THE SCANDIA ARRIVES.

She is Stricken with the Dread Plague.

THIRTY-TWO DEATHS ON THE WAY

The Fear Entertained in regard to the Hamburg Steamer Fully Realized—No Safe Refuge for the Remaining Passengers—Three Deaths Yesterday at Swinburne Island.

QUARANTINE, Sept. 10.—Two Swedish children, Elias Pepper Persson, aged 8 years, and Victoria Elvina Persson, aged 6 months, died on board the Wyoming. They had been sick two or three days. Borel trouble is what the doctor treated them for. Two other children of the family, which came from Russia three weeks ago, are now ill, also the two parties who came in immediate contact with them will be transferred to Swinburne Island. It is not known positively that the illness is cholera.

Both Dr. Jenkins and Fairbridge and two officers of the steamship Wyoming, who came ashore with them, have thoroughly fumigated themselves. This fact is of course of no great importance, but it is thought by the doctors to be cholera. It is feared, which here, by the way, within a stone's throw of the pier at Quaker station for two days, has been ordered to the lower bay, where the other infected ships are, and is now moving down the bay.

A later dispatch says the number of new cases of cholera is not yet known. The development here at Quaker station on the Wyoming of five new cases, two of which resulted in death, and the other three now dangerously ill, and the momentarily expected arrival of the Scandia from Hamburg, on board of which there seems to be a large case of cholera, has caused excitement. The development of the disease on board the Wyoming has excited a feeling of great uneasiness not experienced before, as this point has been considered comparatively safe.

The Scandia Plague Stricken.

At 1:15 this morning Dr. Jenkins received the following from Swinburne Island over the cable signed by Dr. Byrnes: "Have visited the Scandia and find it follows: Total number of passengers 1,096; cabin, 28; steerage, 961; crew, 77. On the voyage there were 32 deaths, of which there were 12 on Swinburne Island and 20 on the ship. I am now starting in our Dr. Grayed Water to transfer to the lower bay, where the plague to the hospital on Swinburne Island. The Scandia sailed from Hamburg on Aug. 25, and was here Thursday. It has been variously reported that it had about 900 steerage passengers, and it had been expected that it would be the plague to the lower bay. The Hamburg-American company, as the report last night shows that the worst fears are realized in the present sign of the plague, as that which Captain Koff has been compelled to report here has been received in the present sign of the plague.

The Hamburg-American company now has six ships under the management of officers, viz: The Moravia, Rugia, Normania, Wladimir, Stenbuck and the Scandia. The official report certainly justifies the fears of the health officer and also his fears for the people, as it is reported for the people that it still retains health aboard the vessel in the lower roadway.

The Situation Grave.

The situation here at this hour is graver by far than at any other time in the case of cholera brought to this port by the Moravia and the opinion is that it is that the plague is in the lower roadway, it is entirely beyond Dr. Jenkins' control, and the chances of the disease entering New York are very great.

The steamship Spree, from Bremen, which arrived here Sept. 9, was yesterday and proceeded to her dock. At 3:25 p. m. a yellow flag was hoisted on Hoffman Island, the sign of the sickness there.

The official record of the day was three deaths and four new cases, as follows: The trip from the Brooklyn bridge, having twenty-two feet of her flag, was taken to the Wyoming, where she was removed to Swinburne Island, has died.

Three Men Attempt to Rob a Train Stopped at Wharton in the Cherokee Strip—A Passenger Train on the Santa Fe Road Attacked.

QUINCY, O. T., Sept. 10.—The south-bound passenger train on the Santa Fe railroad was late in arriving here owing to the fact that it was attacked by train robbers at Wharton, in the Cherokee strip, a station twenty miles north of this city. The robbers had their horses hitched near the station, and after attempting to rob the train remained for some time at Wharton in the Cherokee strip, a station twenty miles north of this city. The robbers had their horses hitched near the station, and after attempting to rob the train remained for some time at Wharton in the Cherokee strip, a station twenty miles north of this city.

