Glory Days

High Energy

*It's a typical Friday.
The last bell sounds.
People squeeze through doors,
flock the hallways,
speed to their lockers.
A girl in a maroon and white sweatshirt yells to her friend,
"Don't forget about the football game tomorrow!"
Her friend yells back.
"Don't worry. Kevin, Bobby, Kim well, everybody including me will be there."*

*It's Saturday afternoon.
High school students rush to the game.
The bleachers are stocked full.
The cheerleaders yell,
The teams yell,
The people yell.
Banners fly,
Pom poms tossed,
Music played.*

*Twenty one to twenty-five minutes to go.
Time out! Conference time.
The team huddles.
"... alright then guys, let's go out and get them!"*

*Hutt
Hutt one, hutt two, hutt three — Hike!*

*The field a chaos scene.
"Charlie! I'm open! Pass it here! Now!", yells someone.*

*He hurls the almond-shaped bullet.
It soars up and up.
His fellow teammate eyes it carefully.
His arms raise Umph! He steams away.
Opposing players trail in pursuit.*

*He picks up speed.
The goal line in view.
His limbs are on fire.
A few more yards.
He jumps and tumbles.
The winning touchdown!*

The sign says it all.

The tag games spirited many victims this year.

Yeah! We're gonna rip'em apart — Bob Wordelmann, Walter Neal, Darrin Kaplan

*The boisterous crowd is thunderous. Everyone begins to chant.
"the dogs are alive in 85!"
We won this one.
And everyone thinks —
just wait 'till next week's game.*

Let's jam!

Simon says, turn around! Mr. Nesnay

Working for

Ring, ring . . . oh, the sound of the bell. For some students come intrusion into their daydreams. As the students file out crowded halls to their next class. A new lesson is taught and lively while others daydream of the weekend. The restless never end . . . ring, ring, it's 2:05 p.m. and school is over for

Moonlighting

Up, down and all around town, familiar faces pop up in many stores and restaurants. A lot of students besides going to school, work for a living. For them twenty four hours is never enough because it is so difficult to work, go to school, do homework, participate in activities and spend time with the family all in one day. But working pays off. Money enables them to attend college, to travel, to buy a car, to buy new clothes, and especially to buy a yearbook! Even though working doesn't leave these hard working students a whole lot of time, they would probably say it is worth it.

The new Madonna!

Reeboks rule!!!

Dress You Up

Summer was over; we had to go back
Because if we didn't we'd get lots of flak.
And when we returned to start the new year
What to our wondering eyes should appear
But an explosion of colors and paislies and plaids
Which were quickly becoming the greatest new fads.
Big flower prints and roses galore,
Shakerknits, sunglasses, pins and much more.
Madonna and Springsteen gave impressions to copy
With bright, gaudy jewelry and tee-shirts so floppy.
Haircuts were taking on brand-new dimensions
But the bob and the pixie still held our attentions.
Reeboks and Guess took the country by storm
And it didn't take Matawan long to conform.
Some other new looks that appeared on the scene
Were jeans that were printed in blue, black, and green.
Palm trees and stirrup pants and flowered satin blazers —
This school most surely was looking like lasers.
With many new trends that were right up to par
This year showed that our spirit was the greatest by far. Judy Hummel

Oh, when is this going to be over?!

Reach, reach, reach . . .

I sure hope this doesn't fall on me.

Let's Get Physical

Everybody worries about their bodies and how they look nowadays. With the help of Jane Fonda, Joni Greggains, and Richard Simmons rigorous exercise and aerobic routines, Matawan girls, even guys, have a chance to keep healthy and in good shape. Toning up muscles and building strength is also part of looking good and the weight room allows students to do just that. This year, students can also exercise and enjoy open air and beautiful weather at the same time through the newly added fitness trail. Matawan provides a variety of programs for all to enjoy getting into shape.

After the Bell

After school activities keep MRHS buzzing. From the weekly meetings of the History & Government Club to the exhausting practices of the football team. Fun filled hours are spent after the eleventh period bell has rung. The time and effort that the members of the various teams and groups and clubs devote to their organizations shows up in the long list of winning teams, shows and awards.

Freedom?!

Many of the students will admit there sure are a lot of rules and regulations they have to follow through the course of their day. Careful observation will attest to the fact that for most of the students most of the rules are followed most of the time. But . . .

Matawan Schools: An everlasting tradition

It is difficult to conceive the fact that Matawan Schools have existed for at least two hundred years. The first knowledge of any school in the area was found in the record of a road dated March 24, 1761. However, this does not eliminate the notion that schools may have existed even earlier. A prominent Matawan townsman named Asbury Fountain is said to have attended an old schoolhouse, around 1815, "standing on a burial lot next to a Presbyterian Church in the vicinity of Keyport." This was probably the house from 1761.

