Senior History

*O Columbia, thou hast taught us
The path that we should tread.*

In the future, when we look back upon our years in Columbia, the most important things that we shall remember and for which we shall be grateful are the guidance and the help that we received here. It is here that our feet have been set upon the paths that they are to follow in the years yet to come. We owe a debt of gratitude to our teachers for the hours they have spent preparing us to meet the demands that tomorrow may put upon us.

Perhaps it is significant that we have been trail-breakers, for during our careers at Columbia two new clubs—The Lyceum, and The English Club—and the Sophomore Council were founded. May that pioneer spirit cling to us always.

*By thy rules of pride and honor
In our work and play we're led.*

Each minute that we have spent in the halls and classrooms of Columbia has made us more aware of the spirit of comradeship that surrounds us. The good sportsmanship and courage of our athletic teams have put real meaning into the words "pride and honor." The fun that we got out of working together on "What's Doing?" and "Outward Bound" has made us appreciate the wealth of friendship and cooperation that has been ours through Columbia's unwritten "rules of pride and honor."

Our work and play have covered a wide range of activities during these three years. The clubs attained new heights. To mention a few: The French Club had its "La Malade Imaginaire," The Kilocycle Club obtained its license, and The Latin Club at last held a real Roman banquet. As we look back upon their records, we are proud of them, for their successes were due largely to our sincere interest and faithful support.

We have given careful consideration to the mechanism that is responsible for the smoothly running life of Columbia High School, and the result has been an efficient and well-administered school government. By learning the workings of this small scale democracy we have learned what we shall be called upon to do when we take our places in the great democracy that is our country.

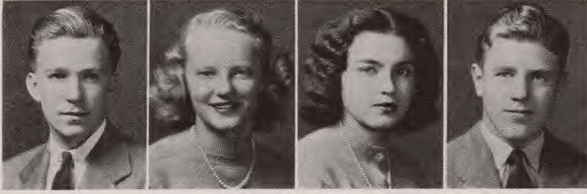

There will be one memory of our life in Columbia that will bring to us a feeling of regret. At the beginning of our senior year publication of our school paper, "The Columbian," was suspended. This occurrence did more than anything else to make us realize that we will always have some obstacles to surmount, no matter how smooth our paths may look. However, we are justly proud of our other journalistic enterprise, "The Mirror." We have enjoyed the privilege of working on it, and we shall gratefully take it with us as the only tangible reminder of our own class of nineteen hundred fortyone.

*In the years of life's hard struggle
We care not what's in store.*

When we are graduated from Columbia High School, we shall be completely ignorant of what the future may hold for us. As we go on through life, our years in Columbia shall sink farther and farther back into our memories, and yet we will never forget them entirely. We shall have a fund of memories and friendships that will never be lost to us. We care not what's in store; our past has given us courage to face our future. We shall go on through life with our heads held high.

*For thy motto is our motto
And our cry, "Excelsior."*

Senior Will

We, the class of '41, being fairly sound of mind and body, in a spirit of generosity and self-sacrifice, do bequeath our most treasured attributes and possessions to the Juniors in the hope that with them they may carry the torch for Columbia even more gallantly and gloriously than we have.

PERSONALS

Item I: I, Mary Vonder Leith, leave to Pat Campbell my Jim Farley knack of knowing everybody—well, almost everybody.

Item II: We, Merrill Box, Bob Hooper, George Kelly, and Ed Haydu, the famous "Fightin' Four" of the Green Shirt Legion, leave our prowess on the field of battle to any Juniors who can handle it.

Item III: We, Lizzie Jones, Mimi Virtue, and Faith Williamson, do will and bequeath to those Amazon Juniors the care of our beloved G.A.A.

Item IV: We, Dick Enderwood and Bob Sluyter, leave to the Junior Romeos outright management or mismanagement of all the glamorous Sophs.

Item V: I, Mary Maxson, leave my peregrinations through the male colleges on the Eastern seaboard to Lucia Weber.

Item VI: I, Frank Gilbertson, leave my personal collection of rocket-ship and cowboy drawings, done in history at the risk of my neck, to Frank Millar.

Item VII: We three, Ruthie Eberhardt, Gene Cochran, and Fred Gross, leave our abilities in the crooning line to the would-be Flagstads and Tibbetts among the Juniors.

