JERSEY APPLEJACK.

How and Where it is Produced and Consumed.

Sussex County, N. J., produces more apple whisky than any other county in the United States. Just now the manufacture of applejack is in full blast all through this section, and although this is an off year the amount of this fiery beverage produced in Sussex County last fall will not be much short of 20,000 gallons. The odd years are the ones in which apple trees bear the best, and last year being an odd one the yield of applejack was not far from 100,000 gallons. Orange county, New York, formerly produced immense quantities of apple whisky, but the liquor originated in Sussex County and was first made at a small town called Montague.

The process of distilling apple whisky is exceedingly primitive. At various convenient points throughout the county, generally near the largest orchards, are small sheds containing the "mill" and the "press." These two machines are always located on a hill side. The apples are ground up fine between huge wooden wheels, by horse power, and the pomace runs down a trough to the press, where great weights are placed upon it and the juice which is thus extracted runs through another pipe into large vats, where it remains, until it reaches a certain stage of fermentation, which is called "getting ripe." It requires skill and years of experience for the distiller to know just when the cider is ripe, for any delay in removing the alcohol by distillation after it is ripe would be fatal to the yield of applejack, and a stock of vinegar would be the result. In a nearby house is generally located the still, which is an immense copper kettle, perfectly air-tight, surmounted by a coil of pipe that passes through a pall of cold water. A good hot fire is kept constantly under the kettle, so that an even temperature is maintained. The cider is let into the kettle from the vats, heat turns it at once into vapor, which passes through the coil of cold pipe above, which condenses it, and it is discharged into the kegs pure applejack.

So strong, however, is the whisky when it is first made that it even defies the weight-iron stomach of the average whisky drinker. Frequently, by increasing the heat under the kettle, the applejack made is so far above proof that it becomes pure white. It is then reduced to the proper strength and laid away to mellow with age. It is never considered fit to drink till it is at least a year old. Apple whisky improves and mellows with age, taking on after a few years a pale yellow hue. Of course distillers have all kinds of tricks for producing this color and palming off new applejack for an old and superior article. Burned peach pits added to the liquor give it an appearance of old age, even though it has just come from the still, and brown sugar skillfully burned has the same effect. Nothing, however, will take the genuine sting out of the liquor except age.

The cost of apple whisky to the producer is not large, yet the liquor is worth $2 a gallon at the still and becomes more expensive the older it grows. There is some applejack stored away in the cellars about here worth all the way from $10 to $25 a gallon. In bearing years prices bring about ten cents a bushel at the still, but in off years, they are worth double that price. For every gallon of this favorite beverage produced the distiller has to pay the government ninety cents. The annual revenue to the United States from applejack alone is in the neighborhood of $50,000 a year, and about two-thirds of that comes from Sussex County.

A man never wants to get drunk on apple whisky more than once. A single drink of the liquor will climb to the head of a man who isn't used to it in less than ten seconds. His face gets red and looks sunburned; when he closes his eyes he sees nine million torchlight processions charging at him ten abreast, and if he took two drinks he could be induced to vote for low bridges over the Harlem, raising fares on the E.R., or anything disgraceful. Finally he falls asleep, but it is a peculiarity of the liquor that when he wakes he will find himself drunker than when he laid down and for three days his head will sound as if a swarm of bees had lived there.—Westchester Times.

He Didn't Mind It.

The Cincinnati man who led his wife out of a theatrical matinee by the ear, in order to break her of the habit of going to theatres, has been made very conspicuous by the publication and discussion of his exploit. "But I don't mind it," he says, "for I feel that I have accomplished much good. My wife is not the only woman in Cincinnati who has neglected her children and household affairs to visit matinees once or twice every week, but there are hundreds of them, and it is time that husbands and fathers entered their protest. She knew the characters and plot of at least a hundred plays, and was forever talking about them. She gave me no rest, and was worse than a stage-struck youth, who is eternally quoting from the drama. Nearly every move I made, or opinion I expressed, she likened me to some character she had seen at the theatre. One night I had the toothache like thunder, and was walking up and down the sitting-room floor with my hand upon my jaw, when she peeped in at me, and after looking a moment, said: 'Hello, Hamlet, to pull or not to pull.' His chief grievance, however, was that she called him "Toodles," and that seems to have been the inciting cause for his raid in the theatre.

Love in June.

