

The Ariberg tunnel was projected more than eight years ago, and during that time nearly every scientific body in Austria has been called upon or has volunteered to discuss the different routes proposed. Last year, however, the Government settled upon a definite line, and the work is now progressing. The construction of this tunnel and of the Arlberg Bailroad are really necessary to Austria. With Germany on her north-western frontier, and Italy to the southward, she has been obliged to send the bulk of her exports over the railroads of those two countries on their way to the West. The protective and rival policies of her neighbors have also been a serious bar to her progress. The great Switzerland have prevented the passage of freight in that direction; but now, ened by the success of similar un dertakings elsewhere, the Government has resolved to bore a way through the mountains and open a direct line of communication of its own. The tunnel will be something over six miles in length. and the work will consume six years of time, while the whole cost of the railroad will be nearly eighteen millions of dollars.

The third European enterprise, the canal through the Isthmus of Corinth, has not yet been commenced, but Gen. Turr, the well-known Hungarian patriot has received a concession from the Greek Government to carry out the design, and French engineers will assist in the execution of the work. The Isthmus of Cornth, in both ancient and modern times, has formed an obstacle in the way of commerce between the Adriatic and Ægean Seas, and the proposed canal will be of great benefit to Greece, and especially to Corinth.

Of the American engineering works of the same nature it is not necessary to speak in detail, for they are more familiar to our people. But when we include them with the three we have described, it will be seen that whatever may have been the magnitude of the feats accomplished by engineers during the last Furnished Rooms to Let for Society quarter of a century, some of those which they have now in hand are of even greater difficulty and extent. If the Suez Canal and St. Gothard tunnel stimulated these new enterprises, they in their turn will incite to still more wonderful engineering achievements in the future .- N. Y. Sun.
