

MY MOTHER'S GRAVE.

BY J. BARTON BREWER. There is no sentiment of the human heart more amiable in itself, or more honorable to him who cherishes it, than that of filial love.

Oh, if thy sainted spirit bends from its bright seat above, To watch o'er those on earth who once claimed thy maternal love.

OLD RECOLLECTIONS.

The East Side of New York City Fifty Years Ago.

On a bright morning, fifty years or more ago, Christian Bergh, father of Henry Bergh, was sitting in his office at the northeast corner of Scammel and Water streets, not far from what is now the Grand street ferry.

Above Mr. Bergh was a series of yards extending along the East River as high up as Thirteenth street; Sneden & Lawrence's yard, near the foot of Corlears street; Samuel Harnard's yard, near the foot of Grand street; Brown & Bell's yard, from Stanton to Houston streets.

Many other builders or repairers of ships occupied the same interesting shore of the East River at about the same time or later; Mr. George Thornburn, a well-known spar-maker, who now uses a part of the old yard of Sneden & Lawrence, counted, the other day, not less than thirty-three of them, whose yards resounded with the axes and hammers of busy American ship-carpenters, caulkers, blacksmiths, and joiners.

These lips are silent now, with death's mysterious seal impress'd; Those fond emotions are all stilled in deep, undreaming rest; No wintry storm can ever break the slumber of thy tomb.

Oh, no; I would not call thee back to earth's ungenial soil, Again to bear life's darksome doom, its anguish and its toll; Forgive, best shade, my selfish love! I would not drag thee down From glory's clime, nor from thy brow tear the angelic crown!

For high above the star-lit dome is thy sublime abode, Amid the adoring hosts that bend before the throne of God! And in that undecaying house a mansion bright is thine, Prepared by thy Redeemer's blood—prepared by hands divine!

building of the world; for such indeed it was. The glory has departed; not one of those ship-yards is left. In their place are machine-shops, sash-and-blind factories, lumber-yards, sugar-refineries, and coal wharves—a transformation so complete that Mr. Whittier might find in it a subject for another "Ichabod."—G. H. Sheldon, in Harper's Magazine for July.

HOBOKEN, AUGUST 5, 1882.

Official paper of the city of Hoboken. Circulation second to no other weekly journal in Hudson County.

The Contingent Fund is overdrawn $144.87. How is this?

Mr. McCarter, of counsel for the city in the water front suits, got $500 as a retainer, and wants $500 more for promising to examine the papers in the cases.

Alberts three, Miller two, Crissy two and McDermott one, is the way the vote stands in the City Clerk race. Meantime Miller is acting City Clerk until an appointment is made.

What the New York Herald says about the New York Park Commissioners, the people of Hoboken are beginning to believe about our Police Commissioners—that they are worthless.

The Inspector of Weights and Measures is at large, and the store keepers who are unfortunate enough to possess some weights that are a little light are paying for their carelessness.

A Washington Stalwart letter-writer says that steps are being taken in that city to put Gen. Logan on the track for President. Logan is pretty sure to run off the "track" if he ever gets on.

The Iowa prohibition law will compel some property owners to begin paying taxes. The licensees of the ten saloons at What Cheer have hitherto yielded enough to pay the tax of the town.

The Corporation Attorney has just informed the Mayor and Council of the decision of the Court in the Ravine Road sewer cases, information which was published in the ADVERTISER of July 22.

The Corporation Attorney's criticism of the manner in which his predecessor managed the "Market Square" cases, a manner which he calls "slovenly," is, to put it very mildly, unprofessional.

Five additional chancemen were appointed by the Police Commissioners last (Monday) night. It is evident that the Commissioners intend to weed out all the old policemen. Influence and favoritism are the qualifications the policemen must possess nowadays. Competency or faithfulness is of no concern.—J. C. Journal.

The time is ripe for preparing for the fall campaign. Democrats lay in your ammunition and do not let the rings and heelsers spring a mine on you. Executive committees, primaries and conventions must be managed by the respectable element of the party if you want to be properly represented either in Trenton or Washington.