"Is it not beautiful, sweetheart?" "What?" asked George W. Bimeson, looking tenderly into the deep blue eyes of Daphne McCarthy as they were raised to his and glancing around in a nervous, start-caught-in-the-corn way. "Why the sweet perfume that is being wafted to us on the June air," said the girl, shifting her chewing gum as she spoke. "Do you not feel the sensuous languor that is all about us—the subtle perfume that seeps as to have kissed the air with dewy fragrance?" The wistful, fear-haunted look came again into the man's face. He sniffed the air in several directions and there came upon the perfect features of his Wabash avenue face a smile of calm content. "Yes, darling," he said, bending over the girl, "I tumbled now." "And what is this perfume, George?" the girl asked. "Can you not tell me, darling?" "You bet I can, my angel," replied George, speaking in tones of passionate tenderness. "They are going to have corned beef for supper in the next house."

Onions—Strong and rising.
Breadstuffs—Heavy.
Boots and Shoes—Those in the market are sold and are constantly going up and down.
Hats and Caps—Not as high as last summer, except fools-cap, which is stationary.
Tobacco—Very low and has a downward tendency.
Silver—Close, but not close enough to get hold of.

An Idyl of the Fourth.

The boy stood on the back-yard fence, when all but him had fled, the flames that lit his father's barn shone just above the shed. One bunch of crackers in his hand, two others in his hat, with piteous accents loud he cried, "I never thought of that!" A bunch of crackers to the tail of one small dog he'd tied; the dog in anguish sought the barn and 'mid its ruins died. The sparks flew wide and red and hot, they lit upon that hat; they fired the crackers in his hand eke those in his hat. Then came a burst of rattling sound—the boy! Where was he gone! Ask of the winds that far around strewed bits of meat and bone, and scraps of clothes and balls and tops and nails and hooks and yarn, the relics of the dreadful boy that burned his father's barn.

Spanish Silver by the Gallon.

A short time since, while a colored man by the name of Lewis Lowry was plowing in his field, about six miles east of Opelousa, La., his plow struck on some obstruction, which, upon examination, proved to be a ten-gallon jar filled with Spanish silver coins of the date of 1779, and bearing the imprint of Charles III. of Spain. The amount found is estimated at $8,000 or $10,000. One of the coins, a dollar piece, was taken to Opelousa and examined, and from all appearances had not circulated long, it appearing almost like a new piece. It is said by those who saw the money that all of it was of this description and none of it less than one hundred years old.

An Ancient But Sensible Will.

In rummaging over some old periodicals, recently, the following singular will, written by Lewis Morris, son of Governor Morris, of this State, dated Nov. 19, 1760, was found:

"It is my desire that my son, Gouverneur Morris, may have the best education which is to be had in England or America; but my express will and directions are that he be sent for that purpose to the Colony of Connecticut, lest he should imbibe in his youth that low craft and cunning so incident in this country, which is so interwoven in their constitutions that all their art cannot disguise it from the world—though many of them, under the sanctified garb of religion, have endeavored to impose themselves upon the world as honest men."

Disappointed Entirely.

Mr. W. F. Hetherington, editor of the Sentinel, informed one of our representatives that he tried St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism, and found it all that could be asked. The remedy caused the pain to entirely disappear.—Emporia (Kan.) News.

It is within its effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that.

95 PER CENT.
Of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and restorer, and, by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.
For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of imposters, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.
For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY

To David Lamb.
By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereinafter, in a cause wherein Otto Schults is complainant and you are defendant, you are required to appear and plead, answer or demur to the said complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of the said Court, on or before the third day of August next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.
The said bill is filed to strictly foreclose a mortgage given by Auguste Prasad to Marie J. Botter on lands situate in the township of West Hoboken, in the county of Hudson and State of New Jersey, dated the first of June, 1870, and you, David Lamb, are made defendant because you hold a subsequent mortgage on the same premises, made by Jean B. Dullos and wife to Francis P. Durando, dated the twenty-fifth day of December, 1870, and the said bill prays that you be decreed to pay the amount due to the said complainant within a certain time, or that you be foreclosed of all equity of redemption of in and to said mortgage premises.
Dated June 22d, A. D. 1882.

HOBOKEN, JULY 8, 1892.

Official paper of the city of Hoboken. Circulation second to no other weekly journal in Hudson County.

The King of the Sandwich Islands wants colonists. Couldn't we send him about four quarters of the Mormon population?

There have been twenty bodies so far recovered from the Fourth of July wreck on the Ohio, and fifty-two people are still missing.

A Devil-fish with arms thirty-two feet long has been caught on the coast of Newfoundland, and an exchange says: "What a cashier he would have made!"

Our e. c., the New Jersey Mirror, had better come over into Hudson county and get posted before it ventures any assertions or advice on our coming Congressional contest.

The station house would not have held the number of Hoboken boys under fifteen years of age who were riding pils—day. And yet this is against the law.

