First Increase Since 1994:

Water and Sewer Rates to Rise; Will Establish New Sewer Utility

Rates for water and sewage usage will rise dramatically if an ordinance introduced by the Township Council on Monday evening is enacted.

The proposed ordinances would raise the minimum charge for water use by ten per cent from $1.89 to $2.08 per 100 cubic feet for the first 500 cubic feet used. Those who use in excess of 500 cubic feet will be charged $2.46 per 100 cubic feet, an increase of about 13%, according to the proposed new rate. Previously, those using more than 500 cubic feet were charged $2.17.

Lawn irrigation systems will be charged at a rate of $3.12 per 100 cubic feet, a 15% increase from the previous rate of $2.71.

Township manager Michele Meade explained that the increase is the first in 13 years, since 1994, and that costs of labor, fuel, payroll and utilities have risen sharply since that time. She noted that the increase would cost the average user, who consumes about 10,000 cubic feet of water per year, about $258 for the year, an increase of about $27. The manager added that Livingston's water and sewer fees will still be among the lowest in the area.

Sewer rates for a residential dwelling, which are currently $1.35 per 100 cubic feet, will rise to $1.69 under the proposed ordinance. Rates for all other users besides residences will be increased from $2.13 to $2.67 per 100 cubic feet. A public hearing on the proposed ordinances will be held on Monday, May 21, in a meeting to be held at Harrison School.

The Council also introduced an ordinance to create a new sewer utility. Meade said that the goal of the budget this year is to fairly apportion charges for the utilities. She explained that the municipality collects sewer fees separately from other taxes, just as water and pool fees are collected. The funds for the water and pool facilities are handled by separate utilities, which are self-supporting. The manager proposed that a similar utility be established to collect sewer fees. "It's strictly a financial structure," she added.

The manager also explained that there are 10,798 property tax payers in the municipality but there are 11,320 users of water and sewers. She said, "520 are not paying their fair share."

As part of the budget preparation, the manager also suggested six bond ordinances, five of which concern sewers and water. Two of the bond ordinances reappropriate funds that had previously been approved but had not been spent. Those funds will be reappropriated to other projects. For the water utility, $211,534 will be used to reduce the amount needed for other improvements. Bond ordinances to raise funds for new projects, such as radio remote meters, hydrant maintenance and repair, a new truck, and a water main replacement on

Township to Hold First Electronics Recycling Day

Livingston's first Electronics Recycling Day will be held on Saturday, June 9 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the rear of the Hillside Avenue community center. The collection is sponsored by the Township Council and the Livingston Environmental Commission (LEC). According to Renee Resky of the LEC, "Residents won't even have to get out of their cars. The items will be picked up out of their car trunks."

The event is free to all Livingston residents. Commercial and large quantity users may incur a small charge and must pre-register. For information about fees, call Advanced Recovery Inc. at 845-858-8809.

In addition to the traditional items that Essex County collects at its electronics recycling day, such as printers, fax machines, scanners, speakers, VCRs, stereos, DVD players, toasters, irons, and old cellular phones, the local collection will accept all the spent supplies and obsolete accessories associated with computers, known as "technotrash."

Technotrash consists of all forms of electronic media and the cases that support electronic devices and include items such as CDs and DVDs, video tapes, audio tapes, game cartridges, and virtually all other types of computer tapes, hard drives, ZIP drives, and jump drives. Also being collected are printer cartridges, including both inkjet and toner and all types of rechargeable batteries and their chargers.

All of the small computer accessories such as MP3 players, iPods, digital cameras, handheld scanners, handheld games and other connected devices including the cords, cables, boards, and chips will be accepted. The Technotrash recycler, GreenDisk, uses a network of non-profit organizations to process the material. They refurbish what they can and recycle the rest. Inkjet cartridges get re-manufactured and, when possible, cell phones and some computers get refurbished. Material that has no further operating life is broken down to its smallest components, such as metals, plastics, etc., and is used in the manufacturing of new products. Unlike some recycling companies, all of the material that GreenDisk collects is reused or recycled.

"Computers and components, monitors, TVs, audio equipment and cell phones make up the bulk of electronics that threaten our environment, because of the dangerous elements in them," explained Resky. "Electronic equipment contains metals, such as lead, cadmium and mercury and other materials that can become hazardous

HICKORY PLACE FIRE: A concerned neighbor called the Livingston Fire Department on Tuesday, May 8, to report a brush fire at 42 Hickory Place. Soon after the call, the fire worked its way up the rear side of the home. Quick-thinking painters working on a home across the street ran over and used a garden hose to extinguish the flames. Fire officials forced entry into the smoke filled home to check for occupants or fire inside the house, but found neither. The home was vented and the homeowners, Esther and Roland Ume, were notified. The cause of the fire is under investigation. NKP Photo

Township Council Meets at Harrison

The Livingston Township Council has scheduled an additional regular meeting during the month of May, announced township clerk Glenn Turtletaub. The Council's next meeting will be held Monday, May 21, at 8 p.m. at Harrison Elementary School, 148 North Livingston Avenue.

At that time, the Council will hold the final public hearings on nine proposed ordinances, including six bond ordinances, which were introduced at its meeting this past Monday, May 7.

Arrest 3 for Possession of BB Guns

Two Livingston men and one from Roseland were arrested by Livingston police on Saturday, May 5, after two BB guns were found in their possession.

Samuel Lanham II, 19, of 89 Kimball Avenue; Christopher Sage, 29, of 2 Highland Drive; and Brian Park, 23, of Roseland were arrested by police who had been notified that men with a gun had been seen in the parking lot of the 7-Eleven store on South Livingston Avenue.

Responding officers found a group assembled along the south side of the building and Lanham was reportedly holding the weapon. A check of the vehicles being driven by the other young men in the group revealed a second BB gun in Park's car. Sage told police that the gun was his.

The three were arrested and charged with two counts of weapons possession as well as disorderly conduct. They were released on their own recognizance pending a court hearing and the charges were referred to Central Judicial Processing for possible action by the Grand Jury.

Livingston Hard Hit by Car Thieves; Report 14 Incidents Over Four Days

Livingston police were kept busy this week as 14 incidents of car theft or attempted theft were reported during the first four days of the month. In most of the cases, the vehicles were parked in the owner's driveway. One stolen vehicle was recovered later that night in Newark.

The first incident was reported at 10:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 1. Lori Carlson told police that she heard a bang outside. When she looked out the window, she saw someone sitting in her husband's 2006 Dodge pickup, which was parked in the driveway of their home at 41 South Mitchell Avenue. When the woman yelled, the intruder fled into a waiting car, which she described as a light colored Toyota or Honda. The would-be car thief was described only as a white male wearing a green and gold sweatshirt.

At about the same time, Robert Sicurello of 31 Melrose Drive reported that someone had attempted to break into his 1999 Chrysler Concorde, which was parked in his driveway.

The thieves were successful on Wednesday, May 2, sometime between 7:30 and 10 p.m. when they took a 1998 Dodge Intrepid from the driveway of Rita Oliveira at 29 Montgomery Road. The car was recovered in Newark at about 11:15 p.m. by the Essex-Union Auto Theft Task Force.

Between 8 and 10 p.m. on May 2, Carmine Caruso III of 2 Deal Lane reported that the rear vent window on the driver's side of his 2006 Jeep Liberty had been smashed. The would-be thieves were not successful.

A 2004 Jeep Liberty belonging to Beth Gelb, however, was reported missing at 6 a.m. on May 2. Gelb told police that the vehicle had been parked in the driveway at 34 North Ridge Road at 8 p.m. the previous evening. Broken glass was found in the driveway where the Jeep had been parked.

Thieves also made off with a 2005 Ford van belonging to Sung Son of 36 Baker Road. The car had been parked in the driveway at 1 a.m. on May 2 and was discovered missing at 6 a.m.

At 7:30 a.m. on May 2, Paul Wittenberg of 6 Borden Place reported that a door handle on his 2007 Dodge Charger had been broken in an apparent unsuccessful attempt to gain entry to the car.

Also at 7:30 a.m. on May 2, police received a report from Dennis Attenello that his 1998 Audi A-6 had been stolen from his driveway at 48 West McClellan Avenue between 8:30 p.m. the previous evening and the time of the report.

David D'Antonio of 12 Mayhew Drive reported that someone had damaged the door handle of his 2004 Infinity FX3 between May 1 and 8 a.m. on May 3.

On May 4, a 2001 Dodge Intrepid belonging to Christine Ferrao of New Providence was taken from the Livingston Mall parking lot. The victim told police that the car had been parked in the lot at 11:30 a.m. and that she had discovered it missing at 3:30 p.m.

Also on May 4, Kai Lin of 101 Belmont Drive called police to report that a $350 GPS unit had been taken from a car parked in the driveway.

Damaged door handles were reported to police by Ilona Gray of 93 Ridge Drive and Melissa Cotugno of 8 Hampton Terrace. Neither Gray's 2006 Audi A-6 nor Cotugno's 1999 Volkswagen Passat was taken.

Police are continuing to investigate each of the incidents. Officials remind residents to lock their vehicles if they must be left outside. Residents are also asked to be vigilant and if they see anything that is amiss, they should call police headquarters at 973-992-3000. The officers would rather investigate an unfounded report than let a car thief be successful.

ESSEX COUNTY ACADEMIC AWARDS: LHS salutatorian David Pan and valedictorian Meryl Federman attended the 20th annual Essex County Academic Awards Banquet on May 1 with superintendent of schools, Dr. Brad Draeger; LHS principal Pam Clause McGroarty; Betty Guglielmino, supervisor of 9-12 math; and science teacher Tom Walsh. The students were honored for being academic scholars, and each received a $100 bond. TF Photo

Through the generosity of Ko's Taekwon Do Academy in Livingston, the Harlem Wizards will appear during Youth Appreciation Week. Ko's hosted a regional tournament on May 5th, the proceeds of which will fully support the Wizards' Half-Court Show and Youth Clinic that will be held in the LHS main gym on Tuesday, May 22, at 7 p.m. The event is free and open to the entire community. Shown above, representatives of Ko's Taekwon Do Academy present a sponsorship check to Youth Appreciation Week chairman Alan Karpas.

Youth Appreciation Week Will Also Salute Military

By Congressional decree, May has been designated National Military Appreciation Month. According to its organizers, "This very important month honors, remembers, recognizes and appreciates all military personnel; those men and women who have served throughout our history and all who now serve in uniform and their families as well as those Americans who have given their lives in defense of our freedoms we all enjoy today."

Livingston will be commemorating the month with a variety of activities to honor its hometown heroes. On Wednesday, May 16, the Livingston High School Band will include a set of patriotic numbers during its evening performance.

During Youth Appreciation Week which runs from Monday, May 21, through Memorial Day, numerous activities and events will take place. Throughout the week, students will write letters to service personnel. On Thursday, May 24, at 9:30 a.m., the VFW will hold a Silent Service at Livingston High School to honor fallen heroes from WWII, Korea, and Vietnam. At 7 p.m., a cocktail reception to honor active personnel, reservists, guardsmen, and academy students, and their families will be held at Calabria's Restaurant. A discount in the entrance fee will be offered for children under 12. Those wishing to attend should call Bonnie Granatir at 973 202-9266 or send an e-mail to bonnie@granatir.com by May 18.

During Saturday's Family Fun Festival at the Oval, a collection will be held for supplies needed by military personnel currently serving overseas. Finally, Memorial Day ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a.m. on May 28 at the Memorial Oval. It will be followed at 10 a.m. by Livingston's annual Memorial Day parade.

Board of Education Recognizes Achievements of Teachers

The Board of Education honored many teachers in the district on Monday evening for outstanding achievements during the year. Board president Tony Calcado said "it is always a great occasion when I get to say thank you to all of the teachers."

Livingston High School teacher Lori Perez was honored for being selected to participate in the 2007 Toyota International Teacher Program study tour to Japan. Her application was chosen based on the quality and innovation of her ideas and her interest in international study. The study tour will enable her to bring ancient and modern Japan to the classroom.

Audrey Stegmayer, a social studies teacher at Mt. Pleasant Middle School, has been selected to travel to Russia to attend a Fulbright-Hayes seminar, preceded by a curriculum development workshop at the University of Illinois. She will develop a better understanding of Russian studies to her classroom and to share with her colleagues.

Lucy Lee, a Livingston High School teacher, was recognized for being selected as a member of the US Department of Education's elite "Teacher Training Corps." Lee is also the new president of CLASS, the Chinese Language Association of Secondary and primary Schools. In addition, Livingston's AP Chinese course syllabus was selected by the College Board as a model for AP Chinese.

Livingston High School was also selected by the Educational Testing Service as a test site for the first online AP examination.

The Livingston High School Career Internship Program (CIP) will received a proclamation from the New Jersey School Boards Association at the sixth annual Innovations in Special Education event on May 14. CIP is one of 12 programs being recognized for creative special education efforts from among those offered by public and private schools for the handicapped. The award is based on criteria of innovation, effectiveness, parental/community involvement, and evaluation strategies.

Board member Chuck Granata presented an award to teachers of the Career Internship Program and its staff: CIP coordinator Elaine Pollara, teacher Ellen Zenna and teacher assistant Suzanne Sibilia. Pollara said that the program's real product is the students.

Stan Graboski, the freshman board member, had the opportunity to recognize nine Livingston School district teachers who have been named to the 2007 Governor's Teacher Recognition Program, which acknowledges educators who exhibit outstanding performance. Named to the program are Wendy Weiner, Laura Grant, Michele Kelso, Karen Kautz, Lenore Piccoli, Ronnie Konner, Jeanmarie Piscitelli, Nora Lichtenstein, and Elaine Pollara.

Superintendent of schools, Dr. Brad Draeger, said, "This prestigious group of teachers embodies everything the Livingston schools stand for."

Wendy Weiner, a first grade teacher at Burnet Hill, was complemented by principal Deborah Cook, for being someone who touches so many people. Laura Grant, a teacher at Collins school, was recognized by Patrick Keenoy as being a resource in the school building. Michele Kelso, a learning consultant at Harrison Elementary school, was saluted by principal Cindy Healy as being the "go-to person" for help with children, parents and staff. Karen Kautz, the reading specialist at Hillside, was recognized by principal Bernadette Pilchman, as the teacher who "empowers all the teachers and unselfishly gives and gives."

Lenore Piccoli was honored by John Hopton, principal at Mt. Pleasant Middle School, for representing the "four R's" which he said were result, reactions from students and parents, being reflective about herself and her role with the students and always one with great respect. Ronnie Konner, a longtime Livingston resident, and past Board of Education member, was honored by Jo Tandler for always being exciting and innovative. Tandler added that the children always cheer when Konner enters the classroom. Jeanmarie Piscitelli, a Heritage English teacher, who is retiring this year, was saluted by principal Pat Boland for always "being there for the children and helping them to strive to new heights." Nora Lichtenstein, a basic skills teacher at Mt. Pleasant Middle School, was commended by building principal Louis Melchor said that she is always a "great out-of-the-box thinker who has been a valued mentor to the faculty at the school." Elaine Pollara, Livingston High School, CIP program, was recognized by Pam McGroarty for her leadership and development of the outstanding CIP program.

Fire Fighters Have Quiet Week

Livingston firefighters had a relatively quiet week, responding to 17 calls, six of which were false fire alarm transmissions. The false alarms originated from Horizon School; 25 North Cedar Parkway; Heritage Middle School; 155 South Livingston Avenue; 27 Thames Drive; and Baumgart's Café.

False carbon monoxide alarms were recorded at 18 Hearthstone Terrace on Thursday, May 3, and at 64 Eastbrook Terrace on Sunday, May 6. A reading of 112 parts per million of carbon monoxide was found at 17 Belvedere Drive when fire officials checked the basement of the residence on Monday, May 7. The problem was determined to be related to a downdraft and Public Service Electric & Gas (PSE&G) was notified.

A car fire was reported at 68 Old Short Hills Road on Friday, May 4. The vehicle was emitting smoke, but no fire was found.

Firefighters wet down a smoldering area of mulch outside of Walgreen's on Saturday, May 5. On Monday morning, May 7, fire officials extinguished a mulch fire burning on the east side of a building at 70 South Orange Avenue.

Firefighters applied absorbents and helped to clean up a small amount of Diesel fuel spilled from a truck at East Cedar Street and Northfield Road on Saturday, May 5.

Also on Saturday, May 5, reports of an odor outside the home at 23 Berkeley Place were unfounded. A strange odor in the garage of 5 Windsor Drive was traced to a leaking bottle of insect spray on May 7. Fire officials removed the bottle and vented the area.

When the homeowner of 18 Downing Place reported that her electric oven was sparking on Monday, May 7, firefighters found that an electric coil inside the oven was shorting out. Fire officials shut off the power to the unit at the breaker panel and advised the homeowner.

Later that day, an elevator alarm brought Fire Department volunteers to 5000 Pointe Gate Drive. The elevator was checked and found to be working properly.

Schlossberg on Dean's List

Rebecca Jeanine Schlossberg, daughter of Rose and Burt Schlossberg of Livingston, was named to the dean's list at Drew University, Madison, for academic achievement during the fall, 2006 semester.

A student in the university's College of Liberal Arts, she is majoring in theater and psychology.

County to Hold Recycling Of Computers and Electronics

Essex County will hold its biannual collection of computers and electronics for recycling on Saturday, May 19, at the Essex County South Mountain complex bus parking lot, 560 Northfield Avenue, West Orange. The collection will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Joseph N. DiVincenzo Jr., Essex County executive, has said, "Recycling computer hardware and electronic devices helps remove lead and other dangerous chemicals from our waste stream, which is important for us and our children. With your participation, we can do our part to protect the environment."

The collection, which is not for commercial or large quantity users, is free for all Essex County residents. Proof of residency must be provided at the site.

Items which will be accepted during the computer and electronics recycling include computers, monitors, printers, fax machines, scanners, telecom equipment, speakers, and televisions.

Also accepted will be such items as keyboards, main frames, VCRs, stereos, DVD players, toasters, irons, and cellular telephones.

For more information, call the Essex County Utilities Authority at 973-857-2350.

FEMA Offering Disaster Assistance

Former Fire Chief Craig Dufford, who is now the chairman of the township's Emergency Management Committee, has announced that FEMA (the Federal Emergency Management Agency) and New Jersey state disaster assistance is available to Livingston residents who suffered property damage during the Nor'easter last month.

Homeowners, renters, and business owners in Bergen, Burlington, Essex, Hudson, Middlesex, Morris, Passaic, Somerset and Union Counties may apply to the federal agency for assistance in relation to damage sustained because of the flooding beginning on April 14. Dufford noted that FEMA assistance is only available for infrastructure damage, such as furnaces and water heaters. Carpeting and other decorations are not included.

Applications may be made by calling 1-800-621-FEMA (3362) or TTY, 1-800-462-7585, for federal housing assistance, state and federal assistance for property damage; Small Business Administration (SBA) disaster loans for individuals and businesses; repair, reconstruction and home utility protection, and tax guidance. Calls may be made between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., seven days a week. Applications may be done on-line at www.FEMA.gov.

Residents may also apply for aid in person at the Essex County FEMA Disaster Recover Center, which has been set up at the Fairfield Community Center, 376 Hollywood Avenue, Fairfield. The Center will be open daily from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. until further notice.

Disaster recovery assistance is available without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, economic status, or retaliation.

THE RUTH L. ROCKWOOD MEMORIAL LIBRARY OF LIVINGSTON is more than halfway to its fund-raising goal of $1 million. Members of the Livingston Town Council and the Library Board of Trustees, shown above, have all made financial contributions to the Capital Campaign as well as donated many volunteer hours to the library. A letter requesting the community's financial support has been mailed this week. Donations are tax deductible, can be paid over a three year period and can be made on a credit card or by check. These donations will help the library pay for items outside of its construction budget, and will include interior furnishings, new technology and media requirements, outside furnishings for the reading terraces, the landscaping, and a sculpture garden. Standing are library trustees Laurence Bergmann, Cynthia Vallario, Carol Sumner, Mickey Lam, Peggy Slatkin, Iris Leopold, and Judi Nudelman. Seated are members of the Township Council displaying the various forms of payment that can be used to support the library.

Saint Barnabas Medical Center Celebrates National Cancer Survivors' Day on June 3

Individuals whose lives have been touched by cancer are invited to attend Saint Barnabas Medical Center's 14th annual Celebration of Life on Sunday, June 3, in honor of National Cancer Survivors' Day. The event, to take place from noon to 4 p.m., is deisgned to "celebrate the courage of cancer survivors, the fortitude of their health care givers, and the support of their loved ones."

Activities are sponsored by the Cancer Centers of Saint Barnabas and the Valerie Fund Children's Center for Cancer and Blood Disorders at Saint Barnabas, and will take place, rain or shine, at the Medical Center at 94 Old Short Hills Road. Celebration of Life will feature health and wellness and cancer advocacy information, music, buffet lunch, and a survivors' art project. For children there will be face painting, sand art, clowns and other D.J. activities offered.

