AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"A Trip to Chinatown" at Hoyt's Madison Square Theatre continues to draw the usual large audiences in spite of the fact that all the other theatres in the city have now opened and that it was presented on Saturday evening for the third time. On Friday, October 14, the three hundred and fiftieth representation will be celebrated and each night prior to the opening will be presented with a pretty souvenir of the occasion. On November 9, however, the anniversary of this phenomenon will be celebrated by the opening of the Hoyt Madison Square Theatre and the unique event duly commemorated by Messrs. Hoyt & Co. The performance in the history of the stage has a farce comedy been able to run for so long a time, and in this case Mr. Hoyt's cleverness has not alone drawn full houses—every seat in the pretty auditorium being sold for each performance—but continued to do so during the autumn season, the hottest in over twenty years, and for months it was the only regular theatre in the metropolis which enabled by its popular success to keep its door open.

It was my good fortune to see the initial production of "That Girl from Mexico" in Buffalo, some weeks ago, and I can say that the play, as a whole, is most gloriously elevated. Sidney Drew is a young and very handsome woman of great promise. Her performance of Diabla Smythe is a revelation. She appears in two new and stunning costumes and surprised an audience—whom I scarcely remembered any previous introduction to her—into recognition of a very bright and interesting star. They appear in Mass Hall next Monday night.

Worth Knowing.

Many thousands people have found relief in Aunt Fanny's Health Restorer. It would be pleased to give you a package of this great nerve tonic free of charge. L. W. Randolph.

COUNSELLOR REED VICTORIOUS.

He won a Suit Against the Citizen's Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York, in Which an Attempt was Made to Defraud Mrs. J. L. Spencer, of Scotch Plains, out of a $3,000 Policy held on Her Husband's Life.

Counselor Charles A. Reed has been engaged this week in the trial before the superior court in New York city in the case of Spencer vs. the Citizen's Mutual Life Insurance Co. The facts in the case were: John L. Spencer, of Scotch Plains, who died May 7, 1890, held a $3,000 policy which lapsed by reason of non-payment of dues. He was reinstated on February 13, and was required to sign a warranty that he was in good health, at that time. He died May 7. The company sent blanks to the widow to fill up, showing when his illness began, what he died of and other matters in connection with his death.

Mr. Spencer asked Dr. Westcott, his family physician, when her husband's illness began. The doctor referred to his books and said that he first called on February 7, and called again on February 9, 10, etc. She sent the blanks so filled out to the company and they promptly refused to pay the insurance on the ground that the warranty which Spencer signed was false.

Mr. Spencer then investigated the matter. She found that Dr. Westcott was mistaken; that on February 7 to 10 he attended her daughter, not her husband. She also found that her husband was not taken sick until February 16. She thereupon sent affidavits to the company, showing wherein the mistakes had been made. They still refused to pay, claiming her first affidavit to be right and the last one wrong. They sent detectives to see her and the doctor and endeavored to get them to admit the sickness of Mr. Spencer on those days. The doctor represented that they were employed by Charles A. Reed, Mrs. Spencer's lawyer, but they got no satisfaction.

The case went to trial. On the trial, it was proved that the mistake had been made. On cross-examination of the Secretary of the Company, it was proved that he knew that Spencer was perfectly well when he reinstated as the re-insatement was made in his office February 13. It was further proved that the company's defense was wrong, and a conspiracy to deprive Mrs. Spencer out of her money. By order of the jury executive committee, the jury went out, they were not given five minutes. They rendered a verdict for Mr. Reed's client for the full amount of the claim.

ARRANGING FOR A BOWLING TOURNA-MENT.

The Meeting at Elizabeth last Evening—Officers Elected, and Thirteen Clubs Represented.

A meeting of the representatives of thirteen clubs in Union county met at the Elizabeth Journal office last evening for the purpose of arranging a series of bowling games for the Journal trophy. The Crescent League was represented by George Hallock, and an organization was effected by the election of the following officers: W. Wooten, of Linden, President; J. Davis, of Elizabeth, Vice President; Geo. Hallock, of Linden, Secretary, and George Hallock, Treasurer.

