During our years at Columbia we have made equal partners of success and failure. From each we have gained understanding . . .

and perhaps even a little wisdom to guide us in the years ahead.

Learning friendship and not just making friends was one of our most important lessons.

The laughter, the tears, the good times as well as the bad were together and will always be remembered as so.

Together or alone, working or enjoying . . .

it may not have been the best or the worst but it was our time and, oh what a time it was.

Time flies and draws us with it, and already these moments are moving far from us.

“Now here,” said Alice, “it takes all the running you can do just to keep in the same place. If you want to get somewhere you must run twice as fast.”

The greatest thing about the camping trip is the freedom — not of actions, but of mind. We are not free to do whatever we want, for the trip is very structured. We are, however, free from many of our inhibitions. It's like a whole new world in Milford, Pa. People often drop their guards and allow themselves to meet new people, speak their mind and just be themselves. The set-up of the trip itself helps people get their freedom. There is a communications period each night, the MODS are informal, meals are in one place and at a certain time, and the ASE at the end gathers everything together. Having gone on this trip last year, it was probably easier for me to put down those inhibitions, and once they're down, the trip changes from great to fantastic. If a genie appeared to me and granted me three wishes, one of them would be to make the world more like Milford, Pa.

Campers listen and relax at a camp meeting.

The lake.

A funny thing happens
On the road to Milford
Palms get sweaty
Throats get dry
You wonder if you're ready
You ask yourself why did I ever say I'd go.
A funny thing happens
When you get to Milford
Friends bunk together
Strangers move in
You talk about the weather
Soon you feel like kin who'd lived together years or so.
A funny thing happens
When you leave Milford
The sun is shining
Though the clouds are in the sky.
You feel like crying
After all the long good-byes.
But you smile through the tears
Cause you'll cherish all your years
The experience, the growing, the love.
The spirit of Milford.

The 1983 all-school production was Gypsy, the story of well-known burlesque dancer Gypsy Rose Lee. Thanks to Mrs. Butcher, Mr. Fenstemacher and a dedicated cast and crew, the show was a success. Shirley Huang, Janine Guida, Debbie Christopher and Brian Sheil played the lead roles in all three performances with the help of a large supporting cast, many of whom played more than one role.

During April vacation of 1983, nineteen students visited Madrid, Spain for six days. Along with their chaperones, Señor Price and Señor Passarge, they toured sites in and around the city.

Outside of the city, formal tours, provided by the Spanish Heritage Association, of Toledo, Valle Caidos, and El Escorial were taken.

When not on a tour the students were allowed to see the city on their own. The most fun was deciding on which Lladro to buy. Lladros are procelain figures made exclusively in Spain. Leather goods, pearls, and shoes were also popular things to buy.

Before the students and their chaperones knew it, it was time to return home. Although they've returned to the states, they have many souvenirs, photographs and memories to remind them of their trip.

From April 15 to April 23 a group of students and adults traveled to France for an exciting visit. The trip was organized and led by French teacher Mrs. Krasner and was chaperoned by her, along with Mr. Krasner and Mrs. Press. Eighteen CHS students, and eight other adults participated in the trip. The group stayed in a Paris hotel, taking their meals in both the hotel and in various restaurants. They took a guided tour of Paris and made side trips to the magnificent Palace of Versailles, the town of Tour de Chartre, and the Loire Valley and a French Lycee, high school. The visitors also enjoyed learning the art of French cuisine in a cooking class. In Paris they had free time and a fascinating array of opportunities to explore: the metro (the Paris subway), French films and plays, museums, Paris shopping, walking through the city and its parks, tasting specialties, and, of course, practicing their French!

The 1983 Cougar Baseball team finished another successful season under the leadership of Coach Jack Fletcher with a record of 9 wins and 6 losses. Highlighting the year were victories over Barringer and Bloomfield in the Greater Newark Tournament, and a crushing of Seton Hall Prep. Leading the Cougars were Co-Captains Jim Bradley and Bill Coyle (both second team All-County) and standout pitcher Owen Kelly (first team All-County). Others who played a key role for the team were seniors Vinny Mastronardi, Scott Kisch, Scott McCluskey, and Dan Lopuch; junior Dave Cross; and sophomore Glenn Manochio. This season was considered a building season in which eight underclassmen frequently started. Overall, ten lettermen are expected back for next year's squad.

The Columbia Girls' Softball team suffered a disappointing season compiling merely two wins. The team was very young, containing but one senior, Jennifer Nutly. Their inexperience was costly. The disappointing season did, however, have some bright spots. Senior Jennifer Nutly was one of them. At first base she committed only one error all season, and batted her way to a .461 average. Another bright spot was Junior Co-Captain Ronnie Petzinger who earned a spot on the All Essex County Team at center field. Nutly and Petzinger, along with Junior Co-Captain Kristen Bowsher, Junior Nance Kaes, and Freshman pitcher Chris Tromans earned All-Orange Honors.

The 1983 Varsity Boys' Tennis team had one of the most successful seasons in recent history. Led by sophomore sensation Dan Nahirney, the Cougars won the Group 4, Section 2 championship and completed the season with a 18-4 record. At first singles, Nahirney was victorious in every one of his matches, en route to the state singles title. Penny Rickard played well all season at second singles while transfer student Roderick Pierre won many key matches at the third singles position. Jeff and Mike Poss teamed together to form a very successful brother team at first doubles while Bill Rustum and Senior Steve Heischuber were consistently tough at second doubles.

The 1983 Columbia Boys' Lacrosse team had, as usual, a fine season. With a 15-2 record, they lost only to Summit, first in finals of the coaches tournament and then again in the finals of the State Tournament. They were the Gibbs Division Champions in their league. Individual honors were earned by seven team members. Senior Co-Captains Dave Sherwood and Mark DeCicco were both named High School All-American and made the First team All-State. Joining them on the first team were the third co-captain, Ken Wenzel, and Chris Baduini, while Jim Nelson represented Columbia on the second team All-State. Brian Malnack and Pat Tevlin both made honorable mention.

For the Columbia Boys' and Girls' outdoor track and field teams, 1983 was a successful season. The girls, led by captains Felicia Blake, Mariel DaCosta, Pam Riley and Linda Lally were once again undefeated in dual meets. They also won the Essex County and Iron division titles. The boys, led by Chris Sabin, Seth Levine, Geoff Barry, and Greg Snell were also quite successful. They captured the County Relay Title. Many school records were broken, in the shotput by Debbie Cooper, and on the track by Ed Lamhing, as well as by others.

Columbia's Art Department

Columbia has experienced its share of budget problems as well as declining enrollment similar to other high schools across the nation. The art department at this high school, however, is thriving, with new classes being added every year. Presently there are over fourteen courses being offered in art, crafts, design, photography, and film.

The reason for the wide selection of courses is the art department is considered just as relevant as all the others at Columbia. The goals of these courses are not just to teach a student how to make a pot or film a movie, but to teach visual literacy — the ability to better understand the means of communication and expression by which the student will receive vast amounts of information for the rest of his life.

The art media is unlike math or science or english where the student is always provided with a solution to his problem. In art there are no set solutions; the teacher works with the student until the solution is made.

