MEADOWMERE:

A Tale of Love in the Lowlands.

BY MOLLY CECIL STRAW.

"Sweetly smiled my client on him Coyly wooed and gently won him."

Trial by Jury. "Come to my arms my beamish boy!"

Fair Cynthia, rising Queen of Night, was just visible over the roof of the Apfrom the side windows of the City Hall girl's fair face, as her lover's burly form year, have I looked forward to the moment when I could lay my club and shield and heart at your feet and tell you that I love you-love you with a love as strong as stratena or perique tobacco. 'Tis not the fruitage of a moment's growth; no, but the slow result of wakeful years, shaped-step by step, conducted to this point. It shall succeed; aye, succeed it must now, or fail for-

His eloquent stump-speech, rhetorical effort, committed to memory from a book, had its effect, and, as a slight cough from the neighborhood of the wood-shed assured her that her father had been a witness, and it was safe to lay odds against De La Baton's backing out, she yielded. His brawny right arm that had swung so many night-squad clubs, clasped her ample waist in genuine never-let-aprisoner-go, professional squeeze, and she looked into his manly, bearded face with one of those faithful, I'll-cling-toyou-like-an-English-ivy-and-never-leave -you kind of expression on her hard and approaching something like shame, prompted me to leave out most of Idalia's part in the above interesting conversa-Shakespeare, "climbed the Golden." But I must not anticipate. To pick up the thread where I broke off-

"Have I not been too easily won?" he asked himself. She has been too luxuriantly fly and I have a notion that previousness has not been too conspicuously absent in my action. These thoughts, of course, he confided to his own bosom, and the gentle reader is indebted to that perspicacity and perquisition for which I am so deservedly famous, for this "give-away." What he said was, "you have made me very happy, darling." Let us skip her answer and get on to something more practical.

The conversation had taken a turn that made him a trifle nervous. He braced himself for a display of his characteristic firmness and his square jaw assumed one of those I'm-glad-the-iceeream-season's-over-and-I'll-fight-shyof-the-oysters attitudes so galling to the girl in love. She shifted her chewing gum to the other side of her mouth to relieve the pressure on the teeth that were only hers by right of purchase, and he saw by the determined strike-whilethe-iron-is-hot glance in the emerald depths of the "windows of her soul," that she was going to make a "break." So he "lined up his rushers," paregorically speaking, and muttering under his breath "off-side," said in his most winning oil-on-the-troubled-waters tone of voice, "peradventure you would like me to buy two tickets for the benefit at Wareings' Theatre, love."

-THE WEST SHORE RAILROAD.

A Statement Prepared by the North River Construction Company.

A pamphlet prepared by Gen. Edward F. Winslow, President of the North River Construction Company, which is build-ing the New York, Buffalo and West Shore Railroad, has been issued. It is intended to explain the character and progress of the work, and begins with the route of the road, which is from Wee-hawken along the westshore of the Hud-son to Athens and Albany, through the York to Buffalo, which is to be double 13 miles from Coeymans to Albany, and another of 25 miles from Cornwall to Middletown. Speaking of the road, the pamphlet says one-third of the entire road is level. The prevailing maximum grade going east is 20 feet to the mile, and going west is 30 feet to the mile. For VERTISER office and her beams reflected a short distance only will these limits be exceeded. Eighty per cent. of the enarmory, peeped coquetishly into the tire road is a straight line, the maximum curves and four degrees, and only on 28 cast a shadow through the low case- miles does the curvature exceed two degrees. The track is well ballasted and laid with 67-pound steel rails, which are "Oh, you cannot mean it. This is too sudden," she said, turning away her head to hide the eager trout-catch-at-at-afy look that came over her face.

"Mean it, Idalia! By this right arm, which never yet has refused to use the policeman's club on the heads of all the drunken sots that Hoboken beer and Jersey lightning fills Adams street with after dark, I swear to you that, from hour to hour, from day to day, from week to week, aye, and from year to year, have I looked forward to the mondal and the desired of the heaviest used continuously in the State of New York. The bridges are of iron and the culverts of masonry. The terminal facilities are said to be ample, and include a mile and a third of river front opposite New York. The equipment it is said will be first-class and the road it is declared occupies, to the exclusion of any other line that may be projected, the only low grade passes between New York and the lakes. It is the first trunk line of its length built as a double-track road its entire length "Oh, you cannot mean it. This is too the heaviest used continuously in the a double-track road its entire length from its conception.

