All are invited to be present, who are interested to hear how the Gospel is being preached in the "slums" of our great cities.

THE FAXON-HOLMES WEDDING.

A Large Number of Guests Witness the Prestigious Ceremony in the Crescent Avenue Church Last Evening.

Miss Alice Holmes, daughter of Captain Augustus Holmes, of East Fifth street, was married last evening to John G. Faxon, city editor of the Plainfield (Mass.) Evening Mail and corresponding reporter of the Boston Herald.

The ceremony took place in the Crescent Avenue Church, at half past seven o'clock, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards officiating. In spite of the inclement weather the church was thronged with guests.

Leaning upon the arm of her father, the bride walked slowly to the altar, where the groom and his best man, Harold B. Faxon, awaited them. In the bridal procession she was preceded by the six bridesmaids—William C. Hubbard, Alfred E. Holmes, Frank T. Clawson, Max Munger and Frank J. Hubbard, of Plainfield, and Edward E. Spencer, of Brooklyn, who walked two abreast.

Following them were the two bridesmaids, Miss Ethel Holmes and Miss Florence R. Faxon, and then by Miss Augusta Holmes, the maid-of-honor.

The bride's dress was of white bengaline, and she carried a large bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a dress of white crepe de chene and the bridesmaids' dresses were of pink crepe de chene. The Episcopal form of service was used.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, No. 40 East Avenue. A dainty supper was furnished by Miss, of Elizabeth. The bride and groom left on a late train on their honeymoon trip. They will live at Fitchburg, Mass.

Among the guests at the reception were: Mrs. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Albert, Mr. Spencer, of Brooklyn; Mr. Mitchell, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. Faxon, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Among the passengers by the Erie tomorrow will be Mrs. George H. Frost and son, Edwin H. Frost, of 119 Broadway, who will be absent in England and France until September.

Miss Jennie Davis, daughter of Stephen Davis, formerly of this city, but now of Elizabeth, and Thomas Connolly, were united in marriage at the Holy Cross Church, Elizabeth, on Tuesday evening. The wedding journey included a trip to Philadelphia.

Prof. Edwin H. Lewis, son of Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of this city, has resigned the chair of Latin in Alfred University, at Alfred Center, N. Y., which he has abtained for the past two years, and will probably take a post graduate course in English at the new Chicago University.

Cards have been issued for the marriage of Hay, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Apgar, to A. Ogden, of New York, Wednesday evening, April 27. The ceremony will take place at the bride's home in East Orange, No. 21 North Maple avenue. Mr. Apgar lived in Plainfield many years, and had many friends here.

David Neighbour, an old resident of Calton, N. J., died on Thursday morning from pneumonia. He was the father of Calvin Neighbour of East Front street and was the oldest member of the Presbyterian Board of New Jersey. Mr. Neighbour was in the 95th year of his age. The funeral will take place at the home on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tramping Through Somersetville Road.

The foreman in a West Front street grocery store, who telegraphed to Somersetville, last evening, to have his fiancée meet him there, returned home at a late hour thoroughly disgusted with the place. After wandering around in the mud for an hour or two in search of his girl, and being unsuccessful, even with the assistance of a guide, he came back to Plainfield a sad and wiser man.

WERNER'S ROMANSA GONE!

Ben Sutton's grand jubilee concert in Reform Hall last evening was a success. It paid all the expenses. The concert was preceded by an old-fashioned game of see-saw, and the festive mirth incident to the occasion was delayed nearly a half hour in consequence. At eight o'clock the hour when the ball should have been started rolling, the see-saw game commenced. At that time the number of persons in the audience and the number of performers on the stage were exactly the same. First the hearts and hopes of the audience would rise, as a new-comer would drop with an exclaiming thud into a seat in the third row, and then joy and gladness would overspread the countenances of the performers on the stage as another artist, with his make-up box under his arm, stepped gladly to the front. Thus alternately arose and fell the two ends of the show, until finally an extra large detachment of the elite made their appearance, and the hall room became respectably full.

With a little preliminary skirmishing, a quartette orchestra opened the programme with an overture to "The Song of the Sea," and appeared and disappeared at stated and unstated times during the remainder of the evening.

Mr. Scott's "The Song of the Sea" was the first of the "Great Camp Meeting." Although the artists were not yet fully warmed up to the occasion, they did credit to their talents.

When Miss Bailey tripped lightly to the front with a captivating smile and a bunch of roses on her left breast over her heart, a ripple of applause greeted her appearance. She soared among the high notes of "Then You'll Remember Me," as though she had been accustomed to living there all her life.

Walter Peterson, in a high hat, a light spring overcoat, and carrying a cane, sang of the "Good Christmas Dinner" in a nervous but creditable manner.

