DEDICATION

During the past year, statesmen from all parts of the world have met to find the solutions to the many problems that have arisen out of the war. But while these statesmen have been sitting around the conference table, citizens in many countries have been engaging in civil strife, political warfare, racial and religious hatred, and labor and management conflicts. We, the class of 1947, dedicate this yearbook to the hope that all of us, as individuals, may seek to surmount the walls of prejudice which divide us, in order that our statesmen may succeed in their efforts.

SCHOOL

LIFE

OUR PRINCIPAL SAYS . . .

FREDERIC J. CREHAN
Principal

During the school year each student necessarily devotes most of his time, thought, and energy to scholastic achievement. Each, according to his tastes and interests, the needs implied in his present and future educational plans, and vocational ambitions follows his particular pattern of studies. His efforts are directed primarily toward intellectual accomplishment in the various areas of knowledge. Achievement here serves both individualistic and social purposes; it is primarily for such a purpose that the school exists as a social institution.

There is another sphere of school life, somewhat apart from studies, yet growing out of them and serving similar educational ends. To activities such as dramatics, music, athletics, clubs, and school government, boys and girls bring their talents and interests and in them find opportunity. Such activities teach skills, techniques, and knowledges; more than formal subjects they offer opportunity for personality development, for emotional growth, for unselfish service, for the practice of good citizenship.

For the school these activities are a powerful integrating force, binding its individuals and its groups into a self-conscious whole. All kinds of activities are reflected for us in the Mirror. Through its pages you will enjoy the past year now; five, ten, thirty years from now, turning them over in retrospect, you will enjoy it even more.

JUNIOR NIGHT

"Time and Tide," created and presented by the class of 1948.

With actors, singers, dancers galore,
Along with a wonderful musical score,
With a frame now known both far and wide
First burst upon us the Juniors'
"Time and Tide."

Felice, a French girl, and an American boy
After many complications end up in joy;
A huge supporting cast also took part
In presenting a show New-Yorkie and smart.

SENIOR HISTORY

Three short years in Columbia High School and soon we, the members of the class of 1947, shall be able to look upon them only as memories. What wonderful memories they are, though! Who can forget the general feeling of trepidation we all had when we first entered the portals as sophomores? Or the air of bewilderment and the handy "Highlights" we carried around with us those first months of school? We'll never forget joining the various clubs and committees . . . first homeroom elections . . . making our dramatic debut in Sophomore Dramatic Club productions . . . the thrill of sitting in the cheering section and watching the exciting Saturday afternoon games . . . or later during the year cheering the basketball and baseball teams on to victory . . . studies in the library . . . vacations . . . school elections . . . and exams! Long in our minds will linger the memory of that day when the tragic news was heard of President Roosevelt's sudden death and that short but awe-inspiring assembly held the next morning . . . and then the joyous news of final victory in Europe.

The summer passed quickly and soon we were juniors with a whole year of experience behind us. A few of the fellows were already back from service and joined the class. With a multitude of subjects to take, we plowed right in. Some of us started work on the Pre-Junior Night Committee before Christmas vacation. Exams came and we passed with flying colors. Then there were weeks and weeks of labor in assembling the juniors' annual extravaganza with the behind the scenes work by the many committees and their hard-working members, and finally the curtain went up and it came out as "In the Bag" based around a carnival visiting a small town. It was a walloping success, with such characters as Teddy Roosevelt, a village store-keeper, secret service men, and side show freaks. Then came the campaign for Council officers, with speeches, slogans, signs, and finally elections, followed by farewells to the graduating class.

September! We were seniors now, the high and mighty of the school, looking down from our high pinnacle on the juniors and sophomores. An even larger number of servicemen were back with us this year, brushing up for college or "intent on a diploma". Everyone went around with harried expressions as year-book pictures were taken. There was the memorable assembly when the Council presented to the school a war memorial book containing the war record of one hundred and eleven Columbia graduates who died in service. The Senior Play Reading Committee started its work, poring over plays to find the right one for our class, ending in those two November nights when the senior class presented Ian Hay's "Bachelor Born", complete with three uninhibited young girls running wild in a boy's school. It rated as a terrific hit with the crowds who saw it. After a cold, cold December came a long Christmas vacation, and soon thereafter the mid-year exams, the last exams for many of us. Spring rushed in, bringing tests for colleges and applications for jobs. At last the year-books arrived and there was the mad scramble to get everyone's signature. And in a few weeks came graduation.

With a wonderful three years behind us, filled with both gay and solemn moments in school and out, we leave Columbia reluctantly. But we leave with the knowledge that whatever is expected of us in this restless world at peace, Columbia has given us the background and foundation to make us live up to high expectations and become the leaders of tomorrow.

