Local Nike Base Is Part of Nation-Wide Anti-Aircraft Defense System Designed To Protect Major Urban Areas

A Nike Hercules, similar to the type stationed at the local Nike base, streaks skyward in a cloud of smoke instants after firing at Macgregor Missile Range. A second missile stands ready to act as a follow-up shot if necessary.

To Livingstonites, the sight of various radar towers atop Riker Hill has gotten to be commonplace. The local Nike base has operated here peacefully for many years, and the public generally knows that it is part of the air defense system of the New York metropolitan area.

Because of the nature of the system, no missiles are ever fired from the local battery, although there are many simulated tests. The only time the local battery, or any battery of such weapons throughout the World, gets a chance to fire a real missile is when they take their annual training trip to MacGregor Missile Range in New Mexico, a short distance from Fort Bliss and El Paso, Texas.

Thus, it was with a great deal of pleasure that the editor accepted an invitation from the New Jersey National Guard Air Defense Command, under Major General Cantwell, to accompany a group of New Jersey officials to Fort Bliss, MacGregor, the White Sands Missile Range, and to NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs. It gave us an opportunity to learn more about the basic workings of the Nike system and the whole air defense command set-up, and to watch the actual firing of some of the missiles. In this and subsequent articles, we hope to give our readers a bit of understanding on just what the whole system does, and why it is there.

The history of warfare, from time immemorial has been one the development of weapons and defenses. Each time an antagonist comes up with a new weapon, it has been necessary for the other side to develope a defense against it. As technological progress proceeds on both sides, greater weapons and greater defenses are developed.

Missile Need Seen

During World War II, particularly after the development of the atomic bomb, military authorities recognized that a better defense against aircraft was needed. New planes could fly higher and faster than their predecessors, and at the same time, one individual plane could pack enough destruction to wipe out an entire city. The old defenses of aircraft against aircraft, and anti-aircraft artillery were no longer an adequate defense.

As early as 1944, the need for a missile that could outspeed and outmaneuver aircraft was recognized, and in 1945 the problem was passed on to the Bell Laboratories. Within five months Bell came back and said they felt it could be done, and they were given a contract. By the time the Nike Missile program became a reality, it involved Army Ordnance, Western Electric, Bell Labs and Douglas Aircraft, as well as hundreds of subcontractors.

From the outset, the Nike project had some specific objectives. Nike would have these characteristics:

Supersonic speed and rocket power free of dependence on this atmosphere for its supply of oxygen.

Ground-based guidance equipment which would not be expended each time a missile was fired.

A warhead of sufficient power to destroy its target without scoring a direct hit.

Self-sufficient capabilities for covering the range of the air battle, if necessary, from detection through destruction of enemy targets.

An open-end design — that is, a system capable of accommodating improvements economically with the least obsolescence of existing components.

Missiles had been in use in World War II, most commonly known of which was the bazooka, used to attack tanks. These missiles were further developed and the army now has a Chaparelle missile and the Redeye, with heat-seeking noses.

Enter The Ajax

However, the big break-through came with the Nike Ajax, developed in 1951. This was a guided missile, controlled from the ground by a combination of radar and computers, which flew high and fast and could be locked on a target, following it through various maneuvers.

This missile made conventional anti-aircraft batteries outmoded, and over a span of three years the major centers of the nation were protected by them with batteries strategically located such as the one in Livingston.

However, planes began flying

Open Campaign For Little League

Volunteer canvassers will open their solicitation of Livingston homes on Saturday, March 18, seeking operating funds for Little League. The fund drive is conducted jointly by the American and National Little League organizations. The money will be used to finance the baseball program for more than one thousand Livingston boys.

H. S. Addition On Schedule

Construction work at Livingston High School was reported proceeding on schedule this week. The report was made to the Board of Education by secretary and business manager George M. Bowman.

The addition to the high school has been completely enclosed, Bowman reported, and tile is now being installed in the corridors. If there are no unexpected major difficulties, he said, "the building addition should be ready by the opening of the school year in September."

Bowman praised the cooperation of teachers and students during the period of construction, which has made normal schedules impossible at the school. Despite a great deal of inconvenience, he reported, "there has been a minimum of complaint from the staff throughout this whole time of construction."

In preparation for the completion of the addition to the high school, administration officials have met to consider requirements for equipment and furniture. Bids and quotations have been received, and orders will be placed in the near futur for this equipment so that it can be delivered in time for the start of school next September.

Library To Close

The Livingston Public Library will be closed all day Good Friday, March 24, and Saturday, March 25.

Additional $200,000 Donated To West Essex YMCA Building

The projected West Essex Branch building of the YMCA of the Oranges, Maplewood and West Essex has received an additional $200,000 in memory of the late Leonard D. Baldwin, it was announced today by Herbert P. Schoeck, president of the Association.

The gift will make possible the construction of a gym in the new building, which will go up in Livingston, and will serve Roseland Essex Fells, Hanover and Short Hills as well.

This contribution followed a memorial gift of $135,000 also made by the family and friends of Mr. Baldwin to the new building in 1966. At the time the first gift was made, it was announced that the swimming pool would be named the Leonard D. Baldwin Memorial Pool.

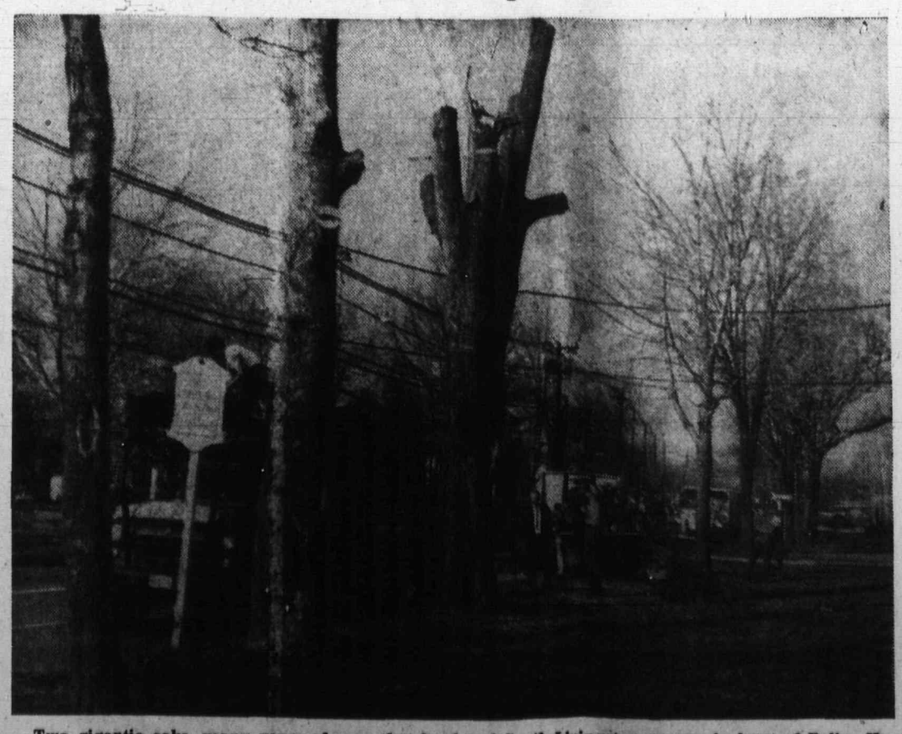

Mr. Baldwin was elected a director of the YMCA of the Oranges, Maplewood and West Essex in 1907. He became president of the Association in 1912 and served until his death in 1933.

"The members of the West Essex Branch YMCA are deeply appreciative of the memorial to Mr. Baldwin, which totals $335,000 and makes possible the two major facilities in the building," Frank F. Ransome, chairman of the West Essex Branch committee of management, declared, "The gym and the pool will be built because of these memorial funds.

"Thanks to the recent gift of $200,000 the whole West Essex

Old Oak Trees In Front of Headquarters Taken Down

Two gigantic oaks, many years of age, that bordered South Livingston avenue in front of Police Headquarters were removed this week by the Essex County Shade Tree Commission. The trees had become weakened by age, and in the recent heavy windstorm a large section of one of them had come down. Sharde Tree Commission experts felt that the trees had become a safety hazard and should be removed.

One Dead, Six Badly Hurt In Head-On Crash Friday Night

The ghastly damage to the two cars is visible proof of the terrific impact which occurred when the vehicles met on Route 10 east of Broadlawn drive and Mt. Pleasant School at the foot of Second Mountain. (Photo by George Dusenbury)

An East Orange girl has died and six other young people are badly injured as a result of a head-on collision on East Mt. Pleasant avenue late Friday night. The wreck took place near Broadlawn drive when a car driven by William E. Lohrfink, 20, of 9 Intervale road crossed the centerline of the highway and collided with the second vehicle, driven by Anthony Ferrara, 18, of Orange.

Ferrara was one of six persons in his car, all of whom were badly hurt. Policemen, fire equipment and the First Aid Squad were sent to the scene, and all of the injured were taken to Saint Barnabas Medical Center. Route 10 had to be closed for nearly an hour while emergency equipment worked at the scene, and traffic had to be rerouted from Pleasant Valley Way in West Orange to Livingston Center.

Lohrfink was the only occupant of his car; he was hospitalized with scalp lacerations and multiple injuries.

Ferrara, the driver of the second car, suffered a concussion and two leg fractures. Passengers in his car were Mary E. Ryan, 18, of East Orange, who suffered multiple lacerations, a fractured jaw, and a possible fracture of the spine; Mark Dowd, 15, of Bloomfield, who had a concussion; Robert H. Follmer, 17, of East Orange, who was hospitalized with multiple injuries, concussion, and scalp lacerations; and Claudia A. Ottaa-

Two Youths Arrested For Assaulting Policemen Trying To Prevent Disturbance

Two boys were arrested by Livingston police on Saturday night in a successful attempt to avoid a riot at a rock and roll dance at the YMCA building on North Livingston avenue. Both have been charged with assault on a police officer as a result of the incident.

Patrolman James Durkin first called for assistance at the YMCA shortly after 10 p.m., when a large group of teenagers had congregated in the parking lot next to the YMCA. All available patrol cars were sent to the scene, and police spotted one youth whom they considered the focus of the disturbance. He was shouting foul oaths at the police, and had aroused the emotions of the crowd, estimated at around four hundred teenagers. Patrolman Donald Jones was punched in the face by the shouting youth, and another boy joined in the ensuing fight. Both boys were subdued and removed from the crowd by police car, and the violent emotion of the crowd subsided.

The older of the two boys, 17 year old, got out of control again at police headquarters, cursing and attempting to attack the arresting officers. Police reported that he had evidently been drinking either at or prior to the dance.

Both of the boys have been charged with assaulting a police officer. The younger, age 16, has been released in the custody of his parents pending action in Juvenile Court. The older is being confined at the Youth House in Newark.

In reviewing the actions of his men during the incident, Police Chief Richard G. Swain commended their efficiency in locating the source of the disturbance. He noted that the basic principle of crowd control in a riot situation is to remove the agitators, which is what had been done by the policemen at the scene. He also commended his men for their tactics, pointing out that there were no mass arrests or unnecessary force used to break up the mob. Although many teenagers in the crowd had shouted and cursed at the officers, no action was taken against them since it was felt that they had been led on by a few instigators.

The Chief also pointed out that recent legislation has placed assault on a police officer in the category of a high misdemeanor, comparable to such crimes as arson and rape, carrying a much more severe penalty than had previously been the case.

Township Manager Robert H. Harp was equally pleased with the work of the many patrolmen who were sent to the YMCA Saturday night. He commended their restraint, and, like Chief Swain, stated that he was proud of the way that the officers had singled out the center of the trouble and moved to remove him from the mob.

Commenting on the attacks on the policemen by the two boys, Harp stated flatly that "we will not tolerate assaults on Livingston policemen." He pointed out that one action which might be taken to reduce the problem in the future is to place a limit on the occupancy of the YMCA. The dance, which was not operated by the YMCA itself but by an outside group which had rented the facilities, had evidently been oversubscribed.

Two other problems were pointed out by police as contributing to the unruly crowd on Saturday night. The first is that of liquor, which, although illegal, may be consumed by the teenagers before they leave for the dance. No matter how rigid the drinking control at the dance may be, therefore, it is still possible to have an inebriated element in attendance which adds to crowd emotion.

Nike Base

higher and faster, and it became apparent that the Ajax could not meet new threats. Experimentation went on and the Nike Hercules was developed — a higher flying, faster, more deadly missile that has actually hit targets 150,000 feet high. The Hercules has replaced Ajax in all operational batteries. However, since their operations are the same, and the Ajax is far cheaper to make, Ajax is still used for the most part at Macgregor Missile Range where the various batteries come to practice.

The greater height capacity of the Hercules, however, brought need for another missile. Very fast, low flying planes were below the operational range of the Hercules, so a smaller missile, the Hawk, which operates on a relatively flat trajectory, had to be developed. The Hawk also is extremely fast, is guided by radar and computer, and can hit these low flying planes.

Missiles Fired

Up at Macgregor Range we watched batteries from West Germany, New York, and the Baltimore-Washington area go through their paces firing actual missiles. It was stressed that these firings were not a show — they were actual practice.

LIVINGSTON POST 201

A Hawk Missile leaves its launcher speeding toward its target. Unlike the Nike, this missile has no booster. The entire propulsion system is self contained. This missile is designed to intercept and destroy low-flying attacking planes.

We witnessed the firing of two Hercules missiles, five Ajax missiles, and two Hawks. One other scheduled Ajax shot was scrapped when the missile did not respond properly to pre-firing tests. It was explained that these precautions are taken because it would be a catastrophe to shoot off a faulty missile over densely populated areas.

Accurate? They certainly were! All of the Nike missiles hit their targets some as much as five miles high and 28 miles away. The entire operation takes between 15 and 45 seconds, depending on the distance of the targets. Officials stated that the average at Macgregor range is 86% kills.

As the command to fire is issued a great billow of smoke arises from the launching area. The missile rises, powered by a booster rocket which lasts only two and a half seconds. After the 2½ seconds, the booster is detached, but it still shoots skyward a great distance before losing its power and falling back to earth. Meanwhile the missile itself uses self contained power to achieve speeds three times that of sound. After the booster is off, the guidance system takes over, steering the missile in the proper trajectory to intercept an enemy plane. If the target shifts course, the computers immediately relay corrections to the guidance system, and the missile's course is adjusted to compensate.

Boosters No Danger

Living so close to a Nike launcher, Livingstonites might wonder what happens when the booster comes down. The trajectory of these boosters has been fully calculated, and at the proper distance from the launcher there is a vacant area where these boosters will land harmlessly.

Of the shots we observed, all seven Nike missiles hit their targets. These targets were actually simulated. Instead of putting a drone target into the air, the course of the supposed target was programmed into the computer, which then calculated it just the way a real target would be fixed. The job of the battery firing the missile was to have the missile arrive at a precise point in space at a precise instant, at which time it was exploded.

Officials stated that an absolute direct hit is not necessary. If the explosion occurs within a certain proximity of the target, it's a dead duck. Just what this effective proximity is was not disclosed. It's a classified matter, but the briefing officer said "effective" proximity is a lot farther than you probably think it is."

We did see one drone get shot down by a Hawk missile, which hit the target, flying at 220 miles per hour at a distance of about 15 miles. The target, incidentally, was only about eight to twelve feet long, and it was clobbered. It broke up in a ball of fire. The second Hawk shot was a dud. Whether the fault was in the missile or in the battery firing, it we did not learn.

One At A Time

Questioning brought out the fact that each battery in an area will be assigned one specific target if a flight of enemy planes comes in. Until that specific target is destroyed, the battery pays no attention to any other target. All the radar and homing equipment is concentrated on this one plane (or missile as the case may be). The various Nike batteries surrounding a metropolitan area get their orders from a central command post. For this reason, the ranges of the batteries overlap so that any space in the area is within reach of several batteries. In fact, our readers will be interested to know that in the briefing they showed an example of what would happen if Livingston was wiped off the face of the map. We're sure you'll be happy to know that the air above the Township was still covered by other batteries!

It was explained that this type of defense would make it impractical for any enemy to attempt mass bombing as was used in the last war. If planes came in massed, one missile with an atomic warhead exploded in the midst of them could wipe out the whole flight. It was indicated, but not stated, that each battery has an assortment of available warheads in its missile stock, so that the right type of missile can be sent aloft on any specific mission.

This then is the basic story of anti-aircraft defense as it now stand However, as weapons change, so must defenses, and nothing should be considered static. In future articles other phases of total air defense will be discussed.

lagano, 17, of East Orange, who suffered multiple injuries and lacerations. Catherine A. Henckel, 17, of East Orange, died on Tuesday morning of injuries suffered in the collision.

Ferrara and Miss Ottalagano were still listed as critical by Saint Barnabas Medical Center as late as Wednesday, at which time Mary Ryan was reclassified as in critical condition.

Police were also involved in the emergency procurement of O-negative blood for the accident victims. Livingston Patrolman Emil Olson donated a pint of his own blood, which was of the correct type, and Patrolman William Sherwood was sent to pick up another pint from a hospital in Brooklyn — the nearest source of this type. He was met at the Holland Tunnel by New York City police, who had rushed the blood that far to cut the delivery time.

Board Favors 65 Retirement Age

The Livingston Board of Education this week adopted a resolution backing changes in the retirement age provisions of State laws. The resolution will be presented to the semi-annual meeting of the State Federation of District Boards of Education of New Jersey.

Recent legislation has made it mandatory for Boards of Education to employ teachers andd other employees until 70 years of age. In its resolution passed Monday evening the Board urged that previous rules be reinstated, making it permissable but not mandatory, so that teachers could be judged on their individual merits rather than as a group.

$200,000 Given To Help Finance Construction of New YMCA Building

REVISED FLOOR PLAN of the new West Essex Branch YMCA building shows activity room, which may be divided into three club rooms. Lobby and lounge are L shaped.

Branch project is being reviewed, and adjustments are being made to include all the facilities possible which were in the plans for the major core building."

The architects, Ludlow and Jefferson of Summit, are working on new drawings and expect to advertise for public bids late in the spring. Hopefully construction can get under way during the summer, Mr. Ransome said. The first bids, which were made by invitation and were received last November, exceeded the then available building funds by 40%.

The revised building plans will include all important facilities. The 65 by 86 fott gym will occupy the second floor. The 35 by 75 foot pool will, of course, be two stories in height. A 35 by 56 foot activity room, which will seat 200 and accommodate 300 at a dance will be fitted in on the ground floor.

Other Y facilities will include: health services with massage area, steam bath and ultra violet lamp; locker rooms for men and boys and girls and women; a special exercise room with bicycles, rowing machine and stall bars and a lounge for health club members. There will also be several staff offices, a general office and a control center.

There is now a total of about $750,000 available for the new branch. Even this does not include all the costs of construction, site planning and preparation and architects' fees, and contributions are still being sought, Mr. Ransome said.

The new building will be on a three acres site on South Livingston avenue, Livingston.

To Require 60 Day Registration Notice

The Board of Education on Monday evening approved a new policy covering notice of intention to resign employment and terminate contracts. In the future, the Board will require sixty days notice of termination.

There had been no policy covering resignation in the past, except for retirement. The new policy approved this week quotes the State statute which requires Board of Education employees to give sixty days notice of resignation. The policy is virtually identical to that already in force in most other Essex County school districts.

The State statute penalizes a teacher who fails to give sixty days notice and makes it possible for the State Commissioner of Education to suspend his certificate for one year.

Al-Anon Invites Families, Friends To Help Solve Drinking Problems

The local Al-Anon group this week issued the following announcement:

"There is hope and help for the families of alcoholics (or problem drinkers, if you prefer.) They can learn to understand this problem and thereby to live with it in comparative serenity - even though the alcoholic never attains sobriety.

