JUNGLE SAM KIND TO THEM

A PLAINFIELD ORPHAN AND A

WIDOW GRANTED PENSIONS.
The Claims Were Presented and Solicited by Lawyer W. A. Coddington—Much Pay Received by Both of the Parties.
Two pensions have been granted by the Commissioner of Pensions, at Washington, to Plainfield people, and in both cases through the agency of ex-Judge W. A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington. The first was the case of Jennie Squires, of Netherwood avenue, minor child of the late David C. Squires, who fought in the United States Army during the Civil War.

About two years ago the mother of the child consulted ex-Judge Coddington in reference to her claim, as she stated, that she had a legal claim on the child's estate. She was entitled to draw a pension until she was sixteen years old. ex-Judge Coddington advised her to take the necessary steps to protect the claim, and the pension for the back pay was received, amounting to nearly $1,000, and she was to receive a monthly pension of $15.

About the same time that ex-Judge Coddington took steps to secure this pension for the child, the late William Northrup, widow of the late William R. Northrup, and last week her pension was allowed and she received the same. She is now a widow, and her husband's death will receive a monthly pension hereafter.

Both of these cases required a great deal of investigation, and the result was lots of testimony taken and great

To Washington, which, of course, required time.

About five years ago, ex Judge Coffey was appointed a solicitor and attorney in the Federal courts at Washington, D. C., and during that time he has conducted several very important cases and in every instance has been successful.

H'E'S FOR FREE PIG IRON.

A. F. Hall Teils McKimley How to Build on Bryan's Logic

Major McKimley was interested the other morning in a letter from a Decatur man who had written him as follows:

"I am a native of Atlanta, who is a pig iron man, but do not want any half-way measures. He says:

I accept the arguments of the advocates of free pig iron, and I will give it if it goes, but I do not go far enough."

The writer then asks the question "What is pig iron at a price of $10 per ton?" and then answers:

"I would like to see the man who would threaten that such a policy on our part would give the honest dealer a chance to pay more than the dishonest dealer."

The writer proves by liberal quotations from Bryan and Senator Jones and Stewart that the free coinage of pig iron and the stamp of the Government would make his bullion value less than the value of the gold it is proved by the same authorities that

There need be no fear of a contraction of the currency, for if gold and silver should be driven out by the baser metal, there is plenty of pig iron to take their place, and so to give the people plenty of money.

He declares that wages would be compelled to rise, because no man would be fool enough to work for $1 a day who could make $1,000 a day by picking up rusty nails and old horseshoes and taking them to the mint for gold.

Major McKinley was much amused by the letter, and thinks it is one of the happiest hits evolved by the present situation.

An Enemy of the Maple.
A small white beetle or bug has appeared on the maple trees in the vicinity of Franklin place and East Sixth street and is apparently killing the trees which it infests. When small it is white, but turns to a brown as it grows to almost half an inch in length. Several of the trees are covered with the small insects while the under side of the leaves are white with its eggs. It apparently attacks

The leaf stem where it joins the branch, eating it away.

The Fast Tact Doctor
frequently advice change of air and eliminate the sufferer from untaken rest. But the doctor cannot cure a consumptive disease, and not a constitutional affection. Therefore, unless the sufferer can afford to leave his business, you can lead him the ready way in the treatment of his complaint. To get to the seat of the disease, it effects instant relief and a satisfactory cure. It is a safe, pleasant, and non-injurious remedy. No injurious drug is contained in the Balm. 50 cents. All druggists.

Ell Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles for many years, and through my own care incurable. DeWitt's Witch-Hazel Salve was recommended to me, and I used it for a few days, and it has performed a permanent cure." This is only one of the many cures effected by the Balm.

Scabies, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. Randolph, 183 Front Street.

The Constitutional.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

PUBLISHED AT PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms—$2.00 per year.

A. L. Force, Editor and Proprietor

Abuse and ridicule will neither make or break a Presidential candidate.

During the past year the exports have been $100,000,000 more than the imports.

The Somerville Messenger is for the nomination of David Bennett Hill for President in 1906.

Ex-Vice Chancellor Bird is strongly in favor of a third ticket for the gold standard Democrats.

The talk of a public building in this city has long needed. It is what Plainfield is being revived.

Furnishing a free lunch to the police forces at a cost to the city of $900 a year is not an economical administration of city affairs.

The Daily Press holds a sum of money for the Fresh Air Camp which the treasurer of the King's Daughters can procure by calling at the business office.

The commission created by Governor Griggs to inquire into the question of the export taxation of railroad and canal property began work in Jersey City yesterday.

The Populist convention will meet in St. Louis next Wednesday. There will be considerable of a contest as to nominating a distinctive ticket or endorsing Bryan and Sewall.

It is probable that Dr. Whelan, who has been acting as deputy under the President's physician, of Elizabeth, will be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the latter.

Continuing on the same principle of government that animates the Common Council to provide a night lunch to the police, it is as much their duty to provide the firemen their three meals a day.

At the convention of the State Republican League of Clubs at Asbury Park yesterday the secretary's report showed that the organization had 62,367 members, an increase of 39,000 over last year.

The Summit Herald, which was carried recently by Edward W. Gray from the estate of Dr. David M. Smyth, has been sold to John Clift. Mr. Clift was editor and part owner of the Madison Eagle.

