IDENTITY ALMOST SURE.

BOY FOUND AT FANWOOD SUSPECTED TO BE A NEW YORK MAN.

He was a Frenchman and disappeared from home here. Thereafter, the boy was found at Fanwood last Sunday afternoon. The mystery that hung over the identity of the dead man that was discovered in the woods near Fanwood last Sunday afternoon is apparently clearing up. The identification may not be far off for a sorrowful daughter visited the morgue this afternoon to see if there was any resemblance to her father, who unaccountably disappeared on the 15th of June last, and circumstances led her to the opinion that she has at last found the object of her search.

A young lady called at the Daily Press office at about 1 o'clock this afternoon and inquired the way to the morgue. She had seen an article in one of the New York papers, she said, about the discovery of a stranger found dead in the woods. Her father had been missing since the 15th day when he started for the Hotel Imperial, where he was wine steward, about 11 o'clock.

She then told something of her story. Her name was Miss Louise Plancon, a Frenchman. He had been engaged in the coal business on Twenty-Seventh street, New York, until last October, when he failed. He felt the failure very much at first but gradually recovered from the effects and accepted the position of wine steward at the Imperial.

He had held a similar position, a number of years ago. There was considerable jealousy on the part of another of the stewards of the hotel when Plancon was given the position and life was not made easy for him. Plancon appeared satisfied, however, when he moved to his home and was content with his troubles to his wife. He had showed no sign before his disappearance of any mental derangement. His daughter was traveling in New York when he disappeared, and when she returned to this country she assisted her mother in the search for the missing man. They visited morgues, hospitals and insane asylums, and advised for him, but without avail. They are living at 122 West Twelfth street. Miss Plancon was directed to the morgue, where Mr. Casey received her.

The unknown man corresponded to Mr. Plancon in size, height, and appearance. The shoes were the same and the suit somewhat similar. The young woman was almost sure that the man was French, and she was sure he carried a sample of the cloth, of which his clothes were made, home to her mother for identification. She will return tonight.

Civilian Physician Westcott arrived in Philadelphia this afternoon with another different clue to the identity of the unknown man. A man named Presley, a German, had started from New York road and Fourth street, Elizabeth, for Broun's Bridge in search of work three weeks ago.

It has always been his custom to write a postal card to his wife telling her of his whereabouts when he went in search of work, but this time she has received no word. Among the other articles found in the dead man's clothes was a postal card.

SUPPORTING SAME POLICY BUT IN DIFFERENT WAYS

REPUBLICANS AND GOLD STANDARD DEMOCRATS LABORING FOR WHAT THEY THINK IS PROPER IN GOVERNMENT.

Republican Campaign Committee Arranges For Two Big Demonstrations This Week.—No Meetings to be Held Next Week.

The Republican campaign committee met last Monday and completed arrangements for the mass meeting to be held in Music Hall on Tuesday, at which time Judge Wilbur A. Mott of Newark and Frank Walker, of Trenton, will make addresses, and also for the meeting to be held on Friday evening at the same hall. Hon. Frank Plumley, of Vermont, and Mr. Greed, of Kansas, will be the speakers. It was decided not to hold any meetings at headquarters this week nor next week owing to the coming of the Legislature. The arrangements were partially made for a mass meeting to be held in Music Hall, Tuesday evening October 20th, Congressional Mass. N. Fowler and Senator Foster M. Voorhees will speak at this meeting. A letter was received from Governor Griggs stating that he could not be present October 15th, but that he would arrange for a future date and notify the committee. Other business of a routine nature was transacted and the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

GOVERNORS' MEMORIAL

HOSPITAL OFFICIALS RECORD GRIEF OVER E. N. ERICKSON'S DEATH.

Second Time in Fifteen Years That One of the Members of the Board Has Died, But the Sense of Sorrow is Acute.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, assembled in special meeting to take action in regard to the death of E. N. Erickson, one of the members of the board, directed that the following memorial be placed upon the minutes and that a copy of the same be duly engrossed and forwarded to his family:

The Board feels greatly blessed in that during the fifteen years of his existence they have had two leaders to lead the way to the members by death, but that after so long an interval the loss of one of our own president, seems to have taken from them the life of both as if official and personal.

