Police suspect juveniles in Cheesequake blaze

Three weekend fires charred 230 acres in and around Cheesequake Park

BY NATALIE M. VENA

Staff Writer

A arson is believed to be the cause behind one of the three brush fires that scorched 230 acres in Old Bridge over the weekend.

Police, along with Thomas Gerity, township fire marshal for districts 1, 2 and 4, have questioned four juveniles suspected of starting the first fire, which began at 5:15 p.m. on Friday near Cheesequake State Park, according to Old Bridge Police Lt. Jack Sweeney.

"The investigation has now been turned over to Fire Marshal Gerity," Sweeney said, adding that as of Tuesday no one had been charged with starting the fire.

Friday night's fire began near Joseph Court in a remote area of tidal marsh and forest adjacent to Cheesequake State Park.

The fire destroyed 80 acres before firefighters got it under control around 9 p.m., according to a report released by the New Jersey Forest Fire Service.

Firefighters from all four of the township's fire districts fought the blaze. Additionally, Forest Fire Service resources assigned to the incident included 25 firefighters, five wildland engines, one bulldozer, two air tankers carrying about 300 gallons of water and one observation helicopter.

"The fire was pretty intense," said Dominic Cicio, coordinator of Old Bridge's Office of Emergency Management.

The Friday night blaze allegedly began after four juveniles who had been swimming in Cheesequake State Park were exiting the park but decided to stop and light a fire by burning sticks in a wooded area, according to the police report.

At one point, some of the juveniles began burning a sock. The sock was dropped on a pile of leaves, starting the fire, police said.

According to the police report, all of the youths involved attempted to extinguish the fire but were unable to stop it. At that point they fled the area.

It was also reported that one of the youths was trying to stop the others from starting the fire but was pushed to the side by another youth.

A second brush fire began Saturday just after 2 p.m. outside the state park but in close proximity to Friday's fire, Cicio said.

Dry weather and wind gusts of up to 25 mph caused the fire to spread through 151 acres of marshland before it was contained at 10 p.m.

"It went across Dock Road, across Route 34 to the border of Cheesequake Park," Cicio said.

More than 25 homes on Michelle and Janice courts were evacuated during the fire, which spread into a remote portion of the park. All four of the township's fire districts responded to the fire, along with the Forest Fire service.

Firefighters fought the blaze in brush trucks, according to Cicio. Brush trucks are specially equipped pickup trucks with heavy metal cages attached to the frame. They enable firefighters to get close to the fire while trying to extinguish it.

A wide-tread bulldozer contained the fire by pouring dirt over an area in the center of the marshland, Cicio said.

Minor injuries were sustained by a state fireman who was bitten by a nonpoisonous snake while fighting the blaze, and a fireman from the Cheesequake Volunteer Fire Company complained of chest pains and difficulty breathing. Both men were treated at the scene for their injuries, according to Al Miller, captain of the Cheesequake Volunteer First Aid Squad.

Cheesequake State Park, which was evacuated and closed Saturday, reopened on Sunday.

A third fire began at 7 p.m. Sunday approximately 200 yards from the area of the previous fire, at the edge of an old landfill behind the London Terrace apartments, Route 9. The fire destroyed approximately 1 to 2 acres of marshland, but was quickly extinguished, according to fire officials.

None of the homes near any of the three fires sustained serious damage.

According to police, the causes of all three fires are still under investigation.

A firefighter lights a backfire to consume material which otherwise might fuel the brush fire.

Tax hike will be cut in half

Municipal and school officials agree to make cuts in defeated school tab

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — School and municipal officials have reached a tentative agreement to cut the proposed 2001-02 school tax rate from 4 cents to 2 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

The agreement was reached during Monday's meeting between an ad hoc committee of the Township Council and members of the Board of Education regarding the proposed 2001-02 budget, which was defeated in the April 17 school board election.

The council will be voting on the revised budget at a special meeting with the school board Monday at 6 p.m. at the municipal complex.

"I don't see any problems (with the revised budget)," said Councilman Larry Redmond, chairman of the school budget committee. "I thought things went very well. I don't see any trouble passing it this Monday night."

Redmond credited Dr. R. Gregory Quirk, assistant superintendent for business with the Old Bridge School District, for coming up with $300,000 in cuts that could be applied to the budget.

"We found that Dr. Quirk made a very good gesture by finding $300,000 in savings," Redmond said. "It (the cuts) was something they hadn't anticipated when they were putting the school budget together."

Most of the money will come from teacher retirements, Redmond said. Retiring teachers are at the top of the pay scale and therefore earn a higher salary than new teachers, Redmond said. Those teachers will be replaced with new teachers who are at the low end of the pay scale.

Under the revised plan, no student programs have been cut, Redmond said.

By working with township auditor Gene Farrell, an agreement was made that would allow the township to use its lease-purchase ability to help the school district pay for capital projects.

Councilmen Richard Greene and Edward Testino were also members of the ad hoc budget committee.

"I think it is a fair and reasonable compromise," Greene said. "Especially since members of the council have shown that we want to hold the line on taxes."

Greene noted that the Board of Education has also made efforts to keep taxes low by keeping the tax rate at $1.85 for the last couple of years. This April marked the first time in three years that Old Bridge residents rejected a school budget.

If approved, the proposed 2-cent hike in the school tax rate will increase the rate from $1.85 to $1.87 per $100 of the assessed value of a home. For the owner of property assessed at $150,000, the increase would mean paying $2,805 in school taxes next year — a hike of approximately $30.

The increase in the school tax rate is a result of pressures being placed on the school budget, including escalating energy costs and increased transportation expenses, as well as increases in employee health benefits from last year, Quirk said in a previous interview.

School officials also attributed part of the increase in spending to upgrading technology throughout the district's 12 elementary schools, two middle schools and high school.

Greene and Redmond expressed disappointment at the low number of residents who showed up to vote on the $98 million budget. With 1,695 residents voting, the budget failed by a slim margin of 65 votes. Only 5 percent of the township's 30,000 registered voters voted in the election.

However, Greene said he believes most residents will be satisfied with the final outcome.

Police still seek culprits in 3 April bomb threats

O.B. High School officials working on new plan for reacting to threats

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — A week since the two campuses of Old Bridge High School were evacuated for yet another bomb threat, police continue to search for those responsible.

While police investigate the matter, the Board of Education is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the subject or subjects responsible for calling in the April 25 bomb threat to police.

"The police department is working on the case right now," Old Bridge Police Lt. Jack Sweeney said Tuesday. "Youths have been questioned regarding the bomb threat, but no arrests have been made."

Christopher Traficante, principal of Old Bridge High School, has scheduled a special faculty meeting today for 2:30 p.m.

"We need input from our faculty to discuss what we have learned from this situation," he said.

The principal said he plans to implement what was learned during the most recent bomb threat to help keep it from happening again.

The school is also in the process of implementing a crisis management plan.

"It is a district level plan that is constantly changing and ongoing,"

Traficante said, adding that as part of the plan, exiting strategies are being developed for students and faculty.

The April 25 bomb threat was the second such threat the school district received in a week. On April 17, a note that a bomb was scheduled to go off at 1:50 p.m. was found written on the radiator in a classroom on the east campus of the high school, according to police.

Students were dismissed at 1:15 p.m., approximately five minutes before the normal dismissal time. At the same time, another note was found scribbled in a restroom of the Carl Sandburg Middle School, which is adjacent to the east campus of the high school on Route 516.

Both buildings were searched, but nothing was found, according to police.

"The board, the administration and the police department are committed to finding and prosecuting to the fullest extent of the law, the perpetrator or perpetrators involved with this bomb threat," Lori Luicci, public relations officer for the Old Bridge School District, said last week.

The district is also looking to recover all costs incurred by the school district and the township due to the bomb threat.

If school is canceled at all during the remainder of the year, Luicci said, school days will have to be made up on Saturdays or at the end of the school year. The state requires that school be in session for at least 180 days, and since Old Bridge High School has now used all of its "snow days," future cancellations will have to be made up.

Sayreville may change street names, addresses

Police hope new system will avoid confusion during emergency calls

BY TAKESHA PETTUS
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — An official change to several street names and house numbers affecting some 445 borough residences may take place on May 14.

The Borough Council and police officials are finalizing the new names of several streets and house numbers in several sections of the borough, and an ordinance to implement the changes may be introduced at the council's May 14 meeting at 7:30 p.m. at Borough Hall, Main Street.

According to police officials, the changes are part of the Police Department's effort to fix problems with the 911 emergency phone system. Several streets and names are repeated throughout the borough, and the current police 911 system does not identify duplicate street names in town, thereby creating a safety hazard.

With the police department's new computer-aided dispatch (CAD) system, the fire department, police, first aid and other emergency services will be able to identify a person's location within seconds. The CAD system will also enable police to keep their records on a computer database, eliminating the current "paper trail" record-keeping system currently used. Additionally, the new mechanism will allow computer mapping of the entire town, helping police to identify crime trends and to better allocate manpower.

But before the system can be fully implemented, the council has to change the more than 700 "problem" addresses.

All the affected residences have been notified by police, and at least two meetings have been held regarding the upcoming changes. Most residents who will be affected have said they are in favor of the proposed changes, although some residents have expressed opposition.

According to police, most of the changes would be minor. Street names such as Thomas Street, for example, would be changed to Thomas Lane, Thomas Court or Thomas Avenue.

Any home whose address is out of sequence from other homes on the same street will likely have a digit of the house number changed to put the homes back into sequence.

The changes would go into effect sometime in July, police said.

