Two other homes on Sweetbrier avenue, owned by Frank Lylo and Carmen Pizzi were severely scorched by the heat from the fire which also ignited almost a score of utility poles sending telephone and high wires crashing into the streets. THREE FROM AREA FINED AT SESSION OF MATAWAN COURT

Three local residents were fined on motor vehicle violations charges when arraigned in Matawan municipal court before Magistrate James H. Martin Saturday night.

Morris Joseph Levin of 587 Greenwood Ave., Laurence Harbor, paid a fine of $10 and $3 court costs for failure to get a New Jersey driver's license and registration for his car. Levin, the evidence showed, came to New Jersey from Rhode Island a year and a half ago to work on the Garden State Parkway, and was still using Rhode Island markers and driver's license. He also failed to have his vehicle, which he uses for business purposes, inspected. When he first came to New Jersey he resided in Matawan, then moved to Keyport, and is now residing in Laurence Harbor. He was apprehended by the Matawan police while driving on Main St., Matawan.

Mary F. Stiles of Van Brackle Rd., Keyport, charged with careless driving at Church and Broad Sts., and causing an accident, paid a fine of $10 and costs of $3.

Jasper Harris, of 21 Beers St., Keyport, arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge, paid a fine of $10 and $5 costs.

LOW COST RADAR SYSTEM PRESENTED BY LAVOIE LABS

A new, low cost, marine radar system, has been developed at the Lavoie Laboratories, Morganville, and will be available for boat owners in the near future, Stephen Lavoie, president, announced.

The system is small, lightweight, and compact, and functions as a search and navigational aid from a radius of 20 yards to 16 miles. It will enable small boat operators to "see" thru fog.

The feature expected to appeal most to boatmen, is the low price of the system, nicknamed the "bat" at the laboratories. It will cost about as much as a good automobile, the makers say. Another point of strong appeal is its weight and size. It weighs about 150 pounds. The antenna is less than four feet wide, and only two feet high. The receiver-transmitter case stands 30 inches high, is 17½ inches wide, and only ten inches deep, and the screen, which may be installed near the boat's wheel is 18 inches wide, 14 inches high, and 12½ inches deep. It may be mounted on a pedestal or bolted to a flat surface.

The antenna reflector sweeps a circle around the boat on which it is placed—much as an airplane light beacon rotates, making about 14 revolutions per minute. Any objects struck by the ultra-high frequency radio impulses being beamed out by the reflector, bounce back and are seen on the screen.

The system is sensitive enough to pick up metal channel or obstruction buoys, spars, other craft, fishing weirs, or the wake of another boat. The operator can change the range of the set to examine a smaller radius, or set a course line on a target.

Another pleasing feature of the "bat," its makers say, is that it may be installed in a few hours and is easily serviced.

BYSTANDER, FIRST AID SQUAD SAVE LIFE OF INFANT

An unidentified rescuer and the prompt action of the Keansburg First Aid Squad was credited by police Wednesday night with saving the life of Francis Boyle, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Boyle, 504 Third street, East Newark.

The tot who had wandered off from his family on the beach at the foot of Beaconlight avenue apparently fell into the waters from a small jetty. He was found floating face down in the bay by an unidentified passerby. The first aid squad, called to the scene applied artificial respiration and rushed the youth to the offices of Dr. Ralph E. Berman, 141 Main street for emergency treatment and then to Monmouth Memorial Hospital, Long Branch.

On route the child had to be resuscitated when squad members could not detect a heart beat. The child was treated for submersion at the hospital and released.

The Boyles were staying at a summer cottage at 96 Lakewood avenue, Keansburg, less than two blocks from the beach.

SEES DEMOCRATIC ELECTION VICTORY IN MONMOUTH

The influx of new residents into Monmouth County could turn the political tide to the Democratic side in November's general election, the Regular Democratic Club of Raritan Township was told at an organization meeting in North Centerville.

Vincent P. Keuper, county Democratic chairman, told the club that a majority of the new residents seem to be Democrats and therefore a new political picture may be being drawn. He urged that every effort be made to register all those eligible.

Mr. Keuper installed the club officers for the coming year. They are: Patrick McDonough, president; Mrs. Evelyn Rowse, vice president; Miss Ann Carney, recording secretary; Mrs. Marion E. Leon, financial secretary and treasurer.

A. A. Auer, Keansburg, a past president of the county Democratic Club, also spoke.

The next meeting was set for July 27 at the North Centerville firehouse.

Moral courage is requisite to meet the wrong and to proclaim the right.—Mary Baker Eddy.

AREA WOMAN HURT IN 3-CAR AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Lois Trew, 32, of 78 Compton avenue, West Keansburg, was admitted to Perth Amboy General Hospital with possible spinal injuries after her car was struck by another while halted for a traffic light in front of the Pirate Ship, Route 35.

