Board Recommends Master Plan Revision; No Decision on West Side of E. Cedar Ext.

A Master Plan revision will be recommended by the Livingston Planning Board to alter the permitted uses on three sites in the township. A proposal for the fourth site, the undeveloped tract to the west of the East Cedar Street Extension, was tabled when the Board was unable to reach a consensus.

The Planning Board is charged with reviewing the municipality's Master Plan every five years. Areas which have undergone a change are to be studied to determine if a change in zoning is warranted.

Following a lengthy study, the Board agreed this week to adjust the Master Plan on a site along the south side of Route 10, between the NBO store and Walnut Street; along the east side of Eisenhower Parkway, between the former Lam's Restaurant and Beaufort Avenue; and the "island" of property between the East Cedar Street Extension and Old Short Hills Road.

Along Route 10 and Eisenhower Parkway, a new zone will be created to permit commercial development if parcels can be joined together to form a minimum size site. Residential use will be permitted to continue if the property owners wish.

Along the "island" bounded by East Cedar Street Extension and Old Short Hills Road, the Master Plan will be changed to reflect the office buildings which have already been constructed. In addition, another "overlay" zone will be created to permit low density multi-family housing if enough of the individual sites can be joined together to make a tract of sufficient size.

The Planning Board instructed its paid professional planner, Robert O'Grady, to prepare a report for each of the areas reflecting the proposed changes. The Board will vote on the report and recommend to the Township Council that the zoning ordinances be changed to match the changes in the Master Plan.

West Side of East Cedar

The Planning Board did not reach a decision on the controversial tract on the west side of the East Cedar Street Extension. Following 18 months of hearings, the Zoning Board of Adjustment had previously denied an application to construct a large medical office building on the site. Residents of the adjacent Chestnut Hill area, who opposed changing the zoning of the site from the largest residential zone to an office building zone, were angered when the Planning Board announced its study of the site. Each of the hearings concerning this area was attended by a large contingent of residents and an attorney hired by the residential association.

After a lengthy deliberation, an animated public hearing, and a study of the Zoning Board's findings, the Board members were unable to reach a consensus. Board member Robert Leopold explained that the Master Plan, over which the Planning Board has control, calls for the site to be developed with multi-family housing, 20% of which would be designated for low- and moderate-income housing under the state's Mt. Laurel decision. The current zoning, over

Freeholder Sebold Reports on Herbert's Write-In Victory

Patricia Sebold, a resident of Livingston and a member of the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders, is chairwoman of the Livingston Democratic Party. She was active in the recent campaign for Frank Herbert as a write-in candidate for Congress in the 11th District. Herbert was successful in the primary election, marking the first time that any congressional candidate was nominated by a write-in vote.

Sebold has prepared some recollections of this very significant political campaign at the request of the Tribune:

Approximately 1140 Livingston Democratic voters made history on June 7, 1994, in the 11th Congressional District when they wrote in the name of Frank Herbert for Congress, Not only did Herbert become the first candidate for major office to win a write-in vote in Livingston, but he became the first write-in candidate to win a congressional nomination. A small miracle occurred here in Livingston, and the improbable happened.

How did this come about? I have been asked that question over and over, so here is the story of what happened.

April 14 was the filing deadline for petitions for the Democratic Party's candidate for Congress in the 11th District, which covers all of Morris County and parts of Essex, Sussex, Somerset and Passaic Counties. Of course, spreading a district through so many counties is part of the problem. Who takes responsibility? In addition, a very popular incumbent, Republican congressman Dean Gallo, holds office in the district.

The Democratic Party's choice filed ten names more than the required 200 signatures. John Kucek,

Summer Concert Series Opens on Sunday

The first of this year's series of five professional concerts presented at the municipal gazebo will be held on Sunday evening, July 10, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. This year's concerts have been funded by Grand Union.

The opening program will be presented by Opera Music Theatre International. Founded by Metropolitan Opera basso Jerome Hines and based in Newark, OMTI provides a "launching pad" for major operatic careers.

The concert will feature four singers performing favorite arias from La Boheme, Pagliacci, Carmen, Rigoletto, and other familiar operas. Thomas Carlo Bo, OMTI's music director, will conduct from the piano.

Tenor Jie Liu, a native of China, has performed with the Taibei Symphony in Taiwan, the Ars Musica Chorale in New Jersey, the Shanghai Opera, Austin Lyric Opera in Texas, and recently at Carnegie Hall.

Soprano Eileen Strempel is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and of Indiana University. She has performed with the Bolshoi Opera, and has won two Sullivan Awards and the Licia Albanese-Puccini Foundation Career Grant. She was a regional winner in the Metropolitan Opera Auditions, the Liederkranz Competition and the Enrico Caruso Vocal Competition. In May she was the first prize winner of the Loren L. Zachary Vocal Competition.

Mezzo-soprano Jane Perry, who also has a lengthy list of credits, will perform from her French and Italian repertoire.

Baritone Mark Delavan has performed with the San Francisco Opera, New Israeli Opera, Arizona Opera, Michigan Opera Theater, Opera Company of Philadelphia, Washington Opera, New Jersey Opera and Wolf Trap Opera.

The series of professional performances is organized by Margret Bonito. A resident of Livingston and a member of the Board of Education, she is also a professional musician. She and director Ronni Zuckerman of the Department of Recreation and Parks have collaborated with the goal of offering a wide variety of music to as many Livingston residents as possible.

The lighting and sound systems in the gazebo, Bonito said, will support the musicians to provide much the same conditions as are found in a concert hall.

"This concert is a parade of talent worthy of the finest opera houses," Bonito said. She added that OTMI musical director "Tom Bo and I have put together a program from the highest reaches of the opera repertory to showcase these magnificent talents. This is 'fun' opera – nothing heavy or serious."

Encouraging the public to attend the free concert, Bonito said that "this concert is designed for everybody, and we expect sing-alongs."

Family of Livingston Boy with Leukemia Turns to Community for Hope and Help

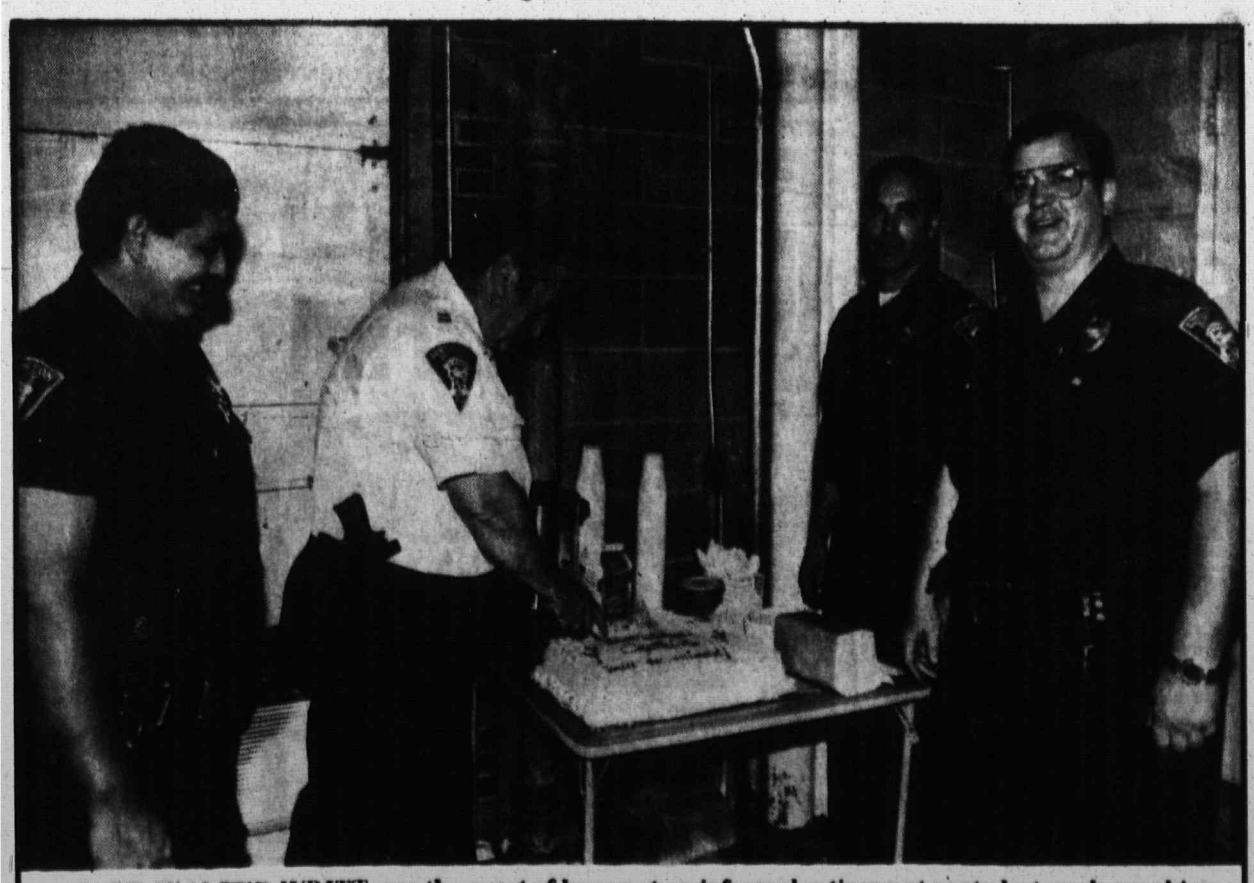

By Christine K. Sablynski

Livingston native Jacob Schwartz, ten years old, has a fatal blood disease called leukemia, and his family has turned to the town for help. Jacob's only hope for a cure is a bone marrow transplant from a matched marrow donor. The members of Jacob's family were tested, but none was a perfect match, and they have initiated a search of the National Marrow Donor Program's (NMDP) Registry of volunteer marrow donors.

According to the North Jersey Blood Center, a regional donor center which is helping the Jacob family in their search for a match, the odds of two unrelated people having matching marrow type vary widely – from one in 100 to one in one million or higher. At any given time, more than 2,000 patients with fatal blood diseases are searching the NMDP Registry in an attempt to find a match marrow donor. As of June 1, more than 1.1 million volunteer donors were listed on the registry.

The Schwartz family now hopes to locate a donor for Jacob, or any of the other patients in need, by recruiting more volunteer donors for the Registry. A volunteer marrow donor recruitment drive will be held on Tuesday, July 19, from 3 to 9 p.m. at Livingston High School. There is no cost to join the Registry at this drive,

HONORED FOR SERVICE: Livingston residents Cathy Cris, of Feist and Feist, and Rocco J. Meola, president and CEO of the First Occupational Center of New Jersey joins board member Mark Mauriello at the Center's recent 40th anniversary awards presentation. The presentation honored four "exceptional citizens who have made significant contributions to their community," including Ace Alagna, publisher of the Italian Tribune News; Allen J. Kasden, president of Crow Construction; James Lukaszewicz, plant manager of Anheuser-Busch in Newark; and William J. Marino, president and CEO of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey, Inc.

Piano Students Earn Audition Honors

Piano students who study under the direction of Beverly Delaney of Livingston received certificates for participation in the annual auditions of the Music Educators' Association of New Jersey, held at Caldwell College on June 5. Certificates for ratings of "Outstanding," "Superior," "Excellent" and "Satisfactory" were presented at two annual recitals held at the Millburn Library on June 14 and 27.

Achieving certificates in the "Superior" and "Excellent" categories were Alissa Bonn, Sola Fasehun, Andrea Koppenheffer, Jane Lee, Megan Lightner, Eileen Meegan, Jill Menapace, Lauren Pacheco, Jonathan Portny, Joseph Schwartz, Elysa Silbersmith, and Marissa Volpe.

A special honor and monetary award for ten years of excellence was given to Volpe, and gold pin awards were given to Meegan, Menapace and Silbersmith for five consecutive years of participation in the auditions with consistently high ratings. Three year pins were awarded to Koppenheffer, Lee and Portny.

