

THE

We, the staff of the Cynosure, have likened our high school life to that on a great ocean liner. The Seniors are the First-Class Passengers; the Juniors are the Second-Class; the Sophomores, Tourist Class, and the Freshmen, either the Third Class, or Crew. We also have our Officers, although they are known to most of you as the Faculty.

We hope that you get as much enjoyment out of cruising through our book as we had in putting it together for you. BON VOYAGE!

Underclassmen

Amidst the throng of active seniors come the equally important underclassmen, who serve their alma mater faithfully throughout the course of their high school life. Many of these students have become very prominent and deserve much credit for their fine cooperation and school spirit.

Quite a few home rooms have been very charitable and helpful to the needy during the holiday seasons. Some of them gave baskets and others contributed money toward a worthy cause.

Most of the groups have had parties sometime during the year and have enjoyed these after school gatherings. Some have had Hallowe'en, Christmas or Valentine parties or have celebrated for other momentous occasions.

A number of worthy programs have been presented which showed the skill and talent of our on-coming members of the student body. Every year the new students demonstrate their abilities and this year the estimate of their work has been quite favorable.

These students have also conducted entertaining and also beneficial home room periods. The underclassmen as a whole have been very active and energetic in their undertakings.

ACTIVITIES

1. Ow! Kazary is stopped at the line of scrimmage by those big bad boys from Thomas Jefferson.
2. Ah yes, here we have a section of one of the girls' gym classes. Hm, not so bad!
3. Here are the secretaries in Mr. Brown's office busy at their desks.
4. Let's skip by this one. It's the Turkey Day game with Union.

1. Hm. Now let's see, $5 X + 2 =$ that cute boy in the second row—here are Claire Weid and Jean True studying.
2. These freshmen were waiting on the steps long before the doors were opened.
3. Here is a group giving their names to the Cynosure secretaries. One of the remarks heard was: "How do you spell your first initial?"
4. This quartet entertained the school in assemblies and other programs during the year and became very popular.
5. Every year the opening assembly greets the freshmen, and here we have the crowd assembled to meet John and Mary Fresh.
6. Here is another popular organization, the string quartet.

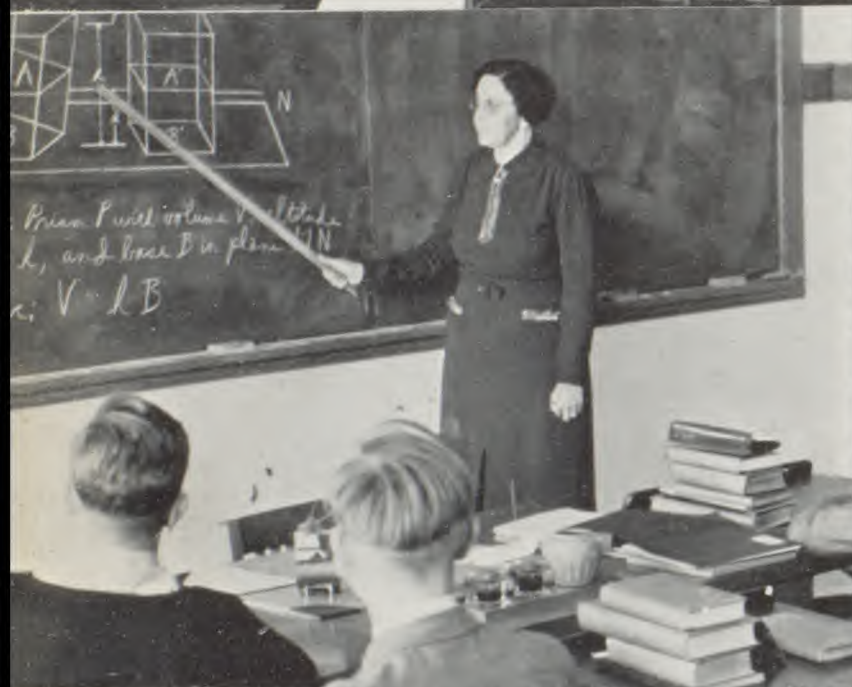

1. L-I-N-D-E-N Team! Team! Team! The cheer leaders in action at one of the games.
2. The band prepares to leave for the A. A. field to cheer the team on to victory.
3. One of the joys of being a band major. "Ted" Chernotsky talks things over with the girl band major from Roselle.
4. Look out for these three. They're part of the high school's rifle team.

1. This group of people were at the high school early on September 8, anxiously (?) awaiting the opening of school.
2. Here is the same group leaving just as anxiously.
3. Arriving in time for work, we find part of the hard-working staff of the Cynosure.
4. Five minutes later we find the same group packing up, ready to leave. (Hard-working?)
5. We find this group with their tonsils oiled up and raring to go. It is one of Miss Kantner's music classes.
6. Believe it or not, here we have a group of our boys actually doing manual labor, and it isn't done by trick photography.

Reverse the Engines !

1. Mr. Yeisley is enthusiastically demonstrating a practical example of the Law of Moments.
2. The Barn Dance committee prepares the big gym for the big event.
3. This experiment proves that water is soluble.

A Play on Names

It was a hot summer day, and MANNY COHEN-s passed over the counter in the double dip store. The DORR was open, allowing a refreshing breeze to enter. MARY was taking a KNAPP in the k-HOERNER.

In WALCK-ed a YOUNG man, who reached in his pocket ANDREW a PACHER cigarettes out. He offered ROBERT one, but he didn't smoke that BRANDT. He asked for a cone, and an EISE KOHL glass of water. When he was DUNN, he gave the man a NICHOL and went out.

Next some girls entered. They turned on the radio and started SCHEGIN. The proprietor had GOOD reason to ex-SPECHT the floor to cave in. This angered him and he shouted INTILLI was red in the face: "It SIM-s to me that you've got no HOLMES!" Fearing the WURST, they said, "LESKO!"

One AUER passed and then danger HOVER-ed over the innocent little double dip store as two men came in and one stayed outside watching. The FURST drew a ROD, and it SCHOEN-LANK a blue mirror. WEID little effort he opened the drawer, but all he found was a FINN.

Then suddenly: "DOUG behind the counter, it's a DICK!" DAN-IELS a warning from outside. A shot rang out and one of the men fell.

"What's REMETA with you?" someone asked.

"I've got a PAYNE!" he replied. Then a cop came in and CONK-ed him.

Just then a girl rushed up and said: "No matter what happens, I won't be a-FRED, because I'm FONDA you!" Soon the cops came and put them behind BARR-s.

So ends our little story, and if it's all the ZAM to you, we'll say that ZALL for now.