The road has been built with special reference to its commercial advantages. It reaches seven of the thirty-two cities in the Union with a population of over 50,000 each. It is claimed for the road that it strikes through the best, richest and most populous part of the State and opens up the west shore of the Hudson, which was never before directly traversed by a railroad. The company is authorized to issue capital stock to the amount of $40,000,000. It has power to issue bonds not to exceed $50,000,000, bearing 5 per cent. interest and running to the state of the system of the state, such notice to be continued for two months, for the distact, such notice to be continued for two months.

Official paper of the city of Hoboken. Circulation second to no other weekly journal in Snow last night.

Feed your turkey.

Who is City Clerk?

Did you hear Councilman Timken' speech on the Mayor Tuesday night?

Champagne has been pouring down the throats of contented election-bet winners, during the past week.

The mystery surrounding the collision of the Westphalia with an unknown teamer, in the English Channel, is still unexplained.

In the City Clerk excitement, Tuesday night, his Honor's vetoes received but scant attention, but it was probably all they deserved.

It indicates a healthy state of public opinion that the respectable Republican papers are with one accord rejoicing at Robeson's defeat.

A new daily paper, the Morning Journal, made its appearance in New York city, Thursday. It is a healthy and promising looking "kid."

News of one Republican victory comes like an inch of sunshine in a leaden sky to the defeated. Newcastle County, Del., elected a Republican Sheriff .- Evening

The Sun says that whatever Robeson may be in other respects, he is not a fool. The first thing he did after his defeat was to go to Washington and put up his big house for sale.

The Board of Education has decided to organize several additional classes in the Night School, and appoint more placed before the Council.

Senators Paxton, of Hudson: Young- to the services of the Sheriff as auctionblood, of Morris; Beatty, of Warren, and vassers to act with him in counting the votes cast for Congressmen.

At Mr. McAdoo's request, we have published in another column, his letter of thanks, in order to insure it the extensive circulation it deserves, but cannot have received through the columns in which it was buried last week.

Although the time for fur-lined overcoats and sleighing is almost upon us, a Hoboken weekly informed its readers, under date of November 11, that "the fashionable shade this summer is the shady side of the street." We will apologize for our contemporary by explaining that the item was part of its patent matter, which was probably purchased at second hand.

Our e. c., the Canajoharie (N. Y.) Courier, comes to us this week with such exceeds the expectations of my friends and an increase in its size that we are constrained to believe what we have always invidious distinctions in returning my thanks, heard, that it lives in a fine "growing' country. It is now a thirty-two column paper, and its advertising patrouage is enough to make a publisher's mouth water. Brother Cook, accept our condons and the "assurances of our est distinguished consideration."

THE CITY CLERK MUDDLE.

The absence of Councilman Grassnight, made possible an action in the City carefully avoided and which the supporters of Mr. McDermott were quick to take advantage of, and has been the means of breaking the dead-lock so long maintained. It has brought about a crisis in this partisan contest, which, and to an unfaltering opposition to the instead of immediately settling the matter, will unquestionably involve a litigation, and before the question can be settled in the courts, the remainder of the term of office will, in all probability, have expired. When, in the course of the balloting for City Clerk, Martin V. McDermott received four of the seven votes cast, Chairman Miller declared it "no election,' stating that it required a majority vote of the full Board, which would be five votes. Councilman Lee appealed from the decision of the Chair, whereupon Chairman Miller v he cew from the Council Chamber, followed by Councilman Stein. Councilman Kaulmann was then called to the Chair. A motion declining to vote, i. was decided carried by Chairman Kaufmann.

The question now to be unided is whether the appointment is legal or not. other side is that a majority vote of the full Board is required to make the appointment legal. There will probably be another contest when Mr. McDermott submits his bonds for the approval of the Mayor and Council. If this matter comes before the full Board, another dead-lock may be expected.