The news of the appointment of five chancemen on the police force Monday night, sounds strange when we remember that the Mayor in his annual message strongly recommended the reduction of the force. He also went before the Tax Commissioners and urged a smaller appropriation on the ground that the force was too large and was to be cut down.

The "character, good name, fame, and reputation" of Bernard Bayer has been, according to his sworn statement, damaged by the proprietors and editor of the ADVERTISER. Diligent research will be made, and if we find that he now owns, or at any time has owned or possessed any such property, we will take such measures as will cause its alleged damage to be repaired.

Postmaster Leon H. Kendrick took charge of Hoboken post office Wednesday. He has appointed Mrs. Kendrick his assistant. After accepting his resignation as City Clerk Tuesday night the Council passed highly complimentary resolutions of congratulation and thanks to Mr. Kendrick. We wish him all kinds of success in his new office, the responsible duties of which we are sure he will discharge with credit to himself and the city of Hoboken.

THEAT PRINTING BILL.

Probably no three men could have been selected who would so blindly follow a bad lead as do the three who hold office, by the grace of Mayor Besson, a Police Commissioner. We say "blindly" out of pure charity, and we would like to believe it, but they are hardly less culpable if blindly led or unconsciously driven, than if they followed his mandates with their eyes open.

Some weeks ago, when, contrary to law, a little job was arranged by his Board to print its proceedings in the "ring organ," the ADVERTISER exposed the attempt. The Council twice refused to sanction the action of the Commissioners, knowing that his Honor's anxiety to deal out "pap" to his sickly sheet, which was fast sinking into a decline, was illegal, and that a furtherance of the scheme would likely get someone into trouble.

On Tuesday night, the police requisition was again sent in with the printing bill tacked on under the convenient heading " &c." Of course, the requisition was immediately cut down to its proper size. Sections 8 and 9 of the act creating the Board of Police Commissioners, which is a supplement to the Charter, are very explicit in regard to the publication of an annual report, and the powers of the Council in dispensing the moneys of the Police Fund. Section 8 reads: "And be it enacted, that the Commissioners shall keep a complete record of all their proceedings in a book or books provided for the purpose, which shall be taken and deemed as a public record, and they shall annually, on or before the first day of May, submit a full report of their transactions, together with a financial statement, to the Common Council of Hoboken, which report shall by them be ordered to be published in the same manner as the Mayor's message and other public documents, and a copy shall be filed in the office of the City Clerk."

This gives the Board no power to publish its proceedings from week to week, or at any time except annually "in the same manner as the Mayor's message," and the publication must even then be ordered by the Council.

Bills illegally contracted for the ring organ cannot be ordered paid by the Council out of moneys belonging to the members of the police force. The payment of the money can be readily prevented, and there should be some way of stopping these repeated attempts to force the Council to connive at the fraud.

WELL DONE, COUNCIL!

The members of the Council who, by their vote, passed the resolution granting the rebate to Mr. Reynolds, over the veto of the Mayor, deserve the thanks of the citizens, and we are sure will receive them. Their mainly action in passing this meritorious measure notwithstanding the objections of his Honor, is to be commended. It was clearly shown by the ADVERTISER last week that the objections were not sound, and was proved by the affidavit of Mr. John C. Crevier. Satisfaction has been very generally expressed by tax-payers since the action of the Council has been known. There is not the slightest doubt that the city is the gainer by the overruling of the veto. Industry has received an impetus, and the property involved will, by the improvements it is to undergo, not only be reclaimed from uselessness, but become a source of income to the city. As the ADVERTISER declared last week, and as Councilman Lee asserted in his speech favoring a liberal policy in the treatment of such offers as that of Mr. Reynolds, it would be better for the city to cancel all liens on these useless meadow lots, than by showing a grasping, mercenary spirit to discourage industry and prevent the establishment of any manufacturing interests in Hoboken. We doff our hat to the level-headed Councilmen.

MORE INJUSTICE.

By their action Monday night, in again promoting an inexperienced chanceman to the position of regular patrolman over William McDermott, the Police Commissioners not only disregarded established precedent, but outraged every principle of justice and honor, and violated their oaths of office, in that they have sworn to discharge their duties impartially. They cannot claim that their twice-repeated promotion of newly-appointed chancemen over McDermott, who has served longer than any of the others, was impartial.