Several students participated in the Piano Teachers' Society of America (PTSA) achievement auditions, held annually at Drew University in Madison. Andrea Miltiadas received a three year pin, while Katherine Pavics, Alissa Yatcko and Samantha Zambito received two year pins and Rajiv D'Cruz, Rachel Kramer, Gianna Marinello, Scott Weber and Stacey Weber received one year pins.

At the PTSA auditions, two of the students were chosen to perform at an honors recital held at the Millburn Library on June 19. Pavics performed Tarantella, and Yatcko sang Ave Maria. Yatcko had participated in a multi-talented competition for PTSA, and is a voice student of Livingston resident Lisa Lubin.

Other students performing on the piano in the annual recital included Cristina Abboud, Liz Countryman, Sean Fine, Lauren Greenhalgh, Janine Kaufman, Lesley Mininson, Jessica Murphy, Anna Posio, Kate Scelsa, Marissa Schwartz, Michael Weiss, Rachel Weiss, Amanda Writt and Robert Yankauskas. As a student of voice, Courtney Jones performed one selection.

Associate teachers of piano with Delaney at the studio are Kim Cacchio, Erin Cifelli and Eileen Meegan. The studio's voice teacher is Kristin Cifelli.

Delaney has been teaching piano since 1967. Recently licensed as a "Kindermusik" instructor, she has founded Kindermusik Beginnings of Livingston, which will open in the fall.

NEW TEMPLE OFFICERS: Livingston residents Dr. Nancy Simpkins-Rothbart, newly elected vice president of Congregation B'nai Jeshurun; Fredric M. Smith, president and a former Livingston resident; Linda Levi, assistant treasurer; and Bill Bernstein, new member of the Board of Trustees; pose after being installed at the 146th annual meeting of the congregation. Other Livingston residents installed as officers included Eli Hoffman as treasurer and Peter Berkley and Jerry Dreskin as members of the board of trustees.

Greenberg Is Graduate Of Kent Place School

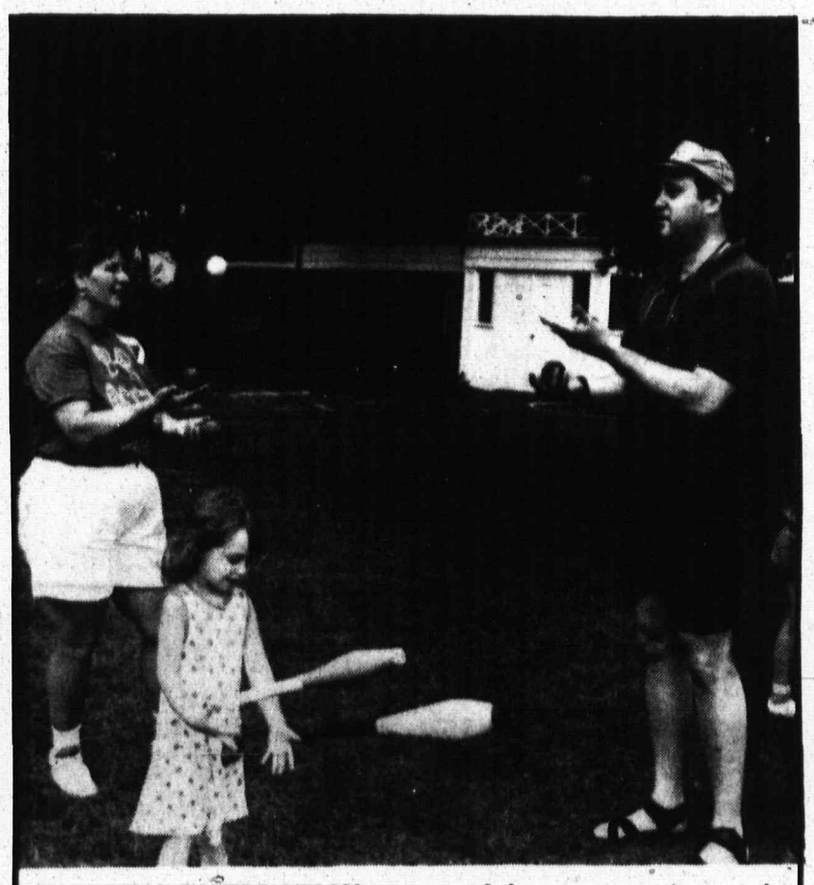

Laura Nicole Greenberg of Livingston was graduated from Kent Place School in Summit on Saturday, June 4. She was one of 44 seniors who graduated from the non-sectarian school for girls.

Cummins Places First In AJC Essay Contest

Jordan Cummins of Livingston was named the first place winner of the recent Philip E. Hoffman Human Relations essay competition, sponsored by the Metropolitan New Jersey chapter of the American Jewish Committee (AJC). Cummins, a student at Livingston High School, received a check for $300 and an award certificate on June 13 at LHS for his winning essay, which was entitled "Crime, Violence and Drugs: America's Most Deadly Cancer." In addition, the school received an engraved plaque in recognition of this achievement.

The AJC received over 70 entries from 12 local schools. The topic for essays this year was, "President Bill Clinton said, 'The nation must fight violence with values... let's face it, drugs, guns, and violence fill a vacuum where the values of civilized life used to be.' How can the President, Congress and we as individuals fill the vacuum and address the problem of drugs, guns and violence in American society?"

Debra Ann Caputo and John Anthony Gamba Exchange Wedding Vows in Presbyterian Church

Debra Ann Caputo of Livingston and John Anthony Gamba of Bridgewater were married on May 8 in the Presbyterian Church of Livingston. The bride is the daughter of Edward M. Caputo of Livingston and Theresa Dangler of Bridgewater, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gamba of Union County.

The bride was given in marriage by her father at the late afternoon ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. John Edward Berges. A reception followed at the Crystal Plaza in Livingston.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder, floor length gown which had a fitted bodice adorned with baby pearl appliques and a semi-full tulle skirt with a tulle chapel length train. She carried a cascade of Casablanca lilies, and white and two-tone dendrobium orchids with tropical foliage.

Michelle Rose Lanza of Interlaken was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Gigi Callas and Holly Levine, both of Livingston, and Gabriella Colasacco of West Orange. The attendants wore black crepe fitted floor length gowns with white raw silk over one shoulder, and carried across-the-arm bouquets of pink gingers, two-tone dendrobium orchids, and tropical foliage tied with white tulle bows.

Billy Gamba of Roselle Park, nephew of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer. Gabriella Colasacco was also the soloist, and performed the Ave Maria for the ceremony.

Carl Gamba of Cranford served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Nicholas Gamba of Roselle Park, brother of the bridegroom; Edward Caputo Jr. of Livingston, brother of the bride; and Don Gamble of Bridgewater.

The bride is a 1991 graduate of Montclair State University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in marketing. She is currently pursuing teaching certification at Kean College.

Her husband, a graduate of the Art Institute of Fort Lauderdale, is self-employed with a family-owned graphics company.

Following a honeymoon trip to the Hawaiian Islands, the couple is planning to build a home in Somerset County.

Herbert Victory

running under the slogan "Christian Democrat," challenged the petition and succeeded in having that petition disqualified for a technicality. Less than a month later, Frank Herbert, a former state senator from Bergen County who had retired to Sparta, emerged as the 11th hour candidate for a write-in vote for the 11th District.

Realizing the importance of the election because of the literature I read about Kucek and his holocaust revisionist statements, which I verified through copies of his own writings, I spoke to Frank Herbert and suggested a press conference in Livingston. This press conference was held in the gazebo at Memorial Park on May 19, and was reported in the Star-Ledger and the West Essex Tribune. Publicity was very important: Livingston Democrats needed to get the news about John Kucek.

The next few weeks saw a flurry of activity by the activist members of the Livingston Democratic Party. For two weeks telephone calls were made to prospective voters using lists provided by the Cardell Cooper for County Executive campaign. Almost every individual called wanted to know all the details, and an explanation of how to cast a write-in ballot. Therefore, each call took a great deal of time to complete.

An ad was placed in the West Essex Tribune to inform voters, and show them how to write in Frank Herbert's name. This ad was paid for and put together by Livingston Democrats.

A second ad including the Democratic Township Council candidates, incumbents Ed Sullivan and Ellie Cohen and first time candidate David Katz, along with myself and mayor Jeff Dollinger and deputy mayor Joe Fiordaliso, also appeared urging Democrats to vote for Frank Herbert.

A large contingent got together and mailed a letter to every Democratic household in town explaining the candidacy of Frank Herbert. We were all so encouraged when we saw voters carrying this letter with them to the polling places on election day! The municipal clerk, Renée Green, who handles the technicalities of election day, knew of the situation and made sure all board workers were informed about the process.

Telephone calls were made to get the vote out on that Thursday.

There was nothing left to do but wait.

Approximately 50 Livingston Democrats worked very hard for more than two weeks on the campaign. All, too numerous to mention here, deserve credit for a job well done. We are all proud to be Livingston Democrats! But what would be the outcome? Could such a campaign be successful? Nothing of this magnitude had ever been attempted before now.

Frank Herbert won, and he won with 25 per cent of his vote coming from Livingston. Livingston Democrats enjoy a reputation of being one of the most responsive groups in the state. The June 1994 primary election in Livingston made history, and will be studied by students of politics in years to come. A small miracle occurred!

Gazebo Concert

She advised those planning to attend to "please bring your blankets and lawn chairs and picnic suppers. Bringing families and neighbors together at the gazebo is what 'Music Under the Stars' is all about."

For the convenience of the audience, the rest rooms at the Rockwood Library will be open. In the event of rain, the concert will be moved indoors to the auditorium of Livingston High School.

Police List Radar Patrols and Remind Drivers Not to Pass Stopped Camp Bus

Livingston police this week announced the streets where radar patrol units will be operating during the coming week, and also reminded drivers of state laws that give school buses operating to carry camp children the same legal protection as when they are carrying school children.

The radar patrols will be operating during the coming week on Cliffside Drive, East McClellan Avenue, East Northfield Road, Hillside Avenue and South Ashby Avenue.

Traffic Safety Officer Lt. Peter J. Cokelet added that the radar patrols are deliberately assigned at unannounced times. They are subject to normal manpower demands, and radar patrols may have to be withdrawn at times in order to provide additional men for other assignments.

Lt. Cokelet urged drivers to be attentive to school buses being used to transport children to camp. Although drivers may not be expecting to see a school bus during the long summer vacation, such buses are often used to carry campers.

"Although school is out for the summer and we do not expect to see school buses," Lt. Cokelet stated, "the same laws apply to these 'summer camp' buses as apply to the regular school buses."

By state law, Lt. Cokelet continued, a school bus that is boarding or discharging children requires special attention from drivers. Cars must be stopped not less than 25 feet from the bus, and may not pass until the children have either gotten into the bus or reached the safety of the side of the road and the flashing red lights on the bus have been shut off.

Lt. Cokelet noted that on roads that are divided by barriers or medians, drivers traveling in the direction opposite to the bus must slow to ten miles per hour and may then pass the bus. "If you are traveling in the same direction as the bus," he concluded, "you must stop until the bus is finished loading or unloading and the red flashing lights are off."

OPINION

We're Being Cut Out of the Vote

The current pushing and shoving over the primary election results in the county executive race have special meaning for some Livingston residents who have been disenfranchised. In the political infighting that has characterized the process of recounting the votes in a very close race, the counters have decided not to allow any of the paper emergency ballots to be included in the tally.

There are more than a dozen Livingston voters included among those voters who used paper emergency ballots on June 7. On the surface it might be easy to say "are you gonna make a federal case out of that little handful of votes?" It might sound like an insignificant number, but in an election that has been certified as a tie, even one vote is significant.

