Shop Zone Is Dropped

With one dissenting vote, and one member absent, the Township Committee Monday evening voted to rescind the Retail Business District in the vicinity of South Orange avenue and Walnut street. The action was taken on the recommendation of the Planning Board.

The zone was created some years ago when Suburban Centers Trust of Boston had promoted a plan for a huge area shopping center to be located on the former Goodheart tract. This center had finally been given up, but the zone had remained on the map and in the ordinance.

At the start of this year, Mayor Clark had urged that the zone be abandoned. Discussions in the Planning Board, he said, had resulted in the feeling that the picture was now altered by the proposed County north-south highway. It is the feelings of the planners that any shopping area in the vicinity should be in the neighborhood of the intersection of South Orange avenue and this new road.

This proposal was opposed by Sommers Brothers who have recently acquired the property from Peter Blanchard. They state that they desire to build a high class shopping area there, in addition to a large development of houses valued betwen $30,000 and $40,000. If the ordinance is passed on final reading, the area will revert to AAA zone.

Committeeman Dowd objected to the passage of the ordinance at this time. He felt the Committee should wait until further studies had been made. In the final vote he was outvoted 3-1. Committeeman Mitschele was not present at the itme.

Set Up Town Detective Bureau

The organization of the Livingston Police Department will be expanded to include a Detective Bureau which will be responsible for the investigation of all crimes in the town. Formerly the investigations were performed as part of routine police work.

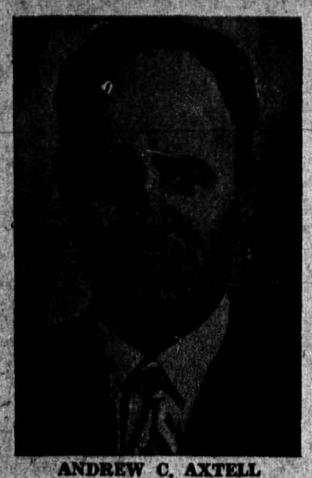

The creation of the new bureau was made possible Monday when the Township Committee passed on first reading, an ordinance creating the bureau which would have its own commanding officer. He will be responsible only to the police chief.

All members of the newly created bureau will be titled detective, rather than officer.

In addition to crime detection, members of the bureau will be responsible for the investigation of reports concerning missing persons, and the serving of summonses and warrants.

At present, all detection work is being handled by detective sergeant Adam Hess.

Nine Candidates In Two Slates Filing For Township Council

ANDREW C. AXTELL

FRANK J. BIONDI

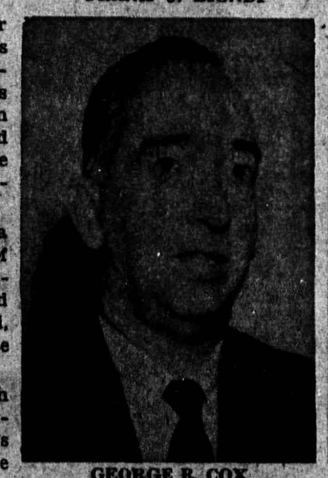

WILLIAM H. CLARK

VIVIEN HEINZEMANN

ARTHUR N. SKEELS

DAVID W. DOWD

HERBERT A. NIEDHAMMER

At least nine persons will vie for the five Republican nominations in the forthcoming primary elections for Township Council. This was made certain this week when a second slate was announced, and one man was added to the slate presented last week by Committeeman David W. Dowd.

Petitions were filed today by a five member slate made up of Mayor William H. Clark, Committeeman Andrew C. Axtell and Arthur N. Skeels, Frank J. Biondi, and Vivien B. Heinzemann. These candidates will run bracketed.

In the meantime, it has been announced that L. Henry DiGirolamo has been added to Dowd's slate, which also includes George R. Cox and Herbtrt A. Niedhammer.

A complete slate of five councilmen must be nominated this year because the new Council-Manager government will go into effect on January 1, 1957.

As of noon, Thursday, no announcement has been made by the Livingston Democrats as to whether they will have a ticket. It is anticipated that they will.

Deadline for filing peitions is at midnight this Thursday, March 8.

License Revoked

Magistrate Frank Kent revoked the license of Eugene P. Hagan of Short Hills for two years when the latter pleaded guilty Thursday to a charge of drunken driving. Hagan was also fined $200 and paid $25 costs.

John H. McGrath of Newark was fined $5 and charged $5 court costs after being found guilty of operating an automobile without the latest inspection sticker. Also found guilty were four overnight parkers. Each paid $2 for their offense.

Swain States Main Desire for Curfew Is To Make Parents Responsible for Teen Loitering

Commenting on the letter written last week by Judge Lindeman, Police Chief Richard G. Swain stated yesterday that he and his department were fully aware of their powers under existing law, and knew that they could curb teen-age loitering. Their desire for a curfew is based on getting a law which would make the parents responsible for children who stay out to undue hours.

Swain said: "Our whole purpose in this program is to enlist the parents in a movement to keep children off the streets after a decent hour. Certainly, we know that the teen-agers can be picked up for loitering, but our experience in the worst cases is that the parents won't back us up when we do it. What good does it do to take a boy or girl home if we then find that the parents just don't care that their son (or daughter) is out to all hours."

Swain added that the Livingston police are well aware of the services of the Juvenile Conference Committee, and have used them extensively. "As I said at the forum," he continued, "I don't know what we would do without them. However, this committee is also handicapped by the indifference of some of the parents. We have been charged by these parents of hounding their children, simply because we are trying to keep them out of trouble.

"Our idea with a curfew," he stated, "is to make the parents responsible to see to it that their children are in at a reasonable hour. For 90 per cent of the parents, this will be no hardship. They already have set rules, and enforce them. It is a case where we cannot get co-operation from handful of parents, and it is the children from this type of home that cause us the most trouble. The police department figures these parents may sit up and pay attention to what their children are doing, if the parents are the ones that have to come to court.

Swain repeated that the police have no desire to have wholesale pickups of juveniles. It is not necessary. Also, it is not their wish to keep a youth from walking home after seeing a movie, even stopping for a soda on the way. As long as a teen-ager is not hanging around, and can give an account of where he has been and where he is going, he will not be disturbed by the police.

A curfew worked out on these lines, he felt, would lighten the work of the police, the juvenile Conference Committee, and the Juvenile Court itself. After a few weeks of operation, he predicted, such a rule would mean that the police would have a far easier time of handling juvenile cases, and the load referred to court or conference committee would be cut greatly. Such a law in Indiana has cut down incidents by 30 per cent.

Swain pointed out that J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, just this week urged laws to make the parents of a delinquent legally responsible for the delinquent acts.

"The curfew," the chief concluded, "seems to us to be the best answer to force wayward parents to do their job and keep an adequate check on what their children are doing. The department assures everyone that it will be enforced with reason, and will not be a tool to keep our children from having a good wholesome time."

Dowd Complains When Committee Does Not Back Up Industrial Nominations

Committeeman David W. Dowd attacked his colleagues on the Township Committee and the Industrial Commission bitterly Monday evening, when he could not get a second to nominations for membership on the Commission. Dowd had attempted to nominate John Giampolo and Frank McKee for the posts.

Last week, a letter had been received from the Industrial Commission urging that Wallace Marsh of 8 Edgemere road be named. The post has been vacant since the start of the year when Clifford James refused reappointment.

Committeeman Mitschele stated after Dowd's nomination that he had nothing against Dowd's candidates, but that the tradition had been that such non-paid boards were permitted to select new members. Only once in recent years has this failed to happen, and it resulted in a great deal of bad feeling. The Industrial Commission, Mitschele said, had done a good job, and the Committee should back it up.

Dowd replied angrily that he had been asked to take over the supervision of this commission this year, and should have a say on the membership. All the other committeemen, he said, had made appointments and he felt frustrated that he could not. The matter had been argued in Committee conference, he disclosed, and the other Committeemen had just walked out on him. He also attacked the present Industrial Commission, stating tht he had not had a report from them in two months, and thought they were a dead body.

Committeeman Axtell stated that he had worked with the group for the past five years and had found them to be an excellent, hard working body. He added that it was unfair of Dowd to expect these non-paid men to come running to the Committee. It was up to the paid committeeman to go to them. Dowd replied that he had conferred three times with Joseph Abell, the Commission chairman, which he understood was the way that Axtell had worked. Axtell answered that on major points he always met with the whole group.

"Should I perpetuate political appointments of other people?", Dowd asked. He stated that he had no objection to political appointments, but he wanted the privilege of making some himself. Axtell denied that they were political appointments, outlining the way in which the Committee had always followed the requests of the Boards in question.

Mitschele suggested that Dowd bring in a compromise name and try to get the Industrial Commission to go along with that. Dowd angrily refused, stating that he had submitted the names he wanted. He said that after last week's letter, the Committee knew how he felt about the chairman of the Industrial Commission, and he felt the whole body should be replaced.

Red Cross Support Urged by Malachuk

With the opening of the 1956 Red Cross Drive this week, Alex F. Malachuk, local drive chairman, issued an appeal to all local people to support the campaign. A corps of volunteer workers have been canvassing the Township collecting pledges and contributions. The first report of the campaign is being made this evening, after the paper goes to press.

In urging this support, Malachuk quoted a statement in support of the Red Cross, made by President Eisenhower, as follows:

"Seventy-five years this organization has been serving America —in a way it has been sort of the conscience of America. America doing here and abroad what we, as citizens, believe should be done, and acting as our agent in carrying out the relief and other kinds of duties that have done so much for humanity, and have meant so much to us, because we felt that through this Red Cross we are enabled to discharge or to satisfy our real desire to be humans.

"Last year was a very tough year for them. We had the big flood in New England. Mr. Roland Harriman, the President, was on the job from the beginning, did a magnificent job. While they were still operating in that area, they had the big floods in the northwest just before Christmas.

"Even today they are, the Red Cross is, helping some 11,000 American families to get through a period of great distress and emergency, so they can again begin to function as normal citizens.

"I would like to have each of you exercise your best talents as eloquent supporters of the Red Cross, and put out the best appeals that you know to double the quotas they ask, and do it quickly to show what we really think of this great organization that has served us so long in peace and war."

Through a misunderstanding, the name of Mrs. S. J. Baker was listed as a zone chairman last week, in place of Mrs. H. Cannon Mrs. Baker is a district captain.