The featured speaker will be cancer survivor, author and Academy Award-nominated actress Barbara Barrie. Barrie is best known for her roles on the television sitcoms Barney Miller and Suddenly Susan and as the mother in the film Breaking Away. Her third book, Second Act, chronicles her battle against colon cancer and its life-affirming aftermath.

The Celebration of Life is open to the public free of charge in the hospital's East Wing parking lot. In case of inclement weather, the event will be held indoors. Those attending should follow signs for parking. To register, call 1-888-SBHS-123, preferably by May 28. For more general information, call Angela McCabe, L.C.S.W., at 973-322-2668.

Sauna Patron Burned in Fire

A 51 year old Long Valley man was burned on Friday, May 4, when a flash fire erupted in the sauna at New York Sports Club.

Yury Semeniken, 51, apparently attempted to use a eucalyptus spray in the sauna at the New York Sports Club on Northfield Road. The spray ignited, causing a flash fire and burning Semeniken, who taken to Saint Barnabas Medical Center for treatment.

The Livingston Fire Department and Livingston Health Department responded and the Nutley Hazmat officials were notified to inspect the site.

Approve Change of Zoning For Eisenhower Pkwy. Site

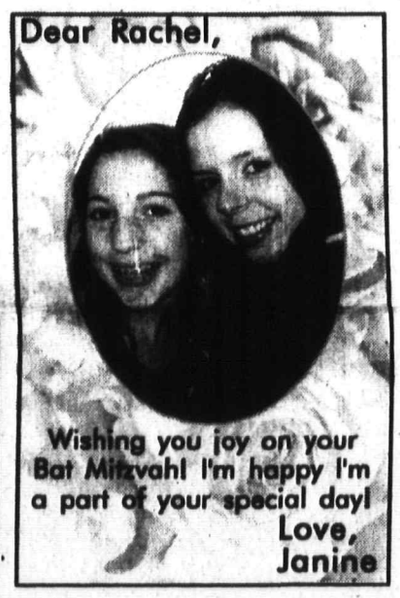

A change of zoning for the site of the former Merrigan's tavern was approved by the Township Council on Monday evening.

The former bar, which is now being converted and renovated into a restaurant, is now located in the commercial district. Restaurants are a conditional use in that district; however, restaurants with table service are a permitted use in the Professional Building district.

Mayor Stephen Santola explained that the Planning Board had recommended the change in zoning to produce consistency of potential uses on the west side of Eisenhower Parkway.

The ordinance was unanimously approved by the Council.

7 Deadly Mistakes That Will Cost You Thousands When You Sell Your Home

Livingston – A new report has just been released which reveals 7 costly mistakes that most homeowners make when selling their home, and a 9 Step System that can help you sell your home fast and for the most amount of money.

The industry report shows clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become increasingly less and less effective in today's market. The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of homesellers don't get what they want for their home and become disillusioned and worse - financially disadvantaged when they put their home on the market.

As this report uncovers, most homesellers make 7 deadly mistakes that cost them literally thousands of dollars. The good news is that each and every one of these mistakes is entirely preventable.

In answers to this issue, industry insiders have prepared a FREE special report entitled "The 9 Step System to Get Your Home Sold Fast and For Top Dollar".

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your free copy of this report call 1-800-879-4054 and enter ID#2500. You can call anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Call NOW to find out how you can get the most money for your home. (Talk to no agent).

Remember the Vets – Support the Parade

Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day, is a day of remembrance for those who have died in our nation's service. There are many stories as to its actual beginnings, with more than two dozen cities and towns laying claim to being the birthplace of Memorial Day; however, it's difficult to prove conclusively the origins of the day. It is more likely that it had many separate beginnings; each of those towns and every planned or spontaneous gathering of people to honor the war dead in the 1860s tapped into the general human need to honor our dead. It is not important who was the very first, what is important is that Memorial Day was established. The day is about coming together to honor those who gave – and continue to give – their all.

Memorial Day was officially proclaimed on May 5, 1868 by General John Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was first observed on May 30, 1868, when flowers were placed on the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery. The first state to officially recognize the holiday was New York in 1873. By 1890 it was recognized by all of the northern states. The South refused to acknowledge the day, honoring their dead on separate days until after World War I, when the holiday changed from honoring just those who died fighting in the Civil War to honoring Americans who died fighting in any war. It is now celebrated in almost every State on the last Monday in May Traditional observance of Memorial Day has diminished over the years. Many Americans nowadays have forgotten the meaning and traditions of Memorial Day. It has become simply a day off from work, making a long weekend which marks the unofficial beginning of the summer season. While there are towns and cities that still hold Memorial Day parades, many have not held a parade in decades.

Livingston has been holding its Memorial Day patriotic ceremony and the parade which follows for more than 50 years. The attendance at the patriotic ceremony is often sparse but the parade is always well-attended. People line the entire length of the parade route from Memorial Park to Harrison School to watch their neighbors march with the large contingents of schools, civic and religious organizations and municipal groups. They enjoy the many groups provided by the Shriners – from the clowns to the little cars and the bands. The parade watchers seem to enjoy looking at the many trucks of the Fire Department and First Aid Squad. But most of all, the parade watchers love the bands. While the Shriners and the Livingston High School Marching Band donate their services to the parade, the many other bands which traditionally enliven our annual parade and make it so much more festive, are paid for their participation. The cost escalates each year and without community support, the parade organizers may have to reduce the number of paid participants.

They are seeking the support of the community to help pay for the music and the Mummers who are always a popular part of the parade. Helping to keep Livingston's parade entertaining helps to keep it successful. By continuing to have our parade, our community is reminding the participants – both the marchers and the watchers – that Memorial Day is a day to honor those who have made the ultimate sacrifice so that we might enjoy our freedoms. In this day and age with young men and women dying daily in Iraq and Afghanistan, we cannot afford to forget. Send your checks to Township Hall and mark in the memo section that they are for the Memorial Day Parade.

We Speak for the Trees

Dr. Seuss wrote the children's story, The Lorax, in 1971. The tale chronicles the plight of the environment and the Lorax (a "mossy, bossy" man-like creature), who speaks for the trees against the greedy, industrialized society. Livingston has taken on the role of the Lorax over the past two years, planting more than 500 new trees in the township's right of ways all over town. Some of the new trees replace older ones which have died and others have been planted simply to improve the look of our town.

Initially, these new trees look more like ugly sticks than the beautiful, leafy shade trees they will become. We need only look around to some of the more established areas, such as East and West Drive off Hobart Gap Road, to see what they will look like some 20 years from now.

We commend township manager Michele Meade, the Public Works Department, and the Township Council for supporting this new tree-planting endeavor. We are happy that Livingston has undertaken this environmental program and is "speaking for the trees."

Support the Parade

Dear Nancy:

Each year, the cost of the Memorial Day Parade increases, in particular, the cost of the bands. The Parade Committee is asking for a donation to help us maintain the quality of parade, a tradition in Livingston since 1950.

Memorial Day is a day of tribute and remembrance of our fellow Americans who died for our country.

"It is impossible for the nation to compensate for the services of a fighting man. There is no pay scale that is high enough to buy the services of a single soldier, sailor, Marine or airman during even a few minutes of the agony of combat, the physical miseries of the campaign, or the extreme personal inconvenience of leaving his home to go out to the most unpleasant and dangerous spots on earth to serve his nation" – a quotation from General George C. Marshall, U.S. Army Chief of Staff, 1939-1945.

When I read this quotation, I think about our brave men and women who are serving in Afghanistan and Iraq. I hope and pray for their safe return. If any of them are home, please march with us on Memorial Day.

Please send your parade contribution to: Livingston Township Hall, 357 South Livingston Avenue, Livingston, NJ 07039. Make checks payable to Township of Livingston, Parade Committee.

How About a Park

Dear Editor:

Why is Livingston the only town without a park? We are surrounded by towns, and every town has a park!

The land on Livingston Avenue opposite Norman's seems to be perfect, even has a brook. Some flowers and benches, we could take a lesson from Millburn's flower garden in the center of town!

Who in Livingston would not donate, I for one, would!

The condition of the land now does not speak well for our town when you drive on South Livingston Avenue.

Editor's Note: According to the pamphlet Livingston's Outdoor Treasures, compiled by the Livingston Environmental Commission and the Livingston Open Space Trust Fund Committee, there are 14 parks located completely or partially within the borders of Livingston. Some of these include Memorial Park, which includes the ten acre Livingston Nature Preserve, Littell's Pond, the September 11 Living Memorial Garden, and 15 acres of wooded township-owned land along Madonna Drive. East Hills Park is a 55 acre parcel on Shrewsbury Drive, and includes the Livingston Dog Park and a 1½ mile fitness trail. Prospect Park, also located along Shrewsbury Drive, has 29 acres of forested land. Northland Park includes 30 acres of undeveloped woodland. Other parks in the township also include the 40-acre Riker Hill Art Park; wooded areas at the Woods at Maple Avenue and near Vere Terrace; and portions of Becker and West Essex Parks. A full listing of parks in the township is available at www.livingstonnj.org.

The Bent Angle

By Michelle Bent

This past weekend, the Livingston Children's Theatre proved that sports aren't the only way to teach kids about the rewards of focus, determination, team work and practice. The children witnessed first hand what all their hard work earned as they were greeted with thundering applause and standing ovations at the final performance of Edna May's Theater Camp, Sunday afternoon at Mt. Pleasant Middle School.

The amount of time put into the show by the children was calculated as being a whopping 80 hours in just a few months. For the devoted adults who made this show a reality, the numbers are off the charts. They worked countless hours with dozens of eager, but also energetic and at times, I'm sure, rambunctious, children.

Marilyn Fiordaliso of Fiordaliso Music Studio served as musical director of the show, donating her time to make sure that the children's voices were ready for the stage. In addition to regular practices, she made herself available for private lessons at her studio with the lead actors and actresses in the show and those who had more demanding singing parts.

Livingston music teacher Paul Stefany wrote the script, music and lyrics for the show. In my opinion, his songs are as catchy as those from High School Musical and in many pieces his lyrics describe feelings and situations to which both adults and children can relate.

One of his funniest songs in the performance was "What We Really Miss," sung by a group of campers trying to comfort a homesick friend. The children sing about missing their families and pets, but lament that what they really wish they had with them at camp was their cell phones.

Before each dress rehearsal and show, the entire cast gathered together to ask the "theater gods" for a good show. During one of these sessions, I witnessed one of the moms, who had volunteered to make the Children's Theatre a reality, break down in tears. I admit for a moment I thought it was a bit much. I am not a person who is comfortable crying in public. Soon after seeing this woman's tears, I was treated to my first glimpse of the show, with all of the kids on stage in costume. Up until this point, I had only heard my son rehearsing his lines and singing his songs. To be honest, I really hadn't read much of the script or listened to the music outside of what had to do with him (a bit self-centered, but I'm being real). Watching the dress rehearsal, however, a lump developed in my throat and a few reluctant tears welled up in my eyes as the children belted out "The Tannersville Summertime Camp" in the first act of the show. All of a sudden, I understood what had moved this woman to tears. All of a sudden, all of the kids up on the stage became my own. Pride can make you cry.

Benya Kraus gracefully carried the show along as Edna May, the aging owner of a musical theater camp in Pennsylvania. Through a series of events orchestrated by Zack, the "nasty and annoying" manager of the camp's Snack Shack, humorously portrayed by my son, T.J. Bent, Edna May's dreams of the perfect camp are unraveled. Elana Atlas did an impressive job playing the wordy, bullhorn-toting Sandra Davis, Edna May's assistant. Abby Simko and Carly Napolitano teamed up to star as Charlotte and Ellie, aspiring artists who double as the camp's clean up crew.

Trevor Wood won over the audience as a young camper named David who is away from home for the first time and innocently contributes to Zack's evil plan. Jacqueline Kraft took on the role of camp choreographer, Big Mama Mary, and Emily Nevola donned a beret to bring the dramatic and "divine" acting coach Didi to life, while Bailey Grey showed off her talents as Leslie. More than 65 other Livingston children rounded out the Edna May cast.

Hanging out backstage during dress rehearsal and during Saturday night's performance, I picked up on an important and unique aspect of the Children's Theater process that should not be overlooked. The interactions between the younger children in the cast and the older kids who comprised the back stage crew were refreshing and enough to make this mom take notice.

The older children took care of the younger ones and provided support when needed. All of the children continuously complimented each other and rarely passed each other after a scene without offering some words of praise or a "high five." With the exception of a few instances of the normal "kiddy" banter, the overall

Seek Service Members

Dear Nancy,

As many of your readers may know, Livingston's Youth Appreciation Week Committee is sponsoring a reception on Thursday, May 24, at 7 p.m. for military service members and their families at Calabria's.

With the assistance of the entire community, we have identified 24 Livingston families with active personnel, reservists, guardsmen, and academy students. Unfortunately, we have been unable to verify the contact information for four of these families and would like to ask anyone who might have this information to contact us at their earliest convenience.

The individual service members are Christopher Courter, Grigoriy Isayev, Lee Tam, and John D. Tomcyzk. Anyone with contact information or who is interested in attending the event may contact me at bonnie@granatir.com or 973 202-9266.

Better Than the County's

Dear Nancy,

At Monday's Council meeting Mayor Santola enthusiastically announced Livingston's first Electronic Recycling Day will be held on June 9 from 10 a.m. – 3 p.m. in the rear parking lot at the Livingston Senior/Community Center. The Livingston Environmental Commission is excited to work with the Council to organize a recycling day in our own community so Livingston residents would have another opportunity to recycle locally and would not have to use more resources to drive out of town to recycle their electronic items.

Computers, monitors, TVs, audio equipment and cell phones make up the bulk of electronics that threaten our environment, because of the dangerous elements in them. Electronic equipment contains metals, such as lead, cadmium and mercury and other materials that can become hazardous to human health and the environment if they are not properly managed. Reuse and recycling prevents these electronic items from reaching landfills. Additionally, discarded electronic equipment is a concern because electronics are made with valuable resources such as precious metals, engineered plastics, glass and other materials, all of which require energy to manufacture. When equipment is thrown away, these resources cannot be recovered and additional pollution will be generated to manufacture new products out of virgin materials.

In addition to the traditional items that Essex County collects at its electronic recycling day, such as printers, fax machines, scanners, speakers, VCRs, stereos, DVD players, toasters, irons, and old cellular phones, we will be collecting all the spent supplies and obsolete accessories associated with your computer, known as "technotrash." "Technotrash" consists of all forms of electronic media and their cases that support electronic devices and include items such as CDs and DVDs, video tapes, audio tapes, game cartridges, and virtually all other types of computer tapes, hard drives, ZIP drives, jump drives. Also being collected are printer cartridges, including both inkjet and toner and all types of rechargeable batteries and their chargers. All of the small computer accessories such as MP3 players, iPods, digital cameras, handheld scanners, handheld games and other connected devices including the cords, cables, boards, and

Coming Events

Mary Centuori of 11 Oxford Drive wrote to the Tribune this week to remind readers of the Livingston Symphony Orchestra's Kitchen and House Tour, which, she wrote, "will return for its third year on Friday, May 11. Included will be six homes and the oldest public building in Livingston."

Centuori stated, "The Tour will start at Fresh City [in the new Livingston Town Center] with coffee and bagels, as well as tour guide sheets. It begins at 11 a.m. and ends at 3 p.m."

Noting that admission will be charged, with a discount on the purchase of two tickets, she concluded, "What a great Mother's Day treat!"

vibe was very positive.

Another noteworthy part of the show, that may not have been obvious to the outsider, is the fact that sixth, seventh and eighth grade kids made up the entire production crew. With minimal adult assistance and supervision, these 11 to 14 year olds ran the show from lighting and sound to choreography, costumes and props. A whole world of theater careers, that take place behind the curtain and out of the spotlight, were introduced to these youngsters through a series of workshops led by professionals over the last few months.

One of the professionals, artist and Livingston teacher Hugh Mahon, provided some insight into what goes into creating a stage set and served as the official set designer for the Edna May show.

Katie Calcado was the student director for the show and Jill Ackermann, Lexi Pumilia and Rachel Haspel served as student stage managers, with Heather Denges as their adult counterpart. Dance numbers were choreographed by students Gaby Margolies and Alana Summers.

Yet another Livingston teacher, Janene DePalo, took on the task of directing the show with the help of assistant director Linda Rishty. I must also mention, in what has turned into my column of praise, Fatima Calcado, who thought that the opportunity for children to experience theater was something that was missing in Livingston and took the initiative to fill that void.

Okay, so maybe all of the children that were on the stage aren't seriously looking for a career in theater. For them, the experience was fun, as well as an exercise in how to be a part of a greater good, in this case, the show. But for the ones who aspire to be "Broadway Bound," what an opportunity it was for us to see these future stage stars and theater producers take their first crack at it.

Like Mr. Stefany's lyrics say, "Hold on to Your Dreams," kids. Each and every one of you deserves our recognition and admiration for a job well done!

chips will be accepted. The "Technotrash" recycler uses a network of nonprofit organizations to process the material. They refurbish what they can and recycle the rest. Inkjet cartridges get remanufactured and, when possible, cell phones and some computers get refurbished. Material that has no further operating life is broken down to its smallest components (metals, plastics, etc.) and used in the manufacturing of new products. Unlike some recycling companies, all of the material that GreenDisk collects is reused or recycled. No hazardous materials or obsolete components go overseas to be processed or disposed of.

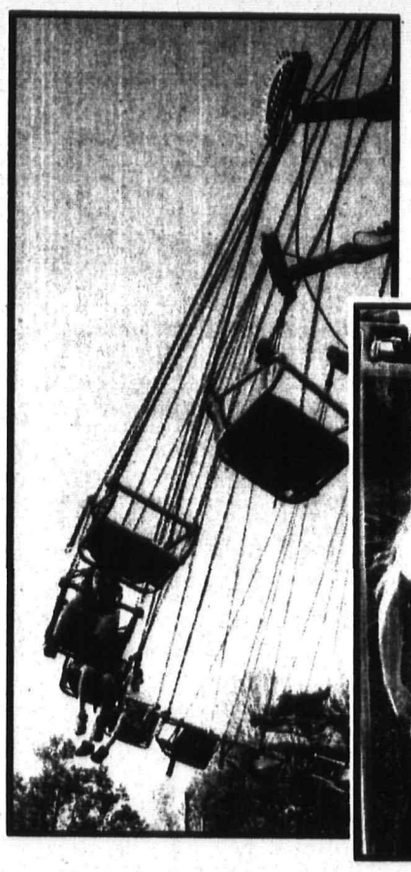

The Township's goal in sponsoring this recycling day is to ensure that recyclable items do not go into the waste stream. This benefits the community in other ways by reducing the total weight of garbage collection going to the incinerator or land fill, it reduces our cost of garbage disposal fees and can increase the grants received for recycling which are used for other recycling projects in Livingston. Hopefully Livingston's Electronics Recycling Day will become a biannual event.

HELP DARFUR NOW students Ross Tudor, Morgan Engel and Dan Smith met with congressman Donald M. Payne at the Global Days for Darfur Rally for Action in Montclair. The rally was one of 400 such events held that day in 20 countries to help end the genocide in the Darfur region of Sudan. Congressman Payne will speak to Livingston High School students at a rescheduled Day for Darfur on May 25, and will talk about his visit to refugee camps in Chad. He is the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Africa and Global Health in the House Foreign Affairs Committee and sponsored a Congressional resolution declaring the war in Darfur a genocide.

Girls' Track and Field Team Finishes Second at the Essex County Relays

The Livingston High School girls' track and field team narrowly missed defending its Essex County Relay title last Friday night, but finished in second place in the team standings with over 25 teams represented. The Lancers were outscored by Columbia 90-87.

Livingston scored points in 13 of 16 events and finished in first place in the 4 x 1,600 meter relay, the distance medley, and the intermediate hurdle relay. State powerhouse Columbia High School won the long jump, high jump, triple jump, the 4 x 800 meter, and the sprint medley, and placed in 12 of the 16 events en route to scoring an impressive 90 points in the championship meet.

The meet started off with the 4 x 1,600 meter relay. Senior Jenny Trinh led off with a personal best split of 5:38.9, and handed the baton to classmate Morgan Brady, who passed the baton to Nikki Livesey in first place. Livesey hammered a 5:36.4 split and gave Sara Lederman a comfortable lead. The Lancers finished in first place and scored ten valuable team points in the process.

The intermediate hurdles team of Katie Fridel, Rebecca Litner and Larissa Mendes finished in first place with a time of 3:36.5. Next up on the track was the 4 x 800 meter relay team. Victoria Eisenstein, Linda Innemee, Stephanie Kraver and Katie O'Connor combined efforts to secure a second place finish with O'Connor splitting 2:24.9. Essex County showed off its sprinting depth in a series of blazing 4 x 100 meter performances followed by the shuttle hurdles event, in which the Lancers ran a season best time of 1:11.5 to finish in fourth place behind the strong efforts of Katie Fridel, Rebecca Litner, Larissa Mendes and Tiffany Lighty.

