Dedication

In this age of unrest, where man's world is constantly in danger of annihilation, we must look to a steadfast light, the star of the future, trusting in its power to direct man along the paths of peace. We, the youth, gazing upward, seek the guidance of this star, and dedicate ourselves to follow its beams which penetrate the mystery of the morrow. May we always strive to follow this symbolic star, in which shines the hope of humanity.

THE STAR OF FAITH

"... the only star by which the bark of man could navigate the sea of life, and gain the coast of bliss securely ..."

—Robert Pollock

Class History

When we entered Columbia four-hundred strong in September, 1954, the recently-formed Sophomore Orientation Committee had planned an extensive program to acquaint us with this new school. Within a few weeks we were completely adjusted, even though we missed a lunch period now and then.

That fall, the Columbia student body was introduced to the Peter Kasen Memorial Room, in which club and committee meetings are now held. A new television, "hi-fi," and piano are now a part of this activities center.

Probably the most significant change at Columbia, when we were sophomores, was the revision of report cards, using letter grades in place of the percentage system.

In sports, Columbia's Mermen captured the State Championship title from Trenton High after a gap of many years.

As Juniors, we had a very exciting and eventful year. Columbia was proud and honored when New Jersey's Governor Robert Meyner spoke in a memorable assembly program, April 18, the day Grace Kelly became a princess, and Paul Revere made his famous ride.

Columbia's extra-curricular program expanded with the addition of the Jazz Club, sponsored by Mr. Herman Mendelson. Other additions to Columbia were the Ford Foundation courses in Advanced Math, Chemistry, and English. These courses gave interested students the opportunity to excel in specific fields of study.

The highlight of our year was, naturally, Junior Night. Long will be remembered "Up 'N' At'm" and the parties and breakfasts we held to celebrate this occasion. It was a hectic, marvelous weekend.

It seems that this was really a prolific year, for Columbia had three foreign visitors. Besides Yoriko Konishi, from Japan, and Chitranjan Kapur, from India, delegates of the Herald Tribune Youth Forum, Columbia had an additional foreign guest, Man Woo Lee, a Korean boy, who became a member of the class of 1956.

However, we were sad to see Miss Cecelia Freeman, Miss Mildred Bullock, Dr. Helen Leech, and Miss Marjorie Nichols retire after teaching at Columbia for many years.

On the brighter side, we again captured the coveted State Championship in swimming (by one-half point, Whew!), as well as collecting another trophy in chess.

Spring was here and the halls were cluttered with colorful posters—election time. Speeches, flickering electric signs, and homemade buttons were all a part of this exciting campaign. Jon Kohn was victorious, stepping into Rich Updike's shoes, while Fred Profeta was chosen to lead the Class of '57.

Another vacation, another year to go. As Seniors, we were busy spending fruitless hours in the chemistry lab, and studying for college boards and mid-years.

There were many changes in the extra-curricular activities. Mr. Herman Mendelson became sponsor of the "Cumbian," replacing Mrs. C. La Rue Crosson, who became advisor of the newly organized "Showcase." Two new clubs, the Future Nurses of America, sponsored by Miss Margaret Beach and Mr. Michael De Marco, and the Biology Club, sponsored by Mr. Theodore Jones, were established. And believe it or not, a cooking class for boys and a girls' auto mechanics class were innovations also.

Our Senior Play was presented in November. Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap," a thrilling mystery, was directed by Mr. Lloyd Browning who did a marvelous job.

In January, Mr. Curtis H. Threlkeld announced that he would retire in June as Superintendent of the South Orange-Maplewood School System. He will always be remembered for his devoted service to education.

February was a memorable month, for General Carlos P. Romulo, the Philippine Ambassador to the United States, addressed Columbia's student body on "The Asia We Do Not Know," highlighting this year's assembly programs.

We also welcomed Majgoub Obeid of Sudan and Niels Fisch-Thomsen from Denmark, representatives of the Herald Tribune Youth Forum. For two weeks these boys stayed at the homes of Greg Hewlett and Bud Orange, and participated in many school activities. Another foreign visitor was Miss Enriqueta Victoria Ibáñez, a Fullbright scholar from Argentina. Sponsored by the United States Department of Education, she spent several weeks observing teaching methods at Columbia.

These are our recollections of three of the most industrious and worthwhile years we have spent. Now, we are going into a world full of opportunity, knowing that Columbia has given us an invaluable foundation on which to build our lives.