Messrs. Sheppard and Davis were appointed a committee to arrange a schedule of games. The proposed constitution and by-laws were read, and adjourned for one week.

The object of the tournament is to furnish amusement for the members of the several clubs during the winter. Each club will pay into the treasury an initiation fee and there will be three prizes, the first for the club winning the most games, the second for the highest average, and the third for the greatest score.

In all, some twelve clubs will be represented in the tournament, through Halway, Westfield, Roselle, Plainfield, Linden and Elizabeth. The latter place will have six clubs in the race. The games will begin about October 15, and the teams will be divided into sections. The champions of each section will play the deciding game for the trophy.

Thirty Five Words of New Jersey accepts the Democratic nomination for President. The election will be held on the bench during the campaign. His confidence in the Democrats carrying New Jersey is not strong enough to permit him to throw away a good job.

Regeneration.

To secure a normal and regular tissue change throughout the body men require BRANDRETT'S PILLS. This tissue metamorphosis consists in constantly proceeding waste of tissue and its regeneration. BRANDRETT'S PILLS are the solvent of the products of disintegration of the tissue and increases their elasticity. They are an alternative and eliminative remedy, which ally irritation and remove obstruction by aiding nature and are of great benefit in constipation, torpid liver, biliousness, headache, indigestion, rheumatism and diseases arising from an impure state of the blood.

BRANDRETT'S PILLS are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

LATE NEWS!

THIRTY-FIVE LIVES ENDANGERED.

A Dynamite Crack Tries to Blow Up a No. 2000 Building House, Which Contains Ten Union Men.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE COURIER.)

HONOLULU, Pa., Oct. 7.—At 2 o'clock this morning an attempt was made to blow up the Madison House, a boarding-house in which thirty-five non-union Carpenters were sleeping. A dynamite bomb was thrown into the house by some unknown person, which exploded, smashing every window in the house.

One man was seriously injured.

MRS. HARRISON NO BETTER.

She Passes a Very Tiresome Night, but What Sleep She Secured was Natural.

(BY WIRE TO THE COURIER.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Harrison passed a more restless night than on Wednesday.

What sleep she did secure, however, was wholly natural, and therefore that much more useful.

Her condition this morning was reported to be about the same.

HIS ANCESTORS HELPED COLUMBUS.

Anastasio Azoy, Whom Plainfield People Will Remember as Having Lived Here Many Years, is to be an Honored Guest at the Columbus Celebration.

A distinguished descendant of those who assisted in the fitting out and manning of the expedition that led to the discovery of America arrived yesterday on the steamer Oriana. He came from Progresso, Mexico, and reached the foot of Wall street, East River, where the Oriana docked, at 9 o'clock yesterday. His name is Señor Anastasio Colon Maria Azoy, and he is the United States consular agent at Progresso. He came to this country as a member of the Committee of One Hundred to attend the festivities next week. He is accompanied by his wife and ten-month-old son.

Señor Azoy lived for many years in Plainfield and attended the High School during that time. Among his classmates were the members of the classes of 1876 and 1877. He went to sea before the time for graduation, and soon became a shipmaster himself. He had a brother Frank who was very popular among the townspeople.

Azoy is a direct descendant of one of the Pinzon brothers, who gave Spanish aid and commanded two of the three ships that came as a fleet in search of the Western World. Azoy shows his connection in this way: His father, he shows, was Don Francisco Azoy, of Cuba, a merchant who was long connected with the house of Pizarro Harmon's Nephews & Co., one of the oldest Spanish houses of New York. Francisco Azoy is now dead. The owner of the house of the gravatar of Anastasio was Don Mariano Velazquez, a noted author who came to this country in 1805, the time that Spain was invaded by Napoleon. Don Velazquez was secretary to the King of Spain at that time. He wrote many Spanish-American books, including the Spanish-English Dictionary which is still the standard work of the two countries.