Around 1833 an effort was made to build a school in the center of Matawan. Stockholders paid for the construction of a forty-four by thirty-six foot, two story building which opened in 1834 and was called Middletown Point Academy. Middletown Point Academy was used for a few years until it went private.

Our present public school system dates from 1895, when established under an Act of the Legislature in 1894, which provided for consolidation of all school districts. A new eight room building was erected at a cost of $16,000 to accommodate students. In 1908, a $22,000, four room addition was added as the number of children attending school grew.

The first student graduated from high school in 1895 was F. Howard Lloyd, Sr. The course he took was only one year in length, and he was in a class by himself. Soon after graduation, he became highly influential in the positive progression of the Matawan school system.

Mr. Lloyd became principal in 1919, succeeding William L. Miller, who had been principal since the school's reception in 1895. The same year, as President of the State Teacher's Association, Mr. Lloyd helped in getting passage of the teacher's tenure law by the State Legislature. He left Matawan schools in 1922 to become supervising principal of the Middletown Township school system, where he accomplished as much for their schools as he did for ours.

Matawan schools are among the oldest organized schools in the area. In fact, in 1982, there were only four schools in the area listed as four year high schools, Matawan being one of them. It is also interesting to note the difference between teachers' salaries today compared with those around 1916. That year high school annual salaries were as follows: $925 for Science and Math; $800 for English; $725 for History and Algebra; $810 for Latin and German; and a hopping $1,525 for the principal. It seems that teachers have always been underpaid.

By 1924, a much larger school was needed, prompting the construction of a new building on an eight-acre plot at Broad and South Streets. The structure, of Georgian architecture, cost in excess of $175,000. It was two and one-half story brick building containing thirteen rooms, a study hall, an auditorium of five hundred twenty-seven seats, a special manual training and domestic science room, a lunch room, and a three-hundred seat gymnasium. This building still stands today, and plans for its sale, or possible destruction, are still pending.

In 1963 our present school was officially opened. Construction of this building cost approximately 2.3 million dollars of taxpayer money and grants from the state. Facilities in the school were comparable to any fine school in the state at that time.

A new business wing was added in 1981. It contains a comprehensive library, typing classes, computer rooms, and Math and English resource rooms, enhancing the school's educational opportunities.

Presently, activities concerning high school matters are numerous. Plans to move the 9th grade to the High School have been made, as well as other reorganizational changes, within the entire school system. Nonetheless, the High School will continue to strive to maintain excellence sending productive men and women into the world as Matawan-Aberdeen schools have done for the past century.

Clothes for Thought

It seems that college sweats are an all around favorite clothing item at Matawan Regional. Whether they be a hand me down from family or friends, a souvenir from a college visit, the wishful hopes of a college applicant to the beginnings of a dream realized, the message is clear year after year.

Heart to Heart

This past year, Student Council sponsored several dances, all of which have been pretty successful. The Valentine's Day Dance was one of the successes. Not only did those who participated have a great time, but Student Council also made a profit. Hopefully, this is a sign that school spirit is growing and there will be more successful dances in the future.

Patrice from Nice

Patrice Guyot is a French exchange student who spent his senior year here at Matawan Regional High School. He comes from Nice, in the south of France, on the French Riviera. During his stay here, he is living with John and Linda Nagy in Cliffwood Beach. He became involved in the exchange program when a friend came to the United States and then explained to him the good behavior of American people. But he was also looking for an adventure and for something different.

He likes the U.S. because of its interesting people and its friendliness. He says that France has a totally different lifestyle in such things as communication among people, of which he says there is more here, and food, which he says is awful here because there's "too much fast food". Fashion, however, he says, is the same in both countries.