"KEEP LOOKING, RH- I'M SURE IT WAS AROUND HERE SOMEPLACE"

Prophecy

As interpreter for Jon Kohn on his trip to sponsor good will abroad, I had a wonderful opportunity to meet many interesting people in all walks of life.

While approaching the continent, in our space cruiser, flown by Ann Waldron and Barb Hoffman, we passed by George Taylor and Don Johnes swimming the English Channel. After landing, we hurried to the tennis matches at Wimbledon. Ricky Rebeis announced the score in a polylinguistic manner. Confused? So was his opponent, Dave Shiman. Dick Sax in his tweedy bermudas and Charles Levine were covering the match, and action photos were snapped by Bayard Saunders. We later noticed them in the "London Times," delivered by Joel Wolff and Mike Berger in their helicopter service.

"Ole!" we shouted at the fútbol match in Spain. Bob Scheu, Bob Maxfield, and Rich Binetsky were really kicking that ball around. Could it have been to impress first lady of Spain, Sue Smith, or were they just inspired by the cheers of Sue Begasse, Sonny Ericson and Sarah Hughes? ¿Quién sabe?

Now, exhausted by our peregrination (even mentioning the word is tiring), we traveled to the Rue de La Bohème, where we discovered a little café, Brasserie Lipp, which had been recommended to us by la señora Palminteri and Monsieur Fleming.

Sitting around a checkered tablecloth, sipping chianti, was the artist colony: Howard Goldberg, advocate of women's rights, arguing with Maryellen Symons over transcendental radical empiricism in a pluralistic empire. (Quite a topic, n'est-ce pas?); Mary Yerich, singing Musetta's Waltz; Jim Stern doodling on the tablecloth; Janice Conway, impresario; and Pat Somer practicing her lines for "Jeanne d'Arc." Entertainment was provided by Dee Dee Arpin and Pam Hage, danseux, dancing the "Danse Macabre." After partaking of the French cuisine, we said "Merci" to the garçon, Rusty Somers, now adorned with a moustache and the proprietress, Mara Bishop.

Just as we stepped outside, Jack Harkavy and Don Greenfield, whizzed by in their Jaguars—"C'est la Vie"—and almost didn't see us. To our satisfaction they were issued a "billet blanc" by the gendarme, Pete Collins. We saw Jerry Grossman, the French millionaire, who sells the new square eggs, strolling down the boulevard with a continental air.

Mon Dieu! What was that commotion on the corner? Only Elliot Lilien, the Nietschespinozaschopenauerite inciting a revolution. Those cries: "Storm the Bastille!" and "Vive la Liberté!" seemed rather adamant.

After all the excitement, we went to the Louvre to relax. There we saw the statue of Antoine Tauder, holding up a tradition in the style of Atlas and a painting of Judy Stern, whose nose rivals the smile of the Mona Lisa. We then bid adieu to gay Paris.

In Monaco, we met A. J. Calimano, wealthy dauphin, and Nancy Nicholson, whom Grace Kelly is said to resemble. They were the honored guests at a charity fashion show, planned by socialite, Judy Brown. Among the beauteous models were Arlene Relles and Merle Jean Thrush in creations of burgundy and chartreuse peau de soie designed by Suzanne Peterson. Also featured were Joan Long and Phyllis Auster, jewelry models.

Cries of "Salute!" seemed to echo from the Fountain of Trevi in Rome. There we were surprised to discover Clem Wonleich retrieving pennies from the famous fountain. He directed us to the LaScala Opera House and reminded us not to miss the performance, a rendition of "La Vita Collegio" by Michelangelo Small, Alfredo Kuehn, and Louis Slingerland.

We were sitting back and enjoying the twenty-first chorus when . . . every light in the theatre went out. A minute later Pete Hagerman and John Rountree dashed out with shouts of "Up 'N' At'm" to repair the damage. Freddy "P. J." Profeta appeared, and "Git yer little candles here" echoed throughout. Sharon Hoffman appeared to calm the audience since M. C., Bill Carter, seemed to have disappeared; and Bonnie Remondelli led us in a chorus of "Jingle Bells." Suddenly, Nancy Berman of the "London Herald" and Lynn Kraemer of "The Roman Inquirer" dashed down the aisles in a race to phone in their stories of the incident.