Soon after his arrival here he became professor of Spanish in Columbia College. At the time he proved, and the proof is in the possession of Anastasio, that he was a lineal descendant of Vincent Yañez Pinzon, one of two brothers who furnished one-third of the money which fitted out the expedition of Columbus.

The Pinzon—Vincent and Martin Alonso—were ship-masters and merchants of Palos about the time that Columbus appeared before Ferdinand and Isabella for aid to fit out the expedition. The two brothers had made a great many voyages prior to this time, and the proof of the fact was the influence of the prior of La Rabida. Columbus obtained the means to make the voyage for the expedition. Ferdinand and Isabella gave him 1,000,000 maravedis toward the enterprise, and the Pinzon gave 500,000 maravedis. With this money the fleet was purchased and manned. Columbus assumed control of the Santa Maria; Martin Alonso Pinzon took charge of the Pinta, and the latter's brother went as captain of the Nina. Recently discovered manuscripts found in the archives of Salamanca prove the position the Pinzon held in the discovery of the new world.

Señor Azoy was met at the steamship pier by his aunt, Dona Moriana Valquez, who lives in East Orange, New Jersey, with her sister, Señora Azoy's widowed mother, Miss Moriana Valquez, and her two sons, who brought documents dating back to 1519, which prove the claims of herself and Señora Azoy.

The papers show that in 1519 Chas. V., of Spain, granted a coat-of-arms to the family. An illuminated copy on vellum of the coat-of-arms is in possession of the family. This copy will be loaned to the committee of the World's Columbian Exposition. It is to be placed on a banner and the names of Columbus in the La Rabida collection in Chicago.

Señor Azoy is 34 years old, tall and dark. He was born in Florida and has followed the sea more or less all his life. He will remain in the States until November.

The Republican Congressional Convention will be held at Elizabeth on October 15.

The next Governor, it is said, will have 120 votes to fill.

Bound Broo is becoming notorious for his murders, poisons, note robberies, suicides, etc., it rivals New York.

The court will meet in the County Clerk's office, at Elizabeth, on Thursday and Friday nights of next week, from 7 to 10 o'clock, for the purpose of granting naturalization papers.

John Kean, Jr., would worship adorn the highest office in New Jersey. Let every friend of good government cast his ballot for him next month.

This little cold spell brings very forcibly to the poor man's attention, the fact that the Democratic party did everything in its power to create the coal combine that has raised the price of coal from $4.25 to $6.00 a ton.

The Central Railroad ferry boats Fairwood and Plainfield have been relieved from "duety" while repairs are being made.

Two applications for membership to the Crescent League were laid over at the meeting Wednesday evening for two weeks.

Borough Marshall Pangborn has in his possession a two-wheeled road cart which he found in the gutter on Johnston's drive, a few days ago. There was also a Dutch collar and two trousers. The owner can recover the same by applying to the Marshal.

Witnesses were subpoenaed yesterday in the matter of the State against Phillip Friz, indicted for stealing a bicycle in North Plainfield. The case will come to trial at Somerville to-day.

The soda water fountain does not fit as joyously as it did, and the Crescent avenue girl now passes the ice cream sign without emotion, but casts an eager glance at the announcement of "coca-cola" in every style.

At the meeting of the City Council called for October 17, besides considering the apportionment of taxes in the Pike estate, there will be other matters brought up and considered. The meeting will be an important one.

The County Board of Canvassers will meet on Wednesday of next week.

The rails and ties for the extension of the Street Railway have arrived and were unloaded near the Grant avenue station on Tuesday.

George W. Day and G. Elston Lowrie, partners in the Dunellen "Call Publishing Company," have dissolved partnership by mutual consent. The business will be carried on by Mr. Lowrie.

Special sale of butter-cups at Tiers to-morrow. Don't miss it.