Item VIII: I, Bill Spiers, bequeath my chair as President of the Student Council, and my profound knowledge of forensic procedure to some aspiring Junior, with the hope that he may carry on for Columbia and enjoy it as I have.

Item IX: I, Virginia Jaekel, leave to Carol Becker, for better or for worse, my effervescent personality and endless flow of conversation.

Item X: I, Chubby Jung, leave my ability to handle a sled to some steady-nerved Junior who wants to go coasting with his Grandma.

Item XI: I, Gordon Condit, pass on my dark brooding eyes which I inherited a long time ago from Lawrence Olivier to Ben Morris.

Item XII: I, Johnnie Livingston, leave to Don

Oberg my astounding ability to dissertate at length on anything and everything.

Item XIII: I, Fred Bender, divide between the Creighton twins my supernatural ability to tinkle out tunes on the piano—any tune, any place, any time.

Item XIV: I, Jody Roller, leave my man-about-town air to "Sandy" MacNicol. Remember the white tie, Sandy!

Item XV: I, Ann (Helen Hayes) Davis, leave to Ruth (Katherine Cornell) Hunsaker my love of the "drahmah".

Item XVI: I, Bert Spiotta, leave my football jacket—Joseph's coat of many colors—to Gates Helms.

Item XVII: I, Jane Congleton, leave my winning smile and sparkling personality to any deserving Junior gal, and may she use it wisely and well!

Item XVIII: I, Dumond Chalker, leave to David Ferry my fire engine, water hoses, and rubber boots with the helpful warning, "Don't play with fire!"

Item XIX: I, "Button" Trimble, leave my ability to charm the law out of tickets to Alicia Mulroy.

Item XX: I, Tony DeLuca, in behalf of the team of '40, do will and bequeath our breath-taking strategy on the gridiron to Marlin Mackenzie.

Item XXI: We, the Senior gals, bequeath to our Junior sisters our "Madame Defarge" craze for knitting, and we sincerely hope that these snappy females won't let the wool be pulled over their eyes.

Item XXII: I, Jerry Simons, pass on to any enterprising Junior my astonishing linguistic ability and florid command of the English language.

Item XXIII: I, Bill Dunaway, leave my ability to spread sweetness and light where ere I go to Bob Nelson.

Item XXIV: I, Bill Colsh, (just call me Johnny Weismuller) leave to next year's squad the swimming pool, with the hope that they give their all for Coach Baker and "bring home the bacon".

Item XXV: And lastly, we, the Seniors, bequeath Columbia High School to next year's Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores. May your memories be as pleasant and happy as ours.

Senior Play

On November 16, 1940, the audience witnessing the annual senior play was treated to a rare and moving drama, Outward Bound, by Sulton Vane; and another student production went down in the annals of Columbia High School as a triumph.

Your editor was one of the very fortunate few who were allowed backstage during rehearsals, so she knows how expertly Mr. Stanley Wood directed the production and how quickly each part took form and grew under the hands of its master. Some skeptics had said that we students were too young, too inexperienced, to do a play so profound as Outward Bound; but with the abundance of talent that the class possesses, and with the hard work of the production committees, we proved that we could make it a success, and, in our proof, we put forth one of the finest plays ever seen in Columbia.

The majority of the credit for this success goes, of course, to the actors, since one of the peculiarities of the play is that it has no "lead." The story concerns several people from incongruously different walks of life, who meet on a liner bound for somewhere, and find that they are all dead and waiting judgment. Each character is a vitally essential part of the play; and each characterization had to be executed with great sincerity and restraint. The cast of this strange and difficult play, a cost which included Ann Davis, Bob Sluyter, Bud Reeve, Gordon Condit, Irene Lindquist, Albert Besser, Ed Statzburg, Dorland Corsman, and Pat O'Brien, must be highly commended for its fine work.

Senior Prophecy

As I lead Average Al and Medium Mary up to my new super-duper puddle hurdler, I see that gleeful gleam appear in their eyes as they realize it's really a car. Pressing the automatic door opener, we climb into the front seat and are no sooner in the car than our friends are suddenly taken with a bad case of "last period lethargy." They soon fall asleep, and when they awake they find themselves—it can't be true!—oh but it is!—in 1956!!