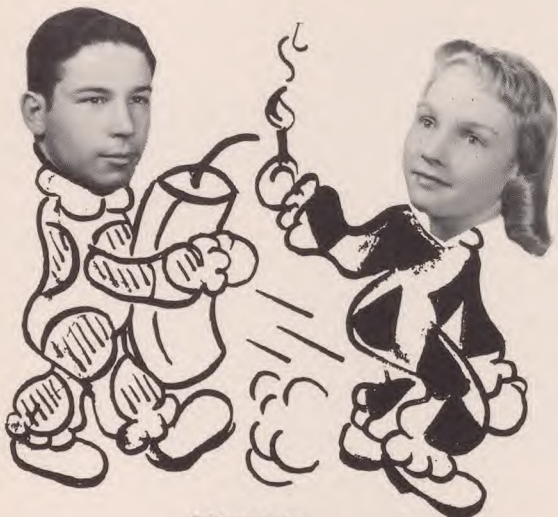

During intermission, we noticed a bridge game in the lounge. John Castle was elated. He had finally stumped Jane Zapeikov and Vicki Stern (but wouldn't eight no-trump be a little hard to play?). Andi Lewis, economist, was discussing the world situation with Arlene Grossman, while ambassadors, Nada Beth Ellend, Trudy Argand and Sue Kempler, listened wisely. Jerry Halpern was balancing an equation while pondering over a new checkmate in one move. His compatriot scientists, Eric Koch, Al Baxter, and architect, Greg Hewlett, were alarmed with his calculations which revealed that with a continued rate of decline the exertion of gravity would cause the leaning tower of Pisa to fall within three billion years!

Following the intermission we returned to hear a classical quartet: Marcia Borden, cello; Kay Bloecker, flute; Norma Auth, violin; and Phyllis Mand, piano. Sisters Mary Tinus and Barbie Read, and comedian Don Welsch, completed the medley of talent.

Next stop was Vienna. At the Allgeneinenkronken Hospital, cardiologist, Sam Sobol, and otolaryngologist, Steve Heller, were conferring with Joel Leeb over a case of senioritis they had just diagnosed. Suddenly we heard Bud Orange, Joe Yerville, and Earle Doerschug singing "Johnny Schmucker"—"Ya, ya, ya, das ist mein doodlesank." What's the matter, too much knockwurst, boys? Nurses, Peg Buecher, Faye Moore, and Carol Lou Poble, were able to calm them down. After saying Auf Wiedersehen to Dr. Elsa Giardina, editor of the International Medical Journal, we journeyed to our last stop, Melbourne, Australia.

American participants were winning in every Olympic sport. The hockey team, led by Gail Rosevear, Jani Cook, and Kathy Carroll, had made their first goal (after nine hours of play) and Kangaroo Mort Barron had gone wild. Charlie Meyers had won the marathon and was being congratulated by sprinters, Joe Humoval and Fred Randall. However, the basketball team was in a dither. Arnie Safirstein and Dave Challenger were trying to rescue Elliot Rusoff who had jumped so high in his lay-up shot that he had fallen into the basket. They were forced to call the fire department and Nelson Stephany came to the rescue with a long ladder.

Thus, we ended our trip on a high note and once more returned to our good, old American soil, tired yet with the knowledge that Columbia's graduates were successful in every endeavor throughout the world.

"The Mousetrap"

"The Mousetrap," Agatha Christie's most recent mystery drama, was presented on Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17 by members of the Class of 1957.

The two act mystery is the story of a young couple, Giles and Mollie Ralston, who are attempting to establish an exclusive hotel and rest home, Monkswell Manor. In answer to their advertisement, an assortment of suspicious individuals come to the establishment. They are informed that three of them are marked for murder by a man who has sworn revenge for the wrongs each has done him. A snow storm keeps everyone confined to the house, while radio news bulletins keep the guests informed as to the whereabouts of this man, who is sought by the police for another crime. Suspense mounts and suspicion is placed on all, until the plot reaches a thrilling and surprising climax.

Thanks to the fine talents of the entire cast, and the diligent efforts of Mr. Lloyd Browning, the director, and the expert work of the backstage crews, weeks of hard work were brilliantly concluded by a successful production of "The Mousetrap."

CAST

Mollie Ralston	Ann Raymond
Giles Ralston	George Morris
Christopher Wren	Samuel Sobol
Mrs. Boyle	Andrea Freund
Major Metcalf	Robert Statman
Miss Casewell	Susan Brandman
Mr. Paravicini	Joe Yesville
Detective Sergeant Trotter	Frank Niemann
Director—Mr. J. L. Browning
Assistants to the Director—Sue Kempler, Mary Tinus.

