ALL'S FOR THE BEST

All's for the best; be sanguine and cheerful; Trouble and sorrow are friends in disguise. Nothing but folly goes faithless and fearful, Courage forever is happy and wise.

All's for the best; be a man, but confiding, Providence tenderly governs the rest, And the frail bark of His creature is guiding Wisely and warily all for the best.

All's for the best; then fling away terrors, Meet all your fears and your foes in the van And in the midst of your dangers or errors, Trust like a child, while you strive like a man

All's for the best; for unbiased, unbounded, Providence reigns from the east to the wes And by His wisdom and mercy surrounded, Hope and be happy that all's for the best. _Sunday Mercury

Please Pass the Salt.

A real romance has occurred in a hotel in Montreal. In the hotel the road agent of a respectable company boarded while in the city. In the same hotel an American young lady was domiciled. The lady was pleasant and accomplished. The young gentleman at first viewed the lady admiringly at a distance but was too timid to approach. Day by day his interest grew stronger. He had never spoken to her, nor she to him, and so far as he was concerned this was what he most earnestly desired she might do. In the dilemma he applied to a friend for advice

"Do you eat at the same table?" asked the friend.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then I would advise you the next time you dine to ask the lady to please pass the salt." "All right," sighed the love-sick hero.

The following day he intended to put his friend's advice into operation, but was most delightfully balked by the lady asking him to "Please pass the

From that moment the ice was broken, till at last the lady asked for the gentleman's card, in order that she might know whom she was in conversation with. The gentleman an once handed the lady his business card.

Matters went on smoothly, all the while the couple enjoying each other's company at concerts, operas, etc. At length this state of matters was brought to a crisis. The lady was about to return to the States. The lover was perplexed and again applied to his friend for advice, who at once advised him to pop the question and thus settle anxiety. She was willing to become one with him. The question then came when the happy day would be. She replied "To-morrow. To this the gentleman at first demurred, as he had certain business matters to fix. She told him to leave them alone and write to his employers resigning his position and leave the rest to her. He complied; they were married and went to the States, where the Canadian gentleman learned that he had married a young widow worth $250,000. In his happiness he did not forget the friend who advised him. He sent that gentleman a check for $2,000, with a letter of York. A Singular Phenomenon.

Dr. L. C. Woodman, of Paw Paw, Mich., contributes the following: I have a singular phenomenon, in the shape of a young man living here, that I have studied with much interest, and I am satisfied that his peculiar power demonstrates that electricity is the nerve force beyond dispute. His name is William Underwood, aged twenty-seven years, and his gift is that of generating fire through the medium of his breath, assisted by manipulations with his hands. He will take anybody's handkerchief and hold it to his mouth, rub it vigorously with his hands while breathing on it, and immediately it bursts into flames and burns until consumed. The Story of Robin Adair.

A paper on "Songs and Song Writers" was read before the Long Island Historical Society in Brooklyn, last week, by Chief Justice Charles P. Daly, of New York. He said that none of the great composers of 'usic, Handel excepted had been a great song writer, and Handel had sa. a th... he would rather be the anthor of the sweet Irish melody of Eileen Aroon," now known as "Robin Adair," than all the other songs in the world. The speaker told a story of the origin of "Robin Adair."

A young Irish physician of the name of Robin Adair, walking to London, stopped at an inn, where there was a Countess whose leg had been broken by the overturning of a stage coach. His proffered services were accepted, and he performed his work so skilfully that she insisted he should not leave her. Ultimately she took him to London and introduced him to the best social circles. He became enamored of an Earl's daughter, and taught her to sing "Eileen Aroon." Afterward he was parted from her by a cruel fate. She connected his name with the song, using it for the refrain, and at length the song as thus changed was picked up and carried by a celebrated tenor upon the English stage, where it met with the same instantaneous success as did "Home, Sweet Home."