Miss Vail, in a white delectate dress and miter, and Mrs. Martin, then dressed in the "Eloise" dress, and Miss Sarah Ash and Miss Louisa Wells did likewise to "Marguerite." Master Hall was prevented by illness from giving his recitation, and the charming duet, "I can't," which Miss Dorsey and Mr. Sutton were bidden to sing, was omitted for some inexcusable reason, much to the disappointment of the audience.

The harmonica sextette, composed of six budding geniuses, played "Yankee Doodle," with a few sharp changes in great style and carried forth a vociferous encore. They appropriately responded with "Johnny Get Your Gun."

A double quartette composed of Ben Sutton's grand jubilee, sang "Keep That Lamp Bright," and "Don't Take the Left Hand Road."

Miss Bessie, who had her shoulders with her job by singing, "How Heaven's Training," and several other miscellaneous selections.

The nice old resistance of the evening, however, was Ben Sutton's beautiful rendition of the charming song "Where's Romansa Gone." The other performers were better content with a simple piano accompaniment; not so with Ben. Ben should have, must have, and did have the best the house afforded for an accompaniment to his lasso profundo, namely the orchestra. The curtains at the back of the stage were held tightly together by two pairs of female hands, while the orchestra played the overture. They should have played "See the Conquering Hero Comes," but they didn't. As the last strains of the overture died away, the curtains were suddenly pulled back disclosing Ben arranged in fine linen and an immaculate dress suit. He was not exactly an Adonis of the Hesperides, but he filled the bill for all practical purposes. With confident tread and the air of a king he advanced to the front, soothed with his left hand the air made tremulous by the loud applause, pulled out the stops of his organ of melody, and gave us a grand old song, his courtship with Romansa on the kitchen steps. He carried the house by storm, and although he waved the audience with an affectionate countenance, his auditors insisted on a re-appearance.

Messrs. Scott and Peterson sang of the luscious view and the sea, and Clara Lane and Miss Bailey again appeared.

The programme ended with the full chorus, under Ben's guiding and fatherly hand, singing, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The next stopping point of Ben's concert tour will be at the Western Mission chapel about three weeks hence.

After the concert the artists received the congratulations of their friends and ate ice cream and cake in the parlors under the hall.

GRIFIN VS. COARD.

The Case Called Before Justice East Yesterday, But Gave Notice of an Appeal.

The case of Griffin vs. Coard, on a writ of habeas corpus, was called on Thursday for a week, and was again yesterday. William A. Coddington, counsel for the defense, offered no testimony, but gave an address. The points offered by Mr. Coddington are:

In the first place the motion of non-suit was made at the close of the trial, and the case was brought before the court at the instance of a former suit before the same court between the same parties and for the same purpose. Second, that the costs of the previous suit, had not been paid before the commencement of the last suit, and that by reason of a judgment in the case of Griffin vs. Coard, the court had no jurisdiction to try the present case. Third, That the return to the summons was insufficient and irregular inasmuch as it was served on a defendant of the defendant's family and did not state the place of service.

All of these motions were over-ruled by the court.

DELEGATES TO GO TRENTON.

The Republicans of the Second and Third Wards Held Their Primaries Last Evening in Association Hall.—The Weather Interfered Slightly With the Attendance.

Only four Republicans attended the Second Ward primary last evening in Association Hall, the damp weather proving much for the loyalty of the party in that portion of the city. William Messersmith was chosen Chairman, and Theodore Gray, Secretary. Judge Ulrich was chosen as delegate to the State Convention, with Theodore Gray as alternate, and Vincent W. Nash was chosen a delegate to the Congressional convention with George D. Patton as alternate.

The Third Ward Republicans did a little better in the matter of attendance. At their primary, which was held at half past eight, Chairman F. E. Marsh was chosen Chairman and F. W. Rynon, Secretary.

Mr. W. W. Barry was made delegate to the Congressional convention with T. O. Doane as alternate, and F. E. Marsh was made delegate to the State convention with F. W. Rynon as alternate.

The "Herald" of N. H. Miner, of the Holy Cross Church, has prepared the following interesting programme for the "Messiah" service to be held in the church Sunday afternoon, at half past four.

Processional, "Rejoice ye Pure in Heart," Messier; Gloria, C. A. Savage; Magnificat, F. Morley; Anthem, after third collect, Hallelujahs, Handel; Hymn 424, Dyke; Offertory Solo, "I Know That my Redeemer Liveth," (Hallel), by Master Schuch; Anthems: "Quartette, "Silence By Man Came Death"; Chorus, "By Man Came Death The Resurrection Of The Dead"; Quartette, "For As In Adam All Die"; Chorus, "Even So In Christ Shall All Be Made Alive"; Chorus, "Worthy Is The Lamb"; Recessional, "O Mother Dear, Jerusalem."

