Dedication

For four years we have utilized our resources for destruction. With the victory we have accepted the great responsibility of building to insure tomorrow's peace. Not only must we rebuild war-torn cities, but also we must establish a means for world peace as we have manufactured a plan for war. Therefore this Mirror is dedicated to those who shall rebuild the old, and you who shall construct a new and better world.

SENIOR HISTORY

We, the members of the first full class of Columbia High School to graduate during the past five years in a nation at peace, are truly fortunate. We no longer have to face a world racked with war, a world cursed with dying men and starving babies. We go into a world at last in peace.

When we look back and see how many Columbia graduates fought in that war, and how many died to end it, we are humbled. Still, there is other important work for us, because we shall have to keep the peace for those who fought to achieve it.

We may justly be proud of our school's record of war-time accomplishments. Columbia's fine acceleration program enabled many students, now in college or one of the services, to leave school with a diploma; and much credit belongs to the faculty members who gave up their vacations to teach during the long summer months.

Now it seems fitting that we should review what has passed in our three years in Columbia.

We felt the sadness of our President's death when he passed away a short time before the finish of the war he had worked so hard to end. Things predicting a new kind of future occurred. The release of atomic energy, beforehand a fantasy, opened a new age for us to live in. The United Nations Conference in San Francisco gave promise of a better and peaceful world for us and our successors. The end of the war, which meant so much to all of us, finally came, and we paused for a moment in grateful thanks.

Within the activities of the school many things happened during our three years. It will be a long time before most of us forget the exciting Saturday afternoons we spent in the cheering section at Underhill Field, or the thrilling basketball games we watched, for during all the war our sports program was not halted. The teams were of the same high calibre and spirit that Columbia has always known.

Our thespians have had no less success. After beginning with some entertaining Sophomore Dramatic Club productions, we really got rolling with Fore and Aft, our Junior Night production. This musical comedy concerned a group of actors, who, after failing to find a backer for their show, obtain a river boat. The show had everything from gangsters, glee clubs, and lovers—to mermaids. As a senior class we produced The Royal Family, by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman. A satire on the fabulous Barrymore clan, it was ranked high among all senior plays.

Now as we leave Columbia, it is with a feeling rather of regret than of joy, for with our high school we leave a host of friends and a host of memories. Columbia has given us a fine education which will enable us to meet the challenge of the future, and for which we will always be grateful. With the world seeking unity and permanent peace, we feel that Columbia has prepared us better to make our individual contributions to that end.

IN MEMORIAM

Jean Layer

Senior Will

We, the class of 1946, the most distinguished and intelligent class to graduate in 1946, being of sound mind and body (it says here), do hereby will and bequeath our most prized possessions in this, our Last Will and Testament.

Item 1: I, Doris Cook, leave to Nancy Smith my title of "Miss Jet Propulsion."

Item 2: I, Joel Ollendorf, leave my lovely singing voice (comparable to the Life Buoy fog horn) to anyone willing enough to accept it. I am the only guy in the world who can sing "Old Man River" and make him stop rolling!

Item 3: I, Bob Somers, leave my nick-name "Man Mountain" to Bob Seidensticker. (May Bob someday hear the patter of little "molehills" around the house).

Item 4: I, Dick Dinge, leave my hidden talent, trumpet playing, to the junior who feels worthy of it. What's more, I can play with only one lip.

Item 5: I, Bill Maclehose, leave to the many who have had trouble in pronouncing my name the knowledge that it is pronounced just the way that it is spelled.

Item 6: I, Imelda Tenore, leave my bubbling laughter to Carol Conover. We're the girls the "world" really likes to laugh with.

Item 7: I, Don Kaplan, president of the G. A. A., regretfully relinquish my position to next year's president.

Item 8: I, Frankie Madison, leave half of my wit to Charles Seigfried. Wait a minute, I won't have anything left!

Item 9: I, Charles Selden, leave my bashfulness and innocent blush to Jim Owen.

Item 10: We, Sue Scott, Nancy Officer, and Betsy Lou Holmes, leave the light fantastic to any junior girls who can trip it as well as we can.

Item 11: I, Proctor McCutchen, will actually leave my startling jacket with the red and black stripes to Blair Hunter. I know it's a sacrifice, but I can stand it if he can.

Item 12: I, Spike Towey, leave that certain something that makes silly girls form fan clubs to Harry Ellen.

