VICTORY FOR GRANT.

Police Board Unanimously Re-appoint Him Captain.

IT WAS DONE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Captain Grant had not been told till a Daily Press Reporter contacted him—Council had not yet decided.

In light of the repeated malicious and unwarranted attacks of the so-called Republican organ, George W. Grant was on Saturday night reappointed Captain of Police for the year, at a salary as before of $19 a month.

The appointment was unanimous. When a reporter of The Daily Press called on Mayor Gilbert this morning about the matter, the Mayor replied that if a reappointment had not been reported to the Council at the meeting of last night.

Captain Grant had not heard of the news till this Friday and congratulated him. He was appreciative of the victory he has won over his enemies, and said he would devote all his energies to the protection of property and the enforcement of the city ordinances, as he had.

He will be heartily supported by a most efficient corps of experienced officers.

Our Club to Meet.

The Independent Club of this city and North Plainfield held a special meeting in the Concord Hotel last evening and decided to build a club-house on their grounds near the Rockaway station. The plans are now being drawn, and the club will soon come into being. The building will be a two-story structure, and will be a large place for the club members to meet.

Plainfield Well Represented.

Stevens Institute of Technology of Hoboken has just issued a new catalogue. Plainfield is represented at the Institute proper by W. B. Rittenhouse and Warren Church. The list of students in the Stevens Institute Preparatory school was W. E. Phillips, Alfred Lewis, and W. E. Phillips. The various courses have been greatly changed, and a number of improvements made.

DR. LEWIS BRINGS TEARS

His Speech Made Senator Bradley Cry.

IT WAS A COLD-WATER ORATION.

The Plainfield Pastor Presents the Most Impressive of the Local Opinion Addressed Before the Legislative Committee.

From The Press of Feb. 20.

Including Revs. Hays, Lewis, Richards, McKelvey, York, Herriot, Schenck, Newell and Goodrich, all of Plainfield, over two hundred ministers and representatives of church and business organizations appeared before the Senate Committee on Boroughs yesterday in favor of Senator Rogers's local-option bill.

Rev. Albert Lawson, president of the New Jersey Anti-Liquor League, made an address and introduced other speakers, among whom was Dr. Bradley. The crowd of the whole talk was that the bill only gave to boroughs the right of local option, and many were of the opinion that some local option, that it was a bill to be killed, and the Republican party would be wiped out of power as the Democratic party had been because it had not headed the vote of the people when they opposed the passage of the bill.

Not a single saloon keeper appeared before the committee at the public hearing on the bill today, but in answer to Senator Bradley's courteous invitation the house committee was filled with ministers and temperance men from all over the State. Senator Daly, who was called for by one of the ministers, spoke in opposition to the bill, during his confidence in the judges of the courts, who at present pass upon liquor.

The Rev. Dr. Lewis of Plainfield made the speech of the day. "We know," he said, "that the word has gone forth from the house that the bill is to be killed. We have been told that it is no use in our protesting, as the Republicans are not willing to do anything to injure their prospects of electing a Republican Governor."

He had voted for every Republican candidate, he said, since the martyred Lincoln, but he warned the Republicans that the people were watching them this year as never before, and if they were doing their rights the party would pay dearly for it.

Dr. Lewis's words so impressed Chairman Bradley as to draw tears from the Senator's eyes.

The Trenton Times refers as follows to the matter:

"One of the most impressive speeches was by Rev. Dr. Lewis, pastor of a Plainfield Baptist Church. He was tall, with white hair and flowing white whiskers, and gave his address with dignified appearance. He spoke with much emotion and said this was a fight for American liberty and was the echo of the fight the people made several hundred years ago when they won their independence from King George. He said that he had been advised by one of the ring that the bill would never pass. Bradley had no following and the Republicans were not going to do anything that would give him credit for being a Governor. He said he had voted for every Republican President since the martyred Lincoln, but he warned the Republicans that the people of New Jersey were watching them, and if they did not take that liberty for which our fathers fought they would pay dearly for it. Senator Bradley was so affected by the address of Dr. Lewis that tears coursed down his cheek, causing him to draw his handkerchief. When he got up to introduce the next speaker he was so choked up that his voice was hardly audible.

"Senator Daly spoke against the bill. He thought the courts were the proper place for granting licenses, and he said he was opposed to the principle of local option, and believed that the majority had some right."

Husband and Wife in the Same Grave.

