THE ROMANTIC HUDSON.

The Magnificent Steamboats Which Thread its Waters—More Rivalry in Speed, Elegance and Accommodation for Passengers.

READY FOR THE EXCURSION SEASON.

Navigation upon the always beautiful and romantic Hudson is now declared "open." There is always a generous rivalry between the competing lines regarding fast time, and on this subject a veteran river-boat captain was interviewed a few days ago by a reporter.

"Do we have fast boats? Yes, sir; the fleetest craft in the world floats on this river. Why look at the—" "Mary Powell," interposed the listener.

"Not necessarily, although she is a very speedy boat. Each boat has its friends, you know. The 'Powell's' fastest run was from this city to Cozzen's Point, fifty-one miles, in two hours nine and a half minutes, and it has never been equalled.

"The season for the Albany day boats opens on Decoration Day, when the 'Vibbard,' 'Albany' and 'Mary Powell,' gorgeous in fresh paint and new appointments, will come out in flying colors. This year, in consonance with popular request, lunch counters will be added to their appointments, the absence of which heretofore has been severely felt by hungry excursionists.

"Yes," said Captain Frost, "although I've been on the river for years, and am familiar with every nook in it, still the old Hudson's banks present a new face on every trip. We have the advantage of the night boats in this respect and make faster time, because the average traveler wants to reach his objective point as soon as possible, and I flatter myself that the 'Albany' can show a clean pair of heels to any craft on the stream."

"I suppose the Catskills are more frequented than formerly, and perhaps at the expense of the Adirondacks and White Mountains?" "Correctly spoken. For five years past the annual increase over previous years is positively startling, and this Summer will probably be no exception.

"Without doubt you carry many bridal parties on their wedding tours?" "Hundreds, I might say, in the course of the season, but Saratoga is generally their goal, while the craze for Niagara Falls remains unabated."

"This year the fleet and popular 'Mary Powell' will find Captain Cornell at the helm, Captain Anderson having disposed of his interest in the craft for the alleged sum of $110,000. The new owner is none other than the Hon. Thomas Cornell, of Rondout, whose faith in the fleet-winged 'Mary' is way above par.

"Rumors of her phenomenal performances, with wind and tide in her favor, obtain considerable credence. Her record for one hour, from New York to Piermont, twenty-four miles, in one hour and half a minute, is said to be the best, although she has an unauthenticated record of twenty-eight miles in the same time."

"Captain Odell, of the 'Chauncey Vibbard,' thought that his boat, if pressed, could 'do' twenty-seven miles in the hour, but there was no occasion for such speed, since the average excursionist is easily satisfied with slower time. The captain gave glowing accounts of wonderful trials of speed, but said that the rival boats had never yet come in direct competition in an actual race.

"Are they ever likely to?" "With a significant smile, but in a tone of sadness, he shook his head and emphatically answered: "No, they never will."

The night boats to Albany and Troy, previously alluded to in a daily journal, comprise quite a fleet in themselves and are magnificent specimens of handicraft. The palm, however, for beauty and general excellence, is conceded to the "Drew." The "City of Troy," it appears, was the first to reach the head of navigation this year, which adds another leaf to the laurels already won by the popular Citizens' Line. The "Saratoga," Captain T. D. Adams, has been thoroughly overhauled during the Winter season as well as the former boat, and both are luxuriantly furnished.

counting the varied beauties of the river scenery. Among other points of interest to tourists he mentions, "The Old Man of the Mountains," which may be observed on a clear day when the outline of the Catskills is distinct. The three southerly peaks form the figure of a man lying on his back, eyelids closed, knees elevated, and from the knees down, the appearance of a Grecian female face, in profile, resting against them. This, the captain says, jocosely, is old Rip Van Winkle and his wife, both asleep, and for once, at least, in harmony. The rival and popular People's Line, owns three palatial steamers, the "Drew," "St. John" and "Dean Richmond," each superb in its magnificent appointments. "The night boats," said the genial captain a few days ago, "cannot of course, compete with the clipper day boats in point of speed, since we are always burdened with freight. But we also carry hundreds of bridal parties, and I rather guess a moonlight trip on the river will prove vastly more alluring to young people matrimonially inclined. Just think of the moonlight interviews between lovers these Summer evenings!" and the captain dropped suddenly into a deep reverie, from which he reluctantly aroused himself in answer to a question as to the speed of the night boats. "Oh, they make from fifteen to eighteen miles an hour, but that is much too fast for many people, especially those I have just mentioned."