Youth Council In Favor Of Curfew

Tavern Variance Hearing Monday

Next Monday evening, the Township Committee will hold a special hearing on the proposed variance for Schubert's Tavern. The Tavern is seeking to rebuild and enlarge its present quarters on West Mt. Pleasant avenue. The meeting will be held at the Fire House, beginning at 7:30.

Meeting Wednesday evening, the Livingston Youth Council issued a statement indicating they would favor a curfew for teenagers. This step, they stated, was being taken in an effort to make the parents legally responsible for delinquent acts of their children.

The resolution they adopted read as follows:

"The members of the Youth Council are in agreement that parents should be made to face responsibility for the delinquent acts of their children.

"The membership of the Youth Council are in agreement that if this cannot be accomplished under existing legislation, new legislation should be established at a local level.

"It is the opinion of the Youth Council that if any new laws are established, one of them should be a curfew law on a trial basis, not to exceed 12 months."

The trial curfew has been urged so that its effect on street loitering and juvenile delinquency could be measured. If found successful, the Council would probably urge its continuance on a permanent basis.

The question of a curfew was the subject of a mass meeting two weeks ago, at which the pros and cons were debated. Subsequently, Judge Lindeman of the Essex County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, wrote a letter, appearing in last week's paper, which stated that there were laws now on the books which can be used by the police to curb loitering.

Elsewhere in this paper appears a statement from Police Chief Swain that the department's desire to have a curfew is to have some legal means to make the parents responsible for their children.

Pass $149,975 Worth of Sewers

In two ordinances introduced this week, the Township Committee approved the construction of $149,975 worth of sanitary sewers. An ordinance calling for a $9,975 sewer line on the easterly side of North Livingston avenue, running from McClellan avenue south almost to Harrison School was passed Monday night.

On Tuesday evening, the committee reconvened long enough to pass a $140,000 measure providing sewers for large sections of the industrial zone. The new lines will run along Route 10 from a point near Baldwin's Dairy to the easterly side of the high tension lines, and then north. At a point near the present gravity line, a pumping station will be built.

In addition, sewers will be laid in Dorsa and Naylon avenues, with a pumping station to lift this sewage into the sewer plant. The industrial sewer ordinance had to be held up Monday night because the necessary certificate had not been received from the State Board of Health.

At Monday's meeting the Committee also passed three ordinances vacating streets in the area of the Collins tract and off Royal avenue.

Livingston Nike Base Officially Established With Complement of 82 Men Here and in Hanover

CAPT. EDWARD J. WINTERS
Commander of C. Company
483 AAA Missile Bn., Nike

For the first time since the Revolutionary War, Livingston, New Jersey, is the site of an army post. The Nike launching site here and in Hanover was officially manned last Thursday by Charley Company of the 483 AAA Missile Battalion, Nike. It is part of the New York Metropolitan Area Air Defense Network.

Captain Edward J. Winters, the commanding officer, is now a Livingston resident, and is a veteran of 13 years of active service in the army, serving in posts all over the world. He can talk about Okinawa, Austria, Luxembourg, Japan, and many parts of the United States with great familiarity.

We dropped in to see the captain this week and find out a bit about him, his men and his base. The Nike base, as everyone knows, is a site from which guided anti-aircraft missiles are launched. These missiles track down enemy planes and destroy them. It's all very complicated and technical, and the inner workings are strictly classified military secrets.

The Captain confirmed earlier statements, promising that no missiles will be launched from this site unless there is actually an enemy plane overhead. The equipment has all been test fired at proving grounds before it was installed in Livingston. There will be daily tests to make sure that it is all in working condition, but these tests are possible without firing any missiles.

The company itself had a lot of actual firing training on the range, and they will go to New Mexico once a year for additional firing practice. In Livingston, they will just go through dry runs.

This does not mean that the men have nothing to do. The whole concept of Nike defense is that the battery is ready at a moment's notice to fire in the defense of the area. The base is actively manned around the clock, and will be in full operation and ready to go by the end of next week.

Speaking of his men, Captain Winter waxed enthusiastic. He has a complement of 82 in the company, incldng six officers and warrant officers. To quote the captain, "they are the cream of the crop," representing men specially selected for aptitudes at Camp Gordon and Fort Bliss.

Three of the company, he said, have master's degrees, 12 have completed college, 27 others have had at least two years of college, eight are taking college extension courses now. Only three out the 82 did not receive a high school diploma. As a result, morale is high and discipline is excellent. Disciplinary action by the commander has been practically non-existent, because it has been unnecessary.

The men come from 27 different states, ranging as far as California and Alabama, with the bulk happening to come from the midwest. There is one mn who comes from Belgium. He went through the war over there as a civilian, and has since become a U. S. Citizen and a member of the armed forces.

At the present time, the base is closed to civilians, and sightseers will not be permitted. In time, Captain Winters hopes, it will be possible to hold an open house, when Livingston residents will be invited in to look over the installation.

Freeman Harrison Writes Of Livingston During Blizzard of '88

The Great Day

"Good gracious, Caleb, what's going on outside?" asked a startled Livingston housewife as she looked out of a bedroom window on that long-ago Monday morning. "I've never seen anything like it before. Get up, lazy, and look outside."

Her husband took a look and was equally startled. Certainly there was plenty going on, for the date was March 12th, 1888 and Livingston Township from the heights of Force Hill on the east to the Passaic on the west, from Choctaw Hill in Roseland on the north to the flats of Cheapside on the south, was in the grip of the Great Blizzard ravaging this part of the nation.

It was not like any other snowstorm. In fact one might have thought at first that it was not snow at all but some cruel compond of ice particles and glass ground into minute fragments. Mrs. Lillias Cook says it was like a sandstorm. The weather was bitter cold, with high, howling winds sweeping over the open fields. One could grope his way through the blinding density of the snow only by holding onto clotheslines or fences or by recognizing the shadowy forms of familiar buildings. In the sixty-eight years that have gone by since that memorable March day the Great Blizzard stands alone in weather annals.

Once again we are favored with a vignette of Livingston history, by Freeman Harrison, Livingston's historian. We are pleased to be able to bring this glimpse of the past to our readers.

No wonder the good housewife expressed amazement, for the storm was as unheralded as it was terrific. Saturday had been springlike — there was an outdoor party not far from Livingston at which some of the men wore straw boaters — and Sunday morning was mild and rainy. It was in the afternoon that the weather turned. The rain became torrential, after a few hours followed by sudden arctic cold and angry winds. By Monday morning the blizzard raged in all its fury.

In those days Livingston people were used to snow and the pleasant music of sleighbells, now almost forgotten, was often to be heard. What a loss when those sleighbells disappeared! Snow was not plowed off the streets as it is now in this automoble age, for the average snowfall in no way impeded traffic. A horse could pull a sleigh through snowbanks that would stop short a 1956 car. So on the morning of the blizzard as people arose early, as was their custom, the men of the households had not thought of staying indoors and letting the elements rage. Clearly this storm was different from all others, but there was work to be done. Livestock had to be looked after, stores opened, mail taken to Orange, milk delivered to waiting customers beyond the mountains.

Many Livingstonians were in the milk business. Some had their own dairies, others bought the milk from dairies and sold it retail. Through the almost — impenetrable snow, the milkmen started on the long trip over the Orange Mountains. The milk must be delivered. A few of the many who went that morning were Merrick Baldwin, Albert Crane, Henry Becker, William H. Harrison, Samuel Burnet of Burnet Hill, father of the present Samuel. Mr. Crane, who lived in West Livingston, was the only one to get back to Livingston that day and he did not reach his home.

After leaving his sleigh in Orange, he rode one horse and led the other back over the mountains. He got as far as Northfield and there endurance ended for himself and for his horses. He had reached what is now the corner of South Livingston Avenue and West Hobart Gap Road and across the intersection and in a field where "Ma" Pitscher's now stands there was a tremendous drift. Mr. Crane would get the horses no farther. However, he did manage to struggle through the storm to the home of the William Diecks family. There he was hospitably welcomed and there he stayed overnight. Louis Diecks, a son of William, recalls how Mr. Crane, a harassed figure in the terrible snow, came knocking at the door. Miss Ella Diecks, Louis' sister, recalls the horses of necessity left out in the storm. "I never knew till then," she says, "what it was to hear horses cry in agony. I never have forgotten it since."

Sam Burnet got back as far as the top of the First Mountain, in West Orange. There he could make headway no longer. Nearly frozen to death, he was obliged to leave his horse, caught in a colossal drift, and seek shelter in a home on Northfield Avenue. There he stayed till the following morning. He found that his horse had perished. The Crane's horses recovered.

What of the mail? At the general store and post office at Livingston Center on the morning of the blizzard there was early activity despite the storm. My father, Amos W. Harrison, who ran the store and was postmaster, and John Crane, his faithful assistant, were busy postmarking letters in the yellow light from oil lamps on the wall. They were readying the mail for Benjamin DeCamp, stage-line proprietor, to take to the Orange post office on the morning trip. Snow pelted the wide windows, yellow in the lamplight; the building trembled in the furious wind, freezing cold permeated the place despite the blazing wood fire John Crane had built in the iron stove, and the two men worked on until the mail was ready. It had occurred to neither of them that the sturdy Ben DeCamp would fail to appear.

Probably John Crane's cheeks became redder than ever in the excitement. Usually known as "Johnny," he was a picturesque, wiry little man, always full of hustle. His short brown hair was graying. He wore old-fashioned spectacles with steel frames and his eyes were twinkling and blue.

Mr. DeCamp drew up with his sleigh, the two long side seats running parallel from front to back. He had his best team of horses and was ready for the trip over the winding mountain roads. What if he could see only a few feet in front of him?

The leather mail bag was clamped and locked. John Crane quickly handed it to Mr. DeCamp on the driver's seat, the stage-line proprietor already a shadowy, snow-covered specter. It was seven-fifteen, time to move on. "Giddap!" The horses strained on the traces, there was a crunching sound as the runners gripped into the snow, and the sleigh started on its way, disappearing almost at once in the gray density of the storm. Mr. DeCamp, with the help of his gallant horses, got the mail through to Orange. However, nature can take about so much and there was no return trip that day.