Back on the track after anchoring the 4 x 800 meter, Katie O'Connor led off the distance medley with a strong 1,200 meter split of 3:58.1 and handed the baton to Victoria Eisenstein, who split 65.9 on the 400 meter leg. Linda Innemee ran 2:30 on the 800 meter leg to give the baton to Monica Kinsella in the lead, and Kinsella split 5:35.9 over the final 1,600 meter to secure the victory for the Lancers.

Michelle Forrester led off the sprint medley, running a 200 meter leg, and handing the baton to Tiffany Lighty, who ran the second 200 meter leg. Katie Fridel split 63.0 seconds in her third race of the evening and handed the baton to Sara Lederman, who split 2:22.8 over the final 800 meters. The team time of 4:21.1 established a new Livingston High School record in the event and secured a second place finish in the event to Columbia High School.

Field Events

In the field events, the Lady Lancers recorded many strong performances and scored a second place finish in the pole vault behind Tiffany Lighty's 8'6" performance and Anne Joseph's 8'0" finish. Michelle Forrester and Rebecca Litner jumped a combined 9'3" to finish in second place in the high jump and set a new school record of 60' 2' in the triple jump relay. Forrester teamed up with Lighty in the long jump and finished in sixth place, leaping a combined 28'4".

Senior captain Randi Tepper led the way in the throws, launching the javelin 97' 6" and teaming up with Esther Lin, who continues to impress the coaches in her freshman year. Lin stepped up on the varsity level and threw a personal best 92'3". They finished with the Lancers' best relay mark of the year in the event by over 20'. Their total of 189'9" earned them a second place finish in the event.

In the discus, Anne Joseph threw a personal best of 99'9" and teamed up with Lin for a total distance of 164'4" and third place. Anne teamed up with Alicia Valdez in the shot put with a total of 57'5" to finish fifth.

The Lady Lancers competed at the Iron Hills Conference Championships on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 8 and 9; results were not available as the Tribune went to press.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN PROJECT 1200: Livingston High School REBEL (Reaching Everyone By Exposing Lies) students Michelle Koerwer and Marisa Denker meet with University High School student Tashiah Singleton at Project 1200 memorial on the Courthouse steps in Newark. REBEL is a statewide, youth-led, anti-tobacco movement, whose mission is to educate teens about the dangers of tobacco by exposing the tactics of the big tobacco companies. The students collected 1200 pairs of shoes and placed them on the steps to represent the number of Americans who die every day from tobacco-related illnesses. The shoes will be donated to the Salvation Army of Newark. Also participating in the project from Livingston were Kate Granata, Aki Patel, Ray Lee, Emma Fridel, Carena Pineda, Adam Pearson and Emily Blustein.

Film Discussion At Emanu-El

The film, Focus (2001), will be shown and discussed at Temple Emanu-El on May 20 at 5 p.m.

In the waning months of World War II, a man and his wife are mistakenly identified as Jews by their anti-Semitic Brooklyn neighbors. Suddenly the victims of religious and racial persecution, they find themselves aligned with a local Jewish immigrant in a struggle for dignity and survival.

Directed by Neal Slavin, the film will be shown at 5 p.m. Participants should take their own box dinners, which will be eaten before the discussion. Beverages and desserts will be served.

The film discussion, led by Rabbi Mark Kaiserman, will be held from 7:30 to 8:45 p.m. Everyone is welcome, but registration is requested. Call 973-992-5560. or visit www.emanuel. com and go to Adult Education page.

Livingston Symphony Orchestra Will Perform Beethoven's Ninth Symphony at Final Concert

The Livingston Symphony Orchestra (LSO) will conclude its 50th anniversary season on Saturday, May 19, with a performance of Symphony No. 9 in D Minor ("Choral") by Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827). The orchestra, under the direction of Istvan Jaray, will be joined in the final, choral movement of the Symphony by the New Jersey-based Coro Lirico concert opera chorus, under the direction of Jason Tramm. Performing vocal solos will be Catherine Harris, soprano; Jan Wilson, mezzo-soprano; and Joseph McKee, bass-baritone. In addition, the LSO will perform Symphony No. 94 in G Major ("Surprise") by Franz Josef Haydn (1732-1809). The grand finale event will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Livingston High School auditorium.

Although an ecstatic reaction greeted the premiere performance of the Ninth Symphony at the Kärntnertor Theater in Vienna on May 7, 1824, Beethoven – who had been attempting to conduct the orchestra – was initially unaware of the cheers and applause that erupted from the audience. Nor had he heard a single note of the work, now considered to be at the apex of Western symphonic music. His deafness, by that stage in his life, was complete. "It is a tragedy he never heard the Symphony himself," LSO music director Istvan Jaray said. "It is hard to imagine what incredible inner hearing he possessed."

Beethoven's devotion to the works and idealism of Friedrich Schiller (1759-1805) culminated in his use of the poet's "Ode to Joy" in the monumental final movement of the Ninth Symphony, in which words and music combine (in Schiller's words) "in a chorus of jubilation." The Symphony "is a work of great optimism that expresses a declaration of belief in peace and brotherly love among mankind," Jaray observed.

"Let us not forget that [the Ninth Symphony] is also incredibly revolutionary in every sense of the word," Jaray added, citing the association of the work with struggles for freedom and liberation, as well as the composer's "complete break with symphonic tradition, even in his very first symphony."

The second piece to be performed by the LSO on May 19 is the work of Franz Josef Haydn, commonly called "father of the symphony." Haydn's music, Jaray said, exhibits superb craftsmanship, from the playful musical joke – such as the one that conferred the name "Surprise" on Symphony No. 94 – to the most brilliant thematic variation.

It is sometimes asserted that the sudden, loud chord heard in a quiet section of the "Surprise" Symphony was meant to awaken dozing members of the audience. Haydn, however, gave the following account to his biographer: "...it was my wish to surprise the public with something new, and to make a debut in a brilliant manner, in order not to be outdone by my pupil Pleyel."

"The first Allegro of my Symphony was received with countless bravos," Haydn continued, "but the enthusiasm reached its highest point in the Andante with the kettledrum stroke."

At the time (1792), Haydn and Austrian-born composer Ignaz Pleyel were each presenting an entrepreneurial series of concerts in London. Happily, both enterprises met with success, and the composers remained friends.

The grand finale concert of the LSO will bring the orchestra's celebratory 50th anniversary season to a close. The Symphony came into being on June 2, 1956, as a pit orchestra for a local production of Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado. The LSO has enjoyed an outstanding reputation among community orchestras and, for more than 20 years, the dynamic leadership of a distinguished music director.

Born in Hungary, Istvan Jaray graduated from the Franz Liszt Academy in Budapest, where he studied under the direction of Zoltan Kodaly and Gyorgy Ligeti. After leaving Hungary in 1956, he enrolled in London's Royal College of Music to study conducting with Sir Adrian Boult. During his years in London, he also had an opportunity to work with Maestri Monteux, C. Davis, Guilini and Dorati.

Jaray has regularly appeared in the concert halls of Europe, Canada and the United States. He has guest conducted major orchestras in his homeland, including the Concert Orchestra of Budapest, the Savaria Symphony and the Debrecen Philharmonic. He has also guest conducted the Symphonies of Detroit, Milwaukee, Chicago, Baton Rouge and Binghamton, as well as the Brussels Radio Symphony, the Orchestra Sinfonica Di Sanremo in Italy, the North Bay and Victoria Symphonies in Canada, the Cukorova State Symphony in Turkey, the Pittsburgh Opera Theatre, Wisconsin Ballet and Milwaukee Ballet. He was guest conductor at the Zemplen Festival in Hungary in the summer of 2006. Jaray is also music director of the Johnstown (Pennsylvania) Symphony Orchestra and adjunct professor at the University of Pittsburgh, Johnstown.

Tickets for the LSO concert, with a discount for seniors and children, may be purchased at the door. Tickets may also be purchased in advance from Punam Bhargava at Prudential New Jersey Properties in Livingston, 973-992-6363 or Gail Lowenstein Realtors in Livingston, 973-994-4323. Concertgoers should take note that Saturday concerts, which previously started at 8 p.m., now begin at 7:30 p. m.

Those who would like further information about LSO concerts may call 973-635-8656.

Did You Know?

The Mothers' Day tradition that can be most closely associated with the holiday many countries celebrate today is the British celebration of Mothering Sunday, the fourth Sunday of Lent, when it is believed apprentices were released for the weekend by their masters so they could visit family.

History also suggests the celebration of Mothers' Day in the United States is the work of Anna Jarvis, the daughter of a West Virginia Sunday School teacher of the same name who fought for better working conditions for women during the Civil War. Six years after the younger Jarvis first celebrated Mothers' Day in Grafton, West Virginia, President Woodrow Wilson declared the first national Mothers' Day in 1914.

Charge Local Woman With Disorderly Conduct

According to the May 3 edition of The Beacon of Lambertville, a 21 year old Livingston woman was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct.

On Sunday, April 29, at 10 p.m., three 21-year-olds were charged with two counts of disorderly conduct for being on a private boat without permission.

Police reported that they had gotten a call about a suspicious male behind the Lambertville Station Inn. They found Jeremy Martino and Peter Steinouer, both of Columbus, and Yarden Cohen of Livingston, hiding on a parked boat, police said. Each of the three was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct for entering a vessel or boat while they were not privileged to do so, causing a public alarm for consuming alcohol on Lambertville Boat Association property, and destroying property, boat cushions, not belonging to them. All three were released on their own recognizance without bail.

Now Collecting School Supplies:

Methodist Church Outreach Mission Group to Travel to Bolivia in Summer

The Livingston United Methodist Church is sponsoring an outreach mission group, "Volunteers in Mission," which will travel to Bolivia this summer. The group will work with Habitat for Humanity Bolivia to build safe houses and schools.

Former Livingston resident Lynne Taylor will leave on June 25 and will help build houses for two weeks in rural villages. The area she will be working in has very poor living conditions, she noted. "Fifty-two per cent of the people live in houses made from materials such as mud, adobe, straw and palm thatch. During the daylight hours, triatomine bugs hide in crevices in the walls and roofs of these houses. At night, the insects emerge and bite the faces of the home's sleeping human inhabitants. Many of these insects carry parasites that cause Chaga's disease, a neurological illness which can cause death. The triatomine bugs, however, do not live in homes made from brick and cement."

The children in these rural villages, Taylor explained, also lack school supplies. The Volunteers in Mission team is currently collecting school supplies to take with them in their suitcases. The children need pencils, crayons, colored markers, rulers, protractors, erasers, pens, glue or glue sticks, tape, scissors, and pencil sharpeners. Team members, however, cannot accept paper or books, as these items are too heavy and bulky, nor can they accept staplers and staples, and items requiring refilling or batteries.

The team will also accept cash donations to purchase paper in Bolivia.

The deadline for all collections is Thursday, May 24. Baskets have been placed in the Narthex and the church office for collection of donated supplies. For further information, call Sue Taylor at 973-994-3210.

When Lynne Taylor returns from the Bolivia mission, she will discuss her experiences with the congregation and show photographs from the trip.

Be considerate of your neighbors: don't use power mowers or blowers before 8 a.m.

Improves Record With Four Wins

The Livingston High School varsity tennis team won four Iron Hills Conference matches to raise its record to 15 and 7 overall and 11 and 0 in the Conference. Livingston lost, 3-2, to Newark Academy in the quarter-finals of the Newark Academy Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Roxbury's talented freshman Mysyoka Mbithi dropped the first set to Adam Gelman, 6-7 (7-9 tie-breaker), before defeating Gelman, 6-2, 6-0. The Lancers swept the remaining matches against Roxbury in straight sets, with Brad Jeddis and Alan Flom in singles and Seth Goldstein, David Kigel, Greg Greenwald and Jason Segal in doubles. Livingston won the match, 4-1.

Next, Livingston defeated West Morris, 5-0. Gelman, Greenwald and Goldstein won straight set singles matches, while David Helderman, Jason Segal, Raymond Liu and Jonathan Sabal won in doubles.

The Lancers scored another solid 5-0 win against rival Columbia at the Cougar courts. Gelman, Jeddis and Greenwald won their matches in straight sets. Goldstein and Kigel fought off two set points and recorded a 7-6 (7-2), 6-4 first doubles win over David Kerner and Max Kramer. Helderman and Scott Lever won second doubles, 6-1, 6-2.

In the 5-0 win against Mount Olive, Gelman dropped the first set to Mount Olive's Eugene Chen, 5-7, before rallying to take the match, 6-1, 6-2, in three sets. Levshteyn and Jeddis won straight set singles matches, while Goldstein, Kigel, Greenwald and Segal earned straight set doubles wins.

Newark Academy Invitational

Newark Academy swept the singles matches at the Newark Academy Invitational Tournament, with Bobby MacTaggert, Zach Kwartler and Greg Holtzman defeating Livingston's Gelman, Eduard Levshteyn and Jeddis in straight sets. Goldstein and Kigel split sets with Andrew Huang and Grant Schalet, 4-6, 7-5, before Huang retired with a pulled muscle. Helderman and Lever won second doubles, 6-4, 6-3. Newark Academy lost to Moorestown, 3-2, in the semi-finals.

Jerry Winick works on one of his "pencilworks." His art will be on display at the Gallery at Town Hall through June 27.

Artist's "Pencilworks" on Display at Town Hall

The Arts Council of Livingston is presenting an exhibit entitled "Pencilworks," featuring the work of Jerry Winick, at the Gallery at Town Hall. Organizers of the exhibit have said that Winick is an artist who "uses a pencil as a painter uses a paintbrush," and "has taken the art of pencil drawing to new heights."

Winick spends many hours at the drawing board creating each of his pieces. Explains the Arts Council's Vivian Olshen, "It is not unusual for him to spend three months on a single drawing, constantly building and developing it to its conclusion. Winick's style of photorealism is so unique that most people, when viewing his work for the first time, find it difficult to imagine that these drawings are done with only a pencil. The sharp point that Winick uses is ideally suited for the exacting detail that he desires in his drawings."

The artist has been drawing for most of his life. Winick is self-taught and is a teacher of pencil drawing at Pencilworks Studio, which he owns, as well as other schools in the area. He has won more than 300 awards for his drawings, and his works may be found in numerous private collections as well as in museums in the New York metropolitan area.

The Winick collection is available as signed and numbered limited edition lithographs. Each reproduction is made under the artist's supervision.

The exhibit will be on display through June 27.

SCORE to Present Workshop June 2

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) will present a workshop entitled "Starting and Managing Your Own Business" on Saturday, June 2, in Livingston. The program will be held at Gibbs College, 630 West Mt. Pleasant Avenue, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The workshop will consist of five one-hour lectures, each given by an expert in his or her field, and will include a question and answer session at the end of each lecture. Topics will include "Characteristics of Successful Entrepreneurs and Successful Businesses;" "How to Write a Dynamite Business Plan;" "How to Obtain Financing for your Business;" "How to Market Your Products;" and "Record Keeping and Legal Aspects."

A fee will be charged, payable at the door, and will cover the cost of the workshop, a box lunch, and a copy of Score's 150-page book, Starting and Managing Your Own Business in New Jersey. A discount is available to those pre-paying by May 26; for fee information, call SCORE at 973-645-3982 or visit www.scoremetronj.org.

Kenneth Curtis Dies in California

Kenneth Frank Curtis, 52, of Coachella, California, died in Palm Springs, California on April 30. A memorial service was held at Fitz-Henry Funeral Home Palm Desert Chapel on Friday, May 4.

Mr. Curtis was born in New York and was a 1974 Livingston High School graduate. He was a construction superintendent for 30 years.

Surviving Mr. Curtis are a daughter, Britney Wise of Huntington Beach; a son, Tyler Curtis of Palm Desert; his father, Arthur Curtis of Georgia; a brother, Gary Curtis; and a sister, Susan Schall.

Fire Officials Seek Grant for Equipment

A grant which would provide 90% of the cost of new equipment is being sought by the Livingston Volunteer Fire Department. The Township Council on Monday evening approved a resolution authorizing the grant application for $159,000 from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and its United States Fire Administration.

The grant, which requires that the municipality provide ten per cent of the cost, will be used to purchase improved Self Contained Breathing Apparatus for the department. The new masks provide information about the tanks to the firefighters and have a quick release system which allows the firefighters to change tanks much more quickly. The funds would also be used to purchase and install generators at the Northfield and Circle Fire Stations.

Excerpts from the West Essex Tribune 40 Years Ago

May 11, 1967: Using the hyperbaric chamber at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Dr. Thomas Liddy was able to save the life of a 71 year old woman suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning.

As a civic project, seventh graders from Heritage Junior High School planted crown vetch, a landscaping ground cover, on a bare earthen bank on Foxcroft Drive across from their school.

Board of Eduation officials announced they "foresaw many problems" with a controversial bill approved by the state Senate requiring municipalities to provide public school bus service for private schools.

In other front page news, a "much postponed" public hearing on a proposal to extend East Cedar Street was again put off until a later date.

In his editorial, publisher and editor Bill Klaber discussed a proposal to extend the PATH train line out to Newark Airport. Under the heading "Make Up Your Minds, Boys!", Klaber noted, "twice during the past week, we've been informed that the idea we proposed for rapid transit to Newark Airport is not feasible." Among those opposing the idea was state transportation commissioner George Goldberg, who had stated that extending the line from its current terminus at the Market Street train station in Newark to the airport would cost some $60 million and therefore was not economically practical. Klaber questioned that cost estimate, and pondered "whether part of the Port Authority opposition is caused by the fact that they make a mint of money out of the parking facilities at the airport."

Dr. George V. Newman of Laurel Avenue was elected treasurer of the Essex County Dental Society.

Named to the Naval Academy 40 years ago this week was Kevin O'Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. O'Connor of 18 Garnet Terrace. Meanwhile, Army Private Ronald W. Longua, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Longua of 50 Melrose Place, was assigned to Company E, Eighth Battalion, Third Brigade, at Fort Knox to receive basic military training.

Kenneth Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hall Jr. of 18 Carlisle Drive, was selected to receive the 1966-67 B'nai B'rith Sportsmanship Award by B'nai B'rith Lodge 2143 of Livingston. He was being honored for his active paarticipation in fall and winter recreation athletic programs.

Projected enrollment for Livingston's public school kindergarten program was estimated to be 700 pupils, announced superintendent of schools Dr. Harold F. Hoffman. As of early May, 1967, there were already 575 children registered to attend kindergarten in the township.

Eight year old twins Tony and David Marks discovered "an exceedingly rare" piece of fossilized lava, in which were preserved the remains of ancient animal life. The boys found the fossil in a creek behind their home at 29 Orchard Lane. Geological authorities who examined it determined it to be some 500 million years old, and the animals in it to be Paleozoic Age brachiopods.

Varsity Baseball Team Heads to State Tourney

The Livingston High School varsity baseball team recently scored two wins over Hanover Park and Mount Olive, increasing its record to 12 wins and eight losses. The team has now qualified to compete in the state tournament to be held at the end of the month.

In the game against Mount Olive on Monday, May 7, senior Ray DeNick pitched well, picking up the victory with the help of David Spiro and Brian Asman, who supplied the offense. Spiro was four for five during the game, with two home runs. Asman added a home run later in the game. Sam Politan pitched one inning in relief, solidifying the victory. The Lancers won 16-8.

Previously, the Lancers defeated Hanover Park, the number six team in the state at the time, under the lights at Lurker Field. Gerard Conzentino pitched a gem, allowing four hits through six innings. Both Spiro and Asman added home runs in this game as well.

Due to problems with the lights, the game ended in the sixth inning, with Livingston winning, 8-1. Also playing well for the Lancers were Anthony Aiello, Ray Bell, Mike Cila, Kevin Duffy, Greg Frankel, Mike Genovese, TJ Griffin, Matt Norton, David Runfola, Jon Runfola, Zach Suchoff, Joe Sullivan and Matt Weber.

The varsity baseball team will play Millburn, Roxbury, Morris Knolls and Morristown in the coming week.

Arts Association Has Members' Show

The Livingston Arts Association will present its annual spring members' show at Crane's Mill Towne Square Gallery in West Caldwell. The exhibition will run through May 31 and can be seen daily from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The exhibition features the works of 40 artists in oils, acrylics, watercolor, mixed media, graphics and drawing.

The show was judged by Hall of Fame artist Joe Hing Lowe. Nine artists received awards: Merit awards went to Judith Leeds, Ellen Rosenthal, Greg Smith, Allen Taylor and John Wolff. Honorable mentions were received by Katherine Gray, Harriet Hiller, Inese Houlis and Susan Philips.

The exhibition is free and open to the public and many of the works are available for purchase.

Gary Schwartz, vice-chairman of the Livingston Environmental Commission, discusses the LEC Environmental Brochure contents with Livingston resident Buchi Ramagopal.