Both sides appear determined to mains unfortunate, as no settlement if likely to be effected without an expense to the city for which there is no necessity. It is greatly to be regretted that a compromise was not effected long ago, for in which are to be preached each evening of the the interest of good government the City Fathers should act harmoniously in the conduct of the city's business.

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

The renegade Argus is pleased to term the notice it received in these columns last week "a very high compliment," claiming that the action on its part, which the ADVERTISER condemned showed "independence" of "boss rule." But there is a kind of "independence aptly termed "on the fence." It is the are sure, the capacity of the church, which 'independence" of one who has no opinion of his own, and so far from being free from "boss rule" is only waiting to echo the opinion of the boss who is willing to pay the most for such echo. The Argus always claimed to be a Democratic organ, and it turned traitor just before the election because an emissary no doubt will be almost as interesting as from the enemy's camp was foolish enough to pay its price.

Says the Argus: "'Machine' organs, such as our weekly contemporary, like machine' methods in politics, are get ting out of date. The result of the late elections in the several States unmistakably proves that 'machine' party organs have no influence over honest, independent and conservative voters in either party."

The Advertiser has never been the organ of any "machine," and its opinions, political or otherwise, have never been sold or for sale. The result of the General Grant has at last arrived at elections in this State was in accordance has done every description of newspaper the conviction of the innocence of Gen. with the Advertiser's desire and pro-The fate of the candidates voters." whose election the Argus was hired to advocate. does not "unmistakably prove" that that organ exerted a very wide influence over anything in particular. This is precisely what the Apver-TISER meant by its article last week, and if this is a very high compliment, the Argus is heartily welcome to it.

HE GOT THE MONEY.

Since the last issue of the ADVERTISER, Albert Hoffman, editor of the Hudson County Democrat (Rep.), who recently obtained a verdict of $1,000 in the libel suit against the proprietors of this paper, teachers. The necessity for increased has been paid by them the full amount school accommodations will again be of the verdict, with costs. The "embarrassment" of which he talks and writes. has evidently vanished. He succeeded Governor Ludlow has appointed State in collecting the money without recourse eer, or those of his "friend," who was Nichols, of Cumberland, a Board of Can-willing to give the full amount of the

The Mission at the Holy Innocents.

The twelve days' mission at the Church of the Holy Innocents was opened last evening. in the presence of a crowded congregation, by the Right Rev. T. A. Starkey, D. D., Bishor of the Diocese. Shortly after the appointed hour the procession entered the church, first appointing Martin V McDermott City the crucifer, then the choir boys and men, Clerk was put, and four members voting twenty in number, a number of clergy from in the affirmative, Tou icil and Valleau this neighborhood and New York, the Parish Priests, the Mission Priests and the Bishop They entered singing the Mission Hymn: () Love, who formedst me to wear,

The Image of Thy Godhead here which was taken up by the congregation and Mr. McDermott's friends claim that it sung with an earnestness which was a fair is, and that it only requires a majority specimen of the enthusiasm which will doubt vote of a quorum. The argument of the less be manifested throughout the Mission. When the choir and clergy had reached their places, the bishop said a few prayers before the altar and then, after the singing of another of the Mission hymns, delivered an earnest address to the people, stating the objects of the Mission and calling upon all present to enter into it with earnestness and devotion. Returning to the altar, before which the Mission priests were kneeling, he placed upon the shoulders of each of them a tain their positions. both considering stole, conferring upon them power and juris themselves in the right. The situation diction to carry on the Mission in the parish, and then invoked upon them and their work the blessing of the Most Holy Trinity.

After the singing of another hymn, Mr. Mortimer preached an earnest and eloquent sermon, the first of the Mission sermons twelve days, and we have not the slightest doubt but that each of the twelve will be as well worth hearing as that delivered last Another Mission hymn was sung, followed by a plain, but foreible instruction on "How to keep the Mission." Then, after another hymn and prayers and the bishop's blessing upon the assembled multitude, the clergy and choir retired in order, singing the Mission hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

Thus closed the first service of the Mission and from what was seen and heard last night we can safely prophesy its great success. The only limit to the attendance will be, we unfortunately is not very great, though the use of the chairs instead of pews or benches greatly increases the number of seats. We vould say to those who may make a vain effort to gain admittance to the evening services, that they can compensate themselves for their loss by attending some of the day services, which are not so crowded, but which those of the night. We heartly wish that the mission may meet with the success it deserves, which we are sure will be echoed by all our readers.