Police said the second auto driven by Walter Hamm Jr., 36, of 135 Prospect avenue, Asbury Park, was following too closely and could not stop in time. The impact drove the Trew car into the rear of one operated by Chris Christensen, 48, of 27 Meinzer street, Avenel, also halted at the intersection.

Both the Hamm and Trew vehicles had to be towed from the scene.

TWO FROM AREA HURT AS CARS COLLIDE HERE

Both Alfred Koch, 30, of 360 Highway 35, Laurence Harbor, and Vincent J. Schmidt, 26, of 615 Union Ave., Union Beach, were treated at Perth Amboy General Hospital, Sunday morning after the hospital and said he would the cars they were driving collided

FOOD FOR FATHER

A survey and study of the eating habits of more than 600 industrial workers in the New Brunswick area, headed by Rutgers University biochemists, revealed that dad isn't getting enough calcium, that he's generally low in vitamin C, probably overweight and usually consumes too many candy bars and sweetened beverages. Rutgers graduate student Wilfred D. B. Hamilton demonstrates what the breadwinner should eat for lunch if he wants to stay healthy and on the job—milk, carrot sticks, fruit and other foods rich in vitamins and minerals.

HOLMDEL HEARS FINANCE REPORT FROM AUDITOR

The reading of an estimated cost for the new road improvement program and the auditor's report highlighted the meeting of the Holmdel Township Committee.

Otis R. Seaman, township engineer, told the committee that the proposed road program will cost $50,541. The highest expense is on repair of the Crawfords Corner Road, between Dwight Road and Holmdel-Keyport Road, which will cost $27,181.

Other roads slated for repair under the year's program are Roberts, Hillcrest, Red Hill and Schank Roads and Beers street. In addition, George M. Brewster and Son, contractors, have agreed to rebuild a portion of Beers street that was used to haul dirt in Garden State Parkway construction, it was reported.

The report on the 1953 audit, read by Joseph J. Seaman, auditor, showed 89 percent collection for the year. Collection of $92,000 on a levy of $103,000 was called a "very good" average by Mr. Seaman.

The schools have been paid all monies they were to receive and the township owes no county tax, he said. The township holds 13 tax title liens, it was noted.

The engineer told the committee that the parkway engineers had agreed to "take care of the water drainage on Holland and Hillcrest roads near the school."

BEACHES FILLED HERE YESTERDAY

Miss Barbara Ann Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hunt, Weldon Rd., Matawan, became the bride of Alan B. Clark, Medina, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Clark, Saturday evening, at the First Presbyterian Church, Matawan.

The Rev. Chester A. Galloway performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioluses, palms and ferns. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Celia Magee, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Alençon lace over satin, made with a full skirt ending in a cathedral train. The bodice was designed with a scalloped lace bertha collar. She wore a Juliet cap of lace over satin, outlined in seed pearls, attached to a three-tiered French illusion veil. She also had on a cameo brooch which belonged to her paternal great-grandmothers. Her bouquet consisted of carnations, stephanotis, and gypsophyllia.

Miss Barbara Jane Slaybaugh, Ardsley, N. Y., was maid of honor. She was dressed in a waltz-length gown of aquamarine Stehli silk and rice paper taffeta with pointed collar ending in a bow in back. She wore a headpiece of forget-me-nots and carried a pink colonial bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Marie Pengel, Matawan, and Miss Ann C. Tichenor, New Monmouth. Their attire was styled similarly to that worn by the maid of honor.

Mary Monroe Hallock, Medina, served as best man. Ushers included Finn Dietricks, Media, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Charles E. Heil, Baltimore; Howard C. Ward, Jr., Schenectady; and Louis Roemer, Red Bank.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Molly Pitcher Hotel, Red Bank. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hunt chose a gown of aqua Chantilly lace with matching jacket and accessories. The mother of the bridegroom selected a pink Chantilly lace gown with matching accessories. Both wore carnation corsages.

For a wedding trip to Canada and the New England States, the bride wore a navy blue shantung suit with matching accessories and white orchid corsage. After their return, the couple will reside in Medina.

Mrs. Clark is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. For the past year, she has been on the teaching staff of the Red Bank public schools.

Also a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, Mr. Clark is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. During World War 2, he served for three years in the Navy. At present, he is associated with Lance and Company, Inc., Medina.

In the Lightning Class Charles Allaire of the Monmouth Club was first, June Methot of the same club was second, Barbara Bull of the same club was third and Irv Lewis was fourth.

MATAWAN WINS OVER CLIFFWOOD BY 8-0 COUNT

The Matawan AA stormed into undisputed possession of fourth place in the Jersey Shore baseball league Sunday downing the CYO of Cliffwood 8-0 behind the sparkling five-hit twirling of Don Marvel. Matawan, with six wins in nine scuffles, is only a half-game behind the trio of teams tied for the loop leadership.