Also, postal officials have been notified about the proposed changes, and residents will be sent change-of-address forms. Mail addressed to the former addresses would be forwarded to the residence for several months, police said.

Task force arrests 4 on drug charges

The Bayshore Narcotics Task Force and the Old Bridge Township Police Narcotics Bureau, in a joint investigation into the sale of ecstasy in the area, arrested four people on two search warrants the night of April 26-27 in Old Bridge. The two month long investigation initially led the task force to two brothers from the Laurence Harbor section of town, according to police.

Jason Kosloski, 19, and Sean Kosloski, 18, both of 160 Twilight Ave., were initially charged with distribution to undercover officers in March and April. A subsequent search warrant executed at their home April 26 resulted in the seizure of ecstasy, five bottles of liquid ketamine, and a large amount of LSD.

Minutes before the search, police said it was learned that a third suspect, Jeff Borawski, Pinetree Boulevard, Old Bridge, had just made a delivery of ketamine to Twilight Avenue. Police said a subsequent consent search of Borawski's vehicle yielded an additional four bottles of ketamine and just under a half-ounce of cocaine.

The Bayshore Task Force and Old Bridge Narcotics Unit secured a second search warrant, this time for the home of Borawski. Approximately 10 grams of cocaine and marijuana were found at his home. Jason Borawski was arrested for possession of marijuana at the Pinetree Boulevard home, and approximately $1,000 in cash and one vehicle were seized.

Bail was set at $100,000, with no 10 percent option, for Jason Kosloski. Bail for Sean Kosloski was $75,000 with no 10 percent option; bail for Jeff Borawski was set at $50,000 with no 10 percent option. Jason Borawski was released without bail.

Our View

Many students offer much to be proud of

It's a natural reaction these days for some people to look at the news coming out of elementary and high schools around the nation and to ask the question, Where is the good news about our students?

People see tragic events covered in the newspapers and on television about students doing harm to their fellow students and to adults in their schools. America finds itself in a waiting game, holding its collective breath and waiting for the next school disaster to strike.

At this point, it does not seem to be a question of "if," it's just a question of "when" and "where." We breathe a collective sigh of relief for our community every time we learn that the latest outburst of violence is not in our schools.

And yet, despite all of the negative images that pervade America's schools today, there is reason to believe that somehow the message of achievement is getting through to some students.

One need look no further than right here in Middlesex County to see high school students displaying a drive to accomplish something for themselves and their community.

The Youth Force, a group of approximately 100 students — many of whom attend East Brunswick High School — has undertaken many environmental projects in the recent past. On Earth Day, which was April 22, group members spent the beautiful, spring day not celebrating the arrival of warm weather but cleaning up Dallenbach Community Park.

The group, led by 16-year-old Evelyn Rusli, has a mission of promoting environmental protection through the involvement of youth, and giving younger generations a greater awareness of environmental issues. It encourages social participation, involvement with government and interaction with the environment and the community.

And it is not alone in its effort to lend the community a helping hand.

At Old Bridge High School, almost 1,000 students attended the recent lock-in, an annual event co-sponsored by the Student Senate during which students stay at school on a Friday night from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., raising as much as $5,000 for local charities. The event offers food and fun, but the theme of giving remains throughout, with the students donating cans of food for disadvantaged families.

Also at the lock-in, junior Stefanie Luicci, who runs Jeans for Teens, collected used and new jeans to be donated to the New Jersey homeless shelter, Homefront, of Lawrenceville. Between the past two years' lock-ins, teenagers donated more than 600 pairs of jeans, some with tags still attached.

These and hundreds of other students at our local high schools who have elected to commit themselves to community service can take great pride in their accomplishments.

And their community owes them a debt of gratitude, not only for their contributions, but also for providing the good news that everyone always demands to see in the news media.

Lack of awareness shown in New Jersey's electricity deregulation

New Jersey officials, including our former governor, appear to have displayed a lack of understanding of both economics and history when they deregulated our electric industry.

As the late British economist John Maynard Keynes pointed out, electric utilities are inherently natural monopolies. Unlike more competitive industries, whose prices are set by the laws of supply and demand, utilities were pretty much free to set their own prices. For this reason, they were kept tightly regulated or owned outright by municipalities, states or nations to minimize their tendency to "gouge" captive customers.

New Jersey residents appear unaware that they have had a choice in electric suppliers since 1999, though unlike large industrial and commercial customers, few suppliers are willing to deal with them. They seem also unaware of the consequences of the many recent utility mergers which will result in a vastly less competitive market with far fewer or possibly only unregulated regional monopoly suppliers with very likely higher prices when the lid comes off our electric rates in 2003.

Deregulation was originally intended as one method of fostering development of alternate fuels, power sources and to reduce our dependence on imported oil, when first envisioned by the U.S. Congress. Our plan, twisted by the demands of special interest groups, appears to meet none of the goals.

Indeed, our legislators should have been well aware that the benefits of deregulation to small consumers would be minimal, as there have no significant breakthroughs in electric generation or distribution technology. However, very large price increases were more likely if shortages or price manipulation were to develop. Small users would bear not only the cost of keeping the utilities afloat but also the utilities' additional costs to resupply power to customers dropped by competing suppliers.

Our legislators should look at the hideous cost of the California plan and decide if it is better to act.

Paul F. Surdukowski

Some taxpayers cannot afford increases in the school budget

Elections are over and many school budgets have been defeated. Why? In my opinion, many people are suffering hardships because of present high taxes and a feeling of insecurity due to the threat of ever-increasing taxes in the future.

Latest figures available from the state Department of Labor Demographics Unit report that there are approximately 1.1 million people living in the state who are at least 65 years old. There are approximately 150,000 who are 85 years and older. That means 150,000 people have lived 20 years, in many cases, on a fixed income. These people deserve to live in dignity. They paid their dues in taxes and supported their communities until they retired and were forced to live on fixed incomes.

Unfortunately, new generations have come up with demands for what many would admit are luxuries and expect everyone to pay for this excessiveness regardless of ability to pay.

People from all walks of life in most cases pay for life insurance, property insurance, property taxes, long-term care insurance, car insurance, car registration tax, water and sewage tax, telephone bills, gas and electric bills, cost for medication, hospitalization insurance, etc. How in heaven's name can the 467,230 people living on an average of $5,600 (as in the Department of Labor report) be expected to maintain their dignity and survive?

Is it any wonder that people vote down a school budget? The present method of obtaining funds for education is destroying the dignity of many. There should be a fair method of taxation which would not burden anyone and still provide the necessary funds for education.

State Sen. Jack Sinagra has submitted a bill calling for a constitutional convention which would be directed to provide an equitable method of funding education. Let's get out and support this bill. Call the senator to find out how to help get this bill enacted.

Frank J. Coury
East Brunswick

Legislature should restore budget cuts for the sake of students

Recently I learned two facts. First, the state Legislature is likely to give candidates for governor an additional $1.4 million each for their primary campaigns.

Second, many of our best and brightest high school juniors who were accepted to the Governor's Schools will not be able to attend because of budget cuts. Several hundred thousand dollars would enable these students to attend.

Where is the equity? I urge the Legislature and the governor to reinstate funds for our future leaders.

Police may impound cars of drunken drivers

TRENTON — If you drink and drive, you will lose your car for 12 hours, according to a new law.

Acting Gov. Donald T. DiFrancesco has signed a bill authorizing law enforcement agencies to impound the vehicles of persons arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI) for up to 12 hours after they are charged. The bill also allows law enforcement personnel to issue responsibility warnings to persons assuming custody of anyone arrested for DWI.

"The legislation I signed is a good law, a compassionate law and a life-saving law," DiFrancesco said on April 19. "Drunken drivers will no longer be able to simply return to their cars after they are released from police custody. Those who pick up a drunken driver from the police station will receive a clear and stern warning of their responsibility not to let that person get back behind the wheel."

According to a press release from the governor's office, the bill was introduced following a tragic incident in Egg Harbor Township in July 2000 in which a man, John Elliott, was killed by an intoxicated driver who had been arrested, released and allowed to get back into his vehicle and drive.

"While it is unavoidable, perhaps even proper, that 'John's Law' will remain a reminder of the tragic way John Elliott's life was taken, let us strive to ensure that New Jersey citizens will also come to know the heroic way his life was lived," said DiFrancesco.

The legislation signed by the acting governor reads that whenever a person is summoned by or on behalf of a person who has been arrested for DWI, in order to transport or accompany the arrested individual following release, the law enforcement agency shall provide the person responding with a written statement advising him or her of the potential criminal and civil liability for permitting or facilitating the arrested's operation of a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Under current law, a person who permits another person to drive while intoxicated violates the state's DWI statute.

In addition to the written statement, the bill authorizes the arresting law enforcement agency to impound the vehicle operated by the person arrested for DWI for a period up to 12 hours following arrest, if the agency determines that the release of the vehicle to the person arrested represents a threat to public safety.

The bill further requires the person to whom the statement is issued to acknowledge, in writing, receipt of the statement. If the person refuses to sign the acknowledgment, the person arrested will not be released.

According to DiFrancesco, the written statement is intended to increase the awareness of a person picking up someone arrested for driving while intoxicated, warning them of the personal consequences they may suffer if they permit an intoxicated person to drive.

Furthermore, he said, the statement and acknowledgment might assist in the prosecution of those individuals who disregard the warning and permit an intoxicated person to drive.

Forest service reports 79 blazes during weekend

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — The township wasn't alone when it was hit by three brush fires over the weekend. Warm temperatures and gusty winds sparked off a series of 79 wildfires Friday, Saturday and Sunday across New Jersey's forests, according to the state Forest Fire Service.

