

SHOWS NO REMORSE

Chicago's Ripper Worse Than the White Chapel Fiend.

A MOST REVOLTING BUTCHERY.

A Crime Unparalleled in the History of the Windy City.

Body Five Jagged Slabs in the Body of the Victim—A Pair of Scissors Found sticking up to the Hilt in Her Breast and a Portion of a Wash Handkerchief protruding from Her Body—Wash Confesses His Crime, Giving Complete Details.

Chicago, May 5.—Thomas Walsh, who is the man for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Bridget Walsh, whom he so brutally murdered, shows not the least trace of remorse or fear of the consequences of his awful deed, and apparently has no idea of the enormity of his crime.

The crime is the most atrocious in the criminal history of Chicago. The methods of the murderer were those of Jack the Ripper and were more fiendish than those of the Whitechapel butcher.

When Mrs. Walsh's husband, Michael Walsh, a teamster in the employ of J. V. Farrell Company, came home to supper, he found his wife on the floor, destitute of clothing except a pair of drawers.

A pair of scissors were sticking up to the hilt through the right breast and a small portion of a wash handkerchief protruding from the left breast.

Walsh crossed the abdomen and allowed the intestines to protrude, but the most horrible part of the crime was done when he cut a portion of a broom handle three feet long was found protruding from her body.

Walsh, who is a native of Ireland, has no idea of the enormity of his crime. He was at the time of the murder a teamster in the employ of J. V. Farrell Company, and was at the time of the murder a teamster in the employ of J. V. Farrell Company.

The police were at once notified and soon made the discovery that Thomas Walsh, nephew of the dead woman, had been in the house nearly all the afternoon. Walsh was promptly arrested.

When confronted with the evidence of his guilt, Walsh confessed the crime, giving complete details of the revolting deed.

He had made insulting proposals to his wife, was repelled, attempted an assault, and when she refused to comply with his demands, he stabbed her with the scissors.

After completing his hideous work, he left the house quietly and attended to some business without displaying the least agitation and was returning home when arrested.

MARRIED A NEGRESS.
Last Nov. Son Will Not Succed to the Barons of Stamford.

LONDON, May 5.—A case involving the legal succession to the earldom of Stamford, which has been before the House of Lords for some time, has been decided in favor of the present earl, the ninth holder of the title.

The eighth earl, who died in June, 1881, was a son of a mother who was a negress of Cape Colony. The Earl claimed the negress, but his son was born of a negress, and the House of Lords' decision declares that the son has no claim to the title. The son made no claim to the title.

The earldom of Stamford is among the oldest peerages in England, having been created in 1628. The Earl said the title of Baron Grey of Groby, which he inherited in 1861.

The present Earl is William Grey, son of the late Earl, William Grey, brother of the eighth Earl. He was born in 1850, and from 1878 to 1883 was a professor of classics at Cambridge College, Cambridge. He is married.

THE LOS ANGELES EXPLOSION.

The Indignant People Threaten Dire vengeance on the Perpetrator.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 5.—The explosion over the city yesterday blew up a house in this city Tuesday is intense and the indignant people threaten dire vengeance upon the perpetrator of the deed if it is ever caught.

A man in a heavy coat was observed by a watchman on New High street walking leisurely past the house in question. In passing he threw something through an open window on the first floor. Nothing was suspected at the time and the man passed on and escaped.

Five minutes after he had disappeared there was an explosion which shook the entire block. The occupants of the house, who were asleep upstairs, were thrown out of their beds and severely injured. The floor of the room into which the bomb was thrown was badly shattered, being cut up as though an axe had been used. All of the windows were broken, and part of the front wall was blown out into the street. The adjoining buildings were also somewhat damaged.

The police have investigated the affair and the man who was seen walking into the house by the mysterious stranger was a dynamite bomb. The man who was seen walking into the house by the mysterious stranger was a dynamite bomb.

PANIC ON A RIVER BOAT.

Collision of a Two-Ton Freight Passenger, But No One Is Injured.

NEW RICHMOND, O., May 5.—About 11 a. m. the steamer Bonanza was lying at the wharf when the low boat Frisbee, which was being towed by a tug, ran into the stern of the wharf boat, knocking a large hole in her and breaking the bow of the Bonanza. The tug was dropping it into the river. By hard work the wharf boat was kept from sinking.

There was considerable excitement and a small panic among the crew and passengers of the Bonanza. Men, women and children who were asleep were suddenly awakened by the noise and ran and rushed from their staterooms in their night clothing.

With the awful crash of the Golden Rule into the river, the passengers were panic-stricken and rushed frantically about, trying to reach the shore. Finally they were assured there was no danger.

Fortunately there was no one injured. After striking the wharfboat the Frisbee ran ashore, breaking two barges. She was then getting off and left for Pittsburg. It is thought the pilot was asleep.

Young Fales Tells How He Killed Cashier Hayden.

SAYS HE USED CHLOROPYR.

After Killing His Victim With a Club He Applied the Anesthetic.

Did Not Intend to Murder the Cashier, But He Was Armed With a Revolver and Club—He Committed the Robbery So He Could Have a Good Time in Prison, But Was Afraid to Leave Newark Before the Matter Dried Out.

NEWARK, N. J., May 5.—Allen Fales, the 19-year-old boy who on last Saturday murdered and robbed Shipping Clerk Thomas Hayden of the Peter Buehler, was taken before Judge Hayes of the Municipal Court yesterday for examination. He told the story of the crime to the Judge, giving all the details with a minuteness that made the Judge shudder.

At the conclusion of his statement Judge Hayes committed him to jail without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Fales was arrested Tuesday night by Police Superintendent Brown, and at once admitted his guilt. But on the witness stand he gave many details of the crime that he omitted in the statement he made to the Superintendent.

Hayden was murdered on Saturday afternoon at the Peter Buehler, a shipping clerk and paymaster. He had just returned from the bank with $700 of pay, and was on his way to the bank when he was killed.