Junior and Senior Dances

One of the biggest events of the year is, of course, the annual dance. This year there were two dances. The "Senior Formal" was held on April 29, and the "Junior Prom" was held on May 20. As usual, there was much excitement at the last minute. Committees worked hard to see that invitations were made out, to see that a good orchestra was procured, and to see that the gym was appropriately decorated. The students invited their guests early so as to avoid any disappointments. Miss Siegman and Mr. Cooper combined their gym classes in order to have social dancing in the large gym. This custom was started last year, and it met with a great deal of approval. Students who didn't know how to dance were eager to learn. The chief topic of conversation towards the latter part of March was the "Senior Formal." When the gala affair finally arrived, all expectations were fulfilled. Everyone enjoyed himself to the full.

Photography Club

The candid camera craze tornadoed into the high school, and as a result the Photography Club was formed. It is a comparatively new club, having been organized the latter part of last year. Although this is its first full year in existence, the membership is quite large. The members are enthusiastic and earnest about their work and meet once a month in Mr. Walker's office and two or three times a week in Mr. Weiss's room, where they develop their pictures. Half of the membership of this club is composed of girls who are very eager to learn and the boys are beneficial in teaching them.

The club for its annual trip, went to the Watchung Reservation where they took many pictures of the beautiful scenery and later developed them at their meetings. The Photography Club has gained many members, and because of its interesting and beneficial work is sure to acquire a larger membership and take its stand with the leading clubs in the school. The officers are: Warren Turner, president; Russell Hill, vice-president; Anna Zepht, secretary; Mary Harvan, treasurer; with Mr. Walker the faculty adviser.

Tennis Club

The Tennis Club, one of the outstanding and popular clubs in the school, has completely re-arranged its organization. Officers and dues have been abolished and a restrictive membership has been established. The sole purpose for this drastic change is to acquire members who are earnestly trying to learn the "p's" and "q's" of tennis. Badminton has also been abolished, because the club is concentrating its efforts mainly on the development of better tennis players with a higher knowledge of the game.

The members of the club competed in "ladder" tournaments to determine the most accomplished players. The best players among the boys competed in tournaments with other schools, playing at the Warinanco Park tennis courts. Linden High tennis has been considerably hampered by the absence of a tennis court. Some day, however, the club's dream may come true with the building of a suitable tennis court.

The Aviation Club, whose purpose is to broaden the students' knowledge and appreciation of aviation, has been succeeding admirably in the past few years in carrying out its aim. The meetings are made interesting and enjoyable for everyone. At one of these a representative of the United Air Lines showed moving pictures of a transcontinental trip of one of the main liners of the company.

Probably one of the more exciting activities of the club is its annual trip to Newark airport. At this time the group is escorted around to the hangars and official buildings and the many interesting things about the airport. Something which every member looks forward to is the club's air-trip. It gives the members a chance to experience the thrill of a ride in an airplane. In March the club gave a successful dance in cooperation with the Home Economics Club.

Dance Orchestra

The Linden High "Serenaders" were under the baton of coach "Les" Goodwin this year, and their rhythms responded to the mode of the day—swing. For many of the dances, novelty numbers were arranged which proved popular with the dancers. Francis Powell vocalized regularly and Veronica Likoski lent her voice to the strains of the orchestra. Some of the numbers which will not be forgotten are "The Dipsy Doodle," "Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen," and "Ten Pretty Girls."

Margaret Colgan thrilled the dancers with her delightful solos on her cornet. She also surprised everyone because she has been playing for only a short while. Six of the "Serenaders" are graduating, so if Sammy Kaye or Horace Heidt need any new additions to their orchestras, we of Linden High are sure that they will make no mistake in picking some of our ex-"Serenaders."

The Glee Club is composed of two units, the Boys' and the Girls' Glee Clubs. The Girls' Glee Club, with a large membership, has been a recognized organization for years, while the Boys' Glee Club, established comparatively recently, boasts a membership of approximately thirty-five.

Several projects are carried on besides their regular meetings on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. One of these is to send representatives to an All-State Chorus at Atlantic City, in which numerous students participate. This year, the representatives from Linden were Edith Maggs, Bertha Emde, Helen Beteta, Frank Faff, Seymour Freiman, and Adam Hoefling.

At Christmas time each year, the clubs present a program of carol-singing. This year's production presented an extremely novel setting. The club members in winter sport clothes sang before a picturesque inn with a background of snow-capped mountains, and a string quartet played beneath an ancient street lamp.

A successful May Festival in which both clubs participated was set in a gypsy camp with the cast dressed as gypsies around a gypsy wagon. The Boys' Glee Club, as its part of the program, gave an operetta entitled "Freshies." The scene was set at a college, where an all-male cast went through the antics of the freshmen of any college. The proceeds of the May Festival, as in previous years, were used to send representatives to the All-State Chorus.

Der Deutsche Verein tries to give its members, through its programs, a more thorough understanding of the German people and their country. This is accomplished by the recently formed Glee Club and the Program Committee. In December Der Deutsche Verein, La Societe Francaise and Sodalitas Latina held a combined meeting. Members of each club sang Christmas songs in the language of their respective organizations. Several members sang individual selections and a piano duet was given by members of the French and German Clubs.

The annual German Club dance was held with the French Club in January. Throughout the year, several members gave short talks about printing, German automobiles, airplanes, and famous German writers and composers.

One of the interesting language clubs is the French Club. During the year many interesting and entertaining programs are presented. To keep the Yuletide spirit, the Club combined with the Latin and German Clubs in singing carols in each language.

In January the Club combined with the German Club in giving a dance. A group of girls did a French folk dance, and for contrast the "Shag" was demonstrated by Margie Kalish and Edward Weiner. This year the members decided to have two trips, one during the winter and the other in the spring. The winter trip was held on February 22. A group of members spent the day in New York City. First they visited the Queen Mary, then did some sightseeing, and finally went to a French movie.

The orchestra includes about forty-five musically inclined students. Besides playing for regular assembly programs on Thursday they have contributed their talent on several occasions. A creditable performance was given at international night in the Junior High School and between acts of the senior play. Several numbers were rendered at the March meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, and the exercises of the second commencement of the night school included orchestra selections.

Instruments added this year included an oboe and a French horn, played by Henry Haman and Douglas Daniels, respectively. Though it has been impossible to do as much as in the band in the way of balance, it is felt that this year's strides toward complete balance have been satisfactory as a beginning.

This year, as in the past few, representatives were sent in November to the All-State Orchestra in Atlantic City, which consisted of one hundred and ninety pieces. The five sent from Linden and their instruments were: Theodore Chernotsky, first violin; Ruth Kaplan, first violin; Mildred Green, first violin; Anna Christoffers, cello; and Richard Daniels, trombone.