State personnel responded to the wildfires with an array of specialized equipment, including wildland engines, bulldozers, air tankers, helicopter and forest fire hand crews, according to a fire situation report released by the Forest Fire Service's Division B, New Lisbon.

More than 1,041 acres of the state's forests were blackened by the recent fires.

According to the state agency, forests are most vulnerable to fire during the annual spring fire season, which runs March 15 through May 15.

In addition to the wildfires that scorched 230 acres in and around Cheesequake State Park, large fires were reported in several counties throughout the region.

On Saturday, a fire in Cumberland County destroyed 765 acres before it was placed under control at 2 p.m. the following day. A total of 60 homes were evacuated in the Laurel Lake development of Millville and Commercial townships. Some 100 firefighters from the Forest Fire Service fought the blaze with the use of 20 wildland engines, four bulldozers, two air tankers and one observational helicopter.

In Sussex County, a fire destroyed 6 acres, burning on a remote ridge top in Hardyston Township and requiring the use of three Forest Fire Service hand crews, two air tankers and one drop helicopter.

The recent rash of fire outbreaks are due to a combination of low rainfall during the month of April, and fair weather days with higher temperatures, windy conditions and low relative humidity.

According to the Forest Fire Service, precipitation during the first three months of the year was normal. However, rainfall during April was approximately half of the average amount.

Division B of the state service, which is responsible for protection of approximately 1 million acres from the Raritan River to the Mullica River, has implemented patrols by fire wardens with firefighting equipment to respond to the need for immediate and aggressive suppression of wildfires.

Patrols will continue until the danger of fires subsides. Fire observers are on duty in the eight lookout towers that extend from Jamesburg south to Bass River. Five contract air tankers are currently stationed at airbases to assist ground forces in an initial attack, and observation aircraft of the Forest Fire Service are available at the Coyle Field Airbase in the center of the division.

Campfire restrictions have been imposed to prohibit open fires on the ground in forest areas, and recreational fires must either be contained within a fire ring, fireplace or grill, or stoves using gas fuels. Additional restrictions will probably be imposed as the fire danger increases since no rainfall is forecast before Friday.

Residents, visitors and motorists in forested areas are urged to exercise caution and to prevent accidental ignitions due to recreation fires, smoking materials, equipment use or carelessness.

Property owners are also urged to keep their premises fire-safe by maintaining defensible space between structures and wildlands.

Permits must be obtained for any open fire or burning in forested areas and are subject to restrictions due to fire danger conditions.

During the last 10 years, the Forest Fire Service has responded to an average of 1,500 fires annually which burned an average of 7,500 acres each year. In 1999, more than 16,000 acres burned, but since that time fire occurrence and acreage statistics have been below average.

The New Jersey forest fire law provides for the recovery of suppression costs from anyone found to be responsible for causing a wildfire. And the deliberate setting of a forest fire may be prosecuted under the state's arson statutes.

Synagogue officials heading to court

BY BRIAN DONAHUE
Staff Writer

EAST BRUNSWICK — The former cantor of the East Brunswick Jewish Center, fired last year and sued by a synagogue official for defamation of character, is charging that a group of the temple's officials committed fraud.

And his firing, he claims, was done in an attempt to conceal the alleged fraud. Though synagogue President Michael "Mickey" Kaufman is refuting his charges of wrongdoing, Harvey Waldman, who had been cantor there since 1982, claims that synagogue officials fraudulently diverted a corporate opportunity — the purchase of 35 acres of vacant land owned by Beth Abraham Cemetery — away from the temple.

Waldman charges that although the temple had been interested in purchasing the Fern Road property at less than market value for use as cemetery plots, a group of synagogue officials instead arranged to acquire it privately and then developed it with houses at a profit of "in excess of $20 million."

"This is something that was done behind the synagogue's back for the people who were supposed to be working for the synagogue's benefit," said David Schrader, a South Orange-based attorney representing Waldman. "They did it for their own self-profit."

However, Kaufman refuted the charge that fraud was committed and denied any wrongdoing on the part of any of the synagogue officials. If anything illegal was done, he said, the issue would be dealt with by law enforcement authorities rather than in a civil lawsuit.

The synagogue's interest in the cemetery land dates back to the early 1980s. At that time, Waldman alleges, Rabbi Chiam Rogoff, who is still the temple's rabbi, "falsely told a member of the committee (of synagogue members) that the asking price (for the land) was too high, and therefore prevented the synagogue from undertaking the acquisition."

That land was purchased in 1993 by developer East Woods Associates, a company of which Fred Teicher, a member of the synagogue's board of directors, was a principal, for $1.1 million, according to Waldman. The property has since been developed as residential housing.

Kaufman, however, said the rabbi told the truth when he informed the committee that the asking price for the cemetery land was too high for the synagogue. He said he could not recall the exact asking price, but it was "several million dollars, which the synagogue could not afford."

In his complaint, Waldman names other synagogue board members, including the rabbi, as being involved with the alleged "fraudulent scheme." He claims in the lawsuit that Rogoff was "remunerated" for his assistance with the plan by getting deeded property in Old Bridge and receiving "increased compensation at the synagogue."

When asked if the rabbi or the other synagogue officials received compensation as a result of the land's development, Kaufman said he was not compensated and that, to his knowledge, nor was the rabbi or the other board members.

Waldman's termination as cantor is also a refuted topic between the two sides.

In 1999, Waldman said, a group of synagogue congregants became suspicious about the so-called scheme and hired a private investigator to look into it. The cantor said he was made aware of the investigator's hiring and his findings. Waldman claims that upon his questioning of the cemetery land transaction, synagogue officials told him he would be brought up on charges in a Beit Din, a Jewish arbitration tribunal, unless he discontinued the effort to reveal details of the land transaction.

According to Waldman's lawsuit, he was suspended without pay in June 2000 for allegedly refusing to participate in the Beit Din, and two weeks later, on June 30, he was fired.

Kaufman said that as a result of "certain behaviors" and because "the relationship among the professional staff was no longer working," a decision was made not to renew Waldman's contract, but he declined to elaborate. He said he told Waldman that his contract was not going to be renewed when it expired in 2001 and that his services would no longer be required, but that the cantor would be paid for the remainder of the contract. However, Waldman was terminated as cantor when he refused to sign a release stating that he would not sue the synagogue after his employment contract expired, according to Kaufman.

As cantor, a position which involves serving as a musical and spiritual leader at a synagogue, Waldman was being paid $91,300 in salary, fringe benefits and pension benefits at the time of his firing, his lawsuit states.

Also in June 2000, Teicher filed a lawsuit against Waldman, alleging defamation of character. In his complaint, Teicher acknowledges that his company purchased and developed the property, but he claims that Waldman made several false and defamatory statements about the issue.

Teicher charges that his reputation was damaged by the cantor and that his ability to sell houses in East Brunswick was also negatively affected.

In Teicher's lawsuit, the synagogue board member contends that Waldman made defamatory statements, including accusations that Teicher "created a scheme to purchase the cemetery for an inexpensive price and resold lands to be used for burial purposes to the East Brunswick Jewish Center at an inflated price." Teicher's complaint also accuses the cantor of insinuating that "the purchase of the cemetery was part of an improper money-making scheme" and that the rabbi was involved in and reaping profits from that scheme.

Teicher contends that he has been "forced to continually defend himself against the false, defamatory statements" allegedly made by Waldman.

Teicher's lawsuit requests judgment against Waldman in the sum of $10 million, while Waldman is asking for an unspecified amount of punitive, compensatory and other damages, as well as the reinstatement to his contracted job and a contract extension for an additional three-year period.

Neither Teicher nor Rogoff could be reached for comment. Daniel Hoberman, a Hackensack attorney representing Teicher, deferred comment to Kaufman.

in series of local burglariesBY NICOLE C. VACCARO
Staff Writer

EAST BRUNSWICK — A South Brunswick man was arrested after leading police on a foot chase April 25 and was charged in connection with a series of thefts in North Brunswick and East Brunswick.

East Brunswick police officers Chris Soke and Ted Klouser responded to a call at 8 a.m. at Summerhill Village Condominiums, Cranbury Road, on a report of a male who had been seen climbing a tree in order to access a second-story roof of the complex.

After a 20-minute search failed to produce the suspect, a neighbor pointed police to a 1989 silver Toyota that he did not recognize as belonging to any of the residents. Police said a computer check of the vehicle's license plate number revealed that the car had been stolen from North Brunswick during a robbery on April 22.

As Soke and Klouser began inspecting the car, Robert J. McNeil, 35, walked into view carrying two large duffel bags of what police suspected to be stolen property. Upon seeing the officers, McNeil dropped the bags and took off running, police said.

He ran through the 6th Avenue Electronics parking lot, across six lanes of Route 18 and into the residential neighborhood behind the Colonial Diner, according to police.

McNeil was finally apprehended while attempting to hide behind a home on Prigmore Street.

Police said McNeil was carrying stolen merchandise, belonging to a condominium resident, in his pocket. They also found hypodermic syringes, a double-edged knife, a screwdriver, and keys to the stolen Toyota.

Also recovered from the duffel bags were a DVD player, a videocassette recorder, a coffee can full of change, several hundred dollars in cash and a camera with lenses, police said.

McNeil was charged with burglary; receiving stolen property (items from the burglary and the stolen car); possession of a weapon, burglary tools and a hypodermic syringe; and resisting arrest.

He was taken to police headquarters for processing and is being held on $25,000 bail.

Since his arrest, new evidence has also linked McNeil with a robbery that took place the day before on Lois Avenue, which is the East Brunswick street where the suspect previously resided, according to police.