Mr. Erickson was the representative of the Board and his loss is a heavy one to the hospital. His death is a great loss to the hospital and his family and his death is a great loss to the hospital and his family.

There were many occasions during his life when he was called upon to give aid and comfort to the hospital. He was a man of great energy and his death is a great loss to the hospital and his family.

At a special meeting of the staff of Muhlenberg Hospital the following resolutions were unanimously passed: Whereas, Death has removed from us E. N. Erickson, one of the members of the board of Muhlenberg Hospital, and his death is a great loss to the hospital and his family.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased.

THE MYSTERY NOT YET SOLVED.

The Dead Man Was Not Identified by Either of the Searchers.

Instead of identification, the mystery that surrounds the dead man found in the woods near Fanwood grows deeper. Yesterday, Miss Louise Plancon was almost sure that it was the body of her father who has been missing since June 15th. But a morning trader named Casey, whose morgue the body lies, received a letter from her stating that she had taken the sample of cloth of his trousers to the tailor who made her father's suit and declared that the material was not the same. Her mother was quite sure that it was not Mr. Plancon for several reasons.

The other clue also proved false. Mr. Presley's son said he had taken the sample of cloth to the morgue yesterday and immediately declared that the stranger was not Mr. Presley as the latter is six feet high and the dead man not over five feet three inches in height.

A naturalist, Miss Anna Miller, of Park avenue, has a night blooming cereus which has certainly made a record. It has bloomed twice. The first time it contained twelve flowers and the second time thirty more. The plant was perfect and the night was beautiful. It is rarely that this plant blooms more than once a year, and this one is probably the only one in Philadelphia that has given such an excellent record.

Palmer and Buckner Here Not Yet Seen.—Undecided, and Probably Will Not.

Through They Head to their Platform.

The meeting of the gold standard Democrats at the Bazaar House last Monday was attended by not less than thirty-eight members.

President Atterbury, in opening the meeting, called for nominations for a county committee. Louis G. Timpon, of the Second ward, Edwin H. VanBuren, of the Third ward, and Thomas H. Keller, of the First ward, were nominated in the order named. Mr. Keller, generally known as Tee Kay, declined to accept the nomination, and upon motion the election of Messrs. Timpon and VanBuren was assented, and the executive committee was empowered to fill vacancies.

President Atterbury then made a short speech, stating in effect that that he was not of the State going for McKinley, and that as it was the intention of the members of the association to form a permanent organization, it was deemed best to hold a meeting the latter part of the month of October to take the nominations of Palmer and Buckner.

Upon his invitation for remarks and opinions, Counselor McClure said that as between Bryan and McKinley he was in doubt, but that he would "go fishing"—but that now all true Democrats could vote a sound-money man. That to preserve the State organization it was really necessary to elect a man who would not be "fished" for.

C. P. Bullman then called attention to the fact that many members had joined the association with the understanding that they might vote for McKinley. It is their judgment it is deemed best, and the present action might prevent new members joining it.

Mr. Bullman then proposed an amendment to the effect that the executive committee be authorized to elect a man who would not be "fished" for. The amendment was accepted by Gen. Sterling and was unanimously adopted by the club.

Following this the question of a hall and funds. Music, Reform and the Y. M. C. A. Hall were in turned canvassed and as there was considerable doubt as regards capacity and cost it was decided to refer the matter to the executive committee.

In regard to the matter of funds, Counselor McClure called attention to the necessity of putting up a banner in the city and saw that nothing could be more appropriate than the American flag, with the names of the candidates below. President Atterbury then appointed Mr. McClure chairman of a finance committee to raise the funds for a hall and for banners, flags etc. with power to nominate two members in each ward of the city.

Owing to Mr. McClure's push and energy in the matter a considerable amount was raised at the meeting before its adjournment.