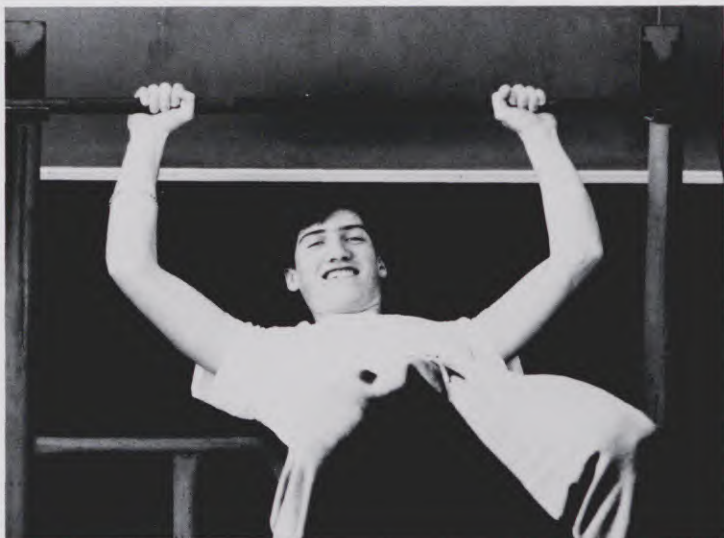

Patrice involved himself in a full curriculum of schoolwork, taking Calculus, AB, English IV, U.S. History I and II, English as a Second Language, Advanced Biology, and Comprehensive Reading. After school, he was a member of the soccer team. In his free time he enjoys jogging, building model boats, listening to music (he likes Simple Minds, Prince, Madonna, Depeche Mode, Billy Idol, and U2), and dancing at night clubs. He has also visited New York City to do some sightseeing at places of interest.

He describes French and American schools as very different. French schools are much more complex, he says, with more hours of work. The school day lasts from 8am to 5pm. Students have no choice in what courses they take; they involve themselves in one of the four curricula of science, literature, language, or economics, and the courses pertaining to their field of study are chosen for them. There is no free time after school for sports or extracurricular activities. The "baccalaureat" is a big final exam for all high school students who wish to continue their education at a college; only 60% of all the students who take it actually pass the test, since it tests everything that has been learned in high school.

Learning English wasn't hard for Patrice. He says it's easier to learn when you're leaving France. Because of the demanding schedule of French schools, and because students "already have too many subjects to study", English was an easy class where they could joke around and have fun.

After graduating high school, Patrice plans to attend Rutgers College of Engineering. Once he graduates from there, he will return to France to go to another college to study to be a pilot. His reason for attending Rutgers first is that he says it's easier to get into the other college if he already has his Engineering Degree.

Patrice didn't miss his family much when he first came here, since everything was new. Now that he has gotten accustomed to things here and has made friends, he misses his family more than he did then. He says it's hard to get really good friends, since everyone here already knows everyone else.

There have been many highlights to this year. He has visited Great Adventure and Virginia Beach. He has also gone to Disney World and Sea World in Florida with his mother, who came to visit. Another highlight to his year is that he finds it a "great adventure to dream in English."

We sat under the moon
Beneath a tree.
He looked into my eyes;
He said he had a question for me.

Not quite sure of how to ask
Or what to say,
He took a deep breath an
Looked away.

Will you please be my date
For my senior dance?
You're my first true love —
My real romance.

Afterwards we could go up to the city
And take a stage-coach ride
Through Central Park.
It'll be very romantic
To be alone with you in the dark.

Then we could go to the fountain
And drop in a dime
To make a wish
That our love will always shine.

The night will be ours
For endless romance
Only if you will accompany me
To this dance.

Huskieville U.S.A.

Coach Martucci's goals before the football season began were for the Huskies to win the championship during their final year of A North play and to make the State Playoffs. The Huskies did both in the normal Matawan fashion. Although the beginning of the season proved turbulent, the team came together when the chips were down and with a family spirit played power football.

When Matawan lost to Toms River South on opening day 31-28 they did not lose their confidence. In the following two weeks the Huskies beat Freehold Township in the pouring rain 20-14 under the lights and bested the intimidating Flyers of Neptune, who had been challenging the Huskies in the newspapers. The final score was 22-7. The following week against Middletown North the Huskies forgot to show up — losing 24-6. With their record at 2-2 the Huskies refused to give up and became more intense.

The Huskies easily defeated Brick Memorial with Sam Turner's "Death Squad" shutting out Memorial's offense 21-0. In the rain again, Matawan powered over Marlboro 27-6 with Greg Rice rushing for over 200 yards. Rice did the same the following two weeks leading the Huskies to two decisive victories. Beating Middletown South 29-7 in a hard-hitting, physical game, Coach Martucci's Huskies began to prepare for their final conference game against Manalapan. On the 16th of November the team put on their snorkles and swim fins and played in the pouring rain with two inches of rain on the field. Rice ran like a speedboat because of the great blocking that the offensive line had provided throughout the season. The Huskies defeated the Indians 19-0.

After taking third in Central Jersey Group III, the Huskies went to Ewing Township for the State Playoffs. Ahead 3-2 at halftime, the team remained psyched. With less than a minute of play left in the game, the Huskies were down by two points. On fourth and long Matawan fumbled the ball thus losing the game 12-10. If that wasn't bad enough, the bus broke down on the way home. It just wasn't Matawan's day. In the annual Thanksgiving Day game, Matawan played with all of their hearts and souls as they had all season. On a muddy, damp afternoon the Huskies defeated Raritan 34-7. Thanks to some help from Middletown South, Matawan won the A North Championship. Coach Martucci's goals were accomplished by the great effort from the entire team and coaching staff.

