Dedication

If we examine the underlying forces in human history, we find that men have been compelled from the earliest times by a craving for order and security. They were quick to realize that order and security could not be established so long as each individual shifted entirely for himself, without regard for his fellow men. They found that by the concerted effort of a group united for a purpose, they could obtain objects previously beyond their reach. That is why clans and tribes were formed, which in modern times have given way to states and nations; and why men established governments and made laws to regulate their own conduct. Therefore we may conclude that mankind is instinctively opposed to war, which disrupts order and security and produces chaos and fear.

We are well aware that a longing for peace has not always remained uppermost in the minds of men. When disputes have arisen, be they political, economic or religious, men have been too impatient, too passionate, to settle them amicably, with so natural an expedient as war at hand.

But now there is a new factor to consider. War is now conducted on a world-wide scale; each conflict becomes increasingly destructive, involving more and more people. Today a city can be destroyed in a single air raid; in the future great segments of the world's population may be easily and rapidly obliterated. We who have witnessed the horror of this war, do not want another; for if war comes again, think how much more devastating it will be! We have, then, a very real threat to our civilization. War has become unbearable, and if we are to survive it must be prevented.

We have learned that no nation can live in isolation from the rest of the world. Our modern improvements in communication and transportation have brought the peoples of the earth so close together that events on one side of the globe are bound to have their effect on the other. It should be equally obvious that peace cannot be maintained if nations each go their own way, impelled by no sentiment other than blind obedience to their own national interest.

If we are to establish anything like a permanent peace, therefore, we must have a higher order of unity—world unity. That step seems both logical and inevitable in view of the human tendency we have noted. The peace which nations individually have been unable to maintain, may by international unity be established.

That there will be some sort of world organization is now well agreed upon. But no plan which the statesmen may devise, no matter how elaborate, will be of value by itself. Its success will depend on the attitude and actions of individuals everywhere. It is, after all, the people who finally decide the course of events, not the leaders. It is certain that disputes will again arise, and that men of great influence will declare that war is the only solution. And then the people must firmly insist that another way be found. That is our goal, and in striving toward it, each one of us has a definite responsibility.

In this critical period which lies ahead of us, we will come in contact with many different races, colors, and creeds, representing a great variety of ideas and points of view. When they differ from ours, it will be very easy to become intolerant, and to assert obnoxiously the preference for our own beliefs. That is the sort of thing that creates bad feeling. There will always be those individuals who are eager to kindle a spark of discord into flames of hate, and then we will find ourselves well along the path that leads to another war.

We Americans, who are ourselves a conglomeration of nationalities, should realize that each man, regardless of his background, has something to contribute to the common welfare and to human civilization. Men from many countries came to America and were able to work together because they were struggling toward a common object—freedom. The peoples of the world have in common a desire for peace. We must all work together, including those who are at the moment our enemies; and each one of us must at least make a sincere attempt to be considerate, cool-headed, and patient in our dealings with foreign people. Remember that they are human beings like ourselves.

Preventing war is admittedly a huge task, probably the greatest ever undertaken. We will have considerable difficulty in meeting the requirements for this fight. Indeed, the job is such a tremendous one that many think it impossible to accomplish. This species of cynic is present in every age. It is the same type that scoffs at new inventions and considers diseases incurable. Its chief distinction is that it is consistently wrong.

It will be the task of our generation to promote an international accord which will insure a lasting peace. And if we are to be successful, we shall have to cling to one idea always: the idea to which we of the class of 1945 dedicate ourselves—TOLERANCE.

Senior Class History

Columbia High School can be justly proud of the wartime record it has made for itself, and we as members of the Class of 1945 may look back with a great deal of satisfaction on that record and the part we have played in its making.

In 1943, when we were sophomores, the school bought $115,000. worth of war bonds. It was also during our first year at Columbia that we shifted from a peacetime to a wartime program. To facilitate this change new courses were added to our curriculum: more and more emphasis was placed on mathematics and the sciences, and above all on physical education. Furthermore, our extra-curricular activities were altered so as to prepare the boys for entrance into the armed forces. Several new clubs were formed; among them were the M. A. N., First Aid, Camouflage, Map-Making, Model Plane Building, and other clubs.

Still another important occurrence of our sophomore year was the formation of the Victory Corps. This organization was established to serve both the community and the student. Examples of service to the community are practically numberless. They include work on paper drives, on the rationing board, at the South Orange Community House, work for the American Red Cross, and child care. Included in the services to the school and student are the sale of war bonds and stamps, educational movies and assembly programs, and more specialized films to aid those going into the armed forces. Through the Victory Corps alone, Columbia has done more than its share in assisting the war effort.

We may look back with particular pride on our accelerated program. Since its inception in January, 1943, five classes numbering over one hundred students altogether have been graduated. This means that despite the inroads made by the draft, no boy need leave high school without a diploma.

Considerable credit must be given to the members of the faculty, who have given and will continue to give so much of their time.

Then there are those events which go on year after year, come what may. Even with the scarcity of equipment and difficulties in transportation we have carried on all our sports, and during this past year all of our teams were of the high calibre characteristic of Columbia High.

We have been no less successful in the field of histrionics. Everyone, especially the cast, has a soft spot in his heart for that off-spring of the Pre-Junior Night Committee, "About Face." What with such characters as an Indian princess and prince, a lady mayor, three gallant and disillusioned soldiers, and, of course, the camel; and with a setting in India, the show couldn't miss being a hit.

Our offering as a Senior Play was equally successful. It was J. M. Barrie's charming fantasy, "A Kiss for Cinderella," which dealt with a modern Cinderella and her policeman-prince. It was a show with a big cast and complex staging, a favorite with everyone.