Environmental Commission Offers Tips on Gardening Without Pesticides

There's something about Livingston in April that has nature lovers poring over seed catalogs and lingering in the garden departments of local stores. The Livingston Environmental Commission has some suggestions for planning gardens and landscapes that are not only beautiful to look at but also beneficial to the environment.

Environmental Commission vice-chairman Gary Schwartz says "What we do in our own yards has an impact on the environment. It's possible to have both a green lawn and a safe environment." To help Livingston gardeners decrease their dependence on pesticides, the LEC has prepared a brochure on environmentally friendly gardening techniques, available at the LEC website, http://www.livingstonnj.org/envbrochure8-04.pdf.

Schwartz and the LEC caution against the use of pesticides, which kill insects that provide food for many birds. "Pesticides not only harm creatures that are beneficial to the beauty and health of the garden, but they also cause environmental damage to water supplies when rain washes the chemicals into streams and rivers," says Schwartz. "Pesticide exposure has also been associated with adverse impacts to human health."

"We can't underestimate the impact that our local and individual actions have on the environment," says Arlene Johnson, Town Council liaison to the Environmental Commission. "Ordinances and practices at the local level play an important role in creating a safer, cleaner environment."

In April 2000 the Livingston Town Council passed a resolution adopting an Integrated Pest Management (IPM) Program, to reduce reliance on pesticides in the Township's owned and maintained public properties and facilities. For a number of years the Board of Education's landscape contractor has utilized IPM techniques on the town's athletic fields.

The IPM Resolution encourages "all Livingston residents to make every effort to participate in this endeavor on their private properties." A list of New Jersey landscapers who have received formal training in IPM can be obtained by visiting the Livingston Environmental Commission's website, www.livingstonnj.org/lec.htm.

To control garden pests without pesticides, Schwartz recommends several approaches.

• When choosing garden plants, go with native species because they are suited to the local climate, need less watering and can better resist local pests without the use of pesticides. Some plants even help keep pests away. For example, dill, fennel and yarrow attract parasitic wasps that attack many garden pests. Sunflowers are a favorite of ambush bugs, which eat flower-loving insects.

• Make sure your plants get all the water, nutrients and space they need, so they can marshal their own defenses.

• Healthy soil produces healthy gardens. Composting enriches the soil and nourishes soil fauna that fight disease.

• Inspect often. Tackling pest problems early will give plants a better chance of survival.

"By making the right gardening choices," Schwartz advises, "you can create an inviting environment for birds and butterflies that add so much to the beauty and enjoyment of home gardens."

Many types of birds find both food and habitat in shrubs, trees, wildflowers and perennials, so selecting plants that produce flowers, fruit or seeds at different times will assure an endless banquet for birds throughout the year. For example, elderberry and blueberry plants produce berries in the spring, while sunflowers, Echinacea and black-eyed Susan yield seeds late in the summer. Leave the dried flower heads in place so birds can feast on the seeds as they ripen.

The environmental bonus is that many birds eat huge numbers of insects each day, which helps control the population of mosquitoes and other pesky insects, Schwartz explains.

Bees also have an important function, both in the garden and in the world's food supply. By helping to pollinate plants, bees are responsible for 15 to 30 percent of the food U.S. consumers eat, according to National Geographic News. To attract bees, plant colorful flowers in groups and cultivate sweet-smelling herbs such as basil among vegetable crops. Fennel in the garden provides nectar for the bees and also attracts beneficial insects.

Nothing spruces up a garden like butterflies, which also benefit the ecosystem by spreading pollen as they move from flower to flower. Butterflies like sunny locations and brilliant colors. When looking for a place to lay their eggs, they prefer plant species that their caterpillars will eat. Many native New Jersey plants and trees provide both food and habitat to butterflies, including flowering dogwood, wild black cherry, milkweed, hyssops, phlox, asters, viburnum and violets.

Livingston's all-volunteer Environmental Commission members dedicate their time and efforts to meet at least monthly. The Commission meets the first Thursday of the month at the Hillside Avenue community center. They have been working on environmental and energy conservation projects to help inform residents and advise municipal government on ways to conserve natural resources and protect the environment in the town.

PREPARING FOR THE POOL OPENING: Members of the First Occupational Center of New Jersey, under the supervision of Mary Ellen Outlaw, recently cleaned up around Haines Memorial Pool and Littel's Park in preparation for the opening of the pool next month.

Temple B'nai Abraham To Confirm Students

Temple B'nai Abraham of Livingston will hold Shavuot/Yizkor services and confirmation services on Wednesday, May 23, at 10 a.m. for students who have participate in the temple's high school/confirmation program.

The high school/confirmation program seeks to continue the formal education of young temple members beyond their attainment of their bar or bat mitzvah. It addresses contemporary issues affecting teenagers and encourages students to explore traditional Jewish subjects and participate in social service projects.

The services will be led by Rabbi Clifford Culwin, Cantor Lee Coopersmith, Claudia Greenman, director of the temple's high school.

Also to be confirmed are Sara Lederman, Justin Lipman, Tali Mahon, Jordan Mark, Jeff Neikre, Max Reich, Rachel Rosenberg, Jodi Scherr, Rachel Shulman, David Tencer, and Jason Udoff.

Water/Sewer Increase

West Lawn Road as well as $550,000 for upgrades to the sewer stations on Peach Tree Hill Road and Beaufort Avenue were also introduced on Monday evening.

The Council also introduced a $638,00 bond ordinance for the sewer utility system. These funds will be used for such items as electrical improvements, replacement of air blowers, return sludge and waste sludge flow meters and improvement of grit chamber ironwork and sludge pumps, and upgrades to the Peach Tree Hill and Beaufort Avenue sewer stations.

Other Bond Ordinances

The Council also approved the introduction of two other bond ordinances, one to reappropriate $410,193 from obligations not needed for their original purposes and the other to appropriate $5.9 million to finance the acquisition of a vehicle for the Building Department; various improvements for municipal buildings and grounds; a feasibility study for wireless network; a wetlands consultant study in connection with senior housing; improvements for the Engineering Department including but not limited to various milling and paving and road reconstruction projects; Chip Seal Section 5; storm drain improvements for the Congressional Parkway-Bryant Drive area; acquisitions and improvements for the Fire Department, including hose upgrades, compressor replacements, and rescue tool upgrades; acquisitions and improvements for the Police Department including a phone and phone recorder, portable two-way radios and towable light tower; acquisitions for Management Information Services, including computer hardware and software. For the Public Works Department, the acquisitions will include trucks, movable lifts, black top roller and trailer, curb replacement, replacement of a fence at the recycling center, repaving of the walking track on Robert Harp Drive, additional pavement at various areas, and an asphalt paver. Mayor Steve Santola explained that the asphalt paver would allow the Public Works Department to make repairs on the streets to stretch the municipality's road repaving dollars further.

The bonds will also fund the replacement of park benches and picnic tables at Memorial Park, replacement of bleachers at various locations, mowers, trailers for the Parks Department, as well as improvements at Littel's Pond and the American Little League building along with the Civic Center Master Plan and a loader plow.

A public hearing on the six proposed ordinances will be held on May 21 in a meeting to be held at Harrison School.

Mayor Santola noted, "The capital budget has a 'back to basics' focus, showing significant commitment to road improvements, park improvements, and hydrant maintenance."

Electronics Recycling

to human health and the environment if they are not properly managed. Reuse and recycling prevents these electronic items from reaching landfills. Additionally, discarded electronic equipment is a concern because electronics are made with valuable resources such as precious metals, engineered plastics, glass and other materials, all of which require energy to manufacture. When equipment is thrown away, these resources cannot be recovered and additional pollution will be generated to manufacture new products out of virgin materials."

Livingston mayor Steve Santola added that the recycling project will help taxpayers by reducing the tonnage that goes to the tipping station. The municipality is charged by the number of tons that is sent to the station and a reduction in the amount of garbage will result in lower fees.

For further information about the collection, call Town Hall at 973-992-5000.

Sylvester Walsh Dies In Livingston Home

Sylvester Walsh died Saturday, May 5, in his Livingston home. He was 77 years old.

A Memorial Mass will be offered Saturday, May 12, at 10 a.m. in St. Raphael's Church, 346 East Mt. Pleasant Avenue. Visitation will take place tomorrow, Friday, May 11, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Quinn Hopping Funeral Home of Livingston, 145 East Mt. Pleasant Avenue.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, Mr. Walsh came to America 52 years ago, settling in Livingston.

He was a sales director at Foster and Company, where he worked for 44 years. While there, he was a charter member of the President's Council and was also a member of the Million Dollar Sales Club for generating in excess of $1 million in gross sales.

He was charter member of the Order of the Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh, Essex Chapter, which he co-founded in 1972. Mr. Walsh was actively involved in Irish culture and heritage, including Project Children, and was a trustee of the Gaelic Hall of Fame.

He had served for five years in the Royal Air Force, stationed in Singapore and India. There he specialized in training military dogs.

Mr. Walsh is survived by three daughters, Linda Howard of Tacoma, Washington; Gail Eagan of Maplewood; and Erin Magro of Chester; a son, Kevin, of Long Valley; a brother, Walter, of Lake Hiawatha; two sisters, Carmel Walsh and Mai McMahon, of Dublin; and seven grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Saint Barnabas Hospice and Palliative Care Center, 95 Old Short Hills Road, West Orange, NJ 07052.

Approve Increase In Fees for Police

Several fees and charges for services provided by the Division of Police were increased by the Township Council on Monday evening.

The cost for providing a fingerprint card for non-criminal finger printing was raised from five dollars to ten dollars per card.

The Council also approved a fee of ten dollars per hour for the use of police cars for outside employment, such as traffic control in front of business establishments or construction.

School Board Adds Day for Seniors

A calendar amendment was made by the Board of Education on Monday evening, adding one day for seniors so that they will complete the required 180 days of school by graduation day.

The Board added Saturday, May 19, as an additional day of instruction for 12th graders. This will provide that June 21, (graduation day) will be the 180th day for seniors. Livingston High School principal Pam McGroarty added that the teachers are planning numerous activities to keep the seniors engaged.

In other business, the Board awarded a contract for partial window replacement at Collins, Harrison, Hillside, and the Mt. Pleasant complex to R.D. Architectural Products, Inc. of Fair Lawn as the lowest bidder for the project. R.D. was awarded the $209,800 contract for the project, with an additional window unit price of $2,430 and a deduct window unit price of $2,220.

The Board also approved a contract for Frontline Placement Technologies, Inc. to provide the AESOP for Education substitute caller system.

Former Resident Completes Triathlon

Tracie Rosenbaum, a 1999 graduate of Livingston High School, competed in the St. Anthony's Triathlon in St. Petersburg, Florida on April 29. More than 4,000 athletes competed in the race and, despite a foot injury, Rosenbaum placed 88th out of 208 in the women's Team in Training heat.

In addition to finishing the 1.5k swim, 40k bike ride, and 10k run, Rosenbaum raised nearly $5,000 dollars for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.

Temple Emanu-El Film Program Meets

The Adult Education Committee of Temple Emanu-El of West Essex is sponsoring a film series entitled Jews on Screen Today. The course is taught by Rabbi Mark Kaiserman. Once a month on Sunday evenings, a film portraying the contemporary Jewish community is shown and then discussed.

Focus, the last film in the series, will be shown on Sunday, May 20. Focus is based on a novel by Arthur Miller. In the movie, William H. Macy portrays a middle-aged man living in Brooklyn at the end of World War II. A new pair of glasses that make him "look Jewish" along with a series of coincidences and assumptions force him from his quiet existence into one surrounded by intolerance, prejudice, anti-Semitism and even violence. The film was directed by Neal Slavin and also stars Laura Dern and David Paymer.

The movie will be shown at 5 p.m. Participants are encouraged to take their own dinners to be eaten before the discussion. Desserts and beverages will be supplied by the Adult Education Committee. Rabbi Kaiserman will lead a discussion and analysis of the film from 7:30 to 8:45 p.m.

There is a nominal fee for the class to cover the cost of refreshments. Members of the community are welcome but advanced registration is requested. For more information or to register, write to adulted@emanuel.org, call the Temple office at 973-992-5560, or visit the website at www.emanuel.org.

Approve Contracts For Road Repairs

Two contracts for road repairs were approved by the Township Council on Monday evening. The Council awarded a $134,796 contract to Ischia Corporation for construction services relative to the water main replacement and roadway reconstruction of West Lawn Road.

Ischia was deemed the lowest responsive and responsible bidder from among the five bids received.

The Council also approved a contract for $19,900 with Suburban Consulting Engineers for the design of plans for the reconstruction of Baker Road. The project will include the reconstruction of the existing pavement, removal of concrete curbing and the installation of new granite block curbing as well as the installation of drainage facilities for minor storms.

County Clerk Visits Livingston

The Essex County clerk's office will visit Livingston twice as part of its monthly "Outreach" to local municipalities.

Staff members from the clerk's office will be at the Ruth Rockwood Memorial Library on Robert Harp Drive on Saturday, May 12, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. to process passport applications, veterans' and physicians' licenses, and notary public oaths. They will return on Monday, May 21, to the Livingston Township Hall from 2 to 8 p.m.

Residents are asked to arrive at least one-half hour before closing.

Those applying for passports must take along their birth certificates or naturalization papers, and identification such as a driver's license, governmental I.D. cards or previous U.S. passports less than 15 years old, or be accompanied by an identifying witness. Three forms of identification must be presented. Residents must also provide two, two inch by two inch passport photos.

The U.S. Department of State has mandated that all applicants, including minors, must appear in person to obtain a United States passport. Children 13 years old and younger must have both parents present to execute the passport application. Children ages 14 to 18 must have at least one parent present or present a valid permanent driver's license.

Due to a temporary suspension by the state of New Jersey, ABC identification cards will no longer be issued by the county clerk's office.

Sermon in Song At B'nai Jeshurun

"Jewish Composers and Their Influence on Broadway" will be presented as a Sermon in Song by Cantor Howard Stahl at Congregation B'nai Jeshurun on Friday, May 18, at 8 p.m. He will be joined by the B'nai Jeshurun Volunteer and Professional Choirs under the direction of Warren Brown.

Some of the most memorable music heard from the Broadway stage has come from the pens and genius of composers such as Leonard Bernstein, Stephen Schwartz, George Gershwin and Richard Rodgers. The program for this Sermon in Song includes music from Porgy and Bess, Fiddler on the Roof, and The Sound of Music.

For more information about Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, call executive director Alice Lutwak at 973-379-1555 or visit info@tbj.org.

Spencer, Evan and Rachel Klein are shown with their au pair, Janine Voegt of Rostock, Germany, in November 2006, the last time she visited.

Au Pair Says Livingston Family Gave Her "Time of Her Life"

"Being an au pair was a great opportunity for me and totally changed my life in a positive way," says 23 year old Janine Voegt of Rostock, Germany, who spent a year in Livingston during 2003-04 as an au pair, caring for Spencer, Evan and Rachel Klein of 9 Marberne Terrace.

Rachel Klein will become a Bat Mitzvah this week and the family's big event caused Voegt to reminisce about her experiences. She hoped that this voice from across the sea would be a surprise for the family.

"The first time I heard about the au pair program was when I was 14 years old," Voegt recalls. "My grandparents visited some friends in New York and they were looking for an au pair. Unfortunately, I was too young but I never forget about the program. After I finished school in 2003 I decided to take the chance to become an au pair in America. I'd never been in America before so when I first came to the States I didn't know what to expect at all."

Calling the Klein family "a really nice match," Voegt said, "I was really excited to finally meet them. Everyone made me feel welcome right away and I was happy to be with them. I found my way around in Livingston really fast even though I lost my way sometimes in the beginning."

"The first fun experience," she continues, "was on the first day when my host mom greeted the neighbor across the street. It sounds so normal but it felt like a scene from a typical American movie."

"I really enjoyed living in Livingston. I think it is an awesome place to live as an au pair. There are so many things you can do and a lot of things are within a short distance and, of course, I liked that it is so close to New York City!"

"I've found a lot of friends, " she continued. "I've met so many awesome people like neighbors or teachers at the kids' schools and I've also learned a lot about myself. I've also gotten the opportunity to travel around the states and I've visited places like Boston, San Diego, Philadelphia, Las Vegas and many other interesting places."

When asked what she didn't like about her experience, Voegt replied, "What I didn't like about my year as an au pair was that the time passed by so fast and on the day I had to leave I couldn't imagine living in Germany again. On the one side, I was happy to see my family and my friends in Germany; but, on the other side, I was really sad to leave the host family, who wasn't just a host family anymore, and my friends behind. They became my second family and Livingston became my second home and there's no day I'm not thinking about them."

"When I decided to become an au pair, I never imagined I would have such an awesome time and such a great host family that I will never forget. I'm so happy I've met them and that they gave me the opportunity to have the time of my life!"

Since returning to Germany, Voegt has joined a trainee program as a tour operator. "But as soon as I'm off from work," she says enthusiastically, "I'm back in Livingston!"

High School Honor Roll Is Announced

The Livingston High School honor roll for the third marking period was announced this week by principal Pam Clause McGroarty. The listing includes students who have qualified for the Honor Roll and for the High Honor Roll.

To qualify for either listing, a student must not have had an unsatisfactory mark in citizenship.

The criteria for the Honor Roll or High Honor Roll are determined by "traditional" grades earned in all courses, and the calculation of a non-weighted grade point average. Students are required to maintain a minimum of 3.2 GPA, with no grades lower than a C in order to achieve Honor Roll status. High Honor Roll requires a minimum of a 3.6 grade point average, with no grades lower than a B.

The following is the list of students as released by the high school administration:

HIGH HONOR ROLL

Federated Church Women Hold Meeting

The Women's Circle of the Federated Church of Livingston will meet on Tuesday, May 15, at 1 p.m. in the church lounge. Marion Litterst will lead devotions. Marie Gechtman and Barbara MacKenzie will serve as hostesses.

Livingston resident Debbie Dalton will be the guest speaker at the meeting. She will speak about a rare neuromuscular disease called Friedreich's Ataxia, which affects approximately one out of 50,000 people in the United States. There is no treatment for the disease at this time, but trials are expected to begin within the next 12 months for treatment and a possible cure.

Terry Friedman of Burgdorff Realtors: "Son's Suggestion Changed My Life"

Just about a year and a half ago, Terry Friedman's 16 year old son noticed that his dad had an interest in real estate. After playing many games of Yahoo chess in the summertime, and visiting open houses, his son asked him, "Why don't you just get a real estate license and forget about the chess!"

The next day, Terry enrolled in real estate school and found himself on staff with Gail Lowenstein Realtors by the end of July 2005.

"I am indebted to my son for life! What we learn from our children can sometimes be life altering, and this was the case with me," exclaims Friedman.

A self-employed accountant for almost 30 years, Terry says he is having the best time of his life combining his accounting career with a newly acquired real estate career.

As the numbers come relatively easy to Terry, he has an awareness of what people can and cannot afford. In addition, he is creative with his buyers and his sellers. Terry has been the glue that brought all his transactions to a close.

"As the accountant in me is as honest as the numbers, my peers find it amazing that I have closed on several deals in this short period of time and have a number of deals on the horizon for early summer," says Terry. "I attribute my success to my ability to listen to my clients and make conservative and honest judgment calls on their behalf. They appreciate my honesty and know that my interest lies in putting them in a better financial position."

Terry also says that helping people move on with their lives is exciting. In February 2007, Terry listed and sold a property in the same weekend. A bidding war ensued. Within a few days, the client was out of attorney review and realtors were amazed that they weren't able to show that property to their clients, as it was now under contract.

As for working at the newly formed Burgdorff ERA, Gail Lowenstein Division, Terry says, "it is an organization with many highly skilled agents and broker agents. This new family is fun to work with and we are astonished by how this merger has increased our sales."

"I am always available for your real estate 'adventure,'" says Friedman.

If you would like to know more about how Terry can help you, or how his newly combined office can help you in buying or selling real estate, call him anytime at 973-202-1866.

