A PENNSYLVANIA DELUGE

The Blazing Susquehanna River Causing Great Damage.

IMPRISONED IN THEIR HOMES.

Families at Flatville, forced to the Upper Stories to Escape the Rising Waters—A Halfdozen Cows Four Feet of Water for Four Miles.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 11.—At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the immense ice gorge in the Susquehanna river was broken and the ice started down with a tremendous crash. Another large took place later on between here and Plymouth, three miles below this place, but not more than 4:45 p. m. At 10 o'clock last night the huge cakes of ice were again floating down the stream, and the water was now signs of the water falling. The floating mansions in this city (Flatville) were in imminent danger of being swept away. The town of Flatville, four miles north of this city, is under water, and families are imprisoned in the upper stories of their homes. If the water rises much more the houses will be carried away.

The Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western said Pennsylvania railroad trains are all stalled and traffic is entirely suspended. The west and other points along the line. The village of Port Jervis, between here and Pittston, is under thirty feet of water, and in many places the railroad tracks are covered with masses of ice.

Waters Surrounding Flatville. In all the small towns along the line of the river the houses are all surrounded by water. The trains on the Erie and Wyoming railroad bounded here could go no further than Port Jervis. Superintendent Egan, of the Lehigh Valley railroad, took the passengers aboard his train and in order to transfer them to the Delaware and Endicott road at Avoca, a place of safety. At Pittston the water is twenty-three feet above the water mark, and the extension of the water in the side, where small boats are in the transferring people to their homes.

At Cranton the Lehigh Valley railroad yards present a sorry picture. The thirteen shifting tracks are up to several feet of water. A frame of a car is seen by the railroad men floating about, and the telegraph station was abandoned last night. The water is so high that the cars are in the water. The Lehigh Valley division of the Delaware and Endicott railroad is under four feet of water from Port Jervis to Wyoming, a distance of four miles. At Cranton, twenty miles north of Flatville, the water is clear of ice, but the water is rising rapidly. At Towamencin, twenty miles north of Flatville, there is still considerable ice in the river.

At other places. PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 11.—The water in the Susquehanna is thirty feet above low water mark, the highest since the ice flood of 1879, and is still rising. The ice goes in under the bridge here twenty miles north. Another huge field of ice is moving down from the Flatville side, and it is feared the bridge will be swept away and other serious damage done when the flood reaches its height and the ice moves on. Railroad men are hurrying to Wilkesbarre by the Lehigh Valley and Delaware and Lackawanna, and Western roads is out.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., March 11.—The heavy river has now almost carried a flood in the river here sufficient to break up the ice that has formed since the February flood. The ice moved off quickly here, but stopped at the Littleton's landing back water to reach here. The ice is a danger for several miles east of here. At Flatville, the water has ceased rising.

At other places. All streams in Chenango and Schoharie counties are full, and in several places have overflowed. The river at Watkins is back partly inundated.

PORT DEPOSIT EXPERIENCE. The Maryland Town Agent Under a Rising Flood.

PORT DEPOSIT, March 11.—The flood is higher than in the great ice sales of June 18. The basement of the town hall is under water, and the water is over the foundation walls of the town hall. HAWAIIANS TO DECIDE. The Question of Annexation May Be Settled by Popular Vote.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The course of the president in withdrawing the Hawaiian treaty is still a matter of discussion among senators. A Republican senator who has taken a prominent part in most of the discussions in the senate in recent years that have touched foreign relations said last night that he had received no indication that the president was desirous of modifying the treaty. One of the contemplated modifications was probably suggested by the protest of Queen Liliuokalani, made by Mr. Paul Neumann, her representative, which stated that a majority of Hawaiians were bitterly opposed to annexation.

The senator thought it possible that the president might so frame the treaty that annexation would depend on the will of the Hawaiians. Should the majority on annexation prevail then a protectorate might be established.

The senator felt sure that a large majority of the intelligent population of the island favored annexation outright, but among the lower classes much opposition would be found. Should the latter dominate then a protectorate would follow, and in this turn would surely result in annexation, because the United States could not undertake permanently to assume responsibility for the acts of the islanders without the power to control their affairs. Otherwise serious complications with other powers would ensue.

The Hawaiian commissioners had a brief conference with Secretary Gresham yesterday, but nothing is known as to what transpired.

Bold Burglars Frustrated. NEWARK, N. J., March 11.—There was a bold attempt at highway robbery at the house of Mr. John Wood yesterday afternoon. His two daughters were alone in the house when the door bell rang. One of the young ladies to the door and found four young fellows standing there. Three of the men brushed by and carried the young ladies to the back of the hall-way, where one held a handkerchief against his forehead and another a revolver against his face. The men then rushed up to the second story and one burst open a bedroom door and found the other sister sitting by a window. She called a revolver and told her not to make any noise or he would blow her brains out, but she threw open the window and the men fled. The police have since the gang to make their way. There is no clue.

Wyoming Outlaws Behind Bars. CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 11.—Two of the men charged with helping in the assassination of George A. Wellman, a deputy United States marshal in Johnson county during the stock troubles last spring, are behind the bars. Clayton Crow surrendered to the state authorities at Buffalo. Henry Smith is in the county jail here. He was captured in the Indian Territory. The two men are being closely pursued. The trio were among the most desperate of the thieves and outlaws who caused the trouble in the north.