SENIOR WILL

After three years of faithful (?), constant (?), laborious (?), and nerve wracking (!!) study, we, the members of the class of 1947, reluctantly lower our dignified noses to look you straight in the face, for we have serious business to present. Now that we are about to leave, we feel we must impart our worldly belongings to those who succeed us.

I, Sis Alexander, leave my famed knack for being known by everybody to Carol Whitney.

I, Johnnie "Pierre" Heugle, do hereby leave my love for brunettes, good music, and good dancing to Chuck Roemer.

We, Vicki Hughes and Mary Stirling, bequeath to our junior sisters our "Madam Defarge" craze for knitting. You'd be surprised how handy knitting can be at a hen party.

I, Jeff Francisco, will my devastating power over women to Dick Carvel.

We, Betsy Dorrance and Janie Wooley, leave for better or for worse our effervescent personalities and our endless flow of conversation to Jane Turek.

I, Dave Cassidy, leave.

I, Bobbie Jones, bestow to Joan Timson, my pep, twinkling eyes, and turned up nose.

I, Jack Bowen, part with my smooth car that goes so fast (though the speed of its owner leaves many aghast!) to Jack Scott.

I, Shirley Terwilliger, leave my amazing ability to know everything about everybody to Janet Johnston.

We, Joan Piken and Nancy Howie, will our vim, vigor, vitality, pep, punch, and personality to Ann Barrell and Kathy Sneider.

I, Sue Lewis, leave my gay college weekend parties to Joy Hayes.

I, Harold Ellen, relinquish my outward appearance of indifference to girls to John "baby face" Ward. Warning: Don't judge people by their appearance!

I, Hilary Hall, will my cute little tricks and dramatic inclinations to another lover of the "Arts". How about tickets to your opening night on Broadway, Hilary?

We, Jim Monk, Bill MacLachlan, and Jock Bowen ("The Rover Boys"), leave to Roger Kneiring, Lee Trimble, and Dan Van Dorn our crazy pranks and practices.

I, Olivia Sloan, do hereby part with my U.S.O. and "Date Bureau" to some lucky Jr. You'll never be lonesome, mark my words!

I, Walt Prior, will my shining countenance and my ability to drive the girls "just crazy" at the football games to Steve Cox.

I, Connie Peruzzi, bestow to Carol Swigard my flash of wit, winsome ways, and most of all the ability to hold a man so long! (You really do well enough on your own there, my girl.)

I, Bob Mitchell, "Brittanica" Mitchell, that is, leave my 95 average to Malcom MacKenzie.

I, Louis Rissland, will my blond pompadour and barrel of laughs to "Funny Man" Peter Porter.

I, Jean Holgate, pass on to any enterprising Junior, my astonishing linguistic ability and fluent command of the Spanish language.

I, Buddy Whitman, leave to Al Blackman my little brown jug. No explanation needed.

I, Roda Herman, leave to any Junior Lauren Bacall my intriguing voice. "Anybody got a match?"

We, Jean Pace and Peggy Warren, hand over our tough convertibles to those poor unfortunate Juniors we see walking to school every day.

I, Adelaide Brothers, will to Barbara Moir the hectic hours I've spent on various clubs and committees.

I, Nancy Bauhen, sadly relinquish my daily hot fudge sundaes and Culbertson's Bridge Book to Betty Wise.

We, "In the Bag" participants, leave to next year's Junior Night cast a lot of enthusiasm (yes, even during those late rehearsals) and our best wishes for a good play.

I, Sue Osborne, will my living room with its empty coke glasses to another owner of half-way house.

We, Mary Bowen and Alyn Heim, leave our memorable performances in Junior Night and Senior Play to next year's star comedians.

I, Bob "laugh a minute" Hemlinger, leave my smiling countenance and ability to keep the crowd in hysterics to Charlie Kimmel.

We, Bill Campbell and Pinky Selitto, the men who tote the football, leave to Robin Roark some good men, some hard work, and some fun.

I, Bernice Snellen, leave to Patty Norton my delightfully naive mind and laughing nature.

We, the "L.A.C.", will our motto, "next to our liberty, our ears most dear," to another raucous crowd of junior boys.

I, Bruce "Down Beat" Parsons, will to Jimmy Dorsey my first and last love, my drums.

I, Joan Amberg, will to some one else who imagines she has the "know how" of driving, my knack with the Chevie.

I, Bill MacLachlan, leave my wide circle of friends, my certain way with the girls, and my all around good nature to George Wells.

I, Nancy Smith, often in the midst of noise, often seen with innumerable boys, will my atomic powers to Ann Hankinson.

