CYNOSURE

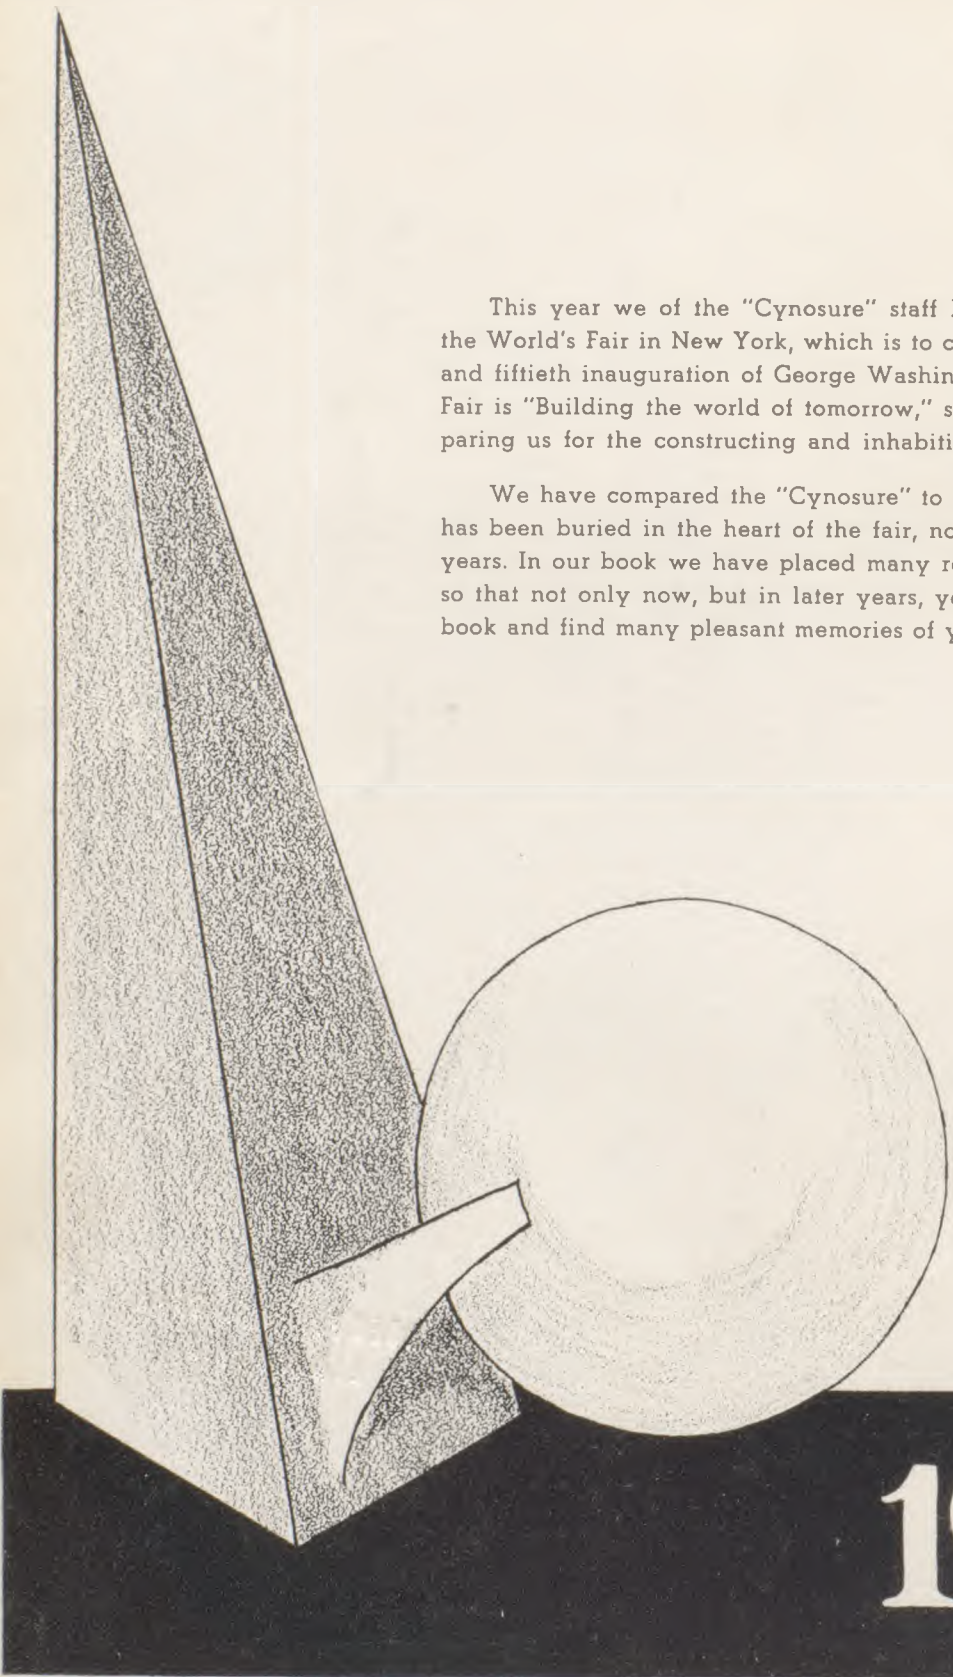

THE CYNOSURE

THE CYNOSURE
OF THE CYNOSURE

This year we of the "Cynosure" staff have taken as our theme the World's Fair in New York, which is to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth inauguration of George Washington as president. As the Fair is "Building the world of tomorrow," so our high school is preparing us for the constructing and inhabiting of this world.

We have compared the "Cynosure" to the "time capsule" which has been buried in the heart of the fair, not to be opened for many years. In our book we have placed many reminders of Linden High, so that not only now, but in later years, you may look through the book and find many pleasant memories of your stay here.

Home Room Activities of Juniors

The class of 1940 has had many interesting programs in their home rooms. Musical programs were especially popular. One homeroom, Miss Marshall's, formed an orchestra of six Juniors and one Sophomore. This orchestra gave an exhibition in the music room. Many groups had discussions on how to improve the appearance of the school and the homerooms themselves. Miss Marshall's class, also, bought a beautiful potted plant which greatly improved the appearance of the room.

The "Professor Quiz," "Information Please," "Question Bee" and other forms of the question and answer games were well liked. One homeroom had an Etiquette Quiz. Questions on school and dance manners were asked. There was a Sport Quiz in which questions about athletics, well-known players, teams, and other information were asked. Movie Quizzes tested the memories of the students as to who played in what.

With the annual Junior Prom nearing, the class of 1940 felt they would like dancing periods. About the beginning of March there was dancing every Friday Home Room period. Any Junior who wished could go to the big gym and dance to the latest music. After a few weeks, the boys and girls began to feel more sure of themselves and enjoyed dancing. Many of the seniors were heard to wonder why they never thought of having those extra dancing classes or why they didn't do anything about it.

Home Room Activities of Sophomores

The students of the sophomore class have endeavored to make their homeroom periods helpful as well as enjoyable and interesting. Through these programs they have gained a better knowledge of problems confronting them, they have become better acquainted with their teachers and fellow students, and they have secured information on many questions they wished to ask. The programs differ each week. The student should take part at least in one program during the term. Personality improvement is discussed and the ways it can be secured. The sophomores feel there is no more convenient place to better yourself and form good habits than in school. Character traits such as honesty, personal appearance, tact and initiative are brought up in the discussions.

The students tell of their various hobbies, they range from stamp collecting to horse back riding. Current events are brought in relating to the subjects of the week. The sophomores are doing much in the clean-up campaign of this year. They endeavor to keep the rooms and halls which they use clean and tidy. Report cards and assembly programs are frequent topics of discussion. The college preparatory students gain much from their homeroom teachers and classmates in finding out all the types of colleges, and the cost of going to each. These programs have been a genuine success in the sophomore homerooms.