We have tried to cram into a short space the activities and events of the last three years. Those years have been full ones, so full that everything can not possibly be put down on paper. But we hope enough has been said to reflect the spirit of these years.

We all have gotten a lot out of high school. We've made new friends and acquaintances; we've gained new knowledge. We have had wonderful times inside of school and out. Believe it or not, we've been happy, carefree. We never will feel quite the same happiness again. We won't because we're not kids anymore; we've grown up. But the memories are still there, and we can't lose them.

Class Will

We, the graduating class of 1945, being of sound body and of doubtful mind, do hereby state our first will and testament.

We are by all comparison the most intelligent and talented group in the school, and therefore we wish to leave in Joe Junior's possession the key to our success.

Item 1: We, the girls of the senior class, leave to the junior girls the honored privilege of going to the movies every weekend, unescorted. (It happened to the best of us.)

Item 2: I, Claude Offray, leave my much used comb, along with my ability to awe the underclassmen on the grid-iron, to Dick Barba.

Item 3: I, Pam Owens, leave to Ruth Hill my ability to get around with or without a car.

Item 4: We, Walter Bolton, Stanley Brundage, and David Hopper, leave our brains and systematic bridge games to Johnny Richardson.

Item 5: I, Ellen Kiernan, leave to June Poppole my position of being known by everyone, yes, even by sophomores.

Item 6: We, Teddy Philips and Allan Dehls, leave the girls swooning at our feet from our crooning voices. Stop! We love it.

Item 7: We, Audrey Peters, Barbara Myers, and Dotty Green, leave our dancing feet and indestructable grace to Betsy Holmes, Ginny Grant, Joan Glasier, and any other girls who feel worthy of this honor.

Item 8: I, Jimmy Carr, appoint Dick Dutton to carry on with my hair styles. My car is not included in this deal because I know that no one would want it.

Item 9: We, Betty Brady and Marjorie Porter, leave to Marion Nelson and Jackie Abrams our ability to keep Columbia laughing after we are gone. Try not to knock yourselves out as we did.

Item 10: I, Harry Keenan, leave my position of president to the ablest junior boy; that is, if I do not choose to run for a second term.

Item 11: We, the boys of the senior class, wish to extend our thanks to the junior high schools of Maplewood and South Orange for sending such charming sophomore girls to Columbia this year.

Item 12: I, Shirley Campbell, leave to the secretary-elect my pad and pencil upon which I doodle during council meetings. Allow me to suggest that a course in shorthand would be a great aid to you.

Item 13: I, Herb Abbey, leave my aquatic skills to the dog paddler champ, Thor Anderson. Let us hope that his shoulders will fit in the pool.

Item 14: I, Marion Brask, leave my natural and wholly American girl look to Doris Cook. (Beauty Hint—Use Lux soap).

Item 15: I, Edith Krich, will to Mary Jane Steinen my art of looking chic whatever the occasion may be.

Item 16: I, David Doran, leave my little red fire-engine and helmet to next year's fire chief.

Item 17: I, Cy Baldwin, on behalf of the team do will and bequeath our honor and glory to next year's team. Take good care of our uniforms, boys, and try to keep them clean as we did at the West Orange game. Ugh!

Item 18: I, Fred Kirberger, leave to Spike Towey my knack of making people laugh even before I open my mouth. Could it be my face? No! Impossible.

Item 19: I, Pat Allen, leave to Barbara Peter my effervescing and amiable personality. She is the girl who can really fill my shoes.

Item 20: I, Lora Landers, leave to the junior who has the ambition and who is responsible enough, my efficacy. You'd better look that word up in your dictionaries, kiddies.

Item 21: We, the members of the Junior Night cast, wish to leave you juniors and Sophs the everlasting memory of our "About Face." If your shows are half as good as ours were, they are bound to be successes.

Item 22: We, Walt Cooney and Bill Daly, leave our tough-looking cars to those junior boys who are accustomed to walking to school each day. No, on second thought, we think we'll keep them. Sorry boys, there is a war on, you know.

Item 23: I, Claire Krich, the actress who became a star overnight, leave to Diane Taylor the same success. Don't ever try to put on a cockney accent, Diane.

Item 24: We, the bottle-blond senior girls, leave our peroxide bottles to those brunette juniors who wish to become blondes. Use it sparingly at first, gals, because a sudden change is too noticeable. Take it from those who know.

Item 25: We, the senior girls on the swimming team, leave the pool to Lee O'Brien, the one-girl team. We will also leave you the diving board while we are about it.

Item 26: We, Marilyn Styvers and Colleen McCauley, the girls who make the boys look twice, leave many broken hearts behind us.

Item 27: I, Dick Purdue, leave the memory of my debates about the election to my history teacher. I still think that Dewey should have won.

Item 28: I, Lora Snyder, leave to any junior girl who owns five cars my privilege of driving to school in a different car every day. No! My Packard is not for sale.

Item 29: I-all, Joe Harmon, leave to any young junior lad who wants to make a good impression on his belle, my all southern accent. She will re-ally fall for you-all then.

Item 30: I, Evie Clark, leave to Mary Muller my beautiful but natural (we hope) blonde hair. Let us hope that gentlemen continue to prefer blondes.

Item 31: I, Bob Smith, small but powerful, leave to that up and coming thespian, Bill Nissen, my dramatic talents. If height counts he ought to be twice as good as I am.

Item 32: I, Doris Glasier, leave my endless flow of chatter to any junior girls who feel that they never have enough to say.