I, Jim Collins, will my daily habit of walking into chemistry late to some Junior who wants to make a hit with the chemistry teacher.

I, Nancy Blanchard, will my "Vogue" cover girl appearance to Nancy Birkenmier.

To "Doc" Summers we leave everlasting memories of those "A, B, A, B, A, B," tests.

To Mr. Stirling's classes, next year, we leave the question that is still ringing in our ears, "Are you here to get an education or resist an education?"

To Senora Palminteri we leave "nuestra goma".

To the girl gym teachers we, the noisy and lazy seniors, leave a quiet locker room with all the lockers locked!

We, the seniors girls, will to the junior girls our strange knack of going away in the summer brunette and returning blond. The sun did it! the sun did it!

We, the boys of the senior class, will to the boys of the junior class the care and management of the sophomores. Take as good care of them as we did.

SENIOR PROPHECY

The other day I had a most unique experience that brought back fond memories of dear old C. H. S. Rocketing through the sky in my atomic, jet-propelled, model-T autogyro, I was enjoying a few quiet moments away from the rest of the world when, without warning, the engine sputtered, coughed, and died.

"Goodness gracious," I muttered as we plummeted earthward, "out of atom vapor."

Frantically I pulled the safety valves, the emergency lever, the auxiliary motor controls, and in desperation even dropped in another nickel. Nothing checked the rapid descent to destruction, so as a last resort I pushed the button that expelled me through the escape hatch. My whole life flashed before me as I met old mother earth with terrific speed and force.

The next thing I knew I was bouncing rapidly to a stop in someone's backyard. "Ah, my new spring suit has saved me, I thought." A few moments later, when I was able to collect my thoughts, I realized that I had "dropped" in on some sort of gala lawnparty affair. The yard was filled to overflowing with groups of people laughing and chattering loudly.

Bending over me was a man I recognized as Bill St. Clair, M.D., who informed me that I had just interrupted one of the famous parties given by Dave "Elsa Maxwell" Cassidy. I pulled myself to my feet, and, noticing the commotion caused by the wreckage of my plane burning brightly on the roof of the house next door, I saved myself from an embarrassing situation with a clever quip about not intending to "crash" the party. Bill then recognized the joke and I was introduced to some of my old classmates who were attending the party.

The first person I noticed was Janet "got any gum" Wooley, Ed Mooney's spouse, making eyes at debonair Bill "Joe College" MacLaughlin, the poor girl's Van Johnson. She lost interest, however, as she concentrated on borrowing a piece of chicle from Bill Furman, the noted gum magnate.

In the center of a howling group of listeners I saw the famous entertainers, Bill "Pep Committee" Harris and Charley "one man band" Siegfried. I paused only a moment, however, because I'd heard all the same gags back in '47.

Norman Lemcke, who with his capacity for gossip has stepped into Jimmy Fiddler's shoes, told me that an unusual number of our classmates had made good on the stage, screen, and radio. A revival of "In the Bag" on Broadway still features Bob Hemlinger, Walt Pryor, and Nancy Blanchard. Ross Wittman is on tour starring in the current "Thin Man" series, and Hilary Hall and Jean Lester are top Hollywood box-office attractions. Nancy Howie has grown up to look and act like Joan Davis and has her own radio show which features Betsy Dorrance as vocalist. Norman also mentioned that Alvin Schacter is going strong as the top sports announcer of the times. He hinted that Mary Bowen, Hollywood producer, is still "that way" about Alyn Heim whose welfare worries her. She thinks that he spends too much time playing with Vinnie Rosamilia's band in dingy 52nd street saloons where that torch singing trio, Carol Levey, Joan Pampel, and Paula Meltzer do their stuff.

The conversation lulled as Norman paused for breath, and a few other personalities of note came to my attention. In the middle of a group of admirers was Sis Alexander, star of Jack Kallop's aquacade. (Jack himself has long since become water-logged and spends his time cruising around in the latest model Buicks.) Eric Closs, managing editor of the New York Times was arguing vehemently with Bob Cowen, professional Town Meeting attender.

In a discussion with Dave Crosson, who with his eye for femininity runs the Power's Modeling Service, I discovered that Jim Monk contents himself with playing golf while his wife, Peggy Sharpe, diligently supports him by taking in washing. I also learned that the law firm of Tom Cox and Marsha Phillipson has consented to defend Arnold Brauer in federal court on charges of working his bubble gum over an eight-hour day.

