LOCAL ITEMS.

Our interesting friend, Dr. Gera, has had built in the carriage factory of Brennan & Co., a new spring seat which is a very great improvement on the old boghead.

We copied from an exchange, a month or so ago, the notice of a large eagle that had been caught in the upper part of the State, not knowing that one equally large had been captured a month or two previous, by the young son of Mr. Austin Hold, of our village. The Matewan Eagle measures over seven feet from tip to tip of wings, and is a noble looking bird, though one of his wings are broken.

We have a Soda Fountain in town this summer. Mr. J. R. Ferriss has cleared out from his premises everything that would be objectionable as a place for ladies to visit, and intends to accommodate the public with a first-class Ice Cream and Refreshment Saloon, and good Soda Water.

Mr. Roscoe Brown is building a new house for sale, on Park avenue, near the ice pond.

Mr. Wm. Corbett's house on the corner of Broad & South streets is nearly finished.

Mr. George Bond will soon move in his new house at the upper part of the village.

We are sorry to learn that our friend, Mr. A. S. Dunlop, late of the firm of Brennan & Co., has left the place of his boyhood home, and the town, where nearly all his life has thus far been spent, to try his fortune in the far West. We wish him abundant success, but would rather he had not gone.

Mr. Charles Fountain has been having a neat Terra Cotta Vase placed in the center of the oval in front of his new residence.

Dr. Shackleton intends having two of the same kind on his lawn, and Mr. D. H. Wyckoff, one in his front yard. These vases are for sale by Fountain & Gera, who have also the Terra Cotta Chimney Tops and Drain Tiles.

Don't fail to look at the fence in front of D. H. Wyckoff's residence. We said three months since that it would have to follow the improvement in his yard. The galls are a line of women on duty.

Mr. Alfred Gera's new residence at the top of the hill is almost completed.

The old hotel, formerly kept by John Ferry, has been converted into business place and a dwelling house, and is offered for rent for these purposes.

A number of our citizens are having their houses renovated by a coat of paint, very much improving their appearance.

With the June number, the year for the Journal expires. We have not with each success during the past year as will warrant the effort to bring out our little sheet every alternate week, beginning with July, at the low price of seventy-five cents per annum. We trust the patrons of the past year will favor us again, and their patronage will be imitated by others. Send in your new subscriptions, accompanied with only seventy-five cents for another year.

There were three pew cushions left over from outfitting the Presbyterian church, which may be purchased by calling upon Mr. G. D. White.

STATE.

Governor Randolph having gone on a four week's trip to the South, Hon. Miss Hobbs, president of the Senate, will perform the duties of Governor during his absence.

A lady living in Shrewsbury, weighing two hundred and seventy pounds, has had ten children, seven of whom are living, each of them weighing over two hundred pounds.

The minutes of the New Jersey Anti-Slavery (N. E.) Conference give the following summary of statistics for the year past:—Whole number of members, 56,117; deaths, 506; probationers, 5,429; local preachers, 180; churches, 334—an increase over last year's report of whole number of members, 500; deaths, 9; probationers, 576; local preachers, 3; churches, 7.

New Jersey contributed $4,199.93 to the Bible cause during the month of March; and $50,414.58 during the year ending March 31.

The Methodists of Mount Holly are about to improve their church edifice.

The annual camp meeting of the Newark Conference Camp Meeting Association will be commenced on August 23, and continue until September 7.

Mrs. Edwin A. Stevens has erected nine half dozen fine cottages on her property, near the Highlands.

A few days since, as Mrs. Cornelius Irvin, of Englishtown, was getting out of her wagon, she found that she had lost her strength, and being taken to the residence of her daughter, expired the next afternoon.

In an orchard on the farm of James A. Ferriss, near Freshford, his men recently ploughed up over a bushel of apples, sound and fresh, which were covered by the plow last fall when ploughing up potatoes. Some of the apples were of varieties that are never known to keep until spring in the ordinary way.

Congressman Charles Haight, of the second District, was elected a member of the National Academy of Science, Literature, and Art, at its meeting in Washington the other day.

The old Tenant Church has been renovated and repainted inside and outside, and the grounds laid out beautifully.—The sheds have been removed to the rear of the church which much improves the looks of the front of the Church.