These voters – and others in other communities – went to the polls with the intention of voting for the candidate of their choice. When they got there, the election workers instructed them as to how to use paper ballots, because the voting machines were not operating properly and the mechanic had not yet arrived to make the necessary repairs. So the voters used the paper ballots as instructed, and they left the polling places confident that their votes had been included in the election process in just the same way as if they had used a voting machine.

Now the propriety of the election workers' instructions and the way in which the paper ballots were used has been called in question, and as a result all the emergency ballots have been discarded. It doesn't matter that the voters did nothing wrong, or that they followed the instructions they had been given. What seems to matter more is that by invalidating the paper ballots the numbers work out so that the election can be declared a tie. It has become, in the most literal sense, "a federal case," and the matter is being pursued in federal court as this is written.

There are a lot of strange things about this election and the way it has been tallied, and as the tide of public opinion washes this way and then that way, the very worst of county government is being exposed. Even before the election, the residents of Essex County did not have a lot of faith in their county government, which is why Cardell Cooper is seeking election as county executive as a reform candidate. Now that the subsurface maneuvering and the pattern of personal connections are becoming more visible, our county government and the system that makes it function are even more in question.

It is our profound hope that voters will not be disenfranchised and that the question of who won the primary election can be decided without holding an expensive runoff election.

Still Not the Proper Forum

Last week we devoted this space to a discussion of the need for representatives of the community's Republican and Democratic organizations to sit down and discuss the question of establishing guidelines for conducting municipal political campaigns. We noted that we were wary of having this matter tried in the press, and rather than publish a press statement issued by the Democratic leadership we used our editorial space to encourage both parties to get together and talk to each other.

This week we received a two-page press release from the Republican candidates, setting forth in great detail their proposal for an agreement on campaign ethics. In response to last week's statement from the Democrats we noted that the newspaper is not the proper place to argue this matter. And in response to this week's statement from the Republicans, the newspaper is still not the proper place to argue this matter.

Both parties have argued that they are ready and willing to sit down and talk about such things as eliminating billboards, setting limits on the cost of a campaign, the proper duration of a political campaign, how many mass mailings would be appropriate, and similar issues. Both parties have been in our office asking how to go about putting such standards into practice. We are aware of a formal written invitation sent by the Democrats to the Republicans proposing a meeting. But for all this posturing, there has been no meeting.

The pages of a community newspaper are not the place for politicians to blast back and forth about campaign practices. We hope to be able to present a front page news report to our readers in the near future that representatives of the Republican and Democratic organizations have met together, thrashed out the issues, and issued a joint statement on their agreement.

To the Editor:

Buy Lot to Use as Park

Mr. Cone:

Since Exxon has decided not to continue with its request to build a gas station on the southwest corner of Mt. Pleasant and Livingston Avenues (Livingston Center), it might be wise for our township to consider purchasing this property for use as a park before the opportunity is lost.

A park would be an excellent addition to our community in this area, where open (green) space is rapidly disappearing. Shade trees, shrubbery, and flowers could be planted and benches could be installed along a pedestrian path. A park would be a very pleasant sight in this area of commercial activity and could be used by those who work, shop or visit in our town's business center.

This particular corner lot has some historical significance. It was on this site that Isaac Samo's inn stood, built in 1765 by William Ely. The inn was a way station for a stage coach line, and was where the first township committee meeting was held on April 12, 1813, just after formation of the Township of Livingston. The inn was demolished in 1906.

If my idea is considered and hopefully the acquisition approved, it might be appropriate to name it "Ed Palmer Jr. Park" in recognition of what he gave Livingston, for so many years, through his association with the Water Department, Volunteer Fire Department and Volunteer First Aid Squad.

Frederick Yanz
192 East Cedar Street
Livingston

Editor's note: The idea of a park was offered during the extended hearings, and has widespread support in the community. Whether Exxon would be willing to give or sell this tract for such a purpose is unknown. Certainly naming such a park in honor of Ed Palmer would be an appropriate and fitting gesture of the community that he served for his whole adult life.

Disappointing Experience

Dear Editor,

On July 4th, I had a disappointing experience with the Livingston Police Department.

On the evening of June 29th, my father, who lives at 16 Crossbrook Place, had put an old cast iron barbecue grill for garbage pickup the following morning. Someone had put a "bomb" inside the grill which exploded into many pieces.

My mother had noticed that there was a large piece of metal about 40 feet up in a curbside tree. The piece of metal would easily fall if there was any wind or an animal climbing the limb of the tree where this metal was. Since this metal was overhanging the street, my fear was of someone walking by and being hit on the head, which could be fatal.

Therefore, on the morning of July 4th, I tried to contact the Fire Department through their local number, but there was no answer. I then called the Livingston Police Department to notify them of this hazardous condition. The dispatcher's response was that this is not their responsibility, and since the tree was on curbside, the tree is owned by the town and that I should contact the town.

In the four and a half years I have lived in Livingston, I only needed to call the Police Department twice, and twice I was disappointed. Do we need to wait for something serious to happen in order for the police to make a response?

Sandra Lamparello
9 Crossbrook Place
Livingston

Editor's note: In contrast to her disappointing experience with the Police Department, the writer called the Fire Department's non-emergency number on Tuesday morning, and was advised that they would respond within half an hour. It was substantially less than that: before our photographer could get to Crossbrook Place, the big chunk of metal had been brought down.

NOTICE CONCERNING NEWS AND ADVERTISING

News and advertising deadline is noon on Tuesday for the same week's issue.

News copy should be typewritten, double spaced, on one side of each sheet. News should be timely and related to Livingston people and events.

Photographs should be black and white with either glossy or matte finish. Wallet size, 3x4, 5 or 5x7 prints are adequate.

Wedding photographs will be published free only in the two issues immediately following the wedding ceremony. Wedding articles will be published free only within 13 weeks of the ceremony. Space for late photographs or articles may be purchased at advertising rates.

There is no charge for the timely publication of any news article, including engagements, weddings, club news, promotions or any other article, nor for any photographs used with news articles.

No unsigned letters will be published, nor will the name and address of the writer be withheld. The writer's telephone must be submitted with a letter to the editor for purposes of verification, but will not be published. Letters must be limited to 500 words. Letters of political endorsement may be used only as excerpts.

The West Essex Tribune reserves the right to edit or reject any item submitted for publication.

A complete schedule of advertising rates and requirements is offered in the current rate card, which is available upon request. Call (201) 992-1771.

The newspaper is not responsible for errors in advertisements not corrected by the advertiser immediately following the first publication of the ad. Liability for advertising errors is limited to a "make-good" ad in the amount of space occupied by the error.

Happy Birthday, America!

Overwhelming Litter

Dear Editor:

We would just like to comment on the overwhelming amount of litter on the oval after the Fourth of July fireworks. There were many garbage cans placed around the field, accessible to everyone. It is understandable that it was dark and crowded, but throwing trash on the grass is unacceptable. The morning afterwards, we went jogging around the oval and saw the mess. We started to pick up the garbage, and finally finished two hours later.

In the future, let's try to clean up after ourselves and show our pride and respect for Livingston.

Editor's note: Several other readers commented verbally to the Tribune on the same subject. Municipal employees spent much of Tuesday morning with a mechanized street sweeper and the classic stick with a nail in the end picking up litter from Memorial Park, and from the area around the nearby basketball courts.

CONGRESSMAN DEAN A. GALLO REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

On July 4, 1776, representatives from the 13 original colonies declared our nation's independence and felt it necessary to enumerate their reasons for doing so. The Declaration of Independence became the expression of those reasons, but it also has become much more.

Chiefly the work of Thomas Jefferson, the Declaration of Independence began with a preamble, which was a statement of principles concerning natural rights. From its earliest stages, our government had incorporated rights unlike any people had before.

The Declaration of Independence was first read publicly at the Pennsylvania State House, now known as Independence Hall. The people exulted and cheered as church bells rang continuously through the night. The militia even used up some of its precious gunpowder to salute independence. The tradition of festivities had begun.

Although 218 years have passed since the document was written, its concepts are by no means outdated. We still believe that all human beings "are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

It is a testament to the American way of life and to our founding fathers that our system of government has endured and the nation has prospered unlike any other the world has ever known.

Although we Americans think of ourselves as a young nation, we have one of the oldest governments in the world. Most other nations have experienced a radical governmental change since the birth of this nation on the 4th of July, 1776, but our Federal Democratic Republic has remained.

Our government has remained and our way of thinking has not strayed far from the basic tenets the founding fathers possessed. Since that day the American mind has changed little with regard to the importance given to our natural rights. The Declaration of Independence is now, as it was then, "an expression of the American mind."

As we celebrate, we must remember how truly great a gift freedom is. All we ask in America is that we be given the opportunity to succeed, and that is precisely what freedom guarantees.

Those who came before us have preserved our liberty, as we are now entrusted to preserve it for future Americans.

As we commemorate the events of the past, we must also look to the future. The survival of the natural rights of human beings that Jefferson declared so precisely must continue to be a national endeavor.

Just as we celebrate as a nation, we must be willing to fight and struggle as a nation, and as Jefferson stated, "for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, or fortunes, and our sacred honor."

FROM THE EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK BY KIT CONE

On Friday night I was in the huge crowd of happy people who attended the first of the summer concerts sponsored by the Essex County Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs at Brookdale Park. As noted in the editorial this week, there are some serious misgivings about Essex County's administration, but the county recreation people are doing a wonderful job and thousands of people had a magnificent time with fine music and an excellent fireworks display.

I only had two real criticisms, and perhaps they are related.

First, the sound system was barely adequate. When the Metropolitan Opera people were in the park last year they had a big concert tent-stage and an amplifier system that had about the same amount of power as a Boeing 747 on takeoff. In contrast, the system used on Friday night just didn't have enough power to reach the audience. I was sitting on the circle inside the running track; I presume that the people in the stadium heard even less.

Second, and perhaps related, was the inattention of the audience. Maybe they didn't pay attention because they couldn't really hear the concert, but I'm inclined to think it's the influence of television. In the privacy of one's home, a television program that is less than fascinating may be utterly ignored as people talk among themselves, get up to look for refreshments, or just leave to do something else for a while. The people "inside" the television set don't know or care and nobody is offended.

The same conduct at a public concert is unacceptable. The vocal soloist on Friday night was up against overwhelming odds, trying to sing for thousands of people, only a few of whom could hear her and most of whom were talking among themselves. The big brass band made a lot bigger sound, but still did not hold the attention of the audience.

Although I have never been to a rock music concert, I have watched the sound equipment being set up for such a performance. Maybe the county's recreation people could take a tip from these young musicians and try some of the megawatt music systems for the Brookdale Park series.

Watching a very poorly edited tape of John Williams conducting the Boston Pops Orchestra at a Fourth of July concert, I was reminded of a story from many years ago about the late conductor Arthur Fiedler.

Fiedler, who had led the orchestra for a great many years, was to perform the 1812 Overture of Tchaikovsky at an Independence Day celebration. A perfectionist and a very polished musician, he asked the commander of the Army howitzer detachment how he was to signal the men to get ready to fire during the battle portion of the music.

The Army man is supposed to have told the maestro, "Sir, when you want us to fire, just point to me and we shall fire. My men are ready."

Signs of the Times Department:

From time to time we publish notices for the state Department of Transportation, soliciting contractors to carry out various improvements and repairs in this area. The notice procedure is designed to encourage contractors all over the state to consider bidding on the jobs. Each notice includes a phrase that tells the contractors that the DOT is working hard to avoid discrimination.

This week a new form appeared, probably at the insistence of a well-meaning lawyer. For the purposes of the old form, it was enough to say that the Department would not discriminate "on the grounds of race, color, sex, national origin, or handicap." The new form invites minority businesses to apply, and emphasizes that the DOT "will not discriminate against any bidder on the grounds of race, creed, color, national origin, nationality, gender, affectional or sexual orientation, age, ancestry, marital status, handicap or disability."

It was announced last week that the Masterwork Chorus, in whose audiences I have spent many happy evenings, has gotten a divorce from the Masterwork Foundation, which had been its parent organization.