A Sad Bereavement.

Our "Amateur Casual." who has but recently recovered from the effects of that Aurora Borealis racket, so graphically described in the ADVERTISER a few months ago, showed that he had considerable true grit in his make-up the other day, for he reached us, through the mail, with the following pathetic lament at the loss of a colleague We cannot print it without a passing tribute to the versatility of his literary genius. He work for us, from grinding out spring poetry Fitz John Porter, of the charges which phesy, and it is perhaps fair to assume and "autumn leaves," to the simple reporwere brought against him twenty years that this result was brought about by torial chronicling of passing events. But it honest, independent and conservative is a long stride from that to the perpetration Messrs. B. Boekelman, Emil Schenck, J. the customers. The supper was excellent, this production as he can be. Here it is:

The Forest and Stream Club sustained a sad loss last week in the death of one who has long been considered as an honorary member of that association. Perhaps the best account of the event is that taken from the minutes of the secretary, as follows:

We are called upon on this occasion to mourn the loss of one who was held to be an honorary member of this club. It is always bloom of youth and usefulness, but especially so in this case, when death was brought pany. about by foul means. Our friend was out hunting a short time since, and for a week after he seemed exceedingly listless and tired. He was taken suddenly ill one night, and died before aid could be summoned, with all the evidences of poison, and, while we mourn our loss, we should endeavor to have punished the authors of the crime."

Sunday evening the funeral took place. The arrangements were carried out as quietly as possible, the number of pall bearers limited to two and a dark lautern. At 9:30 P. M.. the funeral procession started for a private burying ground on the Heights. The telegraph wires sang mournfully in the evening breeze, the stars looked down tearfully through ragged holes in the clouded sky. bursing it as we did in paying it to him. "Without sound of music or voice of them that wept," the little procession moved over rocks, up hills, across brooks, till at last the cemetery was reached. The grave was dug; on a neighboring current bush a potato bug chewed silently the cud of reflection; an owl looked askance from the fence; a little green snake glided out and peered into the open grave, flashed its bright eyes at us a moment and vanished; the dead leaves rustled, a cricket chirped huskily. The bell in a far-off church began to toll as we filled in the grave. No tears were shed, but we felt a little sad perhaps when we looked for the last time on Black Bess," Oscar's collie.

Only nine of the celebrated Nicoli Amati violins are known to have survived "the wreck of matter." Of these, a careful register is kept, so that the possessor, and the exact condition and description of each is known to connoisseurs all over the world. AN INTERESTING CASE.

Skillfully Managed Lawsuit in which the Odd Fellows Came Out Ahead.

A case of considerable interest to the order of I.O.O.F., in the city of Hoboker, was tried at the last term of the Hudson County Circuit Court. In the year 1858, a certificate of incorporation was filed, pursuant to the statute of benevolent associations, by Columbia Lodge, No. 63, I. O. O. F., that being the corporate name adopted by the lodge in question. Some time after, four lots of land fronting on Washington and Bloomfield streets, in this city, were conveyed to Columbia Lodge by its corporate name. On Febru ary 28, 1855, Columbia Lodge met and the members thereof formed themselves into an stolen from Straustown, Berks County, Pa. association for the purpose of erecting a building to be called Odd Fellows' Hall. The building which was erected is the present Odd Fellows' Hall. On February 16, 1866, the grounds and building were leased by "The frau, of the city of Hoboken," for a term of 63, I.O.O.F., then in the building and also that said lodge should be permitted to occupy the lodge room in the building every Wednesday evening in each week.