Monday afternoon a double funeral occurred at Forest Grove. In the funeral home the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Pack were placed in the same grave. Mr. Pack died on Wednesday, and his wife was so prostrated by the shock of his demise that she fell rapidly in health, and died on Friday. They were cousins of the Rev. Dr. Lewis, whose son, Edwin W., attended the funeral.

A Fair Disposition.

La Grippe is confounded by many persons with a severe attack of fever, which in some respects resembles the former. These individuals, however, are not interested in the forecast, eyes and ears, with weakness in throat and suppuration of the nasal passages, and are interested in the fact of being kind for days at a time. There are external sufferers. Ely's Cream Balm has been used, and the remedy will give instant relief.

OFF THE TRACK.

Obstacles Heaped Before the Local Trolley Traction.

CITIZENS WITHHOLD CONSENTS.

Company Working Hard to Get the Right of Way for the Extension to the Central Station—Amateur Council Meeting Last Week—Polemics Confirmed—Liquor Ordinance Amended—Other Business.

The proposed trolley track was shifted off the track by the New Italian band of the old-time obstructionists last Monday, and the Omnium Council had to wait the arrival of the wrestling-train conductor W. Riker. Mr. Riker was expected to be on hand to superintend the progress of the street-railway extension franchise through the Council; but before the session Chairman Fisk of the Committee on Street Railways, a telegram, which he read to the Council, stated that body had convened, stating that because of obstacle property-owners near the North Avenue station it would be impossible to present the matter before the Council that night.

"We expended," said Mr. Fisk—"to be able to offer the ordinance granting the extension for which the company and community have been waiting; but we are of opinion that we have not the consent of the citizens in getting ourselves."

On motion of Mr. Fisk it was decided to meet again Monday night, Feb. 25, at 8 o'clock, when not only the street-railway but also several other matters would be ready for consideration.

To a reporter of The Daily Press, after the meeting, Mr. Fisk said that the trouble on the street-railway extension was chiefly from Fifth street people, and partly from those on Sixth street as well. Of course, he added, the company can get from Melrosewood to the North Avenue station by way of Richmond street, but it would be to avoid going around Rockwood's barn, and will make every effort to get through Fifth street. The obstruction to the West End extension is that it takes them far from impossible to get connects enabling the line to get a clear way to the North Avenue station. The company wants to complete the extension at the start, bringing all cars to the central station, and it is not possible to overcome the obstacles which have been set up before it. I hope that all will be ready next week Monday."

THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

An important ordinance was introduced by Mr. Moore. It provided for the amendment of the liquor laws, and the committee on the subject of the license was not here to get the signature of the owner of the building in a case where the applicant was a tenant under a 10-years lease. It said lease had been secured with the company's full knowledge, and the tenant was to conduct a liquor business on the premises.

The ordinance was as petitioned for at a previous session by Alexander D. Findley, who represented that Mr. Findley, who had declined to sign the ordinance this year although Rock had agreed at the signing of his 10-years lease a few seasons before that he might conduct a liquor business on the property of the lease.

Mr. Dumont thought that it was unwise to attempt to amend the liquor ordinance while several other applications for licenses were pending.

"This," he said, "is an effort to assist a man to carry out a contract—which I do not approve."

On motion of Mr. Findley the ordinance was tabled. Mr. Findley's application was taken up with Mr. Rock, whose nature attached, since his petition to the Council for the amendment.

POLICEMEN CONTINUED.

The Police Board reported that the council of the Mayor of Hoboken, Mayor and John Hartman for regular policemen and Martin Vandeweyer for special policemen had been investigated and approved. They therefore moved that the committee be confirmed, and the board was unanimously done.

Henry Haurand applied for a license to sell liquor at 115 East Front street. The application was referred to the Committee on Licenses.

An application for an electric light on Arlington avenue between 300 and 400 feet beyond Ninth street, was referred to the Committee on Police and Public Light.

Mr. Erickson said that a number of reports and papers had been submitted to the Council of '94 to the City Clerk for transfer to the Council of '95, and added "I'd like to know where they are." He then asked Clerk MacFarland, and went down to get them. When he came back he had packages for several of the committees, and they were distributed.

SOLDING THE TROLLEY.

The interests of the Board against the passage of the electric railway through Arlington avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets, past the Summit and the Franklin schools, of which those columns have already spoken, was referred to the Committee on Streets. The document urged that the sale of the cars would interfere with the studies in the schools, and that there would be danger to the children attending the schools and using the avenue where the cars passed.

Accounts were ordered settled, minutes of the previous session were approved, and all the Committee went home except Messrs. Riker, Frost and Stockton, who were not at the meeting.

HOMES OF ALL NATIONS.