Joy Ming

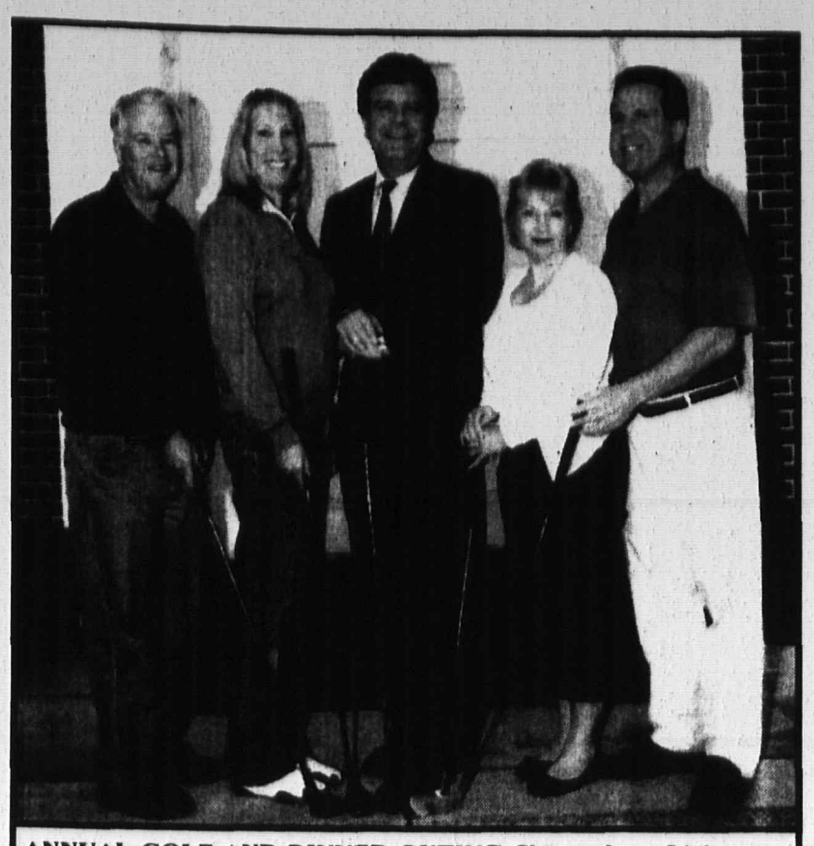

Ming Is Honored For Violin Performance

Joy Ming, 13, received the silver medal award for the violin category in the fifth Golden Key Musical Festival. The festival was sponsored by the American Concert Alliance in Princeton. Ming performed Concerto in C major, Op. 48 (I movement) by Dmitri Kabalevsky at the Perelman Theater in Kimmel Center of Philadelphia. She was accompanied on the piano by L. C. Xu.

Ming, an eighth grader at Heritage Middle School, is a member of the school orchestra and the String Ensemble. She has also been a student member of the Region I of the NJMEA of North Jersey School Music Association for two years (2005-2007) and a member of the New Jersey All State Intermediate Orchestra in 2006-2007.

Earns Faculty Honors

Nishi Ramolia of Livingston has received Faculty Honors at Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut, for the fall 2006 semester. To earn this honor, Ramolia achieved a semester grade point average of at least 3.67 with no individual letter grade less than a B-minus.

ANNUAL GOLF AND DINNER OUTING: Shown above, Livingston mayor Stephen Santola (center) joins the 2007 Township of Livingston Annual Golf and Dinner Outing Committee at Town Hall following the final preparation meeting for the upcoming event. Standing with mayor Santola are committee members Chuck Tahaney, Fern Epstein, Cathy Cris and Ken O'Neill. The outing will be held at the Cedar Hill Country Club on Monday, May 21, with a shotgun start at noon. The event, sponsored by HSBC Bank, is open to Livingston residents and their guests, and foursome slots are still available. Dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m., with a one hour open bar before the meal. For more information or to make a reservation, call Cathy Cris at 973-226-5000, extension 25. All payments must be received by May 14.

Bergen A's Defeat USOT Dodgers

In an early season contest between two undefeated teams, the Bergen A's topped the Livingston Dodgers, 2-1, in U.S. Over Thirty League baseball action.

The A's, last year's defending USOT champions, were down, 1-0, in the last of the eighth inning when they rallied for two runs to take a 2-1 lead and hold on for the win.

Gino Coltelli pitched the first five innings for Livingston and shut out Bergen. Mike DiBiassi came on the mound and, although he threw very well, was tagged with the late-game loss.

The Dodgers had scored in the top of the first inning when Jim Fredo singled and advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by Randy Dulny. Ken Gordon then singled to left to drive Fredo home. The Dodgers had the tying run on second base in the ninth inning, but were unable to capitalize.

Livingston had several chances to score but was not able to come up with the big clutch hit. The Dodgers managed just four his, with Fredo getting two and Gordon and Dave Zavracky accounting for one apiece.

The Dodgers will return home this Sunday to face Nutley at the Livingston High School field. Game time is 9 a.m.

Three Are Sentenced In Municipal Court

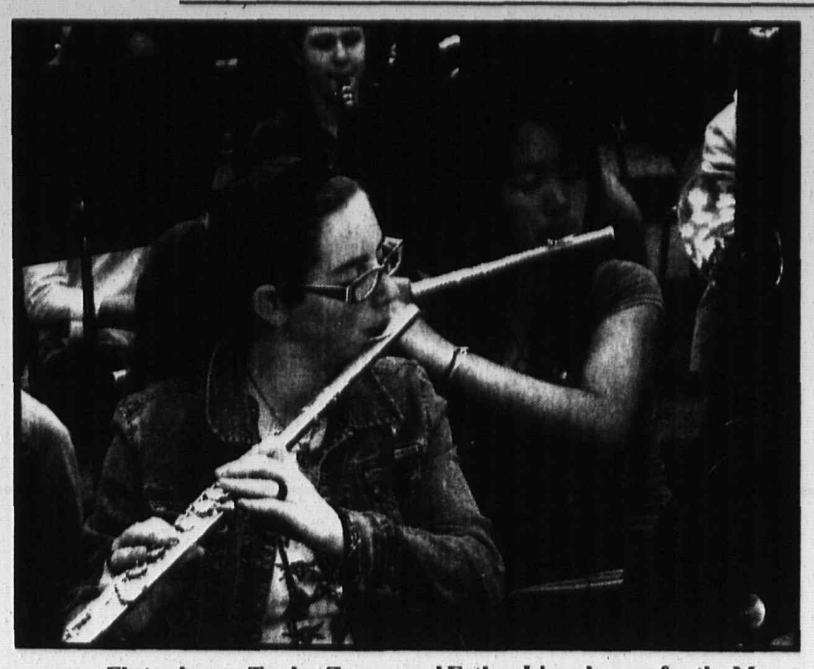

Three offenders were sentenced in Livingston Municipal Court this week for unrelated offenses.

A former employee of Sears at the Livingston Mall, Jason Bryan of East Orange, had been charged with making false returns to his employer in the amount of $1,860. The charge of theft by deception was downgraded by the Essex County prosecutor's office and Livingston Municipal Court Judge Robert Jones assessed him a fine of $1,000. Judge Jones also ordered Bryan to pay $75 to the state's Safe Neighborhoods Fund, $50 to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board (VCCB) and $33 for court costs.

Assessments of $75, $50 and $33 for Safe Neighborhoods, VCCB, and court costs, respectively, were also imposed on Cynthia Howard of Elizabeth, who was charged with disorderly conduct after exiting a bus on West Mt. Pleasant Avenue. Judge Jones also fined Howard $250 for the offense.

For soliciting without a permit, Li Zhou of Flushing, New York was fined $500 and court costs of $33.

LHS Band Concert Will Salute Veterans

The Livingston High School bands will present "A Salute to Our Veterans" on Wednesday, May 16. Vice principal Warren Curd, a retired Colonel in the Army and Army National Guard, along with community veteran groups will be honored. The program begins at 7:30 p.m. at Livingston High School.

Members of the Livingston Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Livingston American Legion will provide Honor Guards and present the colors for the national anthem. The VFW, American Legion and Jewish War Veterans have been invited to attend the concert and a pre-concert reception, which will be sponsored by the LHS Band Boosters.

Highlights of the evening will include: The LHS Symphonic Band playing Inchon by Robert W. Smith, based on the Korean War battle of the same name; and A Lincoln Portrait by Aaron Copland, featuring Dr. Brad Draeger, superintendent of schools, as narrator. This work will also have a visual media presentation prepared by students in Charles Downing's AP US History class.

The LHS Concert Band, composed of ninth graders, will perform Armed Forces On Parade and Colonel Bogey, which was made famous in the movie, The Bridge on the River Kwai. The award-winning LHS Wind Symphony will play selections from Victory at Sea.

The concert is open to the public and admission is free. For more information, call band director Mike Jedwabnik at 973-535-8000, extension 8059.

Mall Holds Annual Police Expo on May 12

Livingston Mall will sponsor its annual Essex County Police Expo on Saturday, May 12, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Located on the lower level of the mall, the expo will officially kick-off with the sounds of bagpiper Detective Joe Brennan from the New Jersey State Police as well as students from the Livingston High School Choral Group performing the National Anthem.

Demonstrations will introduce a variety of police equipment and different types of vehicles used by law enforcement officers, including patrol cars, motorcycles and trucks. The expo will also feature several safety programs such as D.A.R.E education, how to protect oneself while using the Internet and tips to prevent crime. Other highlights of the event will include a demonstration by the New Jersey State Police Cadets, a display provided by Saint Barnabas Burn Unit and entertainment by Good Timez.

In addition, parents may have their children fingerprinted as well as photographed for identification purposes as part of the Kid Care Child ID Program, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Livingston. Each child can receive a Kid Cone from Baskin Robbins or a pretzel from Pretzel Time. Newark Bears mascot Rip-n-Ruppert and New Jersey Jackals mascot Jack the Jackal will make appearances as well as Magic Frank. Youngsters will receive a free Essex County Police Expo bracelet.

"The Essex County Police Expo gives the public a chance to learn how our local law enforcement agencies operate on a day-to-day basis in order to effectively ensure the safety of their communities," said Livingston Mall director of mall marketing Rosemary Reeves.

For more information about the annual Essex County Police Expo, call the mall shopping line at 973-994-9390 or visit www.simon.com.

Urges Purchase Of Forever Stamp

Livingston Postmaster Edwin B. Turner recommends avoiding the May 14 postage rate change rush at the Livingston Post Office by purchasing the newly issued Forever Stamps now.

The Postmaster explains that the Postal Services' newest consumer innovation, the Forever Stamp, went on sale April 12, a month before the postage rates rise, to make it easier for customers to make the transition to the new rates. Featuring the Liberty Bell image and the word "forever," the stamp will initially cost 41 cents and will be good for mailing one-ounce First-Class letters anytime in the future, regardless of price changes.

The Postmaster explained that research has shown that customers prefer the Forever Stamp for the convenience it offers. The stamp eases the transition for mailing letters when prices change by reducing the need to purchase one- or two-cent stamps.

Forever Stamps, the Postmaster continued, are also available in booklets of 20 through www.usps.com or by calling 1-800-STAMP-24. Starting May 14, the Forever Stamps will also be available at Automated Teller Machines in sheets of 18. Once prices change on May 14, the Forever Stamp will remain on sale at the 41 cent First Class one-ounce letter price until the next price change.

The Postmaster concluded, "the Liberty Bell was selected to appear on the forever Stamp because it resonates as one of our nation's most prominent and recognizable symbols associated with American independence."

Lacrosse Teams Lose Two, Win Two

The Livingston Lacrosse Club's teams scored two wins and suffered two losses this past weekend. The third and fourth grade girls' team was defeated, while the third and fourth grade boys scored two wins. The seventh grade boys' team suffered a loss to Caldwell.

Livingston's third and fourth grade girls were host to Glen Ridge on Saturday. The visiting team won 8-6. The Lancer attack was led by Kathrina DeMaio and Alyssa Heller, who each scored two goals, while Sam Caruso and Kaitlin Homberg contributed one goal apiece. Sophia Fabian demonstrated great heads-up play, with one interception. Taylor Richards hustled her way to five ground balls.

The third and fourth grade boys' team netted two victories this week. On Friday, the Lancers defeated Morristown, 5-3. Lucas Poznak, Cameron Gillman and Alex Sugerman played tough and contributed to the win. Zach Marini and Andrew Katzeff anchored the midfield.

Tommy Heller was awarded the MVP ball. Jeremy Knopf was awarded the "Hustle Ball" for his hard work on defense with Greg Glassman and Jonny Schreiber.

On Saturday, the team played an away game and defeated Long Hill, 5–2. Max Scher, Dustin Cece and Scott Rosenberg played solidly in their positions at attack. Jacob Haaker was awarded the MVP Ball for hustling all over the field with his line mates, Skyler Granatir and Jason Rossell.

The seventh grade boys' team played Caldwell at home on Sunday. Livingston took an early 1-0 lead on an unassisted goal by Abe Choe. Caldwell later tied the game, eventually taking the lead and defeating the Lancers, 4-1. Choe also scooped up nine of Livingston's 20 ground balls, followed by Jeremy Gardner, Alex Kalmus and Kevin Pfeffer, each with two scoops. Matt Damgen, Jesse Kugler, Jesse Lederman, Ryan Saccoman and Matt Steinberg had one ground ball apiece. Livingston had four shots on goal: two by Kugler, one by Choe and one by Andrew Myers.

Bert Siegel, 76, Succumbs at Home

Bert Siegel died at the age of 76 on Monday, April 30, in his West Orange home. Funeral services were held on May 3 in the Bernheim-Apter-Kreitzman Suburban Funeral Chapel of Livingston.

Born in the Bronx, Mr. Siegel lived in Ridgefield Park and Livingston before moving to West Orange in 1994. He was the founder of the Camp Spot in Livingston, a supplier of camp uniforms, 38 years ago. He was also the owner of several children's clothing stores in the suburban area.

A U.S. Army veteran, he attended Pratt Institute and was graduated from the School of Music and Arts in New York City.

Surviving Mr. Siegel are his wife, Sue; his children, Scott, Michael, Debbie Cohen, Marc and Glenn Schwartz; a sister, Roz Schlessinger; and ten grandchildren.

The Tribune welcomes your family's news. Send it to Box 65, Livingston, for publication.

ORDINANCE NO. 12-2007

ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LIVINGSTON AMENDING AND SUPPLEMENTING CHAPTER 251, SEWERS, OF THE CODE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LIVINGSTON BY ADDING A NEW ARTICLE V, "SEWER UTILITY"

WHEREAS, the Township of Livingston is the owner of the public sanitary sewers and drains, sewage treatment plant and sewage work within the Township; and

WHEREAS, the Township has entire control and management over all sewers, drains and sewer works within the Township, together with all powers conferred upon the governing body in accordance with the law; and

WHEREAS, the present method by which the Township generates revenues for the operation, maintenance and improvement of sanitary sewer system and sewer works is user, connection and permit fees which are deposited into the Township's operating budget; and

WHEREAS, the Township Council has determined that it is desirable to remove the present and future costs of operating, maintaining and improving the sanitary sewer system and sewer works from the Township's operating budget but instead to operate such system in a nature of a utility and that to thereby allocate the user fees, connector fees and permit fees as well as the associated expenses for the sewer system operation directly to the sewer utility.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED, by the Township Council of the Township of Livingston, in the County of Essex, State of New Jersey, as follows:

Italicized bold language is added

ARTICLE V SEWER UTILITY

Section 1.

1. A sewer utility is hereby established which will encompass the operation, maintenance and improvement of the sanitary sewer system and sewer works located in the Township of Livingston.

2. Generation of revenue. All revenue existing of user fee, connection fees and permit fees shall be deposited in the sewer utility.

3. Expenditures. All expenses for the operation, maintenance and improvement of the sanitary sewer system and sewer works shall be allocated directly to the sewer utility.

Section 2. Except as hereby amended, the Code of the Township of Livingston shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 3. This Ordinance shall take effect upon final passage and upon twenty days after publication in accordance with the law.

Three Wins for Freshmen Baseball Team

The Livingston High School freshman baseball team dropped a 5-3 loss to Hanover Park on Tuesday, May 1, but followed it up with three consecutive victories last week.

In the game against Hanover Park, pitchers John Beaubien and Max Burack combined for five hits. Offensively, Livingston managed five hits, while striking out ten times.

On Friday, May 4, Livingston collected ten hits, including seven extra base hits against East Orange. Starting pitcher Justin Estevez pitched the first one and one-third innings with relief from Burack. Shortstop Scott Duchene went two for five with two extra base hits. First baseman Jordan Haberman hit a home run and outfielder Beaubien banged out two round-trippers. Livingston won the game, 26-7.

The next morning, the Lancers defeated Morris Knolls, 10-8. Offensively, Livingston had nine hits, two each by Duchene and Ryan Allan. Catcher Frank Schwindel and Beaubien each added a double. Jimmy Napolitano and Haberman hit triples. The Lancers rallied early to take the lead and again later to break an 8-8 tie score. Starting pitcher Napolitano received effective relief help from Andrew Goldberg, who pitched the final three innings.

Finally, on Monday, May 7, Livingston scored ten runs in the first inning and eventually defeated Mount Olive, 13-0, avenging a loss earlier in the season. Haberman pitched an outstanding five inning game, allowing just two hits while striking out five and issuing just one walk. The Livingston defense supported Haberman's effort on the mound. Numerous Lancers had multiple hit games in an 11-hit offensive attack. Doubles by Duchene, Schwindel, Napolitano and Beaubien, a triple by Beaubien and a home run by Napolitano helped to seal the victory.

Local NCJW Holds Savvy Solos Program

The Savvy Solos group of the National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW), Essex County Section, in Livingston, will sponsor a lecture on Thursday, May 10. The program, entitled "How to Lose Your Sugar Blues," will be led by Uri Feiner, AADP, a holistic health counselor and director of Thriving Health. He will discuss how nutritional guidance and coaching can help individuals eliminate food cravings, balance their weight, and maximize their energy.

The lecture will take place at the Millburn Library, 200 Glen Avenue, Millburn, and is open to the public free of charge. Those interested in attending may call the NCJW office at 973-740-0588.

The NCJW Savvy Solos is a group of more than 100 active single women in their 40s, 50s, and 60s.

Grandparenting Is Topic Of B'nai Abraham Class

The Adult Learning Program of Temple B'nai Abraham will present "The Joys of Grandparenting" led by Sheila Grossman, founding director of the temple's Early School. The class, originally scheduled in April, has been rescheduled for Fridays, May 11 and 18, at noon in the temple.

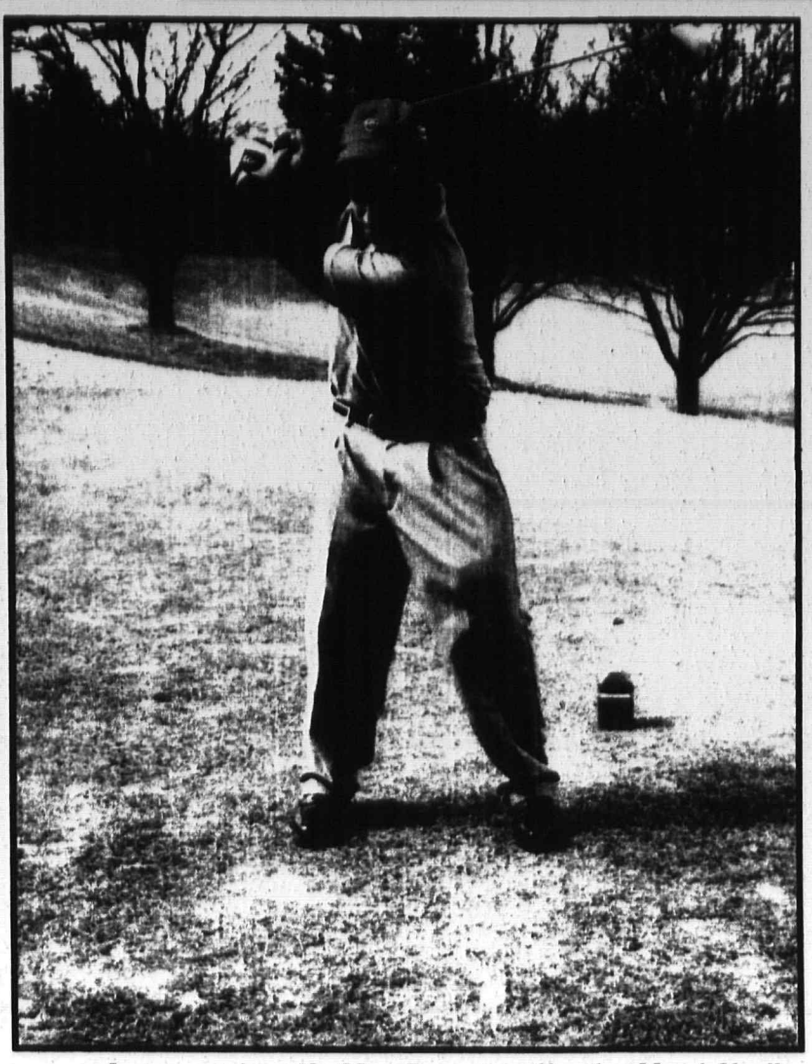

Members of the class will discuss the sometimes complicated moments that make up grandparenthood. Participants will learn when to speak and when to hold their tongues; how best to guide their children through the maze of information and choices; and how to build on that unique relationship between grandparent and grandchild in a way that brings joy.

The class is free and open to the public. Reservations are requested and can be made by calling 973-994-2290.

American Legion to Meet

The American Legion Post 201 of Livingston will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, May 15, at the Hillside Avenue community center.

Refreshments will be served, and all veterans are invited to attend. For more information, call service officer Richard Logan at 973-992-5663; Bill Brady at 973-740-1571; or the post at 973-863-2361.

