PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION.

How Laboring Men Get a Home Philadelphia.

The most remarkable thing in an economical point of view in this country is operation in Philadelphia. We have banking and building associations which have gradually grown up in that city financial system of Philadelphia. They embrace at this time a capital of over blessings live in comfortable homes; one hundred millions, and have been business established through its help, the means of providing many thousand bonds and mortgages or other securities, homes for persons of small means in all appreciated because earned by gradthat city. If Philadelphia, with nearly ual and hard-earned accumulations." a million of inhabitants, is the most remarkable of any city in the Eastern ing as this is certainly a mystery to out-States for the sound condition of its side observers, but the facts are unworking classes and its comparative questioned, and the words of the confreedom from the worst ills of pauperism and crime, it is due to the "building strong: and loan associations." Where every artisan and many a laborer has his individual home there will be fewer paupers, less drunkenness, and better order and industry.

ple share in the advantages of these associations. Thus a paragraph in a have challenged the world in their adrecent Philadelphia journal describes the case of a washer-woman who held twelve shares of a building society stock: For nine years and six months earth. All this has been caused by the she paid her dues promptly each month, people who create their wealth and live and her account at the close was free of all fines. She had apparently been able to save $12 a month, and had paid that sum in during this period, or an amount of $1,368. Her interest was then stopped, according to the rules of the society, and she was compelled to take her funds from it, which amounted in all to $2,450 -a little fortune made thus by the savings at the wash-tub. We have before us the eleventh annual report of the "Tradesmen Building and Loan Association," Mr. Francis M. Wood, Secretary. The report is made in the style of are not made until the next day: a working man, but the financial results given are certainly extraordinary. Thus what is called the "first series" of investors have, during nine years and six months, paid in $114 on each share which they purchased. They received the stairs where her husband will tread back now $204.11. The "second series" have paid in during nine years and seven months $115 on each share, and have reclouds and the clouds hang low all Ranges, D., 43 Washington st.

As an instance of their economy, it would appear that in the above association, with a capital of nearly $100,000, the sole expenses for secretary's salary, for labor and three more dandelions than the of Committee on Securities, for advert, sing, stationery, printing, rent, postage stamps, books and fuel are $450.78. As the annual report says, in language whose rhetoric and grammar may be pardoned for the sake of the success described, the great question is: "How to buy a home? wh'ch puzzles the majority of the persons who earn only daily or monthly wages, without ever seeing the possibility of handling and the winter will be cold.

It is an easy matter to forecast the weather like Professor Tice and Mr. Vennor if people will only give their minds to it. By closely reading and studying the predictions of these great weather breeders we have deduced the following rules, by which they make all their forecasts—hindcasts of the weather

An intensely blue sky indicates a temporary absence of clouds. Under other circumstances again, an intensely blew sky indicates a tornado.

Men's Spring Pashions.

The fashions for men's spring clothing do not indicate any very marked change in the styles of cutting. Trousers are to be a trifle smaller in the leg, and cut straight and small at the bottom. Vests are to be cut high, without collars. Coats are to be buttoned high, and of about the same length as at present. The Prince Albert coat is to have four buttons. Spring overcoats have five buttons in front. Coat collars are to be smaller and rolling. There is, in fact, very little change, and the plates show a variety of styles, so that old clothes, if a variety of styles, so that old clothes, if not seedy, may be worn with impunity, as far as the cut is concerned

But there are to be so many beautiful and fancy new patterns in materials that old clothes will be betrayed, however carefully they may have been kept. The patterns comprise some peculiar business suitings in stripes and plaids, Scotch and English mixed goods, small broken checks, plain Scotch cheviots, diagonal cheviots, English cassimeres of various and delicate shadings.

