Here is also an autograph letter from General Lafayette to Charles King, Esq., which reads as follows:

LA GRANGE, Sept. 28, 1832. This letter, my dear sir, will be delivered by Mr. Florelli, a young Italian sculptor, a refugee patriot, nephew to the gentleman whom I introduced to you in 1824. I recommend him to your good advice, and beg you to accept the best wishes and regards of your obliged and affectionate friend.

LAFAVETTE.

Croton Point was the geene of a spirited affair, in which Enoch Crosby, the Westchester spy, figures. The sloop-ofwar had anchored off the Point, Crosby, concealing half a dozen men among the bushes and rocks, donned a uniform of Lafayette's corps and conspicuously displayed himself. A boat, manned by eleven men, put off from the sloop, and upon touching the shore they pursued Crosby. When he had drawn them as far as he wanted, he suddenly turned and exclaimed, "Come on, boys! Now we have them!"

At this his comrades raised a great shout, and the British, thinking they were surrounded by a large force, surrendered and were marched off as prisoners of war.-Ex.

Post, class of '74.

After the meeting President and Mrs. Mor ton held the customary reception at their residence, which was attended by the prossors, alumni, graduating class and most of the undergraduates

The closing exercises of the tenth annual ommencement were held at the hall of the German Club, in the evening. The hall was filled with friends of the students, and at about a quarter past 8 o'clock the members of the Faculty and Board of Trustees took their seats at the right of the stage, the fourteen graduates occupying the left. Mr. Bayles, editor of the Iron Age, occupied a seat with the Faculty. After a prayer by the Rev. S. B. Dod, of the Board of Trustees President Morton delivered the opening address, in which he referred to the success of the former graduating classes in the profession for which they had fitted themselves at Stevens, and expressed a hope that the class of '82 would be equally fortunate in obtaining positions.

The salutatorian of the class, Hosea Webster, M. S., Cornell University, then delivered his address. ---"A Little More Cider."

A very pleasant entertainment was given in the First Baptist Church, Wednesday evening, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and the performance of a farce. The Misses Curtis and Havens played some very pretty selections on the piano and Mr. Swift read very well. Miss J. Pritchard sang and a Mr. Anderson, from Greenpoint L. I., read some selections with good effect The most impartial applause greeted all these efforts. Mr. Rahlff played a violin solo remarkably well and was awarded an encore A duet on the piano by Misses Steil and Iaehnke was much enjoyed, as was also the performance by Miss B. Jenks, who played with much expression. Miss K. Ebbits recited "Little Hugo," and selections of operatic airs were admirably rendered by Messrs. Crevier and Hart on the piano. They were recalled three times. In the farce, "A Little More Cider," the young people sustained their parts admirably and the audience was delighted. Mr. Van Pelt's "Hans Drinker" was remarkably good and was greeted with hearty applause, as was also Mr. Miller's and builder of the steamship Great Eastern, rendering of the "Deacon," and Miss Kendrick as "Miss Patience." On Thursday, those who took part in the farce went to Newark by request and repeated the performance to a large audience. The committee E. L. Kerr.

OFFICE OF CORPORATION ATTORNEY, HOBOKEN, June 9, 1882.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Council of the City of Hoboken: To the Honorable the Mayor and Councit of the City of Hoboken:

Since my accession to the office which I now hold, my official intercourse with my fellow city officials has been uniformly pleasant, and I have found them, as a rule, to be courteous, obliging and anxious to perform their several duties and aid in the execution of the laws; but, having solemnly bound myself to perform the duties of my office faithfully, and to enforce the laws and ordinances of this city, it becomes my duty to apprise you of the manner in which the judicial functions of the Recorder's Court are performed in the enforcement of the city ordinances. The fifth section of the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to prescribe the duties of Corporation Attorney" makes it my duty to prosecute and defend, as the attorney of the corporation, all actions which may be brought by or against it, or any officer thereof, for or by reason of any matter or duty connected with or growing out of their respective offices, or in which the corporation are interested, in any court in this State, including actions for violations of the ordinances of the Council, or arising under the charter of the city is interested.