Brother Bruce is wielding his vigorous pen to some purpose in the sanctum of the Central New Jersey Herald. "Bob" is not afraid to hit Republican shams, and he always hits "from the shoulder."

The Camden Democrat speaks of "Secor Robberson" as "a navy-yard-old-man, a frightful-record-old-man, a Secor-contract, junketing-banquet, very-bad-navy-old-man." That kind o' hits him off neatly.

The Washington Dispatch says: Grant won't do, Arthur is too much of a Stalwart, Blaine has too much guano in his boots, and Conkling is too much of a kicker; now what is the Republican party going to do in 1894?"

The great American Mouser, as Jay Gould has been dubbed, is worried just now at the threatening aspect of things in the Manhattan Elevated Railroad affairs. Efforts are making to kick him out, and we hope the kick will be hard enough.

The Delaware Lackawanna and Western, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey Central Railroads have agreed to pay to Jersey City a tax of one per cent. on their taxable holding in that city. Now make the others follow suit, and let Hoboken in for a share.

Fully 10,000 laboring men were assembled at the plaza, in Union Square, Wednesday night, to hear the address of Michael Davitt, the Irish reformer. His speech was an eloquent one and is spoken of as the finest he has yet delivered in this country.

The Sun thinks that "Jersey Justice" will soon be only an empty name or a thing of the past, if it don't rise up and chastise the New York and Long Branch Railroad Company for the disaster at Parker's Creek last week. It seems to us as though the Coroner's jury did not fix the blame exactly where it belonged.

The special artist of the New Paltz Times, who went to Washington to illustrate Guitau's execution, may have been a master hand. We hope he was. But the engraver certainly made the "cuts" with his little hatchet. He made a very true likeness of the rope, but there the resemblance ceases. He got the knot under the wrong ear though.

All over the land mechanics and laborers are striking for their daily bread, and, unfortunately, in many instances, with success. A large number of these strikers voted against General Hancock and for Garfield under the delusion that a high tariff and a Republican administration would inaugurate an unprecedented prosperity and good wages. They have been stupendously bamboozled, and now realize the magnitude of their error. Will they, in 1894, repeat their blunder of 1890? That's the question.—Central New Jersey Herald.

THE KEYSTONE STATE.

The truth of the old adage "when rogues fall out, honest men receive their just reward," seems more than likely to be again demonstrated in our neighboring State, Pennsylvania, during the coming campaign, which has opened so auspiciously for the Democratic party. It was doubtless expected by Don Cameron that mistakes in the Democratic convention would place within his hands weapons with which to destroy the independent movement against him; but in the presence of a common enemy all factional quarrels and rivalries have been forgotten, and a strong Democratic ticket, headed by Robert E. Pattison for Governor, has been placed in the field. That this ticket has produced the gravest anxiety among the ranks of the Cameron following is a fact patent to every observer of Pennsylvania politics. Mr. Cameron needs no political Daniel to prophesy that the Independent movement means not only the downfall of the Clan Cameron, which for more than a score of years has controlled the political destinies of the great "Keystone State" with an almost absolute autocracy, but also the extinction of bossism—that bane of American politics—in that State.

Already the air is filled with rumors concerning schemes for harmonizing the Republican factions in a new ticket, but we predict that with his usual bull-headedness, the Boss will refuse to consider any move that will really or apparently deprive him of any of his fancied prerogatives. The breach between the two factions in the Republican party is too great to be healed by a patched-up truce, and the Independents would be possessed of far less than average intelligence if, after the Lion and Lamb convention of last spring, when they were so harmoniously swallowed, they would suffer themselves to be beguiled with the oleaginous promises of the astute Boss Cameron. They are too wide awake this time to be taken in, and too thoroughly enraged at the grasping, look-out-for-number-one conduct of Don's Clan to pull in the same traces with them again. United, they have always won; divided they must fall, and here is the Democratic opportunity.

In the ranks of the latter is entire harmony in Pennsylvania. They are solid to a man for Pattison. "Honest Alex" McClure, in the Philadelphia Times, says: "The nomination of Robert E. Pattison for Governor by the Democratic State Convention was the most conspicuous triumph of the progressive and aggressively honest Democracy that has been achieved in Pennsylvania within the last quarter of a century. Pattison will defeat Beaver in Republican Philadelphia and he will lead Beaver tens of thousands in the State." There is no man better able to read the "signs of the times" in Pennsylvania politics than Col. McClure.