Class of 1957 Presents "Up 'N' At 'M"

"Up 'N' At'm," a musical comedy, was presented on March 9 and 10, 1956, by the Class of 1957. The main theme involves a search for uranium in the western town of Hard Rock. Strains of "Genuine Cowboys" and "College Life" still echo through the halls of Columbia. Under the able direction of Miss Mary F. Clutton and Mr. Herman Mendelson, the talented Junior Night Cast made "Up 'N' At'm" an outstanding contribution to the year's events.

Class Will

- Item I: I, Ricky Reheis, leave my crown and scepter to my blue-blooded brother, Craig.
- Item II: I, Mike Small, leave my fantastic powers of female fascination to anyone who can figure them out—I can't.
- Item III: We, Carole Lerner and Peg Buecher, leave chemistry for good!
- Item IV: I, Bill Carter, leave my "big wheel" to Steve Dickler.
- Item V: I, Harlan Mellk, leave the driver-ed car in one piece?
- Item VI: I, Bob Scheu, leave my wizard's hands to Lynn Fader.
- Item VII: I, Al Kuehn, leave my rubber face to Jimbo McAllister.
- Item VIII: We, John Castle, Rich Binetsky, and Glen Bergoffen, leave our tremendous momentum to Mike Marcus, Fred Schilling, and Harry Brown.
- Item IX: We, Louie Slingerland and Rusty Somers, leave our dexterity on drums to Artie Lerner.
- Item X: I, Mort Barron, leave my old-fashioned, four-wheel appeal to the junk yard.
- Item XI: I, Greg Hewlett, leave my extemporaneous wisecracks to Pete Grant.
- Item XII: I, Dave Brown, leave my barbells and extraordinary bilator tricep muscles to Ray Dunphey.
- Item XIII: I, Adele Schafman, leave my ambioric astigmatism to anyone who could possibly fail the driving vision test.
- Item XIV: We, Carol Rotberg and Mike York, leave our flirtatious manner to Bob Catena and Wendy Kassel.
- Item XV: We, Andi Lewis and Mary Ann Marcus, leave Mr. Wood; but we sure wish we could take him with us.
- Item XVI: I, Steve Weiss, leave my wardrobe to anyone with enough nerve to wear it.
- Item XVII: We, Beth and Binni Kass, leave, but can't decide which one of us should take the car.
- Item XVIII: We, Mara Bishop, Terry Trowbridge, Sue Peterson, and Deedee Arpin leave with the knowledge that "gentlemen prefer blondes."
- Item XIX: We, Don Greenfield and Jack Harkavy, leave four long strips of "peeled" rubber.
- Item XX: We, Phyllis Auster and Joan Long, leave our theme, "Saturday Night is The Lone-

- liest Night of the Week," to next year's college widows.
- Item XXI: We, Jerry Halpern and Amy Cohen, leave our midnight oil burning.
- Item XXII: I, Sharon Hoffman, leave to next year's Assembly Committee Chairman, one slightly used stationery box and an economy size bottle of aspirin.
- Item XXIII: We, Dotty Dworak and Laraine Schnibbe, leave our pens and pencils for pots and pans.
- Item XXIV: We, Jane Erlacher and Marcy Yerich, leave our way with a song to Myra Silver and Cynthia Sherman.
- Item XXV: We, Frank Niemann, Joe Yesville, Sue Brandman, Bob Statman, Andi Freund, Ann Raymond, Sam Sobol, and George Morris, leave one very efficient mousetrap.
- Item XXVI: I, Jon Kohn, "feared by the bad, loved by the good," leave my buckskin jacket and shoes to next year's Student Council President.
- Item XXVII: We, Dave Challenger and Arnie Saferstein, leave our court ability to Bill Snow and Artie Bartner.
- Item XXVIII: We, Elliot Lilien and Fred Profeta, leave our philosophical and political theories with Mrs. Crosson.
- Item XXIX: I, Bob Maxfield, leave to conquer more hearts.
- Item XXX: We, Elsa Giardina and Isobel Waxman, leave our quest for "original ideas" to next year's Mirror Staff.
- Item XXXI: We, Lynn Kraemer and Lynn Kamler, leave our petite pertness to Peggy Moscatelli and Barbara Stern.
- Item XXXII: We, Howard Goldberg and Steve Heller, leave a pack of cards and a bridge table.
- Item XXXIII: I, Dominic Fabrizio, leave school—at last!
- We, the graduating class of 1957 leave . . .
- Item I: Mr. Darlington a ladder to climb to the periodic table.
- Item II: Mr. Linker an endless supply of drafting pencils, erasers, and compasses.
- Item III: Advice for next year's Junior Night—get Up 'N' At'm!!
- Item IV: A great big thank-you to Mr. Gray and Mrs. Howell for all their wonderful guidance.
- Item V: Columbia—for the wide, wide world.