Some of the imported golden mixed goods are of novel and attractive patterns, not only pleasing to the eye, but intended to wear well. Generally the colors are to be darker, although fashion will provide light colors for those who insist on having them. Among the novelties are to be green-mixed, olivemixed and other mixed goods. Fashion will also permit not only of suitings, or coat, vest and trousers of the same material, but also some fancy vestings. Some of the goods for vests are of rare and dainty pattern and dainty shading. There is a slight disposition to reintroduce the white vest for dress; but it does not take well. Dress coats are not to be changed much. The collars may be a little larger and more rolling. Dress vests are to have only three buttons. Most of the patterns for business suits are for sack coats, but frocks are equally fashionable. The sacks must have only four buttons, and should fit rather closely.—N. Y. Sun.

AN OLIVER FOR A ROLAND.

The admirers of our very eccentric chieftain which called forth the stinging family. rebuke, in the form of a communication to, and read before, the City Fathers, on Tuesday evening. So caustic were the remarks of Mr. Lippincott, so exceptionally personal to his Honor was this document (which will be found in another column) in its allusions to the Mayor as a civic official, that no great amount of astonishment need be expressed at the course pursued by Councilman Miller in defense of the Mayor ALL susscriptions by mail must be prepaid, and on this really trying occasion. Mr. Miller's conduct displayed a desire on his part to defend the honor and dignity of the city and the Council from the indignity under which they were likely to be brought, were the aspersions thrown at its civic head allowed to go unchallenged. And we believe the gentleman was actuated by this motive equally, if not more, than by any desire to shield

Mr. Besson in his private capacity. As to the document itself, we believe that it will retain a place in the archives | Mount have been appointed Commissioners of communications "to the Honorable the, &c.," longer than any other preceding it; and as to its other merits, we must allege that, however great the offense which was the cause of its production, the castigation inflicted upon holders. our Mayor must have been excruciating, not only to himself, but his friends as well.

We hold no political affinity with the Mayor or his admirers; nor have we ever spared the lash when we considered it due to their shortcomings, and advenageous to the interests of our own political confreres in showing up the sins of their opponents. But we consider this matter as embracing a question of more vital importance to the interests of the entire community than is involved in the private concerns of any one, or a number of public men; and, therefore, we say let Mayor Besson smart and squirm under the terrible castigation so ruthlessly administered by the able gentleman upon whom he needlessly and toolishly east his ill-timed strictures, but let letc. our public men see to it that the interests of this fair city suffer not, commercially has re-passed both houses. This measure or socially, thereby.

OFFICIAL STULTIFICATION.

At times we were charitable enough to regard the Mayor's conduct toward our Councilmen and other city officials as the result more of eccentricity than of spitefulness; but his attempt to gratuihand at vetoing Sheriff Cronan when he tously insult Chief Donovan ia a veto of a resolution for the passing of which the siderable damage, and besides, two of the ignorance of the greatness of Besson is Chief was in no way responsible, proves passengers, a lady and a lad of about twelve that his Honor will go a considerable distance out of his way to gratify his Mayor Besson, Hoboken's pampered private feelings of dislike of a public child, is going a little too far when he servant, than whose record no man in at the time of the accident. I return without approval your resolution of 14th instant, directing a "book closet" and a "clothes closet" to be "built" in the "private office of the Chief of Police," and certain sethetic ornamentation to be done there, as well.

Your resolution is very indefinite as to the ex-pense; but, whatever that might be, the fund will not warrant anything further than already con-tracted.

The private office of the Chief of Policeshould be closet enough of itself for all his official purposes without further expense to the city on that acount.

without further expense to the city on that account.

It will be time enough to build him a "book closet," in his private office, when he have official records to keep therein; the book, which he should study and observe more: "The Laws, Rules and Regulations of the Hoboken Polico Department," can be as well closeted in the breast pocket of his every day coat. The books of the Department, as you will see by reference to the Police Manual—Section 79, of General Rules—are records open to public inspection, and not to be closeted in a private office.

It will be time enough to build him a "clothes closet," when he wear the clothes prescribed by the Rules of the Police Department. See Police Man-ual, page 13.

As to the "deep moulding," I do not think it would be very appropriate.

The frescoing and medallion work (presumably) of the "ceiling" and closets, I think would by out of place in a basement and so near prison cells.