George Magnenat, Dan Mooney, and Greg Rice made first team All-Shore. Mike Davino made second team All-Shore, and Bryan Long and Rusty Neal made third team. Bryan Long, George Magnenat, Dan Mooney, Rusty Neal, Greg Rice, and Charlie Vena made All-Division for A North. Andy Malinconico and Jun Pak received All-County honors. Greg Rice ran for 1,478 yards during the season breaking Terry Underwood's record of 1,444 yds. He ran for 18 touchdowns, and had three kickoff returns and threw one touchdown pass.

Congratulations to the entire Huskie squad for an unforgettable season!

Born To Run

The '85-'86 cross-country team did not meet their pre-season expectations. Due to injuries, the team suffered a number of painful losses. Nevertheless, there were many outstanding individual performances. Rookies Woo Yang and John McEvoy contributed to the team greatly while winning their varsity letters. The other varsity lettermen were John Hendricks, Eric Reinold and captain Brian Chu. Since all five of the top runners will be returning, the team feels that the outlook for next season is very promising.

Charlie's Angels completed their 1985 season with a winning record of 9-3. The team tore up the 3.1 mile course of Holmdel Park, (the most challenging cross country course in New Jersey) defeating Conference rivals St. Johns, Marlboro and Middletown North. Led by Captain Amy Gall and Co-Captains Monica Holzhauer and Liz Kedra, the team had the advantage of enthusiastic seasoned veterans as well as the support of outstanding underclassmen. The Angels placed fourth in Central Jersey Group III headed by Freshman AnneMarie McCartin. The team looks forward to a successful season next year led by upcoming Seniors Meg Carey and Anne McHugh. With the dedication of Charles Rego and Tony Bombaci, the girls capped a great season and look forward to victories yet to come.

The 1985-1986 basketball season was a hard-fought campaign in spite of the 7-12 record. Led by senior co-captains Mike Davino, Mike Steiner, and Eric Bach, the Huskie cagers experienced their best season in five years. This improved record was assisted by junior, leading scorer, leading rebounder Joe Mauro along with rookie Eric Bellamy who averaged nearly ten points per game.

The 1985-1986 season for girls basketball was a disappointing one. Through the season it was rough, but everyone held together.

They had positive attitudes throughout the season and expect better results next year. Even though it was an upsetting season, the girls still had good times. Although this year's team is very young, they all learned a lot from it.

The starting varsity team consisted of senior Tracy Ciaglia; juniors Annette Tomasello, Lauren Caldera, Joanne Beyers, and Meg Carey; and sophomores Cando Jiosne and Tyanne Rice.

The player to be recognized this year is senior captain Tracy Ciaglia for her outstanding performance for the 1985-1986 season. Tracy also gave a great individual performance toward the team.

The Huskies are looking forward to next year with returning letterman players Annette Tomasello, Lauren Caldera, Joanne Beyers, and Meg Carey.

This year ended with a string of most impressive wins. (53-8, 62-12, 55-10) to end at 8-7. We went 7-1 during the second half of the season, when the youth of the lower weights blended with the hungry desire of the upper weights. Led by Seniors Bryan Long, Mario Barakat, Dan Mooney, Mike Hudak, and Andy Malinconico. It was the first winning season in eleven years.

The 1985-1986 winter track program was a building process for the spring track program yet to come. All of the athletes spent many hours working out in the weight room. With this idea in mind, Coaches Bombaci and Rego hoped to build a strong base for the upcoming spring season.

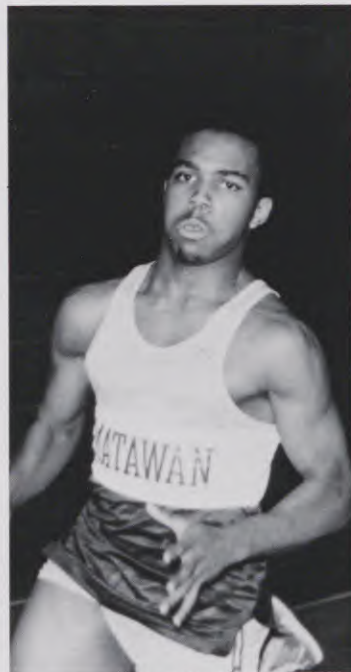

Monica Holzhauser and Tracey Smutko placed first as a duo in the Shore Conference Relay Championships. Holzhauser also placed first in the county, second in the conference, and went on to make it into the Meet of Champions. Freshman Anne Marie McCartin ran a 5:43 1600 to break the school record. Rolando Persons had a successful season throwing better than 47 feet. Overall, the winter season benefited all of those who participated.