The Democrats will work together and are reasonably sure of success. The party is fully alive to the importance of the coming election, not only in State, but National politics. With the capture of the Republican Gibraltar we shall control the next House of Representatives, and in the demoralization following a crushing defeat, coupled with the internal quarrels of Stalwart and Halfbreed, we shall witness the complete disintegration of a once too-powerful party, now trembling on the verge of destruction.

THE OFFICIAL PRINTING.

Another "opinion" from the Corporation Attorney has been received by the Council in regard to the printing of the official proceedings. There is very little difference between this document and the former one, submitted by the present Corporation Attorney, except in length. In the first he simply stated where the laws governing the matter were to be found, and in the second he quotes profusely from these laws.

As the laws of '72 and '77 are repealed by that of '81, the question of the ADVERTISER's former eligibility is not to be considered by the city's learned Counsel. And even were not this the case, the Supreme Court has already decided that the ADVERTISER was eligible in spite of the law of '72. Under the law of '81, which now governs the case, the ADVERTISER's status is no more doubtful than that of the Democrat (Rep.). This is the disinterested opinion of eminent lawyers.

About the only point made by the Corporation Attorney was that something should be done speedily; but he is strangely apprehensive that the Council's delay in designating an official paper may cause serious trouble and "heavy expenses" may be incurred by the city. He seems to ignore the fact altogether that the ADVERTISER was designated the official paper in 1881, and that as its successor has not yet been appointed, it is still the official paper.

The city is in no danger on the ground that its proceedings are not properly published. Because the members of the Council have seen fit to cautiously delay the matter until they were certain of their ground is no excuse for the libelous person editing the Democrat (Rep.) to abuse them as he did last week. The many columns of senseless twaddle that he has written upon the printing question show that the years he has spent around the Court House have not stored his illiterate mind with legal lore, and are an evidence that he is not capable of understanding the matter.

There is nothing to prevent the Council inviting bids and awarding the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, as it did last year. The large sum saved during the past year in the official printing is substantial proof of the advantage of the plan. "A fair field and no favor" is all the ADVERTISER asks. The Democrat (Rep.) would like another chance to bleed the city, and the Council should see to it that no opportunity for robbing the tax-payers is offered. If that "cir-culationless" sheet secures the contract by fair competition it will be in such form that the city till cannot be very heavily tapped.

New Jersey Editors Rastinating.

The New Jersey Editorial Association took their 26th annual excursion to Cresson Springs, Pa., and a very pleasant time they made it. The party numbered 165, and left Philadelphia on Tuesday morning, June 27th, in a special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, arriving at Cresson Springs in the evening, all in good condition. The arrangements made by the railroad company, both for going and the return, were as complete and convenient as possible, for which they received the hearty thanks of the entire party.

On return, Philadelphia was reached 3 P. M., Saturday, July 1st. While at the Springs the editors and their wives, children and friends were "free of" the big and elegant hotel, the Mountain House, and had all the accommodations and comforts which that mountain hostelry affords. On Thursday the whole party went on an extra excursion to the coal mines at Loyd's, away up in the mountains. Wednesday evening the dancing members of the party had a "hop." Thursday evening the annual editorial reunion was held. Visits were made by many of the party to the extensive shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Altoona. There will long be remembered by the editorial party. Hoboken was not represented.

Our "Devil" Says

Are you going to the circus Monday? How many "minds" has "every unbiased person?"

No Hoboken fingers were "blown promiscuously through the desert air" on the Fourth. The weather 'round here don't like Vemon. It has been proving him a liar very steadily of late.

Does anybody know how the city became saddled with $40,000 of Volunteer Bounty Bonds?

There is to be a revival of "pumping vs. filling" soon; but it will probably go over till next term.

I hear that Bayer is the assessorial editor of the Democrat (Rep.) If that's so, he does more work than any one gave him credit for. "Tis now that the "swell" seeks the address of some reliable Pawnee who will camouflage his winter overcoat at advantageous rates.

Editor (?) Hoffman spells animus with an "o," and writes that the reading of the minutes of the Police Board was "suspensed" with, on motion of Commissioner Utz.

The city saved over $1,000 last year in the public printing by awarding the contract to the lowest bidder. The Council has the interests of the tax-payers sufficiently at heart to pursue the same course this year.

The betting is about even on Ex-Alderman "Sam" Crissy and Ex-City Clerk "Bob" Alberts for City Clerk, to succeed Mr. Kendrick, should the latter secure the post office. No one seems to think about a possible "dark horse"—yet there is one.

Where is the City Hall clock? Where is that other Police Commissioner? Where is the money to come from to pay the printing bills of the Police Board? And where is a match for Hoboken's Mayor? Are questions I have heard all over the city lately.