This year's band is the best Linden High has produced and strides are continually being taken towards further advancement. By next year it is hoped that it will be possible to exclude the remaining poor instruments. This year old instruments were replaced by new as follows: new trumpets, Margaret Colgan and Alfred Pawlowski; new cornets, Albert Cook and George Hirst; trombone, Richard Daniels. Additional instruments purchased included: two marching drums and a melophone; a flute played by Sam Gushin, a baritone, by Inger Anderson, an oboe, by Henry Hamon, and a French horn, by Douglas Daniels.

The group learns new music rapidly, and the front line of the marching section is unusually good. The annual band concert presented in assembly was exceptionally good and the May Festival was competently supported. Of the fifty-six members the replacement of twenty seniors for next year has already been arranged. By way of balancing the band, next year's clarinet section will be increased from nineteen to about twenty-five.

"Step This Way"

Once again the Linden High School presented, for the enjoyment of everyone, a sure-fire musical comedy success entitled, "Step This Way." The cast, consisting of a large group of the students, were put through their paces under the able direction of Robert S. Bancroft.

The action of the story occurs on the Long Island estate of Mitchell Boniface, a millionaire, portrayed by Philip Gushin. It is a summer day and Kay, Mr. Boniface's secretary (Alice Mikesch), is making arrangements for a charity show which is to be given that evening on the palatial estate. Lottie (Jean True), a wealthy widow whose husband had been in the apple butter business with "Mitchy" Boniface, believes that it would be a good idea for her to marry "Mitchy" and keep the business in the family. Another one of her little schemes is to have Eddie, her son (Theodore Chernotsky), marry Jean, Mitchy's daughter (Eva Shevitz). Jean and Eddie, however, have different ideas on the subject. Eddie is in love with Connie, an actress (Margy Kalish), and Jean, likewise, is in love with Bill (Francis Powell), a lifeguard whom she and Dot, her girl friend (Polly Diamond), have met while on their vacation. Jean and Dot want very much to have Bill and Don, Bill's pal (Harry Ericsson), visit them, but Jean, knowing her father's attitude concerning her future, dares not carry out such a plan.

On the afternoon of the charity show a valuable necklace belonging to Lottie is missing. Lottie insists that detectives be called in on the case immediately. Jean and Dot, sensing the situation, manage to get Don and Bill, disguised, hired as detectives, Herlock Sholmes and Gotsom, on the case. Then the trouble begins! The phantom (William Young), who is an escaped lunatic from a nearby asylum, comes to the estate hoping to find a keg of diamonds which he believes is hidden there and belongs to him. He accidentally stumbles upon Lottie's necklace, which was on the ground. Hearing voices he quickly drops the pearls into a flower pot where Eddie, previous to this time, had dropped a necklace which he had gotten as one of the props for the show that evening. The phantom then scurries off.

Jean and Dot enter and Jean, spying the necklace, picks it up and puts it into a secret panel in the garden wall. She intends to give it to Bill later so that he can be the hero of the hour. Unknown to her, however, she has taken Eddie's fake necklace.

That afternoon Connie and Eddie go for a walk and take with them the supposedly fake necklace which they throw into the river to show that they have pledged their love for each other. While they are blissfully strolling home through the pastures, a bull rushes at Eddie and rips his pants. Eddie and Connie get home the best way they can. After leaving Connie, Eddie meets Agony, the colored laundress (Connie Simmons). The scene which follows is one that evokes many peals of laughter from the audience as Agony tries to hide Eddie in the wash basket so that no one will see him. Agony, frightened away by a weird shriek of laughter, leaves Eddie with just a sheet to cover his ripped pants. Noel, the charity show producer (Anthony Spadora), happens along and promises Eddie that he will get him a pair of pants if Eddie will get him a keg to use in the show.

The second act takes place the evening of the same day. The guests are arriving and the show is being presented. Art, a crystal gazer (Gail Clark), who is really Kay's husband, puts on his crystal gazing prompter's book from Rhoda's firm grasp and says, "Oh, what page is that line on, that I forgot?" act. Gazing into the crystal ball, he tells the guests to watch the wall and from a hidden panel in it a figure will appear. Naturally he believes one of the people in his act as planned will appear. Slowly the door opens and a figure wrapped in a sheet appears. Connie, believing it to be Eddie, who has hidden in there because of his ripped pants, throws the sheet off only to reveal the hideous figure of the phantom. Just at this moment Eddie comes in with the keg he has promised Noel. The phantom, seeing the keg, thinks it is his diamonds and implores Eddie to give them to him. He is frantically trying to open the keg and get his diamonds when two asylum guards, who have been searching the grounds, see the phantom and take him back to the asylum.

Bill and Don, in the meantime, realizing that Eddie has thrown the real pearls into the river, go diving for them and luckily find them. They triumphantly bring them home, and when everything is straightened out, Bill asks as his reward, if he may marry Jean. His request is granted and the show ends joyously with the entire cast singing "Step This Way."

The Debating Club

Each meeting of the Debating Club this past year meant education and a good time for all. The meetings were something to look forward to. An example of this was the debate, "Resolved that Japan is justified in her invasion of China," which took place in Mr. Jamison's room between two members of the faculty and two members of the student body. Morris Schafer and Inger Andersen upheld the topic, while Mr. Barrett and Mr. Jamison opposed it. The faculty members won their point. Considering the fact that the topic for the debate was unknown to the debaters until 8:15 the morning of the debate, one can see that a good time was inevitable.

This year Morris Schafer, defending the championship he was awarded last year in the state oratorical contest, placed third. Inger Andersen was victorious in the state extemporaneous speaking contest. By this brilliant display of its leaders, the members of the Debating Club become so inspired that they usually join one of the teams.

The Debating Team

This year in interclass debating, the seniors emerged victorious, winning five debates and losing one. Surprisingly, the freshmen walked away with second honors, winning four and losing two. The juniors lost three and won three, while the sophomores had a bad season, losing all their debates. The winning team was represented by Inger Andersen and Gerhard Spieler. The topic for debates was "Resolved that the United States should adopt a policy of complete neutrality in the time of foreign wars."

When the interscholastic debating season began the teams met Sommerville twice, losing both times. "Resolved that the several states should adopt a system of unicameral legislation" was the topic for debate. The debating team planned to enter the tournament sponsored by the Interscholastic Forensic League. The interscholastic debating teams, three in number, included the following: Gerhard Spieler and Inger Andersen, Florence Tunkel and Morris Schafer, and Mollie Sherling and Edith Isler.