I return without approval your resolution of 14th instant, graining rebate to Robert Stewart.

The conditions imposed are altogether too indefinite as to time of payment and erection of buildings, as well as to their "suitable" character.

The idea in granting these rebates is not, as I take it, merely for the benefit of the petitioners, but more so, for the city afterially by inducing improvements; and, if so, we should bind our grantees firmly.

The Newly-Pound Kentucky Cave--Its Catacombs, Mummies, and Masonic

Emblems. The great cave lately discovered here has been visited by a multitude of people from various points of the United States. We think that Leitchfield is destined to become the great "Mecca" of the world-for the Masonic fraternity, and scientists generally. For the last two weeks no one has been admitted to the cave except upon presenting a written permit from Mr. Rogers, and those who have been fortunate enough to obtain admission have been principally scientists from abroad, who journeyed here to see the great wonder for themselves. It was necessary to take this step, as the cave was rapidly being despoiled of its contents. Indeed, several of the mummies and some of the smaller Masonic emblems were carried off before Mr. Rogers-or, in fact, any of our citizens-realized the importance of the discovery, and of preserving the contents of the cave intact. The subterranean river has been so swollen from the excessive rains of the last month that no explorations have been made in the avenues beyond it. Excavations have been made, however, in the chambers or catacombs where the mummies and Masonic emblems were found, and in the vicinity of the pyramid, and several tablets with queer hieroglyphics have been dug up, also some bronze and copper vases, and pieces of pottery. A mound was opened and found to contain six well-preserved mummies, reposing in regular order, with feet radiating from the

Of course, all this was very interesting. but your correspondent thought it would be good idea to verify it, as actors are rather inclined to fiction. So I stepped over to Pinkerton's Detective Agency and ascertained that Florence had told the exact truth in the matter.

The facts are: Henry Jumpertz had a mistress named Sophie Werner. Tiring of her, as it was conclusively proven, he murdered her here in 1859, cut her body in pieces and shipped the remains to Troy, N.

A Remarkable Man.

William Alexander, one of the most notable man in Pittsburg, Pa., died a few days since, at his house at Hazelwood, one of the suburbs of Pittsburg. He had a singular history. Born in County Antrim, Ireland, in 1806, he came to America in 1820, and learned a machinist's trade in Pittsburg. He then went to New Orleans in January, 1827. As Gen. Jackson was coming into the pier at that city on two steamers locked together, the Caledonia and Pocahontas, the New Orleans artillerymen were firing a salute in honor of the hero of 1815. The gunners could not manage their cannon and Alexander offered his services. While ramming home a charge the cannon was discharged and both of Alexander's arms were blown off at the elbow. At the great ball given that night Gen. Jackson heard of the accident and sent the wounded man a check for $1,000, but Mr. Alexander would not receive it, although he was a poor man. Mr. Alexander was engaged to be married to Miss Eleanor Day at the time, and he offered her freedom after he recovered from his accident. She refused to accept it, and for fifty-one years was his loving wife and fed him at the table. He came back to SANGER'S HALL, 80 HUDSON ST. Pittsburg, and, although burned out in the great fire of 1845, he struggled on, and at his death was a very wealthy man. He was a famous Democrat and held a number of offices. He was one of the few Democratic Coroners elected in Alleghaney county, and was notable both as a business man and a politician. -Ex.

We are the only IMPORTERS dealing direct with the CONSUMER. Those who have used our TEAS AND COFFEES in the past are satisfied with their UNIFORM QUALITY and Low Price. We respectfully solicit a call from those who have not already tried our goods. If you really want to enjoy a Cup of good Tea, give our Early Pickings of the New Crep a trial; they surpass anything ever offered for sale.

Positively no POLISHING MATTER used in reasting our Coffees—BEWARE OF ALL SUCH. Our Coffees are roasted and sold in their NATURAL STATE, no ingredients whatever being used to make them glossy.

Note the address to guard against imposture, as our style and system of doing business is being closely imitated by mushroom concerns all over the country. Always in stock the finest grade of ELGIN CREAMERY.