Item 33: I, Doris Bayer, just to complicate matters leave my hair to that cute little red-haired junior boy. I'll also leave him my nickname, "Torthy."

Item 34: I, Irvin Hood, reluctantly leave my house to any junior boy who wishes to throw a number of parties next year.

Item 35: We, the girls of the Personality Club, leave to next year's members fond remembrances of our chawming personalities.

Item 36: I, Matt Denardo, leave to the most athletic boy my skills and tricks which have made me so outstanding in sports.

To the biology teachers we leave students (mostly girls) who do not scream at the sight of grasshoppers or frogs. They are so nice (the girls).

To Miss Beach we leave fond remembrances of the long line in her office on Monday mornings. Yes, indeed, we had quite a few colds this year. But it's funny how everyone felt sick when Friday rolled around.

Senior Play

As the orchestra began playing the introductory numbers the cast of A Kiss for Cinderella took their places, thus beginning one of the longest ten minutes in history. Like condemned men doomed to die, we recalled scenes from our past. We remembered long, tiring rehearsals, struggling through involved lines, and wandering about the stage trying to make actions fit words—only to find that between the next two words we have to be all the way across the stage (it's an awfully big stage). At one rehearsal three actors simultaneously realized that they were due somewhere else on stage, and like a well-drilled football team shifted together and dashed for their correct positions. Intercepted on every play by stage or lighting crewmen, blocked and tackled by scenery and property committeemen, we plunged on to the end; and though we thought it was fun we were sure it wasn't a play. But from this chaos, punctuated with pretzels and pies purchased across the street, our miraculous director, Miss Clutton, made Senior Night.

The Star-Spangled Banner was played and the curtain went up—the play had at last begun. The time is the present; the setting in England. An English bobbie (Dick Osborne) enters Mr. Bodie's (Robert Smith) studio to inform him that he is violating blackout regulations. Mr. Bodie imparts to the officer (a none too bright representative of the law) his suspicions concerning a young servant girl named Miss Thing (Claire Krich), who by her own request is called Cinderella.

Through sly questioning our policeman determines that Cinderella is in some way connected with Germany. He trails her to her lodgings and finds she is guilty of harboring German refugee children. The kind-hearted cop overlooks this breach of the law and soon enters into a plot with Cinderella and the children to produce Cinderella's fairy godmother.

While Cinderella is waiting for her godmother she is overcome by the combination of cold and undernourishment and dreams she is at a famous ball. To the accompaniment of the orchestra music, the cast dances its way through the fantasy of Cinderella's dream. At the climax of the scene, Cinderella defeats all competition for the prince's hand because of her dainty feet, and before the royal throne is married to His Majesty, who bears a marked resemblance to our friend, the policeman.

But alas, we must return to reality; and we find Cinderella in a hospital run by Mr. Bodie's sister. Cinderella is fulfilling her wish to serve her country by cheering wounded Tommies, one of whom is Danny (Harry Keenan), a dashing young plumber who falls in love with a beautiful but aristocratic (and therefore unattainable) nurse (Mary Flynn). Their antics are interrupted by the entrance of the love-sick policeman bringing with him the glass slippers that proclaim Cinderella is his fairy princess. Then the curtain closed on the dramatic offering of the Class of 1945, an effort that ranked with the most successful Senior Plays of the past.

Class Prophecy

This business of a class prophecy is absurd. Whoever reads one, anyway? Maybe a few seniors will thumb eagerly through the pages to see whether they'll turn out as presidents or ditchdiggers—if their names don't appear somewhere, the latter vocation is presumably inevitable. Hollywood should be packed with the local beauties innumerable prophets have been sending out for the last ten years; and, but for the war, every business enterprise would be fighting to the last vice-president to keep off the tidal wave of executives springing from the pages of every year-book in the country. But don't blame the prophets. Like their fellow-seer now writing, they never felt any latent talent in the arts of palmistry; no one of us was elected for proficiency in interpreting bumps on foolish heads. What can you expect?

The present student population of our noble alma mater is sixteen-hundred forty-seven, of which number some five hundred-odd comprise the seniors. In due time, the prophet will select improbable careers for a decent percentage of the class, expand his conclusions to the skies, and fill a disproportionate amount of space with result. Before we unveil that prehistoric formula, however, we would like to introduce a New Departure from the custom. Presently a slight clearing will appear in the swami's forest of atrocities to the reading public. The creditors invite you to use it instead of the photography for such prodigies of wit as you desire to commit to posterity. Better still, if any additions, corrections, or printable comments occur to you, by all means put them down; and so, we will leave you for a moment to stir up the spirit in our crystal globe.

Good afternoon. The prophecy will now come to order for the benefit of class members still present. While we were gone a minute ago, we stopped in at the Columbian newsroom for inspiration at the founts of journalism. All the founts were out, but we spotted a copy of the paper stamped "Special Edition—Class of '45." A little surprised to see it was dated March 11, 1965, we speculated idly on the worth of sophomore reporters, and went on to the headlines. That was when we decided to bring it along for inspection. The first item to arrest our attention was the announcement of the inauguration of the thirty-fifth president, Harry Keenan. Below the picture of the youngest candidate in history and his faithful lieutenants, Dick Osborne and Bob Lelong, an address promises the full efforts of the new administration in the fight against the glacial packs descending slowly through panic-stricken Canada. Latest reports from General MacCabe, Commander in West Saskatchewan, are cited, which indicate that our troops, undoubtedly inspired by patriotic Hollywood stars, Marilyn Stivers and Audrey Peters, on tour of the front lines, have made favorable progress through employment of miraculous machines invented by Nobel-Prize-winning scientists, Angus Blakey and Alan Van Poznak. As yet, the mastermind behind the ice invasion has not been found, although

Walter Bolton, generally regarded as the Buck Rogers of the age, is highly suspected.