On May 1, 1866, Mr. Chanfrau assigned his lease to August L. Nosser, who in turn on the 27th of September, 1867, assigned it to Mr. Gottlieb Zurn. When the last quarter's rent came due on the 1st of May, 1881, Mr Zurn refused to pay it. The matter was turned over to the care of Counsellor Samuel A. Besson, with instructions to take such measures as he might deem most efficient to secure the rent for the lodge. He soon discovered that although the deed for the land was in the name of Columbia Lodge, the lease had been made out in the name of the Odd Fellows' Hall Association, whereas in fact no such organization as the Odd Feliows' Hall Association had ever been incorporated. Here was a dilemma. If suit was brought against Zurn in the name of Columbia Lodge. the refendant would reply that he had never lease ' of that corporation: if in the name of the Odd Fellows' Hall Association, the defendant would say there was no corporate body of that name.

Suit was finally brought in the name of Columbia Lodge, No. 63, I. O. O. F., incorrectly named Odd Fellows' Hall Association of Hoboken, in the lease," and at the trial of the cause, evidence was produced to prove that the two names belonged to the same of the High School, No. 415 Willow street, this corporate individual or rather that the Odd Fellows' Hall Association was and is Columbia Lodge, No. 63, I. O. O. F. A verdict for ware to the value of about $150. The thief $365 was rendered by the jury in favor of the lodge. The lodge is indebted to Counsellor Samuel A. The Baptist Fair.

The two-day's bazaar and supper under the auspices of the A. I. D. "The Belle of The Ball." The Monroe Pleasure Club gave a ball at Weber's Winter Garden, Tuesday night, at which there was a large attendance and much enjoyment. A feature of the ball was the difficult task imposed upon the members and their friends of designating "the belle of the ball." Many beauties were present, but the fight centered between the friends of Miss Mamie McBride and Miss Mamie Wilson. LOUIS M. STEIN, H. L. TIMKEN, FRED. KAUFMANN.

The following report was presented, read and, on notion of Councilman Timken, received and the ecommendation adopted:

To the Honorable the Mayor and Council of the City of Hoboken:

GENTLEMEN—Your Committee on Schools re-spectfully begs to report that it has made a thor-ough examination of the different schools of this city and find that in Schools I and 3 and also in the Annex the primary classes are over-crowded to some extent.

mit the following suggestions, viz.:
That the room now occupied by the Board of School Trustees in School No. 4, be altered into class rooms, and that the School Trustees be requested to hold their meetings at the City Hall, in some room to be provided by the Council, which would relieve the crowded condition of the classes

The following communication from his Honor Mayor Besson was presented, read and, on motion of Councilman Kaufmann, received:

To the Councit:

I return without approval "An Ordinance to provide for the appointment of City Hall Engineers, to prescribe their term of service, and define their duties, and fix their wages," as passed 24th ultimo.

Chapter OXLIV. Laws of 1877, provides, "that nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize the payment of a salary to any city officer not now entitled by law to receive a salary." Your ordinance proposes to greate two city offices and authorize payment of salary to them; which is in violation of that law.

It is necessary to have authable account in charge or the next two or three years to come.

To the Committee on Licenses:

On motion of Cou-

House and back (horse and wagon, $1.50; man, $1.50; time for self, $1.50.) $4.50," as ordered paid sist ultime.

Mr. Coughlin was City Weighmaster, holding over from last year until his successor was appointed, and I presume it were in connection with that office that this bill was occasioned. The office produces no revenue to the city treasury: the City Weighmaster gets it all; he is paid by fees from the owners of weights, measures and scales. The city furnishes him with the proper tools of his calling, viz, standard weights and measures of the State. All weights and measures in use in the city, for the purposes of sale, must conform to these standards. The City Weighmaster must attend that they do. The city, instead of the City Weighmaster, has been accustomed to pay annually the County Clerk for the inspection of these standards. No law requires this annual inspection. If the City Weighmaster be in doubt as to their correctness and desire to have them tested, he should, properly, be at the expense himself. However, that no excuse be afforded injustice, the city has born the cost, but when we are called upon in addition to pay $4.50 for the transportation of about a hundred pounds of weights and measures to the Court House and back, I think it is time to stop. So far as his "dies" and "blank receipts" be concerned, Mr. Coughlin furnished himself, as was proper, and has no right to reimbursement from the city. The inspection by Mr. Coughlin, this year, was the veriest farce; conducted in the most rapid-transit manner, to evade the performance of the duties by his successor; it was sufficiently timed, nevertheless, to be attended by extortion at every step. Recent results have proved it was no inspection at all—it was a grab for all he could get, and this claim is a part of it.

