Ecce.

The following Hymn was written by the Rev. E. H. STEWART,
and sung on the second (Friday) evening, at the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting, to the tune of "Our Mission"

Hail, thou ever rolling ocean,
Hail, thou ever heaving sea,
Sunlight on thy bosom gleameth
Light and shade alternately.
Circums—Far beyond the rolling billows
Lies a city bright and fair,
Glory to our faithful Pilot,
Soon he'll bring our spirits there.

Wider than the surging billows,
Higher than the silvery waves
Roll the tidings of salvation,
Flows the precious blood that saves.
See the glory, friends of Jesus,
Of this Ocean deep and wide;
But a glory closer, brighter,
Lies beyond the swelling tide.
Tempests sometimes lash the Ocean,
Ruin, in the stern distress;
But "Ho still!" in tones of sweetness
Sounds across that Jasper sea.
Give not simply on this Ocean,
Walk not only on the shore,
Launch out boldly on its bosom,
Trust your Pilot evermore.
Yes, launch out, ye friends of Jesus,
Spread your sails for that best shore;
Praise the Lord! the Pilot's with us,
We are safe forevermore.

TWO LADIES IN A PARLOR WITH A MAD
DOG.—About eight o'clock on Friday evening
two young ladies, residing up stairs
in the block on Woodward avenue, just beyond State street, observed that a large Newfoundland dog, which had long been in possession of the family, was exhibiting strange conduct. He had been with them in the room for an hour or more, whining, and seemed to be very restless; but when the attention of the ladies was directed to the animal, he was snapping his jaws, scratching, and his eye had an exciting look.

The ladies were not easily alarmed, and no particular attention was paid to the dog
for some father time, he lying down in a corner at the command of one of the females.
Suddenly, and without warning, the brute
sprang into the middle of the room, eyes
ablaze, and his hair like bristles, and he uttered a howl of rage and pain that sent the blood from the ladies' faces in an instant.
Leaving off from the room was a closet, or clothes press, and for this both of the women instantly sprang. The dog did not follow, nor attempt to molest them until just as they were closing the door, when he came near gaining admittance, snapping and snarling savagely. The male portion of the family were awe-struck, and the ladies found themselves prisoners with a genuine mad dog for a keeper. The animal howled and barked, and ran about the room, biting
at every article of furniture, and his heavy breathing and yells of intense pain would have made stouter hearts quail than those shut up in a little closet.

The ladies screamed, the dog howled,
and, for nearly an hour, there was an exciting time within a small space, the dog now and then, scratching and tearing away at the closet door. At last, alarmed by the screams, several men from the street made their way up stairs, and, with clubs, after a sharp struggle, killed the frothing brute.

—The average age of the present members of the United States Senate is 46 1-4.

The wild man has now tarred up as far away as Nevada. Like the sea-serpent, he appears from time to time in different parts of the country; and the stories which country papers get up about him are always very wonderful and awful. The last appearance of the wild man, or rather the "object," as he, she or it is called, was in a desolate region in northern Nevada, where a great deal of excitement has been aroused about it. A cumber, armed and equipped, lately started in pursuit of "it," and one night a splendid view was obtained of the object, which,
it was concluded, had once been a white man, but was now covered with a coat of flea, long hair; carried a huge club in the right hand, and in the left a rabbit. The moment it caught sight of the party, as the moon shone out, it dashed past the camp
"with a shriek like the roar of a lion," brandished the huge club, and attacked the horses in a perfect frenzy of madness. The savage bloodhounds which the party had brought along refused to pursue the object;
and so the party hastily raised a log ramp-
art for self-defence; but, instead of making an attack, the object merely uttered
the most terrible cries through the night, and in the morning had disappeared. It was evident, however, from the footprints,
that the object would require a "pair of No.
9 shoes," and this is all we know of it. The party could have shot it on first seeing it, but failed to do so. From a careful reading of the accounts we should judge that this wild man or object made tracks immediately after seeing this party for Salt Lake,
to keep company with the sea-serpent which the Mormons who lately saw it there say is half a mile long, and looks dreadfully terrible.