During the momentous holiday season around Thanksgiving and Christmas a number of the home rooms were very generous and helpful to the needy by contributing money or giving Christmas baskets. Most of the groups give parties after school to celebrate the big holidays during the year. Usually Halloween and Christmas are celebrated in this manner. These students have shown through their efforts that they have accomplished much in the way of development of character and talent.

Home Room Activities of Freshmen

During homeroom periods many of the Freshman sections participated in spelling bees, Professor Quiz, popularity, and true and false contests, and parties. In one group reverence to the flag and when and how to display it were talked about, while in another class the coal mining industry was talked of. All sections have had discussions concerning manners and conduct throughout the school, personal appearance, personality, school spirit, and what one can do with spare time in Linden, and activities both inside and outside of school.

Taking magazines, one class has discussed them thoroughly from every possible angle, telling why they took each particular one. Another has spent time discussing safety devices of an electrical nature, the ten best movies of 1938, and the places to see when taking a trip through New Jersey. Others have talked of safety, fire prevention, and traffic rules and regulations. In one class, the freshmen were given different topics to talk about, with the one who spoke the best concerning his topic in a specified time taking the prize.

The clean-up campaign has been discussed from all angles concerning school business and home life. The freshmen have talked about attitudes, introductions, personal hygiene, sportsmanship, tolerance and etiquette as doing the correct thing at the correct place and time. All of these discussions have tended to make good citizens of our freshmen class and will show results.

ACTIVITIES

THE CAPSULE

1. Here we have Jean True hitting those high notes so sweetly.

2. Shall we ever forget Fred Fonda's "The Green-Eyed Dragon"?

3. This group carried Linden's glory to the tennis courts.

4. Our girl's tennis team acted as an incentive.

5. Our game with Roselle Park - nothing to it. Of course we won.

6. These students stopped short when they saw the camera.

7. Anna Zepht practicing, that's a lot to swallow.
(Ouch, but we couldn't resist it.)

8. What can we say except that we won again.

1. Poetry reading in Miss Klarner's class.

2. Thomas Veals, one of our radio fanciers, tries a new set.

3. Our baton twirler, Marjorie Miklosy, entertains us during the half.

4. Part of the clerical staff of the Cynosure.

Our dignified editor doing one of his more important jobs.

Aren't they a nice type of typists?

7. Mr. Kendall and Mr. Levine work out a problem.

8. The officers of the Junior Class. "Butch" is tired.

9. These people guided the destiny of the Senior Formal.

1. The staff watches the photographer take pictures.

2. Ah - the octette.

3. Eddy Duchin, watch out, here comes Earl Daniels.

4. This wasn't taken at the World's Fair site. This is the Cynosure play on the high school stage.

5. The Senior Class leaders.

6. Miss Waterman's capable assistant, Miss Illingworth, checks a book.

7. Mary and Dawn insisted on hanging their stockings with the Junior Class decorations.

1. To the music of the Serenaders, the students trip the light fantastic.

2. These boys are repairing those damaged books.
We know—"I didn't mean to tear it."

3. We did it again for Coach Cooper.

4. After a hard (?) day at school, this is an evening of employment.

5. A study hall. (Webster says study is "effort to learn by reading or thinking.")

6. The team is in a huddle, and a smashing Linden play is the result.

7. The Senior quartet practicing for one of its popular programs.

8. Long may they wave together!

Band

The band, under the leadership of Mr. W. F. Malpas, has cooperated a great deal with various associations in entertaining groups, besides having inspired both the enthusiasts and team during football season. The band played for the first and last Parent-Teacher Association meetings, the dedication of Linden's new Post Office, and the Armistice Day Parade. A successful assembly program and May Festival concert have been among the band's outstanding achievements.

The organization now consists of fifty-one members. Its officers are George Hirst as manager, Alfred Pawloski and Henry Hamann, assistant managers, Zelda Gushin, librarian, Anna Zepht and Lorraine Du Tot, secretaries, Marjorie Miklosy, baton twirler, William Christophers, drum major. Several members have been fortunate enough to get new instruments. Some of these were: flute, Walter Hicinbotham, cornet, Richard Hoffman, saxophones, William Christoffers and Eugene Bettle, trombone, Anna Zepht.

Dance Orchestra

Students of Linden High School who attended the dances sponsored by the various clubs this year were furnished with the delightful rhythms of the "Serenaders", the school's dance orchestra. All the jitterbugs felt at home when they began to swing it with "Stop Beatin' Round the Mulberry Bush" as the killer-diller. Of course, there were a number of the students who still preferred the sweet music, so in answer to their requests "Deep in a Dream," "Deep Purple," and "Two Sleepy People" were played. In addition to playing requests, many novelty numbers were arranged for the dances.

There were several additions to the orchestra this year as many members graduated last year. Philip Gardos, who plays the Xylophone, and Carolyne Gaydos, who plays the Hawaiian guitar thrilled the dancers with their unique and novel solos. A trio, composed of Jean True, Geraldine Van Jaeckel, and Frances Twibill, was arranged this year as an extra entertainment feature. The trio will long be remembered by the dancers for their rendition of "Bambina", a favorite among the students. Polly Diamond and Geraldine Van Jaeckel vocalized regularly and had the students humming the songs for days after. Under the baton of Coach "Les" Goodwin the dance orchestra is the pride and joy of Linden High.

Commercial Club

All students taking a commercial course and having the necessary high academic ratings in English, typewriting, and stenography are cordially invited to join the Commercial Club. It aims to help prepare students for the business world. The programs of the Club are varied and strive to be entertaining as well as educational. Professor Quiz contests, spelling bees and short skits of various nature were given. The members got many helpful suggestions from the sponsors as well as from their fellow members. The members having acting ability took part in their annual programs. Prizes were given by the Club for the people winning the various contests. A very successful dance was given in combination with the Latin Club.

New members are greeted and made to feel at home at the initiation party given each year. Various kinds of entertainment are given at this party and everyone from new members to old takes part in it.

La Societe Francaise

The purpose of the French Club is to promote high scholarship, create an atmosphere of good fellowship among its members, improve their spoken French, and give its members an understanding of French culture. In the fall, the club spent an enjoyable afternoon having a corn roast. At Christmas time, it combined with the German and Latin Clubs in singing carols. At other meetings, Miss Noddin showed some moving pictures she had taken in Norway, Sweden, Russia, and France, while on her vacation during the past summer.

"What's My Name?", "Professor Quiz", and other contests have taken place during several meetings. The members and winners have been rewarded by candy and prizes. This year, the club combined with the German Club to sponsor a dance. It also held a picnic. While in France this summer, Miss Noddin brought back her fleur de lis insignia for the members. The fleur de lis is an original French emblem.

Literature Club

The purpose of the Literature Club is to teach its members appreciation of literature. It also encourages them to write their own literary creations. They hold combined meetings with the Library Squad every other month. This year they have had several interesting speakers. Mrs. Muriel Lee Smith, a journalist, spoke about her experiences as a newspaper worker. Mr. William White, owner of a Seeing Eye dog, showed how inspiring non-fiction books are to blind people. Miss Viola Maihl, head of the Linden Public Library, brought several recent non-fiction books with her and discussed each one.

Instead of having an initiation party in the autumn this year, the Club had an enjoyable hot dog roast. For its annual trip, they decided to go to New York to see "The American Way," starring Frederick March and Florence Eldridge. They also decided to hold an essay and poetry contest. The assembly program presented was a play entitled "Sunset by Slantsky." The play expressed the views of a certain family concerning different art creations. This play was very different from the plays usually presented for our assemblies.