Near the first day of June, instant, Mr. Witt, the of the Council, or arising under the charter of the city, or under the laws of this State, in which the city is interested.

Near the first day of June, instant, Mr. Witt, the present City Weighmaster, informed me that he had made complaint before the Recorder against one Henry von Seggern for a violation of the seventh section of the Weighmaster's ordinance, and that the Recorder's action that the Recorder had set down the cause for hearing on Saturday morning at nine o'clock of June 3d, at which time he requested me to be present in the Recorder's Court and prosecute the action. I went there at the time appointed and found Mr. Witt present with his witness, but, wonderful to relate, the Recorder's Court and prosecute the action. I went there at the time appointed and found Mr. Witt present with his witness, but, wonderful to relate, the Recorder did not know the cause of my coming, and politely asked me why I had come there, and whether or not I wished to consult him about any affair. I informed him of the object of my business, and was astonished to hear him say that he had discharged Henry von Seggern two or three days previously—that there was nothing in the case. I then inquired for the affidavit or complaint, and was told that none had been made or filed. By section II of the Corporation Attorney ordinance, the duty of compromising with a person for a violation of a city ordinance rests entitledy on the Corporation Attorney, and he can compromise a violation only by the consent of the Mayor or the Committee on Laws and Ordinances when the penalty does not exceed twenty dollars. In the Asc treating the office of Recorder provides expressly that he shall "proceed to hear testimony and to determine and give judgment in the matter," without giving him any authority whatever to compromise, and without giving him any authority to discharge and given his judgment, if the hudgment be "not guilty" he may then discharge, but not otherwise. I then insisted that he should draw an affidavit of I then insisted that he

A communication from William O'Donnell, Chief the death of the council Richard W. Dewey, as fell ringer for bell coverer Six Thursday, June 8th, at 11 o'clock A. M., and at the same time again informed me that he would certainly give judgment of acquittal. That was three days in advance of the trial, and before any testimony had been taken. At the time last mentioned it was necessary for me to be in Trenton, but I sent a substitute to represent me. The case was tried, and the Recorder gave judgment of acquittal, though how he could do so I cannot understand, for the evidence showed, beyond reasonable doubt, that Mr. von Beggern was guilty of a violation of the ordinance.

Section 13 of the Corporation Attorney ordinance says that I shall not bring an appeal in any action in which judgment shall have been given against the corporation except by direction of the Council, I wish to know your pleasure as to whether or not shall appeal this action. I wish to find out if the Weightmoster's preferation. our pleasure

GENTLEMEN-I have recently received the annexed GENTLEMEN—I have recently received the annexed communication from Messis. Hoffman & Paxton, attorneys of the plaintiffs in the Market Square cases. It is important that you take some definite action in this matter soon Further delay may cause additional expense to the city. I wait your pleasure.

SAMUEL A. BESSON. Corporation Attorney 586 NEWARK AVE., J. C., / May 31, 1882.

Samuel Besson. Esq., Corporation Counsel, Hobo-ken, N. J.:

Dear Sir—In the matter of the suits of George Wright et al. vs. The City of Hoboken, we have delayed pushing the cases before the Supreme Court because of a suggestion of settlement which has been pending since the cases were tried at the Circuit. It appears that nothing definite has been arrived at as yet. If the Council do not intend to arrange these cases without further expense and fligation, we must proceed at once before the higher courts. Please advise me what will be done and what day will suit you to prepare the statement of the cases.

A SONNET.

Once a poet wrote a sonnet All about a pretty bonnet, And a critic sat upon it Not the bonnet Nothing loth.

And, as if it were high treason, He said, "Neither rhyme nor reason Has it. And it's out of season Which ! The sonnet, May be both.

'Tis a feeble imitation Of a worthier creation, An æsthetic innovation Of a sonnet Or a bonnet ! This was hard.

Both were put together neatly, Harmonizing very sweetly, But the critic crushed completely, Not the bonnet, Or the sonnet

"Let them say what they like. Mine will tell me to go to the mischief," responded

"I'll tell you what we will do. Let us meet here again in the morning and tell our experience. Let the one who has refused to do what his wife told him to do when he got home pay for this evening's entertainment."