"Sound ridiculous? Not at all. Thousands of wives, husbands, sisters, mothers, etc. of alcoholics the world over have learned to live with the most active problems and yet maintain their sanity, even to live a happy life. Their 'secret,' which they are most willing to share with others, is the Al-Anon Program.

"Formally titled the Al-Anon Family Group Program, this is a fellowship of relatives and friends of problem drinkers who are banded together to try to solve their common problems of fear, insecurity, lack of understanding of the alcoholic and of the warped personal lives resulting from alcoholism. Al-Anon is a separate fellowship, not a part of A.A., however, both are closely allied and cooperate with each other in every way possible. Like A.A., anonymity of members is stressed.

"This mysterious force, called 'the program,' offers the tools to solve one's own problems which result from living with an excessive drinking problem. The alcoholic will stop drinking only when there is a deep desire to do so.

"Livingston has an active, effective Al-Anon group which celebrated its first anniversary on March 7. Regular meetings are held every Tuesday, at 8:30 at Grace Lutheran Church. Newcomers are encouraged to visit any meetings and see for themselves what the program has to offer.

"Further information may be obtained by calling 674-0156."

Seek Sponsors For Baseball Leagues

The Recreation and Parks Department is in need of team sponsors for the Junior and Intermediate League baseball program.

Team sponsorship is $100 per team for the first year and $50 per team for each year thereafter. The first year cost includes the design and making of a patch which each boy wears on his uniform. In addition to team sponsorship, individual player sponsorship is available for a $10 a year fee.

Anyone interested in either a team or individual sponsorship may contact the Recreation Department, 992-2620, any day, Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Riker Hill PTA Plans Dessert Bridge

Riker Hill School P.T.A. is planning its second annual Dessert Bridge and Fashion Show to be held on April 4 at 8:00 p.m. at the school.

The bridge co-chairmen are Mrs. Sam Petronella and Mrs. Edward Lillenthal.

Mrs. Fred Koehler is raffle chairman. Mrs. Harry Rawnsley, in charge of door prizes, reports that her committee has reached its goal of one door prize per table, mostly due to the generousity of local merchants.

Mrs. Sy Rein, refreshment chairman, has arranged for home-baked goods donated by Riker Hill School mothers to be served by junior hostesses who are volunteers from Livingston High School. Mrs. James Roop has all posters ready for distribution throughout town.

Highlight of the evening will be a fashion dramatization, "Lady Be Lovely," presented by Miss Betty Best, well known fashion personality who has appeared on radio and T.V.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling the ticket chairman, Mrs. Harold Housell, 992-2754.

AZA Meets Tonight

There will be a meeting of the Livingston chapter of AZA at 7:30 p.m. today, Thursday, at 9 Locust place. Anyone interested may attend or call Jack Goldstein, 992-3124 for further information.

Residents Collide On Northfield Road

A Livingston woman was injured and another resident received a summons for careless driving as a result of a collision on West Northfield road Monday afternoon.

Police reported that the two cars, operated by Emily F.Mihalick of 5 Clover lane and Richard Andrews of 4 Bennington road, collided at the Winchester road intersection. Mrs. Mihalick was taken to Dr. Baker's office for treatment of knee injuries and shock. Andrews was charged with careless driving by investigating officers.

Ten Livingston Students Named To Receive State College Scholarships

Ten Livingston students have been named recipients of awards from the New Jersey State Scholarship Commission. The recipients were picked from more than 22,500 students who had applied for the awards.

The Livingston students who have been chosen are Kathryn R. Kelly of 232 East McClellan avenue; Peter A. Lurker of 324 Beaufort avenue; Marilyn H. Lynch of 10 Bennington road; Maryellen Lynch, 35 Laurel avenue; Robert J. Monahan, 31 Park drive; William G. Murdock, 11 Manor road; Richard J. Noecker of 31 Brandon avenue; Martha E. Stroup, 15 Cambridge road; and David B. Thurston, 51 Falcon road.

State scholarships pay recipients $500 a year or the amount of tuition, whichever is less. Awards are renewable, and may be held throughout the period of undergraduate study.

Of the thousands of students who applied for the awards, the state commission selects those who have the greatest need for financial aid in obtaining a college education, and who present a satisfactory high school record and College Entrance Examination Board score. High moral character, good citizenship and dedication to American ideals are also required.

Studens who are interested in applying for State Scholarships must file a preliminary application by the middle of November. Further information on these scholarships is available through the guidance office at the high school or from the State Department of Education in Trenton.

Falls Asleep At Wheel; Car Wrecked

A Newark driver was given a ticket for careless driving after his car went off the road on South Orange avenue at 3 a.m. on Sunday. Arthur H. Feret told police he evidently fell sleep at the wheel before his car went over the curb and hit a fence and a utility pole, wrecking the front end.

Feret was taken to Saint Barnabas Medical Center for treatment of injuries and was issued a careless driving summons.

Two Outstanding Students Cited

In his report to the Board of Education on Monday evening, high school principal Julius C. Bernstein singled out two students for special commendation.

Roslyn Goodman, the principal pointed out, has achieved rank as a scholarship finalist in the National Honor Society scholarship program. "When one considers the level of competence and capability which this particular competition draws from," Bernstein stated, "Roslyn's achievement is all the more outstanding."

Bernstein also commended Louis Tsien, saying that he had "established a record of sorts in his College Entrance Examination Board tests, scoring four 800's in the past two years in achievement tests in advanced mathematics, chemistry and physics, as well as in the Scholastic Aptitude Tests in mathematics."

Nasty and Unwarranted

A very serious incident occurred last Saturday night. An overflow crowd was in attendance at a "go-go" dance program, put on at the YMCA by a private group. The crowd outside became unruly, and officers on duty felt it necessary to call for reinforcements as the yattempted to restore order.

From what we have ascertained, the police determined that the focal point of the disturbance was a youth whose breath smelled of alcohol. He had not been in the building, but was in the parking lot with a group of some 200 others.

The police attempted to remove the miscreant who resisted violently and used extremely foul language in the process —so foul that it became a more serious matter. The youth broke away from the police, evidently struck one of them, and was finally subdued.

So far, it was just a nasty incident. What happened afterwards made it serious. The crowd turned against the police, and one of them actually jumped one of the policemen who was subduing the original culprit. There were cries of "Police brutality," both at the scene and afterwards throughout the town which were reminiscent of the tactics used by elements trying to foment trouble in places like Harlem.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. We know the policemen involved and how they act. Officers Jones, Ackerman, Thoms, Danckwerth, and Durkin and Detective Craig are not brutal men — they are fine types who take their job seriously and act considerately toward the public. They had a job to do, and they were doing it under difficulty because the public was not giving its proper respect to law and order.

The shocking part of it, as far as we are concerned, was the way the crowd opposed the police. We had thought that in a community such as ours families would train their children to respect and cooperate with the police, not oppose them.

Yes, there were undoubtedly a lot of out-of-town members of the younger set present, but the two persons who finally were arrested were Livingston youths. We can't hide our heads in the sand on that score. This is a Livingston problem.

Frankly, we have had strong suggestions made that the names of the two youths should be published. Assault on an officer of the law is a serious crime which goes far beyond what is normally called juvenile delinquency. We have debated the matter backwards and forwards and have finally decided to bow to custom and precedent and withhold the names, at least until we see how the cases are handled by the authorities. If they are treated as adult cases, in open court, as can be the case for a crime of this magnitude, the names will be published.

We have checked with YMCA officials on the background of the incident. It was not a Y sponsored affair. The hall had been made available to an out-of-town entrepreneur who stages these dances at various places. The Y set down certain rules — the presence of adult supervision and police, the prohibition of admitting anyone who had been drinking, etc. According to what we have learned, there were no incidents inside the building. A very large crowd was in attendance. Combined with the crowd that was in the parking lot, it probably exceeded the capacity of the building. This is rather hard to determine, since a great many of the attendants probably left to go out for a smoke and a breath of air from time to time.

The incident is not over yet. We imagine that there will be numerous conferences and the evolution of new policy on the leasing out of Y premises to out of town affairs such as this. Certainly the Y, as part of its service to youth, should support legitimate activities such as the CYO dance that we understand is scheduled there this Saturday night. However, some line is going to have to be drawn. We cannot tolerate any activity which generates hoodlumism.

One thing is certain. The people of Livingston are not going to tolerate assaults on their policemen. We have a fine force, and we're going to keep it that way.

Kiwanis Hold Charter Night

The thirty-seventh annual Charter Night of the Kiwanis Club of Livingston was held on Saturday, March 11 at The Manor, West Orange. More than 170 members, wives and guests attended the formal dinner-dance presented by the club to commemorate the 37 years of Kiwanis in Livingston.

President Louis R. Polzer welcomed the dinner guests, who included the presidents of the Livingston Rotary and Lions Clubs, and introduced Mayor Peter B. Cooper, who is also a Kiwanian, Township Manager Robert Harp, and the Reverend Edward Kavin.

Immediate past president Everett C. Homolka presented the Legion of Merit Award to Carl Dressel, Jr., and past governor Mervyn T. Haines for over 30 years of membership and service to the community, and a 37 year perfect attendance pin was presented to charter member Robert Connor.

President Polzer introduced John W. Chapman, Dudley I. Edge, Alan J. Fletcher, William G. Hughan Jr., Philip C. Mann, Vincent Moorehead, Frank K. Pierson, Edward Salisbury, Adolf R. Schrader, David M. Ward and their wives who have joined the club since Charter Night last year. Dancing followed the program.

Irvington Man Stopped After Chase By Police

Livingston Patrolman John Durish apprehended the driver of a Corvette sports car after a 90 mile an hour chase through Hanover and Livingston into West Orange early Monday morning. Hanover Police first reported the car, and notified Livingston that it was coming into town on Route 10. Several Livingston patrolmen attempted to stop the car without success until Durish stopped the driver, Peter J. Motzenbecker, 25, of Irvington, on Eagle Rock avenue in West Orange.

Motzenbecker has been charged with reckless driving and with fleeing a pursuing police officer, and has been released on bail pending court action.

YMCA Opens Spring Swimming Lessons

The West Essex branch YMCA's spring term of swim lessons for boys and girls will open Saturday, March 18, and will continue for 10 consecutive Saturdays, Philip C. Mann, executive secretary of the Y branch, announced today.

As usual the class will be held in the pool at Central branch of the YMCA of the Oranges, Maplewood and West Essex in Orange, and the children will be transported there by chartered bus. The fee for the series of 10 lessons will be $10, and participants must, of course, be YMCA members.

The children will be taught in small groups in the pool, and instruction will be given for all levels of ability from beginner to advanced. Chief instructor will be Terry Mulholland, coach of the West Essex Branch Y girls' swim team, and he will be assisted by high school boys and girls who have had YMCA swim leaders' training.

The chartered bus for the swim class will leave Northfield Center at 12:25 p.m. and the Y, 52 North Livingston avenue, at 12:30 p.m. The class will be held from 1 to 2 p.m., and the bus will return to the pick-up points around 2:30 p.m.

Parents may register youngsters for the class by calling the West Essex Branch Y at 992-7500.

Baseball Registration Deadline Is March 25

All boys interested in playing baseball in the Department of Recreation and Parks sponsored Junior and Intermediate Leagues are reminded that registration closes Saturday, March 25. The Recreation office is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Six Penalized At Traffic Court

Six Livingston drivers were fined in Municipal Court this week on various traffic charges.

Leon Cymanski of 102 Beaufort avenue, was fined $20 and court costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding at 59 miles an hour in a 40 mile zone. Mark R. Cohen of 34 Tremont terrace and Robert L. Csitkovits of 6 Fieldstone drive were both given suspended fines for failure to have their registrations in their possession.

Ronald D. Storey paid a $10 fine for driving an unregistered car; he lives at 11 Fernwood road. Peggy Kirspel of 12 Glannon road was fined $10 for driving an uninspected vehicle.

Kay H. Gilbert of 6 Tiffany drive pleaded guilty to careless driving, and was fined $15 and court costs.

Wolfe Wins Award For Sales

Edward Wolfe of 24 Billingsley drive was named the winner of the Outstanding Salesman of the Year Award at Rheingold Breweries, Inc., in Orange recently. He is shown receiving the award from sales director Thomas E. Quinn.

Stop winter heating from drying out the very life of your home

It's a fact: winter heating makes homes drier than the Sahara Desert, and that's bad! This condition shrinks furniture joints until the legs collapse, kills fragile plant life, makes sparks fly after you walk across a rug. It's why some people feel cold at 72 degrees and turn up the heat to feel warmer! Some medical authorities state that dry air due to winter heating can lead to colds, asthmatic attacks and sinus conditions. If dry air is your health or home problem, a Walton Humidifier will help you by restoring vital life-supporting moisture to your indoor atmosphere. Made of tough, non-corrosive materials and tooled to very fine tolerances, Walton Humidifiers are built to provide a lifetime of dependable performance. Designed and made so well they carry a Double Warranty. Outright replacement of the operating unit if it fails to operate plus a new Double Warranty...plus the usual coverage on parts! It's no wonder why Walton is called "No. 1 Leader in the Humidification Industry."

JWV To Elect Officers Thursday

Livingston Post No. 740 of the Jewish War Veterans will meet at the Recreation Center on Thursday, March 23, at 8:30 p.m.

Election of officers will take place, and while a slate of candidates has already been selected, nominations from the floor will be accepted.

The feature of the evening will be an illustrated talk by Joseph Sharpless, Livingston's Director of Parks and Recreation. His subject will be "Livingston's Recreation Facilities."

The Post is offering a scholarship to a qualified member of the graduating class of Livingston High School. Members are urged to forward their contributions to the Mayflower Savings Bank made out to Livingston Post No. 740 JWV Scholarship Fund. The Post will welcome and acknowledge any contributions by non members.

The annual dinner-dance will take place on Saturday, March 25, at the Friar Tuck Inn in Cedar Grove. Members are reminded that there is a limited number of invitations available.

The Post repeats its standing invitation to all veterans of the Jewish faith living in and around Livingston to be its guests at the upcoming meeting. Information pertinent to membership may be obtained from Morris Pollack at 992-6999.

Puts Out Fire With Sink Spray

Mrs. Leo Plevy of 2 Lockhern drive put out a fire in her kitchen this week, using the spray attachment on the sink. Firemen, who arrived shortly afterward to see that all was well, reported that Mrs. Plevy had been boiling hair curlers on the stove when they ignited. Cabinets, the exhaust fan, window trim, and walls and ceiling were damaged before she brought the fire under control with the spray.

Two Injured In School Mishap

Two children were slightly injured in Burnet Hill School on Thursday when a wall map caught fire during a chemistry experiment. Students in Mrs. Dollinger's class were watching the experiment when the map and a section of wall board caught fire.

The fire was quickly extinguished, but Maxine Wermuth, 11, of 147 West Northfield road and James Digan, 11, of 47 Hickory place both hurt their knees during the excitement.

No fire alarm was sounded, although firemen later provided a large vent fan to remove smoke from the room.

Junior Girl Scouts Hold Court of Awards

Junior Girl Scout Troop 395 of Harrison School celebrated Girl Scout week with a Court of Awards held at the home of co-leader Mrs. P. M. Randall, jr. Monday. Following a flag ceremony and the Pledge of Allegiance the girls renewed their promise and laws with the candle-lighting ceremony and the trefoil board.

Mrs. Randall presented the badges to the Scouts. The Drawing and Painting Badge was earned by JoAnne Alder, Nancy and Susan Balella, Linda Burch, Lynne Cedar, Elizabeth Ceffaratti, Barbara Gill, Amy Goldfarb, Judy Heyman, Susan Jacobs, Maurele Lehman, Barbara Randall, Kathy Randel, Jill and Kathy Salisbury, Cheryl Simon, Kathi Spaas, Sherry Stieve, and Joyce Warren.

Requirements for the Housekeeper Badge were completed by Elizabeth Cefaratti and Sherry Stieve; the Water Fun Badge was awarded to Cheryl Simon. The Needlecraft badge was earned by Barbara Gill and the Prints Badge and Backyard Fun Badge were completed by Kathy Randel.

The sign of the Arrow rank was presented to Barbara Gill, Kathy Randel, Jill Salisbury and Sherry Stieve.

Refreshments were served to the parents, sisters, brothers and friends who attended the ceremony.

Ambulance Damaged On Pittsburgh Trip

One of the two ambulances operated by the Livingston First Aid Squad was damaged while returning from a trip to Pittsburgh this week. The ambulance blew a front tire, went over the curb, and damaged the steering gear.

Damage has not been assessed, since the ambulance is now in the shop in Newark for repairs. It was the newer of the Squad's two ambulances which was damaged.

The First Aid Squad, in addition to its usual number of accidents and emergencies in Livingston, had trips to Scranton and Wilmington, as well as that mentioned to Pittsburgh, during the week.

Urge Purchase Of Easter Seals

Horace G. Houghton and Stanley W. Levy, Livingston co-chairmen of the Essex County Easter Seal Parade urge all to participate in the campaign to raise funds.

They stated

"Crippling, last year, prevented some 28 million Americans from leading what is termed a normal life. That is to say, it kept some of them from sitting at a desk in the neighborhood public school and sharing the magic of learning with other children; it eliminated some from challenging competition in business and industry; it barred others from the deep satisfaction of caring for a young family; and it denied countless more the enjoyment of church, library, sports and entertainment.

"In short, crippling of one kind or another-and there are many kinds-in a marked degree, limited the lives of these millions of our boys and girls, men and women. Fifteen of every 100 of our fellow Americans are among those deprived of these important privileges and opportunities through no fault of their own.

"But crippling did something more as well. It robbed our nation of a vast resource of abilities, talents, and possibly even genius, inhibited in these persons because of the physical fact of a disability-a disability that in most instances can be overcome, or at least counterblanced by appropriate treatment.

"It is the mission of the Easter Seal Society to enable these crippled to realize their fullest intellectual, and physical potentialities, to release captive capabilities, and thus to help them live lives of dignity and usefulness in their own communities.

"With this in mind, we appeal to you, our fellow citizens, to support the 1967 Essex County Easter Seal Parade. From March 10 to March 26, over 4,000 volunteers will parade in a door to door campaing throughout the County. Over 150,000 letters will go out to those homes not canvassed by volunteers. Please contribute generously when your turn comes. Remember, your donations will change the lives of crippled children and adults who are counting on you."

Report Progress In Planning Joint Educational Projects With Federal Aid

Livingston school superintendent Dr. Harold F. Hoffman reported to the Board of Education this week that the planning program for the Title III project is proceeding according to schedule. The program was made possible by a grant of about $50 thousand from the federal government under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Under the agreement, the Boards of Education of the Oranges, Millburn, Livingston and the Archdiocese of Newark are working together on a regional educational center.

With such diversified interests, Dr. Hoffman pointed out, there has been some difficulty in drawing up a list of proposed goals for the center. Since federal financial support is expected for only the first few years of operation, the school authorities are especially interested in setting up goals which will be of continuing value when the local Boards must share the expense.

At a recent meeting of the planning group, Dr. Hoffman reported, a list of five items was prepared which would not generally be undertaken by a local district, and which could better be accomplished by an area center. These included experimentation, research and evaluation services, computer applications and data processing, in-service training, the use of television in education, and materials and information services.

A decision on whether to go ahead with the proposed center will be made when further reports have been made on progress with the planning.

Recording Equipment Stolen From School

Microphones and recording tape were reported taken from Heritage Junior High School this week. The theft was related to police by school principal Dr. John Rowley, who said that there were no signs of a forced entry.

The rooms where the three microphones and ten rolls of tape were kept had been locked, he said, and there was no evidence of force. One of the microphones, Rowley noted, had been cut off the control console of the public address system.

The theft has been turned over to the Police Department, and is now being investigated by detectives.