But who are the people who teach these courses? They are true artists in their own right, all of whom have displayed and sold work. They are professionals, sharing their knowledge with us.

There seem to be three distinct categories into which art students fall. The first are the student who take an introductory course just to fill a period. The second group consists of students who join up with no motive other than to satisfy their interest. The last set of students are those that have a career in the arts planned, and have spent the last few years developing their skills as well as a portfolio fine enough to present to art colleges.

At Columbia there is true freedom in the art classes. There has never been a teacher who has said, "Here, draw that, and if it doesn't look exactly like mine you fail." The student is judged on the effort he put in and the results he achieves.

The courses in the art department are practical. Students learning the use of a 35 mm. camera are learning a skill that can be of use for the rest of their lives. This is a skill that they may find more to their liking rather than the ability to solve a trigonometric equation of a function, and, as one student put it, "How often does a discussion of the Louisiana Purchase come up?"

The only problem, says Ernest Del Guercio, the school district's art education director, is "The students are enjoying themselves, so parents and educators suspect that the courses are of no value. It's the old Puritan work ethic."

Indeed, the students are having fun, but they are being challenged as well, with assignments and tests. In fact, the arts courses have become so popular that many students must be denied access to them because they have been filled.

Walk into any art class one afternoon and you are bound to see not only the regular students, but also people cutting class to finish projects, independent study students, and perhaps a Columbia alumnus or two. There is something very special about these courses; as one teacher put it, "How many classes do you find students sneaking into?"

The Computer Generation

It has been said that we, the kids of "The computer generation" will see increased use of computers and robots. Many students are taking computer courses in BASIC, Fortran, Cobol and PL/1 in school but these courses teach the students how to program computers, not how to use computers for other practical purposes.

With a home computer a student can do many useful tasks. Word-processing programs are of great assistance in writing term papers. They provide easy revision and eliminate those nasty typo's that teachers despise. But the use of home computers are not limited to word-processing. Computers are also helpful in studying for SAT's, foreign languages, math, physics, speed reading and typing.

Teachers in Columbia have taken advantage of these tools by using the school's recently purchased micro-computers. But the full potential of home computers is just beginning to be realized by teachers and students.

Morrison Award

In mid-October, Miss Mary Dell Morrison, a Columbia math teacher, received the Presidential Award For Excellence In Science and Mathematics Teaching from the National Science Foundation. The award, which was given to fifty-two math teachers and fifty-two science teachers in the country, carried with it a $5000 grant to the school in Miss Morrison's name.

Miss Morrison was nominated by other math teachers in the state. Two of these nominees were then selected to be reviewed by a national committee.

As for the grant, the decision of how to spend it was left to Miss Morrison and Department Head Mr. Tenewitz. Miss Morrison said "I'd like the money to go toward giving teachers stimulating experiences at conventions and workshops."

Miss Morrison has been teaching for thirty-three years, twenty-two of which have been in the South Orange-Maplewood district. She says she doesn't know how much longer she will continue to teach in the classroom, but she insists "I will never stop my work in mathematics education."

Columbia Writing Center

As a senior, filing several applications to colleges, I discovered the Columbia Writing Center. The Writing Center, a relatively new institution run by English teachers, is located at the rear of the library and is available to any Columbia student.

Teachers may recommend that a student make an appointment for help on a particular writing assignment, or students seeking a second opinion or constructive criticism may attend. College essays, a source of great confusion and anxiety for many students, may also be brought to the center. Although each aide has a unique style of assistance, all have experienced the rigors of the application process and are eager to help. Whether a student needs help with rudimentary grammar, is searching for a better method of expressing an idea, or is completely perplexed by the essay topic or question, the Writing Center is an excellent place to go for one-to-one advice. Perhaps this one-to-one relationship is the key to the Writing Center's success. The aide can devote all of his/her attention to one student.

After several visits to the Writing Center, I completed my essays and sent them to colleges with a great deal more confidence.

College and Career Night

College and Career Night, held at Columbia each fall, introduces students to various opportunities available to them after graduation. Approximately 300 representatives from two and four year colleges, nursing schools, businesses, vocational schools, and the armed forces attend. The program provides students with the opportunity to speak informally with the representatives and gather information on an institution's atmosphere, admission requirements, and costs. This can be a great help in determining the school or career to enter.

9th Grade Science Volunteers

This year a new club called the Ninth Grade Science Volunteers has been introduced into the school by Mrs. Haskell. It is a program designed to provide assistance to students of ninth grade general science classes. All the members of the club are sophomores who have already had general science and are willing to give up their studies to help in ninth grade classes.

Each day two or three go into the Freshman Science classes and assist the teachers in their work. Their main job is to circulate in the classroom and help students having difficulty with in-class work and, when the class has a lab, go from lab group to lab group assisting when necessary.

These volunteers, who receive no credits for their work, can get help if they do not understand what the general science class is doing. Mrs. Haskell is the science co-ordinator and head of the club and Mrs. Maniscalki helps the volunteers with any questions relating to mathematics.

This year the club had only ten students in it, but next year Mrs. Haskell expects many more to participate. She is planning to have the volunteers' schedules arranged so that more freshman science classes can be reached by this helpful program. Mrs. Haskell is very proud of the club and the sophomores who are in it. The teachers who have had volunteers in their classes say that the program has been a big success and that they looked forward to having them in their classes again.

CALCULUS GOES FORMAL

Child Development

Located on the second floor in C-wing is the preschool classroom. This is where children at the age of four learn skills that will help them when they enter kindergarten. With the help of upperclassmen, who conduct activities that they have planned in workshops, the children develop their listening and thinking skills along with very basic math and science skills. Students electing to take the course have the opportunity for regular personal interaction with children which may clarify their career goals.

Math Lab

Located on the third floor, adjacent to the computer lab, the Math Lab is a worthwhile three-story climb. Inside, a teacher is always available, ready and willing to assist you with your math homework or to help you make up work after an absence. The Math Lab also has many different math books in which you can find much information on math and math trivia, as well as information about related careers. There is also a trophy case full of the Math Team's trophies and a bulletin board to keep you updated on the latest successes of our Math Team.

Astronomy

After studying Astronomy in the first semester of my senior year, I would say it was the most interesting elective I have taken in Columbia. The class, taught by Mr. Levin, combines text work, lectures, mathematical concepts, visual aids, and computer demonstrations. The curriculum explores topics such as the earth-moon-solar system, stellar evolution, and cosmology, and is enhanced with astronomical observations in the CHS observatory. The course helped me to learn a great deal about man's relationship with the universe and I found it to be an exciting experience.

The Library

The Columbia High School Library functions primarily as a research center that provides materials to supplement the school's curriculum. Recreational reading is also available and individual student requests for material reflecting personal interests, are given careful consideration. Besides a large selection of books, the library also provides phonograph records, tapes, art slides, and magazines as well as two microfilm readers, the New York Times on microfilm for selected years, cassette recorders and a photocopier. Part-time student aides perform a variety of clerical and maintenance tasks that are essential to the operation of the facility.

We are indeed fortunate to have such a spacious, well equipped, modern facility, and we are proud that it is considered one of the best of its kind in the area.