The main purpose of the Rifle Club is to teach boys and girls the correct use and the dangers of the incorrect use of firearms. This year, besides learning to hold the gun correctly and to shoot accurately, the members studied the sportsman's code. During the hunting season, to be on the safe side of the law, the club read up on the rules and practices of firearms.

To secure more funds for club supplies, the members gave their afternoon dance with the Latin Club. To insure a good turnout, the Rifle Club sponsored a ticket-selling contest between the members of the club. The winners, William Pasternak, and Richard Williams, received prizes of boxes of rifle cartridges.

During club meetings, members gave talks on correct sighting, marksmanship, the parts of the gun, and the cleaning of these parts. On different afternoons the members went to the Elizabeth Armory to improve their aim. This year for the first time, they have been attempting to have postal matches with the various schools of the county. If this works out, they will be comparing shooting scores of several schools with the scores of the Rifle Club members.

Civic Forum Club

At the meetings of the Civic Forum Club, many views on world problems of current interest are discussed. On attending these meetings, one is delighted to see that all of the members join in these discussions, and give very worthwhile opinions. An initiation party was given early in the autumn to welcome the new members. Those who attended enjoyed refreshments, dancing and games. The new members had to go through several comical stunts to prove that they were worthy of joining the club.

For their annual trip, the club decided to spend a day in New York, seeing sights of interest in the morning, and going to the theatre after lunch. The club joined with the Home Economics Club on this trip. At the next to the last meeting of the year, plans were made for the club dance to be given in April. This dance was the last of the year.

The Library Squad, consisting of about thirty-five of the more industrious students of the school, combines excellent training with pure enjoyment. For those continuing in library work there is constant practical experience; for those not continuing, the Library Squad affords practice in neatness, accuracy and system.

Joining the Library Squad, however, does not signify incessant toil. At least twice a year there are meetings with the Literature Club. Frequently there are speakers of uncommon interest. Mr. H. J. B. Ashwell spoke on printing and bookbinding. Other speakers included Miss Maihl, Head Librarian of the Linden Public Library, who illustrated how the library serves its patrons, and Mrs. Bragdon of the Educational Department of the "American News," who spoke on publishing. Twice a year the Squad attends state conventions of the New Jersey School Library Association. This year they were held in Southside High School, Newark, and in Plainfield High School in November and May, respectively.

In order to teach the girls home making and art in the home, we have the present Home Economics Club. Most girls will some day care for homes, and the advisers feel that points in home making will be helpful. This year the club changed its entrance requirements. To become a member, it is necessary to have B in two Home Economics subjects. These include cooking, sewing, and art.

The club as a group took a trip to New York, visiting the Frick and Metropolitan Museums. There they saw pictures, vases, and furniture which may be very helpful in suggesting improvements in the home. After lunch, they went to see the Broadway production, "The Three Waltzes." Bamberger's gave a small fashion show here at the Linden High School. This show was given to illustrate how a girl could be well dressed and still be economical. In connection with the Aviation Club the group gave a St. Patrick's Dance which proved to be a huge success, having the largest afternoon turn-out of the year.

The Literature Club has had many interesting meetings during the past year. Several of these have been combined with the Library Squad, with interesting speakers as guests. Mr. Ashwell of the Linden Public Library Board spoke on the different kinds of paper that go into the making of books, Mrs. Lillian Bragden spoke on different types of interesting books, and Miss Maihl, head librarian of the Linden Public Library, of the new books that the library holds for young people.

For its annual trip the club decided to go to New York to see a play. In preceding years the club had an initiation party in the autumn, but the club voted to eliminate it this year, and give the new members of the club a hearty welcome without their having to go through a painful initiation.

Vice-President	RUTH HOERL
Secretary	ETHEL CLARK
Treasurer	MARIE LOGUE
Faculty Adviser	MISS MARSHALL

The purpose of the Commercial Club is to stimulate interest in commercial subjects and develop sociability among the commercial group. Since this is an honor club, a commercial student must receive a passing mark in English, and a grade of B in a combination of three commercial subjects. Formerly the competitive spirit of each member was aroused by monthly contests, but this year the members at an invitation from Thomas Jefferson High School competed in an interscholastic typing contest. First and third places were won by Jeffersonians, and second place by Dorothy Zirlin.

After the business discussion of each meeting members gave talks on commercial subjects. The Tennis Club and the Commercial Club joined in presenting their annual dance. For their yearly trip, the members divided into two groups and saw the Broadway productions, "White Oaks" and "Sea Gull."

"The Adorable Spendthrift"

"The Adorable Spendthrift," the senior play of the Class of '38, proved a great success. In both major performances the auditorium was crammed with an anxious audience. Ushering the audience to their seats was an easy task for those beautifully-gowned senior usherettes. Everyone seated, the Linden High School Orchestra played a few selections. Then—curtain time. A hush fell on the audience, but it was soon broken by peals of laughter.

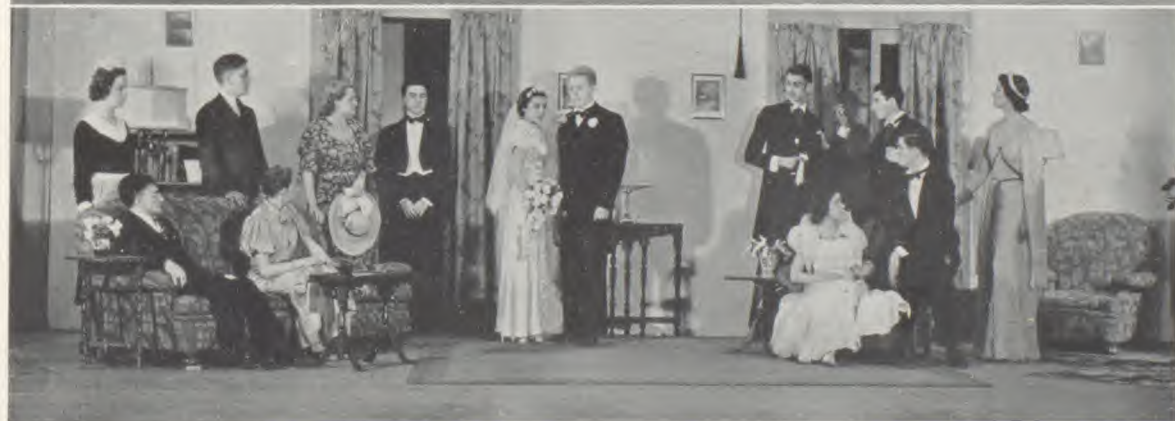

First the audience was greeted by the maid and butler (Mary Reichardt and Douglas Daniels), who exhibited their contempt for the Masons. J. C. Mason and Mrs. Mason added zest to the play by trying to act as if accustomed to frequent handling of "big" money. J. C. Mason (Arthur Koistinen) had been a carpenter before he became rich. He was decidedly annoyed with the continuous henpecking he received from Mrs. Mason (Millie Zukowsky). A typical "line" of Mrs. Mason's would be, "J. C., get your feet off that table."