Mr. McClure has not yet made up the complete list of his nominees. He has, however, a list of probabilities as follows: Mr. Wals will accept from the Second ward and Messrs. Howard Cox and James Clark from the Third ward.

Another Convention for Philadelphia. Philadelphia is to be getting her share of conventions, bicycle races, trotting races and entertainments. But still another convention is scheduled. October 7th and 8th are the dates decided upon for the annual Sunday-school convention of the city.

The annual election of officers in the Sunday-school church will take place next Sunday.

TRIBUTE OF AFFECTION AND ESTEEM.

The Funeral Services of the Late Mrs. The Rev. William H. Tabor.

The relatives and a limited number of friends gathered Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the late Mrs. Dr. Probasco to pay their tribute of affection and respect. Flowers everywhere testified to remembrance and regard. The Rev. Dr. Yerkens in a touching discourse spoke of the ministrations of sorrow as one of the means by which God revealed himself in His love and sympathy to human hearts. He paid a high tribute to the true womanhood of Mrs. Probasco, referring to the time when in her girlhood she had devoted to identify herself with God's people, from which time she had lived a beautiful Christian life, fulfilling the duties of wife, mother and friend with a fidelity as true as the compass to its pole. Dr. Richards offered prayer.

The interment was in Hillside cemetery at the close of the funeral services.

At a future date, Prof. Maxwell Bingham, of Boston, who was so well known at the North Platte Public School on Saturday, will again appear at the same place for an evening entertainment. He will be assisted by a prominent lady soprano who has been in the city for some time.

THE STORM'S HAVOC.

Business Damage Done All Along the Atlantic Coast.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, Sept. 30.—All the telegraph wires as far south as New Orleans, have been rendered useless by the hurricane which swept across this city this morning, the local weather official, E. B. Dunn, was in consequence unable this morning to tell the extent of the damage by the storm.

In Trenton today, he said, was over Michigan, and as it was now moving in a northeasterly direction, later on the hurricane would return and deluge this section again. The storm covered all the lake region, and the winds along the coast and inland as far as the Mississippi valley during the night were blowing from thirty to fifty miles an hour.

The storm which created great havoc along the Southern Atlantic coast. The greatest damage occurred at Savannah. A number of lives were lost and property worth over $100,000 was destroyed. The telegraph wires south of Baltimore were in such bad condition this morning that communication was practically broken off.

PROTECTION AND GOLD.

and how, in reality, it would have the opposite effect. In case of Bryan's election, the gold would all be hoarded and hidden away. It would take the mine nearly fifteen years to coin the enormous hoard to take the place of the precious metal. He gave statistics and figures to prove his statement.

"Do you think they will carry the House and Senate? Never, while there are any patriotic Democrats as there are today!" was the way he started a fresh burst of eloquence, in which he made an appeal to his hearers to support McKinley and Hobart and defend the gold standard, he stated, is exciting the masses and trying to array class against class. The capitalist, he declared, was not an enemy of labor but a necessity, as without capital there would be no employment for the workmen.

Another result that he predicted would follow Bryan's election was the reducing by one-half of the value of the deposits in the savings banks, and thereby the wealthy, women, boys and girls would have to suffer as most of their savings were kept there. The building loan associations, which also contain money of many a poor workman, would be ruined, he said, so he said, and their savings reduced by one-half. Pensioners would be affected similarly, he predicted, and a large number of the old soldiers, who were payable in gold instead of either gold or silver, would be ruined.

For the information of his hearers he stated that it was not necessary to reject the gold dollar and to issue a new free silver, but that the President could compel the mints to open their doors for the unlimited coinage of silver.

The action dollar and its present value was again rejuvenated as an example, while Japan and China were given as examples of free silver countries.

The speaker then left the financial question and reverted to the tariff and laid the present financial depression to the Wilson bill. In contrast he suggested the good times between 1891 and '92 when the Republicans were in power. The present tariff, he said, did not yield sufficient revenue to support the government.

He then told something of his own experience as a labor representative before the Senate. He said that the best champion labor has ever had, so he said. He closed his remarks with another appeal to the voters.