It is extremely unlikely that the Crescent League will have a ball next season. Instead, a race track will in all probability be laid out and the club will devote its summer-time energy to fostering bicycle contests.

THEIR THIRD ANNIVERSARY.

Minutemen of the Order Red Men, Three Years Old to-night, and Exercises in Commemoration of the Event will be held. This evening Minutemen of the Order, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, will celebrate the third anniversary of its existence, with all the pomp that usually characterizes such occasions.

The Sachem Sagamores and Chiefs will assemble in the Wigwag, at the Eighth Run, setting of the sun, (8 p. m.) and in the afternoon the council fire will be kindled and the medicine men of the Tribe will invoke the Great Spirit.

The most interesting features of the evening's entertainment will be a talk from Col. Julian Scott. He will speak on the origin, life, customs and antiquities of primitive red men. He will also depict the red men of to-day and illustrate his talk with the exhibition of a fine and valuable collection of Indian relics.

John H. Carney will deliver some of his humorous recitations. Past Sachem, Ely M. Odum, will contribute vocal selections, and First Warrior, Charles L. Holstein, will sing. The ceremony of the exemplification will be gone through with, after which the brothers will assemble around the council fire and partake of the good things prepared.

Among the visitors expected to be present will be the great Chief of the Great Council of New Jersey and delegations from Raritan Tribe, No. 174, of Raritan, Narayute Tribe, No. 31, of Somerville, and Ute Tribe, No. 80, of Washington.

Minutemen of the Order, No. 118, has 160 members in good standing and over $1,000 in its Wampum Belt.

REPUBLICAN WHEELMEN PARADE.

They Meet with a Constant Oration on Their Side of March and Give Many Commitments for Their Katty Uniforms and Novel Appearance.

Last evening the Wheelmen's Division of the Republican Association of the city made their first appearance in public. Forty-two members met at the Crescent Rink at half past seven and after donning their natty uniforms, which consisted of white Norfolk jackets trimmed with blue, and blue helmets surmounted with a torch, and white leggings, they mounted their sleek steeds and started. Their line of march was through North avenue, West Front street, Plainfield avenue, West Fifth street, Park avenue, West Eighth street, Central avenue, Grove street, Linden avenue, Somerset, Emily and Duer streets, Craig place, Somerset, Grove and Pearl streets, to the Crescent Rink.

Throughout the entire line of march, the wheelmen met with a constant ovation. On Plainfield avenue Charles L. Parmelee saluted the passing wheelmen with a cannon, while elsewhere the residents crowded their stoops and doorways and amid the waving of handkerchiefs and clapping of hands, saluted them as they passed by. Considering that the run was entirely impromptu, much enthusiasm was shown. Everywhere remarks were heard in praise of the handsome uniforms and riding of the wheelmen and the party they represented.

PERSONAL.

Margaret B., infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Van Arsdale, of No. 8 Orchard place, died yesterday. The funeral will take place from the home on Sunday at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hardy, of No. 17 Liberty street, celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on Tuesday evening. There were about seventy-five of the relatives and immediate friends present, including guests from Elizabeth, New York, Newark and New Brunswick. The evening was very pleasantly spent in social amusements.

John Gibson, of Newark, the great tariff speaker, who was expected to speak in the Crescent Rink last evening, will be here on the evening of October 27.

B. F. Millington one of the election officers in the Second District of the Fourth Ward, has been obliged to resign on account of business engagements.

Charles A. Reed, of the Crescent League, has been queried by telegraph and asked what terms he would offer the New York team to play here on Monday next. Mr. Reed answered that the Crescentians had disbanded.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Murray, of Madison avenue, gave a dinner at their home on Tuesday in honor of the fourth anniversary of their marriage. Many friends of the family were present.

Miss Rogers, late of the firm of Rogers Brothers of this city, is visiting among friends here.