The ultra-ultra society woman, Mrs. Reeves Alton of the Virginia Reeves Altons (Frances Hansen), and her snobbish, sophisticated daughter, Helen (the role being played by Ruth Hodges), tried hard to "dig" for a little of J. C. Mason's gold through their contact with young Hardy Mason. Then was witnessed the arrival of Hardy's French fiancée, Sari. This role of the French countess and heroine was beautifully executed by Hattie Schegin. Sari was a true friend of the Masons, although they were unaware of this fact. She, however, saved their money and her love affair with Hardy.

Senator Pollard, a disreputable politician, threatened the financial status of the Masons, but Sari's wise decisions proved invaluable. Comedy overwhelmed the audience when Senator Pollard presented J. C. with a bust of a likeness of himself—the conqueror Napoleon. When the engagement between Irene Mason (Marion MacMillan), and her sweetheart, Leroy Morton (Gail Clarke), was destroyed, Irene was almost heartbroken. Soon Irene's sadness was swept away, for her love blossomed anew for Bob Bracket (Philip Gushin).

Mr. Stoneham (Anthony Spadora), a conservative banker of the Mason family, Mrs. Keyes (Ruth Fitzpatrick), the interior decorator, and Perkins (William Smith), an uneducated fellow, added finishing comic touches to the play. The play ended as Hardy Mason (William Young)—and not enough can be said of this young hero of the production—lifted Sari in his arms and bestowed on her lips that sacred romantic touch, a kiss.

The directors had quite a task keeping order backstage during rehearsals. Someone would tear the prompter's book from Rhoda's firm grasp and say, "Oh, what page is that line on, that I forgot?" There was, "Where is Sari? She should have been on-stage five minutes ago!" "Where are my flowers?" "Get off Irene's dress train!" "Everybody ready?" "Lights, footlights—Curtain." The excellent work of the characters can be attributed to the fine direction and supervision of Miss Gilkeson, the dramatic teacher.

As qualification for the Latin Club a student needs an "A" or a "B." As is the custom, the members hold their meetings on the fourth Wednesday of every month. When the necessary business is disposed of, entertaining programs are presented. The initiation party held in the cafeteria afforded a pleasant afternoon to all. The club combined with the Rifle Club to give a "Valentine Dance" on February 11. The dance was a social as well as a financial success. The members of the club decided to take a trip to New York, to see a play, at the end of the winter.

Cynthia Pugash is the flower of the sophomore class. When people pass her, they say, "Hi ya, Cynth."

Prof. George Claflen P. U. has a habit of inventing new proofs to geometry theorems. It's nice work if you can get it.

What is the strange quality in Mr. Barrett's stories that makes his star pupils try to get to higher ground?

Before the school year, Harriett Karmel and Helen Cicila heard many weird stories of the poisonous gasses made in Chemistry lab. When the day came to make Chlorine, the girls innocently asked Mr. Weiss for gas masks.

Philip Gushin was sitting peacefully in History class when suddenly he let out a yell. On the other side of the room, a mysterious figure was cutting a notch in a match stick. "Hot Foot" Heller scores again!

Bertha Hollosy has had her share of troubles this year. For two nights in a row she had the same dream, but alas, she did not know what it was all about. It was in German!

One teacher, when asked to tell the difference between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, said that they were both cut out of the same piece of cloth. Then a scornful voice was heard to say, "Yes, CHEESECLOTH!"

Strange as it seems, here is the true story concerning David "Tex" Rafelson. "Tex," who plays in the band, was standing at attention in front of the stands before a football game when two dogs jumped through his legs! We are seriously thinking of calling him "Parenthesis" ().

Can you Imagine —

Mr. Barrett without his laugh?

Mr. Moldaschl talking with his hands behind his back?

Gerhard Spieler agreeing with anyone?

Milton Heller without gum?

Stella Micek has her own ideas on cooking. Her definition of a pot roast is a roast cooked in a pot!

During Cleveland Grant's lecture on birds, pictures were shown of a duck hawk tearing apart a gull. Shortly afterwards, Miss Kantner was overheard saying: "I'm hungry!"

Upon passing a house under construction, Elinor Hover remarked, "It must have been a smart sculptor who designed that house!"

(Why should we sopho-more, if she is only a freshman?)

Gift Day

Gift Day is looked forward to by all who have contributed to the activities of our school life. The athletes receive letters for their records at this time. The band and orchestra, the "Chronicle" Staff, the Library Squad, and the Interclass champions are also awarded letters.

The school, in return, is presented with gifts by the various clubs. These are all gifts which will add to the beauty and enrichment of our school. Some clubs buy subscriptions to magazines for our library—still others present colorful paintings which brighten the classroom atmosphere. Gift Day is held on the last assembly date of the year. Although the program often lasts for a very long time, all those who are allowed to attend find it surprisingly interesting and enjoyable.

The Stamp Club is organized to promote interest in the collection and care of stamps. It also helps the budding philatelists' collections. After a short business discussion at each meeting, the rest of the club period has been taken up with discussion of different topics relating to stamps. The Stamp Club joined with the Science Club in presenting its annual dance.

By collecting stamps members come in contact with recent questions, and with new issues of stamps. The collecting also gives the philatelists a more thorough understanding of countries they have not studied about before. In order to widen its range of stamp information, the club has had several collections of stamps on display, and has discussed the manufacture and printing of stamps and currency. The club members have been attempting to visit one of the stamp shows in New York.

The members of the Science Club wish to keep up with the latest happenings in the ever-widening field of science. They find great interest in discussing and performing scientific experiments.

This year considerable time was spent in planning new departments. As a result, there will be radio, photographic, microscopic, and chemical sub-divisions next year. Each section will have separate meetings and officers, with a central treasury for pictures and general expenses. Then, too, each section will have its own treasury for equipment and incidental expenses. The main idea behind this division is to enable each member to concentrate on the particular phases of science that are of interest to him.

More Quaint Quips about Gobs and Gals

Now we have something on one of the teachers. At one basketball game, a tall, dark, handsome man came in and inquired of one of the students as to the whereabouts of Miss Siegman. He explained that he came especially to see her. Aha!

Miss Kantner asked one of the pupils in her music class what podium meant. The girl, a chemistry student answered brightly: "Podium is a combination of sodium and potassium!"