Geometry Club

The Mathematics Club was started last year, at which time a constitution with a preamble was drawn up and signed by the charter members. In order to join the club no special averages need be achieved, but the members must have taken at least one year of mathematics. This Club was started by the Sophomore boys last year, and no members of a class higher than themselves are eligible to join. The Club is for both boys and girls. All the members participate in the meetings. The Club is very helpful and the members bring in their problems for discussion.

Spelling bees and various types of games are played at the meetings. The members go out and survey to apply the work they have learned. The hypsometer, clinometer, and various other instruments are studied. Articles from magazines and newspapers are brought to the meetings by various members. Some of the members are planning to go to engineering school, and all of the members try to help them by finding the various schools that are best suited for their type of work.

"SEVEN SISTERS"

The class of '39 presented as its annual senior play this year a farce comedy, "Seven Sisters," by Edith Ellis. It was presented at a matinee performance on February 2 and at two evening performances February 3 and 4. Coached by Miss Gilkeson, the play was a great success.

The scene of the play was Hungary, and the result was very colorful because of the bright costumes of the girls, the red uniforms of the Hungarian soldiers, and the masquerade costumes.

The plot is very gay and humorous, concerning Mrs. Gyurkovics, a widow (Mary Harvan) with seven daughters, four of marriageable age, whom she wishes to marry off. So far, she has had little luck with them, and her present worry is Katinka, the eldest (Jean True), as the girls must marry according to age. Upon this scene enters Mitzi (Lorraine Du Tot), the fourth oldest, a mischievous girl who has always caused her mother trouble. This time she has been expelled from a convent because of attending a ball without permission and being aided by an unknown young man. Mrs. Gyurkovics is so angry at Mitzi's arrival that she orders Mitzi to dress as a child again. Ferenz Horkoy (Walter Hoerner), the gay adventurer who helped Mitzi, accidentally meets her again and hearing of her predicament offers to marry off her three oldest sisters in a year and thus leave her free. As a reward, he demands three kisses, which Mitzi promises to give him upon fulfilling his agreement. He begins with Katinka and tricks bluff Colonel Radviany (Fred Fonda) into marrying her. In the next act Horkoy gets Sari, the next oldest sister (Angelica Zanetti), married to Michael Sandorffy (Thomas Doe), a Hungarian officer noted for his flirtations. In the final act Ella (Kathryn Murphy), the last obstacle, is married off to Gida Radviany (Morris Schaefer), the Colonel's nephew, and Mitzi is free to do as she pleases. But suddenly her family steps in, and she is ordered to marry Horkoy, as by this time they have fallen in love, they are happy to do so. The curtain comes down on the joyous scene of seven happy sisters, the three youngest ones, Terka (Cecelia Muldoon), Liza (Irene Kolich), and Klara (Polly Diamond), having happily romped through the play in pinafores and hair ribbons. The family servant, Janko (Robert Midgley), and Toni Teleki (Albert Regenbrecht), Mrs. Gyurkovics's godson, played their humorous roles in the play also.

An important part of the work done on the senior play was that of the committees who made possible the setting, costumes, and generally smooth running performance. The many colorful native costumes and some of the masquerade costumes were made by the Costume Committee with the aid of Miss McBride and Mr. Weiss, faculty advisers. Alice Farrell was chairman of that committee, composed of Jeannie Baltz, Roy Diduk, Leonard Farber, Elsie Febick, Martha Geletey, Teresa Payne, Mary Savitsky, Dorothy Snybert, Helen Zaitz, and Anna Zepht. The Property Committee, which was responsible for every large and small article used on the stage, was advised by Miss Rose and Mr. Moldaschl. Constance Simmons was chairman of her committee, including James Chester, Joan Hedley, Bertha Hollosy, Joseph Lauro, and Stanley Ludvinaitis. The Stage Committee, which made the scenery and arranged the lighting, was advised by Mr. Yeisley. That committee was composed of John Lambert, Charles Lutz, Adolph Lyfko, Frison MacDuffie, Joseph Reichardt, William Surgens, Alexander Uminski, and Thomas Veals. The Ticket Committee, which had the task of reserving seats and distributing tickets, was advised by Mr. Barrett. Josephine Orlando was chairman of the committee, including David Campeau, Christine De Hanes, Eleanor Gilmore, Mildred King, Edna Lenser, Florence Skliar, and John Venditto. The ushers for both nights, who dressed in light evening gowns were Eva Shevitz, chairman, Dorothy Andrews, Lorraine Birk, Ida Burmeister, Florence Eska, Helen Finn, Joan Gross, Teresa Hatzelhoffer, Theodora Mullman, Shirle Hirschman, Marjorie Mann, Sara Newmark, Margaret Savanarola, Florence O'Brien, Marjorie Thompson, Sara Tunkel, Claire Weid, Anna Zatorski, Edmunda Lenser, and Helen Ziemba. The Play-Reading Committee was advised by Miss Ranney and consisted of Robert Dickerson, chairman, Polly Diamond, Thomas Doe, Jean True, and Anna Zepht.

Fish and Game Club

One of the newest and most interesting clubs to join the ranks in our school is the Fish and Game Club. The members include both skillful and experienced sportsmen and amateurs who have as their interest and ambition the learning of the fundamentals of fishing and hunting. The aim and work of the club is to teach and improve the members' tactics necessary for success in these sports. Some of the tactics which are taught are casting, fly tying, etc. Even though it is only its first year in existence, this club has been very active. The number of actual working members is approximately thirty.

The members attended the Sportman's Show, which was held in New York City, on February 22. Those who went were enthusiastic about it and said that they enjoyed themselves very much. In the past, fishing and hunting were considered exclusively men's sports, but now that the situation has changed, the few girls in this club express the fact that masculine supremacy in these sports also is being challenged.

Dramatic Club

A club which figures very prominently in the affairs of Linden High is the Dramatic Club. It has quite a large membership and the activities provide not only for those who enjoy acting, but also for those interested in other fields connected with the stage. The make-up group especially is very helpful at other dramatic functions of the school, such as the senior play and the biennial musical comedy. The stage crew also gets much practical experience. This group includes carpenters, electricians, and handy men. With the natural talent which the Club can boast of, there are many members who have become fine actors through the experience and the direction which they receive under Miss Gilkeson. The success of the performances also depends a great deal on two important committees, the costume and property committees. Realism and accuracy mark their work, and they never know where their search for material will take them. The stage manager and assistant director get a great deal of experience in responsibility and organization.

In the fall the Club put on their annual production for raising funds. This year it was an amusing comedy, "Sightseeing De Luxe." The annual assembly program was an entirely different type of play. It was a heavy drama with only short scenes of comedy. An unprecedented cast of fifty-four helped make "The White Bridge" quite realistic. Truly democratic, this Club is led by a standing committee and there are no dues. It is supported by the work and cooperation of its members. If they cannot make ends meet, the members each willingly donate a few cents.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club is one of the oldest and largest organizations in the school. The club is famous for its Christmas program and the May Festival. This year's Christmas program was enjoyed very much. The girls wore black dresses with white collars. They sang the processional as they slowly walked down the aisle. The candles they carried were extinguished when they reached the stage. At the May festival this year the Glee Club went Japanese. The stage was very picturesque with a real Japanese setting, including a bridge. The girls dressed in colorful Japanese costumes and sang many quaint Japanese songs. A trio sang "The Mikado" from the opera by Gilbert and Sullivan. "Madame Butterfly", another beautiful operatic song, was sung also.