The conductor, Edward Kitching, states that when his train stopped to take water he walked down the track and was met by his engineer and fireman, who told him that they were levelled at him, and the robbers went on until they reached the express car, where they demanded admission. They were refused by the messenger, George Wagner. The robbers then fired at the messenger, and he was wounded. The robbers then fired at the messenger, and he was wounded. The robbers then fired at the messenger, and he was wounded.

The Engineer's Story. The engineer gives the following account of the attempted robbery: "The train was stopped at Wharton, in the Cherokee strip, a station twenty miles north of this city. The robbers had their horses hitched near the station, and after attempting to rob the train remained for some time at Wharton in the Cherokee strip, a station twenty miles north of this city.

Claims That It Has Hurt Trade But Little in Montreal.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Hon. Peter Mitchell, ex-minister of fisheries of the Dominion of Canada, is in this city on a brief visit. In conversation Sir Peter pressed himself forcibly on the canal to question. He said that the breach of contract rather badly with the United States government than that with the Dominion. Mr. Mitchell said that President Harrison's proclamation practically affected the trade in Montreal very little, and that transportation men chiefly affected by it supported the Canadian government in the policy pursued. The disposition of the people of Canada, he said, was to have the utmost freedom of trade with the United States.

The Coolie Gang at It Again. NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—About 10:30 o'clock at night six members of the Coolie gang entered the home of John W. Winder, a well-known lawyer, in the city, when all were in bed, and after being Mr. Winder and his wife and daughter, they began the search for money. Finding none they lit a lamp and held it to the face of their prisoner, and he declared they would cut their victim's throat if he did not hand over a large sum of money. The marauders finally compelled the Walters to give up their gold, which was valued at $200. They also took a fine watch, revolver and a lot of fine clothing were taken. The house was ransacked, and the victims fled in terror, leaving their victims tied hand and foot and gagged.

She had been here on Monday last to marry Garvin. The murderer is in jail.

A Tax Collector Missing. WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 10.—Tax collector William H. Hall, of the Fifth ward, this city, has left town, leaving a shortage of over $1,300 state and county taxes collected by him. FINANCE AND TRADE.

Stocks Have Advanced All Along the Line.

GENERAL TRADE VERY GOOD.

The Iron Industry Grows More Active.—The Expected War Between the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads Causes a Bullish in the Coal Trade.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—R. G. Dunn & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Last week's semi-panic in stock and grain has been followed by a more confident feeling about cholera, as it is seen that the pestilence is thus far confined to incoming ships by national regulations, which all officials are now respecting. Moreover, if the disease should appear on shore in scattered cases, the vigorous measures taken by a thoroughly warned and aroused people would be likely to restrict and suppress it, as it has been thus far kept down in England. Hence there is much less apprehension regarding the possible effects of the disease this year before cold weather comes, and stocks have advanced about 75 per cent. per share on the whole, whereas in other markets the advance has been less. The general condition of the country is not only remarkably good, but the iron industry is growing more active, and the exports of merchandise are not yet large enough to prevent some exports of gold.

The Mugwump organs have an unpleasant job on hand in attempting to refute the showing made by Commissioner of Labor Peck in his report on "the effect of the tariff on labor and wages" in the State of New York. The general conclusion arrived at by the Mugwumps is, that since it has been shown by investigation that wages have increased, that production has increased and that strikes have lessened in New York since McKinley was passed, the tariff has nothing to do with it. That is a beautiful, symmetrical and complete Mugwump argument and leaves nothing more to be said. It is considered fair that the readers of this paper should have the benefit of the argument in order the better to judge the kind of people that make it.

"All should for Jerusalem via Jaffa!" has come to be a reality. And the trip is made behind American locomotives, in spite of the attempt of Democrats to show that American-made goods cost more and are not so good as European.