When asked by Mr. Barrett to name some of the important battles of the Civil War, Mike Gurgo answered, "Gettysburg and Vicksburg." But who was the wise guy that also added, "Goldberg"?

Introducing Miss MacConkey and Miss Lang in "It Happened One Morning." One rainy morning, Miss MacConkey's car broke down en-route to school. Seeing the futility of waiting for a bus, our adventure-seeking teachers promptly hitched a ride to school. Thumb fun!

In debating, Inger Andersen argues in favor of unicameral government. We always thought unicameral was a camel with one hump!

Gerhard Spieler has another plan for a radical government reform. He says it is sound; in fact we think it is nothing but sound!

It seems as though some Juniors and Seniors have their driver's licenses only to show that they are over seventeen years old.

I wonder if Ruth Hodges remembers when she was a Freshman. Despite the frantic efforts of Mr. Cook, Ruth insisted that 11x11 was 22.

Geometry Club

One of the newest Clubs is the Geometry Club, which was organized this year by the Sophomore geometry classes. Already the membership has grown to twenty-one students who are interested in the practical uses of mathematics. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in geometry, and to apply mathematics practically in problems of surveying. The members aim to get experience in outdoor measurement of lines and angles, and the use of surveying principles.

In the spring the members applied their knowledge outdoors. They learned the use of the transit, the hypsometer, the angle mirror, the sextant, and the plane tables. They also laid out a baseball diamond, a tennis court, and circles with the use of the angle mirror. The officers of the club are Kai Anderson, president; Martin Dvorin, vice-president; Grace Donald, secretary; and Edwin Ball, treasurer. Miss Reynolds is the faculty adviser.

The Dramatic Club, whose aim is to cultivate and improve talent for acting and other phases of dramatics, such as costuming, stage managing, coaching, make-up and producing, is a bee-hive of industry. This club has no dues or officers but is managed by standing committees which have charge of all programs and activities. The only prerequisites of a student to gain admittance into this club are dramatic ability and a keen interest in the organization.

This club proved indispensable to other clubs and organizations by repeatedly lending them the use of their properties, scenery, costumes and make-up. The make-up committee has been very efficient and by patient and fastidious work has succeeded in perfecting old talent and developing new talent as future make-up artists. Other members not on this committee, but interested in the work, lent their services as models. The costume committee was especially active and created a large number of costumes that enlarged the club's supply considerably. The stage crew was very co-operative, and fired by an acute interest they built new scenery and renovated the old.

As a result of the co-operation and expert functioning of all committees, their annual fall production of "Courtship Under Difficulties" and "Evening Clothes" were successfully performed and well received. The club also turned out another success when it presented its spring production, "The Command Performance" before the school assembly. The play was expertly directed by Miss Gilkeson. She, the cast, and the combined committees worked patiently and tirelessly to make it the success that it proved to be.

Obtaining more subscriptions than ever before, the Linden High Chronicle undertook another year of scholastic newspaper work. Once again we might well be proud of our paper, for this year, as in the previous, it rated third in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. For the first time since its existence in our school, the Chronicle has had two commercial students at its head. Mrs. Swinton, who is teaching for the first time at our high school, succeeded Mrs. Rosa to the position of faculty adviser for the newspaper. Three columns: "Off the Aisle," "Query," and "Club Clippings," added to the paper. May the Linden High Chronicle continue its good work in the coming years and obtain the higher standards its staff members are continually striving for.

Basketball

In the first game, Cranford was decisively trounced. Linden followed this up by winning over the alumni once and North Plainfield twice. Then came the first real test of the year, the game with Rahway, defending county champs. The game was a see-saw tilt and Linden managed to display better form and marksmanship to cinch the game. Plainfield then proceeded to get a win at the expense of the previously unbeaten Orange and Black squad. Linden then decided to "wow 'em," and trounced in order Hillside, Roselle Park, Roselle, and Cranford, but dropped one to Thomas Jefferson. Following this Linden vowed revenge and took it out on Roselle Park and Roselle for the second time and took over Carteret and Westfield. Union added the last defeat of our regular season, but only because Coach Cooper would not allow the first five to dress, because of a tournament game the following night.

In the county tournament, Linden proved a continual threat throughout, and in the first game defeated Cranford for the third time in the current season. St. Patrick's was the next victim, and Linden drew Regional in the semi-finals. Regional, in their first year of court plays, defeated the Orange and Black courtsters, and then proceeded to take the championship from the Spanktowners of Rahway. Rutherford defeated the Coopermen in the only state tournament game they played.

Linden finished the season with sixteen wins and five losses, a record that is envied by many teams in the neighboring towns. This year, however, should prove but a warm-up for the seasons of 1938-1939 and 1939-1940.

Football

Coach Cooper, finding himself with mostly green material this year, built his football machine around "Shy" Beshunsky. Captain Jackson Givens and "Mike" Gurgo returned to the grid wars and made Coach's job easier. Linden's spirits were dampened when small Manasquan tied us with a Frank Merriwell finish in the last forty seconds. Playing host to Red Bank, Linden found itself on the short end of a 6-0 score. Traveling to Rahway the following Saturday for our first county game, we decisively defeated the Spanktowners by a score of 19-0. Even the most loyal Linden rooters were dismayed over the prospect of the coming game with Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth. The Betsytowners were hard pressed, however, and just eked out a win.

Meeting Roselle at home on a sea of mud, Coach Cooper's charges defeated the Ricemen on a brilliant bit of running by fleet-footed "Jack" Givens. Roselle Park, a heavy favorite, followed in the footsteps of its twin-borough and bowed 14-7. Playing at Dover, Linden took them to town with a 13-0 margin. In this game, Warren Lamont, a tackle, proved his keenness by scooping up a fumble before it touched terra firma and raced twenty-five yards for the initial touchdown. This winning streak, however, was broken by Hillside, and Union added salt to our wounds in the annual Turkey Day Game. We ended the season with a total of four games won, four lost, and one tied.

An important factor in the enjoyment of the games is the cheerleading. It spurs the teams on to victory. This past year cheerleading has taken a jump over its work of the previous years of its existence in Linden High. The cheerleaders have been working constantly all through the year, meeting in the small gym approximately twice a week for practice. When the cheering season was nearly over their important work was to prepare new students to replace the graduates.

The squad of nine, which included Mike Milkowsky, Andrew Zavoda, Nicholas Lutz, John Kostuf, Helen Finn, Ida Fishkin, Margy Kalish, Georgiana Conk, and Patricia McIntyre, worked under the able supervision of Miss Demarest and the congenial leadership of Anthony Spadora.