Justice Daly said that the tune of "Auld Lang Syne" had its origin in a Catholic vesper hymn; that "Yankee Doodle' was originally a sword dance, and that 'John Anderson my Jo John" and 'Cruiskeen Lawn' were the same tune written in a little different time. This tune was that of an older song than either, which ran, "There was a little man who loved a little maid," and before that, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, it Jersey City thinks her hard-up condition due to the $20,000,000 worth of corwithin her limits. Let her kick about this, but when she comes to demanding the taxation of church property, our sister city is getting mean in her poverty.

Says the Evening Telegram: "There dosen't appear to be any over-shadowing necessity for removing the taxes from tobacco and whiskey. Those articles are not absolutely indispensable to the health and happiness of the people. Luxuries should bear the burden of taxation."

We learn with regret and not a little shame for the profession, that a contemporary is trying to ruin Jersey City's credit, for somebody who wants to buy her bonds. Poor Jersey City! She is "dead broke," and if her credit is spoiled she will cry more than ever for consoli-

THE MAYOR'S VIEWS.

Inspired by the "alternative mandaissued by the Supreme Court to the Mayor and Council and City Treasurer, in the suit of the Water Commissioners for moneys due them from the city, his Honor the Mayor penned an entirely unique addition to his altogether too unique official literature this week. He gave it the form of a communication to the City Fathers, enclosing the legal document referred to, and after taking the trouble of explaining the nature of an "alternative mandamus," so that there could be no misunderstanding in the minds of the City Fathers as to what it meant, he treated them to his views of the case. He concludes that, because the city had never denied the indebtedness, the action of the Water Commissioners was entirely unnecessary. If the Board had only possessed its corporate soul (if a corporation can have a soul) in patience, the money would have been paid when the city got good and ready, he declares.

'It would have been in bad grace for the Water Commissioners to make suit of this kind, even were there sufficient cause," he says, because "the Commissioners were guilty of neglect in not col-The law happens to make it the duty of yet this Board has done it time and the city to pay over these amounts to the Treasurer of the Water Board as soon as they are collected by the city, and it does not say that the Water Board shall run after the city for the money. The money is collected by the City Clerk for the Water Board and cannot be used except by the Water Board. But, because the payments were not made, the Water Commissioners, after allowing ample time, made repeated demands upon the Mayor and Council for the money. The Council showed its willingness to act honorably and twice ordered payments on account. On both occasions the Mayor vetoed the action of the Council. This compelled the Water Commissioners, who finally needed to use the money for the necessary work of introducing the new water supply into the city, to take the only course left them to collect it.

And yet the Mayor, who brought about the suit by his wanton obstinacy and vetorial obstructiveness, cries out, "We were entitled to more consideration,"we," meaning the Mayor and Council. 'It should be borne in mind," he continues, didactically, "that the Water Commissioners are not a branch of the city government," because "the Mayor and Council have no control over them.' It has been demonstrated to the cost of ings are wanted in Hoboken, they being many a land owner that the Board of Water Commissioners is "a branch of the city government," as the record of lots sold for non-payment of water rents clearly shows.

This money that the fuss is all about was collected by the City Clerk from where they will sit for five days and just such sales. It is the fact that "the meditate much on the delights of dis- Mayor and Council (and more particuobeying a Supreme Courtinjunction. They manage their own business without so much as asking "by your leave?" and, in fact, "do about as they please generally," and no concareer.

Part of this clause poration property exempt from taxation | Honor is that the Water Commissioners owe the city for many years' accumulated arrears of rent. He advises that There would be just as much sense in of arrears of rent for each department increase the cost of running the city, for all the money would come out of the city's pocket-the pockets of the taxpayers. The Water Commissioners' 'own fund" is the money they collect from the citizens for water rents. The rent of all the offices is paid by the interest on the City Hall building night agent at-the Morris & Essex Railroad depot, was granted special police owers, and a petition from private citizens to make a special officer out of H. Kretschmann was also granted. Kretschmann is to be paid by the private subscription of a number of up lown grocers and is to watch their stores. Two medical certificates from Police Surgeon Nast, accounting for absence from duty of Officers Hartye and Eagan, were ordered on file. The Commissioners evidently do not honor these certificates when it doesn't suit them to do so. Officer John Kivlon was charged with neglect of duty and cited to appear and explain at the next meeting. A private confab of the Roard was held in the Mayor's office before the meeting, and after transaction of the above business in public, the meeting room was cleared and the usual star chamber session " was held.