Chairman McInnes followed a motion for adjournment, with an announcement that Judge William B. Mott was indisposed and that Willam B. Sutherland, of Newark, would speak. Mr. Sutherland did not preface his speech with the usual eloquent nothing but he spoke with respect and respect at once. He said he was not going to indulge in statistics and theories but stick to plain facts. He was of the opinion that the tariff question was one of personal interest and convenience but the financial question affects all alike. To begin at the beginning, he said that money is a measure of value and therefore there must be a standard. Although he thought that for some time they were maintaining two standards, he said, one was really rated by the other. Silver was not really demonitised but it was in a false relation to gold, the real standard.

The silver movement he characterized as a catch-penny affair, intended to catch the popular fancy as free trade did four years ago, and the chief exponent, Bryan, he went on to say, was trying to arouse labor against capital without real reason. He then discussed what free silver meant. Under the present tariff it would mean that the government would have to give one dollar for fifty-three cents of bullion, and that that would necessitate the taxing of the people to supply the forty-two cents of the dollar coined. This taxation would be forced by the silver mine owners, he went on, and thus there would be taxation without representation.

Justly covered by insurance, it would mean the meeting with a few remarks, stating his sorrow at his present inability to speak, and his willingness to take his part in some future meeting if he desired.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Dresden now has a concert hall on the model of the new Gewandhaus at Leipzig that will seat 1,400 persons.

Maesagel is composing an opera on Japanese literature by Sig. Illfeld for the fall season at La Scala, Milan.

Wagner's violin teacher, Robert Sipp who is now 50 years of age, was present at this summer's performances at Bayreuth.

Reginald de Koven, who has set to music a number of Eugene Field's poems, is writing new music for some of the poet's later lullabies.

Lesalle, the baritone, who, it was supposed, had left the stage, will appear in "The Flying Dutchman" at the Paris Opera Comique next winter.

Vienna will celebrate the hundredth anniversary of Franz Schubert's year by an exhibition of objects connected with the composer and a series of performances of his works.

Paul Dresser, the song writer and author of "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me," has written a new piece called "Don't Tell Her That You Love Her," which is to appear in an early edition of "Ev'ry Month."

Paderewski has written a new minuet for the piano. He has dedicated it to his American admirers and calls it "Mouset Moderne." In contradistinction to his famous "Menuet a l'Antique" which was written in 1883, the only living author who has written verses in four languages, French, German, Swedish and Roumanian.

Queen Elizabeth of Roumania, Carmen Sylva, has written an opera libretto in French on a Turkish plot for M. Maeterlinck, who has written in 1883, the only living author who has written verses in four languages, French, German, Swedish and Roumanian.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The wife of Li Hung Chang is said to possess 2,000 brooches and has half that number of waiting women in attendance upon her.

The late Jules Simon's library contained about 25,000 books, to which he had no equal, he is said, with eyes closed and the exact volume which he wanted.

A suit of armor has been discovered in the old Chateau di la Tour de France, which is thought to be the one ordered for Joan of Arc by Charles VII, during the siege of Orleans and presented to her at Bourges. It is said to correspond exactly in the description handed down and was made for a woman five feet three inches in height.

The girl who set as model for Sir John Millais' "Clarelinda," "Celia," and "The Girl with the Water Jar" is now a married woman, residing in a pretty home in Richmond, where one of her dearest prizes is a signed portrait of Clarelinda on the wall. She also possesses a beautiful gold locket given her by the artist as a remembrance of her first model.

England is taking quite good-naturedly the fact that a bold snap-shot artist caught the prices of Wales and Wales' Charles of Denmark recently and is now exhibiting them through the medium of the cinematograph. In his exhibition he has taken his pictures from his head and strokes his hair much as any man does, while the charming princess calmly accepts the ruffles about her throat in exact imitation of all the sisters who wish to know that they are "all right."

STAMPS AND COLLECTORS.

Belgium has issued a railway packet stamp of 60 cents, lilac and black.

