What's your point?

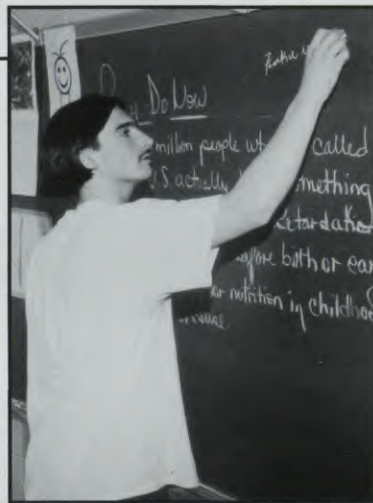

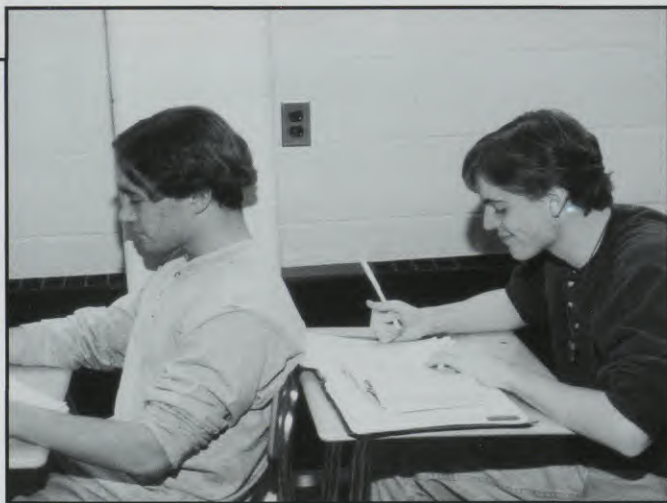

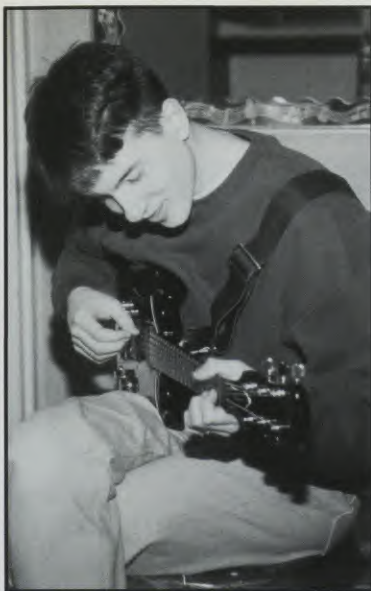

Explore your options

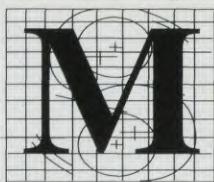

High School is the time to explore your options, determine your goals, and gather the knowledge you need to act out your dreams. Whether you decide to take art majors and ceramics, AP chemistry and physics, or cosmetology and accounting, you will receive the support you need at MRHS.

Your opportunities are endless both inside and outside the classroom. Make your choices; the point is yours.

Melting Point

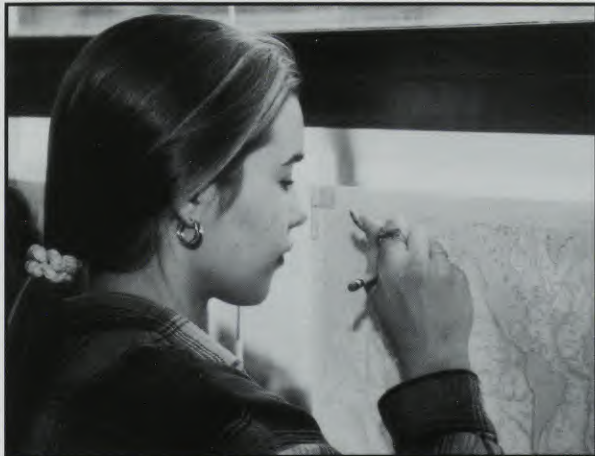

Endless Opportunities

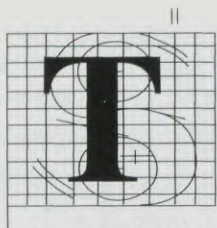

With 1,000 students and 125 teachers and faculty members, the plethora of faces, experiences, and ideas is endless at MRHS. In one day alone, it is possible for a student to learn about ancient Rome in a Latin class, dance the tango at an Interact Club Heritage Festival, discuss American foreign policy during the 1940's in U.S. History, or role-play a scene with the Thespian Society.