He was appointed chanceman eight months ago and has long been entitled to promotion. No charges have ever been preferred against him, and when we remember that it requires next to no foundation for the present Board to concoct and prove almost any kind of a charge, when it wants to "break" a man, we must believe that McDermott's career on the force has been a nearly faultless one. He is simply a victim of Commissioner Chamberlain's malice.

If the Commissioners cannot act in accordance with their oaths of office they had better throw off the mask at once and not pretend to deal either honorably or justly with the men who are unfortunately under their control.

PLAIN FACTS.

The ring organ recently contained a boasting article in which it was claimed that that sheet was thirty-one years old and had an "extensive circulation in the State, county and city." There was a time when the latter assertion could be made truthfully, but not in the time of its present managers. They haven't got such a thing as a subscription book in their whole office. Its "circulation" is confined to the "free list" and the copies that are peddled on the street by the boys. The ADVERTISER has a bona fide paid subscription list, which requires at least double the number of papers to fill that the ring organ prints for its entire issue. And furthermore, this list is always open for inspection, and is steadily growing from week to week. The ring organ may have reached a green old age, but it cannot boast of a "life out-living heats of youth" with truth, for, while its age, in other hands, would have lent it a certain dignity, it is well known that since it fell into the hands of its present nobody proprietor and parvenu editor (?) it has rapidly decreased in worth and circulation. Its past glory and official printing income cannot support it now. They think it the height of injustice to ask such an "old paper" to compete with a "concern scarcely known to exist." If Bayer and his scribe know anything at all they know to their sorrow that the ADVERTISER not only exists, but lives, and, though youthful, is vigorous and healthy. The "age" of the ring organ, instead of being a matter for brag, is one for commiseration, for it has reached that stage known as the "eve of life." It is so old that it is worn out, and is now tottering on the brink, and it will not go where the good papers go, either.

THEY MEAN BUSINESS.

In the last issue of the ADVERTISER some space was devoted to the very just demands of the Board of Education in regard to the transferring of the poll tax to its proper place on the Treasurer's books, i. e., to the School Fund.

The Council received a communication from the School Board, Tuesday night, setting forth the same facts in the case as those given in these columns, and President Beltz appeared in behalf of the Board, and, in a few plain words, told the City Fathers that the poll tax belonged to the schools, and the Trustees meant that the schools should have it. He stated the law points in the case very clearly, and showed that any further withholding of this money from its rightful owners, diverting it from its proper channels, or converting it to other uses than those laid down by the law, would constitute malfeasance in office—in fact that such a charge could already be sustained against those members who had voted for its expenditure when illegally transferred to the Contingent Fund. The Board of Education is in the right in this matter, and the sooner this is understood the better it will be for the city.

A MONSTER "HAUL."

That President Arthur did a wise and just and brave thing in vetoing the River and Harbor Bill, which was simply a steal of $18,000,000 from the United States Treasury for use as an election bribery and corruption fund, is conceded by the entire press of the country, both Democratic and Republican. But we doubt if even the Republicans themselves dreamed that they had scoundrels enough in Congress and Senate to pass this bill over the veto.

Breaking Jail.

The notorious Louisa Geiser, who was recently sent to jail from this city by Recorder McDonough, broke out of that institution about 7:30 o'clock last Saturday evening, in a most original and novel way. This is her second escape within a few months, the other being from the cells in the Third Precinct station house, Jersey City. In each case the woman showed considerable shrewdness, combined with the agility of a cat. On Saturday afternoon Louisa was sent by Jailor Joyce to the wash-house to clean blankets. The wash-house is in the rear of the kitchen, just off the yard, which is protected by a wall ten feet high. The girl made frequent trips up and down stairs, carrying each time a blanket, in which it now appears she had secreted portions of her street apparel. About 7:30 o'clock she dropped her prison garb and donned her own costume. There were several places where an active person might scale the wall from this portion of the yard, and in all probability Louisa chose the easiest, the southeast corner, where a small sloping shed reaches to the straw shed, the roof of the latter being almost on a level with the wall, and contiguous to it. A child could run up to the wall, and the drop from there to the Court House grounds would be nothing for Louisa. When search was made for her she was gone.