Not many reached the store for the customary round of talk. "Dave" Flynn and William Van Zee, both of whom lived near by on Mount Pleasant Avenue; the Maxfields, who lived in the big old house on the corner, in which John Crane also dwelt; "Uncle Billy" Smith, whose home was back of the store, on the road to Northfield — these were about all. Perhaps Mr. Bastian, pastor of the Baptist Church, made his way over from the parsonage. Other stores — Johnson's and Farley's at Northfield, Wilbur DeCamp's and William Ball's at Roseland — were similarly quiet.

Louis Diecks recalls the interesting fact that despite the great fall of snow there were occasional bare spots. The same winds which caused the high drifts had also in places blown away the snow.

The blizzard was over by Tuesday and for the first time people could discern the full magnitude of the storm. Never before had such drifts been seen. Many reached the second floors of homes and in some cases houses were almost buried. Three sons of Jeptha Baldwin of Northfield decided to make a friendly call on "Aunt Abbey" Johnson, an elderly lady greatly respected in the neighborhood. She was the widow of Joseph Johnson and lived in the old Johnson homestead on what is now South Livingston Avenue. After some effort the three brothers reached the location of the house. The home of "Aunt Abbey" was there no longer. At least is seemed that way on first sight for the habitation was almost covered by an immense drift. The brothers estimated where the front door should be and set to work digging a tunnel from the street. It was well that they were young and strong. It took hours of shoveling, but at length they completed the tunnel. They found Mrs. Johnson well, though naturally disturbed by her experience with the storm, and paid her a nice visit. Needless to say, she was glad to see them. This good lady was the grandmother of Mrs. Lillias Cook, who has done so much to keep alive the history of our old Township.

This Tuesday was spring election. In an article in this paper I wrote that Will Parker Teed and some others brought the necessary ballot box from Roseland to the hall in the store at Livingston Center. Here the Township elections were held. I was in error, as Mrs. Cook was good enough to explain in this paper. No ballot box arrived that day, no election was held. The lively Will Parker and the other Roselanders reached Livingston Center, walking on improvised snowshoes, but the ballot box was resting quietly at Farley's store in Northfield.

This partly came about on account of that same gigantic drift which had stopped Bert Crane's horses the day before. William Diecks was a candidate for freeholder and his home was a busy one that morning. To it came Charles Baldwin, one of the election inspectors, and Willie Burnet who was the Township clerk as well as a teacher in the Northfield school. They had the ballot box with them. However, the Diecks family knew only too well, especially from what Mr. Crane had told them, about the great mound of snow blocking any progress toward Livingston Center.

There was one chance, it was decided, of getting a sleigh through the drift. That would be to use Mr. Diecks' team of oxen. They might succeed where even the horses, so used to snow had failed. So with all speed the great animals were got out of the barn and hitched up.

Disappointment followed as the team approached the drift. The oxen simply weren't playing that morning. It was no use. The ballot box would have to be carried by hand. Inspector Baldwin, Willie Burnet and members of the Diecks family managed to get it just past the Northfield schoolhouse on the road to Livingston Center. There, utterly exhausted, they could go no farther. After a rest they lugged it to Farley's store for safekeeping. If only they had got in touch with the three Baldwin brothers digging the tunnel not far away the election might have been held. As it turned out, there was no election until late in April. It was held under the provisions of an emergency measure passed by the New Jersey Legislature and the stalwart Republican William Diecks, was elected freeholder after the long wait.

At one time there was a maiden lady in Livingston whom mention of the Great Blizzard unduly disturbed. Although certainly she had been a full-blown girl at the time of the storm, when asked any questions about it she would quickly reply: "I don't know anything of it exctp what I recall hearing my grandmother tell."

March 12th, 1888. "Where are the snows of yesterday?" asked Villon, the French poet, and with the exception of dull explanations from scientists who would not know what Villon meant anyway, the query has met the silence of the ages. We do know, though, that those colossal drifts of the Great Blizzard have gone long since, gone with the howling winds, gone with the old town of that time, gone with the good wife who was so astounded that morning when she first looked upon the unbelievable storm, gone with her husband and many other people and many other things. "We are such stuff as dreams are made on."

Not long after the heavy snowstorm of December, 1947, the writer was one of a group passing away the time by talking of various snowfalls the members had known or heard of. One person remarked that probably the late storm was just as bad as the '88 Blizzard but was less celebrated because it was recent. His words conveyed the sly hint that the Great Blizzard had been growing worse and worse every year since 1888.

Pell T. Collins, that fine, interesting man, who was for so long an ornament to this Township, was among the group and in no mind to listen to such nonsense from a mere whippersnapper of fifty who had not seen the one and only Blizzard.

"Good heavens, man," Mr. Collins spoke up, "there is no comparison! That December storm was a snow flurry, a treat for children. Eighty-eight! That was the real thing. Why, I was walking with some others the day after the storm and one man stepped too close to an air hole in the crust of the snow. All of a sudden there was a crash and the fellow disappeared entirely. It took four men a good hour to dig him out. He was not injured but he was considerably ruffled."

It must have been quite a storm.

DiGirolamo Added To Dowd Ticket

David W. Dowd, George R. Cox and Herbert A. Niedhammer, Candidates in the Republican Primary for the office of Councilmen today announced the association with them of L. Henry Di Girolamo as a candidate for Councilman, who will be bracketed with them on the ballot. Simultaneously with the announcement, Edward W. Connolly campaign manager of the group, stated that the 'watch-word' and 'by-word' of the campaign he would conduct on behalf of Dowd, Cox, Niedhammer and Di Girolamo, would reflect their ballot designation, "Pledged to efficient — economical — new government."

Di Girolamo has been a resident of Livingston for the past seven years and lives with his wife, the former Petrina Pollara of Caldwell, and his two children at 22 East Drive. Born in Newark, he graduated from St. Benedict's Preparatory School and matriculated and graduated from the University of Notre Dame.

He is the executive vice-president of Di Girolamo Construction Company which maintains offices in Newark. At present he is the vice-president of the Essex County Contractor's Association which represents all major construction companies in the county, and which association is the legal bargaining agent for various building trades. Having served as chairman of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Welfare Fund, he is now one of its employer trustees. Formerly, he was an employers trustee for the Essex County Carpenters Welfare Fund.

DiGirolamo has actively participated in many local charitable drives and programs. His concern for the youth of the township together with his active participation and interests in sports, has led him to engage in many events concerning youth. He was a coach in the Little League, and has been and still is the perennial chairman of the Easter Egg Hunt which is run annually for the children of the Township.

Having ascended through all the chairs in the Lions Club, he is presently its president. He attends St. Philomena's Church and is a member of the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus. He is also a member of the Livingston Republican Club. DiGirolamo served in World War II for three and a half years, two of which were spent in the South Pacific where he was awarded a letter of commendation.

This "Political Appointment" Business

A big fuss was made the other night by Committeeman Dowd over the refusal of the other Committeemen to second his nominations of two men for the Industrial Commission. He objected, stating that the other Committeemen had made their "political appointments," and he felt he was entitled to his. He saw no reason why he should be called upon to continue the "political appointments" of his predecessors, although he stated he had nothing against such appointments, per se.

Frankly, the whole tenor of the discussion disturbed us greatly. We have been very proud, over the years, that Livingston has been free of pork barrel politics in its administrative and advisory setup. A look at the record confirms this.

As far as paid personnel in the Township are concerned, there has been no wholesale turnover of manpower and womanpower in the Township government as various political factions have assumed control of the Township. Persons who have been active politically on sides opposite to the dominant faction have retained their posts. In fact, we can only recall one major post, that of Township Engineer, which was changed by anything other than death or retirement for reasons of age. This is over a span of 18 years.

On the non-paid positions, such as membership in the Planning Board, Industrial Commission, and the like, the record has been similarly good. It has been the custom in Livingston to allow the members of these bodies to recommend any replacements that are made. One might think that this would be dangerous, allowing a hierarchy to assume control of one phase of the Township's government.

Actually, it has not worked that way. The various boards seem to have reached out to get persons with special talents which may be useful to the Board as a whole. In the Planning Board, for instance, many of the replacements have come from people who evidenced interest and skill in municipal planning through volunteer work in the Planning Research Panel. The fact is, we have not established rubber stamp units, but effective working bodies who are conscientiously trying to do a good job.

The particular group under discussion Monday night was the Industrial Commission. When it was first organized, we believe that the Township Committee did a very careful job in the selections, So far as we know, nobody was put on this board for any political activity in which they had engaged. The calibre of men selected can be measured, for instance, by the first chairman, Marshall Smith Lachner. He never was a member of a political organization, but he was a brilliant, hard working man. He long since has left Livingston, having been consistently elevated in business. Recently, he resigned his post as vice-president of Colgate-Palmolive Peet Company to assume the presidency of the Pabst Brewing Company.

A glance at the membership of the Commission today shows that it is composed of men who have been friendly to widely divergent political groups. Some were appointed by the very men they refused to vote for. Customarily, they like the other boards, have recommended new members.

This group came forward with a nomination of a man who is politically unknown. They felt that he had the interests and abilities that could be of benefit to their group. We can hardly call this a political appointment.

The sad part of this is that we would never have interjected the word "politics" into this discussion if Mr. Dowd hadn't done it first. His candidates are perfectly capable men. We would not agree with appointing a member of the Industrial Association to the Board ourselves, but certainly such a suggestion could be considered.

All in all, the discussion distressed us, because it represents a type of thinking in government that we thought was not present in Livingston.

We've Got Some New Neighbors

We paid a visit to the new Nike base the other day, and had quite a talk with Captain Winters, the commandant. We liked what we heard.

The Captain told us that he has a force of 82 men here and in Hanover, who represent the cream of the crop of the Army. They are men specially picked for their high intelligence to handle an extremely technical Army assignment. As our readers will see in the news story, they have many college graduates and students. Their spirit is excellent.

We hope that the people of Livingston do not have too short memories. Only 10 to 15 years ago, many of our young men went off to war. They suddenly were placed in army posts throughout the world, in strange towns where they had no local contacts. It can be a kind of lonesome feeling.

Livingston now has an opportunity to pay back the many friendly acts that were given to our men elsewhere. These soldiers are in town to protect us. Make them feel at home and take them into our activities. The shoe is on the other foot now.

A Correction; But Not a Retraction

On re-reading the proposed amendment to the Board of Health ordinance on which we commented last week, we realize that we made a mistake. Cardboard cartons, when placed outside for collection, can be collapsed and tied in bundles, but they do not have to be put in metal containers. We were wrong on that point.