Engaging yourself in our global community goes far beyond cultural exchange;

MRHS continually provides a forum for ideological exchange. Do you want to express your thoughts on school policy? Write a column for our award-winning "Huskiewiew." Do you find that there are many students who share a common interest? Start a club. The opportunities are endless in a school so diverse.

To the Point of Exhaustion

Phenomenal Programs

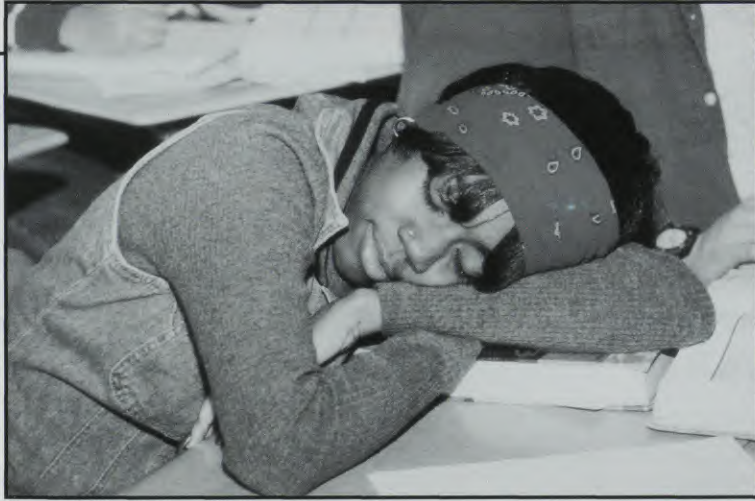

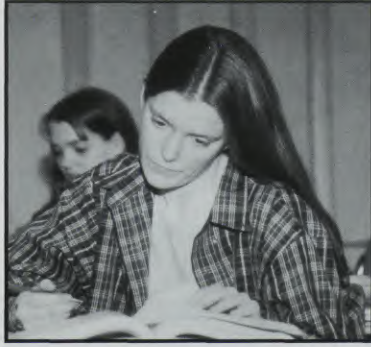

For very few Matawan students, school consists solely of six hours of classes. Instead, most find themselves inundated with club meetings, concerts, practices, and games - on top of homework, studying, and maybe even a job.

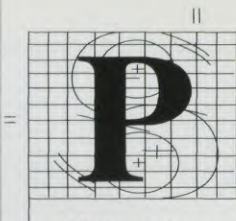

Today, one's education does not come only from books. Matawan's phenomenal extracurricular program provides the opportunity to study everything from voice in the choir, to quadratic equations in the Calculus Club. A student can debate with the Junior Statesmen of America or host a game show with the T.V. Club. While there is always a club meeting to attend or run, school activities don't take place only in school; often there are "away-games" to play in or district-wide events to attend. Many students participate in conferences and conventions, championships and chapter meetings. The list is endless, and yet we continue; from school to sports, clubs, homework, jobs, and everything in-between. It's amazing that some students find time to breathe.

MRHS Masterpiece

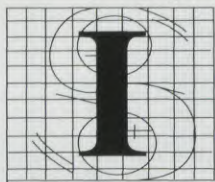

While we're not really sure how pointilism relates to us individually, the art form, in which the combination of points or spots of pure colors are optically mixed into a resulting hue, surely serves as a metaphor for Matawan Regional High School. The blue and yellow points, which mix to form green, are the faculty and students - - - separate, yet one. The purple, created from the red and the blue, is the melding of original ideas and separate philosophies that emanate from classroom discussions and hallway debates. The MRHS masterpiece would not be complete unless each and every person who walked through its doors didn't leave his or her point.

Missed the Point

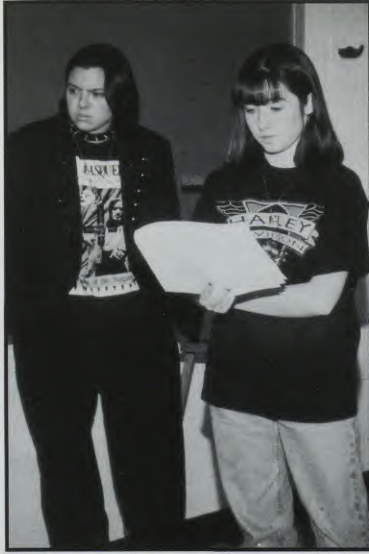

There's always help to succeed

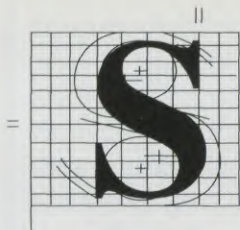

Oops! How many times have you found yourself in the hallway after the bell rings because you still haven't figured out how to get from the band room in the A-wing to the gym through the overcrowded East Hallway? Stuck in the courtyard because one of the doors is locked? Overwhelmed by college/career options? Utterly confused after a forty minute lecture in a subject that you thought you knew so well?