Commissioner Chamberlain's persecution of Sergeant Ringe will be continued Monday night, on which occasion he will try to prove that a sergeant of sixteen years' standing is not competent to perform his duties. I'd like to see the Commissioner on trial for something.

The Anti-Monopoly-howling blit of the Democrat (Rep.) with characteristic inconsistency, wants to secure a monopoly of the public printing for that moribund sheet. The tax-payers will remember how the city was bled two years ago, when the Democrat (Rep.) enjoyed this printing monopoly.

THE GROWLER'S CAPSIZE.

The Crew Rescued by a Ferryboat—The Danger of Sailing Without Air Tanks.

Captain Jack Bell, who, with his brother James, owns the yacht Growler, of the New Jersey Yacht Club, went on a cruise on Tuesday with no crew but four boys. They sailed out as far as the light ship off Sandy Hook and returned home in the storm in the afternoon. When nearly abreast of the coal docks, near the Hoboken Ferry, about opposite the Jersey entrance of the Hudson River Tunnel, a squall struck the Growler and she went over, throwing the captain and his boy crew into the water. She was weighted with about 1,500 pounds of iron and enough sand bags to make up her ballast to 2,200 pounds, and being heavily rigged and without air tanks she began to sink in about forty feet of water. This happened at about eight o'clock in the evening, and the ferryboat Hackensack was just leaving her Hoboken slip to lay up for the night. Captain Helms, of the Hackensack, saw the accident and bore down on the capsized yacht, and with the help of his son Levi, Frank Scribner, Richard Fowler and Stephen H. Harris, who composed his crew, rescued the yachting party, who were clinging to the rigging of the Growler. A line was made fast to the yacht and she was towed into shallow water, where she sank. She was raised on Thursday, and is now floating at her accustomed anchorage near the New Jersey Yacht Club's house, foot of Eleventh street.

Captain Helms, of the Hackensack, has been a pilot on the Hoboken ferry for twenty-six years, and during his service has helped to save many lives. It was his crew that rescued three men last month who had been upset near the New York shore. None of the three men could swim.

The Growler is twenty-eight feet long and is called a "smart" boat, but she would never have sailed in another race had she sunk where she first went over. This is her third upset, and it is considered careless in Captain Bell's sailing so far in her with such a crew, the wind blowing as it was on the Fourth.

Commodore Dilworth, in speaking of the accident, said to an ADVERTISER representative, that the members of the club are beginning to acknowledge the necessity of providing the yachts with air tanks. When the Commodore put them in his Dure Devil, some time ago, he was laughed at, but since then many of the yacht owners have put them into their own boats, and before long every yacht in the squadron will probably be provided with them. The Growler is a little bit "cranky" and is often rather "fecklessly" sailed. If she had had air tanks she would not have sunk. The upset crew have experienced no serious inconvenience from their sudden immersion as far as we can learn.

THE SNAKE HILL DISASTER.

A Carriage Full of People Run Into by an Express Train—Fatal Consequences of the Accident.

On Friday evening of last week, Freshholder Steinbrenner and a party of young ladies who had been attending the concert given by Wareing Bros., at the Lunatic Asylum, at Snake Hill, were crossing the Erie Railroad track in a carriage on their way home, when the vehicle was struck by the St. Louis express and totally wrecked. Mr. Steinbrenner was thrown about thirty or forty feet and through a picket fence, breaking his collar bone and two ribs. Miss Matilda Steinbrenner, his adopted daughter, aged nineteen, was injured internally; Miss Georgiana Meekert, aged twenty, had a leg and arm broken; Miss Matilda Meekert, aged twenty-three, was injured in the back, and Miss Doremus escaped with some severe bruises. The coachman was uninjured. Some of the other visitors found the party a few minutes afterwards and the injured were taken back to the hospital at Snake Hill in the Wareing's band wagon.

The young ladies, with the exception of Miss Doremus, were wives of Mr. Steinbrenner. Although Mrs. Converse and King did all in their power, Miss Georgiana Meekert and Miss Matilda Steinbrenner died from their injuries on Monday evening.

Mr. Steinbrenner's injuries were of a very serious nature for one of his age, and his friends have been apprehending a fatal termination ever since the announcement of the death of the young ladies. Freshholder Wm. H. Steinbrenner was born in 1812, in New York city, and though seventy years old up to the time of the accident, seemed to be possessed of an iron constitution, and carried his years lightly. He began life as a butcher boy in Washington Market, New York. In 1819 he went "around the Horn" to California, where he spent several years and is believed to have done well in the gold regions. Returning to New York he resumed business in Washington Market, and was for years collector of fees in the city markets.