"Accordingly, the suspect has been charged with that burglary as well," East Brunswick Police Sgt. Russ MacArthur said. "Police found a stolen sterling silverware set in the trunk of his car."

LASER RESHAPING

Many people are choosing to have state-of-the-art Laser Vision Correction procedures. These surgeries reshape the corneas of nearsighted, farsighted and astigmatic patients. In photorefractive keratectomy, or PRK, a laser reshapes the outer surface of the cornea. The other procedure, laser assisted in situ keratomileusis, or LASIK, involves making a flap of the cornea's outer layer and reshaping the cornea beneath it. The flap is then set back into place where it naturally re-adheres to the cornea.

LASIK and PRK are both excellent procedures, but due to the quicker healing and wider range of treatable prescriptions, LASIK has become the dominant surgery. At Atlantic Medical Eye Care, we can assist you in making the right decisions about your eye care. We will help you to acquire an understanding of the procedure and more importantly, your particular situation and treatment options. My office is located at 3 Hospital Plaza, off of Ferry Road, in Old Bridge. Please call (732) 607-0500 to schedule an appointment for a free Laser Vision consultation. As a member of the Board of Governors of the New Jersey Academy of Ophthalmology, I am committed to providing the highest quality of care.

P.S. Last year about one million laser vision corrections procedures were performed in the United States alone.

A fire destroyed part of the Academy Learning Center, Monroe, which is being built by the Middlesex County Educational Services Commission. However, officials said the April 21 blaze will not stop the school for special needs children from opening in September.

Blaze will not slow building of county learning center

MONROE TOWNSHIP — A fire took out 25 percent of a roof being constructed for a new Middlesex County school.

The fire, which began shortly after noon on April 21 at the Academy Learning Center construction site on Matchaponix Avenue, took firefighters about five hours to completely extinguish, according to Joseph Sensale, chief of Monroe Township Volunteer Fire Company No. 1.

"The damage was kept to a minimum and only occurred on one wing of the school," Sensale said. "It shouldn't set them back too far."

The school, which is being built for autistic children, is a project of the Middlesex County Educational Services Commission. Construction on the facility will continue, and school officials expect it to be ready to open in September as was planned.

"The person who started it was doing welding or torch work inside the building," Sensale said, adding that he was uncertain of the details. The worker, he said, was using "a torch of some sort," which accidentally started the fire.

"The fire started in between layers of the roof. We had to trench-cut the roof in order to stop the fire," he said.

Trench-cutting involves stopping a fire's path by cutting out an area that the fire has not reached. Because its path is obstructed, the fire cannot move to other areas, he said.

"Due to the type of roof construction they use, it was very difficult to extinguish the fire because it was in between the layers," Sensale said. "The bottom layer was corrugated metal and the outside was the shingle."

He said the fire took two to three hours to contain, even though it was not considered to be a major blaze.

"It wasn't a major fire so much as it was just a lot of work," he said. "It was a manpower-intensive job, strenuous work. We had to run saws and remove sheeting to contain it. Once you exhaust one fireman, he has to rest, so we had to call in mutual aid."

The fire looked worse than it was because of the smoldering foam insulation between layers of the roof, Sensale added.

Three firefighters were treated at the scene for heat exhaustion.

A fourth had to be taken to St. Peter's University Hospital in New Brunswick, where he was treated and released, according to Sensale.

All three Monroe fire departments responded, including the Central Monroe department and the Applegarth Fire Company. Monroe Township Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 was the first to respond, as the fire was in its district. Fire departments from Spotswood, Helmetta, Jamesburg, Milltown, East Brunswick, Sayreville and Old Bridge also responded.

"It was a great effort by all the departments that came. They did an extremely good job," Sensale said.

Guide to Good Eating

A GREATER MEDIA NEWSPAPERS SPECIAL SECTION

For elegant, exceptional cuisine, try Trattoria Nicola

BY JO-ANN LAMON RECCOPPA
Correspondent

A gracious dining experience awaits you at Trattoria Nicola, 900 Easton Ave. in the Somerset Village Plaza, Somerset.

From the moment guests are seated in the elegant dining room, they are treated like royalty. The staff is extremely attentive, yet not in the least intrusive while going about their tasks of filling glasses, taking orders, serving meals and clearing tables. Soft classical music provides a quiet backdrop for dinner conversation, and the romantic lighting scheme is soothing and tranquil. Scenes of Italy grace the walls — a subtle touch of understated grandeur.

Samy Hegazy, the proprietor of Trattoria Nicola, pays strict attention to every detail when it comes to accommodating his guests.

"When it comes to fine dining, the smallest things mean so much," says Hegazy, who goes from table to table to greet his guests and to be certain every aspect of their dining experience is perfect.

"In addition to exceptional cuisine, details such as keeping water glasses filled and having plenty of hot bread on a table can be the difference between a pleasurable meal and a spectacular one," he says.

The Italian cuisine served at Trattoria Nicola is sensational. Executive Chef Teodoro Pasto relies on both his talent and creative flair when preparing the Continental dishes — evident in the vongole (an appetizer of Manila clams and spicy Italian sausage in port wine and plum tomato herb broth), and the incredibly light eggplant appetizer stuffed with baby spinach and ricotta cheese and topped with mozzarella and tangy marinara sauce. Another excellent choice is the seafood-stuffed mushrooms, beautifully presented atop mescaline greens with a mild balsamic vinegar and basil oil drizzle which was offered as a special menu item on the evening of my visit.

The selection of main courses is quite extensive. Chicken, fish and veal dishes are all skillfully prepared using only the finest and freshest ingredients. Perhaps most impressive about my dining experience was the manzo — herb roasted black angus filet mignon accented with garlic demiglaze (accompanied by a tasty rice pilaf, broccoli and carrots). The meat was incredibly tender and perfectly prepared medium, as requested. The garlic demiglaze was extraordinary.

JERRY WOLKOWITZ

Samy Hegazy, proprietor of Trattoria Nicola, Somerset, pays close attention to even the smallest details so that every customer has a spectacular dining experience.

Trattoria Nicola's signature dishes, which include pasta and rice creations with black angus sirloin, seafood, chicken breast, sausage or prosciutto, are excellent choices for those in the mood for something adventurous. The fusilli, smoked salmon, baby scallops, leek onions, sun-dried tomatoes, and eggplant with sherry cream sauce was delicious and extremely satisfying.

Desserts are all homemade and absolutely heavenly as expected in a restaurant noted for fine dining. Cheesecake is the specialty of the house — banana cheesecake, strawberry cheesecake, and a delectable, cinnamon apple cheesecake — all baked by Diane Hegazy, as is the smooth and sinfully rich chocolate mousse cake.

Trattoria Nicola offers both on and off-premises catering. Parties of any kind are always special affairs at the restaurant. On the night of my visit, both a birthday and an anniversary were acknowledged with a lovely framed snapshot of the celebrations courtesy of Samy Hegazy and the Trattoria Nicola staff. But don't wait for a special occasion to visit Trattoria Nicola — enjoy the memorable dining experience as soon as possible.

Trattoria Nicola is open for both lunch and dinner on weekdays. Friday and Saturday dinner hours are 5-10 p.m., Sundays from 5-9 p.m. Reservations are suggested for Saturday dining, as the restaurant tends to be busy. Call the restaurant at (732) 745-4846.

JEFF HUNTLEY

Lori Menzel and Mike DiBiase of Caspita! Café and Bistro, Matawan, can help you select an entree from the menu that will best suit your tastes.

Enjoy intimate dining at Caspita! Café and Bistro

BY ANITA STRATOS
Correspondent

Amid the busy shops along Route 34 in Matawan is a charming, serene respite called Caspita! Café and Bistro. For the past three and a half years, owners Kathleen and Michael DiBiase have quietly changed Caspita! from a dessert café to a full-scale, lunch and dinner restaurant serving outstanding, contemporary American cuisine. This progression has not gone unnoticed — Caspita! has received its share of critical acclaim including a place in the famous Zagat listing of America's top restaurants for 2001.

The restaurant is an intimate nook with a tranquil blend of European ambiance and American warmth. A showcase of desserts, many of which are house-made, remind you to leave a bit of room to sample at least one of these treasures.

Chef Terrence Tice changes the menu every one to two months in order to incorporate into his recipes only the freshest ingredients of the season. Tice expertly blends Asian, European and American components to offer his own unique twist on many standard selections.

The meal begins with a basket of excellent, warm rolls served alongside a bowl of olive oil perfectly seasoned with a hint of garlic and herbs — it's tempting to fill up on this simple, yet seductive starter. The early spring menu featured appetizers of gravlax Napoleon served with radicchio and baby arugula with roasted beet vinaigrette, Prince Edward Island mussels with Thai spiced broth, and risotto with sautéed mushrooms and baby spinach.

The soup du jour on the chilly day we visited Caspita! was a wonderful potato leek, not too thick and not too thin, with a flawless blend of flavors. There was a nice selection of salads from simple mixed field greens with cider vinaigrette or classic Caesar, to baby arugula served with warm goat cheese and thyme vinaigrette, or roasted beets with orange sections, endive and walnuts.

For a relatively brief menu, Chef Tice has covered all tastes very well with his selection of entrees. It's difficult to decide among the tantalizing choices because the flavors of any dish will exceed the written menu descriptions. This menu offered a couple of pasta dishes including ravioli with chicken, pancetta, roasted garlic and rosemary lemon oil, a refreshing change from traditional ravioli; and a fettuccine with lump crab meat and saffron cream. The grilled mahi mahi with rice salad and soy miso vinaigrette was a nice light selection, as was sautéed grouper with herb couscous and vanilla bean beurre blanc. There's no shortage of comfort foods made with gourmet flare, as was evidenced by the grilled tenderloin of beef with garlic mashed potatoes and red wine sauce, the grilled chicken breast au poivre with roasted potatoes, and the grilled pork chop with yam salad and red onion marmalade.

