PREFACE.

The Oranges, Bloomfield and Montclair are all growing in a gratifying manner, and this is better and more perceptibly shown by the Directory than in any other way. Seventeen pages more of names in the main book—Orange, East and West Orange—with between 500 and 600 names, shows the increase, and would indicate an increase in population of between 2,500 and 3,000.

The year opened with better prospects for business than in a long period past, but the differences between labor and capital had the effect of producing a temporary suspension in many branches.

The change of moving day from April 1st to May 1st, although not universally observed, has been sufficiently so to make it necessary to delay the publication of the Directory in order to make it more complete and thorough.

A new feature in the book this year is a handsome and accurate map of Bloomfield and Montclair, which will doubtless be appreciated by all subscribers.