Speeding southward over the new seaboard highway (110 m.p.h.), we flick on the radio for a bit of diversion. The first voice that meets our eager ears is that of ace news commentator, Frank Adrian, telling us that Bill Speirs is waging a successful campaign against the "5th Termites." Not wishing to hear about the war in Greenland, we turn to station WHY(?) and are soothed by the melodic strains (and what a strain!) of "Fancy Phil" Marsden and his "Balmy Boys." Among Phil's fellows we recognize such solid senders as Dick "What a Ride" Enderwood, "Uncle Wentworth" Barnes, "Cowboy" Bel-lows, and Palkowitz, of the "Slush-Pump." Gene Cochran and Martha Gearhart, the "Umph" gals of the Gay Nineties, are collaborating on the vocals.

Arriving at Washington, D. C., we are just in time to find Bob MacNabb treating the Senate to one of his choice filibusters, while Justice of the Peace, John Livingston, is trying to keep Wes Allinsmith from publishing his latest depth bomb, entitled, "Man's Fight Against Women" or "Hold That Line." In the White House, First Lady of the Land, Joan Kiernan, is telling Mary Vogel how to handle the Girl Scouts when they get too wild! As we head out of the city a bright red "swoosh" just about takes the chromium off of our front bumper! We are later informed that the "swoosh" was Fire Chief, Dumond Chalker, who has a shiny new engine of his own now, with a siren attached. (And I don't mean Connie Flemming!)

Journeying westward, we stop in Detroit where we luckily meet Bill Miller, who is trying to sell his plans for a one-tower suspension bridge equipped with pontoons so it will float in case of emergency. (Try the St. Lawrence, Bill.) Also in Detroit we find George Ford, carrying on the work of "Uncle Henry." George has just perfected a new car; it's called the Typhoon (just an overgrown "Zepher"). Sharing the scientific spotlight of the Middle West, we find those two cautious chemists, Al Shelby and Frank Arkenburg (they finished their "Groups") trying to capture the atom that got away, while Connie Russen is experimenting with dimethylethynaphthalene.

Passing through the "Wild and Wooley West," we get a glimpse of Doc Summers' ranch. Decked in a bright yellow shirt and satine breeches are Larry "Flash" Wanthouse and Bill "Where'd You Get That Hat" Dun-away. Vincent Barba, foreman of the Lazy B Bar(ba), also slings a mean lariat!

On the shores of the mighty Pacific, Jack Kraushaar has accepted Miss Vale's challenge and is now the president of the largest laundry concern in the U. S.! (Nice going, Jack.) Next door to Jack we find Boutwell Foster and Franklin Whitescarver, who own an orange plantation where they can throw oranges to their hearts' content without endangering the lives of the public. (Late Lunch.)

Phil Herbert's new coed (college) is our next stop. Dot Engstrand is the Dean of Girls, while Alice "Buttons" Barradale heads the language department. She is assisted by Rita "Unbuttons" Banta, who has been her helpmate, ever since '40 when the two shared ONE seat in room 144! Jerry "the Duke" Simons is teaching his pupils his own technique of painting masterpieces in time to "Tiger Rag" and "In the Mood." On the grid iron the school is bound to succeed under the able coaching of the famous Tonkin Team.

Racing down a seventy degree mountain-side, our steering gear seems to be on the blink—we are nearing a hairpin turn—we'll never make it!—we'll have to bail out!—Jump for it!—

Otherwise we would have reported on the remainder of the class of '41.

Junior Night

"Present Arms!"

That was the watchword in the auditorium on March 14 and 15, when the Class of 1942 presented its edition of Junior Night. The theme of the extravaganza, appropriate to the times, was the draft; but a clever and imaginative Junior Night Committee gave this subject a new and hilarious twist in writing an extraordinarily good show. Much of the credit for the production should go to this year's director, Miss Christie Tollefson, who put the play into the realm of the superlative.

The plot concerned the adventures of a group of girls drafted into the army and the antics of the boys who remained behind to keep the home fires burning. Worked into this intriguing frame were a number of dances, among them the Military Rookie, football dances, the fascinating Conga, and the riotous Can-Can—all beautifully staged by Misses Darrow and Walker. Student Jim Barry is especially to be congratulated for the original music he contributed to the score. The show ended with a note of patriotism in a grand finale that was truly inspiring.