To the Council:

Mannion for investigation, most respectfully report as follows:

We find that John Maloney, John Leahy and John Mannion performed work for the city in cleaning gutters and streets by order of the Committee on Streets and streets by order of the Committee on Streets and Assessments, and are therefore entitled to pay for the same. John Maloney $3.50, John I ahy $7.50, and John Mannion $6.00, making a total of $17.00. It appears from the statements of John Leahy and John Mannion that Councilman Timken advanced the amount of tendollars to said Leahy and Mannion with the understanding that it should be returned to him when the city had paid it to said Leahy and Mannion. The chorge of the Mayor that there is something spurious about the claims is without foundation, which the action of the Mayor plainly shows, in his refusal to appear before your Committee and state what he knew of the so-called spurious claims, after being requested so to do by this Council. The Street Commissioner said that the man worked with his gang of men on the streets, and the worked with his gang of men on the streets, and the time stated in their claims. It also appears from the statement of John Mannion that the Mayor either misunderstood or wilfully misinterpreted the language of said Mannion, as the said Mannion positively denies ever telling the Mayor that he has no claim against the city for said work, but stated to the Mayor that Councilman Timken had advanced him the money.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN LEE,

Fred. KAUMANN. I return without approval claim of Edward Coughlin, $7.50, "for two steel dies, 500 blank receipts, taking weights and measures to Court House and tack (horse and wagon, $1.50; time for self, $1.50,) $4.50," as ordered paid

"Now you git right away from here," said the grocery man to the bad boy, as he came in with a hungry look on his face and off half cocked and blow us all up. I think you are a devil. You may have a billy goat, or a shot gun, or a bottle of poison concealed about you. Condemn you, the somebody yet. Here, take a handful of prunes and go off somewhere and enjoy yourself, and keep away from here," and the grocery man went on sorting potatoes, and watching the haggard face of the boy. "What ails you, anyway?" he added, as the boy refused the prunes, and seemed to be sick to the stomach.

"Oh. I am a wreck," said the boy, as he grated his teeth, and looked wicked. "You see before you a shadow. I have drank of as a work of art." the sweets of life and now only the dregs remain. I look back at the happiness of the past two weeks, during which I have himself. It looks as if he had hired some been permitted to gaze into the fond blue old master from Chicago for a day or so to eyes of my loved one, and carry her rubbers help him out. What a magnificent lake that to school for her to wear home when it rained, to hear the sweet words that fell from her lips as she lovingly told me I was a terror, and as I think it is all over, and that I shall never again place my arm around her waist, I feel as if the world had been kicked off its base and was whirling through space, liable to be knocked into a cocked hat, and I don't care a darn. My girl has shook me."

"Sho! You don't say so," says the grocery man, as he threw a rotten potato into a basket of good ones that were going to the orphan asylum. "Well, she showed sense. You would have blown her up, or broken her neck, or something. But don't feel bad. You will soon find another girl that will discount her, and you will forget all about "Never!" said the boy, as he nibbled at a piece of cod fish that he had picked off. 'I shall never allow my affections to become entwined about another piece of calico. It unmans me, sir. Henceforth I am a hater of the whole girl race. From this out I shall harbor revenge in my heart, and no girl can cross my path and live. 1 want to grow up to become a he school ma'am, or a he milliner, or something, where I can grind girls into the dust under the heel of a terrible despotism, and make them sue for mercy. To think that girl, on whom I have lavished my heart's best love could let the smell of a goat on my clothes broken. I will lay for that messenger some our ward, and I will make him think lightbench. O, you don't know anything about the woe there is in this world. You never loved many people, did you?"

The grocery man admitted that he had never loved very hard, but he knew a little something about it from an aunt of his who got mashed on a Chicago drummer. "But your father must be having a rest while your whole mind is occupied with your love affair," said he.