Fire on the Gellert.

The steamer Gellert, of the Hamburg-American Packet Company, which sailed from this city on the 29th ult., was discovered to be on fire on the 28th while in mid-ocean. The flames broke out in the aftermost watertight compartment in the main hold. It was at first feared that the vessel would have to be abandoned, but after two large holes had been cut in the deck, and the compartment flooded with water, the danger was averted. The captain, officers, crew and passengers behaved admirably. The latter subscribed $1,000 to the life-saving box in token of their appreciation of the coolness and bravery of the crew. The Gellert arrived at Hamburg on Wednesday. The cause of the fire was the spontaneous combustion of part of the cargo. Several Hoboken people were passengers on the burning steamer. No one was injured.

Drowned in the Hudson.

On Thursday morning, Charles Gray, aged thirty-two, a resident of New York, while at work on a pile-driver on the dock that is building at the foot of Newark street, fell overboard and was drowned. He had a large and heavy crew-bar in his hands at the time, and those who saw him fall into the water say that he held on to the iron and immediately sank out of sight. An effort was made to recover the body, but has so far been unsuccessful.

Obituary.

FREDERICK E. ROWALD.
Frederick E. Rowald died on Thursday evening in the fortieth year of his age, after an illness of some months. Mr. Rowald was the first Assistant City Clerk ever appointed in Hoboken, and in 1870 was elected City Clerk, succeeding Mr. John Kennedy in that office, and held it for three successive years. He was also for many years a member of No. 2 Engine Company. A wife and three children survive him.

Our "Devil" Says

When I hear of the "extensive circulation" of the Democrat (Rep.), I wish I could laugh in print.

There was a big dog fight in the Council Tuesday night. It was not by dogs, but about them.

Commissioner Chamberlain is getting some reward for his "dirty work." He appointed two chancemen Monday night.

Taking it "by and large," last Tuesday's Council meeting was the liveliest and most interesting that has been held for a long time.

Notwithstanding his brag, the editor (?) of the "ring organ has killed no one yet. "Moderate your transports," Al, it's a dreadful thing to have the blood of a fellow-creature on your hands.

St. Mary's Hospital.

Dr. Wm. R. Fisher is now connected with St. Mary's Hospital, filling the vacancy caused by the death of the late Dr. Benson. The staff is composed of Drs. Chabert, Gilman and Fisher. The improvements at the hospital are now rapidly approaching completion. The addition to the building will about double its size and capacity, and many conveniences are to be added that are necessary but were lacking in the old building. A steam heating apparatus will be put up and the pipes will distribute steam heat to both buildings. Private wards for pay patients will be established. The latest approved system of ventilation is to be adopted.

When the plan of enlarging the hospital was first projected it was calculated that it would require about $35,000 to carry it out, but Dr. Chabert is of the opinion that the addition of the boiler and steam heating apparatus and other improvements will increase the cost to very nearly $40,000. The Sisters are meeting with a fair amount of success in their collections, but the cause is worthy of a more prompt and generous response. A large sum is still needed. Subscriptions in any amount, large or small, will be gratefully received by the Sisters. Every one should give something toward the support of this excellent charity.

The Royal Arcanum.

Members of various Councils of the Royal Arcanum throughout the State, who are summering at Mount Tabor, have formed the Royal Arcanum Association, having for its object the "mutual enjoyment of the members and practice of the master principles of our beloved order, good fellowship and furthering of its great interests."

The association proposes to hold a State reunion on Saturday next, at Mount Tabor. The chief features of the day will be singing of an opening ode; address of welcome to Mount Tabor by the President of the Mount Tabor association; lunch in the grove; in the evening an address, setting forth the principles of the order, recitations, choruses, solos and readings, closing with the "Closing Ode," and arrangements have been made with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad for special rates of transportation for the round trip from New York, Hoboken, Newark, Montclair and Phillipsburg.

For the return trip special trains will be run from Mount Tabor at about 9:30. The total cost for the trip from Hoboken, including transportation and dinner will be $165. The members of the association from Hoboken Council No. 99 are Chas. L. Pitts and Jacob Vanderbilt. Mr. Chas. Hill, of this city, the well-known tenor, will sing at the evening entertainment. In a circular issued by the association the different Councils are strongly urged to co-operate and make the reunion a success.