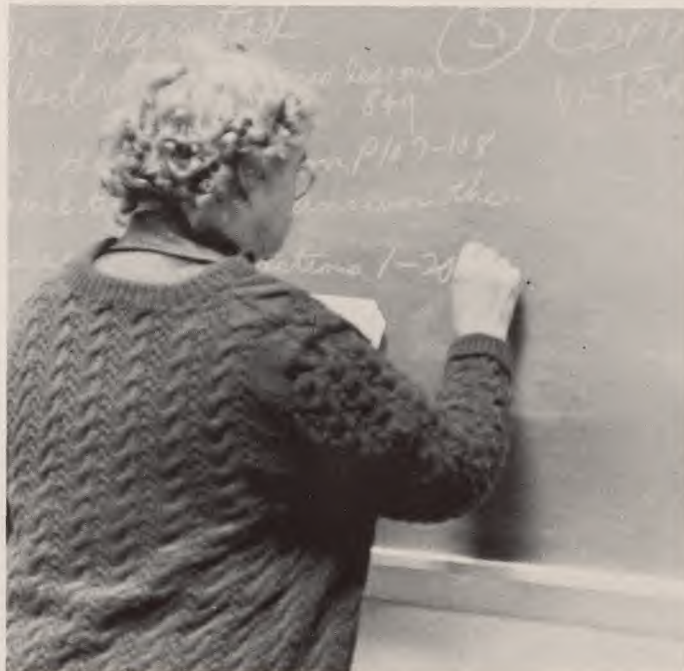

Communications

I feel that everyone should take advantage of the Communications course offered at Columbia. It is a chance to learn much about yourself; how to accept yourself as you are, and how to accept and interact with others. It is also a chance to learn how to be more effective in your relationships; at home and at school.

Row: Mr. Pantazes, Mr. Wade, Mr. Tenewitz, Mr. Goetz; Miss Dale; Mr.
Vodofsky.

Graphic Arts

Graphic Arts is a worthwhile elective course. In the class students learn the many processes involved in printing. Through the use of the I-tech, the graphic arts camera, the plate maker, and the printing press I had the opportunity to design and print personal stationery, business cards, and memo pads. I also became acquainted with the different techniques of silk-screening, and was able to apply these techniques in creating my own pattern for t-shirts and mirrors.

American soldiers lost to Middle East

Mahre Brothers ski to Olympic Silver and Gold

1983 and 1984 created many memories for us all. Risky Business put Columbia's favorite movie, actor and car on one screen. The Australians sailed past the U.S. to steal the America's Cup for the first time ever. American soldiers fought and died in Grenada and Lebanon, as fear of nuclear war continued to build. Sally Ride became the first American woman in space at nearly the same time that the Korean flight 007 was unexpectedly shot from the sky by the Soviets. Michael Jackson's "Thriller" gained video fame and 8 Grammy awards. Cabbage Patch Dolls were the most popular Christmas gifts. Phil and Steve Mahre skied to first and second place in the men's Giant Slalom in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, while the U.S. went on to win a total of 8 Olympic medals.

ACTIVITIES ALLIÉS

This year the Senior Council has been very active under the leadership of President Debbie Facciponti and advisor Miss DeAngelis. One of the council's many activities this year was a senior 3-day ski trip. We are very proud that the trip, which was once said to be almost impossible to attempt, was conducted very successfully.

Through constant hard work, our sales of baked goods, flowers, school banners, candy, candy grams, along with our newly developed ideas of Valentine grams and car washes, the senior class has raised a considerable amount of money.

Above all, our council members have contributed their time, minds, and efforts to work for the class of 1984 and we have proven that students care.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

This year the Junior Class Council, led by President Anna Verdi and Advisor Mr. R. Palma, organized many fund raisers. They raised a large sum of money for their senior year. Aside from making money, they began to organize both their Senior Class Trip and Prom. Some members of the council organized a program in which students can help Senior Citizens on the weekends. A committee also investigated the possibilities of certain Senior privileges for next year.

SCHOOL COUNCIL

"The Spark" is a publication put out by Valhalla, a body of concerned students. Referred to as Columbia's underground activist newspaper, "The Spark" has been in existence for fifteen years. The newspaper gives the students a chance to express their views and opinions dealing with school and world affairs. Since the administration does not support "The Spark" financially, we have total control of the content and article selections. Nothing is edited or censored. Not only is Valhalla concerned with the problems of today, but with the crises and conflicts ahead. Valhalla firmly believes in sharing ideas to arouse thought and provide awareness about the world we live in.

The Student Library Aides work during their free periods and after school, providing the type of back-up support that is essential to the operation of all libraries. Their duties include refiling all returned materials, keeping materials on the shelves in order, and assisting librarians with clerical tasks and charging desk routines. Their services are a truly valuable contribution to the library program.

PAWS

The purpose of PAWS, the Pupil Animal Welfare Society, is to bring student attention to the plight of animals, both domesticated and wild, that are abused. The club also tries to raise money to support these animals and attempts to preserve the environment around us.

A long range goal of the club is to collect aluminum cans to sell them as waste metal in order to raise money.

PAWS was started in 1976 by Dr. Schley, a former English teacher who retired over the past year. The club continues now with Miss O'Hanlon and Ms. Mears as advisors.

This year's Rutgers Quiz Bowl team was the school's most successful ever. After ripping their way through opponents for the first month of play, they were upset in the state championship by Ridge-wood High School. Despite losing in the finals the team remains to be one of the most successful of any other club team in the school.

The team, led by sophomore Adam Herbst, junior John Ezor, and seniors Frank Caprio, Jimmy Mason, and captain Doug Barasch, was coached by Mrs. Press. The team also competed in a TV-3 Challenge Quiz Bowl Tournament. Although they were defeated early, their reputation through the Rutgers Bowl makes them out to be one of the metropolitan areas best.

The Newcomers Club is designed to welcome new students to CHS and to facilitate their adaptation to the social and academic life. The group's advisor is Mrs. Oliver.

The Columbian

This year "the Columbian" was produced on a weekly basis for the first time in CHS's history. It was the effort on part of the Columbian staff, supported by the journalism class, that succeeded in meeting the weekly deadlines.

There was a display of apathy this year on part of the student body, and a reluctance to buy the school paper. However, we continued to serve the school community to the best of our ability and we strove to improve the quality of our publication. Hopefully, we have established a tradition that will continually be regarded as a respected school institution, dedicated to the student body.

Guildscript

"Guildscript" is the school magazine for student writing and artwork. Members work through the entire process of putting out a magazine: soliciting contributions, deciding what pieces to accept, suggesting revisions, editing final selections, deciding layout and organization, and selling the issue. Members are also frequently contributors themselves. Many CHS writers and artists who contribute to "Guildscript" also enter state and national contests and have won awards at both levels.

The Ultimate Frisbee Team of 1983-84 has continued the history of frisbee tradition at CHS. Virtually the entire record-setting team graduated in the spring of 1983, leaving captain Brandon Twine with the challenge of rebuilding the team. Returning starters Martin Richman, Bob Wagener, Henry Lubiak, and Brett Meyer assisted Twine in compiling a successful team.