Now you're ready to dive into those spectacular desserts. There are so many to choose from, and most are also available for purchase at very reasonable prices. The tiramisu is imported, one of the few desserts that is not made on site, but it's exceptionally fresh, rather than heavy, with wonderfully addictive flavors. Other selections include New York or Italian cheesecake, key lime pie, caramel apple crumb tort, cannoli, pecan pie, chocolate mousse pie, and chocolate peanut butter pie. There's also a wide selection of cookies that can be purchased by the pound.

Caspita! is also open for lunch with a menu far different from ordinary lunch fare. The salads are similar to those on the dinner menu, and entrees include quiche du jour, a grilled burger made with portobello mushroom, roasted red pepper, red onion, arugula and pesto mayonnaise. The Chinese five-spice, grilled chicken salad with shredded broccoli and fresh sprouts in a pita was absolutely heavenly and came with a side of yam salad. A list of wraps included roasted red pepper, arugula and goat cheese with basil pesto; as well as a Mediterranean tuna salad with baby spinach and sherry vinaigrette. There are also pastas and panini on the regular lunch menu.

Caspita! Café and Bistro is located at 1070 Route 34 in Plaza 34, Matawan. Dinner is served Tuesday through Saturday and reservations are highly suggested for Saturday evenings and recommended for Friday evenings. Lunch is served Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. For reservations or further information, call (732) 583-6000.

A GREATER MEDIA NEWSPAPERS SPECIAL SECTION

Asparagus is a sure sign of spring

It's easy to tell when spring has sprung — asparagus is plentiful in supermarket produce aisles. The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc. (ADADC) looks forward to asparagus season, too, because the vegetable is a natural partner for dairy foods. A successful recipe begins with a fresh vegetable.

When shopping for asparagus, look for purple tinged, tight-budded spears. They should be even-sized, at least one-half inch in diameter, and at least two-thirds green. Avoid any stalk with a large, woody, hard white base. Asparagus is best cooked the same day it is purchased, but will keep three to four days in the refrigerator. To store asparagus, remove the very end of the stalks and store them upright in one inch of water and covered with plastic wrap.

When it comes to preparing spears for cooking, try Julia Child's method: She recommends peeling the stalk, rather than just eating the part that snaps off easily (this increases the amount of edible vegetable). Use a small, sharp paring knife to cut under the thicker skin at the base of the stalk. Work toward the tip, making the cut shallower as you progress upward.

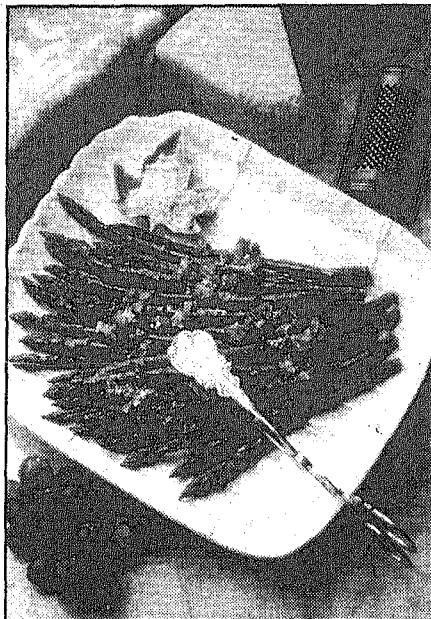

Celebrate spring with these recipes from ADADC.

Asparagus with Parmesan cheese and bacon

Yield: 6 servings
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced green onion
4 slices bacon, cooked, drained, crumbled
1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 pounds medium asparagus trimmed
Melt butter in small skillet. Sauté onion until tender, about three minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in bacon, cheese and pepper. Meanwhile, steam asparagus until tender, about eight minutes; drain. Place hot asparagus on serving dish. Sprinkle with cheese mixture. Serve immediately.

Summer asparagus roll-up with herb cheese and sun-dried tomatoes

Yield: 24 rolls
Prep time: 30 minutes
1 pound (24 spears) asparagus
1/2 pound red peppers, roasted
4-6 tablespoons herb cheese spread, at room temperature
4 sun-dried tomatoes, soaked in boiling water for 10 minutes, drained and finely chopped
8-10 8-inch flour tortillas
Trim asparagus tips to four 5-inch lengths, reserving remainder of stalk for later. In boiling salted water, cook asparagus until tender, four to seven minutes. Rinse under cold water. Cut peppers into Top tender, hot spears of asparagus with freshly grated Parmesan cheese, crisp bacon and green onions for a great way to welcome spring.

1/2-inch wide strips. Rinse and dry asparagus tips and pepper strips thoroughly.

Mix herb cheese spread and sun-dried tomatoes together. Spread each tortilla with approximately 1 tablespoon herb cheese spread. Cut tortillas into strips 1 to 1-1/2 inches wide. Put one asparagus tip and one pepper strip together at one end of a tortilla strip and tightly roll up in spiral fashion. Repeat with remaining asparagus and peppers.

Refrigerate covered until serving time. May be prepared up to one day ahead.

Note: To roast peppers, place under broiler or over grill until skin is blackened on all sides. Place in a paper bag and close tightly to let steam for about 10 minutes. Remove peppers from the bag when cool enough to handle. Peel, split lengthwise and remove seeds, core and trim. Do not rinse under water.

Chilled asparagus salad

Yield: 4-6 servings
2 pounds thin asparagus, trimmed
2 hard-boiled eggs, peeled
1 container (8 ounces) low fat lemon yogurt
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1/8 teaspoon each of salt, pepper
Steam asparagus just until tender, about five minutes. Rinse in cold water; drain. Pat asparagus dry with paper towel. Cut into 1/2-inch long pieces. Separate egg whites and yolk; chop each. Combine yogurt, lemon juice, lemon peel, butter, salt and pepper in large bowl. Add asparagus and chopped egg. Toss to combine. Refrigerate covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend.

City and country folk agree: fresh peas please

By Sally Siegrist

There is nothing that tastes better to me than food that comes directly from the garden to my kitchen to be cooked within a few hours. Having grown up in the Midwest where farming and gardening abound, I took freshness for granted. I would never have believed that there are people who never see vegetables wearing their natural coating of good black dirt! Trying to convince me that multitudes of cooks only see vegetables a week after harvest would have been impossible. I was firmly convinced that no one would be satisfied with veggies from a plastic container.

Then I moved to New Jersey. What a difference 700 miles makes! I quickly realized that my idea of how to procure food was radically opposed to that of most of my new friends.

One Sunday, I invited a young couple from Manhattan to enjoy a day in the country on my New Jersey farm. I had no idea that we were all going to experience a cross-cultural event, but that is what happened!

Jeff and Blish (yes, that is her name) arrived for a quick ride on one of the horses, which turned out to be roughly the equivalent of a Coney Island ride on a roller coaster. After a few sore muscles and a great many laughs, we decided that dinner might be a safer and more mutually comfortable activity.

Earlier that morning, I had made a trip to my favorite local farm market for vegetables. Tiny carrots with their feathery tops, new radishes and sweet green peas found their way into my shopping bag. As I am the type of hostess who believes that everyone can participate in food preparation, I invited my guests to shell the peas. They had no way of knowing that I thought I was being generous by assigning them my favorite task. I always begged for that job in my mother and grandmother's kitchens because it meant I could pop as many of the sugar-sweet little peas into my mouth as into the bowl.

I retired to the kitchen to prepare pasta, and I looked outside to see how the pea shelling was progressing. Much to my amazement I saw two very puzzled young people staring at the brown bag of peas, the large and empty crockery bowl and their glasses of wine. When I joined them to ask why the peas remained safely tucked in their green pods, Blish looked at me with great dismay. She explained that in her experience peas always arrived frozen in a block or in a plastic bag of butter sauce.

Once I composed myself and stifled my gales of laughter, I taught those two city dwellers where peas really come from and what a treat they are to eat raw. We managed to save a few peas for our meal and the dish we made will forever be known as Blish's Pasta Salad. I hope you enjoy making and eating it as much as we did that day.

Blish's Pasta Salad

For salad:

- 1 pound bow tie pasta
- 1 small bag baby carrots
- 1 pound fresh or frozen peas
- 1 red bell pepper, chopped
- 1 yellow bell pepper, chopped
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan Reggiano
- 1/2 cup minced fresh flat leaf parsley

Louis sauce:

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup heavy cream
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 cup chopped green onion
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- salt and pepper to taste

Cook bow ties in a large pot of lightly salted boiling water for a total of eight minutes. After bow ties have cooked three minutes, add carrots and bell peppers. Add frozen peas one minute later or fresh peas three minutes later.

Drain pasta and vegetables and rinse with ice cold water until well cooled. Place pasta and vegetables in a large bowl, and stir in cheese and parsley. Fold in as much Louis sauce as needed to lightly dress salad.

Chill for several hours to allow flavors to mellow.

RELIGION AND HEALTH

Increasingly, the medical establishment is coming to accept the fact that religion influences health. A few years ago, only three medical schools in the U.S. taught courses on religious issues in patient care. Today, that number has increased more than tenfold. While no one is sure how religion exerts a healthful effect upon patients, it is thought that it plays a role in helping them cope with stress. It has been observed that praying or reading religious texts seems to help people maintain lower stress levels. And the sense of social connectedness and community that religion provides may also help minimize stress and its effects. Whatever the reason, religion appears to act as a buffer against mental and physical pain.