"Yes," says the boy, with a vacant look, "I take no interest in the pleasure of the chase any more, though I did have a little quiet fun this morning at the breakfast table. You see pa is the contrariest man ever was. If I complain that anything at the table don't taste good, pa says it is all pitcher and emptied out the white syrup and put in some cod liver oil that ma is taking for her cough. I put some on my pancakes, and pretended to taste of it, and I told pa the syrup was sour and not fit to eat. Pa was mad in a second, and he poured out some on his pancakes and said I was getting too confounded particular. He said the syrup was good enough for him, and he sopped his pancakes in it and fired some down his neck. He is a gaul durned hypocrite, that's what he is. I could see by his face that the cod liver oil was nearly killing him, but he said that syrup was all right, and if I didn't eat mine he would break my back, and by gosh I had to eat it, and pa said he guessed he hadn't got much appetite and he would just drink a cup of coffee and eat a donut. I like to dide, and that is one thing, I think, that makes this disappointment in love harder to bear. But I felt sorry for ma. Ma ain't got a very strong stummick, and when she got some of that cod liver oil in her mouth she went right up stairs, sickern a horse, and pa had to help her, and she had nooralgia all the morning. I eat pickles to take the taste out of my mouth, and then I laid for the hired girls. They eat too much syrup, anyway, and when they got on to that cod liver oil, and swallowed a lot of it, one of them, a nirish girl, she got up from the table and put her hand on her corset and said, "Howly Jaysus," and went out in the kitchen, as pale as ma is when she has powder on her face, and the other girl, who is Dutch, she swallowed a pancake and said, "Mine Gott, vas de matter from me," and she went out and leaned on a coal bin. Then they talked Irish and Dutch and got clubs and started to look for me, and I thought I would come over here. The whole family is sick, but it is not from love, like my illness, and they will get over it, while I shall fill an early grave, but not till I have made his lecture was over, he ever went around quietly to the door, and listened to the critical remarks of the audience, as they emerged from the hall. The other lecturer replied that he had done so once, but he got enough to last him a life time.

Bill Membrant, a young Austin amateur artist, tried that game on us, and we believe a wild light in his eye. "I am afraid of he got enough honest criticism to last him you. I wouldn't be surprised to see you go half way through eternity. He brought an alleged picture, an oil painting he called it, into our sanctum, and putting it on the table, said: "I wish you would examine this little work of art critically, and give police ought to muzzle you. You will kill me your honest opinion about it. I will call in later in the day and take it away.' Whereupon he marched out, but being desirous of finding out what people really thought of his amateur gem, he crept back on tip-toe to the door, and waited for the honest criticism he was so anxious to hear. This is about the way it ran:

"I don't see any fun in Bill Membrant framing an old second-hand mustard plaster and trying to palm it off on newspaper men is in front."

"That's no lake. That's a cornfield." "Cornfield be blowed. How could the rees throw their shadows across the boson of a cornfield? What noise is that outside? It sounded like a horse snorting. That artist went off, didn't he?"

"Of course he did. If that isn't a corn field I am no judge of art. How natural that pink tree throws a blue shadow up that lavender-colored mountain."

" Don't display your ignorance of art by calling that a mountain. It's a plantation scene, and what you call a mountain is a coon.

"Where is its tail, if it's a coon? It pasn't got any tail and neither has a moun tain, so it must be a mountain. You needn't think you can teach me anything when it comes to art, but what does puzzle me is what keeps up that line of telegraph posts that are hanging down out of a clear sky. I'll have to get Bill Membrant to explain that, but that fence is life itself."

"There you go again. That's no fence. That's two men shaking hands.'

"What makes them so red?" "Perhaps they are Indians, or have just come out of a beer saloon. Now I see what is the matter. We have been looking at the picture unside down.'

The picture was reversed. Looked at from one point it resembled Moses crossing and over thirty cents, in the past two weeks. the Red Sea, holding a green cotton umbrella over his head, while from another point it come between us and break off an acquaint- was a thrilling picture of the bombardment ance that seemed to be the forerunner of a of Alexandria.