McKays To Head European Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. McKay, formerly of Livingston and now of 127 Old Short Hills Road, West Orange, will be the adult leaders of the West Essex Branch YMCA's European tour for teenagers next summer. The branch is part of the YMCA of the Oranges, Maplewood and West Essex.

Sponsored and planned by the Y branch and organized in cooperation with the Educational Travel Service of the National Council of YMCAs, the three weeks tour from July 23 to August 14, will incude sightseeing and a youth conference. Two day stopovers wil be made in London, Berlin, Frankfort and Geneva, and 11 days will be spent at a YMCA European youth conference at Castle Mainau on Lake Constance in Bavaria.

The McKays both grew up in Livingston. Both are graduates of Livingston High School and are members of Livingston Presbyterian Church. Mr. McKay was famed locally as a varsity football player for Livingston High and later for Princeton, where he graduated in 1965. He now plays volleyball with the Livingston Recreation League and is a volunteer advisor to a West Essex Branch Y Hi-Y club. He is a stockbroker with Laidlaw and Company in the Bloomfield office.

Mrs. McKay is the former Mary Anne Katzafouras. She attended Trenton State College for three years and graduated from Newark State College in 1966. During the summers of her college years she was a counselor at the YMCA's Pioneer Trails Day Camp. She is a substitute teacher in the Livingston school system. The couple has a five months old son, Donald Scott.

Three Named To Adult School Council

Three additional members were added to the Livingston Adult School Council by action of the Board of Education on Monday evening. The action was taken as a result of a decision made last spring to expand the membership of the Council.

Named to the Council were Jerry Bannigan of 42 Lexington drive, Mrs. J. Thompson of 50 Martin road, and Herbert Kaplan of 29 Rumson road.

Schatzbergs In Musicrafters Show

Alfred Schatzberg

Judy Schatzberg

Ted Schatzberg

The Schatzbergs of Livingston; Ted, his wife Judy, and his brother Alfred will be seen in the Musicrafters production of "Guys and Dolls."

Starring in the role of Sky Masterson, smooth, swinging gambler, will be Alfred Schatzberg, who is making his theatrical debut in this part. However, entertainment is not new to him as he served in the Army's Special Services in the Far East and toured throughout Korea, Japan, and Okinawa in 1956-58. He attended the University of Florida and is a graduate of Long Island University.

Judy Schatzberg will appear in her fith starring role with Musicrafters when she portrays Sgt. Sarah Brown, the Salvation Army lass who falls in love with a gambler. She was a speech and drama major at Syracuse University where she directed, acted, and sang in musical productions. During this time she also had her own children's radio show. Mrs. Schatzberg is a veteran of five seasons of professional summer stock, having appeared at theaters in Nyack and Mt. Kisco, New York and Lychfield, Conn., where she appeared in such favorites as "Brigadoon," "Finian's Rainbow," and "My Sister Eileen." Locally, she has been seen as Sharon in "Finian's Rainbow," Ado Annie in "Oklahoma," Lady Mary in "Vagabond King," and Gwynne in "Bells Are Ringing." She has also appeared as solist in Music Under the Stars.

Ted Schatzberg does backstage work for Musicrafters. He was a student of the violin for nine years. a member of the Teaneck chorus, and is currently studying the guitar. Locally he has sung in Music Under The Stars and has been seen in cameo roles in such productions as "Finian's Rainbow," "Oklahoma," "Bells Are Ringing," and now "Guys and Dolls." Schatzberg attended Syracuse University and is a graduate of New York University's School of Business Administration.

"Guys and Dolls" will be performed on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, March 30, 31, and April 1, and Saturday evening, April 8, at Mt. Pleasant Junior High School. For information and tickets persons may call 992-1152 or 731-2208.

Set 1967 - 68 School Calendar

The Board of Education this week adopted the school calendar for the 1967-68 school year. The calendar is very similar to this year's and is also coordinated with other school districts in the West Essex area.

Significant changes will be the addition of the Jewish holiday of Rosh Hashanah on Thursday, October 5. This holiday fell on Saturday this year, when school was not in session. There will also be three one-session days in November for elementary teacher conferences, instead of the previous two days.

School will begin next year on September 7, Thursday, with orientation meetings for the staff earlier than that. Christmas vacation will run from December 22, a one-session day, to January 2, and there will be a winter vacation from February 19 to 23. Spring vacation will be from April 15 to 19, and schools will close on June 20.

Youths Arrested

The second difficulty concerns a large group of people from Newark and East Orange at the dance. Knowing that they could not be immediately identified in the crowd, they tended to be more unruly than most of the local youth. The two who were arrested, however, were both Livingston residents.

Both the police chief and township manager stated that in the hours following the incident, before the facts of the case were known, there had been a few charges of unnecessary roughness made against the arresting officers. Both, however, defended the tactics used by the policemen, and commended them for doing everything they could to avoid any fighting.

In a case where parents will not provide discipline at home, and where no supervision is evident at a dance of this type, they stated, it is left to the police to attempt to maintain order. Under such conditions, with a handful of policemen facing a mob of some four hundred youths, decisive action is necessary to prevent an uninhibited riot. Both Harp and Swain said that they felt the men had taken exactly such action by their removal of the boy who appeared to be the focus of the disturbance.

Red Cross Extends Thanks For Help

The West Essex District Red Cross today issued a wholesale message of gratitude to the residents of the nine communities in West Essex who contributed funds through last fall's United Community Service campaign to support Red Cross programs.

The occasion, explained A. E. Zingeler of North Caldwell, District Chairman, is Red Cross Month proclaimed March 1 by President Johnson.

"Because it is unnecessary to put on a fund drive, the West Essex Red Cross will devote the month to telling the chapter story," Zinggeler said. "Our public information-public relations committee through representatives in each West Essex borough are personally contacting organizations about our speakers bureau and slide programs."

"And the public-spirited cooperation of the Caldwell Progress, the Verona-Cedar Grove Times and the West Essex Tribune, plus the United Advertising Corp. (with 24 billboards throughout Essex County), is also helping us to tell the story."

"We of the West Essex Red Cross are most grateful to the generous people in our West Essex communities whose contributions last fall through UCS assured the continuance of our program of service. I'm sure that recipients of the service join me in our message of thanks."

PTA Gives Records

The Parent-Teacher Association of Riker Hill School has presented a large number of phonograph records to the school for the use of the pupils. In a report this week to the Board of Education, principal C. DeWitt Dyckman listed the new titles, which range from the classical works of Bach and Haydn to Walt Disney recordings and "Sing Along In Yiddish."

Sponsor Clinic

The Department of Recreation and Parks sponsored managers' and coaches' clinic will be held Wednesday, April 5, at Mt. Pleasant Junior High gymnasium. Clinic speakers this year will include Livingston High's varsity baseball coach, William Lampeter; Legion manager Lee Hammer; Legion coach James Jeskey; and other outstanding baseball personnel of the Township.

Hire Custodians

On Monday evening the Board of Education approved contracts for two new custodial employees for the public schools.

Michael J. McLaughlin is a resident of Livingston, and was previously employed by the Newark Board of Education and by other employers.

John R. Lieberum, a West Orange Resident, has had several years experience as an apartment house superintendent and has had other employment.

Off-Duty Policeman Stops 75 MPH Speeder

An off-duty Livingston patrolman this week apprehended an East Orange youth charged with speeding at 75 miles an hour and with driving while on the revoked list.

Patrolman Henry Blocker stopped John Metzger on West Mt. Pleasant avenue, and a nearby resident called police when she saw that Blocker seemed to be arguing with Metzger.

Mezger has been released on bail pending action in Municipal Court.

To Issue All Pool Badges By Mail; Will Require Proof Of Age For Some

Several major changes have been made in the procedure for registration for the two municipal swimming pools this year by the Department of Recreation and Parks. The changes were announced this week by Joseph B. Sharpless, director of the Department.

Pool badges will be sent to residents by mail, regardless of whether the application is made in person at the Department offices or by mail. As in the past, however, replacements for lost or broken badges will be issued over the counter.

The Department has announced that residents who want to have pool badges by opening, on June 17, should have their applications in the mail no later than June 10 to allow time for processing and mailing.

Another change announced by the Department is a strict requirement for the original or a certified copy of a birth certificate in the case of applicants who are 11, 16, 21 and 22 years of age. These ages are the break-off points for various qualifications and classes of membership, and proof of age will be required.

A copy of the pool rules and regulations will be issued with each membership, Sharpless stated. He urged all members to review the rules carefully to avoid misunderstandings.

Funeral Held For Donna Marie Stewart

Donna Marie Stewart of 56 Sycamore avenue died Friday in St. Barnabas Medical Center. She was four and a half years old.

Born in Lakewood, she lived in Livingston the past month. Her parents had formerly resided in Livingston.

She is survived by her parents, Douglas and Henrietta Stewart; a sister, Dawn Eve Stewart; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Stewart of Livingston; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin of South Orange; and a greatgrandmother, Mrs. Catherine Hull of Livingston.

The funeral was held from the Hopping Funeral Home, 145 E. Mt. Pleasant avenue Monday at 8:30 a.m. with a Mass of the Angels in St. Philomena's Church at 9 a.m. Interment was in Restland Memorial Park.

Two Attend Conference

Among 19 Montclair State College sophomores attending the Fifth Annual Intercollegiate Conference on Urban Affairs, held recently at Long Island University, were: Miss Betty H. Murdock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Murdock of 11 Manor road and Miss Judith Ann Zipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zipp of 14 Winans road.

Letter To The Editor

19 Maplewood Drive
Livingston, New Jersey
March 13, 1967

Dear Mr. Klaber:

Your paper will soon contain an article concerning the "Y" last Saturday evening. It will state that a few juveniles from town attacked Livingston policemen.

The parents will read this, mumble a few words about the disrespect kids have for policemen, and will be totally unable to conceive of such an occurrence in their wonderful town.

The kids who were at the "Y" will read it, and they too will have ideas of their own regarding the incident. These ideas may not remain only in their minds, but to voice them would be fruitless.

Unfortunately, for everyone involved, this incident will remain known as "a bunch of kids beating on the cops."

Yours very truly,
Diane Gusky

D. of A. Meets Tonight

Eola Council 103 Daughters of America will meet tonight, Thursday, at 8 o'clock in Grange Hall.

Churches Join For Holy Week Services

Union Holy Week services will be held each evening next week by the Olivet United Church of Christ (Congregational) and the Livingston Baptist Church. The services will feature excerpts from the Cathedral motion picture, "The Living Christ."

The Monday and Tuesday evening services will be held at the Olivet Church, The Reverend Alfred W. Hurst, minister wil have as the theme on Monday evening, "The Triumphal Entry and the Cleansing of the Temple," and on Tuesday evening, "The Passover Supper and the Betrayal."

The Wednesday and Thursday evening services will be held at the Baptist Church. The Reverend N. Vance Johnston, minister will have as the theme on Wednesday evening "The Trial." On Thursday evening the traditional Maundy Thursday Communion service will be held, concluding with the Office of Tenebrae and a gradual extinguishing of the lights symbolic of the flight of the disciples.

The services will be held at 8 o'clock and will be introduced with a brief devotional service. The two churches will join in a union Good Friday service at the Livingston Presbyterian Church, the ministers have announced.

Parke Selected For European Concerts

Lawrence Parke, a student at Huron College in South Dakota has been chosen by the School Orchestra of America to participate in the third annual month long European Concert Tour. The school is internationally famous and has won three gold medals from European governments.

Membership in this organization is attained by students who display outstanding musicianship and character. Auditions are held on a nation wide basis. Lawrence is a student of violin and piano and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Parke of 10 Wellington road.

Open Play Wrestling Program At Heritage

The Livingston Department of Recreation and Parks will sponsor an open play wrestling program in conjunction with Family Night on March 21 and 28 at Heritage Junior High School. It is open to boys who wish to come for an informal working session. The program will start at approximately 6:30 p.m. and will last until 8:30 p.m. or shortly thereafter. There will be an instructor-supervisor present to help boys who desire to learn.

Requirements for participating in the program are: a permission slip with parent's signature and stating a boy is fully covered by insurance and the parent relieves the Recreation and Parks Department of responsibility; the boy must be in 12th grade or under and have been a consistent member of a wrestling team at some time or other; and each boy must bring sneakers and some type of practice gear.

Make Small Charge On Equipment Loans

A change in the procedure for loaning electrical, movie and athletic equipment has been announced by the Department of Recreation and Parks. Because of the cost of repairing and replacing the equipment, a charge of one dollar per unit will be made for loaning. The five dollar deposit will still be in effect, but the deposit is to be returned when the equipment is brought back to the Department in good condition.

Fined $200 For Drunken Driving

An East Orange driver lost his license and was fined in Livingston Municipal Court this week. John W. Kelly had been charged with drunken driving and being an unlicensed driver late last month.

Kelly pleaded guilty to both charges, and was fined $10 and court costs for not having a license and $200 and a license revocation of two years for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Home Tour To Benefit Library

The Women's Club of Livingston Township plans to present its annual Home and Garden Tour on Saturday, May 27. The tour is a combined project of the Daytime and Evening Membership Departments.

Each year the Women's Club has donated the proceeds from its tour to the Livingston Free Public Library. It has again chosen the library to benefit from this forthcoming event.

Local Realtors Report Sales and Offerings During Past Month

The brand new brick front home shown above is offered by Macauley and DiMartino, Inc., Realtors. It features four bedrooms, three full baths, a rear sundeck and a covered patio. The home has hot water heat.

This custom designed seven room home features two baths, living room with fireplace, den, modern kitchen, three large bedrooms, a two car garage and a large basement. The home is set on a spacious, landscaped lot, and is available through Frank A. Bedford Company, Realtors.

Real Estate School Sponsored by Board

It will be back to school next month for all new salespeople from member-offices of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfied. A 12-session educational course, given by the Board, will soon begin its fifth spring semester.

Unique in its field, the course is one of the very few of its kind in the country. It is mandatory for all new salesmen and saleswomen and held twice a year at the Board's offices in Maplewood.

An average 20 to 30 "students" attend each semester, ranging from young college graduates to retired business executives. Realtor members serve as guest lecturers, as do attorneys, mortgage bankers and builders. The lecture series is held twice weekly for a period of six weeks; the curriculum includes real estate law, financing, home design and construction as well as such down-to-earth subjects as "psychology of selling" and "negotiating the offer with the seller." At the conclusion of the lecture series, a written exam is given. Graduates are awarded a certificate on completion of the course at a special luncheon held in their honor.

Board Hires Four Teachers

At its meeting on Monday evening the Board of Education employed four new teachers, three of them to start next school year, and one to begin immediately.

Miss Linda Daniels, Miss Rita Oderman and Miss Helen E. Wulff will teach elementary grades next September. Mrs. Anne R. Simone will replace Mrs. Frances Gendel who is taking a leave of absence from Mt. Pleasant Elementary School for reasons of health. Mrs. Simone is a graduate of the College of Saint Elizabeth and has taught previously in Essex and Union Counties. She and her family live in Roseland.

A Raritan, N. J., man has been charged with passing bad checks by officials of the Livingston National Bank. The charges against Donald Hallisey were ordered referred to the Essex County Grand Jury this week by Magistrate Frank I. A. Kent.

Mrs. Crawford Joins Frank Bedford Co.

Mrs. Shirley J. Crawford has been appointed sales associate of Frank A. Bedford Company, Realtors at 379 E. Northfield road.

Mrs. Crawford was recently awarded a certificate by The Professional School of Business in Union. She is immediate-past president of the Northfield Garden Club of Livingston, past president of the Olivet Women's Guild, and a member of the Church Council of the Olivet United Church of Christ.

She is a graduate of St. Catherines Collegiate, Ontario, Canada has been a Livingston resident for 18 years and resides at 521 W. Mt. Pleasant avenue with her husband, Jean, and their two children, Patricia and Richard.

Mrs. Crawford will specialize in residential sales in the Livingston, West Orange and Short Hills areas.

Jailed For Having Hyperdermic Needle

Kenneth Picciuto of 28 Charles street was sentenced to a jail term in Livingston Municipal Court this week. He had been charged with illegal possession of a hypodermic needle by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Picciuto.

Magistrate Frank I. A. Kent ordered Picciuto sent to the Essex County Penitentiary for six months

Jazz Lecture At Graduate Club

The Graduate Club will meet on Sunday, March 19 at 8:30 p.m. at the Recreation Building to hear Dr. Robert Solomon speak on the history of jazz. Dr. Solomon is a resident of Livingston, and has been practicing optometry here for the past 13 years. A graduate of the Illinois College of Optometry and Columba University, his interest in jazz has led him to acquire an outstanding collection of jazz recordings, including many rare performances. Dr. Solomon has made tapes of these recordings and will use them to illustrate his presentation.

The topic for the evening is "the History of Jazz," beginning with examples of the earliest recordings (circa 1918) which were of field music and spirituals, to the development of honky-tonk in New Orleans and thence to the evolution of Dixieland. He will play recordings of such early artists as Leadbelly, Louis Armstrong, Bessie Smith and King Oliver. He will discuss the jazzforms of the 20's and 30's and extend into contemporary jazz.

Further information about this meeting and the Graduate Club is available by calling 992-9196.

To Attend Luncheon

Two Livingston residents, Mrs. Alan T. Davenport and Mrs. Milton Prince will represent the local League of Women Voters of New Jersey at the First Annual Legislatures' Luncheon to be held on March 20 at the Hotel Hildebrecht in Trenton.

The Luncheon honoring New Jersey Legislators will feature informal discussions about the purpose and operation of the League as well as an entertaining skit on a legislative interview.

B. A. Griffith Joins Connolly & Connolly

Connolly & Connolly, Realtors, 508 South Livingston avenue, have announced the affiliation of Benjamin A. Griffith as sales associate in its real estate and insurance departments.

Griffith is a graduate of Western Maryland College and a Navy veteran. He comes to Connolly & Connolly following twenty years service with Sinclair Refining Company in its marketing and real estate departments.

He is a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, a past member of the executive committee and for several years was chairman of the St. Peter's Every Member Canvass activity.

The Griffith family resides at 21 Taft court.

Jane Rockberger Receives Grant

Syracuse University Graduate School of Social Work has awarded Miss Jane Rockberger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Rockberger of 35 South Ashby avenue; a grant in the amount of $2,000 plus tuition for the academic year 1967-68. The funds for this award have been made possible by a grant from the Children's Bureau in the area of child welfare to a candidate who has demonstrated professional promise and high scholastic achievement in undergraduate work.

Miss Rockberger is a senior at New York University in the pre-professional social work curriculum and will attend the Syracuse University Graduate School of Social Work in September.

Brownies Hold World Treasure Chest

Brownie Troop 893 of Mt. Pleasant Elementary School held its regular meeting on Monday, March 13. Mrs. Donald Dobkin, leader of the Troop, and Mrs. Max Kaufmann, Brownie mother, were in attendance.

In honor of Girl Scout month and Girl Scouts all over the world, the Brownies held a World Treasure Chest; dolls and other items from foreign countries including Mexico, Japan, Greece, Turkey and Denmark were displayed and discussed.

Mrs. Kaufmann, aided by her son Larry, showed colored films and sildes, along with a descriptive narrative, of her recent trip to Mexico.

The girls also spoke of ways in which they celebrate Easter and Purim and at their next scheduled meeting, they will color and decorate eggs while they eat matzos.

On Thursday, March 16, the Brownies will join their sister Troop 909, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Boes and Mrs. Lawrence Siebert, in the Mt. Pleasant Elementary School gym to rehearse an original folksong, "Hi There, Bye There," written by Mrs. Philip Cowan, who will also accompany the girls on her guitar.

The rehearsal is in preparation for the community Girl Scout Sing-Down to be held at Livingston High School on Sunday, March 19, at two o'clock until three o'clock.