Twenty-five years ago he formed a partnership with the late George Meekert, his brother-in-law, and carried on the brewing business at Guttenberg. He never held an office until chosen a Freshholder by the Democratic party at the late election.

The latest from Snake Hill reported Mr. Steinbrenner as improved and the doctors say he will recover. County Physician Converse has ordered an inquest, Coroner Elliott has empaneled a jury, and next Wednesday an inquest will be held to determine who is responsible for the accident.

The remains of the young ladies were conveyed by Ex-Coroner Crane to Rock Cellar Cottage, at Guttenberg, the home of the Freshholder, and the funeral took place from there on Thursday afternoon. The services were conducted by the pastor of the Grove Church and were attended by a large number of friends and also by a delegation from various singing societies.

Feasting Firemen.

Last Wednesday night the members of Excelsior Engine No. 2 were entertained at their house, Washington and Sixth streets, by Mr. Andrew Tanner, the builder. At about half-past 9 o'clock Mr. Tanner and wife, with a number of friends, including many ladies, in company with the firemen, were seated at a party meeting had closed, and took possession. They were welcomed by the members, who were only half surprised, and while some of the ladies were preparing a feast down stairs, the members up-stairs were entertained by some of the visitors. Miss Schermerhorn recited "Domestic Troubles," Miss Springtime sang "Beautiful Gates Ajar," Mr. James Devaney gave a recitation and Mr. Walsh gave "Spartacus" in his usual happy style. Foreman Letts of No. 2 led the march to the supper table and a "temperance" feast was heartily enjoyed.

The "fire laddies" vowing that they never drank anything else, bravely quaffed the ice-water, which was too cold beverage Mr. Tanner would allow at his entertainment. Mrs. Tanner presented the company with a fine cake, which Foreman Letts accepted on behalf of the members with a graceful speech of thanks. A very jolly evening was spent and the "boys" were very much pleased with Mr. Tanner's entertainment.

The Fourth of July Excursion.

The excursion to Alderney Park, on the Fourth, given by the Catholic Benevolent Association, for the benefit of the Church of Our Lady of Grace, was attended by between 3,000 and 4,000 people. The affair was a grand success, and the only thing that occurred to mar the pleasure of the trip was the accident that befell Mr. Peter Quinn. Mr. Quinn fell from a cherry tree on the picnic grounds at the park. His face was badly bruised and his nose broken. When he arrived home he was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. The managers and the various committees are deserving of much credit for the admirable manner in which everything connected with the excursion was managed. John F. O'Hara was the floor manager and his assistants were Ed. J. Grady and Thos. O'Toole. The committee of arrangements consisted of Doyle Meagher, Richard Bowes, Edward Edwy, John F. O'Hara, Thos. F. Hatfield, Bryan Smith, Jas. Toohy, Richard Fallor, Peter Archambault and Thos. O'Toole.

Board of Water Commissioners.

At the meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners, on Friday night of last week, the committee to whom was referred the petition of property owners for permission to lay pipe on Harrison street, reported adversely to granting the same, owing to the bad condition of the street. The Water Registrar was directed to cancel all water charges against vacant lots remaining on the books in his office. Semi-annual interest on water bonds, aggregating $1,295, was ordered paid, and a check was drawn in favor of Jersey City for $25,000 for part payment on annual water rents. A committee of three, consisting of Commissioners McDermott, Steljes and Edmonston, was appointed to confer with the Mayor and Council in reference to money due for arrears of water rents on property sold by the city. Water Registrar Murphy was directed to advertise for bids for the laying of the new water main. After fixing the pay of the laborers employed by the Board at $2.00 per day, the Board adjourned.

Up the Shrewsbury.

One of the pleasantest excursions that went from Hoboken on the Fourth, was made on the new steamer Albertina, Captain J. B. Throckmorton, to Red Bank and back. The party started from Fourth street dock at a little after ten o'clock, and after a delightful sail down the Bay, the Albertina touched at the Highlands of the Navesink, where some of the excursionists left her to wander through the hills and over the bridge to the sea shore. Landings were made at Oceanic, Locust Point and Fair Haven, and Red Bank was reached about 1:45 P. M. After a couple of hours spent on shore the excursionists returned to the steamer and were landed in Hoboken again at about 7:45. All enjoyed the delightful scenery of the Highlands and the Shrewsbury river, and this will become a popular excursion with Hoboken people. The Albertina makes daily trips, Sundays excepted, from foot of Franklin street, New York, to Red Bank and the points above mentioned.

Real Estate Sale.