Item 13: I, Tom Casserly, leave this query: Why wasn't I consulted when they were making the atom bomb?

Item 14: We, Lucienne Burgess and Norma Then, the hubba hubba girls, leave our charm and trail of broken hearts to Sue Lewis and Olivia Sloan.

Item 15: I, Carter Scattergood, leave my latest composition, "Paste Me Mama with a Mushy Meatball," to Vinnie Rosamilia. He can really pound the "88".

Item 16: We, Bill Nissen and Dick Dutton, do bequeath to Walter Prior and Dick Gebert, a rooting section that will refrain from running a steeplechase with the band through the school songs.

Item 17: I, Lloyd Gardiner, leave my reputation for being well dressed to Bob Mitchell.

Item 18: I, John Olwine, leave my size 13 twin-amphibious tanks to John Kallop.

Item 19: We, June Poppole and Mary Jane Steinan, leave our popularity and all-around attractiveness to Barbara Jones and Sis Alexander.

Item 20: I, Mary Muller, leave by beautiful blond hair to Betsy Dorrance. Our hair is natural in color! How many other blondes can make that statement?

Item 21: I, Dick Welden, having bequeathed my fondness for the opposite sex to Jim Monk, do hereby state once and for all that I am through with girls. from now on it's women!

Item 22: I, Dick Barba, leave a half-bottle of Wildroot Cream Oil and a worn out comb to John Heugle. Oh, Johnny, Oh!

Item 23: I, Dick Lyons, leave to any would-be jokester the story of the broken pencil, although there isn't much point to it!

Item 24: I-all, Elspeth Wright, leave some of that Southern charm to the junior girls who wish they were from the South . . . The South, that is.

Item 25: I, Charley Marti, leave.

Item 26: I, Dick Dryer, bequeath to next year's prophet my amazing psychic powers.

Item 27: I, Don Harrison, leave my fine character acting ability to the fellow destined to star in next year's senior play.

Item 28: I, Frank Taglienti, bequeath my outstanding speed to trackster Norman Birkenmeir. But "leave" us dispense with "racey stories".

Item 29: I, Dick Thiele, do bequeath my journalistic talents to Eric Closs . . . who can also read and write.

Item 30: We, Jack Bahto and Dick Barba, leave to next year's co-captains, Pinky Sellitto and Bill Campbell, the highest hopes for a victorious football season.

Item 31: I, Schuyler Brooks, leave to the treasurer of the class of '47 the knowledge that his answer to the eternal question will probably be "I dues".

Item 32: I, Ruth Hill, leave my numerous dates (and probably a fig or two), to Betsy Lantry.

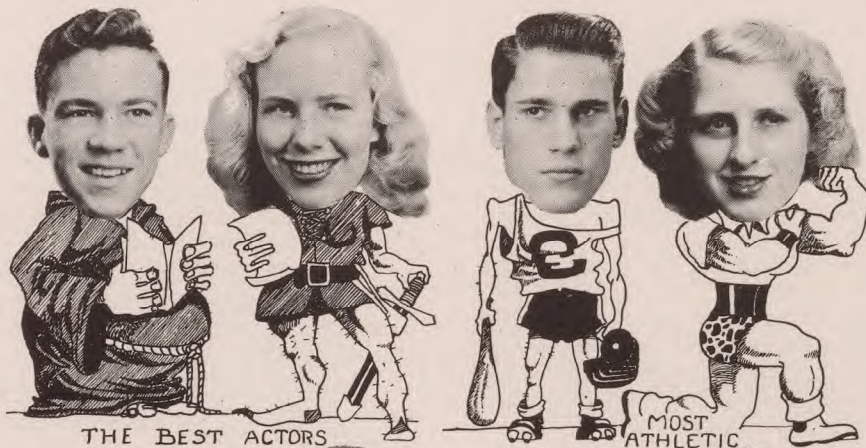

Item 33: I, Joan Eisner, leave my highly cultured voice to any junior girl who can outdo me in the second chorus of "Rinso White."

Item 34: I, Charlie Elliott, leave to next year's Mirror chief a large bottle of aspirin and a few comforting words . . . he'll need them.

Item 35: I, Alice Strahan, first girl Fire Committee head, leave my hose (no kiddies, it isn't nylon), to the Fire Committee of '47.