ALLEN W. THURMAN, son of the Old Roman, frankly stated in Chicago the other day that he thought the proper thing for the Democrats in Ohio to do would be to shut up the State headquarters and quit pretending to try.

ABRAHAM STEVENSON had fun with the boys when he was in New York. Judging from the kind of speech he made in Bloomington (Ill.) the other day he was now going to allow the boys to have fun with him.

Just as Mr. Whitney gets things patched up in New York between the big people and the anti-monopoly, which gives away somewhere and the whole thing becomes unpatched again.

So long as they have David B. Hill in New York and Isaac P. Gray in Indiana the Democrats can feel sure of having a pair of breeches.

Democrats are begging for public subscription to the campaign fund—because they have not got lots of money but because they want lots more.

Why should not the "laissez faire" doctrine apply to cholera as well as to competitive imports of manufactured articles.

This campaign will now settle down to business, the Sullivan-Corbett match having been decided.

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS HOUSE.

An Interesting Description of the Prosperous Business Establishment Which J. P. Laire & Co. Carry on in this City.

In 1853, when Plainfield was little more than a thriving settlement, a couple of business men conceived the idea of starting a hardware store in the place. They had no opposition and their business was a success from the start. Farmers from the surrounding country soon got to know the enterprising, wide-awake firm of Berry & Thorne and the excellent goods they kept, and their establishment on Front Street, the corner of Cherry Lane, was spoken of far and near.

In 1885, they decided to retire from business, and sold out their establishment to J. P. and W. R. Laire. Of these gentlemen, J. P. Laire was for many years associated with C. E. Dunham, the hardware merchant of Bound Brook, and possessed a thorough as well as practical knowledge of the business. The name of the firm was changed to J. P. Laire & Company.

When the new firm took charge of the business they found that only a small stock of goods was kept on hand. They recognized the necessity of carrying a more extended line of goods and at once began to enlarge their possessions. But they were cramped for room, their store was old-fashioned. There was a wooden awning over the front sidewalk and the show windows were small and altogether behind the age.

It was not until about two years ago that they concluded to make any very great change. Their business had increased by this time to such proportions that they were forced to find more room for their stock. Carpenters were sent for and the old saw was torn down and many interior changes were made. The old front window sashes were removed and more modern ones were put in their place. A stair case was placed in the rear of the store leading to the floor above, which up to this time had been used for a shooting gallery, and the interior was completely renovated. Many other needed improvements were made, all of which were carried out with the view of making the establishment one of the most complete of its kind in the State. That their wish has been realized a visit to their immense establishment will show.

In former times the main store was on a level with the road, but since the time when Front Street was cut down and graded, it has required several attempts to gain the entrance. Between the sidewalk and the store is a grating which lets light into the basement which is used for the entire store, and in which is kept the heavy stock, such as stoves, ranges and similar goods.

Entering the store proper, one is bewildered with the unusual stock and variety of goods kept. Hardly a second possible for a person to move around in safety, much less to find anything. But having the large stock arranged in systematic order any one connected with the establishment can place his hands on the smallest article at once, even in the most remote darkness. On this floor is kept the goods most called for in every day business.

Passing upstairs by means of the large staircase at the rear, one finds himself in the hardware department, which the firm make one of their specialties. The senior partner, J. P. Laire, was at one time in the hardware trade and that he has a thorough knowledge of his business is evinced by the complete and handsome stock carried. In addition, on this floor is kept a full line of cooking ranges and similar household utensils, while the Park Avenue side is fitted up for the large and commission business office. As one glances over the handsome assortment of goods on this floor it seems almost impossible to realize that at one time, not so long ago, the place was used for a shooting gallery.

Every available inch of the top floor is filled with reserve goods upon which constant invasions are made to replenish the ever changing stock down stairs. Last August, their trade in Western, Canadian and the surrounding country had grown to such proportions that it became absolutely necessary to establish a branch store under the name of Laire Bros. in Westfield, Mass., a central point. This has, in a measure, relieved the immense pressure of business which was formerly brought to the nearest store. Ever since this branch was started the trade has been so good that J. P. Laire is compelled to spend his mornings there in order to attend to the details of the rapidly increasing business.