Track

Each year, track is gaining more and more in popularity in Linden High. This year, early in the spring, vigorous training for the Newark Sunday Call and Union County Interscholastic Indoor Meets was begun.

In the 1938 Newark Sunday Call meet, Frank Barnacki placed second in the mile, "Al" Martis placed fourth in the 70 yard dash and John Lataweic placed third in the 220 yard run. In the Union County Interscholastic Indoor meet, "Shi" Beshunsky won the shot put, with a throw of 43 feet 8 inches, Frank Barnacki placed third in the one mile run, and Seymour Lieberman placed third in the high jump.

The 1937 interscholastic season started April 21, when we chalked-up our first victory against Milburn. Next we met Hillside and defeated our opponents by a score of 52-46. Linden then vanquished Rahway, 65½-38½, but was defeated by Roselle Park, with a score of 56-48, and Cranford with a score of 70½-33½. The track team then cleaned its slate by defeating the Roselle squad by a score of 49½-24. The last meet was held with North Plainfield, who shaded Linden by the close score of 50-54.

Louis Budil and Frank Barnacki ended their season without a single defeat. The "fleet-footed" Louis will be missed by the 1938 Outdoor Track squad, but Coach Diehl expects much of Barnacki, Martis and the new and old members of the squad.

ROW I Mr. Cooper, N. Baldwin, A. Wans, J. Welling, W. Davis, A. Jakuc, M. Vena, A. Osmun, A. Vornbaum, A. Martis, L. Budil, M. Gurgo, W. Dougherty, G. Uhl, J. Specht, E. Cohen.

Baseball, 1937

Facing a grueling season, and with many veterans graduated, Coach Cooper turned his attention to the Great American Sport, baseball. Veteran "Lefty" Tevlin, pitcher and outfielder par excellence, was elected captain of this green team.

Defeats at the hands of West Side (Newark), Bound Brook, and Hillside provided dark clouds on Linden's horizon, but the sun broke through as the Orange and Black took Plainfield and Westfield into camp by 8-2 and 15-4 respectively. The Blue and Gold from Cranford decided that Linden had enough and immediately put our name on the losing side. The Orange and Black then decisively took Roselle by a 11-4 count. Carteret defeated Linden in a free scoring game and North Plainfield also turned the trick. Cranford, with their confidence from the last game, was turned back, 5-3. North Plainfield again took the game, 1-0, and Linden defeated Roselle a second time by 9-6, before dropping one apiece to Carteret, and the Alumni.

The team of 1937, although scoring 83 runs to their opponents' 86, only won five games while losing nine. The season of 1938 should be the best since 1930, when the team won 15, lost 4, and tied 1, giving it an average of .750. Many familiar faces will be seen on the diamond this year, and many new ones, which will prove helpful, will also appear.

Interclass Basketball

After a spectacular season of Interclass Basketball, the Junior A and Senior B teams emerged victorious in their respective groups. The winning of the title in the B division by the Seniors ended a season of anxious competition between them and the Junior B team. The title winners of the A and B crowns ended their season with an equal number of games won by both.

The remainder of the tournament resulted in the Senior A and Junior B teams occupying second place, the Sophomore A and Freshman B placing third, and the Freshman A and Sophomore B filling the cellar position.

In order to attract the tiny Freshmen, Coach Cooper counted a Freshman field goal as five points, while a foul shot earned three points. As a result of this scoring system, the Freshmen were able to frighten the stoutest contenders for the title and in some instances proved themselves superior.

Girls' Sports

The 1937-38 season brought out a large and enthusiastic group of sportswomen, clamoring for action and desiring enough points to earn that long-wished for "L" at the end of the year. The girls earning three hundred points by participating in all sports are awarded an "L" for their efforts, while those who earn two hundred points are awarded numerals.

The volley ball and basketball tournaments, first and second events of the season, were won by the ambitious seniors, who were determined to come out "tops" in all forms of competition. The foul shooting contest, third event on the sports calendar, featured lively individual competition. Badminton and deck tennis, the next offerings, brought out droves of participants. The girls' sports season ended with a track meet on the athletic field in May.

For all those who have participated in these events and have earned their required points, Gift Day in June is a memorable occasion, for it is then that they receive their prized "L" before a cheering assemblage.

Still More Quaint Quips about Gobs and Gals

When Miss MacCormack asked for some original poetry, she never expected anything like this:

Way down upon the Swanee river
The sun is shining bright,
Way down upon the Swanee river
The moon comes out at night.

The writer of this poem (?) was shot, hanged, quartered, and electrocuted.

Art Osmun, captain of our basketball team, was called upon to sing a solo in music class. After he finished, Miss Kantner was so pleased, she demanded an encore. Why, Arthur, you never told us!

Edmund Sharkus, the brute, says he can whip anyone in the high school his size. Note: It seems that Linden High couldn't get Snow White, so we had to be satisfied with one of the dwarfs.

Partners we should like to have seen in the dancing classes:

Wally Urban and Lulu Perewich.
Coaches Siegman and Goodwin shagging.
Al Kolibas and Betty Young.

Edith Isler went into hysterics coming home from, of all things, the Regional basketball game. The thing that brought it on was the mention of a psychopathic ward. Not a bad idea!

Speaking of hitch-hikers, do you realize that the state of Illinois has a tax on hitch-hikers? Thumb tacks!

BEST CRACK OF THE YEAR:

Alumnus: Hey, Gushin! Is Earl Well a relation of yours?

Sam: No! Why?

Alumnus: I just thought so, because Earl is a-gushin', too.

FLASH!!!!

"Crum" Christel noses out "Jiggs" Hoerrner for nickname honors during the scholastic year of '37-'38! Our diminutive James, among other things is called "Mark of the Squealer," "Scrubby," "Smilin' Jack," and "The Cute Little Monster."

QUIP:

I saw Pete Capp run after a girl the other day; it must have been a Mary Chase.