"beauty and the beat"

"beauty and the beat", an original, romantic musical in two acts was presented by the Class of 1958 on Friday and Saturday evenings, March 8 and 9. The complicated love affair between socialite, Julie Winslow, and trumpeteer, Tony Colosso, highlighted the Junior Night production. Mr. Zindy, proprietor of a popular Greenwich Village restaurant, played Cupid by helping to unite the separated couple.

Sailors, subway dancers, and singing waitresses all added color to the theme of city life.

"Far from the madding crowd" at the elite Winslow home, graceful debutantes and their beaux waltzed through the evening. A touch of humor was interjected by the house-maids and butlers with their satirical song, "High Brow Sort." Add to this a touch of magic, a flavor of jazz, and the spice of spirited participation, and you have the ingredients for a fine show.

Responsible for the success of "beauty and the beat" were the faculty directors, Miss Judith Ruback and Mr. Fred Maynard. Congratulations to the Class of 1958 for a job well done!

JACK DUNDON

Plainfield, September 29:

The Cougar Eleven dropped the opening game to the greatly over rated Plainfield team. According to the statistics, Columbia should have easily defeated Plainfield, but the Cardinals scored twice in three minutes during the third quarter. The last hope for victory was crushed by a fumble deep in Plainfield territory.

Final score: 6-13

Morristown, October 6:

The Columbia football team easily defeated the Colonials in its first home game at Underhill Field. In the first half, the Cougars scored three TDs on a Scheu to Challenger pass, a Scheu plunge, and a run by Fuschino. Frank scored again late in the third quarter. The Morristown offense was smothered by the fine defensive work of Rich Binetsky.

Final score: 27-12

Orange, October 13:

Lynn Fader, scoring two touchdowns sparked the Gems to a victory over the Tornadoes. The Cougars were threatened by Bill Roberts of Orange who scored on a 55 yard and a 65 yard run. The half time show was a tribute to the Orange sesquicentennial.

Final score: 20-13

Westfield, October 20:

Columbia Captain, Bob Scheu led the team to a triumph over the Westfield Blue Devils by scoring four touchdowns. The Cougar offense was exceptionally strong. Jim Petrozello had four conversions, and Pete Mutascio played an outstanding game on both offense and defense.

Final score: 28-18

Montclair, October 27:

Plagued by injuries the Cougars faced another State Champion Montclair team at Woodman Field. Lynn Fader, who replaced Scheu, looked very impressive at quarterback. Our lone tally came when Fader slipped through from the seven.

Final score: 7-40

Kearny, November 3:

Cheer Columbia Spirit! In the final quarter the Kards tied the score, 7-7. Hopes for a Cougar victory were dim. Driving 76 yards from the kick-off, sparked by John Williams' driving runs and Bob Scheu's accurate passes, the Gems chalked up their fourth win by scoring a touchdown in the final moments of the game.

Final score: 14-7

East Orange, November 10:

This game was the heartbreaker of the 1956 gridiron season. In the third quarter, Fader threw a touchdown to Fuschino to break a scoreless tie. The Cougar defense kept the Panther power caged for more than three quarters. Fourth down, far from a first down, with two minutes remaining, the Panthers of East Orange, rated fourth in Group IV, scored a TD on a freak screen pass play.

Final score: 7-7

West Orange, Thanksgiving Morning, November 23:

A weak defense and a stalled Columbia offense were to blame for the Cougar loss to West Orange in the Turkey Day Classic. The lone Columbia touchdown resulted from a Bob Scheu to Dave Challenger 60 yard pass play in the closing minutes of the first half. The Cowboys scored on a safety in the first quarter, a TD in the second quarter, and a TD in the final quarter. This loss brought our season's standing to 4-3-1.