With the retirement of David Randolph as the director and "father figure" of the chorus, it was inevitable that there would be some changes. I hope that this change will not be so drastic as to have an effect on the music. I shall await the next concert to see how things are going as the chorus moves ahead on its own.

EXCERPTS FROM THE WEST ESSEX TRIBUNE
40 YEARS AGO

July 8, 1954: Jane Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Morris of 28 Crestview Hill Road, was named Miss Livingston of 1954 from among a group of 11 young women. Before a crowd of 9,000 who had assembled for the Fourth of July festivities, the 16 year old Miss Livingston succeeded Faith Conroy of 76 Fellswood Drive, who had been Miss Livingston of 1953.

John Giampolo of 31 Preston Drive was appointed as chairman of a committee to study the technical phases required for the construction of a municipal swimming pool. His committee was charged with selecting the site and the type of pool to be constructed. Harold Mullen of 16 Baldwin Terrace was selected by the recreation committee to head the finance committee.

Linda Ulbrecht of 148 Adams Court was the winner of the girl's bicycle at the Kiwanis Karnival while Mark Heydecke of 60 West Lawn Road won the boy's bike.

An ordinance appropriating $3,500 for the enlargement of the Recreation Hall at Memorial Park was to have its final hearing 40 years ago this week. The measure was to finance the purchase of materials to construct two wings to the building, making it a U shape. The proposed enlargement was the first since the building was constructed in 1939.

A law suit was threatened by Peter Roselle and Sons after the township refused a variance to permit Roselle to construct a garage for garbage trucks on his property on East McClellan Avenue. Roselle parked his trucks on the property and neighbors complained of the odor and the flies drawn to the garbage. When ordered to remove the trucks, Roselle refused, saying that he was parking his trucks on his property in the business zone.

In recognition of the fact that Livingston was one of 39 communities in the state to finish the year 1953 without a highway fatality, Police Chief Richard Swain was awarded a plaque by the AAA.

Bill Klaber's editorial supported the efforts of the newly formed swimming pool committee. "All of Livingston's borrowing capacity has been tied up in schools, sewers, and other vital municipal facilities," Klaber wrote. "Thus, when it was learned that the expenditure necessary for such a project would run at least $120,000 and might well go to $165,000, it became obvious that Livingston, as a government, would not be able to do the job. . . An organization is being formed to see if the pool could be financed and built as a private enterprise, so set up that all Livingston residents would be eligible to become members. The intention is to turn the pool over to the Township at such a time as it is fully paid for."

Gloria Carlonze of Keansburg became the bride of Ernest D'Amato, son of Mrs. Henry D'Amato of 24 Wardell Road, 40 years ago this week.

The Acme Market in Livingston advertised round roast or steak at 69 cents per pound and a box of tomatoes for 19 cents. Two pounds of margarine were 43 cents and Hellmann's Mayonnaise was 67 cents a quart.

Featured movies 40 years ago included Flame and the Flesh, with Lana Turner and Pier Angell; Dial M for Murder, starring Ray Milland and Grace Kelly; and Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire, and Maggie McNamara in Three Coins in a Fountain.

Have First Child

Joan and Anthony DelGuercio of Livingston have announced the birth of their first child, a daughter, Daniella Theresa. The baby weighed ten pounds, seven ounces when she was born at Saint Barnabas Medical Center.

The maternal grandparents are Albert and Joan Romano of Livingston, and the paternal grandparents are Peter and Lucile DelGuercio of Union.

LWV OPEN BOARD MEETING: New officers of the Livingston League of Women Voters (LWV) will hold an open board meeting on Wednesday, July 13, at 8 p.m. at 79 Falcon Road. Members and prospective members are welcome to plan the coming year's agenda. Anyone planning to attend has been asked to call 994-1935. Above are LWV officers Judith Friedman, co-president; Martha Bergman, secretary; Robin Weiss, co-president; and treasurer Barbara Kupritz.

Summer Softball Team Opens With Victory

The Livingston fifth and sixth grade Summer Softball team opened its season with a 6-0 victory over Montville in a game played under the lights in Montville on Tuesday, June 28,.

Pitching the shut-out for Livingston were Tara Sinisi, Lindsay Clark, Kyle Dalton and Dawn Janukowicz. Defensively, Livingston was led by the play of Joanne Villanueva, Lillian Hine, Andrea Fusco, and Stacy Nadelberg. After two innings, the score was 0-0, but Livingston broke it open in the third by taking advantage of some wildness by the Montville pitcher and the timely hitting of Livingston's Courtney Jones, Melissa Kirspel, and Jumee Song.

Walks Are Graduates

Two Livingston residents, Gary Walk and Jennifer Walk, were recently graduated from the University of Rochester, Rochester, New York. Gary Walk, a graduate of Newark Academy, earned a bachelor's degree in economics. Jennifer Walk, a graduate of Morristown-Beard School, earned a bachelor of music degree in music education from the university's Eastman School of Music.

Hold Running Camp At Newark Academy

All State Running Camp, directed by Tom Fleming and Mike Mielko, will be conducted at the Newark Academy campus in Livingston from August 15 to 19. Fleming is a two-time winner of the New York City Marathon, and two-time runner up of the Boston Marathon who has coached his women's team to three national cross country championships. Mielko is cross country and track coach at Seton Hall Prep School.

Guest speakers at the camp will include Fred Dwyer, former Essex Catholic and Manhattan College coach; Mike Brady, assistant coach of Princeton University; Mike Mulqueen, head track coach of Rutgers University; and Bill Pershichetty, member of the former World Record two-mile relay.

The camp will accept applicants from both boys and girls. For more information, call Wayne Schiele, director of summer camps, at Newark Academy at 992-7000.

HERITAGE MIDDLE SCHOOL eighth grade students held an after-school bake sale recently to raise money for the Saint Barnabas Burn Foundation. April Walker is shown presenting their check for $200 to Beverly Foster of the Burn Foundation, accompanied by Jamie Ottinger, Andy Devlin, Ava Bromberg, Benjamin Cohen and Elisa Silbersmith. The Foundation supports the work of the Burn Center at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, New Jersey's only certified burn treatment facility.

Poe Is Honored

Adam M. Poe has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Washington College in Chestertown, Maryland. Poe is the son of Rhoda Ezra of Livingston, and has completed his junior year as a business major. A grade point average of 3.4 or better is required for inclusion on the dean's list.

Connecticut University Offers Grant to Attend

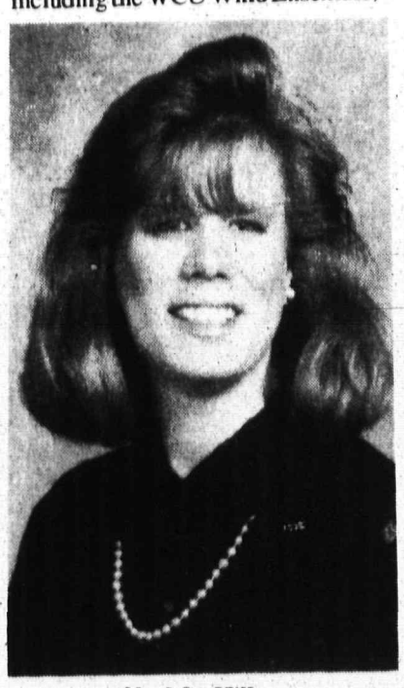

Teikyo Post University, an international business and liberal arts university in Waterbury, Connecticut, has announced that it will offer one Middle Income Family grant to a Livingston student to attend Teikyo Post for the fall 1994 term. The total of each grant could reach $20,000. The school will provide a zero-interest loan of up to $5,000 per year for one Livingston middle income student. If that student graduates within four years, Teikyo Post will forgive the loan and the funds will become a free and clear grant.

Anyone interested in applying for the middle income family grant to attend Teikyo Post may call the Office of Admission at 1-800-345-2562.

Hill Receives Degree In Music Education

During commencement ceremonies on May 14, Noel Leigh Hill of 36 Wilson Terrace graduated cum laude from West Chester University of Pennsylvania, earning a bachelor of science degree in music education.

While at West Chester, Hill performed with numerous ensembles including the WCU Wind Ensemble,

Noel L. Hill

"Golden Rams" Marching Band, and Masterworks Chorus. This past spring she served as concert master of the Symphonic Band, and student conductor of the Concert Band. In 1993, Hill was selected with four of her peers to represent West Chester at the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Band Festival held at Lock Haven University.

She has studied the clarinet in the studios of Christopher DiSanto, Karen Dannessa and Ted Hegvik. Locally, she studies with Dennis Cianciosi of Verona.

Hill is a member of the Music Educators' National Conference and Sigma Alpha Iota, an international women's music fraternity, through which she helped to organize a music program at the West Chester Area Day Care Center. A 1990 graduate of Livingstdon High School, she is the daughter of Thelma Hill of Livingston and H. Donald Hill Jr. of Morristown.

Named to Dean's List At Univ. of Delaware

Several Livingston residents have been named to the dean's list at the University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware, for the spring, 1994 semester.

Among them are John J. Czaplicki, Jr. of 61 Eastbrook Terrace, a sophomore majoring in hotel and restaurant management; Marnie Jill Fierstien of 14 Mansfield Court, a sophomore majoring in business administration; Greer Stephanie Gelman of 3 Mansfield Court, a senior majoring in psychology; Jason Scott Gianni of 9 Goodhart Drive, a senior majoring in applied music, instrumental; and Joshua Matthew Massler of 14 Notchhill Drive, and Scott Adam Simon of 62 Havenwood Drive, both juniors majoring in psychology.

Earns 2nd Varsity Letter

Antigone Yanniotis has earned her second varsity letter in softball at Wesleyan University this spring. Yanniotis recently completed her sophomore year at the school in Middletown, Connecticut.

Yanniotis was a starting outfielder in 17 of the Cardinal's 19 games, posting a .317 batting average with 16 hits, including a double and a home run, in 51 times at bat. She scored ten runs and knocked in nine, and had a record of seven stolen bases in seven tries.

She is the daughter of John and Denise Yanniotis of 63 Elmwood Drive, and a 1992 graduate of Livingston High School, where she was a four-time letter winner in soccer and earned two letters in softball. A government major at Wesleyan, she participates in West African dance, ballet, and the gospel choir.

All-Stars Win 2 Games

The Livingston National League nine and ten year old all-star team defeated Maplewood in the first round of the Millburn Tournament on Saturday, June 25, and went on to win its first conference team on Tuesday, June 28, against West Orange.

Mario Salerno pitched for the first three innings of the Millburn Tournament game, yielding only one run. Livingston opened up an 11-1 lead, and then held on for a 12-8 victory over Maplewood.

Salerno was three for three at the plate, with five RBIs. The rest of the power was supplied by Michael Aurbach, Michael Salerno, Tyler Reinhardt and Brian Norton.

Against a tough West Orange team, Salerno went the distance to strike out 11 batters. Supplying the offense were Salerno, Paul Cerlincione, Robert and Ryan Clark and Christopher Saverino. Keith Minison played an excellent game behind the plate.

The Livingston team will meet Maplewood on Friday at home and will play at Millburn on Saturday.

THE OLD GUARD held a shuffleboard tournament on the courts at Memorial Park as part of the Fourth of July celebration. Andrew Preziosi, who won the competition last year, took the trophy again this year by winning two out of three games. Runner-up was Nunzie Antonelli. The contest is an annual event sponsored by the town's organization for senior men. JSM Photo

CELEBRATE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY: Jane and Chuck Felmley celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 24 with a renewal of their wedding vows and a reception at the Presbyterian Church of Livingston. The couple was married in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, at the exact time and day in 1944. Livingston residents for 41 years, the Felmleys have three children, Nancy, Scott and Jim, and five grandchildren. They celebrated their anniversary with a trip to Bermuda.