Sea Breezes.

CAPE MAY POINT, N. J., Aug. 1, 1882.

Never in the history of this place, either under the old name of Cape Grove, or under the more recent one of Cape May Point, has there been such a prosperous season. The cottages have all been rented. The hotels, the Carlton and Bellevue, have a full complement of guests, and everything indicates the continuation of this prosperity.

Miss Emma Idell, of your city, is stopping at one of the Walker Row Cottages on Lincoln avenue.

Mr. F. W. Swart, of the Philadelphia Press and editor and proprietor of The Spray, published here, with his wife and herself, Miss Ida May Hicks, of Hoboken, have a suite of rooms at the Carlton House.

Mrs. F. C. Niven, of your city, is expected here this week, and is to remain for the balance of the season, a guest of Mrs. M. Conyers Stewardson, at the Bellevue House.

We are to have a grand monster fireworks exhibition, in the latter part of this month, on the beach in front of the Carlton House. Prof. Samuel Jackson, pyrotechnist, of Philadelphia, has been engaged. It is promised that the exhibition will excel the famous displays of Coney Island and Manhattan Beach.

Summer Resort Notes.

Ex-State Senator Bud Deacon is at Asbury Park.

The Oriental Hotel, Coney Island, has reduced its rates.

Miss Hannah Cribbens, of this city, is summering at Red Bank.

Gen. Hancock is expected in Long Branch sometime during the month.

The widow of Gen. John C. Breckenridge is summering at Long Branch.

Hon. Robert McCague, Jr., and family, of this city, are at Bayport, L. I.

The hops at the Howland, Long Branch, are formal affairs this season.

"Jim" Keane, the "wheat king," is at the Hotel Brighton, Coney Island.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Judge, of Hoboken, are summering at Long Branch.

Miss Annie Smith, of this city, is spending a short season at Chatham, N. Y.

Joe Jefferson is taking a Rip Van Winkle snooze at Saddle Brook, this State.

All the summer resorts along the Jersey coast are very liberally patronized just now.

Mrs. A. Clark, of this city, and Miss Alice McLaughlin, of Jersey City, are at the Ocean Hotel, Ocean Grove.

Gen. James A. Beaver, Don Cameron's candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, is at Ocean Grove, with his family.

A young widow, with $50,000 a year, is said to be one of the attractions at Seabright, and the Bachelor's Hotel is crowded.

Starrin's Glen Island, Long Island Sound, is a delightful resort, and is much patronized this season by excursionists.

An exchange says that from the Highlands of the Navosink and Seabright to Cape May, the Jersey coast is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

It is said to be an open secret in Cape May, that President Arthur is paying very marked attention to a well-known society lady who is sojourning there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kersey, of Hoboken, are enjoying life in their charming little villa at Long Branch, where they entertain their many friends royally.

Hotel, demanded $7.50 for his services. Trichler told him that the price was exorbitant, and the "Jarvey," under pretext of driving to the police station, made tracks for Jersey City with Trichler's baggage. He was arrested and Justice Stillings, of Jersey City, being unable to hold him on any other charge, committed him for running a hack without a license, in default of $30 fine.

Political Notes.

Speaker J. W. Keifer has been renominated to Congress by the Republicans in the Eighth Ohio District. The Republicans must be very easily satisfied out there.

The nominations by the Democratic Convention in South Carolina, this week, make a very strong State ticket—the strongest placed in the field since the war.

The Indiana State Democratic Convention met on Wednesday and nominated a State ticket which cannot fail to discomfit the quarrelling leaders of the Republican party. The prospect of Democratic success in Indiana this fall is very bright.

The chances now are all against Cornell and his party in New York, and the Democratic outlook is very encouraging. The Republicans are not likely to consummate a deal with the Kelly gang this year, as that which seated Cornell in the gubernatorial mansion at Albany.

Three tickets for 1884: Democratic—For President, Winfield S. Hancock; for Vice-President, George H. Pendleton. Republican—For President, Chester A. Arthur; for Vice-President, John J. Ingalls. Prohibition—For President, John P. St. John; for Vice-President, Neal Dow.