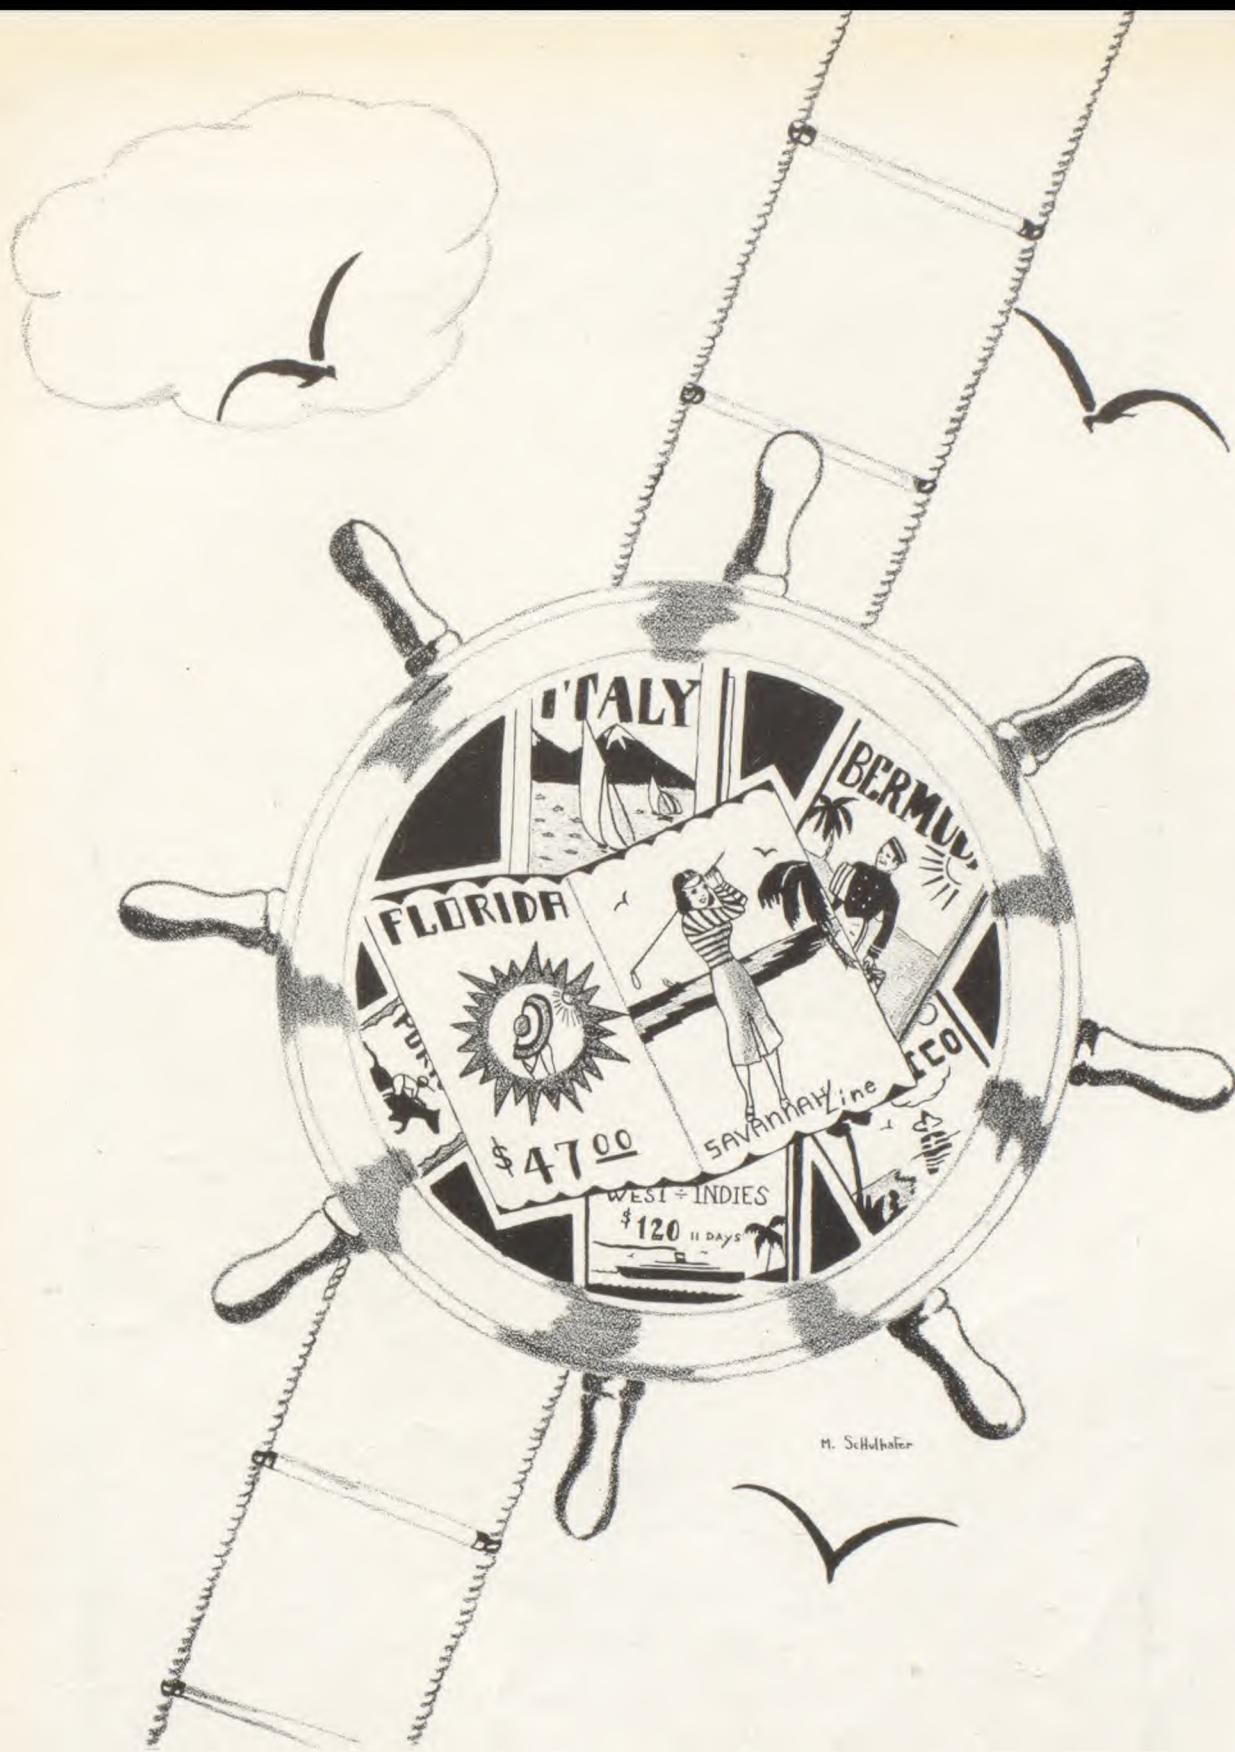

NONSENSE:

Last week our Physics teacher talked about everything from soup to nuts. Naturally, Section I paid no attention, so Mr. Yeisley talked only from soup.

BRAINS:

One bright Senior said in History:

"The early Colonial maiden usually had enough suitors to suit her." (Woo-woo.)