However, we still feel that the ordinance does not go far enough. We think that it should be permissable to put non-garbage refuse into a cardboard carton, and place it outside for collection, provided that this carton is tied or sealed in such a way that its contents cannot spill out or blow away.

Mrs. Heinzemann, Biondi Join Clark, Axtell and Skeels In Five Member Council Ticket

Announcement was made this week of the entry of a five candidate ticket in the coming Republican primary for Township Council under the new form of government to take effect in Livingston next January 1.

Grouped together in the primary balloting will be two newcomers to the local political scene, Frank J. Biondi and Vivien B. Heinzemann, who will be bracketed with three of the incumbent Township Committeemen, Andrew C. Axtell, William H. Clark and Arthur N. Skeels, Sr. All five candidates publicly supported the Council-Manager campaign last year and are pledged to making the new council-managed government work.

Biondi, 41, is a native of Pennsylvania where he received his early education. In 1936, he was graduated cum laude from Lehigh University with a B.S. degree, and in 1940 was awarded the degree of Master of Science by Columbia University. He is a member of the Technical Staff of the Bell Telephone Laboratories in charge of Electronics Materials & Processes Department, and holds a number of U. S. and foreign patents in his technical field.

During World War II, he was associated with the Manhatan Project, the forerunner of the Atomic Energy Commission, and his efforts in this work earned for him a personal citation from the then Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson.

Since coming to Livingston seven years ago, Biondi has engaged in numerous local civic activities. He has served as a special consultant to the Township Committee and Planning Board on building materials and codes: was a member of the citizens committee which planned the enlarged sanitary sewer and sewage disposal system now being installed in the Township; and was a charter member of the Planning Research Panel.

At present, Biondi is a member of the Livingston Planning Board and has been its vice-chairman for four of his six years with that body. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Livingston Community Pool, Inc., and was chairman of its engineering committee which designed and constructed the swimming pool in the Civic Center. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the local American Little League and has acted as Players' Agent for the past four years. He is presently serving on the Governor's Passaic Valley Flood Control Committee.

Biondi resides at 5 Yorktown Terrace with his wife and two sons.

Mrs. Heinzemann, like Biondi, has never held political office, although she did seek and win election in 1954 as a member of the Livingston Charter Study Commission, which recommended the council-manager form of government adopted by the voters last November. During the entire period of its existence, she acted as Secretary of the Commission.

A graduate of the New Jersey College for Women with a B.A. degree, magna cum laude, Mrs. Heinzmann has been active in civic affairs since coming to Livingston ten years ago. Currently the president of the Livingston Women's Club and a member of the West Essex Community Chest, she has over the years served as president of the Roosevelt PTA; vice president of the Burnet Hill PTA; chairman of the Livingston Red Cross; member of the Teachers' Salary Study Committee; member of the State Citizens' Committee for State Aid for Education; and member of the board of the Council of Social Welfare of West Essex.

Skeels, now in his second year as a member of the Township Committee, was for many years a member and chairman of the Recreation Commission, and participated in the development of the various sports and recreational programs now available in the Township. With Clark and Axtell, who are completing six years of service as members of the Township Committee, Skeels has been indentified with the charter study council-manager campaigns from the beginning. All five candidates have played prominent roles in the movement and purpose to go to the voters for election on the basic platform that the new form of government can and will succeed in Livingston in the hands of a council in sympathy with its aims.

Major League bowlers did themselves proud this week. They accounted for four of the Six Ace Series bowled in the league. Topping the list was Jack Skislak of Mitschele's who shot a 672 which included the league's high game, a 246.

Ranking second was Ernie Teed who bowled his second Ace in two weeks. He tossed a 628 for Cece.

George Seeley bowled a 618 for Mitschele's, and Karl Schrick was one pin below him with a 617 which he bowled for Cece.

In the National League, John Schafer shot a 605 for the Wreckers, while, O. Higgins of Livingston 5 rounded out the ranks of Ace bowlers with a 600. The high game was posted by T. Kargl of St. Philomena's in the American. His 225 bettered Skislak's 246.

Among the women, Betty Ziser took series honors with a 550 she tossed for Kirspel's in the Ladies' League. Mary Ann Stickrod's 548 for the Whites in the VFW Auxiliary League ranked second. She shared individual bowling honors with Arlyn Wriggins of Panek's in the Women's League. Both bowled 204 games. Vi Broom-Smith of Baer's in the Merchant's Mixed tossed a 202.

Major League

The league went hog-wild as four keglers bowled Ace Series. Leading the parade of pin topplers was Jack Skislak of Mitschele's who bowled a 672, which now stands as the high series. All his games were 200 or better and included a 246 which is the third high in the league.

Ranking second among the Aces was Ernie Teed who put in his second appearance in as many weeks. He posted a 628 for Cece Brothers which blasted Artwin's for three. In the contest (?), they shot a 1010 which is now high in league. Their 2776 series is third high.

George Seeley, a bowling-mate of Jack's, cornered 3 place with a 618. Their combined scores went a long way toward helping Mitschele's defeat Baldwin's twice.

Karl Schrick, of the league leaders, joined the select group with his 617.

Ray McChesney tossed a pair of Hall games, a 211 and a 201, for Rose's which took two from Pacific Lumber. A 224 by Hugh Duffy highlighted play as his team, Sam's, won two from Northfield Supply.

Independent League

The Braves had their chance and they blew it. They just couldn't seem to get started against the Pirates which continue to hold onto first after taking two from them.

The combined efforts of Les Merrit and Walter Reinhard was too much for the Braves. Les bowled a 199, and Walt scored a 192. Bob W. Smith's high 205 was wasted for the Braves.

The Giants had similar difficulty with the Yanks. A 199 by George Conklin and a 191 by Ronnie Blaha gave the Yanks the edge twice over the Giants. Bob Lapp did his best for the losers by bowling a 193.

Church League

Northfield Baptist put the skids under Methodist twice. The double victory elevated them to third place just three games from second. Frank Bell led the agregation with a 555 series which included a 206 game. For the losers, Bosworth bowled a 228 which ranks high in the circuit this week.

Olivet proved their right to second place when they tired over Presbyterian twice. In the final game, when Terminello came through with a 201, Presbyterian was able to muster an 850 game to top Olivet's 848.

Jewish Center 1 broke out of the lower section of the standing when they blasted Jewish Center 2 twice. Baron's 213 topped play for the 2's, while Lipper bowled a 201 for the losers.

A 211 by Vic Creelman, highlighted play as his team, Grace Lutheran, defeated Livingston Baptist twice. Livingston fell to the slot vacated by Jewish Center 1.

Civic League

A bully, well done is in order for the Lions. The brave little band of thirsty bowlers overcame their thoughts of liquid refreshment to down Rotary . . . sans one hamburger and malt. There were no standouts in the fray, only a determined band of bowlers bent on taking the series. Good show, fellas.

Baron's, the battling bowlers, with the aid of Steve Katsafouros' 226 high game, set Crestwood down twice to widen their lead on the rest of the pack to 10 games.

K of C (A) moved up a notch into sixth after taking a pair from K of C (B). Pressing the assault was Father Vincent who tossed a 205, one of the three Hall games.

Kiwanis overcame an early setback in the opener and went on to defeat Holy Name twice to pull to within a half game of them in the standings. Russell Stamm's 203 contributed to Kiwanis' victory.

You night call it wasted energy. Betty Ziser's 550 high series for Kirspel's wasn't quite enough to stem the Surveyor's which took a pair from Kirspel's. Elsie Stroessel's 160 was high for the winners.

Russell's was dumped from third, which they gained last last week, by Clark's. Clark's, paced by Dot Rathbun who bowled a 465, downed Russell's twice.

White's were prevented from advancing in the standings by the Teachers which defeated them twice. For the Teachers, it was Olive Youngjohn with a 156. White's best was Hermine Demeter who had a 161 and 157.

Dot Bishop of the Surveyors' was awarded the Nightly High for her 158 which was 47 pins over average.

A 550 series by Al Fachet of Police Department 4 led the scoring in the league which saw the ranks of the Hall of Famers depleted. Only 14 keglers made the grade this week. Al was also tied for high game honors which he shares with Art Carson of the Engineers.

Al's top-form bowling gave the 4's the edge twice in their tilt with Road Department.

Police 5 continued in first place by defeating Town Hall twice. Only Carl Small and Ray Fogarty made the Hall for the 5's. Carl entered with a 180; Fogarty with a 159. For Town Hall, Mary Flinn, who consistently makes the Hall, had two good games. One was a 171, the other a 152.

T'was a sad night for the engineers. They dropped two to the Fire Department. Individually, though, the Engineers made a better showing, Art Carson scored one of the two high games, a 193, and Stella Koenig rolled a 191, which was tied for second high. Kiefer of Road Department duplicated the feat.

Schork's, long tottering in first place, was tumbled from the coveted number one position by Heimall's which took three from the Flowermen to move into first place. Only Jack Hedges of Schorks gave a good account of himself. He tossed one of the 220 high games in the league. For Heimall's, Fred Knorr scored the only Hall game, a 200.

John Schafer of the Wreckers gave a mighty fine bowling exhibition as the Wreckers downed Columbia Bridge Tavern three times to move into fifth. John bowled the only Ace Series, a 605, which included one of the two 220 high games.

Also in there pitching for a triple win was Thompson's which rolled over Livingston Cleaners. Lead-off man, Arnold Hoffman, controlled the alley with his 558 which included a 204 game. For the losers, Frank Mattis, shot a 201.

A 210 game by Ed Mohr was Center Pharmacy's only bright moment as they dropped a pair to Masonic 4. Bystrak won a pair from VFW; and Karig's picked a pair from Ma Pitscher's. Pitscher's sole win game in the second frame when Len Alex tossed his 208.

VFW Auxiliary League

Bowling a hot 1353 series, the Whites were able to swamp the league leading Banners three times. The Golds missed their golden opportunity to regain first when they lost a pair to the Stripes. The Golds are one game behind the Banners. In the other tilt, the Stars climbed out of the cellar by stomping on the Blues twice.

Standing out among the league's bowlers were Mary Ann Stickrod of Whites, and Jennie Cece of the Stripes. Mary Ann took high game and series honors, while Jennie was follower up in each category.