Dominating the second page, a photograph by ace news photographer, Jay Salzman, shows the launching of the 60,000 ton luxury liner, Utopia. Through a shower of champagne, the mighty arm and determined face of Pat Allen are barely discernible. Next to her the designer, America's foremost naval architect, Ray Adams, shields Admiral Gayle Charles from the alcoholic bath threatening to ruin his glittering uniform, newly adopted by order of Congress from the sketches of the inimitable John Stewart.

Speaking of Congress, we find the Senate floor occupied by accomplished parliamentarians, the Richards Lee and Purdue, who are continuing their filibuster for the third week. Although the issue in question has been lost sight of completely, enthralled members have shouted down all petitions of closure as a result of interest in the fascinating chapters of Helen Hawkins' sensational autobiography, Gay Divorcee, now being read by the crafty orators. Previously, the Senators had been regaled with passages from Edith Besser's Etymological Dictionary, Finer Forms of Insult, by expert Marjorie Porter, and Twenty-Seven Ways to Trim a Christmas Tree by Lora Landers. Presiding officer Goldsby, the story goes on, interrupted debate briefly to summon medical aid for clerk Shirley Campbell who sprained her wrist keeping the record.

In the Supreme Court, the case of Mesopotamia vs. Folger has been under consideration by that group as a novel point in international law. The javelin-hurling defendant is accused of impaling a direct descendant of Nebuchadnezzar in last year's Olympic Games, marked by defending champion Ben Kreitzberg's record 220 yard dash. Chief Justice Clayton Pritchett assures a decision in the near future.

Robert Casanova-Smith, current matinee idol, has startled his adoring public by renouncing the world (even women), and retiring to a Gobi Desert hermitage erected to order by Frank Hannotch, the exponent of progressive architecture. Globe-trotting reporter Dave Gaus, immediately sent for an interview, reports running across Bruce Livingston and Jim Owen, who were engaged in teaching Japanese children under the auspices of the Marine Corps.

Betty Brun is quoted as stating in her popular gossip column that crooner Alan Dehls is recuperating in his California villa from a severe mauling at the hands of ardent feminine fans. Margie Cosgrove, the modern Dorothy Dix, is consulting him on means to prevent further assaults. Miss Brun also writes that radio will soon see the acme in domestic programs, "John's Bachelor Wife," originated by the aspiring Dinkel-Hevener-Kniering trio.

Entering the field of sports (pun), the Columbian finds the class of '45 still well represented on the gridiron, with stalwart former all-Americans Offray, Denardo, Baldwin, and MacLaughlin finishing a gruelling season with the Packers. Remy Lane, president of the Sports-commentators' League, has finally given Irvin Hood a well merited Purple Heart as suggested by columnist Joe Kelley. Shut-out (Benfer), rejecting salary increases, continues to refuse the Yankees' new contract. Dave Doran and John Cox are about to resume their pearl-diver roles in an underwater movie thriller after a disastrous encounter with a stray octopus off Jim Ruoff's magnificent seaside estate. Directors of "Los Bobos," international athletic league, announce a women's branch headed by Bette Brady, celebrated fullback at Osceola College, '49. At the Indianapolis Races, Dick Maurer drove his rocket car, "Wolf," a product of the Noe-Gill automotive genius, to

To the girls' lunchroom we leave girls who do not insist upon sitting on the steps by the door. Oh, but you can get such a good view of the boys' lunchroom from there!

To Miss Henderson and Mr. Sheeley we leave good little girls and boys who do not continually have to pay them visits.

To the late lunch students we leave fifteen minutes before fourth period in order to enable them to eat a small portion of their lunch. Everyone knows that one cannot think on an empty stomach.

To Miss Silvernail we leave gags and black jacks to take care of those noisy children in her library.

To Miss Alexander we leave girls who will consistently wear CLEAN saddle shoes.

To Mr. John Brown we leave all the rest of the girls to take care of him after we have gone.

To Miss Young, we leave an economics class which will not look bewildered at anything she says. This is a big order, but we know she will enjoy such a class.

To the girls' gym we leave a new set of bathing suits. The girls will appreciate this kind deed we are sure.

To the auditorium we leave a sound-proof projection room. Then the boys in that back room can make as much noise as they wish.

To the drinking fountains we leave ice cold Coca Cola. Someone promised that to us once, too.

The rest of us unmentioned seniors wish to leave to you unmentioned juniors all the good times we had in Columbia. We had a lot of fun during our three years and we want you to carry on for us.

FUNNY FADS

When we look back over our three years (sometimes more) at Columbia, we will always be at loss to explain some of the bewildering actions of the female inmates. What dementia prompted them to arrange their hair the way they did or wear some of the fantastic habiliments they clad themselves in will forever remain beyond the comprehension of us baffled males. All we can say is that they were afflicted with a dread disease called the fad, a scourge which streaks through the atmosphere faster than light, fascinating one and all with its electric magnetism; and then vanishes as mysteriously and as rapidly as it comes. A fad may begin when some movie actress decides to paint her toenails indigo. A survey taken shortly after the fact was made known would reveal that millions of girls had indigo toenails.

The foremost fad of the last few years involved a singular victim of malnutrition who had just enough strength (when he held fast with both hands to a microphone) to emit a feeble, almost inaudible groan. There was such a magic something in that sound that girls were thrown into fits of ecstatic delight; many swooned on the spot. Any girl who failed to exhibit these symptoms was considered an outcast, a walking zombie.