The Cape of Good Hope, 25pence is now blue, and the two shilling yellow.

In Italy a new postal card is to be issued, on the occasion of the inauguration of the monument to Victor Emmanuel. It will be of the value of ten centimes, and bear the effigy of that monarch.

Stamp dealers give valuable aid to government officials in capturing stamp thieves, but, of course, solely on their own account. If they can make the thief digress, or prevent him from dropping the matter right there, where the government never forgets or forgives.

The ancient feudal castle of Abin, near Huy, in the province of Liege, Belgium, which was sold some years ago by count de Smet de Naeyer, has been purchased by the heirs of the count. One of the curiosities of the castle is a lamp papered entirely with old Spanish stamps of nineteen centuries, which are now very rare.

Philadelphia has a Philatelic society, which meets twice a month throughout the year, and at the meetings the issues of new stamps are discussed, also the fluctuations in values. Very rare stamps are occasionally exhibited, as many of the members are advanced collectors, and some have priceless albums.

DOINGS THE WORLD OVER.

W. H. Mallock is to edit a new London weekly called the "Spectator," but to be sold for half its present price.

New Zealand's legislative council has just voted to exclude the Chinese and all other aliens from the coast except the crew of Tassars, the only Greek archbishop of Canterbury.

A fire in the Rumanian museum at Moscow the Palace hall, containing the public library of the city, was destroyed. The collections in the adjacent rooms of the Rumanian galleries are damaged by water.

Robinson Crusoe's Island, Juan Fernandez, is said to have disappeared in the earthquake which shook up Chile last March. The Chilean government has sent a vessel to verify the report.

The banks of London are deposits to the amount of £6,543,017, which have remained unchanged for 30 years. During that time the depositors have not added a single penny to their accounts; consequently the banks are open to be closed.

THEATRICAL.

"Sue" and Annie Mearns are still enjoying their double triumph at Hoyt's Theatre. The time is close at hand, however, when their run at Hoyt's must end, October 12 is as long as they can stay there, and Manager Chase Frohman is looking for another theatre to which he can transfer the pieces. Great interest centres in Annie Mearns' interpretation of this Bret Harte heroine which has revived recollections of her great leap into histrionic prominence on this same stage in "Zembla" and later in "Elaine." In it she is doing the finest work of her career. Nobody who sees the sweet and gentle creature that Miss Russell transfigures from Bret Harte's images can help falling in love with her or applauding the actress who so charmingly embodies the character.

—Philip Van Wyck, Jr., of New York, has rented Oscar S. Teale's residence on Mercer avenue, through Joseph T. Vall's agency.

Prof. Samuel D. France and his orchestra will furnish the music for a dance and horse-warming at Three Bridges on the 14th of October.

—The first grand ball of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. A., will be held in Red Men's Hall, on Thursday evening, October 10th.

—The annual meeting of the Ballet Association will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock. All interested in the work of the association are invited to attend.

Our Big Sale

Of Jelliff & Co. Stock

—New Jersey's never had better chance to get splendidly built furniture at small prices—we promised to all the stock at 75 per cent. less than actual cost of making—we're doing it, and if you'll but glance at the line we'll be proven. Every piece is hand built and bears reduced price tag in plain figures. Limited stock prevents list of prices—here's an idea of what stock contains:

Walnut Mahogany, Curly Birch, Maple and Oak Bed and Parlor Suits and Extension Tables in Mahogany and Walnut. Fancy Chairs in great variety, Cribs, Bedsteads, Washboards, etc., etc.

To make this sale a "money saver" our entire regular stock has been put at specially low prices to keep company with above. Here's an instance in case of a table:

50 rolls Moquettes at 90c
50 rolls Velvets at 75c
50 rolls Body Brussels at 85c
30 rolls Tapestries at 55c
30 rolls All-Wool Ingr. at 49c
100 roll. Ingrain at 35c

Portland Ranges are never reduced—they sell quicker than we can get them.

IMPORTANT: Credit will be given on all these goods at marked prices, bicycles excepted.