Hanauer Sculpture Displayed In Small Works Exhibition

"SHE•SHELL," a sculpture by Ellen Hanauer of Livingston, has been selected for the Exhibition of Small Works at Montclair State University through July 20. The exhibition features works by 151 artists from throughout the country, and each work is 12 inches or smaller in every dimension.

Hanauer is a feminist sculptor who explores psychosexual, gender and anti-classicism issues. She recently exhibited several sculptures at the annual Women's Festival in Morristown, including an eight foot installation called "Birthing Throes." "SHE•SHELL" reflects Hanauer's identification with women's spirituality.

Hanauer received a B.F.A. degree from Syracuse University and has studied at the School of Visual and Performing Arts and the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry. She continues to study with sculptor Leo Schulemowitz.

Livingston Residents Win In Oratorical Competition

Two Livingston residents were among the top speakers at the St. John Oratorical Festival held recently at Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church in Orange.

Hetty Savastano placed second in the senior division of the competition, followed by Achilles Kintiroglou in third place. The senior division speakers were introduced by Corinna Cosmas of Livingston, a national finalist in 1990, and Angelo Pantazes of Livingston, adjunct professor at Kean College, was one of the judges.

In addition, due to the inability of the senior division's top speaker to attend the district level of the program, Savastano represented the local parish and received an honorable mention for her presentation, the topic of which was "How Can the Orthodox Family Cope with Our Ever-Changing Society?"

Earns Certificate in Dietetics

Amanda L. Fossett of Livingston recently received a certificate for completing the Approved Pre-Professional Practice Program in dietetics (AP4) at the College of Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station. The program is open only to graduates of four year colleges with degrees in foods and nutrition or dietetics, and those completing it are now eligible to take the national examination to become registered dieticians.

SETON HALL PREP GRADUATES: Livingston residents Rolland Colis, Michael Finn, Jason K. Lee, Paul Moretti, Brian Newman, Jon Nyerges, Daniel O'Meara and Bert Villanueva, shown above, were among the 165 seniors who were graduated from Seton Hall Prep School, West Orange, on June 11 at South Mountain Arena. Lee, Newman and Villanueva received the Msgr. Thomas Tuohy Medallion, awarded to those graduates who achieved a cumulative average of "A" or better for all four years. Newman, who will attend Georgetown University in the fall, also received Medallions recognizing the highest general academic achievement, with particular excellence in science and cinema studies, and Moretti received such a Medallion in music studies. Lee will attend Lafayette College, and Moretti, Seton Hall University. Villanueva, Colis and Nyerges will attend Rutgers University, while Finn will attend Muhlenberg College and O'Meara, Loyola University.

Schools Announce Plans for Reunions

A number of local schools have announced plans for class reunions.

The Orange High School class of 1954 will hold its 40th reunion on October 22. Any classmate interested in attending may call Sandra Zarrillo, née Bozzelli, 460 New England Terrace, Orange, 070505, at 672-7050.

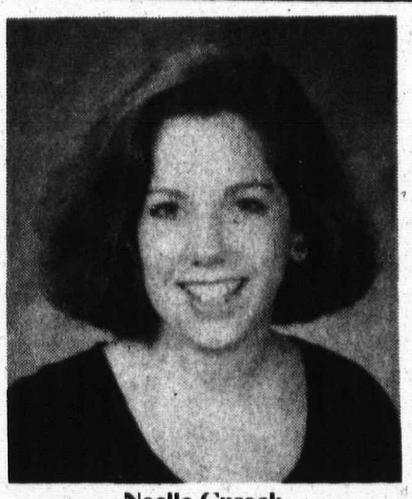

The Montclair High School class of 1962 is currently seeking classmates for a reunion and 50th birthday party, to be held November 5. Anyone with information on the whereabouts of former classmates may call Nancy Chartrand Birdsall at 228-1742 or Jane Glaxon Russo at 994-1264.

The West Orange High School class of 1944 will hold a 50th reunion at Mayfair Farms, West Orange, on November 12, and is seeking former classmates. For more information, call Melisande (Sande) Beldon Collins at 992-2148.

Named to Dean's List At Johnson & Wales

Two Livingston residents, Jennifer Ostroff and Laura Sellers, have been named to the dean's list at Johnson & Wales University in Providence, Rhode Island. Both Ostroff, of 57 Edgemere Road, and Sellers, of 194 Passaic Avenue, are majoring in culinary arts.

Your classified ad in the Tribune will reach four out of five Livingston homes. Just call 992-1771.

Leukemia Patient

although all donations are welcome.

"Every year, more than 16,000 children and adults in the United States are diagnosed with fatal blood diseases such as leukemia," said Laura Sodano, coordinator of the Bone Marrow Donor Program at the Blood Center. "For the 70 per cent of patients who need a marrow transplant and cannot find a match within their families, an unrelated donor is the only hope for a cure."

Volunteer donors must be between the ages of 18 and 55, and in good health. To be added to the NMDP Registry, volunteers must sign a consent form and have a small sample of blood drawn for testing.

Because marrow types are inherited like hair and eye color, a patient's best chance of finding a matched donor is with someone from the same racial or ethnic background. Jacob is of eastern European Jewish descent, although everyone is encouraged to participate in the drive.

The July 19 drive is a cooperative effort of the Parent-Teacher Council of Livingston, the NMDP, and the North Jersey Blood Center, a local donor center for the NMDP. For further information about marrow donation, call 1-800-MARROW-2; for more information about the July 19 drive, call the North Jersey Blood Center at 676-4700, extension 137.

In addition, Jacob's illness has generated enormous medical bills for the Schwartz family, and they need financial assistance, not only to pay their medical bills, but to meet daily living expenses as well. Anyone who would like to contribute money to help fund the drive or to help the Schwartz family in their time of need, may call Cindy Elgart, chairwoman of the local Committee to Save Jacob, at 992-0030, or send checks marked for the specific expense (medical, living, donor drive) to her at 22 Bonnyview Drive.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS

A CLASSIC CAR SHOW was held at the Livingston High School parking lot as part of the Fourth of July observance. Above, township councilwoman Eleonore Cohen presents a trophy for the Council's Choice Award to Larry Weinreb of Springfield. which the Township Council has jurisdiction, is R-1, the largest single family residence zoning.

Four members of the Planning Board, Joel Hemmendinger, Gus Anselmi, David Katz and Leopold, were in favor of leaving the existing zoning and the Master Plan in place, allowing the two documents to be in conflict. Leopold noted that this deliberation was taking place only one week after the town has been served with a suit claiming that it is not meeting its Mt. Laurel obligation.

Two other members of the Board, Cullie Willis and Township Council liaison Stanley Weinroth, said that they would like to see the site rezoned R-2 to allow smaller residential development as a buffer between the R-1 zone on adjacent Chestnut Hill and the multi-use zoning across the street on the "island."

Board member Audrey Stern said that she would like further discussion on possible residential uses for the site.

Dan Kraft and Planning Board chairman Richard Dinar agreed with the planner's report, which called for a change to permit office building on the site with strict protection for the adjoining residential area. An overlay which would allow zoning for low-density multi-family housing was included in this proposal. Dinar explained the differences in the buffers between the various zones, noting for example, that an R-1 zone requires 75 foot front and rear setbacks while the proposed PB-3 zone would require 100 foot front yards, 125 foot rear yard when it abuts a residential area, and 100 foot side yards.

After no consensus was reached, the Board tabled the discussion to its July 19 conference session at which time a final disposition of the study will be decided.

Safran Is Brandeis Graduate

Steven Safran, son of Peter and Lynn Safran of Livingston, received a bachelor of arts degree from Brandeis University in Waltham, Massachusetts, at the university's 43rd commencement exercises on May 21. He majored in philosophy and history, graduating cum laude.

Students to Participate In Summer Exploration

Nine Livingston residents will be among students from across the country participating in the Exploration Summer Program.

Jon Mooallem and Erika Geldzahler will be returning to Exploration's senior program. New students will include Jackie Rubinstein, Rachel Block, Jeremy Fruchter, Natalie Krauss and Doug Cohen, who will attend the senior program; and Kara Medow and Mark Zeltser, who will attend the intermediate program.

The senior program is for students entering grades ten through 12, while the intermediate group is for students entering grades seven through nine. These programs are held on the campus of Wellesley College in Wellesley, Massachusetts.

The intermediate program will offer such workshops as sports psychology, Supreme Court simulation, a cappella singing, debate, poetry, futuristic transportation design, race relations, creative writing, and the physics of baseball.

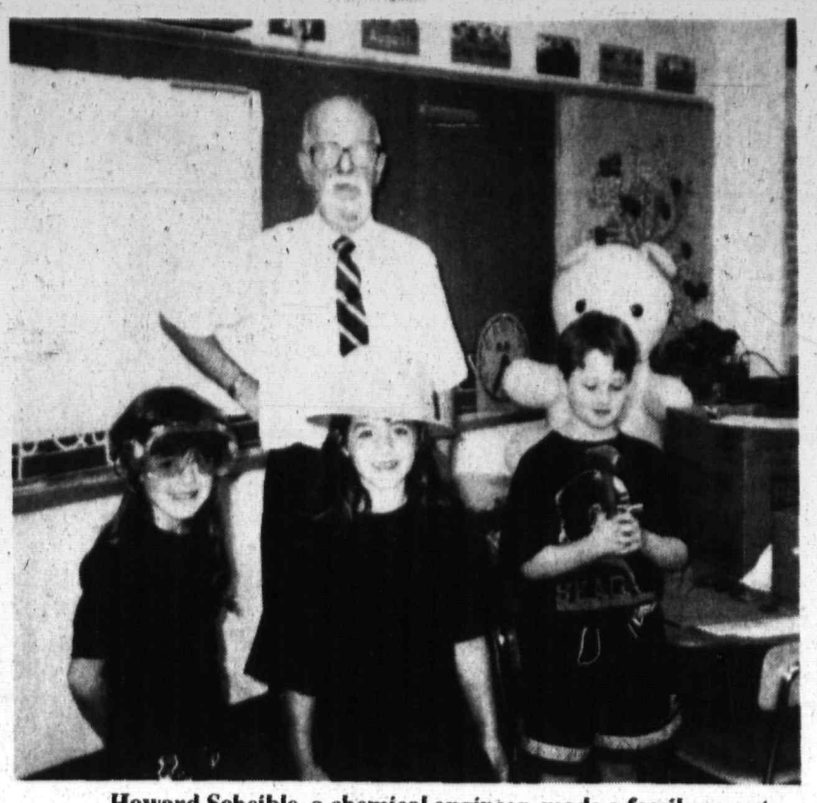

Students in each program enroll in two workshops per session, travel off-campus for field trips to Boston and the greater New England areas, and choose from over 50 daily activities, including discussions, sports, arts, crafts, cooking, and listening to guest speakers.

Grandsons for Buglios

Lara and Michael Buglio of Livingston have celebrated the birth of two grandsons in the same week.

The Buglios' daughter and son-in-law, Marisa and Ronald Schaefer of Springfield, have announced the birth of their second son, Douglas William, on June 14 at Saint Barnabas Medical Center. The little boy, who weighed seven pounds, nine ounces at birth, joins a three year old brother, Nicholas. The paternal grandparents are Patricia and Ronald Schaefer of Livingston.

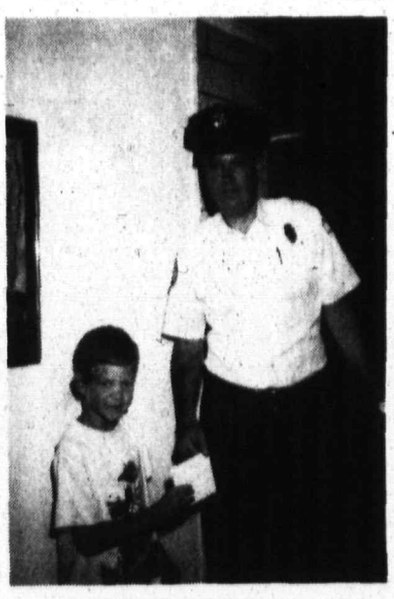

The Buglios' son and daughter-in-law, Daniel and Charlotte Buglio of Naugatuck, Connecticut, have announced the birth of their son, Matthew Alexander, on June 17 at Waterbury Hospital. The little boy, who weighed ten pounds, two ounces at birth, is the couple's first child. The maternal grandparents are Thelma and Richard Lindsay of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Howard Scheible, a chemical engineer, made a fossil presentation to Riker Hill first graders in Annette Di Martino's class. Using charts, excavation equipment and samples, he gave a complete history of fossils and their origins. Above, Emily Sher, Tara David and Zachary Brown demonstrate the equipment.