Little Ethel's Cross-Examination. A fashionably dressed matron yesterday sat in the rear cabin of a Hoboken ferryboat. She was accompanied by a thin-legged, restless-eyed little girl, aged about four years. A few seats away was a man with a wooden leg. As the boat started the child turned to the mother in search of a little information. "Mamma," she began, "how does the boat move?" "By steam, my dear."

"And how do they get the steam?" "A man below makes it, dear."

"And suppose the man forgot to make enough steam to take us all the way across?" "Well, I suppose the wind would blow us across then."

"But suppose there was not enough wind?" "Oh, don't bother me any more, dear. I'm sure I don't know what we should do then."

"But, mamma—"

"At this instant the inquisition came to a sudden stop. With uttering instinct the child's eye had lighted upon the man with the wooden leg. That eye at once became fixed, dilating with concentrated interest. The child crawled down from her seat, upon which she had been kneeling, in order to afford that eye better facilities for observation. The object of scrutiny squirmed uneasily in his seat. The mother, probably surmising what might be coming and presumably acting in the light of previous experience, sought to create a diversion by successively calling attention to a little French poodle at the other end of the cabin, to a passing tugboat and to a little man up there on the big bridge. It was all of no use. Turning to the mother the child exclaimed in a portentous whisper:

"Oh, ma! Look at that man!" "Hush, my dear. You must not be rude."

"But ma" (in a very audible whisper), "do look at his leg."

"Be quiet, Ethel, I tell you," frantically urged the matron in agitated tones. "The poor man has lost his leg. It's very rude to notice it."

"What's that one made of?" "Hush! of wood, my dear. Look at that pretty little boy over there. See how good he is."

"Did you ever have a leg like that, ma?" "No, my dear. Look over there at that—" "Will you or Uncle John or I ever have one, ma?" "No, dear."

Aaron Burr's Pistols.

Some weeks ago I ran across perhaps the most famous and fatal firearms on this continent—the superb duelling pistols of Aaron Burr. They are a bone-breaking brace of the first calibre, and the property of Capt. Brent Hopkins of this city. One of these pistols fired the ball that killed Alexander Hamilton at Weehawken. It is identified by a long, deep notch indented on the handle. The pistols were made by Mortimer, of London, England, and were imported by Burr at the close of the Revolutionary war. The barrels are thirteen inches long and carry an ounce ball. They are flint locks, and the pans for the priming are lined with gold, and the touch-holes are brushed with the same metal. They are hair triggers, and shoot with great force and accuracy. The locks are very superior and of exquisite mechanism. The pair came into the possession of Capt. Brent Hopkins, the present owner, through his uncle, Capt. Sam Goodie Hopkins, of the Forty-second Regiment of United States Dragoons, who purchased them from Burr in Washington city in the winter of 1813 or 1814, paying $500 in gold for them. Burr remarked at the time that he would not let any one else have the pistols, as he had used them with Hamilton.

The weapons have surely a blood-stained history. They have been used with fatal effect in eleven duels. Among the sanguinary combats, Pettis, of Virginia, killed Biddle on Bloody Island, near St. Louis; Edward Towns, of Virginia, killed a Frenchman near New Orleans; Capt. Sam Goodie Hopkins killed a Spanish Count near Madrid, Mo.; Hugh Brent killed a man from Georgia on Diamond Island, below Henderson, Ky. They were used several times in Virginia, twice in South Carolina, and more than once in Kentucky, with deadly effect. Robert Triplett of Owensboro shot the old lawyer, Phil Thompson, of that city through and through with one of them, but, strange to say, Thompson recovered, and grew as fat as a bear. Henry Clay and Capt. Hopkins were fast friends, and the former was to have used the pistols in one of his duels, but they arrived a day too late.—Courier-Journal.

HOBOKEN, MAY 5, 1883.

Official paper of the City of Hoboken. Circulation second to no other weekly journal in Hudson County.

Mayor Besson has not sent us any "P. P. C." cards yet.

Banners bearing the strange device of a cavorting William goat sampling lager, announce that the "bock beer" season is upon us.

The new Mayor and Council should promptly and favorably consider the elevated railroad question, now that the "expression of opinion from the people" is for the road.

Patrick Joseph Tynan is the name of the mysterious "Number One." If you know anyone bearing that name, send the information to the New York Herald Detective Bureau.

One of our lively exchanges, replying to an inquisitive reader, says: "You ask what a libel suit is. A libel suit, my son, is where a man pays a lawyer $10,000 in order to get $1,000 out of another man who thought the first man was a fool and is now sure of it.—N. Y. News.