—The Comanche Indians don't like the negro troops employed on the Texas frontier. It's too much trouble to scalp them.
A Methodist preacher down in Connecticut refuses to accept an addition of one hundred dollars to his salary, on the ground that the hardest part of his labor heretofore had been to collect the salary they had already agreed to pay him, and he thought it would absolutely kill him to worry himself trying to collect from them one hundred dollars more.

A letter from Foochow says, they are exhibiting a Chinese criminal in a wooden cage, where he will stand until death. He is about twenty years of age. His crime is kidnapping children. He stands in the cage with his head through a hole in the top, his toes barely touching the flooring.
Thousands gather around him every day,
laughing and jeering at him; there he stands with his ankles chained together, and his hands tied behind him. Some one had put a few bits of broken bricks in the cage,
and at times he would try, by standing tiptoe on one foot, to bring the broken bricks together with the other, as he could raise himself up a little, and ease the weight from his neck. He made rather poor work of it, as he could not see the pieces, and had to direct his movements by the sense of touch only. His sufferings must be great, as he has been standing more than seventy hours.
Another man was caged up the same way
and lived about six days.

Aristotle, on being censured for bestowing alms on a bad man, made the following
noble reply: "I did not give it to the man;
I gave it to humanity."

The Minister's Joke.
Old Dr. Strong, of Hartford Connecticut, was not often outwitted by his people. One time he had invited a young minister to preach for him, who proved rather a dull preacher, and whose sermon was unusually long. The people became worried, and as Dr. Strong lived near the bridge, near the commencement of the afternoon service he saw his people flocking across the river to the other church. He readily understood that they feared they should have the same young man in the afternoon. Gathering up his wits, which generally came at his bidding, he said to the young minister:
"My brother across the river is rather feeble, and I think he will take it kindly to have you preach to his people, and if you will do so I will give you a note to him, and will be as much obliged to you as I would to have you preach for me; and I want you to preach the same sermon that you preached to my people this morning."

The young minister, supposing this to be a recommendation of his sermon, started off in good spirits, delivered his note, and was invited to preach most cordially. He saw before him one-half of Dr. Strong's people, and they had to listen one hour and a half
to the same dull, hum-drum sermon that they heard in the morning. They understood the joke, however, and said they wouldn't undertake to run away from Dr.
Strong again.

TRIED OR WAITING.—A short time ago,
in Delaware county a Quaker lady, a maiden who had reached the age of sixty, accepted the offer of a man who belonged to the "world's people" and the Presbyterian church, and began to prepare for a wedding. An usual, a delegation of friends from her meeting waited on her and remonstrated with her for marrying out of meeting. The bride elect heard the visitors patiently, and then said—
"Look here! I've been waiting just sixty years for the meeting to marry me; and if the meeting don't like me to marry out of it, why don't the meeting bring along its boys?"

That was conclusive, and all the delegation merely replied "Farewell!" and left.

RAILROAD INCIDENT.—The following incident is said to have happened on a New York railroad recently. Two gaily dressed young ladies had taken a seat in the car, and the one in front of them, upon which they had placed hand-boxes and sundry packages. At the next station an old lady came in, and passing by looked wistfully
at the hand-boxes, but, not receiving any encouragement to sit down, she passed on.
Upon ascertaining that it was the only seat
in the car but what had two persons in it,
she went back to the women and asked them if the seat was engaged. They answered that it was. A gentleman opposite said to the young women: "The old lady appears infirm, and if you would move your boxes along a little, she could sit down beside them." "We give you to understand, sir," was the tart reply, "that the seat is engaged." Very deliberately the gentleman got up and gave his seat to the old lady, and then turning around, coolly set the boxes on the floor also, and occupied the seat himself, facing the women, slipped his spectacles over his nose, and resumed his morning paper. The manner in which he did it (though he said nothing) completely awed the women, though they looked mad
enough to annihilate him.

Clothing Neatly Cut and Made by George W. Clarke, Matawan.

MATAWAN, N. J., SATURDAY, AUG. 29th, 1896.

DAVID A. BELL, Editor.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr. M. Russell has commenced work on the enlargement of his store, and intends filling it, when completed, with a new stock of Furniture.

Mr. J. H. Horner's residence having been modernized and enlarged, is now among the neatest houses in town. Mr. Horner Brown is doing the work.

