RITINENT PARAGRAPHS.

—Where is the cake?

—Merry riders have abandoned the use of their wheels since the recent snow storm and are now returning to the style of locomotion inaugurated by Adam in the Garden of Eden.

—Judge McCormick in the Union County Court of Common Pleas Saturday declared in wood cases no more license in the townships unless strong evidence was submitted to him that such places were an absolute necessity. He promptly denied four applications to open road-houses in Summit, Union, Crawford and Fairwood townships.

—The Democratic Presidential Electors elected last November met at the State House to-day and cast their votes for President and Vice President. It will be their duty to appoint a messenger to carry the returns to the President of the Senate at Washington.

—M. M. Dunham, Health Inspector, reports that there are no cases of diphtheria in the city to-day. Quarantine has been removed from the Westwood house where a slight case was reported, and the health of the city is now good.

—The city teams were still at work today drawing the snow from the streets, and it is expected that a sudden thaw and overflow of water.

—It is rumored that members of the Park Club are gravely considering the advisability of having the bachelors "walk for the cake" in an exhibition to begin at the club house at an early date. The number of advs. inserted in the columns of the Courier for the last party week indicates that there is a very serious regard for the "cake."

—The delicate tracery which Jack Frost placed on some of the store windows this morning, was beautiful, and suggested many pretty patterns for art needlework.

—Special Officer James Frisbie is still in the dog catching business. He captured three stray canines this morning and is on the lookout for more.

—To-morrow night, when the lantern slides of the Orange Camera Club are shown in the rooms of the Plainfield Camera Club, the club's quarters consisting of A. Greenleaf, Professor Smith, G. E. Greenleaf and T. E. Hazel will sing several songs. No lecture will be given. Instead, the audience is requested to criticize and talk about the different views shown. The idea is to make the exhibition an interesting and profitable one.

—Complaints have been made to Captain Grant concerning the neglect of property owners to clean their sidewalks. In many of the important thoroughfares of the city, walking on the side which is both dangerous and difficult.

—A curious thing happened in the First Baptist Church, last evening. The church is heated by steam, and during the early part of the evening was warm and comfortable. When the service was about half over, a icy cold draft from some unknown place poured through the church, and the congregation hastily sought their wraps and shawls. Though the doors and windows were tightly closed, the church kept getting colder and colder. Where the coldness came from no body was able to find out.

—The newly elected officers of Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M. will be installed to-morrow evening.

—Early in the forenoon yesterday, but a slight frost had had of any of the heavy static keepers of the city. The supply was not equal to the demand.

—Large bon-fires were kept going all last night by the Babcock property, to burn down the ground so that the work of excavating could proceed there this morning.

—Farmers from the vicinity of New Market report the snow as quite badly drifted in that direction.

—A bad condition of sidewalks was reported yesterday on Front street between Fairview and Berkman streets. The snow was knee-deep. One little girl tried to get through and had to be helped out of the ditch by a brick block, which was stated in the Courier of some weeks ago.

—The city engineer's force ran over a survey, this forenoon, to locate a lot on the corner of Fourth street and Fairview, belonging to U. B. Wilson, on which a brick block, which was stated in the Courier of some weeks ago.

—It is fortunate that the Street Railway Company delayed having its tracks on Bonanza street. Had they commenced a few weeks ago they would have been right in the midst of the snowstorm and the extreme cold and frost would have left Bonanza street in a frightful condition. No attempt will be made to begin the work until the water breaks up.

—The team from No. 2 Engine House were put with the new horse wagon making a practice run, this forenoon. It is the first time a team has been hitched to it. The wagon being intended for a single horse.

—Another batch of complimentary tickets will be given away for the Crescent Bank, through the Courier, good for to-morrow night, (Tuesday), and will be found in another column. Out and use.

HE MUST HAVE BEEN CONFUSED.

James Sullivan, an Old and Faithful Employee of the Central Railroad, While Waiting on the Track at 10th Avenue, Being Dropped in Struck by the Royal Blue Line Train and Instantly Killed.

James Sullivan, of South Avenue, for the past twenty years an employee of the Central railroad, was struck by a Royal Blue train on Saturday evening near the depot and instantly killed. His remains were taken to Corby's morgue. He leaves a wife and one son.