The glamor girls who found themselves in the army were Jean Beazley, Dorrit Brask, Eleanor Cope, Alan Summers, Joan Harrocks, Pat Campbell, Virginia Schuck, Myrah Haltom, and Joan Drury. Among the outstanding men were Emil Zecher, Marlin Mackenzie, Jack Winninghoff, Pete Schaefer, Nat Ehrenkrantz, Ray Kirwin, Dick Mason, Dick Marsh, and Alec MacNichol.

SCHOOL COUNCIL OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN

School Council

The School Council, operating on the principles of all governing bodies, gives its members an opportunity to participate in the activities of a government. The council consists of its officers, standing committee chairmen, and elected homeroom representatives, and its year's program is based almost entirely on the work of the twelve standing committees, jurisdiction over all regular matters which arise during the school year being given to the council itself.

During 1940-41 a peak in the council's progress has been reached, through the discussion and completion of new ideas and undertakings by the some seventy members of the organization. A movement on girl cheerleading was thoroughly investigated; three new clubs were approved by the council; two football rallies were sponsored; the library and the lunchroom were investigated for improvement; the drives for membership in the Home and School Association and Welfare Federation were under council guidance; and control in the lunchroom showed definite improvement through the council's efforts. The development of an activities ticket for the purpose of solving the financial demands in Columbia each fall has been considered and investigated by two council committees. Reports from four members of Columbia who attended the Glassboro Convention revealed interesting ideas on school governments and activities.

Council officers for the year 1940-41 were president, Bill Speirs; vice president, Jane Congleton; secretary, Joan Kiernan; treasurer, Bill Colsh. Committee chairmen were as follows: Civics, Gordon Condit; Eligibility, George Ford; Finance, Bill Colsh; Elections, Bob MacNabb; House and Grounds, Merrill Box; Traffic, George Kelly; Fire, Dumond Chalker; Lunchroom, Henry Jung; Pep, Bud Reeve; Social, Jane Oberg; Assembly, Judy St. Clair; and Traditions, Beverly Balch.

The Columbian

During the first semester the Columbian suspended publication. In spite of the zealous efforts of its able, well-organized staff, we had to do without our school paper. Reason: lack of adequate student support.

About Christmas time, however, a group of alert sophomores, operating through the Sophomore Council and headed by Dick Yorkey, began to agitate for revival of the paper. They convinced a required number of petitioners, and soon enough subscriptions were collected to insure the return of the Columbian for the second semester.

But who was to run the paper? How was the staff to be chosen fairly, with opportunity for all, from the number interested? Finally, in order to do away once and for all with the criticism that the Columbian was a "closed" and exclusive organization, a system of tryouts was devised in which merit was the sole qualification. Every student in the school was given a chance, and from those who applied for positions Gates Helms ('42) was made Business Manager, Calvin Carver ('43) Promotion Manager, and Richard Stoecker ('43) Advertising Manager.

In order that the greatest number might gain experience, and with the idea in mind of choosing the better members of each for the final, permanent staff, two complete editorial staffs were chosen and alternately put to work publishing the paper. Bob Sluyter was named managing editor of one, Stan Flink, a Junior, of the other.

This rebirth of the Columbian has been more than simply a revival. It has been a thoroughgoing reorganization intended to make for a more democratic school paper and a more extensive news coverage.

Columbia reached the finals in the state championship play-offs, only to be defeated by Montclair four points to one. After a successful seven-game season, during which only one defeat was suffered, the team entered the state play-offs against West Side and won easily by four points to one. The team next defeated Barringer, East Orange, and Trenton. Responsible for this sensational season were Captain Max Soto, Ted Cohn, Tom Croake, Bill Mearns, Bob Rader, Ed Mulroy, and Ed Feeley. Ted Cohn went entirely through the season undefeated.