Next Monday evening John C. Crevier, the auctioneer and real estate dealer, will sell at public auction, at Odd Fellows' Hall, a large amount of real estate, comprising dwelling houses and valuable building lots. The list includes a two-story frame house and store at 40 Monroe street, near Ferry street; two lots on Grand, near Third street; a four-story frame tenement house 110 Newark street; Willow; a three-story and cellar brick house and large store 139 Washington street; building lot on Willow, near Ninth street; three story frame dwelling 149 Grand street; a lot on northwest corner of Willow and Seventh street; corner lot with four story and cellar brick house and store 86 Bloomfield street, corner of Second; a four-story and cellar brick house and store, with a two-story and basement frame building in rear, at 123 Willow street; a two-story frame dwelling on Willow, near Newark street, and 66 lots on the Coster Estate.

The Union Veteran's Union.

The First Regiment, Union Veteran's Union of New Jersey, celebrated the Fourth at Satersville, and, notwithstanding the weather, went through an interesting programme of drill and evolutions. Company D, Fourth Regiment, N. G. N. J., and detachments of Companies D and F, of the Ninth, participated in the celebration, as did also the Wilson Guards and two sections of artillery. Congressman Hardenbergh delivered an appropriate and eloquent oration, and was followed by Mr. B. W. Throckmorton. Military exercises, dancing and other amusements filled up the programme of the day, and everybody seemed to have a good time. On the whole the affair was successful and creditable to the Union Veteran's Union of New Jersey.

A Burglar Caught.

It will be remembered by our readers that a ten-year-old burglar, named Smith, was caught a few weeks ago in McManara's saloon, in Newark street. His "pal," Fred. Gresh, aged seven, escaped. The police have been looking for him ever since. Information was received recently that Gresh had been sleeping in the D. L. & W. R. B. freight cars, and Special Officer McKee was instructed to lay for him. McKee succeeded in capturing him Tuesday night. When examined at police headquarters he confessed to having committed the robbery with the boy Smith. He was committed to the County Jail. He is said to have been implicated in six robberies in this city.

Seeking a Pardon.

Frederick Klemen, of this city, who is serving a ten years' term of imprisonment in the State Prison at Trenton, for robbing the Hoboken Bank for Savings, will be released early in September, and will then be nearly eight years, which, together with the time allowed him for good conduct, will in September make up the full term. An effort is being made for his pardon at the present session of the Court of Pardons, which, if successful, will restore him to citizenship. He is now, and has for some time been employed in the dispensary and hospital of the prison. His keepers say he is "an exemplary man."

OPENING OF HARMONY HALL.

Providing For Homeless and Helpless Bachelors—Seabright's New Enterprise.

As every one who ever visited Seabright is aware, the number of bachelors at that place is unsurpassed at any other town in the country during the summer months. Of course this is the most substantial compliment that could be paid to the young ladies who visit there. The beauty of Seabright is proverbial, and the beauties are almost as renowned. One of the great social problems that has been disturbing the intellect of humanitarians for many months has been, "What shall we do with our bachelors?" Among those who wrestled with the ponderous conundrum was Mr. Hillborne Roosevelt. To this gentleman the scheme originated of making a bachelor's barracks, through which the inquisitive and prying eye of woman never could peer; in which the luckless and perhaps lucky celibates would gather all the comforts and luxuries of solid home life, untrammelled, undisturbed and undisputed.

He put his plan into execution, and the result to-day stands a splendid monument to his taste, his generosity, and his benevolence. While the upper portion of the building is devoted to the interests of the bachelors, the lower part consists of a hall which has been formally dedicated to Melpomene, Terpsichore, and all the other muses of grace and pleasure.

The dedicatory exercises took place on Monday evening. The opening "oration" was composed and delivered by Mr. James W. Alexander, who grasped the occasion to make one of the most felicitous and happy speeches of the kind we ever listened to. Not a prominent man in Seabright escaped mention in some way, all his allusions were humorous and apt, and throughout the address bristled with capital points, brilliant satire, and the most delicate irony. After this was produced the comedietta called the "Four Sisters," which introduced Miss Shippen, Miss Anna Shippen, Mr. Keasby, Mr. Kobbe, and Mr. Frank Henry. The Currie Merton of Miss Shippen was a revelation to those of the audience not acquainted with the young lady's gifts and accomplishments. She caught the strong points of the play with spirit and vivacity, and displayed a versatility that would have done credit to many professionals.

Dancing followed the play, and was maintained for several hours by the young folks. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Shippen, Mr. H. M. Alexander, Gen. and Mrs. Louis Fitzgerald, Mrs. and the Misses Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Low, Mr. John L. Riker, Gen. Mrs. and Miss McClellan, Mr. J. Bryan Lindsey, Mrs. W. L. Strong, Dr. Haight, and many others.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

The Pennsylvania Murderer.