Aside from these two well-known activities, every year the Glee Club sends a representative to the All-State Chorus at Atlantic City. This year, Bertha Emde was the girl representative from Linden High. Along with the Girls' Glee Club should be mentioned the Mixed Chorus. The members are selected from both the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs. The Chorus has sung for many assembly programs and Parent Teachers' meetings.

Barn Dance

Every year the Junior and Senior classes combine to give their annual Barn Dance, and this is a date we all look forward to. On November 19th, there was a strange but happy crowd waiting for the doors to open. Their outfits would have put any farmer to shame. Overalls, straw hats, gingham dresses, and sun bonnets were proudly sported by Linden's farmers and farmerettes. The decorating committee worked all day to transform the big gym into a barn-like interior. There were hay stacks in the corners. There was hay sticking out from the lateral bars, for a barn-like atmosphere. They worked diligently and would tell each other, "It looks just like a barn." When they were asked if they had ever been in a barn, of course the answer was, "No." But, really, with the cornstalks and pumpkins, it did look like the barns that we read about. With "By cracky," and "Hi, there, Zeke, where's Hepsibah?", we all got into the spirit of being farmers for a night. The Ambassadors played for us, surrounded by hay. There were square dances and reels as well as the latest hits of the day. The time passed all too soon for the happy Juniors, and the Seniors sadly realized that this was their last school Barn Dance.

Civic Forum

The Civic Forum observed its fifth year of existence by an expanded program at home and in the interscholastic field. Morris Schaefer was elected president of the New Jersey Interscholastic Forum Association and Mary Harvan was appointed secretary of the Association. The Civic Forum sent speakers to the various Interscholastic Forums that were held, and on March 24 it presented an Interscholastic Forum at Linden High School. The topic was "Dealing with the Dictators", and there were speakers from Westfield, Millburn, North Plainfield, Highland Park, and Summit High School, Morris Schaefer was the Discussion Leader. Over four hundred students and adults attended.

In its regular meetings the Club continued its practice of discussing current topics with all the members participating, and it sponsored, in addition, several mid-monthly forums open to the general student body. At one of the meetings a contest was held with two memberships in the Foreign Policy Association of New York as prizes, Stuart Hunter and Irving Vogel won, and they with many other students attended several meetings of this organization at the Hotel Astor in New York City.

One of the big events of the year was the April 19th meeting of the Club, at which time Mr. David H. Popper of the Foreign Policy Association spoke. The meeting was held in the auditorium and a large number of students attended. On the social side, the Civic Forum held a Fifth Anniversary and Initiation Party, gave a dance in conjunction with the Debating Club, and went on a trip to see "The American Way" on April 22.

Library Squad

Our spacious library would delight anyone who is seeking knowledge or pleasure. The tables are surrounded by students busying themselves with reading magazines, newspapers, or the multitude of books we own. In the rear of the room the encyclopedias and other reference books are kept. They are consulted frequently by a large part of the student body. Students enjoy going to the library during study periods, where they often become so absorbed that they stay too long and have to rush back to class. Students hustle to return books to their shelves, push in their chairs, and then bolt out the door to their waiting classes. The library is quiet for about six minutes, while Miss Waterman and the library squad are preparing the shelves for the next class. Then a fresh group of students comes in.

Out of 11,000 books, almost every one has some educational value. There are approximately 100 magazines and several daily and weekly newspapers that are in demand. Miss Waterman has the volumes so arranged that a student can see immediately whether the book he wants is there or not. Some of the books are contributed, some are gifts, and the others are furnished by the Board of Education.

German Club

To become a member of the German club, you must get an A or B during the first marking period. The object of the Club is to supplement the class work by a better understanding of German literature and countries. The German Club has had very interesting gatherings this year. At the December meeting they combined with the French Club, as has been the custom for several years, to sing Christmas carols. Members of the Clubs accompanied the group at the piano.

At the March and April meetings, members gave very interesting reports on Germany's history and the background of its people. In April the German Club again combined with the French Club to give their annual dance. As usual, the dance was well attended. Plans were made to see an opera at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, preferably one in German.

Latin Club

For every student taking Latin as a regular study, membership in the Latin Club is extremely desirable. In class, it is necessary to spend much time on formal grammar, so that the more enjoyable and interesting aspects of the Latin language and of the Roman civilization are lost. By supplementing the class work the Club makes up for this loss.

However, the Club does not confine itself strictly to academic work. Far from it! In December, it combined with the French Club for the annual Christmas dance, an amusing and entertaining feature of which was the "Movie Stars" dance. In February, the Club held a combination Initiation and St. Valentine's Day party. At one of the meetings, some of the musically-talented members presented a musical program. Following the tradition of many years, the Club plans to invite an outside speaker, who will probably be Mr. Paul Anderson, author of "For Freedom and For Gaul" and "Slave of Catiline." As a fitting conclusion to an active year, the Club will go to New York to see a Broadway stage production.

However, just as valuable to the members as the program is the opportunity for those students taking the same course to meet and discuss their mutual interests. There are some educators who steadfastly affirm that Latin is a dead language. However, as far as the members of the Latin Club are concerned, those people are "dead" wrong.

Home Economics Club

To qualify for membership in this club one must receive a passing grade in art, cooking or sewing. The club is composed entirely of girls and all the meetings are interesting and helpful. At the meetings the girls give talks, they are varied because the girls choose whatever subject they wish to talk about. New hair styles and clothes are introduced and discussed. Demonstrations are given by various members of the club.

In April, the Home Economics club with the Civic Forum club took a trip to New York. They saw "The American Way." One of the main events of the year is a fashion show given by various members of the club. The girls model all different kinds of wearing apparel and do a good job of it. All the girls in school are invited to attend. A very successful dance was given by this club together with the Aviation Club.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club is the newest club in the school. It was started in the middle of this school year to promote and further an interest in Chemistry. Only those students with a "B" average, or over, in science may join. The meetings are held twice a month. They consist of experiments and lectures. Various members speak on such topics as organic chemistry, quantitative and qualitative analysis. Each month they take the experiments that are written up in the Popular Science Magazine and work them out for themselves.

The Club subscribed to the Science News Letters magazine, which is kept on display in the school library.

Orchestra

The orchestra has this year realized its goal of greater balance to a far greater degree than in former years, although few new instruments have been purchased. Besides having played for the regular assembly program every week, the orchestra has contributed a great deal under the leadership of Mr. Malpas in the May Festival and between the acts of the Senior Play.

A few of the orchestra members were sent to the All State Orchestra at Atlantic City. They were Ruth Kaplan and Harry Seaman, violins; Fred Fonda, trombone; Evelyn Russell, cello; and William Lorencie, violin. The orchestra is made up of forty-eight musically inclined students.

Boys' Glee Club

The Boys' Glee Club was established only a few years ago, but its membership has increased greatly every year. The Club participated with the Girls' Glee Club in the Christmas Program and the May Festival, and also entertained in May, during Music Week. Fred Fonda was the favorite soloist in these programs. Three representatives from the Boys' Glee Club were sent to the All-State Chorus at Atlantic City, Thomas Doe, Jack Hohmeier, and John Van Brunt.

This year a group of football players got together and decided to have a Glee Club of their own. On Monday afternoon and during Club period, these fellows got together and sang. During Music Week the members of our famous team showed their ability in one of the finer arts.

Radio Club

The purpose of the Radio Club, which has just been organized this year, is to teach its members the Morse Code and how to build short-wave radio sets. Adding distinction is the fact that two of the members have received licenses and may now own station letters, send messages and help in emergencies.

The members pay dues of fifty cents per year. Near the beginning of the school the Club visited the Television Exhibition in New York City. Together with the Photography Club they ran a successful St. Patrick's dance. As yet the Club is not very large, but all the members are experienced in this field or have a keen interest in learning more about it.