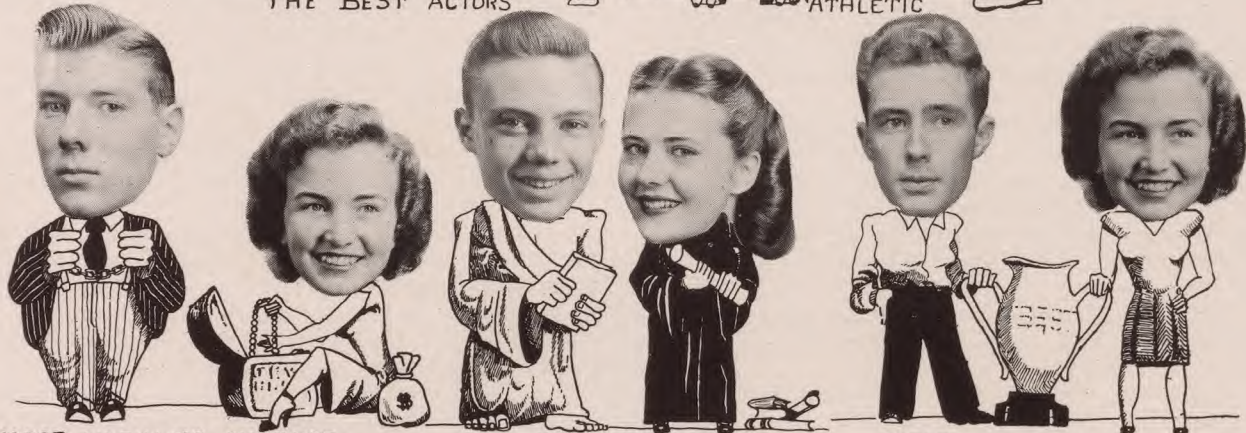

Item 36: I, Stan Roller, leave to next year's president the recognition that he will be the president of the student council of the finest school anywhere.

Item 37: We, the rest of the senior class leave to the rest of the Junior class full seniority rights in Columbia!

Senior Play

As the curtain rang down, the cast of The Royal Family heaved a sigh of relief and hurried into the gymnasium where there were waiting jars of cold cream. Above the shouts and the singing scattered remarks could be heard.

"Well, thank heavens it's finally over."

"At last, some free time in the afternoon."

"No more rehearsing into the black hours of the evening."

But along with the jubilation and good natured griping, there existed the sad feeling that it was over. Each part had been developed and woven into a pattern under the guiding hand and watchful eye of Mrs. Miriam Furness, director, until at long last the finished production emerged.

Written by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, and based on the fabulous Barrymore family, The Royal Family has a plot full of perplexing situations worthy of the Barrymores themselves. The problems of the entire Cavendish family fell upon the shoulders of Julie Cavendish (Jane Krueger), a Broadway actress. To keep her mother, Fanny (Elsbeth Wright), who was still very ill, from returning to the stage, Julie enlisted the aid of the family manager, Oscar Wolfe (Don Harrison). The two were presented with another problem in Herbert Dean (Bob Feely), and his wife Kitty (Gloria Snyder). The Deans, well past their prime in the acting field, made it a habit to appear at the Cavendish household when they were least welcome. The arrival of Tony Cavendish (Kenneth Lane), Hollywood's number one matinee idol, further complicated the situation. Further interest was supplied by Gwen (Norma Then), and Perry Stewart (Schuyler Brooks), who doesn't at all like the idea of his wife having a career in the theatre. Bob Turton as a wealthy South American diamond merchant arrived on the scene to woo Julie, an old flame of his. Tony's reappearance in the third act with an Indian giant, a parrot, a monkey, and a dog was really all but fantastic. The play ended as Fanny, now a great grandmother, died happy, assured that the name and honor of the Cavendish family in the theatre world would be carried on.

Although Jane Krueger, Elsbeth Wright, Kenneth Lane and Don Harrison were outstanding, the entire cast is to be complimented for its fine work in making the play a success.

Senior Prophecy

If the reader of this article had been standing at the intersection of North and Plane streets, he would have seen a small be-spectacled man push open a door marked 'Augurers Incorporated—Two Flights Up'. Had the reader remained a few minutes longer, he would have seen the same man emerge on the street once more, carrying a yellow manilla envelope. Inside the envelope was the document you are about to read, written in a style such as a high school student would use. That is the true story, and I feel that the public is entitled to know.