The Epworth League will hold its first social meeting of the season in Pleasant Chapel, this evening, and a pleasant time is expected. All are invited.

The annual election of officers of the Warren Mission Sunday School was held Tuesday evening with the following result: President, Henry Seager; Vice President, M. M. Dunham; Recording Secretary, Lizzie Stafford; Corresponding Secretary, W. C. Dobbin; Treasurer, Ella Bolsterli.

A BIG REPUBLICAN RALLY.

Over a Thousand People Listed in Republican Ticket for the Crescent Rink Last Evening.

In accordance with the prediction of yesterday's Courier a large number of the representative citizens of Plainfield gathered at the Crescent Rink last evening to listen to ex-Congressman Flinerty, of Chicago, and Judge Buchanan, of Trenton. Many of the citizens were accompanied by their wives, and when the meeting was called to order 1,000 people were in the building.

The following persons were unanimously chosen as the officers of the meeting: Ernest R. Ackerman, chairman; Vice President, John Chaudler, Fred W. Lewis, Charles Hyde, Walter Scott, B. Lewis, William T. Broadway, John J. H. Polton, James W. Jackson, Henry B. Newhall, James C. Pierson, J. Frank Hubbard, J. Parker Mason, Harry G. Runkle, Joseph D. Spicer, George B. Tinsworth, Fred C. Lonsbury, Harold Sewell, Edward Maynard, Frank S. Runyon, Herman A. Weber, Henry A. McGee, H. Newell, Spencer, James Patterson, Charles F. Schuler, Edward L. Bonney, Secretaries, J. F. McMurray, J. W. Drayton, Wheaton G. Lowry, Marcus L. Clawson, Horace J. Martin.

In taking the chair Mr. Ackerman thanked the audience for the honor conferred upon him, and announced the first speaker of the evening, ex-Congressman Flinerty, of Chicago. The speaker is an "Americanized Irishman," as he is called here. His talk was chiefly devoted to showing up some Democratic assertions in their true light. He spoke about the destitute condition of his countrymen in Ireland and ascribed it entirely to the policy of free trade.

Thousands of Irish come to this country every year, he said, to get something to do, so that they can live. And yet the Democrats want to change the property of this country and put it on the same level with Great Britain.

Why, he said, is it, a change from the present prosperity. Since the McKinley bill has been in force, manufacturing are being started everywhere. Wages have been increased and fewer men are out of employment to-day than before the bill went into force. Cleveland is nothing more than a conspirator with Great Britain. The Democrats claim that the consumer pays the tax upon imported goods. It is not so.

The speaker then quoted innumerable instances showing how American manufactured articles sold for less in this country than the similar article imported from Free Trade England.

Continuing, he said that the Democracy that their policy would prevent strikes, was all bosh. No policy could prevent them. For every strike that takes place in this country, five occur in Free Trade England.

The speaker then stated that the Republican policy condones to have strikes in this policy is not so. Free traders stop at nothing in getting up their arguments. Any story is good enough for them, they have so little to talk about.

In speaking about his own race, the speaker said there was nothing in Republicanism to make the Irishman's enemy. Lincoln was a firm friend of the Irishman. Grant appointed many Irishmen to office and Harrison had done much for that nation. General Sheridan was an Irishman, and General Grant said he was the best Irishman he ever saw. The Republican party has been the savior of the country and its institutions, and the warm friend in every way of the Irishman.

After a selection by the band, chairman Ackerman introduced the Honorable Judge Buchanan of Trenton. The Judge said that the present campaign was a most momentous one. It involves the financial prosperity of the country. It was his lot to see and know something about it, for he had been a member of Congress and was one of the Congressmen who drafted the McKinley bill. In doing this he took good care to look out for the interests of the workmen of New Jersey.

In framing the bill, tariff was imposed upon such things which were sent from other countries, as could be made or raised in this country. The idea was to protect American industries and American products.