Without a sensation in public office, said circles New Brunswick would be less regular than those affairs become a part of her municipal government. Just now it is a police scandal that is attracting attention.

"Enterprising" is the term applied to The Daily Press by the Bound Brook Democrat referring to the fact of this paper in printing papers with a half cent advertisement of Bryan's nomination fifteen minutes after the nomination.

The New York Mercury, which was established as a daily paper in 1892, and has had varying success until it was devoted exclusively to sporting and social news, has been re-rejuvenated as a Democratic free silver paper. The paper will be enlarged.

The proposed bicycle parade and trolley band concert is a unique event in local life and ought to receive the hearty encouragement of every Plainfielder who delights in attractions other than those furnished in the ordinary humdrum of existence. No town in the country is more imbued with bicycle enthusiasm than this city and any affair which has the wheel as a part is assured of success so long as the weather clerk smiles and stays the rain drops.

Heretofore the Press has called attention to the scorching tactics of many bicycle riders on the city streets. It is a dangerous practice and seems to be on the increase among a class of riders who seem possessed with no regard for the safety of other pedestrians or brother riders who pedal calmly at a moderate pace. The police cannot better utilize their time than in the suppression of this sort of bicycling. North avenue seems to be a favorite spot for the reckless rider.

In this Republican citadel, where production has been the political slogan, it will seem odd if there isn't a very prompt against the invasion of an itinerant combination who are to bring a carload of fish from Seabright to the city. The fish will be sold at a price of whatever the demand will warrant. Here we have half a dozen or more established sea food markets in the city, all paying taxes and contributing their share to the city. It is a strange anomaly of government, considered from a G. O. P. standpoint.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION

GEORGE A. CHAPMAN TAKES UP THE SIDE OF GOLD.

He Draws Conclusions That Make It Appear That to Adopt Free Coinage of Silver Would be Bad for All.

The question of the currency which is decided upon in the election in November next, perhaps as vital to the welfare of this Nation as any which have ever come before the people, and, yet I must again every day do not see the dollars they would then receive are now worth but fifty-three cents each.

Next, in degree, to suffer, would be the wage earner, the workman.

A committee of experts appointed by the United States Senate to investigate the subject, reported that during the war when our currency advanced at a heavy discount, wages advanced at a much smaller percentage. Nearly every strike on the latter side of the war was most conspicuously weak. Some of the industrial and commercial specialties all went off abruptly. There were large sales of government bonds yesterday, especially of the latest issue of $100,000,000. There was no material decline in price. At the close of business last evening gold to the amount of $3,000,000 had been purchased by the treasury for the day for shipment, and it was expected that more would be taken.

All the gold will go to the mint, and it is expected that more will be shipped on Thursday. The bears have been actively at work to create an impression that the gold withdrawals indicated an alarming condition of affairs, and that the government would be unable to sell all the free coinage for replenishing the gold reserve.

At the treasury gold reserve stands today at $100,000,000. It is a measure for the day's withdrawals for shipment, the condition of the treasury is not considered serious, or such as warrants the treasury to sell bonds now in order to replenish the gold reserve. J. Pierpont Morgan, when questioned on the subject, said that the government would have no particular difficulty selling bonds at this time for the purpose of replenishing the gold reserve if it wanted to do so. "At what price?" he was asked.

He came from above. "Ah, that is another question," he quickly replied. "It has no added value, but no doubt, however, that they could sell bonds at a fair price now." He added that it is necessary to expedient to talk of an issue of bonds at this time. In continuing to discuss the gold reserve the papers do more to sell all the free coinage for replenishing the gold reserve. If the papers would only stop talking about the condition of the treasury and the gold reserve things would not be so bad. "It takes nothing, any had news, Mr. Morgan, being a people to account for the great depression of the market. The treasury, the conditions, outside of the political question, are all favorable. Crops are good, railroad receipts have increased, and the national sentiment is better." Will know bank officers concurred in the views expressed by Mr. Morgan, and the employees were practically expressed by Henry W. Cannon, president of the Chase National bank and a leading banker.

In reply to the question whether any action was likely to be taken by the treasury to replenish the gold reserve, Mr. Cannon said: "I regret, of course, to see these conditions, but there is no reason for people getting nervous or for timid people to speculate their money out of the treasury. I am not worrying about the condition of the treasury, and I have no cause for people worrying. We have a large range of prices at this time. It is true, but we have an easy money market without any disturbance, and therefore I see no immediate cause for alarm."

The contest will be decided by the accomplishments of the bicyclist, to such an extent that it will bring the brag of the judges to select the one deserving of the honor.

The approaching bicycle parade and trolley band concert, should to attain the success that its novelty merits, be distinguished by some unique feature. It is suggested that the enthusiasm of the cyclists there should be some characteristic element that will attract more attention than the ordinary rider pedaling along in the conventional way. Newspaper Talk About the Decline of the Gold Reserve Largely Responsible for the Present Situation.

New York, July 21.—The stock market continues panic-like, and the pressure to sell has been increased by withdrawals of gold on a large scale. ## WHY $85 IS ENOUGH FOR A BICYCLE.

Considering, first, that our reputation for best-class work is the best of its kind, and that the material used is the best of its kind, and that the facilities for manufacturing are unsurpassed; fourth, that the special features of this bicycle are of great value; and last, that each machine carries with it a strong, honest guarantee—why should it be more than $85?