Chronicle

"Linden High makes history—the Chronicle records it." For the fifth successive year, the bi-weekly Chronicle has served Linden High students by recording what they do, what they hear, what they see, have seen and will see. Thus it has become an integral part of school life. The Chronicle is considered to be one of the finest school newspapers in the county. Its first page generally contains an interesting feature, a forecast of the next assembly program or play, an account of an important sports game, and various activities of students and faculty.

Next comes the editorial page, which is probably the most widely read page, for it contains not only editorials written to appeal to students but also the columns. To supplement the traditional "Four Years" column are "Student Hits in Song," "Query," "Student Celebrities," and "Chits and Chats." For sport fans, there is the entire third page. Each game played by the varsity teams is accurately written up. Previews of the seasonal sports are given, as well as reviews at the end. "Girls' Sports" is another feature of the sport page, and since the column is written from a masculine point of view, it is replete with such terms as "lassies," "fairer sex," and "powder-puff championship." Turning to the last page, the reader sees "Club Clippings," and "Off the Aisle," the reports of assembly programs. Thus the Chronicle really "covers" Linden High School.

Debating Club

The Debating Club this year had one of the most interesting and eventful programs of events that it has ever had. The interclass debating season ended with the Sophomore team, composed of Florence Tunkel, Anita Posnock, Ludwig Duroska and Irving Vogel, in the lead, with the Seniors and Juniors tied in second place and the Freshmen trailing. As another feature, the Club sponsored a debate tournament among the Freshman members, which was won by Ruth Kimmelman and Seymour Litwin.

Morris Schaefer, Florence Tunkel, Stuart Hunter, Burton Cohen, Mollie Sherling, Leatrice Knohl, and Ludwig Duroska formed the squad which participated in the interscholastic debates. After winning the first debate with Somerville, Linden lost the return debate with that school, and completed its decision debates by twice defeating South River. In addition, non-decision debates were held with North Plainfield, Union City, Kearny, Trenton, and Hillside. In the state tournament, Morris Schaefer and Florence Tunkel represented Linden, and won first place in this section with nineteen out of a possible twenty points. In the finals at Princeton, they emerged third in the State, and Morris Schaefer achieved a position on the All-State Debating Team, which is composed of four men.

In other interscholastic events sponsored by the New Jersey Forensic League, Linden did well. Morris Schaefer won the state championship in original oratory, returning the cup he won two years ago to Linden, in the extemporaneous speaking contest, he missed the championship by a single point, being awarded second place as a result. The final event of this work was the banquet held by the League in New Brunswick on May 5, at that time the winners of the various contests were feted, Morris Schaefer presented the oration, "America's Tragedy", which won him the championship. He also presented a speech over Radio Station W H O M on Saturday, March 18.

The regular meetings of the Club included student-faculty debates, extemporaneous speaking contests and other forms of entertainment.

The Shape of Things to Come

1. This physics class is proving that a pound weighs 1 lb.
2. These boys made many useful articles in our wood shop.
3. Here we see a group learning the principles of mechanical drawing.
4. Ah—chemistry, with its odors and explosions and broken test tubes!
5. "Could you tell me where I belong?" Our secretaries answered that for the first few weeks.
6. "I never did learn to look through a microscope without shutting one eye."
7. The bell rings and the classes move quietly through the halls.
8. They learned to sew a fine seam in sewing.
9. A group of boys in the metal shop learn to solder.

The Stamp Club is an organization of about twenty-five students who have joined together to promote interest in the collection and care of stamps, membership is open to all who are interested in philately, or who have a stamp collection. This year, as for several years, the Club elected a junior for president, they feel that a senior does not have the time for this and his other activities. The Club meeting is divided into two parts. In the first half various topics are discussed, and the members trade stamps in the latter section.

The Club was fortunate this year in having Miss Noddin talk about French stamps. Coins and coin collecting were the topics at one meeting, this was to show their similarity to stamp collecting. At other meetings Mr. Piper exhibited some of his United States stamps, in which he specializes. In January the Club gave a successful dance with the Rifle Club.

The Aviation Club

Each year the Aviation Club is one of the largest clubs in the school. The meetings are largely attended by air-minded enthusiasts who discuss aviation in its various phases. Mr. Walker and the different members give opinions and their experiences, which all add to the thorough enjoyment of topics about aviation interests. New students as well as older members look forward eagerly to the annual trip taken by the club. This is not an ordinary trip, for each year new members are initiated into the thrill and exhilaration of their first flight.

The club visited the Newark airport for a bit of sight-seeing and to examine more closely the large aggregation of planes there. The Aviation and Home Economics Clubs' Dance given for St. Valentine's Day was a huge success. To all appearances the Aviation Club should continue to be one of the very successful clubs in the school.

Freshmen Enrollment

This year the freshman enrollment is four hundred seventy-six pupils. When the present sophomores enrolled as freshmen, they numbered four hundred eighty-one. In June of the next year they numbered four hundred thirty-nine. The present junior class, when enrolled as freshmen, consisted of four hundred forty-eight pupils, but had three hundred ninety-one pupils in June of the next year. The present seniors, when enrolled as freshmen, numbered five hundred twenty-two. In June of the next year, they numbered four hundred sixty.

MR. RAMAGE

The Rifle Club is a cheerful group of students interested in rifles and other fire-arms. They assemble once a month for their activities and to discuss further plans for the welfare of the group. There are no dues or initiation fees, but whenever there is some outside entertainment, of course the students have to pay a small sum. The twenty people that belong to the Club have many good times while discussing and using the rifle. Of course there is no shooting in the school building; a very fine accomplishment of the club is that only the students that know all the parts and the mechanisms of a gun are permitted to operate one. This means not only safety for the person at the other end of the gun, but also safety for the person who is shooting. The Club held their annual dance this year, and planned a trip this spring.