When we come close to the end of life, many of us seek support from the realm of the sacred, whatever our faith may be. At family owned and operated FREEMAN FUNERAL HOMES, we are here to help you out, to offer you support and comfort, and to arrange the logistics when you are dealing with a loss. Stop in at 47 East Main St. in Freehold (732-462-0808) and 344 Route 9 North in Manalapan (732-972-8484).

OLD BRIDGE

An employee of the Amoco gas station at Route 516 and Worth Place reported a robbery occurred at 7:50 p.m. on April 28. A Hispanic male wearing jeans and a white T-shirt entered the gas station and asked the attendant where the restrooms were located, according to the police report. After being inside the restroom for approximately two minutes, the suspect emerged and notified the attendant that the toilet had overflowed, at which time the attendant went to check the restroom. Inside the restroom, the suspect allegedly hit the attendant on the back of the head with a ceramic figurine from the restroom. The suspect then closed the bathroom door and proceeded to empty the cash register. The suspect asked the attendant to empty his pockets after he emerged from the bathroom. The suspect removed $170 from the cash register and took $97 from the attendant. The suspect then ordered the attendant into the office and proceeded to leave the scene. The attendant notified the owner of the gas station before calling police. The attendant was treated for a laceration to the back of the head by East Brunswick Volunteer First Aid. No suspects were arrested in connection with the crime.

Police responded to a report of criminal mischief that occurred between 10 p.m. on April 28 and 8 a.m. on April 29. Unknown persons entered the skate park at Veteran's Park by pushing in a locked gate. Once inside, they tipped over garbage cans and a portable bathroom unit, according to the police report. Boards were also pulled from a half-pipe ramp.

An employee of Oasis Ford on Route 9 reported an act of criminal mischief that occurred between 2 p.m. on April 26 and 9 a.m. on April 27. Unknown suspects vandalized a 1999 white Ford Econoline E-350 van parked at the north end of the main parking lot. A black van also sustained damage to the hood and grill, according to the police report.

A Manalapan resident reported the theft of a motor vehicle that occurred between 8:15 a.m. and noon on April 28 at Raceway Park, according to police. Unknown suspects stole a silver BMW 2001 S4520 parked at the park's Gate Three. The vehicle is valued at $49,500.

A Matawan resident reported a burglary and theft that occurred on Christopher Street between 11 a.m. on April 28 and noon on April 29. Unknown suspects entered the residence through a rear dining room window and stole $100 worth of baby clothes, according to the police report.

EAST BRUNSWICK

Charges of theft were lodged against a Brooklyn, N.Y., man on April 29 at 3:17 p.m. after police confiscated more than $6,000 in stolen merchandise. Two Brooklyn men reportedly distracted a 16-year-old female clerk at the Silver and Gold Connection, in the Brunswick Square Mall, Route 18, while James Franklin, 37, removed several trays of gold rings from the display cases. Mall security followed the men as they walked across the parking lot toward the Olive Garden restaurant, where Franklin was seen exiting a 1995 Ford and heading into the restaurant, according to police. After detaining all three men, a search of the car revealed the stolen jewelry display cases, police said. Witnesses implicated Franklin as the one who took the jewelry and also the only one seen in the vehicle, police said. He was arrested and also charged with possession of stolen property. His bail was set at $20,000. The other two men were released without charges.

Possession of stolen property charges were lodged against two men at 3:21 p.m. on April 25. Two detectives from the anti-crime unit observed Thomas W. Ennis Jr., 55, of Turnersville and Charles E. Long, 62, of Camden putting several stacks of pants in the trunk of a car. The pants were not in bags. Upon questioning, the men claimed they were making returns. Further investigation, however, revealed $1,500 worth of Dockers clothing in the vehicle without matching receipts. There were also approximately 30 empty shopping bags and numerous expired receipts, police said. Both men were charged and taken to police headquarters for processing. They were detained at the Middlesex County Adult Correction Center, North Brunswick, on $3,500 bail with no 10 percent option.

Incidents of criminal mischief were reported at the Crystal Springs Aquatic Center, Dunhams Corner Road, on May 1 at 8:45 a.m. Police were dispatched to the scene in response to a complaint of mischief from the pool's manager, Leigh Gerhart. Gerhart told police unknown persons entered the property sometime between the hours of 2 p.m. on April 30 and 8 a.m. the next morning and threw items into the Sapphire Bay pool. Gerhart believes the suspects entered the property by jumping the surrounding fence, according to police. Items thrown into the pool included four picnic tables, three lifeguard stands, five trash cans, two ashtrays, two plants and more than 100 rocks. Gerhart told police the tables were extremely heavy and would have required at least two persons to lift. Estimated damage to the pool is unknown, although there appeared to be no visible permanent damage, police said.

Charges of lewdness were lodged against an East Brunswick man on May 1 at 11:16 p.m. A 28-year-old female resident of Society Hill, Bromley Court, reported hearing tapping on her window. Scared, the victim called her boyfriend who came over to investigate and found Richard R. Gonier, 33, in the nude and hiding behind another condominium, according to police. The suspect ran until he was tackled by the victim's boyfriend, police said. He was held until police arrived. Gonier was arrested and his clothes were found a few blocks away at the intersection of Pennsylvania and Congress avenues. He was released on his own recognizance.

Councilman aflutter over park

EAST BRUNSWICK — Residents may one day be able to enjoy a butterfly park in town thanks to Township Councilman Saul Fink.

Fink approached the council during the April 16 meeting, asking that officials be open to the idea of a community butterfly park.

"This would be a great way for kids and families to explore nature a bit," Fink said. He added that the parks are traditionally very affordable to maintain.

Councilman Donald Klemp voiced his approval of Fink's suggestion, saying, "I heard (these parks) are not only very pretty, but good for the environment as well."

Butterflies, like many other insects and birds, pollinate flowers and plants. Scientists say that through pollination, plants are able to grow and reproduce, which results in a plethora of benefits for not only humans, but animals as well.

Fink, who also sits on the township's Environmental Commission, added that the agency is in the process of looking for already established areas as a possible venue for such a park. The council approved Fink's request to move forward on the issue. A formal proposal is expected to be presented before its members soon.

REPAIRING CHIPS AND CRACKS

Patients with chipped or cracked teeth may resort to bonding, which involves coating teeth with a tooth-colored composite material. Although this is the least durable (and least expensive) repair option, when the composite wears off, it can easily be repaired or replaced later. Another, more durable (and expensive) option for hiding defects in the enamel involves fitting a custom porcelain veneer over the surface of the tooth. This procedure typically takes a few visits to the dentist (bonding requires only one), and involves removing a thin layer of tooth enamel to make room for the veneer. While veneers are more natural looking and more durable than bonding, biting into hard objects (ice or hard candy) can chip them.

Today, there is no need to worry about an imperfect smile — it can be repaired using any number of the methods now available. And aside from the obvious aesthetic benefits of cosmetic dentistry, it can often prevent more serious problems down the road. For more information about the many advantages of cosmetic dentistry or an appointment, please call us at 613-4522. Our office is located at 125 State Highway 516, Old Bridge.

P.S. Badly decayed teeth are not suitable candidates for veneers because the tooth surface itself must be sturdy enough to support the veneer.

Old Bridge teams off to flying starts at GMC Relays

Both boys and girls dominate first day at South Brunswick

BY GEORGE ALBANO
Staff Writer

The 2001 boys and girls track teams at Old Bridge Township High School have apparently picked up right where they left off last season.

The Knights and Lady Knights each went undefeated a year ago, and both teams are off to perfect 4-0 starts this spring and among the favorites in the Greater Middlesex Conference.