Mr. Howard, principal of Glenwood Institute, is turning his vacation to profitable account, and has between forty and fifty Summer boarders. Glenwood is one of the most pleasant places in town.

We would suggest to the Directors of the Matawan and Old Bridge turnpike that they mark the distances on their mile-posts a little more plainly, so that the figures may be more readily distinguished in riding by.

Some rascals have been hacking little pieces from the new and neat fences in front of Mr. C. W. Fountain's and Dr. Shachtelton's residences. Such scamps should be known.

The selection made by the directors of the Monmouth Co. Agricultural R. R. for Superintendent in the person of Capt. Joseph D. Hoff is wise and judicious. From the earliest period in the effort to build a road from Freehold to Keyport, Mr. Hoff took a very, and indeed we may say, the most active part, and his interest in the road continues unabated. We expect soon to see the road pushed forward to completion under his superintendence.

A GOOD SMOKE.—You can get it by buying your Cigars and Tobacco at Brannin's.

NEW FIRM.—Mr. T. H. Shepherd and Mr. Wm. H. Gravatt have purchased the Grocery Store of Mr. E. I. Brown. We wish them abundant prosperity.

In consequence of the storm, there was no meeting of the Matawan Literary Society last week. The order of exercises will be the same for next Wednesday evening.

Mr. A. S. Dunlop, formerly with the firm of Brannin & Co. has temporarily located at Quincy, Ill., a city of about 40,000 inhabitants.

The annual Fair of the Monmouth Co. Agricultural Society will be held at Freehold, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 13, 14, & 15.

STATE DEBT.—The State debt of New Jersey is $3,090,000. It is provided by law that this debt shall be liquidated by annual installments, until the year 1902. The amount to be paid this year is $100,000.

It is rumored that Gen. Grant will be the guest of Ex Gov. Parker, during the County Fair.

Rev. H. Belting, pastor of the M. E. Church, Freehold, has gone on a visit to his friends in South Jersey.

$20,000.

According to the report of the meeting of the New York and Long Branch Rail Road, held at Red Bank, on the 8th. inst., $143,000 have been subscribed, but it will be necessary that that amount be increased to $200,000 before operations are commenced on the road.

Of this $217,000, Matawan and vicinity is asked to raise $20,000. Can we do it? Shall it not be done? All hands at the wheel now; a strong effort, and we'll go to New York, legs and lee to the contrary notwithstanding.

Keyport.

Mr. Thomas Owen is erecting a new building on Main street.

Immense quantities of produce are being carried to New York by messengers Hahnd and Nelson.

The Directors of the Matawan Bridge Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of eight per cent.

On Monday night 8th. inst., the store of Mr. Jos. Stout was broken into by burglars, but nothing taken. An attempt was afterwards made to break into the shoe store of Mr. John W. Glasse, but being seen by Mrs. Stout, living opposite, who raised an alarm, the burglars retreated for the river, but took themselves to a sail-boat, and escaped to parts unknown.

A Lodge of colored Masons is about being organized in Keyport.

The contract for removing the old Bethany meeting house has been given to Mr. Tunis Patterson. The distance is 1 1/2 miles. Mr. Andrew Folin generously gives an eligible lot to the society to put it on.

A hotel clerk, at Long Branch, has a magnificent scheme in view. It is a circular hotel, to rest on a pivot like a locomotive turn table. The object is to give every guest a "front room."

The cottage of Hembold, at the Branch, was robbed on Thursday night of jewelry to the value of $10,000.

Thomas Peterson was arrested by officer Meade, of Freehold, at Monmouth Park, on Saturday last, for assaulting officer Diabrow. Peterson was on the race track, and was ordered off by officer Diabrow, and on being forced he assaulted the latter with a knife, cutting his face badly. Peterson was lodged in the the County Jail, and on Monday was released on $2,000 bail by Judge Butcher.

Dr. Hembold was somewhat injured by being thrown from his carriage at Long Branch the other day.

The Baptist Church at Eatontown is hereafter to be open for divine service.

The Directors of the New York and Long Branch Railroad held a meeting at the Globe Hotel, Red Bank, on Monday, 8th. It was announced that $143,000 had been subscribed, and that when the balance, making the required sum of $200,000, shall have been raised, the road will be located. A Committee was appointed to ascertain the cost of building the road.