On Broadway John Sherman has just produced and directed his third musical hit, starring the famous dancer, Sue Scott. The Scott-Sherman team is enough to make any play famous, although John brought the wrath of the nation's educators down upon his head when he credited his success more to Senior Night experience than academics. Also in the swank and glitter of New York is Don MacCoy and his band, called "The Macabre Ten." MacCoy still does the drums, while Vincent Rosamilia handles the ivories and Dick Brady is featured on the trumpet.

In the field of literature, Cecil Wiener has won the Pulitzer Prize for her last novel. Cecil attributes it all to the fact that she thinks of the titles first and then builds the plot and characters around them. The political writers of the day emerge as Joan Eisner and Dick Thiele. Joan's book, "Democratic Socialism in the United States," and Dick's "Socialism: It Can't Happen Here" were published almost simultaneously. The bewildered critics list them both as required reading and let it go at that.

The magazines haven't changed much. One of the recent issues spots a picture of June Hellrigel in one of those dreamy poses. The caption reads, "Girls! Do you want to look like this beautiful girl? Do as the Powers Models do. Use Gre-Solvent on your face and hands."

It is but a short jump from magazines to newspapers, in which Charles Marti runs a syndicated column. Marti worked his way up the hard way, starting as a reporter for the "Hobo News". His column, still known as "The Listening Post", is the equivalent of Walter Winchell with a dash of Bob Hope thrown in. One of his recent items states that Mary Jane Steinen has been voted the best dressed woman of the year and that Betty Patterson is considered the best comedienne in radio. June Poppele has also crashed the headlines with her cream colored autogiro (with loudspeaker).

Dick Torbert has been elected to the United Nations Organization, and in the international sports meet sponsored by that same organization Ted Baldwin and John Bippart walked off with the swimming honors and Charley Kenny set a new world's record for the one-hundred-yard dash.

In national sports Dick Barba is a unanimous selection on everybody's All-American this year. However, things aren't so bright for Joel Mareinis. He bought himself a ball club and proceeded to put his pet theories into practice, but the club always seems to wind up second place instead of in the coveted first.

In the inventive field Malcolm Wheeler, an engineer, and Frank Conlin, a physicist, have collaborated in the perfection of an atomic motor. Fittingly enough, Columbium was the element used in the process. (Yes, there is such a metal.) Akin to the field of engineering and such, Joel Ollendorf has come up with a new and improved slide rule. It is two feet long and six inches wide, and is powered by a small battery-operated six volt motor. Unfortunately, use of this rule by trigonometry students has been forbidden by most schools; for on the back of the rule is a list of ten thousand completely solved triangles. That jet phone you see carrying the mail from New York to Chicago was the invention of Lester O'Brien, the country's foremost aeronautical engineer.

Proctor McCutchen, the inventor of all the animated election signs, is now the head of General Electric's experimental division.

Running true to form is Don Wildrick, celebrating his third year with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

In the "Who 'da thought it?" department we have Nancy Hutchcraft teaching Spanish. An election bet, perhaps?

The winner of the Nobel Prize for medicine this year is Frank McLaughlin. He received the reward as a recognition for his work against rheumatic heart disease.

Not long ago the United Nations Organization voted to start publication of an international journal in the effort to promote better world understanding. It is published in twenty different tongues so as to reach the greatest number of people. The editor in chief is Charles Elliott, and the man who originated the idea was David Main.

Peace on the home front as well as abroad is now an accomplished fact, thanks to John Richardson. John is now the head to the C. I. O. and has secured labor peace almost by sheer force of personality.

Lloyd Cotsen, United States Senator from New Jersey, said in a recent speech that never before has the world experienced such a period of peace and prosperity and that the United States along with the rest of the nations will continue to move forward in the paths of peace.

No man can foresee future events, so this is not necessarily an imperfect prophecy. However, it is safe to state that no matter what the future holds in store for us, it will always reflect credit upon Columbia High School.

Junior Night

It's "In the Bag"! With this title, the class of 1947 presented its original musical extravaganza which indeed had the delighted audience "in the bag."

The plot of Junior Night wafted us far from the milling city throng to the jerkwater town of East Driftwood, U. S. A., way back in 1904, during the time of rough riding Teddy Roosevelt.