Sullivan, who was a track-walker, was walking towards the depot on the east-bound track. The 5.43 train for New York, which was a little late, came up behind him and to get out of its way he stepped over on the west-bound track. Hardly had he done so when the Royal Blue Line train, which passed at 10th Avenue at that time, came along late, bore down upon him. Whether he lost his presence of mind or not, will never be known. In spite of much pleading by the engineer he kept his ground and was picked up by the co-driver of the engine and carried over 100 feet before his body was thrown off to one side of the track. The engineer whistled for down brakes and reversed his engine, but such was the force of the train that it was not reached before the train came to a stop. It was then backed up to the depot where it laid until the extent of Sullivan's injuries could be determined. Meanwhile, friends had hastened to the spot where Sullivan was thrown, several feet south of the Park avenue bridge. He was picked up and carried to the freight house. He was dead when picked up and must have been killed instantly. Soon after his body was removed to Corby's morgue and Corby Physician Westcott, was summoned. Those who saw the train pass the depot say that it was going at a great rate of speed, and that the fact that the momentum after the brakes had been applied, carried the train to Grand avenue, would prove this.

MRS. NIGHTINGALE'S EXPERIENCE.

The Recovers a Lot of Household Goods which Had Been Abstracted From Her House and Then Finds Her Name Has Been Forgotten to Check.

For some time past the family of C. F. Nightingale, living at 81 Broadway, have missed various articles from the house in the line of figures, dining service and kitchen utensils. Suspicion was directed to two different people and finally rested on a colored servant. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Nightingale went to the girl's house on Synamore street, where she found quite a quantity of household property which she claimed as her own, and brought them home. It transpires that on Friday a young colored woman presented at the store of H. M. Sherwin a check on the City National Bank purporting to be in favor of her lady, and to be signed by Mrs. Nightingale. She asked him to go to the bank with it. She did so and was there told that she must be mistaken.

She went away and returned with a letter which said that the bearer was all right. It also bore the signature of E. W. Nightingale. This time both check and letter were kept by the bank people who were suspicious that all was not right. Mrs. Nightingale was informed of the circumstances. She said she could recall the check or the letter. The woman in the meantime disappeared.

It is supposed that the woman has left town, as whereabouts can not be learned. The bank officers investigated the case and presented their statement of the result to Mrs. Nightingale to-day.

MORE LIGHT IN THE BOROUGH.

Another Dynamo Has Been Added to the Plant of the North Plainfield Electric Light Company and Hereafter Danellian as all out Lying District will be lighted by the Thompson-Houston instead of the Edison system.

A new Thompson-Houston dynamo is being added to the plant of the North Plainfield Electric Light Company. This will make three of these dynamos in use. The reason for getting the dynamo is that the company intend to use the "T. and H." system entirely for commercial purposes and to use their other two dynamos of the Edison system for street lighting in the Borough.

The North Plainfield Electric Light Company, besides lighting the Borough, run their wires to Danellian. They have found from experience that the Edison system requires too heavy a wire to carry the current to Danellian. They therefore light that place by the "T. and H." system which only requires an ordinary sized copper wire. This is the company's principal reason for getting in the new dynamo.

FAKE CITY NOTES.

Now that the Bachelor and Benedict of the Park Club have decided the new supremacy an attempt will be made to get up a series of games between the Democrats and Republicans of the club. Some little difficulty will be experienced in securing the requisite number of Democratic bowlers. Grover's followers are almost as scarce as hen's teeth in the Park Club.

The Park Club is on the boom. Already its membership list is complete and there are many names on the waiting list. There is some talk of the necessity of enlarging the club house, which in all probability will shortly be done.

Several large sleigh loads of people from Westfield and Elizabeth passed through the city Saturday night.

PROFESSOR MAXSON'S WORK APPRECIATED.

His Salary is Raised $500 a Year by the Board of Education.—The Annual Report of the Board of Education, which was made ready, on January 8, at the meeting of one of the Board.—Another Teacher to be Engaged and Their Work Done, as Outlined at Saturday Night's Meeting.

The last meeting of the Board of Education for 1892 was held in the School building on Saturday. After the transaction of the regular routine business, the Board adjourned sine die, and the Board for 1893 organized.

All the members of the Board were present except Mr. Lounsbury. After reading the minutes, Dr. Probasco reported that the photographs of the School buildings which were to be sent to the Columbian Exposition and State Exposition were ready to be forwarded.

He also reported that the two new houses which had been finished in Assembly Hall, were already occupied by two junior classes and were satisfactory to all.

A number of bills were presented and ordered paid with the exception of one from the Plainfield Water Supply Company which was referred to Dr. Probasco for investigation; also the bill from the City Treasurer was referred to Secretary Finch for examination.

A report was raised from Collector Johnson which showed that he had placed the sum of $20,048.90 in the city banks to the credit of the Board. Also a report showed that the State appropriation amounted to a few cents over $888. A statement was made that the annual report of the Board was not ready, as the illness of Mr. Lounsbury prevented him from sending it.

Secretary Finch announced that he had called on Dr. Harbit. He gave him their attention the last of the week. After the Board had decided that it might be well to secure an expert accountant's services to examine the accounts since 1885, the Board of 1892 adjourned sine die.