While getting off to a slow start in the fall, the team managed to even off their record, capping off the season by coming in second place in the State Tournament. The team's victories included a win over the collected Columbia Alumni team in the annual Thanksgiving game for the first time in ten years, 24-18.

Although the team has setbacks because it is not school funded and the players themselves have to find playing fields, the team is still looking forward to a productive and successful spring season.

The French Club has been involved in a variety of activities this year. With Mrs. Krasner as the advisor, the students in this club have enjoyed French cuisine at Le Saucier Restaurant, and have seen a movie spoken entirely in French. Also, there have been bake sales and M&M sales to raise money for the club's spring trip to see La Tragedie de Carmen in New York. Along with these activities the club has had films and speakers and conversation in French. Many French Club Members were not available for the picture.

ASTRONOMY

Now in its seventh year, the Columbia High School Astronomy Club is one of the largest in the school. The club spends many nights, if clear, using its two telescopes observing the night skies. Weekends and the biology camping trip are also used for astronomy club getaways for all-night observations.

GERMAN

The big banner, which was hung in the main hallway in celebration of Foreign Language Week, March 1984, was a group effort. Two years ago the members of the German Club voted to do projects beyond the traditional club activities. The banner is one such project. Another major undertaking was the cleaning, weeding, spading, mulching and planting of the courtyard. One hundred daffodil bulbs and one hundred pachysandra plants were thus planted.

The German Club is open to all students and is sponsored by Erika Fisher. Study of the German language is not a prerequisite.

ITALIAN

The Italian Club, sponsored by Mr. Dominick Tancredi, has continued to grow in popularity this year, as shown in the increase of membership over last year. The club, whose purpose is to heighten the awareness of Italian culture, does so through meetings, parties, and trips.

CHESS

When one thinks of successful teams in Columbia's history, chess does not usually come to mind, but it should. The CHS Chess Team, led by Mr. Peter Iosso, has a consistent record of wins including a State Championship in 1982 and a ranking as one of the top five teams in the state.

The team had a shaky start this season while trying to re-establish a winning line up which had lost many starters to graduation. With Mike Sanchez out of "retirement" and a new roster complete, Columbia has been on a roll with five consecutive victories.

The Parnassian Society has been an active drama club for over fifty years at Columbia High School. This year's production, Our Town, was a big success. The club serves as a place where one can expand his or her talents, or just have fun.

STAGE CREW

The Stage Crew handles all plays and activities that involve the stage, for both in school and out of school groups. Members learn technical information about staging, lighting, and sound.

FENCING

The Columbia High School Fencing team has had its ups and downs in the past three seasons, switching from a team to a club and back to a team again. Through four dual meets and a regional meet this season, the team's ability grew considerably. The leadership and guidance of the team's captain, Daniel Glasser, the Epee captain, Marc Howard, the Sabre captain, Dave Cardillo, the girls' foil captain, Nancy Hahne, and the coach Mr. Stager, helped the inexperienced fencers improve their skills. Columbia's Fencing team has come a long way in the past three years and has a promising future ahead of it.

Hopefully with the dedication of the team members and the support of the Columbia students, the Fencing team will become as strong and successful as the best of Columbia's other teams.

The Cougar defense breaks the huddle

Lenny Maiocco

The 1983 football team did not have a good season this year. Their final record was 1-8. They did however, end their season in a winning style by beating Seton Hall on Thanksgiving Day, 14-6. The Cougar record is misleading. They lost three games by a touchdown or less and in five of their losses they outgained their opponent in offensive yardage.

The Cougar offense was led by Quarterback Len Maiocco Throwing to Ends Joe Kinney, Omarr Bashir, and Keith Dakin. The ground game got moving through the efforts of Running Backs John Rae and Desmond Baker and the blocking of Linemen Scott McGuirl, Steve Pisocki, Ron Silbernagel, and Gerry Gesior. The defense, noted for being tough in the past, had a good year. Ends Tom O'Rourke and Mark Baumert, Linebackers Joe Falcone and Adam Rubin, Linemen Scott McGuirl, Steve Pisocki, and Desmond Baker, and Defensive Backs Joe Kinney, Scott Pitney, and Eric Dines all contributed to a strong defense that let up only fourteen points a game.

GIRLS' TENNIS

The Girls' Varsity Tennis Team ended its fantastic season with a record of 21-2. Under the coaching of George Stager and the determination of tri-captains, Lucia Drumbould, Claire Janowski, and Julie Lubetkin, the team had its finest season in Columbia's history. Capturing the Iron Hills title; the girls were the first team to accomplish this with an undefeated conference record. Although they started as an unranked team, they ended the season ranked #9 in the State's Top 20. In the Essex County Tournament the team suffered a tough loss in the finals against Millburn who was ranked second in the state.

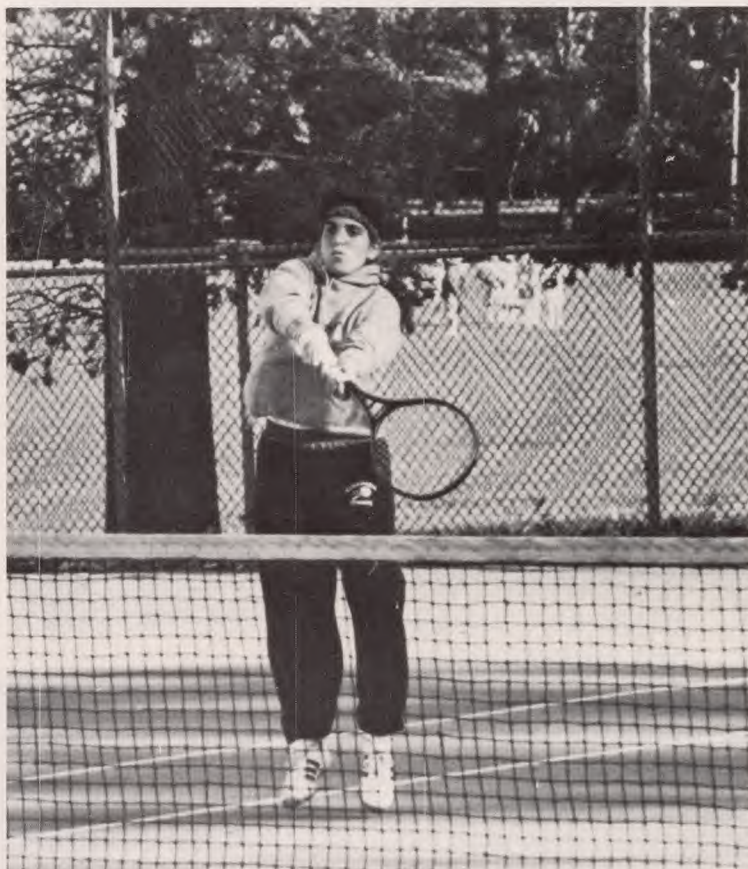

Singles players for the team were Becky Friedman (All-State Group 4 — 2nd Team), while the double duos were Claire Janowski and Steffie Welsch (All-State 2nd Team and All-State Group 4 — 1st Team); along with Pam Rosen and Chris Marshall.