Girl Scouts To Hold Sing-Down

Livingston Brownie, Junior Cadette, and Senior Girl Scouts will gather Sunday to celebrate the 55th birthday of Girl Scouting in America. About forty-five of the fifty-five troops in town will participate in a "Sing-Down" to be held at the High School from 2-3 p.m.

The program will open with a flag ceremony in which each school and each age level of Scouting will be represented. There will be group singing led by the Senior troops of "It's a Small World," "Kum-by-ah!", "Make New Friends," "Peace," and "Tap."

Individual troops and small groups of troops will then sing songs of many kinds including Girl Scout songs, folk songs, patriotic songs, original songs composed by the girls for the festival, traditional and foreign language songs.

The contributions from each troop for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund will be presented by a representative from each troop. Each year Scouts contribute to the Fund which is used by the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girls Guides to provide Scouting in new countries, and to help defray expenses for Senior Scouts of America and foreign countries attending conferences here and abroad.

Girl Scouts Send Cards To Korean Orphans

Junior Girl Scout troop 37 of Collins School has participated in a service project of collecting old greeting cards and sending them to a Korean orphanage. Suh Woon Lim of the Bethel Home for Happy Children in Korea requested the cards. The Scouts hope to correspond with the children in the orphanage.

Mrs. Jeffrey Thompson is leader of the troop assisted by Mrs. Walter Wallendjack and Mrs. Roland Bondani.

Dr. Gruenewald Speaks At Temple Lecture

Dr. Max Gruenewald, rabbi of Congregation B'nai Israel, Millburn, will speak on Spinoza at the lecture series at Temple Beth Shalom on Tuesday, March 21, at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Gruenewald received his rabbinical degree from the Jewish Theological Seminary in Breslau; his Ph.D. from the University of Breslau and an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York.

He served as rabbi in Mannheim, Germany, where he also became president of the Jewish Community, the only rabbi in Europe to hold both positions. He is the only surviving rabbi of the three rabbis who served on the executive committee of the Reichsvertretung, which led the Jews of Germany during the Nazi regime.

Dr. Gruenewald is the honorary president of the American Federation of Jews from Central Europe, the U. S. A. chairman of the Leo Baeck Institute, co-chairman of the Gustav Wurzweiler Foundation and a member of the executive committee of the New York Board of Rabbis. He has beenn the rabbi of Congregation B'nai Israel since 1944.

Borrow $150,000 For Construction

The Board of Education will borrow $150,000 from the Livingston National Bank to help pay for current construction work at the high school and at Hillside School. The note is issued as a bond anticipation note, obtaining a favorable rate of interest until such time as the authorized bond issue is made.

The note, which will mature on September 29, is for substantially less than similar notes arranged recently due to the receipt of State funds.

This has been a busy week at the lanes, not so much with record breakers as with good, consistent high scorers. With one of the longest lists of honor roll winners in many months to report, there are only three changes in our annual list of Livingston's top bowlers.

Stella Koenig rolled the best game for the ladies this week, with a 220 in the West Essex Women's Majors. In the same league, Agnes Daner scored 217 and Lee Bloss had 214. In the TNT League, L. Zoda rolled 203, and both E. O'Neill and R. Mortensen of the Friday Night Quartettes had 200 scores this week.

Looking at the high series roster, J. Deliduka put her name on the annual list in eighth place thus far with a 557 in the St. Peter's Ladies League. Four members of the West Essex Women's Majors made the honor roll: Agnes Daner with 540, Lee Bloss with 531, Mille Rooney with 528, and Stella Koenig with 522.

Joyce Lechman of the Women's League made two lists with a 523 series and scores for the 3-over-160 list of 187-172-164. J. Deliduka moved into third place for the year in the latter category with games of 193-192-172.

On the men's side of the list, Ralph Riccio takes honors for the week's best game, a 258 in the Classic League, that ties him with Hank Mazur for fifth place this year. In the same league, Rudy Burger had 242, and George Blauvelt of the National League posted another 242 score. Angelo Pantazes put the Handicap League on the scoreboard with 245, and Larry Salemme of the same league had 241 this week. In the Business Men's League, Bob Scheskowsky posted a 242 to make the honor roll.

Four men from the Classic League comprise the high series list this week, with a qualifying score of 620. Ralph Riccio had 632, Jim Melvin had 631, Tom Downey had 627 and Jack Ziser had 623.

The final category for the men is for two games over 210. Jack Ziser posted scores of 236-212, Frank Radomski had 228-213, Ted Letwink scored 227-216, and Tom Downey had 223-222, all in the Classic League.

The second and final session of the Jaycees annual Junior Bowling Tournament was held last Sunday. About sixty teenagers took part in the event, with eight trophy winners.

Ellen Ford won the girl's trophy for the 7-9th grade division with her high series of 400. The high game trophy in that class went to Mary Ann Riva with 151.

In the girl's 10-11th grade category, Pat Akehurst had the top series with 425, and Debbie Leitner scored 158 to take the top game trophy.

In similar grade categories for the boys, Jack Goldstein won the high series award with a 513 for the 7-9th grade group, and the high game award went to Richard Heaps with 188.

Bob Hart won the high school trophy for high series with a 572 tally, and the high game award went to Ron Valentine for his 204 game.

The series winners in the four groups will represent the Livingston Jaycees at the state tournament to be played in Edison on April 1.

Heritage Wins To Retain Lead

In the Men's Volleyball League, sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Parks, the Mets looked like they would bomb the Centuori Construction Co. after the first game of 15-9, but Centuori came back and blasted the Mets two games in a row, 16-14 and 15-8. The Mets rallied in the fourth and won 15-6.

North Hill Esso lost to Sam's four games in a row, 17-15, 15-11 and two forfeits.

Heritage Diner proved to be too much for the Riker Hill Rockets as they crushed them 15-3, 15-7, 15-3 and 15-2.

Wineos Holding Lead In League

In the Intermediate Basketball League, sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Parks, the Wineos had an easy night of it when the Halper's Mongees forfeited the game.

The White Knights also had an easy victory when they defeated the Bull Slingers 64-30. The two high scorers for the winning team were Ziser with 24 points and Frey with 21. Dunstay of the Bull Slingers had 8 points.

The Och's Cider Mill Lemons have really gone sour as they had to forfeit to the Aces.

In a very fast and exciting game between the Wineos and Typhoons, the Wineos won by one point in a 50 to 49 victory. Ken Hall of the Typhoons was a one-man offensive team as he scored 35 points. Hughan of the Wineos also displayed some showmanship with 25 points to his credit.

The White Knights are really fighting to get into first place as they blasted the Aces 75 to 25. Leading scorers for the White Knights were Frey with 28 points, Ziser with 25, G. Doyle with 12. Bluhm for the Aces was high with 17 points.

Tie For First Place In Women's Volleyball

In the Women's Volleyball League, sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Parks, the Penguins are fighting for first place in the "B" league with the Eagle Roofers as they defeated the Volleyettes 15-4, 15-12, 15-8, and 15-3. The Eagle Roofers had an easy night of it as they squashed the Gypsies like a bag by the scores of 15-7, 15-5, 16-14 and 15-2.

In the competition between the "A" league teams, the Spordettes took the wind out of the Queens sails as they won the first three 15-11, 15-12 and 15-11. The Queens got a second breath in the fourth and won 15-3. The Rinky Dinks have moved into second place by defeating the Masters 15-6, 15-6, 15-11 and 15-6. The North Hill Essoettes are having a rough time of it, but they are not far behind the Rinky Dinks and hope to put the pressure on them for second place. It looked like the Essoettes had a chance to move into second place when they blasted the L.D.'s 15-0, and 15-13 in the first two games, but the L.D.'s came back with 15-6 and 15-2 victories.

Riker Hill Clinches 5th Grade Championship

The Riker Hill fifth graders won the Grade School Basketball Championship in the Fifth Grade Division, sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Parks, compiling a 7-0 record for the 1966-67 season. It was a fairly close race all the way with three teams being tied for second place and close on the heels of Riker Hill. The three teams tied for second place with 5 and 2 records were Monmouth Court, Mt. Pleasant and Collins. Hillside took third place with a 3 and 4 record and Squiertown came in fourth with 2 and 5. Burnet Hill had a 1 and 6 record while Harrison had an 0 and 7 record.

Teachers Speak

The PTA of Burnett Hill School will hold a "Meet the Specialist" evening on Tuesday, March 21 at 8:15. Frank Neil of the music department and Arthur Stadlin of the art department will speak on enhancing the art and music curriculum.

Class rooms will be open for parent visitation between 7:30 and 8:15. A short business meeting will precede the program.

Miss Sobo Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Sobo of Livingston have announced the engagement of their daughter Maxine Rose to Stephen James Orens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Orens of Island Park, Long Island.

Miss Sobo, a graduate of Livingston High School, is a Junior at American University majoring in elementary education. Mr. Orens, a graduate of Hofstra University, is a second year student at the American University Washington College of Law.

Letter To The Editor

March 12, 1967

Dear Bill:

Your last issue carried the information that the proposed code of ethics had been defeated and an ethical creed adopted in its place. I hope that I am not being too quick on the trigger, but it seems to me that the difference between a code and a creed is quite clear and that this raises an unavoidable question.

My dictionary defines code as "a systemized body of law—a system of rules and regulations." Creed, on the other hand, is defined as "a formal summary of religious belife — an authoriative statement of doctrine—a confession of faith—that which is believed." In other words, a creed is entirely a matter of faith and belief. A code is not concerned with what you believe—all it does is define what you can and cannot do. With a distinction as clear as this, how can one help wondering why our governing body is willing to state its beliefs but is NOT willing to be governed by them?

My sincere apologies to the men in our town administration (the great majority, of course) who have always lived by the highest standards. They don't need either creed or code. But it still sounds as if someone of lower character were saying "Of course I believe in it, but I won't promise to do it."

Let's hope that we get the kind of people who act the way they talk. Time will tell.

Sincerely,
G. Archer Harkey

Physical Education Meeting At PTA

Squiertown School will hold a Physical Education Night in conjunction with a short general PTA meeting on Tuesday, March 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Neil Schmidt, physical education instructor, is the coordinator of the evening's program.

The students at Squiertown will be the participants in a program of demonstrations of various skills taught in the elementary physical education curriculum. Some children from each class in grades one through six will give exhibitions of ball handling, tumbling, modern dance, calisthenics, free movement, and other skills. Schmidt will give a general outline of the physical education program.

The program will be preceded by a short PTA business which will include the nomination of PTA officers for the coming year. All parents are urged to attend.

Mrs. Hazel Titus Dies At Age 64

Miss Hazel Titus of 37 Crestview Hill road died Saturday at Orange Memorial Hospital. She was 64.

Born in Orange, she lived in West Orange before moving to Livingston 11 years ago. She was a retired machine operator for Monroe International, Inc., Orange. She retired in 1960 after 27 years with the company.

She is survived by one brother, Charles Titus of West Orange and two sisters, Mrs. Jay Swartwood of Toms River and Mrs. James H. Kelly of Livingston.

The funeral was held Wednesday from the Hopping Funeral Home, 145 E. Mt. Pleasant avenue at 11 a.m. Interment was in Restland Memorial Park.

Board To Meet

The Ladies of UNICO will hold its board meeting on Wednesday, March 22, at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Thomas Manzi, 57 West drive.

Kiwanis Presents Check To Scouts

The Kiwanis Club of Livingston presented sponsors checks to officials of Boy Scout Troop 14, which has been sponsored by the club for more than 30 years and to Cub Pack 14. Shown are Norman Dufford, Troop 14 administrator; Robert Baker, Kiwanis Institutional Representative; John Ekman, Cubmaster of Pack 14; Richard Cobean, administrator of Pack 14; and Stanley Van Brunt of the Kiwanis Boys and Girls Committee.

Gordon Hall Speaks On Extremist Groups

Gordon Hall of Boston, an expert on extremist groups, spoke on "Extremism: Sickness of the Sixties" during a special chapel program held yesterday at Newark Academy, 91 South Orange avenue.

Hall, lecturer and writer, has devoted his life since the end of World War II to keeping track of, and exposing, the extremists of the left who he says "hate the system" and those of the right who "hate people."

By revealing his findings to authorities, he was instrumental in preventing a John Birch Society propaganda attack on a large Boston department store; was involved in international espionage to inform government security agencies of activities in Cuba of pro-Castro students from this country; and exposed, as Communist-inspired, the organization "The Greater Boston Coordinating Committee to End Police Brutality for Minority Groups." Early in his career, he initiated a one-man attempt to integrate Negro troops by forming a welfare and recreational council.

Hall, whose life has often been threatened, believes in freedom of speech for everyone, including extremists. It is his opinion that free discussion is the only way for truth to emerge.

The next special chapel program at Newark Academy will be a popular string trio early in May.

Show Badge Work

Junior Girl Scout troop 443 entertained Brownie troop 335 of Burnet Hill School recently. The Junior scouts earning the Dancer badge demonstrated some of their folk dances. The Scouts completing the Needlecraft Badge showed examples of the stitches they had learned and the pieces they had done. The Juniors earning the Sewing badge modeled the shifts they had made. Cookies were provided by the girls working on the Cook badge.

The troop recognized the help given by Mrs. B. Mirin, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. N. Franklin, and Mrs. F. Hays on badge work.

The Sign of the Arrow was presented to Cathy Chambers, Felicia Bendit, Marlene Hart, Colleen Lyons, Barbara Mirin, Laurie Porter, Carol Ussery and Laurie Zaph.

Democratic Club To Hear Dr. Duff

On Tuesday night, March 21 at the Grange Hall the Democratic Club will feature Dr. John B. Duff a Livingston resident, who is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Essex County Community College and Associate Professor at Seton Hall University.

Dr. Duff will speak on the "Development of the Essex County Community College." Dr. Duff's talk will be the first in the Democratic Club's 1967 program which will have as its theme "Livingston, its problems and future planning." The program will stress not only developments specific to the community but also those which are common to this suburban area.

Future topics will focus on "Air Pollution," "The Role of the Senior Citizen in our Community" and "Our Water Supply and the Demands upon it."

All interested residents are invited to attend.

B'nai B'rith Women To Install Officers

The fifth annual installation of officers of the Northfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will take place Thursday, March 30, at 8:15 p.m. at the Recreation Building in conjunction with the annual Paid-Up Membership Party.

The installing officer from the Northern New Jersey Council will be Mrs. Stanley Sholk, a past vice president in charge of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Mrs. Sholk has been Northfield's deputy for the past two years. Chairmen in charge of the installation are Mrs. Harold Altmayer and Mrs. Samuel Weiner.

The Paid-Up Membership portion will follow with entertainment by Trudy Herman and Selma Podell at the piano. A surprise and refreshments will follow. There will be door prizes. Chairmen in charge of the party are Mrs. Edwin Fradkin and Mrs. Howard Suckno.

Admission is free to all paid-up members of the Northfield Chapter. Guests are invited at a nominal charge. Reservations are needed to assure seating and may be made with Mrs. Lorraine Altmayer, 992-2841 or Shirley Fradkin, 992-7530.

Dues may be forwarded to Mrs. Nan Sobo, 35 Wardell road. A free donor will be won by someone who paid her dues before March 30.

Bernstein To Address B'nai B'rith Women

Julius Bernstein, principal of Livingston High School, will be the guest speaker at the next regular meeting of B'nai B'rith Women, Northfield Chapter. The meeting will be held on March 20, 8:30 p.m. at Pals Pancake House, Hanover.

Bernstein will discuss the student's transition from High School to College.

Mrs. David Seltzer, Vocational Service Chairman for the evening will present Bernstein with a Vocational Service Kit, which will be used for testing at the school.

Elections will be held for New Officers.

Records Tied, Broken At Academy Swim Meet

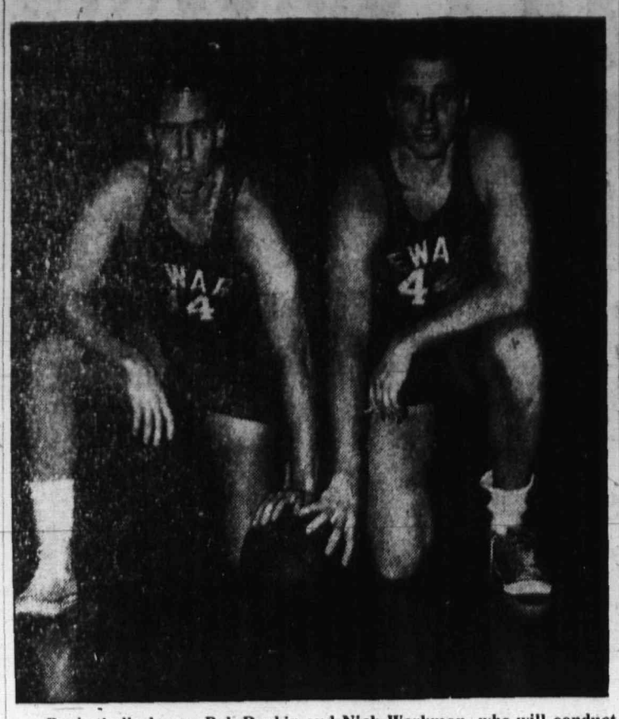

One school record was tied and another broken at the swimming meet between Newark Academy and Westfield on March 3. Newark Academy won the meet, 56 to 39.

In the 50 yard freestyle event, Newark Academy's Lemke tied a school record of 23.0 seconds when he took first place in the event. The 200 yard event record was broken by Connors with his time of 2:04.5.

Newark Academy, in holding on to its unbeaten record for this season, took first place in all but three events, and also won the 200 yard relay. The local school also took five second and three third places. Westfield won the 400 yard free relay event.

Newark Academy has swept the Essex County Championships, the Brown Invitational and Colgate Invitational Tournaments, and took fifth place in the Easterns.

Basketball Pros To Have Clinic

Basketball players Bob Raskin and Nick Werkman, who will conduct the clinic on Saturday afternoon at Mt. Pleasant Junior High School.

Yoemans To Address Republicans Wednesday

On Wednesday, March 22, the Republican Club of Livingston will have as its speaker the Honorable William F. Yeomans, the chairman of the Republican County Committee of Essex County. The meeting will be held at English's Grille at 8 p.m.

Yeomans will speak to the club about various aspects of the Republican Organization of Essex County.

All members are urged to attend.

Pledges Fraternity

John C. Graf, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Graf of 22 Spier drive, has been pledged to the Delta Rho Chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa. A freshman history major, Graf was graduated from Livingston High School in 1966. He is also a member of the freshman football team at the college.

Honored By College

Mrs. Sheila Bauer Bennett of 69 Eastbrook terrace is among the University of Iowa coeds who were invited to the annual "Smarty Party" sponsored by the chapter of Mortar Board at the University to honor coeds making top grades. The party was held March 14.

Two members of the Newark Pirates Basketball Club will conduct a basketball clinic, under the auspices of the Department of Recreation and Parks, on March 18 at Mount Pleasant Junior High gym from 1 to 4 p.m. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

The two members of the Newark Pirates Basketball Club who will conduct the clinic are Bob Raskin, No. 14 and Nick Werkman, No. 44.

Nick Werkman, a 6'3 Seton Hall All-American, led the nation in scoring in 1963 with a 29.5 average, finished third in 1962 with 33.0 ppg; and second in 1964, behind Howard Komives of the Nicks, with a 32.5 average.

As a sophomore in 1962, Werkman ranked number 12 nationally in rebounding with 17.2 grabs per game, even though standing only 6'". In collegiate career scoring, he ranks third only to Oscar Robertson and Frank Selvy. Werkman has the highest total career scoring average in Madison Square Garden with a 40 point average. He was selected as New Jersey's amateur athlete of the year in 1964.

This year, with the Newark Pirates professional basketball team, Werkman is scoring 49.8 points per game and is garnering 13 rebounds a game.

