Rather Rocky Decision, This.
Last Friday night while Borough Marshall William Taylor was making his rounds near the Central Railroad depot, at Bound Brook, he saw six men jump and run away from a freight car which was loaded with pineapples. He immediately gave chase and succeeded in capturing two, but the other four escaped in the direction of New Market. Returning to Bound Brook, Taylor locked his prisoners up, got a team and started in pursuit of the rest of the gang and finally captured them.

On Saturday morning the men were taken before Justice B. Brampton for trial. Here Justice Agent John Dent made a charge of treachery on railroad property and malicious mischief, in addition to the first charge of robbery. The Justice heard both sides of the story and then discharged the accused, because no one saw them entering the car. He refused to entertain the charge which Dent had made, as according to his views of the case, the testimony could not be tried upon the latter charge until the first had been proven.

—A story is told by one of our local veterinary surgeons who was recently called to look at a horse that was very much run down and poor in flesh. The doctor made a careful examination of the horse, whistled a bar of a favorite song, and then sat down. "What's the matter with him, Doctor?" asked the owner. "Do you think you can cure him?" Gazing thoughtfully at his question the veterinarian slowly replied: "Just get your son to move his foot, girl nearer home, and the horse will come all right himself, don't you see?" The prescription was a good one, and a cure was quickly effected.

What People Say.
Who have tried Howe's Arabian Remedies: A. J. Palmer, Great Neck, L. I.; "The Blood Tonic cured me of a bad case of rheumatism." C. P. Rowland, Jersey City; "I was a broken-down young man and the Blood Tonic restored me to perfect health." Mrs. George Bell, Newburgh, Ohio; "The Blood Tonic cured me of female weakness, and I feel like a girl of 18." Joseph H. Curry, Judge of Superior Court, Chicago; "Your Arabian Milk Cure cured my wife of a well-proven case of consumption."

The People of Westfield Contest to Let the Local Ball Team Buy Their Small Salaries, Without Encouragement.—The Voice of the Roster Not Heard in the Land.
The village of Westfield has an Athletic Club. Its main supporters are a lot of the leading citizens of the place, headed by A. H. Drake. When arrangements were being made early this past Spring to place a base ball club in the field, it was found that an indebtedness amounting to $700 would have to be incurred before it could be done. To overcome this indebtedness, ten citizens of the place, through the personal influence of Mr. Drake, were induced to purchase about one hundred reserved seat season tickets at five dollars each, and the devoted ten made up the balance out of their own pockets.

But the games do not pay. It costs about $100 to play a single game. Last Saturday, for instance, the receipts at the gate did not amount to over $40, and these ten citizens were compelled to make up the deficiency. The other citizens of Westfield seem to think that as long as they have done their duty in purchasing the season tickets, they are released from all further obligation and they seldom come to the games. And when they do come, they don't enthrone one bit or applaud the good plays of their club, or so incite the players to better efforts. In spite of all this politeness, President Drake and his devoted co-conspirators are determined to keep the good work going, in the hope of eventually educating Westfielders up to the proper pitch of base ball crankism.

RECLINING THERMOMETERS.

The Instruments Weather Observer Neagle Uses, Rest on Their Sides and Are Given a Thorough Shaking Up Every Day.
John Neagle, who lives on East Fifth street, near Broadway, has recently been appointed the weather observer for this vicinity. For the purpose of learning how the record of the temperature is determined, a Courier writer called on him a few evenings ago. It response to a question as to how the variations of the temperature were determined, Mr. Neagle took his visitor out to the back yard and showed the various instruments.

It was found that the extremes of temperature are registered by two high grade thermometers. These instruments are placed in a large box-like structure which is made of slats and boards in such a manner as to allow the slightest breath of air to reach them, yet to prevent the rays of the sun penetrating to their resting place. As an additional precaution, this box is placed in the shade where the sun never shines. The instruments, of which there are two, are self-registering. One records the degrees of heat and the other those of cold. They have both been thoroughly tested by Prof. McGinn, Superintendent of the State Weather Bureau, which is located at Princeton, and are accurate.

The thermometers are placed on their sides in the center of the box and rest on steel pins. This is done so as to avoid the faintest current of air to reach them on any side. Each morning and night at seven o'clock, when the observations are taken, they are given a thorough shaking up until both instruments register 82 degrees. Then they are ready for work again.

The instrument for measuring the rain-fall consists of a deep cylinder with a wide funnel-shaped top which is set in the ground in a place where nothing can prevent the rain from coming into it. After a rain-storm is over, the receptacle is examined and its contents measured.

All these instruments are of the same kind as are in use at every weather station in the United States and are warranted to be perfectly accurate in every respect. Observer Neagle is always willing and ready to show all visitors these instruments and to show them how impossible it is for any of the instruments to register inaccurately.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually remade from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making new is so accelerated by purging with BRANDEGE'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDEGE'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

FOR $25,000 DAMAGES.

Dr. Morrow, the Editor of the Syracuse "Journal" for Label.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 20.—Dr. John George Morrow, of this city, has served papers to the effect that $25,000 damages on Carroll E. Smith, publisher and editor of the Syracuse "Journal."
On June 6 Dr. Morrow was arrested in this city, charged by James Johnston with practicing medicine without a license or diploma, and causing his illness, Mrs. Johnston's death. She was suffering from a cancer, and the complaint alleged that the doctor had used caustic treatment, which ate away the flesh, causing death.
The "Journal" prints out and printed several articles claiming to show up the doctor's character, and alleging that he was a fraud. For this he now brings the suit, alleging defamation of character.

WHITNEY SELLS.

CARPETS, FORTIFIES, CURTAINS, DRY GOODS.

CHEAPER THAN ANYBODY.

FINE FEATHERS.

MAKE

FINE BIRDS.

This is as true of humanity as of birds, and humanity knows it. Every Man, Woman and Child would be dressed well but for one reason—the cost. Reduce the cost and you increase the number of well-dressed people. We do not only reduce the cost, but also divide it in every weekly, two weekly or monthly payments, to suit your convenience; then every obstacle but one is apparently removed.

Houses selling goods on installments, as a rule, are indifferent regarding the class of goods they sell, consequently people get an article much inferior to that which their money justly entitles them to. Our business being based on the principle of selling the very best article at as low a figure as is consistent with the quality.

The reputation established by our Mr. Sherman in former years is well known by those who have dealt with him, and the liberal patronage bestowed on us by the public since our opening should be a sufficient guarantee that we give our customers good value for their money, thus removing that one apparent obstacle, thereby proving to you the great advantage gained by dealing with us. We wish it to be distinctly understood that we are a Credit House, and are at all times ready to open an account with any person of fair reputation and in steady employment.