Local Boards of Health were granted increased powers by the last Legislature. They are now permitted to take summary proceedings to abate nuisances, prevent public funerals where death was the result of contagious diseases, and to enforce the reporting of such cases by attending physicians.

The murder of his wife and child and the subsequent suicide of McDuff, in Brooklyn, last week, was one of those tragedies which will always remain, to a certain extent, a mystery. No motive was known, but McDuff was a drinking man and rum must have had something to do with it.

We have received, through the courtesy of ex-Congressman Hardenberg, the "Compendium of the Tenth Census of the United States" in two volumes. Although we haven't read them through yet, we assure the Honorable Augustus that we duly appreciate his kindness, and when we do master the contents of the two ponderous tomes, we doubt not that it will be "with interest and profit."

"Old pen, for four full terms We've been jolly comrades, but now We part, old companion, forever; To Fate and the people I bow! With you I have written more vetoes In one single season, than most Of my peaceful old predecessors Through their whole career can boast. But now I must— Farewell! A long farewell!" E. V. S. B.

The first number of the Bloomfield, N. J., Citizen, has just reached us. It is under the management of the Bloomfield Publishing Company, composed of twelve gentlemen, among the list of whom we notice the names of such men as Hon. Amazi Dodd and Samuel W. Duffield. The Citizen makes a good beginning, and with such backing must accomplish the object of its founders. The board of editors consists of six members of the company.

Ex-Clerk Hall, of the Newark Comptroller's office, is making a stiff fight. Judge Dupue has denied the motion to quash the indictment against him for forgery, and after pleading not guilty to this, he has, through counsel, objected to the jurisdiction of the Court to try the four indictments for embezzlement. Counsel alleges that as Hall had been extradited for forgery, he could only be tried for that offense, and if acquitted, must be allowed a reasonable time to return to Canada. This may be international law, but it is not justice.

WAS IT A TRICK?

The Council failed to hold a meeting Tuesday night, owing to the absence of the Democratic members. This seemed to be a disappointment to the Republicans, and as E. V. S. Besson, Esq., saw fit to issue a call for a special meeting Thursday night, it is fair to infer that for some reason or other he wanted a meeting held. The same cause that prevented the holding of the regular meeting, operated as a bar to the special meeting that was to be.

THE NEEDS OF OUR SCHOOLS.

The annual report of the Board of Education to the Mayor and Council has been completed, and was forwarded to the Council this week, but owing to the failure of that body to hold its meeting Tuesday night, was not made public. It is a carefully prepared document, and contains many points of interest to the parents of children attending the schools. In it are stated the needs of the various schools, and they are of such a nature that the Mayor and Council cannot overlook them without failing in their duty to the citizens and tax-payers of Hoboken. It is a significant fact that most of the wants stated in this year's report were laid before the authorities last year. That they still exist shows either negligence or a want of interest in the education of the children, that is anything but creditable to those having control of such matters.

THE CITY CLERKSHIP.

According to the knowing ones, "the slate," as regards the City Clerk's office, is made up, and the new Council will appoint either ex-City Clerk Alberts or ex-Assistant City Clerk Martin V. McDermott to the City Clerkship, with the chances in favor of the latter, and ex-Assistant City Clerk Michael C. McDermott, Assistant. The latter is no relation to "Marty." He is a son of Water Commissioner McDermott, and was Assistant under City Clerk Alberts for one year. These appointments will no doubt be acceptable to the citizens of Hoboken. Both men are well known and trusted, and both have had experience.

COMING TO HOBOKEN.

Moving day brought a large number of New York families with their household goods across the Hoboken ferries. Very few families have moved out of the city, and the renting of houses and apartments has been lively during the past few weeks. Hoboken has gained in the annual "change hands all round," and would have gained more had there been a larger number of houses and apartments available at low rents. The bulk of the building that has been done during the past year, has been of first-class houses uptown, and while they

REPORT OF THE SCHOOLS.

The Board of Education Tells the Mayor and Council What Ought to be Done This Year.

AVOID IT.

After twelve o'clock to-morrow night Herman L. Timken will be Mayor of Hoboken. His record will not have to be a very brilliant one to make it a strong contrast to that of his predecessor, but the stronger that contrast is, the better will be Mayor Timken's work.

On Decoration Day.

The Major Woerner Third New Jersey Battery Veteran Association, Captain Henry Stahl, have made arrangements for celebrating Decoration Day. They will combine with the Hoboken Veteran Corps, William Schroeder, President, and C. Woerner Post, Sons of Veterans, John Eckstein, Commander, and accompanied by Eckert's band, will proceed to Hoboken Cemetery, where the Veterans will decorate the graves of their departed comrades.