Bob Raskin played baseball and basketball at the University of Georgia and the State University of New York, receiving much acclaim as a standout pitcher and outfielder on both college nines.

This year with the Newark Pirates, Rasin is the second leading scorer with an 18.8 average. The 6'1" jump-shooter is leading the club in field goal accuracy with a 57.7 percentage and is tops on the foul line with a 90.0 percentage. He will be demonstrating both the jump shot and the foul shot at the clinic.

Letter To The Editor

288 East Cedar street
Livingston, New Jersey
March 6, 1967

Dear Bill:

I read with interest the letter from Robert Zimmerman, and I pray other parents read it too. At the time you so kindly gave us all the publicity, it was our hope that other parents of boys serving our country in Vietnam would initiate a similar "Project Enterprise told of the arrival of the first project became. But because of the kindness and help of you and Mr. Harold Wynne, "Project Enterprise" far surpassed any dreams we had for it. And of course, all the wonderful people who contributed books have a share in the final success.

In a letter to Mr. Wynne, Chaplain Gallagher of the USS Enterprise told ofth arrival of the first shipment of books in June. He wrote, "It was around June 5th that we received your first shipment of books, and believe me they were indeed appreciated by the crew. — They were enjoyed immensly and in fact we ran out of them."

When the last shipment of books was taken to Bayonne, Chaplain Doffin, our coordinator asked if we would mind if the Chaplain on the Enterprise gave some of the books to other ships that were in need of reading material. Our only request was that the books go to any ship that could use them. We designated the ENTERPRISE because we knew they wanted books. I feel sure some of those books were given to other ships.

It is true the "Big E." has many leisure time activities, but it is also true that 99 per cent of those men worked 18 hours a day. They didn't have time or energy to enjoy anything but maybe a paperback in their pocket to read. Chaplain Gallagher writes. "I usually give out about 300 paperbooks a week to the crew. They are passed on from person to person after they have been read. The men can carry them with them and when they get a break of a half hour or so they pull them out and read them."

Thank you Bill, for your answer to his letter, and I hope mine will clear up any other questions. A few books sent out each week or so by parents, relatives or friends can do so much for the morale of our boys over there. My son will be shipping out in May for his second tour of Vietnam and I'm lining up books now for him. It really doesn't take much, and reading material is high on the list of morale boosters.

Sincerely,
Janet V. Hardman
Acting Chairman of
"Project Enterprise"

Aroneo Selected By Research Program

John Aroneo of 105 Walnut street has been chosen to participate in a cooperative work-study program. Aroneo attends New York Institute of Technology, majoring in biomedical research.

The program consists of six months of study and six months of work in a related field. John is one of the first students to be chosen for this program and will be working for the Breed Corporation in Caldwell as a physics laboratory technician.

Authorize Small Sanitary Sewer

A short section of sanitary sewer to service a home at 48 Dorothy avenue was authorized by the Township Council last Monday evening. The estimated cost of the entire project is $1,000, to be taken from the capital improvement fund. A portion of this money will be regained by local assessment.

The project became necessary due to the development of a new tract, Bunker Hill Farms. As part of the development, the existing spur of Dorothy avenue east of Preston drive is to be repaved. The engineering department noted that it would be a mistake to repave this section without first installing a sanitary sewer.

The affected property owner asked that the Township handle the project, rather than have him undertake it. The sewer line itself will be 30 feet in length, and the project will involve the construction of a manhole as well.

Evening Department Plans Annual Bridge

The Evening Department of the Livingston Women's Club will hold its annual charity bridge and fashion show, "Mayfair In the Springtime" at Mayfair Farms, West Orange on Monday evening, March 20, at 7:30.

Spring and summer fashions will be shown in both the Mayfair Room and the Windsor Room. Phyllis Shneyer, 992-5041, is ticket co-chairman in charge of reservations. Mrs. Lewis Reinert is bridge chairman.

There will be an advertisement booklet and program, table prizes and door prizes. A color television set will be awarded.

The proceeds will benefit the YMCA of West Essex, YES (Youth Employment Service) and the West Essex Nursing Service.

Named To Committee

Frederick Green and A. Beatrice were named to the Livingston Decent Literature Committee by the Township Council Monday evening. They replace R. M. Schaumann and Frederick Koehler, who had tendered their resignations.

To Visit Court

The Civics Committee of the Evening Department of the Livingston Women's Club will meet Wednesday, March 22, at 8:15 p.m. at the Livingston Town Hall to attend a session of the Magistrate's Court. Members are asked to call Mrs. Laurence Leiter, 992-6404.

On Honors List

Donald W. Berrian of 88 Fellswood drive and Lawrence S. Britsman of 27 Prospect road have been named to the Honors List at Rutgers College of Engineering for the fall semester. Both are seniors majoring in electrical engineering.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

This is Essex County

By BARBARA GOLDBERG

"Something new has been added" as ammunition to be levelled against an applicant for a county job — his price is too cheap! Freeholder Joseph Cohen last week admitted that James J. Plunkett of South Orange received an appointment as temporary manager of the county's new $2.5 million parking garage primarily because his asking salary of $9,500 was "modest" compared to what others are paid to operated similar-sized garages. The 3-tiered garage has 930 parking spaces.

In answer to Republican doubts concerning Mr. Plunkett's qualifications (the selling of Mutual Funds) and the $9,500 salary, Public Works Chairman Benjamin Gordon asserted that it would be too costly to hire one of the 2 other applicants, "since one wanted $15,000 a year and the other, $18,000."

Freeholder Hymen Mintz ruefully declared that "we should have someone who knows how to manage a garage," or else find someone presently on the county payroll to operate it.

The new manager's duties remain undefined at this late date, as does the policy regarding the number and type of employes to be used as parking attendants. The county's staff of attendants who operated the old "outdoor" parking lots are scheduled to attend this Tuesday's Public Works committee meeting to lodge formal protests against "the inability of the Freeholders to arrive at a reasonable decision "as to their present status. As Civil Service career employes, they cannot be fired unless a similar position cannot be found within the vast network of county departments and agencies.

A controversial debate also is expected on Tuesday concerning the still-to-be-announced policy establishing parking fees, if any. In response to a suggestion by Director Charles Matthews that "perhaps it would be wise if we charge jurors," Sheriff Le Roy D'Aloia recently urged the Freeholders to consider exempting all jurors from parking fees "in view of the self-sacrifice and inconvenience already imposed upon these citizens in the performance of their civic duty."

The underlying cause for this dispute seems to stem, as it so often does, from the time-honored "committee rule," under which the Board of Freeholders operates. Many final decisions, including the appointment of "temporary" employees such as Mr. Plunkett, rests solely in the hands of the majority members on the committee. The minority members of the Board, therefore, are automatically excluded from voting on these important measures, unless they are fortunate enough to serve on the committee.

Also scheduled for Tuesday's agenda is a discussion of future security plans for the Hall of Records and the Courthouse, as a result of a series of recent thefts. In his capacity as "peace officer" for the county, Sheriff D'Aloia is expected to report on possible plans for tightening the security of county buildings. According to Sheriff D'Aloia, these include locking all outside doors at 4:15 p.m. and stationing a uniformed security guard outside the buildings and a watchman, within.

Freeholder Gordon, Public Works chairman, disclosed that "the use of the office of Sheriff, rather than a private security agency, could save the county countless dollars in salaries and fringe benefits." According to statute, members of the sheriff's staff are permitted "to carry and be trained in" the use of firearms.

If my addition is correct (and believe me, math is not my forte) fringe benefits such as Blue Cross and Major-Medical cost the county $133.01 for each employe each year. In addition, the county is obligated to contribute 10% of an employe's salary annually into either the county or the state pension fund. If an employe prefers to enter the state pension program (the decision is strictly voluntary) then the county must contribute an additional 4.4% of an employe's salary for social security benefits.

It appears to me that our fair county is far more benevolent to its employes than to its investors!

Bushwell Honored For Sixth Year

Ronald J. Bushwell has been named Agency Leader of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company's East Orange Agency for the sixth consecutive year. His 1966 production was over $1,800,000 and qualified him for 1967 membership in the industry's exclusive Million Dollar Round Table.

He recently returned for an educational meeting of his Company's top producers in Mexico City.

Bushwell is a member of the Estate Planning Council of Northern New Jersey, the Sales Executives Club of Newark, the East Orange Lions Club, and is a director of the Harold G. Hoffman Tent of the Circus Saints & Sinners.

He resides with his wife and five children at 15 Plymouth drive.

Cubs Of Pack 59 Receive Awards

On Friday, March 4, Cub Scout Pack 59 of Collins School, held its Seventh Annual Blue and Gold Dinner.

Dave Packles, toastmaster, introduced the evening's program beginning with the opening ceremonies by Den 3, a sing-along led by Sue Wolf and presentation of corsages to Den Mothers Sue Wolf, Etta Kell, Carol Bruskin, Shirley Galloway, Lita Nersesian, Dorothy Childers, Doris Strickland, Maria Warren, Betty Filson and Judy Godfrey.

Following the dinner, guest speaker Stan Mosel, golf pro at West Essex Country Club, and his son, Bill, gave a talk and demonstration on the golf swing and the value of early training, correct mental attitude and physical condition for success as a golfer.

Professor Ted Collins presented a program of magic.

Awards were presented as follows: Den 1: Randy Wolf, Chris Calabrese, Scott Felcher, Alex La Torraca, Andy Berns and Bradley Dell, Wolf badges.

Den 2: Jeff Freyer, Wolf badge and Gold Arrow; Michael Bruskin, Laurence Fletcher, Mark Galloway, Ronald Greenbaum, Craig Hoskins, Stuart Rosenbach and Steve Taylor, Wolf badges.

Den 7: Michael Burtha, Bear badge; Douglas Godfrey, Year pin; Anthony Guerrieri, Bear badge, Gold Arrow and Silver Arrow; Donald Kloss, Bear badge, Silver Arrow and Silver Arrow; Rick Plonsky, Bear badge; David Powers, Bear badge, Gold Arrow and two Silver Arrows.

Den 7 won first place in the table decoration contest. Dens 1 and 6 tied for second place and Den 5 won third place.

Neighborhood Commissioner Charles Worth presented an Honor Unit Round-Up award to the Pack. Awards were also given to Cubmaster Jim Clarke and Den Mothers for their outstanding contributions to the Scouting Program.

The Pack's next planned activity takes place on Saturday, March 18. It will be a tour of the Star-Ledger printing plant in Newark.

Quartets To Compete In California Contest

Quartets from the Livingston chapter of the SPEBSQSA earned places in the six groups that the Mid-Atlantic District will send to Los Angeles, California this coming July. They will compete against 35 other quartets which have been selected in regional preliminary competitions. The Mid Atlantic competition took place in White Plains, New York on March 10, 11, and 12.

This is the second year in a row that Livingston has qualified two quartets. The Rocket Tones are repeat winners, while the School House Four are brand new. Three of the men are from Jersey City, while the bass Frank Dederbeck is from Livingston chapter.

Narrowly missing the finals by four points was the Heritage quartet, which earned the right to appear on the evening show. The Happy Go-Luckeys, another Livingston group finished right behind the Heritage, while Livingstons light comedy quartet, the Notewits, was 22nd.

All of the quartets will appear on the Livingston Annual Show April 14 and 15 in Chatham and Orange High Schools.

Two Honored By Cedar Crest College

Two Livingston students at Cedar Crest College have been named to the Dean's List for the past semester. They will take part in a Festival of the Arts early in April in recognition of the centennial of the College.

Kathry Bravakis, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bravakis of 32 Wellington road. She is president of the Student Government Association, and a member of the honorary scholastic society and concert choir. She is student teaching in the Allentown public schools and is majoring in politics.

Barbara Ann Williams, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Williams of 15 Virginia avenue. A graduate of Livingston High School, she is a member of the Commission of the campus YWCA.

Measday Elected To Radio Board

The Board of Directors of WGTB-FM has elected Thomas R. P. Measday to the post of development director. In this capacity he is responsible for future growth and development of the stations potential as well as administering the current business transacted by WGTB-FM.

Measday first joined WGTB-FM in 1964 as an announcer, disc jockey, and engineer. He became a member of the Board of Directors in 1965 when he was elected to the post of music director. Currently he retains the title of business manager in addition to a post on the executive board.

At Georgetown University he is a junior in the Walsh School of Foreign Service majoring in foreign trade. He is a member and bursar of the University's only social fraternity, Gamma Tau Beta. Measday is a former resident of Livingston, and graduate of Livingston High School.

On Dean's List

Robert J. Masko of 76 Irving avenue has been named to the Dean's List at Franklin and Marshall College for the recently completed academic semester. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Masto, and is a freshman at the College.

Two On Dean's List

Two Villanova University students from Livingston have been named to the Dean's List for academic achievement this week. They are Richard Dyer of 33 Bennington road and Aurel A. Villari of 140 Passaic avenue.

Mrs. Rissenberg Named By Symphony Benefit

Mrs. Louis B. Rissenberg of 45 Brandon avenue has been named area representative of Livingston for the New Jersey Symphony's Carnival of Venice Ball, to be held at Symphony Hall in Newark on April 15. She is president of the Livingston Chapter of the Women's Committee for the New Jersey Symphony. An ex offico Symphony trustee, Mrs. Rissenberg is also recording secretary of the newly organized State Council for the Symphony, which is seeking to broaden the Symphony's financial support and extend its services statewide, particularly youth programming.

This fifth annual fund-raising affair, to be attended by approximately 1,000 guests, is one of the orchestra's chief means of underwriting concert and educational activities. These expanding musical operations have been encouraged by announcements last July of Ford Foundation and State Arts Council grants to the orchestra.

The evening will include dinner in the ballroom at Symphony Hall and a musicale presented by the orchestra with guest soloists in the auditorium. Kenneth Schermerhorn will be on the podium. Waltzing by the guests will follow on the Symphony Hall stage, concurrenty with ballroom dancing.

Also planned is presentation of the annual Symphony arts award, including a citation from Gov. Hughes, to a leading artistic figure from this state.

Honored By College

Douglass C. Day has been cited for academic excellence by Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Day of 20 Taconic road, and is a junior at the college.

Osborne Celebrates 35 Years At Company

William H. Osborne of 18 Fellswood drive celebrated his 35 anniversary with the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark recently. He started with the company in 1932 as a filing clerk and was later transferred to the underwriting department where he is now the supervisor of the policy-data section.

During his career with Mutual Benefit, Osborne has been a member of the Pelican Club, an organization of home office employees, and served as chairman of its Athletic Committee and as a member of the Board of Governors. He is also past president of the company's Veterans' Club which is composed of male home office employees with 20 years or more of service.

An avid sportsman, he has been invited to participate in Livingston's "Lifetime Sports Foundation" which is sponsored by the National Recreation and Park Association. The goal of this organization is to promote interest in sports among people of all age groups.

He and his wife Ruth have two sons, Gary 15, a high school student and Bill, Jr. 20, a soldier serving in Vietnam as the crew chief of an assault helicopter division.

Library Has Big-Type Books

The Livingston Free Public Library has started to receive the new large-type weekly newspaper published by the New York Times, starting with the first issue on March 6. This newspaper includes many of the features found in the Week in Review section of the Times Sunday edition, but is printed in 18-point type, the same size used for the headline of this article.

The Library has an increasing collection of books in large type for visually handicapped readers, including a set of the World Book Encyclopedia.

Mount Pleasant News

STUDENTS BEAT TEACHERS

BY Richard Traver

On Friday, March 3, 1967, the annual Men Student Faculty game was held in the Mt. Pleasant gymnasium in front of a capacity crowd of students and teachers. The Mt. Pleasant basketball team represented the student body "rolled" to a victory of 60-to-46.

The Mounties (student team) broke the ice by scoring the first basket. The teachers came back to tie up the score a couple of times but the younger squad opened up and poured on the gas and sprang ahead and stayed that way for the rest of the game.

The following are the members of both the Faculty and Student teams and their own personal scores.

Student Team

Jim Duguid — 17, Demon Blank — 14, Tom Battle — 12, Scott Krugman — 11, Glenn Nadel — 4, Pete Greenberg — 2, Joel Ontell — 0, Eric Fardelman — 0 and Joe Riccio — 0.

Faculty Team

Mr. Charles Richardson — 13, Mr. Richard Butterfield — 12, Mr. Martin Zittle — 8, Mr. David Nielsen — 6, Mr. Paul Swensen — 4, Mr. Thomas Spitz — 3 and Mr. George Kolcun — 0.

Some credit must be given to the basketball team managers for doing a fine job in helping to bring the Mounties to a good season. The managers were:

Ed Jung, Kenny Berger, Rod Anderson and George Hill.

But special thanks and congratulations must be given to Coach Butterfield on his terrific coaching of a great team.

If the next annual Men Student Faculty game is half as well executed as the one this year, the next year's students of the Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School really have something to look forward to.

Invasion on Mt. Pleasant

As I was walking through our corridors one afternoon, I noticed several strange people. Wherever I went, there they were! It seemed as if they were invading the school. They looked friendly enough and decent enough, but I still couldn't figure out who they were. The next morning after I saw another one, I couldn't stand it any longer. — I inquired about it and found out they were Student Teachers.

Mount Pleasant Junior High School has been invaded by the following student teachers. They hail from many different colleges. They are:

Miss Charlene Beyerle: She is from Newark State. She is teaching Science for Mr. Mitros.

Miss Maureen Green: She is from St. Elizabeth's College. She is teaching English for Mrs. McGinity and Mrs. Tallagnon.

Miss Dolores Cilento: She is from Montclair State College. She is teaching Math for Mrs. Mellor.

Mr. John Jargensen: He is from Seton Hall University. He is teaching English for Mr. Quinn.

Miss Barbara Rick: She is from Bloomfield College. She is teaching English for Mrs. Rudner.

Mrs. Elizabeth Van Stratton: She is from Montclair State College. She is teaching Art for Miss Rebenack.

and Jeff Solomon

Music Assembly

On Friday, March 3 the music department from Livingston High presented an assembly to Mount Pleasant's students. Mr. Charles Dempsey introduced the program and Mr. Leroy Lenox and Mr. William Ruch directed the program. The Gracenotes came on first and sang "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place," "Maria," and "Maime" and the Dance Band followed and played "Take Five," and a jazzed up version of "I've Been Working On The Railroad." The Male Quartet composed of Bruce Blumenthal, Bob Miller, Allan Cooper and Barry Zucker really livened up the auditorium by singing a medley of songs. The Dance Band, the Gracenotes and Mount Pleasant's Notabels concluded our program.

Public Lecture At St. Barnabas

The ninth in a series of Alerticare lectures for the 1966-67 season will be held in the auditorium of Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Old Short Hills road, on Wednesday, March 22 at 8 p.m.

"Are You Short of Breath?" will be discussed by Dr. Joseph A. Cox, chief of the Department of Anesthesiology and director of the Pulmonary Testing, Therapy and Rehabilitation Unit at the Medical Center.

The public is invited to the lecture, which is sponsored by the Medical Center, in the interest of better health.

On Dean's List

Richard D. Belford has been named to the Dean's List at George Washington University, where he is a senior. Belford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Belford of 14 Coventry road.

Neighbors On West Indies Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. William Helfrecht of 20 Montgomery road and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kuszynski of 22 Montgomery road are shown before departing for a two week cruise in the West Indies on the Incres Line's M.S. Victoria.

Hospital To Sponsor Seminar On Saturday

A clinical seminar on hyperbaric oxygen therapy in medicine will be presented at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Old Short Hills road, on Saturday, March 18. It will be held in the Medical Center's auditorium at 10 a.m.

Dr. Herbert A. Saltzman, director of the hyperbaric unit and associate professor of medicine at Duke University Medical Center, Durham, North Carolina, is the principal speaker.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Medical Center's Department of Medical Education under the direction of Dr. Abdol H. Islami.