Fortunately, this fad, like every other, is passing. In an effort to ascertain the trend of thought, we conducted a public opinion poll (we are a victim of the public-opinion-poll fad). We inquired whether the interviewed preferred Frank Sinatra, the gentleman we have casually mentioned, or Bing Crosby, his "rival". Of the girls quizzed on the subject, 85% favored the latter. This fact affords scant relief, however; we can only cringe in terror, and wonder what might strike the feminine fancy next.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

As we all know, the standards which Columbia High maintains are very high. The conduct of Columbia students is always beyond reproach. There is absolutely nothing about the school that could possibly be objected to, or that could occasion the raising of even one eyebrow. Now the citizens of Maplewood and South Orange know that too. They are proud to live in a community that can boast so noble an institution as C. H. S. But we must be very careful in the things we say and do lest we disillusion them, for they may not realize that when we talk about such things as (censored), we're just joking. Believe it or not, some people might even get the idea that Columbia students (censored).

Of course, in writing an article such as this we must proceed with extreme caution so as not to offend anyone. Fortunately, everything that goes into this book is examined beforehand, and all objectionable matter is censored. For instance, if we were to suggest that (censored) went on here, it would be cut right out.

If we were to write about such things, someone might take us seriously and the school would get a bad name. That's why censorship is so necessary. As one teacher said to another: "(censored) is a (censored) (censored)."

brilliant success, smashing world's records, assorted ribs, and the greater part of the grandstands.

Society news is comprised mainly of glowing accounts of the reception in honor of Francois Gutman, French Ambassador, given by Carolyn Cain, greatest hostess since Elsa Maxwell. Among the guests were leading models Behrendt of "Vogue," Kiernan of "Redbook," McCauley of "Mademoiselle," and Maskelaris of "Physical Culture." A large brawl is alleged to have been started by Carol Hoppock, woman of the world, because of some cutting remarks by comedienne Marilyn Perry concerning the former's escort.

Tops on the theater bill is Clair Krich's "Mary Queen of Scots," with Marion Blasi as Elizabeth. According to rumor, humorist Jim Carr is rehearsing a bit of insanity featuring the voices of Ted Phillips, Evelyn Clark, and Marion Brask. His stage manager, Esty Foster, refuses to divulge the name of the score's composer. Alan Stein and Ed Pawlick have published their jazz arrangement of John Weeks' fourth opera which Judy Gilbert, aspiring pianist, is struggling to master.

Planning a contrast in technique, the Museum of Modern Art, following the exhibition of Lester Kiss's portraits, will acquire large quantities of Fred Kirberger's landscape masterpieces for comparison with the works of abstract artist Don Mawha.

The best sellers of the day are Advocation of Fair Play in Football, by Vincent Musum, Litt. D., and In Defense of the Second Roosevelt, by Ed Saslow, Democratic National Committee chairman.

By this time we had begun to lose interest; so we shuffled quickly through the pages of the special edition, thereby committing to oblivion many worthy names in commerce and the professions, until we halted with considerable trepidation at the obituaries. Skimming hastily over unfamiliar names, we had begun to feel better when suddenly we found this sad notice: "In Memoriam — John Stearns — hanged, drawn, and quartered by Mirror subscribers of 1945 — He tried."

SOME THOUGHTS ON CHOOSING A COLLEGE

It is usually toward the end of the junior year that we start devoting some serious thoughts to our careers following high school. For one reason or another many of us decide to go to college. Now the job of selecting the seat of learning at which to spend the better part of four years is frequently difficult; so for the benefit of those who have not yet decided the question, we seniors have a few words of advice.

This is the procedure to follow in choosing a college. Merely write the names of several institutions on separate pieces of paper and put them on the roof of your house. The last one to blow off will contain the name of your college. (It is against the rules to put glue on any of the papers or to blow one of them off yourself). If you fall off the roof, of course, your worries are over.

There are some considerations that might narrow the field of your choice. One of the most important of these (especially for a boy) is whether or not the school he has in mind has a good football team. It is unbearable to go to a college that gets beaten on the gridiron every Saturday. If the school has a good basketball team it might counterbalance this weakness, however.

Those who want to have a good time should certainly go to a co-educational institution. Girls who ignore this advice are flirting with fate.

In the future we expect that the work of the guides and teachers who are forever being consulted by college aspirants will be cut down considerably.

THAT'S THE LAW!

Since Columbia High has been in existence a great many regulations have been made (don't we know it!). Some of them have become obsolete, but they may still be found buried deep in the dusty records of the school. Perhaps there are a few you haven't heard of. For example, it is against the rules to eat an aardvark during a class period.

Students are not permitted to drive aardvarks faster than twenty-five miles per hour around the halls of the school building. (It is a difficult feat under the best conditions).

Any person found masquerading as an aardvark in the library will have his subscription to Action Comics cancelled immediately.

Experience has shown that aardvarks rarely study physics, being more interested in the fine arts. Consequently, a law has recently been passed forbidding aardvarks to take that subject. It seems we no longer have the facilities for teaching it to them.

RENDEZVOUS

One of the quaint little spots in our community which we shall long remember is that popular rendezvous of the smarter set—Gruning's. Almost every town in America boasts a similar establishment, but we naturally feel there is something special about our own.

There is rarely a time when Gruning's is not filled with Columbia students. There is some strange allurements about this ice cream emporium that consistently attracts a huge number of youthful customers (far in excess of the seating capacity) who jam their way in to chatter with their friends and listen to the wail of the familiar juke box while sipping a soda. There is a constant confusion of voices and milling humanity. To the unsympathetic onlooker it is not a fit habitation for the Devil, but we like it; at least we always come back for more.