When news arrived at Ezra's Emporium in East Driftwood that president Theodore Roosevelt will stop in that town to make a political speech, Major Gridley, the town's leading citizen, prepares a reception which breaks up when Teddys train fails to arrive. The dynamic Roosevelt (Don Whitehead) finally arrives on foot accompanied by four haggard secret service men and becomes Gridley's house guest along with Finley J. Barnes (Louis Winkleman), a confidence man from New York. The community is faced with a problem in Jessica (Nancy Blanchard), Major Gridley's beautiful daughter, who, alas, is husbandless. The Major refuses to allow Penelope, another one of his daughters, to marry until Jessica, the eldest is wed; but Jessica will have nothing to do with Cyrus, her only suitor. In the meantime, Barnes and his accomplice, Clarence, steal the life savings of Hercules, the strong man in the circus which is camped in town, but are discovered in the act by Ronnie (Walter Prior), the lion tamer. Clarence blackjacks Ronnie, and the two crooks throw him into the basket of an ascension balloon. Blaming Ronnie for the robbery, Barnes talks Jessica into marrying him, hoping to get control of her father's money. However, President Roosevelt discovers Ronnie in the Balloon, and the two arrive in time to foil the scheme and reunite Jessica and Ronnie.

Woven into the plot was a series of spritely dances and songs. The "Dance of the Kiddies" and the "Circus Dance" were both ingenious and well interpreted, and the "Star" and "Country" dances were also very effective.

However, in the opinion of this reviewer, "In the Bag's" most creditable feature, other than its very fine plot, was its original music. Three excellent songs — "Once Upon a Time," "Walking By," and "I Think of You", written by Tyler Richards, Alyn Heim, and Carol Levey — augmented the score of the show and formed a fine musical background.

The outstanding dramatic performances of the night were turned in by Don Whitehead and Bob Helmlinger. The latter really "stole" the show as Cyrus, the local yokel who pursued Jessica in vain.

A great deal of credit for the production is due Miss Mary Clutton who directed the show, and the many members of the junior class and the faculty who did such a good job on the costumes, scenery, and dances.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore Dramatic Club

The Sophomore Dramatic Club is one of Columbia High's outstanding organizations, not only because it is the largest single club but also because it is the only all-sophomore organization in the school. The club provides all sophomores who are interested with an opportunity to express themselves in the various fields of drama and to gain theatrical experience.

The membership of the club is not based on competitive tryouts, but rather on the sincerity of the interest shown by the incoming sophomores. The membership this year has reached the record total of 275, the greatest in the club's history.

The chief aim of the organization is to include all interested club members in at least one of the year's activities. This presents a great problem to Miss Alexander, the club sponsor, who must build an entirely new organization each year. Miss Alexander begins to fashion the club shortly after school opens in September; and she works steadily until June, devoting four afternoons a week to the tremendous job.

This year's activities include three assembly plays, of which two, "Five for Bad Luck," and "Elmer," have been given to date; numerous club meeting programs; and six theater excursions to New York. Members of these club parties have seen "Hats off to Ice," "Life With Father," "Bloomer Girl," and "I Remember Mama."

The club is divided into four groups. The first of these is the Little Theatre group, whose members provide the casts for the various plays given by the club.

The Radio Group experiments with speaking and acting over a microphone. It attempts to improve speech habits, and also presents club programs, one of which, "Kinshe Jack Dolton," a stark melodrama, was done with costumes and make-up.

The Make-up Group studies pancake and greasepaint make-up of men and women of various ages and races.

The final one is the Drama Appreciation group, whose members discuss radio, stage, and screen personalities and productions. This year the group presented to the club the March of Time short, "Movies on Parade."

In addition to having these opportunities, members may gain experience in directing, prompting, and sewing on committees.

This year's officers are: President, Dan Van Dorn; Vice-president, Joan Keith; Treasurer, Ed Paul; Assistant Treasurer, Lois Sheridan; Secretary, Anita Nieman; Assistant Secretary, Jane McKim; Club Photographer, Robert Green.