I was interested to hear from Marilyn Taylor, the history teacher, that Columbia's gift to legislation, Bob Mitchell and Jean Flauss (representatives in Congress), are busy championing women's rights. She claimed that they are being ably assisted by radical Sue Osborne who leads the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Shirley "sees all, hears all, tells all" Twelliger let me in on the news that Tina Dann has at last consented to the marriage proposals of Jack Bowen, the successful executive and manufacturer of red tape for government use. Along this same line, she confided that Barbara Jones and Fran Harper, whom I saw knitting in a corner of the lawn, were still knitting bobby sox. I was deeply concerned with Shirley's news of the slaying of Louis Winkleman, professional magician, who fortunately conjured up a fifth ace in a fast poker game with card sharps Pinky Siletto, Lou Muller, Ted Fix, George Schofield, and Lou Rissland, better known as the "back room boys." As I moved on, I heard Shirley saying to Jack "God's gift to women" Denardo, "Of course I wouldn't say anything about her unless it was good, and oh boy! is this good!"

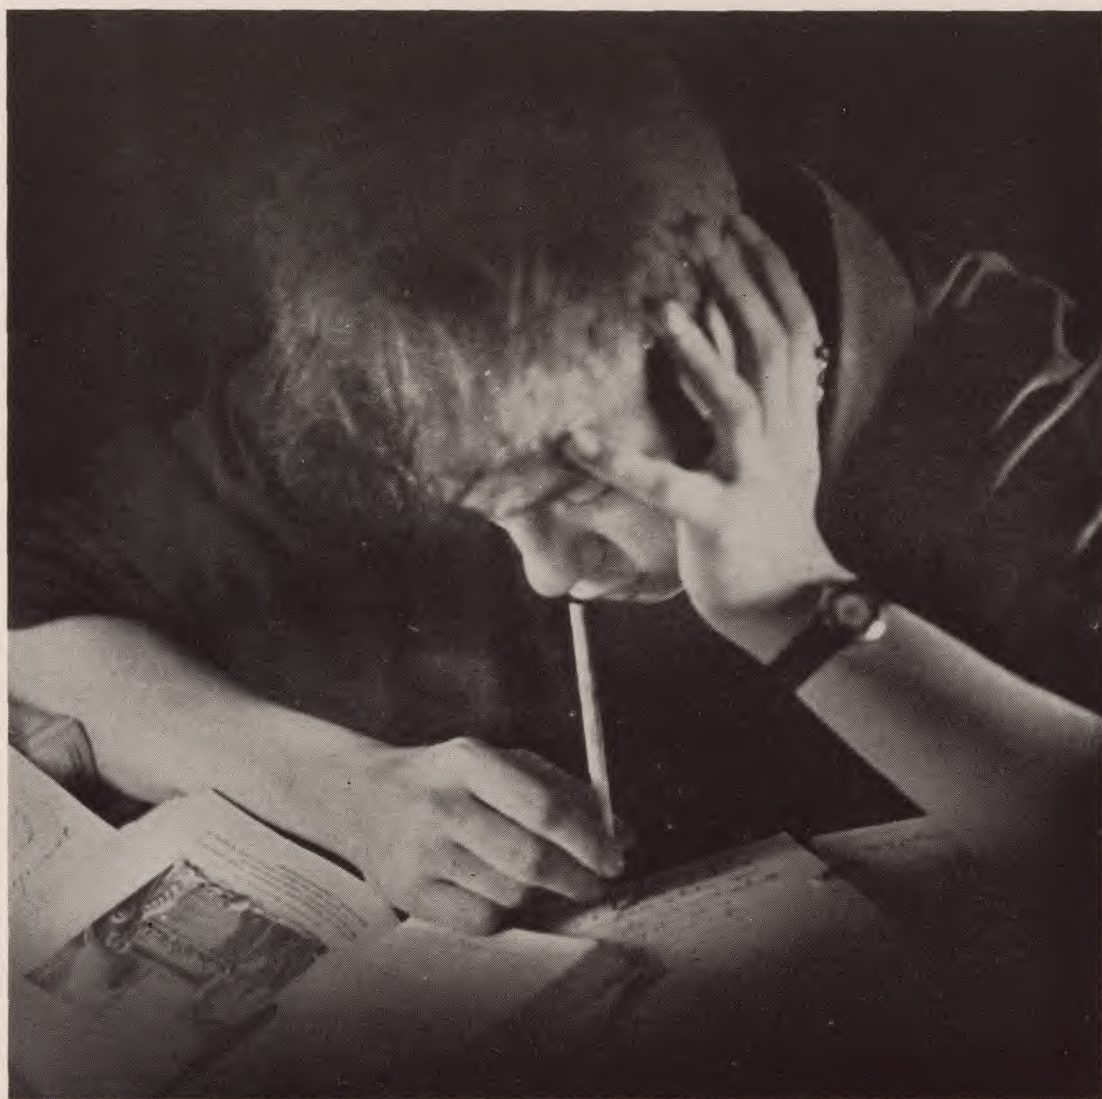

I re-made the acquaintance of Dave Smith who gave me a free dissertation about his extensive research on triangular cubes. I also caught a glimpse of Dean Borden, who has been the subject of much praise lately for his revolutionizing of engineering design. Thanks to him, a step forward has been made, for the George Washington Bridge now looks like George Washington.