Dr. Charles C. Abbott, Attending in Surgery on the medical staff of Saint Barnabas, is chief of the Department of Hyperbaric Medicine at the Center which houses the world's largest hyperbaric facilities.

Doctors throughout the state have been invited to attend the seminar.

Two Recognized For Academic Excellence

Richard A. van den Heuvel and Sandra Ann Mellor have been named to the Dean's List at Grove City College in Pennsylvania.

A freshman at the College, van den Heuvel is majoring in history. His family lives at 21 Intervale road.

Miss Mellor is a senior majoring in elemetnary education. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, the student branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the Pan-Hellenic Council, the senior scholastic honorary and Alpha Theta Mu senior women's honorary. Her family lives at 10 Bunyan drive.

Spiegel Appointed By CIBA Products

CIBA Products Company has announced the appointment of Mortimer J. Spiegel as district sales manager in the Eastern region. He will supervise field sales activities for CIBA's epoxy resins, with headquarters in Summit.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Speigel received a B.S. degree in chemistry from Queens College and an M.B.A. degree in marketing from Baruch School of the City College of New York. He is director of the New York section of the Society of Plastics Engineers.

Spiegel is married and the father of two children. He resides with his wife and family at 2 Marberne terrace.

Rhodes Honored For Dodge Sales

Robert P. Rhodes, 53 Hazel avenue, has been elected to the Dodge Delta Sales Club, Diamond Chapter for 1966 for outstanding sales achievement.

Rhodes is employed by Livingston Dodge Inc. of 576 W. Mt. Pleasant avenue. Rhodes will be going to the Sahara Motel in Las Vegas for four days as a guest of Chrysler Corp. for his outstanding ability in the sales field.

Pledges Sorority

Diane Davis of 6 Tulane drive is one of about 200 women students at Bowling Green University in Ohio who have pledged social sororities during the formal spring rush. Miss Davis pledged Chi Omega sorority.

$1,172,410 Worth Of New Buildings

Only 22 permits, of which 10 were for new homes, were issued by the Township building department during February, according to the report of Building Inspector Thomas Wright. The total valuation of the structures was listed at $1,172,410.

The report indicates that the rate of issuance of permits is almost exactly the same as last year.

Astronomy Class Visits Planetarium

The Livingston Student Development Program astronomy class visited the Hayden Planetarium in New York on Saturday, March 11. This trip was in conjunction with the study of the phases, features and phenomena of the moon, which was enhanced by the Planetarium's current program, "The Moon and its Shadow." Highlights of the trip for the eight students were the sky show, examining the 65,000 pound meteorite, checking weights of the different planets, tracing the history of astronomical apparatus and hearing a lecture on the members of the solar system.

The L.S.D.P. astronomy course is under the direction of Nicholas Esposito. Esposito is the science coordinator for elementary schools in Livingston.

L.S.D.P. will conclude its spring term on March 25 with an open house and art exhibit at the Mt. Pleasant Junior High School. Persons interested in visiting the astronomy class or other science and art courses may do so on that Saturday.

Julien Grunberg To Lecture On Mutual Funds At Upsala College

A series of lectures on investment companies in memory of the late Hugh W. Long will be given in April at Upsala College by J. Julien Grunberg of Livingston, from 2:30 p.m. to 3:20 p.m. on April 3, 5, 7, 10, 12 and 14 at Upsala's Beck Hall.

Long, a friend and benefactor of Upsala, is a founder of Anchor Corporation of Elizabeth, sponsor of the $1.6 billion Anchor Group of Mutual Funds: Fundamental Investors, Diversified Investment Fund and Diversified Growth Stock Fund.

The public may attend the series free, and persons not registered for the course may arrange to attend the lecture series by contacting the public relations departments at Upsala.

Since 1959, Grunberg has served as president and chairman of Grunberg, Bellomo, Kaufer, Raff & Co. Earlier in his career he was associated in a managerial capacity with Oppenheimer & Co., New York Stock Exchange member firm, and was in charge of their New Jersey operations.

Grunberg is a well-known authority and a prominent speaker on investment matters. He has been a guest lecturer at Upsala and has conducted investment seminars at Bell Telephone Laboratories, Whippany, and at the West Orange Adult School. He also has written numerous articles on investing for newspapers and trade publications.

A native of Belgium, Grunberg was a staff officer in the Belgian army from 1940 to 1942 in World War II, and from 1943 to 1945 was a naval war correspondent accredited to the British Navy. He was knighted by the King of Belgium for his meritorius military services. He studied at Brussels, Antwerp and Oxford Universities, earning degrees in business administration, political science and law.

Named To Dean's List

Marilyn E. Diecks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Diecks, 96 South Ashby avenue, was named to the Dean's List at Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., for the fall semester.

Miss Diecks is a senior majoring in history in preparation for secondary school teaching. She is active in the Pennsylvania State Education Association, sings in the annual "Messiah" Chorus, and serves as the president of Tau Sigma Gamma social sorority. This is the third time she has attained the Dean's List.

Elected By Sorority

Miss Susan Pollara of 31 Baker road, a junior at the University of Maryland, has been elected president of Kappa Dela sorority. She will represent the sorority at the national convention in California in June.

Cohen Elected To Food Chain Board

Sidney Cohen, 250 Hobart Gap road, has been elected to the board of directors of Foodarama Supermarkers, Inc., a Freehold based company operating 19 Shop-Rite Supermarkets in three states. The election was held recently at the company's annual meeting.

Cohen, who joined Foodarama three years ago, is vice president in charge of the Perishables Division. Before joining Foodarama, he owned and operated the Shop-Rite of Livingston for 10 years.

In addition to his duties at Foodarama Cohen also serves as chairman of the Dairy, Deli and Frozen Foods Committee at the Wakefern Food Corp., cooperative distribution center for Shop-Rite Supermarkets.

Cohen lives with his wife, Bernice, and their child in Livingston.

Two On Dean's List

Two Livingston students at Brown University have been named to the dean's list for the fall semester.

Russell Paul Bosworth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Bosworth of 8 Longview road, and is a graduate of Livingston High School. Neil Barry Bromberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Bromberg of 14 Largo lane, and a graduate of Brooklyn Technical High School. Both are members of the class of 1967 at Brown University.

Cited For Scholarship

Robert D. Coburn, a student at Mitchell College in New London, Connecticut, has been cited by the college for commendable scholarship. Coburn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard P. Coburn of 27 Wychwood road, and is a 1965 graduate of Newark Academy.

AFS To Sponsor Kennedy Movie

At a recent Livingston High School American Field Service Club meeting a slide show was presented by Mrs. Sydell Fieber, a teacher at the high school. Mrs. Fieber's presentation was on her tour of some of the Iron Curtain countries, including East Germany, Czechoslavakia, Poland, and Russia.

Coming up soon is the movie, "Years of Lightning, Days of Drums," about the late President Kennedy. It will be a first-run film in New Jersey, to be held in the Livingston High School auditorium Saturday evening, April 29, and Sunday afternoon, April 30. Tickets are available from members of the AFS Club. Profits from the film will be used to support next year's exchange student.

Finch Elected By Harrison PTA

Robert C. Finch was elected president of the Amos W. Harrison PTA at the March meeting. Other officers elected are: first vice president, Mrs. Bernard Golde; second vice president, Mrs. Peter Isabella; third vice president, Mrs. George Anderson; treasurer, Norman Arons; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alan Zucker; and recording secretary, Mrs. Jay Hoffman.

On Dean's List

John C. Graf, Jr., of 22 Spier drive has been named to the Dean's List at Franklin and Marshall College for the recently completed academic semester. Graf is a freshman at the College.

On Policy Committee

Louis A. Horwitz, president of the Mayflower Savings and Loan Association, has been reappointed to the Economic Policy Committee of the New Jersey Savings and Loan League.

The committee studies economic trends that may affect the savings and loan business, and makes recommendations to member associations.

by Antonio, your stylist

So-called normal hair is the envy of many women because it holds a hairdo long after not-so-normal hair begins to pose its usual problems. This envied normal hair is a natural gift, but to maintain its attraction of softness, sheen and easy manageability it does require fairly rgular care.

Scalp circulation through brushing and massage, regular washing every week or ten days and occasional conditioning treatment between shampoos will ensure against normal hair developing slightly abnormal tendencies.

Whether your hair is normal, fine and fuzzy, or stiff and unmanageable, we have a ready solution. There are few tricks in the book unknow to our operators and stylists. Letter To The Editor

100 Irving Avenue
Livingston, N. J.
March 13, 1967

Dear Mr. Klaber:

It was extremely gratifying to see so many townspeople defend their constitutional right to listen to whomever thy pleased, including the every-day, all seasons American patriot of long standing, Norman Thomas.

In addition to the above, I was looking for some comment on Mrs. Vincent Guariglia's rather unusual experience in a local card shop.

How does one explain the behavior of a being that looks like a person but doesn't act like one? Most likely, this puzzled Mrs. Guariglia no end just as it puzzles me now. From the lady's account, this twilight-zone-type character launched his verbal attack without provocation — her very presence was enough. How does one explain this? I certainly don't know. I can only guess. I do know, however, that there exist human beings who need not know you to hate you.

There are persons who see red if you disagree with them. It doesn't matter whether you disagree on Vietnam or on whether the Yankees will finish in the cellar again — they could just strangle you. But since Mrs. Guariglia uttered not a word to this man, this could not have been the reason for the invective against her.

There are persons to whom skin texture, other than white, snow-white, I mean, is un-American. This is extreme, to be sure. The more liberal of the color-haters will tolerate some pigmentation but not black. This malady is common.

Of course, we still remember the maniacal exaltation of blue eyes and yellow hair to the point where anyone with a slight variation of this color combination was suspect, to say the least. Those not endowed by God with the right color and facial features, the right religion and political convictions, fell victim to the noose, the bullet and the gas chamber. Know you? No need for that.

How about those who bristle or smirk at the sound of a name like Einstein, Leonardo, Pulaski and Minnehaha? Oh yes, the very sound of a name.

Then there are those who can't stand the accents — other than their own. Why can't people learn to speak English!

If all this seems exaggerated, let me remind you of the litigation now in progress regarding the restrictive covenants in property deeds in Packanack Lake, Wayne Township. Each deed requires owners to join the exclusive local Country Club. Under this covenant, the club has refused to admit "persons of an Italian-American background, of a Spanish-American background, and of the Jewish religion, and other persons who were not of a northern European, Christian background." One may have the education, the money and be law-abiding, but if he doesn't have the proper race, religion and creed he cannot live in Packanack Lake.

Getting back to Livingston, the man in question evidently detests Newarkers. But since he couldn't possibly know that Mrs. Guariglia did or didn't come from Newark, since in fact she does not, he might have a hundred little hates that triggered this one big, hateful outburst. But who knows, really, what it was about Mrs. Guariglia that caused this incident. Maybe he doesn't like women. Maybe he just hates people. I feel sorry for him, Mrs. Guariglia. Perhaps he is more to be pitied than blamed.

Sincerely,
Frank Witkus

Zacharczyk On IVS Team In Laos

Thomas Zacharczyk of Livingston departed on March 1 for a two-year tour of duty in Laos with International Voluntary Services, Inc. Zacharczyk received a BS in Forestry from Northern Arizona University.

In Laos Zacharczyk has joined 57 other volunteers on the IVS Rural Development team. These volunteers live in remote areas of Laos in selected village clusters composed of approximately eighteen villages. IVSers work with the rural communities in crop and livestock production; construction of farm buildings, schools, dispensaries, roads and airstrips; sanitation and food preservation; and social welfare.

Founded in 1953 as a private, non-profit organization, IVS provides small-scale technical assistance to peoples in developing countries. IVS works in co-operation with the U.S. foreign aid program administered by the Agency for International Development (AID). The team in Laos has been in operation sice 1957.

Does junior have his father's eyes . . . and what else? .....

Well, there's a very good chance he could have inherited more than just that. Allergic diseases, such as asthma, hay fever, and hives are considered "family diseases." An allergic sufferer can expect about half his children to have a similar major allergy in childhood. But there's no reason to worry. Quite a few modern means of prevention and treatment are commonly known and effective reliefs are available.

The only catch seems to be that too many of us are afraid to accept the results of a good diagnosis. Allergies may run in our families, but we shouldn't run from them.

Some progressive minded scientists believe that allergies may be contracted from the mental and physical environment of the parents and not really inherited after all. You may rely upon the environment of our pharmacy for all your modern medical needs. Contact us soon at LIVINGSTON PHARMACY, 43 South Livingston Avenue, Phone: WY 2-5020 . . . Mrs. Jennie Silk Dies; Resident For 40 Years

Mrs. Jennie Silk of 13 Wynnewood road died Sunday after a long illness. She was 71.

Born in Lithuania, Mrs. Silk came to the United States in 1905. She lived in Brooklyn and the last 40 years in Livingston. She was a charter member of the Corporal Arthur E. Smith Post, Veterans of Foriegn Wars Auxiliary and a former member of the Rosary Society of St. Philomena's Church.

The wife of the late James E. Silk, she is survived by a son, Edward J. Silk of Livingston; a brother, Peter Jackewicz of Camden; a sister, Mrs. Anna Sirvydas of Norton, Vt. and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held Wednesday at 9 a.m. from the Hopping Funeral Home, 145 E. Mt. Pleasant avenue with a Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. in St. Philomena's Church. Interment was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Montclair.

Newcomers Present Spring Fashions

Last Monday evening the Newcomers Welcome Wagon Club of Livingston held a "Trip into Spring" fashion show featuring the very latest in clothes and hair styles. Members of Newcomers club modeled suits, dresses and gowns from Budd Fashions in Roseland. The models were provided with the newest and most flattering hair styles for the show. Mrs. J. Engle was the commentator. The models were: Mrs. John Rose, Mrs. Walter Duyin, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. Fred Heyman, Mrs. Robert Staubitz, Mrs. Louis Oberheu, Mrs. J. Leitch, and Mrs. Mike Barber.

Meeting plans for the rest of the year were announced Monday evening and are as follows: On April 12 the Newcomers will have a spring luncheon at Pal's Cabin at 12:00. On May 8, the regular meeting will be held at the Jersey Central office in Morristown. Program for that evening will be a cooking demonstration. The last meeting for this year will be held on June 12 at the Livingston Methodist Church. This will be a covered dish dinner and will be followed by the installation of officers.

For information about Newcomers Club, persons may contact Mrs. Fred West 992-7681.

Attends Red Cross Leadership Course

Mrs. Donald Worcester of Livingston was one of 10 volunteers and three staff members of the West Essex Red Cross who attended a leadership training course held last week at the Essex Chapter headquarters in East Orange. The course, restricted to 25 persons per session, was held two consecutive days. This brand new National Red Cross course to promote leadership development was given by Mrs. Harry W. Kisther, National Red Cross Eastern Area regional chairman of volunteers, and Miss Gwen Scupholm, her executive assistant.

Radio Amateurs To Hold Auction

Spring '67 bride combines the traditional romantic look with a fresh contemporary glow. Here, she wears an Empire-style gown of cotton serge, trimmed with venise lace. Pear-shaped diamonds form a bridal spray on the edge of her bateau neckline. Available at Dorothy's Fashion Salon.

Guide To Proper Wedding Dress

The style of a wedding is determined by its size, the location and the time of day, as well as by the formality of the bride's gown. Once these factors have been determined, it's important for everyone in the wedding party to dress accordingly. The following guide may be modified upon occasion, but there should be no variations within groups. Ushers should all be dressed alike, bridesmaids should have similar gowns, and mothers' dresses should conform in length and formality.

Very Formal Evening
(a large ceremony starting after 6 p.m.)

Bride — Stately gown with a long train (such as cathedral). Veil to complement dress, often long or full. Long sleeves or gloves to cover arms, shoes to match gown. Elaborate bouquet or flower-trimmed prayer book. Jewelry is optional.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) Black tailcoat with matching trousers, white pique waistcoat, white bow tie, stiff front shirt with wing collar, black patent leather oxfords or pumps, black socks, white gloves. Black silk top hat is correct, but entirely optional.

Bridesmaids (and maid of honor) Floor-length gowns, short veils or other headpieces, gloves to complement length of sleeves. Bouquets, of any style, shoes to match or harmonize with gowns.

Mothers — Floor-length evening or dinner dresses. Small hats or veils, shoes, gloves and corsages to harmonize.

Very Formal Daytime
(a large ceremony starting at high noon or late afternoon)

Bride — Same as very formal evening, but a shorter train is permissible.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) Cutaway coat, gray striped trousers, gray waistcoat, formal white shirt with wing collar, striped ascot with pearl or gold stickpin, black shoes, black socks, gray gloves. A starched turned down collar and striped four-in-hand tie may be substituted for wing collar and ascot. Gray spats and black silk top hat are optional.

Bridesmaids — (and maid of honor) Same as very formal evening, but gowns are often less elaborate in daytime.

Mothers — Floor-length gowns, not as formal as those for evening. Same accessories as evening.

Formal Evening
(starting after 6 p.m., but smaller than very formal ceremony)

Bride — Long gown with chapel or sweep train. Veil usually fingertip length or shorter. Accessories the same as those for very formal weddings.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) In winter, black dinner jacket and matching trousers, white pleated bosom shirt with turned down collar, black silk bow tie and cummerbund (or vest), black shoes and socks, gray gloves. In summer, dinner jacket is white, gloves and vest are omitted; cummerbund is worn.

Bridesmaids — (and maid of honor) Similar to very formal, but dresses are occasionally shorter. Gloves are optional.

Mothers — Dinner dresses, usually long. Small hats or veils, shoes, gloves and corsages to harmonize with dresses.

Formal Daytime
(usually in morning or early afternoon)

Bride — Same as formal evening.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) Black or oxford gray sack coat (styled like a suit jacket), striped trousers, gray waistcoat, white shirt with turned down collar, striped four-in-hand tie, black shoes, black socks, gray gloves. Homburg is correct, but entirely optional.

Bridesmaids — (and maid of honor) Gowns may be either long or street-length, but not too elaborate. Matching or harmonizing accessories, including bouquets.

Mothers — Dressy gowns, usually street-length. Corsages and other accessories to match or harmonize.

Semi-Formal Evening
(small ceremony, often at home or in a small chapel).....

Bride — Floor-length or shorter gown, white or pastel, in simple trainless style. Veil usually elbow-length or shorter. Same accessories as formal weddings, but bouquet is more simple.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) Solid dark business suit, plain white shirt, conservative four-in-hand tie, black shoes, black socks. In summer, white linen jacket with oxford gray trousers, or dark blue jacket with white flannel trousers also correct; straw hat is optional.

Bridesmaids — (and maid of honor) Seldom more than one, plus an honor attendant. Dressy street-length gowns with appropriate accessories. Small bouquets.

Mothers — Dressy street-length gowns with appropriate accessories.

Semi-Formal Daytime
(small ceremony, often home or garden)

Bride — Ballerina or street-length gown in dressy style and fabric. Short veil. Small bouquet or flower-covered prayer book. Matching shoes.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) Same as semi-formal evening.

Bridesmaids — (and maid of honor) Same as semi-formal evening, but simpler in style and fabric.

Mothers — Same as semi-formal evening.

Informal
(always small and in the daytime)

Bride — Suit or street dress. Harmonizing hat, gloves, shoes and bag. Corsage instead of wedding bouquet.

Groom — (and men of wedding party) Same as semi-formal.

Bridesmaids — (and maid of honor) Honor attendant only. Dress or suit similar to style of bride's. Corsage.

Mothers — Dresses or suits similar to honor attendant.

William S. Phillips Dies At 74 Years

William S. Phillips of 212 Laurel avenue died Friday in St. Barnabas Medical Center. He was 74.

Mr. Phillips, who was born in Texas, moved here 31 years ago from New York. He was a retired division manager for Loew's Theaters. He began his career with them in 1924 as an assistant manager and retired in 1962 as division manager for New York and New Jersey.