DEATH OF HON. GEO. T. COSS, of the N. J. State Senate.—A serious accident occurred on Saturday night Aug. 6, on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad at Jerry's Run. The second car from the rear of the train was precipitated down an embankment 100 feet high, and shattered to pieces. Twelve persons were killed and twenty wounded; among the former were J. Boyd Headley and Geo. T. Cobb, both of Merriestown, N. J.

The accident was caused by the hind truck of the coach next to the last car running off the track after passing over the trestle-work and curving in the road at Jerry's Run, two miles from Allegheny Station and eight miles from White Sulphur Springs.

The Annual Fair of the State Agricultural Society will be held at Waverly, on September 20, 21, 22, 23. All kinds of side shows, and all noisy vendors of articles for sale, are prohibited.

WILL IT COME THERE?

While we are anxious that the Mon. Co. Agricultural R. R. should pass through our town, we are also anxious to have the route where it will not do injury to us. The first survey made by the engineers passed along the entire length of one of the most pleasant streets in town. It crosses the Marsh on the east side of town, in the rear of Hayward's slaughter house, thence striking Broad street at its place of beginning and following it up to Church St.

Aside from Main St., this is decidedly the most pleasant street in town, and if the road runs either the east bank of town, it will be the most desirable location for residences that Matawan affords. Many are fearful that this will be the route decided on by the Directors: but we are satisfied to the contrary. A second survey enters Matawan near the skating pond, and runs not far from the bank, keeping well upon the outskirts of the town. This, we are confident, will be the most desirable place for the road, and we know that our worthy Director, Mr. D. H. Wyckoff, who represents the interests of Matawan with reference to the road, will see to it that we have "the right road in the right place."

True, the amount given for this road by our citizens is so small as scarcely to allow as a word as to its location; but we deem the excuse a satisfactory one when it is remembered that our people are very largely involved in the N. Y. & Long Branch road.

Rev. A. S. Dealey, Rector of St. Peter's Church, Freehold, is spending his Summer vacation among the mountains of New York.

James Patrick, a highly respected citizen of Farmingdale, died of Palsy on Saturday, Aug. 9th.

At the Meeting of the Farmingdale Building & Loan Association, held on the evening of the 8th. inst., Money brought $1 per cent. premium.

Much has been rung of the "Maid with Golden Hair." No song, however, has yet been able to make that color a popular one for any considerable length of time. Light red, faded or sandy hair are equally under the ban of public opinion. We are happy to announce to our readers who desire to change those colors, that three applications of Ring's Vegetable Ambrosia will give them beautiful Auburn tresses possessing all that soft, lustrous appearance so desirable in this chief adornment of female beauty.

An unpleasant affair occurred in our village, on Wednesday, 17th, between two Germans. We refrain from referring further to the matter until the case has been investigated by a coroner's jury.

Abyssinian Abyssinian Vocab.

What greater deep calls unto deep, than the depth of human love, which earnestly importunes an echoing answer? This sentiment ranks paramount among the seven passions of the mind.

Speech is the exponent of thought; and thought the result of phyc-psychological action.

There is a close connection between physical and vital energy; so close, indeed, that we often mistake the one for the other, placing cause for effect and vice versa. And if we are so easily puzzled in discriminating between two agencies, so distinct in themselves, is it to be wondered at that the understanding staggers in its endeavor to know the great central motive power of life, with its chemical composition; its minute and intricate physical texture; its organic whole, faultless in structure and force; knowing no variation, but pursuing its regular course of action under all circumstances, however exaggerated or untoward.