The boys soccer team, led by tri-captains John Fossella, Jay Kumar, and Bowie Price, had another fine season. The team went 24-1 and won the Essex County Tournament, the North Jersey Section 2, Group 4 championship and the Iron Hills Conference Championship.

The '83 Cougars made their mark in the record books, setting new records for most consecutive wins (24), most wins in a season (24), and fewest goals allowed (9).

The Team also had 18 shutouts, one short of the record. Three of the shutouts came in the County Tournament, in which Columbia beat Barringer (5-0), Vailsburg (7-0), and Belleville (4-0) to reach the final. Columbia then knocked off Bloomfield 3-1, in earning the championship.

In the state tournament, Columbia beat Union, coming from behind in both the game and a shootout that broke the 1-1 tie. After that, the Cougars once again beat Bloomfield in overtime and Westfield 1-0 in a shootout to win the Section Championship. In the North Jersey final, the Cougars finally met their match, falling to Kearny, 2-0.

Several players received honors — Kumar, Price, Fossella and Doyle were named first team All-County and also were named to the various All-State teams along with Donovan Gutzmore, Rich Confalone and Andy Gold. Confalone completed a career in which he allowed only 10 goals in 76 games.

Girls' Soccer

Over the past three years, the Columbia Girls' Varsity Soccer Team has been building a solid reputation of a skilled, winning team. In 1983 this reputation was again, well deserved. With a final record of 17-3-2 the team, coached by Jay Gavitt, completed its most winning season ever.

Tri-captains Kristen Bowsher, Lisa Darcy, and Moira White led the team through the regular season, the county tournament, and into the state tournament. The team beat Millburn to become the first Essex County Girls Champions.

Although many younger players saw a great deal of action, the team will lose several experienced players. White and Bowsher, known and respected throughout the state and country, combined efforts on offense while Darcy, Stacey Hilbert, and Carra Ericsson ran the strong defense. Liz Orlin and Emily Seidel added depth to the team on both offense and defense.

Field Hockey

The Varsity Field Hockey Team ended their season with a 3-6-2 record. Led by co-captains Rachele Bahto and Liz Whelan, Columbia had 178 shots on goal and scored six times. Jennifer Manning broke Columbia's record with 206 saves and a 56% save record.

Rachele Bahto was voted most valuable player for the 1983 season and Hope Wright was awarded most improved. A special Coach's award was given to Jennifer Manning for her great skill in the goal.

Graduating seniors on the 1983 team are: Edie Horsey, Kathy Vasiliades, Cindy Ashurst, Robyn Neumann, Liz Whelan, Rachele Bahto, Carin Levine, Janine Guida, Kathy Regan, Maryann Carey, and Jamie Joyce. They hope that next year's team will be able to regain Columbia's title in the Iron Hills Division.

Boys' Gymnastics

The Columbia Boys' Gymnastics Team completed a successful 1983 season, compiling a record of six wins and three losses. The boys were coached by Mr. Marvin Spiedel and led by senior captain Al Sneed and junior captains Mike Davis and Dave France.

Two team members, Mike Davis and John Wheeler-Weaver, reached the State Individual Finals for vaulting. The team's chances for scoring well in the NJSIAA Team Championships were hurt by the loss of Mike Davis due to an injury. Even with this loss, the boys were able to place ninth in the state.

This solid team has the depth to withstand the loss of their seniors, Al Sneed, Chris Johnson, and Ed Beckford. The co-captains for the 1984 season will be Mike Davis and Dave France.

The Girls' Varsity Gymnastics Team, led by co-captains Lisa Pennimpede and Jennifer Whinery, ended their season with a team record of 3-4.

The season was at first disappointing and frustrating due to many cancelled meets, a small budget, and little school support. The season did improve, and the girls finished with a high team score of 94.90.

Leanne Faas, Susan Matthews and Jennifer Whinery competed in the sectionals, where Whinery placed 3rd all around. Whinery went on to state competition and achieved her two highest individual scores.

The team would like to thank their coach, Mrs. Van Shaack-Nobbs for her help and support, and to wish the best of luck to Lisa Pennimpede next year.

"The Columbia team this year has to be considered one of the school's most successful."

—Coach Leonard Klepack

The Boys' Cross Country Team had a formidable squad this year. They won seven dual meets and lost two. The varsity team was made up of eight veteran runners of which four will be back next year. The team worked hard and, as a result, had a very successful season. They placed third in the Essex Catholic Invitational and fourth in the Essex County Championship. They also ran very well in invitational meets throughout the season. Led by seniors Oren Kosansky and tri-captain Bob Schuster, the Cougars placed fifth in the State Sectionals and qualified for the State Championship Meet. The rest of the varsity team consisted of senior tri-captains Eric Caro, Farshid Hajir, senior Paul Mitchell, and juniors Daniel Garrick, Farshad Hajir, David Scher and John Talleyrand. Though many seniors will be lost to graduation, the team will be well-balanced and very strong next year, with the help of a talented Junior Varsity group, led by frosh Andre Cantelmo and the returning varsity members.

The Girls' Cross Country Team completed its most successful season. Their dual meet record was 5-3. They won the Essex County Championship as well as the Essex Catholic Invitational. They placed second in the State Sectionals. The team this year was young and lacked competitive experience. There were only three returning varsity members: Senior Captain Christine Talleyrand, and junior veterans Lisa Morgan and Sue Willner. This did not stop the team from having a terrific season. The team's success was mainly due to the talented contributions of freshman Edna Neivert and sophomores Kim Dunn and Lisa Morgan. Sophomore Cheryl Ilg and freshman Arlene O'Connor rounded out the varsity team. Other members of the Cross Country team were seniors Mashid Hajir and Andrea Gollin, junior Gayla Schiff, sophomores Elise Kraemer and Maggie St. Bernard, and freshman Jane St. Bernard.

Presently, the Cougars have earned an impressive 22-3 overall record, with four possible games yet remaining. This success is due to Captains Mark Bryant and Owen Kelly, along with Jeff Kelly, Eric Dines and J. B. Brown.

The season was also filled with many individual accomplishments. Both Owen Kelly and Mark Bryant surpassed the Cougar 1,000 point mark and Bryant went on to become Columbia's all-time leading scorer, rebounder and blocked shot artist. Jeff Kelly also broke New Jersey's single season assist record set by himself in the 82-83 season. Other contributors were Rob Kirsch, Scott Wild, Darrin Brown, Dave Glosinski, Ken Hogenauer and John Dimpel.