Golf Team Defeats Morris Knolls; Finishes Eighth in County Tournament

The Livingston High School varsity golf team defeated Morris Knolls in recent action and finished eighth in a field of 19 teams in last week's Essex County Athletic Directors' Association (ECADA) Tournament.

The tournament was held at Francis Byrne Golf Course in West Orange. The Lancers' low score of 86 was turned in by Josh Macin, followed by 88s by Marc Russo and Zach Goldberg. Mike Rotem and Alex Lachman rounded out the score with 89 each.

On Thursday, May 3, the Lancers traveled to Brooklake Country Club where, thanks to Mike Rotem's 43 and Robert Jackson's 45, they were able to out-shoot Morris Knolls by 12 strokes. Unfortunately, Hanover Park Regional High School had a great round and defeated the Lancers by 14.

The Lancers' record now stands at six wins and five losses, and the team did not qualify for the state tournament.

Graveside Services For Mrs. Havriluk

Mrs. Mary Louise Havriluk, known as "Dolly" for much of her life, died on April 30, at the age of 87. Graveside services were held on Wednesday, May 9, at Gate of Heaven Cemetery in East Hanover.

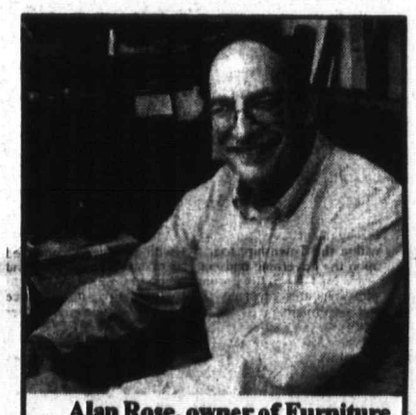

She was born in Orange, and spent most of her life in Livingston and Sussex, before moving to Duluth, Georgia in 1995.

She is survived by her only son, John T. Havriluk, Jr., and two grandchildren.

Beth Shalom to Hold Religious School Graduation

Temple Beth Shalom in Livingston will hold graduation exercises on Friday, May 11, for students who have completed the five year course of study at its Religious School. The commencement will take place during Friday evening services at 7:30 p.m.

The valedictorian of the class is Zachary Jaffe, who will also receive the Florence Leff Memorial Endowment Fund Award for excellence in Hebrew studies.

Other Florence Leff Award winners include Devin Grossman, who will receive the award for excellence in Israel studies; Zachary Lustbader, for excellence in Bible studies; and Shannon Stocks, for excellence in Holocaust studies.

Members of the class also include Janie Attermann, Sami Attermann, Bari Blanga, Daniel Chasin, Darren Cohen, Joshua Fleishman, Jared Gelman, Shira Gelman, Seth Goldberg, Andrew Hauptman, Max Hertzan, and Joshua Hubert.

Graduating as well will be Allison Izsack, Sam Katz, Alexa Leen, Jacqueline Miller, Elliot Naphtali, Sam Popkin, Reid Singer, Robert Sokolov, Andrew Sussman, and Michael Villone.

The awards will be presented by temple president Michael Silverman. Rabbi Geoffrey A. Spector will address the students with a D'var Torah. Diplomas will be handed out by Stanley Goodman, chairman of the temple's Board of Education, and Leah Beker, director of education.

The faculty of the graduating class, headed by Beker, includes Sandy Chimoff, Miki Fine, Sara Manor-Cohen, Michael Newman, and Rabbi Adam Rosenbaum.

Art Centre Offers Life Model Sessions

The Art Centre of New Jersey is offering local artists the opportunity to paint from a live model at its studio in room 501 at Riker Hill Art Park in Livingston. The sessions are held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays.

Beginning June 8, for the months of June and July, a live model will be available on Friday mornings from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Easels are provided and a per session fee will be charged, with a discounted rate for Art Centre of New Jersey members.

The Spring Members' Exhibition will be on display at Overlook Hospital in Summit beginning Sunday, May 13. In addition, an open house showcasing the work of many resident artists will be held at the Riker Hill Art Park the weekend of June 2 and 3.

For more information about the Art Centre, visit the studio during sessions or call 973-227-3488.

Image Consultant Talks About Corporate Apparel

A fashion show will be held at which an image consultant will discuss the latest in corporate apparel and explain how to accessorize for a variety of work scenarios. Snelling Staffing Services of Summit and Lord & Taylor of Livingston are presenting this fashion show event on Thursday, May 17, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

This free and informative experience, "Don't Be the Ugly Betty in Your Office," will be held at Lord & Taylor in the Livingston Mall.

This first time alliance between Snelling Staffing Services of Summit and Lord & Taylor will leave participants with many new wardrobe ideas and tips to build confidence for any corporate endeavor or situation. Free give aways and drawings for gift certificates will be held. Refreshments will be available.

Marilyn Wickstrom Richards, executive vice president, Snelling Staffing Service of Summit, resides with her family in Livingston.

Seating is limited. Send an e-mail to Angeline Li at ali@snellingsummit.com or call 908-273-6500 for reservations.

Boys' Volleyball Team Wins Two, Loses One

The Livingston High School boys' volleyball team finished last week with win over eighth-ranked Bridgewater-Raritan and West Essex, and a loss to seventh-ranked Fair Lawn. The Lancers' strong performance against the two state-ranked teams enabled them to move up to tenth in the rankings themselves.

The Lancer senior tri-captains, Brandt Grobeis, Alex Milov and Vincent Chang, have helped to keep the team on a winning track. Many of the Lancers have compiled some very impressive statistics to date.

Grobeis leads the team in service aces, with 27. He also has 98 kills and 195 assists. Milov has 41 blocks, 93 kills and a 95 per cent serving performance. Chang has set for 121 assists and an 89 per cent serving average.

Juniors Ben White and Tim Kim have established themselves as a threat on both offense and defense. White has 55 kills and 32 blocks to his credit, while Kim has 56 kills and 115 digs. Middles Dave Emmert and Tom Xu have 13 kills each, and Emmert has 33 blocks. Junior defensive specialist Kenny Shen has a 93 per cent serving average and 129 digs. Juniors Andrew Li and Alex Wen have 22 and 17 kills, respectively.

The Lancers have a busy week ahead, with four consecutive games scheduled against Wayne Hills, Roselle Catholic and Garfield plus the county quarter-finals at home against West Essex on Friday.

County competition begins Saturday, May 19, with the semi-finals at host Bloomfield High School, with games at noon and 2 p.m. The finals will also be held at Bloomfield, on Monday, May 21, at 7 p.m. The state tournament will begin Thursday, May 24, and will continue through June 8, with the state finals to take place in South Brunswick.

Camera Club Concludes Season

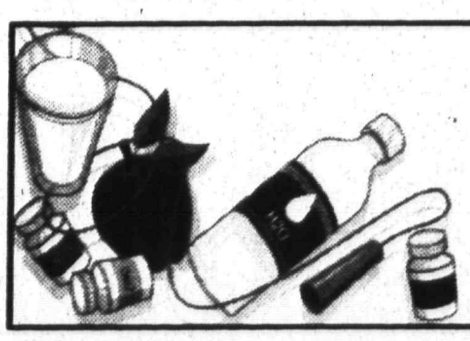

The last meeting of the season for the Livingston Camera Club will be held on Monday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. Meetings will resume again in September.

This meeting will be a "Members' Critique." Each member will be able to enter a maximum of four images distributed in any way in the three categories of color and monochrome prints and digital slides. It is preferred that these images not be from this season's competition. As each photo is displayed, some members will be called upon to comment. The moderator will vary the selection of people making comments to include as many as possible but will limit the comment for each image by time or number.

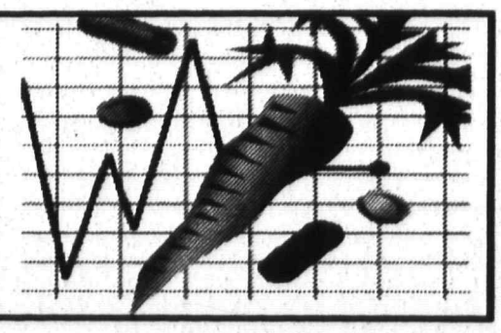

The club started this kind of critique three years ago to allow members to get experience judging. This format is a change from last year's in an attempt to involve more members.

All meetings are held at the Hillside Avenue community center at 204 Hillside Avenue. Guests are always welcome. For further information, call 973-625-4820.

The Tribune's deadline is Tuesday at noon for Thursday's edition.

Health & Fitness

The West Essex YMCA in Livingston - So Much More Than Just a Fitness Center!

The West Essex YMCA has a long standing reputation for providing quality fitness and aquatic programs to residents of the community. Yet, many people are unaware that they offer numerous programs that extend far beyond the realm of any ordinary fitness center. As a branch of the Metropolitan YMCA of the Oranges, the West Essex YMCA is dedicated to their mission to enrich the lives of the children, families and communities they serve, through programs that build spirit, mind and body. As a result they offer numerous programs to people of all ages that make a positive impression on all aspects of their daily life.

Helen Flores, executive director of the West Essex YMCA, said, "The idea that the West Essex YMCA is simply a fitness center or a gym, overlooks a number of our other programs that benefit the community."

In addition to its fitness and sports programs, the West Essex YMCA also provides:

- Summer day camps to children in preschool through eighth grade.
- Childcare for nearly 100 children ages six weeks to five years at their NAEYC accredited Peanut Shell Child Care Center.
- Before and after school care to over 600 children in Livingston, Caldwell, West Caldwell, Roseland and West Orange.
- Swim classes for children with special needs from St. Barnabas and Overlook Pediatrics.
- Teen Clubs which are free to residents of the community between the ages of 11 and 15.
- Recreation programs every week for members of ARC, (The Association for Retarded Citizens), so they can get the benefit of exercise in a fun and structured environment.
- In house fitness classes twice a week at two senior residential centers.
- Financial assistance to deserving families so that no one is ever turned away from one of their programs because they could not afford to participate.

Given the impact these programs have on the community, it's hard to see how the West Essex YMCA could be viewed as just another place to work out or play basketball. For more information about the West Essex YMCA or its programs, call 973-992-7500 or visit www.westessexymca.org.

Spotlight on Elder Care: A Medicaid Near Miss

By Yale S. Hauptman, Esq.

A recent case our office handled highlights how last year's Medicaid changes will hurt many Americans and the health care industry alike.

Our client (we'll call her Mary) was 85 years old. Jane, her granddaughter, had been caring for her for several years. As Mary's health deteriorated Jane's full time job became caring for Mary. Eventually, however, a nursing facility became necessary. Mary had no money so Jane needed to apply for Medicaid and that's when the problems began.

The Medicaid caseworker asked about Mary's finances. Jane explained that in 2004 Mary sold her house for $125,000 and moved Mary to an apartment. Jane quit her job to look after Mary and had power of attorney for Mary. Their finances were commingled, however, and Jane, not understanding the Medicaid rules, did not keep records of how money was spent. Mary's assets and income supported both of them. Mary also gave Jane gifts of several thousand dollars at a time on several occasions, out of love and appreciation.

The Medicaid caseworker incorrectly told Jane that Mary was not eligible for Medicaid, that all the money from the home sale would be treated as a gift subject to a Medicaid penalty. She also suggested that Jane might be responsible for "taking" Mary's money. Jane was panic stricken. She didn't know enough to assert her rights and give Medicaid the proper information.

Mary and Jane had one thing going for them, timing. Because the home sale and spend down occurred before February 8, 2006, all penalties started running when the transfers were made and had expired when we applied for Medicaid. Had those transfers occurred under the new law, no Medicaid would have been available for 12 months, leaving Jane no way to pay the nursing home's bill.

Luckily Jane came to us, we filed the application and the State properly granted Medicaid. The next case with these set of facts will likely fall under the new rules and not end as favorably. So what can you do? Consult an elder law attorney and understand the rules well before Medicaid is even a consideration. You can take the steps to avoid the same mess or fix the mistakes. If you wait until it's time to file for Medicaid it could very well be too late.

CEDAR STREET RESIDENT CELEBRATES 98TH YEAR: Helen Wrubel, a resident of Cedar Street Commons in Livingston, celebrated her 98th birthday with family, friends and neighbors on Tuesday, May 1. Every year since her 90th birthday, Wrubel has provided a hot buffet, with all the trimmings, at Cedar Street in honor of her big day. This year, more than 100 guests attended the birthday bash. At 98, Wrubel uses the treadmill at least three times a week and never misses an exercise class or a day trip at the Cedar Street facilities, where she also serves as head of the Bingo program. Wrubel still drives and has just renewed her license for another four years. Shown above at the milestone birthday celebration are Estelle Beron, Clara Santoro, Helen Wrubel, Henrietta Amico, Angie Pappalardo and Florence Hornung.

Grandparents and Teens Keep the Communication Lines Open: Tips from the LMAC Parent Corner

The teenage years can be challenging ones for teens, parents, and grandparents alike. Yet these years also offer opportunities for an enriched relationship with grandchildren who are more mature and who are able to enjoy conversations and activities they weren't ready for before. Teens are figuring out who they are and who they want to be. They are beginning to examine their connections to their family and heritage. They may act tough and disinterested, but they still long for love and approval. They need your support as much as when they were younger.

What you should know about keeping the communication lines open:

Grandparents often play a special role in grandchildren's lives. If you remain an open, non-judgmental listener and supporter, grandchildren may feel comfortable confiding in you – sometimes more comfortable than in talking with their parents.

These tips may help:

Start the conversations with teens yourself because the teens may not start them. However, don't pressure them; they will talk when they are ready. Give them an opening and provide a safe environment.

Time your talks when there are few distractions.

Keep your reactions in check when your grandchildren do talk with you. Be non-judgmental and offer unconditional love.

Keep their confidences. Unless your grandchildren are involved in behavior that is dangerous, don't talk to others about conversations you have together.

Avoid comparing what life was like in the past with what's happening now, especially if you're feeling critical. You can always offer information – "We didn't have computers when I was your age" – or comment on the differences in a humorous way.

Don't feel bad if they act distant at times; it's part of adolescence.

Don't tease teens. Child psychologists agree that teasing can be a form of abuse. Your grandchildren could react negatively – most often in an angry way. Take notice of these changes, but find positive ways of doing so. Remember how you felt as a teen when someone embarrassed you.

Respect them and they will respect you.

Listen to Children — Savvy Seniors

Rich Kuperman, LCSW, Listen To Children Coordinator, can be reached at 973-467-3000. ext. 275

Grandparent Influence

Grandparents influence their grandchildren both directly and indirectly. Direct influences come from face-to-face interaction, and indirect influences are realized through a third party. Consider the phrase, "It's important to be there for your grandchildren." Being there is a concept that can mean physically being present (direct) or emotionally being present (indirect).

When you make phone calls, attend concerts together or take them places, you are directly influencing your grandchildren. When your grandchildren have been confronted with a situation and think about you, knowing you will be available to support them and that you're on their side, you are indirectly influencing them by emotionally being there. You are a role model to your grandchildren.

Several writers have emphasized that grandparents are very important to grandchildren. They are described as "significant others who have a great deal to do with one's view of life." The intergenerational contact reflects a high value for family connection. Grandchildren exposed to such contact are less fearful of old age and the elderly. They feel more connected to their families.

Listen To Children is a prevention program with an intergenerational approach. To learn more about the program, contact Rich Kuperman, program coodinator. 973-467-3300, ext. 275.

Listen to Children is sponsored by Jewish Family Service of MetroWest, with generous funding from Livingston Municipal Alliance Committee (LMAC), Livingston Parent Teacher Council, Livingston Board of Education, United Way of North Essex and CIT Group, Inc.

Spanish Pavillion
Fine Food and Friendly Service since 1976

Located just 15 minutes from Livingston, Spanish Pavillion was opened more than 30 years ago by Antonio and Estrella Martinez. The couple dreamed of creating an establishment that would offer excellent Spanish cuisine at a reasonable price, and provide warm, friendly and efficient service.

"My grandparents made you feel when entering their restaurant, like you were being entertained in their home. You may have entered as a customer, but you left as a friend," says Michael Fernandez, who along with his brother, Jerry, carry on the family-owned Spanish Pavillion tradition into the third generation.

The restaurant offers a full line of authentic Spanish dishes, including the area's best Shrimp and Garlic, Paella Marinara, Chicken in Garlic Sauce, and lobster fresh from the tank. Its signature dish, Jumbo Shrimp in Wine Sauce served atop a bed of Spanish rice and topped with Spanish Pavillion's famous sauce, is not to be missed!

Spanish Pavillion's monthly special for February is the Lobster Festival, offered on Thursdays and Fridays. Reservations are suggested, but not necessary.

Wine Dinners are held four to five times a year, featuring a gourmet meal, with each course complemented by fine wines from around the world. The next Wine Dinner will take place on Thursday, March 1, at 7 p.m. and will feature whites and reds from Bodega Marqués de Riscal. Rueda, Tempranillo, Reserva and Gran Reserva will be served during the dinner courses and Baron de Chirel and Cardenal Mendoza will be available for the after-dinner tasting.

Offering pre-theater specials, Spanish Pavillion is the perfect place to dine before heading to a show at the New Jersey Performing Arts Center (NJPAC). Why battle the traffic of downtown Newark when Spanish Pavillion, with ample off-street parking, is just around the corner?

The restaurant's party room is an appropriate setting for office parties, meetings or special family occasions. Off-premise catering is also available, to add Spanish Pavillion's extraordinary cuisine to celebrations at other locations.

Spanish Pavillion is located at 31 Harrison Avenue in Harrison, right off exit 16 on Route 280. The restaurant is open seven days a week, from 11:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., and on Friday and Saturday until 11 p.m. For more information, call 973-485-7750, or visit its web site at www.spanishpavillion.com.

Mental Health Week Observed by Schools

Only 20% of children and adolescents living with a mental illness are identified, leaving the other 80% behind, said Livingston school guidance director Julia Mazzarella. That is why the Livingston Public Schools guidance department has joined with the National Columbia University TeenScreen Program in supporting National Children's Mental Health Awareness Week, May 6 -12.

"We would like to take this opportunity to highlight the TeenScreen program that Livingston High School offers to help find teenagers who are at-risk for suicide and mental illness, including depression, and catch them before they fall," said Mazzarella.

Student assistance counselor Harry Dietrich brought the TeenScreen idea to Livingston and developed the procedures with the other SACs and child study teams. "We have offered it for two years. This year, approximately 400 students were screened," said Mazzarella. "In fact, TeenScreen is recognizing Livingston High School for screening the greatest number of students in any high school in New Jersey, which indicates positive parent support for mental health issues. Although the number of positive results were low, this instrument provides an important means of identifying students to enable us to begin to provide assistance."

The Columbia University TeenScreen Program is a national mental health and suicide risk screening program for young people. "Catching mental illness early and before it impedes academic progress, and social and family relationships helps to eliminate stigma and is vital to the future of our community's young people," Mazzarella said.

"We would like parents to be aware of the value of this instrument to help recognize undetected depression or other problems," she added. Parents and community members can learn more about TeenScreen by visiting www.teenscreen.org.

Livingston LWV Holds Annual Dinner Meeting

The Livingston League of Women Voters (LWV) will hold its annual dinner meeting on Wednesday evening, May 16, at 7 p.m. in the home of Gloria Friedman, 23 Brandywyne Drive, Florham Park.

The agenda will include approval of the 2007-08 budget and a report on the League of Women Voters State Convention by Susan Cai, who represented the Livingston League.

Joy Ming, a Livingston High School student, created the League's first website and has maintained it for the past three years. She will receive the Silver Award from the Girl Scouts on May 21 for this achievement.

Rather than a fee for attending the dinner, participants must take a main course, salad or dessert. The event is open to the public. For reservations and directions, call Gloria Friedman at 973-845-9313 or Judith Friedman at 973-994-1935.

Funeral Services For Beverly Guldner

Beverly Jean Guldner, 77, of Livingston died on Thursday, May 3. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church of Livingston on Monday, May 7.

Born in Bayonne, Mrs. Guldner was raised in Rutherford and was graduated from the Packard School in New York City. She was employed by Ryan Beck & Co. in Livingston as an executive assistant after working for Underwriters Laboratories in New York City and Foster Wheeler Energy Corp. in Livingston.