Mary Ann's high was a 204 with a 548 series, while Jennie had a 193 and 523.

Trio League

The fine showing made by Urban's indicates that they are the team to watch in the next few week. They downed Lambert's three times to push to within a half game of first place.

Zahn's perched upon the top rung was given a rough going over by Wahconah, which earned two for the win column. Zahn's would have had been ousted from first had they dropped another. Better be careful.

Also tearing up the league, were the Tribune keglers who popped into third place after taking Harris for three. Knotty Pine scored the high game, a 468, as they defeated Dog House twice.

Scores were a little on the short side with top honors going to Madge Schiller who led the series list with a 435, and the individual scoring with a 168. Rose Backanau earned the Nightly Award with her 147 which was 45 pins over average.

Tuesday Kegierettes

The second position night found Cece Brothers widening their lead to 10 games as they clipped two from Carousel. Betty Murray's high 494 series highlighted play.

While the top contenders were battling it out VFW bettered their posiion by taking three from Center. The tilt developed into a test of strength between Ann Hamstra and Bev Landis. Ann won with her 487 series and 191 high game. On the whole, VFW showed good form. They rolled up a 2300 series which included the night's high game, a 809.

Five members of Kirwan's made the Hall of Fame, but to little avail. They could only take one game from the Jewlers. Ginny Schmidt was high for Kirwan's with a 168.

Led by Jolan Stierle who rolled a 174 and 164, Sugar Bowl was able to win a pair from Kingsland.

Nightly High honors had to be shared by Ann Hamstra and Marion Seeley. Both went 51 pins over average. Ann had the high game, a 191 and Marion rolled a 167 for the Jewelers.

Merchant's Mixed League

Bowling one of the two triple wins in th league, Livingston Wines moved into first place after the fury of the second position night had abated. With the aide of Joe Stoppiello's 562 and Irene Ternyik's 454, Livingston had an easy time with Fischer's.

In the other clean sweep, Feid's floored Baer's with the help of Alan Feid who bowled a nice 198 game. For the losers, Vi Broom-Smith rolled a 202 which led the females.

Flo Cote's 495 series, which was high among the women, gave Economy Wines the edge as they took two from Don-El's to remain in second. Don Miller scored a 211 for the losers. The score ranked second in the Hall.

Zahn's gained some yardage in the standinps by pulling the pins from under Ralph's twice. Sam's, too, bettered their position by beating Hardware Center twice.

Dave Stoner scored the week's high game and series for Sims as they downed Johnson's twice. His 591 missed an Ace Series by a scant nine pins. Dave's high game was a 229.

Although losing two games to Howell's, Bob's had some satisfaction. They bowled a 830 in their second game. The score is second high in the league. Two more pins and they would have broken the 831 record.

Profitable evening were enjoyed by Ann's which took two from Ma Pitscher's; Ben's which clipped Northfield Barbers, twice and Economy Shop-Rite which felled Livingston Paint in two.

Women's League

Adrienne broke the two-way tie for first when they romped over Rogers & Sheldon for three to gain sole possession of the slot. Manger's, also tied for the high perch, fell back a notch when they could only take two from Hinrichs'. Lynne Muto for Manger's was high in that contest with a 181. Gert Duetsch topped the lists for Adrienne with a 179.

Havas were able to retain control of third by splitting a series with Livingston School of Dance. In the test, Livingston School rolled the week's high game, a 810.

Arlyn Wriggins took individual and series honors as Panek's swept three from Mayflower. She rolled a 204 game and a 517 series.

Tribune forged ahead of Ridgeview after taking a pair from the latter. Paul's had an easy time with Stellges', taking three from them with the help of Ruth Morganson's 461 series.

Lanes League

It was topsy-turvy night. The top two teams experienced two nightmares. The Beavers ran afoul of the Marauders which bowled two nifty 900-plus wins before being stopped by the league leaders. Ralph's would probably rather forget their shameful triple defeat by Elks 1. Beaten by a last place team, too. Tch! Tch!

Bob's Gulf took advantage of the off night to pick up three in the win column, thanks to Elks 2. Levin-Sagner made a double killing. They downed the Playboys.

There was a rash of Hall games as compared with last week's sole entrant. R. Meidling topped the list with a 214. Close behind was Dave Lindeman with a 211.

Business Men's League

The in-again-out-again pair did it again. Cece and Paul's swapped first place when Cece took the slate from Paul's to move into first.

Avenging their defeats of last week, Baldwin's came back primed to take three from McChesney's. Good clutch bowling did the trick. Baldwin's took the first by two pins and the second by one. They had no trouble in the finale.

Picciuto's missed taking three from White's by one pin in the opener which they lost 887 to 886. Cannon's took two, one a squeaker, from Sam's. In the second frame, Cannon's won the nod, 870 to 869. After losing two to Urban's, Callahan's decided it was time to take some wake-up pills. The team then rolled up a 1011 game, the only 1000-game in the circuit.

A 224 by J. Courtney led the scoring in the league, which saw 10 keglers make the grade. H. Kiefer posted a double entry, a 222 and a 206.

Jewish Center League

One of the knot that snarled first place, the Red Sox emerged as the sole possessor of first when they swamped the Braves three times with some of the best bowling in the league to date.

The only other triple-killers were the Phillies which annexed the White Sox, and the Pirates, which took the Dodgers.

The Senators took over second by downing the Cards twice. Scoring the high score, a 595, the Tigers did themselves proud by taking two from the Orioles.

Two keglers broke through the bowling barrier into the Hall. A. Holstein shot a 214 and C. Lipper hit a 208.

American League

The usually high flying Men's Club were grounded twice by Livingston 5. Not a single member of the Club made the Hall . . . Could be they're beginning to crack. In the test, the league's best performance was given by O. Higgins of the 5's. Who tossed the only Ace, a 600, and scored the second high game, a 245.

High game honors were earned by T. Kargl who tossed a 255 for St. Philomena's. However, the team didn't fare as well. They lost two to Arnold's, which they would like to forget. It probaby won't be too difficult since they're probably talking about their 1004 game in the second frame.

Russell's climbed from fourth to second after they defeated K of C 2 in the league's only clean sweep. R. Hall's 207 for the winners was best.

Holding their own in the standings were Welsh's which held onto third by taking two from Town Pantry after a slow start. The Cleaners climbed a notch in the listing after taking a pair from Amherst; and Deliduka showed their power in defeating K of C 1 twice.

Cops Tops In Pistol League

The Livingston Police Pistol Team emerged as the only undefeated team in the Essex County Police Revolver League Thursday when they defeated Irvington 1163 to 1161. Until that time, Irvington and Livingston were the only teams with a perfect win record.

On Saturday, Livingston extended their skein of victories to eight when they outscored Verona, 1165 to 1146.

Against Irvington, Lieutenant Robert Ollerenshaw scored high for Livingston. He shot a 296 which included one perfect score. He was also top man in the match against Verona when he shot a 295. Captain Steve Townley shot a perfect score in the final round.

Salute!

Next week is Girl Scout Week and the slogan is . . . "This Is Our Town." Do you know how many Girl Scouts and Brownies we have in our nine towns? Essex Mountain Council says, 2357 at the last count. This means there are upwards of 580 leaders and other volunteers who work at Girl Scouting, too . . . women who care enough about YOUR girl to volunteer precious hours to help her grow into a better woman.

Facts and Figures: Girl Scouts — first column, Brownies, second column, Scouts, third column, Leaders and Volunteers.

Verona	238	239	145

And what does all this cost you as a contributor to Community Chest? Approximately $7.00 per scout and brownie. Next October when a volunteer calls — remember at least ONE girl will become a respected member of your town because she was a Girl Scout.

On the fire: "A Scouts' Own" . . . an inspirational service for Girl Scouts . . . in Caldwell at the High School auditorium on Saturday. Watch for other special programs, especially worthy of your attention is the window at J. M. Towne's where the theme is Girl Scouts and Community Service.

Something to try at your house: Serve 1500 meals a day and use enough imagination in your planning that NO menu is repeated for 60 days! It's done at Mountainside Hospital in its new and modern kitchen. These new facilities occupy less physical space than the old — in fact the new kitchen and food service areas were so well planned that space was made available for 14 more patients' beds.

Denies New Rules Cause Price Rise

The recent increased charge for garbage collections from local merchants is the result of increased costs, not a Board of Health restriction of litter containment, according to Vincent Apse, a representative of Peter Roselle & Sons, local scavengers.

Apse appeared before the Board of Health at the request of Edward Ebbets to deny or confirm reports by local merchants that the collection rates were increased because of an ordinance passed by the Board.

The bill requires merchants to keep their litter in a container if placed out doors. As a result, merchants have been keeping the litter indoors. They felt that the rates were increasing because the scavengers had to make their collections indoors, instead of outside.

When asked by Ebbets if the ordinance were respnsible for the increased rates, Apse said, "No." He said that increased costs were responsible. Apse said salaries had risen from $35 to $60 and $80 per week. In addition, he remarked that a new truck was purchased recently at a cost of $13,000.

He said that in many cases the collection costs were too low to begin with. Merchants are usually charged $3 per month until the collectors have an opportunity to determine the volume of garbage they will have. The rates have remained unchanged for about three years, he said. When the Roselle firm examined their records, they found they weren't making money on the collections. They raised the rates to $8 for about 15 stores, to meet expenses.

Before leaving, Apse emphasized that the increase was not due to the ordinance. He added that he thought the shopping areas looked neater than before it was passed.

High Winds Cause Area To Black Out

The westerly section of Livingston was blacked out at 4:35 p.m., Saturday, February 25, when high winds caused a short circuit on one of the main feeders of JCP&L's Traynor Substation at Summit, N. J. and subsequently other feeders at this substation were affected, cutting off power to a number of communities served by this main source of power supply. Subsequent investigation by the company failed to establish any definite primary cause other than the effects brought on by the storm.

Full restoration of service, which involved complicated switching problems, was effected within approximately one hour after the interruption occurred, the company stated. In other areas where the wind storm caused local damage, company officials said service was promptly restored by line crews which had been alerted late that afternoon, when it was first learned that a wind storm was approaching.

Company sources said the wind storm caused heavy damage to installations in some areas due to fallen trees and limbs striking power lines.