"That's a good idea. We will agree to that.'

So the party broke up and went to their respective homes

Next morning they met at the appointed place and began to tell their experience. Said No. 1.

"When I opened the door my wife was for you to be coming home. You had better go out and sleep in the pig-pen, for that's what you will come to sooner or later anyhow.' Rather than pay for all we had drank last night, I did what she told me to. That lets me out. Next!

No. 2 cleared his throat and said: "When I got home, I stumbled on a chair, and my wife called: 'There you are wake up the children, and stagger around gratulating himself .. for awhile, so that they can see what a drunken brute of a father they are afflicted under the circumstances was to obey; so I his way. woke up the children and staggered around until my wife hinted to me to stop. No. 5 looked disconsolate. He said: "I reckon I'll have to pay. My wife told me to do something none of you would Jersey's History Revamped.

Not many generations ago New Jersey was a buzzing wilderness-howling would be a misnomer, as the tuneful mosquito had it all to himself. The tuneful mosquito was, in fact, your true New Jersey aboriginal, and we do not hesitate to assert that the wilderness buzzed. But the time came at last when the wilderness of New Jersey was to have something else to do. In the case of rheumatism. I did not know what (confound it, what year was it now?) a select company of colonists landed in Ho- Jacobs Oil for trial. Happy thought. I boken, led by one Philip Carteret. The latter carried with him a large supply of was as well as ever .- Toronto, Can., Globe. agricultural implements to remind the colonists that they must rely mainly upon the cultivation of cabbages, and devote their energies more or less to the manufacture of apple jack for their livelihood. But he soon saw his error, and immediately cabled over for a supply of mosquito nets to instill in their minds the axiom that self-preservation is the first law of nature. Mr. Cartaret opened a boarding house in Hoboken, to be conducted strictly on temperance principles, and devoted his leisure to the civilizing of the aborigines; but his efforts in this direction were crowned with but partial success. It is an historical, but none the less melancholy fact, that the aboriginal inhabitants of any country become effete as civilization advances. And thus it happens that, although the mosquito has been handed down to us in modern times, we only behold him in a modified but an echo, as it were, of his ancestor of colonial times. How thankful should we be that we are not early settlers. Hoboken is the capital of New Jersey and is principally inhabited by Italian barons in disgnise, who consecrate their lives exclusively to the

The Kind of Wife He Wants.

You say you demand the noblest type of useful womanhood in your wife. If that is the sort of a woman you want, marry Nora Mulligan, your laundress' daughter. She wears cowhide shoes, is guiltless of corsets, never had a sick day in her life, takes in washing, goes out house cleaning, and cooks Corporation Notice. for a family of seven children, her mother, and three section men, who board with her. Con. Regan, the track walker, is her style of a man. Let us just examine into your qualifications as a model husband after your own matrimonial ideas, my boy. Can you shoulder a barrel of flour and carry it down to the cellar? Can you saw and split ten cords of hickory wood in the fall so as to have ready fuel all winter? Can you spade up half an acre of ground for a kitchen garden? Do you know what will take the limy taste out of the new cistern, and can you patch a little leak in the kitchen roof? Can you bring home a pane of glass and wad of putty and repair damages in the sitting-room window? Can you hang tome cheap paper on the kitchen? Can you fix the front gate so it will not sag? C. you do anything about the house that Con-Regan can? My dear boy, you see who Nora Mulligan will have none of you, she wants a higher type of true manhood. You expect to hire men to do all the man's work on. about the house, but you want your wife to do everything that any woman can do. Believe me, my dear son, nine tenths of the girls who play the piano and sing so charmingly, whom you, in your limited knowledge, set down as mere "butterflies of fashion," are better fitted for wives than you are for a husband. If you want to marry a first-class cook and experienced housekeeper, do your courting in an intelligence office. But if you want a wife, marry the girl you love, with dimpled hands and face like the sunlight, and her love will teach her all these things, my boy, long before you have learned one-half of your own awake.