The Democrats say it is unconstitutional to have a protective tariff. The question between the two parties therefore is a tariff for revenue only or tariff for protection. It is not so many years since the country has been in favor of the Democratic party was in its favor. The first tariff bill was introduced in Congress in July 4, 1789. Its object was to encourage and protect American manufacturers. Here was tariff for revenue and protection. Washington favored this bill. He evidently didn't know that he was making a big mistake, from the Democratic standpoint. If he had so thought, he might have done otherwise.

The Democrats say they are in favor of the principles of Jefferson. It's a good thing. Jefferson believed in protection. He every day showed it. In 1828, a tariff act was passed increasing tariff duties. The act was voted for by men who were afterwards elected Presidents of the United States.

In those days, the Democrats were in favor of the same policy that the Republicans proclaim to-day.

CONCERNING THE NEW ENGINE HOUSE.

Ex-Congressman Ackerman on the Tariff.

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, ex-Congressman from the Third Ward, will address the Fourth Ward Republicans this evening in the club room on Grant avenue near Second street.

Mr. Ackerman will discuss the tariff, a subject on which he is well posted. During the preparation of the McKinley bill by the members of the Ways and Means committee, he was summoned to give advice upon several subjects relating to it, and upon which he is said to be better posted than any other man in this country.

In fact in several particulars the bill gives evidence that his advice and counsel was of great service to the framers of the most beneficent act. His talk to-night will be a most instructive one. Every Fourth Warder should hear him.

CONCERNING THE NEW ENGINE HOUSE.

Ex-Congressman Ackerman on the Tariff.

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, ex-Congressman from the Third Ward, will address the Fourth Ward Republicans this evening in the club room on Grant avenue near Second street.

Mr. Ackerman will discuss the tariff, a subject on which he is well posted. During the preparation of the McKinley bill by the members of the Ways and Means committee, he was summoned to give advice upon several subjects relating to it, and upon which he is said to be better posted than any other man in this country.

In speaking about the imports, the speaker stated that over one-half the imports from foreign countries came in by water. In former days only seven per cent was free. When the industries of America needed more protection from the competition of the outside world, the tariff was increased. In compiling this McKinley bill, its framers looked over the entire list of imports and when they found an article which could not be made or raised in this country, it was made free. Regarding the tariff industry, foreign manufacturers are coming to this country to engage in it. American tin plate is now made as good and even better than the imported articles thanks to protection. Its manufacture gives employment to thousands of American laborers. 15,000,000 pounds are made in this country annually and yet free traders can't find one ounce of it to-day.

The next rally will be held in the Rink next Thursday evening when Col. Fairman of New York will speak.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.

In the Verdict of the Jury in the Bound Brook Case—The Inquest Held Yesterday—From the Evidence, Edward L. Rue, of Trenton, Was Murdered and Robbed and Thrown into the Canal—The Body Taken Home.

The Bound Brook mystery has been cleared up to a certain extent, and it has been determined by a jury of ten men that Edward L. Rue, of Trenton, whose body was found floating in the Raritan canal near the lock of Bound Brook, on Tuesday, was murdered, assaulted, robbed, and thrown into the stream.

As the Coroner stated, Coroner J. F. Brady, of Raritan, viewed the body and ordered an inquest. This was held yesterday and it took all day. The following persons were sworn in as jurors: R. A. Ross, foreman; John S. Carman, John W. Reed, John Jennings, Charles Brokaw, Ellis Dodge, John Curry, Abraham Van Ness, John Parselle and P. S. Gulick.

Eight witnesses in all testified, and two of them claimed to have seen the man around Bound Brook within a few days. J. L. Carvery, one of the witnesses, recognized the body as a man he had known in Trenton. The jury went out at 2:30 o'clock and at five o'clock they returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury in the case of Edward L. Rue, whose body was found in the Delaware and Raritan Canal, at this place, on October 4, 1892, are of the opinion from the evidence given and from our own observations, that the said Edward L. Rue was murdered, assaulted with some sharp instrument, by some person or persons to us unknown, robbed and was then drowned in the canal."