Photography Club

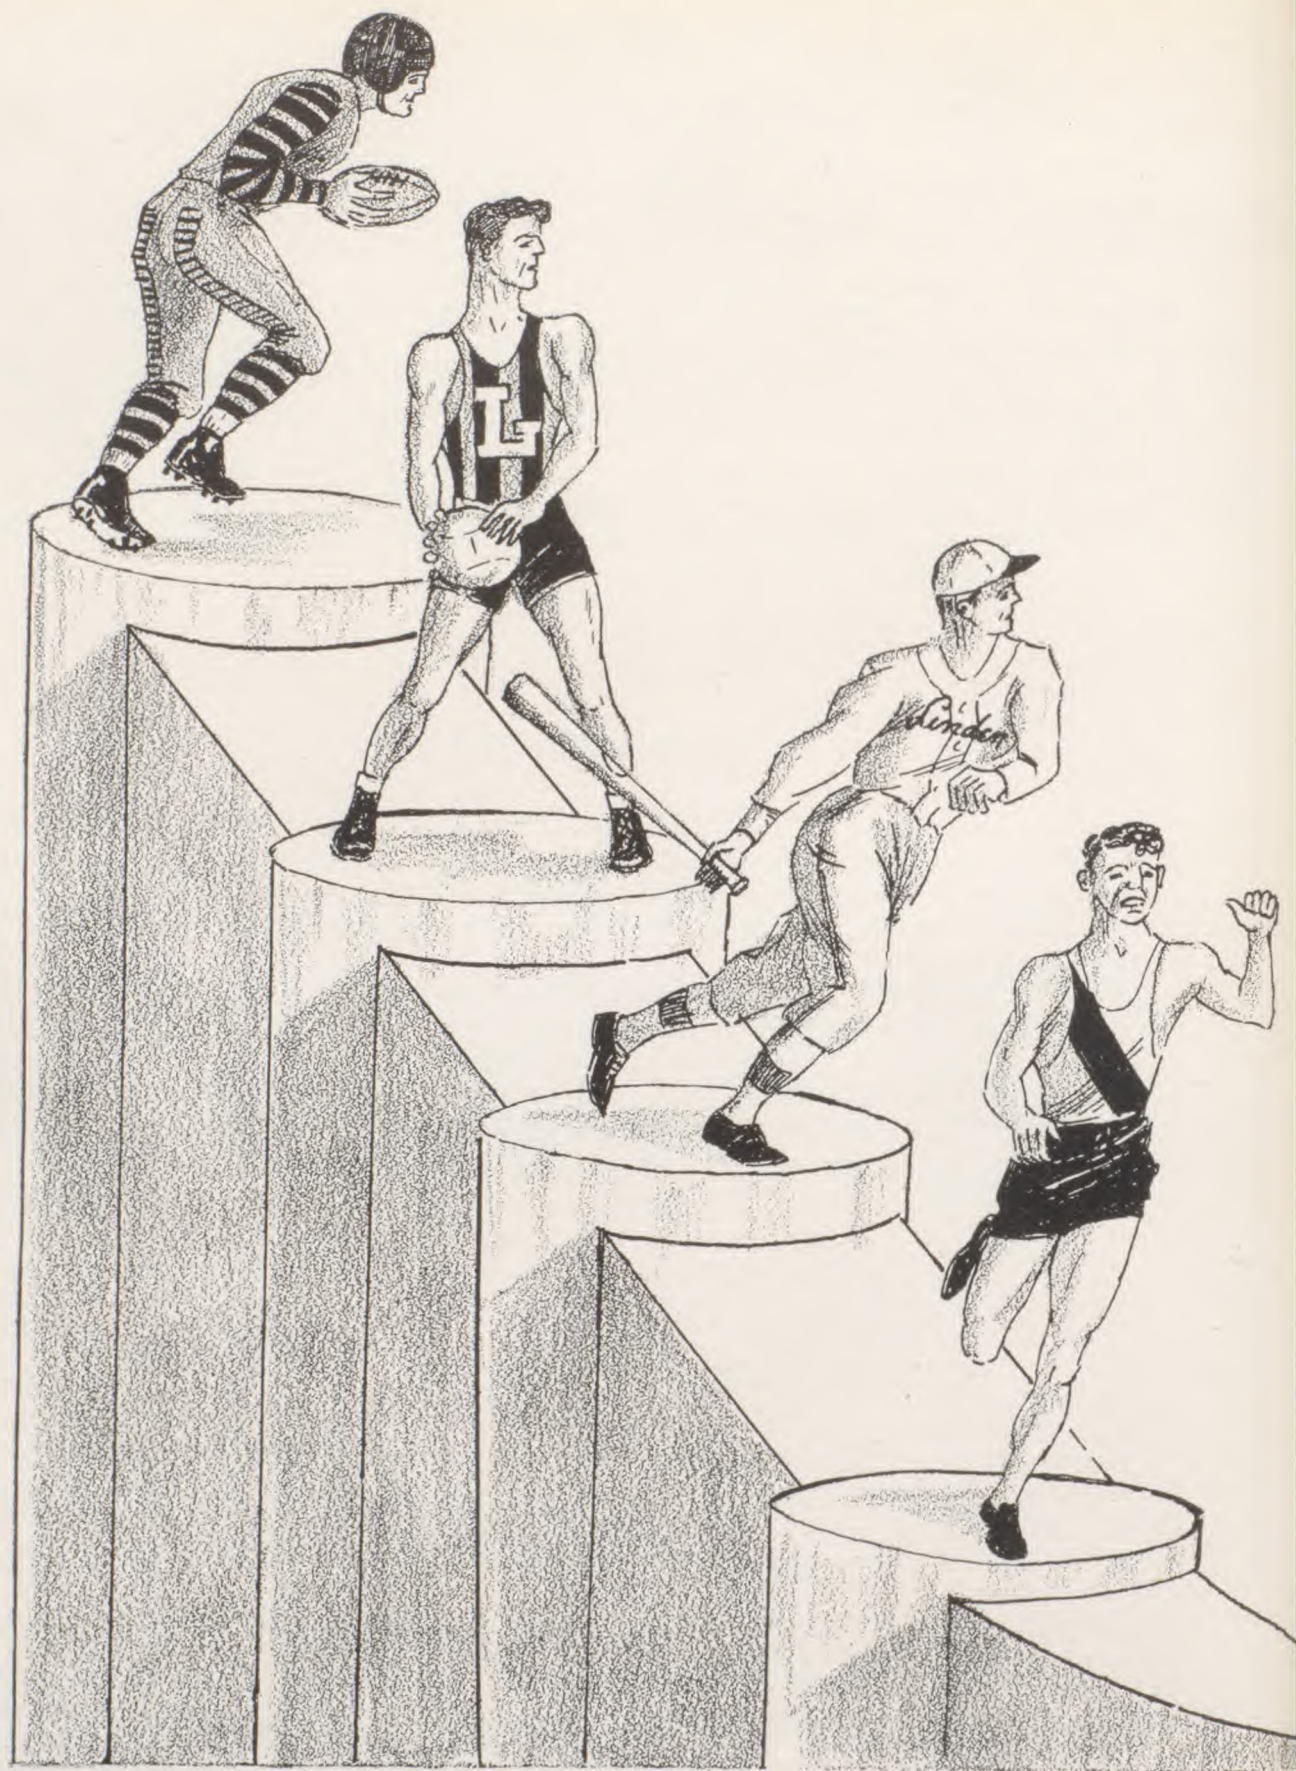

A comparatively new club, having been started only last year, the Photography Club has made great strides this year and has increased in size until the number of members has had to be limited because of the lack of facilities. The object of the Club is to further an interest in photography. Under the direction of Mr. Walker, the members are taught the fundamentals of taking, developing and printing pictures.