Altho Marvel was touched for five hits and his mates collected only three safeties, a home run by Bob Knapp and a pair of doubles by Paul Zambito were all that Matawan needed to stop Cliffwood.

After taking a 1-0 lead in the fourth, Matawan capitalized in walks to Bob McGowan, Marvel, and Carmen Davino, an error on Knapp's grounder, and a double by Zambito to score four runs.

In the seventh frame Frank Fleming was safe on an error, Carmen Davino walked, and Knapp unloaded his homer to give Matawan three more runs and the ball game.

Jim Cuaco went the route for Cliffwood giving up five walks and fanning three. Marvel struck out four and had perfect control.

Who's the better center fielder—Willie Mays or Duke Snider?

That's the question raised by The Sporting News this week, and then answered in two ways. One writer favors the Dodgers' Duke, the other the Giants' Willie. After looking over their claims, you'll have to decide for yourself.

Sports Writer Roscoe McGowen, writing from Brooklyn, of course strings along with the Duke. Comparing Willie with Snyder, he says, is probably the greatest compliment that can be paid the young and sensational Negro. From the other side of the picture, Joe King writes that Snider is one of the outstanding players in the National League but—Willie Mays is "one of a kind."

So there you have it. Let's look into both sides, one at a time, as presented by McGowen and King.

Just before the Dodgers and Giants tangled for their recent series, says McGowen, Snider was leading the National League in the averages, hitting .368. With 63 runs batted in, he was second only to Musial. He had hit safely 98 times, and his output included 22 doubles, five triples and 19 home runs. But, McGowen goes on, statistics can't reveal the true measure of the man. A box score may show how many putouts he had, but doesn't reveal what kind of catches he made. Twenty-five years ago, says McGowen, center fielder, Earl Clark of Boston caught 12 fly balls against the Dodgers for a mark that still stands. But the entire dozen, as McGowen looks at it, wasn't worth the single catch Snider made high against the wall in Philadelphia, May 31. It saved the game for the Dodgers, as the final out. The game was the third in a winning streak that went to ten before it was broken.

Now, what does King say for Mays? He says Willie makes dramatic, fantastic plays, and makes it appear as if baseball were waiting all these years for him to catch up with it. He comes up in the clutch spot—and delivers—day after day. Or he makes a terrific catch or throw to save a laboring pitcher. You forget statistics when you talk about Mays, says King, because it would be impossible to value his feats in terms of winning games. He has color and showmanship. And it isn't bad at all to rush into the home run lead with 24 in 66 games. Willie did. King brings up two recent plays. With one out in the ninth against the Braves, Willie hit to right to tie the score, and daringly dashed to second base, although most runners would not risk an out under the circumstances. Willie made it. He always does. And the Giants won. Against the Cubs, with the score tied in the tenth, Willie opened with a hit off the shortstop's glove and ran madly to second. He made it. Then, when a sacrifice failed, he stole third. And scored to win.

King says Willie has turned the Giants from sad trailers into raging fire-eaters. He did it with pure class. And remember, says King, that Willie is just a baseball baby, with only one full season in

JOCKEY RACE AT MONMOUTH PARK KEENLY CONTESTED

New Jerseyans may just as well get used to Jockey Sammy Boulmetis at Monmouth Park race track. The little 105-pounder from Baltimore is making a big impression on his "adopted" state.

Sammy, the leading rider last year with 51 winners, displaced native Jerseyite Jimmy Stout this week as high man in the jockey standings with 15 winners in the first three weeks of action at the seaside track.

Boulmetis nosed Stout for the title last year and in 1949 also ran first ahead of Jimmy, though the latter has won the Monmouth riding crown three times.

As if twice being the top jockey at Monmouth had not put his mark on New Jersey, the 27-year old son of a Greek tailor currently is attacking on another front, looking forward to the day when he can no longer ride.

Boulmetis has purchased a 101-acre farm near Merchantville which he promptly labeled "Camp Boulmetis." It has 36 stalls where he boards horses that are out of training and he also is beginning to make his mark in cattle raising.

There is no reason, however, to believe that Sammy is soon headed for the life of a country squire. He was the leading rider at Hialeah in Florida last winter and came north to capture the crown at Garden State before moving over to Monmouth.

the majors before he came back from the Army this year.

And there you have it. Duke Snider or Willie Mays. Which is it?

Kidzus, past commander of Guadalcanal Post No. 1745, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Matawan and Cliffwood, has requested the council to reconsider the purchase of the Hamilton tract situated on the lake.

Said Kidzus, "the lakes are private without even a public approach for the use of citizens and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and 200 other citizens and property owners by their signatures have stated that it is about time the borough officials took some interest in the welfare and recreation of the children of the municipality.