Nicole Bartzak, a student in Patricia Ising's first grade class at Collins School, presents a contribution to Chief Donald Jones of the Livingston Police in honor of the support given to the school throughout the year.

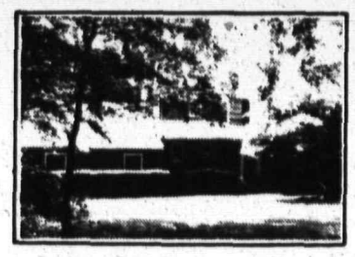

Matthew Duker, a student in Susan Gagliardi's kindergarten class at Collins School, presents Fire Chief Craig Dufford with a contribution from the school in thanks for the outstanding support given to Collins School throughout the year.

Paul Stefany, music instructor at Hillside School, is shown conducting a sing-along with the Hillside pre-school youngsters who will be kindergartners in the fall. These children are members of the the high school Class of 2007.

As a convenience to the buyer, monthly payments are included in our ads.
For purchase prices up to $253,937, monthly mortgage payments (principal + interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 8.125% with 3 points, A.P.R. 8.490%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $743.00. For purchase prices from $253,938 to $625,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 8.250% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 8.618%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,756.00. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of May 19, 1994, and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors; while information is believed accurate, we request that the payment be validated with a mortgage provider prior to purchase. 0694/0570

LCP Will Aid In Fund-Raiser

Livingston Community Players (LCP) is acting as associate producer for a benefit musical revue presented by Carnival Productions, a theater company founded by LCP members Bill Van Sant and his wife, Wendy Cinquanta. Carnival Productions specializes in mounting musical events as fund-raisers for non-profit organization, and is preparing its presentation of "Broadway and Beyond," as a benefit for the capital improvement fund of their church, the First Presbyterian Church of Rahway.

In an effort to help Carnival Productions reduce its expenses and increase the amount of money raised for the church, which is in need of structural repairs, LCP is donating the use of its scenery and costume supplies. Appearing in the revue, which will feature over two dozen Broadway and film songs as well as old standards, are LCP regulars Cris Colicchio of Livingston, Tracey Randinelli of Whippany, and Rozanne F. Sullivan of Glen Ridge, as well as Van Sant and Cinquanta, who will direct and choreograph the production.

"Broadway and Beyond" will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, July 29 and 30, at 8 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church of Rahway. Those purchasing tickets by July 25 will be provided with a free refreshment voucher. For further information and reservations, call the Carnival Productions box office hot-line at (908) 574-9801.

Library Opens Hanan Wishing Well

The Hanan Wishing Well, containing youngsters' wishes for utilization of the $34,705.13 George and Henrietta Hanan bequest to the Ruth L. Rockwood Memorial Library, was recently opened in a ceremony at the library.

The public had been asked to share wishes, both large and small, to assist the library committee in providing recommendations for the use of the money to the library board of trustees. In all, 74 wishes were submitted, and included requests for bean bag chairs; a CD-Rom computer; computers and games teaching spelling, writing, or typing skills; a creative corner for younger children; a variety of stuffed animals; and a "greenhouse-solarium type of room through one of the windows."

When the decision is made on utilization of the funding, credit will be given to the child or adult whose wish was implemented.

National League Starts Season With Two Wins

The Livingston National Little League 11 and 12 year old summer traveling All-Star team began its Suburban League season by winning two games and losing four.

The team consists of Erez Cohen, Rommel Villanueva, Joe Carey, David Levine, Jay Dasica, Justin Marantz, Dante Rinaldi, Michael Massa, Brian Masi, Bryan Ayars, Anthony Antonucci and J.P. Guerrieri.

The team's two victories came over New Providence, 21-4, and South Orange, 10-2. Against New Providence, Cohen and Massa had three hits apiece and three RBIs. Levine and Carey had two hits and three RBIs, while Dasica had two hits and pitched four innings for the win. Against South Orange, Levine had a three-run home run, and Ayars had a bit two-RBI single. Masi and Cohen also had RBI hits. Rinaldi pitched four innings, allowing only one run for the victory.

The four losses the team suffered were to Maplewood, 9-8; Florham Park, 20-15; West Orange, 5-2; and Millburn, 5-3. All the games were close and could have gone either way. Rinaldi led the way with seven hits in the four games. Cohen had seven hits as well, while Masi had four hits and four RBIs.

Residents Attend Seeing Eye Puppy Project Weekend Event

Pat and Bob Bolles of Livingston were among the 34 "puppy raisers," family members and club leaders who participated in the recent Essex County 4-H Seeing Eye Puppy Project weekend, held in Mystic, Connecticut. Joining the Bolleses and the other families were 16 puppies the group members had raised, which are now ready to return to the Seeing Eye Institute in Morristown for training as guide dogs for the blind.

The club toured the Seaport, aquarium, and Mystic Village, took a train and boat ride, and spent the night in a nearby hotel. The puppies received exposure to many different situations, which is an important part of their preparation for training.

The puppies will be at the Essex County 4-H fair on Sunday, August 21, at Brookdale Park, Bloomfield and Montclair. For more information on joining the puppy project or for information on the fair and children's festivals, call the 4-H office at 678-7807.

VFW Auxiliary Earns Recognition

The Auxiliary of Cpl. Arthur E. Smith Post 2856, Veterans of Foreign Wars, earned several major honors at last week's state convention held in Wildwood.

Lee Kane, president of the Livingston Auxiliary, was honored as "All American President," and will serve as state publicity chairman during the coming year.

The Auxiliary won a silver tray for its poppy entry in the Artistic competition. The members had made a needlepoint bag with the Buddy Poppy emblem as their entry in the competition.

Alma Parsons was selected as the New Jersey Volunteer of the Year. She will take part in the national VFW Auxiliary competition to be held in Las Vegas in August.

Delegates to the state convention were Terry Morris, Diane Hanley, Sabina Sarnak and president Lee Kane. Also attending from the Livingston Post were Betty Jensen, Cathy Flynn, Carroll Riffel and Gina Mueller.

Yargers Have Girl

Bill and Melissa Yarger of West Caldwell have announced the birth of their first child, a daughter, Rebecca Charlotte. The baby, who was named in memory of her maternal great-grandmother and paternal grandmother, was born on June 17 at St. Barnabas Medical Center, and weighed seven pounds, two ounces at birth.

The maternal grandparents are Jennie and Allen Heyman of Livingston. The paternal grandfather is William H. Yarger Sr. of Fairfield.

Measday Is Juniata Graduate

Megan A. Measday of Livingston earned a bachelor of science degree in ecology from Juniata College on Sunday, May 8. While at Juniata, Measday was a recipient of the L.& M. Emmert Memorial Scholarship and the Walter McClincy Scholarship. Angela Ackerman and Richard Pistolas Exchange Wedding Vows in Pennsylvania

Angela Kay Ackerman of Allentown, Pennsylvania, and Richard J. Pistolas, also of Allentown, were married at the New Goshenhoppen United Church of Christ, East Greenville, Pennsylvania on June 11. The bride is the daughter of Clyde and Phyllis Ackerman of Red Hill, Pennsylvania, and the bridegroom is the son of George and Patricia Pistolas of Carteret Road.

The bride was given in marriage by her father at the late afternoon ceremony, which was performed by Dr. Albert E. Teske. A reception followed at the Bay Pony Inn at Lederach, Lederach, Pennsylvania.

The bride wore a white sheath gown with a cathedral length train. Mrs. Connie Reynolds of Glen Burnie, Maryland, served as her matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Georgine Lynn of Red Hill and April Eckhart of Fleetwood, Pennsylvania. The attendants wore green and peach floral tea length gowns and carried white roses with green tucks.

Jenna and Amanda Ackerman of Fleetwood were the flower girls. They wore pure white dresses and carried white baskets with white flowers. Andrea Wittchen was the harpist.

The best man was Paul Del Turco of Rockaway, and the ushers were Martin McHugh of Haddonfield and Michael Ackerman of Fleetwood, Pennsylvania.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Upper Perkiomen High School and a 1983 graduate of Lincoln Technical Institute. She is a nuclear civil drafter for Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, Allentown.

Her husband is a 1976 graduate of Livingston High School and a 1980 graduate of Lafayette College. He also works for Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, as a nuclear modifications engineer.

Following a honeymoon trip spent touring California, the couple resides in South Whitehall, Pennsylvania.

Levine Sisters Are College Graduates

Holly Brooke and Kelly Blye Levine, daughters of Irwin and Sheila Levine of Livingston, were recently graduated from their respective colleges.

Holly Levine was graduated from Cardozo Law School in New York on June 12, earning a juris doctor degree. She is a 1990 graduate of Rutgers University, where she had a double major in history and political science.

Kelly Levine was graduated May 22 from the State University of New York (SUNY) at New Paltz, where she earned a bachelor of arts degree in psychology with a concentration in elementary education.

Rev. Arthur Brown At Northfield Baptist

The Rev. Arthur Brown will be the guest minister at Northfield Baptist Church on Sunday, July 10.

Rev. Brown will conduct the 11 a.m. worship service. He holds a degree in human development from Howard University and another in urban studies from St. Peter's College, as well as a master of divinity degree with honors from Virginia Union University.

Currently administrative supervisor of the pre-college academic program at St. Peter's in Jersey City, Rev. Brown also serves as the assistant to the pastor at Calvary Baptist Church in East Orange, where he works with young people.

Jesus Vazquez will lead the Bible study at the mid-week service on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Vazquez also preaches at the young adult meeting each Friday at 8 p.m. All are invited to attend these services and programs.

Honored by Binghamton

Two Livingston residents, Ian M. Powell and Kimberly Rose, have been recognized for outstanding academic achievement for the spring, 1994 semester at Binghamton University, Binghamton, New York. Powell is a student at the Harpur College of Arts and Science, while Rose is in the School of Education and Human Development.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES: Jeanne Parke, president of the Livingston Republican Club, presents the club's contribution for the Committee to Elect Weinroth, Richardson and Venza to committee treasurer Tony Lauro. Campaign chairman Ken O'Neill and the candidates, incumbent Stanley Weinroth, Alex Richardson, and Lou Venza look on. In presenting the check, Parke said, "The Republican Club is proud to present this check. They [the Republican candidates] will be conducting a campaign that will unite independents and Democrats with Republicans." Accepting the check, the candidates jointly stated, "We hope that our Democratic opponents are prepared to discuss what the Democratic controlled Council could have done in the past six years and what could be done in the next four. We will discuss with Livingston taxpayers how the Township Council should plan and act rather than just react defensively after the fact."

NCJW Center Offers Programs For Women

The NCJW Center for Women in Livingston is forming a Project GRO peer support group for "Women Dealing with the Illness of a Family Member." Women in this group will be able to explore their feelings and exchange coping skills with women facing similar concerns. Project GRO groups meet once a week for two hours for eight consecutive weeks. Registration is required, and there is a fee.

An educational workshop, "Men Are from Mars, Women Are from Venus: Enhancing Relationships," will be offered on Tuesday, July 12, at 7:30 p.m. Led by Lois Steinberg, Ph.D., this workshop will explore ways to maintain and further develop meaningful relationships. Registration for the workshop is required and there is a fee, with a discount for NCJW members.