Col. E. P. C. Lewis is named as a candidate for the Democratic Congressional nomination in Hudson County. It is understood that the Hon. A. A. Hardenbergh will not accept a renomination. Col. Lewis is a resident of Hoboken, and has represented his district in the Lower House of the State Legislature.—Englewood Standard.

Seven members of Congress, seven State Senators for three years, and fifty members of the Assembly are to be elected in this State in November. The election involves a seat in the United States Senate for six years, a State Comptroller and Treasurer for one year, and the advantage of position in the contest for Governor in 1883.

The Hoboken ADVERTISER is out for Col. E. P. C. Lewis for Congress in lieu of A. A. Hardenbergh. He is one of the nearest relatives of George Washington, and is said to be a gentleman of high culture and ability. Hoboken is, by usage, entitled to the choice, and we hope that the genial and gifted Colonel will secure the nomination, which is tantamount to election. Col. Lewis at one time represented Hoboken in the Assembly of the State. Gus Hardenbergh worships too many strange political gods. Col. Lewis is a Democrat without an if.—Central N. J. Herald.

Never in the history of this place, either under the old name of Cape Grove, or under the more recent one of Cape May Point, has there been such a prosperous season. The cottages have all been rented. The hotels, the Carlton and Bellevue, have a full complement of guests, and everything indicates the continuation of this prosperity.

Mr. F. W. Swart, of the Philadelphia Press and editor and proprietor of The Spray, published here, with his wife and herself, Miss Ida May Hicks, of Hoboken, have a suite of rooms at the Carlton House.

Mrs. F. C. Niven, of your city, is expected here this week, and is to remain for the balance of the season, a guest of Mrs. M. Conyers Stewardson, at the Bellevue House.

We are to have a grand monster fireworks exhibition, in the latter part of this month, on the beach in front of the Carlton House. Prof. Samuel Jackson, pyrotechnist, of Philadelphia, has been engaged. It is promised that the exhibition will excel the famous displays of Coney Island and Manhattan Beach.

Mrs. Margaret Sanderson, relict of the late Col. Henry S. Sanderson, and the lady who made the flag for H. McHenry which inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner," died in New York city on Saturday last, aged eighty-five years. At the time of the bombardment of Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, in 1812, Mrs. Sanderson, who was only fifteen years old, made the flag out of costly silk with her own hands, and presented it to Col. Geo. Armistead, the commandant of the fort, just before the British appeared in the bay. During the subsequent engagement the flag floated over the fort and was seen by Key while confined in the British man-of-war. After the war the flag was returned to its maker, and is now one of the treasures of the Sanderson family.

A petition has been submitted to the Mayor and Council for the privilege of laying gas mains and pipes through the streets of the city and establishing gas works for the purpose of supplying the citizens with gas. The "Union Gas Light Company of Hudson County," through its officers, is the petitioner, and will guarantee to furnish better gas than that now supplied the city, at less than $2.50 per thousand feet, and will supply lights for the public lamps at less than $25 per year. Competition is a remarkable leveller of prices, and we hope that the new company may prove a responsible concern, be granted the privileges it asks, and be instrumental in raising the quality and lowering the price of our lights, both indoors and out.

On the Avenue at Long Branch.

Long Branch is noted for its handsome turnouts. In that respect, at least, it eclipses Saratoga, Newport, Atlantic City, Cape May, and many other well-known summer resorts. The cottage people, numbering several thousands, represent a combined worth of millions of dollars. Every cottager, and many of the hotel guests, have their barouches and trotters, and the avenue at certain hours is crowded with elegant and costly turnouts. Vehicles of every description—dog carts, village carts, T-carts, victorias, barouches and landaus—may be seen daily gliding over the evenly-graded thoroughfare, drawn by some of the handsomest specimens of horse flesh the country has ever produced. And the Long Branch drive is a delightful one. There is, probably, no finer drive on the American coast than along Ocean avenue from Elberon to Seabright. The summer visitors appreciate this fact, and daily take advantage of this source of enjoyment offered them at the Summer Capital.