Whatever your problem, you are bound to find a solution at MRHS. From our always helpful guidance office staff who will gladly help you in your college search or with your schedule, to our reliable custodial staff, without whom we might not be able to get to our lockers when we've forgotten to bring home a book, or need to come in early to meet a deadline. From our peer tutors, willing to conjugate verbs or solve algebraic equations over lunch, to the teachers who gladly come in early or stay after to review for The Big Test, you can always find someone ready, willing, and able, to help you succeed.

Senior Siblings

In between the laughter and joy, tears and sadness, lies a time in which siblings become very important to us. Although we have disagreed, argued and fought (sometimes a lot!), our brothers and sisters have been a special part of our lives, especially our high school experience. Remember the first day our siblings walked into school; scared, confused and lost? Just as we pointed out the way back then, we now must lead our siblings into the future. Our graduation marks the beginning of a bright tomorrow.

The seniors wish their siblings best of luck in the future!

On Your

Years from now when we think of our high school days, what we will remember will probably have little to do with studying facts and mostly to do with our friends. We will remember the togetherness of preparing the homecoming float, the intimacy of third period lunches, the camaraderie of voices cheering for the various sports teams. Those involved in chorus will think with fondness about the time someone

Turning

The years we spend in high school are perhaps the most pivotal in our lives. For it is here that we grow and change, and begin to realize who we are and what we will become. High school is the turning point between growing up and moving on; it is here that we

Silly Olympics is certainly a self-explanatory spirit week event. It is a silly olympics! Perhaps this year it could also have been called a riot of fun. Filled with craziness, messiness, and disorder, it was surely more fun than a barrel of monkeys.

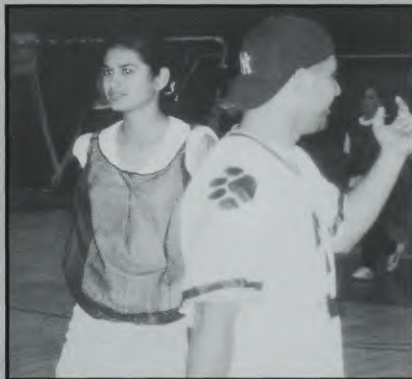

Students competed in various events, and perhaps some things that were not even events. Besides playing "who could get the messiest," students competed in a three-legged race, egg toss, tug-of-war, obstacle course, and other events that prove to be fun year after year.

The Seniors' fairy-tale land in the West Wing led into . . .

The East Wing became a 70's time warp courtesy of the Sophomores, and . . .

in the words of Freshman Porky Pig, "That's All Folks!"

Fall . . . the air is cooler, the ground brightened by leaves of yellow, orange and red. Within the halls of MRHS, another seasonal event takes place. Homecoming, usually held in October or November, brings together every student in the name of spirit and fun.

Homecoming actually begins the summer before school, when Student Council members are hard at work designing decorations for the hallway contest. Even people who are not on Student Council get involved in Homecoming. The teachers and seniors pick a Homecoming Court, and the Homecoming King and Queen are announced at the big football game against Raritan High School.

All the Homecoming events prove that, while we are different, the students at MRHS know how to unite, especially when it means that everyone has a good time!

"Outside-of-School" Activities

For the past five years, I've been working hard at my sport. Being a sponsored skateboarder, you travel to contests, see things you've never seen, skate places you've never skated. I've always seen skateboarding as an art, even though others don't always agree. Some people try to turn a positive sport into a negative sport with their reactions. If more people would learn about the sport and its complex moves and maneuvers, they would be able to appreciate it.

Dr. Rodgers attended Fordham University School of Education. He did his graduate work at Queens College and received a doctorate from St. John's University.

From 1961-1972, Dr. Rodgers was a mathematics teacher at Forest Hills High School, where he became an assistant principal in charge of mathematics. From 1973 to 1982, Dr. Rodgers opened up a marine biology-oceanography high school called Beach Channel High School.

Three years after that, Dr. Rodgers was principal of a middle school. He was then a project director for a high school that went year-round.

Immediately before Dr. Rodgers came to Matawan, he was principal of Norman Thomas High School in Manhattan, on the corner of Park Avenue & 34th Street. It was organized as a magnet school for business education.

FACULTY

What are the weirdest excuses you have ever heard from students?