There is no law to warrant the holding of these secret sessions, and the people whose servants the Commissioners are do not see any necessity for them. No other board of city officials has the assecret, and it is not likely that the citigoing on and how it is done, would permit it. Why should the Police Board be allowed to assume such powers? And again and continues to do it. Nor is it been guilty of. The reduction of the Chief's and other salaries twice within a cheers. year was in deflance of the law, which says: "The members of the force shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by the said Commissioners, and which shall not be diminished within one year after the same shall be determined upon." The record of the Board in not containing all the business transacted, conflicts with this passage: "The record of all their proceedings in a book or books kept for the purpose, which shall be taken and deemed as a public record;" and in giving out a contract for publishing such minutes as they see fit every two weeks, they do it without their transactions, together with a financial statement to the Common Council, which report shall by them (the Council) be ordered to be published in the same manner as the Mayor's message and other public documents, and a copy shall be filed with the City Clerk.' When has this been done? If all the do its work better and there would be fewer causes of complaint.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

Councilman Valleau's resolution in re ation to the much-mooted question of providing necessary school room to relieve the over-crowding of the public schools and furnish accommodations for about 300 children that are unable to at tend through lack of room, was taken up from the laid-over file in the Council Tuesday night and wrangled over again. THE MOZART SOCIETY.

Its Admirably Conducted and Success ful Concert Monday Evening.

It would seem as though there was to be no end to successful concerts in Hoboken this eason. Scarcely a week has passed, since the eason opened, that there has not been one or more musical entertainments of real merit and judging by the attendance at them all, Hoboken audiences never weary of good music. And it is evident from the judgment shown by these audiences in awarding or withholding applause, that a larger proportion than is general in miscellaneous assem blages, possess, to some extent, a musically cultivated ear, and can discriminate between a good and a bad performance, from an artistic point of view.

The concert of the Mozart Society, on Mon day evening, at Odd Fellows' Hall, attracted a full house. The programme was carefully and well selected and suited both those by to it. Mr. Fred. Harvey sang a tenor solo choruses-rendered by volunteer singers, the from "Martha," with true dramatic effect camp was soon aroused to a scene of unconand was generously applauded, and responded to a hearty encore with "Meet Me Once surance to transact city business in Again." But decidedly the best solo of the evening was his singing of "Come Into the zens, who have a right to know what is Garden, Maud." He has a pure, rich and sympathetic tenor voice, trained to perfection, and his rendering of this old song was grand. The walls of Old Fellows' Hall rang with such storms of applause as has never before greeted a singer there. People rose in their seats and applauded him to the echo. the only illegal act that the Board has When the demonstration had subsided he sang "Remember Me," and retired amld Mr. Charles Hill was in good voice and sang

"Sing, Sweet Bird" being specially deserving Commissioners shall keep a complete of commendation for the beauty of its rendition. She was repeatedly encored. Mr. W. J. The concert was followed by a hop, which opened with ten sets on the floor and was kept up until a late

MAYOR'S OFFICE, HOBOKEN, N. J., Dec. 7, 1882.