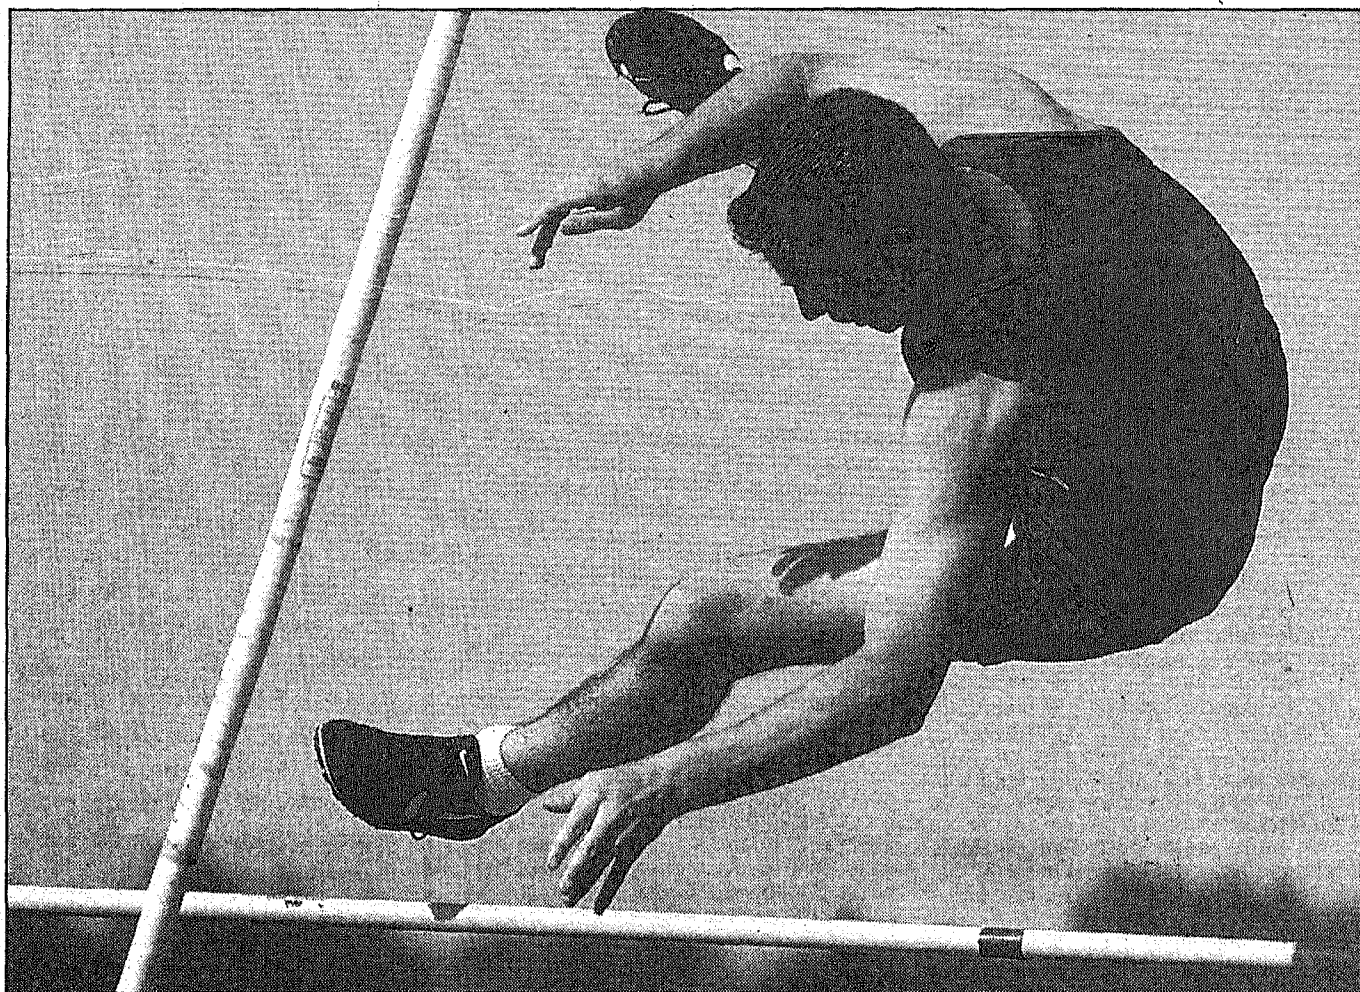

In fact, both the Old Bridge boys and girls appeared to be well on their way to repeating as champions of the annual GMC Relays. The boys raced out to a 20-point lead after the first day of the two-day event, while the girls were also ahead of the pack at press time.

"Even though we're in first and up by 20 points, that could be wiped out in the second day," warned Jack Campbell, the veteran coach of the Old Bridge boys track team. "But if we do what we're capable of doing the second day, we should win it."

Meanwhile, girls track coach Rich Maczka was a bit more cautious.

"With relays and competition like this, anything can happen," said Maczka, who like Campbell is in his 15th year as coach. "Sometimes you have to go down to your second-, third- and even fourth-best athlete in certain events."

"We knew we'd be fairly strong," he added. "But there are three or four strong teams. It makes for a very interesting couple of days."

Sayreville's Jason Jedrusiak competes during the GMC Relays at South Brunswick High School on Tuesday. The Bombers finished the day in fifth place. JEFF HUNTLEY

The Lady Knights certainly had a stellar first day, especially the trio of sophomores Kim Henry, Erin O'Dell and junior Kim Johnston, who teamed up to capture first place in the intermediate hurdles relay.

Old Bridge added to its point total with three second-place finishes. Linda Sanders, a junior and the team's top distance runner, led the Knights to a runner-up showing in the 4 x 1600 relay. In addition, a pair of seniors, Rachel Davison and Kim Bennett, spearheaded two more second-place finishes in the discus and high jump relays, respectively.

"We have a really young team this year," Maczka pointed out. "What few seniors we have really lead us, but a great deal of our talent is in the sophomore and junior classes."

That would include juniors Sarah Conveyer in the javelin and Brittany McCombs in the shot put. Henry and Johnston, two more underclassmen, are the team's top sprinters and "team up to do three or four events," according to Maczka.

Perhaps the Knights' best all-around athlete is sophomore Kim Spengle.

"She's our second best hurdler and one of our best javelin and discus throwers," Maczka noted.

The Old Bridge girls went 5-0-1 last year en route to winning the conference championship, and judging by the first four meets this season, they have every intention on keeping their crown.

"We've dominated most of the rest of the competition so far," Maczka said, "but we won't see some of the best teams in dual meets until the end of the season. The Relays, though, is sort of a barometer."

Meanwhile, the boys track team, off to a 7-0 start, can only hope the GMC Relays are an accurate barometer of their superiority over the rest of the conference.

The Knights garnered a pair of first-place finishes during the opening day. The quartet of Rich Lafergola, Mark Rabinowitz, Ryan Bennett and Dan Harding combined to win the 4 x 1600 (or 4 x 1 mile) relay, while the trio of Kenny Goode, Anthony DePalma and Paul Portalatin garnered top honors in the long jump relay.

In addition, Old Bridge finished second in the 4 x 200 and shot put relay, third in the intermediate hurdles and fourth in the javelin and pole vault.

The Knights also took part in the prestigious Penn Relays last weekend. The top 12 finishers in each event qualified for the Champions of America Race the following day, and the Knights' 4 x 800 relay team of Tim Paule, Harding, Justin Marquez and Rabinowitz just missed qualifying by finishing 14th. Old Bridge finished fifth in the same event two years ago. Zeyad Hussain, Goode, Mahmoud Sei and DePalma ran in this year's 4 x 400, but also did not qualify.

Old Bridge has also received strong efforts this season from Aaron Suozzo, the team's top shot put and javelin thrower, while sophomore Brandon Nolan is the top sprinter.

"And many of those kids are back for the next couple of years," Campbell said, noting only Suozzo, Hussain, Sei and Rabinowitz are seniors. "All the rest are mostly juniors and sophomores. ... We lost some good kids to graduation last year, but it seems we were able to reload, I guess. We're hoping to do well at the county and state sectionals. Our goal is to win one or both of those championships."

Bombers struggle with move up to Red Division

Sayreville tennis coach feels move not in best interests of program

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

The Sayreville War Memorial High School boys tennis team is still looking for its first win after moving up to the Greater Middlesex Conference's tough Red Division.

A senior-laden Bombers team had been poised to make its mark this year. Most of the team struggled together as freshmen, slowly improved as sophomores, and went over the .500 mark last year, finishing at 9-6 in the White Division. However, enrollment criteria called for the Bombers to move up to the Red Division which Coach Hank Connelly disagreed with. Sayreville appealed the decision to the GMC, but the appeal was turned down.

"The rules were followed exactly, and I know most athletic directors are very comfortable with the rules because they're based on numbers," Connelly said. "But we've been an improving team, and now we can't win a match. It's discouraging, and I don't think it's fair. Sometimes you have to look beyond the numbers."

Although the Bombers are without a victory, the team has played fairly well overall, and narrowly lost to Woodbridge and Piscataway, both by 3-2 scores.

Amil Mody has shown heart at first singles, as he has regularly been matched against the top players in the county. He picked up his first win on Monday against Woodbridge.

Monroe boys tennis team peaking at the right time

Look to avenge early-season loss to Colonia tomorrow

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

With six victories in eight matches, the Monroe Township High School boys tennis team has already qualified for the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group II and should challenge last year's total of 13 wins.

With a revamped lineup (the Falcons lost all three singles players to graduation) Monroe has won four of its five 3-2 decisions, including important victories over St. Joseph's and Bishop Ahr.

Its other triumphs have come against JFK, Perth Amboy, Spotswood and South Amboy.

"When we beat St. Joe's I think our team realized that they may be better than they originally thought they were," coach Jim Kushner said. "That was important for our confidence."

And Monroe's confidence seems to be growing thanks to a balanced lineup that begins with Ariel Stern at first singles. The junior has a 5-3 record and has qualified for the state tourney as an individual.

Senior Harnish Patel is just 3-5, but he's coming off a 6-0, 6-0 win in Tuesday's match against South Amboy. Patel's success was particularly important as Paul Griem was upset at third singles. Griem, meanwhile, is having a strong

At second singles, gritty Brian Nakielny, who won 12 matches a year ago and also won against Woodbridge, has scraped his way to a 3-4 record. Meanwhile, the much-improved Boleslaw Czachor, a doubles player a year ago, has a pair of wins at third singles.

The doubles teams generally consist of Mike Strzelecki and Chris Gow at first, and Shawn Kerr and Amanjit Singh at second, with freshman Peter Rzepka in reserve.

Kerr is a story unto himself. Last year he was involved in a serious auto accident and suffered several internal injuries, as well as a broken hip. Fully recovered, Kerr worked diligently to be ready and prepared for the season.

"Shawn was in bad shape, and he had extensive rehab," Connelly said. "He's made a remarkable recovery, and his work ethic is a good influence on the rest of the team."

"Shawn is an outstanding example, but all of our guys have worked hard and shown a lot of character during a difficult season," Connelly said. "I'm very proud of them all."

The Bombers have only seven matches left on their schedule starting with tomorrow's meeting with Old Bridge. The Knights entered the week at 4-4, but were ranked eighth in the Greater Middlesex Conference based on their strength of schedule. They, too, play in the highly competitive Red Division, which is topped by the newly crowned GMC Tournament champions from East Brunswick.