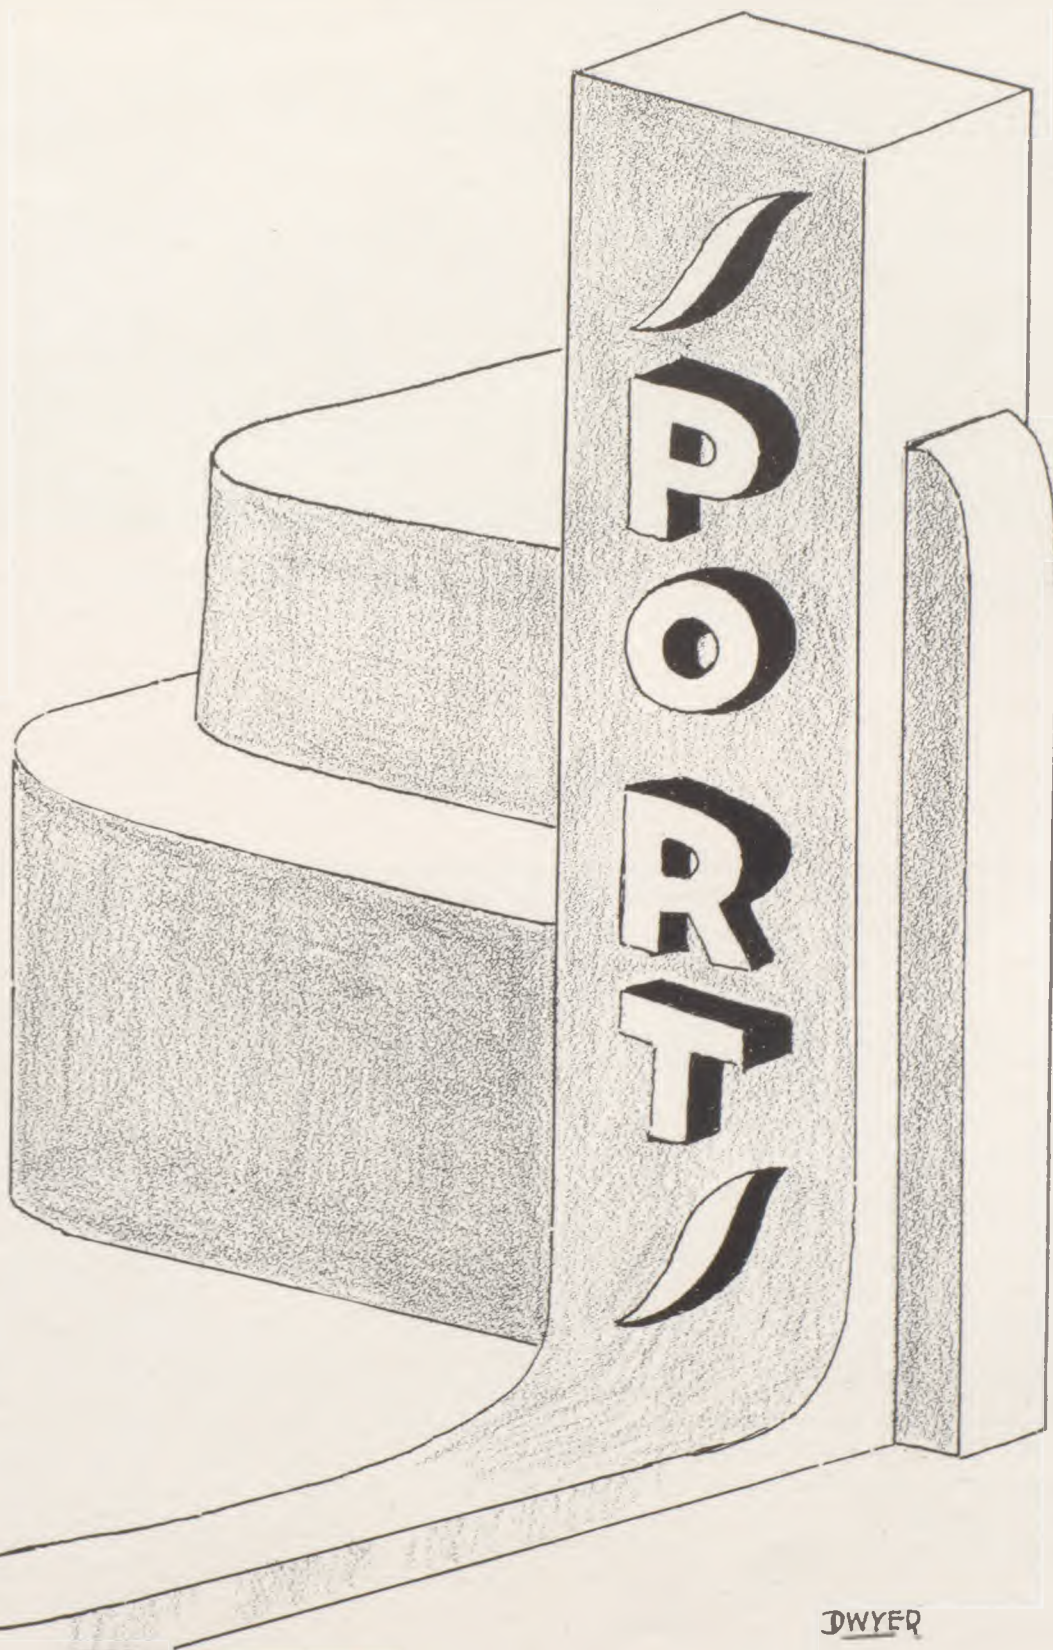

A treat for the members was the spring trip to the mountains, where the day was spent hiking and picture taking. The climax of the year was a picture contest held by the Club. Only members could enter and they had to take, develop, print, and finish the pictures themselves. All entries were exhibited in the school library for a week. They were arranged in three groups: people, scenery, and still-life. The photos were judged for their clearness, originality, artistic value and finish. In the early spring, the Photography Club combined with the Radio Club to give a successful St. Patrick's Day dance.

Freshmen Assemblies

Freshmen have taken part in a number of assembly programs. On September 15, Charles Plungis and Annette Perzley participated in the skit given by the upper-classmen to welcome the freshmen. They were brought in by a reporter, to have all sorts of questions fired at them in order to bring to light the facts most puzzling to newly arrived pupils. After having been given the necessary information, they were dismissed by the editor of the school newspaper.

This year an assembly program honoring both George Washington and Abraham Lincoln was given by freshmen. Philip Gardos, a member of the dance orchestra, played on the xylophone; V. Blancke, A. Brady, S. Mayne, M. Kanter, H. Malinowski, and R. Cohan, dressed appropriately, danced a minuet, giving us an idea of the type and pace of dancing in Washington's time. A skit was then given by W. Krivit, B. Tomlinson, J. Smith, C. Plungis, A. Perzley, M. Chernotsky, presenting the pros and cons concerning whether Lincoln or Washington had done the most for his country.

1938 Baseball

Linden began its 1938 baseball season with many familiar faces and many new ones, and finished, winning nine games and losing five. Losing their opening game to West Side of Newark, 4-6, Linden won the next two: one from Plainfield, 15-2, and the other from Thomas Jefferson, 13-9. After bowing to Cranford, 2-6, Linden beat Plainfield a second time, 6-4. Then the nine went into a slump and lost a close game to Roselle, 7-8, and another to Carteret, 5-8. After blanking out Westfield by a lopsided score of 13-0, Linden was turned back a second time by Cranford, by the same score, 2-6. Ending the season in a blaze of glory, Linden won five games in a row. They beat Roselle Park twice, 16-3 and 13-4. Revenging themselves for a defeat suffered earlier at the hands of Roselle, Linden beat them, 6-1. The team won from North Plainfield by 8-7, but needed an extra inning to emerge victorious over Carteret, 8-7.

In hitting power Linden was good, since most of the players had batting near .300 or over it. "Johnny" Latawiec led the team in the number of hits, and his batting average of .388 was highest. Oscar Givens gave him a fight for top honors, but lacked one hit to tie Johnny. "Doc" Dougherty was next with an average of .354, and was instrumental in beating Thomas Jefferson, North Plainfield and Roselle Park by getting two or three hits in each game. "Butch" Woytowicz came next with .326. Many of his hits were long doubles or triples that came in handy when Linden needed some runs. "Butch" and Oscar Givens were the longest and hardest hitters of the team. "Ed" Kasmin hit .315 and "Art" Osmun, who was switched from third base to shortstop, hit .296. "Jake" Welling scored .250 and "Al" Martis reached .245. Among the other members of the team, "Mike" Gurgo showed most promise with 7 hits from 18 trips to the plate. Bill Davis, the pitcher who allowed Westfield two hits in a 13-0 shut out, had .321. Jack Mulhall, who pitched a "two-hitter" against Plainfield, scored .352.

Jayvee Football

The "Bonecrushers," as the Junior Varsity is called, didn't lose a game all season, playing seven hard games, winning five, and tying two. With a hard-hitting, fast-charging, blocking line and a rapid shifty backfield they made many a long run and quite a few touchdowns. When the first team was tired, there were enough reserves to take their place and still keep up the same good playing as the regular squad. The first or starting team was composed of Sherman and Barai, guards, Lyons and White, tackles, "Whizzer" White, who didn't finish the season because of a broken wrist, Tobin and Saban, ends, Hutchinson as center, as backs Rolband, Nerges, MacDuffie and Jeffries. For reserve guards there were Anderson, Casino, Fusick, and Angelbeck, tackles, Polito, Reinstein, Walsh and Cottrel, ends, Alsop, Kastner, Uminski and Morrison, Bertrum, substitute center, backs, Bolton, Chapman, Olearczyk, Gomolka, Serretti, and Kravitz.