The Columbian is Columbia High School's student edited and student managed newspaper, ably sponsored by Miss Florence K. Lockerby. It is published thirteen times a year under the direction of Editor-in-Chief Richard Thiele and managing editors Norman Wolfe, Jane Kruger, and Eric Closs. The purpose of the Columbian is to report the news, to entertain its readers, and to stimulate student interest in school activities. A convenient mailbox is operated by the paper to facilitate pupil participation. Perhaps the biggest problem facing the editorial staff each issue is obtaining a lead story. When such events as Junior Night, the Senior Play, or the Thanksgiving Day football game are about to take place, they are used for lead stories. On other occasions the Guidance Department is given the spotlight, or an assembly is reviewed. This year marked the introduction of two new features: "Who's News," which reports interesting happenings to Columbia students, and "The Critic's View," which presents reviews of current plays and moving pictures. Other regular features are the popular "Jive Jargon" and the ever humorous "The Listening Post." Sports are also given full coverage in every issue of the Columbian. Charles Marti is the general sports' editor, and Claire Conover handles all the G. A. A. news. Lloyd Cotsen puts the finishing touches on the stories with accurate, yet striking headlines. Besides this editorial staff, the Columbian also has an equally important business staff which is sponsored by Mr. Carl Strony. It is the job of this group to obtain advertisers for the paper and distribute the copies throughout the school when it is published. Alice Strahan and Joanna Schooley are the circulation and advertising managers. The editors and the business managers are assisted by many reporters who all help make a well organized paper. Earlier this year the Columbian presented an assembly program which helped the student body to understand better the aims and work of their school newspaper.

Columbia

Orchestra

Chorus

Music holds a prominent place in the numerous activities of Columbia High School. There are four principal musical organizations which afford opportunities for any person who is musically inclined. The Chorus and Orchestra combined, directed by Mr. Shenton, give two annual concerts, and the Orchestra plays for both Junior and Senior Nights. The Band, under the direction of Mr. Rudy, adds the necessary color to our Pep rallies in school and each football game in addition to presenting an annual concert. Lastly, the more serious type of music is presented by the A Cappella Choir.

In addition to these groups, the Music Box club is open to all pupils with any interest or talent in music. Music always enters into each assembly program through the accompaniment of our organist, Mr. Blake. Pupil assembly participation is encouraged through the presentation of an annual variety show.

Thus music plays an outstanding part in the activities of Columbia High School.

Mr. Shenton

Mr. Shenton

Each year for the past nineteen years, Mr. F. Russell Shenton has had the responsibility of working with two hundred odd students in planning and presenting assembly programs, concerts, and orchestrating for Junior Night. Nineteen years is a long time, but Mr. Shenton regards it as a great pleasure to work with Columbia students because he finds they have an outstanding amount of talent and spirit.

Before coming to Columbia, Mr. Shenton was music director in the public schools of Coatesville, Pennsylvania. He has also taught at West Chester State Teacher's College, Pennsylvania, and at New York University.

In 1929 Mr. Shenton wrote one of Columbia's favorite songs, "Columbia Memories". To those of us who have worked with him, this song possesses the sincere feelings that characterize his devotion to both the cause of music and to the school.

Only through recognition of his abilities can one expect to advance in the field of music, and Columbia is indeed fortunate to have a director so capable of recognizing and developing its talents.

The Chorus, open to all pupils who have an interest in singing, is under the direction of Mr. Shenton and meets every day as a regular part of the school curriculum. In its daily schedule are both classical and popular music. During the war the songs popular at that time were a special feature of the program.

The Chorus presents two concerts a year, one in January and the other in May. Concert arrangements of many semi-classical songs have always been available to the Chorus, and consequently the concerts include variety in the type of music presented. The music is especially chosen to please each type of listener. Mr. Shenton has always been careful to include a variety of songs in keeping with the times.

The Chorus, the largest musical organization in Columbia, offers excellent opportunities for the pupil participation.

The public concerts presented by the Chorus, Orchestra, and the Band represent the achievements accomplished by these organizations during the year.

Orchestra — Director, Mr. Shenton.
Band — Director, Mr. Rudy.
Chorus — Director, Mr. Shenton.

The first public concert is given in January by the Orchestra and Chorus combined. Solo work is always an attraction, and a great deal of variety is present.

By far the most important concerts are the ones presented during music week. The student is given every opportunity to render solos, and there are other outstanding ways of performing such as piano-organ duos or instrumental duets. The concert is usually terminated by a heavy Chorus number accompanied by the Orchestra. Perhaps the favorite is the famous "Ballad for Americans". A touch of comedy was found extremely successfully last year when the Orchestra gave us its version of "The Village Orchestra".

The Band concert follows a week later under the direction of Mr. Rudy. Here also there are always solo numbers, and the music varies from martial strains and the classics to variations of popular music.

The public concerts are always a colorful part of the school agenda.

Parnassian Society

Disraeli

The venerable Parnassian Society, which dates back to 1926, affords dramatically inclined students with an opportunity to gain experience in the various fields of drama.