An infant was found dead in a slab, recently, at Fort Washington. It is supposed to have been murdered. The whole affair is a mystery.

Farewell! A long and sad farewell! It is going—going—going—but not all gone yet. Like Mrs. Elminas, we shall be compelled to say "Thou art gone from my sight like a beautiful dream." (all but the beautiful!) Can any one guess at what we are driving? Ask Dr. Pitman, and he will point you across the street to what was, scores of years ago, a house, but what has lately had no other name than "an eye sore." But it is gone—going, at last.

Matewan has on her vernal robes from God's dressing room, and looks beautiful. Our many shade trees may give to our town a somber appearance in Winter, but they make it a charming spot from Spring time to Autumn. We love our town, even though we may be a little behind the times in Rail-roads and Public Schools.

Rev. E. Hewitt, of Kayport, preached in the M. E. Church, from Acts XVI; 25-26, last Sabbath morning. He brought his listeners where the artist brings the admirer of a painting. He may be pleased with the effort of art, as a whole; but, as the artist brings to his attention the exhibitions of genius that his eye discerns on every inch of the canvas, and he now looks upon the scene before him, not simply as a whole, but as an aggregated whole, his soul is filled with the beauty before him. So the congregation were brought to view the Word of God and Christianity, from the paintings out of the beautiful pencil touches that give a glory to the scene of Paul and Barnabas in the old jail at Philippi.

These Vases are now very generally used, both for city and country houses. They give a style and finish to the Cottage or Villa, what cannot be produced in brick. Besides adding to the beauty of a house, they secure a good draft to the flue; are indestructible by Coal Gas or Weather; are cheaper than anything else in the market, a three-foot top costing only $3.75, while a brick or stone chimney will cost more at first, besides a five dollar bill every few years to repair the ravages of coal gas. They are easily put up, and can be placed on any chimney, old or new.

CORRESPONDENCE.

For the Journal and Advocate,
LAK BY LAKEN.

Mr. Editor,
It may not be within my province as editorial contributor to your columns, to take upon myself the office of critic. This office has already, and from the very outset attending it, will always be a thankless, as well as an unprofitable, sphere of writing. That law is a self-evident proposition; but how often do we see such propositions perverted, mutilated and so twisted out of shape, as to lose all semblance to their former self.

The conduct of a most interesting trial, in a case of homicide, has recently been before the public; having to rank, probably, among the first of criminal cases on record.

This case, which had its origin in a law, correctly promulgated and fatal assault on human life, had had its circulation amid a deafening roar of applause and congratulation for the laudability of the manner and transparency of moral, divine and human law. Nor do I wish to be placed within the pale of free-love-ism for adopting this sentiment, nor proffered an advance or support, or of this sublime and unshakable principle; but it behooves all honest minds, in cases of this kind, involving moral and legal issues, to consider all the bearings before giving judgment. It is too late to consider this office a legal point of view, even if we wished to indulge our thoughts in that direction, for the jury have agreed, and the public to a great extent have accepted the verdict with acclamatory enthusiasm. But it is well known that law and justice are by no means synonymous terms.

Lord Byron has said that "more crime exists outside of the bar, than is ever brought before it," and we may add with truth, that there is as much innocence perpetrated as there is crime discharged under the verdict of "not guilty." The plea of "Not Guilty" has become a maxim with criminal defendants, and the claim of legitimacy a prerogative with all murderers. It is only in a mortal fight that we are now free to view this subject. God hath said that vengeance belongeth to Him, and to Him alone should we leave our wrongs for adjustment. It is no concern, however our neighbor breaks the tenth commandment of the Decalogue, for us to disregard the sixth, and abrogate to ourselves the almighty power, and as he has declared, his prerogative. Such an act is extreme assumption,—assumption of Divine right, and justifiable under no circumstances whatever aggravated they may appear. This is a superfluous claim. Covetousness means a deadly sinfulness in itself. Now may not every man be covetous without really being guilty of an infraction of this law? Will you not say he who is in the case of A. B. in Malacca, for which we refer to "The Advocate" was guilty during the whole trial of the verdict which in the last degree closed a deadly sin on the part of the jurymen, because to possess the wife of the accused man, prior to the decision on which the husband publicly asserted his determination never to live with her again. The grossness nature of the conduct with respect to the wife of this unfortunate and ill-used woman, and at first, through pity alone, to afford what she otherwise needed—pecuniary assistance. While her husband was purveyor of her, and held her in that high esteem which she so much merited, it would have been improper for any man to have profaned old, except through the husband. But this was not the case, and for all the wifely fidelity and devotion she bore, the receipt was instantly and cowardly given. This is not speculation, but substantial fact, as evidenced and sworn to.