CYO To Meet

The CYO of St. Philomena's Church will meet Monday, March 12, at 8 p.m. in Madonna Hall.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Township Committee of the Township of Livingston in the County of Essex (not less than two-thirds of all the members thereof affirmatively concurring) as follows:

Section 1. The improvement described in Section 3 of this ordinance is hereby authorized as a general improvement to be made or acquired by the Township of Livingston in the County of Essex, New Jersey. For the said improvement or purpose stated in said Section 3, there is hereby appropriated the sum of $12,000.00.

Section 2. For the financing of said improvement or purpose and to meet the said $12,000.00 appropriation, negotiable bonds of the Township are hereby authorized to be issued in the principal amount of $12,000.00 pursuant to the Local Bond Law, constituting sections 40:1-1 to 40:1-88 of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey. In anticipation of the issuance of said bonds and to temporarily finance said improvement or purpose, negotiable notes of the Township in a principal amount not exceeding $12,000.00 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to and within the limitations prescribed by said Law. The maximum rate of interest which any of said obligations shall bear is six per centum (6%) per annum.

Section 3 (a) The improvement hereby authorized and the purpose for the financing of which said obligations are to be issued is the improvement of the water supply and distribution system of the Township by the construction of a 12-inch water main and appurtenances which shall include, but not by way of limitation, gate valves, tees, and hydrants, which said main shall run in a general southwesterly direction along the southeasterly side of Hillside Avenue for a distance of approximately 780 feet from the southeasterly intersection of West Mt. Pleasant Avenue and Hillside Avenue to the southerly line of Hillside Terrace, all as shown on a certain plan entitled, "Map Showing Proposed 12" Water Main in Hillside Avenue", dated January 30, 1956, made by N. N. Papandrea, Twp. Engr., on file in the Office of said Township Engineer, and hereby approved.

(b) The estimated maximum amount of bonds or notes to be issued for said improvement or purpose is $12,000.00.

(c) The estimated maximum amount of money to be raised from all sources for said improvement or purpose is $12,000.00.

Section 4. The following matters are hereby determined, declared, recited and stated:

(a) The said purpose described in Section 3 of this ordinance is not a current expense and is a property or improvement which the Township may lawfully acquire or make as a general improvement, and no part of the cost thereof has been or shall be specially assessed on property specially benefitted thereby.

(b) The period of usefulness of said purpose, within the limitations of section 40:1-34 to 40:1-36 of said Local Bond Law and according to the reasonable life thereof, is forty (40) years.

(c) The supplemental debt statement required by said Law has been duly made and filed in the Office of the Township Clerk and a complete executed original thereof has been filed in the Office of the Director of the Division of Local Government of the State of New Jersey, and such statement shows that, while the net debt of the Township determined as provided in sections 40:1-30 and 40:1-32 of said Law is not increased by this ordinance, the gross debt of the Township as defined in section 40:1-76 of said Law is increased by this ordinance by $12,000.00, and that the issuance of said obligations authorized by this ordinance is permitted by the exception contained in subsection (f) of section 40:1-16 of said Law to the debt limitations prescribed by said Law.

(d) The following items, as defined and authorized by section 40:1-55 of said Law, are and shall be charged as a part of the cost of said purpose to be financed by the issuance of said obligations; (1) not exceeding $250.00 on account of the cost of issuance of said obligations; and (2) not exceeding $850.00 on account of engineering and inspection costs and legal expenses; and (3) not exceeding $750.00 on account of interest on obligations to finance such cost during the period permitted by said section.

(e) This ordinance authorizes obligations of the Township solely for a purpose described in subsection (f) of section 40:1-16 of said Law, and the said obligations authorized by this ordinance are to be issued for a purpose which is "self liquidating" within the meaning and limitations of section 40:1-78 of said Law and are deductible, pursuant to subsection (b) of section 40:1-77 of said Law, from the gross debt of the Township stated in any annual or supplemental debt statement of the Township.

Section 5. The full faith and credit of the Township are hereby pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on the said obligations authorized by this ordinance. Said obligations shall be direct, unlimited obligations of the Township, and, unless paid from revenues of the water system of the Township, the Township shall be obligated to levy ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the Township for the payment of said obligations and interest thereon without limitation of rate or amount.

Section 6. This ordinance shall take effect twenty (20) days after the first publication thereof after final passage, as provided by said Local Bond Law.

Monmouth Court

The Jolly Monmouth Minstrel

On Tuesday, February 7th, Miss Marguet's second grade presented their class program for the parents and children of both Monmouth and Roosevelt Schools.

Interlocutor was Andrew Lifland.

The ends who were blackfaced and dressed up in their finest and brightest clothes were:

Vanilla, Robert Young; Sauerkraut, John Snyder; Cabbagehead, Thomas Lindsley; Peachblossom, Kathleen Broderick; Apricot, Linda Townley; Watermellon, Diane Smith.

Most of the jokes were brought in by the children. Favorite songs were sung by the group: She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain, Shanghai Chicken, O'Susannah, Billy Boy, Dinah and One More River.

Beth Slagle made up a short act using her puppet "Ginger." Alicia Beker and Saly Strauss sang and danced to "Hi Mr. Banjo." Billy Mitschele and Colin Urquhart, better known as "Sassafras and Lulubelle sang "Willie, the Whistling Girage."

We had a wonderful time learning all the songs for our minstrel and laughing at the jokes. We hope our friends enjoyed the program.

Winter Fun

I'd love to go ice skating everyday. It is fun to go ice skating. But don't forget your skates, or else you can't go. I like to make a snowman out of snow.

How I wish I could see a bear hibernate. There goes one right now! Yepee! I saw a bear! "Mommy, Mommy, I found a bear today. Look, there is the hole."

But I want to go ice skating. "Please take me today? Please?"

"Oh, all right, but you may not stay for a long time." "I don't care, but I still want to go ice-skating."

Charlotte Meyer

The Aerotrian

The Aerotrain is a large one. There are no springs on the aerotrain. It is a good train. It is a new train. It goes very fast.

Book Reports

On February 6th our class made book reports. I made a book report about Jimmy's Own Basketball.

The author of this book is Marion Renick.

Jimmy'ss Own Basketball

Jimmy was a boy that wanted a basketball more than ever. But he didn't have one, so he would play basketball with children next door to him. Once Jimmy was playing he found a mouse in the garage next door, he named it Beebe.

One day it was snowing out and Jimmy invited his friends to play in his house. When they were playing they broke Jimmy's Mothers best lamp. But his mother didn't get too mad. Then his father said if he would make the starting team in basketball he would pay for the lamp and Jimmy would get a basketball.

Read the book and see if he got a basketball.

Bernard Zimetbaum

Our Maps

Quite a while ago we made maps in art. This time we could make maps only of continents.

First we drew a picture of the continent we were doing. On it we showed where the mountains, deserts, and valleys are. Then we got a piece of wood between 12 and 18 inches square. Third we drew the picture of the continent on the wood. Then in school we put asbestos on the wood where the picture was drawn. We built up where the mountains are and built down where the deserts and valleys are. Let it dry. When it was dry we painted it. Then we made little pieces of paper telling where certain places are found. Last we put strings on, going to the different places.

Mrs. Putnam

Wednesday the 8th a very interesting lady named Mrs. Putnam came and talked to us. She told us all about the Pygmies. She had lived in Africa for eight years with the Pygmies. She told us about their food, habits and diseases. She brought here many things she had gotten in Africa. Mrs. Putnam told us about many of her experiences with the Pygmies. I learned quite a bit from what she told us.

Betsy Blackmore

Pygmies

When a Pygmie is full grown he is only four feet tall. You may find them in Africa, in the land of the Congo. Though the Pygmies are very small they are very good hunters. When hunting game becomes hard to find they move to another place to live.

Bushes and vegetation grow very fast in the land of the Congo because they have a lot of rain. The Pygmies use this very much. They build houses out of mud, leaves, and sticks.

Elma-Jean Lant

Mrs. Putnam

In school we have seen a lady named Mrs. Putnam. She lived in the Belgian Congo for eight years. She was over at Monmouth Court School on Feb. 7, 1956. Mrs. Putnam told about the Pygmies what they ate and how they lived. She asked us to come up and act out the parts of what she was talking about. We were very glad she came to talk to uss.

Douglas Taterka

Masks and Shields

Each pupil is making either a mask or a shield. Most of the class made shields. I made a mask and some other girls made them too. There are eight masks and eighteen shields. We made them out of paper-mache. I had a lot of fun making the mask. We painted them and we put designs on them too.

Linda Lipper

Brontosaurus

Brontosaurus means "Thunder Lizard." It is 60 to 70 feet long and is very large even larger than a barn. The Brontosaurus is the most well-known dinosaur. This dinosaur lived 100 million years ago. He probably weighed about 80,000 pounds. His small brain weighed less than ap ound. His mouth is so small that he must eat continually to stay alive. The Brontosaurus had no means of defense but to push himself into the water and hide.

Patty Joones

Things We Have Done

We have spattered with paints. We have made Christmas cards Valentine cards & we are spatter painting a cover for our dinosaurs booklets.

We have made asbestos maps and painted them. We have the low land green, the highlands brown and the ocean blue.

Our shields and masks are also fun. We have painted our shields and masks.

We have written book reports and drew pictures of books. This helps others decide if they want to read it or not.

We have a lady visiting us. She is learniny to be a teacher. Her name is Miss Walsh.

Miss Hekker's

Shields and Masks

A few days ago we made shields and masks. They were made of papermache.

First we mixed wheat paste and after all the chunks were gone, we started putting it on the paper. After one sheet was covered we put on another sheet. Two people helped one another. After the shield or mask dried we painted it and put on designs. We had lots of fun and we hope to do it again.

We Made Bread!

Miss Brush's class made bread. We named it "Miss Brush's Bread."

We really had fun making it. We made butter, too. Friday we will have bread and butter. We made the bread on Thursday, and we made the butter on Tuesday. The butter was easy to make. But the bread was a little harder.

Larry Rubin

Our Bread

Our class made bread we called it "Miss Brush's Bread." We had fun making it. We were working on it all morning. On Tuesday we made butter. Tomorrow we will eat our bread and butter.

A Gay Spring Parade

Today we did Spring Paintings. Mr. Lewis our teacher, asked me what my painting was, I said it looks like a "Gay Spring Parade" with spring flowers dancing and singing. In the background, two flowers are playing harps. If you would like to see our paintings, they are going to be on display from Feb. 27, to March 16, 1956.