A council, composed of two seniors, two juniors, and two sophomores, along with the five club officers, assists Miss Memory, the society's faculty adviser, in running the organization. The work of the society is divided among the standing committees: make-up, music, lighting, publicity, and ticket.

The year's activities include two meetings a month, three assembly plays, occasional theater parties, and an annual public production.

This year's officers are: president, Malcolm Wheeler; vice-president, Patty Edwards; treasurer, Joel Ollendorf; secretary, Shirley Schuyler; and program chairman, Mary Bowen.

When at last the fateful night in February rolled around, the cast of Louis N. Parker's "Disraeli" wandered through the empty auditorium finding the seats which their parents or their friends would occupy two hours later—joking, showing off their costumes, and in general trying to suppress their inward excitement. "Veterans" of Junior Night, Senior Play, and other Parnassian plays were just as excited with the whole experience as those performers appearing in their first production. To all, this night was the goal which they had been striving for through five grueling weeks of rehearsal under the excellent tutelage of Miss Memory.

They had seen the characters of English dukes and duchesses, British bankers, Russian spies, and of course the Rt. Honorable Benjamin Disraeli, King's Prime Minister, materialize as Miss Memory not only told us, but often showed us how to play the part.

The play itself was centered about the intrigue surrounding the purchase of the Suez Canal by England, and those in the audience were kept on the edge of their seats as Howard Ulsamer, portraying the English Prime Minister, matched his wits against the foreign conspirators who were out to stop the purchase.

The vivacious Clarissa, Betsy Dorrance, provided the audience with many a laugh at the expense of Charles, Charles Selden, who came to court her with a report on "model cottages" and "reforms on the estate". With typical feminine pride, the pretty heroine resented this treatment and proceeded to teach the lord a lesson.

The outstanding performance was unquestionably given by Howard Ulsamer who took an extremely difficult part and portrayed it remarkably well. During the play Disraeli had to show anger, amusement, and suffering, to be stern and commanding at times, and kind and lovable at others.

"Disraeli," being intensely dramatic in spots, and for the most part in a serious vein, was more difficult to present than some of the other Parnassian plays. However, it is a tribute to the cast and its director that the manner in which it was done ranks it among the finest productions in the history of the society.

Coach Raymond

Football Season

Under the capable leadership of Coach Elmer Raymond, the 1945 Cougar football machine completed a somewhat disappointing season by suffering a 12-7 defeat at the hands of West Orange. This setback came close on the heels of an exciting 19-7 victory over a highly favored East Orange aggregation. The team closed out the campaign with a seasonal record of three victories and six losses.

At the outset of the season Coach Raymond had the nucleus of a powerful team. We overcame Kearny handily 13-7 in our initial encounter but went down to defeat at the hands of a fast Plainfield eleven, 18-6, in a game that was played on a rain soaked gridiron. The team amazed everyone by defeating a highly touted Morristown opponent, 13-8, in a thrilling contest. This game proved to be disastrous for the team since it lost Jack Bahto, a potential All-Stater; Hugh Towey, a proficient punter; and Jack Denardo, a promising passer. When a team loses three of its starting performers, with the season well under way, the loss will have a decided effect on the outcome of its future games.

When the Orange game arrived, the boys put up a stubborn defense, and although holding the opponent to two first downs while gathering sixteen of our own, we succumbed by a 20-7 count. Thereafter followed a succession of three consecutive defeats at the hands of Westfield, Montclair, and New Brunswick.

However, it must be emphasized that no team displayed more fight and determination in the face of consistent hard luck than did this squad. It was discouraging for the boys to realize that statistically they had outplayed all of their opponents, and yet, they did not have the victories to account for their play.

Undoubtedly the outstanding performer of the season was Dick Barba, the brilliant half-back, who consistently made long gains throughout the campaign. Pinky Sellitto was another bright star with his passing and punting. There were many other players worthy of mention, such as Dick Meyer, our rugged tackle; Bill Campbell, a talented backfield operator; Ted Baldwin, a standout guard; and John Olwine, who improved at center as the season progressed; but the one thing that marked this team as a great one was the spirit and aggressiveness that it displayed in the face of continual disappointment.

Girl's Sports

This year the Girls' Athletic Association, with a thriving membership of 622, the highest in its history, has, as usual, sponsored a program of inter-class sports of all kinds. Soccer, with its accompanying aches and bruises, dominated the fall season. The results of the soccer tournament predicted a tight banner struggle for the seniors, as they won the tournament by a single point.