This woman's acquittal of murder, on the temporary plea of insanity, has already set a precedent which carries in itself untold danger, and incites to countless reckless deeds, which will require more guilty lives than one to atone for. In this case we see a man taking the life of one who had never, essentially, done him wrong. Not in a state of insanity; not mentally deranged; but in a fit of rebellion and wicked jealousy of a woman whom he had for months abandoned on his wife. If it were insanity, it was nothing more than the madness for which his wild, native blood is characterized, when cooled or opposed.

"Memento mori." We well know that it is human to err in judgment, as well as in deed, but this fact does not carry in the pale of mortal sin, the error of judgment. If it did, error would run riot in its course, and crime as a consequence, unbridled and unchecked, would run a wild and never-ending race. Can you deny that the end experience of this case may teach a lesson of good to many?

It is a grave error on humanity, and reflection on Christianity, to see others in the most heinous form so perpetuated and handed, while the real hand of guilt is really accepted, covered over as it is by the all-sufficient gleam of legal technicalities.

Gray hair is honorable, but not desired by young or middle aged people. Yet it is inherited by some; produced by overwork mental or physical; in others; and is the result of anxiety and care in a third class. To all affected in this way we say, use Ring's Vegetable Ankerol the most reliable Restorative on hand. A judicious use of this article gives to gray, bushy hair, the dark, silky appearance as desired by all.

We are sorry to be compelled to defer the communication from "Good Templar" till our next issue.

A DIALOGUE.

How nice those slippers fit you, Kate! Where did you get them?

Why, I bought them where I always get my shoes; at Schank & Holbrook's. They always keep nice shoes, and they sell them nearly as low as you can get them in New York.

Well, I would like to have a pair of slippers just like them myself. What is the name of them?

Why they are the Maria Antonette; one of the very latest styles.

Do you know, Kate, that is the place where I am going to buy my shoes, hereafter; because I like to purchase any firm that keep Good Shoes, and the latest styles. Do they sell many shoes, Kate?

What a question! Many shoes; well, I should think they did! If you had been in their store last Saturday evening, you would almost have thought yourself in one of those stores on Broadway; such a place! But I must be going. Good afternoon.

READ THE FOLLOWING!!

This is to certify that I had a very severe cough, accompanied with night sweats, which so reduced my bodily strength that I could not walk from my house to the barn, (a distance of about 200 yards) without resting. Having tried several remedies with but little benefit, I was at length induced to try "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," and in a short time my health was restored, so that I am now enabled to attend to all the duties required on my farm as well as ever. My night sweats have entirely ceased, and my cough very seldom troubles me. I consider it the best cough remedy ever offered to the public.

"The day," said the old nurse, "she is very young, nearly sixteen; and she was not eighteen when she was married."

"But how came this dreadful calamity to befall her?" I asked; "out of her conduct, I hope!"

Economy in a Wife.—There is nothing which goes so far toward placing young people beyond the reach of poverty as economy in the management of their domestic affairs. It is better for a man to furnish little or much for his family, if there is a constant struggle to be waged in the parlor; it runs away, he knows not how, and that demon waste cries "waste," like the homestead's daughter, until he that provided has no more to give. It is the husband's duty to bring into the house, and it is the duty of the wife to see that down the wrongfully out of it. Not the least, however unimportant in itself, for it has always a precedent; nor under any circumstances for it opens the door for ruin to stalk in, and the husband leaves his property unprotected. The husband's interest should be in the wife's side, and her greatest interest should carry her no farther than the welfare or happiness together with that of her children. It is not the money earned that makes a man wealthy—it is what he saves from his earnings. Self-gratification, in dress, or indulgence in appetite, or more company than his purse can well entertain, are equally pernicious. The first leads to extravagance—the second fastens a doctor's bill to a long titcher's account—and the latter brings intemperance, the worst of all evils, to its train.