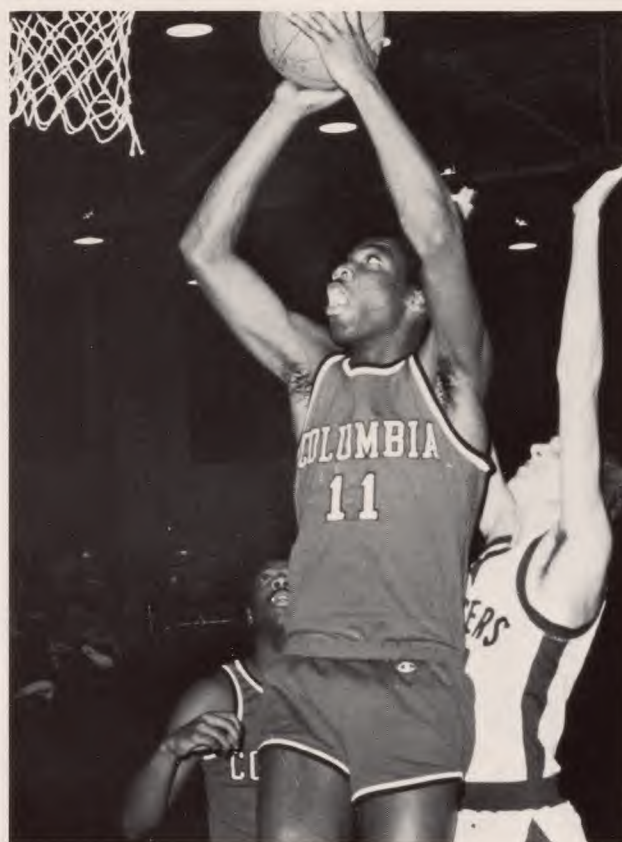

The highlight of the season had to be the 57-56 upset victory over nationally ranked St. Francis Tollentine of the Bronx. The 1983-84 season was an outstanding team effort and established the Cougars as a dominant basketball power throughout the State and the East Coast as well.

Girls' Basketball

The 1983-84 Varsity Girls' Basketball season was one filled with victory, and disappointment due to bad reffing, foul shooting, and lay-ups. Though the girls lost a few tight games they ended 14 and 6 over all and 11 and 2 in the Iron Hills Conference, to take second place. They also finished second in the Montclair Immaculate Christmas Tourney.

The girls were led by quad-captains Lisa Lawrence, Kristen Bowsher, Claire Janowski, and Ronnie Petzinger. Contributing much to the success of the year were the girls on the bench, who were factors in most games.

The Girls' and Boys' Indoor Track Team had its ups and downs, but the team managed to pull off several key victories, resulting in a successful season.

The Boys' season was highlighted when the mile relay team, with seniors Fran Davis, Doug Tindall, Jason Mouring and James Rogers, won and broke their record at the Meadowlands individual. The two-mile relay team of John Talleyrand, Rodney Watson, Donovan Gutzmore and Oren Kosonsky placed in the top five against tough competition in major individuals.

The Girls' Team also completed another very successful season. This Columbia Track team had one of the best teams in the State in Relay competition. The girls became State Relay Champions, Essex County Relay Champions and Conference Champions. The Indoor Track Team was led by tri-captains Debbie Cooper, Christine Talleyrand and Quay Whitlock.

Wrestling

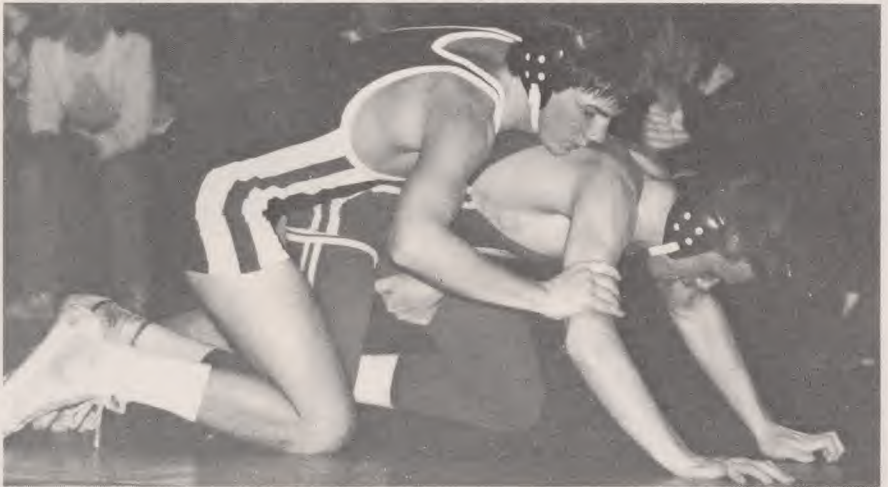

Wrestling is a sport of endurance and discipline. Practices are very demanding and competition is tough. The Columbia Varsity Wrestling team ended their season with a 7-5 dual meet record. The team, although very young with only four seniors, was very strong.

Coached by Al Hector and Vic Lomakin, the wrestlers were: Jack Kennedy, 101; Mike Barry, 108; Chris Defilippis, Marc Ducheneau, 115; Walter Lee, 122; Paul Fisher, Frank Defilippis, 129; Dave Brothers, 135; Ed Nugent, Steve Montgomery, 141; Matt Kelly, 148; Jeff Heckman (capt.), 158; Bill Clohosey, 170; Ron Silbernagel, 188; Desmond Baker, Kevin Bush, HWT.

The season saw outstanding performances from many of the Grapplers. In the Districts, Heckman placed third and Barry, Lee, and Brothers placed first in their weight classes. In the Regionals, Barry placed second and Heckman third.

The 1983-84 Columbia High School Swim Team was, for the first time, a coed one. Led by captains Debbie Neivert, Jackie Press, and Tom Hartung, the team posted an impressive 12-2 record in one of their most successful seasons ever. They ended the season with a ten-meet winning streak that included victories over teams that had been too tough for Columbia in the past. Competing separately in the Iron Hills Conference Championships, both teams pulled in strong fourth place finishes. This fine season also saw many records being broken, especially by the Neivert sisters. Edna performed brilliantly in the 200 and 500 Free, while her sister, Debbie, was triumphant in the 200 Im and 100 Fly.

Coach Dave Yoresh had much to be excited about as his team bounced back from a disappointing season last year. Unfortunately, however, the team will be losing seniors Tom Hartung, Debbie Neivert, Jackie Press, Liz Whelan, and Adi Wyner to graduation this spring.

Our time together is over, we go our separate ways . . . good friends need not always be together, it is the feeling of oneness when distant, that proves a lasting friendship . . . the memories will last forever . . . Linda and Amy—BFF! . . . 10th gr. Eng., when it all began, the string, walking home behind "them". Don't get your neck wet. Necky and guinea pig-God help them!!! I HATE fags. Football games, band, colorguard, field practice — never on time! Roar Cougars Roar. Let me hear you cheer on — Carolyn. Joey's place, "Amy, face it, you can't play the drums", "teach me Mike?" Freebird. Our table — the quarters team: JLCNMCDSCSWCDTLVC. CHS, SHP, NA, MoB. col-UM-bia — shut up Don!! Chris' house. Maybe you can make it to the bathroom next time, Lin. Strong Pina Colodas, scotch and beer? Rick the prick. Georgia sucks. Chinese fire drill — let Amy and Don back in!! White Castle, yellow camaro on Linda's lawn. Who's gunna get served? The case was bigger than Vic. Quarters, Mex., buzz, shot-a-min . . . all at once! Arm wrestling. Scott flipped over the fence — is Amy dead? Lin's ankle (Joey's little shovel!) Ice hockey, "Linda, give us the puck." Scary movies-no way, ET scared me!!! Are Jim and Mick coming over for dinner tonight? Jeem!! — it's MoHo! I didn't even know he was sick. What will the Beatles do now that John is dead?