Lovebirds

Today in school we made a string painting. It was very interesting. Mine turned out to be some sort of a love scene. In the scene there are two swans kissing, two cranes kissing, and two little birds kissing. Above the swans there were round dots that reminded me of heart very much in love, but the hearts are blue. There are yellow ones above the little birds. If you would like to see our string painting you will be able to see them on the dates below.

Feb. 27, 1956 to March 16, 1956.

Our Art Lessons

On Feb. 16, 1956 we did some string paintings. We all had a lot of fun. Everyone in the class did two string paintings. One on colored paper and one on white paper. We each got to use three or four paints. I hope you will come and see our string paintings. They will be on display from Feb. 27, 1956 to March 16, 1956 at Roosevelt School.

The Lady and the Little Harp

Our class was doing string painting. It was very interesting.

I think my painting looks something like a little harp and some strange instruments.

I made up this little story about my picture.

Once there was a little harp. He lived in big castle. Everyday someone cleaned and dusted him. But the little harp was unhappy because he was never played.

One day something very strange happened. Instead of the little harp seeing an old maid, he saw a beautiful lady. The lady lifted a magic wand. All of a sudden the little harp began to play. Oh! how happy he was, and the music was beautiful.

If you'd like to see our paintings you may come at the times belo.".

Feb. 27 until March 16, 1956 Roosevelt School. We'll be looking for you.

Why does it cost so little to phone so far?

One reason, of course, is the greater efficiency of modern telephone equipment. And that's why last year alone New Jersey Bell's program to expand and improve facilities totaled $88 million—more than $7 million a month!

Another important reason is the skill and industry of the growing force of telephone men and women. And today there are 25,500 serving you in New Jersey.

But basically, it lies in the fact that everybody at the Phone Company has the same job. And that is to give you the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost.

Increasing the value . . . of your phone service is the job of all New Jersey Bell men and women. Ed. Schoppe Jr., Assistant Engineer, Passaic, is part of the team responsible for the planning of telephone service.

KEAN COMMENTS

by Your Congressman ROBERT W. KEAN

Tempo of Congress Rises With Coming of Spring

WASHINGTON — A willow tree on Theodore Roosevelt Island in the middle of the Potomac River is showing green. Elms along the Mall near the Washington Monument seem misty with fuzzy brown buds. Occasionally a Red Cardinal bird burst into song. These are all signs that spring is on the way in the District of Columbia and, as usual, as winter ebbs the Congress is stepping up its tempo.

It always seems that the Congress in January and February is dragging its feet. This is not entirely the fact; for though as a rule no important legislation reaches the Floor in these months, most Members are busily engaged in studying proposed bills in committee.

Last week the first controversial bill of major importance passed the House. Entitled The Colorado River Storage Project, it provides for four major dams on the Colorado River and its tributaries in Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming, for water supply, irrigation, and power developments.

$760 Million Project

The cost of building the facilities in the bill which passed the House have been estimated to be $760 millions — a little over $5 millions of which would be borne by the residents of Essex County.

A bill which has passed the Senate for the same general purposes calls for twice this amount of spending.

Proponents of the bill stated that the government would be reimbursed for its expenditures within 50 to 100 years.

Opponents said maybe

There was much heated debate. Opposition was led by Congressmen from Southern California, fearful that use of Colorado River water by those in the Upper Basin would so reduce the flow of the River that they would lose much of the cheap electricity they are now getting from the overflow of Hoover Dam and that in a period of drought the amount of water which reached the Lower Basin might not be sufficient for their needs. Modern Los Angeles could not exist without the Colorado River water piped over hundreds of miles of desert.

Farm Surplus Debate

Opponents of the bill also argued that it seemed the height of folly to spend this money to increase farm acreage by 200,000 acres through irrigation when we are already producing a surplus and planning to pay to farmers a billion dollars a year towards the soil bank to persuade them not to produce.

Proponents claim that when the work is all finished a dozen years from now, our population will have grown so that there will no longer be any surplus.

Congressional committees have been considering this type of legislation for several years. Delay in its consideration by Congress was to a large extent due to violent opposition to the original bill by conservationists because it then included the Echo Park Dam which would have ruined forever one majestic beauty spot — the Dinosaur National Monument. Destroying one of these areas set apart by the Congress for the enjoyment of all led to the fear by many that it would be a precedent for exploiting our national parks. To insure passage this Echo Park Dam was omitted from the House bill.

Indirect Benefits

The President urged passage of the bill.

The conception of the project is breathtaking. I flew over the site of two of the dams last month. The rugged barren country beautiful in its grandeur now nourishes little but rattle snakes. Perhaps in a long range view such development by the government of our potential resources is justified. Private industry could not afford to do so. They could not gamble their stockholders' money on a possible return in a hundred years. Should the government use the taxpayers' money to do so?

New Jersey will get no direct return for the $26 millions its taxpayers share in the expense. But our workers, many of whom will make some of the tools and the machinery used in the building of the dams, will benefit indirectly. Also one portion of our nation is so dependent on another portion that it can be said that the development of, or prosperity in any area has strong repercussions on every other area.

Presbyterian Add To Building Committee

The Presbyterian Church of Livingston this week enlarged its permanent Building Planning Committee to aid members of the congregation already at work on the proposed $250,000 sanctuary on W. Northfield road.

Although a Building Fund Committee, headed by its chairman, Robert Loveitt, is conducting an eight-week drive for funds to start the colonial-tyle building the church's permanent committee will faced with the task of interior and exterior planning.

R. Howard Calhoun, president of the Board of Trusteees, announced the appointment of Mrs. Wilbur L. Tindall, Richard C. Shaw and Frederic G. Arnold to the committee.

Calhoun said Mrs. Tindall will be in charge of decorating the pastor's proposed study and the church library; Shaw will head an organ fund-raising drive and aid in the decoration of the sanctuary proper while Arnold will plan the needs of the Sunday School, of which he is superintendent.

The new members of the committee, according to Calhoun, will head sub-committees comprised of five members each from the congregation.

Permanent members of the committee, all trustees, are W. Newell Coe, genral chairman, William J. Reimer, Edward T. Johnson, Albert L. Behrens and J. Newton Tuttle. All committee members are residents of Livingston.

THOUGHT FOR MEDITATION

A life that's lived for self-alone,
The best in it has never grown;
The real beauty that should be,
Has not come out that folks may see.
The only life that proves worth while,
Is one that shares another's trial,
And he who fails in that respect,
Is living out a life's neglect.

Miss Holbrow Aids Special Hobby Show

"Retirement without purpose is sudden death," declared Miss Alice M. Holbrow, 74, chairman of the Recruitment Division for Livingston for the Seventh Annual Hobby Show, for Older People. This year's show will be held the week of May 14-19 at Kresge- Newark.

Miss Holbrow said that folks 60 years of age or older who wish additional information about the hobby show should call or write her at her Livingston address. Her telephone number is LIvingston 6-9128R and she resides at 103 Sycamore apenue.

Speaking about the subject Miss Holbrow remarked, "Too many people fail to undertand the importance of keeping one's mind active and alert. By interesting themselves in a hobby, it makes no difference what kind, they will soon eliminate feelings of helplessness and frustration.

"It is because of this that I'm serving as Recruitment Chairman, I am going to speak to my friends and neighbors to urge them to participate in this year's hobby show. There is no better antidote to combat the fear of growing old," she concluded.

Miss Holbrow pointed up the fact that there is no charge to enter the hobby show.

But there's one thing predictable about March: whatever the weather, Blondel customers will remain serenely comfortable.

Since this is the month of change, though, may we remind you if you aren't a Blondel customer that this is a good month to change to us. You'll quickly see what a difference there can be in heating your home.

LAST OF THE MOHICANS

Hi There!

In like a lion, out like a lamb . . . Peering ahead in the month of March, we can see that it is overflowing with important events . . . Sports Night practices begin March 19 . . . Our next Youth Center will be in action this Friday night. . . College Boards and the Sub-Deb dance vie for attention on Saint Patrick's day . . . Operetta rehearsals will be heard daily in the auditorium . . . Track shoes and baseball gloves are being removed from mothballs and dusted off in preparation for the fast approaching spring season . . . Petitions, posters, and politics reign as the Senate and Clarion elections draw near . . . This is just a brief preview of coming attractions, for the following months will be even more crammed with activities distracting us from our school work.

A seesaw battle was viewed by 950 fans at the Seton Hall gym last Thursday night when Caldwell was edged out of the State Basketball tournament by West Side High. Nerves were on edge as West Side sank a basket during the last seconds of the game which broke the 40-40 tie score and caused them to emerge victorious.

Livingston's own Charlie MacNamara was the hit of our annual band awards assembly when he starred in a musical pantomine entitled "Serenade to an Insomniac." (Need we say more.) Another feature of the program was the issuing of awards. Bernice Froling, able secretary of this organization, presented them to the marching band. To conclude the show, our terrific twirlers entertained us with an original routine. Congratulations to Nancy Edson, Sally Wagner, and Ann Danows who received their twirling letters. This week the spotlight falls on the Key Club. This group sponsored by the Kiwanis, offers aid to the community in various ways. One of their activities was to organize the Cerebral Palsy Drive in Caldwell. The Livingston roster of members include Dick Ewing, who is the Lieutenant Governor of the Essex County District, Malcolm Whiteman, Ward Anthony, and Ed Wahlers. In connection with this club, Dick and Ward will attend a convention in Atlantic City during April.

The Sub-Debs Spring Fashion Show was given Monday at the Women's Club. Jan Franck, Betty Neu, Pat Suckoneck, and Carol Frieman modeled styles form a local shop.

Dick Kollmar has been accepted at Drew University, which is located in Madison N. J. and Pris Crowe at Seton Hill, in Pennsylvania, where she plans to take a pre-nursing course . . . Ardis McCrum, Betty Neu, and Bev Washko journeyed to Montclair High for a basketball playday . . . The annual Blue and White basketball game ended in a two point victory for the Blues while the White Team won the bowling match by 16 pins. Martha Fetherston was high scorer for the White Team with 153 pins . . . When it comes to band uniforms, Carter Hagaman says "They just don't make them like the used to!" . . . Barbara Aromando was chosen to visit the opera on March 16 at the Met . . . Bobbie Peterson has decided to put down her chopsticks and stay out of Chinese restuarrants in the future . . . Larry Kelland has invented a new element which he will appropriately name "Kellandium" . . . Betty McKenzie seems to be enjoying herself at her new home in California and is spending much of her leisure visiting historical spots . . .