He was a member of the founding Lodge of Elks in New York and a veteran of the Army in World War I.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Murray Phillips, and a brother, Philip Phillips.

The service was held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Hopping Funeral Home, 145 E. Mt. Pleasant avenue.

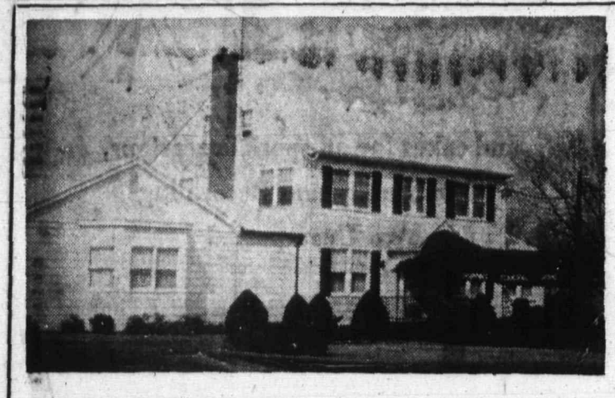

To Sort Packages

Members of the Welfare Department of the Livingston Women's Club will meet Wednesday, March 22, at 9:30 a.m. at New Eyes for the Needy, Short Hills to sort packages.

V.F.W. To Honor Gold Star Mothers

At its Memorial Day Observance on May 30, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2856 plans to pay homage to the Gold Star Mothers of all wars. The V.F.W. considers it a most essential part of its program to give recognition and tribute to mothers who have given their sons in the wars of our county. In order to complete its roster of names, Gold Star Mothers are asked to call Robert F. Eick at 992-9290 or the Post Home at 992-9882.

Letter To The Editor

9 West Lawn Road
Livingston, N. J.
March 9, 1967

Dear Mr. Klaber:

Something has been disturbing me, and I think the people of Livingston should worry about this also.

Although I am a child, this to me is very important. I ride the bus to school every day, and we stop on major streets. Some people have to cross and the cars don't stop. To think that the drivers of Livingston could be such careless, reckless drivers. People click and cluck their tongues about this one getting hurt, this one geting killed in Viet Nam, etc. Are the people of Livingston so naive that they don't know what is in front of their own noses? When this one is hurt, so and so spreads it around. Would someone please spread it around that the people of Livingston should watch out for their children and others. Should we have people posted at every stop watching as the cars speed by and report these license plates to the police? No! The law is for the safety of everybody. Please obey it for everyones' sake. Thank you.

Very sincerely yours,
Laura Wertheimer

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.)
And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 2.7 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)
And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.
And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires (around 40,000 miles).
But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.
You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

YWCA Offers Many Activities, Classes In Young Adult Department For Spring

Courses in such varied fields as art, gardening, pottery, sewing and gym swim begin at the Young Adult Department at the Young Women's Christian Association of the Oranges this coming week. Registration is open now for all these classes at 391 Main street, Orange, 672-9500. The new series will run for eight weeks, accompanied by a tiny tot program in creative arts for pre-school children on Monday and Wednesday mornings only.

"Monday Morning Whirl," which begins this Monday, March 20 will feature Danish slimnastics and swim with Gretta Klaussen from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. For the young woman with an artistic flair, An Experiment in Art with Honora Friedman will teach participants, using various media, something about free expression, landscape, figure drawing, still life and abstract composition. In beginner's sewing basic sewing techniques will be taught by Phyllis Zlatin. Each student will make a simple dress in this class on Monday mornings from 8:30 to 11:00 a.m.

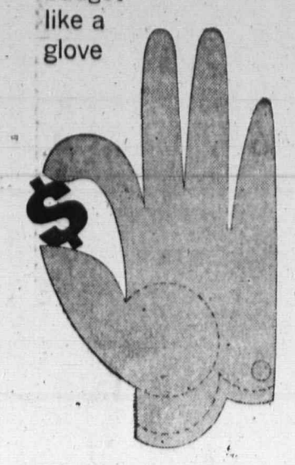

So that mothers of small children may enjoy these classes with a feeling of freedom, Creative Arts for Children will be offered concurrently on Monday morning Planned for children from 2 - 5 years of age accompanying their mothers to activities Monday and Wednesday mornings at the YWCA of the Oranges, children will be kept secure and occupied under qualified supervision.

Intermediate sewing will be offered Monday afternoon, beginning March 20, from 1:15 to 2:45 p.m. and tailoring will be given Tuesday mornings from 9:30 to 11 a.m. In intermediate sewing the more advanced student will make an underlined dress using advanced dressmaking techniques. In tailoring, each student will make a suit using many of the techniques of custom tailors. This is for the experienced sewer only.

Ladies' Day Out comes to the YWCA next Wednesday morning, March 22, with gym-swim, exercises followed by a swim. The Pottery Workshop is offered Monday morning.

A new course called Home Gardening - and a bit of Landscaping, too, is offered on eight Wednesday mornings from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. with landscape designer Ruby Weinberg. Mrs. Allen Webb, director of the Young Adult Program Department at the YWCA of the Oranges, has further information on all these classes.

Several Fined For Traffic Offenses

Several Livingston drivers were fined for traffic offenses in Municipal Court last week. Wayne T. Doring of 27 Westlawn road was fined $15 and court costs of $5 after pleading guilty to careless driving. David A. Gusky of 19 Maplewood drive was fined $20 on the same charge.

Joan S. Rothbard of 62 West drive was given a suspended sentence when she pleaded guilty to failure to have her registration in her possession while driving.

Seven summonses had been given out for parking on the east side of the driveway near the high school, but the cases were dismissed when it was found that there was no ordinance to prohibit parking. The signs had been erected without any legal justification.

Car In Wrong Line Crashes Into Another

Two cars driven by out of town drivers collided on Springbrook road Sunday, March 5, resulting in injuries to both drivers and extensive damage to the cars.

George W. Gross, 71, of Packanack Lake told police that he had been going along Springbrook road looking for a house number. When he looked back at the road he found himself in the wrong lane, and crashed head-on into a car driven by Marilyn J. Vialard of West Orange.

Both drivers suffered minor injuries in the wreck, and the cars were towed away with an estimated $1600 damage. Gross was issued a summons for careless driving.

4-H Club Members In Foods Contest

Brian McGrail, right, offers some of his apple crisp to Miss Janet Whaley, Essex County Home Economist, while Deborah McGrail, left, looks on. The tasting party was held at the recent 4-H Favorite Foods Contest.

Seven Livingston 4-H Club members have won awards at the Favorite Foods Contest held last week at the Caldwell Presbyterian Church Hall. Contestants were judged on their favorite food entry, their knowledge of safety rules in the kitchen and preparation methods, a daily menu, and a table setting. All of the entrants are enrolled in a Foods and Nutrition Unit in the 4-H Club.

Four of the Livingston residents were awarded Excellent ratings by the judges. They were Jamie Weinberg of 11 Stratford drive, Victoria Peterman of 3 Boynton drive, Patti O'Brien of 9 Westgate road and Diane Feskanich of 8 Deal lane.

An additional three 4-H members were rated as Very Good: Deborah and Brian McGrail of 183 East McClellan avenue and Susy Nolan of 10 Mayhew drive.

There were 91 children entered in the contest from surrounding counties. Following the judging, the contestants, club leaders, parents and others enjoyed a tasting party including all the foods prepared and displayed for the event.

The Favorite Foods Contest is held each year by the Cooperative Extension Service. Further information on the 4-H Club is available from John A. Hassert at 226-8500.

Sherman Elected By School Drama Group

Richard L. Sherman of 8 Kathay drive has been elected vice president of the North High School Dramatic Society at the Children's Asthmatic Research Institute and Hospital in Denver, Colorado.

Richard, a graduate of Heritage Junior High School, entered the Asthmatic Research Institute in 1965 in a corrective program to help cure a severe asthmatic condition. He is expected to return to Livingston this summer to resume his studies in the senior class of Livingston High School.

Mrs. Marr Honored

Mrs. Linda F. Marr, daughter of Frank Fink of 11 Fordham road, has been named to the Dean's list at Alfred University for outstanding academic achievement during the first semester of the current school year.

Mrs. Marr is a senior in the College of Liberal Arts and is majoring in general science. She is married to Ronald Marr, a graduate of Alfred University.

Guldner Is Named Assistant Treasurer

The Bates Manufacturing Company of West Orange has announced that Donald Guldner was elected to the position of assistant treasurer at the recent directors' meeting of the company.

Guldner has been assistant controller at Bates for 4 years and prior to that was general manager of a business forms company. He is a graduate of Pace College in New York City and is a Certified Public Accountant in New Jersey; he has had 10 years experience in public accounting.

In addition to his activities at Bates, he is also active in the YMCA, the Masonic Order, the Boy Scout Troop of Livingston and Church work. He resides at 26 Bonnyview drive with his wife Beverly and 6 children, ranging in age from 2 to 14.

G. V. Controls Wins Telephone Contract

G. V. Controls Inc. of 81 Okner parkway has been awarded a contract by the Western Electric Company valued at more than $190,000.

The one-year contract covers a variety of thermal time relays used primarily in submarine cable alarm circuits, radio control circuits and power supply circuits.

Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, purchased supplies and services from some 21 Livingston firms in 1965. The value of these purchases amounted to more than $1.1 million.

Honored By College

David Scott, a senior at Westminster Choir College, Princeton has been named to the Dean's List and the Honor Roll for the Fall Semester of 1966-67.

David is the son of Robert C. Scott of Livingston. He is touring North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, and Maryland with the Westminster Choir for four weeks under the direction of Dr. George Lynn, Music Director of the College. Members of the Choir are chosen by competitive audition from the student body.

Congresswoman Dwyer's REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

Powell and Peace

Adam Clayton Powell and the war in Vietnam were the big issues before the House last week.

The issues were complex, the parliamentary situations confusing, and the results of the House actions not nearly as conclusive as they seemed. I think it is important, therefore, to see in perspective what the House did, and to undertake with renewed determination efforts, in the former case, to establish effective and enforceable procedures for dealing with misconduct in the House and, in the latter, to bring closer the day when negotiations can end the war with honor, and justice.

In the case of Powell, the deposed Chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, there was never any question whether he should be severely punished for his misdeeds. The great majority of members of both parties shared the national outrage at Powell's dishonesty, his abuse of power, his arrogant flaunting of the authority of the courts and Congressional Committees, and the disrepute which he brought on Congress as a whole. The issue was one of means — how to discipline Powell in the most lasting and appropriate way.

Three Choices

As the proceedings developed, the House was confronted with three choices: (1) recommendations of its Select Committee to investigate Powell— condemnation by the House, loss of all seniority and its accompanying privileges, and a fine of $40,000; (2) exclusion (that is, refusing to allow Powell to take the seat to which he was elected); or (3) nothing at all.

The third alternative, no action at all, would have been unconscionable. Of the other two, I much preferred the committee proposal. It had many advantages. Had it been approved, Powell would have been punished more severely than any member of Congress in history, stripped of his power and position, prestige and influence. The punishment would have fitted his transgressions. It would clearly have been within the power of the House to take this action, without any of the Constitutional questions which have been raised with regard to his exclusion. Moreover, if Powell had failed to appear in the House and accept his punishment, his seat automatically would have been declared vacant but in a way for which only he could be blamed. Powell would, consequently, have been denied the martyr's role on which he thrives and his ability to exploit racial tensions for his own advantage would have been limited.

Of special importance, too, by following its committee's recommendations, the House would have created effective and far-reaching precedents for investigating and punishing the misconduct of any of its members — precedents which would greatly have encouraged our efforts to establish systematic and permanent procedures for assuring the integrity of the House.

Committee Approach was Best

For the reasons, then, and be the exclusion proposedal seemed destined to be attacked (and possibly overturned) in the courts and appeared likely to prolong rather than settle the Powell issue, I strongly supported the committee's approach as the best available solution. On the three key roll-calls, I voted as follows: on the motion to halt debate and vote on the committee resolution, I voted "yes;" on adopting the exclusion substitute in place of the committee resolution, I voted "no;" when, finally, there was no other alternative but to do nothing, I voted "yes" on the motion to exclude Powell from Congress. The vote was 307 to 116, with a majority of both parties approving the action.

This is not the end of it, of course. Simply because the House has dealt with Adam Clayton Powell, it does not follow that the House — as one overly optimistic commentator observed — has "redeemed itself." The fault lies not alone with a single individual; it exists in the system, in the failure of the House to adopt standards and procedures designed to discourage abuses of the public trust by exposing wrongdoing and enforcing penalties against it.

By the time you read this report, I shall have introduced a series of bills aimed at achieving this objective. As many of you may recall, I have urged for several years — in legislation, speeches, testimony before committees, etc. — that Congress enact, enforceable ethics legislation in order to help restore public confidence in its institutions of representative government. Since the begining of this year, I have conducted an intensive re-study of this entire field: reviewing the existing inadequate statutes, analyzing past proposals for reform (some of which I have previously sponsored), and comparing the conflict-of-interest regulations which govern officials of the Executive Branch.

As the result, I am convinced that any ethics program will be deficient if it fails to include the following elements: (1) full disclosure, (2) specific prohibition of unethical behavior, and (3) effective enforcement. Each reenforces the others. More specifically, my own program will provide for: (a) a permanent Committee on Standards of Conduct with the power to investigate and to enforce; (b) a meaningful code outlawing specific abuses; (c) full disclosure of assets and liabilities, income, contributions, and business interests of Congressmen and their top staff employees; (d) regular audits of all Congressional spending; and (e) a prohibition against hiring "no show" employees and placing relatives on Congressional payrolls.

I believe I can speak with some authority about nepotism because for the past 10 years my husbnad has contributed thousands of hours of voluntary and valuable work to my Congressional office — without receiving a penny of compensation.

This is the time to do the whole job; and the people have a right to expect nothing less from their Congress.

The Emphasis on Peace

Almost as soon as the House had concluded with the Powell matter, it took up the war in Vietnam, this time in the form of a bill authorizing additional funds for the purchase of bombers, missiles and other military equipment, much of it to replace material lost in that devasted country.

Here, however, the issue was not whether the equipment is needed to support United States forces in Vietnam; this was acknowledged by all. The question was whether and how far Congress should go in a military authorization bill to express its concern about the danger of escalation and the need to pursue attempts to reach a peaceful settlement of the war.

The Senate, it seemed to me, had answered the question satisfactorily the day before when it adopted an amendment to the same bill, proposed by the Majority Leader, which significantly redefined Congressional policy as (1) providing all necessary support to U. S. forces in Vietnam, (2) preventing the expansion of the war, and (3) ending the war through an honorable negotiated settlement. The vote approving this policy statement was 89 to 2.

Under the more restrictive rules of the House, regrettably, this same amendment was ruled out of order as being non-germane to the purpose of the bill — though I am confident it would have received a substantial vote. Shortly thereafter, a much more extreme amendment was proposed which would have prohibited the use of the funds to carry on military operations in or over North Vietnam. The effect of this amendment, as opponents pointed out, would have been to halt, unilaterally, the very kind of attacks designed to force the North Vietnamese to negotiate — with no quid pro quo from the other side. This amendment was defeated, 372 to 18.

Hopefully, however, the final House-Senate compromise version of the bill will include language of the Senate amendment — a statement which could become a major new assertion of Congressional inenter that greater efforts should be made to negotiate an honorable end to this terribly destructive war.

Ralph Nadel of 75 W. McClellan avenue took part in a TV commercial for an ammonia company, which will be shown on TV starting March 21. It will be shown on Channel 7 during the Ben Casey, The Nurses and Father Knows Best programs and on Channel 4 on Jeopardy program.

Deborah Milne In Hospital Benefit

Deborah Milne of 17 Manor road is featured as the ballerina doll in a "Toyland" number of Funorama on Ice, the Essex Skating Club's annual benefit for The Hospital Center at Orange, set for April 15 and 16 at the South Mountain Arena, West Orange.

Her daily schedule begins at 4:30 a.m. with a skating class at South Mountain Arena before a full day of school at St. Philomena's followed by homework.

Guest stars in the benefit show will include the reigning world ladies' figure-skating champion, Peggy Fleming, and a pair of world dance champions on ice from England, Diane Towler and Bernard Ford, plus other U. S. regional titlists.

In Lake Placid, N. Y., a few months ago, Debbie became North Atlantic Intermediate Ladies Silver Medalist in rigorous competition. The previous year she reigned as Eastern Juvenile Ladies Champion. Already she has exhibited her graceful skills in ice shows before the Livingston YMCA, in Great Neck, N. Y., and Hershey, Pa., and in two earlier Funoramas.

To make such achievements possible, her schedule also includes ballet instruction, to limber muscles and add elegance, plus wekend trips to West New York for workouts in the local rink. She is the prize skating pupil at the Arena of Hans Gerschwiler, a former world's champion.

Home at 17 Manor road her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. Milne, offer Debbie constant encouragement, for they, too, are active members of the Essex Skating Club. Mrs. Milne makes all of Debbie's costumes. The three are totally involved in the upcoming Funorama.

Drivers Pay For Traffic Violations

An assortment of traffic violations resulted in fines for several out of town drivers in Livingston Municipal Court last week. Sanford Loder of Orange and Thomas A. Armitage of Parsippany were charged with careless driving, and were each fined $20 and court costs of $5 after pleading guilty.

Julius J. Okulicz of Irvington and Hollis Ford of East Orange were fined on speeding charges, and Agostino Torrioni of Newark and George W. Ehinger of Hanover each paid $5 on charges of driving uninspected vehicles.

Car Hits Utility Pole

A Bloomfield man crashed into a utility pole while trying to avoid a collision with a truck on West Mount Pleasant avenue Monday, March 6. Thomas Joseph, Jr., said that he saw a truck coming out of Evergreen avenue, evidently without stopping at the intersection. He tried to stop, he said, but skidded on the wet pavement, went over the curb and hit a pole, damaging the front of the car extensively.

Letter To The Editor

March 10, 1967

Dear Bill:

Recent letters in the Tribune have reached the question of whether or not the Soviet Union "is our chief enemy." I think not, but hasten to add that I believe I understand why some people may disagree with me.

I had difficulty beginning early in school in answering the question. In second grade I thought that the "bad guys" were the Indians. In the fourth grade the picture was clarified: it was the French and Indians. By the time I had reached sixth grade I found that there had been some mistake: the French and Indians helped us free our colonies from British rule. And in eighth grade I saw that when we had to kill our fellow citizens in the southern states, the British demonstrated their cunning trickery by helping the Confederate cause.

The entire matter seemed to clear up in tenth grade: the real enemy was Spain . . . or was it really Mexico? No, I was wrong again: Germany was our real enemy and the Russians were our allies in two World Wars, once under their Czar and then under their Communist leaders. As I left high school and went through basic training and O.C.S., I knew that the enemy was the Axis Powers; Germany, Italy, and Japan.

But something very interesting happened after 1945 that explained why I had been so confused. As a Justice Department lawyer, I took a course at the State Department and studied Communism, and other matters. I learned that there were friendly Communist nations like Yugoslavia and others that were not friendly; and I learned that there were dictatorships in South America and Asia that stood for everything we knew to be evil, but which were supported with out money. I learned that who our enemies and friends were, would be determined by a complicated set of argeements — "Treaties" — which all nations agreed to honor so long as they felt it was in their best interest to do so, and that the condition was a rather unstable one. I began to wonder if this wasn't like a children's game played with new rules every day because there were no enforceable rules. It became clear that so far there has never been any enforceable law on the world level: we have been living in a jungle where overnight we make friends with former enemies because the dawn brings new dangers. If this were so, then nations were not so much our enemies as was the lack of law and order. This was very much like the days of our lawless West, when every man had to look to himself for protection until the community organized and hired a sheriff and a judge, and elected a council to pass some laws.