Soccer — we'll kill you Joey. Green. Volleyball — we try! She doesn't even take a shower. The bee. FOOD FIGHT!!! Your mother, shut your face. "oh, flower child." B-52 baby and bunny, punching fights, weekends!! Bubba and the woman, mom's friends with the entire faculty! We love gossip! Ricky & Amy 11/3/81 "Stairway To Heaven" ILY!!! The Police 4/23/82. Roxanne. Sting — no Stew (poor Andy!) SQUEEZE me. The Rose. purple. "Does my hair look okay?" Shut up Linda? Super Bowl parties go Giants, we'll get 'em next year. Miami sucks. Yoping dupcha, olive juice, I want to vacuum. doodie, take it easy, Mr. Bulge, hot wallet. What's the white stuff on his face? la — look what you do to him! WHAAAAAAT? Straw. Spatula, Queeroli. Porkies — Linda, why are you crying? Meat. Soaps. "Unbelievable" Tainted Love. TGIF!!!! we love mommy and daddy.

Juniors: Ricky's home — be good for a change. The guys we talked about — if they only knew. Woody's Woodpecker. NYE — 3 in one bed "Amy stop pulling off Joey's shorts!!" "Does anyone mind if I take my shirt off?" — AMEEEE!!! Deano's here Ricky, "go home." My basement with everyone. My screen. Oops, I ate his present! Waterfight at Amy's, stop pulling off Scott's shirt Amy! "Don't talk to him, he just got out of jail!!" "Is this your tip?" Surrounded by fags-I hate them all. Christmas cookies — AGAIN?!! Huge carrot. I was born in Scranton Penn., and my father had Alaskan huskies. Illinoizzzz. Halloween '82, punk-you slut. Where's Amy? Seton Hall campus? Bagel Baby — I'd do it over and over again!! Imagine . . . We're all sluts: JMSGAZF?JRDCx2V?SBMRMKTC — are you that desperate? The pumpkin and the stolen car. Sweet Sixteens — the best present: Pirate on a platter! Billy-dammit. S the B and spoker. The hardest times-college. Many tears!! That's purring? Burps. Our journey in the blizzard — snowball fight at Linda's. Nice plants Ralph. The KINKS, May 27th! They put rum in my beer! I want vermouth and coke! Can I have a straw? "Aren't you depressed, Amy?"

Doesn't this song want to make you cry?" Linda lost the poker game — "they cheated!" Battle — Riunite and Blackberry Brandy. Steps. "I did WHAT?!" Sean who? I don't know, Jim who? Oh I know!!! I thought it was his finger! Hickies. Keep your tongue to yourself. Don't stare — I'll kill you!! School spirit — we've got it! I'm good. AVD, Ozzie. "Jesus Christ" I almost got kicked out of school. PSSHHH!! Fred, Fred, Fred. "Don't throw her in the brook!" Lisa's basement — the light. "They're so good you want to eat them twice!" "Don't quit, you kiss good!" Who's my father? The . . . er . . . uh . . . guys: SKJIMKDSGSSDSBJGJK and the senior chicks, LOM-MOKJDMMB . . . JS Prom — I can't believe he's taking a freshman! Work, a job, what's that? USC, Notre Dame and Penn State — Lin loves Todd (my bro!!) Summer of '83 — never home. Parties! S.O. pool, Lacrosse is?! Dancing. Donuts or Buns? Linda & Mike 7/23/83. What happened to D? What do I do? . . . Tell him you have to go home . . . Put a cork in it. I thought it went down. I'd never do that!!! Thank god Scott knocked on the door! "But mom, I was only star gazing!" Once Lin gets going she never stops. Dirty jokes. We're a handy six-pack, Linda doesn't have a flat head though. Movies at Mike's. Family Feud. Rae's party. Grain punch and quarters until 3:00. Rachele — we do love you! Drivers license — finally. Going slooowwww by certain houses. Lookin' good: JKMAMPJKSWCWBPPIBHDWPBGAGTOJDMAMAM (little ants). EEE me! Whatever turns you on. You put the brakes on before you get to the curb Lin! Take off. Mike's bed — do you come here often? B-day mag. P-flick. Super Supra. All good things must come to an end. I want a Mazda RX-7. Shut the hell up, Lin! 3 in the front, peewee in the back. White convertible — the engine is broken! Here kitty, kitty! I could drive if I wanted to (like a selfish bas!) Obnoxious and his dog Caber. Scott and Kato forever! Call for help . . . pause, pause . . . NOW! What the F! Ukulelian. Das POLICE!!!! Carra's pre-party. Aug 18th!! I'll rumble for you. Take a train! Linda's poor couch! The city, "can we take a cab?" Adu's kitchen floor. SENIORS!!!!!! Football games. Hell Raisers. Amu and Linny on the track. RAH: Vic, Anna, Laur, Tee, Cin, Soc, Ker and Col. (Hey, what a night game!!!) — Love ya! Thanks Cathy and the colorguard, luv, your captain. The amazing soccer team!! Bubbles. Blinkers Anonymous. When in doubt . . . The handicapped can. "Amy, are you listening to me?" "God knows I could have drawn pictures!!" "I have to see Dynasty" — Oh god!! "Bored of Education." Nance's parties — where's the door? The house wreckers. Lisa had fun — (twice!) Theresa's . . . gun anyone? You're always trying to sell something, Amy! Andy wants a blow-pop. Hickie on his hip. "Then you can go about your business." The best hand that could be dealt: CILAA. Lisa's last donut. Sharon the leg woman. What's a Middon? Adu knows! . . . and then he had lunch! Since you were 16 — oh my god! "Do I have a personality?" Romeo and la, las, la . . . No wonder he smiles now! Carra and SAK. "What's foreplay?" Her earlobe fetish. Look out summer of '84, Carra!! Do you understand now? Just what is semantics? Lord and Taylor — it's about time Lin!! Tina Bambina. "Quack." F.A.T. ohohoh!!! S.O.M. countenance! Christmas vacation . . . Oh my god it's really over, Lin. More Tears!!! Hanging out at Paul's. NYE—Oh no — fag alert! I can't ice skate — the fox can. I love bats! Little Licenseless Linny Lou. The Hall with Jack (I love you!). Get away from us! Money, Money!! Gift certificate to Amelia from guess who?! The band — they're not black . . . and it's not pink! I can't believe Greg and Vee were there!!! Linda wants to have Michael Jackson's baby. "I don't want to keep it!" JUMP! on Van Halen. Baby oil!!!!What am I? REPULSIVE!! lin-DA!! Our favorite juniors: LVLASNCNF.