Early in the fall the get-together party was held, when all the sophomore members were welcomed, and the new sophomore managers were initiated into the G. A. A. Council with due pomp and ceremony.

The volleyball tournament was ushered in during the winter. The opening of the pool, late because of the polio scare, started Junior and Senior Life Saving Courses, covering an afternoon a week for twenty weeks. Before Christmas, the G. A. A. Council presented one of its best parties of the year—the Christmas party, complete with all the season's trimming and festivities. Basketball, perhaps the most popular of all the sports, filled out the rest of the winter.

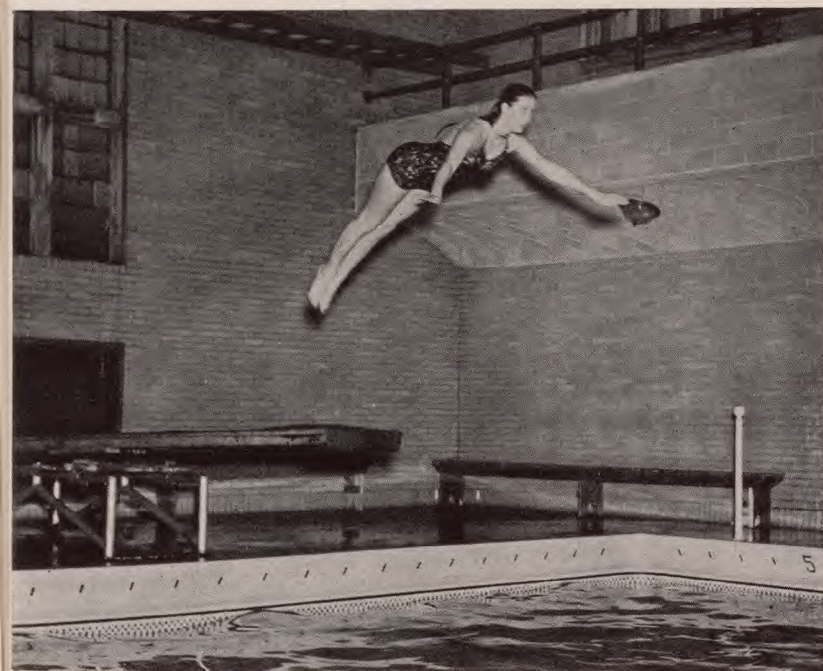

Swimming teams and the two meets arrived with the spring. Baseball soon had everybody shagging flies out in the open, a welcome change from all winter in the gym. The banquet in May culminated the year for G. A. A.-er's, for here in final ceremony the banners, letters, and numerals were awarded to the deserving.

This year's senior class was very active in sports. In their sophomore year, they almost won the banner from the seniors, a real feat as that senior class was the most athletic class in the nineteen years of the G. A. A. In their junior year, they won the banner for the first time. This year the banner battle was stiffer, but the seniors have high hopes of coming out on top with their second banner. With such outstanding athletes as Betty Sternkopf, Jackie Ebling, and Alice Strahan, the class of '46 distinguished itself with its sportsmanship and athletic ability.

This year will be remembered as one of the finest in G. A. A. history for several reasons: the fine Christmas party; the quality of leadership shown by Jackie Ebling, president of the G. A. A., and Joan Eisner, vice-president; and the success of and the interest in the Modern Dance Club, whose open house dance recital proved that the club is one of the most popular branches of the G. A. A. The G. A. A. and all its activities will always be remembered by the senior girls as one of the most pleasant parts of Columbia life.

FINE QUALITY PRINTING is nowhere so essential as in school and college annuals. The story told by copy is worthless unless the printed pages provide eloquent testimony of its truthful reproduction of campus life.

- Production of distinctive printing depends upon the masterful handling of such technicalities as layout, artwork, make-ready, and presswork, and also upon the selection of proper ink, paper and binding.
- Consistently good printing has made the Colyer organization the first and last choice of the leading schools and colleges.

The "Voice with a Smile"

WHEN the nation needed her in the emergency of war, she had the task of speeding the calls that hastened victory. Often no less thrilling are the peacetime messages she handles today . . . a call that may save a life . . . an urgent message to someone a hundred or a thousand miles away . . . an answer that must be obtained.

There's something about telephone operating that makes each day interesting. Surroundings are pleasant — associates friendly — the pay is excellent from the start, with steady increases. It's career work in a service to the people of your community.