When the firm started in business in this city, they had but one competitor. Since that time, two others have been started, but it seems that competition must be the life of trade, for their trade has not diminished, but on the contrary has constantly increased. The only fault they have to find is that they have not half room enough to properly display their immense stock to advantage, and now that they have decided to pass the sales of the Democrat Sewing Machine, which the claim is the best machine on the market, they are sorely put to it to find sufficient room to show off its merits.

Summed up in a few words, the entire establishment is an actual witness of the great truth, that judicious advertisement, which is combined with high energy and ability to keep abreast of the times.

Of Interest to Athletes.

James Robinson, the athletic trainer of Princeton College, Princeton, N. J., says: "I have found it imperative to have sure and simple remedies on hand in cases of cuts, bruises, strains, sprains, colds, rheumatism, etc. Shortly after entering upon my profession, I discovered such a remedy in ALCOCK'S PLASTER PLASTERS. I tried other plasters, but found them too harsh and irritating. ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS give almost instantaneous relief, and their strengthening power is remarkable. In cases of weak back put two plasters on the small of the back and in a short time you will be capable of quite severe exercises. In 'sprains,' 'dislocations' and 'stiffness' of the joints, the plasters or tendons in the legs and feet sometimes weaken. This can be relieved by cutting the plaster in narrow strips, so as to give free motion, and applying on muscles affected."

—The committee of arrangements in charge of the G. A. R. Encampment, to take place in Washington in September, are endeavoring to secure the services of John Philip Sousa, from the Military Band, for the purpose of uniting all the bands in attendance, for a grand national concert at the White House, where the national airs and some of the distinguished leaders' own march, as well as played by a congress of musicians numbering several thousands. As Mr. Sousa's own band will be only rehearsing at that time, it is quite likely he will attend.

HE GOT AWAY.

Story of the Escape of One of the Most Famous Passengers.

MONROVIA, Md., Sept. 10.—The Monrovia Journal prints the following: George C. Weavers, who claims to have been a passenger across the Atlantic on the quarantined steamship Normannia, is in town. He is the European agent of the San Francisco Tea company, and was returning from one of his periodical trips about the Normannia. He tells the story of his escape.

"Well, I saw how the thing was being run and knew absolutely that there was not the slightest trace of infection about the ship. I made up my mind to go ashore. On Monday after noon I took the hot bath of a life preserver, and planted it away up in the tower. Some time later I saw another ship, just arrived, anchored close to us. I saw that the sat pretty low in the water and last had a down line hanging over her side. When I did not get into my life preserver, I went down into the water and down into the water.

"I tried to swim to the steamer a little way off, but the current was too much for me and I went spinning on the top of it at a terrific rate. It was dark when I started and the water was cold as ice. Drunk and half dead, I was the best I should have got out of it except for a piece of luck. I could see a ship of some sort in front of me and the first thing I knew her cable hit me. I got up and saw the ship. It was about ten minutes I was taken aboard of her. My trunk and everything else, my ready money, remained on the Normannia. I gave the fellows who picked me up $25 to land me and I went ashore in a pair of blue overalls and a fireman's jacket.

Inquiry last evening in New York developed the fact that no such name as Weaver appears on the Normannia's passenger list. It is to be inferred that the story is not true.

Bad Scene in a Court Room.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 10.—A young man wearing a sun bonnet and sitting in woman's clothes drew the unusual object present before a commission at the court house. Jeremiah Baker, of the court house, had brought his two children to Norristown to have them committed to the hospital for the insane. The oldest, a son now 25, was the person in female attire. He has been an idiot since childhood. The girl, is 15 years old, and was saved up to the time of an attack of scarlet fever.