STARS OF THE CAST

Junior Night

There comes a time in every junior's life when he feels the urge to splurge—artistically. This feeling wells up inside of him, growing larger and stronger until it bursts out into the annual musical extravaganza, Junior Night. The present junior class was no exception. With publicity posters screaming "Who is Hoiman?" (we still don't know), they launched the good ship Fore and Aft accompanied by songs and dances, chorus girls and chorus boys, glee clubs and orchestras, into the mighty ocean of applause, with which the show was greeted.

As far as we could see (our seats were very bad) the plot centered about a group of theatrical people who, failing to find a backer on Broadway, decided to finance their own show on a river boat they acquired. Since any show is a flop without a love interest, the juniors provided us with a complicated but satisfying one that went something like this:

In order to keep Vivian Barlow, a box office attraction, with the show, our hero, Steve, is forced to spend so much time with her that his true love is neglected. To round out the love situation another problem arises in which the comedienne lavishes unanswered affection upon Artie Crandall, the deserving but disinterested comedian.

Just as the domestic intricacies seem close to a settlement, a gang of desperadoes come abroad to find that their former hideout has been changed into a showboat. Their leader, a tight-lipped gangster of the brainy type, informs his mob through half-clenched teeth that this is a set-up in which they might be able to pick up some extra cash, a commodity that is always welcome.

They then disguise themselves as musicians and work their way into the show. One of their members, Eggy by name, provides (beside a lot of humor) an opportunity for us to get a glimpse (a veiled glimpse, but a glimpse anyway) of a school of mermaids. He falls overboard, and it is here that the editor struck a snag. Do mermaids travel in schools, or bunches, or what? There were no text books available on the subject.

Finally the nefarious scheme is revealed by a belated telegram, and the harbor police are able to pick up the whole gang. We feel it our duty to give credit for this daring to Sergeant O' something-or-other from Hoboken. After all, he saved the showboat and made it possible for us to have such a wonderful entertainment.

SONGS TO REMEMBER

During our three years at Columbia hundreds of songs have been published; and at some far distant date perhaps we will recall a few of them, and with them some of the more pleasant aspects of high school life. For future reference, therefore, we have listed some of the more popular tunes that we sang, whistled, or danced to between September of 1942 and June of 1945. They are arranged in more or less chronological order:

My Devotion; I've Got a Gal in Kalamazoo; Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition; White Christmas; Mr. Five by Five; You'd Be So Nice to Come Home to; Moonlight Becomes You; I've Heard That Song Before; There Are Such Things; Brazil; That Old Black Magic; Don't Get Around Much Any More; As Time Goes By.

You'll Never Know; Paper Doll; Pistol Packin' Mama; Sunday, Monday, or Always; People Will Say We're in Love; My Heart Tells Me; Holiday for Strings; Besame Mucho; Shoo-Shoo, Baby; It's Love, Love, Love; I Love You; Long Ago and Far Away; Amor; I'll Be Seeing You; Is You Is or Is You Ain't My Baby?

I'll Walk Alone; The Trolley Song; Together; Dance With the Dolly; I Dream of You; Don't Fence Me In; My Heart Sings; Accentuate the Positive; More and More.

THE PROGRESSIVE MOVEMENT
IN COLUMBIA

Although we seniors will always have a soft spot in our hearts for Columbia, we realize that that sacred institution is not entirely perfect, in spite of our efforts. It will probably take a long time to bring about some of the reforms we consider necessary; therefore we leave the bulk of the task to this year's sophomore class, which still has two years to accomplish something.

This, then, is a partial enumeration of the improvements we think should be made:

First of all, we wish someone would revise the time schedule so that at least one period would start or end at a conventional hour like 11:15, instead of 11:49½, or whatever it is.

We think it would be very nice if escalators were installed. The arduous journey from the cafeteria to the third floor saps our vitality.

The cafeteria should be converted into a fashionable eating place, where fat, juicy steaks and other choice bits may be procured without ration points, all for the fairly reasonable price of 35c. The place would be well staffed with waiters and waitresses, of course.

It would be a good idea to have some device to transport our books between classes. A valuable addition to the library would be that celebrated book, 1001 Ways To Gyp School, complete with its supplementary list of plausible excuses.

The Victory Corps began its third year in September, 1944. Through the two Service Committees boys have been recruited for several paper salvage drives in South Orange and Maplewood. Girls have been sent to aid the Rationing Boards, the South Orange Community House, and the Maplewood Servicemen's Committee.

The Corps has sponsored talks by a representative of the New Jersey State Guard and by Lieutenant Hamlin of the Army Air Corps. A moving picture, "Introduction to the Army," was shown to all the boys in the high school. War Savings Stamps have been sold throughout the year by the Community Service Division and Bonds by the Sea Division. The Corps has helped in the war effort of the school and community whenever possible.

Columbia Clubs

ART SERVICE CLUB

The Art Service Club, an active group of thirty-two members, is on call any time during the year. Painting posters for clubs, school affairs, war stamps, and the bond drive is one of its activities. Members also design and paint scenery for school plays. Its officers are: President, Nancy Summers; Vice-President, Mary Anne Paulus; Secretary-Treasurer, Connie Norton. The faculty sponsor is Miss Demarest.