Coach Joe Pelligrino has high hopes for this year's baseball team. He is hoping to have a lot of victories. The returning players are Seniors Mike Davino, Kevin Ferguson, Andy Malinconico, Mike Hudak, Greg Larson, John McCormack, and Todd Rodelli. Even though Coach Pelligrino is foreseeing this year's baseball season as a tough one, he is cautiously optimistic for a successful season.

Conditioning is the word on the softball field this season. Coaches Faye Irons and John Geran work, run, and drill their players in order to prepare them for the season ahead. With approximately thirty games on the schedule, the team must have mental strength in addition to physical strength and conditioning, according to Geran, to be well prepared. Coach Irons and Coach Geran predict a winning season judging from their player's talents. Returning to the Varsity team this year are Juniors Maria Eckenrode, Susan Rausch, and Annette Tomasello. Returning Seniors include Tracy Ciaglia, Mary Anne Grena, Stacey Nadell, and Laura Niceforo.

Silent Running

The 1986 Boys' Spring Track Team consists of a number of fine talents destined for future success. One major standout is Senior sprinter Greg Rice. He holds the school outdoor track records for the 400, the 200, and the 100 meter races. Fellow Senior sprinters are Charles Anderson, Chris Barran, Wilbur Neal, and Chris Shakespeare. The distance team boasts of three returning juniors: Woo Yang, John Hendricks, and Brian Chu. Also, a sophomore talent, Eric Reinhold, along with other newcomers adds depth to the team. In the hurdles, Senior Rusty Neal and Sophomore Teddy Kolshorn combine to make a tough duo for their adversaries to beat. The Field is just as strong, headed by Junior shotput thrower Rolando Person. The high-jumping combination of Juniors Stacey Cross and Bernard Bird leads the best of the high-jumpers in the Shore. This is one of the strongest track teams in Matawan history, according to Coach Tony Bombacci. There are no evident weak points in the team.

You Better Run

The 1986 spring track season was on the upswing from previous seasons. Led by Captains Monica Holzhauer and Amy Gall, the team was supported by a mixture of upper- and underclassmen. Seniors Liz Kedra, Donna Zeni, Meghan Sheehan, and Sue Helgesen added much needed veteran experience. Juniors Anne McHugh and Meg Carey lent their talent to the distances, as well as Tanja Noren, who gave much needed support to the discus. The team was rounded out by such new young talents as Anne Marie McCartin, who could be a statewide threat in the 1600, and Tara McHugh, a freshman talent in the 800.

The 1986 tennis team consists of all undergraduates. The team is led by Keith Wolman and Brian Sivin, who played the first and second singles spot. Other returning lettermen are Gary Rosenson, Jon Bier, and Billy Berger. Rounding out the list of probable starters are Barry Schechter and Brett Wallerstein. Coacy Barry Rizzo feels that although the team may have some tough competition, they might end up with a .500 season or better.

Get Into the Swing

Interscholastic golf consists of a team of five players. A team wins a match when three of its players win the individual matches. Such competition is called match play golf as opposed to medal play, when a match is determined by a team's total score.

Besides providing the challenge of individual competition, interscholastic golf provides the girl or boy with a life long skill.

Sound of Music

The Marching Huskies, under the direction of Mr. Carlo Vinci Jr, completed another successful season. Since August, members have devoted hours of practice to perfecting their show for half-time and competitions. Some competitions were at Governor Livingston, where they earned a 63.05, and at Edison, where they received a 66.5. The band's repertoire included "Firestorm", "Boogie Down", "Hill Where The Lord Hides", and "Someone to Watch Over Me". Soloists were Jon Knapp on Mellophone, Tom Giovinozzo on trumpet, and Matthew Moshen on trombone. In addition, the Huskies traveled to Maryland in May, where they participated in the 1986 Annapolis Music Festival.

Soloist Jon Knapp in "Boogie Down", and . . .

Tom Giovinozzo in "Hill Where The Lord Hides", belt it out.

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America

Vocational Industrial Education prepares young adults for successful wage earning employment and to become better citizens.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is the national youth organization that serves students enrolled in trade, industrial and technical programs.

The concept behind VICA is to develop the "whole student" — his/her social leadership abilities, as well as his/her skills. Each student participating in VICA has a chance to develop through a number of programs, and activities include competitions on two local state and national levels, fundraising, community service projects and guest lecturers.