G. A. A. COUNCIL

from the bungling beginners' stage and soon could bring the ball down the field as skilfully as their older sisters. Then the long awaited days of competition arrived, and the seniors, though a little rough and noisy at times, rolled up the highest point score in history, their gaiety becoming even more unroarious during those after-sports locker room gab-fests. Who mentioned those? Upon entering the lockers, one senses the wholesome atmosphere of singing, powder feuds, and "bull sessions", surrounded by a mischievous air—all the things that make the G. A. A. high spots in our school life . . . days never to be forgotten. On soggy and uneven courts, while the gentle breezes of Indian summer hastened the rustling of autumn leaves, that familiar twang of ball against racquet once again brought forth its usual throngs of enthusiasts and ushered in the annual tennis tournament. After a strenuous month of practice and eliminations, the envied group of finalists won their places in the line-up for the spring tournament. It is safe to predict that the seniors, at this time, may expect keen competition. Under the able tutelage of their respective captains, the home room basketball teams successfully launched their campaigns. Then the contest was narrowed down to two teams—one composed of sophomores from Room 329, the other of juniors from 230. Before the mighty onslaught of the juniors, the game but out-classed sophomores finally bowed. After experimenting last year, the Modern Dance Club has now become a definite part of the G. A. A., its membership totaling thirty girls. As the club went through its steady rhythmical exercises in the Friday meetings, Miss Darrow showed satisfaction at the immense progress of the girls. Each member's initiative and imagination is given full expression, as the dancing for all the year is mostly creative. Immediately after the basketball season, volleyball was heralded in, giving many girls the opportunity of participating and of gaining points toward their athletic awards. Then, as old man Winter crept reluctantly away, spring brought forth baseball and swimming, with the thrills, excitement, and upsets that always come at the end of a bright season. The G. A. A. has had one of the most exciting and profitable years in its history, each member participating in friendly rivalry, making many new friends, and contributing to the whole-hearted spirit of cooperation which has always been an outstanding characteristic of the association.

Girls' Sports

Hark ye, fellow students! By one quirk of fate an all-too-short summer has quickly passed and the bee-hive activities of the G. A. A. have resumed. Girls—some in ski pants and earmuffs, others in tennis shorts viciously knocking an elusive ball up and down the field—began a soccer season which future historians will record in letters of flame. Teams were soon out and practice began in earnest, with all aspirants looking intensely forward to the inter-class competition. Even the sophomores untangled themselves

Intramural Sports

A new sports program was begun this year under the direction of Mr. Nuttall, the purpose of which is to give every boy a chance to participate rather than the select few who make varsity teams. It got off to a flying start this year with more than one hundred and eighty boys engaging in three different activities. The most popular sport was touch football. Teams were chosen from each home room, with a manager for each. Teams of the same class played each other until all but one had been eliminated. But football was not the only sport. Basketball stirred a great deal of interest, too. Captains were chosen by Mr. Nuttall on the basis of their experience, and most of these were varsity men. These boys chose their teams from about one hundred and sixty boys. Two leagues were formed: a Monday-Wednesday-Friday group, and a Tuesday-Thursday group. The tournament was conducted in a most ideal manner—the round robin method—which allowed each team to play a full schedule. The third sport was swimming. The preliminaries were run off within each class and the finals were then held between classes. Varsity men conducted the events. A great many boys do not have a chance in athletics, not because of a lack of interest but because they are not quite good enough to make varsity teams. It was for these boys that intramurals were started. Under this system winners of each event or play-off receive their numerals; thus they gain recognition for their ability. Now all the boys can get needed exercise, play with others of their own age and ability, and may improve enough by this practice to make a bid for varsity positions another year. It is with this thought in mind that the coaches look forward to finding potential varsity material in the intramural contests. The intramurals do not stop at the end of the first semester, however; this spring there will be more basketball in addition to baseball and possibly track. The program, in fact, has no bounds. Questionnaires filled out by the boys will form a basis for further activity. Mr. Baker, who is to take care of the spring intramurals, said that the boys could have anything they wanted, even if it was marbles. Horseshoes, volleyball, tennis, and fly-casting were suggested, and there are many other possibilities. The knowledge and experience gained from such pursuits will create new hobbies for many, develop sportsmanship, and improve health. We believe that in years to come, with an enlarged intramural program, every boy in school not engaged in inter-scholastic sports will be active in this program. Such is the goal.

Where Youth Responds

Modesty is one of the most attractive of all qualities to be found in youth.

When Robert Browning wrote: "Measure your mind by the shadow it casts," he was in effect expressing his opinion that the right to speak or act with authority is earned by achievement.

Young men and women of today, by their ready acceptance of this abiding truth, gain the respect and approval of their elders.