The North Plainfield Appeals Successful.

The appeals of William White and John C. Tappin, of North Plainfield, from the assessment for the tax-doll against their respective properties made by the borough and township of North Plainfield, were considered at the session of the State Board of Taxation on Wednesday and a decision rendered yesterday. William White's assessment, which was $30.00 in 1891, was reduced to $20.00. In 1890, he was assessed $15.00. In 1891, he was assessed $9.00. In the Tappin case the assessments were $33.00, which have been reduced to $20.00.

The Steam Whistle Answered Them.

Protestant has been made by the Somerset County Grand Jury against the noises and sounds which each morning emanate from the steam whistles on the Somerset and Camden Mills, and the Grand Jury asked that it be stated. This mill is situated in the most thickly settled portion of the town, and every morning at six o'clock the whistle blows for about five minutes. Hence this presentment.

Maggie Banworth was fined $25 this afternoon for being drunk and disorderly.

Worth Knowing.

Many thousands people have found a friend in the "Herald" of Plainfield, and have never used this great service for the relief of suffering of the aged, dyspeptic, liver complaint, rheumatism, nervous prostration, neuralgia, and all diseases arising from derangement of the system. It is served on a regular basis and would be planned to give you a package of this great nerve tonic free of charge.

L. W. RANDOLPH.

VAGUEN PREDICTS A GREAT STORM.

Will Come from the West, Sweeping the Eastern Coast About May 15.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 22.—According to Weather Prophet Vaughn of Norwalk, who predicted the great March blizzard, and various other storms and cyclones with more or less success, we are to experience a violent storm shortly. He says that early on Thursday morning, May 5, a terrible storm will appear in the Pacific Ocean in north latitude 35, longitude 12 west of Washington, and sweep eastward with wonderful impetuosity.

It will strike the Pacific coast, he says, with its center in lower California, and from the southeast at terrific speed. The whole country between St. Paul and St. Louis will be in its line of march. The storm will sweep down upon New Jersey coast on or before May 15.

SCHULTE WILL FIGHT.

New York, April 22.—Louis Schulze, the wealthy elderly business man, late of the Excelsior Quilling Company, has been indicted in the sum of $30,000 for not keeping his promise to marry Georgine Werners, says he will fight the case to the bitter end before he pays her a cent.

The $20,000 awarded to Miss Wolters is the largest sum ever awarded to anyone in a city court, and the most unexcusable application to a wounded heart in branch of divorce proceedings since "Bunny" Clara Campbell was awarded $10,000 for her husband's seduction of her in the Supreme Court in 1888.

TO TEST THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Re-Governor Ames' Keenest For Going to Trenton, N. J., April 22.—In an interview re-Governor Ames said: "I am well satisfied with my candidacy before the convention as delegate-at-large. I did not desire the honor of representing the State in this capacity, a fact well known previous to the proceedings."

"It was willing to go before the convention to ascertain how large a proportion of the delegates agreed with my views on the tariff. It appears that 167 delegates voted for me as a consequence of this statement. The result has justified me."

Approval of the platform adopted, especially the paragraph relating to the amendment of the tariff laws."

Bob Ford Threatened Bloodshed.

DENVER, Col., April 22.—A special from Colorado City, says Bob Ford, the slayer of Jesse James arrived there yesterday. He denies that he was run out of Colorado for reckless shooting in the streets. He will return to Colorado with a gun in each hand, and he will be bloodshed. Bob has sold his gambling place at the camp, but says he intends opening another one.

Runners Officially Escaped from Officers.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 22.—Thomas O'Brien, the bunco man who was extradited from England, and who was sentenced to prison for a year for the same offense, escaped from the officers while they were on their way to Dannemora prison.

Still Antagonizing Men.

VALPARAISO, April 22.—The "Herald" of this city continues its crusade against Minister Becerra. The article it says: "When there is in Chile an impartial representative of the United States, we will again criticize our friend's relations with the American nation."

ARBOR DAY.

The Planting of Trees not so Generally Encouraged as in Former Years.

Today is known as "Arbor Day," but in the public schools in this city the day was not so generally observed as in former years. At the Irving School a tree was planted by Janitor Robert Walker and the scholars held exercises, consisting of recitations and songs.

At the Bryant school building the exercises were wholly of a literary and musical nature.

HIGH SCHOOL.

At the High School there were readings from various authors and singing by the pupils.

Miss Arlene of the "Our High School Trees," and Miss Helen T. French read a paper entitled "In Memoriam."

The principal, Miss Ella E. Bulkeley, delivered an address from a utilitarian point of view, illustrating how the fertility of the country depends upon the growth of trees. In all of the schools the day was observed by the scholars.