That was a beautiful idea in the mind of a little girl, who, on beholding a rose bush, on the topmost stem of which a rose was fading, whilst below and around it the beautiful crimson buds were just unfolding themselves, as once earnestly exclaimed to her brother: "See, William, these little buds have awakened in time to kiss their mother before she dies."

Kiss Wounds are the brightest flowers of earth's existence; they make a very paradise of the humblest home that the world can show. Use them, and especially round the friends circle. They are jewels beyond price, and more precious to heal the wounded heart, and make the weighed-down spirit glad, than all the other blessings the world can give.

A good man was lately attempting the conversion of a fellow in prison, who had shown some signs which were considered hopeful. After a suitable opening, the instructor, wishing to make his teaching appropriate, said: "What brought you here, my friend?"

"Two short," said the catechumen.

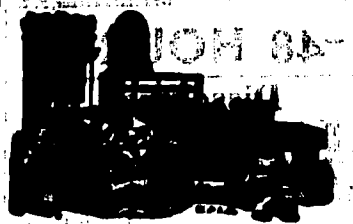

"Ah, I see—but I mean—had you any business anything to do with your misfortune?" "Yes," said the convict, meekly; "they were both drunk."

BELL'S MAGNETIC LINIMENT

Has proved itself to be most valuable For the Relief and Cure of RHEUMATISM, FROSTED FEET, CHILBLAINS, NEURALGIA, PAIN & SORENESS IN THE MUSCLES, SPRAINS and BRUISES, and the other purposes for which Liniments are used externally.

This Remedy has been before the public for over fifty years, and has won for itself a merited reputation. Scores have been benefited by it, and not only buy it again, but recommend it to their friends. Do not delay to purchase a bottle.

PREPARED BY Geo. W. Bell & Son, MATAWAN, N. J.

We are pleased to be able to refer to many who have used it, and who have been benefited by it. Send these names, and go ask the gentlemen what benefit they received from the use of the Magnetic Liniment.

PETE LAMBERTSON, DANIEL HACK, AARON PITMAN, J. E. BATTIN, DANIEL MENRIAN, W. W. PITMAN, GEORGE MUNSINGER, D. T. MANNING, DANIEL DEBRANCE, BENJ. E. GRIGGS, and very many others.

Mr. James H. Van Buren says, "I think it is the best liniment I have ever used."

It is put up in bottles, holding more than most liniments that retail for fifty cents, and the price of it is only 45 cents per bottle.

We ask from you a careful trial of the Liniment, according to the directions found on the label, and we do not fear the result.

FOR SALE BY GEO. W. BELL'S DRUG STORE, MATAWAN, and Dr. Mc. Kinney's Drug Store, Key Post.

Will be found to be an excellent remedy for Burns, Scalds, Sores, Sore Mouth & Lips, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Bites of Insects, Scrofulous Sores, Salt Rheum, and other CUTANEOUS Diseases.

CEROMA is not a preparation that has been compounded merely for speculative purposes, but is the result of careful experiment and repeated trial. It was originally prepared for our own private use several years ago, and we were so pleased with its effects as a healing ointment that we recommended to others. A lady called at the store and asked for a remedy for and we advised her to try a box of the Ceroma. She returned shortly after for another box, and said she had received more benefit from it than from any other remedy. We recommended it to

MRS. JOHN DOLAN, for a similar complaint, and her hands were soon healed. Some time after, Mr. Peter W. Hyatt came to us with an eruption that covered a great part of his hand and wrist, and returned for another box, saying it was the BEST THING he had tried.

MR. JOEL COLLINS

had used a number of remedies to cure an IRRITATION OF THE MOUTH, and inflammation and swelling of the lower lip, but all had failed. He took a box of Ceroma and applied it freely to the lip, and soon the disease was removed.

THE ATTENTION OF BOATMEN, and all who are troubled with CHAPPED or CRACKED HANDS, is particularly called to Ceroma, as a CURE for this affection, and, as proof thereof, we would refer to CAPT. PETER LAMBERTSON, and CAPT. PETER C. DIBBON, and to the following certificate.

I consider Ceroma the best thing for Chapped Hands that I have ever used in my family. ALFRED S. DONLON, Falls, N. J. For Sale At Geo. W. Bell's Drug Store, Matawan.