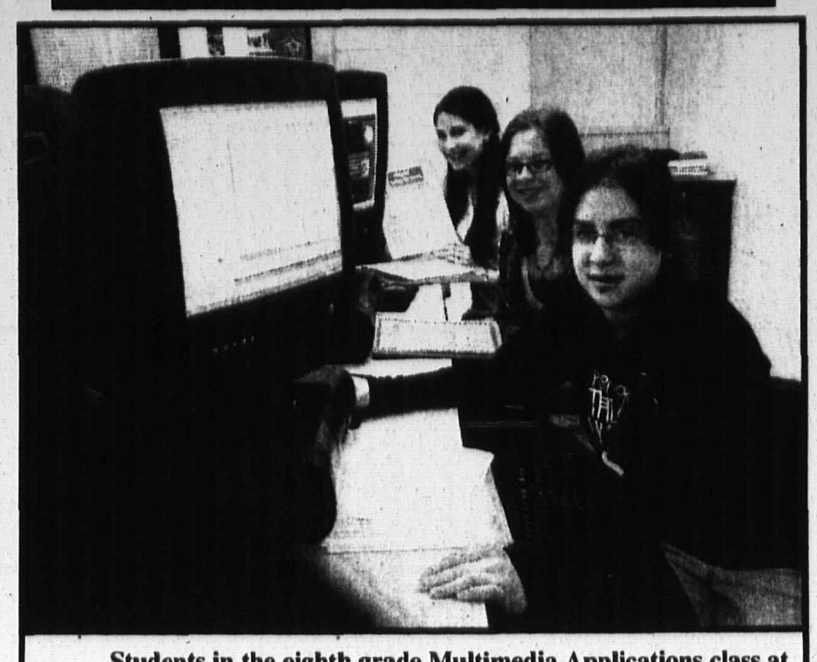

Active in the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Guldner was a church deacon, past moderator of the Livingston Presbyterian Women, and a Sunday school teacher. In addition, she was a member of the Order of the Evergreen Girl Scouts, Livingston Oak Leaf Club, and AARP as well as a volunteer with Meals on Wheels.

Mrs. Guldner was an instructor and volunteer for Saint Barnabas Medical Center's Osteoporosis Exercises and in the Escort Department. She was also a volunteer at the Hillside Food Bank and Memorial West Soup Kitchen, as well as with the Listen to the Children program at the Livingston Community Center.

Surviving Mrs. Guldner are her husband, Donald; four sons, Donald Jr., of Rutherford, Kenneth of Long Valley, Robert of Houston, Texas, and William of California; two daughters, Dianne Grenz of Livingston, and Deborah Pavlo of Sterling; a sister, Harriet Regan; and 16 grandchildren. The family has requested that memorial donations be made to the Livingston Presbyterian Church Memorial Fund or the American Cancer Society.

The Tribune has been reporting the news of Livingston since 1929.

Heritage Middle School News

Students in the eighth grade Multimedia Applications class at Heritage Middle School performed a Webquest about Internet safety and created a newsletter about the dangers, with suggested safety rules and guidelines, for other students. Earlier in the year, a Heritage Guidance Symposium had focused the entire school on awareness of the impact of technology in students' lives, including Internet safety, cyber-bullying, plagiarism, hacking, fraud and other issues. Shown, Amber Tuttman, Samantha Vaccaro and Cat Wetreich are researching the Internet Safety information and composing an article for their newsletters.

Sleepytime Tales At Rockwood Library

The Rockwood Library will hold Sleepytime Tales for children ages three to five years old on Monday evening, May 14. Children six to eight years of age may attend a Sleepytime Tales on Tuesday evening, May 15. Both sessions begin at 7 p.m.

Children are invited to take their teddy bears and blankets, wear their pajamas and fuzzy slippers, and sit back, relax, and listen to some entertaining stories at the end of the day at the Livingston Public Library.

Visit the library at 10 Robert H. Harp Drive or call 973-992-4600 to register for this program.

JFS Offers Workshop

"Helping Your Child Manage Transitions" is the title of a free workshop being offered by Jewish Family Service of MetroWest on Wednesday, May 16, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the JFS Livingston office, 570 West Mt. Pleasant Avenue, Suite 203.

Tamar Stern, LCSW, coordinator, JFS Children and Adolescent Mental Health Initiative, will lead the third workshop in a three part series on parenting.

The program is co-sponsored by the Livingston Municipal Alliance Committee, the Livingston Parent-Teacher Council, the Livingston Board of Education and the HCHY Advisory Committee.

Women's Club to Hold Rose Garden Ceremony

The Women's Club of Livingston will hold its annual Memorial Rose Garden ceremony on Wednesday, May 16, at 10:30 a.m. at the Livingston Township Hall.

The Club's Sunshine chairwoman, Rita Levey, will direct the ceremony, which is held annually to honor the memory of Women's Club members who have died during the previous year.

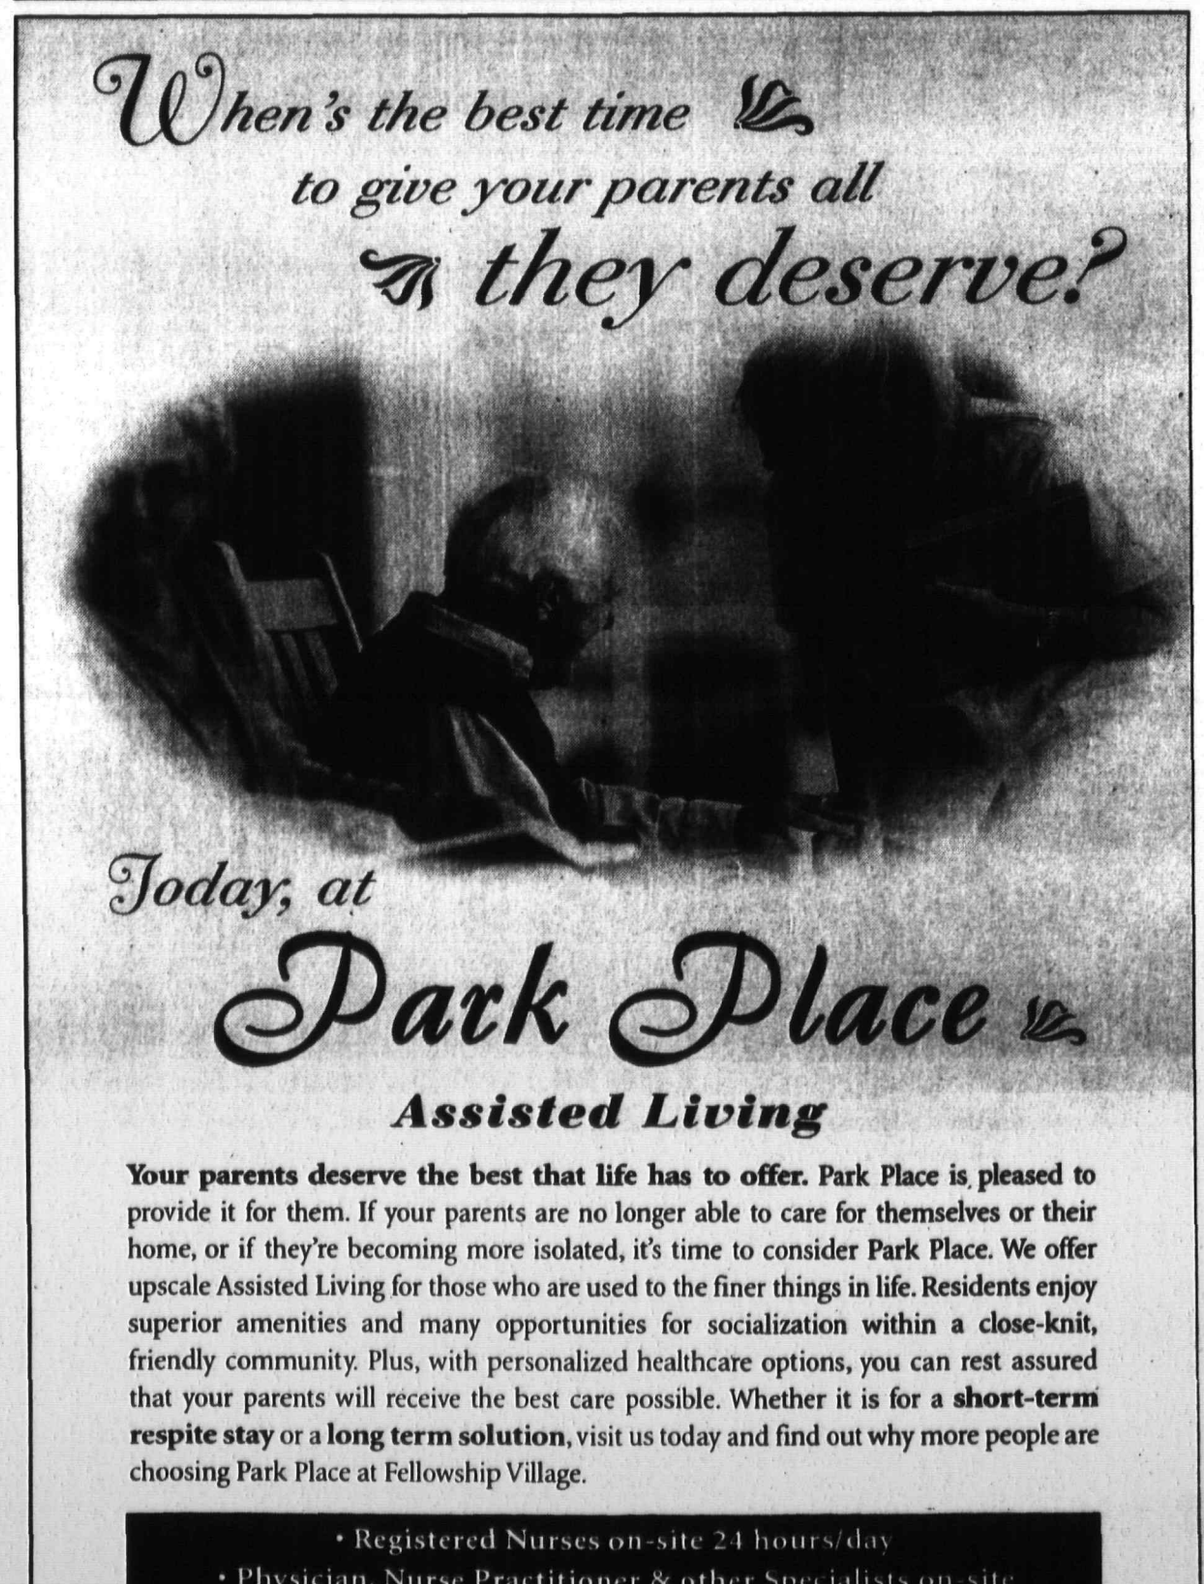

Coffee and Danish pastries will be served in town hall at 10:30 a.m., prior to the ceremony. Recently deceased members Natalie Leiter, Roselle Sari and Florence Tomshaw will then be eulogized by currently members in the Council Chambers.

Following the eulogies, rose bushes will be planted outdoors in memory of each deceased member.

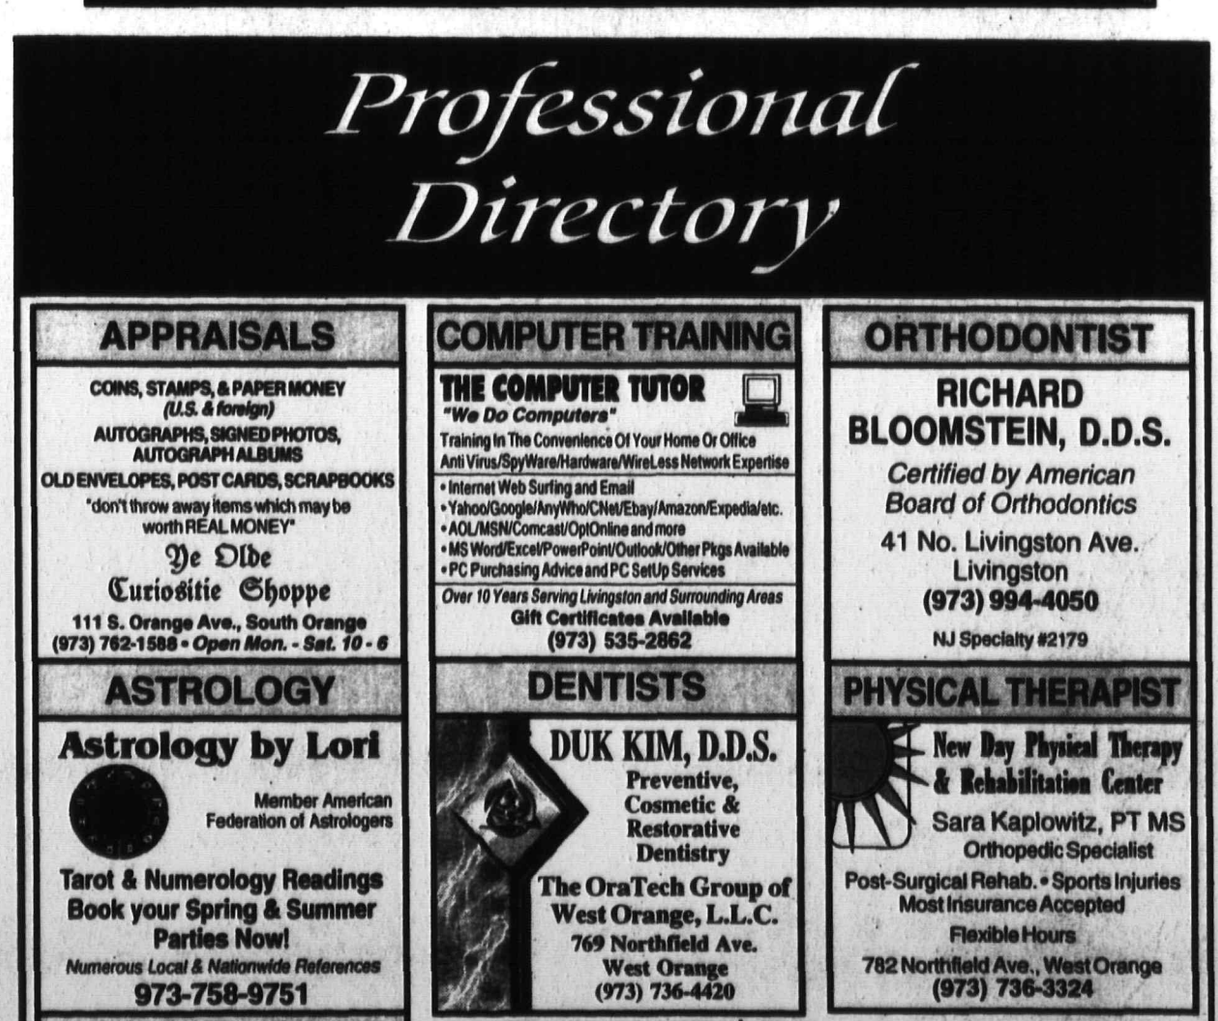

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Women's Club will hold its annual luncheon at the Rock Spring Country Club in West Orange.

Cars for sale are not permitted to be displayed on residents' lawns.

Thomas J. Freda Exchanges Wedding Vows With Pamela Heintz in Holland, Virginia

Pamela Heintz and Thomas J. Freda exchanged wedding vows on Saturday, April 21, at the Holland House in Holland, Virginia. The bridegroom is the son of Rosemary and Thomas Freda of Livingston. Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Chesapeake, Virginia are the bride's parents.

Pastor Russell Leonard officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride, presented in marriage by her son, Taylor Heintz, wore an ivory cap sleeved, v-neck gown and carried a bouquet of lilies. A reception at the Holland House immediately followed the ceremony.

Diane Manning of Virginia served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included the bride's daughters, April and Kelsey Heintz of Franklin, Virginia and Kelly Johnson, niece of the bride, also of Virginia. Serving as junior bridesmaids were the bridegroom's nieces, Juliana and Marisa Marino of New Providence and twin sisters Sarah and Caitlin Ludwig of Tabernacle. Brooke Johnson of Virginia, the bride's great-niece, served as flower girl.

Serving as best man was former Livingston resident Richard Graulich of Virginia. Groomsmen included Victor Posey of Sulfolk, Virginia and the bridegroom's nephews, Pietro Marino of New Providence and Austin Ludwig of Tabernacle. The ringbearer was Thomas Marino of New Providence, also a nephew of the bridegroom.

The new Mrs. Freda is an administrative assistant at Sulfolk Memorial Hospital in Sulfolk, Virginia.

Mr. Freda, a former member of the Livingston Fire Department, has been a firefighter in Norfolk, Virginia for seven years.

The couple resides in Franklin, Virginia.

Linda Roman Dies At Sloan-Kettering

Funeral services for Linda A. Roman were held on Friday, May 4, at the Bernheim-Apter-Kreitzman Suburban Funeral Chapel in Livingston.

Mrs. Roman, who died May 2 at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, was born in Newark and lived in Livingston before moving to West Caldwell 30 years ago.

A 1963 graduate of Upsala College with a BA degree, she earned a master's degree from Kean College in 1989. Mrs. Roman retired seven years ago from the Elizabeth Board of Education after working as a school teacher at the Lafayette School for 15 years. Before that, she had been a teacher at the Hebrew Academy in West Caldwell. She was also a volunteer with First Connections in Mountainside.

Surviving Mrs. Roman are her husband of 42 years, Stephen; two daughters, Amy Denenberg and Jennifer Roman; a sister, Wendy Fishman; and two granddaughters.

Aquinas Team Splits Two Games

The Aquinas Academy Knights baseball team of Livingston split its last two games, losing to Far Brook School but defeating St. Vincent's School.

The Knights lost to Far Brook School, 7-4, on Tuesday, May 1, in Short Hills. Aquinas had taken a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning, on a single by Christopher Bargoud, a double by Emil Olson, and scores on a key hit by Victor Andreou. Darnell Davis pitched five strong innings in relief.

Emil Olson pitched a complete game shut-out, striking out seven in the Knights' 8-0 win over St. Vincent's at home on Friday, May 4. Joe Van Loon keyed the offense when he singled to center to ignite the rally, which broke open a very tight 1-0 game.

The Knights also received key hits from Alex Bahia and Victor Andreou. The shut-out was aided by solid defensive play from John Schmidt, Danny Whipp, and Danny Polizzano.

J.V. Baseball Team Scores Two Wins

The Livingston High School junior varsity baseball team scored two wins this week in its games against Randolph and Hanover Park.

The team's week started with a victory over Randolph by a score of 6-5. Matt Larangera and A.J. Schottenfeld each went two for three to lead the Lancers at the plate. Pitchers Joe Grande and Andrew Webster combined for ten strike-outs. Also playing well in the victory were Greg Romagnoli, Anthony Barresi and Matt Dsurney.

The Lancers next faced Hanover Park. Pat Catalano made Hanover Park earn every run, pitching six strong innings. With big plays in the field and timely hitting, the Lancers won by a score of 7-6. With the score tied at 2-2, Livingston scored five runs. Grande, Schottenfeld, Brent Gerst, Romagnoli, Webster and Barresi all contributed to the scoring. Ryan Goldfarb iced the victory by striking out two Hanover Park batters in the seventh inning.

Boys' Track Team Places Seventh in County Relays

Livingston High School's boys' track and field team earned a seventh place overall finish at the recent Essex County Relays. Twenty-eight Essex county high schools were represented at the meet, which was held at Millburn High School.

Highlights for the Lancers included first' place finishes by the pole vault relay and the 4 x 800 meter relay teams. In the pole vault, Dan Melamed cleared 12'6" and Dan Ipp cleared 12'0" to win the championship for the third consecutive year. The 4 x 800 meter relay team also defended its championship title from 2006, winning the race with a time of 8:16.0. Bobby Feigenberg, Billy Litner, and Dan Queiruga kept the team out with the lead pack through the first three legs and Matt Karlin put together a 1:57.2 anchor 800 meter leg to pull away from county rivals East Orange and Columbia.

The Lancers had success in the other distance relays as well. The 4 x 1,600 meter relay team finished in fifth place with Jacob Schneider (4:40), Jeremy Garber (4:54), Brian Seltzer (5:06), and Alex Lee (5:01) all recording personal best mile times in the race. Schneider returned to the track with Litner, Feigenberg, and Karlin to run the distance medley. A strong lead-off 1,200 meter leg by Schneider put the team well ahead of the majority of the field and enabled the team to finish in second place, behind a strong Millburn squad.

The Lancers also scored in both hurdle events. In the 400 meter intermediate hurdle relay, Rob Narciso, James Sullivan, and Michael Leiwant all had strong races to finish fifth with a season best time of 3:06.2. All three then joined with Dan Verduga to run the shuttle hurdles relay, in which the team also recorded a season best time of 1:06.7 and earned a third place finish.

Verduga and Narciso picked up more team points when they combined to finish sixth in the long jump competition. Verduga leaped to a mark of 19'2.5" and Narciso recorded a mark of 18'4.5".

The team's next meet on the schedule was the Iron Hills Conference Championship on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 8 and 9 at Morris Hills High School in Rockaway. Results were not available at press time.

Magic Johnson, Dennis Rodman and Smokin' Joe Frazier took the stage to sing "Mustang Sally" at the wedding of Darren Prince and Symone Maree on April 28.

Darren Prince and Symone Maree Exchange Vows at Pleasantdale Chateau

Darren Prince and Symone Maree exchanged wedding vows on Saturday, April 28, at 7 p.m. at the Pleasantdale Chateau in West Orange. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Peter Kasdan.