Two World's Widens Visit America in the Seventy-Fourth Baptist Church.

The next tableaux represented all the different nations as having come to America and joined with the American people. Violet Truitt represented Liberty, and in the same song "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

There was a large attendance, and all expressed themselves much pleased.

TO SELL MUSIC HALL.

Stockholders Vote to Dissolve the Corporation.

A meeting of the stockholders of Music Hall Association was held Monday afternoon at which 570 out of 800 shares were represented. Very little business was done, except to turn a white elephant on the hands of its owners, and at this meeting it was decided to dispose of the property and dissolve the Association. The vote on this proposition was unanimous. It will be some weeks, however, before this can be consummated, owing to the necessity of complying with corporate laws relative thereto. HOME FOR HOMELESS.

Noble Work of the Woman's Temperance Aid.

EFFORTS TO BROADEN THE WORK.

President Mrs. Olympe Hervey the Splendid Career of the Society and Points Out Future Goals.

To the EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS: Most beloved in The Daily Press relative to opening the game and reading rooms in Reform Hall indicates a renewed local need, so that a statement of recent results may interest the people.

Last Summer, when it became evident that the doors of the building we had helped to buy and keep open for ten years were likely to close, our Aid Society faced a serious problem.

Those that have labored with us know that we have found an aid in many homes during seasons of trial and discouragement. We have done what we could always, quietly and patiently, confident that the time must come when temperance work would quicken and revive. We have kept our credit unimpaired, by prompt payment of our moderate bills, while we have carefully avoided soliciting from the public for our current needs, except for the Manual. This volume we have received occasional small donations from personal friends for some special need. Our annual dues are thirty cents, and from the regular collections at the meetings we have been able to add to the fund of the treasurer when the Fall opened. It needed both faith and courage to meet a new venture of such magnitude with our small resources, but after deliberate and careful study we agreed to take the risk of building for one year from Nov. 1, at a moderate rental. The club are to have their regular meetings free of any expense whatever. We are to make all repairs, provide heat, light and fuel, besides supplying a new steam boiler to supply the old one now lying up in the boiler pit.

We have paid six months rent in advance, although it was not stipulated or required, and the entire building has had a thorough cleaning. The dressing room has had two coats of white paint, the stairs cleaned. Next spring curtains have been made and hung at doors and windows.

Looks and catches have been added. Rusty stovepipes have been replaced, and one new stove bought. Double doors have been placed in the front entrance, a narrow entrance to the boiler room, so that the woman boiler can sometimes be removed, just as soon as we see our way clear to pay for it in full and not on account of the boiler.

Two new steel grates have been put up, and the roof, chimneys and leaders have been repaired or replaced. Windows have been repaired or replaced, and other details have required necessary attention.

Our meeting have grown in numbers and interest. Visits have been paid to the homes of the women who have been helped, and they represent every State and Territory in the Union. Besides this, copies have been subscribed for and are being sent to the following: Hungary, Belgium, England, France, Germany, Ireland and Scotland.

The total amount of labor connected with getting out the work at the home is said to have cost about five hundred dollars. The work of the different writers employed has been slightly less.

Bible Study by W. D. Murray. Thursday afternoon at 4:30 W. D. Murray will deliver in the Assembly Hall on the Y. M. C. A. Building the same talk on Bible study that he made at the convention last Sunday afternoon. The subject is "Study of the Bible as Literature," illustrated by the song of songs. The meeting will be open to women and the Parks sisters will assist in furnishing music.

Coming Camera Club Events.

The Camera Club expects to hold a special meeting in a few days, at which a set of interchangeable slides from the Delaware Camera Club of Wilmington will be displayed. On Saturday evening the club will illustrate the lecture of Rev. T. Logan McPherson on "Gleanings" in Holy Cross Church.

A Doe Mother woman who has been troubled with frequent colds, contracted to try a old remedy in a new way, and accordingly took a tablespoonful (four times the usual dose) of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy just before going to bed. The next morning she awoke with her cold had almost entirely disappeared. During the day she took a few doses of the remedy (one teaspoonful at a time) and at night again took a tablespoonful before going to bed. On the following morning she awoke free from all symptoms of the cold, and she has since had no more colds. She has since used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the same way, and with the same good results, and she is now a true believer in the value of a way of curing a cold. Now a few words in relation to the future. We have seen the experience of membership in societies, where they need a warm, cheerful place of assembly beyond all doubt. Not long ago a friend returning from prayer meeting told 71 young men that a Free Street school in New York City had not only, these he passed on with a heavy heart.