CHILD CARE CLUB

The Child Care Club aims to give high school students background material for the growth and normal development of children. With this knowledge the members are ready to cope with problems that arise when caring for children. As the group is an active but small club of interested people, there are no officers. Miss Helen Snyder sponsors the club.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club draws as members students who are taking commercial subjects. Its objects are to promote an interest in business affairs, fellowship among the members, and a means of gaining contact with business personnel and organizations. The officers are: President, Florence Bevensee; Vice-President, Ruth Staele; Secretary, Irene Haar; Treasurer, Lillian Tenhengel. Mrs. Conover and Miss Johnson sponsor the club.

THE FIRST AID CLUB

This club is a fairly new one in Columbia. It is primarily for students who wish to obtain their Junior First Aid card. During the meetings the members learn the essential rules of first aid, and put them to practice. Anyone who wishes to help with the war effort can certainly do his part by joining this worth-while club.

FORUM ROMANUM

The Forum Romanum is an organization of people interested in the Romans and their culture. Members contribute ideas and material for the monthly meetings. This year the club sponsored a drive for warm clothing for the Greek War Relief. The officers are: President, Lois Miller; Vice-President, Don Mawha; Secretary, Joan Pollock. The faculty sponsors are Miss Sanders and Miss Leech.

FRENCH CLUB

Le Cercle Francais is an organization for all students who possess a reading knowledge of French. Throughout the year information on French culture, history, and current events is presented by movies, speakers, and student programs. Members publish a newspaper, La Petite Fenille, three times a year. Present officers are: President, Mary Woodman; Vice-President, Ann Terry; Secretary, Lois Deile; Treasurer, Max Gunther. Faculty Advisers: Miss C. Carrigan, Miss Freeman.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The G. A. A. sponsors girls' inter-class competition in soccer, volley-ball, basketball, softball, swimming, and individual participation in sports such as tennis, skating, and hiking. At the annual banquet, letters and numerals are awarded to outstanding athletes, and a banner is given to the winning class. Officers this year are: President, Betty club has its own chorus and band. Its officers are: President, Don Kaplan; Vice-President, Hedwig Tafelmaier; Secretary, Betsy Lou Holmes; and Treasurer, Imelde Tenore. The faculty sponsors are Miss Artale and Mrs. Castillo.

LYCEUM CLUB

The Lyceum Club, composed of students interested in national and world events, meets once a month to consider current problems through prepared speeches and forum discussions. Members maintain a bulletin board and book shelf in the library. The Lyceum also participates in the semi-annual conferences of the New Jersey Relations Forum. Officers for this year are: President, Ellis Singer; Vice-President, Richard Thiele; Secretary, Betsy Lantry; Treasurer, Bud Brandt; Faculty Adviser, Miss Lipceci.

THE GUILD

The Guild is organized to foster interest and develop talent in creative writing, to give its members a richer appreciation and understanding of the literature and culture of America and other lands, and to give them opportunities to write and produce programs for their monthly meetings. The officers are: President, Helen Chase; Vice-President, Alice Strahan; Secretary, Jackie Masters; Treasurer, Alice Spears. The sponsor is Miss Nichols.

M. A. N. CLUB

The Mathematics for Army and Navy Club, open to students with at least two years of mathematics, is divided into three groups. The Instruments Division meets under the sponsorship of Mr. Hughes; Navigation, Mr. Paige; and Recreational Math., Mr. Talbot. Each division of the club meets twice a month. Officers are: President, Ray Traeger; Vice-President, Alan Mossman; Secretary-Treasurer, Henry King.

MODEL PLANE BUILDING AND IDENTIFICATION CLUB

The Model Plane Building and Identification Club is composed of boys interested in aviation. This year identification is not stressed because most of the members are experienced in this field. The emphasis is placed on the construction of plane models which the boys make as a hobby. Officers for this year are: President, William Main; Vice-President, Jim Ferguson; Secretary, Neil Meyers; Sponsor, Mr. Platt.

MUSIC BOX

The Music Box Club is unique in the fact that it is the only club of its kind in Columbia High School. Its members are students who have either instrumental or vocal talent, and each one participates in at least one meeting a year. Its activities include opera trips, an assembly program, and parties. The club officers are: President, Betsy Lou Holmes; Vice-President, Donald Wildrick; Secretary, Betty Tupper; and Treasurer, Ruth Stomne. The faculty sponsor is Mr. Russell Shenton.

PAN AMERICAN CLUB

The Pan American Club is open to students who are taking a course in Spanish or who have a good understanding of the language. Its programs are devoted to promoting an interest in things Spanish and Latin American—plays, songs, dances, architecture, and culture in general. This year the Brady; Vice-President, Lora Landers; Secretary, Evelyn Clark; Treasurer, Jackie Ebling. Faculty Advisers: Miss Burbank, Miss Hoxie, Miss Thompson, Miss Zahn.

PERSONALITY CLUB

The purpose of the Personality Club is to teach its one hundred and fifty junior and senior girl members how to get along better with other people and to be able to enjoy them more. During the course of the year, the club presents outside speakers, movies, radio interests, trips, and community services as activities. Its officers are: President, Marilyn Dunn; Vice-President, Marjorie Cosgrove; Secretary, Joan Lebrecht; and Treasurer, Joan Pollock. Mrs. Baker is the group's sponsor.

RADIO AND COMMUNICATION CLUB

The Radio and Communication Club, which features the study of code and the building of radio sets, is a very worthwhile organization for girls as well as for boys. The only requirement is that the student be able to pass a test based on the simple facts of radio. This year's officers are: President, Jack Helfrick; Vice-President, Ellis Kopf; Secretary, Bill Bertenshaw; Treasurer, Dick Lyons; Faculty Adviser, Mr. Chase.