A student told me that he couldn't do his homework because his book was in his locker and the maintenance people had plastic in the east hall because they were removing asbestos!!! I don't have my homework because it was in the kitchen and there was a fire in the kitchen . . . I didn't do it so I could impress you with my honesty about not doing it.

I can't do anything in mathematics!

I left my bookbag in my friend's car who had an accident and the car was impounded.

I lost my notebook last week.

I left my book in school, therefore my homework is not late because I couldn't do it.

They're all weird!!

My dog ate my homework - In speaking to the parents, it was true!

My homework flew out the car window when I was driving down the parkway.

SURVEY

When I was Your age . . .

A slice of pizza cost $.25
We had respect for adults. Nor did we use so much profanity.
John Travolta was popular the first time around.
I was respectful to teachers.
My texts weighed less than 1/4 of what they do today.
College cost per year was today's cost per month.
The laws of physics were all known already, some people thought.
I really did walk to school over a mile every day.
We weren't allowed to have our own lockers; we had closets in our homeroom classes.
We carried our books around all day.
I tried every excuse in the books - so, I know them all.
I walked twelve miles to school, uphill both ways!
My mother would wash my mouth out with soap if I used such language.

What are some teachers' pet peeves?

My pet peeve is when my wife receives a phone call that school is cancelled because of snow and I have already left for work.

Chewing gum!

Not saying "Excuse Me" when they interrupt.

Not saying "Hello" when they see you in the hallway, etc.

When students say "That's not fair!"

Extra-credit can count off as well as on.

Beavis & Butt-head imitations.

No soap or tissue in the bathrooms.

Students being disrespectful and not listening or following directions.

Trash in the drinking fountains.

Students who come to class unprepared.

Student disrespect of their peers and of school property.

Denials regardless of their veracity.

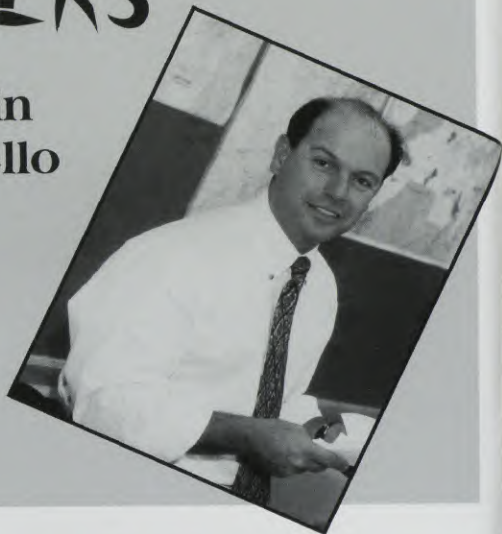

Being lied to and treated as if I am stupid.

Students who waste their time and ability in school.

Popping gum. "If I see it or hear it, it's gone."

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is a selective organization open to academically gifted students who exhibit character, leadership, scholarship and service. While outsiders may think that it is impossible to have fun in an "honor society," NHS members soon learn otherwise. At the dance immediately following inductions in October, members saw the dancing skills of quite a few teachers (and still managed to have a good time.) Even NHS participation in fundraising is enjoyable. Those who participated in the Juvenile Diabetes Walk-A-Thon had the pleasure of being outside on an unexpectedly mild October day, and raised a great deal of money for an important cause. The annual Bowl-A-Thon in February which raised money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, also drew the presence of several teachers, who bowled alongside NHS members. While it may be difficult to meet the NHS criteria, membership is definitely rewarding and also extremely fun.

Although this year's football season was not the type that Matawan fans have become accustomed to, the team played extremely hard in every game. This year's team had to rely on many underclassmen, and because of their youth and inexperience, we were unable to reach many of our pre-season goals. The one thing I am most proud of is the way the seniors gave all that they had; trying to keep things going in a positive manner. They will be remembered for leaving it all on the field to the honor of MRHS. I wish the seniors the best in their future endeavors and challenge the underclassmen to reach for greatness.

Working on the yearbook
for the past three years
has been an experience
I'll never forget. Best of luck to everyone in the future.

Jessica Mandelbaum
Business Manager

I learned a lot being an editor these past three years. Although there have been many trying times, all in all it was a good experience.

Wilam Harley
Computer Editor

Yearbook, like all things
in life, has its ups and downs; but as long as you learned from your failures and triumphs, it
was an experience worth doing.

Amanda Shing Lee
Sports Editor

Yearbook has been constructive and fun this year. I hope to do it again
next year. Best wishes
and Good Luck to All.

Heather Sobel
Copy Editor

While working on the yearbook staff was not always fun and games, it was a meaningful experience I'll never forget.