Great leaders and wise men have been saying for some time that we need to make the UN stronger and this makes sense. People all over the world are beginning to understand this.

Until the UN is stronger, all nations have the obligation to assure, as best they can, the security of their people. And this means we must maintain our arms or invite attack. But there can be no national security without world peace; no world peace without international justice; no international justice without world law; and no effective world law without institutions to make, interpret and enforce it.

I am proud that my country has, despite some mistakes, taken a stand for twenty-two years for the rule of law, for a stronger UN, for impartial world courts to demuch to learn about the "real for a UN police force that can guarantee the security of nations large and small. We still have much to learn about the "real enemy." But in my own mind the real enemies, the real obscenities, are war, anarchy, and the lack of enforceable, equitable laws among nations that can provide the means for solution of the disputes that will always be with us.

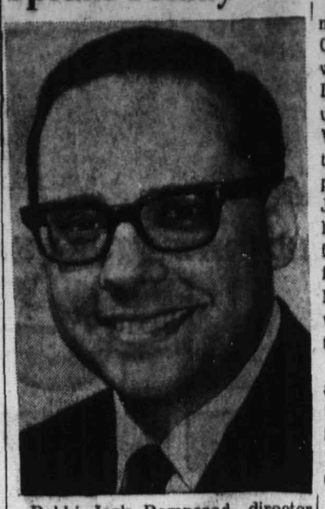

There are many questions which we, especially in a democracy, will have to ponder: is there some system of world organization that will permit each nation internal freedom to develop its spiritual heritage and its own material resources and yet assure it security from foreign attack? Does a federation of the nations in a strengthened UN offer such a solution or is there a better way? Can the leaders of the nations agree to the use of soverignty on the world level? Can the world long exist with the spread of nuclear weapons without such an organization? How large a standing police force would a strengthened UN need? To what level could each nation then safely reduce its armies under an inspected and enforced disarmament plan? Is there still time?

Very truly yours,
Myron W. Kronisch

Rabbi Bemporad Speaks Friday

Rabbi Jack Bemporad, director of the Department of Worship of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, willspeak on the topic, "Why Do We Pray," at Temple Emanu-El of West Essex, 264 West Northfield road, at the Oneg Shabbat after the Friday Evening service, on March 17. The service begins at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Bemporad is also co-editor of "Dimension," the UAHC's Adult education quarterly.

He was born in Italy and came to the United States at the age of six. He completed secondary education in Miami, Florida, and matriculated at Tulane University where he was granted a B. A. Degree with honors in philosophy. At the Hebrew Union College he received his B.H.L. (Bachelor of Hebrew Letters) and his M. A., again with honors in philosophy. Rabbi Bemporad is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and was a Fulbright scholar at the University of Rome. He was ordained a rabbi in 1959.

Rabbi Bemporad taught at the University of Rome, the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, The New School for Social Research, and the University of Pennsylvania. He has also contributed to numerous philosophical and Jewish periodicals.

The program is one of a series of Friday Evening Lectures sponsored by the Program Committee of Temple Emanu-El of West Essex. Mrs. Martin Dauber is chairman of the Program Committee.

FASHION SUPPLEMENT — PAGE ONE

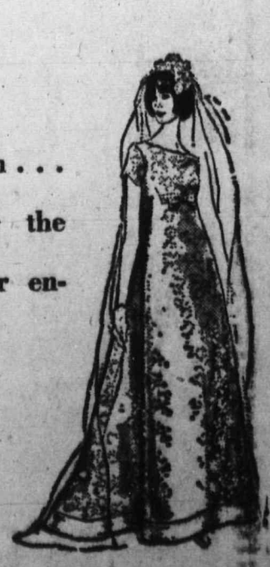

Spring '67 trends

Lithe and lovely, blithe and beautiful, the new Spring fashions enter, in a wonderful array of enchanting shapes and shades. Now as never before, you can be your very individual self at the very height of fashion.

Spring Fashions for you and your family have just arrived at your local stores and are previewed here in the pages of the West Essex Tribune for you to see and select. Start now and have a fashionable Spring . . . turn the page.

Included in this section . . . exciting features for the Spring Bride and her entire wedding party!

Dresses Take Hoods

Burnoose dresses are hooded, for sheer prettiness and protection from spring breezes. Hoods can be removed to show off necklines.

They're Bubbly

Bubbly textures, from boucles to matelasses, make their appearance in spring fabrics.

Go-Coat by Evelyn Pearson®

Any place you go is at home when Evelyn Pearson's travel coat goes with you! It's the chic-est idea to hit the trail . . . take the air . . . sail the seas! Silk-ilk nylon tricot packs and unpacks with nary a wrinkle. Dip wash . . . hang briefly . . . don and get going! Swing-styled, with full-length zip close, gay satin trim.

In mint and blue, S.M.L. $12

Here's spring in all its glory . . Gino Paoli's knit ensemble in white with navy detailing. The coat and matching dress is available in Livingston at Dorothy's Fashion Salon.

Sunglasses Very "In"

Everybody's doing it. Wearing sunglasses, that is. From Alaska to the Strait of Magellan, from New York to the Gobi Desert, the word is getting around that in order to be in vogue, in demand and in step, you've got to have a "wardrobe" of sunglasses.

The fact is that the sunglass "season" has been lengthening from year to year . . . until today it extends from January 1 to December 31.

Leading manufacturers offer a different style of sunglasses for every mood, every occasion, every outfit — and even for every hour of the day.

Big bold frames are the look — and we'll see them this spring in circles, squares, TV shapes and even triangles. Hot colors of pinks and oranges, stark whites and perky black and white combinations will steal the fashion scene.

Going one step further in its fashion conscious designer styles, Foster Grant's sunglasses include a new element in material treatments. Over lays of white, silver and gold pearly add emphasis and drama to a selection of styles. Striking effects ranging from the "cat's-meow" to wide-eyed innocence make these pearlized styles fun as well as stylish.

From morning to night, indoors and out, sunglasses are slated to be fashion's most popular accessory. And matching the sunglasses to the outfit will be the "in" game among those who like to put their best face forward.

Shown here is Treo's "Cheers" swing-lo bra. Style #711 is available in Livingston at Mildred's Corset Shop at $7.50.

When spring calls, the costume answers a variety of fashion needs, for many occasions. One fresh approach to costumery is the weskit suit, with double-buttoned weskit, shorter jacket lined to match the printed silk ascot. The jacket has riding vents in back.

A bold buckle sets off Miss America's little heeled shoe of two-toned grained leather. And there's still more fashion news in the scooped out front and back. $10.99 at Colby Shoes in the Essex Green Plaza, West Orange.

Fashion Flairs

Can a shoe originally designed for men make it in a woman's world? Ask any man!

Sure, the craftsmanship's the same. The hand stitching's the same. And that man-tailored look. But soft and subtle Lady Bostonian's are strictly for kicky legs and groovy hemlines. Made with tenderized leathers. Kneaded and shaped and sewn, till the fit is perfect. Lady B's — the genuine moccasin casual that is so arrogantly masculine in look — so utterly feminine on the foot. (Look for the BEE on the back of the shoe.) Lady Bostonian genuine maccasins are available at Fellman Footwear at $11.99.

Two new Hush Puppies styles shown in Breathin' Brushed Pigskin®. These and other new styles in smooth glove leather available at Fellman Footwear. Men's buckle shoe $12, also available in smaller boys sizes at lower prices. Men's loafers $11.00.

This young look for spring is a strap-happy shoe set on a little heel. Styled by Miss America in triple tones on smooth kid. $11.99 at Colby Shoes in the Essex Green Plaza, West Orange.

Small-scale patterns spark spring print excitement, too. A discreet geometric is the motif for this dress and jacket costume.

From the resort collection of elegance, 1967. Casual elegance in an oatmeal textured day dress. The pockets slit low. A dotted silk handkerchief accessorizes the dress for a total look. Sizes 6-16. $111.00, at Doops, at the Mall, Short Hills, and on the Avenue, East Orange.

Fashion In The Nursery, Too

There's rarely much fashion news in items for infants. To most shoppers a layette item doesn't have much "S.A.", (style appeal).

This spring you'll find a gay group of infants' playwear, layette essentials and even crib coverings in coordinated ticking-stripe knits, polka dots or "Little Angel" prints.

Even tiny tot pajamas come in cheerful prints and colors.

COLBY SHOES

"The Store That Cares About Your Family's Feet"

ESSEX GREEN PLAZA (Opposite Shop-Rite) WEST ORANGE

"Heavenly" by Sandler of Boston . . . a sleek silhouette with soft rounded toe. Lined in comfort foam, it's available in Livingston at Jay's Shoe Box and priced at $13 a pair.

Tones Down Mod Look

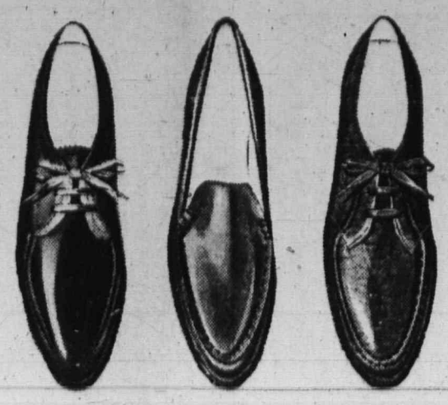

The swing into spring emulates from London this year . . . with a softness that shies away from the extreme. And femininity takes on a dual role: the fresh young ingeneue by day, the torrid provocative vamp at night.

The innocent little girl look is realized in daydresses with simple short-sleeved Poor Boy tops, in convenient button-into dresses with arty smock styling and printable, stripable, dotable high-shaped shifts.

Vampishness introduces a new length in evening dresses . . . lower than midcalf, bringing focus on the angles which become highly seductive. Crepe is the media that projects the mood, relaxed and clinging. And for the more daring, floppy pajamas and floating tents in long and short evening dresses with wide-sleeved caftan shapes dominating.

Fabrics are softer than ever, with a profusion of clingy jersey-knits . . . many in vivid prints. Newcomer is the geometrical harlequin design.

Stretch towelling makes its appearance in innocent little dresses with gathered skirts and fetching beach pajamas. Plain towelling is juggled back and forth in not-so-plain tri-colored jig saw dresses.

Softer, lighter, more flexible leathers in Jumping-Jacks shoes for boys . . . here are just three of the newest styles for spring, priced from $7.50 to $10 at Jay's Shoe Box.

Diminutive sportswear feels the Western and primitive influence as jackets, short and long pants, knickers, shirts and you name it get full coordination treatment in terms of new trends.

Double-breasted jackets paired with trim slacks give little boys a "just-like-Dad's" look for dress-up time.

Exotic Flowers Create Unusual Fashion Touch

Fresh flowers make lively, lovely accessories for spring costumes, and the accent is on the positively unusual.

The tiger lily or the fuji mum outlined in waxy leathers make exotic accessories, say Florists' Telegraph Delivery designers.

For evening, blossoms for the hair are romantically right. Long tresses shaped into a pearl-studded braid can be tied at the tip with a trio of roses.

Mixed blossoms make a glamorous garland for chignons, and FTD experts suggest dotting carnation corsages with jeweled stickpins, for a sparkling evening accent.

For The Youngsters: Summer Camp Wear

Camp wear may not seem like a matter of style to some parents, but to youngsters who plan to spend a few summer weeks at camp it can be an important item. There's a certain age when the biggest consideration is conforming to the standard, and having what everyone else has — and camp outfits are no exception.

The Spot for Children at Livingston Center is the official outfitter for more than two hundred accredited camps, carrying not only clothing of all kinds but bedding and trunks as well. And The Spot will sew on name tapes at no extra charge so young campers won't come home with each other's clothes.

About Pants Suits

New-looking pants suits for spring sport white flannel-cuffed trousers topped by short trenchcoats or brightly striped blazers.

You will enjoy wearing this two piece Mr. Thomson pant suit of dacron and cotton. Available at Olga's Casuals.

Newest look in fashion: the three piece mini-pant swit! Shown here as interpreted by "Mr. Thomson® . . . please!" in a paisley print with fully-lined jacket and coordinated turtle neck shell. available at Olga's Casuals.

Comfort and wearability both star in this non-shrink, no-iron cotton knit shirt, styled in French-type vivid stripes.

Light and bright is the look in men's suitings for spring, as shown by two-button suit in glen-plaid pattern, with fashion hint of waist suppression.

Toddlers, too, have their pants suits this spring. For the little ones are coordinated knickers-and-jacket or jump-suit-and-jacket outfits.

Prints: Read All About 'em

Early showings indicate there will be multiple combinations of color that will make big news. Prints will include geometric designs, free forms, florals, both small and large stripes, spaced bandings and the new African, Peruvian and South Seas patterns. There are many interesting twin prints.

TEXTURE centers in all fibers . . . ribs, diagonals, over-weaves — floral and geometric raised surfaces and jacquard effects. Lacy and embroidered looks will be seen on into Summer. For sports wear the Poor Boy ribs continue, with brushed and scrubbed looks in denims and ticking stripes. There will be a continuation of lively heathers in wools and blends.

Novelty piques, padded ottomans and Bedford cords add another texture dimension. Linen weaves, homespuns and hopsackings can be found on every line with the more rustic burlap weaves looking news. Blends will be the strongest in all Ready-to-Wear designs.

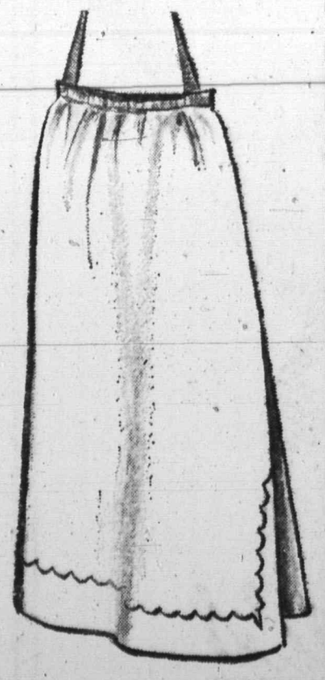

Many bonded fabrics in new weaves are now seen in knits as well as blended cottons. The wispy voiles, organdies and dimities are newest with embroidery and lace insertions. This is the year of the Print with Color Running Riot with Excitement.

WHAT'S NEW IN SHOES?

Up in Maine they refer to the handsewers as "big needlers," beacuse they give leather the going over . . . and under and over and under. These men are craftsmen. Their job is to gather and mould and shape the supple leathers over the last. They pull and tug and coax and knead and then they sew. One perfect lockstitch after another. One at a time. And the shape of the shoe comes closer to perfection with every stitch. Stitches that lock in the shape, the fit, and the feel of a genuine Bostonian Flex-o-Moc . . . for the life of the shoe. Bostonian Flex-O-Mocs are available at Fellman Footwear from $12.99.

Dramatic border prints highlight necklines, hems and sleeves. Here, Peruvian print plays across the top of stretch knit skimmer.

Double-breasted styling with a slimmer, leaner look returns to men's wear, in such apparel as the raincoat and suit pictured above. Raincoat takes new above-knee treatment, leather buttons and stitched trim. Pin stripe suit has deep vents, peaked lapels. Coat by Plymouth, in "Dacron" polyester and cotton blend; suit by Haspel in "Dacron" and worsted.

everything from coat-dress costumes to pantsuits.

DRESSES have changed their shape . . . fewer smocks, flounces or lace . . . they have been replaced by the buoyant umbrella dress (flattering to young tummies). Other variations of the new shape are designed close to the shoulders and breakaway from the waist in a tent or a narrow, easy A.

LITTLE BOYS can now look as dashing as their big brothers. For example, there are pint-size editions of blue herringbone trousers with handsome shortpants styling . . . ably abetted by a Brooksy shirt in light blue with pale pink stripes.

Bags Carry Spring Message

Although the spring silhouette favors the small bag, it has not completely erased the large bag from the fashion scene.

A casual import that's certain to appeal to many is a pouchy little shoulder bag from Florence made of wooden beads.

Florence also continues to contribute the versatile straw bag to the feminine picture. As in the past, it is seen predominantly in its natural state.

Patent is bigger than ever this season with black, as always, heading the list. But white is in there very strong with a kaleidoscope of colors making a bid for attention . . . brioche, iced tea, shocking pink, bright greens, yellows, greens, and reds among them. And for practicability, there is gray patent, a neutral that can be worn with most everything.

Applauds to the up-bag that goes perfectly with the new up-shaping of controlled dress fullness. It takes on many faces. It appears as an elongated rectangle with straight smooth lines that complement any wardrobe. You may have this bag with either a delicate gilt mesh or rope handle. A more versatile version is also available, with an adjustable handle that swings from the shoulder.

The ever-popular envelope has also been converted into an up-bag. Its face is bright pink with lovely texture and it swings from twin long slim, snake ropes.

Fun-Clothing Has 'More Fire'

Children's wear for spring no longer adheres to the static precepts of the past . . . namely togs in pink, blue and white. This season's galaxy of little tikes' fashions shoots forth in a heavenly explosion of vibrant colors. Bright oranges, vivid greens, hot pinks, yellowy lemons and strong blues form the brilliant new rainbow that looms on the horizon.

Fabrics tend to be soft and feel good to the touch with a (praise be!) knack for staying neat. Voiles figure in party dresses and dresses for just plain coolness, while crinkle-crepe is the current inspiration that offers both appeal and practicality. Knits are here to stay in

At-Home Wear Invites Beauty in Fabric, Color

On the private party line for spring are ethereal fabrics in soft and shinning colors that flow in simple, graceful shapes.

Straight from the pages of the Arabian Nights come caftans, djellabahs, burnooses and harem pants exotically printed in bold florals, abstracts, paisleys and stripes.

The Medieval spirit appears in gowns and robes that are reminiscent of King Arthur's Court. Shapes sling at the top widening slowly to the fingers and floor.

Soft pants make the at-home party circuit in supple chiffons, satins, crepes and silks.

Hathaway's sturdy Oxford Club Shirt

This shirt is tailored from Oxford broadcloth. Soft, but uncommonly long-wearing. And warm without being weighty.

Hathaway tailors this sturdy cloth in the classic club manner. Gently rolled collar. Rounded cuffs, Small elegant buttons.

Now look at the tidy midsection. It fits so well because Hathaway tapers the body of the shirt — with extra-long tails that stay where they were meant to stay.

Dana Andrews in one of the suits which won Groshire the Fashion Award for the Performing Arts. Featuring fashion fit, comfort, and the latest styling in spring colors, this suit is one of the many famous brand suits available at Sam's Family Store at Northfield Center.

Merry mixture of prints, patterns, solids strike a bright fashion note in girls' spring dresses. Dress at left mixes jumbo geometrics with solid skirt, low-slung belt. High-yoked dress, right, contrasts geometrics and stripes. By Kate Greenaway in Wamsutta's easy-care cotton, from the selection at Sam's, Northfield Center.

New wider toelines, cleaner styling highlight men's shoe fashions for spring. Above, clockwise from top, are: lightly-grained high-rising slip-on; piped and stitched tie casual in brushed and grained leathers; square-toed, grained leather dress slip-on. Shoes by Plymouth, Hush Puppies. Photo from Leather Industries of America. Available at Sam's, Northfield Center.

Smartly casual hats gain in importance as spring arrives. This one is a wool plaid trimmed with self band, colorful feather.

Styled for the younger executive are hats like this one, in supple fur felt with pinched-front, forward tapered crown. Available at Sam's.

Mirror Frames A Decorative Fashion

There's a new twist in interior decoration that can brighten your first look at yourself in the morning and bring a touch of personalized elegance to the bathroom. It's done by framing the bathroom mirror with an attractive molding.

This can be an expensive project, but Barry's Frame Shop has a selection of five hundred different moldings and is prepared to enhance your mirror quite inexpensively. Pick your own decor-matching molding from the display and Barry's will take care of the rest.