It was getting late and I had to leave, but before going I hob-nobbed quickly with a few others. Daredevil Alan Cole, the hell-diver, now employed in dramatically testing Goodyear tires, Joan Piken who manages the first all-girl football team, and Mary Stirling, her star full-back, were among the last I saw.

Bnt as I turned to go, I noticed a quiet personality whose presence had hitherto escaped me, Bill "individualist" Campbell, the much publicized flag-pole sitter. Engrossed in thought, he was sitting forlornly in a remote corner, swathed in a toga, crowned with a wreath of holly leaves, and shod with sandals. He was munching slowly on leaves of grass, probably for inspiration for his back to nature movement. Ah, well, I always knew he'd come to a bad end.

* * * *

This accidental visit surely gave me nostalgia. I'll have to look up, at first opportunity, other class-mates of good old '47.

GIRLS' SPORTS

"Now we sing our praises to thee, Thee, our G.A.A."

Yes, the majority of the girls in Columbia High School, the members of the Girls' Athletic Association, will always remember and sing their praises of the fun they've had in the G.A.A.

Events in the G.A.A. got off to a quick start this year, much to the embarrassment of the bewildered Soph. victims and the amusement of the onlookers, in the usual initiation party.

Try-outs for the Modern Dance Club were held immediately, two try-outs being necessary before the new members could be picked from the large number of hopefuls that turned out. As soon as its organization was complete, the club started work on various techniques and dances that were used in the Modern Dance Open House, a program for the P.T.A., and an assembly program.

Barked shins and black and blue spots heralded the first organized sport of the year—soccer or sock her—we never could decide which.

Close on the heels of the soccer season followed the volley ball games, necessitating the mastery of such skills as "setting up" and the correct way to "rotate".

As 1946 neared its end, we took time out for the annual Christmas Party. This year's was the best yet, with such well known stars as Phil Spitalny's all girl orchestra, not one, but two Danny Kayes, Vera Zorina, and many other stars of stage, screen, and radio participating. To top it off, there was a jolly surprise Santa and eats!

The beginning of 1947 brought the start of the basketball season, the time when many a long fingernail was sacrificed in the attempt to prevent the opposing team from getting control of the ball.

As the school year drew to a close, each class put its best teams forward in an attempt to become the conqueror in the final contest of the year—baseball.

The coming of spring also tempted the gals to try their luck in the tennis tournament.

All year long the pool has been put to constant use by the girls of the swimming team and the water ballet, a new addition to the physical education program this year, and by those very energetic gals desiring swimming and lifesaving certificates.

The year ended with the traditional May Banquet, when the swimming and life-saving certificates, the numerals, letters, and banners were awarded at this time. This year's officers:

President—John Piken
Vice President—Nancy Howie
Secretary—John Amberg
Assistant Secretary—Justine Shepherd
Treasurer—Dolly Madison
Assistant Treasurer—Joan Timson

gave over their posts to the members of next Year's G.A.A. Council.

FINE QUALITY PRINTING is nowhere so essential as in school and college annuals. The story told by copy is worthless unless the printed pages provide eloquent testimony of its truthful reproduction of campus life.

- Production of distinctive printing depends upon the masterful handling of such technicalities as layout, artwork, make-ready, and presswork, and also upon the selection of proper ink, paper and binding.
- Consistently good printing has made the Colyer organization the first and last choice of the leading schools and colleges.

Who is the
"Voice with a Smile?"

A GIRL very much like you—perhaps she lives on your block or went to your school. She's friendly, wants to get ahead, and takes pride in a job that counts in her community.

She dresses well, too, on a salary that is the highest in telephone history. Yes, she likes it here—the interesting work, the pleasant surroundings, the feeling of working with young people like herself.

You will like it here, too. And your Vocational Guidance Director can tell you how easy it is to become a "Voice with a Smile" after you graduate. Ask her today.

You'll never forget it

You'll always remember the day—the day you shed the designation "Student" for the more impressive sounding "Alumnus" or "Alumna".

There are other things to remember, too—things like this quote of Benjamin Franklin's—

"If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him; an investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

You have made that investment. Continue to make it.