RED CROSS SEWING

The Red Cross Sewing Club is for girls who wish to assist with Red Cross work, as well as for those with an interest in sewing. The club does sewing of all kinds, and no special talent is necessary in order for one to become a member. Under the capable direction of Miss Zielenbach, the members have a goal of thirty hours' work. For this they receive their Red Cross sewing pin. (No officers are elected.)

Football

Bounding back from a rather poor 1943 season with a wealth of experienced reserves, the Cougars rolled over Kearny, Plainfield, and Morristown unscored on before losing the next five games in a row to Orange, Westfield, Montclair, East Orange, and New Brunswick. The season was successfully closed, however, when the team fought hard and upset the favored West Orange team on Thanksgiving Day. The boys showed their ability when they took an early two-touchdown lead over the Mounties. Excellent defensive play, led by Dernardo, McLaughlin, and Baldwin, reflected in the other members of the team, made Columbia a tough team to crack, together with its strong running offense. As a result, our opponents took to the air and found a weak spot in Columbia pass defense. Always a hard fighting team, showing more ability than the scores usually indicated, this year's Cougars gave us a season to be proud of in spite of the several defeats sustained.

Head Coach: Russell Neide

Ass't. Coach: Walter Hack

Captain: David Blaetz

Faculty Mgr.: George Jackson

Student Mgr.: Jerry Lee

In his second year at Columbia Coach Russ Neide produced a basketball quintet which ranked with the very best in North Jersey. The Cougar courtment started slowly, clinging near the .500 mark until mid-January; then they rolled up a string of eight consecutive victories and reached the top of the Essex County basketball ladder. One of the highlights of the early play was Dick Lee's record-shattering performance in the Montclair game during which he scored 26 points, surpassing the previous high mark for the Columbia court by five.

Coach Neide's charges began their winning streak with a thrilling victory over a good Orange team, 36-34. Then after three comparatively easy conquests on enemy courts, the Cougars returned home to score their first victory over a Kearny five in four years. The Kardinals were smashed decisively, as the 38-23 score indicates; the game was never close after the first few minutes.

Next came a crushing win over Bloomfield, a serious contender for top honors; and the stage was set for the climax of the season. East Orange, always one of our bitterest rivals, was undefeated in twelve games. Before 450 screaming partisans packed in an East Orange gym designed to accommodate about half that number, Columbia rallied in the last eight seconds of play to overcome a 34-31 deficit and went on to win 36-34 in overtime.

The victory skein was completed with the triumph over Weequahic, another good team. In the season's finale the Cougars bowed to New Brunswick, the state champions, closing with the commendable record of thirteen victories and six defeats.

Girls' Athletic Association

We've had lots of fun in G.A.A. this year, from our first party early in September where we welcomed our new sophomore members and initiated their representatives to the G.A.A. council.

Council, headed by our president, Betty Brady, vice-president, Lora Landers, and supervised by Miss Zahn, has worked hard this year. They made many necessary changes in our after-school program and also re-wrote the G.A.A. Constitution.

Soccer and the two fall swimming meets started off our fall activities with the juniors taking the honors in both. The fall tennis tournament also got underway with eager contestants battling for their places in the spring tournament.

Volleyball, starting a few months earlier this year, followed close behind with the usual amount of enthusiasm (and broken fingernails). This time the sophomores came through with flying colors.

Then we took time out to make plans for the annual Christmas party. Decoration and refreshment committees were formed, and the entertainment committee started writing the script.

The New Year started with basketball season. This year's homeroom basketball was omitted, but inter-class games were held as usual. The spring swimming meets followed, and last but not least, baseball.

One of the most popular branches of G.A.A. has been the Modern Dance Club, membership to which is determined by try-outs early in the fall. The club attributes much to its president, Dottie Green, and to Miss Hoxi, its new adviser.

The grand finale of the year is always the banquet held in May when the awards are given out and the banner is presented to the class achieving most success in the inter-class competition. This is the time when the seniors look back with pleasure on all the fun they've had, the juniors anxiously await the next year when they will be at the top of the ladder, and the sophomores realize what a wonderful organization the G.A.A. really is.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION IN WARTIME

Wartime service demands physical fitness far beyond that required for peacetime activities. The transition from peacetime physical education to wartime physical fitness necessitated a change in emphasis from a skills program, essentially recreational in nature, to a conditioning program involving strength, endurance, and stamina necessary for survival. Coordination, speed, and agility are present in both types of program, but war demands these to a much greater degree. Health factors such as a proper regimen of eating, sleeping, and exercise have received special attention because most of the past service rejections have been due to remediable or preventable health factors such as eye and ear defects.

The change from two double periods a week to a daily period of physical education has done much to improve the physical efficiency of our boys and girls. New activities include military tactics, wartime driver education, Ranger activities, running the indoor obstacle course, and wartime swimming techniques. The armed forces stress swimming as a must for everybody. Hence, special effort has been made to get total participation in this field.

Among the activities suggested as a part of the Victory Corps Program are the following: wide-spread participation in intramural and interscholastic athletics, regular medical and physical examinations, a testing program for judging achievement, conditioning calisthenics, teaching of swimming to beginners, life-saving techniques, tumbling, touch football, basketball, softball, volley-ball, soccer, and heavy gymnastics, all of which are part of our regular routine. The girls also include dancing and home nursing. Increased emphasis has been placed on conditioning drills, distance swimming, distance running, and heavy gymnastics.

Our program is a small part of the total effort in which the boys and girls of this country have met, with colors flying, the obligations of war. The physical education program aims to assist in preparing them to meet the challenges of peace in a like manner.