The Board of 1893 was called to order by George H. Babcock, President of the old Board, and on motion, Dr. Harbit was made chairman pro tem.

Mr. Babcock having duly announced his re-election, a member of the Board was unanimously chosen as President and Mr. Finch as Secretary.

The first act of the new Board was to increase the salary of Professor Maxson from $2,500 to $3,000 per year. The increase will take effect from January 1, 1893. Although Professor Maxson has only been a resident of Plainfield since last July and connected with the school since they opened in last September, in that short time he has shown without doubt his peculiar adaptability to his position and that the members of the Board are well satisfied with his work as shown by their voluntary increase of his salary.

Professor Maxson then opened his subject. He said that whether mumps could be communicated from one child to another. He cited a case where a mother complained that her child had caught the mumps from being seated alongside of another child who had them. Dr. Probasco said that he was not catching. There was no danger in the child, but it was not a contagious disease.

The Professor then spoke of the want of a suitable lounge or office in the school building. He said that if taken ill, could lie down, and the Board, after some discussion, decided to purchase five sofas for that purpose, one for each school. His subject was the smallness of the desks used by the scholars in the junior classes, and he was authorized in conjunction with the committee on buildings, to look into the matter and do as is thought best.

Miss Mitchell having resigned as a teacher in the third grade at the Franklin School, Miss M. A. Hughes, who has been a temporary teacher, was appointed to fill the vacancy at an annual salary of $500. The question of paying teachers for the days made holidays by the Board was discussed and the matter was finally laid on the table.

The Board then decided that they did not feel called upon to pay for the printing for a free public debate which the Young Men's League talked of giving. They also decided that an extra teacher was needed at the Bryant School and after authorizing Professor Maxson to procure a graduate from the Normal School for the purpose, they adjourned.

Samuel's Episcopal Church Bureau.

The Calvary Episcopal Church, a handsome structure of stone in the center of Summit was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The Rev. J. F. Butterworth, the rector, and Rev. Peck were the only persons in the building previous to the morning service when the gas jets ignited some evergreens in the building. The firemen were prompt but their efforts to save the church failed. As much of the church furniture. The cost of the building is estimated at $45,000. The church was erected in 1871. Bishop Starkey was to administer confirmation as the service yesterday. He was a witness of the conflagration.

A New Industry in South Plainfield.

South Plainfield is to have a manufacturing industry. The American Lactose Company, of which Stephen E. Lactose is president, is one of the directors, have secured the old mill property with its grist mill and adjoining factory and which is being put in order for occupancy.

The company will manufacture Lactose or Milk-Sugar, which is the base for all homoeopathic medicines, coatings for pills, for compounding prescriptions and other purposes.

THE LUCKY, LUCKY BACHELORS.

They Celebrate the Anniversary of the Park Club on the 7th Street and Win the Beautiful Cake.—Was When Was the Cake?

Saturday night was the time, the Park Club was the place, and the Bachelors were the people—and the Captain of the Bachelors were craps—but that is another story.

To go to it was a great game. The clash of the battle might have been heard from Union County and would have given evidence from their slumbers the bowlers of the Union County Club. Be that as it may the battle was a royal one, each team putting up a fine game, the spectators vigorously applauding, while the bowlers themselves fairly "rased the roof." The Bachelors were as usual in the lead at first but soon took second place where they were found at the finish. The married men had much the stronger team and before the game was over victory already theirs. Consequently the surprise of the "back number" bowlers was great when they were beaten by a team of "youngsters." The noticeable feature of the game was a succession of five strikes made by one of the lucky batsmen. The score is a good one and will bear inspection. Here it is:

TO CHRISTIANIZE THE CHINESE.

Rev. L. E. Davis, Superintendent of the Seventh-Day-Baptist Church at Shanghai, China, is to be in the city on Saturday night, and will be in the city on Saturday night, and will be in the city on Saturday night.

Rev. L. E. Davis and his wife at the Seventh-Day-Baptist Church, last evening. He is the Superintendent of the Seventh-Day-Baptist Church Mission at Shanghai, China, and with his family has been visiting his brother-in-law, W. H. Rogers, of Central avenue, for several weeks past. He and his family leave for their work to-morrow morning for the Southern route, and they expect to sail from San Francisco about the middle of next month.

The reception was largely attended, and the services were very interesting. Rev. Davis read a paper on Holiness as an Influence in the Regeneration of the Chinese People. The topic was handled in a masterly manner and many new facts were unfolded. Rev. Dr. Main, Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Seventh-Day-Baptist Church, was present and made an interesting address. Rev. Dr. Davis spoke a few words about the mission work during the eleven years he has been with the Chinese, and Rev. Dr. Lewis, pastor of the church, invoked a blessing upon his future labors.