Such the party. Jim Kerr on the porch. Marty party! It's even on the back of her shirt! Max, BCCZDBMKDM. It's participating! Love ya, Missy, Lin's house: Our secret "truths" shared in the gutter. Acts of idiocy. WHAAAT? Getting sick at Ukie parties. "Why are there footprints on your door Amy?" Adrienne sacrificed her mom's leather jacket. What an English class. Our best friend in comm. "I can't walk up there alone!" The abuse Linda takes!! The prom . . . Graduation . . . One helluva wild summer-our house . . . And many more memories to come, but we must be traveling on now, 'Cause there's too many places we've got to see — LS . . . at best this life is just a breath . . . a short and plaintive sigh . . . almost before we say hello . . . it's time to say goodbye BB

Mom & Dad

If endings symbolize beginnings, shouldn't the goodbyes be easier to say? Special people — Amy, Cathy, Dana, Jen, Karen, Leigh, Marissa, Marty, Sara, Sue, Tommi, Vick — good times, road trips — Delaware, late nite to PR, the shore, "watch it you're gonna hit something — you hit it" lax games (Rutgers), D&S — told you I couldn't ski, the airport (lost again), Pitt, Boston. What are we gonna do tonite — party at Dana's, even snakes deserve a 2nd chance, use me use me, J&N — learning how to drive a stick — here comes trouble Tim, Ishes Fishes and our 1 big win, gummy bears, library lunches, ILU Tim, thanx mom & dad, Hey chicklets we'll always love ya . . .

Life isn't always logical.

"You were with me when . . . no I wasn't it must have been . . ." I'm normal, I don't know about you guys! Give me a break! Are you eating again? It was fcking intense!! The dancing frog! WAFWOT. Qui moi? The six Bunny-Wunnies. Everything you always wanted to know about fleas, their effect on unemployment and the welfare state but were afraid to ask. Nobody loves me everybody hates me think I'll go eat worms. Dew Drop Inn! Whose stomach is that? Family Business. Tact School. Leave J. and P. this blanket. E.T.?! Ouch! ooze, ooze, fester, fester, Phe-Phix 9-12, Basset-Sow (Whelp). You DON'T know Janine Guida? slice, slice, slice. Dainty June and Caroline. Your love's special. Don't plug your nose when you sneeze. I'm taking ski lessons with Sven! Jocelyn's banana dacquiri. But we're too different to be friends! Where am I on the list? (n and p have big mouths) Just how far can you throw those balls, Jocelyn? I'll never forgive you for Poltergeist. But Jocelyn's too much of an airhead! The Bitch. Diane's embarrassed, again. The "coolest" break next? Yes, but we can have m.o. (president). It won — #7 in the fourth!! swimming jacket? Morning practice . . . no I'll marry, have kids, and hire a nurse! I LOVE it!! We're in Manhattan? You know getting pudgy. "you've got a sprinkle in ugly laugh. Why does she associate with cool guys. I want to go but Julie goes in Don't be silly you meanie! It's good for per double play-5! Looks like our team lent" Hey, I think this person was already Ebon's friendly mascot. Softball party '82, picking you up in ten minutes, but you sans. Bizarrrity at its best. You owe me a me three. She's burping in my face again! Is that your car? What do you think will Sting. Water Gun. BFP Club (Debbie, Which one is Tom? Is he the one in the . . . Don't worry he doesn't bite. mushroom. never said I didn't like your earring . . . I you're incredibly good looking? Weasel's between your front teeth" That's a really them? . . . who are we to talk? It's ultra-first. Guys I'm not hyper, REALLY!!! your head. Pam diving over the edge. Case may be going to pot. "It's got to be excel-up this inning. Buying errors from Ronnie. '83. Why don't you get a real . . . We're can't my hair's wet. Only WIMPS eat raibeer, aphrodis . . . what?? walk over any cars lately? Mega —, bizarre, yet, no less, and whatnot. I wouldn't take girls here . . ., tennis jocks! Ever feel paranoid? All the time! How come nobody looks like that in our school? The untouchables. Quarters. Rather mod (modly, modish). We're all space cadets at one time or another . . . But you more than me. Just ask yourself the question: Is it the thing to do? the plastic bag/hundred dollar bill solutions. He's too short!! That table is inbred and spreading like a disease. Cleavage, what cleavage? Great Adventure. Dates for the Poconos? What are their names? The Purity Quartet. Don't sit there that's Janine's seat! I don't get it! Explain it to me! The man is pond scum! that witch big bird. Myst. The Defects?? The Lab Rats??? Breakage Fee! This doesn't match but Di could get away with it. Coolness. I don't wanna drive (I wanna drink) I know let's get Jocelyn. Pulling Mussels from a Shell . . . they do it on the beach. SAT Word! Gone with the Wind. Danielle Steele, Stephen King. What are you on? Bondage (Alexandra and her bull whip) No. 20??? You're wearing my . . . you're just lucky I didn't wear it today! We survived the Poconos weekend. The Police Concert (August 1983) she's embarrassed again but she's the coolest! Life sucks then you die? Gimme a break! We're leaving at 6:00. tape recorder on the console. I'm getting in the shower in 15 minutes come on over.

Devil and the deep blue sea behind me vanish in the air you'll never find me. I feel so lonely . . . I hope that someone gets my message in a bottle.

The yearbook staff hopes that the 1984 Mirror enables you to remember your years at Columbia. We have tried our best to please everyone. Producing the book was not easy, it took hardwork, patience, and dedication. We would like to thank the following people who gave their time and efforts to make our job a little easier:

Jackie Jennings for writing the introduction and conclusion. You saved us!

Mike Cohen for taking over the Performing Arts section and doing a great job

Stephanie Felzenberg and Ethan Stein for their help on the Underclass section

Cathy Komishane, Tina Langone, and Ann Ward for working with us over Christmas vacation to finish the Senior section

Paul Schaeffer for selling ads

Ann Ward for alphabetizing and proofreading the senior quotes

Tonya Cook and the many others for taking yearbook orders

Allison Ferrell, Marysue Fitzsimmons, Bowie Price, Martha Richardson, and Robyn Slatnick for typing

Cheralyn Buffa for typing in the patron list and Mr. Richter for the use of his Apple

Mr. Pedoto for the class lists and our advisor, Mr. Tom Palma, for his support and guidance. We thank him for his confidence in our ability to produce the 1984 Mirror. It was our work, but he was always there to help us when we needed it. His optimism, his sense of humor, and his friendship will be remembered whenever we open this book.

Brandon Twine for artwork

Prologue

When I volunteered to write the prologue for Memories, I was initially determined to write something that was both meaningful and original. There had to be some deep revelation that others had overlooked when producing their renditions of good-bye and good luck in the future in prosy sentimentality. I'm not so sure now. It's almost like signing the yearbook of an acquaintance; although your intent is sincere, it always comes out reading the same way.

After June 22, we will no longer be a part of Columbia; we'll be a part of its past. For many of us high school has been many things, and we've all had our share of ups and downs. We leave Columbia to cherish the good times and to learn from our mistakes, faced with the realization that there will never be a time like the present.

There is so much to say about high school and graduation that it's difficult to designate a point of departure. Beyond the successful completion of 4 years of English and 4 years of physical education lies what we've learned from each other, the lessons in friendships and hardships. It is not what we carry in our diplomas and yearbooks that will stay with us for the rest of our lives, but what we carry in our hearts. I don't look forward to the good-byes, but they come with the times. To many of us, graduation is an ending of academics and, unfortunately, friendships. We're standing with the rest of our life before us, and graduation is actually just the ending of our beginning. I will miss the friends, teachers, and classes, but, most of all, I'll miss these days and the time we've shared.

I've loved these days...