The Indian Was Stolen. HELENA, Mont., March 11.—Reports from Wilsey indicate that reports sent out from Laurel concerning the Crow Indian trouble are greatly exaggerated. So far two Indians have been killed, and both men who did the killing have given themselves up to the state authorities at Billings. The trouble is on the reservation recently called by the Crows, and is confined to a small section of the reservation. The Crow Indians have driven off the cattle. The county authorities and Indian police will prevent any further trouble.

An Indian Murderer Executed. CANNON, Ind., March 11.—Ellas Loring, aged 29 years, a full-blooded Indian, was executed at Peshawar, Ohio House yesterday for the murder of Susan Watt, an old woman living in a lonely house about thirty miles east of here. Loring claimed the woman had bewitched him. The condemned man was shot by a detail of deputy marshals.

Passed Over Governor Veto. TRENTON, March 11.—In the senate yesterday the bill for the payment of the Mayor of Jersey City, was passed over Governor Veto by a vote of 18 to 10. The house passed the bill amending the courts election law by directing the courts of common pleas to sit before township and charter elections to revise registry lists.

Business Failures of a Week. NEW YORK, March 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: The business failures during the past seven days, from the United States, and for Canada, 29, a total of 28, compared with 21 last week, 230 the week previous to the last and 206 for the corresponding week of last year.

Seven Years for Predecessor's Crime. BOSTON, Mass., March 11.—Judge Foley, of the Wayne county court, has sentenced William Watson and William Watson, Jr., to seven years in the Eastern penitentiary for robbing Watson's hardware store in Housatonic on the night of Dec. 10 last.

Enjoyed the Prize of His Body. CHESTER, N. J., March 11.—Samuel A. Ayer, a negro, was hanged here yesterday for the murder of an old woman named Mary Ann. Ayer served the term of 12 years and spent the money for choice brandy and whiskey.

Pushing a New Railroad. BALTIMORE, Md., March 11.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company is preparing to resume active work on the completion of its state line railroad between Morgan town, W. Va., and Fairbairn. The new line will probably be opened for business in September.

Senator's Permanent Residence. MOORE, March 11.—It is reported the pope has decided that Archbishop of Seattle shall make Washington.

EMINENT SUSPECTS. Probing Corrupt Deals in the Panama Lottery Scheme.

EX-PRIMEIR FLOQUET'S TESTIMONY. He and M. Clemenceau Deny Charles de Lesseps' Allegation That They Were Indirectly Responsible for Crooked Transactions with Baron de Reineck.

PARIS, March 11.—M. Floquet, the government accountant who has been appointed to examine the accounts of the Panama Canal company, was called upon to testify yesterday in the Panama canal trial. He repeated in the main the figures and statements already given in his published report. He estimated that the Panama Canal company had expended 100,000,000 francs in payment for newspaper advertising and for favorable notices in the newspapers, and other services connected with the general puffing of the enterprise. About 500,000,000 francs, being less than half the total amount subscribed, had been expended in the actual operations on the canal, the present assets amounting to 200,000,000 francs.

Deputy Chantagrel testified that M. Clemenceau, a civil engineer who did the work on the isthmus, came to him one day with an offer of 50,000 francs for his vote on the lottery law bill. When he declined the bribe M. Clemenceau added that Charles de Lesseps had authorized him to offer any sum up to 500,000 francs for M. Clemenceau's vote. He refused to accept the 50,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 100,000 francs if he would accept the 50,000. He refused to accept the 100,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 200,000 francs if he would accept the 100,000. He refused to accept the 200,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 500,000 francs if he would accept the 200,000. He refused to accept the 500,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 1,000,000 francs if he would accept the 500,000. He refused to accept the 1,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 2,000,000 francs if he would accept the 1,000,000. He refused to accept the 2,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 5,000,000 francs if he would accept the 2,000,000. He refused to accept the 5,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 10,000,000 francs if he would accept the 5,000,000. He refused to accept the 10,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 20,000,000 francs if he would accept the 10,000,000. He refused to accept the 20,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 50,000,000 francs if he would accept the 20,000,000. He refused to accept the 50,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 100,000,000 francs if he would accept the 50,000,000. He refused to accept the 100,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 200,000,000 francs if he would accept the 100,000,000. He refused to accept the 200,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 500,000,000 francs if he would accept the 200,000,000. He refused to accept the 500,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 1,000,000,000 francs if he would accept the 500,000,000. He refused to accept the 1,000,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 2,000,000,000 francs if he would accept the 1,000,000,000. He refused to accept the 2,000,000,000, although M. Clemenceau added that he would give him 5,000,000,000 francs if he would accept the 2,000,000,000. He refused to accept the 5,000,000,000, although M. FRENCH,

Somerset Street,

A detailed black and white illustration of a horse-drawn carriage or cart. The carriage has a high, dark roof and a body with a crisscross lattice pattern. It is shown from a side profile, facing right, with a large spoked wheel visible in the foreground. A horse is harnessed to the front, though only its head and harness are partially visible. The carriage appears to be carrying a load, possibly hay or straw, which is visible inside the body.