There can be no mistake to the identity of the body, as friends from Trenton came on and claimed it. It was taken home yesterday.

DEMOCRATIC BANNER RAISING.

A New Out in North Plainfield Which Attracted More Republicans Night-Siders Than Democratic Voters.

The Democrats of North Plainfield were out in full force, last evening, to witness the raising of the Cleveland and Stevenson banner. The crowd, however, consisted mostly of Republicans who went there out of mere curiosity. The South Plainfield Band was engaged for the occasion, and rendered national airs.

The band is a little one, and as one boy remarked, "It's out of sight."

"Yes," said another one, "it would be if it was put up a little higher."

When the banner was stretched across the street, the band made an effort to play, and there was a faint clatter of brass.

Following this demonstration was a political meeting in front of a barber shop on Somerset street. B. Lewison presided, and the meeting was held in a room on Somerset street.

Another blue-tinted Columbia pneumatic bicycle has been stolen and there is a reward of one hundred dollars offered for its return, and the arrest and conviction of the thief.

Thomas Hale, the owner, left the wheel in front of the Crescent League Club House, about eight o'clock last evening, and when he went to look for it, the wheel was gone.

The machine cost $175.20, and the owner of the wheel says, "If the thief will come to him he will also transfer the chain, pad-lock and key which belongs to it."

Next Crescent Lock.

[From the Somerset Messenger.]

"Even though the dogs are tendered the freedom of the town. The professional dog-catcher of North Plainfield the other day ran in the form belonging to G. A. Reed, manager of the Crescent base ball team, but when he learned to whom it belonged, he returned the lucky canine to its owner with apologies, and without accepting the customary fee. Surely nothing succeeds like success."

The Independents Win Again.

Members of the Independent Gun Club of this city participated in the shoot of the Riverside Gun Club at Red Bank, yesterday. Among the new faces on the ground were Manager Tom Keller and J. Brantingham of this city and J. W. Budd of Flemington.

Charles Reed, the independent Club, scored 148 out of the possible 160, and Neil Apper scored 151.

CONCERNING THE NEW ENGINE HOUSE.

Ex-Congressman Ackerman on the Tariff.

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, ex-Congressman from the Third Ward, will address the Fourth Ward Republicans this evening in the club room on Grant avenue near Second street.

During the preparation of the McKinley bill by the members of the Ways and Means committee, he was summoned to give advice upon several subjects relating to it, and upon which he is said to be better posted than any other man in this country.

In fact in several particulars the bill gives evidence that his advice and counsel was of great service to the framers of the most beneficent act. His talk to-night will be a most instructive one. Every Fourth Warder should hear him.

FUTURE NATIONAL LEADERS.

FIKEMEN'S PARADE AT WESTFIELD.

The Fikemen de Rector to themselves and their Visitors—The Parade, the Banquet and a List of Out-of-Town Guests.

The annual parade of the Westfield Fire Department took place yesterday afternoon, and it was the means of drawing to the place many people from the surrounding country. The line of march was over the principal streets and it was long and thronged. The Plainfield Cornet Band furnished the music for Empire Co., No. 2, which entertained Washington Engine and Hose Company No. 1, of Rahway.

Many of the bands were present from other places. The procession was made up as follows: Band and coaches containing the town officials; Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1 and guests; Bucket and Engine Co. No. 1 and guests; Empire Engine Co. No. 2 and guests; the Little Glans and Bucket and Engine Co., of Scotch Plains. After the parade the brethren and their invited guests were given a substantial banquet. Among the out-of-town people were: Police Captain Askey, of the First Precinct of Newark; John Stevens, Superintendent of the Newark Fire Department; William Moore, of Chemical Engine Co. No. 1, of Newark; Thomas Robinson, ex-Chief of the Railway firemen. The latter was the oldest fireman in line, he having entered the service in 1859.