In one of the five games, Carl MacDuffie, younger brother of Frison, Varsity Man, a fast-running, shifty back, ran 80 yards to make a touchdown in the first play of the game with Union, whom they beat 13-9. In the Plainfield game, Irving Rolband made a long run through line to chalk up six points of the final score, 18-6. Rahway and Westfield were also beaten by scores of 18-6, the passing, kicking, and signal calling of Jeffries, the runs through the line by Chapman and all-round playing of the team being deciding factors in winning these games. In the Roselle Park game, which Linden tied, they assumed an early lead, but Roselle Park gradually worked down the field for a touchdown to tie the game 6-6. In the last quarter Roselle Park threatened again, but the Jayvees held them until the whistle blew. In the Cranford game neither team could get within scoring distance, and if one team was in a tight spot they would kick to safety. In the last few minutes of the game Jeffries caught a long pass from Rolband on the 40 yard marker, but was downed after running 15 yards. Cranford buckled down and held Linden to a scoreless tie, the whistle blew, and the season was over!

Cheerleaders

Many a game has been won from the sidelines, and Linden High's cheerleaders have done their share in the winning. They are only a small group, but they represent one of the finest manifestations of school spirit and enthusiasm that can be found. They are constantly adding to and improving the school cheers, and work all year round to perfect their style.

There were six girls and six boys on the squad this year, and they followed the custom of practicing during Club Period on Wednesday and on Friday afternoons. In their Orange and Black uniforms and with their energetic leadership, they have steadily improved the cheering from the Linden stands. And of course the "Fight for Cooper" cheer at the Hillside football game will go down in Linden High history!

Whether the players are of championship supported their football teams. This year was n delightedly seeing Linden romp off with the U the Group III leaders of North Jersey. Basketball

Union County Champions is the title the Linden High School Basketball team earned by winning 22 games out of 24, and because of their all-around playing ability. They started the season by handing out two defeats, one to Union by a topheavy score and the other to North Plainfield, then came the time when they lost their only scheduled game, to Cranford. In a thrill-packed game with the Alumni they just barely got an extra point to win the game. Playing North Plainfield a second time, they decisively trounced them again, then going on to defeat Rahway by a single point margin. Plainfield came next and was added to their list of victories. Roselle, Union, and Rahway were beaten after Hillside went down under Linden's attack. Then came their return game with Cranford. At this game they sought revenge for being defeated once before by Cranford and won by a comfortable margin. Next on their schedule was a highly rated Jefferson team, who was added to our list of victories. Carteret, a group II school, was undefeated this season until they succumbed under Linden's third quarter spurt that put the game "on ice", Roselle Park and Westfield were beaten, and Roselle and Roselle Park were defeated a second time in return matches. At a benefit game Carteret, who had lost only their earlier game with Linden, was defeated again.

In the Union County Tournament Linden drew Roselle Park for the first game and defeated them. Hillside withered under Linden's fiery attack and in the Semi-Finals they beat Rahway a third time and advanced to play Plainfield in the Finals. Having defeated Plainfield once before, they had the odds with them, and Danyo, Plainfield's highest scorer, was held to four points while Linden "went to town" to come out victors and Union County Champions. In the State Tournament they drew a bye in the first round and Rahway came out victors over Rutherford, after being the underdog for three games, Rahway came up and gave Linden their second defeat all season, and after a string of 20 consecutive victories.

Interclass Basketball 1939

During the Interclass Basketball season, the Senior "A" team downed all but two of their opponents to win seven games and lose two, of which one was won by the Juniors and the other by the lowly Freshmen, who turned the tables on the Seniors in their first game. The Juniors came in second, winning six games and losing three: two to the Seniors and one to the Freshmen, who seemed to upset the favorites. With the help of victories over the Sophomores the Freshmen came in third and the Sophomores a bad fourth. The Freshmen won four games and lost five, while the Sophomores didn't win a single game, but lost nine.

In the "B" league the Juniors came out on top, losing only one game and that to the Seniors. The Junior average was .888, which was higher than the Senior average of .777 in the "A" league, this was also the average of the Senior "B's," who came in second by winning seven and losing two to the Junior titlists. The Senior "B's" average of .777 in both teams was good enough to capture the "A" title, but the loss of two games to the Juniors was the margin that kept the Seniors from winning both championships. The Freshmen again came in ahead of the Sophomores in the "B" division by the margin of one game, beating the Sophomores twice and losing three to the Seniors, three to the Juniors and one to the Sophomores.

Girls' Sports

The 1938-1939 season brought out a large group of enthusiastic sportswomen, each with the vision of winning an "L." The girls earning three hundred points by participating in sports are presented with an "L" for their efforts, while those earning two hundred points receive numerals.

This year the Juniors were the most energetic and diligent. After all the excitement, cheers and hard work had died away, the Juniors emerged the victors of the volley ball tournament. The foul shooting contest, second on the sports schedule, again featured lively competition. The contest came to a peaceful end when Elinor Derrig won, averaging 47 foul shots out of an allotted seventy five. Anne Eichorn came in second and Catherine Scizak was third. The competitive spirit became tense as the basketball season rolled around. The Juniors' determination to take the basketball title bore fruit when they scored a forty-six to thirty-two victory over the Seniors in the last game of the season.

Badminton, although a new sport, has become popular with the girls. This new form of tennis is taught during class, and the speed of it has been so appealing that many of the girls have taken it up in earnest. In April a paddle and deck tennis tournament that brought out droves of applicants was conducted. Training for seventy-yard dash, relay, high jump, broad jump and basketball throw commenced in gym classes, and they were featured at the annual track meet in May. This track meet ends the sport season for the girls. Gift Day in June is a memorable occasion, for it is then that all who participated in these activities and earned their points are presented with hard-earned letters.

Track — 1938

In the Union County Track meet Linden gathered in nine points, including a first, second and third, and although they finished fifth they gave a good showing considering the small number of entrants from our school. In the finals "Shi" Beshunsky placed first in the 12 pound shot put with a lengthy heave of 43 feet 3½ inches. Frank Barnacki placed third in the mile run, and Seymour Lieberman placed third in the running high jump. John Latawiec finished fifth in the sprint finals, and Harold Belcher finished sixth in the half mile. In beating Hillside, their first meet on the schedule, 50-49, Shi Beshunsky scored a grand slam by taking firsts in the shot put, discus and javelin.

Linden beat Cranford a week later and then Summit and Regional in a triangular track meet that finished with Linden leading in the scoring, 51-27-43. Beshunsky scored fifteen points to receive top honors. Lieberman took a first in the high jump, and Captain "Al" Martis and James Chapman captured most of the points in the sprints. Frank Barnacki won second in the mile and first in the half mile run. After winning three more meets in a row Linden was tripped by Roselle Park by a slender margin for a loss.

Rahway and Plainfield were both beaten in a triangular meet by Linden, who also beat Westfield and Roselle by a comfortable margin in another triangular meet. Chapman and Beshunsky took two firsts apiece for the highest honors, and "Lolly" Beriont surprised everybody by hurling the javelin 144 feet for a first in that event. Harold Belcher, with nothing to show for the beginning of the season, took a first in the half mile. Linden had a good year in track, and even though the number was small they made a good showing in all their meets, won all their triangular track meets, and only lost one meet to Roselle Park, by only three points.