Final score: 7-15

The sports scene at Columbia High School during the fall and winter of 1956 was a very exciting and most successful one. The varsity football, basketball, and swimming teams scored winning seasons. Cross-country was the only fall varsity sport which failed to have a winning season, and yet this team appears to be the most impressive for next year.

The varsity football team was sparked by the excellent quarterbacking of Captain Bob Scheu. Bob was recognized as the best quarterback in Essex and West Hudson Counties. If not hampered by knee injuries Bob would also have received All-State honors. The rest of the offensive punch was supplied by Lynn Fader, Frank Fuschino, and John Williams. Lynn was a key man on the offense and looked especially good during the Montclair game. Williams, another Junior, was depended upon for many yard-gaining drives through the line. Richard Binstsky, Peter Mutascio, and Jim Petrozzello were the work horses on defense. Jim Petrozzello was elected captain of the 1957 Cougar football squad. The season's record was four wins, three losses, and one tie.

Although the cross-country team did not enjoy a winning season this year, the team made very impressive showings in the State Championships, placing ninth; in the County Meet, placing third; and in the Big Ten Championship, scoring a major upset by taking the Big Ten Crown. The varsity record was three wins against six losses. One feature about the team was that the nucleus of the harriers was made up of underclassmen, Captain Howard Bruschi, Tom Moore, Harry Hockman, Francis Drake, and Tom Bayer who will return next year. The J.V. cross-country team had a fine season, winning seven out of eight dual meets. Prospects for an excellent season next year are evident.

Although the State Championship Swimming Crown sank into the hands of Trenton, the varsity swimming team continued its fine streak of winning seasons, by taking ten out of eleven dual meets. The lone loss at the hands of Westfield ended a winning streak of twenty-three consecutive dual meets. After the loss to Westfield, the members of the squad posted their best times and won three consecutive meets starting another winning streak. At the State Meet, the natators placed second, dumping Westfield into third place. At Princeton, Captain-elect Steve Lesnik tied the state record for the 100 yard individual medley, and the 200 yard medley relay team of Nelson Stephany, Co-Captain Don Johnes, Bob Cunningham, and Co-Captain George Taylor broke the state mark in that event.

After a lapse of eight years, the varsity basketball team won the majority of their games. The Cougar Five piled up a record of ten wins against seven losses to give Columbia a long-awaited winning season. Art Bartner, All-County star, led the Cougars to a victorious season by providing the scoring punch. Arnie Safirstein gave the team a lift early in the season through his fine offensive play. Arnie led the team in rebounding and his fine play under the boards gave Columbia a needed boost. The other members of the starting five were: Captain Dave Challenger, Bob Scheu, and Lynn Fader. Hopes are high for another winning season and possibly an Essex County Championship. The nucleus of next year's team will be made up of Captain-elect Art Bartner, playmaker Lynn Fader, Soph star Dick Katcher, Bill Snow, and Johnny Williams, all returning lettermen.

Girls' Athletic Association

Events in the Girls' Athletic Association got off to a quick start this year with a party for the new girls. Early in the fall, the sophomores were introduced to hockey with many helpful hints from the Juniors and Seniors. The Council sponsored a Halloween party and even the gym teachers got into the act.

Basketball brought the freezing girls indoors, and the three classes competed in intramural games. As 1956 neared its end, the G. A. A. took time out for its annual Christmas party. Setting-up and the correct way to rotate were once more mastered when the volleyball season began.

Baseball, the final contest of the year, spurred each girl on to do her best for the Red or the Black team.

All year long, the pool was put to use by the girls who desired swimming and life-saving certificates.

The Modern Dance Club was hard at work all year perfecting new dance techniques. GAA terminated its activities in May with the Awards Party. This year's officers were Gail Rosevear, President; Kay Cushman, Vice-President; Kay Bloecker, Secretary; and Joanne Donovan, Treasurer.

ALMA MATER

Oh! Columbia, thou hast taught us
The path that we should tread
By thy rules of pride and honor
In our work and play we're led.
In the years of life's hard struggle
We care not what's in store,
For thy motto is our motto
And our cry, "Excelsior!"

IN MEMORIAM

Henry W. Pittman, III

"Things change, persons die, everything human is bound to change or meet with death, but the universe remains and with it the reason and the truth which is derived thereof. In spite of the unreasonableness of men and events—there is a deeper reason in all things and causes—a reason which is good—a reason which is God."