Our thought of the week (Borrowed from Mr. Bergman) is "Blessed are they who run around in circles, For they are known as Big Wheels."

Our favorite disc this wek is "Mr. Wonderful" by Sarah Vaughn.

Faculty-Varsity Game

In the Afternoon of Friday, March ninth, the Livingston High School annual faculty-varsity basketball game, sponsored by the upper student council, was played. According to script, it was a semi-comical game. As everyone predicted, the gym was filled to capacity.

The players for the faculty were: Mr. Paul, Mr. McInroy, Mr. Bacso, Mr. Edack, Mr. MacNicoll, Mr. Waddon, Mr. Paglieri, Mr. Lampeter, Mr. Stroup, Mr. Gregg, and Mr. McBride.

Students Paint with Oils It's Easel

Several of Livingston High's Art-minded students have been trying their hands at oil paintings this year. Larry Umbriet is dong a painting of the high school; Paul Havas is doing a picture of Amos Harrison; and Gloria Gallois is doing a portrait of Wendy Midlowa student. The completed pictures will be hung in LHS halls, the picture of Mr. Harrison may be hung in Harrison School.

Larry and Paul started the paintings in November and have been working in their art club periods ever since. Gloria paints her picture in her spare time.

Art in our Halls

The Livingston High School Art Department has been keeping the students guessing with their modern art designs that are displayed in the halls. The puzzled looks on the faces of many are directed to the designs which were done primarily by the seventh and eighth grades.

Mr. Gorka has his classes experimenting in new mediums, such as hot crayon, trying to obtain new affects in mixing colors and textures.

The display cases in the halls are filled with the products of the various departments of the school: Shop, Home Ec. Languages, Etc. Activities have also contributed displays for the cases.

These displays are very interesting to the students for they provide them with information about the other school activities other than their own.

Operetta Cast Selected

Excitement in LHS music and drama circles and hummed snatches of Victor Herbert melodies heard frequently in study halls heralded the revival of a favorite LHS tradition, our annual spring operetta. This year's production of "The Fortune Teller" by Charles George and Victor Herbert will star Karen Beck in the title role as Janet Carmichael, the wealthy orphan who becomes Zingara, a vivacious gypsy fortune teller to escape the superficial, fawning socialities who bore and disgust her.

Co-starring with Karen will be Alice Sorenson as Lucy Stuart, her secretary-companion and Karl Zeeb playing Ken Hamilton. Ron Gverovich portraps the sinoister Allen Page; Marian Rall appears as Mrs. Marietta Hamilton, the mother of Ken; and Gwen Hamilton is portrayed by Mary Ann Watters. An interesting sub-plot shows Kathy Holahan as Jenny Wren, a uirtatious widow making persistant attempts to ensnare contented bachelor Robin Swallow, Jim Frey, who is equally insistant upon his freedom. Judy Beuhlmaier as Claire Arlington, a sophisticated socialite; Judy Oliver as Bessie, the Hamilton maid; and Barbara Klaber as Eileen Thomspon complete the cast.

This year's operetta will be presented on Thursday and Friday, May 17 and 18 in the new LHS auditorium.

The principals and members of the chorus have already begun rehearsals, and all reports indicate a really fine production this year.

Eighth Grade Highlights

Bowling Team Ends Season

The Lancers finished their first bowling season in the North Jersey League with a league tournament on February 15 in which they finished last. Coach Paglieri's junior keglers have, however, shown a marked improvement since their first game on November 30, especially since the team lacks Senior classmen, and practices have been restricted due to lack of funds. The team ended the season with a 2-8 record, putting Livingston one place above the cellar in league standing. Still, bowling's freshman season at LHS has not been to unsuccessful, and the Coach feels that the years ahead hold better things for the Green and White. The Coach will probably be pinning his hopes for '56-'57 on, among ohers, Dennis Berardinelli and Herb Schweinberg. Dennis, who finished high-man for Livingston is only Lancer to make the "200" club with a 207 game. Herb also shows promise. George Berg, who started well with a 150 average, fell off at the half-way mark. Wayne Miller and Richard Dreves also look good for next season. At any rate, Coach Paglieri aims for a 20 pin increase in every man's average.

"Careful! Watch that bottle of Sulphuric Acid!" Crash ! ! Splat!

"Now you've done it. You've broken the bottle and worse than that burnt yourself. Well, this calls for first aid equipment immediately."

If you are wondering where this startling introduction is leading, may I inform you of the project now being undertaken by Mr. Stroup's Biology classes. It is the requirement of every science room to have a first aid kit and with the co-operation of Mrs. Gosnell, the school nurse, this is being made possible. These first aid kits are individual projects. A list was made by each student as to what should be included in the kits; among other things, burn solutions have been decided upon.

In addition to the first aid kits, the Practical Biology class is constructing and evergreen tree box, which at present is only adorned with asphalt.

Following this article there will be a series of artciles included in this column for the benefit of our readers, so that they will be informed more clearly as to the projects being undertaken in the different courses and activities of L.H.S.

Down Hepcats

Once again the Shooting Shorties ended up on the long side of the scoring as they cooled the Hepcats 24-17. With Stieglitz and Neu scoring 13 and 8 points respectively, the high flying Shorties showed their heels to the Hepcats as they jjumped off to an early lead, and maintained it throughout.

The Hepcats rallied late in the third period on baskets by Teed, Koenig and Raymond, but the Shorties countered on scores by Stieglitz and Neu.

Excellent rebounding and defensive performances for the Shorties were turned in by McCrum, Edson, Miller, Fetherston and Crowe, while for the Hepcats, Hammett, Washko, Monaco and Stevens sparked their team in a losing cause.

Connolly Named Campaign Manager

In their first formal action following announcement of their candidacy for Councilmen, David W. Dowd, George R. Cox and Herbert A. Niedhammer selected Edward W. Connolly, local attorney, of Redwood road, as Campaign Manager.

In accepting the Post, Connolly stated it was a distinct pleasure to be able to present to the people of the Township men of the standing and stature in the Community as Dowd, Cox and Niedhammer. In addition, Connolly remarked that he was thankful for the opportunity of being able to play an active part in presenting to the electorate, a slate which will insure a new look at Town Hall.

As long ago as August 1954, when asked why he so vigorously worked for the Livingston Citizen's Committee for Charter Study and Municipal Government, both as counsel and trustee, Connolly replied "Livingston and its Citizens are shortchanged daily in the functioning and administration of local government" and the "shortchanging" was "due in no small part to the archaic and unrealistic circumscriptions and impracticalities of the current Township Form of Government."

"Now that the Citizen's Committee program has successfully been concluded, so far as giving Livingston a new form of government, there remains, at the present time, Connolly stated," the task of presenting to the voters for their approval new faces steeped in qualifications and zeal, to round out what will be the Finest Municipal Governmental Unit in the State.

"I am convinced that the Candidates I have been asked to present to the Townspeople, meet Livingston's exacting needs which leaves but the enjoyable duty of aiding and assisting the Voters of Livingston to reach a similar conclusion at the Polls on April 17, 1956."

(c) The estimated maximum amount of money to be raised from all sources for said improvement is $140,000.00.

Section 4. The following matters are hereby determined, declared, recited and stated:

(a) The said purpose described in Section 3 of this ordinance is not a current expense and is an improvement or property which the municipality may lawfully make or acquire as a local improvement, and the cost thereof to the extent of the appropriation hereby made therefor shall be specially assessed on property specially benefited thereby.

(b) The period of usefulness of said purpose, within the limitations of sections 40:1-34 to 40:1-36 of said Local Bond Law and according to the reasonable life thereof, is forty (40) years.

(c) The supplemental debt statement required by said Law has been duly made and filed in the Office of the Township Clerk and a complete executed original thereof has been filed in the Office of the Director of the Division of Local Government of the State of New Jersey, and such statement shows that the gross debt of the municipality as defined in section 40:1-76 of said Law is increased by this ordinance by $140,000.00 and the issuance of the said obligations authorized by this ordinance is permitted by the exception contained in subsection (g) of section 40:1-16 of said Law to the debt limitations prescribed by said Law.

49'ers, Panthers Win League Victories

Leading 10-6 at the quarter and 20-15 at halftime, the 49'ers continued their dominance of the rebounding and scoring in the second half to roll over the Department Store 45-32.

The 49'ers functioned smoothly as a unit shooting and passing off with an effective combination, while the Dep't Store in direct contrast concerned themselves with individual scoring laurels. With La Meire, Kretchmer, Graham and Gillette spearheading their drives, the 49'ers established an early lead and did not relinquish it throughout.

Later in the week, the Panthers defeated the Comets 19-17 in a low scoring, but high spirited, contest. Trailing throughout, the Comets made a strong bid late in the third quarter on baskets by Dreves, and foul shots by Walsh, Berardinelli and Gerlett, but the height advantage of the Panthers proved too much for the Comets.

As chance would have it these same two teams in a return match later in the week saw the tide reversed as the Comets annexed their first victory of the season as they dumped the Panthers 31-25.

In other court action, the Livingston Department Store was defeated by the 49'ers 63-45. Outscored but not outplayed, the Department Store team turned in one of their best performances of the season, highlighted by the outstanding rebounding of Bob Schnetzer and scoring of Bob Downing. The Dep't Store however was the victim of one of the most prolific scoring paces of the season, as literally anything the 49'ers threw up, went in. The 49'ers were led by the efficient passing and shooting of Magers, Kretchmer, La Meire and McGinity as they established and early lead and built it up as the game progressed.

Rams Win In Overtime Thriller

In a triple overtime thriller, the Rams edged the Eagles 26-24, on a game ending basket by George Samuelson in the sudden death period. Trailing 10-6 at the halftime, the Rams sparked by Samuelson, Miller, Spicer and Cromartie surged to tie the game in the third quarter. From midway in the third quarter until the winning basket was scored it was a basket for basket battle.

The Eagles, led by Allen, Kopp and McKay began to run out of gas early in the sudden death period, as they missed three opportunities to win the game. The Rams, cool in the clutch, held the ball for a good shot, and scored on their first and only shot in the period, on Samuelson's twisting shot from underneath.