After what seemed an unaccountable delay, the authorities of Somerset County, Pennsylvania, sent an answer to Chief Donovan's dispatches concerning John Roach, who gave himself up to the police in this city last week after confessing complicity in a murder committed ten years ago. A. F. Dickey, a special officer, arrived from Pennsylvania on Tuesday night for the purpose of securing the prisoner. Roach was brought down from the County Jail and, although reticent in regard to the murder, expressed a willingness to go with the officer without a requisition.

It was stated last week that Roach was crazy and not accountable for what he said, but this was not believed by the police. His story was too circumstantial to be the ravings of a lunatic or even a drunken man, and the details of the murder as he gave them, have since been corroborated by Officer Dickey in every particular. On the receipt of Chief Donovan's dispatch, an investigation was made, the result of which was the arrest of Hahn, who is now in jail. He strenuously denies Roach's story. Dickey says that Roach bore a good character while in Pennsylvania and his confession has caused much excitement in the neighborhood where the crime was committed. The officer left for Somerset with Roach, the prisoner, on an afternoon train.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Miss Alice E. Freeman, a graduate of Syracuse University, has been elected President of Wellesley College.

W. W. Morris, the noted horseman, died at Manalapan, Monmouth County, last week, at the age of fifty-five.

Dalton, Tenn., has a young lady dentist, and Atlanta, Ga., has a colored dentist, who has a large white patronage.

Mr. C. M. Raymond, who recently married Annie Louise Cary, the popular singer, is a wealthy, well-known Wall street broker.

Ex-Governor Rodman M. Price is prominently spoken of as a Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fifth District of this State.

The new applicants for admission to West Point Academy numbered 157, of whom 104 passed the examination and went into camp with the corps of cadets.

Syrus W. Field, Jr., of New York, who is stopping at Hotel Bellevue, Seabright, has purchased the fast steam yacht Petrel, of Mr. George S. Scott, of that place.

Salvini, Wyndham, Modjeska, Patti, Langtry, Nilsson, Amee and Ristori, are already announced as among the dramatic and musical attractions in New York for the coming season.

Mr. J. Bancroft Davis, Assistant Secretary of State, has resigned, to take effect upon the appointment of his successor, Mr. Walker Blaine, Third Assistant Secretary of State, has also tendered his resignation.

Mary Anderson's new steam yacht Galatia was launched Monday, from the shipyard of P. McGeehan, in Pamapo. A bottle of champagne was broken over the bow as she glided from the ways by Miss McGeehan, the builder's daughter.

The Third Regiment, N. G. N. J., will visit Long Branch on July 19th, and while there will put up at the Mansion House. There will be a reunion and banquet. Governor Ludlow, and it is thought, President Arthur will review the troops.

Ex-Governor Ishabod Goodwin, the first war Governor of New Hampshire, after a conspicuous life of more than four score years, died Tuesday night at his home in Portsmouth. He was born on October 10, 1796, in North Beswick, Me.

The President has nominated to be members of the Court of Alabama Claims, Ezekiah G. Wells, of Michigan, to be presiding Judge; James Harlan, of Iowa and Ara French, of Massachusetts, to be Judges; Daniel W. Fessenden, of Maine, to be Clerk of said Court.

The veterans of 1812, numbering a dozen persons, enjoyed their annual banquet in the Sturtevant House, New York, on the 4th. A copy of the original commission issued to Mr. Thurlow Weed when he took service in the war, was read. As usual, the banquet was much enjoyed.

Gen. John A. Logan, who offered to raise a regiment of troops in 1860 to help the rebels, and for months after denounced the North in her attempts to conquer a peace, stands almost alone against doing justice to the true Union soldier, Fitz John Porter, even among the Stalwart Senators.

Fourteen Pennsylvanians have started on a pedestrian tour to Niagara, Montreal, and back through the Hudson River Valley. They wear costumes not unlike Oscar Wilde's, carry a tent in sections for camping out, and are certain, the account says, to astonish the natives along the route.

Mr. Frank M. Taylor, the popular and gentlemanly Superintendent of the Long Branch Ocean Pier, was presented, on Monday last, with an elegant "navy cap" by the employees of the company, and the occasion was duly celebrated in the orthodox manner, the recipient responding to the presentation speech in his usual happy vein.

In California there are four women lawyers, of whom the widest known are Mrs. Laura De Force Gordon, who also edits a paper in Alameda County, and Mrs. Clara Foltz, who devotes some time to public speaking. GENERAL NEWS.