Love has been called the twin-sister of Hate. How far this analogy is supported by justice remains for individual experience to decide. That the former will elevate the mind, enliven the body and quicken the senses, is well known. And it is too well known, on the contrary, how the same passion will degrade a whole life, carrying its victim from bad to worse, and from worse to a point below the brute. Hate we can only look at in its sternness, with a puzzled eye, and wonder at its reckless determination in pursuit of its victim, having disaster as its sole object. And yet we call these two emotional sisters? The one pure in character, tending to ennobles and elevate; the other flagrant in purpose, pointing toward disgrace, fluctuation and misery! The one heaven-ward in interest; the other hell-ward in design! As the subtle current of electricity connects us with immeasurable height by its intangible and unexampled agency, so the chameleon play exists between the conflicting passions of the brain, leaving our so-called scientific and rational conjectures at a stand still, and preventing a phenomenon curious and inexplicable in itself. Though physiology, in its meaning professed to understand the laws of life, she comes far short of elucidating points which we would most wish to see cleared. There is no gaining or denying the fact that grand strides have been made by earnest-minded men; men wedded to science, and single-minded in their pursuit after truth, into the arena of nature, and who have drawn from thence jewels, polishing them into immortal brightness; gifts which they have handed down to us, of incalculable value, and which, it is hoped, will serve as a nucleus for future discovery.

The vast power which mind has over matter is a maxim of centuries, standing and undoubted in its truthfulness. But when we cease to view matter as passive, we are forced to see its potency and vital energy too often becoming subservient. The power of love, whether exercised for woe or weal, bears in itself equal gravity and influence with the same force. Whatever man is, woman will reflect his nature; but then she has the moulding of his character, being strong in moral instinct, and will be able to do more for man in furthering his spiritual elevation than any virile occupation, however able she may fill the position. Hence, with this consideration, we can view woman in her less abstract power and warmer sympathies as being more imaginative and less ratiocinative.

REMLIW.

We have received from our friend, C. S. Harris, of Flushing, the plate and diagram of the New Hall of Natural Sciences donated to the trustees of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., by Orange T. Judd, Esq. Mr. Judd is well known as the editor and proprietor of the American Agriculturist, and his donation is a very liberal one. Besides the donation of the Hall he has endowed two professorships with $30,000 each making a total gift of $100,000. Mr. Judd commenced life a poor boy, working in gentlemen's gardens out of school hours, to make money enough to pay for a room in an attic and necessary food, while he attended school in town, his father being a small farmer. Heaven bless the energies of such men, who use their money to promote the cause of science, religion and humanity.

A collision occurred near the Junction, on the N. J. S. R. R., between a freight train and a hand-car, on the 5th. inst., throwing the latter from the track. George Mc. Carty had one of his arms broken, and his body considerably bruised by the accident.

A large purse has been subscribed for the relief of Andrew Page, the young man who met with an accident at the Squankum Marl Pits. One of his feet has had to be amputated, and the physician states that it will be necessary to amputate at least a part of the other.

Deaths.

Near Matawan, on Thursday 11th. inst. Mr. Richard Brown, in the 60th. year of his age. In this village, on Saturday, 12th. inst. Mrs. Caroline S. Bailey, aged 58 years.

Near Keyport, on Wednesday 12th. inst. Maria, daughter of Charles and Mary C. Anmook, aged 10 years.

JOURNAL AND ADVERTISER.

"Are you colored?" a Providence policeman asked of an inebriated contraband in the station house, whom he could not see very distinctly in the semi-darkness of the cell; "No-o-o," drawled the drowsy and drunken 'Fifteenth Amendment,' "not colored—I was born so!"

A rather fast youth was relating the experience of his voyage across the ocean to a sympathizing friend. Said he: "I tell you what, old fellow, there's one good thing about it though. You can get as tight as you please every day, and everybody thinks you're only seasick."

Dr. Ellen H. Ferguson says truly that "A woman who can excel in cooking is just as noble as one who edits a newspaper, or who may eventually enter our Congress or Legislature."

A Maccabian (low) paper borrows the muse to celebrate the arrival of rain.
"Oh! the rain, the beautiful rain,
Filling our fields with abundance of grain;
Clothing our meadows in vernal green,
Welcome, thrice welcome, to Maccabian!"

"Beauty," says a French writer, "is all the virtue of some people, and virtue is all the beauty of others."

Only the other day two "dearest friends" were in conversation. "My dear," said the older, "do you know that your husband told me last night that my cheeks were like roses?" "Yes, love, I know he did. He spoke of it afterward, and said it was a pity they were yellow roses."

Milkmen are happy fellows. They enjoy themselves at the watering places all the year round.