To the Council: I return without approval resolution of 28th ultimo, directing the Assistant City Clerk, who is acting as City Clerk, to turn over the books. &c. pertaining to the office to one Martin V. McDermott. ing as City Clerk, to turn over the books. &c., pertaining to the office to one Martin V. McDermott. If this be intended as a joke, it is a very poor one; if in earnest, it is, simply, ridiculous. Since the resignation of Mr. Kendrick, the late incumbent, the Assistant City Clerk has been recognized and has officiated as Acting City Clerk, and so still continues. He has in his charge and possession the office and the city seal and should be see fit to turn over these to Mr. McDermott or anybody else except a duly appointed City Clerk, he will find out that it is an answerable offence. He has no right, not even by resolution of the Council, approved by the Mayor, to turn over "the books, papers, keys, &c., appertaining to the office of City Clerk," to any one but the legally appointed successor of Mr. Kendrick. The City Clerk, or he who acts as such, recognized by the Mayor and Council, you must understand, is not the mere creature of the appointive power of the office. He is a city officer with powers and duties, prescribed by the charter, also, distinct from our control, and is responsible or their proper exercise and performance. So long as we have at any time since the resignation of the late City Clerk, acknowledged Mr. Miller as Acting City Clerk, and this has been done repeatedly, as your journal will show; so long as he have seen fit to take in his charge and possession and to perform the duties of the office, which he has done and continues to do, so shall be continued and cabnot be laid down so cally. It is well that it is so; the business of the city must go on; the wheels of its government must not be stopped by your neglect to fill the vacancy.

The following communication from his Honor Haver Bessen was assented and cabnot be lated for must must not be stopped by your neglect to fill the vacancy.

To the Council: The enclosed communication from B. C. Scheffler, 237 Newark street, making complaint against certain members of the Fire Department, explains itself. It would be well to examine into the matter as speedily as possible, and, if substantiated, proper action taken to relieve the department of such material.

E. V. S. BESSON

The following communication from his Hon Mayor Besson was presented, read and, on motion of Councilman Timken, received:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, HOBOKEN, N. J., Dec. 11, 1882.

I enclose herewith "Alternative Mandamus" to he Mayor and Council and August Bente, Treas-rer of the city, to pay to the Water Commission-rs $6,459.90, as served on me. The nature of this instrument is, that the mone be immediately paid, with costs of suit, or caus shown why not, on the first Tuesday of February next, before the Supreme Court at Trenton.

nown why how, on the next Iteesnay of February, next, before the Supreme Court at Trenton.

A more unnecessary action against the city was never prosecuted. The indebtedness was never conied. The claim was not paid when first demanded because the city was not in funds to pay it. It was so made known to the Water Commissioners. It was generally known that the city would not be in funds until after the communecement of the collection of the annual tax. Notwithstanding this, "Michael H. Murphy and the Board of Water Commissioners" employ a lawyer from Jersey City and proceed at law to collect their claim. What is the result? It is now some time since the Collector of Revenue commenced his collection for the year, and the Court allows us until next February to file objections if we see fit. They have not gained anything by their suit, but on the contrary have occasioned a bill of costs for the city or the water rent quayers to pay.

sioned a bill of costs for the city or the water rent payers to pay.

It would have been in bad grace for the Water Commissioners to make suft of this kind against the city, even were there considerable cause. Negligence exists on their part. This amount has been allowed to accumulate year after year, when they should have collected it as it fell due. It is much easier for the city at any time to pay a thousand dollars than eight thousand, and because they wanted to use the money for a purpose for which I am satisfied they have no right to use it—extension of pipe—and which they failed to make provision for—their limit of issuance of boods ($$100,009$) being reached—they make demand for immediate and entire payment of the simount in their deeperation and with the result in this mandamus, granted November 16th, last, served on me last week.

We were entitled to more consideration. It should tion and with the result in this mandamus, granted November 16th, last, served on me last week.