For more information on these and other programs, call the Center at 994-4994.

Attention Summer Vacationers!!
Phillipsburg, St. Maarten, N.A.
This summer, get a feel for the Caribbean and the States at the friendliest meeting place in St. Maarten – on Front Street. Enjoy Callaloo's great food, superb service and reasonable prices. House specialties are Chicken Banzi, steaks, seafood lasagna, red snappper, live Maine lobster, and home-made pizza. All dishes are prepared under the supervision of Azor, the island's premium chef.
Callaloo's Gazebo Bar and air-conditioned dining room make it easy for you, your friends and family to relax during your stay on the island. Find out for yourself why most tourists eat here two or three times while on vacation.
Situated in the tropical Promenade Arcade on busy Front Street, this St. Maarten landmark is just one minute from the Phillipsburg pier and is the gustatory haunt of local businessmen and women, residents, and cruise-ship visitors.
The octagonal bar has a Dutch windmill ceiling, and is large and busy. TV sports are also popular. So stop by for lunch, cocktails or dinner to meet Mike Bushwell, who runs Callaloo for the Bushwell family of Livingston. Parents Ron and Rose are frequent visitors.
Doors are open daily for lunch, 12 to 3 p.m. Dinner is served from 7 to 11 p.m. Snacks and pizza are served from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. Callaloo's low prices can be attributed to a new "no-credit card" policy, an innovative taboo which make dining there reasonable for all visitors.
Phone your travel agent for a visit to St. Maarten, the Caribbean's friendly island. And while you're there, enjoy a great meal at Callaloo!

American Team Begins Season at 3-2

The Livingston American Little League baseball team began its season in the 11 and 12 year old Suburban Essex Youth Baseball League with a 3-2 record. The team began the season on June 23 with an 11-1 loss to a strong Summit team at the Meadowbrook Field, but won the following night in dramatic fashion against Roseland in a home game. Livingston took an 8-3 lead going into the fifth inning with some fine hitting from Patrick Trabucco, Mike Luteran, Joe DeGuzman, Shaun Daley and Vinnie Miseo. Roseland tied the score at 8-8 in the sixth inning, but David Barr came through in the rain with a game-winning two out, two run homer run for the 10-8 win.

On June 27, Livingston defeated New Providence, 11-8, at home. Barr and Trabucco collected two hits apiece, with DeGuzman, Luteran, Craig Valentine and Matt Gervasio leading the hitting attack. Jonathan Luwisch gave up only six hits for the win, with Michael Corvey getting the save. Defensively, Anthony Marinello, Chris Barling and Brian LaBrunda made some great catches.

In South Orange on June 28, Livingston American won, 5-2. Barr pitched a three-hitter and also blasted out a home run. Corvey, Trabucco, Daley, Valentine, Marinello, Luwisch and DeGuzman added a hit apiece. In a losing effort, 14-9, at home against Millburn on July 1, Daley banged out two hits while Luwisch and Valentine reached base in all three plate appearances.

Art Centre Will Hold Juried Art Exhibition

The Art Centre of New Jersey at Riker Hill Art Park will hold a juried members' exhibition at the ADP Corporation in Roseland from August 29 to September 23. The deadline for entry is Sunday, July 10.

Entry forms should be sent to the exhibition chairman, Alden Baker, 13 Wallace Road, Summit, 07901, along with the entry fee. Those wishing to enter the exhibition but who are not yet members or have not paid their dueS may also include the membership fee.

The judge for this second members' show this year is noted pastel and oil painter Annette Hanna. An award-winning artist and a resident of New Jersey, she exhibits her work widely, and is a member of the Pastel Society of America and many other art organizations. She teaches art in Morristown and the surrounding area, and leads art workshops abroad. Her method of painting portraits has been published in a Foster Art publication, found in art stores.

Funeral Services Held For Helen A. Knowlton

Funeral services were held on Monday, July 4, at Shook's Cedar Grove Funeral Home for Mrs. Helen A. Knowlton of Livingston. Mrs. Knowlton, who had been a nursery school teacher and was honored for her volunteer work, died Saturday, July 2, in Saint Barnabas Medical Center. She was 84 years old.

Mrs. Knowlton served as the program director of the Headstart Program for the state of Massachusetts before retiring in 1980. Earlier, she was a nursery school teacher and director for the Rolling Hills Nursery School in Garden City, New York, and for the Suburban Co-Op Nursery School in West Orange.

She received a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin and a master's degree in early childhood development from Columbia University.

Mrs. Knowlton was a volunteer speaker representing the Business and Professional Group of West Essex, developer and director of the Wine and Cheese Cart Volunteer Program for the Oncology Service at Saint Barnabas, and a board member of the Senior Citizens' Advisory Committee in Livingston. She was honored in Essex County as Volunteer of the Year, and was a founding member of the American Association of Retired Persons of Essex County.

Born in New York City, she lived in St. Louis, Missouri, Great Neck, New York, Cedar Grove, Newark, and Boston, Massachusetts, before moving to Livingston in 1980. Surviving Mrs. Knowlton are a daughter, Mrs. Lexie Pfetzing; a son, Kip; and three grandchildren.

Republican Candidates Issue Statement Opposing Proposed Mt. Laurel Housing

The Republican candidates for Livingston Township Council, incumbent Stanley Weinroth, Alex Richardson and Lou Venza, this week released a campaign statement reiterating the long standing Republican opposition to Mt. Laurel housing in Livingston.

The following is the text of their statement:

The Republican candidates for Livingston Township Council, incumbent Stanley Weinroth, Alex Richardson and Lou Venza, have been and continue to be opposed to the construction of Mt. Laurel housing, or any multi-family residential development in Livingston. The only exceptions are the units designated in the proposed senior citizen housing.

This position was taken by Republican Council members over ten years ago. It was part of the platform of Republican candidates four years ago, and has been a commitment made early in this campaign by the three of us.

The impact on Livingston of 750 high density units would be considerable. School, road, sewage, potable water, police and fire protection resources would be heavily impacted. If built, the unique, established single family residential character of Livingston would be forever changed.

As the Republican candidates we sincerely welcome the 1994 statement by our Democratic opponents, who are now opposed to Mt. Laurel Housing.

In 1985 the Livingston Planning Board revised the existing Livingston township master plan. That Planning Board, which included the incumbent councilman [Edward] Sullivan, recommended that 251 acres of Livingston land be re-zoned for planned residential developments and apartment houses. It additionally recommended that one or more school buildings no longer needed for educational purposes be sold for conversion to apartments. In addition to the apartments resulting from school conversions, that Planning Board specifically recommended that 1440 planned residential and multi-family housing units be built throughout the township, so as to produce 240 affordable housing units. If the specter of 750 high density units has caused each of our Democratic opponents concern in 1994, what would have been their reaction if twice that number had been built, as the Planning Board had recommended?

The areas recommended for rezoning included Laurel Hills and Bel Aire, which were to be medium density PRDs. High density apartment buildings were to be built on other privately owned undeveloped property, which included the proposed Sunset Ridge subdivision, an area north of Livingston Center, the area from Short Hills Road to Chestnut Hill and the township owned senior citizen housing site. The proposed senior housing apartment site is the only area in the township which has low and moderate income set-asides.

Republicans have consistently opposed Mt. Laurel housing for two basic reasons. Our existing infrastructure and human resources would be heavily overtaxed. The radical changes resulting from high density development would irrevocably change the single family residential character of Livingston. As councilman we will continue to oppose this unwanted change.

Open Wrestling at LHS

Beginning this week and continuing through the end of August, there will be open wrestling mats at the Livingston High School main gym every Tuesday and Thursday from 5:30 to 7 p.m. This program is free of charge and open to wrestlers of all ages. Members of both the LHS and Recreation Department coaching staffs will be present.

From August 8 through 10, the Livingston Recreation Department, in conjunction with the Livingston Wrestling Club, will hold its second annual wrestling camp, which is open to residents of all ages. The camp will be held at the LHS main gym and will feature a special coaching staff. There is a fee for the camp, with a discount for Wrestling Club members. For more information on either of these programs, call the Recreation Department at 535-7925 or Jeff Kaplan at 992-0960.

Weinstein Is Graduate

Mara Jaye Weinstein, daughter of Phyllis and Marvin Weinstein of 71 East Sherbrooke Parkway, was recently graduated from Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. She earned a bachelor of arts degree in psychology and received the David Fowler Atkins Jr. Prize.

While at Lafayette, Weinstein was a campus tour guide and alumni weekend assistant. During her junior year, she spent a semester abroad in London, England, and served an internship at Queen Mary's Hospital for children. In her senior year, she completed an internship with the Helen Beebe Speech and Hearing Center.

In addition, she was treasurer, religious chairwoman and house manager for the Hillel Society, as well as a member of the Joint Committee on the Religious Program. Weinstein was captain of the senior class fund drive, and a member of the psychology club. She will pursue graduate study in speech-language pathology and audiology at George Washington University.

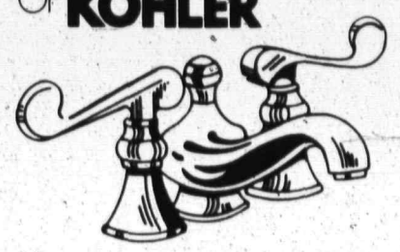

Two Are Scranton Graduates

Two Livingston residents, Michele L. LaMotta of 6 Mansfield Court and Linda A. Neilan of 40 Village Drive, were graduated from Scranton University, Scranton, Pennsylvania, during comemencement ceremonies held May 29.

Visit Daughter in Honduras

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Turner of Mt. Pleasant Avenue recently returned home from a trip to the Roatan Bay Islands, Honduras, to visit their daughter, Teresa Balton, and her family.

Balton and her husband, Eldon, are employed by the Institute for Marine Science at Anthony's Key Resort. Mrs. Balton is a staff biologist and marine mammal researcher, and Mr. Balton is director of the Institute. The couple's work with dolphins was the cover story for the January issue of Skin Diver Magazine. The Baltons have two children, Carolyn and Eldon IV.

D-Day Veteran Honored at Rider

Livingston resident Joseph A. Adamski was among a group of D-Day veterans recently honored at Rider University. The veterans were guests at a luncheon held in conjunction with graduation ceremonies for the 1994 class of the American Legion Department of New Jersey Boys' State Program.

Adamski was a rifleman with the 116th Infantry, F Company, 29th Division, during the Normandy Invasion. He was severely wounded shortly after landing on Omaha Beach on June 6, 1944. He is a member of the American Legion Post 201 of Livingston, which sponsored three boys to attend the 1994 Boys' State Program.

Meredith Hammer

Hammer Is Graduate

Samantha Hope Hammer, daughter of Alan and Susan Hammer of 3 Fawn Drive, was graduated from Drew University in Madison on May 23. She earned a bachelor of arts degree in religion.

Jared Adler Receives National Choral Award

Jared Adler, son of Roslyn and Barry Adler of Shadowlawn Drive and a 1994 graduate of Livingston High School, was recently presented with the National Coral Award by LHS music instructor Anita Spyros at the yearly music awards dinner, June 15.

The award recognizes merit, ability, and contribution to the success of the school vocal program as well as "an unusual degree of loyalty, cooperation and high qualities of conduct" by the general consent of the faculty, school officials, and senior choral members.

Named Resident Advisor

Timothy J. Henderson, a Livingston resident and a 1991 graduate of Livingston High School, has been appointed resident assistant (RA) for his senior year, 1994-95, at Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania. An RA is responsible for solving problems of the students residing in his or her dorm.