The bridegroom is the son of Andrea and Martin Prince of Livingston. A graduate of Livingston High School Class of 1998, he now resides in West Orange and is president/CEO of Prince Marketing Group. His firm represents athletes and celebrities, including Earvin "Magic" Johnson, Dennis Rodman, Smokin' Joe Frazier and Hulk Hogan, who all attended the wedding.

The best man was Jonathan Erde of Livingston while the matrons of honor were Leslie Underhill and the bride's sister, Lisa Baker-Clark.

Dennis Rodman and Joe Frazier were groomsmen, who walked the bridegroom's sister, Stacey Prince, down the aisle before the ceremony.

Symone Maree, an actress/model from Los Angeles, was raised in Brisbane, Australia and was graduated from Brisbane High School in 1995. Her mother, Alice Fay Cadby, still resides in Brisbane.

The bride wore a Kenneth Poole original gown. The "Boogie Nights" were flown in from Los Angeles to perform at the wedding.

The couple will reside in West Orange.

Temple B'nai Abraham in Livingston will hold a Tot Shabbat service and dinner on Friday, May 18, beginning at 6:15 p.m. The service will be tailored toward very young children and their families, and will be followed by a Tot Shabbat dinner.

Children celebrating birthdays in April and May will receive small gifts.

All are welcome to attend. There will be a charge for the dinner, and registration is requested by calling 973-994-7016.

Chamber to Hold Networking Event

Michael Ipp of Smith Barney in Roseland will sponsor the Livingston Area Chamber of Commerce monthly networking breakfast taking place today, Thursday, May 10. These breakfasts are held the second Tuesday of each month at Cedar Hill Golf and Country Club in Livingston beginning at 8 a.m. They are held throughout the year with the exception of the month of February.

Ipp began his career as a financial advisor in 1985 at Thomson McKinnon and is now vice president of wealth management at Smith Barney. He offers asset management services and is life and health insurance licensed. A Livingston resident, he is an active member of Temple Emanu-El in Livingston and a member of the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.

Admission to the breakfast will be charged, with a discount for Chamber of Commerce members. For more information, call 973-992-4343.

Freshmen Girls' Lacrosse Team Drops Two

The Livingston High School freshman girls' lacrosse team dropped two games, losing to Morristown, 12-2, last week, and to Summit, 13-4, on Monday, May 7.

The freshman Lancers played their best game of the season against Summit, noted coach Jodi Mensch, with a halftime score of 4-2 in favor of Summit. Starting in goal for the Lancers was Sarah Maltz, who had five saves on nine shots. She was replaced in the second half by Liz Goldfeld, who added four saves. The offense was on fire, making 12 shots on Summit's goal before the half. Lexi Tedesco scored first, followed by a goal from Lydia Kwok to end the half.

"The Lancers not only out-shot their opponent in the first half, but gained possession of every missed shot behind their goal due to their outstanding hustle," commented coach Mensch. The Lancer defense was strong as well, warding off numerous offensive attempts and holding Summit to just nine shots in the half.

Summit dominated the second half offensively, scoring 14 for the game. The Lancers, however, hung in there to put two more on the score board for Livingston. Second half goals came from Sally Wong and Sarah Kesselbrenner. The Lancers continued their shooting flurry and kept gaining possession, but unfortunately could not put the ball past the outstanding Summit goalie.

20 Saves Against Morristown

In a tough game against Morristown last week, goalies Sarah Maltz and Sarah Kesselbrenner teamed up for a total of 20 saves. The Lancers lost the hard-fought contest but scored twice. One goal came in the first half from Lydia Kwok, while Kesselbrenner provided the second in the second half.

The rest of the offense had numerous shots, but the Morristown goalie turned away seven of them. Center Lexi Tedesco controlled the center draw, but was unable to capitalize for a goal. She did, however, convert numerous midfield passes which produced the most offensive attack the Lancers have had all season. The offense includes Gabby Auerbach, Jamie Dinar, Ali Goldberg, Jordan Laske, Sara Wasilak, Liz Goldfeld, and Maltz and Kesselbrenner in between their goal-tending duties.

The entire defense, including Stephanie Chen, Sharon Chiang, Angela Huang, Lydia Kwok, Kathryn Gallardo, and Sally Wong, held Morristown to two goals during the second half for a final score of 12-2 for the Colonials. "Kat Gallardo had an outstanding game with her lightning speed," said Mensch. "She was able to gain possession of the ball numerous times through her hustle and heart."

The Lancers played their last game of the season yesterday, Wednesday, against Mendham; result were not available as the Tribune went to press.

Sunday Swim Program Offered for Disabled

The Livingston Department of Recreation and Parks will offer a recreational swim program at Northland Pool for people with mental or physical disabilities. The program will be available on Sunday mornings, 11 a.m. to noon, from June 24 through August 12. The pool is closed to the public during these swimming sessions and lifeguards will be present.

Pool membership or Livingston residence is not required, however, participants in the program must register to join. Forms are available at the Department of Recreation and Parks at 204 Hillside Avenue or can be mailed upon request. Enrollment forms must be submitted prior to June 16. For further information, call the Recreation Department at 973-535-7925.

The Northland Pool facility is completely accessible to the disabled. A pool lift is available to lower and raise disabled swimmers in and out of the water. There are ramps as well as accessible bathrooms, changing rooms, telephones and a water fountain.

Force Homestead To Open May 13

The Force Homestead Museum, located at 366 South Livingston Avenue, will be open to the public on Sunday, May 13, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Built in 1745 by the Force family, early settlers in Livingston, the original home consisted of one large room and a loft area. The house was expanded in 1800.

The home, which contains a fireplace in nearly every room, is furnished with period pieces and articles donated by Livingston residents, including grandfather clocks and spinning wheels.

The Force Homestead is open to the public on the second Sunday of each months for tours conducted by members of the Livingston Historical Society. In addition, private tours may be arranged by calling Helen Shumsky of the Historical Society at 973-992-3017.

Applicant further seeks bulk variances to allow fewer parking spaces than required for the ±5,200 square foot surgical office center, fewer shade trees than required, and off-street parking within the minimum front yard setback area. Applicant also seeks any additional exceptions, waivers, variances, interpretations, and other approvals reflected on the filed plans (as same may be further amended or revised from time to time without further notice) and as may be determined to be necessary during the review and processing of the Application.

When this case is called, interested parties may appear, either in person or by attorney, and present any objections which they may have regarding this Application. The hearing may be continued without further notice on such additional or other dates as the Board may determine. The Application and supporting materials (including maps and plans) will be available for public inspection, at least ten (10) days prior to the hearing, at the Board offices, located in the Township of Livingston Municipal Building, 357 South Livingston Avenue, Livingston, New Jersey, during regular business hours.

School Board Approves Many Personnel Changes

May is traditionally the time of year when many personnel changes are announced. All of the resignations and retirements are as of June 30, unless noted.

Retirements were accepted from Fern Morozowski, speech language specialist at Burnet Hill School, and Audrey Elovitz, world language teacher at Livingston High School.

The Board accepted resignations from three teachers: Christine Meyer, science teacher at Mt. Pleasant Middle School; Giulia Melucci, second grade teacher at Riker Hill School; and Roberta Curreri, an English teacher at Livingston High School. These three teachers were on approved leaves of absence from the district for the 2006-07 school year.

Also resigning are elementary teachers Amy Zweiback, first grade at Collins School; Lanie Blum Cogan, third grade at Collins School; Janet Condouris, social studies at Livingston High School; Jennifer Szostak, fourth grade at Collins School and Jennifer Erdman, fifth grade at Harrison School.

Additional resignations were accepted from middle and high school teachers Victoria Kao, English at Livingston High School; Joann Garbarini, English at Heritage Middle School; Candice Ney, social studies at Livingston High School; Paulo Correia, mathematics at Livingston High School; and Laura Fillebrown, English at Heritage Middle School.

The Board also accepted resignations from Melanie Talesnick, guidance counselor at Livingston High School, and Anita Greene, district secretary.

Katy Quillen, sixth grade science teacher at Mt. Pleasant Middle School, received a leave of absence for the 2007-08 school year. Also granted leaves were Rebecca Coniglio, guidance counselor for the district, effective April 9, through June 30; Leonard Merlo, art teacher at Livingston High School, from May 23, through the end of the school year; Nora Yukniewicz, third grade teacher at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School, through the end of the school year; MaryAnn Chorba, elementary school teacher at Riker Hill School, for the 2007-08 school year; Jennifer Alvich, social studies teacher at Livingston High; Melissa Reitman, kindergarten teacher at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School, through the balance of the year and Lisa Fischer, fifth grade teacher at Harrison School, until the end of the school year. Christine Da-Silva has been appointed her long term substitute. Among the teachers who were granted leaves of absence, Coniglio , Merlo, Yukniewicz, and Reitman have indicated plans to return to their positions effective September 1.

For the 2007-2008 school year appointments were made to second and third year certificated staff, tenure certificated staff, second year support staff and tenure support staff members. The board also approved the security staff, second and third year and tenured supervisors. Second, third and tenured principals and non citizen staff members were also approved.

Lauren Rothstein to Wed Edward Swigert in Sept.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Slater of Mendham and Ronald Rothstein of Springfield have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lauren Rothstein of Los Angeles, California, to Edward Swigert, also of Los Angeles. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Swigert of West Hartford, Connecticut.

Miss Rothstein is a 2001 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. She is employed as a film and television manager.

Mr. Swigert, also a 2001 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, is currently studying toward a juris doctorate and an M.B.A. at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) and Anderson Business School.

The couple plans a September wedding in Beverly Hills, California.

Teichers Have Girl

Kelly and Neal Teicher of Livingston welcomed their third child, Rikki Samantha, on April 2 at Saint Barnabas Medical Center. The little girl, who weighed seven pounds, 11 ounces at birth, joins a 21 month old sister, Karly Savannah, and a three year old brother, Jordan David. Lillian Egeth of Allendale is the baby's grandmother.

LHS Softball Team Splits Four Games

The Livingston High School varsity softball team splits its four games this past week, defeating Mount Olive and East Orange, while losing to Morris Knolls and Mount St. Dominic.

Lancers 1, Mount Olive 0

Rachel Wong threw a three-hitter and went 2-3 in an Iron Hills Conference win over Mount Olive, 1-0, on Tuesday, May 1. Both teams were scoreless going into the fifth inning when freshman Lancer first baseman Melissa Pence reached base on a two-base error to lead off the inning. Junior third baseman Jenn Schwindel sacrificed Pence to third, and sophomore center fielder Natalie Natale laced a double into right center field to score in Pence.

The Lancers played outstanding defense. Senior second baseman Gabby Paladino made two outstanding over-the-shoulder catches in short right field, and junior right fielder Danielle Rothenberger made a catch on the run and threw to first to double up the running in the Mount Olive fourth.

Lancers 16, East Orange 0

Alyscia Zulauf threw her second no-hitter of the year as the Lancers crushed East Orange, 16-0. Zulauf also went 2-2 at the plate, driving in a run in the seven-run first inning. Junior catcher Tara Writt also went 2-2 as she launched a two-run triple in the same inning.

Senior first baseman Carolyn Hannoch finished 3-4, with two doubles, three RBIs, and four runs scored. Junior Alyssa Icolari went 3-4 as well, with two runs and an RBI.

Morris Knolls 5, Lancers 1

The Lancers suffered their first loss in the Conference last week, as the Golden Eagles of Morris Knolls handed them a 5-1 loss. Knolls erupted for three runs in the third inning, all coming with two outs. Knolls capitalized again with runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

The Lancers scored their only run in the first, when junior shortstop Jamie Herman led off the game with a single up the middle and was sacrificed to second base by Paladino. Wong then walked, and Rothenberger doubled to right center field to score in Herman.

Mount St. Dominic 2, Lancers 1

Mount St. Dominic hit a two-out, two-run double in the sixth inning to overtake the Lancers' lead and score its second victory against Livingston this year, 2-1. The Lancers scored their lone run in the fourth as Wong led off with a double to left. Sophomore Abby Katz was inserted as the courtesy runner and after a fly-out, Pence singled up the middle off the pitcher's glove. With runners on first and third, the Lancers utilized a double steal. Pence was thrown out at second, but Katz was safe at the plate to take an early 1-0 lead.

At press time, the Lancers' record is 11-8, and 11-1 in Conference play.

Resident Coordinates Cancer Foundation Meeting

Livingston resident Adele Hirschhorn is coordinating the next meeting of the Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial for Cancer Research, to be held Thursday, May 17, at 7:15 p.m. at the Millburn Public Library.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Fred Ferrari, whose topic will be "Prepare the Future for Your Children by Supporting Stem Cell Research."

All are welcome to attend the meeting; for more information, call Hirschhorn at 973-992-4827.

Livingston Hadassah Installs New Officers

The installation of new 2007-08 officers for Livingston Hadassah will take place at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 31, at Temple B'nai Abraham. Alicia Kuschuk and Ethel Singer served as the co-chairwomen of the nominating committee, which consisted of Donna Aflalo, Estelle Glucksman, Ruth Lanes, Amy Uffner and Joyce Weinberger.

Esther Zirkes will be installed as president. Karen Lipke and Sheryl Mazur will serve as co-vice presidents of education. Newly elected as vice presidents of fund-raising are Leslie Klepner and Ilene Oppenheimer. For membership, Donna Posner, Donna Aflalo, and Arlene Levitt will serve as vice presidents. Vice presidents of programming will be Debbie Goldstein and Beth Krause.

Being installed as corresponding secretary is Ellen Magenheim, while Rosalie Felberbaum will serve as the recording secretary. Alyse Wolfson will be the new records administrator, while Shirley Blum will serve as treasurer. Emilie Schwartz will be installed as the group's member-at-large.

Elementary School News

This past week, the Mt. Pleasant Elementary School Student Council members spent their recess time cleaning out the school's courtyard in preparation for the different plantings each grade will install in the next few weeks. Shown above are fourth grader Max Scher and third graders Griffin Lanel and L.J. Militello.

At Burnet Hill School, Dorian Marrone's fifth grade science class is simulating an oil spill clean-up. Shown above are Amanda Gonzalez, Ethan Sternstein, Alex Lach, Kylie McLaughlin and Anthony LaGrotta.

Third grade students at Collins School chose a famous person to research and write about for a report. They then dressed up as that person and pretended they were exhibits in a wax museum. The other students at Collins then got to "tour" the wax museum. Shown above are Sriram Bapatla as Benjamin Franklin; Dimitri Bramwell as Levi Strauss; Kristen Gengaro as Mia Hamm; Ryann Unger at Sacagawea; and Lily Scher as Eleanor Roosevelt.

JV Softball Team Defeats Mt. Olive

Livingston High School's junior varsity softball team split its last two games, losing to Morris Knolls but defeating Mount Olive.

Last Thursday, May 3, the Lancers suffered a tough 9-8 loss at the hands of Morris Knolls. The Lancers clung to a 5-4 lead into the bottom of the sixth inning, but the Golden Eagles took advantage of three Lancer errors and hit a long home rum, staking themselves to a 9-5 lead at the end of the frame. The Lancers did not quit, however, loading up the bases with no outs. They pulled to within 9-8 and still had the bases loaded, but a strike-out and a pop-up to the pitcher ended the Livingston threat.

Heather Kull had a big day at the plate with three hits, include a long home run and a triple. Brooke Simandl also had three hits and drove in a run, while Amy Zhou and Erica Dulny had two hits apiece. Kelly Cunder, Lauren Romeo, Caterina Miller and Lexi Erdheim contributed one hit apiece to the 14-hit attack.

The Lancers came home to serve as host to the Mount Olive Marauders on Monday and scored an 8-6 victory. Romeo led the offense with three hits and an RBI, while Dulny had two hits and drove in a run. Miller, Zhou, Kull, Simandl, Erdheim, Kelly Cunder, Brianna Horiuchi and Becky Knopf had one hit each. Erdheim went the distance in the circle, allowing just two earned runs. She was helped out by Miller, who made a spectacular catch in left field, and by Simandl, who provided steady defense at third base.

The JV Lancer record is now 10-3.

Are B'nai Mitzvah

Joshua and Margo Fleishman, children of Sharon and Sheldon Fleishman, became b'nai mitzvah on Saturday, May 5. They were called to the Torah at Temple Beth Shalom.

Livingston People

Livingston resident John Randis, CLU, ChFC, has recently been appointed sales manager in the Springfield All State Insurance Agency. Former Livingston resident James Fitzsimmons is the agency owner.

Alan Sobel, managing partner at Sobel and Company, a regional accounting and consulting firm based in Livingston, has once again pledged his company's support as a Platinum Sponsor for the Children's Institute's fourth annual Golf and Tennis Invitational. This marks the fifth year Sobel and Company has served as a $5,000 Platinum level sponsor for events at the school. The Golf and Tennis Invitational will take place on Tuesday, May 15, at Crestmont Country Club in West Orange. Sobel has served as a member of the Children's Institute Board since 1993. He holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from Bentley College and a master's degree in taxation from Fairleigh Dickinson University. He belongs to both the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

A new diagnostic imaging system to aid physicians in the diagnosis and treatment of heart disease, stroke and other life-threatening illnesses is now available at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, announced Alan J. Garten, M.D., chairman and chief of Radiology. The GE Light Speed Volume Computed Tomography (VCT) 64 slice system has been hailed as an effective screening tool with the ability to detect, and in some cases, even predict, serious medical conditions before symptoms occur. Using this technology, Saint Barnabas physicians are now able to capture images of a beating heart in five heartbeats, an organ in one second and perform whole body trauma in ten seconds.

Weichert Realtors' Livingston office will participate in the Roseland Country Fair on Saturday, June 2, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The fair will take place on the corner of Roseland and Harrison Avenues, and the Weichert booth will feature current listings.

In recognition of his efforts to provide vision care for children, Democratic U.S. Rep. Bill Pascrell, Jr., who represents Livingston as part of the Eighth Congressional District, was awarded the Health Care Leadership Award by the American Optometric

Association (AOA). On January 30, Pascrell introduced the Vision Care for Kids Act of 2007, which would establish a federal grant program focused on treatment to bolster children's vision initiatives in the states. It would encourage children's vision partnerships with non-profit entities, including state optometric associations and other groups committed to safeguarding the vision of America's children. Rep. Pascrell is shown here with Dr. Daniel Desrivieres of Orange, president of the National Optometric Association, and Dr. Madeline Romeu of West New York.

Cedar Gate at Livingston, a new townhome community currently under construction, will hold a grand opening of two fully furnished model homes the weekend of May 18. The two models, the 2,383-square-foot Sutton and the 2,823-square-foot Gramercy, have been decorated by Ellen Harris Designs, which has offices in West Orange and Long Island.

Rabbi Mark Kaiserman of Temple Emanu-El of West Essex in Livingston has been named May's Youth Worker of the Month by the Union for Reform Judaism. The award "recognizes the talent, dedication, and commitment of outstanding youth workers." Each recipient is nominated by a supervisor or peer and is featured for a month on the interactive web site www.RJyouthworker.org

Lenore Markosian Dies After Brief Illness

Lenore Markosian died at the age of 88 on January 17 at Stanford University Medical Center in Palo Alto, California after a brief illness. A burial service will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, May 11.

Born in Dikranagert, Armenia, Mrs. Markosian moved to Beirut when she was 2½ years old. The family travelled to Marseilles before settling in Bergen County, where she lived until she married Victor Markosian in 1942. The couple lived in Carlstadt before moving to Livingston in 1954. She lived in Livingston until 1998, when she moved to Palo Alto to join her children.

Mrs. Markosian helped her husband, an electrical engineer, manage his electronics design company. The couple also helped found Sts. Vartanantz Armenian Church in Ridgefield.

Surviving Mrs. Markosian are her children, Valerie and Larry Markosian of Palo Alto; and three grandsons. In lieu of flowers, the family has suggested that memorial donations be made to the Armenia Tree Project (www.armeniatree.org) or Cure Autism Now Foundation (www.cureautismnow.org).

Retiring Teacher Honored by Temple

Congregation B'nai Jeshurun will honor member and teacher Maddie Schaeffer during the Tot Shabbat service on Friday, May 18, at 5 p.m. Schaeffer, who is retiring, has been a teacher in the Rabbi Barry H. Greene Early Childhood Center for more than 25 years and will be honored by her colleagues, students and former students.

Local AARP Sponsors Trip to Atlantic City

The Livingston AARP Chapter will sponsor a fund-raising trip to the Trump Taj Mahal casino in Atlantic City on Wednesday, May 16.

A chartered bus will leave from the Hillside Avenue community/senior center at 10 a.m., and will leave Atlantic City at 6:30 p.m. to return to Livingston.

Those attending are asked to park their cars in the last row at the rear of the community center.

A fee will be charged for the trip, and will inlcude coins and a food voucher. For reservation information, call Marie Mancino at 973-992-1958.