On Monday, Sayreville will travel to Woodbridge before hosting fifth-ranked South Brunswick on Wednesday.

campaign as evidenced by his 8-2 record. He was the top-ranked third singles player in the GMC coming into this week.

Jim Gaston and Keith Hackett, both juniors, are 2-4 at first doubles, while freshmen Tal Falk and Frank Senatore are 5-4 at second doubles. In each of Monroe's 3-2 wins, Falk and Senatore have won their match.

"Our guys have played very well and the match-ups have been breaking just right for us," Kushner said. "Whenever something happens, someone steps up like Harnish [Patel] did against South Amboy. And we're winning the 3-2 matches."

Monroe, which was slated to host JFK in a rematch on Wednesday, will visit Colonia on Friday. The Falcons are hoping to avenge an early-season defeat when Colonia squeezed out a 3-2 win.

With a couple of wins this week, Monroe could really put itself in excellent position as the playoffs approach. Add to that the possibility of coming away with a GMC White Division title, and the next few weeks for the Falcons could be extremely interesting.

But their schedule only gets tougher from here on out, as matches with some of the GMC's top teams loom in the future. Over the last three weeks of the regular season, Monroe will face both North and South Brunswick, a pair of teams ranked in the top 10 in the GMC.

But if Monroe continues its solid play, both of those matches should be close throughout.

Find out how you can avoid using property and personal savings to pay for long-term care.

A serious illness or injury can jeopardize your good health, but it doesn't have to mean financial jeopardy, too. Very few health insurance policies cover the cost of long-term care, so people often end up paying for expenses directly out of their pockets. If you're not prepared for the possibility of needing long-term care, consider these facts:

- $125.2 billion is spent annually on long-term care¹
- 43% of people aged 65 and older actually will need long-term care²
- $50,000 is the national average annual cost of nursing home care³
- $81,445 is the projected national annual cost of nursing home care in 10 years (for age 65 and older)⁴

St. John Vianney holding on to A North's top spot

Face second-place Ocean in key division match-up on Saturday

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

The St. John Vianney High School girls lacrosse team will be looking to improve its first-place standing in the Shore Conference's Class A North division this weekend.

The Holmdel Lancers, 8-2 on the season and the defending A North champs, beat Red Bank Regional 11-8 on Tuesday, will visit Point Pleasant Boro today and travel to Ocean on Saturday. St. John's is coming off a successful week which saw the Lancers defeat Long Branch, Red Bank Catholic and Freehold Township.

The RBC victory avenged 7-6 defeat suffered a week earlier at the hands of the Caseys as Tara Mullins netted the hat trick and Jackie Seward scored twice in a 9-1 win.

The RBR win cemented the Lancers' spot atop A North, as senior center Sue Wisneski and junior Katie Donnelly each netted three goals to lead the way.

"Right now we're where we want to be, and that's on top in the division," said Lancers Coach Teresa DiMezza, now in her third year at the helm. "Our job now is to stay here, and the competition is tough with Red Bank Regional, RBC and Ocean in the mix."

One thing that hasn't changed, is the results. St. John's is still winning. Wisneski leads a high-powered offense with 31 goals and five assists, while Donnelly is right behind with 26 goals and 10 assists.

Mullins, Seward and senior Kate DeAversano are all hovering around the 10-goal mark. Junior winger Marybeth Kuenne, who scored 35 goals a year ago, is back after missing the early going due to injury.

The other forwards, senior Christina Andaya, junior Colleen Bruno and sophomores Sara Soden and Christine Ford, can also put the ball in the net.

St. John's may be just as good on the defensive end of the field where DeAversano leads a solid, two-way unit that also includes juniors Angela Fuoco and Grace Sica. Their ability to transition to offense gives the Lancers an added offensive boost.

Sophomores Michelle Cwiek and Deirdre Murray concentrate primarily on defense in front of the goal-tending tandem of Katherine Rowland and Katie Schultz, both sophomores.

"We're fortunate in that our entire team is back from last year," DiMezza said. "They have a lot of confidence in each other, and because of their experience, we're able to make good changes after every game. Our offense gets a lot of credit, and it deserves it, but we have a very powerful defense, and that really makes a difference for our team."

At 8-2 (8-1 in the division), the Lancers have put themselves in a good position to defend their A North title. But Ocean (10-2, 9-2) is right on their heels and will be looking to capture the division's top spot on Saturday when it hosts Vianney in a key match-up. And don't count out the Caseys, who have already shown they are capable of playing with A North's top teams.

St. John's impressive season has also earned it the No. 3 ranking in the Shore behind a tremendously powerful Jackson team (11-0) and Toms River North. Another key game for Vianney will be on May 11 when it hosts Class B's top team, Monsignor Donovan, who, at 7-0, is the Shore's seventh-ranked team.

South River girls look to keep their eyes on the ball

Softball team hoping to improve as playoffs approach

BY RICHARD JEROME
Staff Writer

Sometimes in high school athletics, struggling with one facet of the game is enough to mean the difference between a middle-of-the-road squad and a championship squad. This appears to be the case with the South River High School softball team.

"Errors are killing us," Coach Carrie Corvino said of her team. "The girls all want to do so well, but mentally they lose their concentration. They think too much."

The 9-7 Rams lost a 7-0 decision to Middlesex on Monday, managing just four hits and making several defensive lapses. Although the fielding has fallen short, Corvino added that her team is hitting a bit better than usual (though not on Monday).

Indeed, Wood, who missed four games due to a broken nose, has hit five homers, three in last Saturday's twin bill victory against Timothy Christian. Overall she's batting in the .520 range with a slugging percentage over .900. Apparently, she doesn't hit many singles.

But Wood isn't the only bright spot.

"Katie Roselli is pitching very well," Corvino added of the senior who is 8-7 with a pair of no-hitters. One was a near-perfect game against Timothy Christian, which was spoiled when she hit a batter.

Freshman Cheryl Bodak has the other Ram win, also against Timothy Christian.

Catching them is senior Suzanne Gormeley, who has pegged out a couple of runners thus far, while capable junior Kate Servon is at first.

In the middle infield, SRHS has a duo at second base, junior Jeanette Lucas and sophomore Jen Yong Yow.

Over at shortstop, Bodak teams with junior Kelly Pinaha. Both those girls also play third, although the lead starter is senior Stef Flodmand.

South River faced St. Peter's of New Brunswick yesterday and meets New Brunswick today, with tomorrow bringing a match with Highland Park.

"I'd like to sweep the week," said Corvino. "Next week we have Monroe, the best in the Blue Division, plus Mother Seton and Dunellen. Certainly we hope we'll make the states, which shouldn't be a problem."

At 9-7, the Rams find themselves trailing Monroe and Middlesex in Blue Division play. And with games remaining with both teams on their schedule, South River has a good shot at making a run at the division title. They'll need some help though, mainly in the form of some Monroe losses.

The Lady Falcons, led by Jackie Scarpari, who is among the GMC's leaders in batting average and just about every pitching category, have been stellar to date, winning all of their divisional games thus far.

The Rams will get their shot at knocking off Monroe next Wednesday.

Alyssa Cantoni placed 11th on vault, fourth on bars, fourth on floor, third on beam and second all-around.

The Old Bridge Predators under-8 travel soccer team won their first game of the season, 3-0 over the Freehold Gold. The Predators' goals were scored by Tyler Vasquez and Brandon Allen. The rest of the team is Taylor Annato, Michael Bunis, Robert Casari, Marcus Colin, Zachary Einwechter, Aaron Hart, Gregory Kaye, Kevin McCartney, Patrick O'Donnell, Jake Ptakiwicz and Nicholas Villani. The Predators are coached by Rob Vasquez and Glen Kaye.

Erin Muirhead, a junior at South River High School, competed in the Region 7 Gymnasts Championships last weekend against the top gymnasts from seven states. Muirhead took seventh in the all-around, qualifying her to go to the national championships in Oregon May 11-13. Muirhead is now considered to be one of the top gymnasts in the nation.

Coldwell Banker's Sabrina Kober achieves Million Dollar Club again

Sabrina Kober of Coldwell Banker's South Brunswick office has been in real estate since 1995. She achieved the Bronze Level of the NJAR Million Dollar Club from 1995 through 1998, then the Silver Level status in 1999 and again in 2000. Her accomplishments mean even more to her personally as a self-supporting single mother with two boys.

"It's not easy balancing a full-time career with being a mom, but Sabrina does great at both. She has a successful career and two wonderful sons," commented Lou Redbord, manager of the South Brunswick office of Coldwell Banker.

Sabrina was named No. 1 in Listings, Listings Sold and Total Volume for 2000 in the South Brunswick office. She was invited by Coldwell Banker to attend the company's annual International Business Conference held in Tampa, Fla., this year.

"I've been to five IBC meetings and I feel that this year's was the best," Sabrina said.

"Excellent organized and presented, it offered me the opportunity to network with other sales associates from Coldwell Banker offices all over the United States. We shared business building and selling strategies with other agents and discussed the real estate markets statewide. It was a wonderful experience," she continued.

A resident of Dayton, Sabrina is very active in that area, particularly in the schools where her boys attend.

"Because I am as involved, I do a lot of business in Dayton, but I also work within most other towns in Mercer, Somerset and Middlesex counties," she said.

Providing real-estate expertise throughout Middlesex County, the South Brunswick/Franklin Coldwell Banker sales team conducts extensive business in residential resales, new construction sales, land, commercial and industrial sales. For specific information on properties in these areas, call Sabrina Kober at (732) 297-7171.

Prayer to St. Jude

Oh St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near Kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg of you to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. This Novena must be said for 9 consecutive days.

Thanks L.M.F.