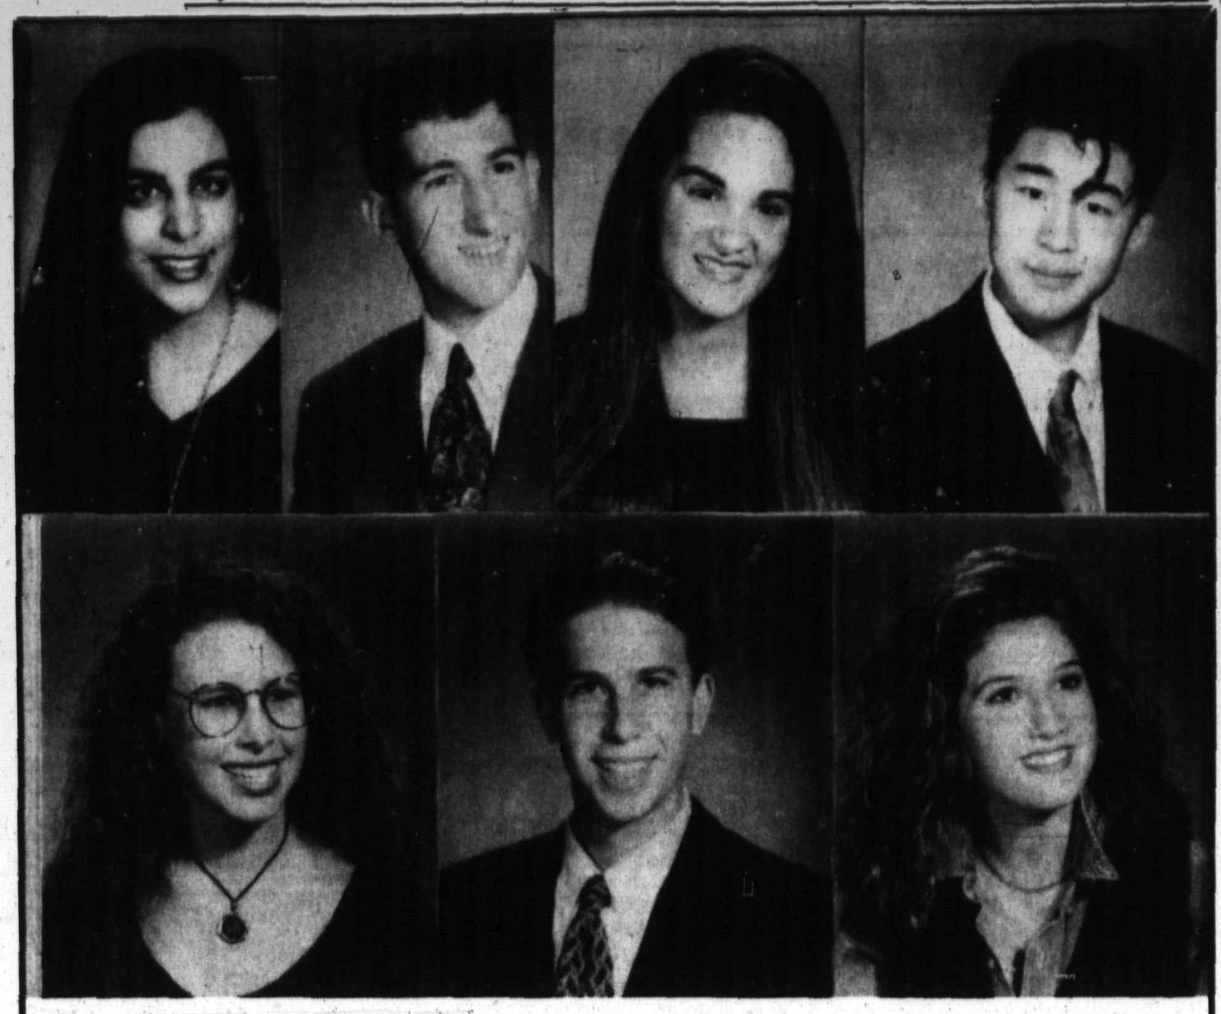

This summer, Henderson is taking courses at New Jersey Institute of Technology to prepare for the MCAT exam in August. He is also completing an internship program at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey for students interested in a medical career. He is also a starting member of the Garnet Tide, Swarthmore's football team. He is the son of Joan and Carroll Henderson of 2 Tudor Terrace.

Daughter for Turners

Andrew and Susan Turner of Washington, New Jersey, have announced the birth of their first child, Jessica Catherine, on May 13. The little girl was born at Warren Hospital in Phillipsburg, and weighed eight pounds, 14 ounces at birth.

Jessica's maternal grandparents are Ward and Bernice Anthony of Livingston, and her paternal grandparents are John and Henrietta Turner, also Livingston residents. Her great grandmothers are Catherine M. Froling of East Hanover and Dora Anthony of West Orange.

You can make extra money by advertising your abilities in the Tribune. Just call 992-1771 for an $8 classified advertisement.

NEWARK ACADEMY GRADUATES: Seven Livingston residents were among the seniors who were graduated from Newark Academy in Livingston during commencement exercises held Sunday, June 12. Shown above, they are, top row: Seema Dhar, daughter of Omkar and Dr. Veena Dhar, who received the Newark Academy Community Service Award and plans to attend the University of Chicago; Darren Eskow, son of Robert and Nancy Eskow, who will attend Emory University; Erica Greenbaum, eidtor-in-chief of the yearbook and daughter of Jeffrey and Ilene Greenbaum, who received the National School Choral Award and will attend the University of Pennsylvania; Francis Lam, son of Tim and Emmy Lam, who plans to attend the University of Michigan; and, bottom row, Jodi Prupis, daughter of Neil and Joy Prupis, who will attend Quinnipiac College to study occupational therapy; Stephen Shankman, son of Arthur and Suanne Shankman, who plans to attend the University of Michigan; and Jayne Schapiro, daughter of Joel and Elyse Schapiro, who will attend American University. Schapiro also received the David M. Ripps Memorial Award, presented to a graduating senior who, in the judgment of the faculty, has made "the most significant personal and academic progress in his or her years at the academy."

Three Are Graduates Of Ithaca College

Three Livingston residents, Adam C. Bergerman, Jessica B. Greenebaum, and Monica J. Schulberg, were graduated from Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York, during commencement exercises on May 14.

Bergerman earned a bachelor of arts degree in speech communication from the School of Humanities and Sciences. He had a minor in history, and a concentration in public communication. A graduate of Livingston High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bergerman of Livingston.

Greenebaum was graduated cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in sociology from the School of Humanities and Sciences. Consistently on the dean's list, she had a minor in politics and concentrations in clinical sociology and gender studies. She was the student lead of Students Against Violence Against Women, and worked as a crisis counselor at the Ithaca Rape Crisis Center. She received an assistantship and will attend Syracuse University in the fall. She is pursuing a doctorate in sociology with concentrations in gender studies and feminist theory.

A graduate of Livingston High School, she is the daughter of Liz and Rick Greenebaum of Livingston.

Schulberg earned a bachelor of science degree in sport management from the School of Health Sciences and Human Performance. A graduate of Livingston High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schulberg of Livingston.

Ferdinand Honored

Brett Ferdinand, son of Lane and Barbara Ferdinand of Livingston, has been named to the dean's list at Cornell University for the spring semester. He has completed his freshman year at Cornell.

Livingston people

Livingston resident Dr. Ralph J. Attanasio, a general dentist with offices in Newark, has been elected vice president of the New Jersey Dental Association (NJDA). He previously served three years as treasurer and four years as a member of the NJDA board of trustees. In addition, he was president of the Essex County Dental Society, 1984-85, and is a member of its board of trustees. He was also chairman of "Children's Dental Health Month" in Essex and is a past president and current executive committee member of the Pierre Fauchard Society.

Recently promoted to vice president in the Consumer Banking Marketing Group at Chemical Bank New Jersey was Patrice Towey of Livingston. Towey is group product manger, responsible for the bank's consumer lending products. With Chemical since 1989, Towey was previously associated with Midlantic National Bank as deposit product manager. She is a graduate of Drew University, where she earned a bachelor of arts degree in French with a minor in economics.

Howard Mink, longtime owner of Livingston Camera Mart and other northern New Jersey camera stores, died June 29 at the age of 64. He lived in West Orange and East Hampton, New York. Mr. Mink was born and raised in Newark and attended Rutgers University and Upsala College. He is survived by his wife, Rosalind; his son Carl; his daughter, Stacey; his mother, Ida; his sister, Maxine Soren; and two grandchildren. His family has requested that contributions be made to the Holocaust Museum.

Attorney Ronald Sturtz of Livingston was listed among an elite group of "Movers and Shakers of Law" in New Jersey. Attorneys appearing on this list, which was published in the June 8 issue of Northern New Jersey Business, were selected from well-known reference work, The Best Lawyers in America, 1993-94. Sturtz has been a leader in efforts to structure less costly, quicker and more satisfactory methods of dispute resolution and drafted the New Jersey Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) statues as well as the model federal ADR statute. Director at the Roseland law firm of Hannoch Weisman, Sturtz has also been elected a fellow of the American College of Bankruptcy Lawyers. He concentrates his legal practice in commercial civil litigation.

Ronald J. Del Mauro, chairman of the board of trustees and chief executive officer of Saint Barnabas Medical Center, was recently elected a trustee of the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. He is currently an officer of the Center of Health Affairs, Inc.; vice chairman of the board of trustees of the New Jersey Hospital Association; trustee and member of the Scholarship Grant Committee of the William F. Grupe Foundation, Inc.; a member of the Life Sciences Advisory Committee of the CIT Group, Inc.; and a member of the board of directors for the Margaretten Financial Services. He is a member of Seton Hall University's Center for Public Service Advisory Council, and served as an adjunct professor in the Graduate School of Public Administration from 1983 to 1985.

The CIT Group, based in Livingston, recently awarded its 1994 Scholarship Awards to a number of Essex County residents. President and CEO Albert R. Gamper, Jr. presented scholarships to 11 students from Newark schools, one from an East Orange school, and one from a New Bloomfield, Pennsylvania school.

Zimmerman-Merkin Engagement is Told

Howard and Barbara Zimmerman of Livingston have announced the engagement of their daughter, Debra, to Andrew Merkin. The future bridegroom is the son of Sandy and Estelle Merkin of Boca Raton, Florida.

Miss Zimmerman is a 1986 graduate of Livingston High School, and she received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Hartford. She is a corporate administrator with Kaysam Worldwide, Inc., in Totowa.

Her fiance, a 1984 graduate of Millburn High School, earned a B.S.B.A. degree from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, and is employed by the Tribus Company of Wayne as an insurance sales executive.

The couple plans a May, 1995, wedding.

Hadassah Will Hold Pool Parties in July

The Livingston chapter of Hadassah has scheduled two pool parties for the month of July.

A new members' pool party will be held on Monday, July 18, and all new and prospective members of Hadassah are invited to attend. Members planning to take prospective members may call 992-0590 for an invitation and further information. The guest speaker will be Karen Goldman, regional membership vice president.

A pool party fund-raiser will be held Wednesday, July 13, and will feature lunch, desserts, socializing and swimming. There will be a charge, and door credit will be given. For reservations, call Esther Walensky at 736-4219.

In the event of rain, both parties will be held the following day.

Offer Funeral Mass For Carlton Weekes

A funeral Mass will be offered today, Thursday, July 7, at 10 a.m. in St. Philomena Church for Carlton A. Weekes, following the funeral from the Quinn-Hopping Funeral Home of Livingston, 145 East Mt. Pleasant Avenue.

Mr. Weekes, who died Friday, July 1 in the Veterans' Medical Center in East Orange at the age of 79, was a plant engineer for the Donut Corporation of America. He worked for the Irvington-based company for 20 years before retiring in 1981.

He served in the U.S. Army during World War II, and was a member of the Old Guard in Livingston and the West Essex Chapter of Deborah Hospital.

Born in Magnolia Springs, Alabama, Mr. Weekes lived in Newark before moving to Livingston 26 years ago.

Surviving him are a sister, Mary, and three brothers, William, Olyn and Brady.

"There's no such thing as too rich or too thin." The Tribune can't make you thin, but an inexpensive ad in the Tribune will put your business in front of the Livingston community every week to build your riches.