MILITARY MENTION.

NINTH REGIMENT. What has become of the "Gymnasium" so anxiously hoped for by the boys? The committee appointed to draft rules and regulations for the governance of the members when in the Armory, has about completed its labors.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

The Young People's Association of the First Presbyterian Church gave an entertainment and social in the Sunday school room of the church on Monday evening. A short programme of vocal and instrumental music and readings was given before a goodly audience. Mr. Jesse Upton played a waltz of his own composition on the piano, and a duet with Mr. C. F. Hair, both of which were well received.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

At the meeting of the Hudson County Board of Health, held Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Elder was re-elected President of the Board; C. J. Rooney was re-elected Clerk for a term of three years, and Dr. Saltzstall was re-elected Inspector for one year.

The Steinbrenner Case.

The first suit for damages arising out of the accident at the County Road crossing of the Erie Railroad last June, in which Freeholder Steinbrenner and his niece were injured and his adopted daughter and another niece were killed, was decided against the railroad company in the Circuit Court, Wednesday, Miss Julia Epper, the young lady who was seriously injured, recovered a verdict of $1,500. Other suits arising from this accident have entered and will now be pushed for trial or be compromised, as the suit just decided was regarded as a test of the company's responsibility.

To Test the Case.

In order that no such mistake as was made two years ago (when $40,000 was expended upon a boulevard before it was known that the act was unconstitutional) shall be again made, arrangements have been perfected for testing the legality of the County Road bill by a certiorari to the Supreme Court. Mr. Charles P. Neill, of Jersey City, has taken the initiative. This course is thought to be advisable, not only in order to prevent any illegal outlay of money, but also to give the bonds a proper standing in the market.

Famous Foreign Features.

The great Foraypaugh Show is an aggregation of marvels. It is circus, stupendous of itself, and presented in three separate rings, has never been even remotely approached by any circus troupe or hippodrome since the world began. While the United States yields its ablest performers in every sphere of art, the Old World has been explored, regardless of cost. Not the least among the great artists are the Sibon and Leonati troupes of aerialists and bicyclists, whose feats in mid-air have excited the breathless throngs and challenged the rivalry of two worlds.

BASE BALL.

Two More Victories for the Stevens Institute Nine—Games to be Played.

The first game of base ball between college nines this season was played on the St. George Cricket Grounds, Monday afternoon, by the Stevens Institute team and that of Lafayette College, of Easton, Pa. The game was close and exciting, the lines apparently being well matched, but was finally won by Stevens by strong play in the eighth inning, the final score being 6 to 1 in her favor.

GENERAL.

The State drill of the National Guard will take place on May 15.

The Steinbrenner Case.

The first suit for damages arising out of the accident at the County Road crossing of the Erie Railroad last June, in which Freeholder Steinbrenner and his niece were injured and his adopted daughter and another niece were killed, was decided against the railroad company in the Circuit Court, Wednesday, Miss Julia Epper, the young lady who was seriously injured, recovered a verdict of $1,500. Other suits arising from this accident have entered and will now be pushed for trial or be compromised, as the suit just decided was regarded as a test of the company's responsibility.

Famous Foreign Features.

The great Foraypaugh Show is an aggregation of marvels. It is circus, stupendous of itself, and presented in three separate rings, has never been even remotely approached by any circus troupe or hippodrome since the world began. While the United States yields its ablest performers in every sphere of art, the Old World has been explored, regardless of cost. Not the least among the great artists are the Sibon and Leonati troupes of aerialists and bicyclists, whose feats in mid-air have excited the breathless throngs and challenged the rivalry of two worlds.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Ex-Vice President Wheeler is in rather poor health. Mrs. Ada Russell, mother of Mrs. Winfield S. Hancock, died last week on Governor's Island. Mr. Charles A. Dana, of the New York Star, and party, are visiting the Yosemite and San Francisco.

SOCIETY AND LODGE MATTERS.

The time for the payment of Assessment No. 37, A. L. of H., expires May 16. The time for the payment of Assessment No. 46, Royal Arcanum, expires May 28. The time for the payment of Assessment Nos. 6 and 7, A. O. U. W., expires May 10. The time for the payment of Assessment No. 118, Knights of Honor, expires May 16.

What Elizabethtown Did in 1812.

When the British fleet reached Sandy Hook during the war of 1812, great fear was felt for the safety of New York city, as it was expected that the enemy would land a force on Long Island...

Here they were met by a number of Elizabethtowns, who had been conveyed to that city on Col. Aaron Ogden's new steamboat, called the "Sea Horse."