Modern English.
It's all well enough to talk about the last nineteen centuries, but the nineteenth century is the century after all. Although immeasurably superior in everything, it is particularly so in the elegance of its language. To illustrate what is meant, we saw two young men meet in Water street, and heard them converse. The way it was done, and the conversation was as follows. For convenience sake we will call their names Thomas Green and James Blue:

J. Blue—Hello, Tommie, how's your dog?
T. Green (extending his hand)—bully, Jimmie, put it there!
J. B.—Well, Tommie how's things?
T. G.—Pretty tart; see my new cigar-holder? (exhibits cigar holder). How's that for high?

J. B. (looking at cigar-holder)—Pretty loud; it aint macerchaum, though, for stamps.

T. G. (excitedly)—I'm your oysters! My ducats talk forty dollars' worth. Come and see me. -I straddle that blind, my son. (Sticks finger and thumb into vest pocket).

J. B.—Got it with you?
T. G.—A-rr-rr!

J. B.—You're another. What ails your eye?
T. G.—Man stuck all his fingers in it. But then I bust his snoot and wrung his ears till he came to tea, now you bet. Is she very black?

J. B.—Black? You look like a coal heaver.

T. G.—Go there yourself! Keep off my toe or there'll be a nigger funeral! that's what kind of a man I am—ain't it?

J. B.—Waal, who's doing this crowding? I don't want any of your lip either; if you wasn't fuller'n a little wagon, I'd make it red hot for you.

T. G.—Augh, what you giving us—ful-ler'n a little tick yourself!

J. B.—You're a lawyer.
T. G.—You're a liar, ain't I? What do you take me for?

J. B.—You're a shoutin'!
T. G.—Give us a rest, Jimmie.
J. B.—Domino—domino.
T. G.—Shoo fly, Jim—I'm off. (Exit both in different directions).

Imagine some ancient philosopher witnessing such an exhibition of the English tongue. He would probably think it was "pretty tart."

Will be found to be an excellent remedy for Burns, Scalds, Sores, Sore Mouth & Lips, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Bites of Insects, Scrofulous Sores, Salt Rheum, and Other CUTANEOUS Diseases.

CEROMA is not a preparation that has been compounded merely for speculative purposes, but is the result of careful experiment and repeated effort. It was originally prepared for our own private use, several years ago, and we were so pleased with its effects as a healing cerate that we recommended it to others. A lady called at the store and asked for a remedy for

SALT RHEUM, and we advised her to try a box of the Ceroma. She returned shortly after for another box, and said she had received more benefit from it than from any other remedy. We recommended it to MRS. JOHN DOLAN, for a similar complaint, and her hands were soon healed. Some time after, Mr. Peter W. Hoyer came to us with an eruption that covered a great part of his head and wrist, and returned for another box, saying it was the BEST THING he had tried.

MR. JOEL COLLINS had used a number of remedies to cure an IRRITATION OF THE MOUTH, and inflammation and swelling of the lower lip, but all had failed. He took a box of Ceroma and applied it freely to the lip, and soon the disease was removed.

THE ATTENTION OF BOATMEN, and all who are troubled with CHAPPED or CRACKED HANDS, is particularly called to Ceroma, as a CURE for this affliction, and, as proof thereof, we would refer to CAPE PETER LAMBERTSON, and CAPE PETER C. DISBROW, and to the following certificate. I consider Ceroma the best thing for Chapped Hands that I have ever used in my family.

TERRA COTTA!
Fountain and Geran
have just received a stock of TERRA COTTA GARDEN VASES,

Pipe, Chimney Tops & Flues, to which they call the attention of the public. These Tops are now very generally used, both for city and country houses. They give a style and finish to the Cottage or Villa, that cannot be produced in brick. Besides adding to the beauty of a house, they secure a good draft to the flue; are indestructible by Coal Gas or Weather; are cheaper than anything else in the market; a three-foot top costing only $3.75, while a brick or stone chimney will cost more at first, besides a five dollar bill every few years to repair the ravages of coal gas. They are easily put up, and can be placed on any chimney, old or new.

Vitrified Terra Cotta Pipe, for underground draining or sewerage. Those living in the country should see that their houses have proper drainage, to carry away the house refuse; the rain water, or the water from wet cellars. A proper attention to this matter will make your home cleaner, more healthy and more pleasant. Call and examine these goods, and get a circular describing them more fully.