We were entitled to more consideration. It should be borne in mind that the Water Commissioners are not a branch of the city gov-rument. The Mayor and Council have no control over them beyond passing on their official bonds upon their entering office. We have not even the right to investigate their books or review their acts. They are no source of revenue to the city. They issue bonds which the flayor must sign and which the real estate of the city is pledged for the payment; the interest being an annual tax thereon. What they fail to collect of their water rents the city must make good. They fix their own rates; oblige the water rent payers to call at the office of the "Register and get their bills; charge exorbiantly, and occasionally allow a rebate of twenty-five per cent from surplus accumulating from bad management, in charging water rent payers more than they ought to; pay about five per cent, of their and assistant—and additional for an out-door man; do about as they please, generally; and for going on footstan vacen overly occurrently for the premises.

they ought to; pay about are per tens, or since an mual collections for clerical salaries—Register and assistant—and additional for an out-door man; do about as they please, generally; and for going on fourteen years occupying city premises. Eurnished with light, fuel, heat and attendance, have paid moffice rent. Previous to their occupancy in the old City Hail, rent was always paid from their own funds. Now, this is negligence, too, and this time on the city's part, but it is not too late to rectify. The Water Commissioners are indebted to the city for this accumulation of rent and it is the duty of the Mayor and Council to collect it, and I advise that immediate steps be taken to that end.

The Water Commissioners should be made accountable to the Mayor and Council. One hundred thousand dollars in Donals they have issued in the city's name and the city should know how the money has been expended. They will probably ask the Legislature this winter to issue more, as they say they have not money enough, even with this eight thousand dollars and more, to extend their pipes to the Hackensack connection, and the city should know how how here ity anould know how when the really needed. As it is, we can tell nothing. They are a very close corporation, and during the twenty-six years they have been in existence never to my knowledge have their books been examined, outside of themselves;——if, by themselves. That it would afford much satisfaction to our people to have such examination I have frequently heard expressed and in view of many facts would effect a radical and beneficial change in the Water Offico. It is a matter for our citizens to consider and act apon. to consider and act upon

One of those inventive gentlemen who figure as the New York correspondents of provincial newspapers has recently undertaken to give an account of the building of the City Prison, and how it got its title of the Tombs, in a historial letter which is con- The Commotion Caused by the Statespicious for the vastness and variety of its misinformation. There are ver few now living, perhaps, who are aware that the plan of the structure was substantially supplied by the late John L. Stevens of Hoboken, who, about the year 1830, returned from a long residence in the East, embracafter published an elaborate parrative of his wanderings, embellished with numerous illustrations. The book was generally paper shows: known to the fathers of the present generation as "Stevens' Travels," and copies of it a picture of an ancient Egyptian tomb, with a description of the plan given at length in the letter-press. When, in 1833, the committee appointed by the Common Council to decide upon a plan for the new City Prison entered upon its labors, desirous of doing something original and striking to perpetuate their names, the members agreed to introduce the Egyptian style, and had recourse to the book published by Stevens to give them an idea of what was of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlstumbled upon the cut adverted to in the ble condition you were in, and the way you preceding sentence, and as the letter-presses were rescued such as you can sustain?" contained a full description of the building they decided to adopt it with very trithat the new city prison should be called the Tombs. The report was adopted, and work was begun at once; but when the City Fathers had gone a little way in the progress of their enterprise, as is often the case when a decision is rather hastily and ignorantly of the ground was badly adapted to sustain necessary to sink the piles upon which the foundation of the building now rests. The work was finished in 1838, and while it is no doubt a faithful copy of the Egyptian tomb illustrated and described by Mr. Stevens, and while the name proposed by its projectors possesses a certain grim significance, it can hardly be said to add greatly to the attractions of the city, although it will probably perpetuate the memory of a now forgotten volume of travels for many years to come. The massiveness of the structure, considering the nature of the soil, is however, its worst enemy, and must ultimately bring out its destruction. More than once the building has been declared settled to a considerable extent. Some years ago a crack large enough for the insertion of one's arm was discovered in one to the bottom, and was caused by the irregular sinking of the foundation. The fissure was repaired with masonry, but the occasional settling of the piles, which are overweighted by the superincumbent structure, will some day probably produce a catastro-
